LINDY NEARS CUBA; AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

Leaves Haiti Early This Morning; Expected to Land In Havana This Afternoon; Latest Reports.

BULLETIN
Calimete, Cuba, Feb. 8.—Col. Lindbergh was sighted over this place at 2:10 this afternoon. Calimete is 100 miles from Havana, where the airman is expected at three o'clock. Flying conditions are ideal.

Havana, Feb. 8.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh enroute from Port au Prince, Haiti to Havana on the last leg of his Spanish-American good will flight, passed over Camaguey City, central Cuba, at 11:15 o'clock local time. Camaguey City is about 300 miles from Havana.

Lindbergh was reported to be making splendid time. When he passed over Camaguey City he had covered more than half the distance from Port au Prince to this city. Reports to the Cuban Telephone Company here placed the flier one hour ahead of his schedule.

THE START
Port au Prince, Haiti, Feb. 8.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took off for Havana at 6:35 a. m. today. He expects to arrive at Havana this afternoon.

Despite the early hour of departure, a good sized crowd was at the flying field to speed the Spirit of St. Louis on its way.

Weather conditions were good and Col. Lindbergh made a fine take off. He said he had enjoyed his stay in this picturesque old city very much, having always had a desire to visit it and see some of its historic spots.

The flight today was the last leg of the actual good will tour down through Latin America, across to South America and through the West Indies. After a brief stay in Cuba, Col. Lindbergh will hop off for the United States.

Despite the hard strain of long flights over dangerous country and equally dangerous seas, Col. Lindbergh has borne up wonderfully. At times he appeared to be slightly nervous, but this symptom was never sufficiently marked to cause any anxiety among his friends and admirers. It is believed that after Col. Lindbergh gets back home he will take a long rest before making another more extensive flight.

He began his present tour on Dec. 13, flying from Washington, D. C. to Valparaiso, Chile, just outside of Mexico City. Since then he has visited every Latin American

CHURCH IS DIVIDED OVER KRESGE CASE

Pastor Says Millionaire May Be Dropped From Mem- bership Rolls.

New York, Feb. 8.—The Madison avenue Methodist Episcopal church here was split into two factions today as a result of the marital difficulties of its rich member, Sebastian S. Kresge.

Many members of the church are reported to have demanded that the millionaire be dropped from membership rolls, following the action of a jury this week in finding the wealthy Detroitier guilty on six counts of adultery on charges preferred by Mrs. Doris Mercer Kresge.

When the case was heard here, detectives testified they followed Kresge from the church to his love nest with Gladys Adele Fish. According to the Rev. Ralph W. Sockman, pastor of the church, action may be taken to drop Kresge's name from the membership rolls.

TO KEEP THE MONEY
Washington, Feb. 8.—The Anti-Saloon League has no intention of returning to S. S. Kresge, multi-millionaire prohibitionist, the $500,000 which he recently gave the league for propaganda work in advancement of the dry cause, according to F. Scott McBride, head of the organization.

Rev. Boylan Democrat of New York, demanded in Congress yesterday that the gift be returned as "tainted money" because of revelations that Kresge's love nest and drinking parties contained in Mrs. Kresge's divorce action in New York.

"Of course we are not going to return it," said McBride.

"DAWN" LOCATED ODD MESSAGE

Paterson, N. J., Man Says Grayson Plane Was Found in Northern Canada.

Paterson, N. J., Feb. 8.—Mrs. Francis W. Grayson's plane, the Dawn, which disappeared last December off the New England coast while enroute from Long Island to Newfoundland, is reported to have been found in Canada.

Edward Koehler of this city, whose brother Fred was the motor expert aboard the plane, declared today he had information indicating that the Dawn had been found in the Atibitibi region of Northern Canada. He declined to give any further details until the report had been investigated.

Koehler was questioned by newspapermen after it was discovered that he had sent a telegram to a woman in Boston saying: "Dawn Located." The name of the woman was not learned.

FOUR OFFICERS OF SECRET ARMY NOW FACE DEATH

Accused of Killing Others For Betraying Secrets of Germany's Great "Black Reichswehr."

Berlin, Feb. 8.—Two non-commissioned officers and two other officers of Germany's secret army, the "Black Reichswehr," have been lodged in death cells in the "murderers' tier" of Plötzensee prison, near Berlin, following the refusal of the German Supreme Court to overturn their conviction on the charge of killing fellow soldiers in forestal betrayal of the secrets of the army, it was learned today.

The "Black Reichswehr" was organized with the consent of the German government and the active support of the ministry of defense, during the critical inflation years of

HICKMAN JURORS CLOSELY GUARDED

Letters Received Threat- ening Whole Court If the Fox Is Not Convicted.

Los Angeles, Calif., Feb. 8.—"My God, look at my little girl." Pathos, grim, masked, approached the stage in the Marlon Parker court drama today as an anguished father prepared to repeat his tragic lines.

"My God, look at my little girl," the horrified father of Marlon Parker shrieked on that night when he took in his arms the dead thing which had been his living daughter.

Perry M. Parker, seeking justice, awaited his time today to come into the courtroom where William Edward Hickman is on trial for kidnaping and murder, to tell of his sufferings.

He had not laid his eyes upon Hickman since the night he paid for Marlon's mutilated body with a handful of $20 bills.

Last of the witnesses, the father was among the last of the state's witnesses remaining to be called as Hickman's trial, which has turned into a sanity hearing, neared its close.

County Autopsy Surgeon A. F. Wagner, who knew Marlon as a little friend, was another of the remaining witnesses.

Outside the courtroom, danger stalked as the hour approached when the jury of four women and eight men must decide whether Hickman was sane or crazy when he stole and slew the 12-year-old schoolgirl.

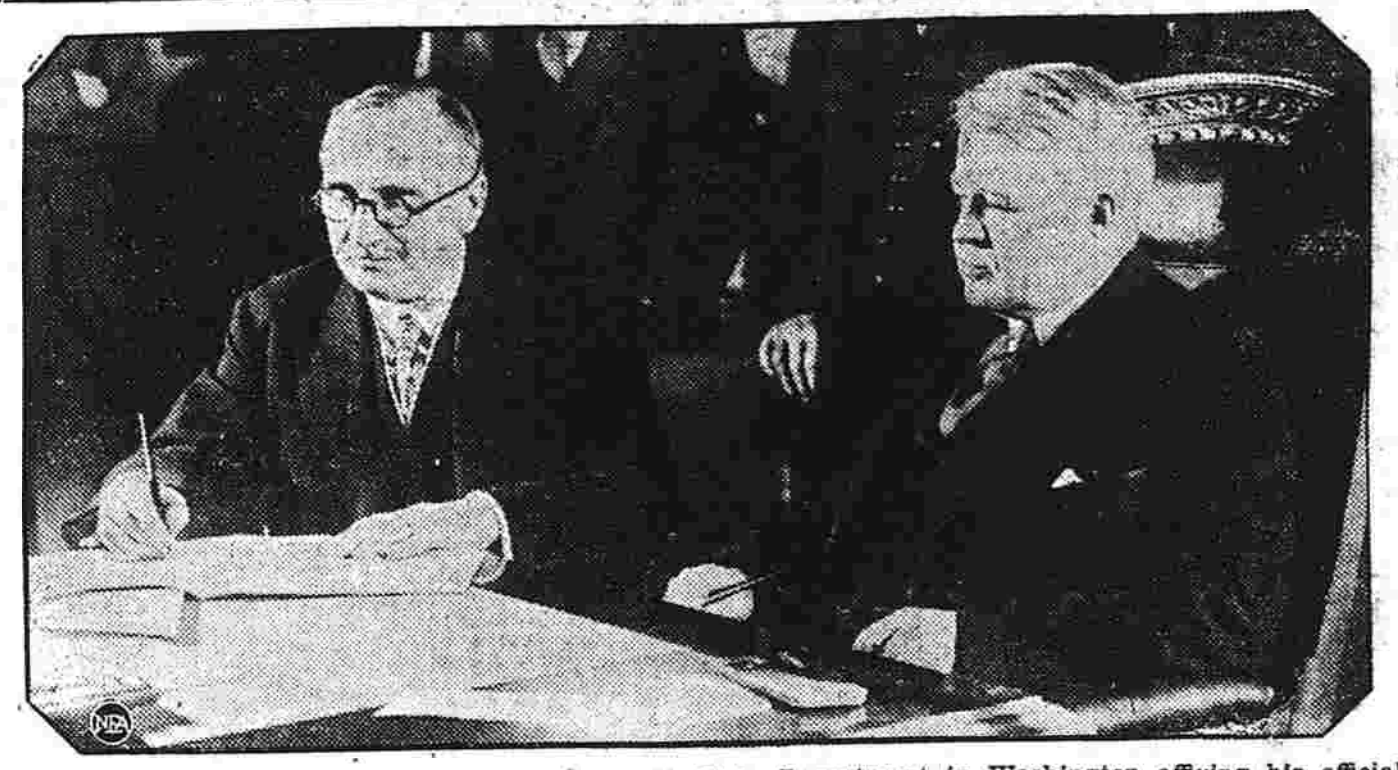

Threats of violence menaced the lives of the judge and jury alike no matter what the outcome of the trial.

Guarding Jurors.
The jurors, unaware of the lurking danger, were being doubly guarded following an anonymous threat to "blow up the whole bunch" if Hickman escaped the extreme penalty for his crime.

The menacing letter, although attributed to an irresponsible author, reached the hands of Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco, whose own life has been threatened if Hickman is not sentenced to hang.

District Attorney Asa Keyes, however, has been threatened with death if Hickman is convicted.

Signing the Franco-American Arbitration Treaty

Ambassador Paul Claudel is pictured here at the State Department in Washington affixing his official signature to the new Franco-American arbitration treaty. Watching from the right is Under Secretary of State Robert E. Olds, who signed for us in the absence of Secretary Kellogg. The pact, replacing the expiring Root covenant of 1908, pledges the two countries to submit their differences to arbitration before resorting to war and formally recognizes our Monroe Doctrine.

Has Cancer Been Beaten?

GARDNER TO BOOST REED'S CANDIDACY

U. S. Public Health Service Reports It Has Cured Dread Disease In Chickens and Mice.

Washington, Feb. 8.—Delving into the mysteries of a little known band in the spectrum of radiant energy—the extremely high frequency electric oscillations even more rapid than the ultra-violet rays—the United States Public Health Service is conducting a research that may one day give the world an actual cure for cancer.

Chickens, white mice, rabbits and certain forms of plant life, placed in a field of electrical influence which oscillates high frequency waves, have been treated successfully and apparently cured of tumors, Dr. A. M. Stimson, laboratory at Boston by Dr. J. W. Schereschewsky.

Congress has been asked to appropriate sufficient funds to continue these remarkable experiments, being conducted in a government laboratory at Boston by Dr. J. W. Schereschewsky.

