SMITH MAY TAKE STUMP IN CAMPAIGN

Friends Advise Him to Meet More People Because of His Personality—Do Not Favor the Radio.

New York, July 13.—Satisfied that he has laid the groundwork for one of the most intensive national campaigns in the history of the Democratic Party, Gov. Al Smith was to return to Albany today to begin work on the speech he will deliver about the middle of August in formally accepting the presidential nomination.

Several important decisions will be made by the governor and his board of strategy within the next ten days, including the number of speeches he will make in the coming campaign, the cities where regional headquarters are to be established and the date for his notification.

15 Speeches
The governor has virtually decided to limit his campaign to a dozen or 15 speeches in the chief cities throughout the country, but he is being urged by several members of the national committee as well as some of his close friends to make an old-fashioned stump-speech tour. They have frankly told the governor that they fear the people of the country will not be satisfied with radio speeches but that they will want to see him in action. If the governor follows the suggestions of a few of his close advisers he will give several short talks daily from the rear of his private car when he tours the country.

Members of the national committee have left for their homes with a warning by the governor immediately to build up in their respective states a hard-working organization. They were told by the governor to make a careful survey of the conditions in their states and to report at once to John J. Raskob, national chairman, and Senator Peter G. Gerry, chairman of the advisory board of the national committee.

The governor already has laid plans to make a strong appeal for votes to the women of the country. One of the first official announcements made by Raskob after taking over the chairmanship of the national committee, and following a conference with the governor, was to appoint former Gov. Nellie Tayloe Ross of Wyoming, as chairman of the women's division of the national committee. Mrs. Ross will be

FORD AGAINST RASKOB, PLAN OF HOOVERITES

Looks Like a Battle Between Motor Kings; Detroit Millionaire is Out for G. O. P. Nominee.

Washington, July 13.—A dramatic political war between two of America's outstanding motor kings may furnish an interesting sidelight to the coming presidential campaign.

Republican leaders, it was learned today, have decided to urge Henry Ford, the multi-millionaire auto Croesus, to take an active part in the campaign in behalf of Herbert Hoover's drive for the White House. The action was decided upon as one means of offsetting the enlistment of John J. Raskob, financial chairman of the gigantic General Motors Corporation, in the cause of Gov. Alfred E. Smith, and his selection as the new Democratic national chairman.

Ford already has endorsed Hoover in a statement issued prior to the Kansas City convention. At that time, the motor czar declared Hoover had been equipped with the White House, among all the Republican candidates. The Hoover leaders plan to get some further expression from Ford by the time the campaign gets under way and to direct it to every corner of the country, as an antidote for the Raskob endorsement of Smith.

Would Contribute
There appeared little doubt among Republican leaders that Ford would be a generous contributor to Hoover's campaign. Likewise there appeared little doubt that Raskob would be a generous contributor to Smith's campaign. If Ford should take no active part, other than to issue an endorsing statement for Hoover, his dollars, at least, would be fighting those of Raskob. The two men incidentally have been business foes for many years, although Ford announced he did not contemplate a business war against Raskob's General Motors Corporation.

Hoover undoubtedly will confer with Ford during the campaign, and possibly the Republican nominee may receive some advice from the motor king on the subject of meeting Hoover, who will not be possible until after Hoover returns from California in late August.

Leaves Tomorrow
Hoover will leave here Saturday evening for the west, with stops contemplated at Chicago, Superior, Wis., a two-day visit to President Coolidge at Brule, Wis., and further stops at Brule, Wis., and further stops at Reno, Nev., Sacramento, Oakland, and San Francisco, Calif. He will arrive in San Francisco at noon, Friday, July 20, after participating in a public reception there, will continue on to his old home at Palo Alto, Calif.

The nominee virtually closed up his affairs today as secretary of commerce. He leaves tomorrow, his desk will be clear and the departmental affairs in shape to turn over to his successor.

Raskob Not to Quit General Motors Co.
Wilmington, Del., July 13.—John J. Raskob, newly elected chairman of the Democratic national committee, has in his summer home in Centreville, Md., today, after a brief stop here, resting and planning for the presidential campaign of Gov. A. Smith of New York.

How Rescue Came to Lost Flyers

A thrilling chapter in the story of the Italia tragedy is pictured here. Marooned on an arctic ice floe, all hope of rescue abandoned, two officers of Noble's crew kept a month-long vigil beside the frozen body of a companion. Then the planes of the Russian flyer Chukotka came out of the fog and circled above them as they waved frantically.

Dr. Cherrington Explains Why Gov. Smith Will Not Enforce the Law.

Westerville, Ohio, July 13.—Governor Al Smith of New York is unsatisfactory to those who wish the 18th Amendment retained and the prohibition law enforced. Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington, general secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism, declared here today in expanding his opinion of the attitude of dry advocates throughout the nation.

PASTOR TO ARGUE HIS DIVORCE CASE
His Lawyer Will Explain His Side of the Story.
Hawthorne, N. J., July 13.—The right of a pastor to divorce his wife if he feels that she has violated his concept of marital felicity and moral conduct will be argued in person today before the governing body of the Reformed church here, by the Rev. John Reeder Reeves, church shepherd.

