GREEN STORES HARD HIT BY THE FLOOD

General Manager Walsh, of This Town, Says His Company Suffered Heavily. The Green Stores Company, which opened a new store here on Saturday, was badly hit by the flood in several of their stores, according to General Manager Thomas Walsh, who has charge of the territories in which the stores are operated. Because of wires being down and the inability to reach other places by wire or rail the reports of the conditions of the stores are slow in coming in. For instance, a wire that was sent out Saturday did not get in a reply until this morning and this came from one of the other stores, rather than from the town to which it was directed. In Westfield, Mass., there has been no report as to the condition as there has been no reply to the telegram or to the telephone message sent there.

24 LOCAL BOYS GO TO YALE GAME

Community Club Takes Score of Lads to Yale Bowl—In Conn. Co. Big Bus.

Twenty-four Manchester boys were given the times of their young lives Saturday. They were taken to New Haven to see the famous Yale football eleven playing in a real college contest in the nationally known Yale bowl. To many of the lads, Yale and a college contest had been as intangible as a dream, something not to be realized in real life, nevertheless on Saturday Yale and the football battle became actual realities.

The boys were the guests of the Manchester Community Club, that organization arranging the treat for them in accordance with its policy of the past five years to do all it can in the matter of beneficial recreation for growing boys in the community.

Sport and Education
Aside from the inspiring sport spectacle, the officers of the club felt that the excursion to the Bowl would by no means be without its educational advantages. The officers felt that it would be a good thing to give twenty-four local boys a view of a college city, with its great buildings devoted to the purposes of the university, also a glimpse of the team work and spirit which characterizes a college team when hitting the line hard.

It was also believed that such sights viewed at the impressionable age would be of lasting benefit, and might easily awaken young aspirations for future participation in college life.

Tickets for 29.
The outing was arranged by Director George H. Washburn, with able assistance from officers of the club. Mr. Washburn secured from the Yale officials tickets for the twenty-four boys and for five adult leaders, who, with the director, were in charge of the trip, assuring safety and carrying out of the plans successfully.

Having had much experience in Boy Scout work in New Haven, Director Washburn is right at home in work of this kind, and demonstrated his capabilities along these lines in the success of Saturday's excursion.

The lads who were to go on the outing were advised a few days ahead of the simple preparations necessary, after the consent of the parents had been secured.

Transportation
One of the important items was transportation for twenty-nine to New Haven and back. Train connections are not always satisfactory, and as regards automobiles, the parents are more or less concerned unless well satisfied as to who will drive the cars in which their children are to ride in football traffic around New Haven at such times.

So the officers settled this question in a very satisfactory manner by contracting for one of the Connecticut Company's large busses to come to Manchester from Hartford, take the passengers on board, and make the trip to New Haven and return.

This meant that the journey would be made under the care of properly licensed and experienced drivers, and in accordance with state common carrier requirements.

On Their Way
The boys were notified to be at the Community Club at 10:30 o'clock Saturday forenoon, in readiness for the trip. There were no late arrivals, and about the only incident to delay the start was the operations of the camera man, who took views of the boys and their big bus.

The Community Club headquarters presented an animated scene, and the boys were bubbling over with enthusiasm and anticipation.

The start was made close to 11 o'clock, and there was a noisy demonstration as the big bus pulled out for New Haven. Yale's opponents were the Maryland eleven. What the boys saw in the college city, and what they thought of the Bowl, the crowds, and the playing, will be the theme of their conversation for some time to come.

HEBRON

A business meeting and Halloween party was combined when the members of the 4-H Club met at the home of Mrs. Truman C. Ives. About twenty members were present. At the business part of the meeting Miss Ruth Kinney gave a report of her trip with her brother, Leroy Kinney, to Memphis, Tennessee, where they represented the state of Connecticut in a clean milk demonstration. She said that there were 30 demonstrations made by states represented in competing for the honors. Miss Kinney and her brother were eighth in order of excellence of those competing.

