

HARTFORD SHOOTING PUZZLES OFFICIALS

Woman Dying and Man Partially Blinded as Aftermath of Party—Case a Mystery.

WIFE HELD
Hartford, Conn., Jan. 19.—Mrs. Harold N. Guilfoyle, wife of Dr. H. N. Guilfoyle, who with Mrs. Claire J. Gaudet was shot in the doctor's apartment here last night, was today placed under bail of $10,000 as a material witness in the case. Mrs. Guilfoyle was held after a three hour questioning at police headquarters. To hold Mrs. Guilfoyle, police entered a technical charge of breach of peace against her, and the city court continued her case until January 27.

According to the police, Mrs. Guilfoyle has admitted that Dr. Guilfoyle told her he had shot himself. This, police say, contradicts her first story that she knew nothing whatever of the shooting. The police added that Mrs. Guilfoyle has not said her husband shot Mrs. Gaudet.

Loved Other Woman
Mrs. Guilfoyle, according to the police statement, admits that her husband and Mrs. Gaudet had been friendly for a long time, and that she had found the couple together in the doctor's apartment several times.

The one police theory for the shooting is that Dr. Guilfoyle proposed that he and Mrs. Gaudet elope but that Mrs. Gaudet did not take kindly to the proposition.

Dr. Guilfoyle's condition this afternoon was announced as critical while Mrs. Gaudet is still at the point of death.

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 19.—With one victim at the point of death and the other partially blinded, police here today were endeavoring to determine the circumstances surrounding the shooting of Mrs. Claire J. Gaudet, of New Haven and Dr. Harold G. Guilfoyle, of Hartford, in the doctor's apartment, 691 Maple avenue, last night.

One bullet from a .25 calibre automatic revolver penetrated each victim and two other bullets from the weapon plunged into a wall. Mrs. Gaudet is in dying condition at Hartford hospital. The bullet in her body entered the left side below the arm and took a course that has not yet been traced.

Eye Destroyed
Dr. Guilfoyle was shot through the right side of the head. His right eye was destroyed.

The shooting occurred just as a dinner party in the doctor's home had ended. Mrs. Gaudet and her

VACCINATION RUSH ON IN NEW HAVEN

30,000 Treated in Two Days—Another Case of Smallpox Is Reported.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 19.—More than 30,000 people had been vaccinated here in two days, according to the city's health department, as a determined fight went on to prevent a possible epidemic of smallpox. One new case was reported overnight, the victim being a woman employed in a State street wholesale house. The latest victim brought the city's total to two cases. Three cases from the suburbs are also under treatment, the five patients being treated in the great isolation ward of New Haven hospital.

Ten clinics maintained by the city to furnish free vaccination to all comers without question, had used 25,000 vaccine points in two days and had 1,000 more on hand with fresh supplies being rushed in from Hartford and New York. Physicians' offices were jammed with people seeking vaccination and scores of doctors, each with a nurse, travelled from factory to factory and worked until they reached the limit of endurance.

Quick Vaccinations
Banks, retail stores and offices of all sorts called in physicians yesterday and today to ensure their forces of quick vaccination. Business was not worked until the vaccinations. Dozens of establishments with forces ranging from one hundred up had all their workers vaccinated yesterday afternoon without a moment's loss of time, and other places had employees wait after hours until doctors arrived.

Yale University's health department has started a strict supervi-

HEFLIN STARTS QUARREL AMONG THE DEMOCRATS

Alabama Senator Attacks Governor Smith Because Of Religion—Robinson Answers Him.

HEFLIN SLAPPED
Washington, Jan. 19.—Senate Democrats today took a slap at Senator Tom Heflin, Democrat of Alabama, whose Philippic against the Catholic church has threatened to disturb party harmony and furnish fuel for a renewal of the Democrats' 1924 religious fight.

This was done when a Democratic conference gave a vote of confidence to Senator Robinson of Arkansas, floor leader, and voted approval of Robinson's work on the Senate committee investigating the Mexican documents published in the Hearst newspapers.

The conference was called by Robinson after Heflin, in an acrimonious debate on the floor yesterday, challenged Robinson's leadership and attacked the presidential candidacy of Gov. Al Smith of New York on religious grounds.

Robinson demanded that his colleagues vote either to continue his leadership or decide upon a new leader.

Only one vote was cast against Robinson. It was said this was the vote of Senator Trammel of Florida. Heflin was not present at the conference.

Thirty Democrats attended the conference called this morning by Robinson. Heflin was conspicuously absent.

Three Catholics were present. Senators Walsh of Montana, Walsh of Massachusetts and Broussard of Louisiana.

The atmosphere of the meeting was tense, for the decision reached by Senate Democrats may play an important part in the Houston convention.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Democratic harmony, so much in evidence at the Jackson Day dinner here, was threatened today by

FAMILY OF FOUR POISON VICTIMS

Father, Mother and Two Sons Die After They Take "Cough Medicine."

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 19.—Four members of the family of James Potter, manager of a rooming house here were dead today, victims of a powerful poison, authorities declared.

Potter, 45, his wife, Lulu, 43 and their two sons James Jr., 16, and Robert, 14, died in convulsions late last night after they had taken a "cough medicine," detectives reported after questioning several of the Potter's roomers.

Powerful Poison
A powerful poison had been put in the liquid the victims had taken, Deputy City Chemist D. L. Cowles declared after he examined the bodies at the county morgue.

Roomers in the house first heard of the tragedy when James, Jr., ran screaming from the second floor. "Daddy has given us some cough medicine. I can feel it coming on!" he shouted and collapsed at the foot of the stairway, roomers said.

Potter recently made a bad business investment, police said.

INCENDIARISM'S TOLL IN WASHINGTON

What happened in Washington when an "irresistible" incendiary impulse overcame John J. Fisher, once a psychopath, is partly pictured here. Police said he confessed setting two of the twelve fires which kept Capital smoke-eaters busy most of the day. At the left you see the ruins of a wood-working establishment (above) and of a five and ten cent store, which also is pictured aflame at right.

His Sixth Bride Stolen Groom Bemoans His Fate

New York, Jan. 19.—"Tis better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all."

John A. Pirtle, 43, of Jackson, Miss., found what solace there is in this motto today a few hours after his sixth bride had been taken away from him by her angry relatives.

Pirtle, who was born in Troupe, Texas, had been divorced five times. Last night he was wedded to Mrs. Alice Kuppinger, 35, of Trenton, N. J. Mrs. Kuppinger, a widow, is the daughter of Frederick W. Toit. When the bride's father and two brothers learned that she was to be

MORE FALSE CLUES IN SMITH MYSTERY

Troy, N. Y. Girl Identified as New York Cloak Model; Searching River.

Northampton, Mass., Jan. 19.—What was regarded by investigators as the most promising clue in the mysterious disappearance of Miss Frances St. John Smith was shattered today when word came from Troy, N. Y., that the girl resembling the missing college freshman and who registered at the Hendrick Hudson hotel was Miss Pauline Orsh, New York city coat model.

Troy police had been in communication with Miss Orsh, who was at Troy Friday night, returning to New York on Saturday. Searchers continued today to work along the banks of the river in this vicinity and in the woods.

Miss Smith's father was considering increasing the reward for information leading to her discovery from $1,000 to $2,000. Her mother is here on the verge of collapse.

Another False Clue
One promising clue that has been shattered was that the girl had the football coach at Pennsylvania State college. Young Bezdek, missing from Hanover, N. H., had been traced here looking over a $15,000 ring, stating that he was engaged to a wealthy New York girl.

However, young Bezdek was found to have been here the day after Miss Smith went away and he had never known of Miss Smith. Miss Smith's mother said word from only "boy friend" was Frederick Ward Kates, Amherst student. He is still at college has been among the searchers and has been entirely eliminated from the case.

Young Bezdek's mother said word from New York that he was near that city.

The Frances St. John Smith case had a queer sidelight today when it was learned that Francis Smith, 15, Rutland high school sophomore had been missing from home since Jan. 7.

INCOME TAX BLANKS

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 19.—Seven thousand blank forms have been sent to corporations doing business in Connecticut to report to the state the amount of income earned in 1927. William H. Blodgett, state tax commissioner, had the forms put into the mail at the close of the day's business yesterday, and returns must be made on or before April 1. All corporations doing business in Connecticut, no matter where home offices are located, must file the statement or pay a penalty tax.

YEGGGS GET $40,000
New York, Jan. 19.—Expert safe crackers today made a $40,000 haul in the offices of William Weiss, a dealer in automobile supplies. The door of a steel safe was wrecked,

CHILD'S BODY FROZEN IN ICE HINTS MURDER

Parents Thought She Had Died From Fall—Autopsy Sets Toronto Police Searching For Clues.

Toronto, Jan. 19.—It was revealed here today that 13-year-old Florence Costello, Toronto school girl, was abducted, held captive ten days, attacked, finally murdered and thrown into a creek near her home.

