

HOOVER PLANS REAL RELIEF FOR FARMERS

Nominee of G. O. P. to In- corporate it in His Ac- ceptance Speech—Meets Grain Belt Leaders.

Aboard Hoover Special. Enroute to Palo Alto, Cal., July 19.—Herbert Hoover will present a specific farm relief program to American agriculture in his speech accepting the Republican presidential nomination at Palo Alto, Calif., August 11. It was learned today on good authority.

Hoover will pledge himself to devote his best administrative efforts toward solving the problem, show that he recognizes agriculture as the basic industry of the conditions and propose immediate relief through the development of inland waterways, the adjustment of freight rates on farm products and the orderly marketing of surpluses with government aid without invoking the equalization fee.

This meeting, it was revealed as the Hoover Special rolled down out of the Rockies; and left the green fields of the Agricultural belt far behind. All through the wheat and corn belts, he demonstrated to visitors aboard his train an intimate knowledge of agricultural conditions and a disposition to solve the farm problem.

Farm Company
Hoover had farm company clear across the western prairies. First Gov. John H. Hammill, of Iowa came aboard, talked farm problems to him, and called him the next president of the United States. Then, Gov. Adam McMullen, of the Nebraska Insurgent, joined the nominee. McMullen declared Hoover showed a "sympathetic attitude toward solving the farm problem" and predicted Nebraska would go safely Republican, along with the rest of the farm belt states.

A slightly different problem confronted Hoover once he entered the western mountain ranges. In Wyoming, Gov. Frank D. Emerson told him of the industry's problems, all closely linked to those of the wheat and corn states.

Emerson boarded the train last night at Cheyenne. The nominee was to hear more of this problem on reaching Ogden, today, where Gov. Fred B. Balzar, of Utah, will meet him.

This trip across the country, meeting people by the hundreds and conferring with Republican leaders, has broken down much of the Hoover reserve. Late yesterday, he sauntered into Ogden, where newspapermen were gathered for the first time since leaving Washington, engaged them in friendly conversation. He explained why he is a shy and reticent man. It

SMITH WILL STRESS VIEWS ON DRY LAW Never Urged Repeal of 18th Amendment and Is No Ad- vocate of Saloon.

Albany, N. Y., July 19.—In his speech formally accepting the Democratic presidential nomination, Gov. Al Smith will stress his stand on prohibition, emphasizing that he never has urged repeal of the 18th amendment but that he feels a proper modification on the Volstead law would do away with bootlegging and its attendant evils, according to his close friends.

The governor is said to feel that despite all he has said in the past, his views on prohibition are largely misunderstood by voters of the country because of statements issued from time to time in the past by his political enemies and various reform organizations.

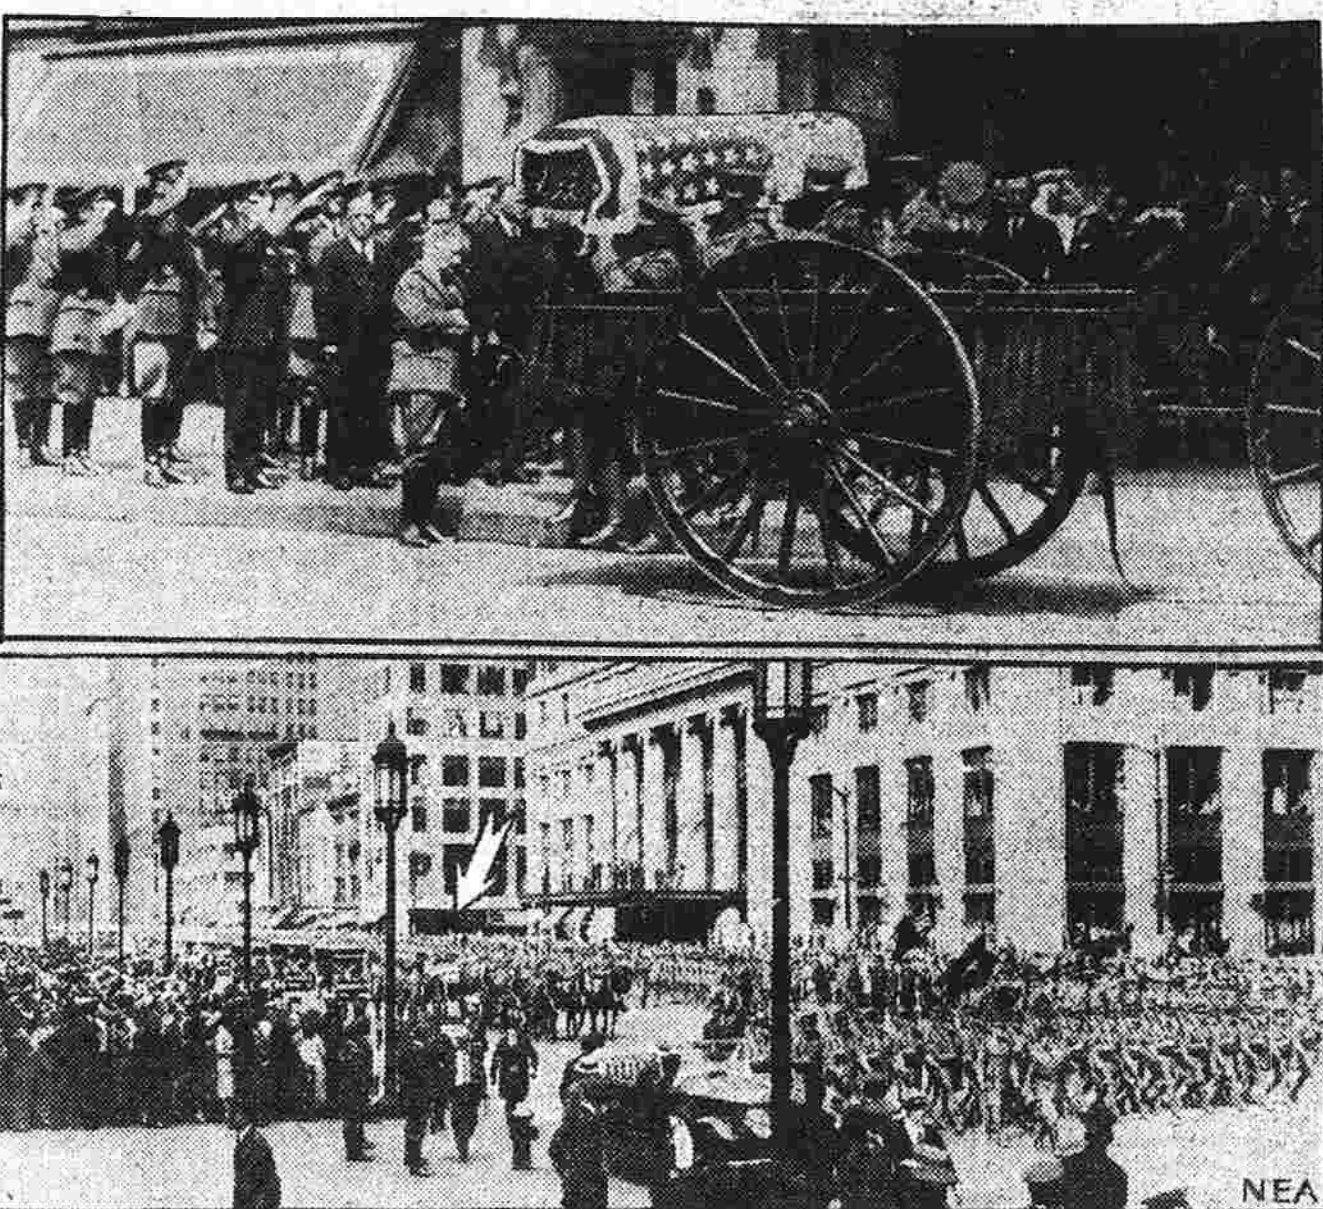

There is one thing more than any other, which arouses Gov. Smith, and that is to be represented as a friend of the saloon. Time without number, his advisers point out, the governor has declared in public speeches and statements that he is absolutely opposed to the return of the old-time saloon.

Lost Temper
Only once since his nomination has the governor given away to his feelings and that was when he was pictured by William Allen White, Kansas editor, as a friend of the saloon. The governor has made up his mind, however, that he will not be drawn into an argument with anyone over prohibition until after he has stated his position on this subject in his notification speech.

The belief is daily becoming stronger at the capital that the governor will make prohibition one

When Gotham Paid Its Last Tribute to Carranza

Six days after Captain Emilio Carranza began what was to have been a triumphal non-stop flight from New York to Mexico City, his body was started on a slower, sadder journey to the same destination. Here is pictured America's last tribute to the memory of Mexico's foremost aviator, killed when his plane crashed in New Jersey. The upper photo shows the caisson, draped with flags of both nations, being placed on a caisson before a group of high military and government officials. Below is a view of the caisson, 10,000 picked troops marched in the procession.

Lake Congamond Tragedy, Accident, Alcorn Declares

Hartford, Conn., July 19.—There is no need, apparently, for authorities of Hartford county to take any action in the cases of Helen Welch, Mary Sinsky and James Clark, all of Hartford, who were drowned in Lake Congamond Monday night, according to Hugh M. Alcorn, state's attorney, whose office has been investigating the affair since the tragedy occurred.

