

McADOO RAPS SMITH FOR HIS 'WET' VIEWS

Also Scores Ritchie and Reed For the Same Reason In An Address Delivered In Richmond.

Washington, Feb. 2.—William G. McAdoo may be out of the reckoning for the 28 Democratic nomination, but he is still on the firing line against Gov. Al Smith.

The "Houston and Harmony" advocates awake to this realization with a shudder today as they perused the militant speech of the former treasury head in Richmond last night—a speech in which he mentioned Gov. Smith by name and declared that the things Smith stands for "are but a conclusion next year."

Most Democrats in Washington interpreted McAdoo's speech as a rallying call to the anti-Smith elements of the party. It came as a surprise to most of the leaders, for since McAdoo's Pacific speech at the Jackson Day dinner they had been led to believe that he would not seek to rekindle the embers of Madison Square Garden.

Nobody but an uncompromising dry could be put into the White House next year with safety to the Eighteenth Amendment, McAdoo warned. The "liquor interests," he asserted, have gained political control of both New York and Maryland, the two states that have no state enforcement statutes. And to expect enforcement from a president who does not believe in the law, he said, "is absurd on the face of it."

Not to Uphold Law "Attempt is being made," said McAdoo, "to convince the country that no matter if a Wet is elected president the Constitution and the laws will be enforced. That is both absurd and untrue. The White House in the hands of the liquor interests would be a veritable Gibraltar of offensive operations and the doom of the Eighteenth Amendment would be written boldly on the face of the Constitution."

"It is of outstanding importance," he continued, "to impress the fact that the power of government must be intrusted only to those who have the honest will to enforce the law. It is not to be expected that the law will be enforced by officials who are hostile to it and who are willing to remit the performance of their public duties in exchange for political or personal advantage."

Hits Reed Too
McAdoo's speech inferentially applied not only to Gov. Smith and Gov. Ritchie, but to Sen. A. Reed, of Missouri, as well, for the Missouriian is not noted for his fondness for the prohibitory statutes. Smith, Ritchie and Reed admittedly are the outstanding candidates for the nomination at this stage of the game. The plain inference of the former cabinet officer,

PLASTIC SURGEON TO ANSWER CHARGE

On Way to Chicago to Explain Why Woman Lost Both Legs.

Chicago, Feb. 2.—Dr. Henry J. Shireson, plastic surgeon, was to return to Chicago today from New York to answer questions of the state's attorney's office concerning an operation to straighten the legs of Miss Sadie Holland, 30-year-old stenographer, both of whose legs had to be amputated above the knees following the development of gangrene poisoning.

Through his attorney, Benjamin Ehrlich, Dr. Shireson has indicated his willingness to face an investigation and to answer all questions.

"Dr. Shireson informs me that when he left Chicago three days after the operation, which was performed on Jan. 17, Miss Holland was in good condition and the operation had been successful," said attorney Ehrlich. "He went to New York on pressing business and left the case in charge of his associate in the operation, Dr. S. D. Zaph."

Doctor's Explanation
According to Dr. Zaph, severe pains developed in Miss Holland's legs and he applied heat treatments. The operation had consisted of sawing through the tibias of each leg, a few inches above the ankle, to straighten the bones which were slightly bowed.

When she failed to show improvement, Dr. Zaph declared, Miss Holland's brother called in the family physician, Dr. William VanDoren, who said he detected signs of gangrene. Both legs were subsequently amputated above the knees.

Miss Holland will recover, according to attending physicians,

MOTHER OF FOX ON STAND TODAY

To Tell Her Drab Story In Effort to Save Life of Slayer.

Los Angeles, Calif., Feb. 2.—The second act of the Marion Parker tragedy neared its climax today as the mother of William Edward Hickman awaited the promoter's word to take the center of the stage.

An atmosphere more intense than that of any staged trial scene has been created for the entrance of Mrs. Eva M. Hickman into the tiny courtroom, with its little theater proportions, where her son is on trial for the kidnaping and murder of the 12-year-old schoolgirl.

Prevented by a sudden change in the defense plans from coming on the scene, Mrs. Hickman still awaited her cue to take the witness chair today and tell her life story, prompted by eternal mother love to help rear her little brood of five children.

Mrs. Hickman already has been pictured in the courtroom as a hard working mother who slaved in the cotton fields outside of West Hartford, Ark., in her struggle to help rear her little brood of five children.

Her Drab Romance
Her life-long friends and neighbors told, in depositions permeated with their plain, countryside talk, how she met, loved and married William Thomas Hickman, a stationary engineer in the little coal mining town.

The children were born. William Edward Hickman was the youngest of four sons. After he came into the world, the father developed a romantic temperament, the neighbors deposed, and began to "chase after women."

Distracted, Mrs. Hickman one day asked a neighbor woman for some poison. If she were "out of the way," the mother explained, she believed the father would "take better care of the children."

She had become "high strung," had "spells" and was "kinda off," the depositions said. Then, she attempted to end her life.

Later, the husband caused her to be committed to an Arkansas state asylum, six months afterward she was paroled.

SEVEN CENT FARE FOR N. Y. SUBWAYS

I. R. T. Co. Ask For Federal Injunction to Put Over New Plan.

New York, Feb. 2.—Passengers on all interborough subways and elevated lines may be required to pay a seven-cent fare next week, as the result of a surprise move by the Interborough Rapid Transit Company. Nearly 2,000,000 persons who use the lines twice a day now pay a fare of five cents.

In filing a schedule of the low fare rate with the state transit commission, the I. R. T. asked permission to put into effect on five days' notice. If the transit commission rules against the increase the Interborough intends to ask a federal judge to issue an injunction permitting a seven-cent fare pending final determination of legal questions involved.

FRANCE IS TO PAY WAR DEBT TO U. S.

Official Statement Made Today For the First Time by Premier Poincare.

Paris, Feb. 2.—Premier Poincare announced in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon that France will pay her war debt to the United States. This was the first time that an official statement has been made to that effect. Hitherto all indications pointed to a desire on the part of France to have the Berenger-Mellon debt agreement cancelled.

"We did not ratify the debt agreement because we were not sure we could transfer so many francs during the next sixty years," said the premier. "But now we are in a position to pay and we will continue to do so."

The Berenger-Mellon agreement was never formally ratified by the French Parliament.

FIND RUNAWAY GIRL.
Boston, Feb. 1.—Seventeen-year-old Frances Ludora, the Tarriville, Conn., girl sought for three weeks since she vanished from her home, was discovered hiding in a telephone booth in City Hall, her companion James Manley, formerly of Minnesota and lately of Boston, was attempting to secure a marriage license. The girl was held as a runaway by police today.

GLAD I DID IT SAYS MURDERER OF HIS FAMILY

'Til Go to Hell But I Sent Them to Heaven,' Ex-Minister Declares Today In His Cell.

Riverhead, N. Y., Feb. 2.—Worry over an incurable disease, which finally grew to be an obsession and led him to the belief that if his neighbors learned of his misfortune they would lynch him and send his family to the poorhouse, forced the Rev. Claude H. Priddy to kill his wife and two sons with an axe, he said today.

Sitting in his cell here, Priddy defended his action, comforting himself with the thought that his loved ones were better off now than if they had lived. He had feared that his sons also had contracted the disease.

Glad He Did It.
"I'm glad I did it," he said. "I know I'll go to hell, but I sent them to heaven. This morning when the first light of day awoke me in my cell I realized that I can expect nothing better in the future life than I may have when I am there. I can find a little joy and consolation in knowing that I sent them to heaven and God, even though eternal damnation is the price I pay for it."

"This terrible scourge upon my family made me do it. An ill wind travels fast. For weeks and weeks I have had a feeling that the townsfolk and my employees were going to lynch me. If they had lynched me what would have become of my family? They would have dragged them off to the poorhouse to die in disgrace."

Seems Insane.
Coroner Edwin S. Moore, after questioning Priddy, announced that the man appeared to be unbalanced. He said he would seek examination by alienists. If the former minister was found insane, he would be sent to Matteawan without trial. If he is not found insane, he will await Grand Jury action early next month.

From 1907 to 1910, Priddy was pastor of St. John's Methodist Episcopal church in Brooklyn. He was ordained in Portland, Me., and held a pastorate there. A nervous collapse several years ago led him to enter a Chicago sanitarium.

Priddy left the ministry in Stamford, Conn., where as pastor of First Methodist church he led a violent crusade against liquor and immorality in 1912 and 1913.

Air Pilot Can Drop Passengers At Will

New Invention Makes For Greater Safety—Invented By a Young Utah Engineer.

Washington, Feb. 2.—Youth has again stepped forward with a major contribution to aeronautics.

Acclaiming the invention as the most promising device yet offered to insure the safety of airplane passengers, civil and military, authorities today took under consideration the designs of Peter A. Beck, 25-year-old Ogden, Utah, airplane designer, which automatically discharges all persons from distressed or disabled machines.

Beck, a civil engineer employed by the Union Pacific Railroad, has brought his device to perfection without outside financial assistance.

The Invention
His invention consists of an ordinary airplane seat swung on a horizontal axis above a trap door in the bottom of the fuselage. When a pilot, perceiving danger, wishes to eject his human cargo, he has simply to pull a lever releasing the trap. The release of the doors tilts the seat, dropping the occupant with his parachute clear of the machine. The ripcord, which releases the folds of the parachute, is fastened to the plane, thus eliminating a demand for thought or action on the part of the passenger. When a parachute is torn away from the cord, a self-winding cylinder draws it back into the fuselage. The trap doors, which open equally from the center of the plane provide additional wing area for air grip if the pilot remains at his controls in an effort to pull his craft out of a spin.