The child's fate was disclosed at an inquest. Previously it had been thought that the girl had suffered one of her epileptic fits while coming home from St. Monica's Catholic school and broken her skull and rolled into the creek where she was found.

Three weeks ago Florence failed to return home from school, where she had reported being ill and got permission to leave it early in the afternoon. Her descriptions of the broadcast for ten days and troops of Boy Scouts aided citizen posses in searching the north end of the city for a child known to be physically weak and subject to prostrating illness, nothing developed.

The three of Florence's former playmates stumbled upon a frozen glove had sticking up through the ice in the creek within 100 yards of her home. They rushed to the Costello's home and their discovery and the father chopped Florence's fully-clothed body from the ice. A fracture was found on the back of the skull.

Dr. E. R. Frankish announced at the inquest that his autopsy had determined with certainty that the child was murdered by a blow on the back of the head. There was no water in her lung to indicate drowning.

The inquest room was cleared of spectators while the autopsy evidence was being given. The coroner's jury quickly returned a verdict of murder by an unknown person. Chief Coroner M. M. Crawford said the crime was extremely heinous.

The Toronto police have no clues.

100 SMALLPOX CASES IN MIDDLESEX COUNTY

Middleton, Conn., Jan. 19.—Five new cases of smallpox were found in Middlesex county today, bringing the total to one hundred. Three of the cases are in Portland, one in East Hampton and one in Middletown. No severe case has yet developed, authorities say.

The East Hampton patient, James R. Nichols, developed his disease twelve days after vaccination. He was vaccinated on January 7th but the case was not definite until today. Physicians say his attack will be very mild because of the vaccination which is presumed to have taken place after the patient had acquired the germs.

Authorities of Williams college today notified Wesleyan authorities that the basketball game scheduled to be played here tomorrow night must be cancelled. Williams physicians had recommended the step, Wesleyan was told.

8,000 SHOE WORKERS GO OUT ON STRIKE

Haverhill, Mass., Jan. 19.—Protesting a ten per cent cut in wages, between seven and eight thousand shoe workers, comprising six of the seven locals of the Shoe Worker's Protective Union, went on strike here today.

Cutters, niggerhead operators, packing room employees and wood heelers voted not to start work at all in the morning, with the women stitchers deciding to quit at noon. One union—the finishers—decided to place the matter of calling off work in the hands of the business agent. The seventh union—the turned workers—voted not to strike as they are not affected by the cut.

The Manufacturers' Association claimed that the peace pact which has operated seven years and has a year to run outlawed the strike. On the other hand, union leaders claimed the manufacturers have already broken the peace pact.

Against the claim of the union leaders that the ten per cent wage reduction is the most drastic on record was the claim of the manufacturers that it reduces labor costs per shoe only three to eight cents.

SIGHT DETROIT PLANE
Key West, Fla., Jan. 19.—A plane believed to be that of Leonard Plo and Austin Bement, Detroit advertising men, was sighted over Key West shortly after eight o'clock today headed towards Havana.

GEN. SANDINO HEAD OF NICARAGUA REBS IS REPORTED SLAIN

Sandino Slain? Natives Say Leader Was Killed When the Marine Planes Bombed a Village; U. S. Officers Making Strong Efforts to Verify the Report.

Managua, Jan. 19.—United States marines today were making determined efforts to confirm reports that the rebel leader, General Augustino Sandino, had been killed or seriously wounded.

No definite news concerning Sandino's death or wounding has been received, the only word reaching marine headquarters coming from natives who reported that they had received the information via the vague mouth-to-mouth method of communication in the jungles.

The reports had it that Sandino was killed during the air attack by marines on El Chipote, Sandino's stronghold, last Saturday.

These reports, and also those from marine aviators indicating that El Chipote was deserted of rebel troops, have been deemed sufficient for a thorough investigation.

Strong Attack
The attack against the El Chipote position of the Sandino rebels on Saturday was the most intensive yet made by United States marines. A squadron of fighting planes led by Major R. F. Rowell attacked with bombs and machine guns. At least forty rebels were reported killed. Later Sandino was reported to have moved his headquarters and drawn in his troops.

First report of Sandino's supposed death was received from natives reaching here from Jimoteza, former headquarters of the rebel chief. At the same time word was received by the United States marines that Sandino's wife, who had been living at San Rafael Del Norte, disappeared suddenly on Sunday night after a messenger had talked with her.

Everything has been quiet at El Chipote since the raid on Saturday. Air scouts reported that native huts in which followers of Sandino had been living are evidently deserted.

Washington, Jan. 19.—At an early hour today official confirmation was still lacking here as to the reported death of General Sandino during a bombing attack on his stronghold by U. S. marines last Saturday.

ROBERT J. GORMAN LEAVES TRUST CO.

Will Become General Manager and Asst. Treasurer Of Manchester Realty Co.

Robert J. Gorman of 17 Gorman place, who has been one of the tellers at the Manchester Trust Company for the past 25 years, has resigned and will become general manager and assistant treasurer of the Manchester Realty Company.

The directors of the Realty Company at the annual meeting of the company held recently, decided that it would be advisable to have a man on the job constantly. This recommendation was made by the treasurer, William S. Hyde, as well as by other members of the board of directors.

Mr. Gorman is considered an expert bookkeeper and is well fitted for his new position. He was ill at his home today and could not be reached. He will take hold of his new duties just as soon as it is possible.

James McKay who has been connected with the Trust company for some time will succeed Mr. Gorman as teller.

The Manchester Realty company was organized 12 years ago to handle real estate loans and mortgages. The business has grown to such proportions that it requires the full time of a competent man.

OLD CHURCH BURNED

Cohasset, Mass., Jan. 19.—The First Congregational church here, 125-year-old structure, was a mass of ruins today as the result of a fire which swept the interior of the structure and for a time threatened to spread to the Town Hall and other nearby buildings. Damage was estimated at $25,000.

A volunteer fireman, playing the part of a hero, fell out a window of the burning church. Physicians examined him to see if he was hurt with the result that he was arrested for intoxication.

young daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Way, of Hartford, were at the house with Dr. and Mrs. Gullfoyle. The Ways were on the sidewalk outside the house when the shots were fired.

Police today declared the thing was a shooting. He admitted Dr. Gullfoyle had told them he did not do the shooting. Mrs. Gaudet could not be questioned, so serious was her condition. Meanwhile the police announced they were "holding the doctor for the shooting."

Little is known here concerning the Gaudets. The husband came here from New Haven as soon as the news of the affair reached him and spent the night at the hospital. He had retired this morning to rest. Police could not say whether he had been examined.

Dr. Gullfoyle is a Philadelphian. His parents and one brother and sister are in that city and he has another brother somewhere in California. His wife is a native of Camden, N. J.

A general notice was issued yesterday afternoon recommending that every person who had not been vaccinated within five years take the treatment at once. Department heads followed the recommendation by interviewing each person separately and suggesting immediate vaccination. The response was unanimous in each department.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 13.—Larry Noble, former Yale athlete and coach of the freshman hockey team, arrested last Saturday for a fight with a supernumerary policeman, had his case continued until January 28, when it was called in City Court today.

cause of the challenge flung at Senator Robinson of Arkansas, minority leader, by Senator Hefflin, democrat of Alabama, on the re-election issue.

Party leaders had hoped all such highly controversial questions would be soft-pedaled but Hefflin stirred up the hottest political debate in months when he attacked the candidacy of Gov. Smith of New York, wholly on the ground of Smith's religion.

announced that he would call a conference of Democratic Senators and defied Hefflin to "nominate another leader of the Democratic Party here and see how far he gets."

Several moves were made by Democratic Senators to have both Hefflin and Robinson initiate peace overtures on the plea that harmony was necessary if the party was to have any success this year. It appeared that the rift would be cordoned off as a family quarrel which should be settled behind closed doors, so as to present an outward appearance of peace and quiet. There was nothing to indicate that Robinson would be displaced as floor leader of the party, although Robinson insisted upon forcing a vote on that point.

MISSING GIRLS

The disappearance of Miss Frances St. John Smith, Smith college freshman, followed as it has been by a flood of necessarily mistaken identification from all over the East, shows what a simple matter it is for any person of normal appearance to lose himself in the thousand cross-currents of human movement which have come to be an integral part of American life.

Twenty-five or thirty years ago it was a far more difficult thing for any person, let alone a young, attractive and cultured girl, to fade from sight in the face of a persistent search. Travel was almost entirely by railroad. There was no great difficulty to the police in watching railroad stations and terminals. And if the fugitive kept away from the railroads and adopted some other means of travel he or she was a conspicuous figure from the very fact.

Now automobiles move about the country like ants; it is impossible to keep either machines or occupants under anything like close observation. The country is honey-combed by bus routes. One may start from any point and travel in any direction, and be merely one of a great horde of human beings constantly on the move.

