

BOARD FAVORS 50 FT. LINE ON KEENEY STREET

Selectmen to Ask Next Town Meeting to Approve New Layout—Hold Monthly Session.

Following a public formal hearing on the re-establishment of highway bounds on Keeney street that at times closely resembled a typical "Fighting Fifth" district meeting, Manchester's Board of Selectmen last night voted to recommend that fifty-foot street lines be established by town meeting. Keeney street, which runs from Wetherell street, to the Glastonbury line in the extreme western part of the town, was established in 1753 when grants of land were made from the Hartford East tract to some of the town's oldest families—the Keeneys, Olcotts, Olmsteads and so on. The original lines, if ever plotted for record, have now been lost, although there is a record that a 56-foot road once was intended.

Town Engineer Bowen has spent much time over a period of two years tracing all available maps, deeds and other records, in an attempt to lay out a street following the original bounds as closely as possible. Twenty-four of the present Keeney street property owners were present at the public hearing. Fourteen of them favored the establishment of a fifty-foot highway, the rest being rather bitterly opposed. There are 57 properties on the street divided among 51 owners. The Selectmen, who are granted that if a property owner did not appear at the hearing he approved the layout.

Those present last night were as follows: Cheney Brothers, represented by Howard I. Taylor; Martin Haberen; Amie Demars, Garfield Keeney, Arthur E. Loomis, Henry McConville, Clinton D. Keeney, Everett J. Keeney, East Hartford letter, Louis Lane, Robert J. Smith, Carl J. Earn, Andrew Earn, represented by brother, Carl J. Earn; Maria Turkington, represented by Albert Jackson; Marietta Brown, Wilmer E. Keeney, Wallace J. Palmer, Thomas and Louisa Proutie, Robert J. McLaughlin, represented by George H. Waddell; Edward H. Keeney, Albert J. Burns, John O'Hara, George Stamler, and Howard E. Keeney.

Those who opposed the proposed layout were George Brothers, Martin Haberen, Clinton D. Keeney, Everett J. Keeney, Louis Lane, Carl J. Earn, Andrew Earn, Wilmer E. Keeney, Edward H. Keeney, Albert J. Burns, and Howard E. Keeney.

Those who favored the proposed layout were George Brothers, Martin Haberen, Clinton D. Keeney, Everett J. Keeney, Louis Lane, Carl J. Earn, Andrew Earn, Wilmer E. Keeney, Edward H. Keeney, Albert J. Burns, and Howard E. Keeney.

In executive session the Selectmen discussed the engineer's layout thoroughly. The residents of Keeney street have been desirous of a better highway for several years and the town highway department maintains a suitable road surface cannot be built until the highway lines are established and a wider working area is provided. The Selectmen were convinced that the engineer's work was accurate and voted to ask the next town meeting to approve the fifty foot layout.

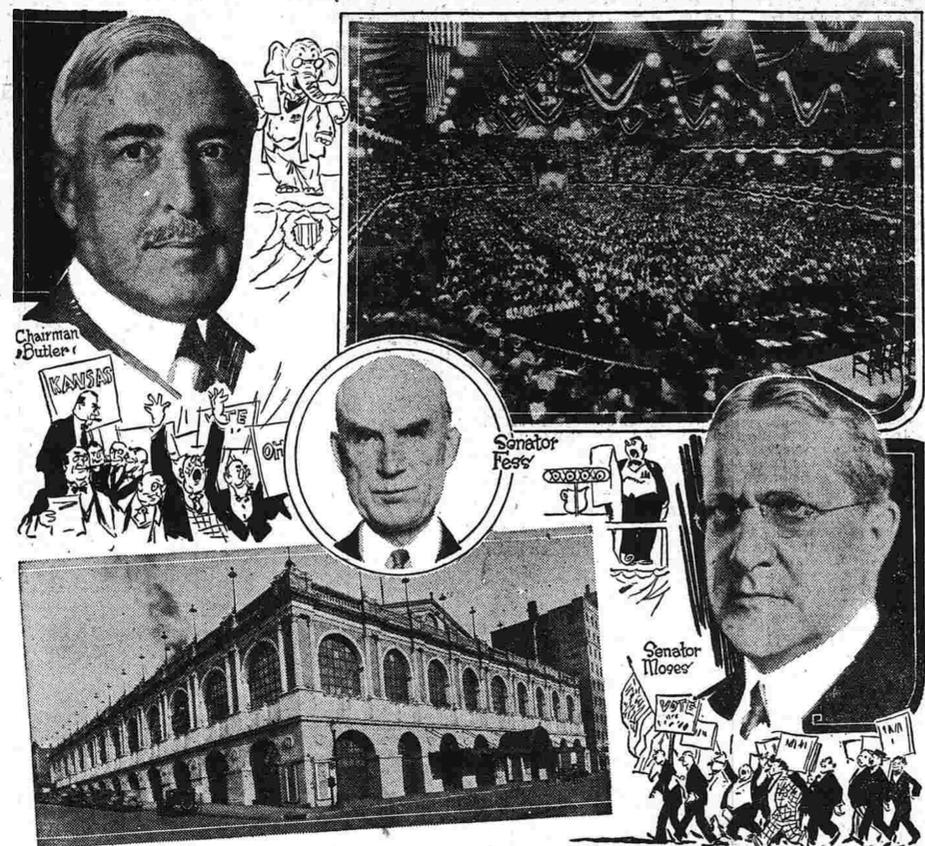

For a time during the public hearing it looked as though the old Fifth district arguments would pop up. One property owner told the Selectmen that if some of the residents would look toward the future instead of just for the present the question would be settled. Another answered that he wanted to get the present fixed up first. Another property owner remarked that if one of the Selectmen would buy a house at the top of Keeney street the road would be fixed soon enough. All seven members of the Selectmen volunteered their jobs to him immediately. The hearing was adjourned several times, but the arguments continued until the Selectmen finally went to their private meeting room and left the wranglers to themselves.

Other Hearings
Two other short hearings were scheduled last night. They were on gasoline station permits. No opposition developed to the petition of G. E. Willis and Son, Inc., for a gasoline tank on their property in the north end and it was approved. The relocation of pumps at the Jeffers station at Love Lane was approved when there was no opposition.

Karl Marks of Summer and McKee streets asked that the town aid him in constructing a retaining wall where the sidewalks have recently been built along his property. Mr. Marks was informed that the town does not assist property owners in such construction but the matter was referred to the highway committee for more thorough investigation.

Building Inspector Edward C. Elliott, Jr., made his monthly report to the board. It will be found on page seven of today's Herald.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION OPENS AT KANSAS CITY

One of the big quadrennial political shows is on. The Republican National Convention opened in Kansas City today with the rap of a gavel in the hand of ex-Senator William Butler, chairman of the Republican National Committee. The keynote speech of the convention was delivered by Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, after which Senator George Moses was named permanent chairman. In the upper right is a scene in the interior of Kansas City's convention hall. In the lower left is an exterior view of Republican's meeting place.

NOBLE HAS FOOD FOR FIFTY DAYS

Asks for Supplies of Clothing and Medicine—Two Of Crew Injured.

Rome, June 12.—In a wireless message received here today, General Umberto Nobile, marooned commander of the dirigible Italia, stated that his radio storage batteries were practically exhausted and that transmission of messages would have to be stopped for a few days until means were devised for recharging them.

In his message Nobile also made an urgent appeal for supplies. He asked for boots for his men, rifles and ammunition, medicines, sledges, cigarettes, an oil stove and three pneumatic boats.

