

MACK THROWS A BOMBSHELL TO DELEGATES

New York Democratic Leader Opposes Prohibition; His Statement May Embarrass Gov. Smith.

Houston, Texas, June 21.—The first rumble of the prohibition thunder that may rock the Democratic national convention reverberated about Houston today. It offered a prelude, perhaps, of what is to come—and incidentally what may change this convention from a Smith ratification meeting into a noisy, controversial and bitter companion-piece to Madison Square Garden.

Gov. Al Smith's managers took prompt measures to squelch it. But they were not entirely successful, nor did they succeed before the curtain was lifted a bit to afford an insight into the feeling of the New York delegation.

Norman E. Mack, veteran committee man from New York, and one of Gov. Smith's closest personal friends, fired the opening gun in a statement in which he gave unstinted praise to Gov. Smith, and included these observations:

Gov. Smith has, and always will, stand for liberty and state's rights. He is opposed to prohibition. He is for temperance.

"The trouble with the American people is that they do not appreciate what prohibition has meant and does mean today. If they only realized what hardship it is to the business of this country they would not stand for it.

"Gov. Smith believes that if any state desires a certain standard of living, it should have the right to determine that content. If the state desires to be dry, then it is the right of that state to be dry."

Money Taken Out
Mack said, "It is absolutely criminal for American business to allow foreign nations to take so much more money out of this country for liquor, and be referred to 'people in the states of Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and New York' spending the greater portion of their time in money imbibing the liquors so easily obtained in those states."

Mack's bombshell coming from the source it did and on the eve of the convention was immediately taken up by grim-faced drys who are here to do battle with the Smith forces. It created a first-class sensation.

NO STEAMROLLERS AT THE CONVENTION

Every Favorite Son Will Have a Chance for the Nomination.

Houston, Texas, June 21.—While Governor Al Smith's forces feel they will be in supreme control at the Democratic national convention next week they passed the word along today that there will be no steamroller methods employed to force the nomination of the New York executive on the first ballot.

Every favorite son will be accorded liberal opportunity by the Smith managers to show his strength and every idea for a plank in the party's platform will be carefully discussed, according to the plan mapped out by George R. Van Name, press-convention campaign manager for Gov. Smith.

Naturally Gov. Smith's managers would like to see him nominated on the first or second ballot, but they do not intend to do anything that might arouse hostile feelings against the Empire state's executive on the part of any group of delegates. But when the proper time arrives, and the Smith men are confident that it will be early in the balloting, the governor will be nominated with many votes to spare, they say.

For Free Speech
"New York stands for tolerance and free speech for good nature and good will," Van Name declared. "We want to give every favorite son a chance to show his strength and we want everyone to leave the convention feeling fine."

Van Name made it plain that Smith's managers are absolutely convinced he will be nominated.

"Gov. Smith will be nominated for the presidency at this convention, there is no doubt about that," he declared. "The governor now has over 650 of the 735-1/2 votes necessary to nominate him and I am not making a doubtful claim, as to just how many more he has."

Norman E. Mack, of Buffalo, national committeeman from New York, predicted Gov. Smith would

Dr. Work, Ogden Mills and Other Close Friends Meet to Plan Campaign—Some of the Possibilities.

Washington, June 21.—Dr. Hubert Work, secretary of the Interior, was selected chairman of the National Republican Committee today.

Herbert Hoover, the G. O. P. presidential nominee, indicated his choice to 24 members of the committee meeting at the Willard hotel. The committee ratified the selection and automatically Work becomes generalissimo of the 1928 campaign for the White House.

Washington, June 21.—Republican leaders gathered today at the Willard hotel—famed as a political rendezvous from the days of Lincoln—to map out the campaign to send a new type of candidate to the White House—the non-politician, Herbert Hoover.

Preliminary parleys were in progress before breakfast with the all-important subject of election of a chairman and the rest of the party organization, paramount.

Hoover, Dr. Hubert Work, Ogden L. Mills and other close friends and supporters of the Republican candidate, already have drafted their slate to be laid before the committee for ratification shortly after a noon time luncheon.

Slate Kept Secret
This slate has not been disclosed definitely, but those close to the candidate indicate that the chairman will be Dr. Work, whose political abilities already have been demonstrated at Kansas City and elsewhere. Rumors of a dark horse from the east, however, still persisted; Mills, Daniel E. Pomeroy, of Englewood, N. J.; Franklin Fort, of New Jersey; James W. Good, of Iowa; David Mulvaney, of Kansas, are others likely to occupy

LAWYER IS SLUGGED BY CHICAGO THUGS

Toughs Try to Steal Important Papers Containing Names of Criminals.

Chicago, June 21.—Extra guards were provided today for prosecutors, witnesses and members of the Special Grand Jury investigating crime and election frauds, following an attack last night on Attorney Samuel Epstein, connected with the prosecution.

Epstein was set upon and slugged by gangsters in the very shadow of the Criminal Court building, where the Special Grand Jury is in session.

The sluggers attempted to seize important memoranda dealing with the prosecution of the murder of "Diamond Joe" Esposito, a Deneen political worker. The attorney's papers also included a list of men who are to be indicted, it was said.

Frank J. Loesch, in charge of the jury as special prosecutor and president of the Chicago Crime Commission was enraged over the attack upon his aide.

Asks for Protection.
"This shows what desperate lengths the fellows we are after are willing to go," he said. "I have asked, Commissioners of Police Michael Hughes for adequate police protection for all connected with this investigation."

The thugs, two in number, apparently followed Epstein from the court room. He was pounced upon half block from the Criminal Court building. Although severely beaten, he fought his attackers until help arrived and thus saved the papers.

Ten men, have already been named in indictments and six of them are under arrest, all charged with crime during the recent bloody primary election campaign. But these men are, for the most part, gangsters and minor politicians. The jury is now after the "higher ups." Some of these were listed, it was said, in the papers sought from Epstein.

THIS YEAR'S CAMPAIGN TO GO OVER THE RADIO

Both Parties Will Make Extensive Use of the Microphone; Days of Old Stump Speaker Are Past.

Washington, June 21.—The days of the old spell-binder politician with roaring voice and mighty oratory that shook the windows, and the timbers of many a town hall, are doomed.

In the 1928 Republican campaign, the mild words of Herbert Hoover and his matter-of-fact oratorical delivery, "I have a message for the people of the United States. More than 1,600,000 farm firesides in the strongholds of the McNary-Haugenites will resound with political cheer and grief as the campaign warms to the boiling point.

To Use the "Mike"
No such medium has been at the disposal of the politicians. While oratory is no drawback to the speaker, unless by his audience, it must exercise his abilities in front of the microphone, yet the quiet speaker is virtually as appealing as the old time, arm-waving, stamping, table beating and roaring stumpster.

Hostile audiences lose their danger. You might even sing "Marching Through Georgia," in Savannah without being booed—if you did it over the radio from some distant point. Cat-calls don't come back over the air.

Herbert Hoover will make wide use of the radio. Al Smith, if he becomes the Democratic nominee, likewise will do much speaking before the microphone.

Neither political party, however, will take advantage of the radio listeners. In the Hoover camp leaders said that all by the secretary's speeches over the radio would be edited carefully and probably limited in time of delivery to 15 or 20 minutes.

Organization of the radio hook-ups and the "air" campaign probably will be assigned to one of Hoover's experts although the secretary himself, the country's first radio czar, will have suggestions of value.

Rev. Watson Woodruff spoke at the graduation exercises at the Lebanon High school last night and will be one of the speakers at the Windsor High school graduation this evening.

ALL BELGRADE IS NOW UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Rioting Breaks Out After Murders in Parliament; Assassin Says He Acted As a Patriot.

Vienna, June 21.—A state of virtual martial law prevailed in Belgrade today as the result of the assassination of Deputy Paul Raditch and Deputy George Basaritch by Montenegrin Deputy Punica Ratchitch in the Skupstina (Parliament), yesterday.

Advices from Belgrade said that troops were patrolling the streets. Violated an agreement which was reported from Zagreb, the stronghold of the Croation Peasant Party.

A Belgrade telegram said that the Democratic members of the Cabinet had decided to resign. Their resignations probably would result in the downfall of the whole ministry.

The assassin Ratchitch, who is under arrest, declared he acted from "patriotic motives."

Reason for Shooting
The shooting resulted from intense feeling that had been engendered by debate over the Jugo-Slav-Italian treaty (Nettuno Treaty). This pact was before the Chamber for ratification at the time of the assassinations.

In addition to the two men killed, Stefan Raditch, leader of the Croation Peasant Party, was shot through the abdomen. Three others were less seriously wounded. They are Dr. Pernar, secretary of the Croation Peasant Party; Deputy Josip Grandija and Deputy Jelatic.

The shooting followed a riotous scene in the Jugo-Slavian Chamber, the president of which made a speech during which he shouted at the Radical deputies: "You are behaving like a lot of swine."

Rioting Starts
Rioting broke out during which the president of the Chamber suspended the session. Immediately afterward Punica Ratchitch drew a revolver and began firing indiscriminately towards the opposition bench. The first bullet penetrated Raditch's heart.

There are two versions as to what followed. One was that the assassin jumped through a window and drove off in a motor car. The other said he forced his way through the ministerial rooms and made his way to the office of the minister of interior where he demanded an audience. The minister refused, saying: "I am not speaking to murderers."

These side trips however, are not under a permanent ban. After the President gets thoroughly settled and has had a little complete relaxation, he is expected to make short tours almost weekly, visiting the nearby cities, the mines and the other points of interest in the section.

Wait a While
"Wait for a few weeks," has been the answer to all such proposals.

Today, weather permitting, Mr. Coolidge will make his long drive to visit to the temporary executive offices in Superior, at least, so Secretary Everett Sanders says. He will find quite a little work accumulated.

First Fish Story
The first authentic "fish story" of the presidential vacation has at last broken. The President caught six fish yesterday, according to official announcement from Sanders. This was the first definite admission of the week the party has been here. The largest, said Sanders informed the assembled newspapermen, was a Loch Laven trout, weight 1 3-4 pounds. Another was Attended First Sunday School in State—Able to Work and Reads Papers.

Portland, Conn., June 21.—Mrs. Harriet B. Hale, oldest resident of the town, will celebrate her 103rd birthday on Saturday. She was born in New London on June 23, 1825 and has lived here ten years.

Mrs. Hale's memories of attending the first Sunday school ever held in the state, when she was a little girl in New London. Other memories include her adventure of falling into the sea and being rescued when the tide was carrying her out and of falling fifteen feet from a verandah, and landing in a peach basket unhurt. Within the last few years she fell and broke her hip.

Mrs. Hale spends her time making pin cushions. She is an ardent reader of newspapers.

New Haven, Conn., June 21.—A $500,000 building will be added to the already large medical center of Yale University, upon its completion scientists will start extensive research in children's diseases.

Beside the money for the building Yale has another $500,000 to be used to endow this new phase of its medical school work.

MADDELENA HOPS OFF AGAIN TO FIND NOBILE

8 Stowaways Menace 600 Ship's Passengers

London, June 21.—After two hours, leading to fears that the crew had mutinied and joined forces with the desperate stowaways found aboard, the Australian Commonwealth liner Jervis Bay sent out another radio call for immediate assistance, said a dispatch from Colombo this afternoon.

The Jervis Bay, which is en route from Brisbane to London with 600 passengers aboard, had originally asked for aid from a warship, reporting that the crew were having trouble with "eight desperate stowaways."

That members of the crew may have refused to act against the stowaways was intimated by a Central News dispatch from Colombo saying the stowaways were confined beneath battened down hatches while a volunteer guard kept watch night and day. When this dispatch was filed the liner was believed to be about 1,500 miles from Colombo.

PRESIDENT NOW DODGING ALL SOCIAL INVITATIONS

Taking a Rest for the First Two Weeks; Spends Time Fishing—May Visit His Office Later Today.

Superior, Wis., June 21.—Extraordinary precautions are being taken to see that no toes are trod on socially as a result of President Coolidge's summer vacation at Cedar Island Lodge on the Brule River.

Word has been passed out from the temporary executive offices that social invitations to Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge will be "frowned upon."

The Superiors have been advised informally that the President and his wife cannot accept one bid without being liable to innumerable invitations, and that, therefore, none will be accepted.

The secretarial staff also has poured cold water on the many suggestions that the executive make side trips throughout this section of Wisconsin and nearby Minnesota, visiting projects of various sorts and making speeches.

These side trips however, are not under a permanent ban. After the President gets thoroughly settled and has had a little complete relaxation, he is expected to make short tours almost weekly, visiting the nearby cities, the mines and the other points of interest in the section.

Today, weather permitting, Mr. Coolidge will make his long drive to visit to the temporary executive offices in Superior, at least, so Secretary Everett Sanders says. He will find quite a little work accumulated.

OFFER MISS EARHART POSITION IN MOVIES

Spends the Day in London Looking Over Offers—Is Still Very Tired.

London, June 21.—Opportunities to star in moving picture thrillers were among the offers under consideration last afternoon by Miss Amelia Earhart, America's record-breaking aviatrix.

Miss Earhart had planned to attend the Ascot race meet today to mingle with the social elite of England, but cancelled the trip because of fatigue and the pressure of "business matters."

She said she expected to be engaged most of the afternoon with various representatives discussing the length of her stay in England, the offers of cinema, writing and lecture contracts that have poured in upon her since her arrival Tuesday night.

The Boston girl spent the night at the home of Mrs. Frederick E. Guest, wealthy patroness of the "Friendship" fight. She slept late, tired out by the excitement and continuous ovations of Wednesday.

"I still feel very tired, but otherwise I feel fine," she said upon leaving the Guest home. "I am intensely thrilled by everything."

Miss Earhart refused to indicate whether she might appear in a film production, but it is believed she will reject the offers

ONIONS SCARCE; GIRLS WORRYING

For Years and Years New England Used Them as Beautifiers, They Say.

Boston, Mass., June 21.—The beauty and physical charms of New England girls is threatened in the opinion of old timers as a result today of the announcement of onion acreage in the Connecticut Valley. The announcement by the federal crop reporting service stated that the total acreage planted this year was 23 per cent less than in 1927.

"Onions for years and years," said the old timers who can tell you the weather by the muscular twinges of their legs, "have always been the beautifier of the New England girls."