Not Ready Yet
"This treatment never has been applied to human beings," Dr. Stimson said. "The public health service wants to hold out no false hopes at this time. There is yet a long process of scientific and medical research ahead of us before we dare treat the human being with high frequency oscillations of electricity."

But it is an interesting field of electrical phenomenon that is under investigation. Results have been obtained in small animals. It is incumbent upon the investigators to continue, in the hope that some day the treatment may be applied in the treatment of human growths and cancers.

How It's Used
Vacuum tube oscillators capable of generating frequency currents from 200,000,000 to 500,000,000 cycles per second, are used in the experiments. Mice or fowl, afflicted with tumors, are placed in an electrical field between two condenser plates, to and from which oscillate electrical waves at incredible speed.

In a recent experiment with chickens two died from too intensive exposure to the oscillations and one recovered from the effects of the tumor which disappeared as a result of the treatment. In the case of white mice there was a fairly large percentage of recoveries.

The high frequency waves apparently have the tendency of drying up the tumor, before attacking the surrounding normal cells, tests are being made to determine the exact frequency to be employed and the length of exposure.

CHOIR GIRL MAKES GRAND OPERA 'HIT'

Southern Miss Gets 28 Cur- tain Calls At Her Debut In New York.

New York, Feb. 8.—Miss Grace Moore, Tennessee girl who made her debut with the Metropolitan Opera Company yesterday in "La Boheme," was hailed by nearly every musical critic in New York today as an opera singer of high talent and great promise. Practically all the metropolitan critics united in declaring that the former musical comedy performer's voice is a true lyric soprano, vibrant, fluent and mellow.

One hundred home folks from Jellico, Tenn., where Miss Moore's relatives, paid affectionate homage to the new star. They came north on the "Grace Moore Special."

"It was the greatest event in my life," the singer declared. "Of course, I was a bit nervous at first, but I felt better as it went on."

Miss Moore got 28 curtain calls. Floral tributes were heaped high on the stage.

Otto H. Kahn, financier, who brought Miss Moore to the attention of the Metropolitan Opera management, was jubilant over her successful debut.

"Only the glorious southland could produce such a voice," he said. "She is another star."

Gat Casazza, general manager of the Metropolitan, was also enthusiastic.

"She was glorious, glorious!" he exclaimed.

LATE CZAR'S DAUGHTER ARRIVES IN NEW YORK

Says She Is Only One of Im- perial Family Who Escaped Massacre.

New York, Feb. 8.—Mme. Anastasia Tchikovsky, 26, who asserts she is the Grand Duchess Anastasia Nikolaevna, the youngest daughter of the late Czar Nicholas of Russia and the only one who escaped when the imperial family was put to death at Ekaterinburg, Siberia, in July, 1918, arrived in New York today aboard the Berengaria.

She was one of the 1,015 passengers aboard the ship who had been held up for hours by a dense fog that enveloped the harbor. She will be the guest of Mrs. William B. Leeds, the former Princess Xenia, while in the United States. Mrs. Leeds is among those who believe Mme. Tchikovsky's story, as do several members of the old Russian aristocracy.

WATKINS and THE HERALD TRIUMPH TOGETHER

Watkins Brothers advertised in yesterday's Herald that 26 bridge lamps would go on sale this morning at 8:30 at $1.59 each.

At 9:15 this morning every one of the lamps had been sold. This in spite of the fact that it was stormy and walking was difficult. If the firm had 36 more of the lamps they would have been sold just as quickly.

Because of the storm Watkins Brothers broke one of their rules and took orders for more lamps at the same price, so that those who reached the store late because of the wet, icy pavements were not disappointed.

Watkins Brothers know that The Herald as an advertising medium in Manchester can't be beat. They have proved it to their own satisfaction repeatedly.

ANTI-THIRD TERM IN SENATE TODAY

Bill May Be Passed—New Eng- land Politicians Worry Over It.

Washington, Feb. 8.—With the whole political world watching the Senate was ready today to go on record endorsing the anti-third term tradition, which wars from the White House any president after two terms of service.

The La Follette resolution, declaring against third terms and specifically urging President Coolidge to "observance of this precedent," was the Senate's unfinished business with a vote looming before tonight. A little group of Senators from the New England states fought the resolution as an unfriendly gesture toward his being "drafted" for another term and sought to have it referred to the Senate Judiciary committee for further consideration.

Its adoption was looked upon as dealing a deathblow to hopes of some Republican leaders that the President will be "drafted" by the Kansas City convention.

SMITH CASE REVIVED.

New York, Feb. 8.—New York police started out again today in search of Miss Frances St. John Smith, missing Smith college freshman, after a woman reported she had seen the girl masquerading in men's clothes.

Miss Mollie Begman, of Brooklyn, said she recognized the vanished heiress from published photographs while riding on a subway train.

DITCHES FULL OF AUTOS IN SKID STORM

Worst Driving Ever Known Hereabouts Results In Countless Accidents, Few Of Them Serious.

Sleet and rain that froze on reaching the ground brought about a road condition last night that motorists term the worst in the history of Manchester, or at least since the use of automobiles became general. One fatality—the death of Joseph J. Foley, reported elsewhere—resulted from the slippery roads and many more or less minor accidents were reported.

Conditions early in the evening were much worse than they turned out to be later and between the hours of 6 and 8 o'clock automobile drivers took their lives in their hands when they ventured on the slippery roads.

Coventry Road Worst
The highway between Manchester and Coventry was a sheet of ice and it was on this stretch that most of the accidents occurred. The worst of the accidents was that in which Mr. Foley lost his life but there were countless narrow escapes from injury.

In order to lessen the menace of the slippery pavement one of the town highway department trucks went up and down Main street, sanding the roadway and the sidewalks. Even at that, the highway was still dangerous because the rain continued to fall, covering the sand and freezing into a sheet of ice.

On the stretch of highway between Bolton Notch and Manchester a number of cars came to grief. A Buick car driven by Mrs. L. T. Wood of this town crashed into the store at the Notch while it was in a skid and out of the control of the driver. Then another car, following crashed into Mrs. Wood's car.

At this same point a big Cadillac car skidded into the fence to avoid a collision with a team of horses that blocked the road, and another automobile went through the fence, down the embankment and ended up on the railroad tracks, far down in the cut. The car was not damaged and the driver was not hurt. He managed to drive his car off the track and continued on his way.

Nigger Hill a Steep Grade
Nigger Hill, a steep grade a short distance east of the Manchester line in Bolton, was the scene of a number of skidding accidents. At least 12 cars were in trouble on the grade at one time, having skidded from the highway either to the fence on the north side of the road or against the embankment on the south side.

Some wise drivers who approached the hill from the east turned back and drove through to Manchester on the dirt road which almost parallels the state highway. These were few, however, and most of the drivers who went down the hill trusted to luck.

Brakes were useless for when they were applied the cars skidded

LAKE WARNS NAVY ON BANNING SUBS

Says Senate and House Are Falling Easily For British Propaganda.

Millford, Conn., Feb. 8.—Simon Lake, inventor, consulting engineer and former submarine builder, today made public a copy of a letter he has sent to the House and Senate naval committees protesting the alleged efforts of certain of England's diplomats to have the submarine disbarred as a naval weapon, using the S-4 disaster as a means of propaganda toward that end.

Lake wrote that he did not have anything personal to gain in the matter but had the interests of the nation at heart. "I am no longer engaged in building military submarines," he said, "but as I have spent over 37 years in trying to produce a weapon of value to my country and to other small countries against the domination of any more powerful country with a superior fleet, I cannot rest without filing this protest."

Fall for Policy
"I note," he said in his letter to the House and Senate naval committees, "that some of our friends in Congress have again fallen for the policy of our English cousins who are trying to bring about the abolishment of the submarine, which has proven itself to be the best and cheapest means of defense ever yet devised for the protection of any country from invasion, blockade or destruction of coast cities, and have introduced bills which I passed will certainly please Lord Balfour and his diplomatic associates, in that they have 'put one over on Uncle Sam.'"

English Diplomacy
"The English diplomat and propagandist never hesitates to use any means to gain their aim of dominating the naval and merchant marine policy of other nations; and following their usual prejudice they have taken advantage of the nation's sorrow in the loss of the S-4

TWO AUTOS SKID AT SAME PLACE

Both Plunge Into River At Naugatuck and One Wom- an Is Drowned.

Naugatuck, Conn., Feb. 8.—Two automobiles plunged into the Naugatuck river near Cotton Hollow bridge, Union City, today, causing the death of one person by drowning and three other persons to have narrow escapes from the same fate. The victim of one of the accidents was Mrs. Catherine Barmer, of 291 Beachwood avenue, Bridgeport, who was trapped in her car in eight feet of water when the machine, driven by William Barmer, her husband, skidded on a icy highway, went through a guard rail and dropped down a forty-foot bank into the river. Barmer managed to smash through the car on the river bottom and get to shore where he collapsed and was taken to Waterbury hospital.

The undertaking firm of Walter C. Gilnack went to the scene of the accident and secured Mrs. Barmer's body. While the men were at work on this task a car containing Edward Regan, of Naugatuck, and Sterling Selick, of Union City, skidded on the same spot, went through the broken fence, and dropped into the river beside the Barmer car. The Gilnack forces rushed to the rescue of the latest victims and took them to safety.

Dr. Frank J. Tuttle, medical examiner at Union City, investigated this noon and issued a death certificate for Mrs. Barmer in which he gives accidental drowning as the cause of her death.

JOE FOLEY KILLED WHEN TRUCK SKIDS ON SLIPPERY ROAD

Skid Victim

Joseph J. Foley

Ex-Member of Manchester Police Force Meets Tragic Death on Coventry Hill; Truck Overtakes and Pins Him Beneath Wreckage; Death Instantaneous; Was Well Known and Popular Throughout Town.

Joseph J. Foley, for five years a member of the Manchester Police department, was killed early last night when a small Dodge truck he was driving, skidded and overturned on the east brim of the Coventry "twin hills." Mr. Foley, who was 35 years old last May, was returning from driving some friends to their home in Coventry.

The accident was the result of the icy condition of the road. The ton-and-a-half truck, which had no chains on its wheels, was a total wreck. When it skidded and overturned as Foley was about to drive down the hill in front of the home of John E. Wright, the front occupant of the machine was pinned beneath. The car turned completely over.

Hears the Crash
Mr. Wright was eating supper at the time. He heard the crash and both he and his son Merton hurried out to the scene. Efforts to extricate the injured man from the wreckage proved fruitless until the aid of neighbors and passing motorists was obtained. Mr. Foley was removed an hour before the car was righted. Mr. Foley, however, is not believed to have suffered any pain. Death is believed to have been almost instantaneous. The body was removed to Quish's undertaking rooms as soon as permission was given.