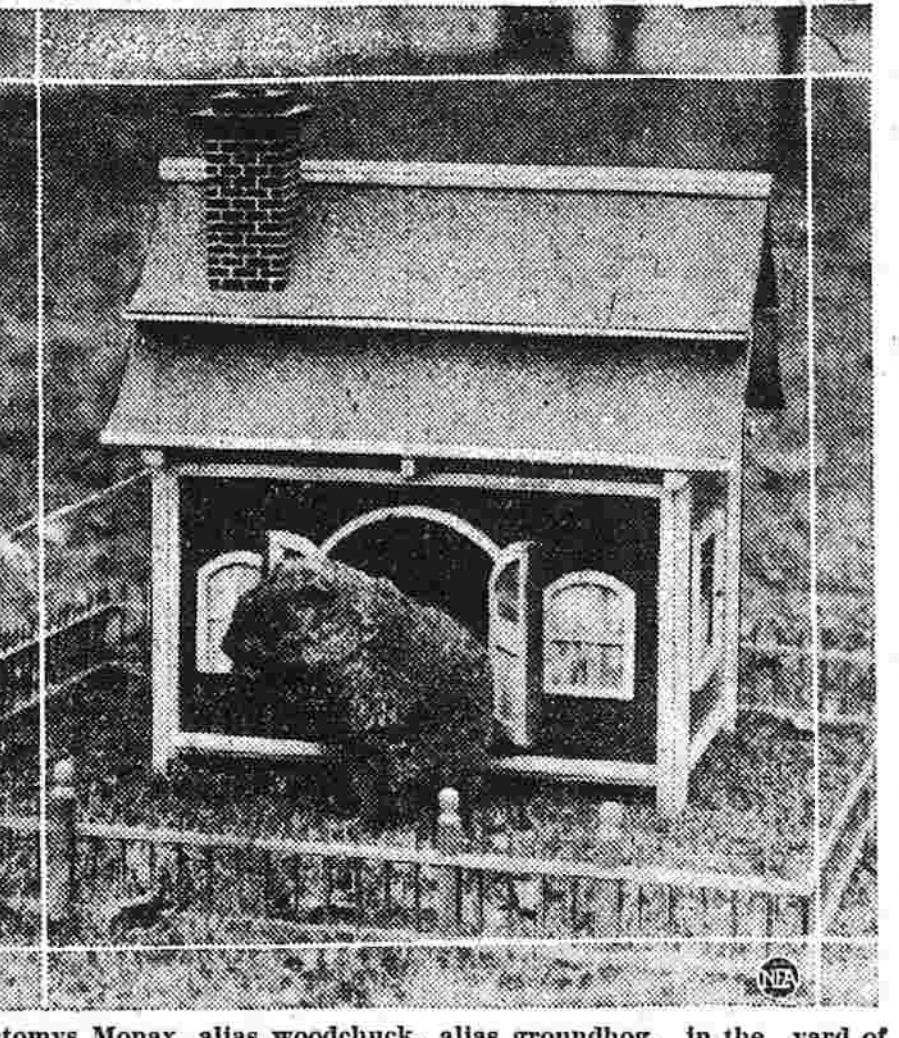

Military Advantage.
The principal military advantage, according to army experts, is that it would enable a pilot to discharge a wounded gunner or observer in friendly territory without landing. Or a mechanic might drop his unconscious pilot, take command of the controls and thus save all other lives.

"Me and My Shadow" ---By the Groundhog

They Have Nothing Whatsoever to Do With the Weather, Arctomys Monax Insists.

BY ARCTOMYS MONAX

I never have been able to learn the identity of the person who fastened on me the reputation of being a weather forecaster. But whoever it was, the thing has gone far enough.

I want to make one final and unqualified denial that me and my shadow have anything to do with the end of winter and the coming of spring. The idea is too ridiculous for words.

For one thing, they say I never wake up from my winter slumber until the second day of February. That's pure canard. I'm no such sleepy head. See the picture that accompanies this article—the one of me and my suburban home?

Well, it's an old one out of the family album, and it was taken, I remember, on the twentieth of January.

Time after time this talk that I'm a weather regulator has been disproved. But still people hang on to the old hokum. How can they be so silly?

I might say that I'm writing this

STANDARD OIL HEAD NOT A GOOD WITNESS

Ex-Policeman Tells Of Gruesome Murder

Montreal, Que., Feb. 2.—How Arthur Richard of Quebec was slain in a quarrel over a woman and his body cut into a dozen pieces, was revealed today by the gruesome confession of Jules Coulombe, former Montreal policeman.

Coulombe confessed that he killed Richard in a back room in the heart of the city's Tenderloin a few hours after he had met him and the woman, known only as "Blanche."

The ex-policeman told Inspector Mercier that he dismembered Richard's body with a kitchen knife, breaking the limbs apart at the joints with his hands. When the knife proved unequal to the task, he said, he backed at the victim's neck until the head and body were severed.

Coulombe calmly related how with his knife and hands he had separated Richard's body, limb from limb, throwing "small parts" into the kitchen stove. He threw the torso from a window into a heap of ashes and garbage, where it was discovered yesterday by snow-shovelers. It had lain in the ash-heap since last Jan. 3.

Yesterday Coulombe was serving a term in Bordeaux Jail for a petty larceny offense. Brought to detective headquarters following a brief investigation, he at once confessed to the murder.

LEVINE IS AGAIN IN THE LIMELIGHT

Is Building Largest Airship In the World For Service Across Atlantic.

New York, Feb. 2.—Charles A. Levine, famous trans-Atlantic flyer, in an interview today predicted that 1928 will eclipse 1927 in spectacular aviation achievements.

"A round-the-world flight in twenty days is feasible," he remarked, nonchalantly.

"Will you try it?" he was asked.

"I might try anything," he replied.

The genial, bald-headed Levine, who looks much younger than his pictures and who is really very modest, sat in his office on the fifty-first floor of the Woolworth building and discussed at length his work and his hobby—aviation.

He told the writer he is now building the largest airship in the world—a powerful, seven-motored plane, capable of carrying fifty passengers across the ocean through the severest kind of rain, snow or wind storms.

Ready in a Year
"This gigantic airship will be completed in about a year," said Levine, displaying a model of it. "I fully expect that within five years people will be traveling back and forth between continents and thinking nothing about it. Sooner than that this ship will be carrying express mail regularly to and from Europe, and passengers seeking to make quick trips will be riding in it."

"The ship will be able to run on any of its seven motors. Three of the propellers are in front, two in the back, and two inside. All seven motors are inside. The wing, in fact, nearly everything is inside—the motors, the fuel, the cabins, staterooms, etc. The ship will have thirty or forty portholes and windows. It will have a wing spread of 180 feet and a cruising radius of 4,000 miles.

High Fares
"The passenger fare may be prohibitive at the start—probably $2,500 to $3,000 a passenger. Eventually, however, the fare will drop and planes such as this one will actually compete with ocean liners."

Levine would not say what long non-stop flights he contemplates making. "I'll just hop on," he explained. "He is going to make a non-stop flight to Havana within two weeks but he regards this as

COTTON MILLS CLOSE IN NEIGHBOR STATES

Poor Business Throws Many Out of Work in Bay State and Rhode Island.

Pawtucket, R. I., Feb. 2.—Indefinite shut down of the 800 loom Ann and Hope mill of the Lonsdale Cotton Manufacturing Co. was announced today. Poor business conditions was given as the reason. No. 4 Mill closed last week.

Representatives of the 1,000 operatives employed in the mills said work was promised if the 54-hour work week and a ten per cent wage cut was inaugurated. John O. Ames, agent of the mill, refused to comment.

Salem, Mass., Feb. 2.—Naumkeag Cotton Mills and the Danvers bleaching in Peabody, the latter owned by the Naumkeag Co., will shut down for the week of Feb. 6th because of an accumulation of manufactured goods. It was announced today. The mills closed the week of Jan. 2. Operations will be resumed Feb. 13.

Health Officials Find Populations Are Different Than Other Estimates.

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 2.—The State Board of Health has adopted its own standard of census figures for use in figuring the death and birth rates in Connecticut during the year, and finds that populations are different from those estimated by the State Board of Education public service corporations. Population estimates by the State Board of Health for the large towns of Connecticut follow:

New Haven, 187,705; Bridgeport, 179,163; Hartford, 172,283; Waterbury, 107,908; New Britain, 72,884; Stamford, 69,923; Meriden, 37,085; New London, 30,779; Norwich, 30,762; Norwalk, 30,537; Greenwich, 28,956; Bristol, 26,820; Torrington, 25,453; Middletown, 23,000; Manchester, 22,478; Danbury, 21,931; West Haven, 19,334; Naugatuck, 17,968; Stratford, 17,451; Milford, 15,273; Windham, 14,593; Winchester, 9,144.

The State Board of Health figures show that fifty towns in the state have a population of 1,415,239 while 114 towns have 205,593 people in all.

2 WITTY SPEAKERS FOR C. OF C. DINNER

Dr. J. N. Mark, Scotch Preacher, and "Jim" Taylor of Vermont Coming.

Vice-President Harlowe Willis of the Chamber of Commerce, as General Chairman of the 27th Annual Banquet of the organization to be held in Cheney Hall on February 20th, says: "This dinner may be what you would call a 'blow-out,' but it's not got to be a 'flat tire'!"

Mr. Willis says that although the committee has had unusual difficulties in securing the speakers whom they originally went after they have no cause to regret these difficulties nor the delays which made necessary the postponement of the date of the banquet from February 8 to February 20.

The two speakers secured are Dr. John Nichol Mark, a Scotch preacher from Arlington, Mass., and James P. (Jim) Taylor, executive secretary of the Vermont State Chamber of Commerce.

CENTER CHURCH MEN HEAR ABOUT THE "Y"

Arthur Billings, Executive of Association, Tells Its History and Purposes.

Arthur Billings, a Y. M. C. A. executive, addressed the Men's League of Center church last night on the history and purposes of the young men's association.

Mr. Billings was introduced by Dr. Elbert M. Shelton, president of the Men's League. The "Y" executive traced the history of the movement from the beginning. A group of young men in London and living in rooms on the top floor followed the leadership of one George Williams who urged them to study the Bible and clean living during their spare hours.

Today there are one million members of the "Y" organization in this country and a million more in the rest of the world. The "Y" is organized in 53 different countries and it has withstood the ravages of the civil war in China better than the church, said Mr. Billings last night.