HOWITZERS MAKE BIG RATING GAINS

36 Members Qualify as Gunners, Three Times More Than in Previous Years.

By Staff Correspondent. Camp Trumbull, Niantic, July 13.—Thirty-six members of the Howitzer Company of Manchester qualified in the gunners' test on the thirty-seven millimeter and trench mortar guns, according to information given out today by the officers of that unit of the 169th Infantry, C. N. G., which is completing the first week of its fifteen days stay here.

This is by far the largest number of gunners who have ever qualified in the Howitzer Company. As a matter of fact, it is three times as many as ever before. The number being about a dozen. Captain Allan L. Dexter explains this as being due to the concentration of the work prior to coming to camp and the keen interest of the men themselves. He considers the Howitzer Company more efficient this year than ever before.

Of the thirty-six men who qualified, thirty-two were rated as first class gunners, which means they received 270 or more points out of a possible 300. Four had better than 240 points and are grouped as second class gunners. The members of the company received 300 points, or 100 per cent. They are Captain Dexter, Corporal Walter Grabowski, Private Louis C. Charter and Private Frank J. Chyanowski. An even twenty had better than 95 per cent.

The list of first class gunners with their scores and percentage follows: Table with columns for Name, Points, and P.C. listing names like Cap. Allan L. Dexter, Lieut. R. B. Hathaway, etc.

Improve in Set-Up. Thursday dawned with a clouded sky which was pretty well cleared up by 10 o'clock. The morning was many hours old. The regiment went through its usual brief but vigorous period of calisthenics under the direction of Captain Merrill Strong of Hartford. Arms, bare, outer shirts discarded, the men make a pretty sight as they go through the various exercises. Practice has made their rhythm markedly better than the first day out.

Company G's riflemen again went out of camp with the regiment to take part in company problems. Captain Herbert H. Blase was in command. The problem was company attack with two platoons in assault and support platoon. The Howitzer men were divided. Some went out to finish qualifications with the 37 millimeter and trench mortar guns while others had already finished were taken to the pistol range. The Howitzer Company took part in the spare units review in the afternoon. This was received by Major Samuel A. Buttigieg. This afternoon, the rifle regiment will march in review for the first time.

Out For Ball Trophy. Both the Howitzer Company and Company G are making preparations for bringing home the regional baseball championship. Both have strong teams. Captain Blase's team will probably be some of the best in the division. The Howitzer team will probably be back. Private Mantoll or Private Kearns, P. Sergeant DeHan, 1b, Sergeant Pentland, 2b, Corporal Hilland, 3b, Sergeant McCavagh, 4b, Corporal Crockett, 1f, Corporal Frey, of Private Kearns, Corporal Mantoll, 1f. The latter is captain of the team.

The Howitzer team has been included together by Corporal William Schoneski, the man with the trained moustache. He has selected eight privates in addition to himself. He will catch. The rest of the lineup will probably be Kuskulki or Brennan, p, Hagenow, Vitullo, 2b, Connelly, ss, Carter, 3b, Novak, lf, De Luca, and Noble, cf.

THE DANCE THE THING NOW AT CRYSTAL LAKE

New Crystal Ballroom Drawing Guests From Far and Wide; Ideal Location.

Entering the third week since the new Sandy Beach ballroom opened at Crystal Lake, the crowds, both on Wednesday and Saturday evenings, are increasing. Evidence of the growing popularity of the new crystal ballroom is ideally located on the beach at Crystal Lake, overlooking the beautiful expanse of water for a distance of over two miles.

The setting in which the new ballroom has been located by Mr. Bokis has attracted a large patronage from not only residents of Tolland County but a large number from Hartford, Springfield, Thompsonville and Manchester are regular patrons of the dances at Sandy Beach.

Monday last there were more than two thousand people at the park and beach and tomorrow it is expected a crowd equally as large will visit Sandy Beach in the afternoon and remain for the dance in the evening, when a special dance program will be offered with special music of ten pieces for the increased dancing pleasure of Saturday visitors and week-end guests at the 200 summer cottages.

All of these are now occupied, bringing the summer population of Crystal Lake up to 3,000 people. For the most part the summerites are young folks and when perfect music combined with a perfect ballroom is available as it has been made this summer at Sandy Beach, bathing parties followed by dancing parties are proving very popular.

The Cardinals, champion ballroom of the New England district, directed from Keith's vaudeville, Boston, have been signed for an exhibition at the ballroom, Wednesday, the 25th.

Auxiliary Picnic. Alden Skinner Camp Auxiliary will hold its annual picnic, Saturday afternoon at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. George Kreh at Crystal Lake. An invitation has been extended to members of the Grand Army, Alden Skinner Camp and the families of the Auxiliary. A bus will leave the Town Hall at 1 o'clock. There will be a program of games and sports and a luncheon will be served.

Gov. John H. Trumbull has accepted the call to speak at the annual field day of the Jewish Farmers of Connecticut which will be held at the Rockville Fair Ground on Sunday, August 12.

