WAR THREATS LOOM IN EUROPE

TWO GO TO JAIL, $1400 FINES LAID AS RAID'S FRUIT

Some Time Sentences Suspend; Reizer, Broke In Law Violations, Goes to Seym's Street; Auto Cases

Eight Manchester liquor violators pleaded guilty in police court here this morning and Judge Raymond A. Johnson imposed fines totalling $1,400 and handed out almost a year in jail sentences, most of which were suspended.

All the defendants except one were charged with "actual sale" and "keeping with intent" and in practically every instance the recommendations made by prosecuting Attorney Charles R. Hathaway were followed. Attorney William S. Hyde represented all the violators and entered a plea of guilty in each case.

The arrests were the result of the biggest roundup of liquor violators ever made by the Manchester police department. It took place a week ago last night.

Two defendants received operative jail sentences. They are Carmelo Lombardo, 45, of 104 Homestead street, and Egnote Reizer, 44, of 218 School street. Both were sent to Seym's street jail in Hartford for sixty days. In addition they were fined $100 and costs on each of the two counts pressed, "actual sale" and "keeping with intent."

Reizer has been in court several times before for similar charges. Attorney Hyde told the court that Reizer "is a very stupid man;" that he has failed badly in business and that he was about to be wiped out financially. Mr. Hyde said that Reizer's store was very heavily mortgaged and that the Building and Loan Association was about to bring a foreclosure that would result in Reizer losing the business he now runs on School street.

Unprofitable Lawbreaking
The prosecuting attorney said that while it was apparently very true that Reizer was about to fail in business, it was nevertheless true that he had lived a consistent violator of the liquor laws and had not benefited by previous convictions in court. Mr. Hathaway said that Reizer's sales were small ones, but nevertheless he broke the law. He didn't doubt but Reizer had already paid more money for fines in court than he had made altogether in the liquor business. Judge Johnson was not inclined to show sympathy in Reizer's case any more than any of the others and imposed a fine of $100 on each count and a total jail sentence of sixty days.

Lombardo was given a like sentence and his wife, who was charged with "keeping with intent" was given a thirty day suspended jail sentence. Prosecuting Attorney Hathaway informed the court that Mrs. Lombardo had been in court several times in Hartford for breach of the peace and immoral conduct and that she was no credit to the town. "It's a pity she ever came here," he said. It was brought out that she was married one month, divorced the next and mixed up in other unconventional matters. This is the first time she has been arrested for liquor violations, but the prosecutor said it was not her fault she hadn't been caught before.

Distiller Gets Suspension
Lawrence Bolinsky, 23, 104 Bridge street, was fined $200 and costs and given a suspended jail sentence of sixty days. He had been arrested before on a similar charge. Antonio Mesillo, 55, of 100

BRAZIL OFFICIAL BRIBED BY MEXICO

Washington Newspaper Reproduces Documents That Tell the Whole Story.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Don Rodrigo Octavio, Brazilian arbiter of the special Mexican-American Mixed Claims Commission, which had charge of adjusting American claims against Mexico, received $100,000 from the Mexican government "as a recompense for good service to Mexico," the Washington Herald asserted today.

It was Octavio's wife, as the third and supposedly neutral member of the commission, that absolved Mexico from making any reparation for the famous Santa Isabel massacre in which sixteen Americans were murdered in cold blood by Mexican brigands. Seven months prior to this decision, and while the commission was sitting the Herald asserted, the Washington Herald asserted today.

Photographs of Documents
The Herald reproduces the official orders, which, it declares, were secured from the archives of the Mexican Foreign Office.

Six weeks prior to the decision's being handed down by the neutral arbiter, the Herald says, "The Mexican agent, Aguilas Elorduy, was boasting of the coming victory in the Santa Isabel case and Mexican newspapers were speaking of the forthcoming favorable decision in the confident light of advance knowledge."

The special mixed claims commission was composed of one American, Judge Ernest B. Ferry, of Lincoln, Nebraska, one Mexican, Fernando Gonzalez Roa, with Octavio sitting as the neutral arbiter, who was to act in case of disagreement. In the Santa Isabel case there was such disagreement, and Octavio cast his vote for Mexico, this, the Herald asserts, after having received $100,000 from the Mexican treasury.

POLAND - LITHUANIA ARE FACING CRISIS

PASSING OF M. BRATIANO STARTS BALKAN TROUBLE

Flames of Hatred Sweep Italy and France Over Rumanian Premier's Death—May Mean Civil War There; Soviet Russia Watching Poland's Movements; Will Back Smaller Nation—Italy Says "Albania Must Not Be Touched."

Vienna, Nov. 25.—Flames of hatred and political intrigue, involving indirectly two European continental powers—Italy and France—are sweeping the Balkans today.

With the death of Premier Bratiano, "strong man of Rumania," a new struggle is opening for control of the Bucharest government and it is believed in many quarters that the return of former Crown Prince Carol has been hastened. Fears are felt that bloodshed, perhaps civil war, may follow.

Advices from Belgrade said that tense feeling has been aroused by the new treaty of alliance between Italy and Albania, by which Italy is pledged to aid Albania if Yugoslavia should make war against her Balkan neighbors. The Italian Albanian treaty, which was signed at Tirana on Tuesday, is expected to hasten ratification of the Franco-Yugoslav pact, which is now before the Yugoslav Parliament.

Anti-Rumanian demonstrations are again reported from Bulgaria as the result of alleged persecution of Bulgarian citizens by Rumanians in Dobrudja.

Soviet Russia is keeping a watchful eye upon the Balkans, especially upon Rumania and will seize the first opportunity to restore Bessarabia, which Rumania took from Russia after the war.

POLAND-LITHUANIAN
London, Nov. 25.—The dispute between Lithuania and Poland over occupation of the Lithuanian city of Varna, which has been approaching a crisis, according to a Riga dispatch to the Daily Mail today.

According to reports from Soviet Russia, Poland may attempt to annex all of Lithuania.

The Lithuanian army is being put upon a war footing, and has been ordered to repulse any Polish attack.

Georges Tchitcherine, Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, is reported to have assured the Lithuanian government that it will have the full support of the Soviet Red army in the event of any aggression on Poland.

According to the Daily Mail's Riga correspondent, considerable anxiety is felt at Kovno, the Lithuanian capital, over continued conferences of the Polish military chiefs at Vilna.

READY FOR WAR
Moscow, Nov. 25.—The Poland is openly preparing for war against Lithuania, was charged by the official newspaper Izvestia today. In an editorial warning Poland against Lithuanian aggressions, the newspaper said:

"The Soviets cannot be indifferent to the wanton destruction of small states. Poland, which had the effrontery to propose a world peace plan to the League of Nations in September, is now openly preparing for war against Lithuania. Conspirators have been armed to create trouble along the frontier."

ITALY'S STAND
Rome, Nov. 25.—A denial that the military alliance treaty between Italy and Albania was directed at any third power was made today by the newspaper Popolo D'Italia.

Many observers were of the opinion that the treaty was a direct reprisal for the recent similar pact entered into between France and Jugoslavia.

The Popolo D'Italia's comment, however, embodied a threat that with the treaty in force, Albania's frontiers were to be strictly safeguarded. The paper said:

"The treaty is not directed against any third power. If no nation interferes with Albania's frontiers, the treaty will remain in the archives."

"Albania must not be touched."

PRINCE CAROL'S VIEWS
Paris, Nov. 25.—Premier Bratiano's death does not mean my immediate return to Rumania," former Crown Prince Carol told International News Service today. "You can see that I am not making any hurried preparations for returning to Bucharest as you may have thought."

The ex-crown prince, who is the storm center of Rumania's political strife in which six year old King Michael's throne is the stake, received the correspondent at his chateau. On account of the early hour Carol was not yet dressed for the day and wore only his pajamas. He sat in the breakfast room sipping a cup of coffee and with a pile of Paris newspapers on the table before him.

Carol's attention was called to a report printed in a morning newspaper that the Peasant Party had sent him an invitation to return to his native land forthwith. Asked about this report, the former crown prince replied:

"I must still await further events in Rumania, the morning press says, that the Peasant Party have sent me an invitation to return at once. I have not seen any such invitation."

"The conditions which I recently outlined to you regarding my return to Rumania cannot be worked out so soon after M. Bratiano's death. I prefer to make no predictions for the future. But any decisive move on my part is a matter of days, not a matter of hours."

"Whether I return to Rumania as king or member of the Council of Regents or simply as Prince Carol will not be decided until I arrive in Bucharest."

(continued from page 1) white and plighted, indicating that they had rolled on the whitewashed floors while scuffling with the convicts during the outbreak.

EIGHT DEAD

Dr. W. W. Day, Folsom prison physician, who has been held captive since he went in yesterday to minister to the injured, came out for a minute to tell prison officials that there were eight dead in the cell house, and about thirty wounded, of whom fifteen would require amputations.

GUARDS RELEASED

The four guards released today after about 24 hours of captivity are Emory L. Campbell, Bob McGreevy, Charles Bengler and Lawrence Purcell. None was injured.

THOSE WOUNDED

The prison employes wounded during the fray are: Guard Walter Neil, shot through the leg; Barnett Huse, secretary to Warden Smith, bullet wound in leg; Al Dealey, guard, stabbed in the shoulder; James A. Gannon, a guard, stabbed and slashed about the head and body; A. Maswick, veteran guard, clubbed with a revolver.

ONE OF THE CONTRIBUTING CAUSES TO

A suggestion from one of the prisoners that Ed Bathurst, prison engineer and guard, be sent in to get his weapon at the hospital wicket, was not carried out, as the guns were all passed out before the plan could be placed in effect.

READY FOR BATTLE

Folsom Prison, Calif., Nov. 25.—Planned by machine guns, gattling gun emplacements, armored police cars and a bombing squad, a grim silent army of one thousand men today awaited the signal that would send them into a bloody prison battle.