The aim of the Y. M. C. A., said Mr. Billings, is to help young men and boys to find the finest and best possible expression of themselves in harmony with the life of Christ and the will of God.

Mr. Billings told of the work of the Y. M. C. A. in Hartford and showed a group of photographs emphasizing the democratic principles of the "Y" organization. He was roundly applauded for his talk and invited to return again to address the league.

well have been taken for granted. It has nothing on earth to do with the question of the murderer's responsibility.

The trial judge made his view of the insanity defense very clear. All that the law requires, in holding any person responsible for a criminal act, so the judge told the jurors, is that the criminal should have sense enough to know that the deed was against the law and punishable.

A great deal of time is being wasted on what looks like an entirely hopeless defense.

IN AN INTERESTING editorial in which it admits the moral obligation of Hartford to follow the example of other important Connecticut cities and dispose of its sewage scientifically and decently instead of dumping it into the Connecticut river, the Hartford Courant says: "No oyster will live for any length of time where it must fight for its existence against pollution, and of course if it does survive it is not fit for human consumption."

We wish to goodness this about the oyster's not living in polluted waters were true. We should have more happiness in the eating of the first oyster of any given half dozen.

It is unfortunately the case that oysters will and do live and fatten amazingly in waters poisonous to man. The last epidemic of illness from oysters that the country experienced was traced to bivalves that had lived and had their being in that sinkhole Boston harbor and which were put on the market through forged certifications. If the polluted oysters would only die the danger to human health through pollution would be less. But they don't. They live long enough to grow big and sturdy looking—and now and then to be gathered and sold by unscrupulous persons.

No such oysters are being marketed from any Connecticut waters, as it happens; and rarely from any other waters, for that matter. But it is not because you can't raise oysters on sewage if you want to.

EXIT KLAN It will strike a good many folks that the determination of the Ku Klux Klan to abandon the night shirt and pillow slip uniform parades of the same variety of heroism that is displayed by the man who hops off the top of a twenty-story building, Ku Kluxing without robe and mask is Hamletting without Hamlet. Forty-five cents worth of cheap cotton sheeting was the psychological alpha and omega of the Klan. You might as well try to run a jazz dance to keyboard work on a melodeon lacking innards. The grown-up children who have made up the rank and file of the order are simply not going to play if you take away their toys.

Imagine the riding hosts in "The Birth of a Nation" clad in overalls and derby hats. Imagine Hedlin's friends going out to beat up a moon-stealing dandy in their store clothes.

The beginning of the end of the Klan—with the end of the end closed behind.

SMART-ALECKISM If Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, former secretary of state of New York and as such director of the notorious state census of 1925, were guilty of all the regularities with which she is charged she would still be something of a piker compared with numbers of outstanding-grafts who have made corruption history in America. The whole census fund was only $1,200,000 and such of the waste as, according to allegations, went to Mrs. Knapp and her friends could not have amounted to a very heavy proportion of the whole. But there is peculiar exasperation in the case, which grows out of the obvious belief of the former secretary of state that she was being "smart"—exceedingly sophisticated and up-to-date in her whole sale if petty distribution of pay to her friends. She was a shining example of the feminine smart-aleck in politics. The role is peculiarly unbecoming to any woman.

NO RUM BOW There is no rum row. Nevertheless a person, evidently a lunatic, established a bootleg radio sending station on Cape Cod and, after intercepting Coast Guard wireless code instructions to rum chasers, sent out broadcast the information of the movement of the government ships, in a difficult code. He had the code of the Coast Guard to work with, the assistance of several former Coast Guardsmen and a well planned organization, so it is charged in government indictments. But of course he had no clients at sea, interested in the movements of the cutters—because there is no rum row.

Somehow, people do the strangest things!

FACTS ABOUT CONNECTICUT Compiled by the CONNECTICUT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

(55) Farm Product Values Double.

During the first quarter of the twentieth century the number of farms in Connecticut decreased by about 3,700, and the acreage in farms by about 500,000 acres, of which the greater part was improved land, but the value of the products from Connecticut farms more than doubled during that time.

The last few years Connecticut farms have produced crops and livestock products worth between $62,000,000 and $67,000,000 annually. Crop value makes up more than half of the annual figures. Dairy products are second and poultry third. A few cattle, sheep and swine raised for food purposes, wool, mohair and honey increase the annual revenue derived from farms.

The values of farm products, other than the animals sold for slaughter, for 1900 was $26,262,580, according to the United States census for agriculture for that year. This was approximated as follows: Crops, $16,825,589; dairy products, $7,090,183; eggs, $1,623,319; chickens, $984,207; wool and mohair, $22,711; honey and wax, $16,576.

The total value for the year 1900 amounted to $32,068,440; for 1919, $65,242,239, and for 1925, $62,350,479. Crops for these three years were valued at $22,487,999, $44,472,644, and $36,588,000 respectively; dairy products $7,669,183, $14,923,971 and $16,910,488 respectively; eggs, $2,391,803, $3,804,854 and $5,887,365 respectively; Chickens, $1,374,754, $1,979,939 and $3,417,727; wool and mohair $18,761, $31,254 and $14,829; honey and wax, $25,900, $30,419, $32,000 (this figure estimated.)

New York, Feb. 2—A vast fortune in jewels is left by guests in the hotel rooms of Manhattan each year. And pretty close to 90 per cent of it gets back to its owners. A million dollars in gems alone found their way to the various property clerks. And there was a similar amount in stocks, bonds and actual cash. One visitor from a middle west city left a $25,000 string of pearls and a business man from Pennsylvania left $50,000 worth of negotiable bonds in a wallet.

Hotel men tell me that the rush of getting about the city and of catching trains is to blame for the great percentage of such breaches of memory. There is something about New York's hectic swirl that soon produces absent-mindedness. A psychologist once told me that there are more absent-minded men in New York than in most of the nation put together. There are too many things on their minds. Most Manhattanites forget names; and an almost equal number would be to blame for the great percentage of such breaches of memory. There is something about New York's hectic swirl that soon produces absent-mindedness.

Washington, Postoffice for sale? If there were any such, one might suppose that the Postoffice Department would be advertising them. But there was nothing in the annual report of the postmaster general to indicate that any were for sale or that any postmaster jobs had been sold during the year. Probably the omission was a correct one, because the proceeds from the sale of postmaster jobs go into the pockets of politicians instead of into the department's receipts.