Attendance for the Jagger School for September and October show a record of 92.7 per cent attendance. Pupils perfect in attendance for October were Marshall, Clara, and Marion Porter. Marion Porter has a perfect record for the two months.

A meeting of the Hebron Library Association was held Tuesday evening at the library. Mrs. C. J. Douglas, president, occupied the chair. Miss Clarissa Fendleton served as secretary in the absence of Mrs. W. O. Seyms. A slate was made naming officers to serve for the ensuing year, this list of names to be ratified at the regular annual business meeting to be held later in the year. A report was given by the floor committee, showing that the floor in the upper story of the library is about half laid. This room will be used for books of reference and possibly as a children's reading room.

Mr. and Mrs. Randall C. Tennant have moved from the Post place to the house owned by Mrs. Tennant's uncle, H. Randall Tennant, where they are occupying the second story.

A birthday party was recently given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Benzinger in Hopevale, attended by relatives and friends of the family. The occasion celebrated Mr. Benzinger's thirtieth birthday.

Mrs. N. C. Johnson entertained a large party of friends at a Halloween party at her home recently. The gathering included guests from Willimantic and Glastonbury besides neighbors and friends in Hopevale. The usual Halloween stunts were participated in and refreshments were served.

The women's bridge club met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. C. J. Douglas. Mrs. Gertrude Hough held the highest score of the evening.

At the teachers' meeting held Wednesday afternoon Supervisor Charles M. Larcomb presided. Miss Maude Shapleigh, assistant supervisor, was also present. Reports were given by the teachers from the schools of the town on points gained by them at the state convention. Teachers' problems were also discussed. Mr. Larcomb's report also came up for discussion.

A meeting of the Young Women's club was held at the home of Mrs. Alphonse Wright Wednesday afternoon. The rainy weather affected the attendance. Each member present responded to the roll call by giving some poem or other quotation, musical selection or original matter of any kind appropriate. Refreshments were served.

A woodcock and a pigeon hawk, shot recently by Carlton H. Jones were exhibited at the post office Thursday.

Did You Know that for Recreation for Children and Grown-ups

The South End Appropriates Annually Twenty Times as Much as the North End?

For Recreation the Ninth District Annually Appropriates $20,000
For Recreation the Eighth District Annually Appropriates $1,000

Isn't it news to you that the Ninth District appropriates TWENTY TIMES as much as the Eighth District for Recreation work? (See Page 25 of Report of Ninth School District Committee in 1927 Annual Town Report.) Now then, is this giving the North End children a square break in recreational advantages?

And bear in mind, $20,000 is by no means the total expenditure in the Ninth District for recreation. Having two splendidly equipped recreation centers, an income is earned. This, with contributions, nets $11,000 annually, all of which is spent, in addition to the district $20,000, for recreation work. This is THIRTY-ONE times as much as the Eighth District appropriation!

Where there is but a $1,000 appropriation officially at the North End, how is this recreational work to be done? Less than one-thirtieth of what the South End expends! If the North End citizens do not work out their own Recreational salvation who will do it for them? The Manchester Community Club for several years has been doing the bulk of the North End recreational work.

One private bequest at the North End each year equals half of the official $1,000 appropriation. Under a trust fund established by the late J. T. Robertson, the income on $6,000 is spent each year on the Playgrounds on Oakland Street. This sum is $500 to $600 annually.

Help the Manchester Community Club Carry on Recreation Work for Our Young Folks

Apparently the Manchester Community Club is the only agency directing recreational work in a large way at the North End. Hence the necessity of North End residents backing it with co-operation and finances. You can help by contributing as generously as possible in the present Community Club campaign for funds.

No better service can be rendered our neighborhood than to promote a live, energetic, progressive Community Club. Hundreds of other New England towns are now doing this very thing. They are financing their community clubs year after year. They do it because they find that funds spent in the upbuilding of young manhood and womanhood means money well spent.

Everybody concedes the value of a recreation center or community center. Times progress. A score of years ago we had no school dental hygiene. No supervision of eyesight. No action against adenoids. Hence children were often thought backward mentally when physical causes were to blame.