In the case of a missing girl discovery is complicated by the relative standardization in fashions. Try to describe any girl of your acquaintance and see if you think your description would be of great assistance to the searchers.

As for there being anything remarkable about a young girl traveling about alone, or in the company of one other person, as there might have been at the beginning of this century—there simply isn't.

Almost any girl who takes it into her head to disappear, in these days, stands a far better chance of succeeding than of being found, provided she is normal looking and lacks any utterly conspicuous mannerism of bearing or speech.

Let doubters inquire of the missing persons bureau of any great city police department as to how many reports of missing girls it has received in a year—and how many of them have ever been located.

SMART BOY

Young Harold Lotridge of Owosso, Mich., is a very smart youth. His pictures show it, and show that he knows it. He is one of the kind to all his life, be just a little smarter than the folks he has dealings with. He evidently proposes to take the advice of the inspirational magazines and seize opportunity when she knocks on his door.

Opportunity came to Harold in the shape of an accidental clue to the murderer of the little Schneider girl. It didn't need any extraordinary brilliance on Harold's part to appreciate the fact that he had a clue. Where his brand of cleverness came in was in refraining from rushing right to the authorities with his information, as most folks, under the urge to avenge the dreadful crime, would have done. It was a shocking, terrible murder, and pretty much everybody in that Michigan county was extraordinarily excited over it—everybody but Harold. Harold wasn't losing his head over any murders, but he was glad to see everybody else so stirred up, because that made it pretty sure that there would be a whale of a reward offered by and by. So he sat tight and waited. And, just as he had cleverly anticipated, the reward grew till it was a fine, far $4,000. Then he went to the police and told what he knew. That's what you might call keeping your wits.

Harold thought so, anyhow, and was doubtless quite proud of himself. As it happened, the murderer didn't get away in the interval, and nobody was lynched by mistake—as somebody might well have been. And the man to whom Harold tipped the police was caught and confessed.

But Harold isn't going to get that $4,000. He isn't going to get any of it. He was even put in jail for aiding a felon—and it isn't so

FACTS ABOUT CONNECTICUT

(43) The Slavery Days.

Connecticut, settled by Puritans who abhorred political and religious slavery, tolerated family slavery for more than 200 years. The Pequot War furnished the first slaves, but the Indians were replaced by negroes brought from Africa by Yankee sea-captains who carried on a thriving slave trade for many years. Just before the Revolution there were some 7,000 slaves in the Colony. Sharp criticism of slavery resulted in the passage of a law in 1774 prohibiting the importation of more negroes for slavery. During the Revolution many slaves fought side by side with their masters, being promised their freedom if they served three years in the army. In 1784 another law favoring the slaves provided that "no negro, or mulatto child, born after March 1, 1784, should be held in servitude beyond the age of 25." Following vigorous protest of Congregational ministers in 1788, the general assembly prohibited Connecticut shippers from engaging in the slave trade anywhere. Agitation against slavery increased during the 19th century until in 1848 a law was enacted to emancipate all slaves. At that time, however, there were but six slaves in the state. Connecticut produced three persons prominently identified with the anti-slavery movement in the United States—John Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and her brother, Henry Ward Beecher, famous pulpit orator.

Tomorrow—Silk in Connecticut.

thundering sure that he couldn't have been convicted as an accessory after the act if the authorities hadn't concluded that the execution of the public to which he is being subjected, was punishment enough.

Which just shows that there is such a thing as being a bit too smart, a bit too much on the lookout for yourself and a bit too indifferent to one's responsibilities as a citizen. It is probably all news to Harold that society isn't predicated solely on the idea of helping Harold look after himself but that, on the contrary, Harold has got to do a little bit of looking after society, when it comes his way to do so.

The boy who starts out with the idea that he can and will out-smart the universe generally winds up at the bottom of a very deep and narrow hole into which that world, getting help to his purpose, throws him to keep him out of mischief.

OIL WAR

It is unusual for high moral principles to be cited by a great business corporation as its reason for engaging in a price war—or for any other reason, for that matter. So that there enters something of more than ordinary interest into the battle between the Standard Oil Company of New York and the Royal Dutch Shell Company of Europe for supremacy in the markets of India.

War was declared on the Standard of New York by the Dutch Shell when the former began to market in India oil from concessions in Russia obtained from the Soviet Union. Dutch Shell asserts that this oil is stolen; that it is the product of fields that belonged to Europeans and which were confiscated by the Soviets without either compensation or the slightest moral or legal right. In its righteous indignation Dutch Shell declares that it will undersell the "stolen" oil in any part of the world in which it is offered, not matter at what loss.

Standard Oil of New York replies that Dutch Shell's abhorrence of the tainted oil is something new—that it tried to arrange for a monopoly in the self-same commodity but made the mistake of squeezing the seller too hard and the deal fell through, whereupon the American company, it explains, stepped in and grabbed the deal. Dutch Shell says it never tried to do anything of the kind, but was only negotiating with the Soviets in the hope of getting compensation for the former owners of the seized fields.

One of the inexplicable features of the oil war is the intimation, once or twice let drop but not yet developed, that in this rumpus Standard Oil of New Jersey is in sympathy with Dutch Shell. It may be remembered that some months ago officials of the two Standard companies took quite opposite positions with relation to doing business with Russia. Open conflict between the two standards, if it should ever come about, would be almost as surprising as to see the sun rise in the west. But an oil war, like a war in the Balkans, is likely to lead to anything.

CALLING NAMES

Dudley Field Malone has just read Prof. Thomas H. Reed of the University of Michigan a lesson in manners because the professor publicly referred to Mayor Walker of New York as the world's champion jackanapes. "If you are an example of the scholar in politics and your style of polemics is offered as an example to the youth of the country," said Mr. Malone in a letter to the Michigan man, "we here prefer to take our leaders from the sidewalks of New York."

Really, we don't think it was quite fair for Prof. Reed to say just what he did. Because Jimmy Walker is a familiar figure to a number of millions of persons, not only in

New York but all over the East, and these folks have had opportunity to judge whether the mayor is really much of a jackanapes or only a little of a jackanapes; whereas hardly anybody ever heard of Prof. Reed before and the public, for all you can tell, if they knew the professor as well as they know Jimmy, might decide that the championship belonged in Michigan university.

When you say a thing like the professor said you really ought to say it after folks have had an opportunity to compare your own qualifications with those of the chap you are criticizing.

SWIFT PUNISHMENT

The state of Michigan has probably hung up a record for the speedy administration of justice to a criminal, in the case of Adolph Hotelling, murderer of little Dorothy Schneider. Forty-eight hours after the arrest of the sanctimonious saddist he was on his way to state prison under sentence for life, having pleaded guilty.

Here is one case in which there will be no building up of maudlin sympathy, no long-drawn out exploitation by yellow newspapers, no anything but—swift and terrible punishment. For when the doors closed on this creature it certainly was for good and all.

The contrast between the disposition of this matter and that of the Remus and Hickman atrocities presents one of the best of all arguments for the abolition of capital punishment. Punishment so insupportable as perpetual imprisonment, following surely and instantly on the commission of murder, as in the case of Hotelling, cannot fail to be a far more effective deterrent than a theoretical death penalty which brings thousands of soft hearted people to the defense of him who stands in its shadow and which fails to operate at least nine times in ten.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, Jan. 19.—Have you ever run for election to anything and been defeated by last-minute slanders to the effect that you once embezzled $600, or that you were secretly a devil-worshiper or that you once eloped with somebody's cook?

Perhaps you could have refuted the calumny if given a day or so, but there was no time and the voters, fearing to take any chances, gave you a trimming. The same thing has happened to other good men.

Or possibly you just got through by the skin of your teeth in the face of such tactics, which may have been what happened to Congressman Charles J. Thompson of Danvers, O., who returned to Washington to introduce a bill which would discourage that sort of thing. Thompson would amend the corrupt practices act so that it would be unlawful for any candidate or any of his friends to circulate within 15 days preceding the election "any charge against or attack upon the personal character or conduct of any candidate, unless a copy of such charge or attack has been personally served upon the candidate against whom made at least eight days prior to the election."

Anyone publishing, circulating or distributing to be published or circulated such charge without notifying the other candidate 15 days beforehand would be fined $10,000, imprisoned a year or both.

Congressman McClintic, a good Democrat from Oklahoma, is convinced that Secretary of the Navy, Wilbur is a horrible example of that. When an old grad of the naval academy is made secretary of the navy to run the navy with numerous other old grads, the net result is just so much more bureaucracy and very little added efficiency.

So McClintic has introduced a joint resolution in the House which provides that "hereafter no person who is a graduate of the United States Military Academy or the United States Naval Academy shall be appointed as secretary of war or secretary of the navy. Any appointment made in violation of this act shall be void." Although Wilbur is an Annapolis man, Secretary of War Davis was graduated from Harvard.