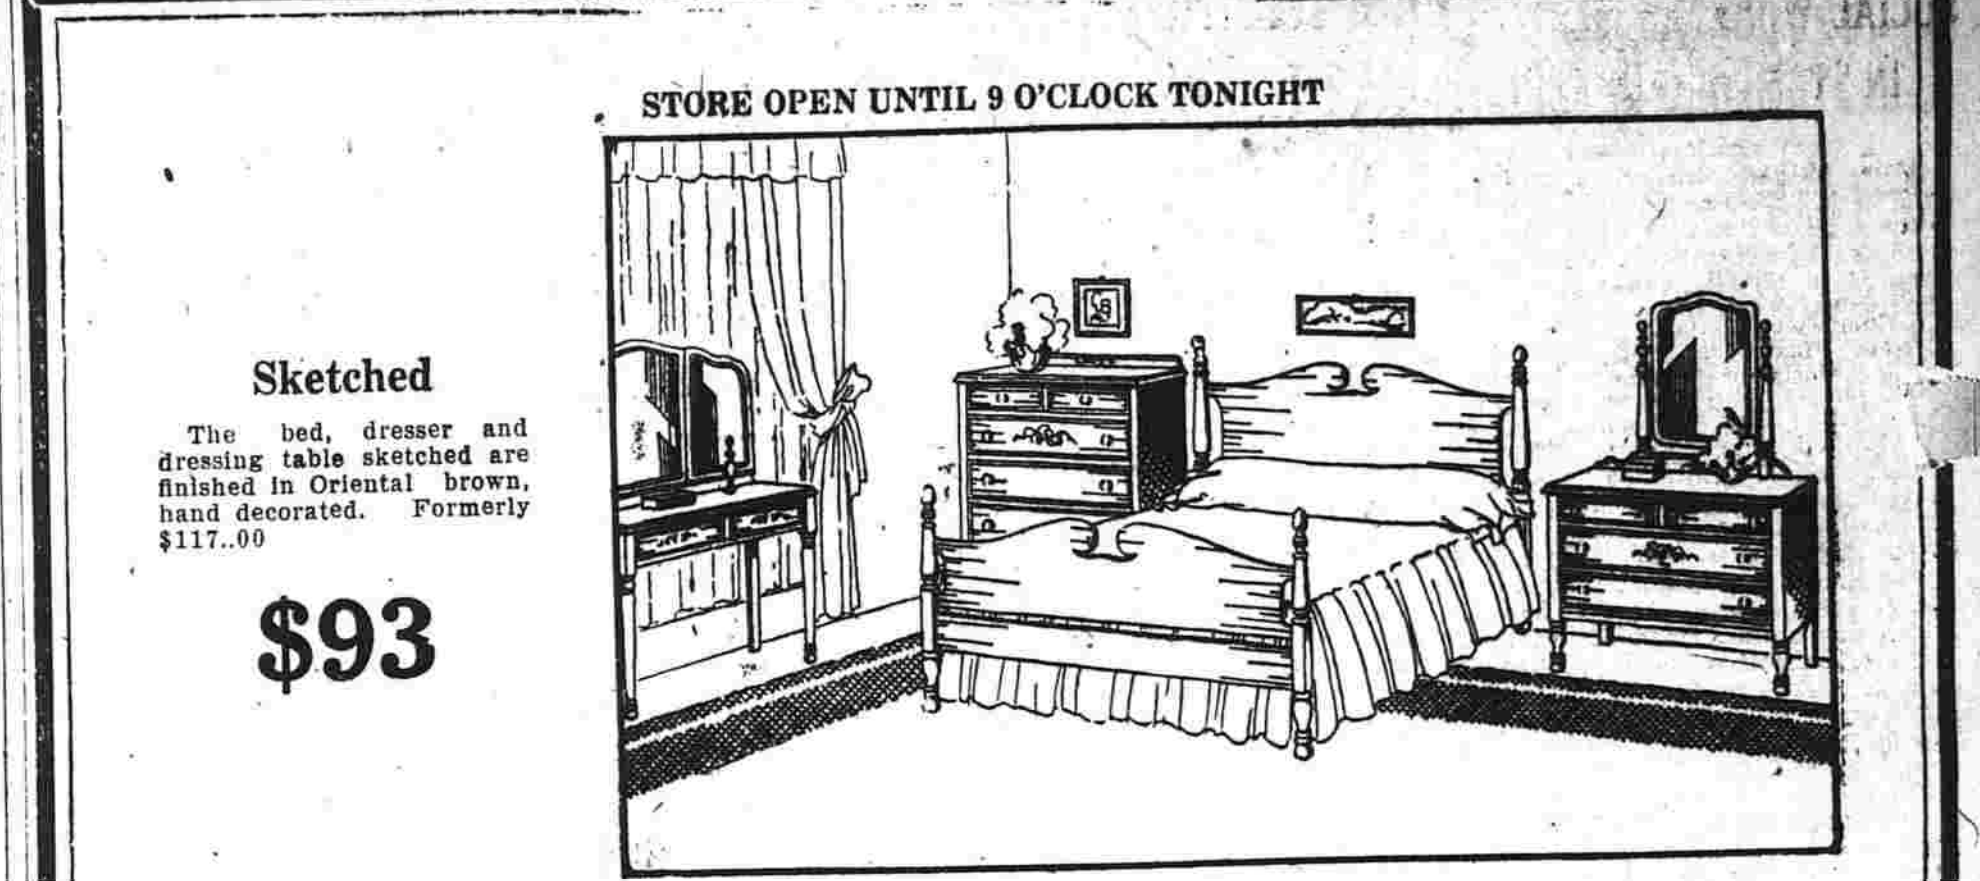

It remained for the Civil Service Commission, a non-partisan governmental establishment, to assert in its annual report that "in certain states appointment to local positions, such as postmasters, have been made by virtual purchase of the office through the guise of political contributions." The commission points out that there is a fine and imprisonment penalty for such offenses.

Certain members of the Republican national committee in the south, some of them negroes, have been accused of participating in the traffic in postmaster jobs.

Then the commission goes on to talk about women government workers, as follows: "Women in the government services are increasing both in numbers and the importance of their duties. Their advance is especially noticeable in the biological, economic and physical science branches, and in law.

"There are nearly 80,000 women employes in the executive civil service. Women probably fill more than half the positions for which men and women are equally suitable. Positions of letter carrier, railway postal clerk and mechanic... are illustrations of positions not suitable to women.

Since 1888 the commission has disclaimed any discrimination against women.

WAPPING

The Pleasant Valley Club, is to postpone the whist which was to have been held at the Pleasant Valley school-house on Friday evening, February 10, until Friday evening, February 17. This whist is postponed on account of the entertainment which the Burnside Dramatic Club will give at Wapping Center Hall in Feb. 10. It is to be a musical comedy, entitled "The New Minister," which is given under the auspices of the Blue Triangle Club of this place. The Federated Workers are holding a sale at Watkins Brothers store in South Manchester this afternoon under the direction of Group No. 2. The members are Mrs. George A. Collins, Mrs. Albert E. Stiles, Mrs. Rose Elmore, Miss Faith M. Collins, Mrs. C. Vinton Benjamin and Mrs. Emma Alexander. The Wapping Center school stands 100 per cent. in all the rooms again this week in banking at the Manchester Trust Company. Through the courtesy of the Parent Teacher's Association, the basketball hall on the third floor of the School building, has been equipped with new baskets, nets and balls, also two football soccer-balls and four handballs. The children in the higher grades, are taking their mid-year examinations this week. The Federated Workers will meet Friday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Emma Alexander at Pleasant Valley. The Blue Triangle Club will motor to Tolland next Friday evening for a game of basketball with the girls of that place. Harry P. Files, Jr., who is a student at the Suffield school has been enjoying a few days vacation at his home. He returned to school on Wednesday.

ADDISON

A special meeting of Hillstown Grange No. 87 will be held this evening to be observed as "Neighbors' Night." The traveling gavel will be presented to Hillstown Grange by the Good Will Grange of Glastonbury. The officers of Hillstown Grange were installed Jan. 25, by the State Overseer and his wife Mr. and Mrs. Louis G. Tolles, of Southington assisted by State Flora, Mrs. Kretzmer of Wethersfield and Mrs. Charles Hatheway of East Hartford Grange. Mrs. Laura J. Brewer of Hillstown Grange presided at the piano. The officers of Hillstown Grange for 1925 are: Master, Clair Brewer; Overseer, Joseph Reinartz; Lecturer, M. S. Sophia Mulcahy; Steward, Oscar Hills; Asst. Steward, Mathew Mulcahy, Jr.; Chaplain, Miss Emma B. Baneroff; Treasurer, J. W. Baneroff; Secretary, Miss Mary Hartel; Gate Keeper, George Ruoff; Ceres, Miss Ruth Dow; Pomona, Miss Arline Getto; Flora, Miss Elizabeth Moulton; Lady Asst. Steward, Miss Ella Scanton. The Hillstown Grangers have received an invitation and will go to confer the third and fourth degrees on a class of twenty-five candidates at Mansfield Grange, March 12. East Hartford Grange will confer the first and second degrees on a class of 16 candidates at Hillstown, Feb. 9.

AT CIRCLE TONIGHT

Three Vaudeville Acts and Two-Feature Bill on Program At Oak Street.

The biggest popular priced show ever seen in Manchester will be that of the Circle theater this evening. At no advance in the Circle price scale Manager Jack Sanson will present three acts of semi-professional vaudeville in addition to a double feature bill. The two features will remain here for Friday but the vaudeville show is scheduled only for tonight.

"White Pants Willie," starring Johnny Hines, and "Coney Island," with Lois Wilson in the leading role, are the two features which will be presented. The first is the latest and best to be produced by the popular comedian and the second shows up Miss Wil on's talents to the best advantage. "White Pants Willie" is a screen adaptation of the same name by the humorist, Elmer Davis. A splendid cast of players appear in support of the comedian with Lelia Hyams playing the leading feminine role. Others appearing prominently are Ruth Dwyer, Walter Long, Henry Burrows, Margaret Seddon, George Kuwa, and last but not least, Bozo, the educated foose. "Coney Island" boasts of one of the finest casts that have been seen for some time. Lois Wilson who needs no introduction anywhere, is the leading star and in support are Lucia Mendez, late of several successful shows on Broadway, Rudolph Cameron, and Eugene Strong. Each one of these artists seems ideally suited for the role in which they are cast. Lucia Mendez, daughters of the late president of Venezuela, and a star from the Broadway stage plays a role that must have been very easy for her. That of a Broadway dancer who finds that her path to happiness is strewn with more than the usual number of thorns.

After 15 Years, Crosses Sea To Find Husband Dead

Rosa Solomon

Cleveland—For 15 years Mrs. Rosa Solomon lived frugally on black bread and cheap coffee, so that she and David could be reunited the sooner.

They had to tell her. David had been killed just a few weeks ago. An automobile had struck him while he was on the way to the bank to put a few more dollars for Rosa's clothing when she came.

DEMPSEY IS NOT OUT OF IT, SAYS SPORTS WRITER

"Just a Lot of Hand Sapolio" Declares Walsh—Too Early For a Statement.

By DAVIS J. WALSH. I. N. S. Sports Editor.

New York, Feb. 2.—A man, much in the confidence of Jack Dempsey, told me today that, if I wanted to make myself bold, I would sneer openly at all announcements of Dempsey's retirement and, climbing well up on a tapering limb, declare that Dempsey will meet Gene Tunney for the heavyweight championship next September.

Therefore, be it known to all men by these presents, that while Tex Rickard was sobbing brokenly into the details of the retirement story at Miami Beach yesterday and Dempsey was nodding agreement in Los Angeles, the latter was sending a gratuitous wire to his man in New York in which he intimated rather strongly that the whole thing was a lot of hand Sapolio.

Rickard, it was declared, was in the business, too. The story is that he wants to get Dempsey out of the way and forgotten, temporarily, so that he can properly build up a contender for the June bout from among Sharkey, Heeny, Delaney and Risko. This, it was pointed out, cannot be done unless two objects are achieved.

So, my boy friend informs me, Dempsey is "playing dead," both under instructions and by his own wish. It seems he has no desire to mingle with the hot polloi of pugilism.

He first agreed that he was out of the ring forever and then qualified the statement by saying that, if his eye healed sufficiently, he might come back.

Without wishing to commit himself about something of which he knows all too little, the writer, nevertheless, feels that there is much logic in the statement of Dempsey's spokesman and little in those of Rickard and Dempsey himself.

pugilism. He wants the Tunney shot or none at all and it is a matter of moment that his statement to the International News Service yesterday bears out that contention.

are level about the matter, is to step out as early as possible. I order to give the boys a chance. I just can't restrain a smile, however, in trying to think of those gent's mixing gesture with business.

As I write this, I am informed that Bill Duffy, one of Dempsey's handlers, has received a letter from Jack, telling him to pay no attention to the "newspaper stories when they come out."

As to this much discussed "trouble with his eyes," my man says there virtually is none. He declares that a muscle in Dempsey's left eye is "slightly affected" but that it is yielding to treatment and that, anyhow, it had no effect on his vision.

Picks American Style Models

Jean Patou, noted Parisian style dictator, whose writing for NEA service and Herald have been read by many, has chosen four American girls to serve as models. The girls, left to right, are: Margaret Shea, Doris Pedmore, Dolores Toomey and Kathleen Krosby. Patou is shown in the inset.