Now we have school supervision on all these matters. Also every progressive community has organized Recreation. This is the day and era of efficiency—the radio, the aeroplane, the New York-to-Paris flights. Back up your organized recreation. Back up the Manchester Community Club.

Help a Good Movement and Be Happy! Give Generously!

NEW ENGLAND FLOOD PHOTOS

Piloted by the man who taught Lindberg how to fly, an especially chartered NEA Service airplane brought back to New York City late Saturday, November 5, the first direct word that had come to the outside world from Montpelier, Vermont, since a roaring flood swept down on that capital city of President Coolidge's home state three days before.

Newspapermen in automobiles and airplanes strove to reach the beleaguered capital, but in vain, until—"Let's go," said W. A. Winston, Curtiss pilot with 10 years' experience to his credit, at the first break of dawn Saturday morning. He was talking to William B. Springfield, NEA Service graper. They were at Curtiss Field, Long Island, and to the motor of a waiting racing ship roared in their ears. They went. They went through fog, rain, dense clouds, more fog, over mountains and dense woods. And the splendid photographs on this page are what Springfield and Winston brought back with them.

'Twas Flood, Not Hallowe'en Stunt

Occupants of this Montpelier, Vt., home found a badly smashed steel highway bridge on their porch when they awakened the morning of the flood. Ever see anything like it before?

A Stop Put to Travel

They weren't amphibian automobiles, and their owners had to scurry to safety when the three shown in the upper picture were engulfed by New England flood waters. Below is a bridge at White River Junction, Vt., with the wreckage of another bridge piled against it—one that washed out at Hartford, Vt., a short distance up the White River, as the flood hit with full force.

On Guard--Over a Chicken

Merchandising Under Difficulties

When Montpelier grocerymen found their stores in a mighty bad fix because of the 12 feet of water that had swept through the city, they simply moved tables and counters out on the sidewalk and proceeded with business as usual.

Torrents Fury Hits Bellows Falls

The Cleaners that Clean
You don't have to be good-looking to make a good appearance.
but, no matter how good-looking you may be, unless you are careful of your personal appearance, you won't look good. Clothes that are spotted or soiled... full of dust... generally dingy—why wear them? Dry cleaning will make them look almost like new.

When the ability to perspire easily is high, a very slight stimulus will provoke perspiration, whereas, if the person does not perspire easily, a strong stimulus is required, sometimes the most intense emotion.
Three Types
The Japanese investigator listed three types of people in relation to perspiration: those who have little ability to perspire so that they barely sweat with a very high temperature; those who sweat very easily and far beyond any necessary amount, and finally normal people who sweat just enough to keep their temperatures regulated normally.
People of the first type should not live in tropical countries, since heat accumulates in their bodies and they are likely to have heat strokes.

SHOULDER PINS
The shoulder flower has yielded its enviable place in fashion's realm to shoulder pins. An elaborate onyx and crystal one is a twig with leaves hanging.
SHOE BUCKLES
Now that Fashion says "One, two, buckle my shoe," a pair of pink brocaded evening slippers has real diamond and platinum bow-knot buckles.
GRAPE SHADES
Grape shades are in high favor this fall, with every tone represented from Concord blue to catwaba wine.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS

Husband's aren't always fooling when they call a dress a "knock-out."

SENSE and NONSENSE

A jay-walker is a bird who tries to cross the street cat-anglin' and gets a flivver stuck in him. BORROWED EPITAPHS Tom Jones has gone to heavenly heights; He tried to drive with his lights. Jack Hayes this busy life forsakes; He never would relime his brakes. Here's all that's left of Amos Bossing: He tried to beat it to the crossing. No more from Brown are earthly smiles; He took the curve at forty miles. Ted Small has gotten to his abode; He kept the middle of the road. Here lies our friend, poor Tony Dix; For booze and gasoline won't mix! Jim Henry's friends are all bereft; He made a short turn to the left. Ben Gray is free from earthly pains; A rainy day—he had no chains. Poor Bill's beneath the sod, alas! He speeded up and tried to pass. Now Tom has joined the heavenly band; He tried to drive it with one hand.