Nobile advised that he had so rationed his meager food supply that it would last for fifty days. He said that a single red-tinted tent had been erected on a large ice-floe to enable aviators of the relief expeditions to sight his crew from the air.

IN THREE GROUPS

King's Bay, Spitzbergen, June 12.—Suffering the pangs of hunger, inadequately equipped to combat the inclement weather of the Arctic, and separated into three groups, one of which contained two men, the crew of the dirigible Italia were today in a serious predicament on the ice-floes north east of Spitzbergen.

Almost all of the crew of 17 and Gen. Umberto Nobile himself were suffering from frost bite. One of the injured men suffered a broken leg when the gondola of the Italia crashed on the ice in attempting to land. It is feared that the Italia's surgeon may have to amputate the leg but it seems utterly impossible that he will be able to do so with no facilities at his command.

Reports Unfounded

There was no confirmation here of a report that one of the crew of the Italia was killed outright when the gondola crashed. Another report that Lieut. Lutwiz Holm, Norwegian aviator, had found the two injured members near Brandy Bay, on the north coast of Northeast Land, was also stamped as baseless here.

Gen. Nobile, three others and the two injured men are in one group, drifting with the ice. It is hoped the wind will cause the ice to drift westward towards land. Another group of the crew is in a similar predicament some distance away from Nobile.

Three others of the crew who started over the ice in an attempt to reach the mainland are causing grave fears here. It is feared they will be lost in the Arctic wastes.

New York Delegation Divided Into Factions

Kansas City, June 12.—The turning down of Ogden L. Mills, under secretary of the treasury, and the substitution of Ambassador Alanson B. Houghton as New York's representative on the resolutions committee, today split the Empire state's delegation wide open.

Friends of Mills predicted there would be immediate and sweeping reprisals on National Committee Chairman Charles D. Hilles and State Secretary George K. Morris, in the event that Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover is nominated for the presidency.

With the aid of former United States Senator James W. Wade, Jr., and Mrs. Charles H. Sabin of New York, national committee woman, Hilles and Morris engineered the move which cost Mills the much coveted place on the resolutions committee.

As the leader of the Hoover forces in the New York delegation, Mills will be in a position to "clean house" if Hilles and Morris if the commerce secretary becomes the Republican Party's national standard-bearer.

Mills As Leader

Only One Change Made in High School Faculty; Some Transfers.

Only nine new names appear on the 1928-29 faculty list for the Ninth District and High schools which was announced today by Supt. F. A. Verplanck, following a meeting last night of the High School and District committees at which time the list was approved.

OUR TWO MAN CABINET

Washington, June 12.—President Coolidge held a two man Cabinet meeting here today.

Held here by the illness of Mrs. Coolidge which will prevent departure of the presidential party until probably tomorrow night, the President decided to round up the Cabinet members still in the capital.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Attorney General Sargent answered the call. They held a long conference with the President.

"DIAMOND QUEEN" STARTS ON FLIGHT

Miss Mabel Boll With Two Companions Leaves Field At Early Hour.

Hull, N. S., June 12.—The monoplane Columbia, carrying Miss Mabel Boll, the "Queen of Diamonds," and her flying companions, passed over Parrsboro, N. S., at 2 o'clock this afternoon, according to word reaching here. The trans-Atlantic plane, which left Roosevelt Field, N. Y., at 7:19 this morning, was believed to be heading for Harbor Grace, N. F.

WHAT PRESIDENT TOLD MR. MELLON

"Good Morning" He Said and Then in a Little While He Said "Good-bye."

Kansas City, June 12.—The most interesting story going the rounds of the Republican convention today revealed why Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon came to Kansas City without some word from President Coolidge as to his choice for the Republican nomination.

The Treasury secretary, anxious to learn the President's wishes, called at the White House just before leaving Washington for the convention, he said. "He entered the presidential office, the story went, hopeful of getting some expression from Mr. Coolidge. Their farewell conversation follows according to Mellon's own account:

"Good morning, Mr. President," said Mellon, proffering his hand.

"Good morning, Mr. Secretary," said the President and they shook hands.

"I'm about to leave for the convention," Mellon continued, "so I came in to say good-bye."

"Good-bye," said the President, proffering his hand. They shook hands and Mellon left.

REP. TILSON MENTIONED FOR VICE PRESIDENCY

Woods Are Filled With Candidates for Second Place on the Ticket.

Kansas City, June 12.—The political woods here are full of vice presidential candidates.

While the fight to stop Hoover delegates in the center of the arena, a dozen more or less active booms were under way to day for the second place nomination.

The most active campaigner was Rep. Hamilton Fish of New York. His supporters have been button-holing delegates in all camps in his behalf. He is on the list approved by veterans' organizations whose representatives are here to grab the vice presidency for an ex-service man.

A strong drive also was being made by Rep. Tilson of Connecticut out the House Republican leader.

Others mentioned included Vice President Dawes, whose close friends say he wouldn't take the job again, Gov. Fuller of Massachusetts, William J. Donovan of New York, Assistant attorney general, Hanford MacNider of Iowa, Ex-assistant secretary of war, Col. Theodore Roosevelt of New York, Gov. Sam Baker of Mississippi, C. S. Osborne of Michigan, Sen. Charles Curtis of Kansas and Sen. George H. Moss of New Hampshire, who is slated for the permanent chairmanship of the convention.

PENNSYLVANIA SWINGS OVER TO HOOVER; HIS NOMINATION ASSURED

G. O. P. PLATFORM LIKE THAT OF '24

Farm Relief Plank and Few Others May Start Discussion.

Kansas City, June 12.—Except for farm relief, the 1928 Republican platform was practically cut and dried today.

There may be a squabble over one or two planks other than the agricultural issue, but to all intents and purposes the platform will be adopted substantially, as already written by Sen. Smoot, Republican of Utah, who is to be chairman of the resolutions committee. This is the opinion of leaders of various shades in the party.

The tentative platform, of about 30 planks, news closely to the 1924 version, is laudatory of Coolidge, economy and prosperity, extols the protective tariff, favors strict law enforcement, endorses the administration's efforts to outlaw war and denounces corruption in government and elections.

As originally drafted by Smoot, the farm relief plank over which the big fight has developed, promised a tariff readjustment to bring agriculture and industry more nearly on a parity.

A copy of the Smoot draft was conveyed to Hoover lieutenants. Word was sent back that it was too "moderate" in its offer of aid to agriculture. Hoover representatives then started revamping a farm plank.

It is now the policy of the Hoover people to offer an affirmative farm program based on the principles of the so-called Jardine cooperative marketing aid plan. "This is an effort to convince the farmers that they can count on assistance from an administration headed by Hoover."

Hoover Idea
The Hoover idea is expected to prevail finally in the platform, especially as Hoover leaders are claiming that they will have a majority on the resolutions committee. Members of the committee are being carefully selected.

It was learned today that recently in Washington Secretaries Hoover, Jardine and Mellon conferred on farm relief. They agreed on the general terms of an agricultural program. Mellon, however, was understood to have opposed specific endorsement of any particular form of relief. The general idea was laid before President Coolidge but he did not publicly approve the plan as a substitute for the retired McNary-Haugen bill. Jardine, who is assisting in drafting the plank, has circulated copies of the program among leaders here.

While the farm plank cannot be adopted without a struggle, the Allies against Hoover have made their bid on the basis of agrarian unrest. They have fought for the equalization fee and they are determined, if possible, to have that principle included in the platform, even if not mentioning it by name. The more militant elements would specifically endorse the McNary bill.

