HEAR TONIGHT'S FIGHT BROADCAST AT THE HERALD'S SOUTH OFFICE

Graham McNamee's blow by blow description of the world's lightweight boxing championship at the Polo Grounds in New York City between Champion Sammy Mandell and Challenger Jimmy McLarnin over the radio can be heard tonight at the branch office of the Manchester Evening Herald located in the State Theater building on Bissell street at the south end.

The broadcast is expected to start at about 10 o'clock but this often depends on weather conditions such as caused the postponement yesterday. In case of threatening skies at the last minute the bout is often put on ahead of the semi-finals. Manchester radio fans may hear the returns through either Station WBZ at Springfield and Boston or Station WJZ at New York City. So if you haven't a radio, come around to The Herald office and hear the returns which will be made possible through the courtesy of Watkins Brothers who have installed a six-tube Atwater Kent.

After the address and the presentation of medals of gold, the President and his party will leave for the bedside of Mrs. Coolidge's mother at Northampton.

Andover, Mass., May 19 .- The academy, or secondary school, was the 150th anniversary celebration of Phillips Academy here, he urged more attention to the elevation of the standards of such institutions. The President made a special trip from Washington to join in the ceremonies at this pioneer among American schools. Addressing the student body and alumni on the academy campus, Mr. Coolidge pointed out that the student mind is at the ideally plastic stage at the age of matriculation at a secondary school.

Are Important "It is for this reason that our secondary schools are of such great importance," he said. "When students now enter the college they are no longer of an impressionable fixed. The college can not altogether refashion its students. About the best it can do is to carry them begun. While the needs of our universities are very great, and every effort should be made to meet them, it does not seem that sufficient emphasis has been placed on the needs of our secondary schools.

Furnish the Material "After all, they fornish the material that goes into our higher institutions. Their younger and more plastic students have even greater criticized the government for taking needs than those who are more so long in its reply. Others fore- mature. They ought to come under the influence of teachers of ability,

The President also took occasion to direct some advice to the whole student body of the nation. He counselled them to apply to themselves in their classrooms the same standards they impose upon themselves on the baseball diamond, or in other branches of scholastic

"Two great tests in mental discipline are accuracy and honesty," he observed. "It is far better to master a few subjects thoroughly than to have a mass of generalizations about many subjects. The world will have little use for those who are right only a part of the time. Whatever may be the standards of the classroom, practical life will require something more than sixty per cent or seventy per cent for a passing mark.

"The standards of the world are not like those set by the faculty. but more closely resemble those set by the student body themselves. They are not at all content with a member of the musical organizations who can strike only ninety per cent of the notes. They do not tolerate the man on the diamond who catches only eight per cent of the balls. The standards which the student body set are high. They want accuracy that is well-nigh complete. They apply the same standards to candor and honesty. Bluff and pretense may be permitted in the classroom, but in their relations with be willing to view with considerable tolerance those who break the rules of the school, but they will not fall

Like To Live To 100? Here Is Inspiration

Judge Henry Neil of Forest Hills, Long Island, is known far and wide as the "father of mothers' pensions." He has met nearly all the great men of today. In this article he tells how some of them are qualifying for his "Centenarian Club," organized for people who, out of serious purpose in life, want to live to be 100.

During my journeys around the world I am seeking persons who are eligible to become members of the Centenarian Club. They are few and far between, but I am finding more and more of them.

The methods they are employing to help them to become centenarians are practically the same, though each has evolved his own from individual reasoning and experience. Shaw Is Physically Active

ANGLO-SAXON OPERAS MUST BE IN ENGLISH TO WIN WORLD PLACE

Paris .- Great operas will never be produced by Anglo-Saxons until they begin singing them in English. says Sir Thomas Beecham, distinguished British orchestra leader who has recently given several performances at the Opera in Paris. Operatic productions, he says, do not have the popular support that is due them in England and America, because they are sung in foreign languages. It is considered the 'chic" thing to do, but let the fashion for singing in English once get well-rooted, and the great English opera companies will become the most successful in the world. Sir Thomas has a plan for an Opera League composed of genuine lovers of music of the middle class. ists! Poker is still a game of He wants them to promise a small sum each year and more than that, to promise to attend regularly. According to this scheme, he will have the Opera House sold out five years ahead.