"Federal prisoners low number 19,000 as against $500 in 1917, and some 10,000 are boarded out in county jails or other local prisons," says Congressman Boylan of New York. "The three United States penitentiaries at Atlanta, Leavenworth and McNeil Island are overcrowded by more than 100 per cent of normal capacity, causing great congestion and grave difficulties of administration and discipline."

"Federal prisoners awaiting trial or serving short sentences are confined in more than 900 county jails, many or most of them ancient, worn-out, insanitary and overcrowded. The Department of Justice has increasing difficulty obtaining accommodations for prisoners at all."

So, Boylan has a resolution providing for a thorough investigation of conditions.

A THOUGHT

It is good for us to be here—Matt. 17:4.

Be not simply good; be good for something.—Thoreau.

The parking ban in Chicago's loop is declared a success. The aim is now unobstructed.

Manhattan snapshots: The tiny slip of a tree that has been poking its way through a broken sidewalk on Eighth street. . . . Eighth street is a barren, treeless street. . . . Within an hour I watched a hundred people stop and look upon the frail green thing with a certain awe and unbelief written upon their faces, as though a miracle were taking place before their eyes; as though a Hindu deity had appeared and made rose bushes bloom from the gutter. . . . For a growing thing on Eighth street, as in so much of New York, is a miracle. . . . It is a miracle even when you plant it yourself and nurse it and see it grow green and blossom. . . . For every plant you succeed in causing to live, a dozen are blighted and die. New York is not easy on any form of life, least of all plant life. . . . And so the crowds gathered as the night wore on and, after a while I saw an old woman come. . . . She carried a rusty to mato can. . . . And she stopped to give the little tree water. . . .

Just a few blocks away, at the edge of Washington Square, there is another old woman who appears every afternoon at 4 o'clock with a little sack of liver. . . . And all the cats for miles around seem aware of her coming. For the callars and rooftops, the fences and garbage cans give them up. . . . More than once I have gone to her bench and cried "Come, kitty, kitty—" But never a kitty. . . . Yet, when the old woman approaches she has but to whisper the faintest, "Come, kitty," before half the cats in New York are on their way. . . . They are a wise crew—these New York cats. . . . In a sense they are the hardest of the city's dwellers. . . . For they survive in the face of the most unbelievable handicaps. . . . Theirs is a predatory life; a life that goes from back yard to back yard and from ashcan to ashcan. . . . They seem to have lost all capacity for feeling. . . . They greet bricks and kicks with equal unconcern.

The wash-lines of New York. . . . Every day, apparently, is "blue Monday" in Manhattan. . . . The waving of petticoats, shirts and umbrellas is the city's eternal pennant. . . . It is about the first thing one notices and remarks on when the trains from the outside world whisk past the Bronx. . . . It is the last impression one has of Manhattan. . . . From roof-tops, from fences, from lightwells, from every open space weave the network of clotheslines. . . . The clotheslines of the tenement belts tell you of old poverty and new prosperity. . . . And of ever increasing population. . . . The pair of silk stockings hanging from the hall bedroom window tell you of the cash girl who arose with the dawn so that she might be prepared for an evening's part before she ran off to punch the timeclock of the department store. . . . And so it goes. . . . The rush for telephone booths after 6 o'clock in the Times Square belt. . . . There's one public station that has to get new books about once every two weeks. . . . The rush for cut-rate tickets from 7:30 to 8:30. . . . The rush for shuttle trains after 5:30. . . . The rush for evening papers in Grand Central station at commutation hour. . . . The rush for shingles from 8:30 to 9:00 in the morning. . . . The rush for Staten Island ferries. . . . The rush for tables in the automat and for stools in a Broadway drugstore. . . . The rush—the rush. . . . But that is Manhattan!

IOWA CITIZEN BUILDS $250,000 HIGHWAY AS GIFT TO STATE SYSTEM

Ames, Iowa.—Alexander Coleman, of Hillsboro, Iowa, is likened to Henry Ford, the Detroit manufacturer, by the state highway commission here, because like Ford he has donated a paved road to a state. Ford, according to the highway commission, has contracted to build a road from the state primary highway in Massachusetts to his Wayside Inn, at Sudbury. The cost is to be $250,000, and upon completion of the project the road will be turned over to the state for $1.

Coleman, who has spent most of his life in mid road sections of southeastern Iowa, is providing for a road ten miles long, in Lee and Henry counties. It is to be of concrete and is to cost $250,000. It will be an outright gift to the state road system.

The young man who stole $35,000 from his firm to get an education and got caught has made a good start anyway.

Open Until 9 O'clock Tonight WATKINS BROTHERS' SEMI-ANNUAL SALE!

9-Pc. Early English Dining Suite $215

This is a suite of excellent design and construction, the legs being beautifully proportioned and turned. Fancy butt walnut is used for drawer fronts, straight grain walnut for tops and ends and solid gumwood for the balance. The finish is a warm, almost amber walnut. Buffet, table, china, arm chair and 5 side chairs, similar to sketch, regular $275.00.

Graceful Duncan Phyfe Suite $298

From America's only originator of a furniture style comes the inspiration for this graceful suite of 9 pieces. This suite represents one of the greatest values offered in this Semi-Annual Sale for it has been reduced from $478.00. It was fashioned at Grand Rapids from beautiful mahogany and gumwood, finished in a Sheraton brown finish with Crotch mahogany veneers on drawer fronts in true Duncan Phyfe Style. Oak interiors are another mark of fine construction. Table, buffet, serving cabinet, arm chair and 5 side chairs. The serving cabinet with three deep drawers is not shown.

Small-Wheeled Tea Wagon $19.75

The idea behind this tea wagon is that all wheels being equal, it can travel sideways as well as forward and backward. The little disc wheels are rubber tired; an 18x26-inch glass tray fits on the top; drop handle and drawer. Solid walnut and solid gumwood. Reg. $27.50.

Massive 9-Pc. Dining Room Suite $279

The feature of this suite is the massive design of the turned legs, being even heavier than those shown in the sketch above. The stretchers are also massive and square with moulded edges. The cabinet parts are proportioned accordingly, being made of American walnut plywood and gumwood. Applied ornaments also show old English influence. Buffet, table, china, arm chair and 5 side chairs, similar to sketch, regular $350.00.

5-Piece Unfinished Suites $16.50

If you are one of the many who get a great deal of pleasure out of "painting your own," you will like this set we have assembled for you. It includes a drop-leaf table and four excellent Windsor chairs, similar to sketch. Regular $19.50.

THOUSANDS STARVING
Belgrade, Jan. 9.—Twelve thousand persons in the Lubiski district are eating roots and bark from trees in an effort to stave off death and famine, the government reported today. Relief measures are being organized.

Special Preparation
For those who desire to go to a woman's college or to a college requiring a preparatory examination, Manchester High school conducts special college preparatory classes. These classes amount to tutoring on the part of the faculty. They meet every night at the close of the regular school session, beginning in March and continuing up to the time of the examinations in June. In these groups the teachers make an intensive study with the pupil of the technique of college examinations and help a student organize the material which he has studied in previous years. This type of work is similar to that done in the high grade preparatory schools which make a business of getting pupils ready for the college examinations. It frequently happens that a pupil on entering High school does not meet the College Preparatory curriculum. Unless the decision to go to college is made before the end of the second year, it is generally necessary for the pupil to take an additional year of work in order to fulfill the college requirements under these conditions. In order to enter most colleges from any high

HOW TO FIGHT EXCESS FAT
There are hard ways, like starvation, but fewer and fewer employ them. There is a pleasant way, modern and scientific, which combats the cause. A vast number of people now use it. And the slender figures now seen everywhere are largely due to that.

That method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. And everybody, in almost every circle, sees the change. New beauty, new health, new vitality.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. So users have no fear of harm. Learn the facts about Marmola, because of the good it has done. Ask your druggist—now—for a $1 box with the book. Then decide.

HEBRON

Mrs. Ellen Jones and her son Wallace of Andover were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Porter.

176 subjects appeared at the free vaccination clinic held at Gilead hall on Monday, and were vaccinated by Dr. D.C.Y. Moore of Manchester. The applicants came from all parts of the town and about a third of them were adults. As most of the children and adults at the center have already been vaccinated it is thought that there will be no demand for a clinic there.

The assessors held a session at the town clerk's office on Monday. They also met on Friday and Saturday of last week.

Mrs. E. T. Smith was leader at the Christian Endeavor meeting held at the Center Church Endeavor rooms Sunday night, with the topic on the subject of Bible reading. Homer Hills led the Gilead Endeavorers at their meeting in the church in Gilead, the subject being the same.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Horton of New Haven and Mr. and Mrs. George Case of Burnside were Sunday guests of Mrs. Marietta Horton. Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Horton and two sons were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Linde in Hartford.

The case of chicken pox reported early in the week in the family of Charles Segar on Hebron Green has completely recovered and all quarantine restrictions have been removed from the premises. In spite of the fact that the diagnosis was a very clear one and that no member of the family had been in the smallpox zone the rumor that this case was one of smallpox continued to spread to all parts of the town and there was more or less excitement on the subject, during the week. No visit from state health headquarters has been found necessary, the situation having been cleared up through a telephone conversation between representatives of the state health board and Dr. Pendleton of Colchester who had the case in charge.

