

FILIBUSTER ON CANYON BILL IS STILL ON TODAY

Boulder Dam Measure Keeps Senators on Floor All Through Night; Hope Still For Adjournment.

VOTE TO ADJOURN
Washington, May 29.—Reversing its action of yesterday, the Senate, after an all night session, voted today to adjourn the Seventieth Congress at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon. Immediate adoption by the House of the adjournment resolution is anticipated as the House had already voted to quit at five o'clock today.

The revised adjournment resolution was brought in by administration leaders after it appeared evident that Boulder Dam supporters would not be able to break the filibuster conducted against the bill by the two Arizona Senators, Ashurst and Hayden.

Washington, May 29.—With the Senate in continuous session throughout the night in a weary but dramatic effort to smash the Arizona filibuster against the famous Boulder Dam bill, the 70th Congress early today looked forward with longing eyes to adjournment.

Administration leaders, defeated yesterday in an attempt to adjourn Congress this afternoon, were still hopeful that an agreement might be reached between friends and foes of the Boulder Dam bill that would bring the session to a close before midnight.

The Senate meanwhile listened to an endless flood of oratory that began yesterday afternoon and lasted throughout the night. It was the second all-night session held by the Senate within a week in an effort to break down the Arizona filibuster.

Johnson's Views.
Senator Hiram W. Johnson (R) of California, leader of the Boulder Dam fight, however, announced he would oppose all adjournment moves and fight to keep the Senate continuously in session until a vote was taken on the Colorado river measure. He predicted its enactment whenever a vote is reached and his predictions were borne out by the one-sided majorities recorded in favor of the bill whenever test votes were taken.

The filibuster meanwhile brought

PLANS TO PREVENT ANOTHER OIL THEFT

Senator Nye Offers Bill to Protect Reserves in Future Years.

Washington, May 29.—Legislation to prevent a repetition of the naval oil scandals was recommended in a report to Congress by Senator Nye (R) of North Dakota, chairman of the Teapot Dome committee.

Another report by Senator Walsh (D) of Montana, summarized the committee's work in running down the Continental Trading Company's $3,000,000 Liberty Bond deal.

Nye particularly emphasized the need for Congressional supervision of all leases or transfers of naval oil reserves. He suggested also yearly accounting of all campaign expenditures and receipts in federal office contests, and a "tightening up" of the corrupt practices act to provide better tax collections and prevent delay of delinquent taxes.

Tax Evasions.
"Tax evasions which have been uncovered by the committee show that the government must tighten up in these matters," he said. "Changes in the criminal court procedure are necessary to avoid delays such as hindered the activities of the Senate committee here."

Walsh criticized the treasury for its long silence in the matter of collection of taxes due the government from Continental deal and pointed out that expenses of the committee, which has turned up information resulting in the recovery of more than $2,000,000 have been but $14,165.

He concluded with a denunciation of those connected with the activities of the Continental Co., characterizing it as a "contemptible private steal."

"It seems to me to have been the ill-gotten gains of a contemptible private steal, the speculations of rusted officers of great industrial houses, pilfering from their own companies, robbing their own stockholders," he said. "The share of the booty coming to one of the reprobates, serving in part as the price of perjury of a member of the president's cabinet."

Says Foreign Powers Influence Peace Plans

Washington, May 29.—Assailing the "Pacifist" lobby, Rep. Maas (R) of Minnesota, in a speech placed in the Congressional Record today, declared that "there can be little doubt of foreign influences of a very subversive nature behind this whole movement."

"There is at least one organization in Washington, within the shadow of the White House, that boasts it has 2,500 trusted agents throughout the country that can on a day's notice organize a campaign to Congress of 50,000 to 250,000,000 letters," said Maas.

"It is commonly charged that there are organizations participating in these campaigns that are run for profit and not patriotism. It is also commonly charged that these organizations are dominated and inspired, if not actually financed and protected by foreign interests for the purpose of rendering the United States defenseless."

Maas has demanded an investigation of the fight made on the $274,000,000 naval program bill and other national defense measures.

No Herald Tomorrow

No issue of the Manchester Evening Herald will be published tomorrow, Memorial Day.

STORES NOT OPEN HERE THIS EVENING

Close at 6 p. m. and All Day Tomorrow According to Schedule.

There seems to be a general prevailing impression that the stores will be open Tuesday night because of the Wednesday holiday.

The schedule adopted by the merchants at their annual meeting distinctly provides that if a holiday comes on Wednesday, stores will not open Tuesday night as this would mean three open evenings in one week.

The schedule provides for closing all day, Memorial Day, Wednesday, May 30th, and closing Tuesday evening at the regular hour, 6 p. m.

NEW FOREST ADDED TO STATE PROPERTY

Over 1,000 Acres Bought in Voluntown; Contain Some Historic Places.

Hartford, Conn., May 29.—New London county finally is to have a sizeable state forest. Elliott B. Bronson, of Winsted, was able to announce today, after months of involved title searching, that he has completed the purchase of 1,131 acres of land in Voluntown for the state commission on forests and wild life of which he is field agent, and that in addition he has purchased 450 acres, an addition to the Housatonic state forest by the purchase of fifty acres on Sharon mountain, and the purchase of 140 acres in East Hampton to add to the Meshomasic state forest.

Still another addition to the state's forests comes in the form of a gift of seventy acres in Barkhamstead, given by the Connecticut Forestry Association to be included in the people's forest.

Five Big Ponds
New London big forest tract was bought from the Briggs Manufacturing Company, a textile concern liquidated two years ago after operating some 74 years after being established in 1852 by Ezra and Ira Briggs. Mill buildings and tenements on the property were not included in the state purchase. On the land are five fine ponds and several streams which are to come under the jurisdiction of the state board of fisheries and game.

The Voluntown forest contains some interesting spots as the Devil's Bedroom, the Devil's Kettle and the Devil's Armchair. The first is a cave, the second a deep hole and the third a rock formation. On the land are the famous Misery Swamp, and Great Cedar Swamp both draining into Misery brook and Patchaug river. Across the property runs Great Path, once an Indian trail, and on the trail is the Swearing Stone, of ancient repute.

Voluntown took its name from the fact that one hundred volunteers went to fight the Narragansett Indians in Colonial days. There were given a tract of six square miles to settle, and the tract became known as Voluntown. Town, which was corrupted to Voluntown. The volunteers assembled on Great Path and were sworn into the colony's service at what became known as the Swearing Stone.

TREASURY BALANCE.
Washington, May 29.—Treasury balance May 26: $82,292,586.42.

JUGO-SLAVIAN ENVOY MENACED BY ROME MOBS

Signs of Trouble in Both Countries—30 Persons Seriously Wounded in Belgrade Street Fighting.

Rome, May 29.—Incensed by the recent anti-Italian demonstrations staged in Jugo-Slavia, 1,500 university students today surged about the front of the Jugo-Slavian legation quarters and serious consequences were prevented only by the timely arrival of police.

Just as it seemed certain that the student mob would invade the legation, mounted police arrived on the scene and dispersed the students by charging into them.

Premier Mussolini has instructed the Italian minister at Belgrade to lodge a formal protest against the anti-Italian demonstrations with the Jugo-Slavian government, and demand reparations.

SILK MILLS CLOSED ALL DAY TOMORROW

Previous Order Reversed; Annual Exercises and Parade in Afternoon.

Cheney Brothers announced late yesterday afternoon that all departments of the silk mills will be closed all day tomorrow in observance of Memorial Day. This was a reversal of a previous announcement that the mills would operate tomorrow morning, and somewhat altered local plans for the holiday. However, most of the arrangements for the celebration of the day had been completed and events were all set for the afternoon. The decoration of most of the graves will be done as previously planned.

Tomorrow morning the holiday has little to offer. At one o'clock in the afternoon the speakers and committee in charge of Memorial Day preparations will dine at Cheney Hall. At two o'clock the annual exercises will open in Cheney hall. The principal address will be given by the Rev. George S. Brookes of Rockville.

Parade
The parade will form at 2:45 p. m. following the exercises in the hall and it is expected that the start will be made at three o'clock. War service organizations, both C.N.G. companies from Manchester, and school children will be in the line. The parade will proceed up Hartford Road, up Main street to East Center, along East Center to Spruce and will center to the Soldiers monument at the Center Park where exercises will be held.

For sports tomorrow the Heights will meet the Wilson Firemen at their own grounds here at two o'clock and the Manchester Community club will meet Kensington at Hickey's Grove at four o'clock.

NEGRO COLLECTED CASH FOR HOOVER

G. O. P. Committeeman From Georgia Also Received
$2,200 For Campaign.

Washington, May 29.—Benjamin J. Davis of Atlanta, negro Republican national committeeman from Georgia, received $2,200 from Rush L. Holland, Hoover's lieutenant in southern states for "legitimate" expenses, he told the Senate presidential campaign committee today.

How the money was disbursed Davis could not remember, he said. A first $1,200 was paid him in January and $200 of this was for expenses of two trips to Washington. A second $1,000 he got from Holland "before March 3," but he could not remember how long before. Both payments were in cash.

"How did it happen that you made that protest?" asked Stelwer. "You had that money from Holland, didn't you?"

"I didn't have a dime from him at that time," Davis replied.

Previous to this line of questioning, Stelwer asked about a "Clark Greer" who he said, came to Georgia claiming to be one of Mr. Hoover's campaign managers.

"Did you ever hear of Greer spending money on Hoover's behalf?"

"No sir, Greer told me, though, that he expected to spend some money as Mr. Hoover's manager."

Later Davis' testimony showed, he refused to work with Greer.

"Did Greer continue as Hoover's manager, or was it taken out of his hands?" asked Stelwer.

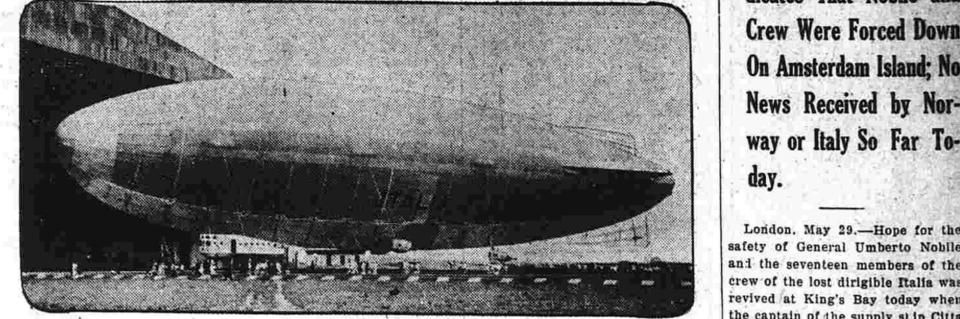

"It never seemed to get in his hands," was the reply.

Davis had little knowledge of the "slush fund" he said, and when his protest was published it was based on reports that "the Hoover people were about to invade the state" with money.