Massachusetts showed a 3,500 acre total compared with 4,500 acres last year, a decrease of 23 per cent. Low prices received for the '27 crops were the dominating cause of the decrease in acreage, the government report stated.

CIRCUS UNLOADED IN AN HOUR FLAT

Gentry Show Folk Make Short Job of Getting Onto Pearl Lot.

The circus is in town and if the number of Manchester youngsters that gathered around the cars at the north end railroad sidings at 6:30 this morning, represents the trend of public favor the circus has lost none of its old time appeal and glamour. Cold, damp, a slight mist falling, the youngsters shivered and shook as they stood about watching the roustabouts unload cars after car of circus equipment.

Now and then the gawk smiles upon someone of them as some circus man called upon one of the youngsters to hold the lines on a pony or fetch a pail of water or run on any one of the numerous little errands that a lad of ten or twelve years old has to perform for the favored few proud of their tasks. They would hardly speak to their less fortunate buddies of the lute minute before, such was the lure of the land of make-believe before the invention of airplanes, autos and the numerous distraction of the present generation—and such is the lure of the circus to the youth of America even yet.

Comes Before Dawn
Gentry Brothers' show hit town about 3:15 this morning, making the jump from New Britain in less than three hours after loading. The cars remained loaded at the siding until shortly after 5 o'clock this morning when the roustabouts began unloading. One of the finest examples of what can be accomplished through team work and cooperation is the flawless system of unloading a circus. One hour after the work was started the show was unloaded and on its way to the grounds.

At the lot the first tent up was the cook house and a few minutes later the chef had a fire going and the first meal of the day was underway. The "eats" tent was next up and by that time the old story of "Come and get it" rang out from the cook house and all work was dropped while the gang took time off to feed the inner man. Then back to work with a will, the main tent went up first and then the dressing rooms and side-show. The concession booths were meanwhile

Italian Flyer Who Located Party to Descend This Time if He Can Find Open Water—French to Send Warships to Hunt for Amundsen and Guilbaud, Believed Lost.

London, June 21.—Major Maddelena planned to hop off at Nyaaesund, Spitzbergen, today in the Italian seaplane Savoia-Marchetti-55 to try to descend upon open water near the spot where he located General Umberto Nobile and his five companions, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen this afternoon.

Major Maddelena said he would first drop smoke bombs on the Nobile party could guide him to the best landing place. Anxiety over the fate of Captain Roald Amundsen and Rene Guilbaud, who were lost while flying from Tromsø to Spitzbergen, increased today. Maddelena promised to search for Amundsen and Guilbaud while making the flight to the ice upon which the Nobile party was stranded.

Radiograms were sent to the Russian ice breakers Malinin and Krastina asking them to cooperate in the search for Amundsen and his French flying companion.

The fate of the missing ten members of the Nobile expedition is not known. They have not been heard from for 27 days.

EARLY BULLETINS
The French seaplane which hopped off at Tromsø, Norway, on Monday, with Rene Guilbaud and Captain Roald Amundsen, was still missing today.

General Umberto Nobile and five companions have been located on an ice floe on the coast of Northeast Land, but the fate of the other ten members of the Nobile party expedition is not known.

Francis will send two warships to Spitzbergen to search for Guilbaud and Amundsen.

Major Maddelena, Italian aviator, was to hop off at Nyaaesund, Spitzbergen, today to try to land near the Nobile party and to search for the missing ten members of the Nobile expedition and for Amundsen and Guilbaud.

TO SEND WARSHIPS
Paris, June 21.—Francis will send the cruiser Strassbourg and the gunboat Quentin Roosevelt to Spitzbergen to search for the missing French seaplane bearing Rene Guilbaud and Captain Roald Amundsen, the ministry of marine announced this afternoon.

Strassbourg is en route to Cherbourg for supplies. The Quentin Roosevelt, which is now at Oslo, will proceed to Bergen for coal, then leave for Spitzbergen. Nothing definite has been heard of the French seaplane since it hopped off at Tromsø, Norway, on Monday.

FATHER SHOTS SON FOR UNGRATEFULNESS

Set Him Up in Business and Was Double-Crossed—Son Tried to Shield Him.

Chicago, June 21.—A father who calmly admitted he shot his son because the latter betrayed him, was held in jail here today pending outcome of his boy's wounds.

The boy, lying near death at a hospital, tried to protect his father by giving a fictitious name, not knowing that his parent had confessed.

A chum of the boy was also fired upon by the father and seriously wounded.

The principals in this strange drama are James Mullaney, 66; a retired railroad detective, and James Mullaney, Jr., 27. The latter's chum who was wounded is Gene Ranger, 22.

The senior Mullaney told police that he had sacrificed his life's savings to set his son up in business, only to find him ungrateful and "double-crossing." Yesterday morning, he said, his son ordered him out of his place.

Important posts during the campaign. It was indicated that the Republican chiefs have come to no decision as to Hoover's resignation, although observers said that probably he will resign sometime in July. Whether the resignation will come before Hoover leaves Washington early next month for his home in Palo Alto, California, has not been disclosed.

Hoover Silent Not since his nomination has Hoover given a word to the press personally. What few thoughts he has communicated have been through his secretary, George Akerson. His friends likewise are uncommunicative. He will address the Republican chiefs today and may throw some light on the details of the campaign.

Hoover plans definitely to remain in Washington through the Democratic convention. His radio receiver in the Commerce department has been overhauled so that no word may be missed from the Houston gathering.

Hoover also ordered another radio set placed in a room on the seventh floor of the Commerce department to entertain the group of newspaper correspondents which has watched his every movement since the decision at Kansas City.

One of the first affairs in Hoover's honor will be a banquet tendered by officials and employees of the Commerce department. About 500 persons are expected to attend. It will be a purely entertainment function, politics barred. The date has not been set.

BLACKLIST OF D. A. R. AGAIN IN LIMELIGHT

Washington, June 21.—Mrs. Helen Tuller Ballou of Boston and Mrs. Mary P. MacFarland of Mountain Lakes, N. J., members of the Daughters of the American Revolution, were on trial before the national board of management of that organization today, on charges of conduct disturbing the harmony of the society.

Nineteen members preferred the charges, signed by Mrs. George Thacher Guernsey, honorary president-general and others. They are said to have been based on pamphlets and speeches issued by the two women and the controversy over a blacklist of speakers.

Mrs. Alfred Brossseau, president of the D. A. R., presided. "In the indictments there is but one charge of false statement," Mrs. Ballou said. "In my pamphlet, on which they are basing the charge, I said 'should the officers of our society have the right to pledge it on important matters without a definite expression of opinion from the membership?' This was done by Mrs. Walker when she put the society on record in favor of the Big Navy bill. They say this is a false statement, but Mrs. Walker did not say on record before the Senate and without authority.

"As to the blacklist, I thought, and still think, I had a right to reach the 15,000 members through the only medium, the press. This is a quasi-public organization, not a country club. The charge is that I brought into the light what William Allen White called a 'stab in the dark,' that is, I made public the list of 'doubtful speakers.'

NEW LOWELL AIRPORT IS DEDICATED TODAY

New England Council in Conference to Bring Plane Plants Here.

Boston, Mass., June 21.—While hundreds of pursuit planes, freight planes and passenger planes were blackening the sky in dedicating the new Lowell airport, the second New England aviation conference of the New England Council was in session here today.

A dozen of the leading figures in aviation including Sherman T. Fairchild, General John F. O'Ryan and William B. Stout, presidents of aviation companies were in attendance at the conference.

An effort was being made to stimulate the airplane building industry in New England immediately. It is the purpose of the New England Council to bring several airplane and airplane accessories companies to this section.

Discussing "insurance and aviation," before the conference today, Norman R. Morey, of Hartford, Conn., declared that the skilled actuaries and underwriters of insurance companies are now studying the risks involved and will develop methods of insuring the varied aspects of commercial aviation.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH FESTIVAL TOMORROW

St. Mary's parishioners have everything in readiness for their annual strawberry festival, which will be held in the parish house tomorrow evening beginning at 6 o'clock.

The admission will be nominal but there will be plenty of opportunity to spend money in exchange for the good things provided by the ladies, such as real old-fashioned strawberry shortcake with cream, berries and cream only, ice cream, and cold drinks and home-made candy.

At 8 o'clock an entertainment in charge of Mrs. Ethel Davis will be put on, including special music by the Center flute band and a comedy sketch in one act, "The Country School." James Harrison has consented to fill the role of school-teacher and his scholars will be Robert Marcham, M. H. Peabody, Samuel Gaylord, Robert Holmes, William Davis, Evelyn and Geneva Peatland, Helen Crawford, Lillian Readon, Dorothy Russell, Agatha Wright, Gertrude Lidden, Dorothy Norris, Florence Madison.

Peabody is general chairman and the affair is under the joint management of the Ladies Guild, the Girls Friendly society and the Men's Bible class. Mrs. William Crawford, president of the guild and Miss Margaret Stratton president of the G.F.S. will see to the refreshments.

practically all up, so that a little over two hours after unloading the circus was ready for the day's business.

The ground work was done entirely by roustabouts. Back at the railroad siding the sleepers were being laid to show signs of life. The performers were getting up and out. "Hey, Joe, hurry up if you want to eat at the cook house." "Never mind him, let him sleep, he usually eats in town anyhow."

"Hey, buddy, where's the town? Where can a fellow get a suit cleaned? They make Bon Ami here don't they? How big a burg is this? I beg your pardon, could you tell me where the best ladies' apparel store is? Where's a barber shop? Have ya got any wrasslers that's any good in this town? Oh, well, we like 'em tough."

In such vein, were the performers. Performers Sleep The big red cars during the season are the circus performers' home. Tacked on the outside door of one was a large sign reading "No smoking in the cars. William read eleven P. M." Performers sleep, if razzbacks don't.

Gentry Brothers' Circus its publicity man said, carries 412 people. That includes all performers, roustabouts and management. Its menagerie includes 6 small elephants, four zebras, two camels, eight cages, four llamas, and three Polar bears. The stable contains 177 horses and 40 ponies. The side shows include a circus, a human skeleton, the bearded woman, the sword swallower and fire eater. The concert that will follow the main show will consist of a wild west and a wrestling exhibition.

Unlike some of its big brothers, this show gives street parades. It started its parade here shortly before noon today. There have been worse. The circus headquarters are located in Louisville, Kentucky, the majority of the performers come from the middle west. The next town that the circus will play, after showing at Pearl's lot on Woodland street this afternoon, and this morning will be Middletown.

Five Mill Tax The next business was the laying of a school district tax. This was made five mills on the dollar this year which is an increase of one mill over the rate of last year. The extra mill is made necessary to pay off some of the district's indebtedness. The officers of the district were authorized to borrow sufficient money to meet the necessary obligations of the district and the meeting was adjourned.

RESTAURANTS RAIDED New Haven, Conn., June 21.—Seven employees of suburban restaurants were ordered held today by Robert E. Alcorn, U. S. commissioner, for Federal Court hearings on charges of liquor law violations, following a series of raids by sixty prohibition enforcement agents last night.

Orange, Milford, Bethany, Naugatuck, and Ansonia were apparently combed by the agents who brought their prisoners here where they furnished bonds of $1,000 each pending hearings today. Restaurants here and in Milford, Woodbridge and West Haven were visited, searched, and then exonerated of suspicion of having liquor.

LUTHER LEAGUE WINS IN CHURCH CAMPAIGN

Members Raise More for Repairs Fund Than the Trustees and Deacons.

The results of the drive by the members of the Swedish Lutheran church to obtain funds to pay for the repairs now being made on the church have just been received. The drive was conducted by two teams, composed of the Luther Leaguers and the deacons and the trustees of the church.

This system was adopted to induce a certain amount of rivalry between the members of the opposing teams and to further that idea a dinner was to be given by the losing team to the winners.

The report of the funds collected by the two teams follows: Trustees and Deacons Cash $2,268.50 Luther League $1,195.50

The combined fund raised by the two teams totaled $2,602.75 in cash and $4,356.50 by subscription. The trustees and deacons will give the members of the Luther League a dinner on the tentative date for it is June 30.

DISTRICT ELECTION CAUSES ARGUMENT

proceeded to take the second ballot. It was not officially counted, because the moderator had ruled Charter elected before the second ballot had been withdrawn.

Just before the second ballot was taken Aldo Pagani announced his withdrawal from the contest, although no official total was announced on this second ballot the tellers said that a large number of votes evidently in the Pagani column had switched to Moriarty.

However, one of the tellers took the trouble to total the votes on the second ballot and found that Charter led Moriarty, but still lacked a majority of the votes cast.

William E. Hibbard, was elected clerk and treasurer of the district over Ann M. Miller, Mr. Hibbard, who has held the office for a period of years, polled 166 votes and Mr. Miller polled 109.

Other Business The meeting proceeded in the order of the call when Judge Hyde acted as moderator and the auditors report was read and accepted. The president and school committee reports were next in the order of business. Dr. F. A. Sweet, the president, read his report and it was followed immediately by Mrs. L. E. Brown's report for the school committee.

Mr. E. Hibbard then gave his report as treasurer which showed the present indebtedness of the district to be $179,000. Mark Holmes, tax collector, read his report showing that he had collected $25,321.15 of the total of $28,098.40 to be collected. Mr. Holmes told the district meeting that he would not stand for election again since his own business had grown so rapidly that he was now unable to give the collectorship the attention it required. All of the reports appeared in Tuesday's issue of the Herald.

Fire Chief's Report Fire Chief Edward Coleman reported that there had been 24 still alarms and 7 whistle alarms during the year. The fires caused damage of $3,750 of which $2,865 was covered by insurance. The meeting appropriated $1,000 for playground purposes and then proceeded to elect officers.

Dr. F. A. Sweet was re-elected president without opposition. As previously stated Mr. Hibbard was re-elected treasurer in his contest with John M. Miller and Joseph Charter was elected tax collector succeeding Mark Holmes. Edward Coleman was named fire chief. William McGonigal his first assistant and Harlowe Willis second assistant. A. L. Brown, Dr. F. A. Sweet and A. J. Ward were named the school committee and Charles Loomis and William McGuire directors.

The meeting voted to pay the president $300, the clerk and treasurer $200, the chairman of the school committee $200 and the fire chief $100 a year. The tax collector is paid on a commission basis. The salary voted for fire chief is additional this year and was voted when the motion was made by W. W. Robertson.