LETTER GOLF

It's only six strokes from NOSE to EARS, but little Willie evidently thinks it's a thousand. He won't wash his ears any more. If you can't make it in six or better, turn to the par solution on another page:

Letter golf grid with words NOSE and EARS.

THE RULES 1-The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW TO HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN. 2-You can change only one letter at a time. 3-You must have a complete word of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count. 4-The order of letters cannot be changed.

SIGN ON BACK OF A FORD

The main difference between my girl and a traffic cop is that the cop means it when he says "Stop." Traffic Cop: "Don't you know you can't turn around in the middle of the block?" Sweet Young Thing (with her sweetest smile): "Oh, I think I can make it thank you."

Bacon—I understand some of your hens have stopped laying. Egbert—You've got that right. Bacon—What's the matter? Egbert—Oh, they got mixed up with some passing automobiles.

The young man who made a long trip in a flivver to ask his girl to marry him was "well shaken."

Any family can get together on the proposition that an automobile is a necessity.

The automobile may be putting a few trains out of business—but not when they meet on a grade crossing.

Be careful when you cross the street. Americans spend 14 billions a year on autos.

A knock on the automobile is better than two in it.

We know a fella so dumb that he thinks an auto crank is a traffic cop. I could not love thee, dear, so much If you owned but a Ford, But since you drive a Packard, sweet, The way I crave you—Lord! "Ever get a knock in your automobile, Jim?" "Often—when my wife rides in the back seat."

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The man who from the barrel rose, was just a streak and had no clothes. His body was a trail of white that wavered in the breeze. His eyes shone bright. His face was brown. He smiled some more as he gazed down. Said he, to all the Tinymites, "Now listen, if you please. "I've been locked up for years and years. It's almost brought me unto tears. Within that barrel I've been kept, with no way to get out. Upon the waves I've sailed along and heard the wild sea's washing song. I simply made the best of it. There was no use to pout. "And then I landed on the shore. I thought it was the ocean's floor, but when I heard your voices, I was sure I was on land. At first I was afraid you'd stop when you began to break the top, and then when you continued, I knew some friends were on hand. "Of course I really was surprised when I got out. I realized that I was free. Just think of that. It surely made me glad. The shore and trees looked, oh, so grand, and when I saw your happy band, I knew that you had saved me, and some real good friends I had. "Well, thanks! I'll sail out across these banks but first I'll try to prove to you that I am really glad. "When I have disappeared from sight, start rapping hard, with all your might upon this little barrel and you'll find a treat that's rare. Some little things will hop right out and they will make you laugh and shout." And then the queer man disappeared by drifting into air. (The Tinymites rap on the barrel in the next story.)

Jack Lockwill Back at Rocklake

by Gilbert Patten

Having read the notice on the bulletin board, Lockwill and Darling left the gymnasium together. "Hargon's quit, Jacko," giggled Willie. "You cooked him when you got on to his underground game." "Don't you think it," said Jack. "He'd never quit so easily." A large, handsome roadster came toward them on the driveway. "There he is!" exclaimed Darling.

Jack stared at one of the two girls who were in the roadster with Price Hargon. "Why, there's Betty!" he said, much surprised. He lifted his cap to Willie's sister.

"Now wouldn't that freeze your feet?" gulped Darling, turning to gaze at the roadster. "It froze the whole of me," admitted Lockwill. "Who is the other girl?"

"Oh, that's Hargon's sister Jane," answered Willie. "Some Jane! Did you observe her blazing red-gold hair? Some hair!" "I wasn't aware he had a sister in the school," said Jack. "She's a frosh, too," exclaimed Darling, "but I didn't know Betty knew her." "Have you told Betty about your silly joke?" asked Jack. Willie shook his head. "No chance yet." (To Be Continued)