Secretary Mellon and National Chairman Butler, Most Powerful Figures at Convention Come Out Openly for Cabinet Candidate—Just Before Parley Opened, Butler Announces President Coolidge Out of Race; Prosperity, the Issue in Coming Campaign, Declares Senator Fess in His Keynote Address.

Convention Hall, Kansas City, June 12.—A political bandwagon with Herbert Hoover sitting in the driver's seat lumbered into Kansas City's convention hall today for the first session of the Republican national convention.

There was scarcely a delegate on the floor, nor a party chieftain on the platform that did not concede the nomination of the candidate on the first ballot, probably Thursday.

The Butler-Mellon announcement which the convention's assembly that "Coolidge is out of it" and "Hoover is the man" was on everybody's lips. On the floor some of the wavering delegations were caucusing as the convention opened and voting to support Hoover.

Utah, which had indicated its first vote to its favorite son, Senator Borah, was one of these. The delegates decided to show their support of the nominee by going to him at the start. Over in the New Jersey section, where there were some Lowden delegates, the delegation tentatively agreed to support Hoover solidly from the first ballot onward.

By Acclamation.
At this rate of Hoover progress, it may be possible to nominate him by acclamation.

The captains of the Allies were not much in evidence. They had little to say but it is probable that his gavel sharp, at 11 a. m. Above his head and immediately behind him were two gigantic pictures—Abraham Lincoln and Calvin Coolidge.

They were the only pictures in the vast hall.

Chairman Butler looked as solemn as a tree of oaks. No smile lightened his countenance.

"The hour of 11 o'clock having arrived," he said, solemnly, "and a quorum being present, the convention will be in order. Please rise and while prayer is offered by Bishop S. C. Partridge, Diocese of West Missouri Episcopal church."

The rustle of thousands rising, and then the bishop asked God to bless the assemblage.

Butler, for Divine guidance in the labors that are here to be performed.

The first outburst of convention enthusiasm came when Madame Schumann-Heink, a mother who gave sons to both the German and American armies during the war, was introduced and led the assembly in the "Star Spangled Banner." A motherly figure, dressed in a pale green gown.

"Now," said Butler, "the official photograph of the convention will be taken. Everybody please rise."

"Everybody sit down," shouted the official photographer, perched high in the rear of the hall.

There was a roar of laughter, and they obeyed the photographer.

As Butler was presenting the temporary roll of the convention, a trickle of applause started far back in the hall. It grew in volume as it approached the platform and in a twinkling most of the delegates were standing on their feet cheering and applauding.

Mellon Appears
Down the center aisle was walking the diminutive figure of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon. He looked embarrassed at the interruption he had caused, for he was pondering savagely with his gavel, seeking to restore order.

The Pennsylvania section was the first row, directly under Chairman Butler's nose. Mellon dropped unobtrusively into the first seat on the aisle and started reading a newspaper. Next to him was Gov. John H. Fisher, one of the original Hoover men, and next to Fisher was Senator-Designate William S. Vare, who has consistently forced Mellon's hand in the endorsement of Hoover.

The floor got noisy while Secretary Roy O. West drooped out the official call of the convention, just to make everything legal and regular. The delegates read newspapers, gossiped and speculated on what will happen in November. The suspense over the nomination appeared entirely ended in the brief hour that had elapsed since Mr. Mellon

HERE'S TODAY'S PROGRAM AT G. O. P. CONVENTION

Selection of Sen. Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, as temporary chairman.

Senator Fess' keynote speech.

Adoption of the usual resolutions creating a committee on platform, credentials, rules and order of business, and on permanent organization.

Adjournment until tomorrow

Routine Business

When the dull business of routing the call had been concluded Butler again took charge of the proceedings.

"We are now assembled pursuant to the call," he said, "to operate under the rules adopted by the last national convention." He explained the mechanism of national conventions and of the national committee, explaining that each convention passed out of existence at its conclusion and had no powers to control any future conventions. The only connecting link between the various conventions he said, was the Republican national committee. He went into considerable detail as to the functioning of the national committee in a presidential year, for what reason was not apparent.

The delegates at first listened attentively, evidently thinking the chairman was going to make some really important pronouncement but as they found his remarks dealt entirely with routine organization matters their attention drifted away.

Kansas City, June 12.—The nomination of Herbert Hoover by the Republican national convention here became as nearly certain today as anything political can be.

The big delegations from Pennsylvania and Massachusetts were both put definitely into the Hoover column by action of delegation caucuses, and this pushes Mr. Hoover's pledged strength considerably past the 545 nominating mark.

Two of the most powerful figures in this convention—Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, and William M. Butler, chairman of the national committee, spoke the words that assured victory for Hoover.

Butler Speaks

"I have not desired to do anything that might preclude and foreclose the possibility of continuing President Coolidge in office," said Butler. "But I now will ask my alternate to vote in my place for Herbert Hoover, and I am satisfied that such a course will meet the approval of our beloved President. I am satisfied that it is satisfactory to the President for the good people of Massachusetts not to vote for him."

At the same time, Secretary Mellon was counselling the 79 Pennsylvanians in a similar vein across the street.

Secretary Mellon said that when he made his statement in Philadelphia a few weeks ago to the effect that of all the candidates that had presented themselves, Hoover came nearest to the Coolidge pattern he was still hopeful that President Coolidge might be prevailed upon to stand again.

"At the time of our conference in Philadelphia on May 12, it was still uncertain whether President Coolidge might be induced to accept a renomination," he said.

Coolidge Out
"Now, however, it has become clear that he will not do so. It, therefore, seems wise to look for that nominee who will best carry forward the policies of the present administration, which have won the

COOLIDGE OUT OF IT SAYS CHAIRMAN BUTLER

Bay State's Vote Will Go to Hoover—Were in Embarrassing Position.

Kansas City, June 12.—William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, told the Massachusetts delegation this morning two hours before the assembly of the Republican national convention that "in my opinion President Coolidge is definitely out of the running."

Butler addressed the Bay State delegates at a caucus. "It is also my opinion that President Coolidge will be satisfied with the nomination of Herbert Hoover," said Butler.

The chairman declared that because of his position as national chairman he would not himself vote in the convention for anyone, but his associate will vote for Hoover, and Butler advised his fellow Bay Staters to do likewise.

The delegation took no formal action, but Senator Frederic Gillett and other members said the entire 39 votes would go for Hoover. In explaining his viewpoint of the situation, Butler told the delegates that the Massachusetts representatives have been in "an embarrassing position" because of their desire to see Mr. Coolidge renominated if he desired it or would accept it. "But I feel certain that Mr. Coolidge will not consent to stand again."

LOCAL PUPILS WIN HEALTH ESSAY TEST

District 8 Writers to Have Their Contributions Printed in Hygiene Magazine.

Some weeks ago, through the influence of Miss Isabella Moore, the head of the Department of Hygiene in the schools of Districts 1-8, several of the pupils of the eighth grade of the Robertson School sent essays to the Cleanliness Institute, a national organization with headquarters in New York city.

A few days ago Miss Moore received a very complimentary letter from the Institute stating that three of the essays were of unusual merit and would be published in the Cleanliness journal, a monthly magazine. The three fortunate writers were first, Eunice Brown who wrote on "Soup as a Cleanser of the Body" and was awarded first prize; second, John Carey whose subject was "Sanitation" and was awarded second prize; third, Dorothy Gess, winner of third prize, her subject was "Clean Food Means Health."