The next business was the laying of a school district tax. This was made five mills on the dollar this year which is an increase of one mill over the rate of last year. The extra mill is made necessary to pay off some of the district's indebtedness. The officers of the district were authorized to borrow sufficient money to meet the necessary obligations of the district and the meeting was adjourned.

NO STEAMROLLERS AT THE CONVENTION

he nominated on the second ballot. "I look for the nomination of Gov. Smith on the second ballot—the third at the latest," said the white-haired Democratic leader of New York, long a personal friend of Smith.

Questioned about the candidate for vice-president, Van Namee said: "New York has no favorite candidate for vice president. We are for any candidate for vice president the delegates want."

"Has anyone suggested Gov. Donahay for a candidate for vice president?" Van Namee was asked. "Yes and about twenty or thirty others," he replied smiling.

To Namee Smith. Unless there are last minute changes, Franklin D. Roosevelt will place Gov. Smith's name in nomination. Roosevelt, who is now at Warm Springs, Ga., is expected here Friday. Propped up with two crutches, Roosevelt nominated Smith at the historic convention of 1924 in Madison Square Garden, New York, but today he is so far recovered his health that he is able to walk with only the aid of a cane.

John W. Davis, democratic candidate for the presidency in 1924, and one of the eight delegates at large from New York, is slated to represent the Empire state delegation on the resolutions committee. Mayor James J. Walker of New York will be on the rules committee.

Indications are that Mrs. Caroline O'Day, of Westchester, vice chairman of the Democratic state committee, will be elected chairman of the New York delegation.

Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, is slated to be the chief of Gov. Smith's floor managers after the convention gets under way.

Between 700 and 800 braves of Tammany Hall and the state's 90 delegates and alternates are due here Monday morning on special trains. Judge George W. Olvany, leader of Tammany Hall and several other prominent figures in that organization are expected here Saturday.

WEATHER MAN ANGRY OVER DIAMOND QUEEN

Forecaster Scarr Says She Got the Same Reports as "Lady Lindy."

New York, June 21—Mabel Boll's hint that partially was shown, for Amelia Earhart in issuing weather advice for a trans-Atlantic flight was branded as "absolutely false in its every detail," today by Weather Forecaster Scarr.

"I had anticipated something of the sort," he declared. "These fliers, instead of being grateful for the aid given them by the Weather Bureau, try to make the Bureau the goat every time anything goes wrong."

Starr said that exact duplicates of weather forecasts had been sent to both Miss Boll and Miss Earhart at their respective bases at Harbor Trace and Trepansey Bay.

"The Weather Bureau was not responsible for Miss Earhart's starting first," Scarr declared. "As a matter of fact, she was advised not to start."

"Her flight was theoretically impossible, but she got away with it by defying weather conditions, and one of her first remarks in England was that she had run into vastly different weather conditions than those indicated by our reports."

tion among the arriving delegates. Francis friends of the governor started looking immediately for George R. Van Namee, the Smith pre-convention manager, who may be the next chairman of the national committee. It was long past midnight when they found him. The lateness of the hour and the then prevailing responsibility recalling the statement distressed Van Namee no little.

"Did you say that, Norman?" asked Van Namee.

"Yes," said the veteran New York leader, somewhat embarrassed. "I am sure you are expressing my own personal views and that I was not talking for Gov. Smith."

"My God," exploded Van Namee, "you are the national committee man from New York. You are the Democratic leader down here from New York and you will think you are speaking for the governor."

"I was only speaking for myself," repeated Mack.

"Well," said Van Namee, addressing a group in the lobby of the hotel, nobody has any authority to express Gov. Smith's opinion on any subject whatever, be it prohibition, the League of Nations or any other question that may become connected with the platform. When the proper time comes the governor will talk for himself."

"I was only expressing my personal opinion," said Mack again.

"And not after talking with Gov. Smith," added Van Namee with pointed emphasis.

"That ended it temporarily, and so far as the New York leaders were concerned, but the Smith managers are sorely perturbed over the incident. Van Namee added as he walked away that he would "see to it" that no further statements of this sort are issued from the New York delegation.

The perturbation of Smith managers seemed eminently justified today when the radical dries, already gathering here for the impending battle, immediately took up the Mack statement and made the most of it.

"Surely," said Mrs. Jessie W. Nicholson, of Maryland, director of the National Women's Democratic Law Enforcement League, surely the Democrats will not be so foolish as to nominate Al Smith or any other wet candidate for the presidency.

"Seventy-five thousand women banded into this Enforcement League and representing 20 million women voters do not want their children ever to see the inside of a saloon. This is just what would happen should Tammany get control of the treasury and the prohibition bureau."

"If Tammany millions prove too much for us in Houston, there is more than one way to kill a cat, and we are going to make a dead end street out of Tammany so far as national politics is concerned."

Just an Example. That is just one example of how the Mack statement was taken up by the radical dries. They are already here in force, and they will be here en masse when the gavel falls on Tuesday. Women predominate, but there are many male dries present and coming, and representing more than a score of national organizations. They are militant, aggressive, and determined at all costs to present the inclusion in the platform of any plank which by the widest stretch of imagination could be construed as liberal on the prohibition issue. They threaten dire things in November and for the future of the party if Smith is nominated and there is anything but the most unequivocal support of Volsteadism in the platform.

It is the one situation that is causing the Smith leaders real concern. Of the nomination of Gov. Smith they are confident. They expect it certainly within three ballots.

Leaders Worrying. If Gov. Smith has authorized anyone to speak for him on the kind of prohibition plank he wants in the platform, or if he has entrusted anyone with a plank drawn by himself the fact has been kept very closely hidden thus far. The impression prevails that the governor favors a simple declaration in favor of the law enforcement, without naming any names, but it goes no further than an impression. That, however, will not satisfy the dries. They want an out-and-out dry platform, so written as to make Gov. Smith write in trying to stand upon it. They assert that the Republicans pledged themselves at Kansas City to enforce the 18th amendment by name, and they assert the Democrats can do no less.

Whether they will get it remains to be seen. Gov. Smith's supporters are equally determined that if he is to be nominated at all it will be upon a platform upon which he can stand comfortably and consistently with his known views and record as governor. If such a platform is not obtainable, then there are those that Gov. Smith does not want the nomination.

There is the fight in this convention. The combatants are gathering, as the first fireworks have started.

CODE DEvised TO CHECK TRAFFIC SIGNALS CRAZE

New York, June 20.—The traffic signal craze has struck the country to such an extent that one of its leading sponsors at the time of its introduction now is trying to control its application.

As a result of a survey of more than 100 of the larger cities, the American Engineering Council is considering the submission of a code of standard practice on the use of traffic signs, signals and markings.

The survey disclosed two fundamental errors which fall into the category of the modern signal devices. One is to place the signals without any adequate study of the traffic conditions they are intended to improve, and the second is to use them at places and at times not justified by conditions.

"The inevitable result," says the report of this survey, "will be a public recognition of these errors and a consequent disregard of the unnecessary regulations, which will lead to the ultimate defeat of what should be most useful and effective methods of traffic control."

Best Type, But—

Of all the mechanical devices that have been employed to facilitate traffic movement, the report says, the most effective has been the automatic traffic signal and its "Like all good things, however," it continues, "there is an unfortunate tendency to overdo its application with the result that such signals have been installed indiscriminately without analysis of the probable effects, and are operated at times when there is no possible justification.

"Three serious consequences are likely to follow:

"First, a growing tendency on the part of impatient drivers to disregard the signal, a habit that will ultimately terminate the usefulness of all signals.

"Second, utilization of the opportunity by criminals to hold up law-abiding citizens who happen to be stopped alone at isolated locations especially at night.

"Third, general desperation of traffic from main thoroughfares to unsignalled side streets where the accident hazard, especially to children, will be greatly increased."

The survey report also recommends consideration of the pedestrian, as well as the law-abiding motorist in the shortening of time for signal changes.

"In general," the report reads, "short cycles are much more effective than long ones, 40 to 50 seconds being recommended for ordinary conditions so that the approaching motorist can gauge his speed so that he will reach the intersection on the 'go' signal and avoid stopping entirely. Particularly it is true that proper timing on short cycles encourages observance of pedestrian regulations."

READY FOR THE GUN

Five-Year Survey Seeks Better Medical Aid For Average Family

Very Wealthy and Very Poor Now Served Best.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington.—If you're very rich you don't care what your doctor bills are. And if you're very poor you get medical aid for nothing. But if you're neither rich nor poor you are apt to find the cost of medical service a major problem at some time or other.

Doctors have recognized this fact for a long time. But at last something is going to be done about it.

A special committee headed by some of the most noted authorities in the country is about to spend $300,000 and five years time to find out just what the trouble is and what the remedy should be.

This committee is backed by the Carnegie Corporation, the Millbank Memorial Fund, the Russell Sage Foundation and the Twentieth Century Fund. Participating in the research will be such organizations as the American Medical Association, the U. S. Public Health Service and the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

At the outset, the committee is confronted by three unpleasant facts:

- 1—Innumerable families cannot afford to pay for the medical care they need.
- 2—The average doctor does not receive an adequate income.
- 3—A very large percentage of sick people do not get adequate treatment.

At the head of the committee is Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Leland Stanford University. The vice chairman is Dr. C. E. A. Winslow of Yale School of Medicine. Under their direction the committee already has collected facts unearthed by previous investigators and some of them are sufficiently startling. They include, for instance, such facts as these:

Fifteen per cent of the 2,400,000 births in this country each year are attended by midwives, rather than physicians.

Above is Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Leland Stanford University, chairman of the committee that will investigate the cost of medical attention. Below is Dr. C. E. Winslow of Yale, vice chairman.

In one New York district, 22 per cent of persons too sick to work get no medical care from a physician. There are probably 700,000 Americans suffering from tuberculosis.

The National Committee on Mental Hygiene has said that of all school and college students, "300,000 will enter a hospital for mental disease at some time, if present rates for first admission are maintained."

A Public Health Service official estimates 700,000 malaria cases each year, with a much greater number of malaria carriers. At least 350,000 children are handicapped by muscle, joint or bone defects caused by such diseases as rickets, tuberculosis or infantile paralysis.

Dr. Osler has estimated that 10 per cent of all deaths are due to syphilis.

If every American were given a health examination annually, as doctors recommend, each of the 140,000 physicians in the country would examine 800 persons a year.

"System" is Blamed

These are some of the preliminary

Many Sick Do Not Get Adequate Treatment

facts the committee found. Dr. Wilbur, outlines the problem thus:

"More than a million persons are engaged in curing and preventing disease, and more than $5,000,000,000 are invested in hospitals and other equipment. But a large group of persons are not receiving medical treatment at costs within their means. Complaints of high charges are frequent, and I fear some of them are justified. The cause of the difficulty often is the large number of separate bills that must be paid, not the amount of the physician's charge. It is the present system that is at fault."

Dr. Olin M. West, secretary of the American Medical Association, speaks in a similar vein.

"The one great, outstanding problem before the medical profession today," he says, "is that involved in the delivery of adequate scientific medical service to all the people, rich or poor, at a cost which can be met by them in their respective stations in life."

The committee has now no solution to advance. It wants to get every fact available on such questions as the prevalence of disease and disabilities requiring medical service, the cost of medical services to the average family, the ability of the average family to meet such emergencies, the return received by the physician, the number of persons in need of medical service and the work of specially organized facilities for medical care now existing.

It doesn't take much figuring to realize that the family living on less than $2000 a year is hit pretty hard when some accident or illness requires the sudden expenditure of several hundred dollars on doctor bills and hospital fees. Yet around 75 per cent of the population falls into this class.

Headquarters of the committee will be in Washington, in charge of Dr. Harry H. Moore, the committee's director of study.

CHICAGO PLANS NEW AIRPORT TO COST $6,000,000

Chicago.—One of the finest airports in the world, Chicago's new $6,000,000 field fronting on Lake Michigan, apparently has been assigned for construction in the near future.

Action by the city, the Illinois Central railroad and the South Park Board of Chicago has been undertaken to begin construction on Chicago's big aerial prominence this summer.

The movement for the field, started by alarmed business men when the new air-mail service from New York City to the west coast, crystallized rapidly into definite plans that are now in the hands of Mayor William Hale Thompson for final approval.

Within a short driving distance of Chicago's "loop," the new field would provide quick access to passengers and shippers, and a harbor district No. 3 has been selected tentatively as the site for the field, and approval has been given by the United States government, according to Col. E. H. Schultz, resident government engineer.

For Government Approval Final plans will be submitted to the government, including proposals to conduct new approaches to the field, providing it with the maximum of accessibility.

The South Park Board will have complete charge of the field which may be used only for aviation purposes, under provisions of a 1927 enactment of the state legislature.

No business houses or other structures, with the exception of hangars and field housing, will be permitted on the site.

Public hearings will be held before the final plans are drawn. Col. Schultz said, to permit all business men and shippers interested in the field to submit their ideas. There is a possibility that the final specifications may contain ideas new in the field of commercial aviation.

Its tremendous energy stirred to life by the suggestion that Chicago was to be sidetracked in plans for national development facilities. One of the greatest impediments now is the inadequacy of present landing fields to take care of the program which has been laid out for the city. This program includes making Chicago a terminal point in the new plane-rail services from coast to coast and from Chicago southwest and west.

Two viaducts and one subway, to be constructed by the city, form an important part of the program for the new field. These entrances, to be built at considerable cost, will provide the maximum accessibility to the field.

A Supreme Bid Chicago, in the opinion of aviation experts, has made a supreme bid for the nation's air center, by dedicating the ground south of Grant Park as a giant air field.

One new airway proposal has made its appearance within the past ten days here.

The city council voted to petition the United States government to establish an airway from Chicago to Atlanta and on to Miami, Tampa and Jacksonville.

Word that New York had succeeded in obtaining an airway to Atlanta, which is considered in the Chicago sphere, resulted in the vote of the council.

Railroad men and shippers pointed out that New York had gained air entry to a number of southwestern points, to which Chicago also was entitled.

The war for air supremacy between Chicago and New York, now brought into the open by action of New York aerial officials and financiers, has provided the spur, it was believed, which will result in a sudden increase in air transportation within a short time.

Characterized by disinterested observers as a "healthy sign for aviation," the rivalry has become intense, so far as Chicago is concerned.

