

CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW DEAD; 93 YEARS OLD

One of America's Most Famous Men Passes Away At His New York Home; His Colorful Career.

New York, April 5.—Chauncey M. Depew, one of America's most famous men—a railroad executive, politician, financier and noted after-dinner speaker, died at 4:30 o'clock this morning from bronchial pneumonia at his home 27 West 54th street, at the age of ninety-three years.

Chauncey M. Depew

Mr. Depew's long and colorful career spanned the administrations of 24 of the 30 presidents of the United States. He campaigned for the Republican Party in all the national political conflicts from Lincoln to Harding. He was a member of the United States Senate for 12 years. He was one of America's railroad pioneers and empire builders. For 14 years he was president of the New York Central Railroad, and was chairman of its board of directors from 1898 up to the day of his death.

Family Called
When his condition became grave shortly after midnight members of the family were summoned. They included Mrs. Depew; a son, Chauncey M. Depew, Jr.; a niece, Miss Anne Depew Paulding, and a nephew, Chauncey Depew Steele. An hour later Mr. Depew fell into a comfortable sleep. Those at the bedside retired.

Later Dr. Hooker issued this bulletin: "Since 7 o'clock last night Mr. Chauncey Depew's condition has been very serious. He died from bronchial pneumonia at 4:30 o'clock this morning."

After Dinner Speaker
During his eventful career, Mr. Depew not only distinguished himself

Cable Flashes In Foreign News

London, April 5.—Troops occupied Athens today following the discovery of a revolutionary plot, according to dispatches from that city. Martial law was declared.

Cannes, France, April 5.—An American, said to be Charles Chinn, who caused a riot by throwing handfuls of 100 franc notes from the balcony of the Hotel Carlton after a successful night at the gaming tables in the Casino. Men and women fought to get the money.

Paris, April 5.—Tom Heene, New Zealand heavyweight, who is training here for a fight with Champion Gene Tunney, is making swimming a prominent part of his program. He says it gives him a better wind and that he likes it better than roadwork.

London, April 5.—That prohibition had no part in the life of Shakespeare is shown by the famous "Ward Diary" which was first published at Southey's by Dr. A. Rosenbach, of Philadelphia, for $2,500. The author of the diary, John Ward, vicar at Stratford-on-Avon, (Shakespeare's home) from 1622 to 1681, says that the famous Bard of Avon died of a fever contracted after drinking with "Rare Ben" Jonson and others.

Belgrade, April 5.—Communication between Jugoslavians and Rumania was completely interrupted today. It is reported that the major part of Transylvania is occupied by Rumanian troops to prevent anti-government riots.

Framingham Business Man Admits He Was With Dead School Teacher Night Before Her Death.

Announces Through Press She is a Mother But is Not Married.

Concord, Mass., April 5.—Pale and worn after many hours of grilling, Frederick Hinman Knowlton, Jr., young Framingham business man, married and father of a five-year-old son, pleaded not guilty in a clear firm voice in District Court today to a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of Miss Margarette Isabelle Stewart, Beverly school teacher.

Judge Prescott Keyes held young Knowlton without bail for a hearing on April 13th, the prosecution stating that an attempt would be made to secure an indictment from the next Middlesex county Grand Jury.

Monument Square, where stands the courthouse, was within a stone's throw of the spot on Cambridge turnpike where the broken body of Miss Stewart was discovered last Friday evening and within a stone's throw of Sleepy Hollow cemetery where the girl was buried yesterday.

Steadfastly maintaining his innocence, young Knowlton, who came here from Cambridge by automobile, was returned to that city.

Historic Monument Square, in the path of the famous battle of Concord, was filled with automobiles by curious persons who watched the young man enter the courthouse with state, Concord and Framingham men wearing a terrific jam at the court house doors as the weary young man was led into the prisoner's dock. When all spectators' seats in the courtroom were filled the doors were locked.

After the arraignment young Knowlton was taken to the local lock-up to await the trip by automobile back to Cambridge. Women as well as men were numbered among those who sought to catch a glimpse of the accused young business man.

Cambridge, Mass., April 5.—Frederick Hinman Knowlton, Jr., prosperous young business man of Framingham, was held today in connection with the death of Margarette Isabelle Stewart, Beverly teacher-supervisor, whose bruised body was found beside the Cambridge turnpike in Concord last Friday night.

Knowlton, who has a wife and three children, admitted he had been on an automobile ride with her the night she died and washed and renovated his roadster with water and chloride of lime the next day.

Grilling of Knowlton, who is 34 years old and operates an electric and automobile battery establishment in Framingham, was interrupted long enough to let him have a little sleep and take him to Concord district for arraignment on a murder charge.

After the preliminary grilling of young Knowlton, District Attorney Robert T. Bushnell, of Middlesex county, issued the following statement: "Frederick Hinman Knowlton, Jr., of Framingham is held as a suspect in connection with the poisoning of Margarette Isabelle Stewart."

DEFENSE IN OIL CASE COST ABOUT $50,000,000

Figures Hard to Obtain But Expenses For Sinclair Have Been Terrific Since 1923.

Washington, April 5.—What price prosecution?
A much hampered inquiry today developed that Harry F. Sinclair's part in the oil scandals of the Harding administration has cost him some exceedingly important money during the past five years.

Since the winter of 1923, when the Senate first thrust an inquisitive nose into the ways and means by which he acquired a lease on the oil field under the Cambridge, up to the present moment when he is about to stand trial for criminal conspiracy against the government in connection therewith, Sinclair has been divorced from a steady stream of money that would make a number of readers independently wealthy for life.

The oil man is convinced he is being "persecuted." He thinks that federal agents have been constantly on his trail, watching his every movement since 1923. Well he might. If his friends are to be believed, they estimate that five years ago his fortune was in excess of a hundred million dollars—some placed it as high as $120,000,000.

Worth Half Now
Today, the estimate ranges from a maximum of $75,000,000 to a minimum of $50,000,000. The balance, it is claimed, has gone in an effort to beat the charge that he bribed former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall to give him a fraudulent lease on Teapot Dome, and in business reverses incident thereto.

Figures of this nature are almost impossible of verification, but it is known that Sinclair lost quite a few millions alone when the Supreme Court voided his lease on the oil field, not only taking from him the handsome profits, but also a thousand-mile pipeline from Wyoming to the Pacific coast and all of the storage tanks at the delivery end. Everyone concerned is

BIGGEST RAID IN WATERBURY BAGS 44 MEN

Forty-Eight State Policemen Descend on Gambling Den; Local Police Knew Nothing About Affair.

Waterbury, Conn., April 5.—Forty-four local men charged with being frequenters of gambling places here will appear in Police Court on April 19th to answer the charges. Bonds of $200 each set for eleven others captured last evening in the greatest raid Waterbury has ever known were declared forfeited but their cases will be reopened on April 19 if any desire such proceeding. Meanwhile five men arrested as principals in the operation of gaming places were held for trial in the Superior Court on April 12, being placed under bond at a special session of the Superior Court during the night.

Four lieutenants and forty-four officers of the state police department conducted the raids. They acted without knowledge of the local police. In commenting on the raid today Superintendent Joseph H. McLean, of the police department, declared he "was satisfied with the affair and that he considered it an endorsement of work he has been doing since he entered office."

Evidence Secured
Evidence for the raid was secured by the Watch & Ward Society of Boston at the request of the Waterbury Ministers Association. Eight clergymen connected with the association occupied a front row in Police Court today and carefully observed proceedings. The entire association met following the raid last night and praised each other for the results and congratulated the state police.

Eighteen state policemen were in court today in uniform ready to act as witnesses for the state. Judge Abner F. Hayes presided and Emil Hummel was prosecutor. A large force of police were on hand to keep order over the largest crowd ever present at court session here ever caused.

Defense Plans
Counsel who appeared for various of the men arrested as frequenters suggested to Judge Hayes that it might be possible that the men arrested as conducting gaming places would be found not guilty in Superior Court. If they were acquitted then the men arrested as frequenters would not be guilty of that offense. Judge Hayes accepted the suggestion and continued the cases until a week after the Superior Court session.

Counsel who appeared today expressed the belief that the state police had been careless in taking the names of some of the prisoners, but Prosecutor Hummel believed that "some of the boys weren't sure of their names when they were booked last night." Then it was agreed that any person had the right to ask for re-opening of his case on April 19.

HUNDREDS HOMELESS IN WESTERN STORMS

Two Reported Dead—Cloud-bursts and Forest Fires Usher in Spring.

Kansas City, Mo., April 5.—Two persons are dead and several hundred families homeless today as a result of storms and heavy rains over widespread areas in Arkansas, Kansas and Oklahoma last night, according to reports here.

Mrs. Anna Green, 25, Topeka, Kan., died from injuries suffered when a high wind demolished her suburban home and a 12-year-old boy was burned to death near Lincoln, Ark., when mountain forest fires spread over a wide area fanned by high winds.

Shawnee, Okla., on the Canadian river reported a torrential rain of cloudburst proportions and nearly 1,000 persons were driven from their homes along the river.

Nearly $200,000 damage was reported from the strong wind which struck Southern Kansas and Oklahoma oil fields near Wichita, Kan. Several rivers in southwestern Kansas and Northern Oklahoma are swollen out of banks.

PLANE WEATHERS STORM
El Paso, Texas, April 5.—The New York American's coast-to-coast radio plane safely weathered one of the worst sand storms in a dozen years just before landing here.

Escorted by Two Navy planes, which were also going to the coast, the American's ship cleared from the Army Airport at Fort Bliss.

TILT IN CONGRESS OVER MELLON PLAN CAUSES CONFUSION

FORD HAD A HINT OF RUBBER CRASH

Some See Connection Between His Trip and Action Of Premier Baldwin.

London, April 5.—Henry Ford, who is now on his way to Europe, may enter into negotiations with British and Dutch rubber producers to buy raw rubber at low prices, which are now prevailing as a result of the British government's decision to remove production restrictions on November 1, it was reported here today.

It is even believed in some quarters that Mr. Ford had either advance knowledge of a premonition of the government's action and timed his European trip accordingly.

The rubber market was further depressed today by Premier Baldwin's announcement in the House of Commons that the British restrictions in Malaya and Ceylon will be removed and it is possible that contracts may be possible within a few weeks at 16 cents a pound. The prediction was made by Sir Robert Hutchinson, chief Liberal whip, that the price may sink to 14 cents a pound.

Hopes that the government might reconsider its decision were dashed today. International News Service learned from authoritative source close to the Cabinet that the decision is irrevocable. This informant said:

"The premier's statement was the result of the highest and most confidential technical advice and it represents the government's last word in the matter. Henceforth, it is hoped, the ordinary laws of supply and demand will reassert themselves. Probably the lower price of rubber will stimulate production. The industry should now re-establish itself without outside aid. Meanwhile any negotiations between Dutch and British rubber growers will remain matters of their own concern."

With the price of crude rubber continuing slumping, enabling American and other automobile makers to buy at the cheapest price since 1922, predictions are being made that the use of reclaimed rubber advocated by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover when the price was at the peak, will be discontinued.

KILLS ANOTHER'S WIFE THEN KILLS HIMSELF

Bodies Found By Husband Who Was Seeking Her Since Friday.

New York, April 5.—Tiring of another man's wife, Harry Angelo killed her and then took his own life, police said today. The bodies of Angelo and the woman, Mrs. Ida Schuler, were found in Angelo's apartment last night, but medical examiners said the shooting probably had occurred Saturday or Sunday.

Harry Schuler, the woman's husband, had been looking for her since last Friday. Breaking into Angelo's apartment with the aid of detectives, he found the bodies and the following taunting note, addressed to him by Angelo:

"You have been a fool. I want to get rid of your wife. Take her back. My wife is coming home any day."

Neighbors told police Mrs. Angelo left home a year ago to care for a paralytic sister in Stamford, Conn. Angelo was forty years old. Mrs. Schuler was thirty and a mother.

Chairman of House Committee Says There is Little Chance of Agreeing on Tax Reduction—Senate Approves Secretary's Program.

