

OUR NAVY PROGRAM WILL START A WAR

That Is Opinion of Senator King—Calls Plan a Policy Of "Criminal Madness" In Interview.

Washington, Jan. 3.—Senator William H. King, Democrat of Utah, today proposed a new world conference for total disarmament, the abandonment of the government's proposed "billion-dollar" new navy program and use of the money thus saved for humane purposes.

King denounced the administration's "billion-dollar navy program" as a policy of "criminal madness," certain to provoke a world-wide fear and hatred of the United States and destined to pave the way to another world war. He pictured the United States and Great Britain as occupying in 1928 the same roles as Germany and Great Britain in 1900. A naval race now between Great Britain and the United States will lead to another world war within two decades, King warned, just as the British-German race resulted in the last world war.

"Study the Cost"
King urged the American people to "study the costs of militarism" in the United States. In the current year, he said, the "costs of the military and naval establishments" will total $750,000,000 aside from all construction costs. The total was only $400,000,000 in 1880, $123,000,000 in 1900 and $231,000,000 in 1910. In the last seven "peace years," he added, America has spent $2,261,000,000 on its navy alone—more than it has spent on the preceding thirty-six years, which included the Spanish-American and World Wars.

The "American Navy will cost the American people $10,000,000,000 to $15,000,000,000 in the next twenty years if we indulge in the new program," said King. "This program will be regarded throughout the world as a declaration that the United States is entering on a competitive naval race."

Will Arouse Fear
"It will arouse fear in many countries and create suspicion toward the United States in every nation. It will provoke nations now struggling with financial burdens to increase their armaments as a protection against the United States. It will promote war sentiment everywhere."

"It is criminal madness to launch a program certain of provoking a world conflagration at no distant date. If this program goes through, 1928 will bear the same relation to the next world war that 1900 bore to the last one. In 1900 Great Britain and Germany began their naval race and in 1914 the world conflict burst upon startled peoples. If we begin such a race now with Great Britain, Germany, France, Italy, Russia and Japan

HOTEL BLOWN UP IN CHICAGO WAR

Police Baffled By Latest Out- rage In Battle Between Rival Gangsters.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—Chicago's latest flareup of gang warfare which began popping prominently with the advent of the New Year, had the police department jumpy today.

The latest outrage was the bombing of the Newport hotel, an alleged "resort" under the control of the Skidmore-Zuta-Bertsche vice syndicate. The bomb apparently was the most powerful of any yet exploded by the "Racketeers" in their deadly battle for control of Chicago. $75,000,000-a-year vice booty. It tore away the entire front of the structure and badly damaged adjacent buildings.

Police Baffled
Police investigators confessed themselves baffled at the resumption of gang hostilities. They believed the elimination of Alphonse "Scarface" Capone from the trouble zone had brought about a cessation of the mysterious bombings and assassinations that marked the close of the old year.

The theory now is that a new faction, as yet unidentified, has challenged the rule of the supposedly triumphant Zuta combine. The noise that greeted the New Year had scarcely died away Sunday morning when Frank "Dutch" Carpenter, a lieutenant of Zuta, was shot and killed by a mysterious assassin, not far from the scene of the hotel bombing. A few days before, Frank Noonan, owner of a saloon, was slain in his place on the west side.

He has oftentimes impressed certain important citizens of other cities so thoroughly that he has taken up long term residences in publicly owned buildings, but he

TO CREMATE BODY OF FAMOUS DANCER

Miss Fuller Expressed Wish to Be Carried Out In Paris Where She Died.

Paris, Jan. 3.—In accordance with wishes expressed in life, the body of Miss Lole Fuller, famous dancer and intimate friend of Queen Marie, of Rumania, will be cremated late today or to-morrow. Miss Fuller died in a Paris hotel of pneumonia after a brief illness. She was 57 years old. Miss Fuller was born in Chicago in 1870 and began her stage career at the age of eight in Shakespearean roles. Thirty years ago she began to attract attention with her famous "serpentine dances." She established a dancing school in England and her pupils became famous in both Europe and America.

NEARLY ALL OPPOSED TO GIVING UP LINE

Stafford and Rockville Resi- dents Flock to Hartford to Voice Disapproval.

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 2.—Nearly everyone living along the thirteen miles of trolley line connecting Rockville and Stafford is opposed to the plan of giving up the Stafford-Rockville branch of the Connecticut Co., according to information given the Public Utilities Commission at a formal hearing held here today. The Connecticut Company claim the line does not pay and has a chance to sell its right-of-way to the state for use in widening the highway between the towns. The Public Utilities Commission withheld decision.

ONLY 9 DAYS TO LIVE FOR RUTH SNYDER

Gray Has Given Up Hope But Woman Believes Gov- ernor Smith Will Commute Her Sentence.

New York, Jan. 3.—With only nine days to live, Ruth Snyder and her former lover, Henry Judd Gray, are today awaiting their approaching doom with the fortitude of fatalists. In the dreary death house at Sing Sing prison, only a few cells apart, they are living their last bleak hours in heartrending solitude. Hope of escaping that sinister contraption known as the electric chair still burns faintly in the breast of Mrs. Snyder. She believes Governor Alfred E. Smith may be prevailed upon to commute her sentence to life imprisonment. Gray seems resigned to his fate. He rarely talks these last, fateful days. He reads incessantly. His favorite book is the Bible.

Conference Thursday
The governor will hold a clemency hearing in Albany on Thursday. It will be the condemned couple's last chance to avoid paying the extreme penalty for the sashweight murder of the woman's husband, Albert Snyder, the home-loving art editor.

Mrs. Snyder displayed interest this morning in the news that Justice Townsend Scudder, who presided at their trial, had made a written recommendation to Gov. Smith. The judge refused, however, to reveal the substance of his recommendation but he is known to advocate the abolition of capital punishment.

The governor's secretary had written to Justice Scudder and to District Attorney Richard S. Newcombe, who conducted the prosecution, asking their views on the question of clemency.

Lawyers To Attend
The hearing on Thursday will be attended by all the lawyers involved in the case. Within the next 24 hours, Gray's attorneys are to visit him in Sing Sing and discuss with him the points to be raised in the last-chance appeal for clemency. Soon afterwards Mrs. Snyder's lawyers will confer with her.

Mrs. Snyder had one visitor over the New Year's holiday—her mother, Mrs. Josephine Brown. The mother started to talk to Ruth in Norwegian, as has been her custom, but the guards ordered her to talk in English or leave the death house.

Hundreds of applications have been filed with the State Law Department requesting permission to witness the execution. None but the officials and newspapermen will be admitted, however.

The death chamber where Ruth and Judd are to be felled to death is only a short distance from their cells. It is a cheerful room with clean white walls. The electric chair, bolted to the concrete floor, is near the center of the room, directly under a skylight.