No money prizes were awarded by the Institute, but friends interested in the Hygiene Department generously decided to show their appreciation of the work of the pupils by donating enough to make small gifts to the three winners. Eunice Brown received $2.50 in gold, John Carey $2.00 in cash, and Dorothy Gess, $1.00. These prizes were presented Monday afternoon by Dr. LeVerne Holmes in a very appropriate speech upon the value of clean food habits.

over complete control of the Republican Party in New York state, and he will see to it that Hilles and Morris are ousted as leaders just as quickly as it is possible to call a meeting of the state committee.

So confident were the New York Hoover delegates today that their candidates would be nominated on an early ballot that they already were casting about for men for Mills to pick for the posts now held by Hilles and Morris. One report was that William H. Hill, of Birmingham, up-state manager of Hoover's pre-convention activities, would be offered either national committeeman or state chairman.

To Lose Jobs. There are several New Yorkers holding good state and federal jobs who might just as well prepare to kiss those jobs good bye in the event that the Hoover control of the G. O. P. in the Empire state is declared today by the vote of the under-secretary of the treasury. These men, it was said, have been particularly antagonistic toward Mills in his fight for Hoover.

The Mills crowd was not worrying today over the fact that they failed to land one place on the slate put through by the Hilles-Morris-Wadsworth group at the caucus of the New York delegation. They said they were staking bigger game than committee assignments.

Here is the slate that was put through at the New York caucus, following a secret conference of a half dozen of the anti-Hoover leaders: Resolutions, Ambassador Hough-Rules, Rep. Bertrand H. Snell of Potsdam. Permanent Organization—Speaker Joseph A. McGinnies of Ripley. Creditors, Jacob A. Livinto, of Kings. To notify President, Senator John Knight of Arcade.

To notify Vice President, Mrs. Miriam A. Schindler of Albany. To fill vacancies, Harry A. Barham of Rochester. Hilles was re-elected national committeeman and also was chosen chairman of the New York delegation. Mrs. Charles H. Sabin of New York, was re-elected national committee woman.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, and former Senator Wadsworth, both arch foes of prohibition, are preparing to appear before the resolutions committee and urge the incorporation of a plank in the platform favoring modification of the Volstead law. In their hearts they do not expect to get far but they are primed to do a good deal of talking.

SHOOTS COUPLE AND SELF

Rockford, Ill., June 12.—Crased by moonshine, Charles Boney, 40, shot and killed D. Decker in his farmhouse here today, according to police, dangerously wounded Decker's wife, and then turning the weapon upon himself, inflicting a mortal wound.

The house is all ready and meets your fondest expectations. But as usual it has cost a little more than you figured and anyway, new homes with all their accessories place quite a strain on anyone's purse. The furniture is an extra load. You must have nice things naturally. Can you do the whole job as you would like—or must you skimp a little?

Nearly everyone meets the same problem when it comes to this crucial stage. Some attempt to save by cheapening the job—others by only furnishing in part. If there was only some way that you could have everything you need and have it in keeping with the wonderful new home!

Perhaps there is! Did you ever hear it said that really first class furniture can be bought very reasonably at Keith's? Do you realize what it means to you that this is the "Low Cost Store"? You know, we claim a great advantage, located as we are and saving innumerable dollars in operating as we do—we really can afford to sell good furniture at a better price. It surely is reflected in actual savings to you.

This is tested time and again by our guaranteed price. You needn't take our word—

THE DRIVER'S SEAT

As the Republican national convention meets at Kansas City today it is clearly evident that a very serious attempt is being made within the party to enlarge and increasingly emphasize the power of individual leaders and to diminish and belittle the authority of the voting mass, the rank and file of the party. To this end, it is to be suspected, the expert opposition to the nomination of Herbert Hoover is a means. It is doubtful whether the leadership which has been so busily engaged these last weeks in blocking the nomination of Hoover has any real objection to his nomination. But it is exhibiting a decided objection to having the nominating power in the Republican party taken out of the hands of the professional arrangers by the party "mob." These generals have no wish to see the non-coms and the privates of their army anticipating orders and running the fight their own way, even though it may be the way of the generals.

It is not at all impossible that the nomination of Hoover will be held up just long enough to give the impression, when it does come to pass, that it was made possible only by the grace of these leaders—and then he put over with a gesture expressing the idea that it could have been withheld if so desired by the mighty ones.

As a matter of fact the Hoover movement is one political movement that is not only genuinely popular but, in all probability, irresistible. We do not believe that Hoover could be stopped no matter how determinedly, the opposing leaders tried. And we don't believe they seriously intend to try. What they are actually after is the credit of "nominating Hoover." That they will probably manage to get.

TILSON'S BOOM

Unless the unbelievable transpires at Kansas City and President Coolidge becomes the Republican candidate for re-election, there seems to be an excellent chance that Connecticut will win the second place on the ticket, the choice of John Q. Tilson, House leader, being likely in case the Presidential nomination goes to anybody but a New England man. If Mr. Coolidge should run again, the Tilson candidacy would, of course, automatically expire, as it would be altogether out of the question to have both first and second places occupied by men from the same section of the country.

There is considerable significance in this Tilson boom, which yesterday took very definite form, Tilson headquarters being established and Tilson portraits appearing in shop windows all over the convention city. It is not at all as if Colonel Tilson were one of these emotional glory seekers who are continually popping up in national conventions, stalking the empty honor of being noticed vice-presidential "possibilities." He is, instead, an intensely practical politician. If he is after the vice-presidential nomination it is not merely to get his name in the news, but to get onto the ticket; and he is not making a campaign for that nomination without excellent reason to believe that he will win.

Since a Tilson nomination would be utterly incompatible with a Coolidge nomination, for the obvious geographical reason, Colonel Tilson, it is to be deduced, is not one of those who believes that Coolidge is likely to become the Presidential candidate. And we are much of the opinion that Colonel Tilson knows as much about what is going on around him as anybody. So long, therefore, as there is real substance to the Tilson vice-presidential movement at Kansas City, it is safe to conclude that the "draft Coolidge" furor is lacking in any real expectation of fulfillment.

SUPER-BOOSTING

is somewhat out of patience with its fellow citizens of this state because they do not spend as much money advertising the beauties and merits of the most southerly of the New England states—do states like Maine and New Hampshire, Connecticut, argues the Journal, is as beautiful as Eden and affords as many opportunities for vacation recreation as Maine—and then some. Why, then, shouldn't we go out and get some of this "tourist business?"

We might suggest that one reason why Connecticut doesn't advertise more is because she doesn't especially need to. All the fellows who are drawn to Maine and New Hampshire, or at least all of that part of them who come into New England via New York—and that is the big majority—have to pass through Connecticut to get anywhere else in this area, to start with. And if there is anything that we can tell them about nature's beauties, about the charm and glamor of Connecticut, in the printed word, that their eyes won't tell them as they roll over our perfect roads, we doubt whether it can be put into a "Boost Connecticut" advertisement.

Besides if we should really manage to attract any more tourists to Connecticut than already make use of its highways, how on earth should we be able to find room on the roads for our own cars? There is no state in the Union so uniformly lovely as Connecticut. If the tourist passing through is unable to perceive the fact, for our part we'd as soon he kept on going. We regard him as an undesirable.

THE ARCTIC DRAMA

Never before, in the long history of Arctic agonizing, has such a thing transpired as this trek of the Italia's men, out of the secret ice desert of the polar region toward that bare chance of safety that lies scores and scores of miles away, far to the southwest. And them talking to the world about it!