Washington, April 5.—Tax reduction was again thrown into a doubtful state of confusion today when House fiscal leaders declared that the House will turn down the Mellon program, even though the Senate approves it.

The prospect of a disagreement between the two Houses preventing any tax reduction caused administration leaders to inaugurate a movement to harmonize the differences.

While the House leaders were turning thumbs down upon Secretary Mellon's plan, Republicans on the Senate finance committee were engaged in drafting a bill to meet the treasury's $201,000,000 limitation.

Rep. Willis C. Hawley, Republican of Oregon, chairman of the House ways and means committee and a consistent administration supporter, declared that there was little hope of the House taking the Mellon program.

House Against It
"From the sentiment of both the committee on ways and means and the House it seems doubtful if the House will agree to have a reduction on the automobile tax, nor will they agree to the repeal of the estate tax or modification of the intermediate brackets of the individual income tax, as suggested by Mr. Mellon," said Hawley.

Hawley said that his opinion was based upon the legislative situation and did not necessarily reflect his own views as to the proper reduction.

Cannot Agree
Rep. Garner, Democrat of Texas, minority leader on the ways and means committee, also declared that the House will not accept Mellon's proposed plan of tax reduction.

There appeared to be a better possibility of an agreement upon the $201,000,000 limit set by the treasury. Hawley expressed the belief that the $289,000,000 tax bill which the House passed early in the session would have to be cut to the Mellon figure. Garner said that he is "not concerned with the amount so much as the items to be cut."

Progress was made by the Republicans on the Senate finance committee, headed by Senator Smoot, Republican of Utah, in agreeing to the Mellon proposal for a cut in the corporation income tax rate of 1 1/2 to 12 per cent. This would cut revenues $123,000,000. The House has a similar proposal of a cut to 11 1/2 per cent.

SEN. WALSH PRAISES SMITH AND McADOO

Says Neither Had Anything to Do With Oil Scandal—Raps Robinson.

Washington, April 5.—Lauding the public careers of Gov. Al Smith and William Gibbs McAdoo, Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat of Montana, today branded as "piffle" the attempt of Senator Arthur R. Robinson, Republican of Indiana, to link all three to the oil scandals.

Walsh declared he could see no "culpability" in Smith's appointment of Harry F. Sinclair as a racing commissioner in New York. He also said he could see no wrong in McAdoo accepting employment from Edward L. Doheny.

Touching on his own part in unearthing the oil scandals, Walsh accused Robinson of seeking to "snatch away" from him the gratitude of the American people.

Chi Politicians Force Bootlegger Out Of Job

Chicago, April 5.—A bootlegger's resignation to his clients in the Fortieth ward yesterday, declaring he has been driven from the stall by the shakedown of the politicians, is said to have been a letter to a local newspaper narrating his experiences. The letter reads:

"Dear Sir: I will admit I am a bootlegger in a small way, average earnings $10 per day; do business in the 40th ward, and am now tendering my resignation to my customers through your straight newspaper.

DEFENSE IN OIL CASE
COST ABOUT $50,000,000

reluctant to discuss dollars and cents in connection with Sinclair's financial outlook as a result of his tribulations, but enough was gleaned to indicate tremendous expenditures.

Expensive Lawyers

During the constant court litigations arising from the oil scandal, the oil man has been represented by such men as Martin V. Littleton, of New York, who made his mark in the Thaw-White murder case; George Hoover, of Washington, who just won a million-dollar will case; Daniel Thaw, of New York, who, as justice of the D. C. Supreme Court, presided over the famous Stove case that nearly resulted in the jail of the late Sam Gompers and other American Federation of Labor leaders; Reginald Ragan and Stanford, experts on oil and land laws, and half a dozen others. All of these are reported to have received small fortunes in fees from their client.

Then comes the matter of the hiring of the Burns Detective Agency to shadow Sinclair. That was the first trial of Sinclair and Fall last October. This business resulted in a mistrial and gained Sinclair a six-month sentence. It also cost him plenty of money. Sixteen agents were on the job, and their expense accounts, as produced in court, were highly liberal. The contempt trial lasted two months and a half, and Sinclair footed the bill for about seventy-five defense witnesses during that period.

Meanwhile, Sinclair has been maintaining a Washington establishment in true millionaire style. During the weeks of the original trial, he and his menage held forth at the Mayflower hotel. For that short time the bill was slightly in excess of $7,000.

Then, when the contempt trial started, he moved to Carlton hotel, for himself. He is maintaining a suite that consists of four "master bedrooms," a huge dining room, a living room and a kitchen. His own cook prepares all meals and his own man serves them. This suite is a bargain at $150 a day.

Other Rooms

In addition, there are other rooms reserved for members of his party. At times, these run as high as fifteen.

The report he has taken a $1,000 a month apartment in the Hay-Adams house, brand-new, gilt-edged apartment mansion overlooking the White House, is erroneous. It took a day, however, to confirm the falsity of the report, so closely are Sinclair's affairs guarded in Washington.

Martin V. Littleton, chief of the oil man's counsel, is stopping at the Mayflower with his wife and daughter. They have seven rooms. The reason for this is that the seventh room is a sitting room in which the defense counsel confer. The other six rooms serve to make sure that no inquisitive government agent can get close enough to listen in.

Everyone is regarded with suspicion around the Sinclair headquarters. The most innocent act on the part of a disinterested person several times recently has resulted in a thorough investigation of that person that brought to light all the skeletons of his family closet. On the dining room wall of the Sinclair suite is a framed sign, hung facetiously by H. Mason Day, the oil man's chief lieutenant, which reads: "This is no hotel lobby; do not spit on the floor."

AUTO HOPS CURBING,
BUMPS POST OFFICE

Driver Loses Control as He
Is Backing Out of Parking Space Today.

An unusual automobile accident occurred in front of the Post Office at the south end this noon when the operator lost control of his car and allowed it to hop onto the sidewalk and crash into the post office building. Fortunately no one was injured.

John C. Shackleton whose home is on 25 Beech street, Lakewood, R. I., but who boards at 221 Pine street and works at Cheney Brothers, was the driver of the car, a Chevrolet coupe owned by Crombie Donatelli.

Shackleton had started to back the car out of its parking space when he noticed another automobile was blocking his path. He shifted into "low" and as he did, he says, his foot slipped off the clutch onto the accelerator. The car leaped the curb and bumped into the stone foundation of the post office. Postmaster Oliver J. Toop, sitting in his office, felt the shock.

When the auto struck the building, it bounced back so far that the back wheels were in the street and the front ones on the sidewalk. A bicycle owned by Francis Harrington, High school student and special delivery messenger boy, of 17 Spruce street, was scratched and bent a bit when the auto struck it on the rebound.

Policeman John McGilgan made the investigation. No arrest was made at the time. A bent bumper was the Chevrolet's sole damage.

BRIDGEPORT DIVORCES.

Bridgeport, Conn., April 5.—Superior Court Judges A. C. Baldwin and Carl Foster worked thirty minutes today and granted divorces in six uncontested cases. Arthur F. Woodcock, of Greenwich, was given a decree from Beatrice Patterson Woodcock, of New Haven, for desertion; Agnes Daly Treband, of Greenwich, was divorced from Charles J. Treband, of Greenwich, for his intolerable cruelty; Elsa Keeler Crow, of Norwalk, received a divorce from Homer Crow, of Norwalk, because of intolerable cruelty; Fannie Waterbury Maruca, of Norwalk, received a divorce from Joseph Maruca, of unknown address, for desertion; Michael G. Nicholas, of Norwalk, received a divorce from Nora Harrison Nicholas, of Philadelphia, for desertion; and Elsie McDougall, of Bridgeport, was divorced from Raymond McDougall of Bridgeport, for desertion.

Richard Henry Lee was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence for the state of Virginia.

CLUB PLAN BIG HELP TO EASTER SHOPPERS

So Says George H. Williams of Local Williams Men's Furnishings Store.

"Easter no longer means a big initial outlay for clothes," George H. Williams of George H. Williams, Inc., said today. "Club plans, such as the plan we are now operating under, give the Easter buyer a complete outfit and allow him to pay for the clothes as he wears them."

Mr. Williams' club plan is unique in Manchester and that it is a success is shown by the fact that many local residents have taken advantage of it. The plan calls for an initial payment that need not be embarrassing to the buyer, followed by ten weekly payments, all equal. Unlike the usual installment systems, there is no interest charged, although a discount of five per cent is allowed for cash.

Easter styles this year will run toward the three-button model coats with the buttons spaced more widely and the two-button coats with peaked lapels. These local residents have developed the leading fashion authorities in this country and England and are shown in a wide variety at the Williams store.

A recent shipment of neckwear, suitable for the Easter outfit, was received at the Williams store yesterday. The cravats, both in the bows and four-in-hand styles, exemplify the latest color schemes and the newest fabrics, from the knitted to the finest silk.

The Williams store will be open on Good Friday for one hour after the other stores have closed. Mr. Williams announced today. The store is open ordinarily on weekdays until 7:30 in the evening, tomorrow until 1 o'clock and on Thursdays and Saturdays until 9 o'clock.

FOUR YEAR SEARCH TO FIND O'NEIL

Detectives in Europe Say It Is Too Late Now to Bring Him Back.

Paris, April 5.—After a four year search throughout Europe for James E. O'Neill, during which he eluded the keenest "man hunters" of the American Secret Service, the dragnet for the elusive American is relaxing for it is too late now to get him back to the United States for the Teapot Dome conspiracy trial of Harry F. Sinclair, which is scheduled to open in Washington on Monday. O'Neill was wanted by the United States government as an important witness in the Sinclair trial.

O'Neill has been regarded as the "missing link" in the government's chain of evidence to support the accusations that Sinclair is guilty of conspiracy to defraud the government in the Teapot Dome oil lease. There have been few manhunters so dramatic and so fraught with material for "detective stories" as the trail for the missing witness.

RUM PATROL

Washington, April 5.—The rum patrol on the Great Lakes will be materially reinforced within the next few weeks, Coast Guard headquarters announced today.

A large number of small patrol boats will be sent into the lakes as soon as the ice can be opened up for spring traffic. These boats have been withdrawn from the Atlantic rum patrol, according to a program worked out last fall. Treasury officials declared that the move is aimed at checking the anticipated activity of smugglers during the summer.

TRY TO SAVE NEGRO

Waterloo, N. Y., April 5.—A last-minute act in the effort to save the life of Frank Dixie Baldwin, negro, who is scheduled to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing tonight was instituted today by the condemned man's attorney. The death sentence was imposed upon Baldwin for the murder of John T. Dickerson. Baldwin's attorney obtained an order directing the state to appear to show cause before the Supreme Court justice at Syracuse, N. Y., this afternoon why a stay of execution should not be granted pending examination of Baldwin's sanity.

SEATTLE CONTRACTS

Hartford, Conn., April 5.—The Billings Electrical Company is to do the wiring in the new Normal school dormitory at New Britain for $11,300, according to a contract awarded today by the State Board of Finance and Control. The board authorized the adjutant-general to give Bradley & Hubbard Co., of Meriden, the contract to equip the state armory at Bristol with lighting fixtures at a cost of $384. The state tuberculosis commission was authorized to purchase a small piece of land to add to the Seaside sanatorium at Niantic.

Girl Scout News

The council will hold its annual business meeting with election of officers at the home of Mrs. Stephen Hale, 233 South Main street, Tuesday afternoon, April 10th at 2:30.

The officers' association held its annual business meeting at the home of Miss Marion Tinker, Wednesday night. The following officers were elected for the coming year: president, Miss Jessie Slays; vice-president, Mrs. Frederick Snow, secretary and treasurer, Ellen Powers.

There will be no meeting Friday evening. Mary Marsden, Sarah Ford, Madge Armstrong have passed their tenderfoot test. All the girls have brought their registration fee and the troop will be re-registered at the National Headquarters this week with 28 girls.