The state's attorney today declared his office was still looking into the tragedy but so far he has found nothing that would warrant him in taking criminal action. The affair seems to have been entirely accidental, he said, resulting from an innocent pleasure trip to the lake.

"DOG JUDGE" TO HEAR COMPLAINTS OF BITES

Chicago, July 19.—Such is the rapidity of increase of "dog cases" in Chicago that Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal Court has ordered a special "Dog Judge" to hear the cases.

He appointed Judge Charles McKinley to hear all complaints dealing with dog bites, stolen dogs, strayed dogs and other how-wow troubles.

VESSEL CAPSIZES; SAILOR MISSING

Mystery of Wrecked Schooner in Calm Water, Solved by Coast Guard.

Newport, R. I., July 19.—The air of mystery which hung about the capsizing of the two masted schooner found floating half submerged in the calm waters of Narragansett Bay today was dissipated when the vessel was found to be the Eliza heard out of Providence for New York wrecked on the rocks off Pine Tree Point when she swerved in attempting to avoid an incoming vessel.

This was ascertained when Hahn Janu, the surviving member of its crew of two, was picked up by the U. S. S. Bainbridge near the scene of the wreck. The other member of the schooner's crew, J. Centu, is still missing.

The capsized boat, which was discovered early this morning only to be lost again when it drifted out to open sea, was re-located by the members of the Coast Guard but sank while being towed ashore.

When the floating hulk was first discovered by the son of the harbor master no explanation could be offered for its accident since the waters of the bay were placid. The schooner had been seen shortly before it capsized sailing out of the bay under full sail with no other ship in its immediate vicinity and the harbor master therein was at a loss to explain the wreck until Jahu was brought ashore by the Bainbridge.

COOLIDGE APPOINTMENTS
Superior, Wis., July 19.—President Coolidge today appointed William Green of Ohio, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Ellsworth W. McCullough of the District of Columbia, manager of the department of manufacturers of the United States Chamber of Commerce, to be members of the board of advisers of the United States Industrial Reformatory.

ARREST EIGHTEEN SUSPECTS IN OREGON ASSASSINATION

'Must Save Amundsen' New Order Of Soviet

Moscow, July 19.—"The Amundsen party must be saved!" This order was wireless today to the Russian ice breakers Krassin and Maligin by Serge Manneff, assistant commissioner for war, who is assisting the Nobile relief work on behalf of the Soviet government.

The whereabouts of the lost Amundsen party is not known, but the order was intended to spur the commanders of the two rescue ships to use the utmost endeavors to locate and save the missing men if they were alive and adrift on ice floes any place within the area possible for the steamers to reach.

"This world renowned scientist (Captain Roald Amundsen) cannot be abandoned to the elements until every possibility of rescue has been exhausted," said Manneff.

Chief hope for possible rescue of the Amundsen group of six men if they are still alive—is placed upon the Maligin, sister ice breaker of the Krassin. The latter steamship is temporarily out of this race of mercy owing to the necessity to refuel.

A radio from the Maligin said the district southeast of Spitzbergen was being explored, but that the ship was encountering bad weather.

Brookline, Mass., July 19.—"I'm just a beginner, you know," laughed pretty Mrs. Frances W. Capper, wife of the former Harvard university track captain, when asked today if she hoped to better what she was believed to be her world's record in golf—two holes in one in succession.

"Perhaps, some day," she continued smilingly, "I'll make three holes in one in succession."

Two players in golf history have made a hole in one in the same round and one player has made a hole in one twice in one day but it remained for a "track beginner" on the links of the Chestnut Hill Golf Club to make a hole in one twice on two consecutive strokes.

Mrs. Capper told International News Service today all about her "great luck."

"I've been playing about a year," she said, "I've never played in a tournament. When I started out on the practice round at Chestnut Hill I had five strokes on the first hole.

"To the second hole was about 100 yards. A stroke from my driver sailed straight and true and the ball rolled into the cup for my first hole in one.

"Wheel!" said I, standing on the next tee. 'I'd just like to do that again!'

"I swung. The ball shot straight and true once more, and again rolled nicely from the green into the cup for my two holes in one in succession. With that I called it a day, it was pretty good, wasn't it?"

Howitzers Push Fellow Townsmen to the Limit; Big Day Tomorrow.

By Staff Correspondent
Camp Trumbull, Niantic, July 19.—Company G, Captain Herbert H. Bissell's hard-fighting Manchester boys who played a prominent part in the war maneuvers which came to a close yesterday afternoon, won further laurels later the same day when they advanced into the finals for the baseball championship of the 169th Infantry, C. N. G. by eliminating the Puckey Howitzer Company which also hails from the silk city. The score was 8 to 6.

This was the most important news in camp yesterday from a standpoint of Manchester interest. After returning at 2:30 from their three day field problem, the soldiers had the rest of the day to themselves. This morning's work consisted of drilling a war strength battalion in attack. This took place on Dury Hill east of the camp.

From Company G, three sergeants, eight corporals and 42 privates participated, while from the Howitzer Company, there were one sergeant, three corporals and twenty privates, under Lieutenant Russell B. Hathaway.

Calles Calls Slayer A Religious Fanatic

Mexico Remains Tranquil With President in Complete Control of the Situation—Body of Obregon on Way to Sonora—Congress Convened Today to Discuss Possi- bility of Keeping Calles in Power for Next Two Years; Murderer is Said to Have Confessed—Calles Issues Statement.

Eighteen arrests have been made in connection with the assassination of President-elect Alvaro Obregon, of Mexico, and the police investigation continues.

Mexico remains tranquil with President Calles in complete control of the situation.

President Calles issued an official statement attributing the assassination of Gen. Obregon to a religious fanatic.

The body of the slain president-elect was due at Cajeme, Sonora, some time today.

Despite his disinclination to do so, President Calles may continue in power until Dec. 1, 1930. Adherents of Obregon in the Mexican Congress summoned a special meeting here this afternoon to discuss the possibility of applying the constitutional amendment lengthening the presidential term from four years to six in the present instance. It is made ineffective at once Calles' term automatically would be lengthened two years beyond Dec. 1 next.

Gen. Obregon's body is being borne back to his home state of Sonora aboard a special train. More than 100,000 persons lined the streets between the national palace and the railroad station to view the solemn funeral cortege.

Bare headed behind the slain leader, walked President Calles. He was fully exposed to any possible bullets which might be fired from the crowd or the buildings lining the thoroughfare.

Behind him walked Ambassador Morrow. All business was suspended and all flags were at half-mast. Before being taken to the train, the body of the slain leader had been on view at the national palace.

The funeral of the same route which Obregon followed when he entered Mexico City in 1920 at the head of a triumphant army and became president of the country.

CONGRESS CONVENES

Mexico City, July 19.—Determined that the policies of the late President-Elect General Alvaro Obregon shall govern Mexico under the powerful guidance of President Calles, the Obregonists will insert today for the purpose of drawing up a resolution which, they claim, will legally permit Calles to remain in office for two years more.

The Obregonists intend to use the constitutional amendment, which was passed last year for the purpose of providing Gen. Obregon with a six year term in office, as their vehicle for keeping Calles at the helm of the government.

They point out that the amendment as it now stands fails to make any mention of when it shall go into effect. They intend to rush through Congress a transitory article to the amendment which will insert the date "November 30th, 1928."

As President Calles' term of office does not end until December 1, they say the amendment will thus apply to his present term and he will be able to continue as chief executive for two more years.

Calles as Leader
When they meet this afternoon, the Obregon Bloc will first pass a resolution acknowledging Calles the standard bearer of the social revolutionary cause. Then they plan to call a special session of Congress at an early date, probably next week, for the purpose of putting through the transitory article.

The Obregon Bloc controls Congress, having a large majority. If all its members agree to this plan at this afternoon's meeting, there is nothing to stop it from going through except the refusal of Calles to agree to the plan.

To persuade Calles to agree to the plan and abandon his intention to retire Dec. 1, the Obregonist leaders plan to make it plain to him that they feel that only he can carry on the program of social reform which he initiated in the last four years as well as the program of material reconstruction, which includes the building of roads and irrigation projects now under way.

The leaders of the Obregon Bloc further are convinced that they will be able to convince Calles that he must serve on because the cause for which he has fought for many years now stands without any other understanding leader.

The Obregonists further intend to urge Calles to agree to stay on with the argument that his continuance would be viewed favorably by the United States.

HOW DOES PEGGY JOYCE FASCINATE ALL THE MEN?

Woman Writer Starts Out to Find the Answer—Here Is the Result of Her Inves- tigations.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The announcement a few days ago that the famous Peggy Hopkins Joyce had become engaged again to the wealthy Lord Northesk, of England set feminine tongues wagging all over the country "How does Peggy do it?" was the general theme.

International News Service sent Ruth Ridenaar, well-known writer, to find out from Peggy's friends, the secret of her charm.

HUGE GATHERING AT GLOBE HOLLOW

Nearly 5,000 Watch Water Sports at South End Bath- ing Resort.

A crowd, estimated by those at the Globe Hollow swimming pool to number 5,000, lined the banks at Globe Hollow last night to witness the program of water sports and to listen to the music of an orchestra.

The program was carried out in full and in addition to those who were taking part in the water events hundreds took advantage of the opportunity for a swim. The pond, from the platform to the east shore and to the bath houses, was dotted with bathers, most of whom remained in the water throughout the events. There was a big scramble by two-thirds of them when the ducks were turned loose and the chase started across the pond. It was by far the largest crowd that ever attended a meet of any kind at the Globe Hollow pool.