It is impossible for any human situation to transcend this one in dramatic quality. So overwhelmingly dramatic is it that the world is missing the point altogether, apparently. The setting is too remote, the plot too unprecedented, the action too vivid and too stupendous, to seem in the least real. It is one of those events that mankind at large simply cannot grasp.

It takes imagination to visualize the men of the Italia, marooned an infinite distance in the frozen northern sea by the failure of their ship, trudging across the ice floes, seeking the opportunity of momentary contact with other floes beyond so that they in turn may be crossed; the only human beings, perhaps the only form of mammalian life, within hundreds upon hundreds of square miles—keeping on and on, hoping against hope that in that vast space they will eventually be found by some ice forcing vessel. And all the time, somehow, or other, keeping with them the means of sending out radio messages telling of their whereabouts and their doings.

Since 1914 the human heart has been torn by so many emotions, the human mind has been stunned by so many surprises, that they have lost much of their capacity for reaction to the sheerly dramatic. Otherwise the saga of the Italia's crew would now be absorbing the thoughts of the entire race. In 1912 even a Presidential convention would have had to take a bad second place to such a news story as this.

COMPULSORY INSURANCE

Considerable newspaper notice is being taken in the state of the case of a New Haven motorist who severely injured a boy by running over him with his automobile. He was entered against the defendant for $10,000 damages. Judgment was entered against the defendant for $2,000 and in default of payment he was sent to jail. Now he has taken the poor debtor's oath and is free. There is no way for the boy to recover a cent of compensation for his injuries. Massachusetts' compulsory insurance law may not be all that is claimed for it but had this defendant been a resident of that state and the accident occurred within its borders he would not have been legally driving the car without carrying $5,000 liability insurance. At least there is a chance of a victim getting some compensation under such circumstances.

A NEW M. A. DEGREE

One of the rare occasions when Colonel Lindbergh was late was when he was to have been a recipient of an honorary degree from New York University the other day. He was held back by storms and unable to make the visit in time. But a day or two later, he drove to the University alone in a taxi and received the first degree of Master of Aeronautics ever conferred. In conferring the honor Chancellor Elmer Ellsworth Brown said: "You have been making the air above us a highway of good will. The sea may be for empire but the sky will be for brotherhood if the new diplomacy which you and your kind represent shall have its way." Which is merely another way of phrasing what everyone has been saying for a year.

A JOB FOR SCIENCE

Science and the education of the public have reduced the death toll from diphtheria, scarlet fever and typhoid so low in New York City that the total of combined deaths from these dread diseases is now exceeded by the fatalities due to automobiles, figures of the Health Commissioner of New York show. Motor cars killed 5,092 persons in that city in five years and more than 2,000 of the victims were children. And manufacturers are turning out faster models and selling them cheaper and more folks are buying them and there is the same old temptation to speed. Science has a job cut out for itself to control this menace. Serums will not do it.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, June 12.—The Washington correspondents have been guilty of considerable know-it-allism in their time, but many of them have been imbued with a greater feeling of self-respect since they booted Premier Mussolini's name from the membership of the National Press Club.

A movie press agent returning from Italy proposed Mussolini as a non-resident member and the club's board of governors tentatively approved his election. A club officer actually called Mussolini that he had been elected and that "all fellow members" joined in best wishes. The board's recent announcement that consideration of Mussolini's name had been withdrawn following a "constitutional protest of more than ten active members, citing reasonable cause," gave little indication of the great howl that went up from working newspapermen here. Some of them threatened to resign if Mussolini were placed on the rolls.

When a protest petition was circulated in the Senate press gallery, citing Mussolini's ruthless extermination of opposition newspapers in Italy and his overt acts against American correspondents in Rome, 25 members of the first 31 approached signed promptly. Three of the others explained that they might be assigned to Rome and didn't dare protest openly.

A score or more members came to the next meeting of the board, assailing Mussolini as the world's worst enemy of the press and detailing specific instances of his suppression of its liberties. No voice was raised on behalf of the anti-Mussolini group had finished and withdrawn, the board of governors gave him the gate.

If Governor Alfred E. Smith is nominated at Houston, there will be some discussion of this question: How are the Smiths going to vote?

There are more than a million persons named Smith in the United States; no Smith has ever been honored with a presidential nomination before. Because there are more voters named Smith than anything else they might, if they voted practically as a unit, be an important force. Of course they won't, but they might theoretically some time decide an election. In the Washington city directory one observes, there are 18 pages of Smiths, with less than one page of Hoovers. Will the Smiths, filled with a denominational pride in the most prominent of all Smiths, vote the Democratic ticket? And how would you yourself vote if the family name headed one of the national tickets?

And how will the Schmidts, Smithers, Smithsons, Smyths and Smythes feel about it?

Webb, Leona Curtis Knight, daughter of Senator Charles Curtis, is on the Rhode Island delegation at Kansas City. Except for Mrs. Knight, it's a Hoover delegation. An interesting story lies behind Mrs. Knight's selection, according to what one hears in Washington. The Rhode Island Republicans, needing some money, are reported to have persuaded Webster Knight, Leona's wealthy husband, that it would be a grand thing to have a son-in-law in the White House. Knight saw the point, and, it is said, did his stuff. Then the Hoover wave struck Rhode Island and possession of circumstances but the Republican leaders in the Hoover column. Something had to be done for the Knights so Mrs. Knight went on the delegation. Anyway, it's a good story.

MALARIA (PART 2)

I have never found it necessary to employ quinine in cases of malaria because this disorder yields more readily to the fasting and dieting regime which seems to remove from the blood some element upon which the parasite feeds. I have a number of patients who, after the purifying processes of the fast, and by keeping their bodies clean through the correct diet, went into malarial infected regions and though they were bitten by the mosquito, they did not develop any of the symptoms of malaria.

I believe that a surplus of starches and sugars in the menu, and the lack of certain resistant giving mineral elements so weaken the blood that the parasite can develop, and when this deficiency is corrected, the parasite is automatically destroyed.

In the cure of malaria it is advisable that the patient employ some form of acid fruit for his fast. Only one kind of fruit should be used as a meal. I have found that the grapefruit is of special value. It seems that the organic acid of these fruits has a very cleansing effect upon the blood, and the mineral elements which they also contain are very valuable blood tonics. This fast should be maintained for several weeks until the parasite disappears from the blood. This can be determined by a microscopic examination.

The patient should drink freely of water, and enemas should be given twice daily during the period of fasting. I have prepared an article which sets the correct method for employing this enema, which I will be very glad to mail to you if you will send me a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

It is advisable that the patient be sweated to assist in the removal of the liquid toxins from his system. This sweating should not be too frequent, as a sufficient time must elapse between these treatments for the patient to recuperate his strength. Light sunbaths and exercises will assist in speeding the recovery.

There are many who suffer from a chronic form of malaria. It is quite common to find patients, who in their younger days have lived in the southern part of the United States, who are now suffering from malaria. According to some who went along with President Coolidge on the occasion of his speech at Gettysburg, the president was a little embarrassed by failure of his audience to applaud at the right place. It was noticeably necessary for the official group on the platform to lead off the hand-clapping. Either the address was over the head of the assembled multitude or else the crowd wasn't impressed. One eyewitness reports that Mr. Coolidge paused several times at points in his speech where a more enthusiastic audience probably would have applauded, and appeared to miss the crowd wasn't impressed. Along toward the end the platform group started the first real applause, as if waking up to its duty, and, of course, there was some more at the finish. But the president wasn't miffed. His party found him in excellent spirits, going and coming.