Troop 5.
Saturday, March 31st the girls had a hare and hound chase. They took the 10:30 car and the hare got off at Pitkin street and laid the trail. The hounds went on to the terminus and hiked back to Pitkin street. There the hare was fifteen minutes start. The hounds followed the trail over hill and dale and came out near the lower reservoir and caught the hare. Here the girls ate their dinner, played games and sang, they hiked on through to the upper reservoir, dispersed and hiked home the way they wished. Everyone had a fine time. There will be no regular meeting of the troop Friday. If the girls would like, a meeting will be held Saturday, April 7th at 12 noon, Emily Smith's house. If pleasant, tests and games will be carried on outdoors.

Brownies Pack 1.

AUTO VICTIM DIES

Stamford, Conn., April 5.—Miss Emily P. Reid, 28, of Cos Cob, died this afternoon in Stamford hospital following injuries she received when an automobile she was driving on the night of April third crashed through a masonry wall in the village of Pound Ridge. The accident happened about 12:30 in the morning and the unconscious body of the girl was not discovered for several hours later. She received a fractured skull and other injuries.

VICTIM'S RELATIVES MAKE CHARGES OF NEGLIGENCE BY WRECKED SHIP'S CREW

Geneva.—Charges of negligence on the part of the crew of the Italian liner Princess Mafaldo in rescuing passengers from the sinking of the ship off South America last fall, are being revived here by the Bernese Bund.

The newspaper quotes a statement by the sister of a Swiss victim of the disaster, in which more than 300 lives were lost. The Bund says that this girl questioned surviving passengers and members of the crew, and that two Italian friends of her brother told her that the officers and crew of the ship made no attempt to help in the rescue work.

Further than this, the girl charges the passengers had to lower boats themselves, with the result that many of them were capized with all aboard.

EPSTEIN FINDS AMERICAN KEENER FOR REAL ART

London.—"People talk a lot of nonsense about America," says Jacob Epstein, famous sculptor, just returned to England after his first visit for 25 years to his native land, America.

"Personally," Epstein states, "I see no reason why an artist should lose his soul in the United States. America holds no monopoly in collectors who buy works of art solely for their commercial value. The popular conception here that every American wants to fill his house with art treasures, no matter what their price, is totally mistaken. And again, there is every reason to induce the artist in America to keep his soul because he is sacrosanct. In England the artist is not encouraged. When his hair is snow-white, possibly his work may be acknowledged. Many artists, however, cannot afford to wait until time bleaches their locks. They must either go to America or popularize their work."

"Comparisons are odious, but it is idle to deny that the average American is keener to acquire knowledge than the average Englishman."

"There are many things in America that do not please me. Their statues are no better than those of England—which is saying a good deal. Undoubtedly the present tendency in American art is towards 'refinement'. It inclines towards the French style with an occasional prim tendency to the Greek. The Greek I found chiefly reflected in the new skyscrapers and the mannequins on Fifth Avenue. But, of course, there has never been such a thing as original American art, and never has been. Sources of art in the States are definitely European."

"I consider the skyscraper ensemble magnificent. There is nothing like it in the world today. Some of the buildings remind me vividly of Aztec pyramids. I think the new Bell Telephone building is wonderful though there are others of the decorated type—griffins with lace cap and fringe—that appear to be a trifle unfortunate. The skyscraper needs no decoration."

"I don't think much of the new Cathedral in New York. Something has gone wrong with it. I don't think Americans can build cathedrals."

"I am also sorry to see the same ideals in the U. S. as in England with regard to building huge and expensive art galleries. The artist pays for them. Such enormous buildings are quite unnecessary when you have nothing to put inside of them. And the money that is left over to buy good work after building such places is strictly limited. But, of course, America will have more surplus money to buy up Old Masters than other countries."

"What struck me most in America was the keen desire to understand things—particularly new things. The American is not afraid of new things. In England people are terrified of anything after Queen Victoria."

"American newspapers are no longer 'yellow'. They are the best-informed, best-served and best-illustrated papers in the world. They strive to embrace the thought and activities of the whole world, and their Sunday supplements are marvelous achievements."

RUBBER DROPS LOWER

London, April 5.—The rubber market was further depressed today as a result of Premier Baldwin's announcement that government restrictions limiting rubber production in Malaya and Ceylon will be lifted on November 1. Rubber opened at 3 3/4 pence per pound, the lowest since 1922.

HOLD SUSPECT IN BEVERLY MURDER CASE

Investigation of the murder of Marguerite Stewart.

At the outset the suspect denied an intimate acquaintance with Miss Stewart. After questioning, he has admitted acquaintance with Miss Stewart and claims he left her in Beverly, Thursday, March 29, at 10:30 o'clock P. M., a short distance from the Beverly Deaf and Dumb School.

"The dead girl was last seen in Beverly on that date at 7 o'clock P. M. "The suspect further admits that for some time past he has been meeting Miss Stewart regularly on her evenings off, Thursday evening, and that on Saturday morning, March 31, the morning after the body was found in Concord, he thoroughly washed and renovated his Chrysler car with water and chloride of lime.

"The suspect will be formally charged with murder in the first degree in the Concord District Court this morning.

Clever Sleuthing. "This brings nearly to a conclusion a masterly piece of detective work on the part of State Police Officer Edward J. Sherlock and Edward P. O'Neill, aided by Sergeant Daniel Curtis of the Concord police and Chief of Police William H. Holbrook of Framingham."

For 12 hours under question Knowlton denied the murder. Slight of build, almost meek-looking, the Framingham business man remained smiling and cool under the fire of questions. Before he went to sleep at East Cambridge police station he posed willingly for flashlight pictures.

Knowlton was an extremely popular young man. His father is a Selectman, a Republican leader, secretary of the Framingham Board of Trade and head of the Framingham Business College. The Knowlton family for many years were prominent in Worcester, young Knowlton's great-grandfather was at one time mayor of Worcester.

Early in 1917 young Knowlton disappeared from Framingham. His clothing was found on the shore of Lake Quinsigamond, Worcester, and for some time it was feared that he committed suicide or was a victim of foul play. He had just been married to his present wife, an Ashland girl. Later it was learned that he enlisted in the Army at Atlantic City, N. J., went abroad and served with the American Army in France. Upon his return to Framingham at the close of the World War he was a teacher of wireless telegraphy at the business college of his father. Later he went into the battery business.

Mrs. Knowlton told newspapermen today that she can give a complete alibi as to the movement of her husband on the day of and the day following Miss Stewart's death. She said he was home.

RISK TOO GREAT

London, April 5.—The risk involved in a non-stop flight over the Atlantic from east to west at the present time is too great to make the effort worth while, in the opinion of Sir Samuel Hoare, British secretary of state for air.

"Personally I consider it unwise for anyone to attempt to cross the Atlantic from east to west," Sir Samuel said, "until we have machines of greater endurance at our disposal. With the sole object of warning those who would follow others that have gone to their deaths in these flights, I would say that the risk at the present time is too great."

Detroit, Mich., April 5.—Mrs. Laura A. M. Boyer said today that the strained relationship between herself and her husband's wealthy family has been cleared away through her 5-year-old adopted son, Dode Alfred Boyer—who was the cause of the trouble.

The little boy has won a place in the heart of his foster mother's husband Yron L. Boyer, she said, and is regarded affectionately as his "grandfather." Joseph Boyer, adding machine manufacturer,

Gang Rule In Chicago Blamed For 100 Deaths In 16 Months

Chicago—Leadership of men, the command of big business, calls for the highest qualities of mind and heart.

Johnny Torrio had elements of greatness—did he not show adaptability, alertness to opportunity, and great business acumen when he seized upon prohibition as the ladder by which a little local gambling and vice syndicate was to be a business of $75,000,000 a year?

Capone Made Friends Tony friends, who would do a good turn for him any time.

Joe Howard, minor gangster, talked out of turn a few days later he was shot down near the "Four Deuces."

Capone prospered. So did Cusick. He did Torrio—Torrio stepped from the doorway of his home, there was a roar of machine guns and Torrio fell.

Capone laughed. So did Cusick. "You're thinking Torrio," you've got about twenty-four hours. Beat it."

ELEVATED ROADS ONLY SOLUTION FOR BIG CITIES

London.—Foreshadowing the age of "skyscraper" roads as the only solution for the ever increasing traffic problems of the world's great cities, Lord Montagu, England's foremost authority on transportation, prophesies that within six years there will be double the number of motor vehicles on the roads as there is today.

His plans for a solution of the traffic congestion are not extremely difficult to have put into progress. They are really the classification of roads on a somewhat similar basis as is used to a small extent in the United States today.

There should and must be different roads for different classes of traffic. It is most unreasonable to let all kinds of traffic—fast, slow, light and heavy—all go on the same roads.

First of all there should be huge trunk roads linking up the different big centers of population. On these roads there would run heavy trucks and vans, and there would be no speed limits.

Do not get the wrong impression that "high speed roads" would be dangerous, for they would avoid the towns and villages, circling around them, as do the railways now. And there would be less danger than there is in the present state.

The next class of road, the B class, would not take any vehicles above a certain weight, and would have a speed limit.

Then would come the great mass of unclassified roads existing at present upon which there would be no heavy traffic and no high speed allowed.

As they approached the big cities, these roads would go either underground or overhead. That brings me to an essential part of my vision. In the city of the future the fast heavy traffic will inevitably be underground or overhead.

Highways On Arches Lord Montagu's idea for this is the construction of huge highways on arches. Arches which are supported by enormous piers, reminding one of Roman aqueducts.

When it was suggested that these visions were rather futuristic, Lord Montagu, replied, "Why not? They would give a new dignity, a new charm to the city of the future. Why should the cities not be beautiful?"

In these arches he pictured offices, above which would be situated dwellings, abodes or "flats."

Every pier could be constructed like that, and there would be a large income from the rent which would go a long way towards paying for the overhead road.

I am convinced that we cannot do without overhead or underground roads in the cities of the future.

Let us recognize that Transport is the biggest problem of this century and act accordingly. There would be no fear of our solving the problem if we go sensible and energetically to work.

CAMPBELL'S NEW BLUEBIRD AUTO A SPEED MARVEL

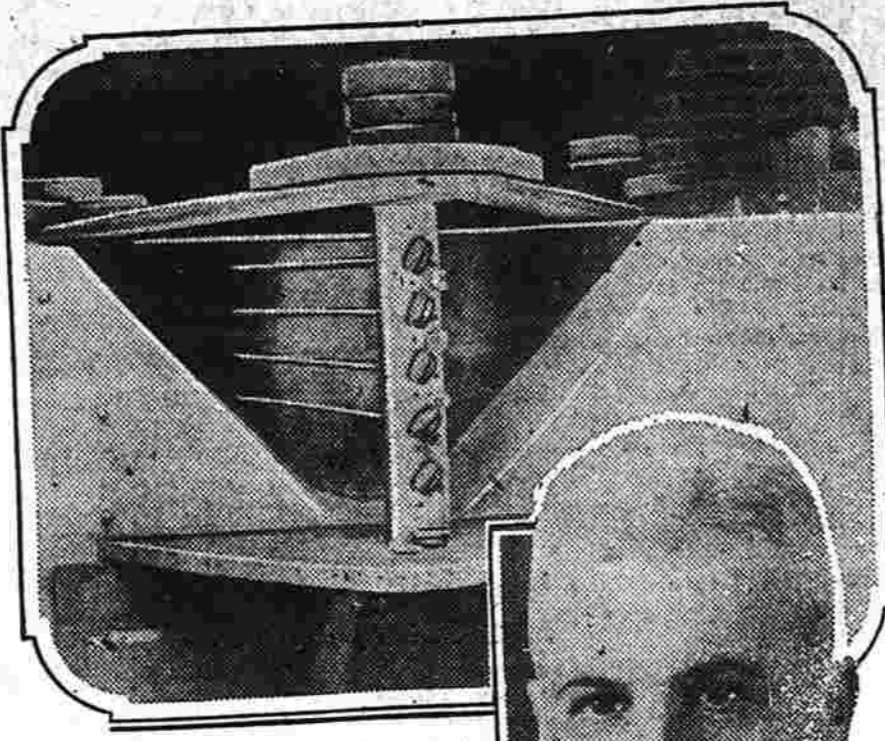

London.—A number of remarkable departures in automobile construction are embodied in the new racing car in which Captain Malcolm Campbell, famous racing driver, will defend the British speed record against American challengers at Daytona, Florida.