Rockville Lodge of Elks, B.P.O. E. will hold their annual picnic on Sunday, July 29, at Maple Grove. John Bonan of this city will serve the dinner. Over 150 are expected to be present and additional tickets are available from the committee in charge.

Panicki Fined $17.87. William Panicki was fined $5. and costs making a total of $17.87. in police court Thursday morning following a charge of intoxication and breach of peace. He was arrested Wednesday night by Officer Frances. He was given a six month's suspended sentence.

The First Evangelical Lutheran Church have leased of the Hockanum Mills Company the land at Orchard and West Main streets which will be used for a tennis court. Work on same will start soon.

Notes. Edward M. Twiss of Syracuse, N. Y., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson of Talcott avenue.

Leon Doss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Doss of Grand street, has been awarded the James Raymond Goodrich scholarship of $500 by the Yale University, in recognition of his excellent record.

Sachem Thomas Ryan of Tanke-roosan Tribe of Red Men has been given a jewel by the members of the tribe. Mr. Ryan is on his third year as Sachem, this being the first time a man has been so honored in the history of the tribe. During Mr. Ryan's office the tribe has shown a remarkable increase both in membership and financially.

Fred J. Cooley, Harry C. Dowling, Lester Martin, Lewis Chapman and Stephen Von Busch have been appointed the committee in charge of the Chamber of Commerce outing to be held in August.

TEMPLE SERVICE MARKS RAIL HEAD'S FUNERAL

Howard Elliott Buried This Afternoon at Guilford, This State—Small Party.

Guilford, Conn., July 13.—The body of Howard Elliott, railroad executive, head of the board of trustees of Harvard University, and financier, will be laid to rest here this afternoon, in a little cemetery close to the center of Guilford Village.

Arrangements have been made here to receive a special train to be run over the New Haven railroad, which Howard Elliott is credited with having restored to prosperity, from New York. A comparatively small funeral party is expected. Many of Mr. Elliott's friends are abroad for vacations.

The funeral train is due to arrive here at 3:40 p. m., to be placed on a sidetrack until after the services when it will be run back to New Haven and New York. The train leaves New York at 1:20 with a stop at New Haven scheduled for 3:15. The funeral special is to have but four cars.

WASHINGTON LETTER

This is the first of a series of stories by Rodney Dutcher, Washington correspondent for The Herald and NEA Service, rounding up the political situation that has arisen from the national conventions.

By RODNEY DUTCHER.
Washington, July 13.—The political history of this presidential year dates back to last August, when Calvin Coolidge said he didn't choose to run. Up to that time Coolidge had held the key to his party's nomination. The funniest thing about the whole show is that he continued to hold it from that time on. He stood with his back to the crowd and he had the key in his hand, but no one knew whether he had it in the hole, whether he was just fumbling around with it, when and if the door was going to be opened, whether Cal himself would be the first to dash through or whether he would just stand and block the threshold waiting to be pushed. Nobody seems to know to this day just why the president insisted on forcing a great national guessing contest which was finally decided until the night before the Kansas City convention. But he did. And he had some of the hottest and supposedly most powerful, if not the brightest, politicians in his party guessing wrong right up to the last moment. He simply refused to say what he meant and so gave the whole party a bad case of nerves.

The only reasonable plausible explanation that comes to hand is that this was just a jolly little Cal having his little joke on the boys; that he immensely enjoyed his position, which found Andy Mellon and the brethren from Wall Street, along with hundreds of smaller fish, imploring him to save the country by staying at the helm four years more. It is also suggested that he may have enjoyed that thought that Hoover was, thanks to him, going virtually without sleep.

Now there is good reason to believe that when Coolidge made his first statement he wasn't dead certain that he wouldn't be the party's next candidate. For one thing, he gave the professional Coolidge shouters like Pess a little too much encouragement.

But the factors which motivated his final decision, regardless of when it may have become a fixed intention, are gradually coming to light. First, Coolidge is not in good health. He looks healthy enough, but one hears through excellent sources that he is actually on red corpuscles. Mrs. Coolidge's health has also deteriorated, according to some of their personal friends. She is said to have been especially anxious that they leave the White House at the end of her husband's present term. "The job is getting his goat," according to further explanations. For the last six months the president is said to have displayed a more or less chronic grouch which has been noticed by all those who are in regular contact with him. The president is quoted as having remarked to one person that when a man's job began to bother him so he couldn't sleep, something was wrong.

Mr. Coolidge has always liked political jobs. He has taken one after another for these last few decades and this is the best he will ever have.

But Mr. Coolidge has always hated rough and tumble fights. He has prized dignity so highly and preserved it so unbendingly that for him the least departure from it is disastrous. He doesn't want to depart and hasn't—except when politics suggests that he do overalls or cowboy clothes.

The president invariably comes in for scores of nagging and annoyances and frequent demands for a fighting attitude which finally got under the Coolidge skin. Painfully aware of his lack of influence in Congress, the prospect of a possible fight for re-nomination and a certain hard fight with the Al Smith type of fighter held no fascination for Mr. Coolidge.

On top of all that, the president is a New Englander and an unusually prudent politician. As a New Englander he felt the urge to stand to posterity as the man three times and yet refused; he knew that he could, if he wished, step down as a noble and exalted figure. What his enemies have called the "Coolidge myth," whether myth or not, would still hold good with the American people.