To the right, slightly behind the chair, is the executioner's stand. The executioner has a perfect view of what goes on in the chair, although he can not see the victim's face. He pulls the switch when the signal is given and his fee is $150 for each execution.

Ruth and Judd will have to walk to be propelled—only a short distance, so close are their cells to the death chamber. It will take the attendants less than a minute to strap them to the chair. Each will be given about 1,900 volts.

The witnesses will view the grisly proceedings from a distance of about 15 feet. They will sit in several rows of benches, set back against the walls of the chamber of death.

HER BACK BROKEN IN FLEEING FIRE

Woman Jumps From Hotel Window Despite Advice of the Firemen.

New York, Jan. 3.—While fire swept through the corridors of the Carol Lodge hotel at 7 East 32nd street, early today, Mrs. Minnie Silverstein, 29, climbed to the window sill of her room on the seventh floor.

"Don't Jump—you're in no danger!" firemen shouted. But Mrs. Silverstein jumped or fell, landing on an extension two floors below. She was taken to the hospital where it was said her back was broken.

Another woman, Mrs. Eva Newhardt, 25, of Hollywood, Cal., received serious burns when she climbed down a fire escape in the blazing inner court of the hotel. A number of guests were rescued by means of ladders.

Navy Dept. Is Asked To Save S-4 Records

Washington, Jan. 3.—The Navy Department was requested today to take extraordinary precautions to preserve the last records of the victims of the S-4 submarine tragedy. Rep. McClintic, Democrat of Oklahoma, wrote a letter to Secretary Wilbur, urging that "water-tight compartments of the submarine be sealed to prevent the records from floating away when it is raised. "In a Japanese submarine disaster some years ago, where a number of lives were snuffed out, an officer in this submarine before he smothered to death, chronicled his sensations and his feelings toward his country and his fellowmen as he gradually succumbed," wrote McClintic. "A copy of this remarkable record is on file at the Congressional Library."

STATE IS READY TO FIGHT FOX INSANITY PLEA

Prosecutor Says He Has Witnesses to Prove Hick- man Is and Has Always Been Sane.

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 3.—William Edward Hickman, confessed kidnaper and murderer of Marion Parker, must answer for his crime. Four alternatives were open today as Hickman awaited his arraignment in Superior Court this afternoon to plead to charges of kidnaping and murder.

1. Hickman may plead not guilty and repudiate his confession.

2. He may follow the precedent of the Leopold-Loeb case, plead guilty, and throw himself upon the mercy of the court.

3. Under the new California criminal code Hickman may plead "not guilty by reason of insanity" and precipitate a long-drawn-out court battle to escape the gallows.

4. He may plead guilty and ask that he be examined to determine his mental condition before sentence is passed upon him.

Ready To Fight Pleas
District Attorney Asa Keyes, who will demand that Hickman be sent to the gibbet, is prepared to combat any insanity plea. The prosecutor has announced that he can produce "surprise" witnesses who will testify that Hickman is now, was, and always has been sane.

Besides a group of noted alienists who have observed Hickman since his arrest, Keyes is understood to have obtained statements from per-

BOSTON PLANS TO SPEND MILLIONS ON RAILWAYS

Commission to Reorganize Ele- vated System to Save Over Million Yearly.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 3.—Plans for $40,000,000 worth of improvement in Boston's subway and elevated rapid transit system was recommended in a special report of the state division of metropolitan planning filed at the State House today.

Public control of the elevated system for 15 years, with financial reorganization designed to save $1,175,000 annually was also recommended.

Among the bills filed providing for legislation to bring about the reorganizations was one changing the name of the Boston Elevated company to the Boston Transit Co.

Among the changes in rapid transit recommended were the following:
Extension of the Boylston street subway from Kenmore station to Harvard avenue, Brighton, with stations at Braves Field and St. Mary's street.

Construction of a new subway from the present end of the Tremont street subway, near Broadway, to a point near the corner of Huntington avenue and Tremont street, Roxbury. This subway would connect with the East Boston tunnel, so that trains would run from Roxbury to East Boston.

BATTLES WITH SNAKE WHILE IN MID-AIR

Rangoon, India, Jan. 3.—What is believed to be the first fight in midair with a reptile was related in reports received here today from Mrs. Keith Miller, an English woman who is making a flight from England to Australia. Shortly after leaving Rangoon Mrs. Miller found a snake in the cockpit of her tiny machine. The reptile began crawling toward Mrs. Miller and her pilot, Captain Lancaster. The latter, being engaged with the controls, was unable to assist Mrs. Miller, who picked up a knife and, after a fierce struggle, cut the snake in two.

70 REPORTED DEAD AS RESULT OF COLD

Thirty Dead In Chicago; Cold Wave Hits Whole Nation; No Let-Up.

New York, Jan. 3.—With nearly seventy persons already dead, no immediate let-up in the nation-wide cold wave was in sight in the east today. "Fair and continued cold" was the forecast for today and to-morrow.

At least thirty are dead in Chicago alone. Ten deaths were reported from St. Louis and four from New York City.

Cold In South
Southern states experienced the coldest yet in many years. It was 2 above zero at Northfield, Vt., and several degrees below zero in up-state New York and Chicago, the coldest temperature yet reported is thirty-four below zero at Bismarck, North Dakota.

The icy weather has indirectly been the cause of train wrecks, fires and transportation delays. The fires were especially numerous in western and northern New York.

Despite a temperature of six below at Atlantic City, N. J., two hardy swimmers at the resort plunged into the brook for their daily dip.

Hundreds of homeless and hungry were sheltered, clothed and fed by charitable organizations in New York City.

IN MID-WEST

Chicago, Jan. 3.—With thirty fatalities in its wake, the backbone of Chicago's zero cold wave has been broken and today will see a slight rise in temperature. This was the cheering news that came from the Weather Bureau this morning.

Moderation will be gradual. It was announced with today's minimum temperature predicted at five above zero and the maximum 14 above. A steady rise to normal is predicted for the next two days.

The front of the frigid wave travelled southeast, many sections in the "Sunny South" having experienced their lowest temperature in several decades. The zero line extended well into the Carolinas and Tennessee, and freezing temperatures were reported half way down the length of Florida.

Heavy damage to citrus crops in the latter states is feared. Growers were warned to light up their smudge pots.

Similar conditions obtained all along the gulf coast and into the Rio Grande valley of Texas. Only the southern part of California seemed to have escaped. Los Angeles enjoyed a temperature of 72.

Two Battalions to Be Rushed South From Quantico and San Diego—Sailors to Be Sent Ashore at Once; Other Units to Be Kept Ready If Further Calls For Reinforcements Are Re- ceived.