The news of Mr. Foley's tragic death, coming as it does, so soon after the loss of several other prominent Manchester persons, was a distinct shock. Nearly everyone in Manchester knew Mr. Foley, either through the express business in which he was engaged for many years or during the five years which he served as a patrolman. In addition, Mr. Foley made many friends at the Rainbow Dance Inn in Bolton where he served as a constable ever since the place was started by Frank L. Pinney nearly two years ago.

Taking Friend's Home
When the accident occurred at 6:15 last night, Mr. Foley was returning from taking Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heckler, of Bolton, to their home in Coventry. Mr. Heckler is chief at the Rainbow Inn. Both Mr. and Mrs. Heckler were deeply shocked when they learned of his death soon after he had driven them home.

But nowhere was the shock so acute as at the Foley home on 131 Center street. A priest was called to break the news to Mrs. Foley, who before her marriage was Miss Agnes K. Brown. The Foleys have two sons, both old enough to realize the tragedy. They are Joseph, Jr., 10 years old, and Louis, 8 years old. A brother of the victim is James W. Foley, well known north end constable. Another brother, Cornelius, was drowned at Coventry Lake two years ago last July.

Mr. Foley was born in Manchester and had lived at 52 Pearl street practically all of his life. Six months ago he sold the property and removed his family to 131 Center street, where the funeral services will be held on Friday morning at 10 o'clock. A solemn requiem mass will be read at 11 o'clock in St. James church at 29 o'clock. Burial will be in the family plot in St. Bridget's cemetery. The remains may be viewed at the Foley home tonight or tomorrow.

POLICE ARE SEEKING BOSTON PYROMANIAC

Two Boys Confess They Set Two Churches Afire—Six Other Fires Started.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 8.—Despite the alleged confessions to police of two boys that they set two of the eight incendiary fires in South Boston church and schools, police and fire authorities today expressed the belief that a pyromaniac was still at large.

While the boys were alleged by police to be telling their stories, fires were reported in the church of Our Lady of the Rosary and in St. Peter's Lithuanian church.

Late a South Boston druggist reported to police that a man entered his store and requested treatment for burned hands. The druggist furnished the police with a good description of the man.

According to police, Francis Femiano, 7, admitted firing a Baptist church in South Boston. The fire loss was $85,000. Patrick McDonough, 14, police said, confessed to setting fire to St. Peter and Paul's parochial school, endangering the lives of 850 students and 35 sisters of Notre Dame in the adjoining convent.

FORD ASKED TO HELP LITTLE HOME OWNERS

Descendants of Original Set- tlers Claim All Sudbury Titles Are Illegal.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 8.—The possibility loomed today that Henry Ford may lead the fight of the "Little Home Owners" against the "Descendants of the Proprietors of Sudbury Plantation," the latter claiming that all titles to estates are illegal unless they revert to the original pre-revolutionary charter.

The question of putting the case up to Mr. Ford, as owner of Wayside Inn, will probably be voted on at a special town meeting called for that purpose.

In the meantime, everybody is looking up his family tree, for all have declared themselves to be "direct descendants of the proprietors of Sudbury Plantation."

Warren Weatherhead and others claim that all titles to 1,700 acres of land within the town are faulty, and belong to them, as "direct descendants of the proprietors of Sudbury Plantation."

LOWER POSTAL RATES

Restoration of the lower 1921 rates on second class matter, newspapers and magazines, was recommended to the House post office committee today by Harry S. New, postmaster general.

In a letter he endorsed the Grist bill proposing the change on which Joseph Stewart, executive assistant to New, estimated that publishers would save $3,000,000 in 1929 if the rates become effective.

Self-Serve Grocery Celebrates Birthday With Pure Food Fair

Eighth Anniversary of Hale's Model Food Department Occasion For Big Demonstrations and Exhibit.

Bring every man, woman and child living in Providence, New England's second city, to Manchester as guests of every man, woman and child living here and you will have over 300,000 people. Find a spot somewhere near here, about five times as big as the Manchester Country club's golf course, and you probably would be able to accommodate the throng with standing room. A pretty big crowd, you would say—four times bigger than the biggest crowd that ever saw a Yale football game in the bowl, three times as big a crowd as ever saw a football game in this country!

Yet a crowd just about that size visited Hale's Self-Serve Grocery and Health Market last year!

This throng of buyers, careful shoppers, bought a little over a ton and a half of butter at the Self-Serve—1,400 pounds of one brand alone!—in one week!

These 300,000 visitors bought and paid for:

- Half a million cups of coffee!
- Over 25 tons of cookies!
- Over 70,000 cakes of soap!
- One Saturday the visitors at Hale's Self-Serve bought over 800 cases of Campbell's beans over 800 cases of Campbell's soups are sold at Hale's.
- Over 1,800 loaves of Hale's eight-cent bread are sold every week.
- Over 700 pounds of confectionery.
- Over 1,000 bushels of native potatoes in one week, and over 500 dozen oranges of one size and brand sold on one Saturday.

These 300,000 guests at Hale's had over 2,000 items to choose from.

Eighth Anniversary
Tomorrow, Friday and Saturday this infant prodigy of big business celebrates its eighth anniversary. The J. W. Hale Company in observing the event is staging another big pure food fair. Attention is called to the full page advertisement of the fair on Page Seven of today's Herald.

This pure food fair will occupy a large area in Hale's basement extending from the Self-Serve grocery through the kitchenware department to the floor where toys were displayed during the Christmas rush. Over a dozen booths have been set up where demonstrations in making, packing and using some of Hale's most famous pure food products will be given free each day from nine in the morning until closing.

Everyone at some time or other has wondered how olives can be packed so neatly in those long narrow bottles. Hale's has brought a young lady from the Sunbeam factory to demonstrate exactly how this is done. This demonstration alone will be worth a visit to the pure food fair. Then there will be a Meadow Gold butter demonstration. Silver Lane pickles, almost a home made product, but nationally known will be given a big display. Puritan hams and bacon will have plenty of tasty samples and anyone who has never tried George Washington Prepared Coffee will be delighted with the one he or she will be given at the fair.

Salad Dressing Display
Those who like salads, anything in which mayonnaise is used, will be interested in seeing how this preparation is made. Fresh eggs and pure oils go into the Select Mayonnaise and the demonstrators will show just how it's done. The National Biscuit Company, world leaders in making fancy cookies, will have a big display as will the manufacturers of La Touraine coffee, acknowledged as New England's best.

One of Hale's biggest sellers in the Self-Serve is the David Harum line of canned vegetables. This concern grows and packs all its own goods. It does not go into other branches of the wholesale grocery business, but simply specializes in growing and canning vegetables. For this reason the David Harum line excels in its particular field. There will also be a demonstration of the Roper gas range line which Hale's carries and a Glaxo cleaner, a marvelous new product for cleaning glassware will be shown.

Cooked Fish.
Most unusual and attractive of all the demonstrations, perhaps, will be that of Hale's Seafood Frosted Fillets. Hale's sells this delightful new sea product exclusively here, and in order that everyone may know just how tasty and fresh these Frosted Fillets are, Chef Urbano Osano will be present to cook and serve samples of this ultra-modern seafood. This and the olive packing demonstration will be the features of the food fair.

Self-Serve grocery stores have not been as successful in the East as they have been in the West and South. But Manchester's Self-Serve seems to be an exception to the rule. It is a compliment to the trading public of Manchester that a well known economist has stated that a community must be well advanced, modern in every way, to support a Self-Serve grocery. Under the Self-Serve system the cost of distribution is practically cut in half. This enables Hale's to offer such attractive prices on staple articles. A glance through the price announcements in Hale's advertisement on Page Seven bears this out.

New Accounting Machine
In order to keep an even closer watch on the stock turnover in the grocery department at Hale's a new automatic accounting machine is soon to be installed. This machine is similar to the tabulating machine used in extracting records from the Cheney pay checks. It was purchased through a local man, Charles Osgury, of Cambridge street, who represents the International Bookkeeping Machine Company, in Southern New England. Mr. Osgury and Frank H. Anderson, Hale's general manager, worked out the system which will give a tabulation of stock statistics any time it is desired.

This stock record control system is not being used in another department store in Connecticut and, according to Mr. Osgury, Hale's will be the only one in the country to use it as extensively as has been planned. Hale's customers will benefit by the installation of this new bookkeeping system. The Self-Serve managers will know exactly how much is being sold of every item. A stock of every item will be kept that exactly equals the regular demand. This improves the grocery turnover so that goods are always fresh. The National Biscuit Company representative has said that because of Hale's accurate stock control cookies will be on sale in the Self-Serve within a comparatively few hours after they are baked.

Other Improvements
The install of this new stock control system is not the only improvement Hale's plans for the Self-Serve department. A more complete line of bulk cookies will be carried enabling customers to get smaller quantities of cookies at one time thus having a constant supply of fresh goods. A different arrangement of the cash register aisles is planned so that customers can pass out of the store more quickly after they have made their purchases. An automatic bulk system will be installed during the next year so that the empty baskets may be returned from the checking tables to the entrances to the department. The shelves containing the Self-Serve stock will be rearranged so that the bottom shelf will be done away with entirely. This will be welcomed by customers who do not like to bend over to select articles

ABOUT TOWN
The Justamere Whist club will meet tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. George W. House of Benton street.

A number of members of the Manchester Garden club went to hear the lecture by Arthur C. Pillsbury at the Town and County club. The affair was under the auspices of the Connecticut Valley Garden club. Mr. Pillsbury is a naturalist and the official photographer of the Yosemite National park. He gave an interesting talk on "Wild Flowers of the Rockies" with many illustrated lantern slides.

Mrs. Bertha B. Hillson of Cambridge street is in Gardner, Mass. to attend the funeral tomorrow of her father-in-law.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Stoughton have moved from Starkweather street to New Britain. Mrs. Stoughton's former home.

The Ladies Sewing circle of the Concordia Lutheran church will meet for work tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Arthur Seymour is chairman of the committee in charge of the supper which will be served at the North Methodist church tonight to all those who are to engage in the "every member canvass."

BIRDS ARRIVE FOR POULTRY EXHIBIT
Judging to Be Done Tomorrow Morning By F. O. Groesbeck Of Hartford.

Entries for the seventh annual exhibit of the Manchester Poultry Association at the north end will be received until closing time, it was stated this morning.

Judging will be done by F. O. Groesbeck of Hartford who runs a big hen farm in Vernon. He will begin his comparisons at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

It is expected that about 200 birds will be on exhibition. About 150 are already in the cages. Among them are some Buff Orpingtons owned by Joseph Carter, White Rocks, by Edward Newton, Rhode Island Reds, by a Plainville man and White Wyandotes by H. J. Klesman.

The show lasts through Friday night.

PUBLIC RECORDS
The following notice of foreclosure of mortgage was filed in the Town Clerk's office this morning: Manchester Realty Company against Charles Rosenwald and David Freedman, North Main street property, in a decision by the Court of Common Pleas, February 6.