As a politician Mr. Coolidge knew that in the likely event of his renomination and re-election the next four years would hold far more misery than the last four years. He saw the likelihood that he would wind it up covered with more abuse and general dislike than he liked to imagine. He was not the vigorous, aggressive and resourceful leader to hold the affection and respect of the people forever.

On the other hand, he had accumulated a reported fortune of something like $300,000, which is an awful lot of money for a boy born on a Vermont farm, and more than a man of Calvin Coolidge's modest tastes will ever need. The prospect of peaceful years as a college president—say of Amherst—in a large handsome residence set in cloistered groves and that sort of thing held a distinct charm.

All these things, according to various persons who know Coolidge, figured in his final decision. Taking them all together, it is far

(150) Accident, Casualty Insurance Companies.

Nearly a third of the total insurance sold by Connecticut accident, casualty, fidelity and miscellaneous insurance companies is for the protection of automobile owners and operators. Of the $155,640,000 in net premiums received by the ten such companies in Connecticut during 1926, $48,000,000 was for auto liability and auto property damage and collision. Of this $15,000,000 net premiums received by the Connecticut companies in 1926, less than $100,000 was for automobile property damage, there being no sale of auto liability.

The largest single premium income for 1926 was for workmen's compensation insurance, the net premium for this amounting to $42,829,597. Next came auto liability which brought in in net premiums, $32,048,927. Accident and health policies netted $25,171,190, the third largest single premium income. The total auto property damage and collision premium income was $15,756,591 while the classification "other liability" had $14,835,622 in total premiums. Fidelity and surety premiums amounted to $8,966,320; steam boiler, engine and machinery, $5,410,037; burglary and theft, $5,901,341; plate glass, $2,342,372.

During 1926 premiums for liability totaled $7,763,854; for accident and health, $5,271,021; steam boiler, $1,247,050; burglary, $1,509,945; fidelity and surety, $287,528; plate glass, $110,655, and workmen's protective, $11,288.

The total net losses and claims paid by the Connecticut companies during 1926 was $68,598,051. The net amount of losses and claims paid during 1926 was $6,160,307. The net losses and claims unpaid by the Connecticut companies, December 31, 1926, amounted to $72,516,350.

from surprising that the little boy from the Plymouth farm who rose to a seat of the mighty should have decided to step from the dazzling spotlight that glares on the White House.

Misses Florence Pinney and Alice Doggart will go to East Northfield today where they will attend the Young Woman's Foreign Missionary Conference as delegates from the Golden Rule Club. The conference will start July 13th and last until the twenty-first. Mrs. Ernest Robinson was pleasantly surprised on Wednesday evening by the members of the Golden Rule Club, in honor of her recent marriage. Many useful gifts, including a set of dishes from the club members were received by the bride. There were games and refreshments.

S. A. GIRL GUARDS WIN PROFIT FOR CAMP WORK

The entertainment given by the Girl Guards of the Salvation Army at the Citadel Wednesday evening was well attended and considerable money realized on the evening's entertainment. The profits will be used for summer camp activities. The program consisted of musical and dramatic sketches by members of the various patrols in the Girl

Guards, and was as follows: Opening song, "I'll Gird on the Armor"; prayer; both led by Commandant Spohn; Guard inspection by the Guard and leaders; march, by the band; piano solo by Doris Maxwell; sketch by Patrol One, "Honest Beggars"; march, by the band; open air meeting, by Patrol Three; vocal solo, by Jessie Larder; sketch, by Patrol Two "Katy's New Hat"; address by Adjutant Pickering of Hartford, acting chairman of the entertainment; kitchen orchestra, by Patrol Four; reading by Annie Smith; four-fold sketch depicting the following phases of the Girl Guards rules:

POLICE COURT

Edward Garland was sent to jail this morning for 15 days for in-

DICK EDGAR'S WILDNESS COSTLY LOCALS UNABLE TO HIT PELLET

Supples Stops Visitors From Scoring After Five Runs Had Tricked Across the Plate.

Inability to hit in the pinches or to connect, for that matter, with Peckard's offerings spelled defeat for the Community club in the game with the Meriden outfit at the West Side playgrounds last evening. The final count was 5 to 0 for the Silver City aggregation at the end of seven innings of good baseball.

Dick Edgar attempted to pitch but wildness again marred his work and Tommy Supples took the mound and although he yielded but one hit in the five and two-thirds innings he worked his mates could not solve Peckard's delivery.

A walk in the first inning and an attempted sacrifice which was poorly handled allowed two men on the paths for Buckley's single to score. Another run was added in this frame after two were out and Edgar again walked a pair of the invaders to score on Nelnie's hit. The visitors tallied again in the second and thereafter Supples took command of the situation and prevented further scoring.

The locals were only able to gather two hits, Supples and St. John each hitting for a solid single. The summary:

Reorganize Community Twilight League; Green Wins First Leg

According to the dope passed out by Jerry Fay last evening there has been a complete re-organization in the Community Twilight League for the second round commencing next Monday evening.