Washington, Jan. 3.—Reinforcements were ordered today to be rushed to the U. S. Marines in Nicaragua, who have sustained severe losses during the last week in battle with General Sandino's Rebels.

Two fresh battalions of marines, of 500 rifles each, were ordered mobilized at once and dispatched to Nicaragua as soon as they can be made ready. One battalion will form at Quantico, Va., and one at San Diego.

In addition to these reinforcements, orders also have been issued for the realignment of American military and naval forces in Nicaraguan waters, which will permit more rifles to be sent against the Rebels.

Bluejackets from the squadron of naval vessels now on duty there will be sent ashore to relieve those marines who have been doing guard duty in peaceful sectors, and the marines thus relieved will be sent to reinforce those in the active zones.

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur declared that in his opinion the marine forces now in Nicaragua were "sufficient to meet the situation," but that the additional forces would be sent as an extra measure of precaution.

The request by the beleaguered marine force at Quail for reinforcements and hospital supplies, Wilbur said, was intended to apply to troops and supplies already in Nicaragua, at the Managua base. They will be dispatched at once by airplane, he said.

President Coolidge declined to discuss the Nicaraguan situation today, except to say that all information in the hands of the government has been made public.

But while the navy was rushing reinforcements to the marines in the field, and the White House was observing strict silence, reports received here were becoming vocal over the American losses in killed and wounded.

Speaker Nicholas Longworth declared that the situation in Nicaragua should "be cleaned up without delay." Enough air should be given the marines, he declared, to stop Sandino, and particularly stop the steady sniping and ambushing that have combined to roll up more American casualties than have been suffered in any conflict since the World War.

"This is in pursuance of the United States' policy to protect American lives and property," Wilbur said of the order for additional armed forces.

World leave "as soon as possible." Managua, Jan. 3.—Although reports from the marine forces, which are attacking General Sandino's rebels, are meagre it is understood that the marines, aided by Nicaraguan constabulary, are today re-constituting for an attack upon General Sandino's stronghold at El Chipote.

Although contact has been established between the force that went into battle on Dec. 24 with the loss of five men and the reinforcing body that lost one man and five wounded in a skirmish on Sunday, it is believed here that the general offensive on the Sandino forces may await the coming of another column, which is reported moving to the support of the marines.

Lack of Details
The lack of details is due to the failure of the field radio set to send complete messages and most of the reports received have been picked up by marine aviators signally with the troops on the ground.

The work of sending reinforcements through is made difficult by the fact that Sandino's forces command heights overlooking narrow passes through which the forces must file, and the casualties thus far have been inflicted in skirmishes in these passes, with the marines in the depths and the rebels firing upon them from above.

Bombing Raids
Marine aviators have carried on constant bombing raids against the rebels and believe they have inflicted heavy casualties, but Gen. Sandino's forces were heavily entrenched and many of his men are using deserted mines for refuge, so that it is difficult for the aviators to carry out fully effective raids.

Although orders have been issued for the marines to pursue the battle until the issue has been won against Gen. Sandino, it may take some time and perhaps heavy losses to accomplish this task. The rebels

THE WAGE CUT

There is no blinking the fact that Manchester is in the process of swallowing a rather bitter pill in the announcement of what amounts to a ten per cent cut in the wages of the workers in the great Cheney mills, backbone of the town's industry.

There is, however, a reverse side to the situation. If the wage cut enables Cheney Brothers to meet more successfully the harshly competitive condition of the silk goods market, and therefore to maintain production at the point of normal capacity or close to it, the result should be fuller employment during the coming year, perhaps with a net gain in the condition of the employees over that in the year just closed.

More over it is doubtful if there is a single employe of the Cheney mills who has not, for many months, been living in a state of greater or less incertitude over the health of the business in which he was gaining his livelihood.

Yet again, the situation of Manchester's mill workers has always been at the top of the heap in the textile world. And it is still at the top. Even with the forthcoming wage cut their earnings will continue to be substantially greater than those of any other textile operatives in this country or any other.

The Herald is under no constraint as to its expression of opinion. If it suspected that the wage reduction in the silk mills was being instituted for the purpose of gouging profits out of the workers it would not hesitate to protest against such a course.

It is unpleasant medicine, for the mill workers, for the storekeepers—we sincerely believe for Cheney Brothers—but it is not at all impossible that we shall be by and by the better for having taken it. Anyhow, we all know now where we are at.

Every right-minded person will share the unhappiness of the Hartford Woman's club in its discovery of "horrible conditions" at public dances where boys and girls of high school age get drunk.

organization will tolerate neither violations of the Eighteenth amendment nor unseemly conduct at the dances held in its clubhouse.

"The Hartford Woman's club," says its head, "stands for loyalty and allegiance to the flag." This in answer to an anonymous communication from the outside embracing the query: "What attitude does the Hartford Woman's club take on the observance of the Eighteenth amendment?"

This is interesting because it illustrates the confusion of mind into which many of our most estimable people have fallen with relation to prohibition.

That's all there is to it. It may utterly amaze some good folk to know that the drinking of booze by high school girls and boys is not prohibited by the amendment.

We sincerely trust that the Hartford Woman's club will be able to keep boys and girls from getting drunk at dances within its jurisdiction.

The state of Connecticut has its own laws against drunkenness and indecent conduct. Why not invoke them, if the boys and girls are getting out of parental and pedagogical control, instead of dragging Old Glory and the structural ordinance of the land into this atmosphere of gin?

In Chicago there is under consideration a scheme to put a danger signal, so to speak, on the car of every motorist who has been responsible for an accident.

Assuming, as is probable, that this is intended to apply only in cases not sufficiently aggravated to justify taking away the driver's license, it sounds pretty good.

terpsichorean art, the Butterfly Dance.

Increasingly since the day of Miss Fuller's triumph, the stage has presented the grace of the dance unclad. But hers was the antithetical art of grace so profound that scores of yards of silken draperies not only could not hide the magic of her movements but became endowed, as it were, with the sensuous beauty of their wearer's rhythm.

It is to be wondered what would become of the dancing genius of some of these more modern ladies of the stage who can bear no slightest trammel of clothing, if they were to be asked to project not only the poetry of motion but the utter charm of beautiful femininity from under more yardage of silk than would supply all the revues of New York and London with all the costumes for a dozen seasons.

STANDARDIZED

The Conference of Governors, which for several years has been making rather ineffectual efforts to find some way to standardize life in the various commonwealths of this Union—at least so far as certain laws and practices are concerned—might be able, with the employment of sufficient enthusiasm, to derive some encouragement from the weather. No such uniformity of beastly weather all over the country was ever heard of as on yesterday, when in every state in continental America it was colder than blue blazes.

New York, Jan. 2.—New Yorkers are constantly being rebuked for their bad manners, if any. Visitors invariably find a comment on the rough treatment received at the hands of the masses during subway and elevated rush hours.