READY FOR BATTLE

Within the cell block, 1,200 desperate convicts, their ringed leaders facing certain death and determined to sell their lives dearly, awaited the army of prison guards, police, deputies and eight hundred state troopers.

TWO TANKS

Two armoured tanks, their noses pointed toward the south gate, and bristling with machine guns, are expected to lead the attack. The tanks, manned by experts, will be rushed through the outer gate of the prison school building and if possible wedged into the gate that connects with the cell block proper, according to battle plans. Once planted in the beach, the guns of the tanks will command the immediate interior of the rock-ribbed cell block.

WARDEN COURT SMITH

Warden Court Smith, speaking from the conference room, told International News Service that "at least four ringleaders of the convicts are known." He did not divulge their names. These men will be questioned, he said, as soon as order is completely restored in the prison.

THOSE WOUNDED

The prison employes wounded during the fray are: Guard Walter Neil, shot through the leg; Barnett Huse, secretary to Warden Smith, bullet wound in leg; Al Dealey, guard, stabbed in the shoulder; James A. Gannon, a guard, stabbed and slashed about the head and body; A. Maswick, veteran guard, clubbed with a revolver.

With the tank guns, it is planned to sweep the entire area where the desperate horde of convicts barricaded themselves and shot it out with guards and police shortly before dusk last night.

FIRE HOSE PREPARED

High pressure fire hoses, in the hands of Sacramento firemen, may also be brought into play. If the worst of these methods fail, it was intended to take the prisoners by storm. Inability to determine the number of guns in possession of the desperadoes made the outcome of this morning's expected attack uncertain.

Rockville NEUMANN 3RD AUTO VICTIM THIS WEEK

Unusual Accident Takes Rockville Boy's Life Early Thursday.

(Special to The Herald)
Rockville, Nov. 25—Three fatal accidents, all caused by automobiles, within a week, stand out as a record in Rockville, the last of the three victims being Arthur Neumann, 25, of Linden street, this city. Neumann, in company with Edward Huebner of Ellington, was returning from a dance and the two were bringing to Williamantic two girls to their home place. They intended to take the trip by way of South Willington and had stopped at the City Lunch here just before the start for Williamantic. They proceeded up East Main street and were about to make the sharp curve into Tolland avenue when something went wrong with the machine and an attempt was made to back around so they could coast down the hill towards the center of Rockville.

All of the occupants had left the car and were standing alongside excepting the driver. In some way the car overturned, crashing upon Neumann. There was a deep gash on his forehead which indicated that it might have been the blow on the head that caused a fracture of the skull and caused the death.

The dead man was well known in Rockville, is the son of Mrs. Anna Neumann and is survived by his mother and three sisters. His funeral will be held at his home at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Rev. John F. Baumann will officiate and burial will be in Grove cemetery.

Buried This Afternoon
The funeral of Mrs. Marie Schaff, who died Wednesday, was held this afternoon at the home of her daughter in East Hartford. The body was brought to Rockville for burial in the Grove Hill cemetery.

Attending Convention
Stewart Dillon, of the firm of the L. P. Fitzgerald Company, went to New York this morning to be present at the conference of all Ford agencies, which is to be held in that place this afternoon. Henry Ford will be present at the meeting and will explain the new car which will be put on the market on December 2. This will be followed by a trip to the factory at Kearney, N. J., where the assembling of the automobiles will be shown. The contest recently held between the Chicago and New York offices on sales of tractors and to the L. P. Fitzgerald Company was awarded the highest honor of the two agencies. This gives them a special merit and will figure in the distribution of the new pleasure cars, which they expect will give them at least one of each model for the early showings next month.

"Scooped"
Stephen Von Eun, editor of the Rockville Journal, was "scooped" badly this week. His paper is printed on Thursday, but this year, because of Thanksgiving, the paper made its appearance on Wednesday. About two hours after press time a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Von Eun at the Rockville City Hospital. But the father will have to wait a whole week before he can announce it.

Cast Selected
The cast for the junior prom show of the Rockville Public High School has been selected. They will present "Katy Did." The prom show will be given on December 15.

Night Mean Adoption
While Ellington is a town all by itself, it has from time to time adopted or asked aid from Rockville. The most peculiar thing of all is the notice that has appeared on the public sign post of Rockville giving the date when voters will be made. It was put up by someone from Ellington and stands out, in its blue color, with the prominence of that of the city call of Rockville.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Zimmerman
Mrs. Wilhelmina Zimmerman, aged 72, widow of the late John Zimmerman, of this city, died at her home on Prospect street early Thursday morning. Mrs. Zimmerman was born in Germany, Sept. 2, 1855. The funeral will be held at her home on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in Grove Hill cemetery. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. George Bata, Mrs. William Schweitzer and Mrs. Howard Lee of this city; and one sister, Mrs. Belle Hetzler of Holyoke, Mass., and ten grandchildren.

Morse-Seaman

TWO GO TO JAIL, $1400 FINES LAID AS RAID'S FRUIT

Homestead street, at whose place the police found three stills and a large quantity of hooch, was fined $200 and given twenty days suspended jail sentence. The prosecuting attorney said Mesilio had been doing a "landoffice business." The case of Joseph Goldberg, 64, of Walnut street, was nolleed at the request of the prosecutor but Harry Silver, 33, who was in business with Goldberg, was fined $200 and given a ten days suspended jail sentence. He was termed a "suitcase bootlegger" by Mr. Hathaway. Mr. Hyde informed the court that Silver had lost a lot of money and had filed a petition of bankruptcy.

Stool Had "Sick Wife"
Samuel Barrabee, 48, of 53 Maple street, was fined $200 and given a suspended jail sentence of thirty days. Barrabee claimed to have only sold a pint of liquor to a man who said he had a sick wife and sister. This man was the stool pigeon. Mr. Hathaway asserted that Barrabee had been delivering liquor to one of the "clubs on Main street" and Attorney Hyde said he "has played a miserable part as far as a business man is considered."

Tony Prichodko, 44, of 62 North street, was fined $200 and given a suspended jail sentence. He is employed by the Connecticut Trolley company as a section hand. It was his first arrest on this violation and no complaints had been received before. The prosecutor recommended $75 and costs on each charge but the court was not inclined to show leniency to that extent.

Automobile Cases
Herman Hale of Hartford was in court charged with operating an automobile without the proper registration but the case was nolleed when it was shown that he did not own the machine and was unaware of the violation. Sergeant John Crockett made the arrest on Center street Wednesday.

Yesterday's Session
Intoxication brought two men to court Thanksgiving morning. John Vall and John Rudeck, both of South Glastonbury. They were so drunk they took the South Manchester car at Hartford rather than the South Glastonbury. When they reached Manchester they were furious and both men began to kick up a row. They were placed under arrest by Sergeant Crockett. At the police station Vall started in to wreck things. He smashed the toilet in the corridor completely and threw part of it through the window.

Judge Johnson imposed a fine of $15 and costs and a jail sentence of 15 days. He suspended the jail sentence. Rudeck was fined $10 and costs. As he had no money he went to jail to work it out.

CHARITY WHIST
Ladies of the Emblem club will give their first charity whist at the Elks home in Rockville, Wednesday evening, December 7, at 8 o'clock. Both progressive whist and pivot bridge will be played, with prizes in each section, also a prize for the non-players. Mrs. Thomas Dannaher of Bigelow street is the general chairman. Mrs. George H. Williams is in charge of ticket distribution for Manchester. Refreshments and a social hour will follow the card games. The proceeds of the party will be used for charitable work at the Christmas season.

DOUBLE FEATURE BILL AT RIALTO SATURDAY

Same Today, Too; "Fourth Commandment" Sunday, Monday, Tuesday.

Tomorrow will be double feature bargain day at the Rialto Theater and sixteen reels of motion pictures will be shown. One of the features will be "The Flying U Ranch" with Tom Tyler in the leading role. In addition to the other feature, there will be the eighth chapter of the serial "Fighting for Fame" and a two-reel comedy entitled, "Mickey's Eleven." Everyone sees Mickey and his Gang in still life in the Herald daily but here is an opportunity to see them "alive." Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, "The Fourth Commandment" with Belle Bennett will be shown. Although this great masterpiece is a super-special production, it will be shown for the same popular prices.

Tonight's program is the same that thrilled and entertained large audiences yesterday, a double feature program with Leatrice Joy in "Vanity" and Bob Steele in "The Bandit's Son." In addition, there is an "Our Gang" comedy, "War Feathers." "Vanity" deals with a debutante reared to regard life as a carefully patched pattern with certain standards by which all people may be judged. Always she has done the correct thing, but on the eve of her wedding she follows a mad impulse, believing that no one will ever know. Unpleasant results follow and Barbara learns the futility of vanity, finding that human nature reacts according to environment. Even murder becomes understandable to her.

Charles Ray, who plays a featured supporting role, is a vastly different individual than in former characterizations. A debonair marabout-town has replaced the rural lad, and he is said to be as adept in sophisticated roles as he was as a small-town youth. Alan Hale has the featured villain role.

Middlesex County Council of England has banned Sunday motion picture shows.

FUR COATS COST FORTUNES
Scarcity of furs is sending prices of fur coats, so popular this season, to record figures in London. One woman of fashion recently paid $30,000 for a Russian sable coat and many mink coats have brought $10,000. Silver-grey chinchillas are almost priceless and only a few are to be found in the English metropolises.

TOUGHEST OF OLD HANG-ON COUGHS GO

Why send a boy to do man's work? Sweet, sugary cough syrups may help a simple cough, but when you are traveling along towards the cemetery with a stubborn tight old cough that lingers on and on with the most persistent devilishness then you need a REAL cough medicine—and the real destroyer of tough old weakening coughs is Broncholine Emulsion.

