REPORTS READY IN DISTRICT 8

Officers Statements Published in Today's Herald; Meeting Tomorrow.

In another column of today's Herald will be found the annual reports of the officers of the Eighth School and Utilities District.

Present indications are that the meeting will be well attended. There are at least a half dozen candidates for the job of collector and at least two candidates for the position of treasurer.

The question of the laying of a tax will come before this meeting, and the majority of the larger taxpayers all agree that a 5-mill tax is absolutely necessary.

FAVORS HIBBARD.

Editor, The Herald. Please to allow me a little space in your paper to do a duty I believe I owe the taxpayer of our district.

As president of the district for eleven years and as the Sanitary and Sewer District for about the same period it appears to me that I am pretty well acquainted with the qualities of the officers of the district.

The finances of the district is not a thing which should be juggled and with no personal or other trifles should enter in when we elect a treasurer to administer them.

There's More Than One Way To Furnish A Home!

Of course there is and what a monotonous world this would be if houses were not furnished differently. We may be thankful, then, that there are all kinds of homes, and all kinds of people with different ideas on what constitutes a well-furnished home.

Then, too, there are all kinds of furniture stores and the type you patronize determines just what quality and value you will get for the price you pay.

Or, perhaps, you are the gambling type who dares take a chance on some of the "astounding offers" that high pressure stores advertise.

But if you want beautiful furniture of enduring quality and value you will profit by patronizing a store like Keith's—run on a conservative basis with small upkeep and paying most attention to the service and values they offer.

Our constant efforts in keeping down the cost of doing business has given us the advantage of offering quality furniture at a low price.

G. O. P. Elephant and Dems' Donkey Have Same Ancestor

Cartoonist Was Author of Both Emblems.

Washington. — The Democratic donkey and the Republican elephant, distinguished beasts that they are, are probably the only donkey and elephant in the world that have a common, identical ancestor.

The Democratic donkey first appeared in this Nast cartoon, published in Harper's Weekly on Jan. 10, 1870.

Probably there is not one in a hundred of the staunch partisans of either emblematic quadruped who has the faintest idea how his party happened to select its mascot.

TOLLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Crane, Irving Crane, Miss Crane, Mr. and Mrs. John Bush of Hartford and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Sipe of South Manchester were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Senk.

GILEAD

Rev. J. W. Deeter's theme for the sermon Sunday was, "Suffer Little Children to Come Unto Me and Forbid Them Not." He also led the Christian Endeavor service. The topic for discussion being: "The Church's Responsibility for Recreation."

The Birth of the Donkey

The Democratic donkey was born first.

Nast at that time was drawing for Harper's Weekly, a Republican journal, and was seeking to sink a shaft into the Democratic hide. He picked up the old fable about the jackass that defied a dead lion, and illustrated it.

The Democrats, at that time—1870—were assailing the conduct of Lincoln's cabinet during the Civil War, and were centering their hottest fire on the record of Lincoln's secretary of war, Edwin M. Stanton.

The New York Herald was one of the central figures in the cartoon. Nast used as his basis another old fable—this time the one about the donkey that, clothed in a lion's skin, had set up a braying in the jungle and had frightened the elephant into running into a trap set by the hunter.

His illustration showed such a scene. The donkey dressed in a lion's skin was labeled "The New York Herald." The elephant was "the Republican vote." The fox, artfully peering out from under a bush, bore the words "Democratic party" on his collar.

The Republican elephant, now the familiar party emblem, first appeared in this cartoon, drawn by Thomas Nast, in Harper's Weekly on Nov. 7, 1874.

Adopted by Republicans. The Herald had been attacking the Republicans for permitting talk of Grant's proposed third term to go unchecked. Nast's idea, obviously, was that it was therefore confusing the party and preparing the way for a Democratic victory.

This picture, incidentally, drew a whole page to itself. It was printed on Nov. 7, 1874, and found such favor with the Republicans that the elephant speedily became the party emblem.

Nast, as it happens, was also the man who gave Tammany Hall its tiger. "Boss" Tweed, the notorious Tammany leader, had once belonged to a fire company called "the Big Six." This company had a tiger's head as its emblem.

The first session of the Bible Vacation school, for Sunday school pupils of all ages, took place at the Center Congregational church on Monday.

CIRCUS MEN ARE BUSY IN WINTER

Gentry Brothers Employees Remain Together the Year 'Round.