It has been said that the Times Square shuttle, between the hours of 6 and 7 in the evening, presents the greatest scenes of confusion to be found anywhere in what we are pleased to call a civilized world.

And while this particular phase of the New Yorker presents a glaring and unforgettable memory to the stranger, there is a tendency to overlook the more chivalrous gestures of the subway.

As Connecticut has led in the manufacture of small arms, so also has the state been in the vanguard in the manufacture of ammunition and related products. For years, however, the value of its ammunition, manufactured almost entirely by three companies, has been several times greater than the value of its firearms.

Leading all other states by millions of dollars in the value of this produce, Connecticut plants have turned out more than half of the total for the United States for several decades. Powder was made in Connecticut for England before the Revolution.

No other New England state has an appreciable output in this industry. New Jersey ranks second to Connecticut, but her products valued at $4,567,693 in 1925 was far short of Connecticut's, which were worth $21,017,737 or 50% of the total for the United States, which was $41,707,395.

MOTHER

A Cross, Feverish Child is Bilious, Constipated

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Fig Syrup," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless, "fruity laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle.

TEACHERS' TRAINING COURSES BEGIN SOON

Annual Church School Study Classes to Start Thursday, January 19.

Already a number of Sunday school workers have signed up for the teachers' training course under the auspices of the Manchester Council of Religious Education, which will begin at the South Methodist church on Thursday evening, January 19 and continue through five successive Thursday evenings at the same church. The registration fee is $2 and four courses of ten hours each will be given.

The faculty will all be from the Hartford Seminary foundation. Miss Elizabeth McGuffie will instruct in primary school methods; junior work, Miss Edna Baxter; intermediate, Prof. A. J. W. Mayers and the bible, Dean Karl Rut Stoltz.

An invitation has been extended to all Protestant Sunday school workers, whether teachers or not. Those who fulfill the requirements of attendance and quality of work will receive credit toward a diploma.

FINE COMEDY-DRAMA SHOWING NOW AT RIALTO

Marie Prevost, popular star of Pathe-DeMille pictures, heads the elaborate double feature bill at the Rialto theatre for tonight and tomorrow in her newest starring vehicle, "Main Bait."

"Main Bait" is a story of a little department store girl who gets herself into hot water when she refuses to be "petted" by the young sheik whose dad owns the establishment. She is discharged by the superintendent and, to save herself from being broke, she accepts a job as a taxi-dancer in a cheap nickel dance hall. It is then that the comedy moments and highlights of the picture really begin to unravel.

Miss Prevost is supported by an excellent cast of stars including Kenneth Thomson, Pathe-DeMille's latest discovery in the field of leading men. "Main Bait" is, by far, the greatest picture ever given to the Rialto.

The Rialto presents promising Interferin' mystery are exciting story of a young plain. The management of the Rialto to announce that on Thursday evening a vaudeville program has been arranged, in addition to the picture program. There will be no advance in prices for this event.

ADVERTISE IN THE HERALD—IT PAYS

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE: (175) Sorting

After the letters have been cancelled, they go to sorting racks. Standing in front of the rack marked for Pennsylvania letters, for instance, a man picks up bundle after bundle of the letters and sorts them into pigeon holes marked with the names of the various Pennsylvania postoffices. Then the letters from each pigeon hole are tied in bundles.

The letters then are thrust into mail bags. Each bag has a tag which shows at what time the train that is to carry it will leave.

Trucks speed the letters to their trains. Nearly every passenger train these days carry mail cars. Some fast trains are made-up of mail cars only.

Here is pictured the interior of a mail car on a long run. This car carries mail for distant points, and here you see the clerks, who are employed by the government, distributing it into proper sacks which are held open before them. They rarely throw a piece of mail into the wrong sack. (To Be Continued)

SEE FREE LOVE TAKING PLACE OF MARRIAGES

New York Minister Tells Chicago Audience About Social Changes.

Chicago.—The end of the institution of marriage in America to be supplanted by forms of so-called "free love" was the main feature of a lecture by John Hayes Holmes, New York minister, who addressed an important gathering here.

"It is entirely possible that marriage will disappear, but if so, it will be in accordance with the laws of evolution," Holmes declared. "Evolution does not necessarily mean progress," he pointed out.

The marriage of the future, according to Dr. Holmes, will be founded upon three basic fundamentals. He cited these as follows: "Sex relations must be more or less public; secrecy is intolerable. "The union must be bound by social sanction and a policy similar to that of Russia may be adopted, which consists of a couple going before an official and declaring their intentions of living together.

IRISH SHIPPING HAS PROSPEROUS YEAR 1925

Belfast.—Irish shipping has just experienced a very successful period. The Belfast shipbuilding returns for 1925, show that the total tonnage launched reached 111,224 tons.

Harland and Wolff, the largest shipbuilding firm in Ireland, contributed 62,313 tons. The total is the highest recorded in Ireland for 24 years.

The combined tonnage for Harland and Wolff at Belfast, Glasgow and Greenock, totals 94,700 tons, which is an increase of six thousand tons on last year.

The total gravitational pull of the earth would break a steel rod 2,000 miles in diameter.

NEW BUREAU FORMED IN CALL TO BATTLE INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Berkeley, Cal.—A definite step toward the creation of an agency for effectively combating that most dreaded of children's diseases, infantile paralysis, has been taken at the University of California.

The object of the new bureau will be to provide a storing and distributing center for an emergency stock of serum, made from the blood of convalescent patients. This serum, according to medical men, is the only reliable method of combating the terrible malady. If administered early in the course of the disease it will either decrease the severity or prevent the further development of the ailment, according to university authorities.

McLAGLEN, DEL RIO
IN STATE FEATURE

"Loves of Carmen" Showing Today and Tomorrow—"For Men Only" on Thursday.

The great team which made "Wnat Price Glory" the wonderful picture it turned out to be has scored another triumph, that of "The Loves of Carmen," the State theater feature today and tomorrow. Victor McLaglen and Dolores Del Rio, the Captain Flagg and Charmaine of the famous war film, are the matador and the beautiful siren in this spectacle.

Prosper Merimee, the author of "Carmen," wrote his story many years ago when the young girls of Spain went into the cigarette factories to work. The story was so realistic and true to life, the life of the Spanish girl in the factories, that it was banned as soon as it came out and it was not until more broad-minded ideas of literature began to prevail that it was allowed to be placed back in circulation.

Escamillo, Jose, the dragoon, and the smuggler chief are the principal male characters in the play. The first-named is McLaglen, who is the most noted torreador in all Spain, a man who has fearlessly faced the most vicious bulls, only to be rendered helpless by the flashing eyes of the beautiful Carmen.