Many times a few doses will stop the hacking and loosen things up and you can depend upon half a bottle to make a two months' die hard cough quit cold and disappear. Life is sweet—it will be much sweeter when you get rid of that old time cough that wears you down.

Ask Magnell Drug Co., So. Manchester, or any wide awake dealer anywhere for a bottle of Broncholine Emulsion. There's no dope in it—or chloroform, and a couple of teaspoonsful will usually end any ordinary cough.—adv.

ABOUT TOWN

A flock of wild geese, flying unusually high, passed over the town shortly after eight o'clock this morning. There seemed to be about 200 birds in the flock, an unusually large number. The geese were flying southward which means, according to some hunters, that we are at the beginning of winter.

William Downs of Hartford, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dart and Harold Rhodes of Newington spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dart of 21 Flower street.

The King's Heralds of the South Methodist church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 to make plans for the Christmas bazaar.

Dr. Joseph McEvitt of Akron, O., was a visitor at the home of his mother, Mrs. Mary McEvitt of Walnut street, over the holiday.

Joel M. Nichols, Jr., of New York city, spent the holiday with his father, Joel M. Nichols, of the Manchester News Shop. Mr. Nichols is a writer of short stories and is now also connected with a large advertising concern.

Scrubbing with soap and water alone will not sterilize your bathtub, for soap cannot destroy the millions of germs that breed there. Slypho-Nathol in the water you use to clean it will make your tub absolutely germ-proof and easier to clean. Use the same solution to disinfect other bathroom fixtures, too. Get Slypho-Nathol at all dealers.

Prepare a harmless and effective gargle by dissolving two Bayer Tablets of Aspirin in four table-spoonfuls of water. Gargle throat thoroughly. Repeat in two hours if necessary.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Friday, November 25.
Now that Thanksgiving is past radio listeners, especially the children, will begin to think about Christmas. We most likely had this in mind when we scheduled the feature "Santa Claus and His Gnomes" for broadcasting at 7:30 Friday night. Other highlights will be concerts by the German male chorus through WTIC at 8:00, the National male quartet through CNRA at 9:00, and the Suffolk Harmonic chorus at 10:00. The Davenport high school glee club through WOC and the Enterprisers mixed quartet through WOO, all at 10:00.
An out of the ordinary highlight will be the rendition by WEAL at 9:00 of excerpts from the Syracuse Festival by the choir of Har Shal Temple. Football games to be broadcast Saturday afternoon will include the Army vs. Navy through WJZ, WJZ and WJAG, Boston through WJAG and WJZ, and Notre Dame vs. Stanford through WJZ and WJAG. THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE: (143) Wonders of the X-ray

One interesting commercial use to which the X-rays are put is in destroying certain microbes that attack tobacco. Great losses used to be incurred through the microbes that attacked the leaf. Now infected tobacco can be carried on a slowly moving band which passes under powerful X-ray tubes, destroying the microbes.
Custom-house officers sometimes use X-rays to examine bales and packages to learn if objects liable to duty have been concealed in them.

SHOES BY X-RAY
An invention made a few years ago by Dr. William David Coolidge has completely changed the future outlook for X-rays. The cathode, shown in the center of the Coolidge tube pictured here, attracts the electrons from the improved spiral filament shown to the left. As the filament is heated more cathode rays bombard the cathode, generating more powerful rays.
Shoe specialists use a neat X-ray box over which the foot can be placed. The bones of the foot can be seen inside the shoe.

HEBRON

The Columbia Chapter of the Red Cross, comprising the towns of Columbia, Andover and Hebron, has been organized into activity by the recent disaster from floods. The towns have been districted and the regular roll call for membership is being undertaken. Mrs. Fannie Dixon Welch is chairman of the organization, and has the reorganization in charge. This chapter did fine work during the World War, being one of the few rural chapters of the United States maintaining an existence separate from that of a larger center. Its last work was in sending relief to the flooded sections of the South, when it nearly tripled its quota.

No Rheumatic Sufferer Can Afford to Miss This

Pains, Aches, Swellings, Stiffness and Other Miseries Quickly Disappear

Guaranteed by Magnell Drug Co., So. Manchester, and All Good Druggists.

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of Allenru, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with rheumatic pains, aches and twinges, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenru has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished often in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiable and where the sufferer in many cases was almost helpless.

RORABACK ISSUE.

The Hartford Times applauds a recent declaration by former Senator T. F. McGrath, made at a gathering of Democrats at New Haven, that the way to get the control of the state away from the Republicans is for the Democratic party of the state to adopt a platform consisting of a single plank, "Get rid of Roraback."

The Times, however, rather naively admonishes its party that besides this startlingly original platform—which by the way is merely the de-camouflaged program of Connecticut Democrats during the last dozen years—there will be needed a candidate for governor "in whose honesty, strength of purpose, capacity for leadership and aloofness from the very evils Mr. Roraback represents they have confidence."

The Times, it will be concluded, is setting its party quite a stunt. It quite evidently perceives that the day for upsetting the Republican regime in Connecticut by sheer demagogic hally-hoo is over and done with.

The Times wants a Democratic candidate who is honest, strong of purpose and possesses the qualities of leadership. If it knows of any such Democrat who at the same time will hold "aloof" from the "evils" which Mr. Roraback represents it might, just for luck, name him.

We are strongly of the suspicion that most of the Democrats of gubernatorial size—if any—in Connecticut are at heart very much in sympathy with the political and economic methods of the chairman of the Republican state central committee and would, if they had the opportunity, stand for pretty much the same things that Mr. Roraback stands for—lacking however that astute leader's talent for organization, clarity of vision and directness of method.

J. Henry Roraback's leadership of the Republican party in Connecticut has resulted in a crystallization of that party's principles into a definite program of service to the people of the state. Instead of the business, industrial and corporate interests of this commonwealth—upon which the prosperity of the population very decidedly rests—being under constant attack by a class of politicians who had no conception of their burdens and responsibilities, and whose only purpose in the attack was to carry favor with the suspicious and the ill-informed, Connecticut business of every kind has been given a square deal—no more.

A fiscal system has been originated which is held up as a model throughout the country. A highway policy has been inaugurated and successfully pursued which is a marvel of achievement and public financing. This state's business has become the people's business. And the dominant political party of Connecticut has become a smooth running organization whose sole business is the management of Connecticut affairs so that the industries and the general affair of getting a living and getting ahead may be followed in an orderly and effective way.

TEMPER CRIMES

In February of this year one Francesco Caruso, a Sicilian who had been resident in this country for 16 years, stabbed a physician to death in Brooklyn, N. Y. He committed the crime after the death from diphtheria of his little boy, whom the doctor had treated with anti-toxin. The reason he gave was that the physician had killed his boy.

Caruso was convicted of murder in the first degree. Instantly there arose a chorus of protest, joined in by persons in all walks of life all over the country. Only one element in the tragedy appeared to appeal to these people—the picture of the primitive father, driven to desperation and frenzy by what he conceived to be the callous slaughter of his child.

Little thought, apparently, was wasted on the doctor, young, married and himself the father of children, who had come across half the great town at the urge of a druggist friend, to minister to the sick child when no neighborhood doctor could be obtained. Still less thought, obviously, was given to the effect of such a case upon other physicians called on to try to save the lives of relatives of other men as savage, as ignorant, and as passionately devoted to their kin as this murderer.

Anyhow, enough noise was made over the affair, and enough money raised, to bring the case before an appellate court, which has now ordered a new trial on the ground that there was no premeditation and consequently no first degree murder.

Now, beyond any doubt, there will be a long and desperate fight to have the killer freed altogether. And the evil thing is that there can be no assurance whatever that the effort will not be successful. The laws against homicide are framed to protect society against two classes of criminals, the shrewdly calculating who kill almost invariably for gain and the undisciplined; savage creature whose first impulse in anger is to kill and who puts no curb upon the impulse.

Under the latter category come such as this Caruso. If it is to come to pass where murder is to be forgiven on the grounds of ignorant rage; if half-savage and half-mad temper-ridden human beasts are to be permitted to kill decent people because of any fancied injury, then the fine large crop of homicides annually produced in this country will be multiplied over and over again.

The life of this slayer, it seems to us, is an insignificant thing compared to the notification services which the state may be able to stab and shoot if only their tempers can be shown to have been sufficiently stirred. We shall be reverted far toward barbarism if it become an adequate defense for murder to say, "He made me crazy mad."

And if failure to cure the patient is to be sufficient reason for the murder of the doctor, small blame to the physician who, in default of refuge protection from the law, refuses to enter the homes of persons likely to pay him with a knife thrust.

EXECUTING WOMEN

In view of the failure of the appeal of Ruth Brown Snyder and Henry Gray, under death sentence for the murder of the former's husband in New York state, it is interesting to discover that history does not justify the common belief that women sentenced to death in that commonwealth escape execution more frequently than men. In fact the situation seems to be exactly the contrary. It is very doubtful indeed that anything like seven-eighths of the male murderers receiving death sentences in New York have ever paid that penalty; yet of the eight women originally doomed to die by the courts of that state only one has ever escaped the extreme penalty. Five were hanged and two electrocuted.

Hattie Miller, Negress, was saved from the electric chair by Governor Miller in 1921 and is still in Auburn prison under commutation to life servitude. She is the only member of her sex to evade the ruthless carrying out of the law's penalty, in the state of New York, once conviction of first degree murder has been secured.

The percentage is heavily against the feminine sex—after conviction. That being a woman has enabled many a murderer in that state to dodge the rope or the chair is notorious. But the escapes have come, not through appellate courts or executive clemency, but from the action of juries, who have been prone to the bringing of third degree manslaughter verdicts or acquittals, sometimes with a fine indifference to the evidence.

Precedent does not promise well for Ruth Brown Snyder.