Rockville

Manchester Speakers.
Elaborate plans have been made for the annual banquet of the Men's Guild of the St. John's Episcopal church to be held this evening at the church at 7 o'clock. Covers are to be laid for about one hundred. A delicious turkey supper will be served by the Silver Cross Society of the church. Clarence P. Quimby, principal of the Manchester High school and Rev. James Neill of South Manchester have been procured as speakers of the evening.

Notes.
Plans are complete for the annual masquerade ball of the Pythian Sisters at Princess Ballroom, Saturday evening, the 11th and a program of unusual excellence will attract one of the season's largest crowds. Max Kabrick and his orchestra of ten pieces will furnish a concert program and for the dancing to follow. Among other features will be a grand prize march with valuable prizes to the winners. Visiting Pythians from Manchester, Hartford, Thompsonville and other Connecticut cities will attend Saturday evenings affair.

The Children of Mary will hold a Valentine social in I. O. O. F. Hall this evening at 8 o'clock.

The Rockville Athletic Association will hold a public whist at their home on East Main street Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

The Rockville K. of C. Bazaar will open Thursday evening in K. of C. Hall, Prescott block. The hall will be decorated and numerous booths are sure to please the public.

A large crowd are planning to attend the basketball game between Al Days Aces and the Willington star team this evening in Willington.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Mills of Prospect street spent the week-end in Providence.

The American Legion Auxiliary will hold a meeting in G. A. R. Hall this evening.

Miss Gladys Palmer of Union street has been confined to the house with the grippe.

The Past Chiefs Club of Damon Temple were entertained at the home of Mrs. Fred Siegfried on Monday evening. Following the business meeting a musical program which consisted of radio numbers and vocal solos also harmonica selections were enjoyed. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Jennie Bennett of Willimantic has been calling on friends in town. She attended the Cornelia Circle banquet on Monday.

The Ladies Auxiliary A. O. H. will hold a public whist in Foresters Hall on Feb. 14th.

Mrs. Lewis Skinner of Vernon will entertain the Neighborhood Club Thursday afternoon.

SHOOTS WOMAN AND FLEES
New Haven, Conn., Feb. 8.—Joseph De Muro, 40, successfully eluded local police after he had shot and slightly injured Mrs. Josephine Emmett, a local factory worker, as she was going home from work last evening. De Muro is to be charged with assault with intent to kill. He fired three shots at Mrs. Emmett, one striking here in the left leg and fracturing it in two places. De Muro had invited the woman to spend the evening at a party and she declined, according to police. Then the man shot her and ran away. A police guard was put about the man's house at 3 Vernon street shortly after the shooting and has been maintained there since.

LEFT LARGE ESTATE
Nauvauk, Conn., Feb. 8.—Harriet Whittemore, local manufacturer and banker who died in November, left an estate valued at $6,161,992.61, according to the inventory filed in Probate Court here today. The estate includes real estate, stocks, bonds and mortgages, life insurance, automobiles and cash.

4-YEAR BIRTHDAYS ARE COMMON HERE

Only One 29th of February In 20 Years Has Failed to Greet a Newcomer.

Birthdays at intervals of four years seem to hold no terrors for Manchester people. It was learned through a study of birth statistics for the past 20 years in this town that only one February 29th in that time has not had a birth. Kenneth Albert Jackson, son of Selectman Albert Jackson of Winter street, is one of these leap-year babies who celebrates his birthday every four years. The boy was born on February 29, 1924, and has yet to celebrate a birthday. He comes in for one at the end of this month. There were two other children born on that date, Charles J. Garron and Florence Harvareth.

Mary Nerucki was the only leap year baby born in 1920. In 1916, two births on February 29 but 1912 failed to produce one. Back in 1908 there were two.

NO DIVIDENDS
New York, Feb. 8.—The American Sugar Refining Company omitted the quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share on the common stock, due at this time.

Earl Babst, chairman of the company, attributed the passing of the dividend to unfavorable conditions in the sugar trade, complicated by the restrictions placed on Cuban production.

American Sugar Refining common stock broke 11 points in active trading on the Stock Exchange on the above announcement. The stock sold at 56, compared with yesterday's close at 67.

ROCKVILLE MATING

The yellow newspapers have seized on the decision of a Rockville white girl to marry a Negro as constituting the kind of material best suited to the making of a yellow newspaper sensation. The girl is loudly touted as of Mayflower descent and kin of General Lyons of Civil War fame. The only way in which the Negro counts is in being a Negro.

It is not against the laws of the state of Connecticut for a white girl to marry a Negro. There are a good many people who think it ought to be, but the fact remains that it isn't. If a Rockville girl wants to marry a Negro, or a girl from any other town in any state where the thing is not forbidden by statute wants to marry a Negro, that is her affair and the Negro's. One may have an opinion concerning the wisdom of such a marriage—even of its potential effects on society. But he has no God-given right to thrust that opinion upon either party to the arrangement.

Nor, as far as we can see, does it cut the slightest figure whether the white bride of a Negro is descended from Mayflower ancestors or not, or whether a distant relative was a general in the war of the Rebellion. It may be safely assumed that the generals of the Rebellion have posthumously acquired relatives, by this time, who are fools. Some of the Mayflower passengers had had plenty of such descendants long ago. If it is a foolishness, even, to some folks, a repugnant thing, for a white woman to marry a Negro, it is certainly no more foolish because her forebears have lived in America for six or seven generations than if they had remained in England or Sweden until a few years ago.

So long as the law permits mixed marriages we fall to see this Rockville culmination as being of more than minor interest of a not particularly pleasant kind. But it has served to produce screaming headlines in some of the yellows—and to show how very little it takes to set a tabloid to yelling.

GILLETTS AWAKENING

There is considerable puzzlement as to the unwarned and unexpected action of Senator Frederick H. Gillett of Massachusetts in presenting, at this particular time, a resolution suggesting to President Coolidge that he make renewed attempts to negotiate entrance by the United States into the World Court. Senators and others wonder how it comes that the senior senator from Massachusetts, who has led a most retired life since he became a member of the upper body, should break out in this special point at what many believe to be a singularly inappropriate time.

To our mind the Gillett stampede doesn't seem so very strange. Mr. Gillett went into the Senate with every reasonable expectation of cutting considerable figure there. He had been speaker of the House for a number of years, and an admirable one. He was entering the patriarchal class, but in the full of his mental powers. He was a good Coolidge man—which his expected colleague to be, Henry Cabot Lodge, was not. But Senator Lodge died five days after the election of 1924, when Gillett had defeated David I. Walsh for re-election. And on the day after Lodge's funeral William M. Butler was appointed as senator in his place, pending the next state election in 1925.

When Congress convened the next March there was much surprise to find that Butler, though a mere appointee, had assumed the position of Senate spokesman for the President, and of general all-around boss. Gillett, too dignified to engage in a scramble of the sort of preferment that Butler had grabbed, quietly obliterated himself. Objection apparently had become a habit and when, in 1925, the Democrat Walsh knocked off Mr. Butler as a further senatorial figure, the able Gillett continued to sit in more or less stately silence.

His sudden determination to re-purport the World Court, if he can, is probably not a political move at all, but a yielding to an aroused impatience with his own passive part in a Senate in which he had a right to expect to shine with a reasonable degree of effluence. Mr. Gillett is a World Court man. He is getting old. He will not, probably, serve another term. If he can identify himself with a successful effort to take the United States into that court as an adherent, he will consider no doubt that his career has been well rounded. And why shouldn't he make his move at this time as well as at another? Must he sit all day in the Senate, every day, and listen to the personal oratory of Heflin and Willis? May he not try to get the Senate to do something worth the doing? We wish him luck.

MISPLACED

How far afield our government organization sometimes strays in the allocation of duties to its various departments is illustrated by the fact that the War Department is an important factor in the Ware and Swift rivers affair. When the state of Massachusetts proposed to seize the waters of these two tributaries of the Connecticut, in entire indifference to the effect of such operation on the well being of this neighborhood, the matter obviously became a proper subject for federal intervention, the issue being between two member states of the Union. But how and wherein the problem falls within the scope of the War Department is a puzzling one to the average citizen, when we have both an Interior Department and a Department of Commerce.

Once upon a time, because the War Department had little to do, and because the navigable rivers of the country fell within the purview of military strategists, the rivers then being in many cases principal arteries of transportation, control of such navigable inland waters was turned over to that department. From that position of regarding the rivers as possible avenues for the movement of troops, we have come by gradual steps to the point where the War Department has the right to grant or withhold permits to take water of streams that are not navigable at all, for purposes that have no more to do with military operations than with farming on the other side of the moon.

No stretch of imagination can make a military authority the proper one to decide whether or not Boston shall rob Connecticut of the Ware and Swift river flowage. It is a problem of public health and economics and has nothing in the world to do with the movement of troops. One good result of this aquable could be the transfer of these inland water problems to a department better equipped to handle them.

VERMONT'S HEAD UP

New England as a whole never did so much for Vermont, in the way of flood relief, that its newspapers shouldn't at least be glad to give publicity to an announcement by Governor Weeks of the Green Mountain state, that Vermont is now ready for business and can take care of it promptly and efficiently.

"With very few exceptions, and those mostly small and unimportant," says the governor, "Vermont manufacturers and jobbers are prepared to receive orders and make deliveries without delay. All main railroad lines, with one exception, are functioning with normal efficiency, and I am informed that within a few days this exception will be removed. In short, a week or ten days at most will see main railroad transportation completely restored. "By spring or early summer those visiting Vermont will find safe and comfortable traveling to every part of the state. Hotels, camps and private houses are already prepared to entertain them. . . . Highways have been restored so far as to permit access to every point in Vermont and there are no more isolated communities for lack of transportation."

If tourists bring prosperity—and they undoubtedly do to some extent—then Vermont ought to thrive this summer. It is one of the most delightful touring countries on earth anyhow, and doubtless thousands of New Englanders will be disposed, this summer, to visit the scenes of so much heroism, so much courageously born suffering. It will be something like visiting a battlefield where our kinsmen won a splendid victory.

CHURCH DRAMA

We confess to a lively interest in the plan under formation by the Church of the Redeemer in Hartford to give intelligently produced church drama occasionally in place of the usual Sunday evening services at that church. The experiment is one which will appeal to those who believe that the stage is capable of reading lessons of spiritual value more impressively than they can be administered in almost any other way.

Just why one of the most effective mediums for reaching the hearts of mankind should be rejected by the church and yielded over largely to the exploitation of sheer

FACTS ABOUT CONNECTICUT

(60) Surgical Appliances; Cotton Small Wares

Connecticut ranks third in the manufacture of surgical appliances and cotton small wares (elastic webbing, belting, etc.)