He said his idea was to protest today the use of a "slush fund" to reward up-delegates.

CHILD STOLEN FROM BED IS MURDERED BY FIEND

Body of Seven Year Old Girl Is Found Across Street by Father—Big Man Hunt Is On.

Toledo, Ohio, May 29.—One of the greatest man hunts organized in years began here today when the lifeless body of seven year old Dorothy Szelagowski was found by her father Alex on the front porch of the home of the child's grandparents. The girl had been stolen from her bed, brutally assaulted by the driver of a small dark auto, choked to death, and her body cast upon the porch of her grandfathers house.

The little victim was stolen in her bed as she slept in her bed with three sisters, Stella, 15; Leona, 5, and Caroline, 2. In an adjoining room slept the girl's father and two brothers, Ray, 11, and Stanley, 6. The mother is a patient in a state institution.

Had a Key
The fiend according to police let himself into the Szelagowski home by means of a pass key at the kitchen door.

As the little girl was seized in her bed she attempted to escape, the noise awakening her sister Leona.

As the intruder carried his victim from the room five-year-old Leona hurried to her father's bed screaming: "Oh, they're taking Dorothy."

The father stepped to his daughter's room and finding Dorothy absent hurried to the lower floor where he saw a small auto speeding away.

Calls Police
After notifying the police the father started to notify neighbors and relatives. In a few minutes his rounds took him to the home of the child's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Dobrenzki, who reside across the street from the girl's home.

As he went into the yard, the father told the police, a huge covered auto truck drove away in the dim light of the breaking day the father found a huddled form in a corner of the porch. It was the lifeless form of his daughter.

Coroner F. G. Krest who examined the body declared that the little victim had been criminally assaulted, and that death was due to strangulation.

As police began the hunt for the murderer, detective headquarters communicated with Youngstown, where a two weeks search for ten year old Beatrice Rosenbaum ended Sunday with the finding of her body in a wooded ravine.

The Youngstown girl had been enticed from her home, according to police, and taken away in an automobile which was also described as "a small dark sedan."

RESULTS!

Frank H. Anderson advertised in the classified columns for a boy to work out-of-doors during the summer. This was last Saturday and he was literally flooded with applications.

Needless to say he got the right boy.

Try classified for any need. Call 664.

The specific charge against Donahue is that he forged the name of Morris Boyer to a check for $21,000 which was cashed at the State bank, one of the largest institutions on the east side. Additional charges involving $31,000 in forged checks are pending against the young clerk and detectives declare the total will reach $200,000 before their investigation is completed.

London Says Message From Captain of Supply Ship Indicates That Noble and Crew Were Forced Down On Amsterdam Island; No News Received by Norway or Italy So Far Today.

London, May 29.—Hope for the safety of General Umberto Nobile and the seventeen members of the crew of the lost dirigible Italia was revived at King's Bay today when the captain of the supply ship Citta di Milano wireless that he had received information leading him to believe that the dirigible had made a forced landing at Amsterdam Island, a Central News dispatch from the dirigible's base stated.

Amsterdam Island is a few miles north of Magdalen Bay where the Citta di Milano, is hemmed in by the ice-floes.

The captain of the supply ship wireless that he had been in communication with a sealer which reported having received a message which apparently came from the last dirigible.

Message Very Faint
The message received by the sealer was very faint and great difficulty was encountered in deciphering it, but the message of the Citta di Milano's captain strongly indicates that he believes the Italia made a safe landing at Amsterdam Island.

He advised that a strong wind and a murky fog prevented the immediate dispatch of a searching party but he stated that he planned to land 1-1/2 of his crew as soon as possible.

These men will then proceed northward over the ice on dog-sleds in an attempt to reach Amsterdam Island as soon as possible.

Led By Sealer
They will be accompanied by an experienced seal hunter who is familiar with the topography of the Polar regions. He will guide them over the shortest possible route to the place where the Italia is believed by the supply ship's captain to have landed.

Fear for the Safety of General Umberto Nobile, commander of the lost dirigible, and his crew of seventeen, were somewhat allayed by the message.

Food For a Month
The Italia carried sufficient food rations to keep the crew alive for more than a month. It also carried three sleds, a dozen pairs of skis and other equipment for braving the Arctic weather conditions.

It is thought possible that Nobile and some of his crew may have started southward over the ice in an attempt to get back to King's Bay.

The radio message from the Citta di Milano's captain did not reveal the time the sealer received the message, thought to be from the Italia.

HEARD NO REPORTS
Oslo, Norway, May 29.—Nothing was known here up to noon today concerning the unconfirmed report that the Italia may have landed at Amsterdam Island, north of Spitzbergen. The report was sent out of King's Bay.

NO NEWS IN ITALY
Rome, May 29.—The Italian air ministry had received no news regarding the unconfirmed report that the Italia may have landed at Amsterdam Island up to 1 o'clock this afternoon. Air ministry officials were inclined to doubt the truth of the report.

HELP FROM U. S.
Roosevelt Field, N. Y., May 29.—The Roma, largest single-motored airplane in the world, may take off from here today or tomorrow to search for Gen. Nobile and the missing Italia.

Captain Caserio Sabelli, Italian flier, Captain Peter Bonelli and Roger Williams had planned to start a New York to Rome flight in the plane before June 10.

"We will not start before tonight," said Williams, "and we may not start before Wednesday. But unless the Nobile party is found by Wednesday at the latest we will go."

Williams said they probably would fly directly to Spokane, Wash., from there they plan to go to Point Barrow, where a base of operations for an extended search of the Polar regions will be established.

Captain Sabelli indicated that once the search for his fellow countrymen was undertaken, it would not be abandoned until the Nobile party had been rescued, or their fate determined beyond doubt.

SOCIETY BORED AT BOX FIGHTS

Hub's Debs and Sub-Debs
Cheer a Bit and Boo a Bit at Show.

Boston, Mass., May 29.—Boston's "400" brilliant in jewels and evening dress watched without show of emotion the first of a series of boxing bouts in a prize ring set up last evening in the ball room of an uptown hotel.

The last round of the first bout was drawing to a close when the door in the rear of the ballroom opened and a figure in a cap appeared. One look and he yelled "Atta Boy!" The stranger sank into a chair as a battery of lognettes were trained upon him.

The second sign of animation from the society audience came near the end when a chorus of "boos," starting on the outer fringe, was taken up. Altogether, however, Boston's debs, sub-debs, matrons and escorts took the bouts with calm interest. They smiled, applauding now and then as fists crashed against ribs and jaws, smoked a few cigarettes, cheered just a little and "boomed" once.

WATKINS' FAMILY BACK IN HARTFORD

Wife, Brothers, Mother-in-Law of Alleged Embezzler and Friend, Return.

Hartford, Conn., May 29.—A portion of the Roger W. Watkins family returned to Hartford at noon today. They were in custody of Edward J. Hickey, county detective, and their interests were being watched over by William E. Egan, Hartford lawyer. The entire group went at once to the county court house where State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn asked Judge Arthur F. Ellis to set bonds for the prisoners.

The prisoners are Mrs. R. W. Watkins and her brothers, Maynard and Guy Tressler. With them was their mother, an aged woman who is seriously ill as a result of her harrowing experiences in a night from Connecticut to the middle west and then to the south.

Bonds of $50,000.
Mr. Alcorn asked that bonds of $50,000 be required of each of the men. He was willing that a smaller sum be required of Mrs. Watkins. He desired to place her in a position to care for her mother and her young children.

Mr. Egan was confident he could secure bail for Mrs. Watkins at least.

With the party returned also Victor R. LeValley, of Hartford, who has been helping in the investigation and the search after Watkins who still is missing.

LINDY ON THE JOB

Curtis Field, N. Y., May 29.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh took off at daylight this morning in his Ryan monoplane for Columbus, Ohio, on the first leg of a surveying trip for the transcontinental Airways. The survey will terminate in Los Angeles.

LINDY IN DAYTON.
Dayton, Ohio, May 29.—Col. Charles Lindbergh landed at the Fairfield airport (the old Wilbur Wright field) here at 11:35 a. m. E. S. T. and hopped off three minutes later. He did not get out of his plane, but spent his time talking with officials of the airport. Dayton is 76 miles west of Columbus.

Rockville SANDY BEACH TO BE FINE RESORT Crystal Lake's New Park Promises to Be One of Finest in New England.

Being able to visualize the future development and the resulting popularity of Sandy Beach has provided an amusement park that soon will be rated among the finest in New England. In none of these previous periods of development was there a prophet who foresaw the growth of popularity and George Bokis, the owner and developer of Sandy Beach, predicted the things that have come to pass and was called by many a visionary but many of the things visualized by Mr. Bokis they are at the head of a new era in Crystal Lake despite the abandonment of the trolley line.

It has been impossible to escape the warning headlines of the press that such a thing was about to happen. People would almost seem to have reached a point where they no longer have a thought of the possibility of losing the trolley because they constitute a new group and what has come about to replace the trolley is to be rapidly appreciated by the people who now look upon Crystal Lake and Sandy Beach as an institution. The nearly completed state highway will greatly improve town highways and make it possible to enjoy greater transportation facilities to and from this popular summer resort than ever before.

Busses connecting with every possible point within a radius of twenty-five miles of Crystal Lake will be available, and the route that has already been laid out and approved makes it further possible for patrons of Sandy Beach to ride up to the very entrance to the park. Those most fortunate who prefer to ride in their own private cars will find upon arriving at Sandy Beach improved parking facilities for the immediate accommodation of 700 cars. This accommodation to patrons of the park will be free on Wednesday and Saturday evenings, when the ballroom will have the regular modern dances, commencing as soon as the large new pavilion is completed.

Concession privileges at Sandy Beach are now available for amusement features, games of any form of park privilege acceptable to Mr. Bokis and may be arranged for by application. Evidence of the increasing popularity of Sandy Beach is being manifested daily in the contest which is now about to close on Thursday evening the 31st at 5 o'clock when four competent judges will select the best amusement attractions that will be offered during the summer. It is now planned to extend the season for dancing until late fall instead of the time honored Labor Day termination. It is reasonably certain that the next twenty weeks at Sandy Beach will be replete with a diversified program of events including vaudeville, dancing, concerts, prize of music, carnivals, prize dances and sport events. Complete new restaurant facilities have been added to the convenience of Mr. Bokis' ever increasing patronage. Watch for the announcement of the new ballroom name in Friday's issue of the Herald and the probable date of the big opening.