JUST PRUNES

The news that six little American girls and boys have sent sweet letters and gifts of American paints, brushes and pencils and a little art-

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER. Washington, Nov. 25.—It probably is mere coincidence that the best newspaperwoman in Washington is also the most attractive and the most feminine.

She is one of 13 girls admitted to the House and Senate press galleries among more than 300 men. Her name is Ruth Finney and she is correspondent for the San Francisco-News and other Scripps-Howard newspapers over the country.

Miss Finney found herself in the news last month when the Fall-Sinclair oil trial opened and defense attorneys asked prospective jurors whether or not they had read any of her stories in the case. Miss Finney has a faculty of putting known facts together and letting them draw their own conclusions.

The Fall-Sinclair lawyers didn't want anyone on the jury who might have been impressed by her articles. She is reputed to know as much or more about the oil cases than any newspaperman in Washington. After a mistrial had been declared and an investigation begun, William J. Burns indulged in some cussing during an interview with newspaper reporters outside the grand jury room and Miss Finney made careful note of the fact in her next day's story, much to the open disgust of a person named Burns.

Here, it seems to us, in America are more chances for expressing real sympathy, real charity, real love, than in the palaces of Rumania.

We hope, too, that King Michael doesn't deem these letters and gifts symbols of American tribute to royal blood. It is to be hoped these gifts do not put our boys and girls in a false light.

New York, Nov. 25.—If your little daughter, Mary-Ellen-Elizabeth, insists on tooting her big brother's saxophone—don't discourage her.

The rage is on along Broadway for pretty young maids who can compete with their brother jazz bandists.

A couple of seasons ago the higher educations of this land began to turn out young men who appeared on the "main stem" with ukuleles under their arms. Before the last snow had fallen, one band of college syncretists after another came on the scene.

The good news spread. Every young university "jazz-hound" who could create harmony out of a fraternity piano began to descend upon New York. Two or three of them appeared at the end of their first season in bright lights and today are looked upon as the leading collaborators on musical comedy—I refer in particular to the team of Rogers and Hart.

This season the co-eds have caught on. A co-ed number is one of the big hits of the latest Ziegfeld show. It's a good old new-fashioned jazz band number.

Glimpsing down the program my eye fell across the list of names of the lovely young ladies who thump a mean banjo or moan a meaner saxophone.

Here, if you please, was Miss Genevieve Brown, of Hardinsburg, Ky., who is the daughter of State Senator Brown and who graduated to jazz banding from the University of Kentucky.

And here was Lucy Westgate, graduate of Lawrence College, at Appleton, Wis. Her father, so they tell me, is a prominent doctor.

And here was Frances Garten, from Kokomo via the University of Indiana—and she the grand-daughter of the W. C. T. U. vice president in the Hoosier state.

There was a long list of others of which these three names are typical. But it goes to show you that when Kentucky, Wisconsin, Indiana and way states get together on Broadway, the combination is hard to beat.

Now I didn't want that oil. My car does not require that particular kind. What I wanted was to get it off, which I did with much coaxing and a few choice words which I dare to utter only in my garage.

I cannot help wondering if there was not something wrong with the coat of road-oil. About half of that oil went home with me on my fenders, bumpers, windshield, hood and running gear. In a few days the rest will have been carried off to various sections of New England.

Now I didn't want that oil. My car does not require that particular kind. What I wanted was to get it off, which I did with much coaxing and a few choice words which I dare to utter only in my garage.

KEITH'S STORE CROWDED FOR TURKEY DRAWINGS

One of the liveliest features of the Thanksgiving holiday here in town was the prize drawing for three live turkeys which was held at the Keith Furniture Co., Wednesday evening. It is estimated that about a thousand people were in attendance. The store was packed to the doors at any rate, and when the time came for the drawing it was necessary to clear the second floor of all furniture and move the crowd up there.

This is the third successive year that Keith's have staged this event, and it is coming to be a very popular institution, each year having proved more successful than the last. During the whole month of November, Keith's give a free Thanksgiving turkey with every suite of furniture and kitchen range they sell, and they also give coupons with every dollar taken in, the coupons being used for the prize drawing Thanksgiving Eve. All day Wednesday, free turkeys were delivered around town and neighboring districts, delighting many a home with a fine, juicy feast. Then in the evening the crowd assembled for the drawing.

THE STORY THIS FAR

CALDWELL, Kas. In 1880 was a wicked cow town, close to the border of the Indian Territory. There GORDON W. LILLIE, later to be widely known as PAWNEE BILL, was waiting on table in a restaurant, when JOE CRAIG, foreman of the Bar K ranch, the Cherokee Strip, came to town and quarreled in the restaurant with TOM BENTON.

Smarting under the quarrel, Benton later that night picked a fight in a poker game with HARRISON, professional gambler who had come to Caldwell with his small son, TONY, and shot him.

After the killing Benton rode away and Craig took Tony Harrison under his wing.

COLONEL TERRY MOORE, former Virginia and Civil War veteran, owner of the Bar K brand, welcomed the orphaned boy to his ranch.

CHAPTER IV

CRAIG opened the wallet and produced a faded envelope. As temporary administrator of Jeff Harrison's estate—which job I took on uninvited and without legal authority—I examined the deceased's personal effects. If I'd known what was in this letter I wouldn't of read it.

"It's a secret," I'm satisfied to let remain with the administrator," said Titus Moore.

"I'm insisting on telling you—and nobody else. Jeff Harrison's wife left him 11 years ago and ran away with another man. This note is her parting word."

"Does the boy know?"

"The boy thinks his mother is dead. Says she died in Chicago when he was two years old. It does beat all what unreasonable critters women are. . . I'm begging your pardon, colonel—I didn't mean any disrespect to Mrs. Moore. I'll demerit if I ever get married. I can't imagine any woman turning Jeff Harrison down to take up with somebody else. I sure did admire that man," he sighed.

David Payne, "Father of Oklahoma."

The colonel smiled and brought his hand down to table, signifying an end to the conversation. "My wife and daughter," he said briefly, "will be coming down from Kansas City next week. I'm buying a hundred yearlings from Colonel Chivington, want you to take some of the boys, ride over and get them. You'd better get started in a couple of days."

"I'll start tomorrow. Think I'll take Tony along, if he ain't saddle-sore, and show him how to ride herd. It'll be a two-day drive. It's all of 35 miles."

In Caldwell, Gordon Lillie paused outside the Big Buffalo saloon to read the proclamation that had been tacked up beside the door. It was a warning to any and all who might be contemplating an invasion of the Indian Territory with intent to settle therein. "I, Rutherford B. Hayes, president of the United States . . . do admonish and warn all such persons preparing to move or settle upon any of the land of said territory."

That was the gist of it. There was more, and the youth skimmed through the formal, stilted phraseology and turned away with an exclamation of disgust.

"Foolishness!" he exclaimed. "Foolishness or cowardice—one or the other. That land down there's public domain. If congress had any spine, they'd open it up and provide homes for thousands of citizens who'd turn the land to some use."

He strode angrily down the street and turned in at the restaurant. At the time, rumors were afloat that attempts were to be made to invade the territory by David Payne's men. Payne was the thorn in the side of the government at Washington and a disturbing influence to the Oklahoma cattlemen. He had begun the agitation to have the land thrown open for settlement and, not satisfied with his first failure, had become a propagandist, an organizer and a direct actionist. Already the word "Boomers," as applied to David Payne and his followers, had crept into the vocabulary of border Kansas; and Payne went from town to town, Wichita, Arkansas City, Hannevill, Caldwell—stirring up sentiment and inflaming the hearts of the disaffected.

He rode into Caldwell the day President Hayes' proclamation was posted and stopped for dinner in the restaurant where Gordon Lillie was working.

Lillie recognized him immediately as he dropped wearily into a chair. The man had the face of a poet and the eyes of a dreamer. He removed his soft black hat and dropped it to the floor beside his chair. His hair, dark and wavy, was wet with perspiration, Gordon Lillie noted, as though from long or hard riding.

After he had eaten, and lay back in his chair, relaxed, the youth summoned up courage to speak to him. "You're David Payne, aren't you? Will this proclamation mean that you will stay out?"

And Payne's face was grim as he answered. "The proclamation means nothing. Exactly nothing."

Lillie, accustomed by now to the rough speech of the frontier, was a little surprised at the gentle modulation of the man's voice. He stood silently by, hoping that Payne would talk. He had made the start; he wouldn't, if Payne was tired, tire him further with meaningless questions.

Presently Payne spoke. "Which side of the fence are you on? I suppose you're one of the many that think David Payne and his Boomers are fools. His voice was listless. As he spoke he eyed the salt shaker, around which he was clenching and unclenching his fist.

"You're wrong there. I'm hoping you win. I don't know much about the inside facts, but I can't see the fairness of letting a few cattlemen get rich at the expense of thousands who are looking for homes."

Payne's eyes lighted as he turned them on the serious-faced youth. He was once more Payne the evangelist, with a convert before him.

"I'm glad to hear it. You stated the human side of the case pretty well. There's a legal side, too, and the government knows I'm right, but won't do anything about it."

"That land down there," pointing southward, "was set aside, as you know, for a number of Indian tribes, many of whom ceded their lands in return for a guaranty that they were to be forever unmolested and undisturbed in the Indian territory and never confined within the borders of a state. The government made separate treaties with the different tribes; the Five Nations — Chickasaws, Choctaws, Seminoles, Creeks and Cherokees; the Pawnees, Quapaws, Comanches, Osages—the whole shooting match of them. The strip was turned over to the Cherokees as an outlet and a hunting ground—12,000 square miles of land. Today they've got about as much use for all that land to hunt on as—well, you know how the buffalo have been massacred with the coming of the railroads. "But it's not the strip I'm aiming at first, although the Cherokees don't own the strip, but only the right to pass over it and hunt on it. I'm thinking about those two million acres in the center of the territory, called Oklahoma. That's undisputedly public domain. The Seminoles ceded it back to the government, for the use of other friendly Indians and freedmen. I could tell you a long story, if I wanted to, about how the Creeks and Seminoles didn't get along together, but I won't. Anyway, the Civil War outlawed the land freedmen and the other Indians are well taken care of. As far as I know, there isn't an Indian in Oklahoma—I'm speaking now of that two million acres and not the whole territory, although there's been a bill in congress every year for the last seven years, advocating naming the whole business Oklahoma."