We do need a big navy. It takes several admirals to defend us adequately at all these limitation of arms conferences.

OUR TREES

LARCH AIDED ART. Larch has the distinction of having had a prominent part in the fine arts. Raphael painted many of his earliest pictures on larch boards and other painters of the time followed his example. Larch also was made into tables and cabinets of rare workmanship and brought extravagant prices.

Larch wood's greatest claim to fame, however, is its remarkable durability. Larch timbers built into the oldest of French castles are sound when the stones that support them are crumbling.

The western larch is considered superior to all other conifers in America in the value of its wood. Its hardness, fine color and brilliant polish commend it to the furniture maker. As fence posts and railroad ties it seems to last indefinitely.

It grows in the Cascade Mountains from Southern British Columbia to the Columbia River, and in the Blue Mountains of Washington and Oregon to western Montana.

For the first fifty years (as western larch is pyramidal but thinly branched. From this age on the lower limbs die, and the tree at length presents a bare trunk with a mere wisp of a top.

The brown gum that comes from the wounds in the bark of the tree is not resinous although it smells like turpentine. It is sweet, resembles dextrine, and was found to be a nutritious article of food by the Indians.

Acid Stomach. "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" Better than Soda. Here after, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly. For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Instruct upon "Phillips" Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

ties that otherwise would not have come to her. First of all, old friends came forth with offers of a home, and Virginia found great difficulty in refusing them...

had, even if not by her own efforts, earned her board. Still she insisted upon a cheaper room and got one without a private bath. Now if she got so low in funds she had to accept the freedom of the dining room at least it would not be because of extravagant room rent...

"Well, don't I need it?" Nathaniel growled. "Are you going to be in your studio?" Virginia came back, meaning to say she would drop in sometime after dinner if he were...

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXX.

VIRGINIA recognized the man instantly. It was the same figure she had seen step hastily back into the shadows when she had...

Some of them she might have been tempted to take had they come to Viola Brown but she felt encouraged to wait just a little longer...

Oliver professed great surprise at seeing her and chided her with neglecting him. "But I've been faithful just the same," he ratted on disarming, seeking to cover his eagerness...

Virginia glanced at him keenly. He did look awfully depressed and tired. "Isn't Jeanie back from Alken yet?" she asked sympathetically...

He was the man on the bus! The man whose behavior had puzzled her. She remembered how silently he had come down the steps in her wake on that occasion, how he had slipped quickly away when she had...

She had gone to the hotel manager and explained that she must have a cheaper room or leave the hotel. Her circumstances were fairly well known to the world at large by this time and Virginia had no need to keep up a false appearance...

Virginia bit her lip in distress. She smarted a little under the thought that he deemed her insincere in her protestation of gratitude. Perhaps she ought to dine with him...

Oliver asked, leaning forward; "not worrying about that hundred thousand, you know, Virginia? You needn't, you know, it will be easy for you."

She was glad that she had not attempted to find a position under an assumed name. If Frederick Dear had not set himself to humiliate her, or interfere, he could have made it very unpleasant for her in that case...

Nathaniel rebelled against breaking their standing dinner engagement, but Virginia explained that she wanted to spend the evening room as an object of curiosity, it helped her morale to know that she had, even if not by her own efforts, earned her board...

Oliver asked, leaning forward; "not worrying about that hundred thousand, you know, Virginia? You needn't, you know, it will be easy for you."

The WOMAN'S DAY

Ida M. Tarbell, one of America's outstanding pioneer women in the world outside the home...

one can afford not to listen. Years of logic and tolerance and understanding give her and other leaders the right to speak and think. We should listen and weigh their evidence regardless of our own convictions.

Changed Mind Five years ago, Miss Tarbell confessed, she was an ardent prohibitionist. "Today," she says, "I am asking myself whether prohibition is any longer serving as a guarantee of temperance, whether it may not, in fact, become a menace of temperance."

When the Ida Tarbells speak, no girl dying from radium poisoning incurred by painting luminous watch dials and moistening the brush at the lips, says something which seems to indicate death within a year at most can make other girls stop, look and listen before stampeding for just any old kind of a job in the industrial world...

This And That In Feminine Lore

The object of a permanent wave is to subtly imitate Dame Nature—the closer the reproduction the more commendation is due. Such is the Nestle Circuline Permanent given by the Lily Beauty shop in the House & Hale bldg., phone 1671.

The new styles in bridal attire fit in well with garden settings. Even more attractive than the traditional white is the gown of shell pink material, and more vivid colors may then be worn by the attendants to lighten the effect of the bride's gown.

Those who plan to exhibit at the flower show of the Manchester Garden club at Center church Thursday and Friday, may find valuable one or two hints dropped at the recent meeting of the club. Shrubs with woody stems should have the bark scraped off from a portion of the stem that rests in the water. Flowers for exhibition should be picked several hours, or the night before, placed in water in a cool place and then a little of the stem should be slanted off before they are placed in containers at the show.

The children will find much to interest them in the coming show. A wild garden will be arranged on the platform; there will be pamphlets instructing them which of the wild flowers should be gathered and which should not be picked. There will be displays of seedlings which will be educational and the other garden flowers not so common will be labeled so that they may know them.

A school for infants in New York City has a jazz band. Discarding the idea that the little ones never should be punished.

For a porch or garden meal or a picnic by the roadside a nourishing simple uncheon is one of tongue and celery salad, whole wheat bread and butter sandwiches, fresh fruits, vanilla wafers or cake, milk or tea. For a picnic lunch the salad could be packed in a strong pasteboard container, the lettuce washed and carried in an air-tight pail, the sandwiches in waxed paper and the milk or tea in thermos bottles. Even on a picnic the lettuce should not be overlooked.

One-fourth pound smoked beef tongue, 1 cup shredded celery, 1 hard cooked egg, 1 sweet green pepper, 1 small head lettuce, 3-4 cup French dressing, 3-4 cup mayonnaise.

Wash and crisp celery and cut the same way. Cut egg white in narrow strips. Mince pepper after discarding seeds and white pith. Mash yolk of egg and add with 1 tablespoon minced parsley to French dressing. Mix thoroughly and add enough paprika to make the dressing pink. Combine prepared ingredients with French dressing and serve with carefully washed and crisped lettuce.

Tomato Croquettes Three hard cooked eggs, 2 cups solid canned tomatoes, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1-2 tea-

Already I have had good reports of the Tomato soup cake, the recipe for which was given in Saturday's Herald, but the cook in question was a little bit afraid to use so much spice, so she "scanted" each kind. Today we give an unusual recipe for tomato croquettes and one or two others that may appeal to some of you.

Daily Health Service HINTS ON HOW TO KEEP WELL by World Famed Authority

STUDENTS WORKING WAY ARE ILL MOST OFTEN. By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN. Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

In every college today there is a small percentage of students who earn their way through school by working in the college dining halls, in offices, and in homes surrounding the institution.

Some of these students excel as well in other activities beyond work and scholarship. At their time is greatly limited, particularly for recreational activities, they are likely to suffer more with fatigue than are students who are not driven to support themselves while gaining an education.

Dr. E. W. Bradshaw of Oberlin College has recently reported the results of investigations of the health of self-supporting students as contrasted with those who were independent and did not need to do outside work while in school.

He pointed out, as have others who have made special studies of infections concerning students, that the commonest type of illness is the common cold, sore throat, or influenza.