William Schwarz, 71, died Monday afternoon at his home on 75 Spring street after an illness of one week of pneumonia and pleurisy. He was born in Wisconsin, Sept. 12, 1855, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Jacob Schwarz. He came to Rockville when very young and spent his life here. For 36 years he conducted a coal business on Spring street with his brother, John. He was a member of the Vernon Grange, the Rockville Methodist Church and the Men's Corner. Besides his wife, Nellie Osborne Schwarz, he leaves four daughters, Mrs. Harold Weber, Mrs. Edward Kreyzig and Mrs. Francis Hewitt, all of Rockville and Mrs. Edward Custer of South Manchester; two sons, George and Leslie Schwarz, both of Rockville, a sister, Mrs. Edward Booth of East Hartford and a brother, John Schwarz of Rockville and three grandchildren. The funeral will be held at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon from the Methodist church, Rev. M. E. Osborne and Rev. F. W. Gray officiating. Burial will be Grove Hill Cemetery.

The banquet was served at 7 o'clock, a birthday cake with sixteen candles was placed in the center of the table. Fred Mathewson was master of ceremonies. The address of welcome was given by the president, Mrs. Iva O'Neil. Following the entertainment program, the warm remarks by the dept. President and her staff, Mrs. Ellen G. Berry, "mother of the auxiliary" presented the auxiliary with a gold piece which was accepted by the president, Mrs. O'Neil and the members gave a rising vote of thanks. Deputa-Skibiski. The marriage of Miss Harriet Skibiski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

John Skibiski of Strong avenue to Louis Deputa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Deputa of Village street, took place Monday morning at St. Joseph's Polish Catholic church. The Latin High Mass was used with Rev. Sigismund Woronecki performing the ceremony. The church was beautifully decorated with palms and carnations. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin with an imported ivory lace veil embroidered with rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of Madam Butterfly roses. Mrs. Henry Walker, who was matron of honor, wore a gown of Nile green georgette and carried an arm bouquet of roses. The bridesmaids were the Misses Louise Folsom and Gertrude Frey, who were attired in peach and yellow taffeta both carried sweet peas. Mr. Deputa was attended by John Janicke and Emanuel Skibiski. Following the reception which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Deputa left for a motor trip to New York, New Jersey and Canada. Upon their return they will reside at 70 Village street and will be at home to their many friends after June 15.

Miss Bilson Makes Presentation. The Standard Bearers Society presented the Rockville Methodist Episcopal church with a Christian flag at the Sunday morning service toward the memory of Miss Clara Cushman, the founder of this society. The president of the society, Miss Ellen Bilson, made the presentation in the following impressive manner: "It is with the deepest reverence, we as a Standard Bearers Society, present to this church this Christian flag in loving memory of Miss Clara Cushman, the founder of this society, who passed on to her Heavenly home, March 7, 1928. May the cross upon this flag speak a special message to us of the Christ who gave himself for us."

Vernon Grange Gives Barn Dance. The Vernon Grange will give a public barn dance at the home of Edwin Baker of Vernon Center on Saturday evening, June 2nd. The tickets are selling quite rapidly for this affair. The proceeds will be used toward the new building fund. Carl Buckmaster and his orchestra will be on hand to give the dancers some real dance music and there will be plenty of old time dances, with an old time prompter. A good time is assured all who attend.

LYDALL FAMILY PLANS A EUROPEAN TOUR

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Lydall of Main street, their daughter, Miss Eleanor Lydall and her friend, Miss Muriel Hessler of New York City will tour Europe this summer. They will sail on June 18 from New York on the S. S. Cleveland of the Hamburg-American line, landing at Queenstown. It is their plan to spend a number of days in Ireland, in the scenic Killarney region, then working northward to Dublin and Belfast. From the latter city they will take the steamer to Glasgow, traveling through Scotland to England where they will visit the birthplace of Mr. Lydall's parents in Whitwick, Leicestershire, and other places of interest in Great Britain. From England they will take the established air route to Paris. After touring France, Italy and Switzerland, Mr. and Mrs. Lydall will sail for this country on August 11. Miss Lydall and Miss Hessler will remain on the continent for another month, visiting Germany, Belgium and Holland before they return. The young women were classmates at Smith College. Miss Hessler is at present a teacher there.

POLICE AND TELEPHONE WIRES CAUSE TROUBLE

Cross Circuit Makes Signal Lights Flash—Trouble Remedied Today. The police lights have been flashing on and off for several minutes at a time, the last two days, not showing any particular call, but just enough to call different police. This was the case yesterday and it was the case at 12:30 this afternoon. Chief of Police Samuel G. Gordon was on duty at the time that the trouble started this noon and by tracing the trouble of yesterday and today he found that there was a cross between the telephone company's wires and those of the police signals. The trouble was located in a man-hole at the north end and men from the South New England Company were repairing it today.

DEATH ACCIDENTAL

Bridgeport, Conn., May 29—James Williams, of Stamford, who died early this month after being struck in April by a car driven by Beiden Scott, of Stamford, met death accidentally, according to a finding handed down here today by Coroner John J. Phelan.

KILLED BY TRAIN

Greenwich, Conn., May 29—Timothy Hansen, 30, of Davis avenue, Greenwich, was killed by a railroad train near the New Haven railroad station here during the night. Hansen's body was found on the tracks by railroad workers apparently a long time after he was killed. It is believed that Hansen wandered onto the tracks while in a daze.

MOOSE TAKE OPTION ON NEW LOCAL HOME

Committee Seeks to Purchase Brainard Estate Property on Brainard Place. Manchester Lodge of Moose, No. 1477, after three years of agitation got their place for a home substantially under way last night. The committee for the proposed Moose Home met at the Silk City Oakland Service Station at 8 o'clock and then went to look at the Brainard Estate on Brainard Place. Upon finding the site suitable for the requirements of a Moose Home they sent a check to Robert J. Smith to be posted as an option on the property. The subject will be brought before the lodge at its next regular meeting on June 4. The secretary

In Lincoln's time, and NOW- 1860 1928 Store Closed Tomorrow All Day MEMORIAL DAY Let Us Hold Our Soldier Dead In Everlasting Remembrance. Comparisons That Help Us To Understand You've heard people say that furniture used to be made better than it is today. That isn't true. Let us go back to Lincoln's time. Most furniture was made by hand; it took a long time to make it and naturally it was quite expensive. Those who could afford it never used it unless they had "company." The furniture was kept "locked up" in rooms seldom used, and it was usually covered up to keep the dust away. No wonder it lasted such a long time. Those who couldn't afford furniture, people like Lincoln's father, made their own—rough hewn crude furniture from the forests. Today people live in every room in their homes. They're constantly using their furniture and it has to be made good to stand up under the demands of modern living. Speedy, up to date machinery turns out thousands of beautiful pieces made far better than that our grandmothers' bought. Such production lowers cost and you actually pay less today for good furniture than your forefathers did for an inferior grade. This store is in a position to buy the best and to get the lowest market price. This is reflected in the price we place on our goods. The Guarantee Which We Give You Please always bear in mind—we absolutely guarantee all our furniture. We only buy the kind we can guarantee. We lose some sales because we do not carry what is known to the trade as "Sale Furniture," but we lose no friends and friends for a store are more lasting than a few dollars' profit that might be made from sale of thrown together for a purpose furniture. It takes all kinds of people and all kinds of furniture stores to make a world. We prefer to be the kind of a store that caters to people who are careful about the kind of furniture they buy. If you're that kind of folks, we'd like to make your acquaintance. And we furthermore guarantee "If There's a Better Price Anywhere We'll Meet It." TOMORROW

The sun rises tomorrow on the day so long set apart that we may publicly honor the men who answered the call of Abraham Lincoln to help preserve the union.

We, the living, salute our heroes, living and dead. To them we owe much that we are today. We ask not race, or color, or creed.

They loved this life. They lived bravely and faithfully. We cannot change the yesterday but we can lend our influence to the future.

AN EXAMPLE FOR US

Of all things despised by the newspaper interests free advertising for the benefit of individual or corporate profit; getting for nothing something that will greatly benefit financially those who seek it, takes top rank.

More than twenty years has been required to recognize the right of the inventor of the first successful airplane to such a decoration; much less than a year saw the youthful follower in his steps thus decorated.

It may be that these days of haste and speed are to see us more prompt in the future in showing appreciation of the deeds of those worthy of world distinction; especially those whom the country of their birth should be the first to recognize and mark for identification as her own.

It's no use. It's no use, this stacking present impressions against the cold records of the past. Unanimously the world, the New England world at any rate, looks out upon the weather, declares that never in history has there been such a spell of weather—and clatters down collar to stoke up the boiler once more.

Jacksonville members were requested months in advance. If members or their wives were to be unable to drive them, the committee arranged for competent chauffeurs.

Is it any wonder that Florida has boosters? Is there not a lesson for New England in this attitude of anything for the state first; then grab anything left for the city or town?

Florida, with more than 80 per cent of its white population transplanted natives of other sections of the country, has cast aside any ideas of conservatism that may have been the birthrights of many.

It's the sort of free advertising that attracts attention, arouses interest and produces big returns. It bespeaks a unity of purpose we seem to lack in New England.

ARE WE SPEEDING UP?

Twenty-odd years ago Orville and Wilbur Wright succeeded in getting a heavier-than-air machine into the air, under its own power.

But the Wrights went to Europe. They found plenty of believers in the future of air transportation. They won recognition and honors there that were denied them at home.

A year ago a youth, unheralded and unsung, flew alone eastward across the Atlantic. A daring deed by a daring youth. He flew from the fatherland of the airplane to the continent which was first to pay tribute to the successful exponent of man flight.

On one year has this obscure air mail pilot been thus justly honored and among his almost countless decorations is the Distinguished Flying Cross, the same mark of distinction which may be awarded Orville Wright, who, with his brother, was directly responsible for the development of air-craft that made this epochal journey of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh possible.

A THOUGHT

Yet a little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleep.—Prov. 24:38. Sleep is pain's easiest salve, and doth fulfill all offices of death, except to kill.—Donne.

important birthday anniversary and, accordingly, believe there is no reason why we shouldn't remember the weather. But we don't. Records prove it, disagreeable as records often are when they disturb our confidence in ourselves.

But we still have a quarrel with the weatherman and his predictions. Once upon a time when very inexperienced we had faith. And now we have lost it. We read, however, solely for amusement, the daily forecasts and twice a day at that. They are always different.

One doesn't find it necessary to depend upon uncertain memory of last spring or seven years before in predicting the day's weather. Usually, if gifted with only a reasonably fair memory, we are able to remember at 1 in the afternoon what the weatherman caused to be printed in the paper we read at 8 in the morning. If we are in doubt there is the paper for proof.

And then we read the afternoon prediction. There are days when that is the only time we get to smile, especially when we remember the government claim that the weather predictions are right—is it 93 per cent of the time?

SAVING A LIFE

The lapse of a moment in the exercise of ordinary care too often means death. Records prove it and records are disagreeable things. They prove that the motorist is not the only one who has fatal lapses from eternal vigilance.

State and nation co-operate with mothers in the protection of their children in public places—on the highways, in theater, and church, and all public gathering places. To the parents, and especially to the mothers, is left the care of children in their own homes. Again those disagreeable records prove that an appalling percentage of deaths are the result of carelessness or plain negligence in homes.