He paused, and in the interval banged his fist down on the table. "It's public domain and open to pre-emption. But if a man goes down there with the land freedmen and the soldiers run him out. Funny," he added bitterly, "that the soldiers are so busy running poor people out they can't see the cattlemen."

"What," asked Lillie, "are you going to do about it?"

"Anything I can. For one thing—I'm sure you're not looking for information to give to someone else."

The youth reddened. "I wouldn't have any reason to. My name's Gordon Lillie. People call me Bill on account of my middle name, I'm from Illinois and my folks live near Wellington."

Payne looked him over keenly. Then, apparently satisfied. "Well, it doesn't make much difference who knows my plans. I'm not concealing anything. You're young, aren't you?"

"Going on 20."

"Well, this is a young man's fight. Why don't you get in it?"

"I've got to earn a living. I figure my sympathies are in it already, if that means anything."

"It does," Payne rose from his chair. "Don't be surprised if you hear pretty soon that Dave Payne has been run out of the territory."

"You're going in anyway—in spite of the proclamation?"

"I told you once I'm not worrying over the proclamation. This is the second one. The first didn't stop us, did it? It'll take more than proclamations to keep us out."

"Aren't you afraid the soldiers might shoot you?" Lillie ventured.

"The government's on their side."

David Payne laughed. "That's one thing, young man, the soldiers will be careful not to do. David Payne dead might do more harm to the government than David Payne alive. All the cause needs is a martyr. I'm not figuring the government is going to donate one."

He walked out, a cynical smile playing on his lips.

Lillie watched him move down the street. There was something about the man, something compelling. He felt a sudden surge of longing to follow him. Why not throw in his lot with David Payne's and see what came of this fight to open up a new country to civilization? Surely, he wouldn't starve doing it. There'd be ways of working, earning something.

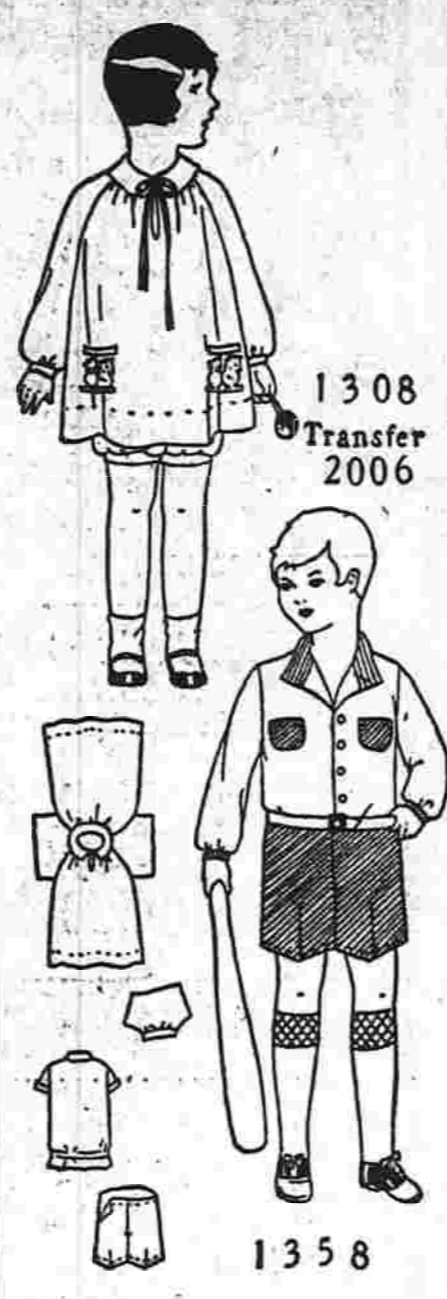

He lingered a little longer at the restaurant. Then he directed his steps toward the postoffice—and a turning point in his life.

(To Be Continued)

In the next chapter Gordon rescues an Indian and has a fight on his hands.

HAIR DYES MUST BE APPLIED CAREFULLY

At a meeting of a western medical association, occasion was taken by one of the members to denounce the use of certain cosmetics as harmful. Chief among these were hair dyes.

Now there are innumerable people who dye their hair because they wish to escape that first significant betrayal of the loss of youth. Hundreds of persons have used advertised dyes successfully, but they do not rush into print and tell all their friends of their success.

Of course not. They do not even wish it to be known that they do color their hair. So you never hear of those cases. But now and then someone buys a dangerous article, does not follow directions, develops a skin trouble as a result, and lo, a great howl goes up from her and her friends.

As a matter of fact, most hair dyes, if they are effective at all, are composed of ingredients that are more or less dangerous, particularly if they are not applied just in the right manner. If the hair could be removed from contact with the scalp, nicely dyed, and then replaced on the head, all would be well. But this, unfortunately, cannot be done.

Since the manufacturers do not wish to take the world into their confidence as to the composition of their preparations for tinting the hair, they do not print the ingredients on the label. And even if they did, the average buyer would not be any the wiser. So he is decidedly in the dark, with respect to his purchase.

The WOMAN'S DAY

By ALIENE SUMNER

By ALIENE SUMNER

Cleopatra, that symbol of the whole world's beautiful women in one, was really not beautiful at all, biography now tells us. In fact, she was almost plain, but she knew exactly how to make the most of every feature she possessed. Incidentally, she had enough money to send out droves of slaves to dig up water lily roots from the Nile from which oils and creams were extracted for her perfume, toilettries. Any plain woman could be beautiful if she had money enough, that's the point. But watch that "if."

Perhaps there is something in the legend that men are intrinsically more domestic than women and are fast approaching the time when their work shall be in the kitchen and women take up their despised tasks outside.

WOMEN FADDISTS

Because "women make a fad of things" they are endangering the whole future of aviation, says Thea Rasche, famous German aviatrix now in this country. "There should be more preparation and less foolhardiness in selecting planes and preparing for trans-Atlantic flights," she says. "It is so detrimental to aviation for women who know nothing about it to buy airplanes and try flying as passengers just because they have money enough to hire a pilot and buy new plaything."

And what comeback can one make, when one knows perfectly well that American women are exactly like that?

FLAPPER SCHOOL MA'AM

"The flapper teacher" was recently expelled by a city superintendent of schools who declared that "the flapper with her snappy, frivolous exterior had a serious and earnest purpose in her job." Of course, what room for argument? If there must be some, the one supreme argument is that the nearer in age and understanding to the most able leader of children is to those children, the better for them. I would much rather send my child to school to the shortest-skirted flapper who ever added 2 and 2 than to a woman, however admirable, who adheres to all the traditions of the long-skirted era.

KING'S ICE CREAM

If a king is given a special order of pudding for dessert instead of the ice cream served the other guests, it is very hard form to ask for some of it. That's what happened to King George when giving a dinner to his new German Imperial ambassador to the Court of St. James, Prince Karl Lichnowsky, we learn in the ambassadors' recently published memoirs. It was his Princess who, observing King George's pudding, pouted at her own ice cream until the King, laughing, called for another plate, and divided his pudding with her. Queen Mary, however, was very much "fussed," narrative continues, proving that the "M. I. K." (More in Kitchen) code would be as useful in palace as in home.

KITCHEN BESSIES

Speaking of kitchens, is it because men really are by nature "Kitchen Bessies" that they do most of the inventing of kitchen improvements? The recent International Exhibition of Inventions in London showed hundreds of household appliances invented by men. There was a skillet cover which rang a bell when the contents of the skillet reached a certain temperature, an egg-holder in which the egg could be boiled, thus eliminating transfer from pot to cup, a special sink basket, and scores of others.

Perhaps there is something in the legend that men are intrinsically more domestic than women and are fast approaching the time when their work shall be in the kitchen and women take up their despised tasks outside.

GERMS SMALL, BUT THEIR WORK IS POWERFUL

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

About fifty years have passed since Pasteur, by his work on anthrax, first showed certainly that germs actually cause disease.

In the intervening periods thousands of bacterial organisms have been discovered and hundreds have been identified definitely as having the ability to cause certain diseases of mankind. In 1880 the bacterium associated with typhoid fever was isolated; then in rapid order came the discovery of the germ causes of pneumonia, glanders, tuberculosis, cholera, tetanus or lockjaw, malle fever, meningitis, typhus, dysentery, bubonic plague, botulism, syphilis, whooping cough, leprosy and many others.

The first man actually to see bacteria was probably the famous Dutchman who invented the microscope, Leeuwenhoek. The bacteria are small, and it has been estimated that it would take three hundred billions of bacilli of average size to weigh a pound.

Few people are willing to assign to organisms of such minute size the powerful actions that they actually have. They multiply rapidly under favorable conditions, one germ producing two new ones in about twenty minutes. If they re-

What a Tatting Tongue Can Do

By Olive Roberts Barton

Edgar A. Guest has an article on "Gossip" in a November magazine that I wish could be written in electric letters on the hilltops.

There is more truth and common sense in it than anything of the kind I have ever read, bar none.

To begin with he says that gossip is the meanest habit in the world. Let me quote some of the other good things in it. "A gossip is a public menace, and richly deserves to be muzzled for a biting, dishonest human tongue can do more harm than the snapping jaws of a dog."

"A gossip can ruin a reputation, start a run on a bank, break up a church, make neighbors hate one another, shatter the happiness of a town. No man is immune to the serpent-like flashing of a gossip's tongue."