There Will Be No War In Europe Because There Is No Money In War

Athens.—"There isn't going to be any war because it wouldn't pay anybody to go to war at the present time."

This calm assurance in the face of the black war clouds that are persistently hovering along the European danger belt, stretching from the Italian shores to the Eastern Baltic, was expressed to me by A. Papanastassiou, one of the fathers of the Greek republic, now minister of agriculture in the Zaimis cabinet, and known as one of the shrewdest political observers in the Balkans.

I had just made a trip down the Adriatic Sea, and stopping at various ports on both sides of Mussolini's "Mare Nostrum," had been startled by the intensity of the hatred that has arisen between the Yugoslav and the Italian people since D'Annunzio took Fiume and Mussolini "took" Albania.

Keeping this hatred in mind I could not escape the conclusion that if Papanastassiou's prophecy should prove true then the poverty and exhaustion of Central and southern Europe will have proved a blessing for it, for it alone will have kept her nations from flying at one another's throats.

Explosion Coming
"My own impression" was that everything along the Adriatic is driving toward an explosion sooner or later.

The Yugoslavs feel that Mussolini, fascinated by the ruins which everywhere along the Dalmatian coast remind one that ancient Rome ruled there, is striving to re-establish the glory of the Caesars and that Yugoslavia is to be sacrificed in that project. Already Yugoslavia sees herself surrounded by Mussolini's virtual allies, Hungary and Rumania, and by his protectorate, Albania, and Belgrade is frantically seeking aid from France.

While Mussolini charges that Yugoslavia is trying to swallow all the Balkans and must therefore be kept in check.

I made my trip on an Italian steamer. Whenever we stopped at a Yugoslav port, black looks and muttered insults met the Italian ship officers, and the Yugoslav nation, and rabid songs about Mussolini and what the Yugoslavs will do to him were sung for their benefit. More than once it looked as if a little private war would start right then and there, but owing vengeance at some future date, the Italian officers withdrew in order not to provoke a "diplomatic incident."

On the Adriatic
At one end of the Adriatic, Fiume which D'Annunzio seized from Yugoslavia, is a dying city for want of trade because it has no hinterland, while right at the other end of the town, across the border, Yugoslavia is building a new rival harbor of her own.

At the other, the neck end of the "Italian lake," the mighty guns of Brindisi, Italy's naval stronghold, point ominously toward the sea, ready to cork up the whole Adriatic.

"I know there is a lot of loud talk but it is nothing but words," said Papanastassiou, a neutral observer who yet must watch events with the greatest concern because an explosion would inevitably drag his country into war. "Italy doesn't want to fight and Yugoslavia can't fight."

"No," he added, "there wouldn't be any profit in war now."

I asked whether Greeks felt that she was in danger of being swallowed by Yugoslavia, as Mussolini followed by Yugoslavia, as Mussolini said she was.

"Not at all," said Papanastassiou. "There are a few jingoists in every country and there are some in Belgrade who dream of annexing half of Greece to get Saloniki. But the Yugoslav government has always been very correct and we have never had the slightest reason to complain. We are going to conclude a new treaty of friendship with Yugoslavia, though on better terms than granted by Paganos."

Paganos was overthrown chiefly because he had given Yugoslavia a free harbor and many other advantages in Saloniki.

"Would Greece remain neutral in case of an Adriatic war," I asked. "That would depend entirely upon the events," Papanastassiou

Seeking Treaties

That Greece is trying to mend both her fences, however, is shown by reports that as a counterpart to the proposed treaty with Yugoslavia she is also in touch with Rome for a similar treaty.

For Greece has a special and hereditary enemy of her own—Turkey. The mere name of Turkey makes a Greek's eyes blaze in fury and the National Museum in Athens is filled almost exclusively with the trophies and reminders of Greco-Turkish wars. The ruins of the Parthenon itself stretch their columns heavenward as a constant reminder of what Turkey did to Greece.

At the moment, in fact, Greece is going through a subconscious war scare of her own as a result of reports that Turkey is repairing the old German cruiser Goeben which escaped the allies through the Dardanelles during the war.

Three seeping battleships, two of them purchased from America, stand guard at the entrance to Ploios, Athens' port and the sinister wicker-work of their fighting masts looks threateningly upon the battle scene of Salamis, where the Greek navy routed Persia's might and "made" the Western world safe for democracy nearly twenty-five hundred years ago.

A restored Goeben, the Greeks fear, will imperil their naval superiority over Turkey and tempt Kemal Pasha to new martial enterprises.

No Turkish Question

"As far as we are concerned," Papanastassiou said, "there is no Turkish question. The question has been settled by the removal of the Greek population from Asia Minor. I do not believe that this generation, at any rate, will do anything to change matters."

The 1,500,000 who were "removed" by the Turks from Asia Minor is what was probably the greatest single migration of all times, completely dwarfing the exodus of the Bible, and who doubled the population of Greece at one stroke, are gradually being settled on land made free by the division of all big Greek estates. Brand new refuge villages are springing up everywhere in Greece, but thousands are still encamped in tents and barracks around Athens, cared for in good part by the American Near East Relief.

"What about the constant revolutions and the question of the return of the monarchy?" I asked. "The period of revolutions is over," Papanastassiou said. "The present coalition cabinet in which practically all parties are represented shows that."

"The republican government is firmly established. King Constantine had many sympathies in Greece because he had led the army through the victorious Balkan wars, but his successors have never had much sympathy and are losing fast whatever they did have."

"The monarchists have split, and the larger faction has joined the republican government and is beginning to declare openly that the form of government is not an issue anymore."

BANISH THAT EXTRA FAT

Do it in the easy, pleasant way, in the modern, scientific way. Not by abnormal exercise or diet, but by combating the great cause of excess fat.

That way is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. So now you can see, on every hand, the results this method brings. New beauty, new health, new vitality. If you envy those results, learn the way to get them.

A book in every box of Marmola tells you the formula, also the reasons for all it does. You will have no fear of harm. Get it today and watch the results. Learn how much it means to you in many ways. Do this for those who wish to admire you. Just ask your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola.

WHY...We NEVER have "sales"

A furniture "sale" is a reduction of prices for a certain length of time.

We can't call our prices a "sale", because these low prices exist every day of the year at Garber Brothers, not just for a certain length of time.