The next twelve months are expected to witness strides by this city that will far surpass the development of the past few years.

New Haven, Conn., June 21.—Behind a huge canvas screen on the grounds of Peabody Museum of Natural History on Whitney avenue, the museum's staff of taxidermists were today laboring over the carcass of a circus elephant that was shot last evening by a squad of expert riflemen from the Winchester repeating Arms Co. after the elephant went on a rampage. The circus management presented the carcass to the museum to be mounted and placed in the permanent collection there.

DICK BARTHELMSS AT THE STATE TODAY

"Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" is Tense Drama. Lois Moran in Co-Feature.

The news that Richard Barthelmess is here in a new picture is always interesting news. This time it is especially important, for Barthelmess appears in the picture of John Fox, Jr.'s famous novel of the Kentucky Hills, "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come."

The picture is being shown at the State theater tonight, and tomorrow, in conjunction with another big feature.

"The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" provides Barthelmess with one of the finest roles he has ever had—one very similar to his famous and beloved "Tollable David." The story deals with a boy of fourteen in the Kentucky Mountains in Civil War days and of the adventures that befell him there. There is a pretty romance and such action throughout. Molly O'Day plays opposite the star as his mountain sweetheart, and she contributes another of her splendid performances.

Something entirely new in comedy-dramas is promised in "Don't Marry," the associate film feature for tonight and tomorrow. It is a story built on a theme of romance with pretty Lois Moran and handsome Neil Hamilton making an ideal team.

Primarily it is a story of a modern girl who wants to throw off the shackles of her mid-Victorian mind-set, but who, in doing so, falls in love with a practical young man, who almost changes her entire viewpoint on life. Miss Moran, cast as Priscilla Bowen, gives an excellent performance in the dual role of the flapper and the old-fashioned girl. Hamilton, in the role of the stubborn young lover, also comes in for a good share of honors.

Sundays and Monday brings to the State, William Haines in "Telling the World," his latest laughfest.

NO MORE PAY LINES AT THE CHENEY MILLS

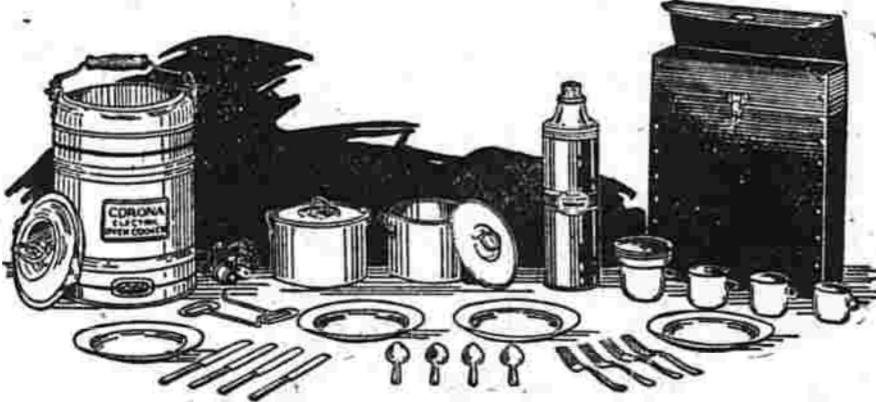

A new method of paying their employees was put in operation by Cheney Brothers throughout the plant this week. Heretofore when the paymaster would go to a department and the employees there would form in a line, according to number, and receive their pay checks. The change makes it unnecessary for them to leave their looms, spinning frames or other power driven machines, as the paymaster walks through the department and hands the pay check to the workers on their jobs.

SCIENTISTS TO GET PETROLEUM FROM SOFT COAL

Pittsburgh.—The recent announcement that the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and the German Dye Trust known as the I. G. Farben Industrie, were about to establish an experimental station jointly in this country for the purpose of developing the process of manufacturing synthetic petroleum from coal, was characterized as "somewhat mystifying" by Dr. Thomas Baker, president of the Carnegie Institute of Technology in an interview here today.

Dr. Baker who organized the first International Conference on Bituminous Coal, which was held at the Institute in 1926, recently returned from Europe where he has been engaged in preparations for the Second International Coal Congress to be held at Carnegie Tech next November.

The announcement of the joint experimental station was mystifying, Dr. Baker stated, insofar as there is confidence that the supply of natural petroleum is insufficient for many years. This, he said, is general and certain.

Look Far Ahead. Presumably, however, Dr. Baker said, the Standard Oil Company is looking far into the future and is preparing itself for any eventualities.

"There is a possibility," he added

"that its plans for research and its engagement with the German Company have to do with studies other than the hydrogenation of coal."

"However," Dr. Baker went on, "it would seem that the Standard Company of New Jersey does not propose to be caught napping, and the establishment of a great research plant may be taken to indicate that the Standard Oil interests have reached the conclusion that the oil industry needs the help of scientific men."

Coal to Oil.

"The American public first became aware that it was possible to turn coal into petroleum at the time of the first Carnegie Coal Congress in 1926 when Dr. Friedrich Bergius, the German scientist, read his paper on the hydrogenation of coal," Dr. Baker stated.

"The war stimulated very greatly the efforts to find a substitute for natural petroleum."

It was not until after the war, however, that the production of synthetic petroleum actually got underway to any extent. The German Dye Trust took over the Bergius patents, modified them some and at the present time the production of synthetic petroleum is being carried out on a large scale.

The manufacture of the new product and the further development of the process is now in the hands of Dr. Carl Krauch, a director of the Dye Trust, according to Dr. Baker. Dr. Krauch will come to the United States next Fall and will be one of the speakers at the Second International Conference on Bituminous Coal next November.

ROADS TO WEIGH U. S. FREIGHT ON FEDERAL SCALE

Washington.—All the 2 1/2 billion tons of freight which is carried on American railroads every year figuratively will be weighed on a single scale in Chicago by the federal government.

Installation of a master railroad scale of remarkable precision in the Chicago Loop district is nearing completion, the Bureau of Standards announced today. Before the end of the summer it will be possible to standardize to the freight cars of the country and to assure purchasers of commodities in carload lots of "honest weight."

Synthetic Weather

Government scientists, engaged in setting up the apparatus, said that its unusual sensitivity will necessitate the production of "synthetic weather" in the scale house. A device has been perfected to maintain an even barometric pressure in the building and it is possible that an all-the-year around temperature of 68 degrees may be essential to defeat the effect of Chicago's wintry blasts and scorching summers.

Despite its ability to take a load of over 120,000 tons, the scale will register to the fraction of the pound. Foreign cars of exactly the same weight material but with a difference in air displacement will register differently.

Chicago was selected as the location of the government's master scale because of its central position and the fact that about 190 rail roads, reaching to every part of the country terminate there.

Testing Crews Out

The Standards Bureau already has a number of scale testing crews operating on the railroads, checking up privately owned weighing apparatus, but the opening of the Chicago plant will mark the first scientific step toward national standardization of railroad cars, officials said.

In its national check of privately owned railroad scales last year the government found 72 per cent were of the accuracy required by regulations. Operation of the official scales in Chicago should mean more than 99 per cent accuracy in freight measurement.

PARIS IS PLAYGROUND FOR CELEBRITIES

By MINOTT SAUNDERS

Paris.—The old saying that if you sit long enough on the sidewalk terrace of the Cafe de la Paix you will meet any friend in the world is now almost true of Americans traveling in Europe. The tourist season is in full swing and nothing about French life so attracts American as the restful sidewalk terrace and the ever interesting tide of human traffic.

But even a better way to find friends and see familiar faces is to stroll along the boulevards during the afternoon and look over those who are sitting at the little tables sipping coffee or light drinks.

The other day a stroll of three blocks revealed Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford in a quiet corner and on a neighboring terrace Adolphe Menjou and his bride, Katharine Carter. And those about them were blissfully unaware of celebrated neighbors. Another movie star who is now here and likes to watch the picture is Nita Naldi.

Elsa Maxwell celebrated her birthday, without telling what birthday it was at a fashionable hotel by having with her friends from the diplomatic service and the nobility.

Her guests included the French ambassador to Vienna, Conte Charles de Chambrun; the Austrian ambassador, Baron Gruenberger; the German ambassador, Dr. Von Hoesch; the Grand Duchess Marie of Russia; and her brother and sister-in-law, Grand Duke Dimitri and Princess Ilinsky, Prince and Princess Andrew of Greece, the Maharajah of Karputhalla and, closer to Americans, Doug and Mary and Noel Coward.

Vincent Astor is in Paris waiting for his new yacht, which is being built in Germany. Although he receives his mail at the Ritz and is frequently seen lunching there with his mother, Lady Ribblesdale, he prefers to live in the modest apartment of a friend in the Palais Royal.

This old neighborhood, with its choicest of kings, queens and the high society of gay days, is anything but up to date. The Astor apartment is on the fourth floor and there is no elevator or telephone service.

Still, there is an atmosphere there that the Ritz cannot supply and Vincent Astor takes great delight in staying there. When he leaves his limousine waiting, the little street of Montpensier is almost completely blocked.

Houston Pushes Convention Plans; Hall Near Ready; Hotels Problem

Houston, Texas.—With the National Foreign Trade convention off its hands, Houston has plunged into further preparations for the largest meeting of its history—the Democratic National Convention.

Upholding the tradition of Southern hospitality, local arrangements committees are overlooking nothing to provide every comfort for the 100,000 delegates and visitors expected from all parts of the United States.

The $200,000 convention hall, with a 25,000 seating capacity and the most perfect acoustics of any building of its kind in the world, is rapidly nearing completion and will be ready long before June 26.

Jessie H. Jones, the Texan who astounded the country a few months ago by landing the first Democratic conclave for the South since the Civil War, is personally directing the local arrangements.

New hotels are being rushed to completion to help care for the crowds expected during the convention, and thousands of rooming houses, apartments and private homes will be thrown open to the delegates if necessary.

Galveston An Attraction
Galveston, 50 miles away, with additional hotel facilities and the finest bathing beach in the world, will be drawn near to the convention through fast interurban service, street cars and bus lines running between the two cities.

Mayor Oscar Holcombe has launched a vigorous campaign to rid the city of undesirable characters during the Democratic convention, and the city health department in directing a clean-up and home-beautiful drive over the city.

More than $25,000 has been spent in the last seven weeks in the East End alone, residential section of the middle class, in cleaning up and beautifying.

The convention hall, which already is proving a showplace to out of town visitors is 315 feet long and 333 feet wide. The greatest interior height from the floor to the dome will be 58 feet.

Seats on the main floor will accommodate approximately 10,000 persons. There will be room on the speaker's platform for 300 and for 120 more in the speaker's boxes. Near the speaker's platform will be 596 desks for newspapermen and press association representatives.

Thirty-four American eagles will decorate the roof. A picture of Woodrow Wilson will cover the side panels. Among the decorative effects will be Texas stars, grills and fan-shaped signs and festoons made of wood.

Radio and Phones
Another feature will be two sound-proof plate glass radio announcer's cages, one on either side of the speaker's platform. Fifty-eight telephone booths are being installed and 20 additional booths equipped with desks.

A private exchange connected to telephone is being established for the exclusive use of the sergeant at arms, the secretary of the Democratic National Committee and his committee.

More than 100 telegraph operators will work on the network of wires at the convention hall, sending out 1,000,000 words of news daily on the convention to private parties and newspapers of the world.

The convention hall is a frame structure and probably will be torn down within a few years after the convention to make room for the city's civic center projects.

In addition to the convention hall, the Democrats will have access to the city auditorium which has a seating capacity of 5000, utilized for committee meetings and conferences.

Hotel reservations indicate that the town will be unable to accommodate the crowd if the convention lasts a week.

The Houston Chamber of Commerce is making every effort, however, to list enough rooming houses, spare rooms and the like to care for any emergency.

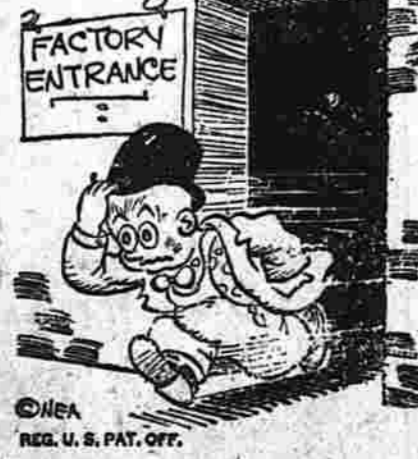

"Co-operation between business men and university officials has developed the new practice, which has shed its garb of pedantry," the secretary pointed out. "The result of that co-operation has been a broadening of the university. Educators have come to realize that no one department is sufficient for a study of social problems, and that social problems are one of the most important studies for universities.

"All departments of the institution are now co-operating, Haynes said, has been shown by establishment of three new branches of the University of Chicago. They are the institute of meat packing, the bureau of business research and the school of commerce and illustration.

Problems in banking, or problems in ethics can be studied with equal ease in the loop, educators of the University believe. Such questions as "Should Women Work?" or "Should Married Women Help Support the Family?" or "Are the Living Standards of the Nation Becoming Lower," questions in which sociology and business are entwined would be readily available for study to the students, and the average citizen.

swers they found would be of value to business, Haynes said. "Chicago is just coming of age in social sciences, for it has reached the stage of trying to learn exactly what is true.

"When scientists experiment, they are entering the greatest stage of evolution in the study of social sciences. They are proving for themselves the truth or fallacy of maxims that have been accepted for years, and they are working out laws of vital aid to business."

An Amazing Public Tribute!

- two thousand carloads of General Electric Refrigerators delivered to users since April first

The General Electric Refrigerator has now been on the market just one year. From the day it was first announced, it was accepted by the public with truly amazing enthusiasm.

Since April first, more than 2000 carloads have been delivered to American homes. This is a gratifying tribute to the General Electric Refrigerator—a true achievement in electrical engineering. It is the worthy product of the Research Laboratories of the world's largest electrical manufacturer.

Nine factories working at top speed

The tremendous demand for these "years ahead" refrigerators has made it necessary to increase production again and again—just as rapidly as is consistent with General Electric standards of quality. Now nine factories are working at top speed to take care of the increasing volume of business.