The Talcottville and Depot Square teams have dropped out of the circuit and the Aces of the south end added. The Manchester Green team has been awarded the championship of the first round and will meet the winners of the next and final leg for the local town championship.

There will be a meeting of the managers this evening at the Community House at the north end when the final arrangements will be completed.

Red FIRE AT THE GREEN.
Red fire but no band concert.

was much in evidence at the Green last evening and Mayor Sam Prentice made a nice speech to the athletes of his squad. As a matter of fact this is the first time that the Green has really had a chance to celebrate anything since the trolley cars were run into this happy section of Manchester.

This section is eagerly awaiting its first series of any importance now that the second round of the Community League will get underway next Monday evening. The Green rosters, almost to a man are going to root for the Bon Ami of Highland Park to win. Evidently they think that the Aces or the rest of the circuit have but a small chance of meeting their champions. The north end is, quite naturally, pulling for the Bon Ami to put across the wire a winner in the next round and they believe that the bunting will eventually flaunt the breezes over at the Depot Square flag pole when the smoke has cleared away.

However, the Aces are not saying anything and just smile a knowing smile with a shrug of the shoulder and point mutely to their record so far this season. Yep, it looks like a real ending for the Twilight leaguers.

The Boy Scouts are campaigning against smoking of cigars by women. Mothers seen behind the barn sneaking a puff should be reported.

The German cabinet warns the crown prince to keep out of trouble and "stick to his golf." That's not very good advice if the prince slices.

LOVE FOR TWO

By RUTH DEWEY GROVES © 1928 By NEA Service Inc.

"Let's go tonight," Rod urged. "Certainly not," Bertie Lou objected. "We'll wait for Lila." Molly looked blank enough to bring satisfaction to Bertie Lou for her decision.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
BERTIE LOU WARD, on the eve of her wedding, to ROD BRYER, feels a premonition of trouble at receiving a dagger-like paper knife from LILA MARSH, an ex-sweet-heart of Rod's. She courageously resolves not to be jealous, but she receives another blow to her pride when she accidentally overhears one bridesmaid ask a girl if she thought the bride liked being a second choice.

The pain in her heart vanishes when Rod whispers "My Wife" with a world of adoration in his eyes. They spend an ideal honeymoon and Bertie Lou forgets about Lila until they return and find her playing dictator in their apartment because she "knows what Rod likes." The newlyweds settle down in their little place but too much happiness unsettles their financial budget. This worries Bertie Lou as does the persistent annoyance of Lila. So she is happy when Rod accepts a position in New York, which has been offered by TOM FRASER.

They are anxious to make a deep impression so live in an expensive hotel until they can find an apartment. Finally they locate, three rooms, but cannot get their furniture shipped from Wayville. No expenses continue to mount and MOLLY FRASER urges Bertie Lou to buy "smart clothes" and entertains so lavishly that they feel under obligation to take them out to nice places in return. Rod worries Bertie Lou by playing poker with Tom.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XII
Bertie Lou hit upon the truth when she said that Molly did not like her. It would not have troubled her, however, had Molly not wanted to keep up the appearance of friendship.

Bertie Lou supposed it was for Rod's sake. Both the Frasers were very fond of him. And for that reason she made no effort to avoid Molly altogether, though she found it difficult to keep from offending her.

"She's a throwback," she complained to Rod. "She doesn't seem to know that women can get more out of life without hypocrisy. Golly, I do miss the girls at home!"

It would have surprised her to know the real reason for Molly's dislike of her. It was partly, as she had guessed, her half-joking, half-serious remark about living within Rod's income. It had irritated Molly when she learned from Tom that Bertie Lou would do that of necessity. She felt that Bertie Lou had been posing as choosing to do so.

But the thing that annoyed her most, and changed her feeling toward Bertie Lou from a negative to an active dislike, was Bertie Lou's complete refusal to recognize her importance as the wife of Rod's employer.

Molly was so fond of parade she was willing to sacrifice her desire to drop Bertie Lou in order to satisfy her ego. She loved to feel that Bertie Lou must look up to her, whether she showed it or not. She'd been happy if she could have made Bertie Lou tremble.

Bertie Lou didn't see any cause for being grateful to Molly on Rod's account. If gratitude was due it belonged to Tom, she felt. She could see that Molly expected gratitude and attention, but she never guessed that her failure to give them was Molly's chief reason for disliking her.

At times she thought it might be because Molly had such a strong affection for Lila that she didn't care for the girl Rod had married.

much longer. It irked her to be compelled to associate with a woman with whom she had nothing in common. An infrequent hour or two in Wayville had not mattered, as she said to Rod. But feeling that she must continue to see Molly just because Rod worked for her husband wasn't the sort of thing she expected of life. It was a compromise—something Bertie Lou hated in spite of the fact that she could, on occasion, force herself to it.

And so, knowing that Molly was sharpening the axe for her, Bertie Lou guessed the reason why she spent Thursday as the night to accept Rod's invitation to a supper club.

Lila would be in New York then! And Rod, the big goof, would be host to her. Bertie Lou could have killed somebody that minute. Molly was getting even now for the many times Bertie Lou's wit had left her tripping lamely along, vaguely aware that Bertie Lou was laughing at her.