The members of the newly formed Hebron Orchestra have decided to give their free dance at the Town hall, Friday evening, Jan. 20, all restriction on public gatherings suggested by the local health officer introduced the new orchestra to the local public. The orchestra will furnish music for dancing.

The American Legion held a meeting Wednesday evening, the principal business being the re-instatement of Willard Warrender as a member of the Legion. Some work also done in clearing, polishing, and putting into good shape, the German guns, sabers and other war trophies owned by the legion. Allen W. H. Sterry, commander, was in charge.

The appearance of "nussy willows" was reported recently from Hopevale.

The monthly teacher's meeting was held at the Center Grammar School room Wednesday afternoon. In the absence of Supervisor Charles M. Larcomb the meeting was in charge of Miss Ruth Ellis, teacher

AMERICAN REDS EXILED

Moscow, Jan. 19.—The thoroughness of Stalin's suppression of all opposition to the present regime was indicated today when it was learned that among the unknown number of the Trotsky party exiled to Siberia, were at least two former naturalized American members of the I. W. W.

The two fugitives from justice in the United States during Attorney General Palmer's post war "round-up of Reds," sought refuge with the Soviet government. They had secured government positions, but charged with being of the opposition they were arrested and exiled.

"Bill" Haywood, well-known as a labor leader in the United States was not among those exiled and was not charged with opposition activities. At present he is in Moscow in poor health.

WOMEN QUARANTINED

East Hampton, Conn., Jan. 19.—Fifty members of the local chapter of the Order of Eastern Star were put into quarantine here today at orders of the State Health Department because on January 3rd they attended a meeting with the Middletown and Colchester chapters at which were two women who soon afterward were stricken with smallpox. The Middletown and Colchester women were quarantined as soon as the disease was discovered but the East Hampton women apparently were overlooked. Their quarantine is to last one week.

STORM WARNING

Washington, Jan. 19.—The U. S. Weather Bureau this afternoon ordered storm warnings displayed from Delaware breakwater to Boston. A disturbance assuming gale proportions over Lake Michigan is moving east-northeast.

PREDICTS GREAT YEAR IN FURNITURE LINE

Watkins Salesmanager Returns From Grand Rapids 100th Market.

Frank J. Limbacher, buyer, salesmanager and newly appointed vice-president of Watkins Brothers, returned yesterday from the 100th annual market held at the American Furniture Mart, Chicago and the New York Furniture show.

"American furniture now leads the world in every one of the particulars I just mentioned. Many persons have the opinion that the best furniture is built in Europe. That is not true.

"And you may be certain that dollar for dollar American made furniture leads the world in value. The application of our national knowledge of superior manufacturing methods combined with increased attention being paid to beautiful designs has made these remarkable values possible.

"More pieces of furniture were displayed in the American Furniture Mart during this market than were ever displayed under a single room in the history of the industry. The Mart was the largest commercial building in the world even before its new 24-story tower addition was built.

"The two most outstanding features of the different markets were the introduction of modernistic furniture and the better values being offered."

SUFFERED ECZEMA THIRTY YEARS RABALM HEALED

"I have been a sufferer from eczema for over thirty years," says William Johnson, 6 Hickson Street, Gloucester, Mass., "and during that time have received treatment and tried many remedies without obtaining even a little temporary relief."

Rabalm is the result of a scientific effort to find an effective remedy for eczema, to stop pain and itching, heal blisters and restore beauty to skin. A white, cream-like, pleasant-smelling ointment. Rabalm will not stain clothing and has no disagreeable medicine-cabinet odor when used on the face.

COUNTRY STORE HERE AGAIN THIS EVENING

"The Wizard" Is Film on Program With Gift Presentation—Two Features Tomorrow.

The Country Store tonight is only another of the special features which the State theater is showing this week and next. The gift session will take place tonight with the showing of "The Wizard," one of the most weird mystery plays ever brought to the screen.

Its cast includes two of the famous cast of "What Price Glory," Edmund Lowe, who played opposite the brutal Captain Plagg, and Barry Norton, the heroic mother's boy. Lowe is cast as the newspaper reporter who goes out to solve the mystery of the killings of the apt which has been trained by the master criminal. Lella Hyams is the leading lady of the piece.

Tomorrow's features at the State, which will also be shown on Saturday, the "Open Range," a Zane Grey story, and "Clancy's Kosher Wedding," a story of Irish-Jewish life with George Sidney in the leading role. In "The Open Range" Betty Bronson and Fred Kohler are the well known players who are starred. The former is the heroine and the latter is the villain, and a better villain cannot be found than Kohler. His work in "The Blood Ship" was enough to stamp him as a star and he has since been engaged for many more big pictures.

Lane Chandler, a newcomer to the screen, is the leading man. Six feet of brawn and a background of years in the cattle country, Chandler is one of the really handsome actors. He is new, but more will be heard of him later.

"Clancy's Kosher Wedding" is another of those roaring farces which brings in the contrast between the lives of the Irish and the Hebrews. The Hebrew character part is assumed by George Sidney, who is always good in parts of this kind.

On Sunday and Monday the feature at the State is "The Noose," with Richard Barthelmess in the leading role.

"NOOSE" BRINGS OUT DICK'S BEST ACTING

Picture at State on Sunday Shows What Barthelmess Can Do.

Nickle Elkins, the young runner, who so narrowly escapes the gallows, is assured a permanent place in the screen's role of honor as the result of Richard Barthelmess' fine portrayal of this character in "The Noose," which comes to the State theater on Sunday and Monday.

Barthelmess gives to the central figure of the story a vitality and sincerity that comes only from natural acting and his performance in this role is one of the best he has ever done.

"The Noose" is the First National screen version of Willard Mack's sensational play of the underworld. It is the story of a youth who is led into evil ways by bad companions, but who goes to the defense of his mother's reputation when it is assailed, and nearly gives his life in so doing.

"The Noose" is thrilling and interesting entertainment, and the star is surrounded by a fine cast of capable actors and actresses. Lina Basquette, former "Pollies" dancing star, is seen as Dot, the cabaret girl, who sticks by the boy through thick and thin. Theima Todd is the society butterfly, who deserts him in his hour of need. Montague Love portrays the "villain" in a convincing manner, and the cast includes such clever players as Alice Joyce, Ed Brady, Jay Eaton, Robert E. O'Connor and Robert T. Haines.

John Francis Dillon admirably directed "The Noose," and made the most of the dramatic qualities of the play. It is ideal entertainment throughout.

Richard Barthelmess again demonstrates that he is one of the finest natural actors on the screen, and handles a difficult role with finesse and grace.

"The Noose" deserves its success because it is a good picture, well played by a fine cast.

LUTHERAN YOUNG FOLKS' ENTERTAINMENT FRIDAY

The willing Workers of the Concordia Lutheran church will give an entertainment in the parlors of that church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. H. O. Weber, wife of the pastor, is in charge of the program.

Principal among the numbers will be selections by the Maxwell Mandolin orchestra, under the direction of Thomas Maxwell, and a one-act comedy, "The Conspirators," with a cast composed entirely of girls.

Other numbers will be duets and solos. Younger members of the Sunday school will give a cantata, "Little Housekeepers." The children who will take part in this are: Gertrude Tluck, Mildred Gerhard, Anna Klein, Dorothy Geas, Elsie Stavitsky, Freda Roch, Elizabeth Klein, Louise Heller, Bobby Knofia and Billy Morehouse.

Following is the cast of the one-act play: "Madge Norton," Anna Bentsche; "Winnie Roberts," Elsie Roch; "Kitty Car," Evelyn Custer; "Joyce," Anna Mrozek; "Nancy," Ruth Stavitsky; "Edith," Anna Laut; "Edna," Jennie Reimer; "Hilda," Katherine Habern; "Miss Pringleigh," Marion Sheehan;

"Mrs. Norton," Katie Adams; "Miss Edwards," Dorothy Morehouse; "Annie, the maid," Emma Wolfe.

There's Real Medicine Now For Stubborn, Hang-On Coughs

When nothing seems to do that lingering, dry cough, just go and get a bottle of Broncholine Emulsion.

Take this REAL cough medicine as directed and notice how easily and speedily it overcomes that persistent, obstinate cough, that has caused you many sleepless nights, and miserable days.

It's a medicine compounded for the purpose of conquering tough, hang-on coughs, that cheap ordinary syrups can't touch and that's exactly what it does—quickly and thoroughly.

There is no dope in Broncholine Emulsion, nor chloroform, nor eucalypt—such things are only makeshifts and should be taken with the greatest caution. For ordinary coughs two doses of Broncholine Emulsion is usually enough. Ask Magnell Drug Co., South Manchester, about it or any progressive druggist.