Encouraged by the success of last night's venture the Recreation Center's officials are already planning another program of sports later in the season.

The lot between the bath house and Spring street was used for the parking of automobiles and by 6:30 before the events started, the space was well-filled. Cars still continued to come, and not only was all the parking space taken, but cars were parked in the Mount Nebo lot and along the road. Yet there was no accident of any kind even though no arrangements had been made in advance for the handling of such a crowd.

Before the water sports were started the crowd was amused by the antics of those in the water. It seemed that about every boy and girl in town between three and fifteen had decided to go bathing. The manner in which little tots cut

One Policeman Killed and Many Wounded—Martial Law Is Declared.

Havana, July 19.—A state of virtual martial law prevails today at Santiago de Cuba following a fight between police and soldiers in which one policeman was killed and many were wounded on both sides.

The trouble began apparently when soldiers began jeering a police sergeant. In the fighting that followed missiles of all kinds were used. Of the wounded soldiers and policemen one policeman is in serious condition and may die.

Mayor Amas ordered the commander of the military district to take charge of the city. All the policemen were ordered into the central station where they were put under military guard.

The national government rushed officers to Santiago to make an official investigation.

executive officer, Lieutenant Thomas J. Quish was one of his lieutenants. Lieutenant Edgar M. Thompson was an officer in Company B, which was commanded for the occasion by Captain Harry Schwoisky. A war strength battalion consists of 28 officers, 824 enlisted men and 54 horses and mules.

A regimental parade was held this afternoon preparatory to the review of the regiment by Governor Trumbull tomorrow afternoon. Both Company G and the Howitzer Company with Captains Herbert H. Bissell and Allan L. Dexter were included.

In connection with the program for Governor's Day, Manchester persons should bear in mind the fact that they are cordially welcome to come to Camp Trumbull to witness the program. As stated recently in The Herald, no printed invitations are being sent out this year. Manchester people were invited through the columns of this newspaper. The program starts at 2 o'clock daylight saving time.

Good Ball Game The baseball game between the two Manchester companies was a humdrum. In fact, it was much closer than was anticipated. The Bissellites plainly had a better team on paper, but the Howitzers almost put them out of the running with their 37 millimeters and trench mortars. Company G took a commanding lead at the start, scoring a run in the first and three more in the fourth, but then Dexter's men came back strong, tying the score twice before they finally succumbed to defeat.

Corporal Ray Holland, speed ball artist, started on the hill for the G boys, but was forced to retreat in the sixth when Private Novak crashed out a long double to left that knotted the count for the second consecutive time. Private Elmo Mantelli took his place and saved the day for G with his southpaw slants. With Novak perched on third in the last of the sixth waiting to score the run that would have put the Howitzers ahead, Mantelli forced Anderson to fly to deep center and then managed to get through the field with a few breathless moments. He struck out Chartier and Kasulki to end the game with Vitullo on base.

Holland was wild at the start, but settled down to a steady ball until the fifth when he started to blow badly. He retired thirteen men on strikes before weakening. "Bunnie" Kasulki also was effective, getting nine on strikes, but walking seven. This was the cap to his team's chances. The hitting of Ed Von Deck, G's catcher, was the feature in this respect. He poked out three safe blows and got on once by an error. Billy Skoneski, the power catcher, and the Howitzer Company, was the only other man to make more than one hit. He got two.

G scored in the first inning when Crockett walked, stole second, took third on a hit and then pitched a passed ball. In the fourth, Kearns and Wolfram hit singles and after Crockett and DeH. A had popped up, Von Deck cleared the sacks with a triple and scored on a passed ball. The Howitzer came to life in the first of the fifth, scoring four runs to knot the count. Skoneski scored when Anderson's grounder to Frey proved a futile fielder's choice. Connelly knotted the count with a timely double. Vitullo grounded out and Chartier was a strike victim.

Stolen Home Company G came back with two runs in its half of the fifth. Pentland walked, stole second, took third on an error. Meanwhile Frey walked a stole second, Pentland stole home being aided by a short passed ball. Kearns struck out for the second time and Wolfram walked. With Crockett at bat, the Howitzer battery held a brief confab half way between the box and the plate during which Frey scored from third. No "time out" had been asked or declared, so the run was allowed.

The Howitzer came back fighting mad in the sixth. Kasulki opened with a single and scored on Skoneski's single after Brennan had slid out. Then Doran struck out but Novak tied the score by chasing home Skoneski with a long double. At this point, Mantelli replaced Holland and Anderson flew to center.

Bissell's men won the game in the last of the sixth. Crockett opened with a double, a fly that dropped back of third. He scored on Von Deck's third hit after De Han had grounded out. Mantelli made the factors with a net lip through the box that scored Von Deck. Holland and Pentland fanned and then Mantelli staved off a final Howitzer rally by fanning Chartier and Kasulki. The summary:

Table with columns for COMPANY G (8) and HOWITZER (6), listing players and their statistics (AB, R, H, PO, A, E).

"DRY" DEMOCRATS GATHER IN SOUTH

Organize to Fight Al Smith Below the Mason and Dix-on Line.

Ashville, N. C., July 19.—The conference of Southern Dry Democrats here to perfect a plan for a revolt against the Democratic national ticket, today settled down to the business of perfecting an organization for every state below the Mason and Dixie line.

The only ripple of discord came when Dr. E. O. Watson of Columbia, S. C., and Dr. J. Gentry of Spartanburg, S. C., walked out of the conference room after their demand for organization of a third party was turned down.

They explained that in South Carolina to vote for the Republican presidential ticket would also mean voting for the entire state ticket.

Both Dr. Barton and Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of Richmond, Va., sponsor of the gathering, expressed themselves as satisfied with the attendance and the attitude of the delegates.

The fact that I will not support Al Smith in no way questions my Democracy," Barton asserted. "Our party has been delivered into the claws of the Tammy Tiger, red with the blood of every Democratic candidate for president for generations."

Delegates are present from Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, and West Virginia.

Waterbury, Conn., July 19.—Powerful fumes from chemicals overcame fifteen women when a plant in which the chemicals were made caught fire from an adjoining building in Brooklyn today. Eight of the women were removed to a hospital and the others were revived at the scene of the fire.

The gases were produced when fire and water-reached a storeroom in a building occupied by the four seasons fertilizer company.

The fire started in a one-story frame building next to the chemical factory.

HOW DOES PEGGY JOYCE FASCINATE ALL THE MEN?

their behavior, and appearance — and everybody would'st more. Elinor Glynn explained it by a two letter word which took you around in circles and meant nothing. Others explain it with longer words which are no more help because so many ineffectual women have "beauty," "charm," "personality," "brilliance," "sex appeal," or "what have you" whose behavior does not convince the world as that of these few has.

Secret System It looks as though there is some secret system, some abacandabra to account for Peggy's series of "successful"—from a worldly viewpoint—marriages. All women want cream and incidentally diamonds. From the feminine viewpoint Peggy Joyce is a total success. The average woman feels lucky if she gets milk and one man to pay the bill for it.

Peggy herself has never been able to explain how she does it. She is unaware of her own gifts, unconscious of the fact that she is unusual, and does not realize that her attainments are conspicuous. Her lack of self-consciousness and contentment is her charm.

Texas Speakies The Queen of the Night Clubs has a great admiration for the Queen of Marriage Licenses. "Because she's a great girl," Texas Guitman said. "She has more charm than any woman I've seen. She's irresistible. She's lovely."

"I think the secret of her charm is her ease. She is like a spring breeze. She has many more beautiful women than Peggy in the world, but none so fascinating."

Texts introduced Peggy to Stanley Comstock, and to Lord Northesk, she says.

Lord Northesk had a ticket for Hollywood, she said. "When he got to the city he found that Peggy was bound for Europe, where Peggy was bound for. He'd have gone down and bought the Woolworth building if she had wanted it."

Striking Figure "There is an air about Peggy, a radiance. She doesn't need clothes. The last time she came into my club she had on a simple tailored suit. Everyone else had on gorgeous evening clothes. But she was the most striking figure in the place."

Earl Carroll took time out from rehearsing his new Vanties to analyze the mysterious essence of Peggy's talents, and to express his admiration for her. He attributed her success to the work of the gods.

"As Caruso had a God-given voice, John Singer Sargent a genius for painting, and Dempsey a natural physique, just so has Peggy been blessed with a God given gift of being charming," he said.

"Very few men are able to withstand her attraction. She is not beautiful in the perfect sense of the word," continued the expert in appraising women. "But being a double defected beauty, she is unquestionably the greatest woman of our times in being able to attract those of the opposite sex."

"Had she lived in the past she would have been a Du Barry or a Pompadour, and a hundred years from now, some great review of the future will feature Peggy as one of the gilded beauties of the 20th Century."

George Jessell of jazz singer fame, in his usual young row and tried seriously to analyze Peggy's mysterious power. "You see it's this way—Haughty Peggy—Cold as ice Peggy. Everybody knows her or would like to know her. She makes a splendid appearance. She has had the most fortunate publicity. Peggy might not like us to say this. But I know it's true—"

"I was in love with her myself once. That ice exterior of hers— it sets a man wild. Gee! he took a few turns about his dressing room and yanked his red and blue four-in-hand into position. "Peggy holds out promise of much. She makes a man hope—well, none of her marriages have lasted very long. The man who falls for Peggy may dig, dig, dig—but he never finds any fire. No warmth. Some day maybe Peggy will fall in love. Then—whzzt!"