Molly saw the storm clouds on Bertie Lou's countenance. She knew that she had her on the toast-tripping lamely along, vaguely aware that Bertie Lou was laughing at her. Molly saw the storm clouds on Bertie Lou's countenance. She knew that she had her on the toast-tripping lamely along, vaguely aware that Bertie Lou was laughing at her.

"If we wait until Thursday Lila will be here," she said sweetly. And was greatly disappointed that Bertie Lou showed no surprise. And with her eyes still on Rod's bride she missed Rod's expression. The complacency he had shown earlier in the evening instantly disappeared upon his hearing of Lila's coming.

An innocent illusion went with it. Like Bertie Lou, he thought he could escape Lila in New York. But Bertie Lou had known better for several days; since she had discovered that Molly was antagonistic, but unwilling to end their camouflage friendship, and that she was keen for Lila. "She'll delight in thriving us together," she foresaw, but she did not mention her fears to Rod.

It came as a shock to him to perceive that Lila would loom large upon his horizon when she visited the Frasers. Having known it beforehand Bertie Lou was enabled to recover her composure much too soon to please Molly.

"That will be great," she said pleasantly. "I'm dying to go to a night club, but it will be more fun to have Lila along."

"Come on, let's go tonight," Rod urged. "Certainly not," Bertie Lou objected. "We'll wait for Lila." Molly looked blank enough to bring satisfaction to Bertie Lou for her decision.

The next morning Rod volunteered to go to her mother about selling the furniture. He wanted to make amends to Bertie Lou for his impulsive generosity of the night before. It wouldn't be pleasant for her to have Lila in their party, he knew.

Dense Lou came out of her gloom at the prospect of buying new furniture for the apartment. Nice as it had been to have so many things given them when they were married she believed she could achieve a more artistic home by selecting everything herself.

"We won't wait for the sale of the old stuff," Rod added. And neither of them smiled when they spoke of their furniture as "old."

There was one blot on Bertie Lou's happiness when she went out to select the furniture. She needed a new evening dress. Molly had lifted her pencil-thin eyebrows over the return appearance of the beige chiffon afternoon dress at evening affairs.

She thought of borrowing it from her father. But her parents, like Rod's had opposed their moving to New York. She hated to confess they already were running short of funds.

Her problem was solved for her by a pair of gloves. "Charge?" the girl said laconically as Bertie Lou absent-mindedly neglected to offer any money.

Charge! Why hadn't she thought of that? She made inquiries and was directed to the credit department. There she gave the name of Rod's employer and his address, as well as their own and was told the management would communicate with her shortly.

Bertie Lou thought she detected an expression of surprise on the face of the man she was talking with when she gave the name of her hotel. She knew enough about New York now to appreciate the incongruity of a person in Rod's position "making it his home. It wouldn't make them appear irresponsible, she hoped, and thereby disqualify them as charge account customers of the store."

On her way out she was seized with a new apprehension that caused her to turn quickly in search of a telephone booth. (To Be Continued)

The WOMAN'S DAY

By ALLEN S. SHER

This story ought to go over right now in these bridey days. It seems that when Mark Twain was married he was very poor. The bride's father, therefore, felt it rather necessary to give his daughter and her husband a house as a wedding present. The house was bought and furnished while the young Twains were on their wedding trip. When they returned they were met by the bride's family and some friends and driven to a magnificent house, lighted, and fully furnished.

"THE REAL PEARL"
For weeks a tray of pearls has stood in a jewelry store which I pass each day. As a matter of fact, only one of the orchid-tinged milky globules is a real pearl. The others are imitations, very lovely and very costly imitations, so lovely that a sign, asking "which is the real pearl?" offers a reward to the person who first detects it, and no one has found it yet.

"A MAN'S GAME"
One man steps out of the wrong door in a plane 4,000 feet above the English channel. At least, the man, Captain Loewenstein, is missing and probably dead. And what a do-and-uproar! Almost as much newspaper space is devoted to the death—at least, loss—of this one man as to the defeat or victory of a great battle during our war.

"TO-DAY'S WOMAN"
Mabel Walker Willebrandt seems to be the woman of the moment, the woman whom other women who seem to believe that the entire cause of their sex is furthered (whatever that cause is) by imitating her.

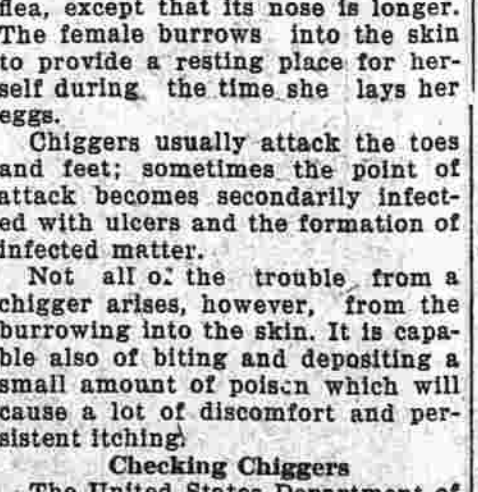

"A WOMAN'S GAME"
Courage is "something else again." Going over Niagara Falls in a rubber ball, as did Jean Laussier is the sort of thing a woman could very easily do, especially if there were little children, a sick husband, and no income, so that the vaudeville contracts would mean much to emotional relationships.