THE STORY THUS FAR
 Margaret Odell, the "Canary," a former Follies girl, was once Broadway's favorite and a prominent figure in New York night life. When her strange death was found in the davenport in her apartment, New York was confronted with one of its most mysterious murders in its history. Markham brings Vance with him to the place where police investigation is under way.

CHAPTER IV
 THE two rooms had apparently been thoroughly ransacked. Clothes and various articles were strewn about the floor. The doors of both closets were open, and one in each room was ajar. To judge from the chaos in the bedroom closet, it had been hurriedly searched; although the closet off of the living-room, which was given over to the storage of infrequently used items, appeared to have been ignored.

The drawers of the dressing-table and chest had been partly emptied onto the floor, and the bedclothes had been snatched away and the mattress turned back. Two chairs and a small occasional table, upset; several vases were broken, and they had been thrown down in the wrath of disappointment; and the Marie Antoinette mirror had been broken.

The escritoire was open, and its pigeonholes had been emptied in a haphazard way. The drawers of the chest had been pulled out and swung wide, and inside there was the same confusion of contents that marked the interior of the escritoire. The bronze-and-porcelain lamp on the end of the library table was lying on its side, its satin shade torn where it had struck the sharp corner of a silver bonbonniche.

Two objects in the general disarray particularly attracted my attention—a black metal document box of the kind purchasable at any stationery store, and a large jewel case of sheet steel with a circular inset lock. The latter of these objects was destined to play a curious and sinister part in the investigation to follow.

The document box, which was now empty, had been placed on the library table, next to the overturned lamp. Its lid was still in the lock. In all the litter and disorganization of the room, this box seemed to be the outstanding indication of calm and orderly activity on the part of the wreckers.

The jewel-case, on the other hand, had been violently opened, and its contents, dented and twisted out of shape by the terrific leverage that had been necessary to force it, and beside it lay a brass-handled, cast-iron poker which had evidently been brought from the living-room and used as a makeshift chisel with which to pry open the lock.

Vance glanced but casually at the different objects in the rooms as we made our rounds, but when he came to the dressing-table he paused abruptly. Taking out his monocle he adjusted it carefully and leaned over the broken jewel-case.

"Most extraordinary!" he murmured, tapping the edge of the lid with his gold pencil. "What do you make of that, Sergeant?"

Heath had been eyeing Vance with narrowed lids as the latter bent over the dressing-table. "What's in your mind, Mr. Vance?" he inquired.

"Oh, more than you could ever guess," Vance answered lightly. "But just at the moment I was toying with the idea that this steel case was never torn open by that wholly inadequate iron poker, which nodded his head approvingly. 'So you, too, noticed that, did you?' . . . And you're dead right. That poker might've twisted the box a little, but it never snapped that lock."

He turned to Inspector Moran. "That's the puzzle I've sent for 'Prof.' Brenner to clean up—if he can. The fiddling of that jewel-case looks to me like a high-class professional job. No Sunday-school superintendent did it."

Vance continued for a while to study the box, but at length he turned away with a perplexed frown.

"I say," he commented. "Something devilish queer took place here last night."

The rest of us moved toward the bedroom, and Heath motioned to the finger-print men to follow. "Go over everything," he told them. "But take a special look at this jewel-case and the handle of this poker, and give that document-box and the other room a close-up-and-down."

"Right," assented Captain DuBois. "We'll begin in here while the doc's busy in the other room." And he and Bellamy set to work. Our interest, naturally centered on the captain's labors. For fully five minutes we watched him inspecting the twisted steel sides of the jewel-case and the smooth, polished handle of the poker. He held the objects gingerly by their edges, and, placing a jeweler's glass in his eye, flashed his pocket-light on every square inch of them. At length he put them down, scowling.

"No finger-prints here," he announced. "Wiped clean."

"I might know it," grumbled Heath. "It was a professional job, all right." He turned to the other expert. "Found anything, Bellamy?"

"Nothing to help," was the grumpy reply. "A few old smears with dust over 'em."

"Looks like a washout," Heath commented irritably; "though I'm hoping for something in the other room."

At this moment Doctor Doremus came into the bedroom and, taking a sheet from the bed, laid it over the murdered girl. Then he snapped shut his case, and putting on his hat at a rakish angle, stepped forward with the air of a man in great haste to be on his way.

"Simple case of strangulation from behind," he said, his words running together. "Digital bruises about the front of the throat; thumb bruises in the sub-occipital region. Attack must have been unexpected. A quick, competent job, though deceased evidently battled a little."

"How do you suppose her dress became torn, doctor?" asked Vance. "Oh, that? Can't tell. She may have done it herself—instinctive motions of clutching for air."

"Not likely though," said the doctor. "The dress was torn and the bouquet was ripped off, and the fellow who was choking her had both hands on her throat. Who else could've done it?"

Vance shrugged his shoulders and began lighting a cigarette. "Heath, annoyed by his apparently inconsequent interruption, put the next question."

"Don't those marks on the fingers mean that her rings were stripped off?"

"Possibly. They're fresh abrasions. Also, there's a couple of slight contusions on the thumb eminence, indicating that a bracelet may have been forcibly pulled over her hand."

"That fits O. K.," pronounced Heath, with satisfaction. "And it looks like she snatched a pendant or some kind of her neck."

"Probably," indifferently agreed Doctor Doremus. "The piece of chain had cut into her flesh a little behind the right shoulder."

"And the time?"

"Nine or ten hours ago. Say, about eleven-thirty—maybe a little before. Not after midnight, anyway." He had been tastering restlessly on his toes. "Anything else?"

KEEPING THE HANDS IMMACULATE!
 No hand that is stained or grimy may make any pretension to beauty, no matter how well shaped it may be. But no matter how poorly shaped, the texture of the skin good, the nails well shaped and in good condition, it may be adjudged beautiful.

Use hot water, a toilet soap of good quality, and a good bristle brush as your first step toward this scrupulous cleansing. Do not economize on soap, for poor soap will intensify any skin trouble you may have or may start such trouble by roughening the skin and so preparing the way for unfriendly germs.

This And That In Feminine Lore

The becomingness of hobbled hair depends on the selection of a cut for your individual type. You won't have to worry over it if you place yourself in the hands of the skilled attendants at the Lily Beauty Parlor upstairs in the House and Hale building.

Eliza Calvert Hall's book "Hand-Woven Coverlets" tells of an old coverlet made by a New England forebear hanging on the wall of an ambassador's reception room. Now it seems that in the antique collecting game these once prized possessions are now a drug on the market. It would seem that there are styles in antiques as well as modern wares.

In preparing for an evening party try making almond buds in several different ways, as follows: Melt a small cake of your favorite eating chocolate. Hold the almond by the point and dip the wide end in the melted chocolate. Place on heavy waxed paper to harden. For orange almond buds tip the wide end in orange icing. Another method is to insert the pointed end of the almond into the stem end of a large, seedless raisin until the almond is half covered.

Worsted flowers for coat or hat decorations are very easy to make. The different shades may be purchased in the small skeins. Varying shades of brown and orange with a note of green make a good color combination. One way is to lay a double strand of the wool along a lead pencil and wind around a pencil about 15 times. Take hold of ends of double strand and tie, sliding worsted from the pencil, making a cross stitch in the center.

Beads have an annoying way of breaking, even when comparatively new and it invariably happens away from home. When restringing them use dental floss or violin strings.

A new note in hats for the south is the combination of straw and felt. A large floppy leghorn had a red felt crown finished with a bow of the felt at the side.

One of the Hartford stores has been displaying a collection of the new Indian prints. Their colorings and designs are really very attractive and at a distance remind one of the King Tut patterns and colors so popular a few years ago.

There seems to be quite a flare up for things Indian and this season a number of books on Indian customs and legends have made their appearance. The Indians have had their troubles in this country. They have not always been treated fairly by a manner of means, but in books they have had somewhat of a better showing—recent books, not exactly the histories.

The WOMAN'S DAY

Peggy Joyce doesn't think that any woman would do such a thing as propose to a man. "Peggy says all this in an interview which brings the brass curtain down on Leap Year. Peggy would, and why wouldn't she? It's always the lovely damozels born with a superfluity of S. A., and therefore not at all dependent on acquired technique to 'get a man,' who moralize at those born under a less lucky star.

When Wife's a Sister. Feature this! Out in Alliance, Nebraska, the other day, John Slesley married Mrs. N. O. Colerick, the mother of the four sons who had agitated the in-law fight possibilities in that family! If they're still all speaking, they certainly owe it to the country to go on a lecture tour telling how many ways there are to keep peace in a family when every woman's husband is also her brother-in-law, and every man's wife also his sister-in-law.

Preacher Royden Perhaps it's a bit late in the day to talk about the cigar row with Preacher Agnes Royden from England, but I can't resist speaking my lecture-sermon ever since her first book was published, and heard her speak when she was here some four or five years ago, and I take off my bonnet to her as just about the greatest woman thinker of this age.