HELP? LOTSA HELP!

New York .- Big city life is altogether too strenuous for John E. Estbert, native of Wisconsin. After spending a quiet evening at a movie he was held up by a taxi driver and put out in a strange part of the town. Two young wags, to whom he appealed, told him to turn the handle on one of New York's fire alarm boxes. Eastbert turned it so frantically that he was soon besieged by four hose companies, two hook and larred trucks, a water tower, a gas and an electric comigo Alice Bennett gave Walter Pike pany truck and numerous policemen. RACE TO ALASKA PORT;

SAILS FROM OAKLAND San Francisco, Cal .- The Star of Alaska, square rigger of the Alaska packing fleet has arrived at Chignik, Alaska, winning the annual race to the north, according to a radio received by the marine department of the chamber of commerce. The Star of England was reported to be plowing through heavy seas nearly 800 miles from the goal when her sister ship arrived. The "wind jammers" sailed from Oakland, April 3, for the 1800 mile race.

The ships are the last of the square riggers in the service of the fleet and are among the largest in the world. The Star of Alaska is commanded by Captain Martin Mortenson and the Star of England by Captain Charles Weise. Each ship carries crew of 18 men. The race aroused keen interest in maritime circles and thousands of dollars were said to have been wagered on it.

Washington, May 19 .- John C. Calhoun, ex-vice-president, ex-secretary of state and ex-senator, has issued a scathing denunciation of that they are under the direct con-

Of course Calhoun's charges were made in 1844, when there were such things as deadlocks, dark horses, smokey hotel room nominations and all sorts of political intrigues, so to all persons who believe that such things never happen any more at national conventions his views will now seem quaint indeed. To others his complaint may sound rather familiar. Mr. Calhoun's remarks were adhearts or something unmentionable dressed to his friends in advance of a Democratic national conven-

It did come to that, but smooth er and as effective methods as the sword have been used. One hardly ever hears in these days such squawks at the convention system as Calhoun's. If any modern day statesman were to utter one, he would be guilty of treachery to nominating conventions, charging the politicians' union and would be dealt with accordingly.

No Roosts or Shelters Needed for Pheasants Raised by Hand.

August Senkbeil, who describes his experiment of raising wild pheasants on this page today, gives a few queer slants to the work. Asked why there were no roosts and no shelters in his pen he answered:

"That's something the public knows little about. You know when I first started, the people in my neighborhood said that it was a shame that I had no roosts and no shelter for the poor little things so I constructed some but only as a camouflage and that satisfied the public. But as a matter of fact no pheasant ever used either shelter or roost. They need neither.

"In the woods they just crouch down during the night. When the winds blow they face the north to get all the benefits of the wind. They just revel in cold winds and never seek windbreaks. In the pens they spend the night in the northwest corners.'

'If you treated them with what the public calls kindness it would in reality be cruelty.'

PLANE FORCED DOWN

Guilford, Conn., May 19 .-- A Sikorsky amphibian plane, bound for New York along the Long Island Sound route, spent the night here after heavy weather impelled the pilot to drop at Madison, five miles east, and taxi into a safe harbor in this village. The plane took off for its destination today after a smashed pontoon, received by contact with a submerged rock, was repaired.

The plane had four passengers, John A. Bauer, of Springfield, Mass., and his son John; C. A. Dickerson, of Fitchburg, Mass.; and E. W. Woods and H. J. White, of New York, two officials of the Sikorsky Co. Woods and White staid with the plane while the others went to New York by train.