The group of students who supported themselves suffered from a 38 per cent. higher incidence of such infections during the year than did the non-self-supporting group. The students who were working their way spent 1269 days per thousand in the hospital, while the number of non-self-supporting groups spent 947 days per thousand in the hospital.

MARYE and MOM Their Letters

Dear Mom: Alan may have been all sweetness and light in his letters to you but in his own home he could scarcely be called sweet. We had a real rumpus after my little episode.

I suppose if I had worked up my climax right, and played hard on the sympathy racket, the encounter might have been quieter and less staccato in tempo.

Alan came in, all tired out from his game, and beheld his wife looking like Peaches Browning after her accident with the acid. His face registered complete and utter amazement. I suppose I should have burst into tears, and gone feminine. But I didn't.

"Don't get excited," said I, gayly. "Just had a little ride with Pege this afternoon, and I tested the strength of his windshield. It was harder than I thought."

I didn't see any reason then, or now, for mincing matters. If there had been anything to conceal, I could have seen some point in approaching the explanation from the angle of the penitent. However, I had done nothing I hadn't a perfect right to do, and I wasn't going to crawl.

Alan didn't take time to find out if I was hurt. He demanded to be in Pege's car, and all the rest of it. And always when Alan gets mad and demands to know in a loud authoritative voice why certain things are so, I see red.

So we really had a lovely bout. And in the midst of it the phone rang. Three guesses. It was Pege. Alan answered the phone. Alan just as soon as Pege started to explain to Alan how sorry he was, Alan lit into him. The things he didn't say to him, in a voice that you could hear above the roar of traffic, for at least a block, are practically negligible.

The only way to stop Alan was to start a counter irritant. So I child training was that a child used to be stopped constantly by prohibitions every time he wanted to concentrate on something interesting. Later, in adolescence, his powers of concentration often were impaired.

COOLIDGE TRIP DELAYED.

Washington, June 12.—President Coolidge whose departure for the Summer White House in Wisconsin was held up last night owing to the indisposition of Mrs. Coolidge, probably will leave tomorrow.

Dr. Joel T. Boone, Mrs. Coolidge's physician, announced today that there is no occasion for alarm as to the First Lady's condition and that she should be able to travel tomorrow.

Other members of the band labored with him, but he was not going to perform without his uniform and he stuck to it. Without his uniform contribution the band simply could not go on, so the preparation for the parade went for nothing.

NO UNIFORM, NO TOOT, HENCE PARADE "BLEW"

The refusal of a boy, lacking a uniform, to blow a big bass horn in what was to have been a parade and concert by the High School band last evening, preliminary to the dinner of the Near East Relief Fund to be held tonight at the South Methodist Church, "kicked over the parade" and there was none. He just did not feel in the mood to tootle and so when the band members at the High School, ready for the concert and with advertising banners all prepared—he would not blow a single note.

Other members of the band labored with him, but he was not going to perform without his uniform and he stuck to it. Without his uniform contribution the band simply could not go on, so the preparation for the parade went for nothing.

GRIFFIN-DORAN

A pretty wedding was largely attended in St. James's church this morning at 9 o'clock, when Miss Mary Doran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Doran of 561 Main Street and Raymond F. Griffin of 153 Hilliard Street were married by Rev. William P. Reidy, the pastor.

The bride, on the arm of her brother, Edward Doran, proceeded followed by the bridegroom and the bridesmaid, Miss Elizabeth Coughlin of 14 Griswold Street. Following the marriage ceremony, the single ring service being used, a nuptial high mass was celebrated by Rev. William P. Reidy.

The bride's dress was of ivory satin with Spanish lace and pearl trimmings. She wore a tulle veil trimmed with chintilly lace and carried a bridal bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid's dress was blue moire taffeta with pink velvet trimmings, period style. She wore a lace horsehair hat of pink and blue trim. Her bouquet was of Sweetheart roses and blue delphiniums.

The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a wrist watch and the groomsmen was given a ruby ring by the bridegroom who also presented knives and chains to his ushers.

There was a wedding breakfast served at the home of the bride's parents which was attended by seventy-five relatives and friends. During the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Griffin left on an unannounced wedding trip. The bride's going away dress was a tan ensemble with hat to match.

On their return they will make their home in Long Island City, N. Y.

REV. COLPITTS RAPS GENEALOGY WORSHIP

Advocates Pointing to the Future Instead of the Past.

A well attended meeting of the Men's Friendship Club, was held last night at the South Methodist church. Arrangements were completed for the annual picnic which will be held on Saturday, July 11, at East Hampton, where chicken dinner will be served at the Hotel Edgemere. The members will proceed by automobile, leaving the church at 11 o'clock.

One new member was admitted, and after routine business, Rev. Robert A. Colpitts, pastor of the church, addressed the club, taking as his topic "Shun Genealogies." He emphasized the development of American prosperity by pointing out that it was not ancestral traditions that mattered, but what a man could do that built up the nation. He quoted the western question to a stranger in illustration, "What can you do, stranger?" as evidence of this. He further drew a comparison in the national absence of caste, or "class" as it is often termed, to show that the nation had progressed largely through that fact, which had operated for the general good.

The speaker said that Abraham Lincoln had always pointed forward with the index finger, to show the road, rather than with thumb over shoulder, to the road that had already been travelled.

From such examples a lesson was pointed to all men and societies. Keen interest in the talk was manifested and at its conclusion a rising vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. Colpitts.

PHYSICAL CHANGES ON LOWER MAIN STREET

The barn at the rear of the domestic science building on Main Street is being demolished and carted away. Several trees close by are being cut down. These changes have been necessitated by the change contemplated by Cheney Brothers in the policy of Teachers Hall next season. The present home for the employees at the hall will be converted into a modern apartment and the small barn at the rear of the hall will be made into a garage. The present domestic science building, after being renovated, will also be rented for residential purposes. The same workmen are also engaged in converting one of the bicycle sheds at the rear of the High School into a tool shed for the lawn mower and other supplies used by the janitor.

It's getting to be quite a serious problem for a man about to marry to choose a little woman that will help him with the dishes.

SURPRISE SHOWER

FOR MISS WERDELIN

Miss Anna Werdelin of Division Street was the guest of honor at a surprise miscellaneous shower, given last evening at the home of Miss Hannah Moriarty of Arch Street, who was assisted by the Misses Clara and Anna Lindberg. Twenty-five of Miss Werdelin's friends from Hartford, Glastonbury and this town were present.

The dining room was tastefully decorated in pink, yellow and orchid crepe paper streamers, with wedding bells in these colors suspended from the center lighting fixture. By following directions, Miss Werdelin found a number of acceptable gifts in different parts of the house. The last slip of paper directed her to follow a string which led her all over the house, out into the yard and back again to the house where she found a large decorated basket filled with pyrex, linen, china, pictures and a kitchen clock.

Music and a social time was enjoyed and a dainty luncheon served by the hostesses, Miss Werdelin and the bridesmaid, Miss Elizabeth Coughlin of Rockville, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Burke of Rockville.

GRIFFIN-DORAN

A pretty wedding was largely attended in St. James' church, this morning at 9 o'clock, when Miss Mary Doran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Doran of 561 Main Street and Raymond F. Griffin of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Griffin of 153 Hilliard Street were married by Rev. William P. Reidy, the pastor.

The bride party, which had formed in the lower part of the church entered through the middle doors and proceeded to the altar to the strains of a wedding march played by Charles Packard, the church organist, where the marriage took place.