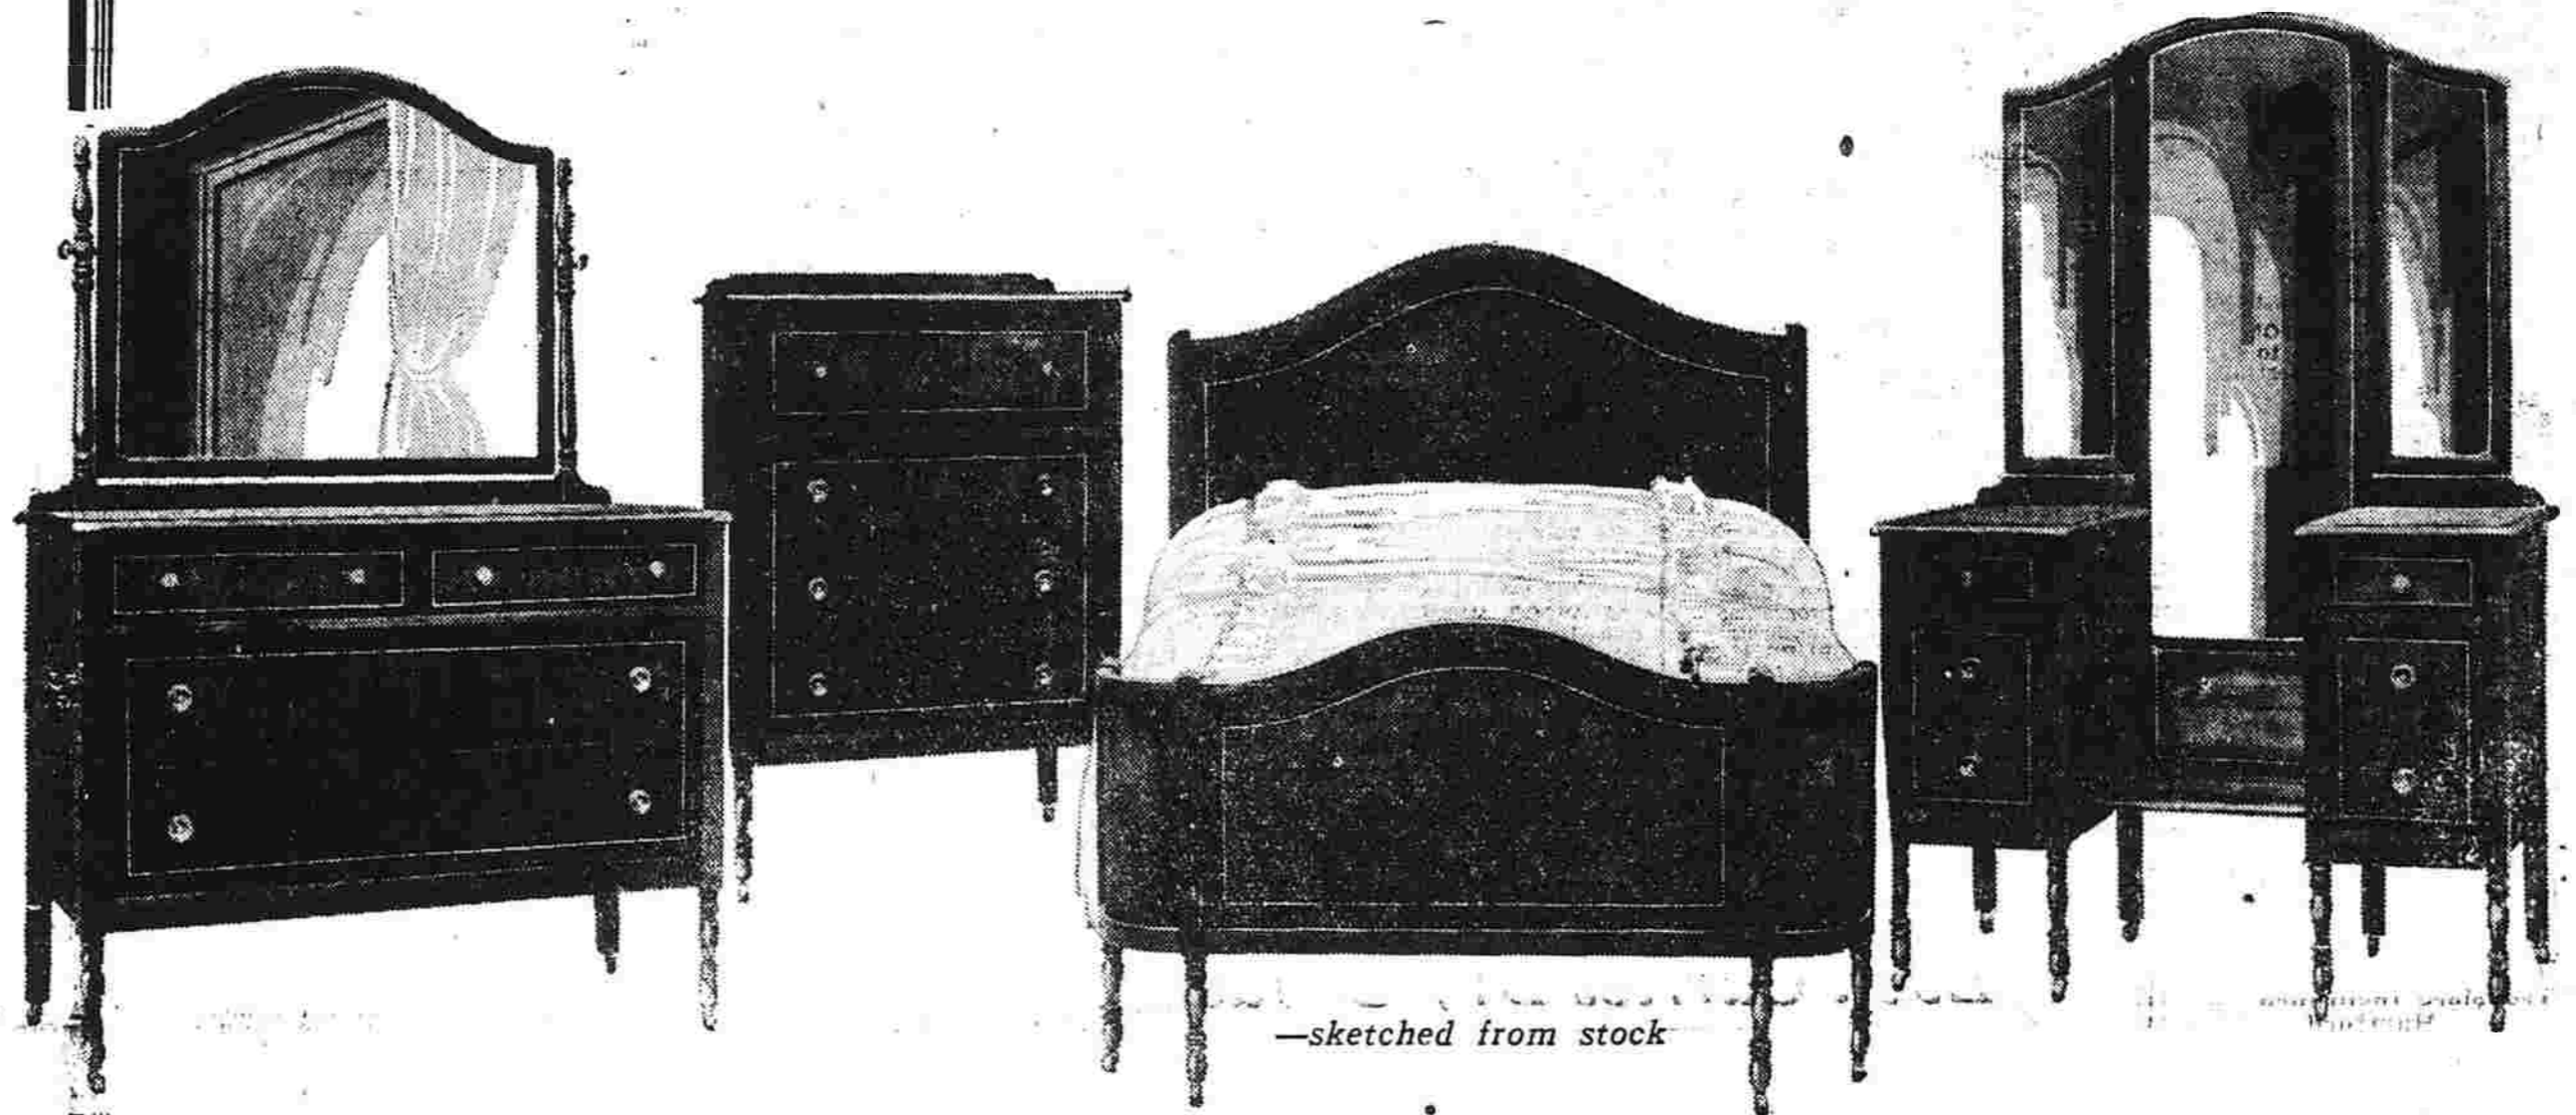

If our everyday prices were up to a figure that would allow of discounts of 20, 30, 40 and 50 per cent; we, too, would have "sales".

But we don't, because our prices are ALWAYS down.

It is not the amount of the discount that saves money for you. The actual price you pay is the only thing that should interest you.

That is why the people who know values and prices come right down to Garber Brothers when in need of furniture.

Yes, even during January and February, when "sales" are held everywhere except at Garber Brothers.

Fine 4-piece Bedroom Suite in Antique Walnut . . . Better than a "sale value"

A conservatively designed suite which will give the bedroom a pleasing, dignified charm. It is roomy, but not massive. The woods used in its construction are selected walnut in combination with other fine cabinet woods. It is built to endure. It will still be in service many, many years after the price is forgotten. It is finished in dull rubbed antique walnut, enhanced by a dignified apple green hair-line effect. The four pieces included are exactly as shown above; a beautiful dresser, spacious chest of drawers, full size vanity and full size bow-end bed. The regular retail price for this suite should be at least $200. It is easily worth that much . . . but Garber Brothers' Everyday price is only $139. Compare it with any other suite selling at $139. Compare it with any other suite selling at $200. You will be amazingly surprised at the tremendous buying power your dollars have at Garber Brothers'.

"For years I suffered from excruciating pains in my feet. As my daily activities necessitated long standing, it became almost unbearable. After trying innumerable remedies, I was persuaded to try Rabalm. The result was amazing..."

"I believe that, with the exception of a few individuals who would rather go to the doctor than to the theater, people who go to hospitals and consult physicians because they are sick..."

"The present high tension, high speed modern living may be a factor in the production of these nervous symptoms. Individuals vary in their physical and nervous make-up as do animals..."

quite casual. He will make the flight in his rebuilt Belanca plane the Columbia, in which he and Chamberlin flew to Germany. Levine will hop off from Roosevelt field and will be accompanied by Wilmer Stultz, a pilot, and Miss Mabel Boll, "The Queen of Diamonds" whom Levine met in Paris...

FIND HEADLESS BODY

Whittier, Calif., Feb. 2.—The decapitated body of a well dressed man, wrapped in gunnysacking, was discovered today in a ravine half a mile from Puente, a small town near this city. Meager police reports indicated the head had been removed through human agency.

Levine mentioned that women have had luck as flyers but declared that is no reason why they should be discriminated against. "Women drive automobiles—they shouldn't be stopped from piloting a plane," he said.

history, past and future. No nation is bound to remain neutral in war. The exact wording of the text means that, if a nation does not get into the war right away, it must stay out. Yet history contains many instances of the intervention of a strong nation in behalf of the weaker in an unequal struggle.

THE CANARY MURDER CASE

CHARACTERS PHIL VANCE JOHN F. MARKHAM, District Attorney of New York County...

THE STORY THUS FAR The thing that baffles Vance most is the level case. It had after unsuccessfully being tried with a jury...

CHAPTER XVI EYE hung up the receiver and rubbed his hands together. "Now we're sailing," he rejoiced.

Markham rose and, after shaking hands, introduced him to Vance and said, "I'm glad to see you, Mr. Vance."

He paused. Cleaver lifted his eyebrows almost imperceptibly, but said nothing. "The fact is," went on Markham, a trifle annoyed by the other's deliberately circumspect attitude...

who intended to strangle her. If she'd known, she most likely could have avoided being murdered.

In response to the man's ironically evasive rejoinder, he turned quickly and leaned forward. "You're not on the witness-stand in your own defense, Mr. Cleaver," he said sharply.

"That's up to you," Cleaver told him, hesitatingly. "And what's printed in the newspapers about it will be up to the reporters," rejoined Markham.

"I'm afraid I can't accommodate you," he said at length. "Your attitude is not quite what might be expected in one whose conscience is entirely clear," returned Markham, with a show of resentment.

Life's Niceties HINTS ON ETIQUET

- 1. When a crowd returns from a party in a taxi, should a girl keep the rest waiting while her escort sees her to the door? 2. If she lives high in an apartment house, is it necessary for him to see her clear to her own door? 3. How can she show her consideration for the waiting friends?

The Answers 1. Certainly. 2. Not necessary, but usually done. 3. By having her door key handy and making her remarks about the evening's pleasure brief, though courteous.

COAT DRESS A lavender tweed daytime frock is a wrap-around coat dress with three huge bone buttons fastening its diagonal closing.

FACE VELS Face vels must match their hats, says Paris. A green turban adds unusual charm to a face by a dotted green veil.

DAISY EGGS For luncheon, cream the chopped whites of a few hard boiled eggs and serve on fried ham slices with the yolks grated and arranged artistically on top.

PASTED COSTUMES Worth is making his winter sports costumes in delicate shades of angora and other soft woolsens. Fox is dyed to match the pale blues, greens, pinks and yellows.