Don Alvarado, a newcomer, is cast in the role of Jose, the dragoon, who slays his superior officer "Loves of Carmen," the State theater. He is a handsome dog, this Alvarado, and considered a worthy successor to many of the so-called "sheikhs" who are now making love on the screen.

Thursday's feature at the State will be a comedy bearing the title, "For Men Only." The stars of this production are Jacqueline Logan and John Bowers and the story is one of a misguided office manager who decides to fire all his girls and hire men instead. They rebel when they hear of it and he is forced to capitulate in the end.

The Blazing Horizon

THE STORY THUS FAR

The story is laid in the Indian territory and along the Kansas border in the '20's, when a fight was being waged for the opening of Oklahoma to settlement. Chief characters are:

TONY HARRISON, orphaned at 13 when his father was shot in a poker game.

PAWNEE BILL, adventurer, teacher, Indian interpreter, showman.

WEEBIE, teacher, Indian interpreter, showman.

JOE CRAIG, who takes Tony to the Bar K ranch to live.

TITUS MOORE, owner of the Bar K ranch.

RITA, his daughter.

The boy grows up on the ranch and learns the cowboy's trade. When Rita and her mother depart for the east he learns for the first time how much he cares for the red-haired, arrogant beauty.

He tries to forget Rita Moore and accompanies Pawnee Bill and Buffalo Bill on a wild west show tour. After many adventures he returns but he comes back for a visit and he is unable to keep from declaring his love for her. When she tearfully admits she is engaged to another, he leaves the ranch and disappears.

A letter from Craig, forwarded by Pawnee Bill, finally reaches him in Chicago and he learns that other men to please her mother. Rita is an invalid. He is miserable, but harshly resentful toward Rita.

Pawnee Bill at the height of his career as a famous showman.

CHAPTER XXXVI

HE often fretted at such an existence, but reflecting that it was of his own shaping, he grimly stuck it out, refusing to make any friends, nursing his bitter thoughts in the solitude of his room, on lonely walks along the lake front, or leaning on the bar in some saloon.

He told himself it would be better to forget the old life entirely, to go far away from it, find a new interest; but he was not able to down an insatiable longing that came over him to feel leather beneath whipping his face. Besides, he had given his word to Pawnee Bill; before there could be a clean break he would first have to serve out a season with the new show.

Bill was depending upon him; insisted, even, that he could not do without him.

Once to a particularly despondent mood, he wired his long-haired friend to ask if he could not get along without him. That evening he went to bed early, feeling better than he had in some time. Some days later he awoke from a delirium to find Pawnee Bill at his bedside.

"Decided to get well, did you?" he smiled at Tony. "Son, you've had a tough time of it."

"What's the matter?" he inquired in a weak voice. "Am I sick?"

"Pneumonia; that's all. I gathered from the landlady that you had a habit of taking long walks along the lake in the rain. It didn't do you any good."

Tony smiled and turned his face to the wall and slept.

"About that telegram of yours," Pawnee Bill resumed when he was able to sit up and talk. "If you can demonstrate that you'll benefit by steering away from me I'll be satisfied. However, I'm thinking you need a guardian. I've been told that you and John Barleycorn have been on real familiar terms. Son, you'll have to cut that out or find yourself in a smashup. Speaking of guardians, I heard from Joe Craig a week or so ago and he's plumb anxious to find you. But I didn't tell him where he could locate you; I sort of figured you didn't want me to do that."

What happened down at the Bar K, anyway? You and Craig have a falling out?"

Tony shook his head and enlightened him no further.

Pawnee Bill regarded him shrewdly. "Whatever it was, it ain't as bad as I think. You're young and time has a way of healing a slight trouble.

"Maybe you don't realize it," he continued, "but you and my Indians will be the backbone of my show. You've got the best seat on a horse stallion of yours and your ability to shoot and rope, I'm planning to feature you plenty. . . . The young daredevil of the plains," he mused, as if he had been turning the phrase over in his mind, and met Tony's exclamation of scorn with a laugh.

"All right; turn up your nose. I'm showman enough to know a good thing when I see it."

"Before another year rolls around," he resumed with a change of tone, "you'll see some real action on this Oklahoma thing. Public sentiment has reached the point where trouble's just ready to pop it. Washington doesn't hurry up and do something. I've been approached a couple of times on a proposition to lead the Boomers and keep with Charlie Southwell under way. Meanwhile, though, I've tried to help the cause, you might say."

He pushed back his chair and strode over to the open window. Tony, leaning against his pillows, regarded him in silence.

Two days later Pawnee Bill departed. "I've got a million things to do. For one thing, I've got to line up my Indians and try to stay out of jail while I'm doing it. And I've got negotiations under way with Charlie Southwell—he's manager of the Broad Street Theater in Philadelphia—to go in partnership with him. He's had a lot of experience. We'll be opening in the east—maybe Philadelphia. Meanwhile you're to take things easy till you hear from me. I don't want to lay eyes on you again until everything's in shape."

Tony did not hear from him until a month later, when he hurried to Philadelphia in response to Pawnee Bill's wire that everything was in readiness. Even Cherokee was there, Lillie informed him proudly, and then the show opened. In the press notices there was liberal mention of a young daredevil who performed miracles with a rope and greater miracles with a gun and who rode like a fiend on a big black stallion.

For a time Tony was satisfied. The life was exciting and at first he found it pleasant to read about himself in the newspapers. Then it settled down to monotony.

Money was not coming in as fast as Pawnee Bill had anticipated. "And I can't understand it," he confessed with a shake of his head. "We've got a good show and the weather on the whole has been favorable; I guess it just must be a bad year. We've got a chance to hop down to Washington, for a few days. There's a convention there. I'm hoping to clean up. We'll have to cancel a few dates here and there, because it's not on our schedule, but I'm in favor of doing it."

It was a wise move. Business in Washington was good; so good, in fact, that at the conclusion of their three-day stand Pawnee Bill declared the next day a holiday.

"You can roam around and amuse yourselves," he told the performers. "Personally, I'm going to look after the Indians to see that they don't go on the warpath."

Joe Stevens, one of the cowboys with the show, whom Tony liked very well because he talked so little, sought out Harrison as the latter was currying Cherokee and invited him to be his holiday companion. "I've got a real longing to see some of the sights here," he announced; "besides which, I've got a brother-in-law who's a bartender in a saloon at the foot of Capitol Hill."

Tony consented; it would be better than wandering off some place by himself. Clad in full cowboy regalia they rode their horses into the center of town and hitched them outside the little saloon. Stevens' brother-in-law made much of their visit and insisted on their accepting the hospitality of the house.

"Your money is counterfeited as long as you're here," he announced. "Step up and name it. Boys," he cried to all who might hear, "meet my brother-in-law and his friend, Mr. Harrison. This one's on the house."