The bride, on the arm of her brother, Edward Doran, proceeded followed by the bridegroom and the bridesmaid, Miss Elizabeth Coughlin of 14 Griswold Street. Following the marriage ceremony, the single ring service being used, a nuptial high mass was celebrated by Rev. William P. Reidy.

The bride's dress was of ivory satin with Spanish lace and pearl trimmings. She wore a tulle veil trimmed with chantilly lace and carried a bridal bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid's dress was blue moret, fitted with pink velvet trimmings, period style. She wore a lace horsehair hat of pink and blue trim. Her bouquet was of Sweetheart roses and blue del

SENSE and NONSENSE

A negro preacher was denouncing the sins of his congregation. "Brethren and sistern, Ah warn yo' 'gainst de heinous sin of playin' dice! Ah charges yo' 'gainst de black rascality of 'liftin' pullets. But above all, brethern an' sistern, Ah demostishes yo' 'gainst de crime of melon-stealin'."

A brother in back seat made an odd sound with his lips, rose and snapped his fingers. Then he sat down again with an abashed look. "Who? ma fren?" said the parson, sternly. "Does you get up an' snap your fingers when Ah speaks ob melon-stealin'?"

"Yo' jes' remins me, parson," the man in the back seat answered, meekly. "whar Ah Lef' mah knife."

NO PROMISCUOUS BATHING "Can I have a private bath?" asked the new lodger. "Yes, suh! Yes, suh," returned the Negro maid. "We's only got one bathtub, but ev'body takes dey bath private in dis house, suh."

A plantation negro decided to leave the home of his birth and migrate north. Two years later his former master met him traveling across on an old mule. The old negro was delighted to see his master and at once began to tell of his life in the north. "Boss, since I left yo' all, I've been a 'preachin'."

"Why, Mose, I did not know that you evry preached." "Lawdy, yes, I is a regular preacher. Not so long ago I was tellin' my congregation all about Daniel and de Lion's Den, how they frowed po' Daniel in among de lions and they nevah touched a hair of his head. De niggahs were all cryin' Glory, Hallelujah!—When one of them educated niggah don't stan' up and say, "Parson, I don't reckon them lions was trained lions, circus lions, is the reason they nevah touched a hair of Daniel's head."

"What did you say, Mose?" "I says, "Look here, niggah, the time I see speakin' of, if B.C.—befo' circus's."

REAL DESPERATION At a little dinner party, which we attended the other night, the talk drifted, so naturally, to politics. It turned out to be almost unanimously a Hoover crowd. And one Hooverite, waxing eloquent about what he termed the fear of the leaders that Hoover would win the nomination, said that the leaders were about as desperate as the twaddlers huddled under a gum tree down South during a violent spring thunderstorm. "Rastus, can yo' pray?" asked the oaf. "No, Sambo, Ah never prayed in mah life."

"Well, can't yo' sing a hymn?" "No, suh, Sambo, doan know no hymn." Just then lightning struck a tree nearby and the two ebony gentlemen almost turned white. Sambo was the first to find his voice, and turned to his companion. "Well, see hea', Rastus, sumpin' religious's got to be done nighly sudden. S'posen yo, pass rou'n' de contribution box!"

Little Willie—"Hey, ma, the old man's out in the kitchen kissing the cook." Ma—"William, don't let me hear you referring to your father as 'the old man' again."

LETTER GOLF

THIS IS A "PLANE" ONE.

Here's a new way to HOP OFF—without leaving the ground. Just follow the letter golf rules and you should be able to do it in five strokes. That's par and one solution is on another page.

Letter golf grid with letters H, O, P, O, F, F.

THE RULES

- 1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

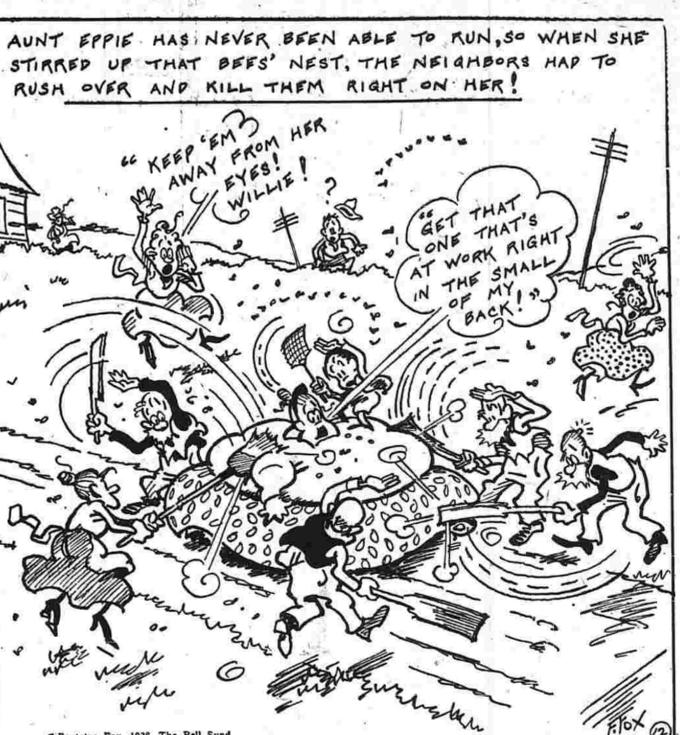

"Hey, move that stone," somebody said. "And then our boat will move ahead." Then Copsy tried to move it, but it didn't budge at all. The others watched him as he tried, and Copsy jumped down by his side, and shouted, "Come on, everyone! I guess 'twill take us all."

NORTH ENDERS WIN LAWN FETE PRIZES

Wm. Foulds, Jr., Gets Dinner Set—New Britain Man Gets Gold Piece.

William Foulds Jr., was the winner of the hundred-piece dinner set at the closing of the sixth annual Community Club Lawn Fete last night. Mr. Foulds, who is a member of the committee which staged the affair, bought the lucky ticket last night. A girl approached with a new book of tickets and asked him to buy one. Not wishing to refuse, he took the book, turned over the first two tickets and said, "This is the lucky one."

No more was thought of the incident by either Mr. Foulds or the ticket seller until several hours later when Miss Irene Waters of Oakland plunged her hand into the box of ticket stubs and pulled out the one which bore his name. Another interesting and unusual incident occurred when Miss Waters picked a stub which gave her sister, Helen, two dollars and a half. The other lucky numbers she drew gave Irving P. Campbell two dollars and a half in gold and Ivanberg Peterson of New Britain, five dollars.

There was another large crowd at the fete last night the visitors were well rewarded toward the close of the evening when Robert M. Reid in charge of the operation of the booths, offered many bargains which were readily taken. The Lawn Fete was a success, both financially and socially, but the amount of exact money realized will not be known for a few days.

MUST MAKE DATES FOR LAKESIDE CAMP

The Young Churchmen's Conference and annual Older Boys' Week held at Camp Washington, Lakeside, will take place June 23 to 30. Rev. J. S. Neill of St. Mary's Episcopal church is a member of the commission in charge of the camp program for the week. Rev. Mr. Neill will also be one of the instructors and will lecture on Biographies of Christian Leaders.

The conference is held annually for boys of senior and junior high school age, creating an opportunity for the clergy to give to the boys a week of devotion, instruction, recreation and outdoor life. Clergy and lay leaders and boys worship together, study together, talk over serious problems and compete in outdoor sports. The expense is small but the number of boys from each parish allowed to attend is necessarily limited. Manchester boys desiring to attend should get in touch with Rev. Neill as soon as possible.