"One great trouble with gossip is," he remarks further, "is that they never wait to know facts before repeating something malicious they may hear." Isn't it true? We take the vilest things on mere hearsay and repeat them at a bridge table, merely pretending it with "I heard." The more you repeat it, the more you repeat it for fact.

"WHAT PRICE GLORY"

State Sunday Feature Has Only Heroes and Heroines; McLaglen Nearest Approach.

"What Price Glory," the merry war film coming to the State theater on Sunday, is a screen play without a villain. Another novel feature of it is that you can use your own discretion in picking the hero. Nobody will dispute that the fiery Charmaine, played by Dolores Del Rio, is a more than adequate heroine, and that Privates Kiper and Lipinsk supply all the comedy necessary.

But who's the hero? Is it Captain Platts, the hard-bolled Marine who uses profanity by preference, gets gorgeously drunk at Barle-Duc, and leads his men into battle as light-heartedly as though he were going on a picnic? Or is it Sergeant Quirt, the rough and buster-leatherneck who knows all the card tricks in the deck, steals his superior officers' sweethearts when he gets a chance, and takes his war as a matter of course?

Victor McLaglen plays the first and critics say it's his best performance yet; while Edmund Lowe is "the shifty baby" of the second part, and so cunningly did Laurence Stallone, one time captain in the Marines himself, and Maxwell Anderson construct the play that even on the stage, the audience could choose its own hero.

In making the film, Raoul Walsh resolutely stuck to the same idea. There wasn't going to be any villain in his scheme of things, and if a hero or heroes were necessary, they wouldn't be of the mold commonly visible upon the screen, but so the audience take its choice of the big-hearted, bombastic Platts, and the handsome, unscrupulous Quirt. But whichever is the hero, they have one thing in common—they are both real men.

PARSONS THEATER

Honeymoon Lane
It is with great pride that the management of the Parson theater, Hartford, announces that the next big Broadway success at that house, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 1, 2, 3, for three nights and Saturday matinee only, will be that clever little dispenser of mirth and melody, Eddie Dowling, in his latest and greatest musical comedy success, "Honeymoon Lane," a creation by Dowling and James Hanley, and which is presented under the banner of A. L. Erlinger.

"Honeymoon Lane" which comes here direct from a record-breaking run of three months at the Tremont Theater, Boston, was staged by Edgar McGregor, while the many and intricate dances were routine and produced by Bobby Connolly. "Honeymoon Lane," according to all who have seen it, is superior even to Dowling's former hit, "Sally, Irene and Mary," and is replete with brisk comedy, tingling tunes and pretty girls. The original New York cast will support the star, and includes Gordon Doolley, Martha Morton, Esther Muir, Bobbie Perkins, Florence Guernsey, Kate Smith, Josephine, Al Sexton, Worth Faulker, Leo Beers, Harry Robinson, Bernard Randall, Jerry McAuliffe and others.

Honolulu is preparing to erect a new city hall and a number of schools.

FIGHT FILMS END AT CIRCLE TODAY

Dempsey-Sharkey Go Here For Last Time—"Paid to Love" Tomorrow.

Tonight will see the last showing at the Circle theater. On the same of the Dempsey-Sharkey fight films bill is "The Prairie King," with Hoot Gibson, that hard-riding Western actor, in the leading role. "The Prairie King" is a Western comedy, made as only Gibson's pictures are made. The popular actor is placed in the position of being misunderstood when he is trying to do somebody a favor. But everything comes out all right.

One of the features of the matinee tomorrow will be the distribution of 1,500 lollipops, with the feature, "Paid to Love," with George O'Brien and Virginia Valli in the leading role. This picture will be shown on Sunday also.

It is the story of a prince in one of those little kingdoms which used to be one of the integral parts of Europe. Prince Michael falls in love with a pretty girl but it develops that she is a commoner and not eligible for the crown of the land. But somebody comes along and tells the king that the prince must marry the girl or a million-dollar loan is off. Things happen quickly then and they live happily ever after.

Cubs--Cloverleaves To Play At Stadium Sunday

HIGH SCHOOL ENDS ITS SEASON WITH 7-0 VICTORY OVER ALUMNI

Captain "Doc" Keeney Plunges Over For Only Score; Graduates Going Strong At Finish--But That's Too Late.

George "Doc" Keeney, captain of the South Manchester High school football team, ended his schoolboy grid career here yesterday afternoon, when he plunged across the goal line defended by the Alumni in the second quarter for the only score of the contest at the McKee street stadium. The touchdown came after a series of line plunges and a brilliant run by Coach Tom Kelley that netted 22 yards, the longest individual gain of the game. Elmo Mantelli kicked the extra point making the final count 7 to 0.

The game was played in a driving rain storm and the players on both teams handled the wet ball remarkably well. Three neat forwards were completed by each team and were handled cleanly despite the slippery pigskin. Eddie Gill outpunted McCann even though his line was not as strong as the school boys. Gill also contributed a neat bit of broken field running in the last quarter aided by fine interference on the part of "Coach" Donnelly.

During the first period, the teams felt each other out for the most part. Donnelly, however, managed to squirm his way through the school team for fifteen yards and "Yump" Dahlquist followed suit on the next play for eight. Gill slipped around left end for six yards and then the High School team found itself and forced the Alumni to punt. It was at this point in the first quarter that the varsity started its drive for the touchdown and never lost the ball until Keeney hammered his way through the line for the score.

Both teams played hard, fast football during this half and it seemed as though the Alumni had the better of the going especially in the closing minutes of play. The third period found the varsity trying to dent the Alumni's line but with little success although Keeney and Kelly each contributed a first down. "Doc" broke away through the center of the line and managed to plow his way for 12 yards. Kelly reversed his field and gathered 14 yards when he caught the Alumni's defense flatfooted.

After this burst, however, the Alumni seemed to find itself and started a long steady march towards a score but the time was too short to accomplish the task. A fifteen yard penalty helped them but it was Donnelly and Zwick who battered their way over the chalk marks for the consistent gaining that threatened a touchdown.

Donnelly and Gill gave Zwick, excellent interference and Dahlquist twisted his way through tackle in the last play bringing the ball to the High School's 17 yard line when the whistle ended the tilt. Both lines played fine football with Cheney's work featuring on the defense. This chap's overzealousness, however, cost the High school 15 yards for unnecessary roughness late in the fourth quarter. "Bab" LaCoss contained the Alumni.

Just how many men Coach Tom Kelly will have left for next year's squad will not be known for a couple of days. The team played brilliant football in the last two hard games and the victory over Windham wiped out all other games and defeats during the past season. Coach Kelly expressed entire satisfaction with the team and the school spirit which was more evident this year and yesterday when more than 300 stood in the rain and watched the varsity grind out a victory in the final game. The summary:

High School	Alumni
Mantelli	Quish
Spencer	Shannon
Robinson	Mahoney
Mercer	Farr
Cheney	Treat
Healy	LaCoss
Farr	Mozzer
Hansen	Zwick
McCann	Donnelly
Kelley	Dahlquist
Keeney	Gill
Substitutions, Alumni, May for Farr; Sheridan for Quish. High school, Robinson for Cheney. Touchdown, Keeney; point after touchdown, Mantelli; referee, Jack Dwyer; umpire, James Flanagan; head linesman, "Lefty" St. John. Time of quarters, 10 minutes.

THE NUT CRACKER

Zupple told his illini squad funny stories before the game with Ohio "to keep up their morale." Maybe he wanted them to laugh off the Buckyes.

The Ohio school should have hired Chauncey Depew.

We'll bet Coach Wilce told his squad some funny stories, too, between the halves.

A proposed baseball amendment calls for each team to have more than 40 players, "since the supply of skilled players is not equal to the demand." That sounds like somebody from Boston attended the meeting.

Now that football is done, we wonder if all those coaches still are looking ahead "with unshaken confidence."

Phil Scott is going to try, try again to prove that he's upstanding—this time against Monte Munn, the Nebraskaan. That proves bravery on the part of Jack Curley who's promoting the match.

Jack Sharkey's injured hand was a triumph for medicine, anyhow. A Boston doctor found a swelling and a New York doctor discovered a fracture.

Harvard coaches think Harvard should have won the Yale game. Proving all non-Harvard men wrong again.

And Jones is leaving Yale this year after putting out one of the best teams the Blue has had in years. Changing the Blue to the Blues and giving his critics a dark brown taste.

The Battle of Many Century Notes ended in a draw. Kearns got nothing and Dempsey kept his $333,333.33, which is the best draw that Jack ever fought.

Rickard called Kearns' attorney a contemptible liar, but Dempsey pulled Tex back into his seat before he got peeved.

The judge was inclined to give the bout a mistrial, but finally 14 yards when he caught the Alumni's defense flatfooted.

How many yards did Poe run for a touchdown against Yale for Princeton in 1897? How did he get the ball—D. C. D. He ran 100 yards and got the ball on a fumble.

Campus Comment

The 1927 season has been marked by poor kicking, mainly because of the moving of the goal posts back 10 yards.

Nearly every Saturday brings forth a loss to some team that might have been a tie or a victory had all points possible after touchdown been made.

This makes the performance of Deana Gilbert, quarterback at Ronoake College in Virginia, all the more remarkable.

He has to his credit this year a string of 15 consecutive goals after touchdown. Ten of them were made in one game.

Gilbert made his record in three straight games. One of his kicks gave his team a 7-6 victory over Richmond.

Another kicker who has added nearly every point after touchdown is Harry Peakes of Maine. He had 18 to his credit long before half the games on the Maine schedule had been played.

It looks like Leo Raskowski of Ohio State has a splendid chance of landing an All-America tackle berth this year. Eastern critics are of the opinion that his play against Princeton was the best made by any tackle this year.

This game of horseshoes, better known as barnyard golf, is most popular at Northwestern. More than 350 students took part in a tournament held there recently by the intramural department.