Captain Campbell outlined the design in his new car in an interview with International News Service, when he expressed the belief that the machine would not fail in its attempt to uphold the speed record of 203 miles an hour set last year by Major Seagrave.

The principal characteristic of the new car is the fact that its oil and gasoline tanks are unburstable. Besides, this, it has an entirely new type of gear box, allowing wider range and control and a detachable fin or rudder for direction and stability.

I have christened my new car the "Bluebird," Captain Campbell said. "She has most me ten times more than I anticipated, but she is worth it."

Science Experiments With A Perfect Dam

Here are Prof. George I. Beggs and the model dam which is intended to prevent such disasters as the recent California catastrophe. Mercury rises against the celluloid with which the "V" part of the dam is screened, and its pressure is recorded on the gauges.

BY ISRAEL KLEIN (Science Editor, NEA Service)

To prevent such tragedies as the St. Francis dam disaster, in a canyon of the Sierras near Fresno, Calif., is a concrete arch dam which was built at a cost of $100,000 only to be destroyed.

So far, however, it has successfully resisted all the efforts of engineers to break it down. Great floods of water have been loosed against it in a concerted scientific attempt to discover, by its destruction, how strong a dam is required to prevent the worst of floods.

But this method is costly because one dam of this kind would not be enough to lead civil engineers to a definite conclusion. They would have to build many more $100,000 projects under various conditions and in various locations to solve their problems.

Duplicate Problems They believe they have found a way out of this dilemma, however, by the use of a small model made of celluloid, or one of rubber, and by duplicating in a small way the problems facing them under practical conditions.

Now, instead of working with large dimensions and crude apparatus, the engineers resolve their measurements down even to one-millionth of an inch by means of fine optical gauges. The entire object of their study, formerly 60 feet high and 40 feet long, now is only 18 inches high and a little more than a half inch thick.

This is the invention of Prof. George I. Beggs of the department of civil engineering of Princeton University. It is a toy canyon of

PUSH BUTTON RADIO READY FOR MAKERS; GETS ANY STATION

Chicago, Ill.—The "push button" radio, which automatically selects stations, will be made available to any manufacturer who desires to use it, according to control rights on the latest radio invention.

McDonald acquired rights to the new radio from H. N. Marvin and A. J. Vassell, the New York inventors.

The device, literally, realizes the remark frequently made by radio fans, "pretty soon, all you'll have to do will be to push a button to get the station you want."

The new sets differ little in appearance from the ordinary ones. However, ten, twenty or more buttons constitute the tuning apparatus.

Lying abed in the evenings the auditor can touch a button and instantly tune in his favorite station, or switch stations instantly without tuning.

A panel, containing the tuning buttons, may be separated from the radio, according to Irving Henriott, associated with McDonald, and placed at any point in the house, if so designed.

Rights to the new tuning system will be leased to other manufacturers within a short time, according to McDonald.

One of the country's largest manufacturers of radio is understood to have begun negotiations for manufacturing rights to the "push button radio."

SCHOOL TO TRAIN PEERS HOW TO EARN A LIVING NEW LONDON FEATURE London.—A school which trains members of the peerage for executive positions in big business is one of the post-war developments of London.

In Britain there are many young peers, army and naval officers who through financial stringency have been forced to abandon their prospective careers and go out in the world to make money. This school teaches them the way to go about it.

TEACHERS OPEN FIGHT TO GAIN MORE FREEDOM

Chicago, Ill.—Declaring their individuality has been crushed under the heel of local school boards, American teachers are about to launch a fight for their personal freedom.

Blue laws will be attacked in a finish fight as the American Federation of Teachers in Chicago, June 25 to 29, according to Mrs. Florence Curtis Hanson, secretary-treasurer of the federation.

Have teachers the right to smoke cigarettes? Should they be allowed to wear flapping galoshes, bob their hair, wear becoming clothes and short skirts?

Should a school board be allowed to dictate the hour teachers should be tucked away in bed? Whatever the answer to these questions, the federation will attempt to find a means of lessening the autocratic sway of the school board members over the personal lives of teachers.

Early To Bed In some parts of the United States school teachers are required to be in bed at 8 p. m.

In other sections hair bobbing, galoshes, short skirts, and even the reading matter affected by teachers have given rise to stringent board rulings.

The most important service of the Teachers Federation is its protection of the individual rights of members," said Mrs. Hanson.

It is through the contract system that the liberties of school teachers are limited.

In Hoke, Michigan, for instance, women teachers are required to wear skirts to their ankles.

There are no 8 o'clock curfew rules for teachers in Chicago, but some of the city's suburbs require teachers to be in bed by 10 p. m. We are going to change such rules regarding personal liberties."

Throughout the country, according to Mr. Hanson, school boards have steadily encroached on the personal freedom until in some districts teachers are little more than patterns of what the board members think they should be.

The Merit System "Chicago teachers are interested in the merit system," Mrs. Hanson said. "They would like to have the protection of civil service. Teachers of this city, however, have been so long organized that they have little or no complaints of injustice."

But they do insist that they have a voice in the conduct of schools.

The suggestion that teachers be chosen on the merit system has been made several times by members of the federation, but has met with strenuous opposition. In several parts of the country legal battles have arisen when teachers broke contract agreements "to live their own lives," Mrs. Hanson said.

Bobbed-haired teachers, who smoke cigarettes in the privacy of their own homes, and who wear skirts in the mode length will be able to preside over classes without any interference in the future, if the federation succeeds in finding a way to pedagogy's freedom.

SHINGLE AND CIGARETTES CAUSE ENGLISH WOMEN TO STOP EATING CANDY London.—Shingle (trime and smoking) have so much affected the assumption of candy in Britain that the biggest candy manufacturing firms are making big cuts in prices.

Sir Harold Mackintosh, head of the famous Mackintosh candy-manufacturing firm says: "The confectionary trade has been severely hit recently by the modern trend of fashion."

The day has gone by when women would stay indoors all afternoon and evening and consume large quantities of candy. Today they think about their figures and ration themselves with perhaps one or two pieces, followed by a drink of lemon water to keep them slim.

The increase of smoking among women has also meant that fewer sweets are eaten. Again, the vast sums spent on hairdressing and on stockings by the modern miss has meant that less money is available for candy. We have to meet this competition and revise prices accordingly."

LINDBERGH BEACH IS OFFICIALLY NAMED BY COAST TOWN IN FRANCE Paris.—Saint Lo-d'Orville, a microscopic community on the Channel is the first town to be put on the map by trans-Atlantic flying. It now boasts a Lindbergh Beach. Imitators beware! Use of the name has been officially sanctioned by young Colonel Charles himself.

By a mere chance Lindbergh landed the Spirit of St. Louis at Saint Lo on the way home last summer simply because Saint Lo happened to be near Cherbourg where the airplane was dismantled and shipped home. At the request of Saint Lo's mayor, Commander Weiss, of Le Bourget, the Paris airport, asked Lindbergh to lend his name to the town. Now Saint Lo has undeniable proof of its historic importance and hopes, some day, to blossom out in rivalry to such fashionable seaside resorts as Deauville and La Baule.

The Marsebees were a family of Jewish leaders of the second century B. C.

ONLY 73 U. S. GIRLS MARRY FRENCHMEN IN A YEAR, FIGURES SHOW Paris.—Frenchmen do not easily "fall" for American girls, according to figures recently published in Paris which show that in the year 1927 only seventy-two "dollar-girls" were married to Frenchmen. On the other hand, American men show a decided liking for Frenchwomen. One hundred and sixty-two of them, more than double the former figure, found their wives in France during the same period of time.

Statistics show that during one year 11,181 French women married foreigners, the most numerous being Latin. Of the total, the Italians numbered 5,068; Spanish, 1,925 and German 1,073.

COSMIC RAY OF MILKY WAY IS NEWEST POWER

London.—The existence of cosmic rays, which come from beyond the Milky Way, and whose energy is one-tenth of the total energy coming into the earth's atmosphere in the form of starlight and heat, is said to be the latest discovery of power in another universe.

The thrilling story of the discovery of these extraordinary rays is told by Professor R. A. Millikan, the expert astronomer, in an article published in Nature, the British scientific magazine.

Startling Discovery

Classing the rays as the most startling discovery of modern science, Professor Millikan claims they are capable of penetrating 190 feet of water and sixteen feet of lead before their energy is completely absorbed.

The existence of these rays was first brought to light in 1903 by two astronomers, McLennan and Rutherford. But it was then generally believed that they originated from some nearby region or planet, and the rays were forgotten until 1910 when a Swiss physicist, Geckel, took an enclosed electroscope in a balloon to a height of nearly 15,000 feet, and found that the radiation was higher than at the surface of the earth.

Since then astronomers all over the world have tried to trace the source of the rays. In 1921, Professor Millikan made his first experiments when he sent up sounding balloons to a height of nearly ten miles—more than nine-tenths of the way to the top of our atmosphere. He reached this experiment again in 1922 and then in 1925, assisted by a Mr. Cameron, he made further experiments in deep, high-altitude, snow-fed lakes.

Andes Experiments

During 1926 and the latter part of last year, he carried out experiments in the Bolivian Andes, in altitudes up to 15,400 feet.

As a result of his many experiments, coupled with the data gathered by other star-gazers, Professor Millikan states that it is quite impossible to limit the source of the rays to the upper tenth of our atmosphere or to any astronomically nearby region.

"There is no possible way of assigning the rays to any other than a cosmic origin," concludes the Professor. "These rays must come from another universe, beyond the sun, moon, and stars, which have no appreciable influence on their radiation."

TWO GRASS FIRES CALL SOUTH END FIREMEN

Department Officials Again Warn Public Against Starting Blazes.

Two more grass fires were added to the long total yesterday and today in the south end of the town. Hose Company No. 1 extinguished a fire at 3:15 yesterday on Foley street and Hose Company No. 3 answered a still alarm at 87 Spruce street at 10 o'clock this morning.

Chief Foy reiterates his warning against starting fires of leaves or grass in vacant lots. The season of fires is on and from now on there will be more of them, the chief says.

Fire department officials have said that they expect more grass fires this year in Manchester than ever before because of the light snowfall during the winter. The ground is dry and the leaves never became thoroughly saturated. As a result, there is an ever present danger of serious fires starting from rubbish or grass fires which have been set by householders in the spring cleaning period.

MRS. C. B. CHENEY LOSES AUTO ACCIDENT SUIT

Judge Thomas J. Molloy in Court of Common Pleas at Hartford, yesterday gave judgment for L. Ger-shal's Sons, Inc., of East Hartford, against Mrs. Catherine B. Cheney of this town to recover $260.22 as a result of an accident occurring on Main street, East Hartford, in June 1926.

Mrs. Cheney's car was driven at the time by her son, Stuart B. R. Cheney. Judge Molloy held that the Cheney car did not have the right of way when the collision happened.

The process of manufacturing ice was discovered by a Florida physician, Dr. John B. Gorrie.

LONDONER SAYS U. S. MEN MUST LEARN TO DRESS

New York.—American men have the best figures in the world but they have yet to learn how to dress. In the opinion of Captain John A. Murdock of London, authority on styles, who has just completed a lecture tour in this country.

"You Americans, however, are improving," said Captain Murdock. "I made a trip through this country fifteen months ago and was shocked by some of the get ups but I noticed, on this last trip a great change for the better. There still is room for improvement.

"I personally think there is too much of the college men's influence in the clothes worn by men in the United States. Too many business men are dressing themselves up in one and two button college suits of snappy color when a conservative cut and color would set them off to much better advantage.

Flare and Color

"There is too much of a tendency for flare and color. If American men toned down on colors and went in less for novelties in clothes design they would be better dressed men in the world."