Two hours later Tony decided that they must go. Joe Stevens, from him like an old garment under the influence of his brother-in-law's best bourbon, demurred at first, but Tony had a convincing argument.

"You said you wanted to see the sights, didn't you? Here it is nearly four o'clock. It'll be sundown, first thing you know."

"There was logic in that, Stevens admitted. "Well, ride up the hill and take a look at the Capitol first. Then we'll ride down Pennsylvania avenue and take a peek at the White House. I've always wanted to see the White House."

"If you have any trouble with the police," his brother-in-law advised him, "just tell 'em you're friends of mine."

"What for?" asked Stevens truculently. "If they get sassy I'll brand 'em." He and Tony walked out a little unsteadily, threw uncertain legs over their saddles and headed their horses up the hill.

A capitol guard smiled broadly as he watched them ride slowly through the grounds. Stevens was all for dismounting and making a thorough inspection of the building, but Tony dissuaded him. "I won't have time, Joe. A man could spend a whole day in that capitol then. There's a lot of sightseeing ahead of us yet. Come on," and he led the way back down the hill at a run.

As they rode west along Pennsylvania avenue, people paused on the sidewalks to stare after them. Washington, accustomed as it was to strange sights, did not often see chap-clad, tall-hatted cowboys tearing down its main street. The White House, Joe Stevens said, his horse to an abrupt halt and shaded his eyes with his hand in an elaborate gesture.

"Injuns, Tony!" he announced in a melodramatic whisper.

Tony looked and laughed. Stevens was staring at a cigar store Indian.

"You throw him and I'll heel him," Stevens said, "and we'll drag him up the avenue." In another second his rope was in his hand, and he was swinging the whole lot over his shoulder and pulling it to the ground as Cherokee moved on and the rope tightened.

3057 The Slenderizing Effect Of Vertical Lines

Bands showing the reverse side of lustrous satin are applied in redingote fashion, giving a coat-dress effect to this smart one-piece frock. The full-length under panel, tailored collar, and smartly buckled slender belt, further the approval of fabric contrast. Pleats extending from shoulder to hem in the back, give a decidedly slenderizing line and provide additional skirt width. The revers and collar may be omitted as in small view B. WATCH NIGHT LIGHT ON YOUR MAKE-UP

We have stressed the necessity of accentuating your particular type of complexion by using powders and rouges which emphasize your coloring. The blonde should wear delicate tints of powder and rouge.

For the brunette, boldness in color, dark powders and vivid rouges. Always exercise care as to the lip stick. Don't let the color of the lips be too obvious. Some girls have mouths that look like wounds. All this for daytime wear.

For night time, we must consider the effect that yellow light rays have on color. You know that a white dress may appear yellow at night, and a lipstick may become rose. Also, you have witnessed the effect of a change in the spotlight on the colored dresses on the stage.

In the same way, lights have an effect of changing the appearance of make-up. And the colors that were just beautiful in afternoon, are dulled or so changed that the effect is startling, when the rays of light fall on the face.

Rouges containing a great deal of yellow, such as the orange or tangerine type, should not be worn at night because the light rays deepen the yellow tone, giving a fantastic effect. Soft rose colors are better.

However, it is always possible to tone down the rouge you wear by lighting the lamp over your dresser and working out the proper color blend.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

We hardly needed a serious research to tell us that we Americans are eating much less than our forebears did, or even than we ourselves did a few years ago. But the National Industrial Conference Board has just completed such a study and gives us figures on the subject. We ate 10 per cent less meat a person in 1926 than in 1907, they say, and 20 per cent less white flour bread and other foods made from wheat flour.

The report reminds us that whereas "ham and eggs" once meant two eggs and a real hunk of ham, it may now mean but one egg and a wee slice of ham. An order of "chops" or "cutlets" which once always meant two may now mean but one, and bread and butter are not served as a matter of course with all orders.

Did you ever run across an old holiday menu from some hotel or inn of 20 years or so ago? Did you wonder how the world is so well managed to do it? Oysters and clams and soups galore and woodcock and squab and turkey and rooster and guinea fowl and fish and squabs and venison and bear now mean but one, and a dozen vegetables and salads and fruits and nuts and candied and puddings and pies and cakes and ice creams and—

But whatever the cause, wouldn't you love to be a kid again, play outdoors all day long, and come home at night with the same appetite that you brought to mother's supper of anything and everything and nothing "balanced"?

Neysa Says

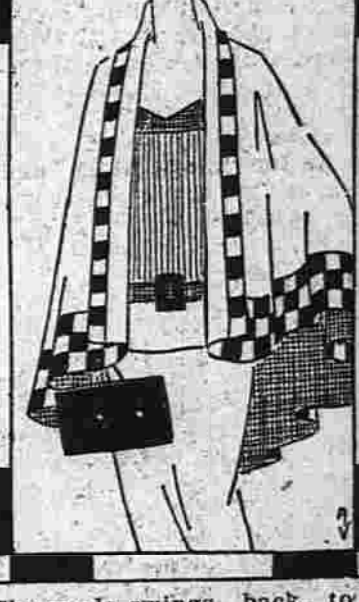

Neysa McMein, famous artist of "pretty girl" magazine covers, recently had this to say on the subject of motherhood and career: "If it ever came to a question of having to give up either motherhood or my career, I would hesitatingly give up my career. I would never let my married life take second place. But I can see no earthly reason why a woman can't have both."

They "See"

Of course, she can't see, nor can any woman see whose earning capacity runs into three and four and five figures a week, but the average woman whose maximum earning capacity is about $50 a week and who soon learns that a housekeeper, a laundress, a nursemaid and all the other substitutes for herself in the home take most of that $50, sees every imaginable "earthly reason" why she can't always have both.

Scientific literature does not record a single instance of a person living beyond the age of 105.

HINTS ON HOW TO KEEP WELL by World Famed Authority

WOMAN'S HEART SMALLER THAN MAN'S TESTES SHOW

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

The bodies of men and women differ not only in the external characteristics and in their internal organs that are essential reactions of the body to various conditions.

Physiologists in the University of Michigan have made a special study of differences in the heart action of the two sexes. The term here used refers to the physical powers of the heart and not to the emotional reactions, which constitute an entirely different story.

The sexes were compared by studying the reaction of the heart while men and women were standing, sitting and lying down.

Apparently the heart of the woman beats just as vigorously as that of a man. Indeed, the period of contraction is longer in the heart of a woman, apparently because the heart of the woman has more blood to pump relative to the size of the body than does that of a man.

Probably also the contraction is longer because the hearts of women are smaller in proportion to the size of the body.

The weight of the heart of man is about 10 per cent more than that of a woman of equal body weight. Apparently this is due to the fact that men have always had a greater amount of physical activity.