One coaching staff now worried over the latest cry for unpaid coaches is the one at West Point. None of the coaches there receive pay for their services. Their grid duties, to use a military phrase, are "in addition to other duties" beside their assignments as military officers.

When Ursinus beat Swarthmore 21-0 a few days ago, every member of the Swarthmore club lost a free hair cut that a barber had promised them if they won the game.

There's a cosmopolitan air to Iowa athletics. A Chinese man has been hired to coach the team this year. Hingman has been fighting for a regular job on the football squad all year, and a Hawaiian is considered one of the best freshman football players in school.

May WIN FEATURE AGAIN Colyogomur who won the $50,000 New Orleans handicap last season, is going to try to repeat his victory this year.

RIVAL TEAMS AGREE TO PLAY SIXTY-FORTY, SAME OFFICIALS

Teams Reach Surprise Agreement After Failing Night Before; Side-Bet of Two Hundred Dollars to Be Posted.

The Cubs and Cloverleaves are going to play again next Sunday! That's the welcome news that circulated rapidly throughout the town yesterday following an agreement reached Wednesday night. The game will be played at the McKee street stadium on a sixty-forty percentage basis after all expenses are deducted. A sidebet of two hundred dollars will be posted.

The decision of the Cloverleaves to come over south for the second game prevents what otherwise would have been a repetition of last season when the rival managers were unable to strike an agreement with the result that the fans were "out of luck."

Like the night before, the meeting was very orderly. It was not a scheduled affair. During the afternoon a report spread that the Cloverleaves had decided to play at the stadium but the first official verification came when Coach George Moonan and Captain Brunie Moske came over south and located Manager Peter Vendrillo of the Cubs.

Quick Agreement Together with the writer, the party went to the Herald branch office and in less than ten minutes to pound out the words that tell the story with these keys. It was definitely settled that the game would be played at the stadium. The question of percentage of receipts came up and was also settled in a jiffy, both teams being willing to play sixty-forty.

Although the first game was played on a winner-take-all basis, there was no squealing on the part of either team about playing the second game under similar conditions. In fact each offered to, but it was also realized that sixty-forty was much more sensible.

The representatives further agreed that only the same players would be eligible for the game day after tomorrow who were in the roster of each club for the first game. Also, in case of another tie score, the teams will play the third game at Hickey's Grove weather permitting.

Managers Vendrillo agreed to this with a toss of coin. Sunday's game will be played regardless of weather. Same Officials Immediately after the teams reached an agreement, the writer dispatched telegrams to the officials that handled last week's game and last night received word that all of them will be here. That means that James E. Keegan of Pittsfield, schedule.

Mass. will referee, H. F. White of Amherst, Mass., will umpire, and Alfred G. Wheeler, of Amherst, Mass., will be the head linesman. Herb Bissell and Joe Schoneski will be the linesmen. The game will start at 2 o'clock sharp and the stadium will be opened shortly before 1 o'clock.

The Cubs and Cloverleaves met for the first time two years ago at Hickey's Grove and the result was a scoreless tie although the Cubs had a great chance to win when Billy Wolfram scooped up a fumble with a clear field ahead of him only to be overtaken from the rear. The following week, the teams played at the McKee street stadium and the team from the north end of this excited hamlet walked all over the south end aggregation to score a 19 to 0 victory.

Will History Repeat? Last year the two teams were unable to come to terms and consequently robbed themselves of a sidebet of a well deserved treat. Last Sunday, the two teams fought a furious battle at Hickey's Grove and the result was again a scoreless tie with the Cubs having the better chances to win. Now the outfits are again going to try conclusions at the stadium and the north end fans are clamoring for a repetition of the feat the Cloverleaves executed two years ago. The Cubs and south end fans are equally confident that this expectation will be far from filled.

South end backers point with pride to the fact that the Cubs have been scored against only once this season and that time through an admittedly raw decision. The Cloverleaves' supporters, however, declare the Cubs have only met one good team this season, that being the Wallingford Eagles. But, be that as it may, anyone who has ever played football knows that it is no easy matter to win games out of town not to mention holding their opponents without a single tally. And that's precisely what the Cubs have been doing.

It looks like a great battle Sunday and once more the "odds are even." The Cubs are very confident that the Cloverleaves cannot cross their goal line and that they have sufficient offense to chalk up several points. On the other hand, the Cloverleaves contend that if the Cubs couldn't win last week, they never will. With Captain Brunie Moske and Frank "Hook" Brennan both ready for action, they say it's about time to chant the Cubs' funeral march.

PITTS VS. STANFORD Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 25.—Pitt's golden gridiron warriors will line up against Stanford in California on New Year's day undefeated and tied only once. The Panther kept its slate clean by trouncing its ancient rival, Penn State, 30 to 0, in the annual Thanksgiving Day game, the last of the regular schedule.

SPORT CHATTER

The scheduled football game yesterday afternoon between the Cubs and Windsor Locks was cancelled because of the bad weather. The same was true about the game booked over north between the North Ends and the Hartford Blue Hill Ramblers.

The stadium on McKee street will be roped out in such a manner Sunday that three or four thousand persons will be able to see the contest, the officials of the Cubs insist. It has been the cry by those who wanted the game at Hickey's Grove that they would not be able to see it at the stadium. The sides are to be roped into triangles.

Roy Norris has stopped playing basketball with the Plainfield Community Club because of other business.

The Cubs practiced all yesterday afternoon in the gymnasium of the School Street Rec. Coach Dwyer is confident his team will make quick work of the Cloverleaves Sunday. He says he has several surprises in store for the north ends.

The Laurel basketball team will hold a joint meeting and practice this evening at the School Street Rec. All those members who were present at the previous practice sessions are urged to be on hand promptly at 7 o'clock.

ARMY-NAVY GAME

New York, Nov. 25.—On the eve of the annual gridiron battle between the two service institutions, tickets to the Army-Navy game were quoted by speculators at $150 a pair today. Few tickets are in the hands of speculators, however, and thousands of hopeful fans who will storm the Polo Grounds tomorrow will be unable to purchase a ticket at any price.

NEW YORK U., WASH. & JEFFERSON LOSE OUT OVER HOLIDAY

New York, Nov. 25.—Among the college football teams that may look around now, with the permission of the fire commissioner, choose their nearest exit and run toward the great outside, taking plenty of air as they go, are New York University and Washington & Jefferson. As a result of yesterday's holiday games, neither remains as a contender for national honors.

New York University died with its boots on in making a great fight against Nebraska before losing 27 to 13, but lose it did and to the loser belongs the garlic. The fight was 19 points to the rear at half time but came back subsequently to make matters mildly interesting for a real good Nebraska team. There was no fatality in Washington & Jefferson's case, just a major operation. They amputated their reputation when West Virginia, which had been ever-vigilant footrest, got a six to six tie. You simply have to do more than that to West Virginia to rate National consideration, even if you did finish your season undefeated.

Meantime, the other unscathed teams, Georgia, Pittsburgh and Tennessee, escaped without the vestige of a scathing. Georgia, alone in the glamor of an unbeaten and untied status, ran up twenty points on Alabama, subnormal this year but never too much so that it would fall to give any Georgia team a fight. It was the first time Georgia had beaten Alabama in six years.

Pitt, of course, blew a scoreless tie previously with Washington & Jefferson and therefore might be presumed to be a better than West Virginia, provided you don't care what people think of your judgment. However, Washington & Jefferson didn't beat Nebraska nor did it score by thirty to nothing over a first-class Penn State outfit, as Pitt did yesterday. If you are determined to talk about Eastern champions, you can start with Pittsburgh and be confident that you have presented your argument in a manner wholly logical. That thirty points yesterday was a great con-vincer from a Pittsburgh standpoint.

Tennessee's final contribution to a fine season was a 29 to 0 decision over Kentucky but the Vols must run second in the south to Georgia, at least until further notice. The latter may yet be saved by Georgia Tech, which beat Alabama Poly, 20 to 6. Further south by west, as we say at the twelve-mile limit, the Texas Aggies stepped themselves out to an impressive victory over Texas and just naturally ran second to nobody down where the man grow big, rapidly and sometimes troublesome.

While Nebraska was dallying with those Eastern strangers, Missouri made certain of a valley conference tie with the Huskers by winning from Oklahoma, 20 to 7, but he who scores last, not to say more often, usually is the winner the way we count them on our comptometer. Meanwhile, another Valley team, Iowa State, was making the Western conference look none too dapper, achieving this year but largely by its own inadequacy. Having led Illinois, the Big Ten champion, early in the year, it lost to Marquette by a large majority yesterday and now, if you wish to be nasty, you can figure just how good Wisconsin is or was.

"DUKE" HARABURDA FINISHES 2ND, THOMPSON THIRD, CRAWSHAW NEXT

Nine of Twelve Entrants Finish Five Mile Run Despite Steady Rain; Rothe, Veitts, Madden, Dowd and Dougan Finish—Fast Time Set.

John Veitts	31:21

Eighteen-year-old Johnny McCluskey of 40 Foster street was the winner of the Thanksgiving Day cross country run here yesterday morning, finishing the five mile course in the very creditable time of twenty nine minutes and forty six seconds. A steady downfall of rain failed to mar the event and the town championship event and a large crowd saw nine of the twelve entrants finish in front of the High school. It is planned to make the run an annual affair.

Haraburda Second
Francis Haraburda, 19, of 136 Oak street, came in second about sixty yards behind McCluskey. His time was 29:50. Johnny Thompson, 19, of 99 Hemlock street and Eric Crawshaw of 113 Maple street were third and fourth respectively. The winners of the first three places were given silver loving cups and the next four were awarded medals by Director Lloyd of the Recreation Centers under whose supervision the run was made a big success.