Captain Murdock said that in his travels throughout the country he saw glaring examples of lack of knowledge of the etiquette of clothes. He saw hundreds of colored ties, some of them very flamboyant. He also saw men wearing dinner ties of black touched with grey or else highly figured.

He advised men in this country to wear certain shoes with certain clothes. Brown shoes do not go with black clothes, although brown shoes will look alright with almost any other color.

He Was Shocked

To Murdock the wearing of plus fours and sport shoes are ridiculous. He is somewhat shocked, too, upon noting that some American men wear dinner coats on formal occasions when women are present. He insisted they should wear the white tie and the long tail coat. As for the tuxedo, he pointed out that even it was not a thing to get too gay with—that everything must still be black and white—no lowered ties or fancy waistcoats.

Evening shoes should be of patent leather. And nobody wears pumps any more.

"It is quite an art to know what to wear and how to wear it," said Captain Murdock. "It is well worth studying. Clothes may not make the man, but they certainly make an impression."

NEW FUNERAL HOME TO BE OPENED BY JUNE

William P. Quish, well known Manchester undertaker, said today that he expected to open his new combined home and funeral parlor at Main and Hollister streets the latter part of May or the first of June. There will be a three-day public opening during which everyone in town will be cordially invited to view the funeral home.

Plasterers will finish their work tomorrow and all that will then remain to be done is the finish of the interior and exterior. A striking feature of the new funeral home will be its old English brick entrance. The establishment will include an all-day morgue with a special entrance.

There are fourteen rooms in the building, which has been erected by Henry Mitrle. Mr. and Mrs. Quish and family will make their home on the second story. At present, they live on Haynes street.

PUBLIC RECORDS

The following papers were filed for public record in the office of the Town Clerk today:

WARRANTEE DEEDS

Edward J. Holl to George L. Fish, Benton street property, 50 by 126 feet, restricted until 1950 to single houses costing $4,500 or double houses costing $8,500.

Rudolph Byzmark to Ralph J. Thrall, et al., property on Phelps road, restricted until 1960 to single houses costing not less than $5,000.

LEASE

Joseph Skavinsky to the Hartman Tobacco Company of Hartford, land comprising eight acres at 595 Hilltown road for a period of one year at a rental of $400.

turned to the investigation of the cactus as a substitute producer. The situation began to look not so good. America, in a way of speaking, was selling the rubber situation short.

LUNCH "WAGONS" So rapid is the whirligig of change that we find such an erudite editorship as that of the New York World enquiring about the origin of the "lunch wagon."

At a guess we will put the genesis of the lunch wagon at sometime about the middle eighties. And we will lay down the proposition that the lunch wagon was not the cause of the hot dog but the result.

First-off, in the idiom of those days, the hot dog was peddled from portable steam kettles, the peddler carrying the kettle slung from one arm, his basket of rolls, butter and mustard pot from the other.

Presently many hot dog peddlers conceived the idea of rigging up an old wagon with a canvas top and with a kind of a ticket office window in it, from which to sell his hot dogs instead of standing on a corner and freezing-between sales.

It was some studious rival of this bird who said to himself, "I can lick that idea." He built himself a wagon big enough to accommodate four or five customers—inside instead of on the walk.

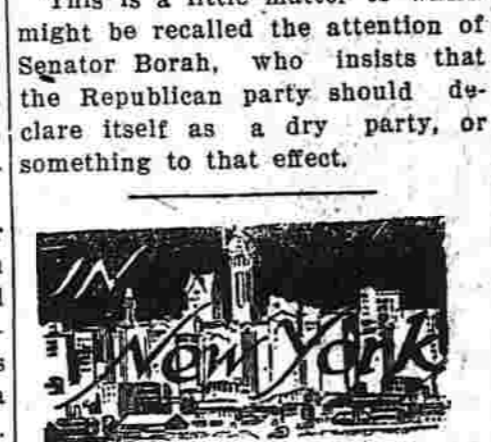

When the old wagons wore out or became obsolete with the increasing tendency to size and elaborateness of fixtures, other structures took the place of the actual wagons, clinging only to the shadow of the original idea in form.

greatest value, it seems to us, lies in its failure—because it demonstrated that Borah, whose stock in trade is largely an appeal to public fancy, is not always a good guesser in matters of mass psychology.

New York, April 5—Borah may be a year "The Village" has wondered what became of "Tiny Tim." He was a character of characters in the days when Greenwich Village was bizarre, naughty, snacked of the French Latin Quarter; when Floyd Dell and Edna St. Vincent Millay were putting it on the map; when Guido Bruno's garret was a gathering place for the cognoscenti; days of Hippolyte Havel and the brigandish-looking Marchand of Romany Maries; of Harry Kemp, the vagabond poet, and Polly Holaday, who ran the most famous of Bobbie Edwards and his inevitable cigar-box ukuleles; of Alfred Kreymborg, poet and essayist, and all the old-time who's who.

In those days, then, Tiny Tim began to appear at certain cafes that were starting to cater to sight-seeing bus trade. He would walk in with a shoulder tray slung over his arm and a great number of little packages of "candy." This candy was like more than the usual variety on jelly beans, but Tiny Tim called them "soul candy."

The other day, sitting in one of the more ancient coffee houses,

HUMAN RACE IS IN ITS INFANCY SCIENTIST TELLS

London.—Astonishing figures illustrating the age of the earth, the size of the universe, and the radiation of energy from the stars, were given by Dr. J. H. Jeans, secretary of the Royal Society, in a recent lecture before the Royal Society of Arts here.

Among the most remarkable of his computations were the following:

The life in front of the human race is so enormous that humanity must be regarded as a three-days' old infant who has yet to reach three score years and ten.

So numerous are the stars in the universe that the same number of grains of sand scattered over England would make a layer hundreds of yards in depth. Our earth is one-millionth part of such a grain of sand.

Are Densely Packed The heaviest stars are so densely packed that a handful of their matter would weigh about ten tons.

Energy radiated from each square inch of the sun's surface is sufficient to keep a 50-horsepower engine continuously in motion.

Illustrating the amount of energy made available by radiation, Dr. Jeans said that the annihilation of a pound of coal a week would produce as much energy as the combustion of the 5,000,000 tons a week which are mined in the British Isles. A single drop of oil would take the Mauretania across the Atlantic.

Dr. Jeans estimated that the age of the earth far exceeded the 300,000 years or so of man's existence. He said he believed it to be in the neighborhood of 2,000,000,000 years.

"A million million years hence so far as we can foresee," he declared, "the sun will still be much as now, and the earth will be revolving around it much as now. The year will be a little longer, and the climate quite a lot colder, while the rich accumulated stores of coal, oil, and forest will have long been burnt up, but there is no reason why our descendants should not still people the earth."

Sun Weighs Less "Perhaps it may be unable to support so large a population as now, and perhaps fewer will desire to live on it. On the other hand, mankind, being three million times as old as now, may—of the conjecture does not distress our pessimists too much—he also three million times as wise.

Radiation of energy, Dr. Jeans said, was annihilating the sun's mass at the rate of 250,000,000 tons a minute. Consequently, as the sun has no source of replenishment, it must weigh 30,000,000 tons less today than it did yesterday.

"Thus observation and theory agree in indicating that the universe is melting away into radiation," he continued. "Our position is that of polar bears on an iceberg that has broken loose from the ice pack surrounding the pole, and is inexorably melting away as the iceberg drifts to warmer latitudes and ultimate extinction."

POLICE COURT

Carl E. Custer of 41 Hamlin street was found guilty by Judge Raymond A. Johnson in the Manchester police court this morning, of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. A fine of $100 and costs was imposed which was paid. Custer was placed under arrest about 9 o'clock last evening at the Center by Patrolman Joseph Prentice, who noticed that his headlights were poor and when he stopped him on this account he found the man was intoxicated. He was taken to the police station where he was examined by Dr. Holmes.

Patrolman Prentice, Captain Schendel who was on the desk at the time and Doctor Holmes all testified that the man was intoxicated and not fit to drive a car. Custer maintained that he was fit to drive, that he knew one of his headlights was out after he left McKee street. He said he intended to have it fixed immediately, he admitted drinking some whiskey but said it was not enough to interfere with his driving.

William Carr was arrested last night for intoxication. He spent the better part of the night in the police station but even this morning was not sober enough to appear in court. The judge continued his case until tomorrow morning.

BIG WEEK END BILL SHOWING AT STATE

Galaxy of Stars Provide Entertainment Today, Tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday; Vaudeville on Saturday.

With Marion Davies here today and tomorrow in "The Patsy," two features Saturday including "Two Flaming Youths" with Chester Conklin and W. C. Fields, along with five big acts of vaudeville and Mary Pickford here on Sunday. "My Best Girl" the State theater is presenting one of the best week-end bills in its history.

"The Patsy" is the story of a girl who is a younger sister and as such is shoved into the background as far as boys are concerned. The older sister must be married first and the younger one gets no chance to get her man.

"The Patsy," whose name was Patricia when she was born but has been changed because of her hoydenish ways, is Marion Davies. She is a boisterous girl who is becoming more so she sets out to get her man just the same.

From that point on the story moves fast and furiously. She butts into her sister's love affair and in the end comes, through with the older sister who wants. He doesn't know he wants her for she makes up her mind for both of them. It is really a first-class wholesome comedy and good entertainment. It was taken from the stage play by Barry Norton, which enjoyed a season's run in the Booth theater, New York City.

The features at the State on Saturday are "Two Flaming Youths" and "The Law of the Range." The former has that inimitable team of comedians, W. C. Fields and Chester Conklin in the leading parts while the latter is the story of a girl who has helped to make William Haines' features so good. Others in the cast are Rex Lease, Tenen Holtz and Bodil Rosing.

Sunday's feature is considered one of the best films to be released this year, "My Best Girl," with America's Sweetheart, Mary Pickford, in the leading role. That is really enough said.

GALLIVAN'S FUNERAL

Boston, Mass., April 5.—Thousands of friends of "Jimmy" Gallivan, both great and humble, today paid their last honors to the beloved Congressman.

Nation, state and city joined in honoring the South Boston representative. At the pier for its journey from the home to St. Augustine's church, Dorchester, were Harvard graduates of bygone days, members of military, civic and patriotic organizations and a Congressional delegation from Washington.

Soldiers of the 101st infantry, "Jimmy's" best loved military unit, arrived to bear on their shoulders the flag-draped casket.

After services at the church, came interment at Holyhood cemetery. Brookline. Arrangements were made for a short funeral service in the Dorchester church today, because it is Good Thursday. After Easter a solemn high mass of requiem will be sung in the same church.

The tramp dived out, slammed the door, bolted it and left the policeman imprisoned for the night while he went his way to seek him another bed.

Mrs. Charles Bachelor who has been spending some time with her daughter Mrs. Emma Crandall of Grant's Hill district has returned to her home in Bridgeport, Conn.

MALDEN, MASS., GIVES WINDOW FOR CHURCH IN MALDEN, ENGLAND

Malden, Mass.—Preparations to present a magnificent and richly colored memorial window to the All Saints' Church of Malden, England, are being made by the inhabitants of this city. The presentation is a tribute to Lawrence Washington, great-grandfather of George Washington, who is buried in the picturesque and quaint little graveyard of the English church.

Governor Alvan T. Fuller, a native of Malden, according to his present plans will be in Malden, England, at the time the window is to be presented, probably in the middle of July.

Ambassador, Alanson B. Houghton has written William H. Winslow, chairman of the committee of Malden citizens, that he will gladly handle all arrangements in connection with the presentation of the window in England.

The suggestion that the ancestor of George Washington be thus honored was made when Malden was celebrating its 275th anniversary. At that time the Rev. Isaac Lothian Seymour, vicar of All Saints' Church, Malden, England, was a special guest here. During his visit he brought out the fact that Lawrence Washington was buried there, but that nothing marked the spot to indicate it.

Citizens of Malden jointly with the Washington-Sulgrave Institution of New York, decided on the window and went ahead with plans for the presentation, which is expected to arouse international interest.

The window itself depicts "Patriotism," "Freedom," and "Colonization," each dividing to occupy one of the three compartments comprising the beautiful window.