MARY PICKFORD MADE "JUST BIG MISTAKE". Screen Star Brings In Gowns But Forgets to Pay the Duty.

New York, June 19.—It was all just a big mistake, and she didn't know any better, the customs Department agreed today in allowing Mary Pickford to claim her 12 trunks of Paris gowns upon payment of about $3,500 duty. Granting that the film favorite didn't mean to do wrong the government officials imposed no penalty for her under-valuation of $7,000 worth of wearing apparel which she brought with her Saturday aboard the liner Roma.

Twisted Streets And Souls In This Bishop's Diocese

"Bishop" Tom Noonan (upper photos) and a look at one of his services at the Rescue Mission, in New York's Chinatown, with Noonan behind the microphone.

New York.—Thomas J. Noonan, ex-convict "bishop of Chinatown," has a diocese of twisted streets and twisted souls. His "see," the Rescue Society at the old Chinese Theatre, 5 Doyers street, is in the heart of the Bowery near a barbershop which flaunts the legend "Black eyes made natural." In his tragic flock of down-and-outs he recognizes the Tom Noonan of long ago.

His Reclamation. Noonan's hair is graying now. His glance is clean and direct. While he was in Sing Sing he heard a man preach and it set him thinking. Otherwise Sing Sing did not help him much, he commented. When his 20 months of "correction" were finished he dropped in with some other bums at a new mission formed by a group of social workers. Partly through interest, partly through the desire for comfort and warmth, they got the habit of coming regularly. Noonan was helping with the service.

One College Graduate. "In the 28 years from 1900 to the present, only one college graduate has ever been confined in the institution, and only 18 of the thousands who have 'done time' here, have had the advantages of a high school education," Murr declared.

Mostly Illiterate. "The mentalities of the average inmate is seldom above that of a child in the third or fourth grade of grammar school," Murr said. Education in the fundamental principles of right, and the teaching of the value of work are the best means to combat criminal tendencies, Murr declared.

Drink and Drugs. "The regeneration of this neighborhood was never brought about through laws but through moral influence," said Noonan. "The wicked simply folded their tents and crept away. However, we still have Poetel, after his dismissal, entered suit, charging libel.

When it was recalled that the house was in Bolton the decision to hold the wedding in the town of Bolton was reached and the ceremony was scheduled for this afternoon. Fear of a down-pour later in the day, however, precipitated matters.

The ceremony was witnessed by relatives and friends to the number of twenty. The bridal pair were unattended.

THIS HAS HAPPENED VIRGINIA BREWSTER is in love with an artist, NATHANIEL DANFORTH...

making any plans. You're happy in your work, aren't you? "I can't deny that, but what's become of all those promises to marry me when you'd had a fair fling at self-expression? Seems to me you've proved pretty conclusively that you can make good on your own effort. And I'm doing well enough to support a wife, you know. About as well as my wife will be supported, I mean to say. Of course, when I'm famous...

The girl was not easily revived, though Miss Evans worked frantically over her limp body. At the first sign of consciousness there was a wild, desperate light in her eyes. It terrified Miss Evans. Virginia seized the latter's hand and clung to it while a veritable paroxysm of trembling shook her like the ague. Miss Evans imagined she heard her teeth chattering. Fortunately no one from the other offices came into the reception room before Virginia was able to get to her feet and waver to a chair.

"I've hated myself ever since I let him dictate to me how I should treat you. I really wanted to help you but I was too cowardly." "There wasn't any reason why you should have risked anything for my sake," Virginia said, giving her hand a sympathetic little pat. "But you are risking your job now, you know," she added as a reminder that Miss Evans had brought a serious charge against her employer.

"I've made up my mind to leave him," the secretary stated grimly. "But can't you think of some reason why he might have deceived you?" "Yes, I think I can," Virginia replied in a small, tight voice. She was thinking of the night when her doubt of Oliver's true friendship had first arisen. But so well had she played his cards since then—holding his trumps—that she had been lulled into perfect confidence in him. "But I'm not altogether sure," she went on, more to herself than to her listener. "I will know very soon, though. Will you get me a glass of water, please, Miss Evans?"

MARYE and MOM Their Letters

Dear Marye: By this time nearly everyone in town has seen your photograph in the paper, and they're quite thrilled over it. They all say you have become much smarter and more stylish since you are living in the city, and that you wear your clothes with an air.

I should hate to feel that you had any of the instincts of a climber, but since you must have affiliations with friends, it seems to me wise to make them among people that your husband respects and approves of.