MARYE and "MOM" Their Letters

Dear Mom:
It is fun to be free again. This morning I slept late, and lay for a long time listening to the waves outside my window. Then I ordered my orange juice and toast and read the morning paper, and wondered why one couldn't just be useless and happy all the time.

Dear Mom:
I like her—her name is Alice Carver—ever so much. We rode around until we came to a very smart little tea shop, where we had tea. By this time, I knew the story of Alice's life. She is here with her father, trying to forget the man whom she loves so much, and who recently married her best friend.

MUSIC IN WISE DOSES IS CURE FOR SOME TYPES OF SICKNESS
"Music can cure some sicknesses. It helps practically all. But it must be the right kind of music to have medicinal value."
This statement was made by Mrs. Isa Maud Ilsen, director of music for the National Association for Music in Hospitals which arranges thousands of ward concerts all over the country. For 30 years Mrs. Ilsen has studied the effects of music on the sick.

Cute in a Baby Awful at Three—and it's Dangerous—by Ruth Brittain
Thumb sucking does look sweet in a baby, but it is disgusting in a three-year-old and sometimes it hangs on until fifteen or sixteen! The habit may cause an ill-formed mouth or induce adenoids; and it always interferes with digestion.

Champ Long-Distance Talkers Get Thrill Plugging At Job

BY HORTENSE SAUNDERS

New York—"Hello, Berlin! Hello, Berlin!" Her voice rang clear over the air in the Washington hotel where she was speaking.

The champion long-distance talker of the United States was on the wire. She is Florence Sullivan, who has a "voice with a smile."

"It never ceases to be a thrill," said Florence, as soon as the man in Detroit, Mich., had been connected with a business associate in Berlin, Germany.

"I never cease to be a thrill," said Florence, as soon as the man in Detroit, Mich., had been connected with a business associate in Berlin, Germany.

Linguists Are in Big Demand
The girl who wins second honors in the conversational marathon is Jean Fiorratta.

Every call, too, must be heard by an official "listener-in" whose job it is to keep track of any repetitions, static, or any difficulties that may occur, and to make due allowance for them on the final bill.

One now can talk from any telephone in the United States to any in England, Germany, Paris, Stockholm, The Hague, Amsterdam, Brussels or Antwerp.

The average number of foreign calls is about 60 a day, Miss Sullivan said. "They are necessarily limited since we have only one line. Another will be finished soon; then our capacity will be doubled."

Big Business Men Frequent Callers
Stock brokers, bankers, motion picture stars, and Americans visiting Europe are the most frequent long-distance talkers.

The first time one talks over the Atlantic, he usually is so thrilled over the idea that he forgets what he wants to say.

DIED OF HEART DISEASE
Middletown, Conn., July 13.—Coroner L. A. Smith today issued a finding in the case of Jesse S. Majors, who died in a New London hospital one week after an accident in New London when his car struck a telephone pole after leaving the highway.

NAMES COMMITTEES FOR NOTIFICATIONS

Washington, July 13.—Chairman Work of the Republican national committee today appointed a committee of ten to arrange for the Hoover notification August 11.

W. H. Crocker, California. Ralph E. Williams, Oregon. Dr. E. B. Clements, Missouri. R. B. Cresser, Texas.

W. W. Auerbury, Pennsylvania. Mrs. D. P. Clark, California. Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, New York. Miss Bina M. West, Michigan. Mrs. W. E. Kenner, North Carolina.

Mrs. Paul Rowman, North Carolina. A similar committee was appointed to arrange for the Curtis notification at Toledo, August 18.

ENDURANCE TEST
There are all kinds of endurance tests—for automobiles, airplanes, marathons, dancers, pie-eaters and so on.

At Peterson's farm in Wapping, we will have summer squash, beets, lettuce, parsley and cabbage. From Paggoilli—Blueberries—if it doesn't rain today and just the finest Telephone Peas.

Shoulders of Lamb, boned and rolled. Also nice lamb cut for small family—any size 3 to 7 lbs. 4 to 5 pounder makes a nice size. Serve with Mint sauce, 33c jar or Mint Jelly, Baked Brown Potatoes and Gravy, etc.

Again tomorrow we will run a special on milk fed fowl $1.79 each (and they are A-1 birds).

NEW POTATOES 33c peck
From Peterson's farm in Wapping, we will have summer squash, beets, lettuce, parsley and cabbage.

KIDS OVERRULE REC AS TO HOSE PARTY

About 200 kiddies assembled last night in a motley array of bathing suits at the Nathan Hale playgrounds on Spruce street demanding a "hose party."

The kids decided that yesterday was a hot day. The Recreation Center authorities had decided that it wasn't hot enough.

ARREST DRIVER
Norwalk, Conn., July 13.—A week of detective work by local police today resulted in the arrest of Alfred Comstock, 22, of East Norwalk, as the driver of a car that last Friday hit two local girls, injured them so severely as to put them in the hospital for several days, and went along without stopping.