From a small output in 1900 valued at $19,000, the manufacture of surgical appliances has grown to an annual output worth $2,230,865, or 4% of the total value of the product in this industry for all states. The 1900 percentage was only 43. This industry for all states. The 1900 percentage was only 43. This industry for all states. The 1900 percentage was only 43.

Eighteen per cent of the cotton small wares produced in the United States comes from 16 Connecticut plants which have an output valued at $13,640,898. An adjoining New England state—Rhode Island—leads in the value of this product, her 66 factories having an annual output valued at $17,845,463. Pennsylvania ranks second, her product being worth $14,063,164. Massachusetts comes fourth, her mills turning out goods worth $12,373,788. Three thousand persons are engaged in this industry in Connecticut. Their pay amounts to more than $3,000,000 annually. Materials cost manufacturers of cotton small wares in Connecticut $7,144,000 yearly.

Tomorrow—Connecticut Acres Are Valuable.

sensualists it is not easy to understand. The drama in past ages stood for something more than mere entertainment. To be sure it stands for something more than that even today, in rare and exceptional instances. But it has been almost wholly neglected by the church—and who knows but it might prove to be the most powerful weapon of all in the hands of organized religion.

PSYCHIATRIC

Speaking of psychiatric cases, consider that of Representative Boylan of New York, who suggested that, in view of the qualities in S. S. Kresge disclosed by his wife's successful divorce suit, the Anti-Saloon League turn back to the Five-and-Ten man, as tainted, the half million dollars he recently gave it. "Try and get it," says the League, Mr. Boylan now stands, attorney that display of imaginative lunacy, in an excellent position to get away with murder.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

New York, Feb. 8.—Scattered leaves from a week's notebook. . . . Backstage to call upon Robert Young and found there a merry party congratulating him on his portrayal of the ineffectual king in "The Queen's Husband," which is Robert Sherwood's little joke on Queen Marie's visit to America. . . . And there was Gilbert Selles, an erudite essayist and his wife, and John Farrar, who used to edit crossword puzzles, and Al Wood's son and some others. . . . And found Mons. Young proudly displaying the "property" medals he has to wear on his costume. . . . And among those present was a young man who had come from Rumania in a reportorial capacity to "cover" Queen Marie's trip and who related some amusing tales, which might be unethical to relate out of school. . . . And wandering down Broadway, became enthralled with the antics of a burlesqued gent, who probably hails from the Bronx. He was doing some very grand card tricks and such, until a small boy demanded to know whether he could "do the one with the four aces and the four kings. . . . And for the first time in my life I found that a "pitch" man can be fussed. . . . Arriving at the office of my daily toll, I found there Ben Lucien Burman, who writes serials and stories and such, waiting to bid me goodbye. . . . And he told me of how Evelyn Scott, the novelist, had rented him a house on an oasis in the desert, about 200 miles from nowhere, and in a city where life went on as it had hundreds of years ago and where you could not venture outside the walls without a guard because of the bands of roving brigands. . . . And walking to the window, and thinking of the wear and tear of life in this metropolis, I grew so envious that I could have slain him then and there, finally expressing the desire that he get full of French wine some day and wander outside the walls without a guard. . . . Thus, dejectedly, out into the street again where I came upon those movie-looking guards for the American Express wagons, all standing with drawn guns at the corner of 42nd and Broadway. . . . And, around the corner, saw two plain clothes detectives trailing a famous "dip." . . . Watched the autos crash just under the Sixth Avenue elevated, and came upon two women trying to pull each other's hair out in the Library square. . . . Whereupon, I decided that perhaps New York was not so unadventurous a place. . . .

You can never tell about the "off-stage" affairs of Broadway's prominent folk. At a public gathering the other night—one of those Broadway "fest-monial" dinners, two famous black-face comedians lauded each other in public speeches and then all but fell into each other's arms. Yet they had not spoken to each other for months. A typical

MUST RELEASE OHIO BOY FROM KANSAS PRISON

Lansing, Kansas.—An eighteen-year-old Ohio boy, convicted of murdering a chum in this state, 1924, has been such a problem for Kansas authorities that his release from further punishment is believed likely.

Harold Bowsler, at the age of fifteen, left his home at Circleville, Ohio, presumably to "see the world." Reaching Barton county, in central Kansas, the Ohio youth engaged in a fist fight with a "touring companion," on the Santa Fe railroad's right-of-way.

Bowsler hit his friend, knocking him directly in the path of an approaching train. The boy was run over and killed. A jury in the Kansas county decided the Ohioan had knocked the other lad in front of the train purposely.

Today, the state penitentiary, holds Bowsler here without legal right. Originally sentenced to a state industrial school, the Buckeye youth caused officials of the school so much trouble that he was transferred to the state reformatory.

From the latter institution, he was brought to the penitentiary here, without even the formality of a sentence. This move was followed by a sanity hearing, at which Bowsler was declared insane, thus giving the state legal right to confine him in the insanity ward of the penitentiary.

Pronounced Sane Recently, however, the state sanity board called Bowsler before it, and after a careful examination the youth was pronounced perfectly sane.

Now, Bowsler, eighteen years of age, is too old to be sent back to the Industrial School, and is being held in the penitentiary here without sentence and thus illegally. The matter has been placed before the state board of administration. Bowsler asks that he be freed, and it is the belief of many that the penal doors will swing wide open in acquiescence, to his wish.

INDIANS ARE CELEBRATING MIDWINTER FESTIVAL ON TONAWANDA RESERVATION

Batavia, N. Y.—Among the faithful followers of Ganeyo, the latter day prophet of the Senecas, on the little Tonawanda Indian reservation twelve miles northwest of here, the celebration of Ganayasta, the mid-winter festival and the most elaborate of the several thanksgiving ceremonials of the red man's year, is taking place.

According to ancient custom and legends that have been handed down from the day when the shadow of the Iroquois long house covered the Eastern United States the celebration must take place while "Niskowukinne Sadegosha" rides the skies, opening five days after the appearance of the moon of midwinter.

Clad in blankets and feathers the Uncle Big Heads assemble at the long house at dawn to open the seven day festival with visits to the lodges of the tribesmen.

Rheumatic Pains All Gone In Five Days
Magnell Drug Co. Invites Every Sufferer to Try Wonder-Working Formula on Money Back Plan.

It's hard for you to believe, perhaps—you folks who have been suffering untold agony from the dull, deadening ache that never seems to leave you—that you can get right here in Manchester a remarkable remedy that will bring lasting relief to your torture.

Don't let any doubts or misgivings hold you back from accepting this generous offer that Magnell Drug Co. South Manchester is making. You aren't risking a single thing to gain a lifetime of release from rheumatic pain, for if this wonder-working formula known as Allenru does not completely rid you of every twinge in 10 days the money you paid will be returned promptly.

Remember in taking Allenru that while the pains are aching themselves speedily go (usually in the first day or two) you should continue its use for several days longer to help get rid of the uric acid poisoning in your system. And remember further, if after taking it for 10 days you are dissatisfied in any way your money is waiting for you.—Adv.

INDIGESTION SPOILS LIFE
How To End Stomach Troubles

Although indigestion may not be chronic with many people, it is surprising how even slight pains or feelings of fullness after eating steal much of life's sparkle and happiness. Perhaps you scarcely notice it in the early stages, but remember indigestion never cures itself and usually gets worse. Be on your guard then.

The safest, surest and easiest way to end indigestion, heartburn or flatulence is to take a little "Pape's Diapepsin" after meals or whenever pain is felt. This quickly stops your discomfort by neutralizing excess stomach acid and preventing fermentation, and at the same time soothes, heals and strengthens your delicate stomach lining.

Get a 60-cent package of "Pape's Diapepsin" today—every druggist sells and recommends it, as a sure remedy for stomach troubles. Don't let indigestion spoil your life—you can't have stomach troubles and "Pape's Diapepsin" too!—adv.

WAPPING

Word has been received here of the death at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, of Asa G. Hills. While visiting his nephew, Wilbur C. Hills here, last September, he was taken with a shock and for a while his recovery was doubtful, but the help of his son, Dr. Henry Hills, to whom he moved to Iowa, Mr. Hills was a native of Connecticut, of Colonial ancestry, born in Glastonbury 85 years ago.

When a young man he attended Phillips Academy and in the year of 1862-1863 he attended the State Normal School at New Britain. Later he taught school in Glastonbury, Bolton and Coventry.

Mr. Hills married Harriett Koeney of South Manchester. He is survived by his three sons and Doctors Henry, Robert, and Herbert, one sister Mrs. Martha Horner and five grandchildren. Besides a number of relatives in Hartford, Glastonbury and Wapping, he leaves two nieces in South Manchester, Mrs. Edward Fish, and Mrs. Emma Nettleton. He lived many years in South Manchester, where his sons were all born, and forty years ago he moved to Iowa.

The South Windsor School Board met at the Center School at Wapping on Monday evening, Feb. 6.

The Federated Sunday School will hold another of its famous socials on Friday evening, February 17. The committee that will have charge of the games is: Walden Collins, Wesley Smith, Howard Bamford, Mrs. Billings and Miss Louise Wentworth. The refreshment committee will be Mrs. Arthur Sharp's Sunday school class.

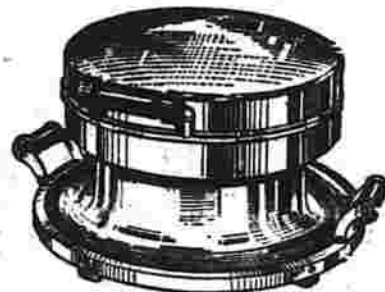

The next meeting of Pomona Grange will be held with East Windsor Grange on Wednesday, February 15.

The annual meeting of the Wapping Creamery Association is called for next Saturday, Feb. 11.

There was a very interesting meeting held at the Federated Church last Sunday evening when Roscoe W. Vining of Hartford spoke on the subject of Temperance and also conducted a question box.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Wednesday, February 8.

Van and Schenck harmony team, will accompany the network listeners to the famed three-day winter carnival at Dartmouth in a program that will go on the air at 7:30 Wednesday night. The winter sports for which New England is famous will be portrayed in music and all the events of the Intercollegiate Winter Sports Union Championships will be fully described for the invisible audience. A short talk on contemporary marriage by Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Lorimer Hale, actress, author and lecturer, is scheduled for broadcast by WJZ at 7:50. Ten minutes later the Sylvania Foresters male quartet, supported by a violinist and vibraphonist, will present a group of popular old-time songs for those who tune in. Blue network station. One of the most interesting programs for the night has been arranged by WTIC for 9 o'clock. This will be an all-Scottish musical recital by the Lovat Pipe band, under the direction of Major Angus Fraser, and Jessie Ferguson, Scotch contralto. WTIC will feature songs by the Chicago Welsh male chorus at 10 and a hockey game between Pittsburgh and the Blackhaws at 10:30.

Program for Wednesday.