REVISION DISCLOSES FORGOTTEN BY-LAWS

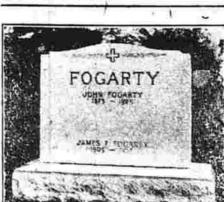

were added to the South Manches- Some Much-Ignored Laws Pop Up in the Course of Charter Planning.

> Among the by-laws of Manchester, according to the books, is one regulating the distance of awnings from the sidewalk. It was drawn and passed by the selectmen when Horace B. Cheney was chairman and places the minimum height at seven feet. There is also a by-law prohibiting overhead signs.

> There was a time when merchants stood their wares along the curbing, notably hardware dealers who thus displayed lawn mowers and garden hose. A by-law put a ban on this practice. This part of the law has been lived up to, but there are few awnings that comply with the legal limit and as far as overhead signs are concerned, the rule is more general in its violation than in its observance. These are a few of the by-laws that appear in a list that is being compiled by Town Clerk Samuel Turkington to present to the charter revision committee.

With special sport equipment, no smarter car than this Smart as a racing craft. Long and low . . . with rakish, youthful lines. But with special sport equipment . . . it's even smarter. The peer of any car in its class.

Six wire wheels . . . their colors contrasting with body shades. Spares carried forward in special fender wells. A trunk rack behind ... suggesting week-end journeys. All that you see and admire on America's finest custom-built cars.

There's real style, if you ever saw it. Swank . . . snap . . . personality. Reflecting the speed and drive of its engine . . . its change of pace and its wonderful handling ease.

Add to all this the charm of bodies by Fisher. The deep-cushioned comfort and luxury that Fisher bodies provide. Then you'll find the All-American Six leagues ahead of any rival. And you'll marvel again at its truly remarkable price.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAYERS SUCCEED IN "CLARENCE"

Large Audience Sees Best Work Done by Sock and Buskin Club.

Despite adverse weather condiions, a large audience witnessed the Manchester High School (Soc and Buskin) Dramatic Club's presentation of Booth Tarkington's inimitable comedy "Clarence." The audience was well rewarded as it saw a performance far superior to anything yet presented by the High School players.

The players, singly and in a IN SWIMMING CLASS group deserve high praise. PHONES GOOD THINGS TO EAT

BIG, BIG JOB. We said the other day that we didn't want to do all the food business in Manchester-wouldn't if we could, as well as couldn't if we would. Also we said something about what a whale of a job it would be, to feed an entire community like this. How big a job the world has feeding itself, hardly anybody even thinks about. But one part of that job has become so much of a problem that the League of Nations is planning to tackle it as one of the major problems of international well-being. Sugar is the subject. There has been such a switch-about in regional supply in the last few years that some of the old-time sugar producing countries are getting into a jam. America, for instance, has almost doubled its beet sugar output since the war. So have two or three European cane countries can go on being cane countries, if possible before they go broke trying to. No sir-ee! Pinehurst doesn't want to try to boss the food business. It's too big a job. But Pinehurst, within the limits of its ambitions, puts just as much energy and thought into doing its own job right as any League commission ever can in countries. Cuba and some other cane growing regions are getting frightened. Nobody knows what is going to happen. So the League is going to try to get its economic organization to work on a huge,

Money Cannot Buy Better Refrigeration Than You Get From

In A Good Refrigerator

LEAT, milk and other perishable food products are kept at their best with ice. There is nothing cheaper nor better than this method of refrigeration.

Ice keeps the air cold enough, without being too cold; dry enough, without being too dry; just moist enough to keep food and food flavors at their best.

Twelve million families in this country have found that ice, intelligently used, in a good refrigerator, renders a superior service at very low cost.

For Security

IN medieval days the castle with moat and drawbridge was a safeguard for person and property.

The bank vault is a modern stronghold for valuables, more impregnable than the castles of ancient times.

As the owner of the castle shared its security with his neighbors, this bank invites the public to use the protection and convenience of its safety vault.