Am Disgusted I am humiliated and disgusted at the discourtesy shown her by any organization in this country. I am inclined to think that Miss Royden could have broadened the universe for the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church in Chicago even if she did freely admit to occasional relaxation by pulling a rag or so.

Miss Royden's extreme tolerance and courtesy towards our customs were well indicated in her letter to her manager wherein she said that she didn't "care a button" whether or not she smoked while in America, but she certainly did not concede it a matter of religious importance. I am glad that she displays enough toleration to accept her discourtesy as merely one phase of our civilization here, and not blame all America for it.

Is Your Temper Good? What is woman's greatest asset? A London paper has been running a column of comment daily on this subject. The readers have decided that the one outstanding quality that makes a woman happy, loved, contented, healthy, never without friends, husband, children or servants, is just plain good temper; and I believe they've discovered the truth.

HINTS ON HOW TO KEEP WELL by World Famed Authority

DISCOVERS IODINE INCREASES GROWTH IN GOITER BELTS.
 By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN.
 Editor Journal of the American Medical Association of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

In recent years the fact has been generally accepted that the administration of iodine in small doses to growing children is of importance in the prevention of simple goiter, particularly in districts such as the lake districts in the United States in which there is little iodine in the soil.

A German investigator, Hunziker, found that there had been definite increases in the heights and weights of boys and girls who had been given the iodine treatment, making them superior in growth to boys and girls who had not been treated.

Dr. Percy Stocks, medical statistician in the University of London, has investigated the record of boys and girls in Switzerland who had also received iodine regularly. The records of the Swiss school children were especially detailed and accurate so that the statistical investigation was quite complete.

As a result of the study of more than 1,000 girls in the secondary schools of Berne, Switzerland, Dr. Stocks concludes that the regular administration of iodine to girls between the ages of 11 and 16 is efficient not only in reducing the size and incidence of goiter, but also in increasing the rate of growth in both height and weight. The latter effect was greater in

Are Babies Wreckers of Homes?

By Olive Roberts Barton

Monsieur L. F. Natziger, the most prominent divorce lawyer of the American colony in Paris, says: "If a couple lives through the first year with too much discord their chances of staying married all their lives are 70 per cent. good."

"If their marriage goes well over five years, they are good until after 15 or 20 years of married life. That is the second great critical age."

Judge Ben Lindsey is again heard from to the effect that "the middle-aged sweetie" is the rock that is likely to wreck the ship of marriage—which would back up to the letter the statement of the French lawyer.

Now comes a rather astonishing announcement from the oracle on marriage. One cannot blame Judge Lindsey for radical statements. He is merely telling one-half of the world how the other half lives, giving the facts of his experience. He hasn't made the facts. We may listen or not as we choose.

"It's all bunk about a baby keeping the couple together," says Judge Lindsey. "That may be true sometimes, but in my experience, I've frequently found that trouble comes right after the birth of the first baby."

Nearly 1,100 Fans Watch Thorpe's Indians Shoot

Plainfield Wins 45-39 But Indians' Long Shots Best Ever Seen In State; Centers Lose.

Table with 3 columns: Name, Points, Rebounds. Lists players like Webb, Craig, Peters, etc.

By THOMAS W. STOWE Before a crowd of nearly 1100 fans, the biggest that ever jammed its way into the Plainfield Community Club on any occasion, the Plainfield Pros defeated Jim Thorpe's Indians in a sizzling basketball game last night 45 to 39.

During the first half, the visitors furnished the fans with more thrills than they have witnessed all season past together by giving a spectacular exhibition of long shots.

The Indians left the floor at half-time leading 30 to 22 and looked to be in a good position to win. However in the second half, the Plainfield team pushed its defense clear up to its opponents' free line.

The visiting team was somewhat handicapped by playing professional rules but it was allowed the double tap at center. Playing amateur rules Thorpe's team won 57 out of 62 games out West last season.

EXPECT CLOSE RACE IN COLLEGE LEAGUE

New York, Jan. 19.—A close race is forecast in the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League today as the result of unexpected strength shown last night by the Columbia and Pennsylvania quintets.

AMERICAN STARS MUST TRY OUT SAME AS OTHERS

Hahn and Others Thought They Would Be Sent to Amsterdam One Month Ahead.

By DAVIS J. WALSH I. N. S. Sports Editors New York, Jan. 19.—Agitation to send Lloyd Hahn, the American Nuri; Sabin Carr, world's record holder in the pole vault; De Hart Hubbard, greatest broad jumper in all history, and other stand-out candidates to Amsterdam was in the air.

They are wrong for more than several reasons which, if I understand the situation correctly, are these: First that they should try out for the team, second, that they must do it. The others might turn out to be important but I only could remember what they were.

It appears, according to the official version, that proponents of the movement to place certain stars on a preferred list have overlooked the fact that the regular Olympic squad was thoroughly disintegrated today by Lawson Robertson, head coach, and several members of the Olympic committee.

They are wrong for more than several reasons which, if I understand the situation correctly, are these: First that they should try out for the team, second, that they must do it. The others might turn out to be important but I only could remember what they were.

Dribbling Reduced for Windham Game

One of the most important schoolboy games of the current season will take place at the Rec gym tomorrow night when Manchester High entertains Windham High in the first of an annual two-game series. Our boys are slight favorites to win but the way they have been playing of late doesn't make their chances glitter like gold.

PRO SPORTS SUPERIOR!

AMATEUR GAME THRILLING BUT LACKS TALENT

So Says Vic Hanson In Interview With Herald Expert At New York.

By HENRY L. FARRELL Comparison of the ability of professionals and amateurs in any given line of athletics is an easy way to get into a controversy, but it's not the getting in that counts so much as the getting out. Anyone can start a fight.

Two divisions of sport are out of it, however. There is no doubt that a professional baseball team could beat an amateur team with less than the number of players the rules require in a diamond, and it is equally certain that an amateur fighter would be a risk, his health and engagement in a real fight with a first-class professional.

There are other minor sports in which the superiority of the professionals is beyond dispute, but among the popular games that do bring differing expressions of opinion are football and basketball.

Red Grange, Benny Friedman and Ernie Nevers, who graduated from the highest rank of the college stars into the professional class, insist that the football played by the hired athletes is a much harder game, much more advanced in technique and much harder to play against.

MANCHESTER, ENG., MAIL FOR MANCHESTER, CONN.

Tables Turned in This Case and John McHugh of Warrenpoint is Out of Few "Tuppence."

The usual was reversed today when a package supposed to go to Manchester, England, came to Manchester, Connecticut.

A package of newspaper headlines addressed simply to the Catholic Herald, Manchester, was delivered to the Manchester Herald. Enclosed was a note written by John McHugh of Warrenpoint, Ireland, advising the Catholic Herald that the 14 headlines represented 14 unsold papers.

Evidently John McHugh sells the Catholic Herald in Warrenpoint and intended these headlines to go to the office of the Catholic Herald in Manchester, England, so he could get credit for them. In some way the package got into the forward way and naturally the only Manchester Herald the postoffice authorities in this country ever heard of was the Manchester, Connecticut, Herald.

Warrenpoint is in County Down, the southern part, near Newry, and is situated on Carlingford Lough.

INFANT STRANDED

BARRETT SETS RECORD FOR RAINBOW TRAPS

Breaks 90 Out of 100 Targets in Clay-Bird Shoot of Rod-Gun Club.

Ray Barrett turned in the best score so far at the Manchester Rod and Gun club shoot, yesterday afternoon on the Rainbow range. Mr. Barrett broke 90 out of 100 pigeons and established a record for the range. Some of the other scores made were high and gunners who have been in the lower section of the score sheet have come up with the leaders.

Following are the complete scores:

Name	Shots	Hits
R. Barrett	100	90
H. Willis	100	83
W. Knolia	100	54
D. Moore	75	60
S. Turkington	50	40
Dr. Schreiber	50	36
Ed Elliott	25	21

The club will hold another shoot on Saturday afternoon.

8TH DISTRICT SCHOOLS PERFECT IN SAVINGS

Reach 100 P. C. Mark During Thrift Week—To Give Playlet Tomorrow.

The pupils of the schools in the Eighth District celebrated Thrift Week and Benjamin Franklin's Birthday by reaching the one hundred per cent mark in savings. Each one of the 875 children present deposited money on Tuesday, banking day. The pupils have reached the 98 and 99 per cent mark frequently but this is the first time this year the Thrift record has been perfect for the District.

At this time of year it is the custom to compute the amount of money the school children of the District have deposited. A total of the balances in the school pass books at the present date is $12,857.66.

A Thrift assembly will be held at the Robertson School assembly hall Friday Jan. 20. A playlet entitled "Salvage" will be given by Miriam Karsen, Helen Durosoy, Irving August, Leslie Erickson and Ernest Neil. Eunice Brown will speak about "Careful Spending" and Supt. Howes will give a short talk about "Banking."