6:25-News bulletins. 6:30-Sea Gull Dinner Group. 7:00-Station WCAC will broadcast on this same frequency till 7:30 p. m. 7:30-The Soconyans from N. B. C. 8:00-Jack says, "Ask Me Another!" Two sets of twenty-five questions, designed to let WTIC listeners brush up on matters of current interest, are presented each week through the Travelers station by "Jack the Inquisitor." Questions on history, people and places, and on spelling and pronunciation constitute the weekly radio game, "Ask Me Another?" The game may be played by groups of people or by individuals. When groups play it, the object is to see which person can give a correct oral answer first. When played by individuals, the total score for each set of questions is obtained by multiplying the number of correct answers by four. After asking the question, Jack allows his listeners about ten seconds before he gives the correct answer. This week's program, which will be heard tonight, will include fifty interesting questions. 8:30-L. & H. Air Frolic. 9:00-Correct time. 9:01-Ipana Troubadours from N. B. C. TRY TO LOCATE RADIO TROUBLE HERE SATURDAY

Members of the Radio Interference Locating Committee of the Broadcast Listeners Association of Hartford will be in South Manchester next Saturday evening to locate various forms of radio inductive interference. A number of South Manchester people are now members of the association, among whom are John L. Reinhart. The Hartford Association welcomes additional members from Manchester and agrees that upon the membership list from Manchester reaching the 100 mark, Hartford will assist Manchester in organizing its own association, furnishing the necessary interference locating equipment, necessary in locating interference and in every way possible cooperating with its Manchester friends. Dues in the Hartford Association are $1.00 annually and those who wish to join may send remittance with name and address to V. B. Hatch, secretary, Broadcast Listeners Association, Hartford, Conn. Gas for 1,000 Shop Uses

Gas For Bright Annealing Copper Wire—Does It Better

LEADING wire manufacturers in America have adopted gas for bright annealing copper wire because it results in a better product. Gas affords a steady, unvarying temperature—so necessary in giving the wire uniform anneal. Whatever your industry, there are processes which, likewise, can be done better with gas. And the economies of gas are manifold.

"You Can Do It Better With Gas"

Why tie up capital in a fuel supply? Why "carry over" expensive fires? With gas, no storage space is required—no firemen are needed. There are no ashes to haul away. Moreover, gas is clean, sootless, smokeless, and flexible to the last degree. One of our gas engineers will gladly call and give you the facts. Write today, or telephone 2-0242—you won't be obligated.

Emancipate Yourself from Want

SIXTY-FIVE years ago last month the pen of Abraham Lincoln made all men in the United States free. Slavery and serfdom are now illegal under the constitution.

Yet there are men and women still held in bondage by want and poverty, simply because they neglected to save in times of prosperity.

Money is plentiful today. Times are prosperous, and by depositing a small amount in this bank each week, you can always keep them so, for your multiplied dollars will be constantly working for you.

Our History

Eight years ago this month Manchester was startled by the announcement of a Self-Serve Grocery in Manchester. It was a wild experiment. Conservative New England as a whole did not respond but Manchester, always in the forefront of every movement, made good.

The success of the Self-Serve Grocery Department while open by our own initiative could only have been the success it is because of the cooperation of our good friends and customers. Our Health Market which was opened four years later now does more business per square foot of floor space than any city market that we know of. In many of our advertisements we have referred to our foodstuffs as your Public Pantry.

We carry a very small stock in proportion to our business. The result is that it is always fresh. We average to turn our stock twenty-one or twenty-two times a year.

If you have plenty of money and are not particular what your food costs you; if you prefer to sit at the 'phone and have your merchandise charged, do not come to Hale's. If, however, you appreciate the value of a dollar through the saving of a few pennies here and there on every item you purchase; furthermore, if you appreciate quality, cleanliness and the desire of seeing the food that you eat, then you owe it to yourself to trade at Hale's—MANCHESTER'S PUBLIC PANTRY.

DEMPSEY NOT OUT OF VIEW OF WALSH

Sports Expert Says Those Close to Challenger Are Laughing Over Retirement Tale.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)
New York, Feb. 8.—Disregarding the views of Gene Tunney and Tex Rickard as being so peculiarly adverse to their own game as to merit dismissal, there was a sharp divergence of opinion existing today among the few men who really should know whether Jack Dempsey will fight again or never more. Rickard already has declared him out of something that can't happen for months, just as though Dempsey doesn't change his collar and mind every morning before breakfast.

The situation simply doesn't add up when a promoter admits he is beaten before he starts. Neither do the statements of Tunney, who stands to lose hundreds of thousands of dollars and is bragging about it, or the fact in advance as to prompt suspicion of his motives. Dempsey Not Out The majority opinion among sport writers and boxing men in general is that Dempsey will be in there swinging when the time comes. However, only the opinion of Dempsey's intimates is worthy of consideration and, in this connection, it may be noted that Senator Bill Lyons was around town today blabbing in a fishmonger's whisper that Dempsey was through. The Senator once knew Dempsey well; he doesn't know him at all. But the hook-up comes through Jim Coffroth, who is as close as a handout to the former champion. Lyons has just come east from a visit with Coffroth and, if the Senator says Dempsey is through, then it is probable that Coffroth is the inspiration for the statement. Bill Duffy, who seconded Dempsey against Sharkey and Tunney last year, is another intimate of the ex-champion. He takes the opposite view, and before he realized that he might be committing a faux pas, he wrote a letter from Dempsey in which the latter was supposed to have said that he, Duffy, was to pay no attention to what he read in the newspapers.

Flynn Talks The next exhibit is Leo P. Flynn, who does a piece-work job of managing Dempsey. Flynn now avers that he believes the retirement story but, privately to friends, he has said that the tale should get a place among the works of the late Mr. Assop. Flynn also says that he has received a communication from Dempsey, hard by the retirement story, in which the former was requested to hold himself in readiness either to take over Dempsey's training at Ojai in February or at Orangeburg, N. Y., in June. Publicly, I am informed, Flynn is playing up to the retirement situation because he still is a pretty good ad lib manager and hasn't muffed a cue yet. Coffroth is so close to Dempsey that his views can be taken either on the dumb-bob level or as a studied attempt to play the game for his good friend. But, then, when you get right down to brass thumb screws, there are only two men who can know with absolute certainty what it is all about. They are George L. Rickard and William Harrison Dempsey and I would prefer to eliminate the latter because he has yet to prove that he knows his own mind for a matter of five minutes. He is the only man in the world who gives himself the run-around.