Some years ago Walter Kingsley, well known newspaper writer, critic, and more recently publicity expert, for Ziegfeld met a girl who had a $35 a week job, in some road show. She interested him—and before long she had a $100 a week part in a Ziegfeld show. That was Peggy Hopkins Joyce.

"Why did you like her?" "Is sincere. At that time it could have been neither clothes, diamonds, reputation, publicity nor any of the splurge to which many people dismiss her later successes. "She wasn't beautiful (they all agree on that) but she was so genuine, so sincere in her devastation."

LEASH IS PUT ON THIRSTY VISITORS

Toronto, July 19.—With the great invasion of American motorists in mind, Sir Henry Drayton, chairman of the Ontario Liquor Commission, stamped a warning on liquor permits or transients. "Liquor cannot be drunk during carriage. Take purchase unopened to your home or room in your hotel. Drinking in motels strictly prohibited—punishment, fine or imprisonment."

ing eagerness to get ahead. She made no pretense about what she wanted.

"Peggy's greatest asset is that she never talks out of turn. If she has an opinion she keeps it to herself. No, she is not dumb. She is extremely clever. She knows when to be silent."

"Peggy's system is an easy one if other women want to follow it," said this veteran student of women, "her gates are let down only on that path which leads to the altar. No one can say anything against her character because after all she has been married to every man her name has ever been coupled with."

"How does it happen she has landed such wealthy and aristocratic husbands?" he was asked. "I have known all of Peggy's husbands. They are what I would call the 'defeatist' type. They have money and position but they are not Don Juans. If anything they are the other extreme. The type of men girls would ignore in a crowd. They have never conquered women or worlds or anything else. But they have money and position and that's what Peggy wants. Easy shooting for a girl with no other desires at heart."

MRS. HOOPER MOURNS PASSING OF FATHER

Enroute with Hoover Train near Ogden, Utah, July 19.—Saddened by the death of her father, Mrs. Herbert Hoover was in deep mourning today as she neared the end of the trans-continental journey with the secretary of commerce.

The Republican nominee's wife was double defected beauty, she had failed to be with her father, Charles D. Henry when he died early Wednesday. She remained in seclusion in the Hoover private car. She will make no public appearance until after recess in the Hoover home in Palo Alto, Calif., Friday forenoon.

Funeral services for Mr. Henry, who had passed his 84th birthday, will be held in the chapel of the Leland Hotel, at 2 o'clock Friday in the family plot at a local cemetery.

SLAYERS TO DIE

Albany, N. Y., July 19.—Two convicted slayers must die in the electric chair at Sing Sing under the Court of Appeals. They are: Martin Miller, negro, who in March 1928, shot and killed Helen C. Kimball, Brooklyn school teacher.

Anthony Russo, Brooklyn, killed Gesule Carbone, an aged man in an attempted holdup on the East-rn Parkway, New York City, in October, 1927.

DEP. CORONER RESIGNS

New Haven, Conn., July 19.—Col. Lewis L. Field, commander of the 102nd Infantry, Conn., resigned today as coroner for New Haven county, and James J. Corrigan, a youthful local attorney was named in his place. Corrigan acts as assistant to Eli Mix, who has been coroner nearly forty years.

GUARDSMAN BURIED

Willimantic, Conn., July 19.—Forty-eight members of Company C, 159th Infantry, Connecticut National Guard, came here today to attend the funeral of Private Wilfred Breault, who died from injuries received Sunday at Crescent Beach, when he dived into shallow water at low tide. A requiem high mass was celebrated at St. Joseph's church with burial in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Captain Ellison S. Smith and Second Lieut. Arthur J. Calses were in command of the company here.

KILLED IN PLANE CRASH Syracuse, N. Y., July 19.—One man was killed and a man and a woman are dying today as a result of an airplane crash at Minoa, just outside this city, last evening. Stewart Slayton, 27, of Tully, was instantly killed when his body was caught under the wreckage. Slayton was a passenger as was Miss Genevieve Bullard, of Minoa, who is dying. The pilot, Clarence O. Snyder of Boysens Bay, is also critically hurt. The engine of Snyder's plane went dead and the ship rolled down out of control.

MRS. KENNEDY SURE "SISTER" WAS DEAD

Mother of Noted Evangelist Tells Some More About Odd Disappearance.

Los Angeles, Calif., July 19.—"When the news was brought to me that 'sister' had been drowned, never for an instant did I disbelieve it," Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of Almer Semple McPherson, was quoted as saying in an exclusive copyrighted interview obtained in Seattle and published in the Los Angeles Evening Herald.

"I had such a fear of the water that, as I look back it seemed a premonition," she added in discussing the disappearance of her famous evangelist daughter and her reappearance at Douglas, Arizona.

She told of the search and of talk that arose concerning Kenneth G. Orr, . . . ; former radio operator at Angelus Temple.

"When this talk was at its height," the interview continued, "Orriston drove up one day in his little car to the office we had opened at the beach as headquarters."

"Meanwhile we at the temple were being deluged with anonymous letters, threats, appeals, offers of assistance and I don't know what."

Two Letters "Two letters in particular stand out in my mind as significant, and as yet I am not satisfied of their meaning."

"Some day the whole truth of this matter will come out, and with the truth will come the meaning of those letters."

Mrs. Kennedy then told of the long hunt, the memorial service held for Mrs. McPherson in the sea and finally of the news brought to her by police that the evangelist had reappeared at Douglas, Ariz.

"As soon as I was positive it was 'sister' I sent word for her not to talk. I then I took the train for Douglas. When I got there I found she had talked her head off."

"When I was alone with 'sister' I asked her to tell me what happened. She told me the same story she had told the newspapermen—a story which is familiar to everybody who has followed the case. She had been kidnaped at the beach and was taken to the hut on the desert."

REBELS HOLD UP TRAIN IN MEXICO

Laredo, Texas, July 19.—Held up for several hours while Federal troops drove off two rebel attacks after the train had been wrecked 275 miles from Mexico City, at Alcon, passengers on the Laredo-bound train today told thrilling tales of their escape from robbery and possible death. The rebels were captured by train guards, passengers said, and seven persons were slightly injured when the engine was derailed, pulling coaches over the rails.

The Pullman coach, in which 35 persons, many of them Americans, were sleeping, was saved from being precipitated down a steep embankment when it hung on a heavy water tower, passengers stated.

Rebels stormed the train about 7 o'clock Tuesday morning and fired several volleys into the passenger cars. Guards gave battle and drove off the first attack.

According to the story told by passengers, the three prisoners were executed by the Federals. The victims are said to have told their captors that their leader was a woman.

Passengers on the train indicated their belief that President Calles is in full control of the situation at Mexico City.

the water, turning on their backs and floating, indicated that Manchester's future swimmers, policemen and firemen will be able to swim—to say nothing about the girls who were also able to give a good account of themselves and show that they, too, could take care of themselves in the water.

Underwater Swim The first event of the evening was the underwater swim and as the boys dived from the platform and started towards the west shore many of the spectators became nervously anxious when the swimmers seemed to be under water far too long. But a head would pop up here and there and a boy would "blow" lustily, then hold his position until lifeguard Busch was able to mark the place. Then he would swim back. There were seven contestants in this event and the prize was won by Leonard Hicking, who swam a straight course. There was another boy too old to be eligible, who made a longer swim.

The egg-on-spoon race produced many a laugh as the boys, each with the end of a spoon in his teeth, balanced an egg on the bowl, started from the raft towards the north shore. The race soon dwindled to two, the others losing their eggs, which washed off as the boys plowed through the water. Dana Cowles won, with Joe Massaro second. Cowles swam with a slow, long stroke which prevented the egg from bobbing and as he was always far out in front he was not bothered by the wash.

Life Saving Demonstration A demonstration of life saving was given by Miss McHale and Miss Scranton, demonstrating the rear approach and head carry, the rear approach and cross chest carry, the rear approach and proper carry, front strangle and rear strangle, and the lifting of bodies from water.

Ball Race/ The ball race, boys' swimming and carrying a large rubber ball which they punted ahead of them with their heads, was won by Leonard Hicking, while the candle race, carrying lighted candles on a stick with the stick in the teeth, was won by Dana Cowles. Joe Geth was the winner of the board race, with Joe Massaro again finishing second.

Duck Race The duck race was good and funny. The first duck turned out on the pond gave about fifty swimmers a merry chase. The duck would almost be caught when it would rise from the water and fly and for a few seconds be safe. One boy was close behind as the duck approached the shore, but just before he caught up to it Bill Mack, who was on the west shore, walked in and took the duck.

The second duck was supposed to be a real wild fellow, but instead it proved to be a "dwyer" and as it kept dipping for water and gave so much time to getting a drink the swimmers were soon on it. It managed to keep away for a time, but Clifford Treat kept after it and succeeded in getting it by the leg and holding it. He got the duck.

Exhibition Diving Eddie Markie, Manchester High school diver, gave an exhibition of high diving which was well executed.

The evening's program ended with a "stump the leader" exhibition. Jake Greenberg, who had been doing the announcing, starred in this event, where he did the clowning and showed just how a dive should not be taken.