INEXPENSIVE WAIST Shoulder of mutton, veal or lamb makes an inexpensive but tasty roast if studded with chestnut dressing. Serve with cranberry jelly.

This And That In Feminine Lore

For a dry skin or to protect your face against the ravages of the cold winds, the facials given at the Lily Beauty parlor, upstairs in the House & Hale building will be found most beneficial. Ring 1671 for appointment.

Have you ever noticed when dining in a restaurant or hotel how many men choose French fried potatoes. The reason is, I suppose, they can get them there on order while often the home cook fights shy of "Doing 'Em up Brown."

As new as the tulips in the florist's windows are kitchen pajamas—yes, they're intended to replace house dresses. They have a sleeveless jumper and three-quarter length coat. Plain and plaided gingham is the proper material.

When it comes to pajama suits, the palm goes to the new Ruth Elder aviatrix suit of gleaming black satin and peach decorations to give it dash. It has the new tied leg bands. Pajamas are coming shorter and the leg that ties at high shoe length is the favorite.

Figured triple voles and georgettes in lovely Dolly Varden patterns fashion some of the daintiest underthings. One with pink, blue and yellow sprays on a flesh background has a flaring step-in portion with fitted yoke. The scalloped edges are bound with pink and the rounded top of the bodice shows the tendency wherever possible to avoid straight lines.

Whittier says: "The tissues of the life to be We weave with colors all our own. And in the field of Destiny We reap as we have sown."

Pineapple and Rice Pudding One cup cold cooked rice, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup grated or shredded pineapple, 1 cup whipping cream, few grains salt, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla. Combine rice, sugar and pineapple. Mix thoroughly. Whip cream until firm and fold into rice mixture. Turn into a mold and let stand until very cold and firm. Serve garnished with a maraschino cherry or cubes of bright jelly.

The New Prints The printed frock will be the thing from ballroom to beach this season, and what prints are new are coming out every week or so, all designed by well known artists. They have been called "modern portrait" prints because they seem to transfer to dress goods every phase of American life, in one print called "Playthings," 20 different symbols of sports can be picked out.

"Marvo and Mom." A new feature will begin on the home page soon, the first installment of a modern daughter's correspondence with her old-fashioned mother. The letters are by Ruth Dewey Groves and will reveal that Marvo and Mom are representative of thousands and thousands of present-day married daughters of "old-fashioned" mothers. They cannot fail to strike a responsive chord in the hearts of our women readers.

Powerful, Penetrating Antiseptic Oil Heals Eczema and Other Skin Diseases Must Give Results in 7 Days or Money Back, Say All Druggists

Make up your mind today that you are going to give your skin a real chance to get well. You're probably being like a lot of other people convinced that the only thing to use was an ointment or salve (some of them are very good) but in the big majority of cases these sticky salves simply clog the pores and the condition primarily remains the same.

Remember that Moore's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful, penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue and that it must give complete satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded.—adv.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUMNER

The bill which will send all gold stickman's and "unmarried widows" of American soldiers of the late war to France to visit the graves of their soldier sons and husbands at government expense is said to have sped through the military affairs committee of the House more rapidly and with less opposition than practically any other bill ever presented them.

Politicians like any appeal to the motherhood sentiment. It's funny, though, that they can see the beauty of letting a mother weep at her son's grave but can't see the same beauty in sparing the infant son of another mother, which Sheppard-Towner law, for years organized women fought for, is in danger of being allowed by congressmen and senators to lapse into a state of near extinction. This law you know has already saved thousands of infants and mothers, and that many must die if the funds are not forthcoming for a new period.

HICKMAN JURY I expected at first thought that Hickman's defense would make every possible attempt to get a majority of women on the jury. Mothers would look at Mrs. Eva Hickman's drawn and fear-frenzied face, think "what if it were my son?" and be unable to send her son to the gallows.

TWO SIDES But that first reasoning was probably not sound. The defense sought to be making no special effort to seat women. Perhaps they knew, too, that mothers will see the horrified dark eyes of little Marion Parker, see her crushed parents, and know what they worry demand if anyone who so treated their little girl. Parental concern is generally more manifest when a small child is concerned than when the child is older, and a small girl especially captures this concern.

EVENING BROWN Brown graduates to evening wear. A beige lace gown has a wide sash and smashing side bow of brown velvet. Brown slippers are worn.

Daily Health Service HINTS ON HOW TO KEEP WELL by World Famed Authority

ART OF INSANE PATIENTS LIKE THAT OF CUBISTS. By Dr. MORRIS. FISHBEN. Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

Recently there was held in Paris an exhibit of drawings, paintings and sculptures made by the patients in the asylums and other institutions in Paris. Most of the drawings resembled those of cubists, futurists and super-realists. Only such paintings were exhibited as had been done by patients who had not been artists previous to their admissions to the institutions for the insane.

Use Own Blood. The Paris correspondent of the Journal of the American Medical Association tells that one of the patients being unable to get a sufficiently bright red color, pricked his finger and used his own blood for the purpose.

Home Page Editorial COFFEE, PLEASE! By Olive Roberts Barton

It just about tickles me to death to hear a catty woman baited with her own hook. Men, kindly turn the page. This is for women only. You are not supposed to know about the sweet conversations that women carry on occasionally when their claws need sharpening.

In a city where snavity prevails and people are so well steeped in correctness that Emily Post cannot draw a nickel of royalty, I once heard this affectionate bit of dialogue: Lady (calling on friend who had returned in a small furnished apartment while her home was being put in order)—"You seem to be very comfortable here."

Hostess—"Not so very. I'm very impatient to get away. Other people's furniture never appeals to me."

Caller—"I felt at home the minute I came in. For one thing, that lamp shade is the exact duplicate of one I have at home."

Hostess, quickly—"It's horrible!" Caller, quickly—"I never have to look at mine. It's in the maid's room." Two women were talking at a tea. I joined them in time to hear one say, "I really enjoyed your story in such-and-such magazine. I seldom read your things but I enjoyed that."

Second lady, remembering that the story concerned a gossip and a trouble-maker, "Oh, I'm sorry, I hoped you wouldn't see that one." How can women ever learn this art, if you call it so, of knitting? I suppose you have to fight a sword with a sword, but duelling, I guess, isn't in my line. I'm too stupid possibly to know when someone is taking a crack at me. But I'd rather be that way. It must be dreadful to be so expert at returning a blow. If you look for war, I imagine you'll generally find it. If that is coffee and repartee, I'll have just coffee, please.

Jennings Diamond's Most Colorful Figure

Evans Pays Famous Baseball Manager, Who Died Yesterday, High Tribute.

BY BILLY EVANS

Hughy Jennings is dead. The Great Umpire has made the final decision.

Three years ago the sport world was startled by the announcement that Hughy Jennings was in poor health. Later the word was passed that he was suffering from tuberculosis.

It just didn't seem possible that Hughy Jennings, the man who had made millions laugh with his grass-pulling stunts, acrobatic gestures and unintelligible words such as "E-yah," "E-yah" and others just as meaningless, but none the less inspiring can be gone.

Of late years, the word color has been a much used one in describing athletes who are just a bit different.

The young men's gym classes held Monday and Thursday nights at the School street Rec are proving more and more popular each week.

The Beethoven Glee Club has issued a bowling challenge to Charlie Stave's old time big pin bowlers for a special match some night at Municipal for fun, money or marbles, mostly the latter.

Manchester High and Bristol High traditional rivals, will clash in a swimming meet in the Rec pool at 2:30 Saturday afternoon.

The Community Club volleyball schedule for games to be played at the Harding gym tomorrow night is as follows: Bon Aml vs. Hose Company No. 1 at 7 o'clock; Gammon-Holman Company vs. Connecticut Sunatra at 7:45; E. E. Hilliard Company vs. Business Men at 8:30 and Carolyn Johnson Company vs. Hose Company No. 2 at 9:15.

Each match will be two games. "Chunky-rolly-polly" Red Cervini, Cubs' football star, has joined the School street Rec gym class in effort to reduce his weight in preparation for the football season next fall.

It is interesting to learn that Windham High has taken Middlebury place on Bristol's home schedule for a game this week Friday. It will be the first time these two schools have ever met on a basketball court.

If you haven't anything else to do tonight and are wondering where you can find some excitement, then take a spin up to Wapping and watch the home team which is composed almost entirely of Manchester players, clash with the Farmington Triangles.

Land snakes usually have acute hearing, but many water snakes cannot hear at all.

That introduction taught me a great lesson. It was typical of Jennings. He believed the way to get things to do everything. He could forgive failure if the proper effort was made. He gave no credit to success achieved improperly.

Of one thing I am sure, as Jennings made his ninth-inning battle for life, he didn't surrender without a courageous fight. In all my career I have never met a gamer fellow. He had "guts."

Jennings once told me that the funniest thing he ever saw on a ball field involved himself, Jimmy McAleer and yours truly.

Time makes many changes and it so happened that in 1906, five years after I had met Hughy Jennings at Cornell, he was the manager of the Detroit Tigers and I was a member of the American League staff of umpires. It was through a recommendation on the part of Jimmy McAleer to Ben Johnson that gave me my chance.

Detroit was playing at St. Louis in the game in question. The year was 1908 and these two clubs were battling for the American League pennant. As fate would have it, I had at least a dozen innings and every one of them went to Detroit, managed by my old college coach, Jennings was coaching at first base and usually he would try to help me out by making the decision just a trifle ahead of me, also naturally his ruling would always be safe and as luck would have it, I was seeing the plays the same way.

After an unusually close play, also a very important one, had gone against St. Louis, there was wild commotion in front of the home team's bench. It proved to be McAleer scrambling over the bats to

Local Sport Chatter

There will be three or four more good basketball games in town before the week ends. Tomorrow night Manchester High and New Haven Hillhouse will engage in a contest at the Rec. The second teams of both schools will play in the preliminary Saturday night, the Rec team plays Taftville a return game and in the preliminary encounter the Community Girls meet the Winsted Girls.