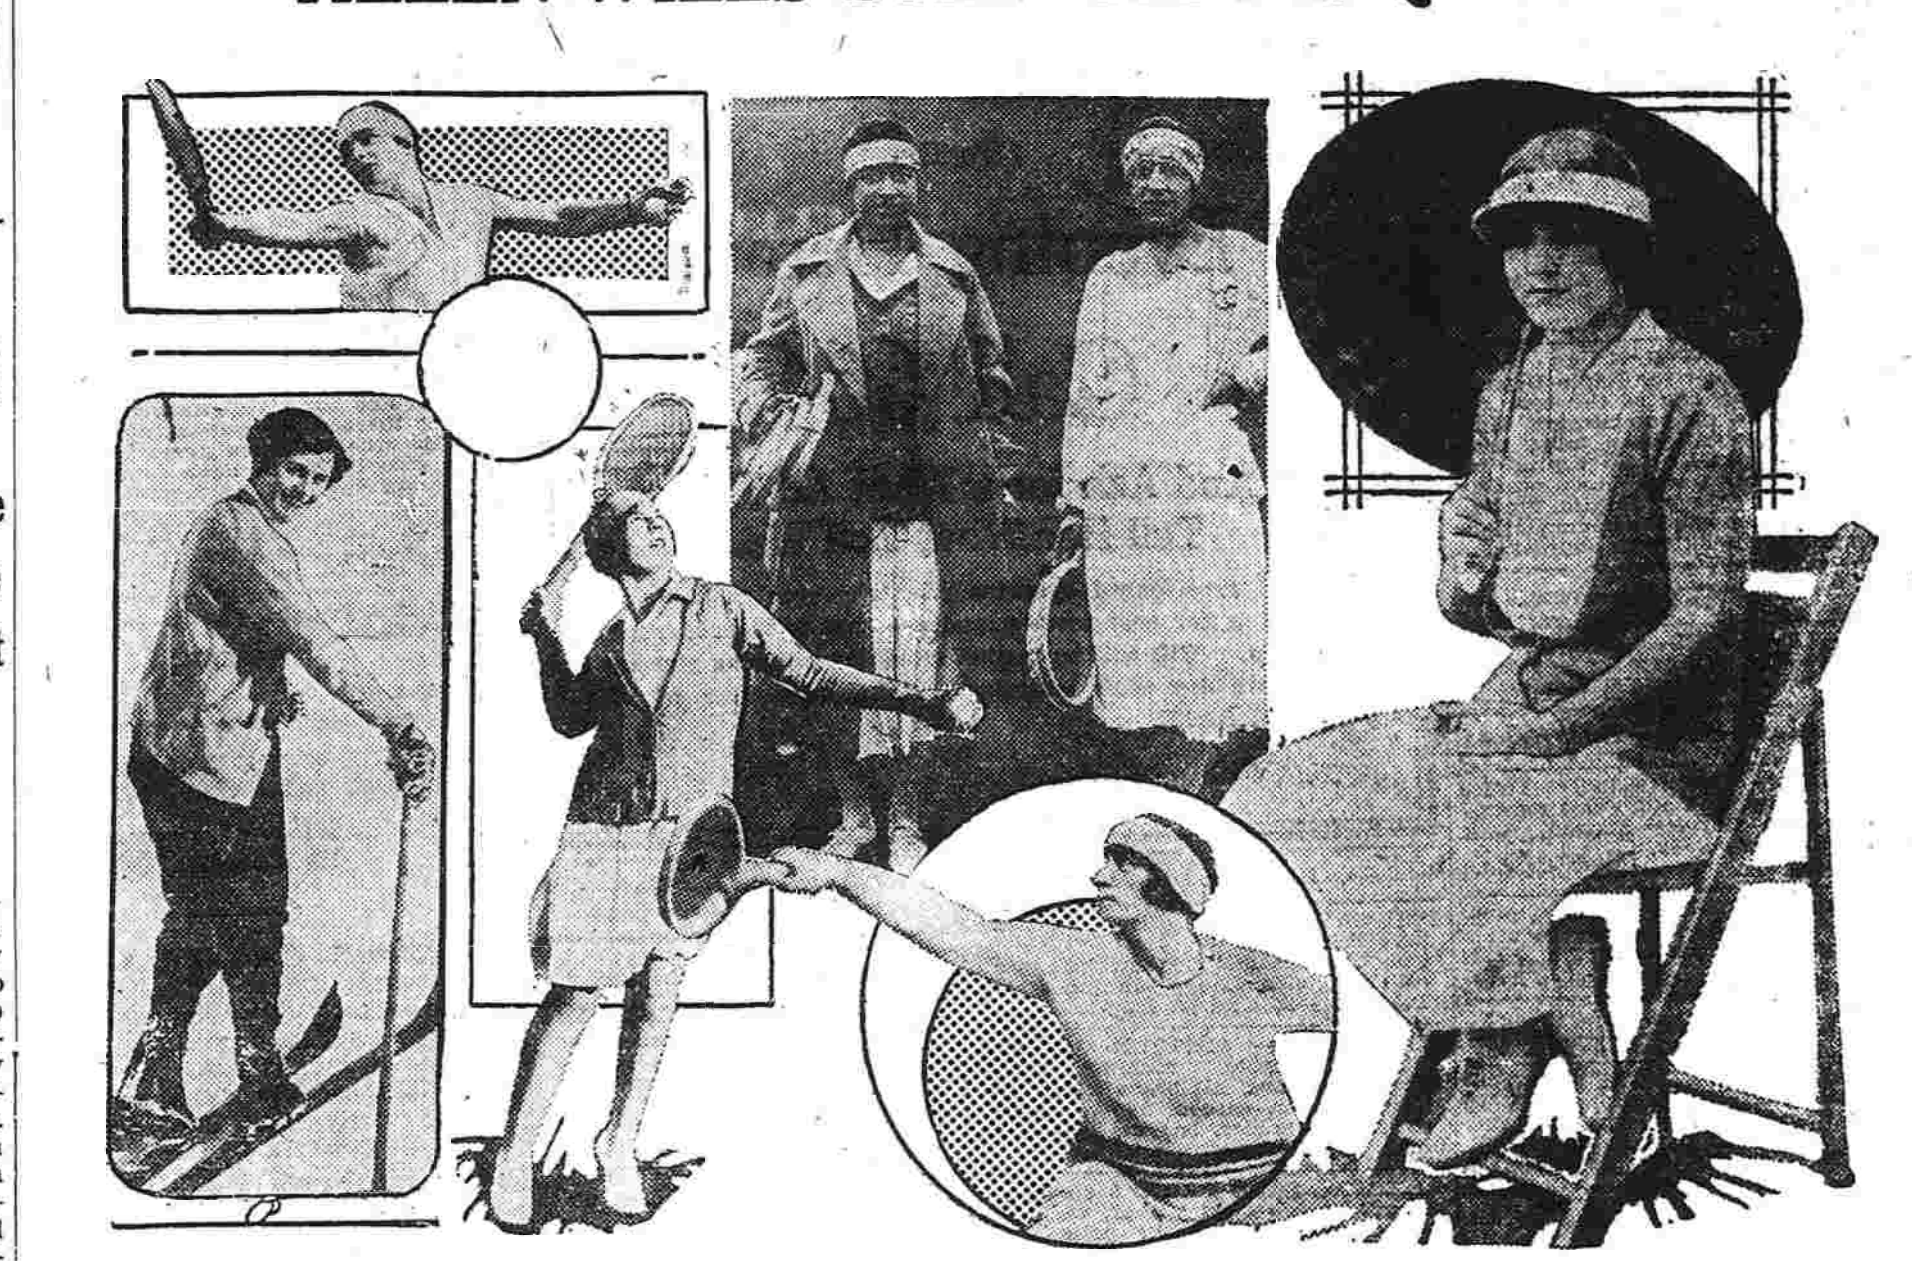

PLAN FEW CHANGES. The Cincinnati Reds will make few if any changes in its lineup for the coming baseball season.

Call Ice Carnival Off 'Till Saturday

"Eye, bye, carnival! Once again we are forced to type that the ice skating carnival planned for tonight at Center Springs Park has been postponed because of adverse weather. First it was too much snow; next it was a warm spell, and now it's a case of too much rain. Provoked, but far from at the point of surrender, the carnival committee refuses to give up the task as a hopeless one although it bears every indication of being just that. At a meeting last night, the committee decided to defy the weather gods by setting a double date for the event. And so, weather permitting, the carnival will be held Saturday afternoon. In case of unsatisfactory conditions, the affair will be held Sunday afternoon. If still unsuitable for holding the carnival, the committee will take further action. Today's postponement was the third straight setback which the committee had been forced to accept, now much longer their patience will last, is more or less problematical. Meanwhile preparations are going forward for Saturday afternoon.

1 Minute WITH SPORTS CELEBRITIES Interviews

MARY K. BROWNE SAYS: I have no present intention of applying to the tennis or golf associations for reinstatement as an amateur player. Before I turned professional I considered every eventuality and I must say that I am not a penitent in the respect that I have any great sin that I feel should be absolved. My experience as a professional has been pleasant and rather profitable and certainly it has been more satisfying because I believe that I have been accepted by the public as an honest athlete and I do not mean to cast any reflections upon anyone. I believe the time will come when the tennis association will recognize open competition as the golf association does, and that in not many years to come the class of women professionals in each sport will be larger and more representative. Goodness knows, however, I may not be able to play first-class tennis or golf at that time.

The Referee

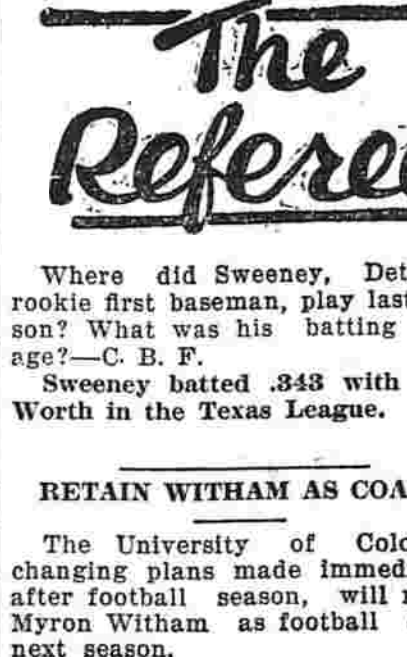

Where did Sweeney, Detroit's rookie first baseman, play last season? What was his batting average?—C. B. F.

Sweeney batted .343 with Fort Worth in the Texas League.

RETAIN WITHAM AS COACH

The University of Colorado, changing plans made immediately after football season, will retain Myron Witham as football coach next season.

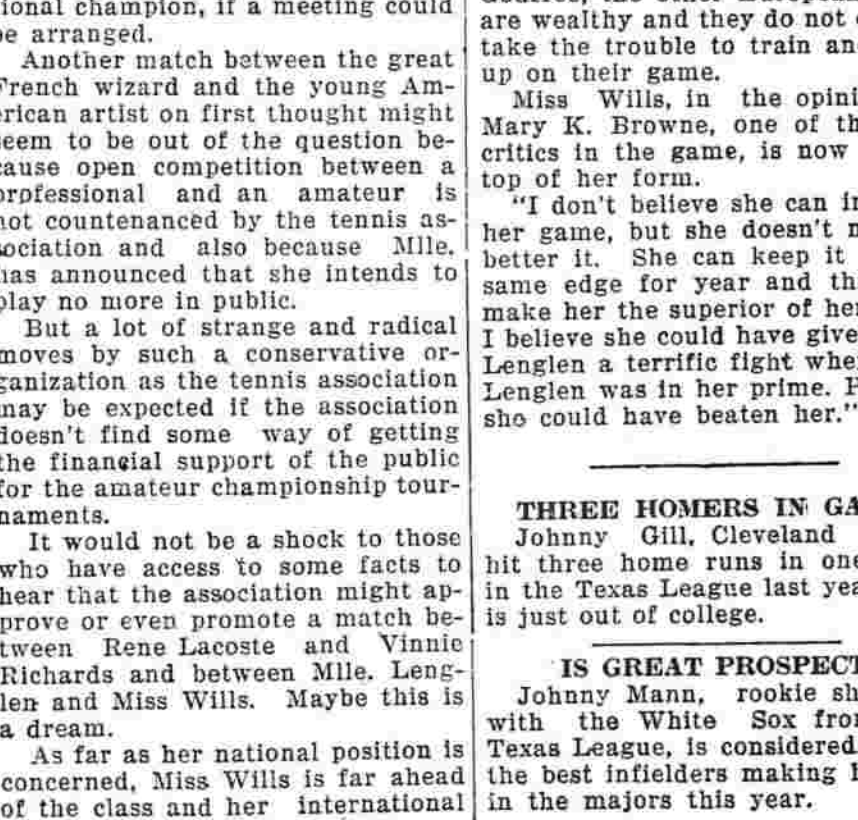

Strangler Lewis denies the claim of Joe Stecher and various commissions that he is not the heavyweight wrestling champion and he is preparing for a hard winter campaign to prove that he still is entitled to the crown. He is pictured above resting after some tree-sawing exercise with Tiny Roubuck, a boxer, on a farm near Kansas City. Lewis is at the left.

Possibility Exists That California Girl May Yet Meet Suzanne Lenglen In Another Match, Says "Hank" Farrell.

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
Distinguished champions in no small number took the court during the 1927 season and more in the natural course of events will step down this year, but there seems to be one pretty and popular young miss who has all the promise of a continued reign. We asked the gentleman who makes a very handsome living by picking the winners and playing them what the odds should be that Helen Wills will be the champion with the 1928 tennis season closes. "I'll lay ten to one," he said, "without a moment's hesitation, and I'll lay you have accidents and illness against me." It would seem then that the young Berkeley girl is sitting pretty as the new season approaches and is in a position to watch the other girls fight for the lower places on the international ranking list. There is no doubt that Miss Wills ranks as the greatest amateur woman player in the world today and there are a number of competent critics who believe she could beat Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, the professional champion, if a meeting could be arranged. Another match between the great French wizard and the young American artist on first thought might seem to be out of the question because an amateur and a professional are not countenanced by the tennis association and also because Mlle. Lenglen has announced that she intends to play no more in public. But a lot of strange and radical moves by such a conservative organization as the tennis association doesn't find some way of getting the financial support of the public for the amateur championship tournaments. It would not be a shock to those who have access to some facts to hear that the association might approve or even promote a match between Rene Lacoste and Winnie Richards and between Mlle. Lenglen and Miss Wills. Maybe this is a dream. As far as her national position is concerned, Miss Wills is far ahead of the class and her international security is as well established. Betty Nuthall, the pretty little English girl, may arrive when Miss Wills has passed her prime. But women tennis players last for a long time. Miss Nuthall is not a menace now as she has just learned how to serve overhead. Kos Boumann, the charming Dutch girl; Senorita D'Alvarez, the dazzling Spanish girl; Kitty McKane Godfree, the English champion and Didi Vlasto are all first class players but they do not rank with Miss Wills. As Bill Tilden says—"You can group the women players in only one way. Miss Wills has no equal and the others have to be placed in a secondary and lower group. She ought to be the champion for six or seven more years and she is still a very young girl and she lives tennis."