When the even dozen runners toed the starting line at Main and School streets at 11:05, it was raining quite hard. There was no delay; just a last minute bit of instruction by Director Lloyd and the runners were off at the command of Samuel Mason, who acted as both starter and judge of the race. Eric Crawshaw, one of the outstanding favorites to win the run, took the lead. He had trained faithfully and many looked to him to be the winner.

Eric Slips Back
Many persons in automobiles drove up Charter Oak street to meet the runners when they came out onto the street from Mt. Nebo in back of Rogers' Paper Mill. When the group first came into sight again, Crawshaw was still leading. He set a fast pace only to falter on the long steady incline that leads to Highland Park. On this hill, he dropped back to third place, being passed by McCluskey and Haraburda. Thompson was running fourth.

Thompson Pulls Up
The hill was the most difficult part of the race and tired all of the runners considerably. Haraburda jumped into the lead toward the top of the hill. As the runners rounded the corner at Highland Park, the order of the first was Haraburda, McCluskey, Crawshaw, Thompson and Dowd; but coming down the grade on Porter street, Thompson coasted a bit faster than Crawshaw and went into third place. Meanwhile Haraburda and McCluskey were running side by side with first one leading and then the other.

Haraburda Falters
As the leaders passed the Weldon estate, McCluskey pulled into the lead. He seemed to be growing stronger every minute while Haraburda was complaining of a pain in his side. From then on, McCluskey was never headed. He began to pull away from Haraburda until at one time about a hundred yards separated them. At the junction of Porter and Pitkin streets, McCluskey peeled off his sweater. Meanwhile the three "follow-ups", Haraburda, Thompson and Crawshaw were running in the same order.

As the first four runners came down East Center street and rounded the corner at the Center, about fifty yards separated them. McCluskey looked like the sure winner but Haraburda still had a chance. He was gaining steadily on McCluskey, but not sufficiently to overcome the lead.

Family Cheers McCluskey
Haraburda crossed the finish line only nine seconds behind McCluskey, but the latter eased up a bit as he sensed victory. Several times, he waved to admirers along the "home stretch" as they greeted him. As he passed Foster and East Center streets, he was encouraged by his mother who stood on the sidewalk and waved. In fact, John had the support of his entire family. Not only did his mother come out to greet him, but his father followed John in an automobile and his little brother, Joe, who is also a crack long distance runner, rode his bicycle beside him along the course to give advice and encouragement. Joe displayed a bit of fine sportsmanship when at a point of the race, he gave his

ENGLISH WOMEN TAKING PART IN ALL ATHLETICS

Girl Students Showing Evidence of Interest in Manly Activities, Especially in Rowing and Cycling.

Cambridge, Eng., Nov. 25.—Manpower taken from Britain in the World War is being replaced manifold by the new vigor of her womanhood.

Aristocratic Newnham College gives evidence of the new dynamic-feminism-energetic, powerful and productive; but still reserved and womanly.

Strenuous rowing—most exacting of all college sports—is practiced daily throughout the year at Newnham and by one fourth of the girls in the college. Bicycle riding, rain or shine, warm or cold; study rooms at a temperature to "freeze" the American girl; these things suggest the coming British feminisms.

This modern English girl is not a Victorian. Neither is she worldly and masculine. She does not, like her trans-Atlantic sister, drink and smoke and rouge her face and become boisterously hilarious. She is far more moderate.

An interview with the captain of Newnham College crew reveals these things. Sixty girls of the two hundred and forty enrolled in the college are now rowing in the eight-oared shells. They train, she says, "Diet, the American girl would call it." They row fall, winter and spring. They race with two other girls' colleges. And with a third they have a contest for good rowing form. The races are on the Thames over a course about one mile long. The girls, wielding full-weight, full-length oars manage to keep a stroke between 27 and 30 per minute (a stroke creditable for a "varsity" crew in practice).

The girls' daily row is something over two miles. They have volunteer coaches, either men or women.

At Newnham about ninety-five percent of the girls have their bicycles. They depend on them to go to classes, rain or shine. Some have motorcycles; others automobiles.

In America room temperature means 70. The American girl is cold at 66. At 62 or 63 the English girl is warm and comfortable.

But the English woman with all physical hardness retains her girlish femininity. In great moderation she drinks, smokes and uses lipstick. Her manner is reserved and she yields to many ancestral customs, which keep her safe and a "perfect lady."

In the business and political worlds woman's situation is about the same in England as it is in America.

The coming of a new generation will see England's manhood restored. The superior vigor of her womanhood, it is said, will then be felt in raising the nation's status among the other nations.

NEXT YEAR'S STARS

New York, Nov. 25.—Four of the east's outstanding gridiron stars will lead their respective teams next season.

Al Lassman, giant tackle of New York University, was chosen to captain the Violets. Lassman was forced out of the line up late this season because of a broken leg.

Paul Scull, drop-kicker and half-back, was picked as Penn's 1928 captain. Scull hails from Bala, Pa. Quarterback Hal "Skinny" Baysinger, of Akron, Ohio, is the new Syracuse leader.

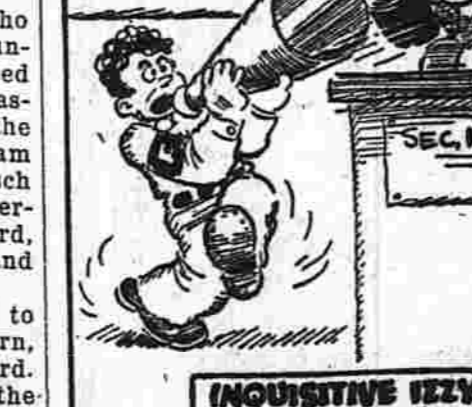

Bruce Dumont, of Upper Montclair, N. J., a lineman and one of the best punters in the country, was elected captain of the Colgate eleven.

TUFTS BOYS COACHED TO FORGET ALL OLD FOOTBALL STANDBYS

Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of three articles on how Head Coach Arthur G. Sampson produced the undefeated, united Tufts College football team. In the first article he told how he found he was overworking his charges and how he injected some real pleasure into practice.

By HERBERT CARYL.

Medford, Mass., Nov. 25.—"When we forgot the tackling dummy and the other devices and started in to make football a good time, rather than a stern and serious business, we did not forget, of course, that we were out to win."

Head Coach Arthur G. Sampson, of Tufts College, the only college with an unbeaten and untied football eleven in the East, was continuing his narrative of how after only two years of college coaching he put the Jumbo on the pliskin map.

"I taught the boys the fundamentals but at the same time I did everything possible to keep them physically fit."

"I found that a player could learn to tackle more easily by slow motion than by banging a dummy until his shoulder and arm muscles were so sore and lame that he could hardly stand the pain."

Slow Practice
"I had them work out the plays and find that they could get the timing of plays more accurately by slow practice than by fast."

"Well, the upshot of it was we went in and defeated Lowell Textile, our first opponent, by a score of forty to nothing."

"I saw that the boys had accurate timing, that they were wonderful tacklers, were untired tacklers, boys physically fit."

"I want to give a lot of credit in the working out of this system to the type of boy we had on the squad this year. Not one ever abused a liberty. All were conscientious and all used good judgment."

Cuts Training Table
"It was necessary to have that type of boy or my new system would never have worked out, for I cut out the training table. The training table to my mind makes football too much of a machine. The boys see too much of each other. Petty jealousies come up. This makes for disruption of morale."

"The boys lived in their own rooms, did as they pleased. Yet when they went into a game they worked as a unit."

The Scores
"Well, we rolled up 218 points to our opponents in this season. The games and scores follow:

Tufts	Opponents
40 Lowell Textile	0
28 Bates	0
16 Middlebury	7
32 Vermont	0
9 Boston University	6
30 New Hampshire	0
32 Bowdoin	0
32 Mass. Aggies	6

"Middlebury scored a touchdown as the result of a long forward pass, Boston University scored by a blocked punt and Massachusetts Aggies scored when, with only thirty seconds to play, I sent in a bunch of little subs so they could get their letters."

"Next year we are going to step out of our class for one game. We are going to tackle Brown. Our schedule calls for games with Colby, Bates, Bowdoin, New Hampshire, Middlebury and M. A. C. in the order named."

"Fish" Ellis, who could have outscored Lane of Dartmouth had he desired to make all the touchdowns himself, and Fitzgerald, as fine a tackler as you will find anywhere, will be with the team next year. Through graduation, I am losing Captain Milton Bowker, left end, Ralph Hanson, left tackle, Karl Soule, left guard, and Robert Marshall, fullback.

"I look for a wonderful year next year but of course something may turn up to wreck the machinery."

No Secret Practice
"I had to meet a lot of jibes this year. We held no secret practice. Anybody could come in and watch us play."

"Some of the colleges we were going to meet, laughed at us. Go ahead and have your fun, they said, we will continue to work. But they lost when they played Tufts."

"Another thing, we had no official scouts. I will not say we did not scout a team but I will say we did not scout one in the true football sense of that word. I was told second hand how our opponents were playing. I myself saw one opponent play. But I did study the newspaper accounts of the games played by teams we were going to meet and I studied the newspaper photographs. Also I instructed my men of the style of attack used by an opponent last season. That was all."

(In the third article tomorrow Head Coach Arthur G. Sampson of Tufts College tells why his new gridiron system would go in the big colleges.)

Shotten Was "Sunday Manager" Of St. Louis Club Under Rickey

Philadelphia, Nov. 25.—The appointment of Burt Shotten as manager of the Phillies to succeed "Stuffy" Meinnis recalls the fact that the new pilot gained his first experience in directing the destinies of a big league club as Sunday manager of the St. Louis Browns.

Shotten, in his day a great outfielder, played with the St. Louis Americans under Branch Rickey as manager. Rickey's religious scruples kept him away from the ball park on Sunday and Shotten always acted in his stead. This job won for him the moniker of Sunday manager.

Two years at the head of the Syracuse club of the International League fits him for his new berth. He brought the club to second from seventh in that time.