The newly organized Volunteer Life Saving Corps had members around the pond and saw to it that there was no trouble while the regular lifeguard was engaged in other work. Those who assisted last year were Dan Cowles, Joe Geth, James Dowd, Fred McCormick, Fred Sobieski, Merton Strickland, J. Ricker Small, Elvess Donohue, Alleen McHale, Alven Scranton and Viola Shearer.

BOND PAYMENT, SALARY CUTS HELP THE 9TH

Decrease of $20,000 Effected On Estimates—Allows for Tax Rate Decrease.

In chopping off $20,000 of the costs from the estimated expenses of the Ninth District for the coming year a reduction of taxes from 2 1/2 mills to 2 mills is made possible.

The reason for this is the clearing up of the floating indebtedness of the district and all payments that will be made this year will be on bonds that mature during the year.

Another saving that will be made this year is the cost of watchmen's services. The watchmen were kept as a preventive from fire and this also applied on the insurance rate.

The saving, however, was not sufficient and then again the question arose about the right of the district to pay money for watching schools on Educational Square.

CEMETERY LOTS BADLY IN NEED OF ATTENTION

Plots at Buckland Being Neglected—$100 Fund Provides Perpetual Care.

Recent visitors at the Buckland cemetery have called the attention of members of the town cemetery committee to the condition of some of the cemetery lots.

The town appropriates a fixed sum for the general care of the cemetery but this appropriation does not provide for the care of individual lots.

In many towns of the state cemetery associations are formed to take care of this work. Some time prior to the death of Judge H. O. Bowers there was talk of organizing such an association by men and women interested in the Buckland cemetery.

TOWN TO GET A SHARE IN BUS LINE TAXES

Treasurer Waddell Asks for Payment for Town Roads Use and Will Get It.

Manchester is to get a share of the money paid in taxes by the motor buses of the state. In the list of towns that were to be benefited by this income, emanating early in the month from the office of the state tax commissioner, Manchester was not included.

Town Treasurer G. H. Waddell, noticing this, wrote to Mr. Blodgett on July 11 and pointed out that the Silver Lane bus line runs over town roads from the junction of Hartford road and West Center street and asked if Manchester was not entitled to some return.

He has received a letter from Mr. Blodgett stating that in the check-up made by the latter's office it had not been disclosed that part of the route in question was over roads maintained and built by Manchester.

FIREWORKS EXPLODE

Carlstadt, N. J., July 19.—An explosion that was seen for about 20 miles and which was heard in four counties wrecked a fireworks storehouse here early today. No one was injured.

Rockville

Governor's Day at Camp Woodstock

It is expected a large number from Rockville will attend Governor's Day at Camp Woodstock on Saturday. Governor Tumbull who is a trapper will take part in the shoot. Herbert C. Barton who has now the Col. Charles H. Allen cup, will also be on hand to try his luck again. This cup becomes the property of the person winning it three times.

Union Street Home Entered The home of Mr. and Mrs. August Flis of Union street was entered some time Wednesday afternoon while Mr. and Mrs. Flis were at their work. Two gold watches, a ring and eighty dollars in money was stolen.

Friendly Class Have Good Time About thirty attended the Friendly Class picnic held yesterday at the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Liebe at Crystal Lake. The day was spent in sports and swimming. At 7 o'clock a bountiful supper was served. The party returned home at 9 o'clock.

Excursion Sunday The "New Haven" road will run an excursion to New York on Sunday, leaving Rockville at 6:50, and reaching New York at 10:25 a. m. The fare for the round trip is $3.

Coming Wedding Anthony Dobosz of Grove street announces the engagement of his daughter, Miss Stephanie Agnes Dobosz, to South Manchester, Harold Baron, son of Mrs. Esther Baron of Hartford. The wedding will take place in September.

Miss Mary Bresenham of High street who underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Rockville City hospital is getting along nicely. Mrs. Martha Schmidt of Spring street is on an extended trip to Dayton, Ohio.

Mrs. Max Kabrick, Jr., is in the Milford hospital. Mr. and Mrs. James Quinn and son have returned from a weeks vacation spent at Money Island.

Miss Corinne Scheiner of Davis avenue left today for an automobile trip through Canada. The Past Chiefs of Kiowa Council will hold a meeting Friday evening. Refreshments will be served.

Henry Schmalz of Orchard street underwent an operation at the Rockville City hospital, Wednesday morning. Dr. C. D. Deming of Hartford performed the operation.

EXPECT BIG CROWD AT SANDY BEACH

Perley Stevens Band of Boston, Fine Aggregation, to Play at New Ballroom There.

Never has there been such a celebrated dance orchestra in Rockville or vicinity will appear at Sandy Beach Ballroom, Crystal Lake, Friday evening and when it is considered that Perley Stevens and his orchestra of twelve, picked from Boston's best musicians, are in a class with Vincent Lopez, Mal Hallett, and B. A. Rolfe of New York, it is no wonder that the interest in tomorrow evening's engagement is at its height.

Seldom is such a high-class attraction brought to Connecticut and the management of the enterprising new dance palace at Crystal Lake is being congratulated on securing this famous dance band and offering the public an opportunity to enjoy the rare dance treat at no advance in price. This special attraction Friday evening will be followed on Wednesday evening July 25th with another big time program including the Hotel Biltmore orchestra of Providence, R. I. and the champion ballroom dancers of New England, winners of more than 300 dancing contests.

These two big features are being offered as a double attraction and will no doubt draw another capacity crowd to Sandy Beach at Crystal Lake. About 10,000 people have visited the beach this week, to enjoy the splendid bathing and dancing.

MRS. C. A. STAYE LOSES RIGHT LEG

Amputation Necessary When Infection Spreads From Sore on Little Toe.

Mrs. Charles A. Staye of 42 East Center street had her right leg amputated above the knee in the Hartford hospital at one o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Staye had been on a motor trip through New York State and had been bothered by a small sore on her little toe. She stopped in Syracuse, N. Y., and consulted a physician there about it. He examined it and told her there was infection present and banded it advising her to favor that foot as much as possible. Under the circumstances he deemed it best for her to discontinue her trip and to return home.

This advice Mrs. Staye followed reaching home Monday night. By that time her foot was badly swollen and pain was considerable. Dr. H. H. Boyd was called in and on examination found the foot infected. He treated it but instead of responding to treatment the member grew steadily worse.

Yesterday Doctors Tilley and Whitmore of Hartford were called for a consultation. They found that the infection was spreading so rapidly that amputation was not only deemed advisable but absolutely necessary to prevent fatal results. At 9:30 last night Mrs. Staye was rushed in Douglas's ambulance to the hospital. At 1 o'clock this morning the leg was amputated.

Mr. Staye stated today that the infection was caused by a form of gas poisoning and that up till the time of the trip Mrs. Staye had never had any trouble with that member. Mrs. Staye was resting comfortably as could be expected today.

INVITE ALL MASONS TO JOIN THE CEDARS Playground Organization is Open to Any Master Mason in Good Standing.

Although 110 names have been written in on the charter of Nutmeg Forest, No. 116, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, which is to be instituted here tomorrow night any Master Mason who desires to affiliate with the new order is heartily welcomed to do so. Any who have not been approached are urged to attend the institution and ceremonial at the Masonic Temple tomorrow night.

Delegations from Providence and Westerly are expected here tomorrow afternoon at 4:30. Upon their arrival they will give a band concert and degree team drill in Center Park. Dinner will be served in the Temple from 5:30 until 6:30 and the parade will get under way immediately afterward. More concerts and drills will follow the parade.

NEW A & P MARKET DRAWS BIG CROWDS

Depot Square Store Innovation First of Its Kind in Manchester—Plenty of Room.

Manchester's first Atlantic and Pacific Company meat market was opened today, and last night's announcement in The Herald of the opening attracted large crowds to the store during the day.

The new market is in combination with the grocery department of the Covet's Hotel property on Depot Square. The building was enlarged in order to accommodate the new market. The store is now large and has plenty of light. The grocery department has been all shifted to the left side of the store and the right side is devoted to meats and fruits.

The new meat cases are most modern and are Frigidaire equipped, the work having been done by Alfred Grezes of this town. Large well lighted display cases contain a wide variety of meats, cut and ready for instant wrapping. At the end of the store is one large icebox and a big display case for fresh fish. A wide variety of fish is displayed in a neat and attractive manner.

One of the most striking features of the new store on its opening day was the handsome window display of fruits. Oranges and watermelons predominated and the effect was most pleasing.

DAM ACCIDENT DISCLOSES PLAN TO OPEN MILL

giving away of the dam was imminent. Diver's Water Goodhind ran into the mill, opened the water wheel gates and blocked the wheel so that the water would rush straight through when diverted into that channel. He then went over to the opposite side of the dam and opened the waste gates, thus allowing all water entering to pass out through the overflow.

Goodhind then returned to the dam and opened the sluiceway to let the water already bearing on the dam flow down the flume through the water wheel and out into the stream bed again, thus relieving pressure on the dam.

Gratings Jammed Due to the fact that the mill has been idle for nearly three years, weeds, sticks and sludge had gathered in the pond and when the flume was opened this debris was carried by the current down onto the sluiceway gratings. In a few minutes this waste had piled up on the gratings so that it practically stopped the flow of water through that channel. Meanwhile the water had eaten a larger hole and was rapidly gaining headway.