JACK LOCKWILL'S HELPING HAND

by Gilbert Patten

"It's me!" called a voice which Jack recognized as that of Mousie. "I knowed there was 'goin' to be a big scrap, so I didn't hang round. But I run slap into the night cop, and I told him the gang had pulled a couple 'Cadamy saps into the place and was cleanin' 'em up. They knifed me, that bunch of bums did, and this was my chance to get back at them."

"I won't forget what you did, Mousie," promised Jack. "That's all right," returned the town boy. "I owed you one. And I wanted to even up with that gang. Good night."

As they approached through the softly falling snow, Hampton House looked reassuringly dark and silent. But they couldn't see the window when they tried to get in.

By Frank Beck

"Now we're in a pickle!" whispered Jack. "It's fastened! Maybe it's stuck," suggested Sinnott. Lockwill got out his pocket flash and shot the light on the ash-lock, inside. "No, it's bolted!" he returned. "Somebody's fixed us!" Then he heard something that made him quickly switch the light to the right. The ray fell on a dark form, rushing at them!

KEPT HURT SECRET FROM SICK MOTHER

Young Mikoleit in Serious State From Injury He Received at Work.

Fear that his mother, who is seriously ill, would worry, was the reason Clarence Mikoleit did not tell her of the accident at the Bon Ami factory on Monday in which he was seriously injured. The boy is at present in the Memorial hospital in a serious condition.

He was operated on yesterday to determine the nature of the injury. It was said that the boy was injured by a falling beam which struck him on the back of the head. The pain, however, is in his abdomen.

Physicians in attendance on him say that the head injury has effected nerves controlling the abdominal region. They said that his condition is grave and that it may be several days before a change is apparent.

The Mikoleit family knew nothing of the accident until the boy complained of terrible pains in his abdomen on Wednesday morning. He was taken to the Memorial hospital where an operation was performed yesterday afternoon.

RAYON FILM SHOWING IS OPEN TO PUBLIC

Description of Processes of Manufacture to Follow Get-Together Meeting.

A motion picture film describing the processes of the manufacture of rayon, or artificial silk, will be shown in Cheney Hall tonight following the regular monthly meeting of the Get Together club. The motion picture exhibition will be open to the public and will start at 7:45. The meeting which precedes will be for Get Together club members.

This film was obtained from the Viscose Corporation by Philip Cheney and shows in the smallest detail just how rayon materials are made. It should be of unusual interest to anyone who has ever worked on silk.

William C. Cheney will describe the processes as the film is being exhibited. Mr. Cheney has made a special study of viscose products and his talk should be educational.

A chicken is the King of the members of the club from the Old Mill.

SCHOOL CHILDREN IN DISTRICT 8 HEALTHY

Daily Average Absence Due to Sickness Only 18 Out of Total of 900 Pupils.

The health conditions in the schools of the Eighth District have been remarkably good during the school year to date. Out of a total membership of more than 900 the average daily absence for sickness has been 18. This figure speaks well for the work of the school physician and nurses and indicates connection a study of absences from other causes than sickness show that Friday afternoons and Monday forenoons invariably show many "stay away" children. School officials wonder sometimes if parents do their part in excluding school hours from the week-ends the children spend out of town.

REV. FRENCH GUEST OF ARMY TONIGHT

Of special interest during the "Do Your Best" campaign, is the service at the local Salvation Army this evening. The meeting tonight will be in charge of Rev. C. J. French, pastor of the Nazarene church. This is Mr. French's first visit to the Salvation Army, and a very large audience is expected to greet him. It is expected that many of the Nazarene members will be present at the service in the citadel this evening.

The senior band will be out in full force this evening to render special music during the service. The service will begin at 7:30 and is open to the public. Commandant Spohn is looking forward to a big time this evening, and is especially interested in seeing as many of the soldiers of the local corps on duty, as possible. An open air meeting will precede the indoor service.

WARRANTEE DEEDS

The following public records were filed in the office of the Town Clerk today.

WARRANTEE DEEDS
N. B. Richards to the Manchester Lumber company, property on McKee street, 187 L 200 feet.

Dwight S. Dickinson of Springfield to Francis G. Little of Manchester, 50 lots on Middle Heights. This parcel of land is one which has changed hands three times in the past six months, first being sold to a Long cadow man by Elman and Rolston, and then by purchase to Mr. Dickinson. Mr. Dickinson yesterday bought an apartment house on North Whitney street, Hartford, on Mr. Little.

RELEASE OF CAVEAT
J. Leo O'Gorman, administrator of the estate of James Francis Gorman and the estate of Bridget Gorman, against Patrick Gorman, release of lien in civil action which was to have come to court on January 13. This case has been settled.

JEWIS PROTEST

Sofia, Jan. 19.—Requiem protest meetings by Jews throughout Bulgaria against the recent anti-Semitic outrages in Rumania were ordered today by the chief rabbi.

GAS BUGGIES—Shipwrecked

IF YOU'D LISTENED TO ME AND NOT CHANGED THAT FIRE, WE'D HAVE CAUGHT THE DUKE WHEN HE PASSED US. NOW WE'LL NEVER GET HIM BEFORE HE REACHES THE MOJAVE DESERT.

IF JUNIOR ONLY COULD TELL THAT SKIPPER WAS BEING KIDNAPPED—LISTEN—THE ENGINE HAS STOPPED.

NOT UNLESS WE DRIFT ONTO A SAND BAR... IN THAT CASE STAY STUCK TILL HEAVY RAIN RAISES THE RIVER.

LOOK AT THEM RAVE. HE THOUGHT HE HAD ME. LUCK SURE WAS WITH ME IN MAKING THIS FERRY. I'LL MAKE AN O'CALL ON HIM BY THE TIME HE GETS OVER.

SENSE and NONSENSE

"My Old Kentucky Home." Moonshine is being made in my Old Kentucky Home. 'Tis summer, the darkies are gay. The old still's wet and the yeast is making foam, / While the boys are buying raisins all the day. The old folks roll on the little cabin floor, All merry and happy and drunk; But the revenue man comes a-knocking at the door, Then my Old Kentucky Home goes kerfunk!

The fishing season lasts only about so long, but the lying season goes on forever. Young Hopeful (very): Mother, I think I'll save. Mother: You will not. Father: Go ahead. She'll never know the difference.

A local man who has ambitions for his small son's future financial success has bought him a pair of boxing gloves. Visitor: "What a curious-looking cat! I don't think I have ever seen one marked quite like that before. Hostess: "Well, you see, my husband is an artist, and he never will look where he wipes his brush."

LETTER GOLF

YOU CAN'T FIRE HIM

The BOSS started out to FIRE somebody. He discovered he couldn't because somebody quit. From BOSS to FIRE, five strokes, is the puzzle editor's guess, expressed on another page.

Letter golf grid with letters B, O, S, S, F, I, R, E.

THE RULES

1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in four, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

2—You can change only one letter at a time.

3—You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.

4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

THE TINYMITES

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE. "If these are crackers," Clowny said, "I guess it's safe to go ahead and eat a few. I'm hungry now, and they will taste real good. Let's all sit down and have a meal, 'cause that's exactly how I feel. We'll eat until we had our fill — or don't you think we should?" Then Scouty said, "Well, I don't know. It's rather mean to treat them so. They're very cute and maybe they will sometimes come to life. Of course I'd like to have a bite but I don't think it seems just right. Why, it might even hurt them if we'd cut them with a knife." And so, on hearing Scouty plead, the band of Tinymites agreed to seek some other kind of food. A woods was right nearby. They scampered in and looked around to see if berries might be found. It wasn't long until the bunch heard Copsy loudly cry. "Oh, just look here! See what I've found." The bunch then joined him with a bound. "What is it?" shouted Copsy. "Is it something we can eat?" "You bet it is," Wee Copsy said. "It's just a fine strawberry bed. There's plenty here for all of us. We're going to have a treat." The berries tasted mighty good. The Tinymites ate all they could, and Clowny shouted, "This is great. It's almost like a cream. My hands are stained. I only wish that I could eat them from a dish." Then Scouty laughed and said, "I'll bet you'd also like a cream." It wasn't long till they were through. "I'll tell you what we'd better do," said Copsy, as he turned and ran, and left the woods behind. "Let's go back to our crackers now, and try to make them walk somehow. It's possible they'll come to life, if we'll just treat them kind."

Use the MAYTAG Anywhere—It's "Chair Space" Size

Don't let the compact size of the Maytag mislead you—the cast-aluminum tub holds FOUR GALLONS MORE than other washers—21 gallons instead of the usual 17—and the tub is all clothes-room because it is "machinery-free."

The Maytag does a whole washing—50 pounds of clothes (dry weight) in one short hour—washes big tubs in 3 to 7 minutes—washes everything without hand-rubbing even collars, cuffs and wristbands. Try it and see!

If the Maytag doesn't sell itself, don't keep it.