Mothers rejoiced over the departure of the oil lamp and the oil stove. They hailed the coming of gas and electricity for cooking and illumination as safety factors. They are. But man has yet to make a piece of mechanism that does not require some care.

Mothers saw to it that lamps were trimmed, oil stoves properly cleaned. It was a safety factor. They considered it a necessity. The pity of it is that they do not so consider the care of a gas stove. Neglect of one means corroded outlets and incomplete combustion. And incomplete combustion under certain conditions means death. It has meant it in Manchester. It will, we are sorry to say, mean it again. And the pity of it is that a few moments care at intervals would have saved a life.

HOPE IN DEATH

"When I'm dead and gone you'll never get another man like me." "Well, that's some consolation." —Judge.

FACTS ABOUT CONNECTICUT

(131) Fire Insurance

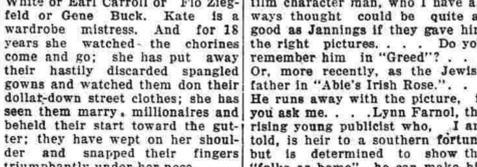

During the past 20 years the fire insurance companies of Connecticut have made notable progress. Assets of the 22 companies authorized to do business by the state amounted to $67,845,298 in 1908.

The cash capital of the 13 stock companies at the beginning of this year amounted to $40,000,000, as compared with a capital of $11,000,000 for the seven doing business in 1908. Risks in force amounted to $34,868,319,680 at the close of last year, as compared with the $5,557,847,559 in force in 1908.

Income, expenditures, premium receipts, losses incurred, net risks written and liabilities (exclusive of capital and special funds) have increased proportionately. The income for 1928 amounted to $40,158,808 and for 1927, $172,526,462, the amount for 1927 being 32% greater than the amount for 1908.

The premium receipts for 1927, amounting to $155,436,280 were 31% greater than the $37,615,793 collected in 1908. The losses incurred during 1927 totaled $81,484,674. This was 30% greater than the $20,370,780 losses incurred in 1908, but was several million dollars less than those for 1926, 1925 or 1924.

Liabilities amounted to $130,812,592 last year and to $37,696,125 for 1908. Net risks amounting to $356,971,054 were written last year and for $116,617,773 during 1908.

New York, May 29.—Whenever and wherever Broadway characters are charted, the name of Kate Reddy must occupy a place close to the top of the list. Of course you've never heard of Kate. She is no impressario of the "gay white way," such as George White or Earl Carroll or Flo Ziegfeld or Gene Buck. Kate is a wardrobe mistress. And for 18 years she watched the chorines come and go by her put away their hastily discarded spangles and watched them don their dollar-down street clothes; she has seen them marry, millionaires and beheld their start toward the gutter; they have wept on her shoulder and snapped their fingers triumphantly at her nose.

And Kate has gone on, sitting on the sidelines mending the endless assortment of rips and tears in the costumes. If you were to ask Kate what constitutes the greatest tragedy in the life of a chorine she would not, in all likelihood, mention drink or parties or wild living—but the passing of youth. Only the woman who sits on the sidelines knows how anxiously a lady of the ensemble watches her mirror as the years slip by. To be sure, not, in all likelihood, mention drink or parties or wild living—but the passing of youth. Only the woman who sits on the sidelines knows how anxiously a lady of the ensemble watches her mirror as the years slip by.

Kate has mothered more than one youngster who came out of the small town to the big city without the slightest idea of what Broadway was all about. But, like all such personages, she reserves her philosophy and advice for those who want it bad enough to seek it. She isn't likely to be intrusive. The show business is the show business—just as the show business might be after 18 years and endless round of costumes to be attended to and mended!

"LITTLE BORAH" IS CONFIDANT OF MANY EX-SERVICE MEN

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the seventh of a series of prospective "First Ladies," by Allene Sumner, writer for The Herald and NEA Service. Today's article deals with Mrs. William E. Borah, wife of the senator from Idaho, who is mentioned as a Republican presidential aspirant.

By ALLENE SUMNER

Washington, D. C., May 29.—Revelations have been made in the not so far distant past of toothpicks on the White House table. Little mention has ever been made of a cookie jar in the White House pantry.

But if Senator William E. Borah of Idaho should be our next president, the first and foremost job of the new First Lady would be to see that a White House cookie crock was well filled with sugary, cinnamon, scrunchy, raisin-topped cookies into which the president could dip the presidential paw at frequent intervals.

"For," as golden-headed Little Mrs. Borah confided, "the senator just can't function without his cookie jar."

Nor would the cookie jar end the First Lady's duties. There's the little matter of onion soup, too. The senator, confides Mrs. Borah, is still searching for the perfect onion soup. He insists that he never gets it at home.

Looks For Recipes
Wherever popular Mrs. Borah goes she is constantly on the look-out for onion soup. She thought she had found it when in Atlantic City a few weeks ago, and interviewed the hotel chef himself for the recipe. She special-delivered the recipe back to her cook in Washington, and thought she had earned her wifely laurels.

But when she got home the senator said it wasn't quite right, either," she moaned. "I don't know what she wants—whether it's more cheese or pepper or what—but it'll be a red star day when he admits his onion soup is made right."

They call the Borahs down in Washington "Big Borah" and "Little Borah." For the possible First Lady wears 14 clothes, child size shoes and comes just about to the big senator's breast pocket.

They say that "Little Borah" winds him around her little finger, but she makes no boasts of her prowess. However, it is noted that the senator still rides the street cars though he once permitted auto salesmen to take him to lunch. "Little Borah" said he needed his horseback riding and walk from the street car more than an auto.

The Borah apartment blooms like an exotic flower on the top floor of an old-fashioned red brick apartment house. A green and scarlet macaw perches on a fan-backed Chinese chair in which "Little Borah" sits like a dainty bit of Chinese porcelain.

Long-legged cranes and herons of porcelain drink from table lily pools. Bits of jade and brass plaques make the fragrant orient live in this little bit of the occident.

And myriads of canaries and goldfinches fly about the sunny rooms, for "Little Borah" says it's bad enough to take birds from their forest home without cooping them up in cages. Once in a while a fluff of yellow feather settles down to drink from a green porcelain turtle bowl.

They Call Her Mother
And into this haven of jade and brass and brocade and singing birds comes a strange procession of humanity—derelicts, boys and girls who call "Little Borah" "Aunt Mary" and claim her as their nearest relative.

For "Little Borah," childless herself, has offered herself as mother to the world's motherless. She never turns a pleader away. The shell-shocked soldier boys of St. Elizabeth's are her special pets. Week after week, her basket filled with fruit and magazines and gay pictures, she takes the street car to the mental hospital to help "the boys" who live for this weekly visit.

It is no longer popular or the fashion to visit war victims so long after the war, but "Little Borah's" fashions are her own—the fashion of eternal service.

Every morning the postman brings her a stack of mail from the four corners of the country—from mothers and fathers and sisters and sweethearts of other soldier boys "gone west" or missing.

car driver finds himself booked under a suspicious person charge. Perhaps in default of $1,000 bail he spends the night in jail.

At least, he appears in morals court the following day and if a summary conviction results, things happen, just what authorities have not said. They have noted, however, that efforts will be made to have offenders' driver's licenses revoked.

But the "pick-up experts" while admitting that the theory is beautiful point out that the practice is likely to be fraught with dangers.

Girls Get Even
It will provide excellent opportunities for angry "girl friends" to "get even," they assert, since all that will be necessary will be merely to turn in the license number of the victim's car and let the police do the rest. Regardless of whether he is convicted, embarrassment and inconvenience are sure to result and the wounded feelings will be soothed.

And the girls? Here opinion differs. Some adjust their spectacles, brush an imaginary speck of dust from their severe but substantial suits and remark that "it will serve the curb lizards right." Others merely glance at the interviewer in a knowing way and remark that after all there are "some nice boys that do things like that and it would be a shame to arrest them just because some girl didn't like them."

"MY BACK WAS SO LAME I SPENT HOURS OF MISERY," SHE SAYS

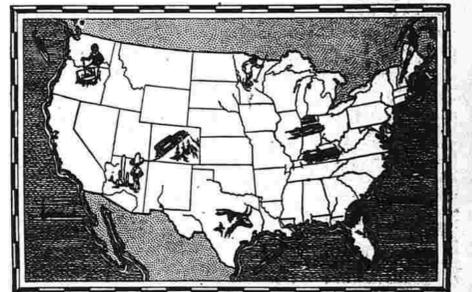

Mrs. Kate Daniels of 49 Irving Street, Worcester, Mass., Believed Very Much in Herbs and Therefor Took ERBJUS. Is Now a Stronger Believer Than Ever.

Mrs. Daniels says: "I had rheumatism in different parts of my body for a long, long time. My limbs would feel so stiff I could hardly get around and it would make me feel so tired I could scarcely be on my feet on account of the pain. My back would feel so lame that I was in hours of misery. I got so my housework was drudgery and the pains in the small of my back kept me from bending or stooping over."
"Many times I did my housework bit by bit because I could not do it all at once. I can scarcely now realize the misery I went through on account of these backaches."
"I heard a great deal of ERBJUS and decided to give it a trial. I have taken three bottles of it and the results have been far more than I expected. I am a well woman without an ache or pain and can do a heavy day's work in the house and can't feel it. I certainly indorse ERBJUS."

"ERBJUS" is for sale in Manchester by Packard's Drug Store, I. O. O. F. Building, South Manchester.

Tested . . . from Maine to Arizona for Power, Speed and Endurance

LONG ago, Hupmobile engineers found that the rigorous tests provided by Nature under varied climatic conditions far exceed those imposed by factory proving grounds. That is why every new Hupmobile model is tested in the field—on real mountains and under all atmospheric conditions from coast to coast. Maine and Minnesota give the sub-zero temperatures that prove efficiency of starting and lubricating systems. Uniontown Hill and Pike's Peak make strenuous demands on power and axle gearing. Cooling is checked at 120 degrees in Arizona; carburetion in Colorado's high altitudes and at sea-level in Florida. Thus, no matter where you live or drive, Hupmobile engineers have provided you. One more reason why Hupmobile performance and stamina continue to win thousands of new owners from the ranks of those who formerly paid far more for equal luxury and dependability.

24 body and equipment combinations, standard and custom, on each line. Six of the Century, $1345 to $1625. Century Eight, $1825 to $2405. All prices f. o. b. Detroit, plus revenue tax . . . The Century 125 Eight has all the advanced engineering features, the refinements and luxury of the new Century Eight.

Yankees Have Pennant All Sewed Up Already

New York Team Has Only to Play .535 Per Cent Ball Hereafter to Win League Pennant.

New York, May 29.—For lack of more convincing information to the contrary, we will concede that the gentlemen who first admonished the world to take nothing for granted in baseball had more than a mere idea. Experience, in fact, has proved conclusively that he wasn't talking through his adenoids. However, not to change the subject too abruptly, have you made your reservations at the Yankee Stadium for the opening game of the "World Series"? Do so at once; it looks like an absolute turn-away for late arrivals.