Goodhind got a rake and was attempting to clean off the grating so the flow of water would resume through that channel when the planking gave way under him. He saved himself from dropping into the flume by catching hold of the wrecked planking. Madison and some of the officials saw Goodhind's predicament and hauled him back up onto solid footing again.

Goodhind's clothes were badly torn, both shins from ankle to knee were barked and his right shoulder and side were badly wrenched. Today, Mr. Goodhind was fairly comfortable and was still on the job and seemed to be bothered more by the fact that the small hole opened in the fall than by his injuries although he could scarcely move his right arm and was pretty well lamed up.

The emergency methods adopted to save the dam were not wholly availing and at 6 o'clock last night the war had eaten a three foot hole. By this morning the entire west side of the dam was gone. When it was seen that the dam was falling and was being washed to Holyoke, Mass., for the American Writing Paper Company's engineers to come down and take charge of whatever reconstruction would be necessary.

Work of Muskrats Andrew Jackson, chief of the crew sent down from Holyoke by the American Company, said that evidence he saw today would cover the leak in the dam was caused by the burrowing of muskrats. This is a risk that cannot be avoided in dams of sand, log and rock construction.

The engineers were erecting a coffer dam opposite the break this morning to block the water from flowing through the wrecked part of the original dam. As soon as this is completed the work of rebuilding the dam will be started.

COST OF WAR TO U. S. OVER 47 BILLIONS

is $35,119,622,000, by the time the public debt is liquidated. This does not include future cost of maintaining disabled war veterans or other expenses of the Veterans Bureau.

Only four government departments reduced costs in 1923. Congress practiced economy and its expenses amounted to $16,402,000, a reduction of $3,000,000. Operation of the White House cost $589,497, a cut of $23,000. State Department expenses were $11,607,000, a reduction of $2,000,000 and those of the Interior $289,000, a cut of $4,000,000.

PLATFORM MAKING

The Republican national convention at Kansas City and the Democratic national convention at Houston each drew up and adopted an alleged platform, after much labor and more or less tribulation.

Candidate Hoover and Candidate Smith are now hard at work on the real platforms of their parties.

Fortunately it is not likely that either candidate will indulge in the guffooning and generalizations which on so many important points were substituted by the conventions for sturdy declarations of conviction.

We are under the impression that the manner of expression of his convictions by Mr. Hoover will cause a considerable amount of surprise.

As for Gov. Smith he has already turned a straddling platform into a wot one. He will probably correct a good many other wobbles in that structure.

BASQUE OBREGON

The tragic death of Alvaro Obregon, president-elect of Mexico, discloses that an assumption as to his ancestry, very common in this country, is wholly erroneous.

It develops that there isn't even a grain of truth in this guess. The name Obregon is essentially Spanish and the ancient forebears of the dead leader were Basque, though the family has been in Mexico for a century.

And this touches one of the most absorbingly interesting ethnological puzzles in the world. The Basques are perhaps the oldest homogeneous people in Europe.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER. Washington, July 19.—For the very first time, the wets and dries are going to fight out their row on a national scale.

Prohibition is the big issue. Both parties stand for peace, happiness, prosperity and little else.

Smith is his own platform. Both wets and dries are reminding everyone of that. Both have been asserting confidently that a national referendum would uphold them.

The election is not likely to decide anything. Plainly or otherwise, other factors may prove to have exerted the balance of power.

But Smith's hope for success are predicated on holding the dry solid south in the Democratic column.

Further, though Smith is sworn to enforcement of the law if elected, the dries believe he would appoint wets to important enforcement posts.

At the moment interest centers on what the league can do to the Democratic party.

Even if Smith doesn't win, a permanent feud between the league and Democracy might develop which would continue to identify the league with the G. O. P.

tion Amendment. It probably won't come out for Smith. Most of its directors are Republicans.

The wets think they're on a rising tide; the dries say they're on their last legs. Everyone was surprised by the narrowness of the dry margin in the recent North Dakota referendum.

Many dries are dissatisfied; some are disgusted with their leadership. Smith has an opportunity to promise a new deal. He has already denounced the old saloon.

But if he hopes to appeal to many of the dissatisfied or disgusted dries he will have to offer them something concrete—something that will be obviously free from spite than the old system or present conditions.

THE ANSWER Here is the answer to the Letter Golf puzzle on the comic page: STAR, SEAR, BEAR, BEAT, BEST, BUST, DUST.

Widows in a section of New Guinea cover themselves with pipeclay and mourn their husbands for a year.

New York, July 19.—Manhattanites are self-sentenced slaves to the conventions. They seem invariably to place their social customs before their common comforts.

Given a sizzling hot day on Main Street, and you'll see the boys puffing along the sidewalks in shirt-sleeves and suspenders. Given a sizzling hot day in New York and you can count the courageous men who dare remove their coats. They will be, for the most part, laborers, whose coarser appearance is more or less commonplace.

The "white collared" workers of the offices, banks and professions are the most rigid sticklers in such matters. They seem to possess a consuming fear of "doing the wrong thing."

Every New York pet store displays a liberal variety of snakes—from rattlers to black snakes. "Just who buys them, and why, I have never been able to learn. And yet, inquiries from three dealers resulted in the information that they sell quite well. The dealers had no idea of where one might keep a snake.

Cats are least in demand of all pets, I am told. Perhaps this is due to the fact that the streets are littered with stray felines, and every apartment dweller has at least one yowling alley cat at the doorway.

Quite the thing to do, just now, is to take the dogs out walking on the roof. With the roof pent-house

However, I recall no city in which the men seemed more fearful of removing their coats. They tell me that a westerner who dared get down to his shirt-sleeves in a mid-town hotel lobby ran such a gauntlet of staring eyes that he quickly put his coat on again.

Two young things were talking in the lobby of a theater on Broadway wherein has been appearing a slightly risqué play. "I hardly think this is the sort of thing to which a girl could safely bring her mother. Do you?" "Of course not. The old folks would never understand."

London.—The conviction that America's phenomenal prosperity is not transient, but that it will last for another century at least, was expressed by Alfred C. Bosson, the well-known British architect, in an interesting article appearing in the "Daily Express" here.

Bosson has been intimately concerned with America's building activities for the last twenty-five years. He gives credit to British workmanship for a great deal of America's prosperity.

"The question of America's prosperity," Bosson declares, "is one that intrigues the whole civilized world today. It has been aided to a large extent by British inspired craftsmanship, plus the application of her own scientific methods in dealing with all of her workers."

ADEQUATE DORMITORIES FOR YALE FRESHMAN IN NEW BUILDINGS SOON

New Haven, Conn.—Yale University is planning to give adequate dormitory rooms to its freshman students. President James R. Angell, in discussing the situation among freshmen, says: "It is to be hoped we can very shortly find the means to erect several residential quadrangles, housing perhaps 15 to 22 men each, where our Freshmen can be brought into living groups of more reasonable size and afforded more satisfactory accommodations."

HEALTH DIVIDENDS (11)

Continuing our discussion of "Health Dividends" from yesterday.

In order to explain to you in a very definite way just what I consider a good regime for a successful life, I am going to give you some instructions which, if carefully observed and followed, will undoubtedly be helpful.

Upon arising in the morning it is a good plan to take about ten minutes time to perform some vigorous calisthenics. Do these exercises before an open window (in which the neighbors are not looking) and then take a cold shower bath after you have become thoroughly warmed with the exercises.

Your breakfast should consist of one or two eggs prepared in any manner, except by frying, two or three pieces of Melba toast, which is prepared by cutting white bread one-fourth of an inch thick and toasting it in the oven until it is a golden brown all the way through. This toast should not be buttered until it is to be eaten. In addition you may choose one of the following stewed fruits: prunes, pears, apricots, figs, raisins, peaches, or ripe figs. Use only the pure, sun-dried, un sulphured fruits. An average of five prunes or an equal quantity of the other foods is sufficient to obtain the greatest value. These fruits must be prepared and served without cream or sugar, except the ripe figs on which you may have a little cream but no sugar.

After eating, it is better to spend a few minutes in relaxation or reading some light literature such as the morning paper. If possible, it is better to have regular hours of work, and one should not be afraid to overwork within definite limited hours.

For luncheon one may use one or more of the succulent non-starchy vegetables that are so prevalent on the market at the present season. The best of these are celery, asparagus, spinach, small string beans, summer squash, cucumbers, egg plant, beet tops, small beets, small carrots, small turnips, pumpkin, lettuce, okra, chayotes, oyster plant, mallow, kale or zucchini. These vegetables should be cooked in plain water and seasoned only with butter and a little salt after being cooked and when ready to serve. One may also have a choice of any of these vegetables as a raw salad. Ripe olives and alligator pears or avocados make good additions. I do not advise the use of sour salad dressings since they cause gas with most people. One may, however, use a small amount of olive oil if desired.

It is better to do your exercises before eating and relax after eating. Work as hard as you wish during the afternoon, but make it a rule to stop at a definite hour if it is possible.

It is a good plan to walk home after work or to at least cover from three to five miles every day, even though you may have been walking during your working hours. In addition, use some calisthenics or exercises, trying to work up a good sweat through the exercising, and taking a cold shower afterwards. Next, lie in bed and relax for about a half hour and then change into fresh clothes for dinner. You will feel an abundance of health and vitality after following this regime for a few weeks.