These figures all seem to be due to the same factors, namely, the fact that the heart of the woman is smaller and that it pumps a greater volume of blood in relationship to the size of the body.

Meeting the Years Gracefully

By Olive Roberts Barton

Geraldine Farrar has made her second great debut, greater even than her premier at the "Met," as the Metropolitan Opera House was affectionately known to its darlings, she merely conquered the world.

Now, gray-haired, charming, gracious, it would appear that she has made a greater conquest still.

Recently she appeared in Carnegie Music Hall in New York to sing to her first audience there for several years. In no time at all the hall had sold itself out. The public was curious to see what kind of Farrar had come back as a review has it "subdued and dignified. Her methods were in all ways softer, more delicate, than those five years back. But still it was the old Farrar winning by sheer charm of personality an audience that was on its feet to greet her, to wish her success and to cheer her on as she sang, to give thunderous ovations after each number."

It also added, "there was not one inartistic bid for popular favor."

It was the last sentence that caught my eye. Not one inartistic bid for popular favor! A sermon to the middle-aged who forget that rouge and hair-dye are the most inartistic things in the world, de-

STAGG AND CHRISTIE OUT AS U.S. OLYMPIC COACHES

Reports Have It That Lawson Robertson, of the U. of P. Is the Only Appointee—Seek Harmony.

By DAVID S. WALSH. I. N. S. Sports Editor. New York, Jan. 3.—Alonso Stagg, grandfather of middle western athletes, and Walter Christie, who produced three intercollegiate championships teams at the University of California...

Perhaps would be nearer the truth to say that no appointment has been offered to them or any other auxiliary coach at this early date. The only appointee known up to the moment is Lawson Robertson, of the University of Pennsylvania...

Robertson once more has been placed in charge of the team's training but this time no other members have been attempted. He will be in absolute command, whereas, in 1924, the committee named Robertson to shoulder this responsibility...

He, however, was in a spot to take the complete "slap" in the event of a failure and so he found his position almost untenable. Christie, of course, had his own ideas about the training of jumpers and weight men...

Of course, this does not constitute any specific objection to Stagg or Christie, or the committee. All I can learn is that somebody thinks he is a little too set in his ways. Anyhow, he probably will turn up absent at Amsterdam. Assuming that he wanted to go in the first place, which I don't think he would, he probably would have proved more receptive to overtures. But, as I said before, I think there will be none in either case.

Showing Against Ruth In Home Run Race Cannot Go Unrewarded; Big Increase Expected.

New York, Jan. 3.—As the time approached last winter to sign Babe Ruth to a new contract, Colonel Jake Ruppert, the dapper and big dough owner of the New York Yankees, was in a chronic condition of nervous sweats.

The Babe's manager gave the Babe an idea of how much money he had made out of the Baltimore orphan boy one of the ranking girls of sport literature—Christy Walsh. The result was that the Babe walked into Ruppert's office, discussed the weather and the prospects of beer coming back and called for a contract that would pay him $210,000 for three years' work.

Without the slightest warning, another sweat descended upon the good colonel. He knew he had a royalty German playing first base for the Yankees...

But suddenly Der Gehrig became the talk of the year. He started smacking home runs, triples, doubles and singles all over the American League map...

Rumors that Bruce Caldwell, Yale backfield star this year, would seek to enter West Point, were stopped by his own declaration that he positively would not enter the military academy.

Billy Evans Says

AN UNCOMFORTABLE DAY

The most unusual and in many ways the most uncomfortable afternoon I ever spent on the ball field had its setting in my first year in the majors.

It was perhaps the only time in my career that I was subjected to all kinds of abuse from the fans and ridicule in the newspapers, when, as a matter of fact, I was entirely innocent of the mistakes alleged to have been made by me.

Chicago, it will be recalled, won the pennant in 1906, which was my first year in the big show. It so happened that I was assigned to do a great deal of work with the Chicago Club that season.

Late in the year, I was paired with Jack Sheridan to umpire several important games that had a decided bearing on the pennant race. St. Louis, a tough team for Chicago to beat, was the first team to invade Chicago in an effort to knock off the White Sox.

Well do I remember the pitchers for the opening game. Ed Walsh, ace of the Chicago staff for the White Sox, and Barney Peltz, always a tough man for Chicago to beat for the St. Louis club.

Called End of Game The game early settled down into one of those old-time pitchers' battles and at the close of the ninth inning the two teams were deadlocked in a scoreless tie.

About the seventh inning, it suddenly began to grow dark and it seemed as if there might be a downpour of rain at any moment. Realizing that the judgment of the veteran Jack Sheridan, umpiring on the bases, was far better than mine, I walked down to him for assistance.

"Looks as if rain or darkness might make trouble for me, Jack, so I want your help." I told him, "Don't let me try to go too far. My judgment is far better than mine and when you think I should call the game, give me the sign."

STANFORD DEFEATS PITTSBURGH IN THRILLING MATCH ON COAST

The Phil Ball of the pro basketball league is Fran Morganweck, manager of the Fort Wayne, Ind., Indians. Morganweck will trade or sell any cage player on his team.

Local Sport Chatter

Manchester boys will play a very pleasant part in football at Worcester Tech next fall. Eddie Gill has been elected captain of the team and Billy Hutton, manager.

No matches were played in the elimination pool tournament at the School Street Rec last night but there probably will be some tonight. Paul Ballsleper, one of the favorites to win the tournament, took advantage of the evening to brush up a bit at the expense of Bill Brennan.

Erwin Clarke, physical director of the Park Center junior high school at Schenectady, is visiting at the home of his brother, Wilfred J. Clarke, coach of the High school basketball team here.

It is barely possible that Jerry Fay, new director at the Manchester Community Club, will become in some way connected with the Cloverleaves next football season should he still be in town.

Today is another of those days when sport news is as hard to find as peanut shucks in Greenland. With only one basketball team playing every week, Manchester hasn't got much to brag about in the field of sports.

FORDEHAM WINS New York, Jan. 3.—The Fordham basketball team was hailed as the leading court five in the east today as a result of its 47 to 32 victory over the strong Yale team, which had defeated Penn and New York University.

Newburgh, N. Y., Jan. 3.—Charles J. Gorman, of St. John, N. B., is the Middle Atlantic speed skating champion for the third successive year. He ran away from the fastest ice stars in Canada and the United States in winning the championship here, capturing the first three events for men and falling in the fourth and last only because he fell.

Score 7 to 6 Made in Third Quarter—Cardinals Near Head of Class—West Has Best Teams.

Pasadena, Calif., Jan. 3.—The Cardinals of Stanford today moved very close to the head of the football class after their thrilling defeat of the Pittsburgh Panthers here yesterday by a score of seven to six.