Just as soon as each refrigerator has passed its many rigid tests, it is shipped to a waiting customer. We are assured by the factories that all orders now on file will be filled within the next few weeks

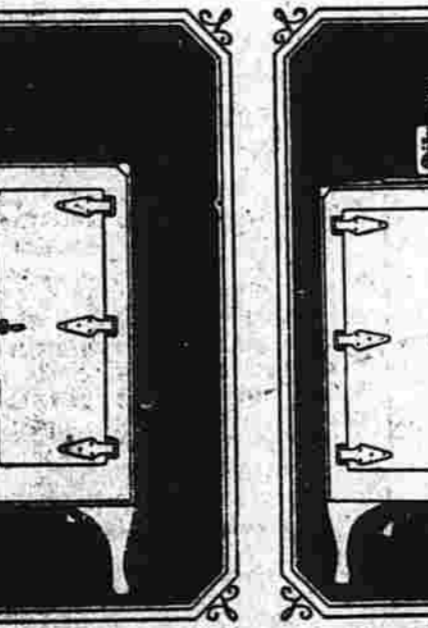

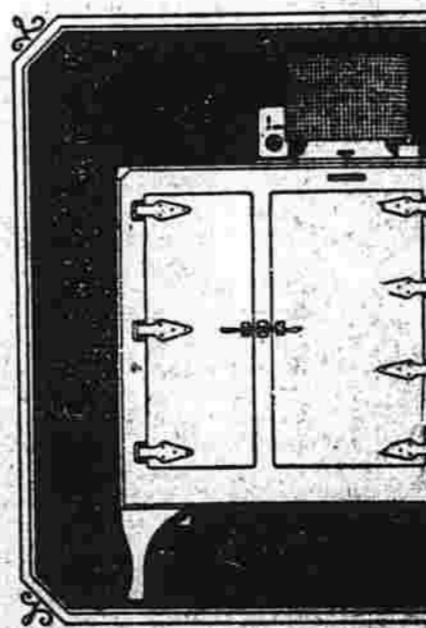

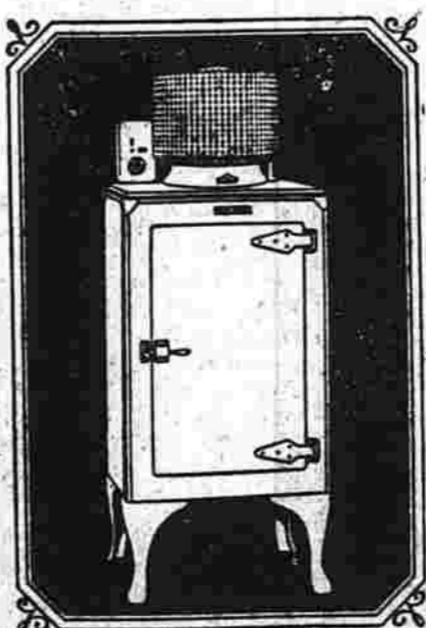

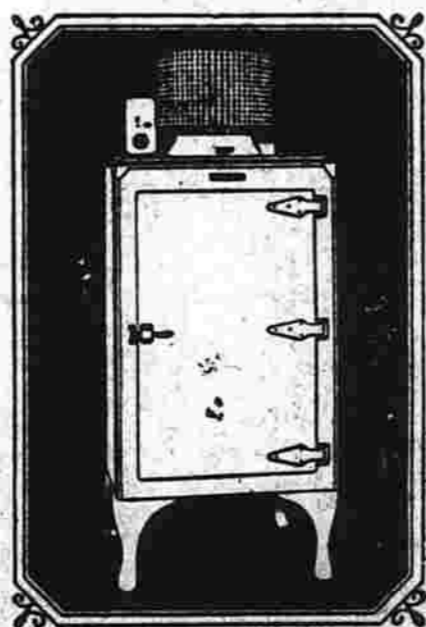

We suggest that you place your order now

If you are planning to purchase a refrigerator this summer, we strongly advise you to come in at once and place your order. Then you will be sure of having your refrigerator just as soon as you are ready for it.

The first 100,000 discriminating American women to choose this revolutionary refrigerator have been its best advertisers. They have pronounced it unusually quiet, economical in operation, easy to keep clean and worry-proof. It is their verdict which, in a large measure, is responsible for this hearty nation-wide acceptance!

GENERAL ELECTRIC Refrigerator

The General Electric Refrigerator is entirely different from all others. All its mechanism is safety-locked away, on top, in an airtight steel casing.

These refrigerators are unusually quiet, automatic, and they never need oiling. They are made and guaranteed by General Electric.

GRADUATION

In Manchester, as in every other town and city in these United States at this time of the year, a group of young men and women, completing what has no doubt seemed to them several laborious years of study, are being graduated from high school.

All sorts of sermons, advice and admonition are being handed to such young folk. They stand, they are told with much solemnity, at the threshold of life. What that life is to contain for them depends on themselves. They may go on and upward, building for themselves shining careers and attaining to fame and riches, or they may slip down into mediocrity and failure—all according to the degree of effort they put forth and the seriousness with which they regard the future.

In these conventional admonitions this newspaper does not feel called on to join. Rather would we admit, in more or less confidential parley with these youngsters, that we are not at all sure about there being any guarantees of rewards commensurate to strivings, for all or any of them. Rather would we confide in these boys and girls the suspicion that, in the time of their coming on this earthly stage, they were a little out of luck. They were too late to either participate in the Big Show or to understandingly witness it; and they were just in time to get the worst of its effects.

This year's high school graduates are of precisely the right age to have suffered all the worst effects of the Great War and precisely the wrong age to have received any of its benefits. Their formative boyhood and girlhood developed in the midst of an era of extravagance, economic, spiritual and ethical, such as the country has never before known. They came to consciousness of the world while the world was in a highly hysterical and artificial state. They had and have yet had extraordinarily little opportunity to experience certain realities of life that have been inseparable from existence for ninety-nine hundredths of the world's history—and which it is inevitable much sooner or later be faced again.

If we were called on to give a word of advice to a high school graduating class at this time we are quite sure that we should not recommend the hitching of their wagons to too distant stars. We should not say to them: "You can all be rich and important and sit on the top of the world if you only set yourself sufficiently high objectives and refuse to accept anything but the best at the hands of Fate." Because we believe that to be twaddle, and it is unfair and wicked to talk twaddle to high school graduates.

Rather should we be old-fashioned enough to say something like this: This is a very beautiful world, and the closer range at which it is seen the more beautiful it is. If you fly to a star to view it, it will be nothing but a speck; if you stay close enough to the ground to watch the ants and see the anemones, it is a lovely thing. Men and women and boys and girls are the most interesting things in all the beautiful world—but you can't tell one from the other or learn anything about them, from the distance of the star; you've got to live on the plane of your fellow beings.

This business of getting up high is all well enough, but aspiring to climb farther than the strength of your body or the steadiness of your brain warrants leads to tumbles and to misery.

Keep your feet on the ground; make your fellow beings the center of your interest—and above all realize that in all this world there is no fun comparable to the consciousness of having done a job of work as well as anyone else could do it, be it no more than the digging of a ditch or the baking of a batch of biscuit. There is no source of happiness to compare with the institution of work, willingly and skillfully done—and it makes no great odds what its nature. Don't let yourself be kidded into the fallacy that the thing to do is to dodge the natural function of mankind.

IN A PICKLE

What the nomination of Hoover and the rejection of the McNary-Haugen equalization fee plan by the Republican platform makers have done to the Democratic party is plenty. They have resulted in the determination of a little group of professional farm-woe mourners to go to the Houston convention with a promise that the agricultural states will bolt to the Democracy if the convention will only adopt a farm relief plank endorsing the equalization fee. Already there are influential Democrats who are sniffing at this bait. And already the Eastern Democratic papers are having conniptions for fear the convention will be crazy enough to swallow it, thus completely destroying whatever shadow of chance the Democratic candidate, presumably Al Smith, may have had of carrying two or three Eastern states.

Two or three weeks ago, when there was no absolute certainty that the Republican nomination might not go to Lowden or Dawes or Watson or some unconsidered compromise candidate, the shadow of Al Smith lay somewhat darkly across the path of the G. O. P. But with Hoover at the ticket's head and the terror of the "farm revolt" scotched, the situation is tremendously altered. The New York World, sound Jeffersonian Democrat as it is, is obviously in despair over the combination of Republican strength and Democratic incoherence as to party principles, for it declares that if the Democrats are to play for the disgruntled wheat and corn farmers, necessarily straddling the prohibition question and depending on making a noise over "Republican corruption six years old" and on abusing Herbert Hoover as an Englishman, then Al Smith isn't the candidate they want, but Jim Reed.

And even a Republican or a Republican newspaper need not apologize for feeling the same way about it—that as decent and bright a fellow as Al Smith, even if nowhere near the equal of Herbert Hoover as a Presidential potentiality, is too good to be sacrificed on the semi-idiotic platform which is being advocated for adoption at Houston. Such a platform is no place for an honest man and a candid one. It is exactly the right kind of a platform for a Jim Reed. He would probably be able to carry the state of Missouri and most of the solid south. Which is more than Smith could do if he tried to ride the equalization fee horse.

GLORIOUS SACRIFICE

If Noble should be rescued and Amundsen lost there would have transpired a tragedy with as heretic a motif as any conceived by Shakespeare or by Greek stagecraft.

Companions in the Norge's flight across the Pole, these two became estranged and mutually critical, exchanging verbal buffets before the eyes of the world in which the feelings of neither were spared by the other.

Yet no sooner had the fate of the Italia and the desperate situation of her commander and his little group of followers become known than the gnarled veteran of the Arctic instantly volunteered for rescue work. Fifty-six years old, he flew away from Tromsø on Monday with the French pilot Gullbaud as valourously as any intrepid youth of half his age. And now the silences of the great ice world have swallowed them.

So little did they tell of their plans, aside from the patent fact that they were going to seek Noble, that the problem of finding them, if they are still alive in the vast solitudes, is infinitely more complicated and less likely to succeed than the rescue of Noble and his men.

"Greater love hath no man than this that a man lay down his life for his friends." But greatest of all when he has conceived his friend to be his enemy.

All the world is tense with hope that knotty old Amundsen has not been called to lay down the life which he so unhesitatingly risked for the man whom he had fought.

SHRINKING

According to all accounts Miss Amelia Earhart, first woman to cross the Atlantic in the air, is of quite a different type from some of the female stunts who have leaped into the public vision in the last few years. Not only does Miss Earhart declare that she is not going to capitalize her experience and her fame through stage or picture engagements but she actually protests, in what appears to be all sincerity, that she is being made unhappy by being touted in England as the heroine of the fight when, as a matter of fact, she had nothing to do with it except to ride in a plane managed by two men, who are being ignored.

Yet what could she have expected? Possessing some experience of the human animal, she ought to have been able to foretell exactly what would happen if her plane got across. The London plane, in raising a furore over the girl and totally snubbing the men, followed mass psychology very precisely. Other men have crossed the ocean by air. No other woman had done so. Ergo, she is the whole show, as she was bound to be.

No doubt Miss Earhart is quite honest in saying she wishes she could be let alone to go quietly about the job of viewing those features of London in which she, as a newcomer, is most interested. But it is always true that she could have done that, very nicely, by going to Europe in the tourist cabin of a liner.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK MCCOY

Dr. McCoy will gladly answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Herald. Enclose stamped addressed large envelope for reply.

ENERGY FROM THE SUN

All of our energy comes from the sun. Most of our muscular force comes from the food we eat. This we obtain from plants or from animals which feed upon plants, and plants require the sunshine to grow and to store food material. Only plants have the property of using the radiant energy in such a way that they convert carbon dioxide into carbohydrates, and absorb nitrogen from the soil.

Not only the energy in our food comes from the sun, but every force in the world, such as burning coal, exploding gasoline, and electricity, can all be traced to the sun's forces.

The most astounding effect of the sun is its effect on plants. Plants have been experimentally grown one season without sunlight, and even though during the succeeding season they are exposed to the direct rays of the sun, most species will become extinct in four generations.

The sun also affects the human body. "We have in a slight degree some ability to use the sun's rays directly in much the same manner that the plant does. A lack of sunlight will produce a lessened number of red corpuscles and a lack of coagulation in the blood. A lack of sunlight also causes an increase in the fluid parts of the body and in the white blood cells, producing diseases known as leukemia and anemia.

The sun's rays also aid in our assimilation of calcium and some fatty substances. The treatment of sunbathing is especially recommended in anemia, tuberculosis, rickets, asthma, catarrh, chronic tonsillitis, nephritis and diabetes. One of the handicaps of modern civilization is that we have emphasized the idea of modesty to such an extent that we wear too much clothing. Consequently, these life-giving rays of the sun are completely shut off from our bodies except on the face and hands. Physicians have attempted to produce an artificial light which can be applied to the nude body. This light produces ultra-violet rays, and has been attended with some success, but the most satisfactory results come from using the direct sunlight, since there seems to be some unknown energy in the sunlight that is lacking in the chemical ultra-violet rays.

When taking a sunbath, either in the nude or at the beach, one should always bear in mind the fact that an overdose of these rays is injurious. Most people have the mistaken belief that if a little sunshine is good, a great deal will be better. Sunshine is of course very dangerous as the pores become so swollen and injured by the burn that proper elimination of poisons from the body cannot take place. Be careful not to be sunburned today because this is the longest day in the year.

A small amount of sunburn likewise affects the body in a non-toxic manner. Even the faintest glow on the skin is injurious as long as it lasts. It is therefore much better to measure your sunbath so as to produce an increasing tan each time over several exposures than to try to become tanned through the effects of only one or two sunbaths.

The tanning of the skin, or the sunburn, cannot in themselves be beneficial. The only helpful thing about a sunbath is the absorption of the ultra-violet rays by the blood. The sunbather is trying to protect himself against too much sunlight to which it has not been accustomed. The darkening of the skin therefore acts as a protection against the ultra-violet rays so that the time of each exposure must be increased day by day in order to get the same benefit.

Question: Mrs. O. J. writes: "No matter how much work I do, I do not seem able to perspire. Also, I suffer a great deal from rheumatism."

Answer: Those who have any kind of rheumatism always have difficulty in perspiring. I believe this is due to the rheumatic toxemia which seems to poison the body to such an extent that the pores of the skin do not open freely. If you will get rid of your rheumatic poisons through dieting and increasing the health of your skin by frequent bathing, you will soon find that you will begin to perspire freely. When copious sweating finally starts, it is a sure sign that you have reduced your rheumatic diathesis and you will be well on the road to recovery.