Such notable and outstanding monuments as the Statue of Liberty, the Minute Man of Concord and the arms of Middlesex county where Malden, Mass., is located; the Liberty Bell at Philadelphia, the Washington Monument at Washington, D. C., and the Lion of England and the Eagle of America are also reproduced in miniature likeness on the window.

In addition to the dedication of the window, will be the placing of a tablet outside and beneath the window relating the facts concerning the presentation.

GROUPING TELEPHONE WIRES INTO CABLES

Southern New England Telephone Company linemen are hard at work changing the overhead wires in Manchester to cables. A cable less than an inch thick is taking the place of a bunch of wires that would be much greater in girth.

These cables will be re-routed through the new conduits which the company plans to put into service soon on the Silver Lane road to Hartford. It was said today by workmen on the job that the change to the cables will be used on practically every street in Manchester.

INDIVIDUAL AVERAGE RACE AND CELLAR FIGHT TONIGHT

Herald Bowling League Comes to Close Tonight; Masons and Cubs Clash; Cervini Favored to Hold Average Lead.

The Cubs, who last week lost their pennant chances when Highland Park outped them off once, will have an opportunity to make the final league "standing show" when they meet the Herald tonight. The Herald team, which has won the championship but a one-point margin, will have to make good on its promise to the league winners at Murphy's Alleys. Last time these teams met, the Masons won everything, so the Cubs have no easy sleighing ahead. The Masons are leading by five points and stand a good chance of making the gap larger.

Chief interest tonight will center about the individual average battle between Frank Cervini and Tommy Conran. Ernie Wilkie, Joe Canade and Howard Murphy. The former, however, stands an excellent chance of capturing the bunting unless he slips badly while his rivals hit the timber.

Another outcome which will be watched with eager interest is the battle for last place. At present, both the Knights of Pythias and Highland Park teams are tied for last place. Tonight's schedule favors Highland Park to get out of the cellar but anything may happen. The K. of P. is determined not to falter.

Several other places in the final league standing are at stake and some interesting battles are looked forward to. The Beethoven and Center Church will roll off their postponed match after the regular matches at Murphy's alleys.

Following are the up-to-date figures of the leading pinsters:

Games	Pinfall	Avg.
Frank Cervini	.61	6368	104.25
Tommy Conran	.57	5924	103.53

Local Sport Chatter

The final leg of the twenty game bowling match between Howard Murphy and Bert Humphries to be rolled in Thompsonville last night was postponed until next Tuesday night. Murphy's illness necessitated the postponement.

Regardless of the fact that Bristol is Manchester's greatest baseball rival, a Herald news bulletin telling of Bristol's opening victory in the national tournament at Chicago which was read at the town series game at the armory, was roundly applauded. Bristol beat Manchester in the semi-finals of the Yale tourney.

There was little sorrow expressed when the news of Naugatuck's defeat in its first game became known here last night.

The Heights baseball team will practice at the Heights Bowl at 8 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. All members of last year's team and any new candidates desiring a try-out are requested to report.

Speaking of all-star combinations, here's one that wouldn't be so bad: Mantell and Bissell or Holland forwards, Stavitsky, center, Madden and Benson, guards. Two other men who would round out the squad nicely would be Farr and Norris.

Owing to an error in the composing room, the slug bearing the name of Madden and his score in the town series game was omitted from the summary of the Rec-Community game. It read "4, 1-2, 9," making him the high scorer for his team. Sorry, Harold. It surely wasn't intentional.

Billy Taylor, sensational Hartford welterweight, is working out at the School Street daily taking boxing instructions from Frankie Busch. His manager, Dave Hayes, accompanies Taylor each day. This Taylor chap faces a promising future if he is worked along step by step.

WAGNER VS. MANDELL
Detroit, Mich., April 5.—One month before Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion of the world, places his title in jeopardy in New York against Jimmy McLarnin, the title holder battles Eddie (Kid) Wagner of Philadelphia, here.

Dick Dunn closed the Wagner-Mandell affair which is a non-titular contest, the weight being 139 pounds—four pounds over the lightweight limit. Mandell clashes with Wagner here April 17 and meets McLarnin in the Polo Grounds May 17 in a contest that expects to set a record gate for lightweights.

Al Falls for Nick!

Washington Clowns Fear They'll Have to Defend Polo Cup This Year.

GREAT horsemen and superb polo players are Nick Altrock and Al Schacht! Hearing of the injuries sustained by Devereux Milburn and Tommy Hitchcock, two of America's Big Four, Nick and Ay went into training to be ready if they are needed to defend the polo cup next year. Al's horse must have moved slightly because the saddle is empty and Nick can be seen clutching leather desperately with his left hand to be prepared if his mount should start to walk. The horses look tame.

STRAIGHT VICTORIES BY REC SHOULD HELP BASKETBALL HERE

The fact that the Rec Five won the town basketball championship in two straight games will probably do a lot toward helping the game another season.

Of course, when two teams meet in a championship series, three games are played. Too many times, in fact. Everybody knows that there is more money in three games than two. That is kindergarten arithmetic.

After the Rec had won the first game 23 to 17, there was all kinds of talk to the effect that the Community would win the next game; that it was "in the bag," so to speak. Even when Manager Ben Clune broadcast advice to Rec supporters to bet on his team to win the second game—that he was doing "it" same—even then, there were many who had their doubts.

Then when the Community made its great bid for victory in the second half of the game at the armory slicing a 22 to 13 Rec lead until the Community was ahead 24 to 22, there were plenty of spectators who were inclined to believe that the Rec was taking it easy so that a third game would be necessary.

They did not stop to realize that the players do not get one cent of cash above their "eats"; that the profits go to the Recreation Center and Community Club treasurers. A third game would not have benefited the players in the least. In fact, it would have been the height of folly for the Rec to throw the second game.

No, the boys went in there, both the Rec and the Community, and fought for all they were worth, principally for "the love of the game" and the honor of winning the town championship. Both teams are deserving of a lot of confidence and respect from the fans and another year, basketball should be even more of a success than it has been this season.

PREACHER FAVORS BOXING

HEYDLER EXPLAINS BASEBALL'S RULES

Sends Out Instructions to His Umpires Before the Season Starts.

New York, April 5.—Disputes concerning the interpretation of baseball rules of National League umpires are expected to be decreased this season by the annual instruction, sent out today by President John A. Heydler to his staff of fourteen umpires. President Heydler laid down concise and clear interpretation of points which puzzled some of his arbiters last season.

One ruling probably will increase the number of home runs in the senior circuit this season. President Heydler told his umpires that a ball hit into any stand or over any inside fence at least 250 feet from the home plate should be called fair or foul according to where it passes from the actual playing field. The front of the stand or the inside fence instead of the spot where the ball strikes the stand, will guide the umpire in determining whether the hit is fair or foul.

Legitimate Homers
This means that hits which curve into foul territory and strike some visible object will be legitimate homers provided they are fair hits when they pass the actual playing field. Sluggers such as Chick Hafey of the St. Louis Cardinals whose hits travel close to the foul line and hook or slice like golf drives will benefit by the ruling. A ball hit outside the grounds is to be judged from the point where it disappears from the umpire's view.

President Heydler enjoined his umpires to "keep their eyes on the ball," warned them not to call plays too quickly, and advised them to study the rules daily. Other instructions were: "Do not turn away too fast when a fielder is throwing to complete a double play."

Watch out for those dropped balls after you have called a man out.

Don't Get Excited
"If you are sure you got the play correctly, do not be stampeded by the appeals of players to ask the other umpire for his decision on the play. Keep your temper. Be courteous, but firm."

President Heydler ruled that when a scoring runner passes the catcher but fails to touch the plate, the catcher or fielder does not need to chase the runner to the bench. The runner should be declared out on appeal by the fielder.

One new ruling is: There is a runner on first base and three balls have been called on the batsman. The runner starts to steal on the next pitch, which is called a ball, and he overslides second base. If the catcher's throw gets him before he gets back to the bag, he is out.

If ropes are stretched around the field to hold back an overflow crowd, a fielder cannot jump over or climb under the ropes to catch the ball. He may reach over the ropes, however. Similarly, a catcher or fielder cannot jump into the stand or a box to catch a foul ball.

What We Think In Sports

By THOMAS W. STOWE

Captain Harold Madden, cool-headed and clever leader of the Rec Five, says that in his opinion the reason why the south end team didn't beat the Community Club as badly as had been expected was largely because Jerry Fay got tap at center most of the time and because the players on both teams were too well acquainted with each other. He admits that the north end outfit was much under-rated, and even goes so far as to say that, individually speaking, the Community players had the edge on the Rec in some ways. Madden doesn't take any credit away from his team's two victories, and furthermore, believes that scores of the games didn't reveal the true strength of the Community. He figures if the same two teams were to meet without any of the players knowing each other, that the Rec would win by a much more convincing score.

And when one stops to reason it out with the common sense he cannot help but admit that the Rec pit is at least partially right in his stand. That is to say, Fay's height and defensive work played a much more prominent factor in the Community's unexpected success than many are aware. True, Jerry didn't look so good on the offense, failing to score a single field goal in the two games, but he surely kept the north end outfit chuck-eyed all of pep. Taking into consideration that this is the first time that the Community has won a game since they were so greatly mistaken, that the north has been able to compare with the south in basketball and then coming so close to winning the series was a tribute to Fay. Starting the season with a list of candidates that would have discouraged any coach, Jerry did not give up hope. And as a reward, he succeeded in moulding together a combination that made a creditable bid for the town championship.

Now that the smoke of the battle has cleared and we are all good friends again, there are many that are in line for a word of credit for their bit in bringing about the revival of basketball in Manchester after several dismal years marked with financial failure. Director Lewis Lloyd and Manager Ben Clune should not be overlooked. This pair deserve the bulk of the credit. Despite reports that their efforts would be in vain, this pair organized a basketball club that is a distinct credit to Manchester. They have brought the sport back to the popularity it once held. And the chances of basketball going over even bigger next season are good. Without the services of a coach, the Rec has made remarkable progress winning all but three of its fifteen or so games.

One of the inside secrets in the outstanding work of Harold Madden and George Stavitsky, rival captains and star performers for their respective teams, is that both take good care of themselves physically and get plenty of sleep. Many of the young men who indulge in sports in Manchester "hit the hay" before 9 o'clock at night? The answer is obvious. Very few. Well, put this in your pipe and smoke it. Stavitsky and Madden often crawl between themselves long before that hour. Perhaps it sounds like a fairy tale, but 'tis true, nevertheless. If more of our young athletes would follow their example, they would make more headway in the field of sports.

Perhaps keeping in good physical condition has a lot to do with making it possible for them to be rated as the two best basketball players in Manchester today. Stavitsky gets the first call because of his all-around natural ability. Stavitsky is one of the most promising players developed in Manchester in recent years at least. His deceptive floorwork when he feints in one direction, pivots and goes around his opponent in toward the basket like a streak of lightning is a treat to watch. In one way it was too bad that a splendid little player of Elmo Mantell's type had to be pitted against Stavitsky in the series. The latter's size combined with his ability were too big a handicap for Elmo to overcome. Had these two men not played against each other, it is quite probable that Mantell's efforts would have been far more fruitful.

For, there is no denying Mantell is a slick proposition on the basketball floor. Elmo's worst fault is a tendency to resort to individual playing. For this reason largely, the writer places both Stavitsky and Madden ahead of him. When he is going right, however, Mantell compares with the best of them. Of the three, Madden seems the most consistent player. Regardless of how exciting the contest may be or how close the score may read, the blond-haired Rec leader can invariably be relied upon to steady his team and stave off impending defeat. He is a good scorer and a defensive player. All three men were developed by Wilfred J. Clarke, High School coach. Stavitsky made his debut with the old Atlas team, which Clarke says was the hardest-working team he ever coached. Mantell and Madden both rose into prominence in high school. Stavitsky wasn't good enough for the school team during his four years there. It was not until afterward that his real ability was discovered and improved.