GAS BUGGIES-Circumstantial Evidence

By Frank Beck Here is the framework of the summer house. The top and bottom boards can be nailed on. The horizontal stays in the middle should be cut at each end as the board shown in the picture is cut. This is called checking and it makes the nailing of the boards to the posts easier. Tomorrow the making of the roof will be explained. (To Be Continued)

SENSE and NONSENSE

Georgia Lawyer (to colored prisoner)—Well, Rastus, so you want me to defend you. Have you any money? Rastus—No, sah, I ain't got no money, but I got a nineteen-twenty-two model Fo'd car.

A Georgia statesman tells the story of an aged negro who saw an extra-ordinary-looking instrument in the shop of an optician. He gazed in open-mouth wonder, and turning to the optician, inquired: "What is it, boss?"

THE TIME Two colored gents, I am told, Perpetrated some thievery bold; (This was down in Alabama) Rastus stole a cow, while Sam stole a goat with several fowls, and a silver-headed cane.

As the days began to lag, Rastus starts to tease and nag; And he says to Sam one day, "What time has you-all got, hey?"

Chrysanthemum: "I bet you-all went out wid a bad motive last night."

Colonel: "Rastus, that turkey you sold me yesterday wasn't a tame one as you claimed it to be: I found shots in it."

"Mandy, you say yo' done married a real black man. Why, he ain't real black nohow. My husband an real black. It's one slept with him for five years an' nevah seen him a-tall."

Colonel: "Rastus, that turkey you sold me yesterday wasn't a tame one as you claimed it to be: I found shots in it."

A colored minister addressed his congregation as follows: "Bred-yern," he said, "It's got a $5 sermon, and a $3 sermon and one for a dollar; an' I wants dese here congregation to take up a collection so's I know which sermon to give yah."

LETTER GOLF

Today's puzzle starts out with a SMILE and ends up in TEARS. If you don't like that feature of it, you can work it backwards. In either case par is six. Perhaps you can beat the solution on another page.

Grid for Letter Golf puzzle with words SMILE and TEARS.

THE RULES

- 1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

PHONES Pinehurst "GOOD THINGS TO EAT"

VEGETARIAN DAYS You could hardly expect Pinehurst to be a hot booster for vegetarianism. Not when this business is based on the idea of man being an omnivorous animal—who does and ought to eat meat, fish, fowl, cereals and vegetables. But this is, just the same, of all times in the year the easiest to vegetarianize, and the best.

You couldn't get up any great supply of tears for the person, for instance, who might be sentenced to live for a week or more on such vegetables as you find at Pinehurst, fresh every day—delicate new potatoes, golden carrots, beets so young and tender that the tops are as good food as the bulbs, crisp, white celery, lettuce that fairly crackles in its fiberless delicacy, green peas with the flavor of the dew on them, string beans with enough nutriment in them to keep a laboring man strong if he saw no meat for a month. And so on. No, Pinehurst isn't boosting for vegetarianism. But it recognizes that anybody who seeks to get the best out of the seasonal rotation of foods is bound to revel in the lavish provision of nature, at this time of the year, for supplying mineral salts and vitamins to the human family. To have our fresh vegetables the freshest, the very pick of the country's production, is Pinehurst's constant effort. Because we realize their importance.

Pinehurst closes at noon Wednesday. It will pay you to phone 2000 tomorrow morning or go to the store.

We are recommending Native Veal and fresh Corn fed Pork this week. These items are reasonable in price and the quality is excellent.

Veal for stewing. Veal Chops and Cutlet. Try breaded Veal Chops or pork chops fixed the same way are mighty good. My-T fine sliced Bacon. (rind off) special 37c lb. Pinehurst Round Ground 45c lb. Pinehurst Hamburg 25c

If you are interested in renting a newly renovated flat in the Gorman building on Oak street see W. P. Gorman here at the store or call 2000. We have for rent one with 4 rooms and bath $20.00, another with 6 rooms and bath, all newly painted and finished for $34.00. Also a good sized store for rent at $25.00.

ICE Is Always Dependable

ICE works automatically. When the air is warmer, the ice melts faster and thus keeps the temperature just right; when the air is cooler, the ice melts more slowly, but maintains the same cold. The air is always kept moving. The cold surface of the ice is always fully exposed to the circulating air. All that is necessary is to keep the ice chamber well filled.