Those five out of six games in which the Yankees knocked the Athletics for a series of re-organizations, ending in Philadelphia yesterday, have just about closed to the book on the American League race. Pardon my lip, didn't even mean chase. The American League today is sponsoring an endurance contest, meaning that the public will need a lot of stamina to stay with the situation much longer. To all intents, the New York Yankees have won the pennant in the first few weeks of the season and, if you think this is being a trifle premature, I can only commend your attention to the following:

Past Performance

The Yankees, having played through the first six weeks at an .816 pace, need only show an average of about .535 for the remaining sixteen weeks of the season to be reasonably certain of winning with their hands in their pockets. So much for the mere mathematics of the situation. Logic and reasoning, however, indicate that no set of figures can do justice to the plight of the other seven clubs, for nothing except a victory for the Athletics in the series just concluded could have kept the American League problem from focusing on the collapse of that club simply meant that the bottom had fallen out of the business and that the opposition, actual enough while the Athletics were losing only four games between April 19 and May 24, had become only a pretense.

Not Fool Proof

Oddly enough, the Yanks are not the fool-proof outfit they were in 1927 and I don't mean that the contention is more fat headed, either. The Browns, Red Sox, Indians and Athletics appear to be stronger this year, potentially and, in some cases, actually. The Tigers should be better, too, or at least as good as they were.

The Yanks are getting the breaks. I am not sure of the fact that all winning ball clubs break about seventy-thirty on the whimsicalities of competitive fortune. I also take due cognizance of the fact that this outfit as no other in history did or could and that, therefore, is entitled to much of what it happens to get.

Let us concede the Yankees all that is coming to them and, then just to strike a fair average, let's not forget to concede them their luck.

Personally, I don't see how you can do less with a club that hits home runs with the bases filled some eight or ten times in thirty-eight games. Call it good pinch hitting, by all means, but if you don't call it good luck, too, you are neglecting part of your story. Those home runs, not the defense, which is far from what it might be—are sending a topheavy club so far out in front that no one will be able to catch it with a long distance telephone call.

WINDHAM DEFEATS OUR 4TH PITCHER

High School Plays Ragged Ball Behind Seelert to Lose 6-4; Dowd Hits Homer.

"Lefty" Seelert, Manchester High's fourth string pitcher, had one bad inning yesterday and as a result, Windham High was victorious at Recreation Park in Williammantic 6 to 4. Seelert was hit hard and often but the support his mates gave him was far worse than his pitching. The winners tallied four runs in the second. Three hits and three errors did the trick.

Manchester played a listless game for several innings and when it decided to wake up, it was too late. It was not until Wilkinson issued four consecutive passes and two men were out thus forcing in a run, that the local team showed any signs of fight. Even then, the usual pep was missing. With two important league games on deck for today and Friday, Manchester wasn't much interested in the outcome of yesterday's contest.

Coach Tom Kelley didn't take any chances by using either Billy Dowd or Herb Fraser on the mound. Dave McConkey, his other pitcher, is on the sick list. Dowd will pitch today in Middle-town and Fraser in West Hartford Friday. Tinker, Warren and Woodward hit hard for Williammantic and Dickie Kerr best for Manchester. Ernie Dowd whaled a home run in the ninth with two men on and no one out. It was Manchester's diving kick. Billy Dowd and Lupien fielded well.

THE PERFECT GET-AWAY, A LA JOE HAUSER

Joe Hauser, first-sacker of the Philadelphia Athletics, is batting them out right handily this season, and following up his hits with equal skill. Here's a remarkable action shot of Hauser taking hasty leave of the home plate after slapping one far into his home-town field.

Green, Bon Ami, Heights, Firemen Win Twilight League Contests

Borst, Godek, Mantelli, Varrick Pitch Good Games—Nichols Gets First Homer; Heights Win 1-0 Game; League Leaders Meet Thursday.

Manchester Green, Bon Ami, Heights and the Firemen were victorious in last night's Community Club twilight baseball league games. The last two mentioned are tied for first place with two victories and no defeats and will meet Thursday night at Manchester Green.

Outstanding features last night were the pitching of Clarence Borst, Jack Godek, Charlie Varrick and Elmo Mantelli. Jimmy Nichols, Highland Park's ever-smiling manager, got the first circuit clout of the league, but his team lost. The closest game of the evening was the clash between the Heights and North Ends which the former won by a 1 to 0 score.

Highland Park staged a rally in the last inning that came near upsetting the Firemen's victory. La France walked three men but Paul Cervini relieved him and saved the day. The Firemen displayed steady fielding and timely hitting. Roban got the "buggy" ride in Nichols' homer to deep left-center. The game was played at the Community Playgrounds. The summary:

SEVEN LOCAL MEN IN NORWICH RACE

Johnny McCluskey, Pride of Manchester, Enters in 10-Mile Run Tomorrow Afternoon.

Seven Manchester runners representing the Recreation Centers will compete in the lunatic race at Norwich tomorrow afternoon. They are Johnny McCluskey, winner of the five-mile cross-country race here last fall, Frank Haraburda, Eric Crawshaw, Frank Noonan, Joe Sullivan, Pete Canale and John Mcavanaugh.

The local party will be supervised by Director Lewis Lloyd and will make the trip in automobiles driven by Mr. Lloyd and Sam Houston leaving the Rec at 9:30 tomorrow morning. Frank C. Busch will accompany the party as trainer. Coach "Pete" Hansen may be unable to make the trip because of business complications.

Although the Connecticut Association of the A. A. U. at the present time stands suspended as a result of the recent order of the national president, Murray Hulbert, the race will be as scheduled, through the efforts of William Kennedy, president of the suspended body, who has made the necessary arrangements to whereby the event will be perfectly legal in the eyes of the national body of the A. A. U.

There will be two games in the Community Club Junior baseball league tonight. The Cardinals and Oaks will mingle at Hickey's Grove while the Hilliard street nine will play the Woodland street club at the playgrounds.

There will be a meeting of all managers of Community Club Twilight League teams tonight at 8 o'clock at the "White House."

THIS HAS HAPPENED

VIRGINIA BREWSTER, upon the sudden death of her father, CLARISSA DEAN, and her father, Her fiancé, NATHANIEL DANN, objects to this for he mistrusts DEAN'S intentions. Upon the night, VIRGINIA is surprised when his model, CHIRI, appears. This causes a quarrel which is later mended.

CHAPTER XIX

VIRGINIA'S things had arrived. she was told, and she asked to have them sent up immediately. It gave her welcome activity to unpack and make a list of the pictures and the few objects that she had in her suitcases. The trunks that should have been at the Deans' were not there, she learned. She called her former home on Park Avenue and directed the superintendent to send them to her new address. They contained nothing but clothing, very little of which she cared to wear now, so she was not impatient to receive them.

"Do make us some tea, Niel," Chiri coaxed. "I'm so low I could crawl under a pancake."

of a decidedly boyish cut. Nathaniel threw down his brush and knocked over a chair on his way to greet her when Virginia entered in response to his call to come in. "Will-o-the-wisp," he chided; "I've been trying all day to get you but I couldn't get a peep from anyone at the Deans. Aren't they letting you use the phones?" I suspected something like that. Virginia forced herself to laugh at him. She wasn't going to let Miss Mond know that anything was wrong. "I've been busy with Mr. Gardiner," she explained after murmuring a polite phrase to Chiri. "It was so late when I left his office just now I thought you must be about finished with your work for the day, so I came in to have tea with you."

This And That In Feminine Lore

"Drive-way Inn" is the clever name of Manchester's newest and most home-like eating place at 655 North Main street, which will be open every day in the year from 12 noon to 1 a. m. Memorial day they will serve special chicken dinners, $1.25 and $1.50. They specialize on delicious club and other sandwiches, salads and Besse's ice cream, and are prepared to cater to small private parties or to upwards of 75 by appointment. The spacious house, known to most Manchester folks as the Keesey place, has a large ample room for small dances. Telephone 2659.

The housewife who gives serious consideration to her family's nutritional needs tries to adapt the foods to the changing seasons. Heavy, substantial dishes so satisfying in colder weather are not desirable for summer, when the meals must be more carefully planned, not only to appeal to the palate but to look attractive to the eye. Any meal is made more interesting and nutritious by the judicious use of fruit. In any diet composed of much meat it is particularly essential to include fruit and vegetables.

To crown a faultless attire Memorial day you must be certain that your culture is correct. A marvel at the Lily Beauty shop in the House & Hale building, one of their large natural-looking waves, will give you entire satisfaction. Ring 1671 for an appointment.

Spring Vegetable Soup Four good-sized new carrots, 1 Bermuda onion, 4 outside blades of celery, 1 small parsnip, 1 new turnip, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 cup strained tomatoes, 4 cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons left-over green peas, 2 tablespoons quick cooking tapioca. Scrape and peel vegetables and put through coarse knife of food chopper. Melt butter in kettle, add prepared vegetables and cook five minutes. Then add onion, carrots, water, salt, and pepper and simmer closely covered, for one hour. Add water as necessary to keep five cups of liquid. Add tapioca and about half a cup of any left-over vegetable.

Another W. W. Wentworth bridge series will begin tomorrow on the home page. It ought to be of interest to every bridge player whether novice or shark at the game. It will be under the caption "Bridge Made Easy" and Mr. Wentworth will work up from the basic principles to the technicalities of the game. This series will be a fitting sequel to the "Bridge Me Another" which proved so popular.

"OBEY" GOES TWICE "The Lovely Duckling," by Rupert Hughes is a story of family problems in this modern world. "The Lovely Ducklings" are the children of distraught clucking parents who realize that family discipline has gone glimmering and that the word "obey" now left out of the marriage ceremony, is also omitted from the minds of children.

"Youth today," says Mr. Hughes, "is a gigantic secret society forbidding its elders to enter its life, to say nothing of controlling it. It has its own codes, its own ideals, many of them high, but many of them perilous, and its members destroy or save themselves under the cover of a well-meant conspiracy to keep the elders outside."

Blood-curdling incidents take place and tragedies are averted or noted as in a separate world. The parents imagine much and fear more, but they are really foreigners and hardly more than bewildered spectators of dramas they cannot follow.

HIS SOLUTION "This great nation, the richest on earth, might well observe the policy of another nation which, I am told, offers governmental aid to parents at the birth of a child. The expense of such government aid could only be met in America by increased taxation; but in that case the first cost of future citizens would be borne by all, even the childless and the unmarried sharing the burden and helping to give parents a better chance to welcome and properly to care for their children."

HEAP BIG CHIEFS Times aren't so easy for Heap Big Chief Indians in the reservations. The squaws are refusing to do all the work while the men folks loaf. Indian men always have hunted and fished and warded while Indian women tilled the fields, pounded the maize into flour, made garden, and did all the home work. That was fair enough when buffalo and fish were brought home to be cooked. But now that food is bought at the grocery some of the men only consult themselves for that their own job is off their hands, and make no move to assume any of their wives' same old duties.