Al Dowd, local featherweight boxer who has compiled a creditable record in the squared arena this season, may fight in New York City soon, Frankie Busch said today.

STRAIN OF FIRST TWO GAMES MAY CAUSE BRISTOL TO CRACK

At Least, That is Belief Here, Although Manchester is "Pulling" Hard For Rival to Win National Basketball Title.

Although highly elated because its traditional rival, Bristol High, has won its opening two games in the National Inter-scholastic Tournament at Chicago, fans here are inclined to believe that the mental strain of those hectic struggles will prove a handicap to the Bell City hoopers in their next game or games.

In its first game, Bristol trailed all the way from the first score until the last minute of play and yet had the power to win 28 to 21 with other four field goals in the last minute from Miami, Ariz. Last night, they won a torrid struggle from Pine Bluff, Ark., by one point, 14 to 13 when "Sugar" Hugret dropped in a four in the last half-minute of play for Bristol's only score in the fourth quarter.

Tonight, Bristol plays Carr Creek, Ky. If memory serves us right, this is the team that comes from a little hamlet up in the Kentucky hills with an enrollment of about forty students. They have a great ranga team; one that sprung the biggest surprise of the tournament last night when it defeated Austin, Texas, heavy favorites to win the title, 25 to 18. Naugatuck High, the only other Connecticut entry, was eliminated by Ashland, Ky., 20 to 13. It is believed that three or four more victories would give Bristol the United States title. However, their chances of going much further are not believed to be any too good. In last night's game, Zetarski caged all of Bristol's four field goals, Hugret got two fouls and Rao, four.

Chicago, April 5.—The east had one lone hope today in the free-for-all battle being waged at the University of Chicago for the inter-scholastic basketball championship of the United States. That one hope is pinned on a husky quintet from Bristol, Connecticut, a half dozen other eastern teams have been routed by southern and western five.

Bristol gave a noble exhibition of skillful cage play last night when it defeated Pine Bluff, Ark. The score was 14 to 13. The easterners meet the tough Carr Creek, Kentucky five in a third round game today. The Carr Creek boys have been one of the sensations of the tourney to date.

Blindfolded . . . in scientific test of leading Cigarettes, Princess Paul Chavchavadze selects OLD GOLD

"I was much intrigued by the invitation to make a blindfold test of your leading brands of American cigarettes, to see how they compared with each other and with those I had smoked abroad. Could one really taste the difference? I wondered.

"But when I was handed these cigarettes, one by one, I realized at once that there was a difference and that the test was conclusive. One cigarette was so much more appealing, so much more delicate in flavor. Oh, and so much smoother!

"When the test was over and I was told that the cigarette of my choice was Old Gold I understood at once why this cigarette is so popular among my American friends."

Princess Paul Chavchavadze

PRINCESS PAUL CHAVCHAVADZE, Sister of Mrs. Wm. B. Leeds

How Test Was Made
Subject was blindfolded, and, in the presence of two responsible witnesses, was given one each of the four leading cigarettes to smoke. To clear the taste, coffee was served before each cigarette. The Princess was entirely unaware of the identity of these cigarettes during test. After smoking the four cigarettes, the Princess was asked to designate by number her choice. Without hesitation she replied, "No. 3," which was OLD GOLD.

Newsy Notes From The Training Camps

Knoxville, Tenn., April 5.—Babe Ruth has hit two homers in as many days remaining games of the New York Yankees are whaling the ball, but poor pitching has resulted in a long string of defeats for the world's champions. They got 14 hits yesterday, including Ruth's second homer of the season, but Nashville's wounded Shealey and Moore nosed out the Yanks in the tenth, 11 to 10. The New Yorkers play Knoxville today.

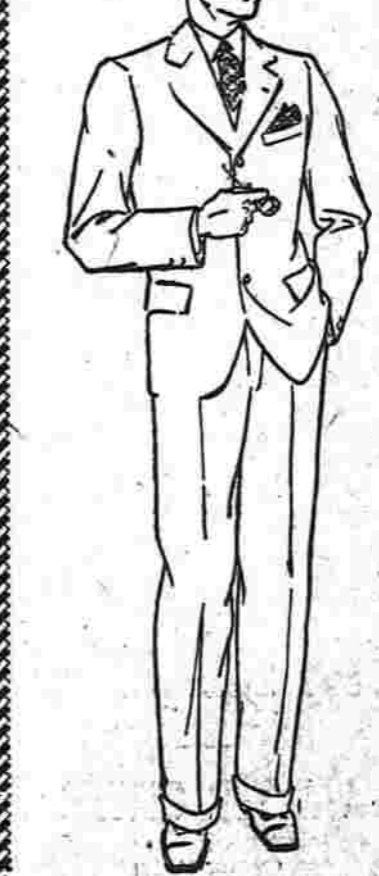

Charlotte, N. C., April 5.—The Washington Senators must win their four remaining games of the New York Giants to capture the spring series between the two clubs. The Giants, in winning their eleventh straight game at Greenview yesterday, made it four out of five from the Nationals. Led by Lindstrom, who clouted four hits including a home run, the New Yorkers battered Griffin and Zachary and took a 9 to 7 verdict.

Atlanta, Ga., April 5.—Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn's mound ace, has temporarily lost his cunning. He was touched for eleven hits in five innings by the Atlanta Crackers here yesterday and the Robins were nosed out, nine to eight, after they had overcome a seven-run lead by scoring eight runs in the third inning. The Robins will endeavor to square accounts with the Crackers today.

Louisville, Ky., April 5.—The White Sox continued their winning streak against the Colonels of the American Association taking the first game here 5 to 2. Ten innings were required to turn the trick. The Sox won on six hits against ten for Louisville. Barnabe and Adkins did the Sox huriling.

Kansas City, Mo., April 5.—Chicago's clever Cubs were set today to launch their final exhibition series of the training season. The Kansas City Blues are the expected victims. The Bruins have won 14 out of their 18 training games to date. They expect to make it 18 out of 20 before leaving here.

Yankees Due To Slip This Year Says Evans

Yet Huggins' Crew is Favored to Annex Title Again, But By Smaller Margin.

By BILLY EVANS

Stop those Yankees—that is the pet slogan of every American League club.

Drop around, ask the manager in charge of any team what he thinks of the American League race and the gist of every reply will be along these lines:

If they can stop the Yankees, the pennant chase should be an interesting affair.

But can the seven other clubs in the American league stop the Yankees? That remains to be seen. Certainly no one will have the temerity to dispute the assertion that New York should repeat.

On form, the Yanks are a hot favorite to again win the American League pennant. It is unquestionably the best balanced club in the organization. It has real class. The Yanks should win again, but not by nearly so great a margin as last season.

Yankees Due to Slip

There are four reasons why New York shouldn't make such a run-away race as in 1927. The first deals merely with the law of averages. The second has to do with the pitching staff. The third centers around the two king-pin sluggers of baseball, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig. The fourth concerns the schedule.

Last season, New York won something like 50 games from three clubs: St. Louis, Boston and Cleveland. Of these victories, 21 were scored in 22 starts against the St. Louis Browns. The rest were about equally divided between Cleveland and Boston. Here is where the law of averages comes in.

It isn't in the books for New York to again beat St. Louis 21 games out of 22. Incidentally, all the victories scored over the Browns were successive wins. It is a rarity for any major league club to be such easy pickings. Likewise, Cleveland and Boston will present far more formidable opposition. That takes care of the law of averages angle.

Veterans Came Through

New York last year received consistently good pitching from its veterans. In addition, Wilsey Moore, working his first year, proved to be the greatest relief pitcher in the majors, while George Piggas, after several years of experimenting, finally arrived.

New York's veteran pitchers will be no better than last season, probably less effective. It is folly to believe that Moore will be as hard to beat.

One of these days the Yankees' veteran staff will collapse and the team will work under a tremendous handicap, unless the ever-resourceful Huggins has satisfactory replacements. Rival managers are patiently awaiting a collapse of said staff.

Outstanding as sluggers extraordinary, it is hard to see how Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig can unloose more power at the bat than they did last year. Their hectic struggle for home-run honors will live for years as baseball drama.

Schedule is Changed

The schedule last season favored the Yanks, since it called for a number of games in the early spring between Boston and New York, at a time when the Red Sox were weak and New York correspondingly strong. This year, the Yanks will face the Athletics and Washington more often as an early spring menu and it shouldn't be so soft.

New York is unquestionably the one best bet of the year in the majors, but take it from me the opposition is going to be far stronger and the Yanks don't win breezily as they did last year.

Just a few days ago, a Rice Institute sprinter named Claude Bracey ran the hundred in 9.5-10 seconds at the Texas relays. A stiff wind aided him down the track. His record probably won't be sanctioned as official, but—what about Bracey?

"It is no flash—the kid is good," says Claude Rothgeb, athletic director, now at Rice and former Illinois athlete.

Rothgeb should know his 18-year-old youngster. And he does. He tells you about Bracey in cold words of previous performances. Bracey, as a high school sprinter, was one of the best in the state. As a college sprinter, he has held his own.

Only recently he took part in the annual indoor carnival staged by Illinois. He ran the 75-yard event, something new to him. The record time up to that meet was 7.6. He had to run in five heats. He made 7.8 in his first try, then 7.7, then 7.8, then 7.7, and finally 7.8. And in the finals a Notre Dame runner won by a hair by breaking the record with a mark of 7.4.

Rothgeb, while satisfied with Bracey's performance to date, thinks the youngster will develop into one of the greatest sprinters in the world within a few years if he will work towards that goal. He already is considered a good bet for the Olympic team this summer.

When California adds 20,000 more seats to their Memorial Stadium, they then will have the largest stadium in the world.

Soldiers' Field at Chicago has accommodated 110,000 at a football game, but seats only a few more than 90,000 people. Stanford's stadium seats 88,000 and Yale's great bowl accommodates 84,000. California plans to beat that.

The stadium now accommodates more than 80,000 fans, and a new double-deck will add 20,000 seats, giving more than 100,000 seats to be had for football games.

The cost of the addition will be approximately $750,000.

For the second year in succession, "Helmie" Groh will captain the Illinois swimming team this season. Groh deserves the honor as he is Big Ten diving champion and was runner-up for the national title in 1927.

By DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, April 5.—If early speed could be made to mean anything more than it usually does, which is approximately nothing, the New York Giants and the Chicago Cubs would figure today to make a two-club matter of the National League event this season. This pair is running riot through its exhibition schedules and without question both of them are yards beyond the rest of the field in the matter of spring development.

That goes for both leagues, too, as the Yanks, Senators and Red Sox have fared poorly or not at all in their inter-league series; the Athletics and Browns have done nothing about what to ring the gong in the old town belfry and the Tigers, White Sox and Indians have been occupied largely with Minor League outifts.

Compared with the Giants and Cubs, the champion Pirates and the ex-champion Cardinals have looked simply immense—like a flat foot in a florist's window. The Pirates, as a matter of fact, have furnished much of the sustenance for the Cubs' record of fourteen victories in their sixteen exhibition games, the 1927 champions having been knocked off for five straight up to yesterday.

Spring Speed

This performance might come as slightly more acceptable to McCarthy if it happened in September instead of March but it represents fairly enough the spring speed of the two contenders, at that. The answer is that "Kiki" Cuyler and Hack Wilson have gone on a hitting debauch and this, added to excellent pitching, has sent the Cubs careening along at a mad pace. If they really have infield weaknesses, these will become more apparent when Cuyler and Wilson decide to step back into character.

This, they must inevitably do, unless we have misjudged them these several years. Nobody, for example, could expect Cuyler to maintain his crazy pace of the first 14 games, during which he scored no less than 22 runs, got 26 hits for 51 total bases, socked 7 home runs, and batted .434. Meantime, Wilson was getting six homers in his first 12 games and batting .381. How could the Cubs go along with that kind of hitting behind steady and sometimes brilliant pitching? The fact is they couldn't and didn't.