BEWARE BLACK SPOTS ON ROSE, SAYS EXPERT

New Jersey Pathologist Tells How to Prevent Spread of Disease in Plants.

Black spot on roses is one of the most difficult diseases of roses to control, reports R. P. White, assistant plant pathologist at the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, New Brunswick.

Once a rose bush is infected with black spot 100 per cent control of the disease is almost never obtained. Not only does the disease cause circular black spots on the rose leaves, yellowing of foliage and premature defoliation, but indirectly it is the cause of a large amount of winter injury.

Infected Leaves
Picking off infected leaves reduces the sources from which infection comes, and is a good practice to follow.

Bordeaux mixture and ammoniacal copper carbonate sprays have not been as effective against black spot disease as the sulphur-lead dust. Moreover, Bordeaux sprays stain the foliage rather badly.

HOLD FIVE SUSPECTS

New York, July 13.—Five young men, arrested by police at the Hotel Prinsament this morning, were held for questioning in connection with the recent murder of Frankie Yale, Brooklyn underworld king.

A quantity of opium also was seized, police announced. The men said they were Moe Liss, 27, wanted in connection with two holdups; Sam Cohen, 23; Sam Stern, 24; George Allen and Harry Klein. All live in New York.

ROCKVILLE LINE A LOSS

Hartford, Conn., July 13.—The one train a day that the New Haven road operates between Hartford and Rockville yielded the sum of $283 in the thirty-one days of last May, according to figures presented the Public Utilities Commission today by railroad officials who asked the right to do away with the train. The railroad's own bus line is furnishing adequate service, the officials say. No opposition developed before the commission, which will issue its decision later.

One day a Jew went to visit his married son. His daughter-in-law was rocking the baby to sleep, singing "bye lo, bye, lo, bye, lo."
"Ah, ha," he said, "Rachel you teach the boy to buy low now, and I'll teach him to sell high when I get him in the business with me."

VARNEY AND EDGERTON HEAD THE DRY TICKET

Chicago, July 13.—William F. Varney, of Rockville Center, Long Island, N. Y., and James A. Edgerton, Alexandria, Va., are the standard-bearers for the Prohibition Party in the presidential race.

Mr. Varney, field secretary for the party in New Jersey from 1912 to 1919, was nominated for president, and Mr. Edgerton, a former Populist and Independence League worker, was nominated for vice-president at the closing session late yesterday.

The final session of the convention, at which only 111 delegates were present to vote, was riotous. A minister delegate struck another on the jaw; one withdrew from the party, declaring it had "sold out;" a brief but energetic campaign was waged for Herbert Hoover, Republican nominee, who received 45 votes, and Al Smith, Democratic nominee, was put in nomination.

Rev. A. D. Lindsay of Britton, Okla., struck another man, said to be an outsider, because the latter accused Will D. Martin, prohibition candidate for U. S. Senator from New Jersey, of voting for Herbert Hoover.

John B. Hammond, former chief of police of Des Moines, Iowa, the delegate who quit the party, threw his badge on the speakers' table with the charge that "the party has been betrayed."

You usually can tell a Scotchman by what he reads. Just take a peek over his shoulder and see if it isn't free verse.

SENSE and NONSENSE

New Servant—Can I have a different clock put in me bedroom, mum? Mistress—Why, I put that clock in your room for a special purpose. It's an alarm clock. New Servant—Well, mum, I can't stand it. It woke me up this morning. One—'Did you fill your date last night?' More—'I hope so. She ate everything in sight.' In Chicago a crooked surgeon tried to straighten a girl's crooked legs and now he's headed straight for the penitentiary. The only things the average American male really fears are snakes, mad dogs and butlers. You can bring to your office and put in a frame, a motto as fine as its paint; but if you're a crook while you're playing the game, the motto won't make you a saint.

LETTER GOLF

HERE'S A SHADY ONE SHADE TREES are pretty welcome during the hot summer months and today's letter golf puzzle is about them. Par is 10, but perhaps you can beat the solution by another.

Letter golf grid with the word 'SHADE' in the top row and 'TREES' in the bottom row.

THE RULES 1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN. 2—You can change only one letter at a time. 3—You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count. 4—The order of letters cannot be changed. If woman's intuition is so wonderful, then why are the divorce courts so busy?

THE TINYMITES

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE 'This is no race,' one Tiny said. 'Why, neither zebra is ahead. We'll have to call it even, and we all can say we won. I think we've covered lots of ground and now we'd better turn around. It's getting pretty late 'cause I can hardly see the sun.' 'Oh, we'll get back before it's dark,' said Clowzy. 'This is quite a lark... I'd rather keep on going straight for just a little while. These little zebras always roam. They surely know the way back home. And even though we have to walk, it's only 'bout a mile.' So, on your rode, quite satisfied to get off on out of their ride. And then they reached a real dense woods. The zebras raced right in. 'Oh, look!' cried Clowzy, as they ran. 'Right up ahead, the hunter man.' And then they reached the hunter, and he said, 'Where have you been?' 'Why, we've been hiding all about. We really had a...