Your dinner should consist of one of the good proteins such as beef, mutton, rabbit, chicken, fish or fowl, using one one-fourth to a half pound, and the choice of one or more of the cooked non-starchy vegetables which are listed for your luncheon, and a choice of any of the raw salad vegetables. You may also have a dish of Jello, stewed fruit, or ice cream for dessert.

Your evening should be spent in some type of recreation, such as reading, conversation, or attending the theatre. You owe it to both yourself and your family to take in a good show once or twice weekly. Do not work during the evenings. You will have better success with your business if you relax and save your strength to concentrate during your working hours.

Try these suggestions which I have given you and I am sure that you will notice an improvement of my patients tell me that after they have gained their health they are able to do five or six times as much as they were capable previously, and in many instances their incomes and salaries have increased both physically and mentally. Many in a like proportion.

Even though you came to my office for personal advice, unless you are suffering from some serious disease, I doubt if I could give you better advice than the regime which I have just outlined, and although this advice has not been very costly to you, you can measure it just as valuable as you wish if you are willing to follow strictly the rules which I have outlined.

A strong body, free from pain, is the natural right and heritage of every living being. Even though you have lived haphazardly up to the present time, you can probably develop a stronger and more efficient body than you have now.

Physical and mental improvement are not accidental. They are a result of scientific laws which you can learn as well as any one else. While health should be a natural condition, so many have departed from natural living that it is necessary, to make an intensive, scientific, study of health building.

If we wish to obtain the highest mark of perfection, it will be splendid if each of us will remember that we have a body for development, and that this body is the finest piece of property that we will ever possess during this life, and the conservation and cultivation of our health and ideals will bring us far greater dividends than any real estate we may develop, business we can control, or bonds we can own.

Make the preservation and development of health the paramount interest in your life. Here's to your health, vigor and vitality!

The two other cigarettes in the test 0

The Hostess
PRINCESS FRANCESCO ROSPIGLIOSI . . . American born wife of the prominent Italian nobleman.

MISS ROSAMOND PINCHOT . . . who played the Nona so charmingly in "The Miracle."

COMTESSE DE FORCEVILLE . . . of the distinguished Spanish-French family . . . Parisian social leader.

MISS MARIANNE VAN RENSSELAER . . . who made a brilliant debut in Paris and London last spring.

MISS CLARISSA STEM . . . popular New York Society girl.

Statement made to Society Reporter of leading New York newspaper.

IT STARTED when cigarettes were offered. Everyone refused, and lit their own. Five persons . . . four different brands. That started the talk on cigarette tastes—whether people spoof themselves on likes and dislikes. Someone suggested the blindfold test to find out. We pooled cigarettes, four of the best known brands. I blindfolded each guest in turn, they smoked four cigarettes, called their preference. Three out of four chose OLD GOLDS.

June Rospiogliosi

SMOOTHER AND BETTER—"NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD"

What is the secret of OLD GOLD'S winning appeal?

It's not a mystery . . . but a very simple fact. It is heart-leaf tobacco that gives OLD GOLDS their honey-like smoothness. No coarse, heavy top leaves of the tobacco plant . . . no withered ground leaves. That's why they are different . . . better . . . why you can pick them in the dark.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Thursday, July 19.

"George Fergie," of nursery rhyme fame, has become a popular dance tune, and will be featured during the program of "musical" music by Ed Kemp's orchestra through WJZ and WJR at 6 o'clock Thursday night. One hour later Lieutenant Charles Bentez will direct the United States Navy band in a concert through WJZ, WBZ, WBC and WBCB. The program will open with a Brazilian March by Campes. Lotta Madden, soprano, will be heard as guest artist in the concert by the Goldman band, to be broadcast over WJZ and chain at 9. Miss Madden will sing "Home, Sweet Home" by Del Eiego, and Massenet's "Open Thy Blue Eyes." During the Maxwell hour to be featured by the N. B. C. stations at 9:30 the Old Colonel's boyhood friends will tell the women of the South entertained "The First Lady of the Land" when McKinley was president of the United States. Nathaniel Shilkret's orchestra will form the musical background for the story. "In a Persian Garden," a song cycle with music by Liza Lehmann, will be presented by a mixed quartet through WJZ. The words of the songs are selected from Fitzgerald's translation of the "Rubaiyat" of Omar Khayyam. Other features for Thursday night will be Suber's band concert through WJZC at 8, a recital by a mandolin orchestra and soprano through WBAL at 8:30 and a carillon recital from the Peace Tower of the House of Parliament at Ottawa.

Well-Dressed Explorer Selects His Wardrobe

Commander Richard E. Byrd... knows his polar haberdashery.

New York.—Assembling a wedding trousseau, or collecting odd bits for a court presentation is mife child's play compared to the sartorial effort involved before setting out for the antarctic regions. And if Commander Byrd and his party of explorers are not the last word in swank when they reach the iceberg zone, it is not because they are not giving time and expense to their raiment. Anyone curious about polar styles should drop in at the Byrd headquarters here and see the rooms strewn with samples of fur coats, helmets, socks and balbriggan underwear and hear the weighty arguments that go on as to what type will be most nifty and dashing for life on an ice barrier. 200 Pieces for Each Man Commander Byrd estimates that each of the 60 men on the trip will have at least 200 pieces of wearing apparel, neatly marked with his own name and packed in sea bags. This does not include the common garden variety of apparel that each will wear on the boat trip into the antarctic—all this will be stored at the last stop, Dunedin, and will be parked there for more than a year, until the party returns to a temperate zone. Large consignments of furs are on their way to New York from Alaska to be made into coats and parkas for the crew. A parka is a short cape, made of reindeer skin, over a regulation arctic suit as a windbreaker. It is large and loose, absolutely gale-proof, and is the finishing touch to the arctic ensemble. In millinery there is a wide choice of helmets, fur and wool and leather caps, and towering alpacas that look like very large tea cozies, and do for the head what the cozy does for the feet. Then there is the large fur-lined hood, that fits over the helmet, like a cow. Mittens Two Feet Long Mittens achieve unbelievable proportions and are worn, child-fashion, suspended from a cord about the neck. Some are nearly two feet long, a foot wide and a couple of inches thick—regular baby mattresses. What an explorer's glove box, if he had one, would look like is a thought to conjure with. And when you build shoes on the flannel cooker plan, your needs for the feet are nearly two feet long, a foot wide and a couple of inches thick—regular baby mattresses. What an explorer's glove box, if he had one, would look like is a thought to conjure with. Washington, July 19.—Snooping is getting to be one of the leading diversions of the American public. And snoopers are most active in telling the prohibition office about "friends" and neighbors who are keeping something in tap or to prohibit a cold. Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran disclosed today that thousands of anonymous messages and telephone calls are received by the federal dry service, throughout the country, containing tips on violations of the Volstead Act. When these tips apply to serious violations, they are investigated, but reports of hip-pocket roving or that somebody has a half a pint in his ice box, usually go unnoticed. A large percentage of the dry raids are the results of anonymous messages of the snooping element. Officials admitted that in some cases the informers are probably conscientious citizens striving to assist in breaking up the liquor traffic, but in a majority of instances they undoubtedly are mere busy-bodies. Federal dry officials do not encourage snooping, but it was pointed out that it is frequently necessary to run down tips on violations. These tips have resulted in some important convictions. Many of them result in nothing. BIG ROCKEFELLER GIFT. Paris, July 19.—International University Center today announced receipt of a gift of $2,000,000 from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for a central building containing a restaurant, swimming pool and library. It will be open to students of all nations. RETAIL FOOD PRICES. Washington, July 19.—Retail food prices declined slightly less than one per cent from May 15, 1928, the Labor Department reported today. Prices on the latter date were 56 per cent above the pre-war level of 1913. Principal decreases in the monthly period reported occurred in vegetables. Meat, eggs, bread, sugar and ham showed slight increases.

ANDOVER

Week end guests at Mrs. Ellen Jones were William Jones of New York City and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nicolini of Hartford.

Lionel Faulkner who works in New Jersey is spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Faulkner and son Duane. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frink and two children of So. Coventry were callers at Mr. and Mrs. Allison L. Frink's Monday evening.

Miss Mary Coppoli who lives with her grandmother and attends the school is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Coppoli in Stamford.

Mr. and Mrs. Elsworth Covell have gone on a visit to Montreal, Canada. Mr. Covell's sister, Mrs. Murdock is caring for the children. Henry Hilliard the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Hilliard had a regular experience Sunday afternoon while out in his father's motor boat on Andover Lake. He had his hand over the side of the boat when a pickerel jumped and caught his finger. The boy was so surprised he shook the fish off. It fell back into the water. Young Henry who is quite a fisherman has caught several good sized fish in the lake, thinks he will try some other kind of bait the next time. The fish was estimated to be at least fifteen inches long by those who saw the incident.

The H-Lron Christian society visited the local society Sunday evening and took full charge. Mrs. Morton of New York who is a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hilden, sang two solos. Next Sunday evening the leader will be Mrs. Mary Newton, topic: "Keeping fit—Physically, Mentally, Spiritually."

Miss Clara Holbrook a former teacher in the grammar school is visiting Mrs. Ralph Bass.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lewis' family were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Colburn in Willington Sunday. In the afternoon the whole party motored to Riverside Park Springfield.