Question: S. G. asks: "Would you suggest the orange fast for a growth on the spine under the intestines?"
Answer: An orange juice fast is always indicated in the treatment of any abnormal growth where an operation is not advisable. If the growth is not out, it must be absorbed and eliminated through the blood stream. Fasting relieves the body of the burden of assimilation and the building of tissues, and gives the body forces more chance to eliminate toxins or any abnormal growths.

LEVERAGE

Mrs. F. I just heard an awful story about your husband.
Mrs. C.: Do tell me. I need a new dress.—Answers.

New York, June 21.—Some years ago a herd of Manhattan's "trained seals"—as they term special writers—found themselves in Shelby, Montana, with a lot of time on their hands, thanks to an approaching world's championship fight.

Those with memories for such things will recall that they found a certain Patricia Salmon appearing in a tent show and conspired to get the youngster a chance on Broadway. And so it befell that, in the course of time, Patricia left the tent show world behind and was wearing her 10-gallon western hat back of the big-time footlights. After that came a vaudeville engagement and one thing or another.

Very well! The other night I dropped in on the dance derby, which is the terpsichorean equivalent of the cross-country bunton race. One of the first starters was Fatsy Salmon. If she wins, she's back in the big lights again for her little hour. There's no beacon, it would seem, that casts a more alluring glare than the spotlight.

Milton Crandell, who conducted these derbies from California to Maine, is a sort of C. C. Pyle on the dance world. And he tells me that when it comes to rhythmic punishment, you have to get away from the big cities. The small-town girls are true daughters of their barn dancing. For instance, Marlon Jacques, the national title holder, comes from Elkins, West Virginia.

A group of wisecrackers were talking about a certain Ritzly estate on Long Island. "Why, it's so Ritzly," said one, "that if you're worth less than $100,000 and are caught on the grounds they'll arrest you for vagrancy."

The get-rich-quick chorine of this particular season is one "Donna Rosa." After a three-year struggle in the chorus someone gave her a General Motors tip in the days when tips were worth money. She staked her small earnings "on margin" and let the winnings "ride" from day to day. When the boom was over she was worth nearly a quarter of a million. She was sailing for Europe when I saw her for the first time the other day—a member of Ruth Elder's party. Let's see, what was it Ruth Elder did?

A walter in one of the mid-Forty covert charge palaces has turned out to be an embryo author who has been doing this work that he might have a chance to study typewriting. He has a notebook filled with quick verbal sketches, most of which, I am told, are not exactly flattering.

Last winter the janitor of the apartment house wherein this writer dwells turned out to be a young artist who refused to surrender to "commercialized drawing." The door boy at the Waldorf Astoria turned out to be a student for the ministry. The liveried gent who guards the portals of the Paramount theater turned out to be the forthcoming husband of a banker's daughter in Bloomingdale, and was painting pictures in his odd hours. The taxi driver who drove me to a movie opening the other night turned out to be a student of music making his way.

I daily expect the office boy to turn out to be the long-lost Charlie Ross. Or perhaps they're all Lon Chaney.

The get-rich-quick chorine of this particular season is one "Donna Rosa." After a three-year struggle in the chorus someone gave her a General Motors tip in the days when tips were worth money. She staked her small earnings "on margin" and let the winnings "ride" from day to day. When the boom was over she was worth nearly a quarter of a million. She was sailing for Europe when I saw her for the first time the other day—a member of Ruth Elder's party. Let's see, what was it Ruth Elder did?

A group of wisecrackers were talking about a certain Ritzly estate on Long Island. "Why, it's so Ritzly," said one, "that if you're worth less than $100,000 and are caught on the grounds they'll arrest you for vagrancy."

Those with memories for such things will recall that they found a certain Patricia Salmon appearing in a tent show and conspired to get the youngster a chance on Broadway. And so it befell that, in the course of time, Patricia left the tent show world behind and was wearing her 10-gallon western hat back of the big-time footlights. After that came a vaudeville engagement and one thing or another.

Very well! The other night I dropped in on the dance derby, which is the terpsichorean equivalent of the cross-country bunton race. One of the first starters was Fatsy Salmon. If she wins, she's back in the big lights again for her little hour. There's no beacon, it would seem, that casts a more alluring glare than the spotlight.

Milton Crandell, who conducted these derbies from California to Maine, is a sort of C. C. Pyle on the dance world. And he tells me that when it comes to rhythmic punishment, you have to get away from the big cities. The small-town girls are true daughters of their barn dancing. For instance, Marlon Jacques, the national title holder, comes from Elkins, West Virginia.

HEBRON

The second day of the vacation school held at the Congregational church opened with 47 pupils in attendance. 34 were present at the first day's session, all being from Gilead and Hebron Center. The Rev. John Deeter, pastor of the Hebron and Gilead Churches opened the first day's session with a bible story and there were songs in chorus. Mrs. Robert E. Foote was leader on the second day, and gave a pleasing talk to the children. The motto chosen by the pupils for the two weeks is "Helping Others." Teachers for the different classes are the Rev. John Deeter, who besides bible study gives instruction in brass working; Mrs. Deeter, teaching basketry; Miss Edna Latham, Miss Helen Hough, Mrs. R. E. Foote, Miss Ruth Ellis, and Mrs. Roger W. Porter. Each day's sessions begin and close with a march.

Dr. Benjamin H. Bissell president of St. Peter's School, has arrived here for the summer. He made the trip by motor across the continent from Los Angeles, Cal. in eight days. He spent a little time in New York and Brooklyn as the guest of friends. His sister, Miss Mary Bissell has returned to Mexico City. She spent the winter with her brother in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Broome and family of South Lancaster, Mass., were week-end guests at the home of Mr. Broome's father, in Hopewale.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Slater and son Walter, of Norwich, were week-end guests at the home of Representative and Mrs. Ames W. Sisson.

Donald Coates is spending the summer in Maine.

Miss Gladys Broome was home from Hartford for a day recently, spent at her father's home in Hopewale.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Higgins of East Hartford were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. William Woodward and their daughters, Marion and Lona, also George Pabel, spent a day recently in Middletown.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. White of New Haven are spending a two weeks' vacation with Mr. White's aunts, Miss Adelle White and Mrs. Amanda Potter.

Mr. and Mrs. Worthington of Moodus were recent callers on friends on Jones street. Mrs. Worthington was formerly Miss Doris Jones.

Mrs. Clara E. Hamner, Mrs. C. D. Way, both of Gilead, and Mrs. Frank Hills of Windsor, were recent guests of Mrs. Helen White.

Word has been received that the Rev. J. H. Fitzgerald of Bay Ridge, N. Y., has left the hospital where he was recently operated on for appendicitis. He will spend a few days this week at the home of his mother, Mrs. Helen Fitzgerald, and his sister, Mrs. Lewis W. Phelps, in Andover. An error in this column recently caused it to appear that the prospective bride, Miss Gertrude Sexton, of New Haven, whose marriage to the Rev. Mr. Fitzgerald will take place June 30, was the bridegroom's victim instead of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Clarence E. Porter was present in Hartford on Tuesday at the wedding ceremony which took place at St. Augustine's church at 9 a. m., when her friend Miss Marie Doherty and Ernest Augsten were united in marriage. A wedding reception followed at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Augsten on their return from their wedding trip will make their home in Hartford on Asylum street.

NEARLY 2,000 DEGREES ARE GIVEN BY HARVARD

Cambridge, Mass., June 21.—Bringing to a close its 292nd year, Harvard University today conferred 1,894 degrees in course.

Highest scholastic distinction in Harvard college, that of winning the A. B., or S. B., degree summa cum laude, was shared by Israel S. Stamm, Norwich, Conn., Edgar M. Hoover J., Boise, Idaho, Wladimir S. Seidel, New York City and Russell T. Sharpe, East Greenwich, R. I. The Fay diploma, the highest honor in the law school went to Erwin N. Griswold, of Cleveland, O., the second man to graduate from that school, summa cum laude.

Of the 1894 degrees in course awarded today 659 went to undergraduates in Harvard college, 506 receiving the degree of Bachelor of Arts (165 with honors, and 153 that of Bachelor of Science (39 with honors). About one-third, or over 50 per cent of those graduating in Harvard college received honors in studies.

Championship Of U. S. In Golf Is At Stake

World's Greatest Players Start Today at Olympic Fields, Ill.—Jones and Hagen the Favorites.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

Olympic Fields, Ill., June 21.—Golf's greatest drama, in which even fate itself is a puppet, will be presented at its inevitable succession of climaxes on Olympia's enigmatic Number Four course this morning. The occasion will be the open championship of the United States, beginning with 18 holes today and tomorrow and ending with 36 on Saturday, in toto, 72 holes of agony to the men who must play them, suffer the torture that only a golfer's competitive soul knows and still live on.

For this is an event in which only one prize is worthy of the toll exacted and that prize is victory. The greatest golfers the world over—Bobby Jones, the incomparable; Walter Hagen, master showman and master shot maker; Archie Compston, England's best; Aubrey Rufe Stewart, Australian—will seek that prize through the long, strained miles of fairway and he who goes on to the ultimate reward can lay just claim to world domination. The man who wins this championship will be a man who can win any other. There will be none to say him nay.

Finest Field.

By long odds, the starting field today will be the finest ever assembled in all the history of golf. Not a single factor of international moment is missing from the lists. Jones, greatest of the great, will try to retrieve his defeat at Oakmont last year. Hagen will be seeking to add the American title to the British championship he won so sensationally at Sandwich. Tommy Armour will be trying to defend the title that became his at the Oakmont meeting. Compston and Boomer will be there to furnish the most serious foreign gesture since the days of Vardon and Ray. Gene Sarazen, Chick Evans, Johnny Farrell, Harry Cooper, George von Elm, Willie MacFarland, Mac Donald Smith, Bill Mehlhorn, Joe Turnesa, Barnes, Diegel, Hutchison, Nabholz, Bob MacDonald—one could call a roll through linksland's Who's Who and perhaps fail to do justice to the class of this event. It fairly reeks of royalty.

Jones and Hagen.

Jones and Hagen were the stand-out choices as the field of some 145 assembled at the club house this morning. Farrell, Compston, Sarazen, and Mac Smith also were spoken of with some favor but the fact remained that any one of a dozen men might win without calling for a Congressional vote of good faith.

Nothing in brief, was certain about the identity of the final winner. As a matter of fact, there seemed to be only one certainty and that was that Olympic Fields was not a court for low scoring. It wasn't supposed to be a Jones course at all, in that it was said to stress accuracy on short approach shots; which seldom see Jones at his best. But Bobby obliged with a 70 the other day and it was no secret this morning that he expected to average four rounds of about 73 for a total of 292. It was a foregone conclusion that 290 wouldn't be broken.

Recent rains had left the course rather heavy and the slowing up of those billiard table greens was expected to be a boon to Jones, in that he could play his niblic pitches more boldly. The lengthening of many holes especially for this tournament also served to give the great Atlantian a chance to take due advantage of his tremendous shots through the fairway. However, the condition of the course was almost equally favorable to Hagen, Sarazen, Compston and other public choices.

What We Think In Sports

By THOMAS W. STOWL

INELIGIBILITY

Yesterday's news that Manchester High school had forfeited its claim to the 1928 baseball championship of the Central-Connecticut Interscholastic League no doubt was received with great surprise by many Herald readers. The effort of the school team to win such a coveted honor as a tie with West Hartford, has all gone to naught because certain players on the team saw fit to play with outside organized teams. This is one of the most important and best known rules included in the athletic code adopted by the majority of high schools in the state. The boys who violated the rules were fully aware of the violation they were making and should have known better.

However, after all is said, both pro and con, relative to the improper action taken by the boys, there is something else that should not be overlooked. That is the willingness of the officials responsible for the outside teams to allow these boys to play on their teams. They, too, knew, or at least, should have known, that it was a violation to cause these boys to play with outside teams. At least one of them helped conceal matters by changing the names in the lineups so that the violation would not be discovered. It seems to me that they are at least equally to blame for what has happened.

Of course, this is not the first time that any player at the local school has violated the eligibility rule, but it is the first time that such a violation has been discovered in a long time. Coming as it does so soon after the recent kick Manchester High made against William in basketball, however, the mixup cannot help but cause much discussion.

All of which draws attention to the fact that the only commendable action in connection with the affair is the speedy manner in which local school officials washed their hands off the matter. Instead of waiting until some other school discovered the violation, which probably would never be materialized, Principal C. P. Quimby, Faculty Manager E. M. Bailey and Coach T. F. Kelley, conducted a rigid investigation of the whole matter immediately upon hearing the first rumors. When they discovered the truth of the matter, they were not in the least reluctant to expose the matter. They played the game on the square and kept sportsmanship above all.

the pictures of that Chicago fight, and get the opinion that the champion is an ingrate if he doesn't put a thin dime or so into the poor-box every time he sees 'em.

Another ambitious champion is Tommy Loughran, with Lomski and Slatery knocking at the door. He hasn't even time for a little Shakespeare.

Oh, yes, about those Chicago pictures. On evenings when Tom Heeney feels a little depressed, a little not-so-sure-of-himself, Charley Harvey ought to show Thomas that seventh round a couple of times.

PHILLIES IMPROVE AS DAYS ADVANCE

Win Seven Out of Nine Last Games—Playing Wonderful Ball.

New York, June 21.—Mr. Hoover is not the only Quaker who is grabbing the spotlight these days. About two dozen of Will Baker's hirelings, the Phillies, have been miraculously transformed from a bunch of misfits into a mighty tough ball club.

The once pulverized but now powerful Phils have topped seven of their last nine starts (proof will be furnished upon receipt of self-addressed stamped envelope) and have packed up their percentage more than 120 points in the last ten days. They are playing better ball than any club in the league outside of the Cardinals and are within striking distance of seventh place. Several of the G. A. R. members on the club got the sack today and the movie house evidently have decided that they had better start earning their pay checks pronto.

Yesterday the Phils spanked Brooklyn again, 6 to 2. Don Hurst walked off his sixth homer in eight games.

With Haines on the mound, the Cardinals increased their lead over Cincinnati to four games by smothering the Cubs, 6 to 2. Old Ep Rixey of the Reds lost a 2 to 1 duel to Ray Kremer of Pittsburgh.