MEN ALL ALIKE Even the government has stepped in on some of the reservations and tried to make the men make garden and relieve the squaws a little. But the Indians aren't so different from hundreds and thousands of our white husbands who see no reason why even if economic stress makes it necessary for their wives or daughters or sisters to work for wage outside the home, they shouldn't also keep on doing all the housework. Just as "women folks" did in a day when that was their sole job.

MARVE and MOM Their Letters

Dearest Marve: That was too bad about your friend Shirley Wells. But I do see why her father blamed the boy. If he had damaged Mr. Wells' property he'd have been expected to pay for it, wouldn't he?

Because he thinks more of his daughter than his property is no reason why he should be willing to overlook any injury that might result to her. He's the one who will have to pay the bills, and if Shirley really remonstrated with the young man for his reckless driving then Mr. Wells certainly had a right to sue.

If the boy'd been anything but irresponsible it wouldn't have been necessary to start suit. In the first place, there wouldn't have been an accident—at least he wouldn't have been to blame for it. And in the second place, having caused it, he ought to have offered to defray all expenses.

I don't suppose you have any idea of the worries that beset a parent over the wisdom of the modern youth. And aside from considerations of mental anguish there's the economic angle to be weighed as well. That ought to appeal to you, an investment? Isn't a child like to see years of toil and sacrifice for a daughter wasted by the wanton foolishness of a young person?

I surely wouldn't consider you of less importance. Marve, that my pany bed, and yet I had to have a regular set-to with the new people who've moved in next door because their dog dug up my plants and they didn't seem to think it amounted to anything. I've worked hard on those pansy beds and I'm not going to have them destroyed. I guess Mr. Wells felt the same way about Shirley. I wish he'd been able to make an example of the young man. Maybe if people always had to pay for the damage they do there'd be less damage and fewer accidents. Getting off too easily only leads people into further recklessness.

With all my love, MOM.

WOMEN ARE ENFORCERS OF THE LAW

If America is to have real prohibition, it is up to women to enforce the laws, in the opinion of Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, general chairman of the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement.

Mrs. Peabody pointed out that since biblical days, progressive women of the past have recognized their duty as law-enforcers.

"Deborah is the first recorded law enforcement leader," she said. "Deborah doubtless would have preferred to sit under her palm tree and express her opinion on various questions. It was necessary, however, to persuade a timid ruler to go out and save his country. She finally had to go with him and see that he did it."

"Woman's home training steels her to the arduous tasks entailed in enforcing any law. Her trained hands keep the children under some law. Any man left alone with six lively children for a week might readily modify or repeal the Ten Commandments, seize his personal liberty in both hands and state with deep conviction that 'woman's place is in the home.'"

"Man the law-giver; woman the law-enforcer! That has been the accepted home-rule in American life. Why not put it into effect in a democracy where men are making a dismal failure?"

"The best law enforcement official in Washington today is a woman, Mabel Willbrandt, Assistant Attorney General.

"From now until election day, patriotic women are needed to hold candidates to their plain duty of enforcing the law."

Daily Health Service HINTS ON HOW TO KEEP WELL by World Famed Authority

EGG ADDS A VALUABLE PROTEIN TO DIET

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

The egg is an important article in the diet, since it provides a protein that is easily digested. It is deficient in carbohydrate and sugar but this, of course, is not an important deficiency.

The white of the egg consists chiefly of water, proteins and mineral salts. The yolk of the egg is fat highly emulsified, in which there is much vitamin A and D proportionately, also some protein and such minerals as phosphorus, calcium and iron.

Contains 70 Calories The average egg weighs about two ounces; about 15 per cent of its content is protein, about 10 per cent fat, about one per cent mineral and the remainder water. In these times of much attention to calories and reduction in weight it is important to realize that a single egg will provide 70 calories, so that it is not a good reducing food. A raw egg is not so easily digestible as one that is slightly cooked, contrary to popular opinion. On the other hand, even a raw egg is fairly easily digestible.

The hard boiled egg is digested easier than one of medium hardness, particularly because the yolk has been brought into a condition which enables the gastric juice to act upon it to better advantage.

So important are eggs in the diet, that all sorts of methods have been devised for preserving them, including packing in solid substances and in water glass or by cold storage. Evaporating away the moisture will reduce the egg to a powder.

An egg removed from cold storage should be eaten promptly as bacteria which have been held inert immediately begin to multiply in the warmer atmosphere.

All sorts of substitutes for eggs are available. These consist mostly of cornstarch, casing and coloring matter. They do not possess the same nutritive value as eggs in protein content and particularly not in their content of vitamins.

Home Page Editorial WHY MEN LOSE SELF RESPECT By Olive Roberts Barton

A Chicago woman got a divorce because her husband was unpleasantly jealous of her income. "I made more money than he did," she said. "When I refused to quit work and let him support me, he deserted me."

We believed that kind of sentiment among men was dead, although the time was when they banked their fists on the table and said they'd be darned if they'd stand it.

Weighing the pros and cons of this wife-working business, we believe that most men today would rather be delving for the bread for their families, and the oriental rugs and sport cars, too, than have their wives go out and bustle.

Few men exist who don't love to play Santa Claus, for men are, as a class, more generous than women. They are less selfish in their motive for digging up the almighty dollar, whether for bread or for luxuries.

When women work it usually is for a more selfish reason. Regardless of the money they earn, their motives, if closely analyzed, would boil down mostly to self-interest. True, many women are working for families, but I am speaking of the class of women who ten years ago would have had to stay at home because their husbands refused to let them leave.

There is no dodging the fact that women working outside of the home are in time bound to change the character of men. One man in the know, recently wrote an article to the effect that men are retrograding to the primitive more rapidly than we realize. It is easy to see the reason. Take away self-respect and will anyone, man or woman, care greatly what happens after that?

Not that men need to lose their self-respect because their wives go out and work, but they do and will, it is their nature.

Last of Civil War Mothers Tells of Son, 16, Who Marched Away in '64, Never to Return

By JOE LOVE
NEA Service Writer

West McHenry, Ill., May 29—On the front porch of a small stone house here sits Mrs. Samantha Rorer Button, 98, a kindly little woman who dreams of her "soldier boy" who marched away to war in February, 1864, and never came back.

Except for an aged negro woman in Alabama, whose son fled from slavery to enlist in the federal forces, she is the last of the Civil War mothers.

Born in Pennsylvania in 1830 she came west with her parents and settled in McHenry. At a very early age she married. Three boys were born to her before she was twenty—Clinton, Leonard and Frank. Clinton, the oldest, was the soldier. He enlisted in Company H, 15th Illinois Cavalry, in February, 1864, when he was 16.

Tells of Son
Mrs. Button, now wrinkled and worn, sits alone with her reminiscences.

"I have had to work hard all my life but we did have the jolliest times," she says. "When Clinton was old enough to dance I taught him how and was his first partner. I'll have you know I was no wall-flower in those days."

Then the Civil War came and with it a call for recruits. Local companies were formed in McHenry and they drilled not far from the Rorer home.

"There was parading up and down the streets with torches and drums," she says. "Clinton was only 16 but he was big and strong and they took him in. They drilled up and down that street." She shouldered her cane to illustrate.

Mrs. Samantha Rorer Button, 98, who will see to it that her son's grave is decorated today . . . At 16, he left her and marched away to war in 1864 and never came back alive.

"They gave him a cape and then one day they went away and I never saw him alive again," she continued. "I didn't mind it so much at first because my brother was in the same company and he promised to look out for him. And the captain and his wife were friends and used to write to me."

A few months later her son was taken down with typhoid fever and removed to a hospital. She thinks it was Camp Relief at Washington.

"I wanted to go to him but I couldn't manage with the other children. And he died," she said, "he died calling for his mother," she says with eyes brimming with tears.

Decorates His Grave
He was brought back and buried near his home. Every year Mrs. Button sees that his grave is decorated.

Mrs. Button attributes her long life to hard work and exercise, three meals a day and not eating between meals. She has practically no need for doctors.

"I haven't taken five cents worth of doctor medicine in the last fifty years and I've had enough grief to kill forty women . . . but here I am," she says.

Mrs. Button, then Mrs. Rorer, was placed on the pension rolls in December, 1864, at $3 a month. The pension terminated in 1870 when she married James Button, but he died in 1899. In December, 1926, she filed for pension renewal as a dependent mother and got it.

The only other Civil War mother on the pension rolls is Samantha Farrer, of Athens, Ala., mother of Henry Farrer, a former slave, who enlisted in Company F, 110th Colored Infantry. He was captured and died in a Confederate prison. She is now 100 but does not know her exact age.

COOLIDGE TO SPEAK AT GETTYSBURG

President Faces Spot Tomorrow Where Lincoln Stood When Making Immortal Dedication Address in 1863.

Facing the spot where Lincoln delivered his famous Gettysburg address and standing only a short distance away, President Coolidge makes a Memorial Day address at Gettysburg National Cemetery tomorrow.

The Soldiers' National Monument (left) now stands on the spot where stood the rude wooden platform from which Lincoln delivered his immortal oration when the cemetery was dedicated on Nov. 19, 1863. A short distance behind the rostrum chosen for Coolidge's speech is the Lincoln speech memorial (below), often mistaken as designating the spot on which the martyred president stood. The inset shows President Coolidge and the artist's sketch is taken from an old picture of Lincoln delivering his address.

President Coolidge is the second president since Lincoln to speak at Gettysburg on Memorial Day, the first having been President Roosevelt, in 1904. Nearly every president since the Civil War has visited Gettysburg at one time or another during his administration.

Here Are Prize Winning American Legion Essays

The four winning American Legion scholarship essays are published herewith. Dilworth Cornell Post, No. 192, American Legion awards each year four medals, two gold and two silver, to the grammar school pupils whose efforts on a Memorial Day subject are adjudged best. The winning essays in the eighth grades will receive gold medals, in the seventh grades silver medals. They will be properly engraved and presented to the winners tomorrow afternoon at Cheney Hall.

The essays are as follows:

MEMORIAL DAY
By George Marlow
Grade Eight, Ninth Dist.

"Oh, what lovely roses!"
"How fragrant your lilacs are!"
As they went toward the little churchyard the group of women exclaimed over the flowers they carried. They were not thinking of the flowers they carried, but of the army of the South which was fighting far away.

On this April morning of 1863, two years after the war had started, these women of Columbus, Mississippi, went to decorate the graves of their soldier dead.

One of them having finished decorating the graves of her sons turned her steps toward a corner of the churchyard and started to decorate two graves.

"Did you forget," cried one of the other women, "whose graves those are? They're two Union soldiers. They're Yankees who—"

"I did not forget," said the mother of the two heroes, "but somewhere in the North perhaps a mother or a wife mourns for them just as we mourn for our dead."