Giants' String

The Giants' streak of eleven straight was brought up to date yesterday with another victory over the Washington Senators. McGraw certainly has that ball club moving along and, if there is anything permanent about the recent hitting of men like O'Doul and Cohen, the outfit is made. However, I'll be polite and let some one else try to answer that one.

All I can venture is that the Giants turned loose two nine-inning pitchers a few days ago in Benton and Henry, who allowed the Senators only three runs over eight innings, which is pitching this time of the year; that the club is hitting far over its collective head and that Roush is ready for the season's opening for the first time in years.

It would be strange if the Giants won after trading Hornsby for Luke McLuke and his brother, would it not? No, Gregory, it wouldn't be strange at all. It would be almost a miracle.

Montreal, Que., April 5.—The New York Rangers, United States contenders in the world's hockey series, arrived in Montreal this morning from Boston, ready for their first series game with the Maroons tonight.

Early today no decision had been reached as to whether the entire series will be played on Montreal ice, or whether the Rangers will take advantage of offers from Detroit and Boston to play home games in either of these cities. Easily Conquer Liberties 28-15 After Close First Half; Sturgeon High Scorer; Second Game Tomorrow Night.

The Warriors won the first game of their play-off series with the Liberties last night at the State Armory for the championship of the Community Club Junior basketball leagues. The score was 28 to 15.

The first half was close and marked by determined defensive play of both teams. The Liberties led 9 to 1 at the end of the first quarter and the Warriors were on top 7 to 6 at halftime.

In the second half the Warriors outclassed their opponents increasing their lead to 20-13 at the end of the third period and winning 8 to 2 in the last to gain the 28 to 15 score. Sturgeon, Coe and Crockett featured for the winners and "Hop-Easy" Opizki for the losers.

The teams will meet in the second game of their series Friday night at the armory. Prior to the game, a foul shooting exhibition will be held open to all players in the league. The winner of the elimination contest will receive a trophy.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Thursday, April 5. Verdi's "Requiem" name for WJZ and the Blue network listeners beginning at 10 o'clock, will be a fitting program for Holy Thursday. The soloists, who will be supported by an orchestra and chorus, will include Della Baker, soprano; Grace Leslie, contralto; Julian Oliver, tenor, and Frederic Star, baritone. A special Easter concert has also been scheduled for the Maxwell hour which will go on the air from the same stations at 9 o'clock. Two guest artists are featured in this broadcast—Ansgar Fjeld, charming Norwegian soprano, and Elliott Shaw, well-known baritone. They will be supported by Nathaniel Shilkret's orchestra. Erva Giles, Vaughn de Leath, Collier O'More, Ed Smalio and Lou Federman, all famous radio stars, will take part in the Dodge presentation of the Red network at 8 and half an hour later lovers of piano music will tune to a Blue network station to listen to Alexander Brachoco's recital during the Ampico hour. Other highlights include choral programs by the West Side Chorus, the club from WGBS at 10 and a Lutheran male choir through WCCO at 11:30. Instrumental features will be presented by Wagner's concert band through WPG and the Schneider string ensemble through WMAA, both at 9.

MUSKRAT FARMS SHOW PROFIT AS FUR PRICES RISE

When the 'rat' hides brought only 5 to 10 cents each, to appear the little amphibians, but now, according to the 'rat-farmers', when their hides are worth $1.75 to $2.50 a skin, the animals must be trapped. The hides of a 'rat' killed in anything but cold weather are no good," Cy said. "That fur killed any other time will come out and if killed in warm weather, the hide turns black instead of healthy, pinkish color desired." Muskrats multiply rapidly, according to the Nielsens. One pair, it is said, placed in the right kind of environment will give its owner between 100 to 125 'rat-babies' in a year. It is estimated that some 'rat-farmers' last year realized nearly $10,000 on their 'rat-farm' investment.

$1495 f. o. b. factory

YOU may not know that, due to Studebaker's One-Profit facilities of manufacture, you can now buy this World's Champion car at the exceptional price of $1495, f.o.b. factory. At this low, One-Profit price The Commander not only represents a value unequalled in automobile history, but its upkeep is equally economical. In 61 tests conducted in 61 cities the country over, The Commander averaged 17 1/2 miles to the gallon of gas—economical to operate! And factory repair parts sales for Studebaker cars during 1927 were less than $8 per car in operation—low maintenance! The world champion stamina of The Commander was spectacularly proved when two stock Commanders each traveled 25,000 miles in less than 23,000 consecutive minutes. Nothing else on earth ever ran so far so fast! The Commander at $1495, f.o.b. factory, is not only the greatest achievement of post war automotive engineering, but motor-dom's biggest value!

To A Million Women Who Know The New Order of Things

You Want An Automobile That Looks Like Something — Acts Like Something — Is Something — Yet Costs Comparatively Little

If I were a woman, I'd want a certain kind of automobile. Of course, I'd want it to look like something. For you see, it will be almost a part of me, my life, my home. And I wouldn't want to pay a fortune for it, because I know too well the value of the dollar. But I would want far more. I'd want nimbleness, easy steering, dashing pick-up, certain stopping to end traffic terrors. I'd want the ability to twist easily into tight parking corners. I'd want sure-footed, positive braking on those rainy, wet days when I drive the children to school. And on certain afternoons, when I'm tired of dusting and dishes, I'd want my car to be a care-free vagabond with me, interested only in finding out what is on the other side of some distant, wind-swept hill. Reo invites every woman who feels that way to try out the Reo Wolverine, to judge it on any feminine basis, over any roads. For Reo has made the Wolverine the woman's car, as well as the man's. Try one out today—you will be surprised—especially when you ask the price. REO MOTOR CAR CO., Lansing, Michigan

HERALD LEAGUE TEAMS TO BANQUET NEXT WEEK

Bowlers Will Celebrate Close of Season on Thursday at the Hotel Sheridan.

As a climax to a successful bowling season, a banquet of all members of The Herald League will be held a week from tonight, April 12, at the Hotel Sheridan.

There are about a hundred and twenty-five members in the league. Each of the twelve teams has an eligible membership of eleven bowlers, but usually uses only five or six in a match. It is expected that about this many will attend from each team making a total of about seventy persons at the banquet.

A roast chicken supper will be served and there will be speeches and presentation of prizes. The league ends its season tonight but the Masons have already started themselves of the pennant and the five-man championship of the town which goes with it.

It is planned to continue the league on an even larger scale next year. Plans will be discussed at the banquet. The tickets for the banquet will be distributed among the team captains tonight. They will be a dollar and a quarter.

WIRTALLA SCHOOL'S RECEPTION, THE 13TH

Annual Affair to Be Held in High School Assembly Hall Next Week.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Wirtalla have set the date of Friday the 13th for the seventh annual reception by the children's dancing classes. This is an event which is looked forward to each spring not only by the parents and friends of the little people who furnish the program, but by many others who enjoy dancing. To accommodate the large number who attend, Mr. and Mrs. Wirtalla have decided to hold this year's reception in High school hall which affords ample room for the platform program, ballroom and general dancing. There will be approximately 25 numbers in the entertainment by the beginners to advanced pupils, covering a great variety of solo and group dances.

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE: (255) Reforestation

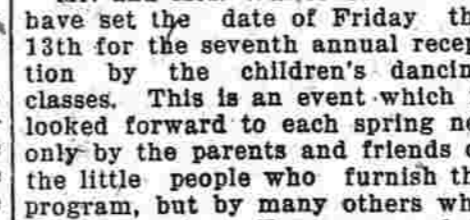

Sketches by Bessey; Synopsis by Braucher

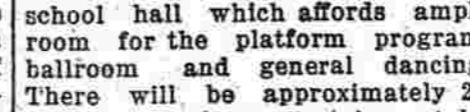

A burnt-over forest, such as the one the artist has sketched above, is one of Nature's saddest spectacles—desolate, wasted, useless ghosts of trees. They stand as pitiful monuments to the carelessness of a carelessly-tossed match or a tourist's neglect in leaving a smoldering camp fire.

ABOUT TOWN

The Manchester Public library closes this afternoon for the remainder of the week.

The Jolly Four will run a modern and old-fashioned dance at Jenck's Lone Oak dance hall in Pleasant Valley this evening. Judging from the Saturday night crowds that have been coming all winter, this is one of the most popular old-fashioned dance halls in this vicinity. Bill Waddell's orchestra furnishes the music and Fred Taylor of Middletown acts as promoter.

Miss Mabel Lambhear, principal of the Manchester Green school will demonstrate the new stereopticon machine, showing a number of excellent slides tomorrow evening in the assembly hall. The illustrated talk will follow the regular meeting of the Manchester Green Community club.

Loren C. Clifford, Jr., of Foster street returned yesterday from the Winsted hospital where he has been for observation and treatment for the past few weeks. While Mr. Clifford is considerably improved in health it is expected it will be some time before he will be able to return to active service with the Southern New England Telephone company with which he has been connected since November 1915.

The institution of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated this evening at 7:30 in the North Methodist Church, the Second Congregational church uniting in the service. At the conclusion of this service, the church council will hold its April meeting.

The South Manchester Public Library will be closed tomorrow, Good Friday. The West Side branch will also be closed.

The Memorial Hospital Linen auxiliary will hold its spring rummage sale in the store in the Johnson block formerly occupied by John Barstow. The sale will be held Wednesday and Thursday of next week, both afternoon and evening. Those who have contributions of used clothing, furniture or other articles may have them called for by telephoning to Mrs. Edna Case Parker or Mrs. James M. Shearer.

A rehearsal of the Easter pageant, St. Claudia, will be held at Center Congregational church tomorrow evening at 8:30 and Saturday evening at 7 o'clock.

Because of the holiday tomorrow there will be no meeting of the Silk City band. This organization meets weekly on Friday evenings at the Lincoln school.

LITTLE BOY IS STRUCK AS HE DARTS INTO ROAD

Six-Year-Old Robert Chambers Has Broken Leg in Auto Accident.

Robert Chambers, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Chambers of 24 Knox street, ran out from behind a parked car on Center street yesterday and was struck by a car driven by Frank Valuzzi, insurance agent, of 66 Oxford street. The Valuzzi car, a sedan, swerved across the street as the driver tried to avoid hitting the boy, and struck a Ford coupe which was parked at the corner of Knox street. At Memorial hospital it was found that he has a broken leg and numerous cuts and bruises.

So far as can be learned, Robert was playing on the south side of the street, opposite Knox. The Valuzzi car came up Center street from the direction of Hartford and the boy ran out from behind a car parked at the side of the road. The oncoming driver either had to swerve to the north side of the road or run the child down. He swerved but not quickly enough.

The boy was taken to the hospital immediately and the fracture was reduced. The Ford coupe was badly damaged, having two broken front wheels and smashed front. It is owned by Charles Thresher of 27 Adams street, employed at the Stephens garage at the corner of Knox street.

An investigation was made by Patrolman John McGinn. No arrests were made.

"GOOD THINGS TO EAT"
ABOUT SHAD
 Say what you will, no one has lived a rounded life who has not been to at least one circus and eaten one dinner of shad. And if events should so present themselves to any man that of these things he could have but one, it had better be the circus that he dispense with. No wonder that Napoleon Bonaparte's tremendous life proved to be, after all, one stupendous failure. He never even tasted shad. Some unknown poetic genius once said this:
 When the Lord made shad the devil was mad,
 For it seemed such a feast of delight;
 So, to ruin the scheme, he jumped in the stream
 And poked in the bones, out of spite.
 When the strawberry red first illumined its bed
 The angels looked down and were glad;
 But the devil, 'tis said, fairly pounded his head,
 For he'd used all the bones on the shad.
 And suppose he hadn't. Suppose that shad had no more bones than a pig or a toy balloon. Then what? Why, such a rush and scramble for shad and such bidding up of the prices for shad that shad would be far beyond the reach of any but the extremely rich. So, in view of the unutterable deliciousness of shad, and in thankfulness that we can all share in the deliciousness tomorrow—Good Friday—let us be a hundred fold grateful that shad have bones.
 And never were the bones of shad surrounded by such succulently glorious meat, it seems to us as those that have just come to us for this holiday. They are perfect.