After knocking Herb Pennock out of the box and whipping the Yankees, 10 to 5, the Athletics were stopped by George Pipgras in the second game of a twin bill. Pip held the A's to four hits and recorded his twelfth victory by a nine to three score. A homer by Grabowski with two on broke up the game.

Garland Braxton, Washington southpaw, limited the Red Sox to four hits and whitewashed them 5 to 0. The Nats are almost back in the first division.

Cleveland and Chicago halved a double bill. McCurdy's homer with the bases jammed gave the Sox the opener, 6 to 4. George Grant, Cleveland rookie, hung up his fifth straight victory when the Indians grabbed the nightcap, 4 to 3.

Rain stopped the other teams.

OLYMPIC HOPES

Penn State officials regard their star distance runner, W. J. "Bill" Cox, almost a sure thing for the 1928 Olympics. He specializes in the mile and two-mile events, and has made some great records as a cross-country runner.

He gave the outstanding performance of the harrier season by winning the six-mile Eastern Intercollegiate cross-country run in New York in 30 minutes 36.8 seconds. This beat Willie Ritola's record. Three days after this race, he ran third in a 9 1/2 mile race in Berwick, Pa. Cox won the mile run in 4.21.2 at the I. C. A. A. A. meet at Philadelphia in 1927, and finished second in the same event at Harvard this year. He also won the indoor championship in March, 1927, with a mark of 4 minutes 18.6 seconds.

Cecil Walker Wins Title Sprint Series At 'Drome

Cecil Walker of Australia won the United States championship sprint race at the Hartford Velodrome last night beating his fellow-countryman in the finals. The sprints were marked by sensational finishes. Harris Horder, Reggie McNamara and Bobby Walthour, three of the greatest riders in the country, were eliminated in the trial heats. The special twenty mile motor paced race between Dan Pischioni and Frank Keenan was won by the former in two straight heats, the first close and the second one-sided.

Among the large crowd, were many Manchester bike fans. George Olds of this town did the announcing and his voice carried quite clearly all over the spacious saucer.

TENNIS TALKS—Volleying Game Needed by Stars

By George M. Lott, Jr.

ARTICLE 14

The best tennis players in the game today are volleyers. Very seldom do we find first-flight players who do not force matters by going to the net. You will notice that when the going gets close both men will be battling for the net.

The volley is a chop, but the ball is hit on the fly before it bounces. There is little time for a follow through, as it is necessary to jump back into position quickly. The volley is only a short, quick punch. There are two types of volleyers, as exemplified by Vincent Richards and "Little Bill" Johnston. Richards is not a decisive volleyer in that he does not win the point on his first shot unless he has a set-up. His winner is usually scored on the third and sometimes fourth volley. Richards puts his first volley to one of the corners in order to put the other man on the defense and the second shot goes to the opposite corner. His volleys are so accurate that the third return is usually so weak that he is able to put it away with little difficulty.

"Little Bill" on the other hand, is the exact opposite. His first volley generally ends things so fast and accurate it is as if he put the shot into which ever corner is open. This style of play takes marvelous timing.

The volleying game should not be attempted until the ground strokes are mastered as it is futile to go to the net unless you are in behind a forcing shot.

FORMER STARS TO TAKE PART IN GAME AT WEST SIDE FIELD TOMORROW NIGHT AT 6.15 SHARP

Sports Forum LETTERS WELCOMED Sign Name and Address

To The Sports Editor:

Allow me, a South End baseball fan, to express what I consider is a good move on the part of the Community Club in transferring its twilight games to the West Side playgrounds and my reason for so thinking.

In the first place, it will give the people living in South Manchester an opportunity to see what a strong baseball team has been gathered to represent the Community Club and will, without doubt, be of financial benefit to the team. While it is a North End team, as far as the early backing is concerned, the time, in my opinion, has arrived when there should be no sectional sentiment and the Community team being the best team in town, should have the whole town behind it.

By playing the games on the West Side playgrounds a much better playing field is offered and it will also make it possible to finish the seven innings of the game, with plenty of daylight left. The woods that cut off the sinking sun at Hickey's Grove will not be encountered at the West Side grounds and if the crowds that turned out to see the games played there each time in the old industrial league, present half the numbers at the game there Friday and in the future, it will be for the financial success of the venture also.

Yours in Sport,
W. S. F.

Tommy Sipples to Pitch Against Kensington in Twilight State League Contest; Big Crowd Expected.

Coach Jerry Fay announced this morning that he had signed three new players on his Community Club baseball league team and that they will be in uniform tomorrow night in the state league twilight game over at the West Side oval against Kensington.

The new additions are two members of the former Manchester Club and another from the ranks of the old Atlas team. The former pair are Kelnhart "Punk" Lamprecht, catcher, and Sammy Kotsch, outfielder. The latter is Sher Robb, who just graduated from Grove City University University last week. He is a first baseman and will split up with Jim McLaughlin. The other two will play at least part of the game in their respective positions.

Coach Fay expects that the addition of these three players will fortify his team both offensively and defensively. He also announced that Tommy Sipples will start on the firing line for the Community with Lefty Buckland and Charlie Weber both in reserve in case Sipples' arm should bother him.

In the Kensington lineup are such well known players as Al Hubbard, Scrimminger and Carrol. The game will mark the first appearance of the Community Club at the south end and will also be the first big baseball game at the West Side field this season. Whether or not the state league games will be continued there, depends entirely on the support given by the fans.

Ralph Russell will be behind the plate with Bill Brennan on bases. Play will start at 6:15 sharp.

TRY TO HIDE DEFEAT BY TEARING UP SCORE

The following interesting account of a junior baseball game played at the Heights' Field Tuesday tells of one team tearing up the scorebook because it was getting defeated. It was submitted by the Robins:

The Robins defeated the Heights Juniors for the second time, the scores being 13-3 and 14-2. The Heights showed poor sportsmanship by tearing up the score sheet. Barbrilla of the Heights played poor baseball.

Ernest Viot who pitched last night's game allowed 3 hits. Willie Gordon and Jerry Lovett were the big guns for the Robins. Southpaw Stone was given poor support by the Heights.

Score by innings:

Robins	700 321 1-14

Every night, after dividing a busy day between heavy literature and light training, Professor Tunney goes to the movies. In his camp at Speculator, N. Y. Pictures of Tom Heeney's previous fights are flashed on the screen.

THIS IS BELIEVED THE FIRST TIME ON RECORD THAT A HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION HAS "SCOUTED" HIS ADVERSARY. THIS PRIZE-FIGHTING BUSINESS IS GETTING TO BE ALMOST AS SERIOUS A RACKET AS COLLEGE EDUCATION.

American league teams all should hire movie operators. Every night, instead of the hearty game in the lobby, the pitchers could watch Babe Ruth lamming them, could learn and could feel just a little glad that it was only a movie after all.

"OLD GOLD'S smoothness," says Tommy Armour....

"is what won me in the blindfold test!"

"I know, after the first few holes, whether or not I'm going to be good... and when I was blindfolded and given four cigarettes to smoke, I chose OLD GOLD because the first few puffs told me that this cigarette was right! I knew that it was going to be good. Like the effortless, easy swing of a fine golfer, OLD GOLD's delightful smoothness tells a story of perfect form."

Mr. Armour smoked each of the four leading brands of cigarettes while blindfolded, taking a sip of coffee between smokes. He picked the fourth cigarette, which proved to be an OLD GOLD.

Here's "Who's Who" As M. H. S. Seniors View It

With keen interest there is awaited each year by High School students, especially Seniors, their relatives and friends, for the "Who's Who" announcement in the commencement issue of the school paper, Somahie Events.

RADIO THEATER MAY BROADCAST WHOLE PROGRAM

Paris—Tune in on your favorite station. The curtain is going up at the "radio-theater"—that is if researchers of French wireless engineers are successful.

Broadcasters want to put the whole theater on the air, even the scenery. Notices to indicate backdrops, wings and borders are being sought. Convicted that such easily produced effects as a jistal shot and a dull thud do not break the necessity of continuous recitation.

"The radio voice is one whose wave is most nearly horizontal," said an official report of the performance.

"Rich vibrating voices can not be transmitted. Flat dry voices are perfectly audible. In a sketch like the one we have given the sound for scenery must stand out clear and distinct from the setting or the performance will fail."

"All people in America seem to be young," says Raquel Meller, celebrated Spanish artist. "I think it is their youth and vitality, and they all helped me to do my best work with the least effort."

"Should a husband tell his wife about his past life, old loves and 'faded glories'?" This is the question Papys Sol has recently been asking its readers, the majority of whom seem to feel that "Mum's the Word," unless you want to lose her.

"It all depends on the age of the couple," says Madame Jeanne Mousse. "If both husband and wife are young and just beginning to know life, the best thing is to keep silent about the past and try to continue whatever illusion may exist."

"If both husband and wife are no longer young and innocent, frank speaking will only make more firm the tie that binds and brings pleasant comradeship into the union."

A number of readers report that many women think they want to know the truth—hoping that there is nothing, or very little, to learn—but once they know it, they are unhappy and wish they had not been curious.

Others declare that it is fatal to reveal the past to a jealous wife. She will never forget the women who were formerly in the life of her husband and will keep their memory green for years by constantly referring to them.

Only one reader ventures the opinion that the whole truth is the best policy, that the heart should be visited and all secrets disclosed just as one's house is before taking complete possession.

How She Huffs?

When the front wheels wobble and the steering is hard to control, there are two definite causes for this shimmying can be placed. One is the slow speed shimmy and the other is the high speed shimmy.

Slow speed shimmy occurs up to about 30 miles an hour. It is caused by worn-out or bent parts that are closely allied to the steering system or to the wheels. Those latter are: loose drag link connections, loose tie rod connections, loose king pin bearings, loose wheel, bent wheel, bent tie rod and bent axle.

The reason for this is that the wheels are liable to fall into the periodic vibrations of the motor at that speed, and shimmy results. Sometimes there is a sort of gyroscopic action of the car that causes shimmy and sometimes, the engineers admit, the tires are at fault.

To prevent this sort of shimmy, however, the tire engineers suggest lining up of the drag link assembly to as nearly a straight line as possible, balancing the wheel and tire assembly, raising the inflation pressure on the front tires, using stiffer springs or adding the springs, using shock absorbers and keeping them tight, seeing that the axles aren't twisted and the brake drums aren't out of round, keeping the spring camber, caster and toe-in, seeing that the tires are evenly set on the rims and that the wheels run true, and eliminating all looseness by tightening or rebushing.

Of course, the tire men compliment the automotive engineers and designers for doing much toward eliminating the causes for shimmy as far as possible. And the automotive men return the compliments by avowing that much has been done to make tires a decreasing factor in shimmying.

THREE NOTABLE JOBS DONE BY THIS CONGRESS

Washington—Although Congress has given less time to foreign affairs in the present session than in any term since the war, the diplomats have been more active than usual. A survey of the American position in world affairs reveals a vast improvement over the picture current when the now expiring session began last December.

Three notable achievements mark the initial session of the Seventieth Congress—the Mexican oil settlement, the $250,000,000 German property adjustment, and the re-instatement of the Monroe Doctrine through the Havana Pan-American Conference.

Almost equally significant to the student of international affairs, but more remote from the current of vital, pressing issues are the refusal of the Senate to re-open the question of American adherence to the World Court, of International Justice, and the persistence of signs in various quarters that the world powers are gradually approaching a final readjustment of the reparations problem.

Settle Oil War Settlement of the ten-year oil controversy with Mexico marks a turning point in Pan-American affairs.

The Alien Property Act, to provide machinery for the settlement of German claims arising out of war-time seizures by the government, disposes of the last major international problem of the World War, so far as the United States is concerned.

True, the $4,000,000,000 French debt remains unpaid. But with the continued economic recovery of Europe, diplomatic observers see this as only a phase of the larger problem of general financial readjustment within the next two years.

Already preliminary work toward such a readjustment is under way. Diplomats and economists generally look for a drastic revision of the Dawes plan, with perhaps a gigantic bond issue for public flotation in all solvent countries in behalf of Germany. This plan would consummate final liquidation of the war from the standpoint of world fiscal adjustment.

Meanwhile the French debt settlement incorporated in the Mellon-Berenger agreement lies dormant in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, awaiting a ratification move in the French Parliament.

Latin-American Relations Through the Havana conference, our relations with the Latin-American governments have been generally improved. There are still many troublesome problems to be settled as to detail, but in the larger aspect of world politics, Pan-American feeling now is more stable and promising.

Nicaragua, where Sandino still flings aloft the banners of extreme nationalism, is the one eruptive spot on the Latin-American horizon and even this, according to the State Department view, bids fair to settlement, at least for four years, in the Marine-supervised election scheduled for next November.

Elements of trouble are seen in the present situation in Venezuela, where British and American oil interests are jockeying for advantage in the face of the approaching retirement of President Gomez.

Seething China, always marked by the "slow sign on the diplomatic maps, is in better condition today from the United States' viewpoint than any time since the war. The settlement for the Nanking outrages of March, 1927 and the admission of natives to the municipal government in Shanghai—the latter impossible but for United States' advocacy—have gone far to establish a basis for harmonious relations between this government and the budding nationalist regime.

BUYS LAND TO MAKE GARAGE WALL SAFE

By a deed recorded in the town clerk's office this morning Louis Radding purchases from Louis Stein land adjoining the rear of his property on Wadsworth street for the purpose of protecting the rebuilding of a stone and concrete wall which recently collapsed under a new garage, leaving it sagged in the air. The wall was nineteen feet high and was filled in with dirt under the garage, to within six feet of the top. This load was too much for the structure, and it started to bulge. As it was built right on the boundary line of the two pieces of property it could not be strengthened unless more land was secured. Heavy rains last week seeping into the dirt fill, added so to its weight that the wall gave way.

Owing the additional land Mr. Radding will now be enabled to properly buttress the wall.

GETS LIFE SENTENCE Jersey City, N. J., June 21.—Walter E. McFall, 28, of Union City, N. J., former state trooper found guilty last night of shooting his second wife, Mrs. Florence Hershey McFall, today began serving a life sentence. His life was spared when the jury which found him guilty of murder in the first degree recommended life imprisonment.

The jury deliberated less than two hours.