She then pushed the long grass aside and sent her flowers on the two mounds.

With tears in her eyes she proudly faced the other women and said, "We bring these flowers to express our love and devotion. They are dead, our heroes of the South. They are dead, the unknown soldiers of the North. But when the war is over and peace comes again we shall call them all heroes. So here are my flowers for both the Blue and the Gray."

"And mine,"
"And mine,"
"And mine, too," said the other women as they gently added their flowers to the unknown graves.

The next year and the next the women of Columbus repeated this wonderful deed. Each year found more and more women joining the group that went in the spring to decorate the graves of the Blue and the Gray. They covered the graves as impartially as the sun shines upon the just and the unjust.

It was but a small thing to strew blossoms over a grave and yet from this act of these women of Columbus came the most beautiful of our holidays.

When the people all over the country heard this thrilling tale their hearts overflowed with tenderness.

"Flowers for the graves of the Blue and the Gray alike," was the cry that rang through the North.

Early in May of 1868 it was suggested to General John A. Logan, then commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, that their organization borrow this custom and have a set day for the decoration of the graves of their comrades.

Logan issued an order naming the thirtieth of May because it marked the discharge of the last Union soldier.

State after state in the North took up the idea and made May thirtieth a holiday. In some of the states May tenth is observed. Louisiana has the third of June. In four other states it is April twenty-sixth.

In 1895 the veterans of the Spanish-American War began decorating the graves of their dead buddies.

Now the graves of the World War veterans are being decorated.

This day is now set aside for the decoration of all the soldiers' graves who fought for the honor of their country.

"It should be the duty of every American man, woman and child, to do something on Memorial Day to show how much he or she appreciates what our soldiers suffered and endured in order to protect our freedom."

MEMORIAL DAY.
By Barbara Hyde.
Grade Seven, Ninth District.

Over a century ago, our country was engaged in a terrible civil war. The Southern men were fighting against their brothers of the North in a struggle to decide whether our country should remain together in union, or whether the South should be a separate Southern Confederacy. We today, know the result of this fierce struggle. We are all united in one great Union. Today the men of the South, descendants of those who fought for the Lost Cause, are just as willing to defend their country as the men of the North. It was a terrible war but out of it has grown one of our most beautiful days—Memorial Day or Decoration Day as it was first called. Memorial Day, however, really describes it better as it shows that it is a day in memory of the dead soldiers.

Memorial Day originated by Northern women placing flowers on the graves of their dead relatives and also on the graves of other soldiers, unknown to them. Some one suggested to General John Logan that a special day be put aside for this purpose. He approved of the suggestion and named May thirtieth as Memorial Day. He also expressed the wish that Memorial Day be celebrated every year on that date. His wish has indeed come true. Every year on that date in most states Memorial Day is celebrated. In some states it is a little before this date. In others it is shortly after. Southern states also have a separate day on which to honor the men who died for the Lost Cause.

The Memorial Day of the present is not only in memory of those who died in the Civil War, but also in memory of those who were killed in the Spanish-American and World Wars. In nearly all states, the ceremony is practically the same. First there is a parade of Civil and Spanish-American War Veterans, soldiers who were in the World War, bands, Boy and Girl Scouts, and schoolchildren. There are speeches and music and the decoration of the graves.

The use of flowers for decorations is an old custom. The Greeks used them at religious festivals. We must remember that our Memorial Day is not a religious celebration but a patriotic observance—a pleasing anew of fealty to our flag while we honor the men who died for it.

MANCHESTER'S SERVICE IN THE CIVIL WAR.
By Eunice Brown
Grade 8—Eighth Dist.

Much credit is due our town of Manchester for the self-sacrifice on the part of its individual soldiers and the prompt and effective action of the community as our own Civil War Veterans will remember with great pride.

At the time of the Civil War, Manchester had a voting population of 658, and out of this number, Manchester sent 263 to the war. Of these men 241 were volunteers and the other twenty-seven, drafted men. It was a fine record for Manchester to have this many volunteers. Forty-eight lost their lives and seventeen were captured and confined in Confederate prisons.

Seven of Manchester's men ranked in the commissioned officers. Among these, the most noted was Frank W. Cheney who was lieutenant-colonel of the Sixteenth Volunteer Infantry which was organized in the fall of 1862.

The Civil War on the Union side differed greatly from the World War in the methods of raising troops. Reliance was placed almost entirely upon volunteering.

The Manchester town records during the war years are concerned principally with votes of money to stimulate volunteering and to provide for soldiers' families.

On April 15, 1861, President Lincoln issued a call for 75,000 volunteers for three months' service. The response throughout the North was immediate and enthusiastic. Young men in every community hastened to offer themselves in numbers larger than the assigned quotas. The Connecticut quota was one regiment, and this regiment contained several Manchester men.

Within two weeks, three regiments were ready.

A contribution from Manchester towards arming the troops for the Civil War was the Spencer repeating rifle.

The inventor, Christopher W. Spencer was a native of Manchester. At the time of his invention he was Superintendent of Cheney Brothers machine shop.

Soon after the outbreak of the war the manufacture of these rifles was begun in Boston by the Spencer Repeating Rifle Company, a concern which was largely financed by Cheney Brothers.

With such fine records as these in the past, we should keep up the splendid reputation that Manchester had in the war by always observing Memorial Day with devotion and enthusiasm.

CLARA BARTON, "THE ANGEL OF THE BATTLEFIELD."
By Ethel Walker
Grade Seven—Hollister St. School

Without the aid of women it is doubtful whether the North or the South could have carried on the Civil War to its successful end. Women played an important part at home giving encouragement to the men at the front. Many worked in the fields, plowing, and planting. Others worked to maintain supplies of clothing, bandages, and other comforts for the soldiers. They great and well conducted organizations of the North, the Sanitary and Christian Commissions providing clothes, bandages and other needed supplies for the soldiers.

One of the most prominent of all the brave women who helped in the war was Clara Barton.

Clara Barton was born in Oxford, Massachusetts, and educated in Clinton, New York. At the age of eleven years she had her first chance to be a nurse. At this time her brother David was seriously injured and for two long years Clara stayed with him day and night. Her family then sent her to school and there she studied so hard that at the age of fifteen, she became a teacher. At the end of eighteen years of faithful service as a teacher she had lost her voice. Still she could not bear to be idle while she had the use of her hands. Her good hands were her greatest desire to work, helped her to find a place in the Patent Office in Washington. During the years of humdrum life there as a government clerk, Miss Barton was thrilled by the stories she read of the noble work of Florence Nightingale, the famous nurse in the Crimean War between Great Britain and Russia.

When Fort Sumter was fired on and President Lincoln began calling for soldiers to defend the Union, Clara Barton was soon found at the front. Fitting up an old barn for a hospital, she went about on the battlefield looking for wounded men and doing all she could to relieve and help them. Corresponding with newspapers in the North, she did wonders in obtaining medicines, hospital supplies and comforts for her sick men in the army. Those who knew most about her great service to the country thought it even greater than that of Florence Nightingale who was considered the greatest nurse of modern times.

Then it was that the grateful soldiers called Clara Barton "The Angel of the Battlefield." She later spent many years tracing out the fate of missing men and to her great joy she learned that thousands of deserters had bravely given their lives for their country.

Requiring rest to regain the health she had lost by overwork she went to Europe. While there she studied and became interested in the work of a Swiss woman trying to organize a society for nursing and caring for sick and wounded soldiers of all nations. Because its emblem was a red cross on a white background it was named the Red Cross Society. After she had returned to the United States she started organizing the American Red Cross Society, which has since become the greatest power in the world for the relief of suffering.

Though she was now seventy-seven, in the years of the war with Spain she was active in sharing the hardships of the American soldiers in Cuba, nursing Roosevelt Rough Riders along with the rest of the sick and wounded at the front.

Though she lived to be ninety, honored and beloved by millions for her constant labors of love and mercy, Clara Barton did not live to see in the World War, the most wonderful carrying out of all her plans for soldiers on the field and in the hospitals.

RINTY, THE WONDER DOG AT THE STATE

Shares Honors With Bebe Daniels in Holiday Bill Today and Tomorrow.

Rin Tin Tin, famous dog star of the films, and Bebe Daniels, equally as famous as a comedienne, will share honors in the elaborate holiday program which comes to the State Theatre today and tomorrow (Decorated Day). Each is seen as the star in two separate feature productions.

The coming of Rin Tin Tin is an event in any town—an event to those who await their teams, and to those who have passed them.

In "Rinty of the Desert," his latest starring vehicle, he plays the part of a dog who, deserted in the sandy wastes of his home, hops a truck and rides to town, where he is taken in by an old man and his beautiful granddaughter. Then begins the exciting action which makes "Rinty of the Desert" the fastest and most furious of all Rin Tin Tin's pictures.

And for the second feature. Give Webster, Mass. T. Grant, who has been seriously ill, is slightly improved.

Bebe Daniels half a chance and the motion picture comedian will wrench a chuckle out of the worst of the pessimists. In "The Fifty-Fifty Girl," her new starring effort, she certainly lives up to her reputation for the entire piece is nothing but good wholesome laughs from beginning to end.

The story is typically Bebe Daniels, who is never better than in a story wherein the beautiful American girl just cannot keep herself out of a jam. In "The Fifty-Fifty Girl" deals with such a girl, one who is firm in the belief that she can make a man look silly under any set of circumstances. How she changes her mind quickly is furnished in the unwinding of one of the season's peppiest comedy-dramas.

For Thursday and Friday the State presents Lois Moran in "Love Hungry" and Victor McLaglen in "Hangman's Hour."

TWO DOOMED GIRLS TO HELP SCIENTISTS

Volunteer to Submit to Experiments in Hopes of Finding Cure.

New York, May 29—Two of the five New Jersey girls who are said to be doomed to die of radium poisoning, contracted while they were in the employ of the United States Radium Corporation at Orange, N. J., today volunteered to submit to scientific experiments in the hope that a cure may be found for the dreaded malady.

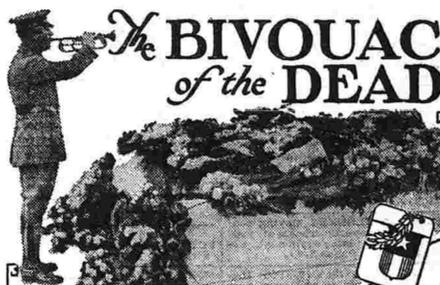

The are Miss Katherine Schaub, of Newark, and Mrs. Edna Husman, of Hillside. Bodies of radium poisoned persons have been examined and experimented on frequently after death. But never have scientists been given reign in cases of living victims.

"I will submit willingly to experiments when Dr. Humphries (Dr. Robert E. Humphries, of Orthopedic hospital, Orange) says the word," said Mrs. Husman this morning. "I am under his care and I do what he advises."