With four yards to go, Wilton dropped back and passed to Slim. The Panthers' fiery swarmed over Slims and the ball nesting in his arms was knocked into the air. After passing the ball, Wilton ran and grabbed it from the air after it left Slim's hands and squirmed over for the tying touchdown. Hoffman booted the goal.

Both teams played superb football. But it was Stanford that was in a dangerous scoring position most often.

More than 55,000 spectators saw the game. The Stanford victory gave the west a clean sweep in the post season intercollegiate games. An All-Star Western team defeated an All-Star Eastern team at San Francisco on Dec. 26, and California won from Pennsylvania at Berkeley last Saturday.

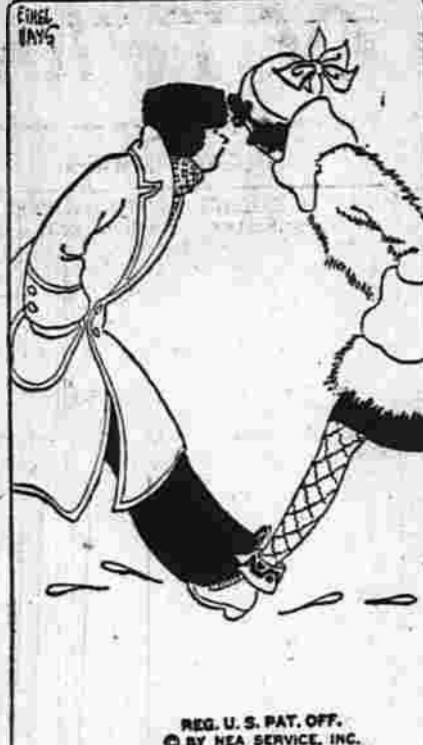

BRITISH BOXING MEN TO AMERICANIZE RING TO POPULARIZE SPORT

London.—Phil Scott's shady showing in American boxing rings has made English flat magistrates start on thorny road toward Americanizing the British fighting. The campaign started last week when Jack Smith, noted English promoter, changed his leading bout on a program from a twenty round to a ten round affair. Don Shortlands and Carlo Scotti, an Italian, were the fighters.

JACK LOCKWILL'S HELPING HAND

by Gilbert Patten

A pop-eyed, excited boy dodged into the room. He was Jas Piper, called "Custard Pie" by nearly everybody.

"Thanks, Custard," said Jack calmly, putting his money back into his pocket.

Lockwill looked at his roommate, Sinnott was pale. "It's too bad you were out to a party last night, Jerry," said Jack.

On their way to breakfast, Jack and Jerry passed Price Hargon and a group of Hargon's friends.

TOWN PLAYERS SEEKING TALENT FOR NEXT SHOW

Invite Aspirants to Try Out For "Haunted House," Especially Men.

The Town Players have issued a request for additional talent to be present at the tryouts at the Recreation Center on Friday night for "The Haunted House," which will be given late in February for the Girl Scout Council.

Miss Ruth Calhoun, director of the Players points out that the organization is not an exclusive affair, and that membership is open to anyone who desires to attend a meeting. There are no initiation fees and no restrictions. Any person who is not attending grammar school or high school is eligible to join.

The casts of characters in former plays given by the organization have been nearly identical, with but few exceptions. The last play, "Minkie," brought out some new talent, but it is the desire of the club to bring into it all the available talent in Manchester.

In its second year of organization the club has made a reputation for itself in the presentation of plays for various charitable bodies in Manchester. If this record is to be kept up, the club must have talent on which to draw for plays in which difficult character parts are needed. "The Haunted House" will appeal especially to men for there are far more male parts than there are female. It is for this reason that a special invitation has been extended to men to attend the tryouts.

The installation committee of Mary Bushnell Cheney auxiliary, U. S. W. V. would appreciate it if all donations of food are sent to the Armory before 6 p. m. tomorrow, to enable the committee to serve the dinner promptly at 6:30. All retiring and incoming officers have been requested to wear white dresses or white Hoover aprons.

ST. MARY'S YOUNG MEN'S CLUB PLANS FOR ANNUAL

Members of St. Mary's Young Men's club met last night to arrange for their annual meeting and banquet which will be held in the Hotel Sheridan on Saturday evening, January 14, at 8 o'clock. About 20 members were at the meeting.

Eight candidates for membership will be taken into the club and initiated after the meeting. The business will be transacted at the Sheridan and the initiation will be done in the clubhouse on Linden street.

Committees elected last night include the following: supper committee: William Sperber, Arthur A. Knofla, Albert Addy, Richard Pritchard and Hector Macdonald; initiation, Thomas Paulkner, Robert McCleary, R. J. McCann, Clifford Joyce and James Wright. The supper committee will meet to-night at the Soda shop at the Center to make plans.

Other business taken up at the meeting last night included the appointment of a committee to investigate certain needed improvements to the club. This committee is headed by Frank A. Rolston and contains in addition Albert Foy and John Mason.

WILL TELL THRILLING TALES OF CHINA HERE

Rev. D. F. Dodd, Back From Orient, To Preach Here Twice Sunday.

Rev. Duncan F. Dodd, recently returned from China, is scheduled to appear in Manchester on Sunday, January 8. He will preach in the morning at the South Methodist church and at the North Methodist church in the evening.

Rev. Mr. Dodd is connected with the Methodist Episcopal church and has just come from the New Haven District. Manchester is his first stop in the Norwich district and after leaving here he will visit all of the central churches in the district. Congregations which the visiting missionary will not visit will be invited by nearby churches to attend services at which he will speak.

Rev. Mr. Dodd has a thrilling story to tell of conditions in the China revolution area. He had one narrow escape from death at the hands of warring revolutionaries and this will be one of his stories.

CHURCH SCHOOL BOARD MEETING AND SUPPER

Unusually well attended was the meeting and supper of the Sunday school board at the South Methodist church last evening. The meal was served at six o'clock under the direction of Mrs. Clarence L. Taylor and Mrs. Rosa Brookings. Mrs. Gustava Anderson and Mrs. William Morrison had charge of the table decorations. The menu included meat loaf, scalloped potatoes, vegetable salad, coffee, tea and rolls. A season of sociability and good fellowship followed after which matters of business were taken up in connection with the work of the church school. The interest and attendance agured well for the work for the year in prospect.

Miss Elizabeth C. Cahoon, head worker of the Hartford County Council of Religious Education was the speaker and gave a very comprehensive talk on general Sunday school work and successful methods for conducting study of the bible. A considerable number of the teachers present signed registration forms, signifying their intention to attend the training school for teachers to be held for five successive Thursday evenings beginning January 19.

NEW YEAR PARTY

An informal New Year's party was held at the home of Miss Marion Sheehan of Holl street on Sunday evening. A large gathering of friends was present. The evening was enjoyably spent in playing games and singing. Dancing was enjoyed later in the evening and a buffet lunch was served.