The Community Club setback tournament at the White House this evening brings together the following teams: Carlyle Johnson vs. Improvement Club, Gammon-Holman vs. Hose Company No. 1, E. E. Hilliard vs. Bon Aml, Connecticut Sunatra vs. Alcott, Brothers and Business Men vs. Glastonbury Knitting Company.

The Community Club basketball teams will practice tonight at the K. of C. hall on Bissell street; the boys at 7 o'clock and the girls at 8 o'clock. Frank Gallagher, who played a fine game with Poquonock against the locals the other night, is expected to report for practice. Gallagher recently removed to Manchester Green. He was one of the highest scorers in the Hartford Insurance league last season. The boys meet the All-Middletown team here next Tuesday night and the girls tackle the New Haven Hudsons.

The young men's gym classes held Monday and Thursday nights at the School street Rec are proving more and more popular each week. The class has grown higher and higher until its enrollment now is the highest it has been any time this winter. The same is true of the business men's class which "convenes" every Thursday afternoon. Director Lewis Lloyd conducts these classes.

Land snakes usually have acute hearing, but many water snakes cannot hear at all.

That introduction taught me a great lesson. It was typical of Jennings. He believed the way to get things to do everything. He could forgive failure if the proper effort was made. He gave no credit to success achieved improperly.

Of one thing I am sure, as Jennings made his ninth-inning battle for life, he didn't surrender without a courageous fight. In all my career I have never met a gamer fellow. He had "guts."

Jennings once told me that the funniest thing he ever saw on a ball field involved himself, Jimmy McAleer and yours truly.

Time makes many changes and it so happened that in 1906, five years after I had met Hughy Jennings at Cornell, he was the manager of the Detroit Tigers and I was a member of the American League staff of umpires. It was through a recommendation on the part of Jimmy McAleer to Ben Johnson that gave me my chance.

Detroit was playing at St. Louis in the game in question. The year was 1908 and these two clubs were battling for the American League pennant. As fate would have it, I had at least a dozen innings and every one of them went to Detroit, managed by my old college coach, Jennings was coaching at first base and usually he would try to help me out by making the decision just a trifle ahead of me, also naturally his ruling would always be safe and as luck would have it, I was seeing the plays the same way.

After an unusually close play, also a very important one, had gone against St. Louis, there was wild commotion in front of the home team's bench. It proved to be McAleer scrambling over the bats to

Local Legion Five in Bowling League Split First Matches

Manchester has a team entered in the American Legion Bowling league which has two divisions in Hartford and vicinity. The team has already bowled two matches, losing four out of five points at Thompsonville and winning all five here against East Hartford. The next match will be next week Monday against Windsor at Murphy's alleys. In the Legion league, two points are allowed for pinfall and one for each game.

Other teams in the league with Manchester are: East Hartford, Windsor, Thompsonville and Wethersfield. The other division consists of West Hartford, Hartford, Bristol, New Britain, Plainville and Farmington.

The score of the match night before last follows:

BULLDOGS TROUNCE CARDINALS 36 TO 14

The Bulldogs beat the Cardinals last night in a non-league game at the K. of C. hall on Bissell street. The score was 36 to 14. Kelley and Palmer starred for the winners with Chambers doing the best work for the losers. Tanner, a new man in the Bulldog lineup, had showed up well. He made three baskets in one period of play. The summary:

LIBERTYS DEFEAT OLYMPICS 70 TO 36

Welles Sinks Fourteen Baskets and Spencer Gets Eight; Schiebel High For Losers.

In Division Two of the Community Club junior basketball league last night, the Liberty's doubled their opponents' score to gain a 70 to 36 victory over the Olympics. Welles set a new individual scoring record with fourteen hoops. He is a brother of Miriam Welles who stars for the Community Girls. Apparently, basketball runs in the family, for another brother, Franklin, used to be quite a player. Spencer caged eight buckets for the Liberty's. Schiebel was high for the losers. The summary:

AMATEUR BOUTS IN HARTFORD TONIGHT

Matchmaker Ed Hurley of the Massachusetts A. C. has arranged an especially attractive card for the weekly amateur boxing show of the Massachusetts A. C., to be held tonight at F. Pook's hall. There will be from twelve to fifteen bouts as there has been a record number of entries.

The card will be divided into three parts: first, the elimination bouts for the Northern Connecticut championships; then a series of 1 bouts between middleweights, light-heavies and heavyweights and then the special bouts.

The big boys hold the limelight right now, having stolen the vogue from the little fellows. The last two shows featured the bulky boys and the result was the liveliest milling of the season.

Joe Hessel, the Wallingford heavyweight, is slated to meet Mike Raelle of Springfield who has been running up a string of knockouts. Bob Evans, 200-pounder of South Norwalk is slated to meet Bill Palmer of Windsor Locks who weighs about the same as Evans.

Louis Carmel of Holyoke, who has been winning all his bouts, will meet Joe Truxel also of the Paper City. Eddie Elle, sensational Springfield middleweight, has fled his entry. Altogether there are eighteen entries from the heavy men. Gerald Emard of Holyoke meets Johnny Angelo of Hartford in one special bout and Art Chapdelaine of Holyoke takes on Adolph D'Onofrio of Hartford in another.

Million Dollar Boxing Days Are All Through

Rickard's Dream of $3,000,000 Gate Fades Due To Lack of Good Attractions, Farrell Says.

By HENRY L. FARRELL New York, Feb. 2.—In discussing recently the difficulties attending any attempt to stage two heavyweight championship bouts in one season, Tex Rickard let it slip out that he didn't expect to draw much more than $1,500,000 for either one of the two fights Gene Tunney has demanded.

When he discovered he had been talking out loud Rickard admitted candidly that for the present at least he had laid aside the hope of reaching the $3,000,000 gate that he predicted before Dempsey-Tunney No. 2 had been staged in Chicago.

Rickard has a very candid way about him when he is in the mood, and unlike the attitude of the New York Giants in the Hornsby case he is willing to give reasons frankly and freely.

"Dempsey is the safe man of all of them," Rickard said, "but I don't believe he'll draw more than a million and a half against Tunney again and anybody else against Tunney is more of a gamble."

"I want to put one of those fights in the Yankee stadium and the best I can do by scaling the house down from $40 will not reach two million. The other places wouldn't draw any more."

Rickard was asked if he thought the days of the "battles of the billions" would never come and that the peak had been reached, as promoters in other sections of the country believe.

"Looks like it right now," he answered. "Can't get the people without the cards."

When he was asked what was the matter with the cards he let it slip out again, although he had made no secret of his opinion at other times.

"Well, Dempsey ain't like he used to be," Rickard then admitted that Dempsey brought on the million-dollar days of boxing and that as been winning all his bouts, will meet Joe Truxel also of the Paper City. Eddie Elle, sensational Springfield middleweight, has fled his entry. Altogether there are eighteen entries from the heavy men. Gerald Emard of Holyoke meets Johnny Angelo of Hartford in one special bout and Art Chapdelaine of Holyoke takes on Adolph D'Onofrio of Hartford in another.

Dempsey declines the market is declining with him. The question then arose whether it was Dempsey or Jack Kearns who was really responsible for the blame, if you wish, for the rise of boxing to a place on the New York Stock Exchange list.

Rickard and Kearns are no longer friends and Rickard remained silent and puffed on his cigar. A remark that Johnny Kilbane made in Shelby before the Dempsey-Gibbons fight in Shelby was just lost the featherweight championship and he had been lucky to get a couple of shots of the big dough. Kearns at this time was being panned all over the nation for using the gun on the cowboy promoters of the fight and even some of his friends were telling him he was all wrong.

"You can say what you want about Kearns, but I wouldn't rap him and no other boxer should rap him," Kilbane said. "He made the big money boxing days for boxing and even preliminary boys have benefited by it."

"Dempsey did that, not Kearns," it was argued. "Dempsey, nothing," Kilbane came back. "If Kearns hadn't put that big dough idea across, Dempsey would have been fighting for what Willard was getting when he was champion. Kearns asked for the big end and held out until he got it."

It was suggested that even if Dempsey might not be a business genius he would not have been modest enough or dumb enough to take only a small part of a million-dollar gate.

"If Kearns hadn't made his demands so big, there would never have been million-dollar gates. Rickard never would have had the nerve to ask for $50 for tickets. They might still be fighting for ten and fifteen-dollar tops."

Rickard listened to all of it and then remarked: "They pay to see the fighter."

As Rickard's Garden does not depend entirely on the support of boxing he doesn't have to be alarmed by prospects for the future, but promoters in other sections of the country and the little fellows in New York are losing money and they believe that the business is declining rapidly.

BACK TO THE MINORS The Chicago Cub recently sent Tommy Sewell, brother of Luke and Joe Sewell, back to the Reading, Pa., club for further seasoning under option.

BEST TO LA BARBA Danny McCoy, Pacific coast flyweight, is the best fighter in his division, according to Fidel La Barba, retired undefeated champion.

THEY AGREE ON THIS All baseball experts are unanimous in the belief that any club to finish ahead of the New York Yankees this year will win the American League pennant.

HIGH SCHOOL HALL TO BE 'MOORISH PALACE'

Elaborate Decorative Scheme Planned For Junior Prom Next Week.

The setting for the Junior Prom at the High School a week from Saturday night will be the most elaborate in years. The assembly hall will be arranged to resemble a Moorish Palace.

Worthy Hill's Orchestra of Hartford, which will play for dancing, will be appropriately costumed for the occasion. Miss Harriet D. Gordon, art teacher at the High School for a long period of years, is chairman of the decoration committee. Principal Clarence P. Quimby said today that despite the fact that evening clothes will not be obligatory, a large number of the dancers are expected to wear fuxedos. Undergraduates will feel free to dress either way. Mr. Quimby said.

Principal Quimby spoke on the Junior Prom at length at the regular Thursday afternoon assembly this afternoon. He expects that the attendance this year will be the largest in years. Many college students who graduated from Manchester High are expected to be present.