A sacred lizard from Bangkok is being sent to New York. As though the hotel lobbies weren't crowded enough low!

INEXPERIENCED
"How'd come out in the exam?"
"Well, I passed my ukulele test, but flunked in necking."—Judge.

THAT'S WHY IT'S TOUGH
"Marriage is a fifty-fifty proposition."
"Yeah; fifty for this and fifty for that."—Judge.

THE muffled drum's sad roll has beat
The soldier's last tattoo;
No more on life's parade shall meet
That brave and fallen few.
On Fame's eternal camping-ground
Their silent tents are spread,
And Glory guards with solemn round
The bivouac of the dead.

No answer of the foe's advance
No swells upon the wind;
No troubled-thought at midnight haunts
Of loved ones left behind;
No vision of the morrow's strife
The warrior's dream alarms;
No braying horn nor screaming file
At dawn shall call to arms.

Their shivered swords are red with rust;
Their plumed heads are bowed;
Their haughty banner, trailed in dust,
Is now their natural shroud;
And piteous funeral-tears have washed
The red stains from each brow,
And their proud forms, in battle dashed,
And free from anguish now.

The neighing steed, the flashing blade,
The trumpet's stirring blast;
The charge, the dreadful cannon-ade,
The din and shout, are past;
No war's wild note, nor glory's peal,
Shall thrill with fierce delight
Those breasts that nevermore shall feel
The capture of the fight.

Rest on, embalmed and sainted dead!
Dear as the blood you gave,
No impious footstep here shall tread
The herbage of your grave;
Nor shall your glory be forgot
While fame her record keeps,
Or honor points the hallowed spot
Where valor proudly sleeps.

Yon minstrel's voiceless stone
In deathless song shall tell,
When many a vanquished age hath flown,
The story how ye fell.
Nor wreck, nor change, or winter's blight,
Nor Time's remorseless doom,
Shall dim one ray of holy light
That glows your glorious tomb.

MISSIONARIES GUESTS

AT SALVATION ARMY

Brigadier Pennick and Wife Coming to Visit Commandant and Mrs. Spohn.

Captain and Mrs. John Spohn of the Salvation Army will have as their guests this week-end, Mrs. Spohn's sister and brother-in-law, Brigadier and Mrs. Pennick. Brigadier and Mrs. Pennick have for a number of years been engaged in missionary work in China and India and while visiting here will probably speak on the work being accomplished by the Salvation Army in the Orient. They have just completed nine years service in China, and before that spent eight years in India.

Brigadier Pennick held the following offices during that time: Principal of India at Raining Cur, and a Field Secretary of China. Mrs. William Pennick was head of the Salvation Army boarding school in India and was editor of the War Cry in China. Hence it can be easily seen that the addresses they will give will be both interesting and instructive.

GARDEN CLUB PERFECTS

PLANS FOR ITS SHOW

Members Working Enthusiastically Behind Their Chairman—The Plan.

Much interest and enthusiasm was shown at the meeting last night of the general committee and chairmen of sub-committees and of the coming flower show of the Manchester Garden club. The conference was held at the Manchester Community clubhouse, with General Chairman Lafayette Robertson presiding. There was almost a 100 per cent attendance and following the meeting at the White House, nearly all proceeded to Center church parish hall where the show is to be held Thursday and Friday, June 14 and 15. Tentative plans were made for the layout and general decorative scheme.

The club is fortunate in securing Mr. Robertson as a leader in its plans for the coming event. His wide experience in horticultural exhibits in other places, and his optimistic views as to what the local garden club members will be able to do inspires them with confidence. The details of schedules and rules were carefully gone over and after discussion some slight changes were made. It was decided to change the time on opening day from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. and to open again the second day of the show at 10 a. m.

The regular monthly meeting of the club has been advanced from ## the second to the first Monday in June and will, therefore, be held Monday of next week at the home of the president, Miss Mary Chapman.

PARTY FOR BRIDE-ELECT

Miss Mabel Wetherell of Oakland, Guest of Honor at Home of Miss Henrietta Kanehl Last Night.

Miss Henrietta Kanehl of Center street entertained at bridge last evening in honor of Miss Mabel Wetherell of Oakland, whose engagement to Sherwood Bowers was recently announced. The young women were all members of the 1923 class in the Manchester High school. When the awards at bridge were given out, Miss Wetherell received a special prize—a box in which she found directions as to proceed to find the "Shower" of gifts concealed throughout the house.

Miss Kanehl used a color scheme of orchid and yellow in the dining room streamers in these colors formed a bowler at the table. The flowers used were lilies. Another surprise was arranged for the girls—what appeared to be a beautifully decorated cake, was found to contain tickets for all when the sections were separated.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

What this country needs is more country.

SENSE and NONSENSE

He (teaching her to drive): "In case of emergency, the first thing you want to do is put on the brake."

There are so many automobile accidents it's got to be an accident if you don't have one.

WHAT ABOUT THIS? "The roads are rather mussy for motoring."

The motorist had had an accident with his light car on the road. He limped painfully to a telephone box and called up the nearest garage.

"Hello," he said, I've turned turtle. Can you do anything for me?" "I'm afraid not," came the sweet feminine reply. "You've got the wrong number. What you want is the Zoo."

The man who used to step on your feet now steps on the gas and runs over you.

Joseph: "Let's drive in the park." Josephine: "Oh, no; let's park in the drive."

"How long did it take you to learn to drive a motor-car?" "Oh, three or four."

"No, motor-cars."

"One more payment and the car is mine." Yeah. Then you can trade it in on a new one.

Attorney For Auto Accident Victim: "Gentlemen of the jury, the driver of the car states he was going only four miles an hour. Think of the long agony of my poor unfortunate client, the victim, as the car drove over him."

Song for taxi-drivers: Denting tonight.

ON THE INSTALLMENT PLAN. Shiek: "Well, dad, I hear you won the car in the puzzle contest."

Dad: "I did, but 25 others also submitted the correct answer and my part was the tail light!"

Usually when there is engine trouble you will find there is a Miss in the motor.

Motorist: What will it cost me to have my car fixed? Garageman: What's wrong with it?

Motorist: I don't know. Garageman: Fifty-two dollars and sixty cents.

Dyer: "I understand your wife suffered from car sickness." Ryer: Yes, it makes her sick to think we can't afford as good a car as our neighbors.

The pedestrian who allows the grass to grow under his feet soon finds it growing over his head.

"Will you take gas?" inquired the dentist as he prepared to pull a tooth.

"Yes, replied the absent-minded motorist, "and you'd better look at the oil, too."

LETTER GOLF

LAZY? WORK THIS

If you're inclined to be LAZY this time of year you may find it hard to WORK today's letter golf puzzle, otherwise it's fairly easy. Par is six, but you may be able to beat the solution on another page:

Letter golf puzzle grid with letters L, A, Z, Y, W, O, R, K.

THE RULES

- 1-The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par... 2-You can change only one letter at a time... 3-You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump... 4-The order of letters cannot be changed.

ABOUT TOWN

All members of Company G have been ordered to assemble at the State Armory at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon to participate in the Memorial Day parade. They will wear O. D. uniforms with Garrison caps. The usual fine will be inflicted for failure to report.
George Graham, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Graham of 92 Russell street was taken to the Memorial hospital for treatment yesterday when he fell on a stone and cut his knee. He was discharged following treatment.
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bailey of Jersey City are visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. Benson of Main street. Mrs. Bailey is a niece of Mr. Benson.

Miss Elizabeth Koehler of Manchester, N. H., at present connected with the Long Island college hospital, as a member of the nursing staff, is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Ryan of Ridge street.
There will be May devotions in St. James' church this evening at 7:30.

Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock the Ladies' Sewing society of the Swedish Lutheran church will hold a sale of Swedish baking at the store of the J. W. Hale Company. All members of the society have been invited to contribute to the sale and should endeavor to have the food at the store as soon after 1 o'clock as possible.

Twenty-five dogs have been licensed since May 1. This is due to new dog owners, and dogs reaching the proper age.

George Cowles of Spring street has taken a position with the Benson Furniture company, as a finisher and repair man. He will be at their recently opened branch in the Fuller building on North Main street.

Children of the primary department will rehearse tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 at Center church for the exercises in connection with graduation. Miss Gertrude Carrier will be in charge.

Miss Helen L. Haviland has returned to her duties as religious education director at the South Methodist church after several weeks in the Lawrence Memorial hospital, New London, where she underwent a major operation.

The usual Wednesday night card party at the West Side Recreation Center will not be held tomorrow in observance of Decoration day.

EMERGENCY DOCTORS

Doctors Sloan and Weldon will be the physicians who will respond to emergency calls tomorrow afternoon and evening.

George May, who has been appointed as assistant superintendent of the new Hartford County building, does not expect to occupy quarters there before next fall and will remain with the Southern New England Company until that time.

At the meeting held yesterday afternoon of the Pastoral Union, a non-denominational association of ministers, held annually in connection with the graduation of the Hartford Theological Seminary Rev. Watson Woodruff was elected a member of the executive committee.

Miss Sylvia Alden Murphy, who has been connected with the Center Congregational church for the past six months, graduates today from the Hartford School of Religion.

Ernest Lilley, athletic director at the Center Congregational church, graduates from the Hartford Theological Seminary today.

A large number of Hartford friends of Miss Catherine Coughlin attended a bridge at her home at 14 Griswold street last night. The ten tables made the competition all the keener for the players and after refreshments and a bit of impromptu entertainment the party adjourned.

Martha, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Johnson of Boston is spending a few weeks with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Johnson of Clinton street.

CHURCH CHIMER TO GIVE PROGRAM TOMORROW

Following the custom of former years, a chime program will be given at the South Methodist church on Decoration Day by James B. Hutchinson, chimer. The program will commence at 1:30 o'clock and continue until 2:00 o'clock, ceasing then during the exercises at Cheney Hall. At the conclusion of the exercises, for a short period following, the program will continue while the parade is passing. This follows a request from some of the veterans who expressed a desire to have a favorite number of their "Marching Through Georgia" played while passing the church. The general program will consist of selections of American melodies, and also patriotic numbers, including well-known Civil War songs.

AUTO ACCIDENT

Car Goes Off Road When Driver Turns to Avoid Hitting Car Stopping Suddenly

John Burke of Spruce street and Walter Gleason of Maple street had a narrow escape from serious injury last night when a Ford roadster in which they were riding crashed into a fence and grazed a telephone pole on Spencer street.

According to police, the accident resulted when another automobile stopped suddenly in front of the Ford. To avert a collision, Burke turned sharply to the side and in doing so, the car went off the shoulder of the road and upset.

The Ford was damaged quite a bit. It is the property of Herbert Flavel of Spruce street. He had loaned it to Burke and Gleason. The occupants received only slight injuries and were treated at a doctor's office. Policeman Albert Roberts investigated but made no arrest.