HE WILL SHOW 'EM

THREE HOMERS IN GAME. Johnny Gill, Cleveland rookie hit three home runs in one game in the Texas League last year. He is just out of college. IS GREAT PROSPECT. Johnny Mann, rookie shortstop with the White Sox from the Texas League, is considered one of the best infielders making his bow in the majors this year.

NUMBER TWO'S STILL LEAD SETBACK SCORES

Hose Company No. 2 still leads the total point column of the S. M. F. D. setback tournament with 6,212 points. Last night's sitting was held at No. 2's home and the next will be at No. 3's. Freshet and Freyer of No. 1 were high with 190 points. The team scores for last night and the totals follow:

No. 1—612	6039
No. 2—623	6213
No. 3—545	5890
No. 4—610	6059

Canadian Boxers Coming Tomorrow

Thursday night will be one of the big nights of the year in amateur boxing in Hartford, the noted Canadian team being slated to appear in the feature bouts of the weekly amateur boxing show of the Massachusetts A. C. at Foot Guard hall. The members of the Canadian team for this visit to Hartford will be: Gene Rattelle, light heavyweight; Harry Chevalier, welterweight; Harry Smith, welterweight; and George Courturier, lightweight. Matchmaker Ed Hurley of the Massachusetts club has received the entries of some outstanding amateurs to pit against the invaders from over the border. Ray Sanborn of Hartford will meet Kattelle. Sanborn last week sprung a real surprise by knocking out Louie Carmel of Holyoke in the first round. Sanborn has speed, good boxing ability and a killing punch. vic Morley will meet Chevalier. They fought at the Velodrome last summer and Chevalier got the decision after a thrilling battle. Billy Taylor, former Hartford high grid star and now the leading amateur welter of the state, will mix with Smith, while Frank Clumbow, Windsor Locks, southpaw, will take on Courturier. Several inter-city bouts will round out the card. The prospect is a sell-out and out-of-town fans are advised to get their tickets early.

TRADE SCHOOL LOSES TO SIMSBURY 25-13

Manchester Trade lost another basketball game last night at Simsbury High on the latter's floor. The score was 25 to 13. Captain Eddy starred for the winners. The first quarter was close but after that, the home team drew steadily into the fore. At halftime Simsbury sported a 10 to 3 lead. The scene at the end of the third quarter was 19 to 7. Meriden Trade plays at the Rec gym Friday afternoon. Kenneth Sears, star guard, has been declared temporarily ineligible because of low marks in his studies.

The Contractors scored another four-point victory in the Commercial Bowling League last night but were unable to shake the fast-tailing Watkins Brothers' team off their heels by doing so. The furniture dealers also won four points. The contractors beat Keith's and Watkins won from the A. & P. team. The league leaders had the good fortune to win one game from the tail-enders by one pin when Keith's had real hard luck in the last box. The High School won three points from the Trust Company and its new four points behind Watkins. The instructors have a postponed match with Keith's, which, if they win, will place them in a tie with Watkins. The interest in the race for the pennant is increasing each week as the schedule rapidly draws toward a close. Manchester Plumbing & Supply won three points from the Trade school in the other match of the evening. The scores:

Maple Ends Defeated In Bristol In Fast Game; Hartford Yankees Here Friday.

The Rec Five scored a 33 to 28 victory in Bristol last night at the expense of the Maple Ends of that city in a close and interesting game. Manchester gained a 20 to 12 lead the first half and "coasted" to victory, Bristol outscoring the locals 15 to 13 in the second half. Ding Farr played a great first-half game for Manchester. Elmo Mantelli also went good. There was no one outstanding star on the Manchester team as the summary will indicate. Every man did his task so creditably that Manager Ben Clune did not make a single substitution although he had several good men on the bench. Friday night, the Rec Five gets its acid tests test when it cracks Hartford. Bristol comes to the Rec gym. This will be the only game to down the rest of the week and a banner crowd is anticipated. Zetarski of the Bristol State League team was the star for the Maple Ends. "Dutch" Leonard Carlson from the same team played against the Rec. The summary follows:

MASONS HAVE TOUGH OPPONENT TOMORROW

Tomorrow night is a big one in the Herald Bowling League. The Masons have a three point lead over their nearest rival but the Cloverleaves are brimming with confidence that they will give the Masons a severe setback. Many others in the league are of the same opinion. There is no denying that the Cloverleaves have one of the strongest teams in the league. The fact that the games will be rolled on Conran's alleys is another reason why the Cloverleaves are the favorites. On the other hand, the Masons have the reputation of bowling their best when the opposition is the stiffest, so the Cloverleaves will have to hit pins every minute if they expect to win.

IS VERSATILE PLAYER
Red Lucas, who took part in 80 games for the Cincinnati club last year, is one of the most versatile players in baseball.

ANOTHER NEW STADIUM
A stadium to seat 25,000 fans will be ready for use at the University of Virginia for this year's grid games.

TWO CRACK RIVALS
Two of the best college track squads in the country will meet in April when Illinois journeys to Los Angeles for a meet with Southern California.

IS BEST TRICK SHOT. Joe Kirkwood, Australian golf star, has no equal as an exponent of trick shots on the golf links.

Conran And Murphy Start Match Saturday

Arrangements were completed last night for a home and home town championship bowling match between Tommy Conran, present champion, and Howard Murphy, North and South End representatives, respectively. The first two games will be rolled at Murphy's alleys starting at 1:30 Saturday afternoon. The final two games will be rolled at Conran's alleys next week Wednesday night.

A purse of fifty dollars is at stake. Conran has held the town championship for three years now, but as Conran is from the south end of the town and it is expected that a great match will ensue. Both men are hitting the wood right and left in the Herald League where each sports a fine average. Considerable interest has been worked up over this match and a large gallery is expected to see each leg of the match.

WAS SHARKEY A FAULT. Most boxing critics claim that his failure to box Tom Conroy cost Jack Sharkey the victory in their recent fight.

C. Allen. The entertainment is for the whole congregation, and the profits will be devoted to the choir fund.

The program will feature two one act plays and violin and piano numbers by Miss Bertha Lapp, pianist and Miss Frances Waters, violinist.

The cast of characters for the first play "A Picked Up Dinner" will include Miss Charlotte Foster and Albert Tuttle as Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, while Miss Laurienne Strickland will play the role of Biddy, their maid.

The second play is entitled "Bills." Miss Evelyn Jones and Albert Tuttle play the part of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis while Gordon Tuttle will appear as the lawyer who stutters.

The young people have spent considerable time in preparation for the entertainment, and they are hoping for a large turnout. A social time will follow during which refreshments will be served.

POLICE EXONERATED

IN SHOOTING CASE

Norwalk, Conn., Feb. 8.—Mayor Anson S. Keeler today announced the exoneration of Norwalk's police department in connection with the case of John Tullio, Henry street storekeeper who on Sunday shot and fatally wounded James Cole, Jr., of Oakdale, Pa. Mayor Keeler's statement declares the police made no slip whatever in the case.

Complaints that police had handled young Cole brutally when they were first called into the case after the shooting have been dismissed and the police exonerated. In this also, the mayor declared, pointing out that complainants refused to have their names mentioned and would not appear as witnesses. The Board of Safety had only the police statements to go by and after listening to denials the board found the police blameless.

Mayor Keeler also announced that he turned over to Henry Ireland, prosecuting attorney, the matter of the hardware store here that sold Tullio the revolver used in shooting Cole. The mayor charges that the hardware store handed Tullio the slip regarding the sale and asked him to take it to the police. Tullio, who had been refused a permit to carry a revolver, failed to deposit the revolver with the police who had no knowledge of the sale until the shooting occurred.

Tullio today was at liberty under bail of $10,000, furnished by three local men, pending the report of the coroner John J. Phelan as to the circumstances surrounding Cole's death.

LEOPOLD TO FACE

ALLEGED FIREBUG

Waterbury, Conn., Feb. 8.—The investigation into the Baldwin street fire that on Sunday morning took three lives, swung today to New Haven, Coroner John P. Monzani and Sergeant Henry Johnson, of the local police force, took Louis Leopold, owner of the Baldwin street property, down to a hospital in New Haven to face Morris Shelwitz, alleged confessed firebug. The group from Waterbury were to meet Coroner Eli Mix, of New Haven, who offered his services to the local coroner when he heard that Shelwitz might die from his burns, received, Shelwitz says, when he aided in firing the Waterbury property.

Jacob Silver, alias Wise, alias Hurwitz, who was trapped in the fire and burned to death, was buried here today. None but officials went to Potter's field when his remains were laid away. A sum of money, said to run over $500, found in Silver's clothes, was taken over by the county authorities to be used as evidence in whatever trial may develop from the tragedy.

VETER GOLF

EASY FOR YOU?

This puzzle really isn't hard. Just be bold and go from DARING to STRONG in five strokes, or better, that's all. Par solution is printed on another page.

THE RULES

- 1-The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.
2-You can change only one letter at a time.
3-You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.
4-The order of letters cannot be changed.

THE TINYMITES

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

"Oh, thank you," said Red Riding Hood. "You Tinymites have been so good. I'm sure your husky hound, and you, have saved me from real harm." "Oh, that's all right," was Clowney cried. "To give him quite a scare we tried. But now we'd best forget it since there's no cause for alarm."
Then Copy said, "But, where's our hound? Before we go, he must be found. Perhaps he's caught up with the wolf, and they have had a fight. A wolf can battle with a dog. To play real safe I think we ought to look around the woods until our faithful dog is found."
"Before we start, I have a bunch we'd better travel in a bunch. 'Twill be much safer that way, if the wolf's still running free." "You're right," cried Scouty. "We will stick together, but we'd best be quick!" And then he started on the run, and shouted, "Follow me!"
They'd covered just a bit of ground when Clowney shouted,

SENSE and NONSENSE

Who Paid For it

Two non-advertisers manufactured practically the same kind of rat traps costing 10 cents each, which were sold to the trade at 20 cents, the purchaser paying 30 cents. One of the producers decided to advertise. His increased sales enabled him to make the traps for 10 cents each. He then sold them to the trade for 15 cents. The purchaser bought them at 25 cents. Who paid for the advertising?
Not the maker of the rat traps, because he made more money by selling more traps. Not the retailer, for he made the same profit on less outlay. Not the purchaser, because he bought them for five cents less. Who paid for the advertising?

Contributions have been sent in to this department for a Hospital Fund for Poor Children, and it was our intention to further the fine cause. However, unforeseen difficulties arose with many charitable institutions, and we deeply regret that we can no longer devote our energy and time to so worthy an undertaking. Commander Fitzhugh Green is the Treasurer of an appointed committee, and will acknowledge all contributions to date and dispose of them in accordance with the vote of the full committee of five men. We wish to thank you most warmly for the fine spirit that prompted the inauguration of this fund.