GREAT BRITAIN RACES GERMANY FOR OCEAN HOP

London—Great Britain hopes to be the victor over Germany in a secret two-year-old race which has been going on between the two countries for the privilege of being the first to inaugurate a Trans-Atlantic passenger dirigible service.

There has been keen competition between the German and British constructors, and the workmen of the latter country have become so enthusiastic over the prospect of getting their airship in the air first that they are working ten and twelve hours a day of their own will.

Haste Required Commander C. D. Burney, the advocate of a regular transatlantic dirigible service who has just returned from the United States, paid a visit to the aircraft sheds in Yorkshire, where the R-100 is being constructed, to encourage the men.

"We must be in the air before the Germans," he declared, "if for no other reason than to maintain our national prestige. We could not contemplate the possibility of being beaten by Germany in civil aviation after having beaten her militarily."

The trial flights of this giant airship, which is capable of carrying 100 passengers, will be made soon.

On the westward journey the crossing will be made in 48-hours, but from America to England the prevailing westerly winds will make a thirty-six hour flight possible.

"The new type of airship will be able to force its way through any Atlantic storm," says Commander Burney, "and a regular service can be maintained without difficulty."

Modern Comforts There are fifty cabins in this new dreadnaught of the air, each electrically lighted and heated. Three promenade decks, each connected by a double staircase which will allow passengers plenty of space to move about in, and there are two balconies for those who wish to sit and view the waves beneath them.

MARSHAL CHANG DEAD, HIS SON ANNOUNCES

Manchurian War Lord Succumb to Injuries Received When He Flew City.

Tokio, June 21.—General Chang Hsueh Liang, son of Marshal Chang Tso Lin, announced today that his father died at two o'clock this morning from wounds received when his train was bombed near Mukden on June 4, said a dispatch from Mukden. A three day funeral service will begin on Saturday at Changwang Temple in Mukden.

General Chang has succeeded his father as governor of Fengtien and dictator of Manchuria. The five barred flag of the first Chinese republic flew over the public buildings in Mukden.

When the northerners were defeated in Shanghai and the victorious Southerners drove forward to the gates of Peking Marshal Chang fled to Mukden. It was while he was on this flight his train was blown up on a bridge just outside of Mukden. He was long a powerful figure in North China politics. He maintained a strong army in Manchuria where he was known as the Manchurian War Lord.

WAPPING

Wapping Grange has been invited to Manchester Grange next Wednesday evening, June 27, as it is Neighbor's Night, and Wapping is requested to furnish two numbers for the program.

There was a meeting of the South Windsor school board on Tuesday evening at the Wapping Center school hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklyn Welles, Jr., went to Bradford, Vt., recently and spent a few days with Mrs. Welles' father, A. T. Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sharp, of Brantford, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sharp, of this place, motored to Poughkeepsie, N. Y., to attend the national intercollegiate varsity races last Tuesday. Midshipman George Sharp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sharp, rowed with the Navy's junior varsity crew.

The Evergreen Lodge of Masons, A. F. and A. M. No. 114, will hold a special meeting next Friday evening at its temple at East Windsor hill, where a degree test from the state highway department with Clinton S. Nichols as master, will confer the master Mason degree.

Several of the members of the young Peoples' Society of Christian Endeavor are planning to attend the social gathering, which is to be held at the South Manchester Methodist Episcopal church on next Friday evening, June 22.

Miss Ellen McGrath of East Windsor Hill, spent the week-end in New London.

Miss Amelia Watson is spending a few weeks with friends in town.

Arthur Sharp, rowed with the school in the Connecticut Humane society's poster contest which was held at the old State House in Hartford on March 15, have been received recently and to Donald C. Johnson, son of Mrs. Hattie E. Johnson of this place was awarded the gold medal. Donald received a silver medal last year. The silver medal was awarded to Miss Josephine E. Zokita. There were also five who received the bronze medal. They are as follows: Henry Peterson, Waldo Yason, Nellie Zitkus, Dorris Buchard, and Albert Sakalowski; there were also about twenty pupils who received honorable mention.

G. E. REFRIGERATORS NOW IN GREAT DEMAND

It has been announced that more than two thousand car-loads of General Electric Refrigerators have been delivered to American homes since April 1st.

This remarkable sales record reflects a nation-wide acceptance and endorsement for a refrigerator which has been on the market only a little more than a year but with a background of sixteen years of development and perfection by the Research Laboratories of General Electric Company.

According to M. H. Strickland, local distributor for General Electric Refrigerators, the enormous demand has practically depleted all surplus stocks but nine factories are now operating at full capacity and all orders can be filled without undue delay.

The claim is made for the General Electric machine that it is unique in having all its mechanism sealed in an air-tight steel casing so that it does not even require oiling and also in having the mechanism on top rather than underneath. Some very interesting scientific reasons are offered for this departure from previous manufacturing practice.

The eagerness with which the American public is adopting electric refrigerators is another milestone in the progress of this electrical age—another saving of the housekeeper's time and labor.

Indeed, as stated by Mr. Strickland it is possible that the use of mechanical refrigeration in the home may somewhat change American buying habits. Since food can be kept fresh and wholesome by electric refrigeration for long periods, the daily ordering and shopping for food may eventually be done only two or three times a week.

A blurb on the jacket of a recent book calls "a search for an answer to the universe." We were disappointed, though, as the book really doesn't say a thing about national political conventions.

THE ANSWER

Here is one solution to the LET-TER GOLF puzzle on the comic page.

JUNE, JUTE, JUTS, JUGS, BUGS.

GAS BUGGIES—Talk Fast, Hem

WHEN YOU READ THAT NOTE, YOU'LL REALIZE WHY I WAS OVER HERE WITH VIOLA. AND THAT YOU MADE A BIG MISTAKE.

VIOLA—YOU WON'T GIVE UP THAT HAIRDRESSER... LIFE WITHOUT YOU ISN'T WORTH LIVING... WATERWORKS... HURL MYSELF INTO RESERVOIR... FAREWELL FOREVER, ALEC.

BOO HOO

BOO HOO

BOO HOO

AS I SAY, WE ALL MAKE MISTAKES... WHEN YOU CAME INTO THE ROOM, AND FLARED UP BECAUSE I WAS OFFERING VIOLA MY SYMPATHY...

MAYBE I DID MAKE A MISTAKE, AND MAYBE I DIDN'T, BUT I STILL DON'T SEE THE NECESSITY OF HER HAVING HER HAND AROUND YOUR NECK.

BOO HOO

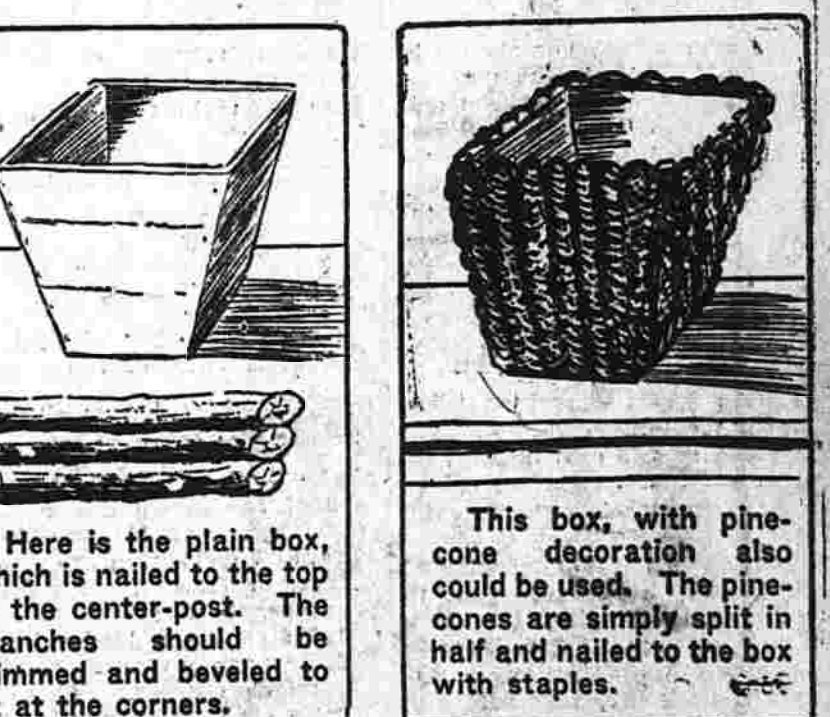

BOO HOO

NOW WAS THAT ANY TIME FOR ME TO SAY... GO EASY THERE, WOMAN, STAY OVER ON YOUR OWN SIDE OF THE ROOM IF YOU WANT ME TO SYMPATHIZE WITH YOU!

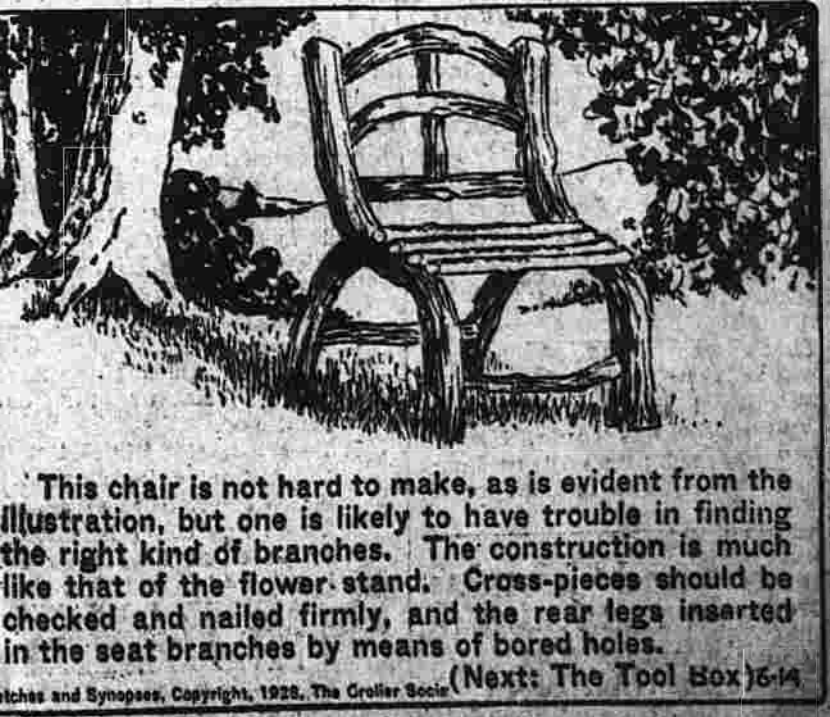

OH BOO HOO

COME, VIOLA, YOU'LL FEEL BETTER OUT AT OUR HOUSE. THIS HOTEL HAS TOO MANY THINGS TO REMIND YOU OF YOUR SORROW...

AND AS FOR YOU... IF ALEC EVER SHOULD SHOW UP... WELL, THIS STORY WILL HAVE AN ENTIRELY DIFFERENT ENDING.

This chair is not hard to make, as is evident from the illustration, but one is likely to have trouble in finding the right kind of branches. The construction is much like that of the flower stand. Cross-pieces should be checked and nailed firmly, and the rear legs inserted in the seat branches by means of bored holes.

LETTER GOLF

JUNE AND LETTER GOLF BUGS It's JUNE and we have lots of letter golf BUGS so today's puzzle is timely as well as tricky. Per is four and one solution is on another page.

Letter golf puzzle grid with letters J, U, N, E and B, U, G, S.

THE RULES 1-The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEN.

2-You can change only one letter at a time. 3-You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each step. Slang words and abbreviations don't count. 4-The order of letters cannot be changed.

Puppy love is a doggone poor excuse to get married on. The world is getting better. We saw a motion picture show recently that did not end with a kiss.

THE TINYMITES

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE Poor Clowdy surely looked a sight. The hen had given him a fright, and now the eggs that he found were broken, on the ground. "Oh, this is terrible," said he. "What will you two girls think of me. I was real quiet in the barn, and didn't make a sound. But suddenly, that crazy hen began to cackle loud, and then I thought, 'I'd better get away. That's why I ran out here.' This whole thing started out in fun, but now just see what I have done. My goodness, every egg I had is ruined now, I fear."

PHONES Pinehurst "GOOD THINGS TO EAT"

How's fishing, Joe? Not so good! I'll have to buy a couple to take home, I guess! ONE FRIEND tells another

"Get them at PINEHURST and your wife'll never know the difference."

It's surprising how many folks there are in Connecticut who hardly ever eat fish. Seem to think that it isn't really a regular food; more of just an occasional recourse, for the sake of variety, like the one or two dishes of dandelion greens in the spring or, once in a long while, a few mushrooms, saute.

Just the same there are more than a hundred and twenty million dollars worth of fish taken by American fisheries every year—and somebody eats them all. Nearly six thousand vessels are engaged in the business. In New England alone twenty-five thousand men earn their living catching fish for their fellow citizens to consume, and they bring in more than eighteen million dollars worth of sea provender every year.

So, you see, in spite of the fact that there are a good many non-fish eaters, there are a lot of folks who figure on fish in their diet quite as regularly if not perhaps quite as often as they do on meat.

And our belief is that in Manchester the number of fish eaters is increasing at a very rapid rate. We judge by the growth of the demand right here in Pinehurst. We're selling a lot more fish than we did.

Perhaps more folks are eating fish than used to because of the perfect condition in which it is now received and offered to the customer. Pinehurst customers get theirs almost before they've quit flopping.

Friday, of course, is the biggest fish day.

Pinehurst will be open until nine tonight. If you care to phone your order for the early delivery now, we will be glad to have you.

STOPS WILD SHOOTING BY SEIZING RIFLE Officer Wirtalla Removes Cause of Menace When Boys Shot Enters House. Officer Rudolph Wirtalla this morning brought to the police station a .22 caliber rifle which he had taken from a boy living on Hilliard street, as a result of some wild shooting last night. A boy, who owned the rifle, together with other boys in that neighborhood, had gone up to the head of Marble street where they placed bottles against the bank and started to blaze away at them. One of the bullets went so wild that it entered the house occupied by Judson Rockwell on Marble street, breaking the window glass, passing through a curtain and embedding itself in the door jamb on the opposite side of the room. Officer Wirtalla ran down the boys this morning and confiscated the gun, considering that the removal of the cause would do away with future trouble. Ten hours parking limit. And plenty of room for all, any time, day or night, without charge.