The Ladies Benevolent society will hold a whist party at the home of Mrs. George Stanley Wednesday evening.

The Rev. R. W. O'Brien preached in Enfield Sunday. The services in the local church were conducted by Mr. Zee, a Chinaman, who spoke on the present condition of China. At the Sunday school, Mr. Zee told of the differences between the way the schools in China were conducted and ours, which was very interesting.

Edinburgh, Scotland, July 19.—Lord Northesk, young English peer who is reported engaged to Peggy Hopkins Joyce, will not defend the divorce action brought against him by Jessica Brown, former American chorus girl, it was revealed in the Court of Sessions today. Counsel for Lady Northesk told the court that the defendant would not enter any defense. The charges were not disclosed. The judge set October 26 for taking evidence from the two witnesses upon whose testimony Lady Northesk relies for a decree. Lord Northesk was not represented in court.

AMERICANS BECOMING A NATION OF SNOOPERS

Washington, July 19.—Snooping is getting to be one of the leading diversions of the American public. And snoopers are most active in telling the prohibition office about "friends" and neighbors who are keeping something in tap or to prohibit a cold. Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran disclosed today that thousands of anonymous messages and telephone calls are received by the federal dry service, throughout the country, containing tips on violations of the Volstead Act. When these tips apply to serious violations, they are investigated, but reports of hip-pocket roving or that somebody has a half a pint in his ice box, usually go unnoticed. A large percentage of the dry raids are the results of anonymous messages of the snooping element. Officials admitted that in some cases the informers are probably conscientious citizens striving to assist in breaking up the liquor traffic, but in a majority of instances they undoubtedly are mere busy-bodies. Federal dry officials do not encourage snooping, but it was pointed out that it is frequently necessary to run down tips on violations. These tips have resulted in some important convictions. Many of them result in nothing. BIG ROCKEFELLER GIFT. Paris, July 19.—International University Center today announced receipt of a gift of $2,000,000 from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for a central building containing a restaurant, swimming pool and library. It will be open to students of all nations. RETAIL FOOD PRICES. Washington, July 19.—Retail food prices declined slightly less than one per cent from May 15, 1928, the Labor Department reported today. Prices on the latter date were 56 per cent above the pre-war level of 1913. Principal decreases in the monthly period reported occurred in vegetables. Meat, eggs, bread, sugar and ham showed slight increases.

Announcing A New Reo Wolverine

DRESSED IN THE MODE OF TOMORROW

THERE is a new Reo Wolverine on the streets today... a car built to fill a very real need: the need of modern men and women for a car that is distinctively smart without being ostentatious, that is beautiful and able, but inexpensive.

You'll find new grace in this latest Wolverine Sedan... a new feeling of length, of roominess without bulk... and, of course, many of the refinements which characterize fine larger cars: all-metal rear contours, bullet-type headlamps, deeper radiator, special belt treatment blending into a new paneling on the sides. And beneath this up-to-the-minute style, these new Wolverines carry a hard-working, punishment-taking power plant that assures delightful mastery over traffic... that says, "I'm a car that means business," every time you touch the accelerator. You'll enjoy looking over the new Reo Wolverine... and if you haven't driven one already, just take a turn behind the wheel... you may find that it's just the car you've been waiting for. How She Hittin'?

By ISRAEL KLEIN, Science Editor, NEA Service.

The motor, it seems, didn't run very well on the last vacation trip to the mountains, although it showed no sign of trouble as soon as home was reached.

That's the tale many motorists tell on their return from a long drive. It is a simple admission of ignorance as to the requirements and operation of their engines.

Of course the motor won't run well in the high altitude when it is adjusted to perform properly at sea level. Neither will one do its best at low levels when it has been set to run in good condition higher up.

The atmosphere up above is much thinner, and the carburetor begins to gasp for more air while it is being choked up with too much gasoline. It must therefore be adjusted for a much leaner mixture as the car climbs higher.

On the return down grade the carburetor should be adjusted for a slightly heavier mixture, or it will permit too much air to be sucked into the fuel mixture and cause the motor to miss. This should be done even in the summer, while the mixture has been thinned down considerably at sea level, for the air is still rarer up above.

While the car went scooting up the big inclines of the mountains, it developed all kinds of trouble that ordinarily would not be expected of it on the level. But that, most likely, is the fault of the driver who is unacquainted with hilly roads.

An automobile can't be hurried up a steep incline, although that would be our first inclination in order to make the top of the hill on high. Rather shift into second before getting to the top, than find an overheated, clanging motor marring our further progress. There's the danger also of burned-out bearings, scored cylinders, diluted crankcase oil, and even a cracked cylinder head, unless care is taken in an ascent. The cooling system needs more frequent changes of water, and the oil must be replenished more often under such conditions.

At times, too, a motorist creeps home cautiously almost without brakes. That's because he used them overzealously on the long and steep downgrades. That won't do. Brakes should be used for stopping, and only for occasional slow-downs. But constant braking on a long grade causes the linings to burn out and put the entire system out of order.

Rather go down in low gear—which is not only considerate for the brakes, but safer and less costly. The compression of the car acts as brake and is more effective on long grades. Occasionally, if the car gets away even from this, the brake may be applied, but it isn't needed so often as when the engine isn't used to hold back the car.

If low gear has to be used, be sure to stop at the top of the hill before starting the descent, and shift to first. You can't shift from high to a lower gear while scooting down a steep grade.

Most likely, in attempting to do this, you'll find yourself coasting down hill in neutral, impossible to mess the gears into a lower gear. There the danger lies, especially where there are curves and sheer drops alongside. Water boils at lower temperature, when in high altitude. Therefore, it's nothing to get excited about when you see the steam coming out of the radiator vent. But the water should be replenished more often, to prevent the system becoming dry and cracking up the cylinder head.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE MAY ADOPT PLAN TO RESTRICT MEMBERSHIP

London.—Members of the London Stock Exchange are being canvassed to give their support to a proposal which would restrict membership to 4,100.

Membership of the Exchange is growing weekly, and it is contended that an ever-growing list is not conducive to the welfare of existing members.

A certain number of clerks are able to become members each year without nomination by paying an entrance fee of $1,750. The present value of nominations is about $4,000, a ridiculously small figure when compared with prices of New York Exchange seats.

AUTO EXPORTS INCREASE 425 P. C. IN FIVE YEARS

Cleveland, O., July 19 — Sales of American made automobiles abroad have increased by 425 per cent during the last five years and a further important gain is taking place this year. As a result of this large expansion, foreign buying of motor cars now ranks third in the list of the country's exports, according to President J. R. Nutt, of The Union Trust Company, here.

"Expanding markets abroad offer the most favorable solution for the full employment of the country's growing automotive productive capacity," says Nutt in the bank's magazine, Trade Winds.

"Whether or not the saturation point is near in this country, there is a vast potential demand for cars among other peoples.

"The world outside of the United States is rapidly becoming motor-minded. Last year the value of automobile exports totaled $406,000,000. They were surpassed only by raw cotton and petroleum and exceeded exports of wheat and flour by $82,000,000. Foreign purchases of American motor cars in 1927 equalled new registration of cars in 20 of our states put together.

"In the United States there is one car for every five people, or virtually one car for each family. The average for the world as a whole is 59 persons for every car. At the extreme of the scale is China with one car for every 20,000 inhabitants.

"Next to the United States is Canada with 10 persons per car. Australia is third with 14 persons per car, and the United Kingdom is fourth with 37 persons per car.

"In France there are 40 persons for each car, while Germany has only one car for every 148 persons. "Obstacles in the path of motor car exports include tariff barriers abroad, high gasoline prices and taxes in foreign countries, poor roads, competition of native manufacturers and reduced purchasing power of potential producers.

"Tariff barriers are directed especially against assembled cars, with the result that in 1928 probably over 200,000 cars made of American parts will be assembled in plants abroad.

"No Fear of Competition "So far the automobile industry in no European country has developed to the point where it is an extremely active competitor with American quantity produced popular makes. The rate of growth of motor car exports is seen in the fact that five years ago exports totaled 78,000 units, while in 1928 it is estimated that 450,000 cars and trucks will be shipped abroad.

"At present capacity of the automobile industry, an output of approximately 4,000,000 cars annually is needed for reasonable prosperity. Replacement demand is about 2,500,000 cars annually in the United States and Canada. New buying this year is running at the rate of over 1,000,000 cars, so that the estimated exports of

450,000 will bring the total demand up to, or above 4,000,000 cars. "With European conditions making marked progress toward financial stabilization and industrial recovery, present prospects are for continued large expansion of exports of American automobiles."

Any Of The Teams May Spring A Surprise Tonight

Twilight Leaguers Keep Strengthened Team Dark

Refuse to Announce Make-up Before Game Time; All Games to Start at 6:15 Sharp.

TWILIGHT GAMES TONIGHT

Highland vs. Bon Ami at the Park.
Aces vs. Gibson's Garage at Aces Field.

The Twilight league games this evening find the games scheduled between the North Ends and Manchester Green among those not to be played as the North End team could not be gotten together in time to show anything like strength that would give Standard's ball tossers anything like a real game and the schedule was such that the Green will be "dark" tonight.

This will give the Green team an opportunity to look over the other teams and see what they have done to try and wrest from the Green the honor of first place, which the Green took so easy in the first round. The other teams are bolstering up their teams in an effort to bring first place at the end of the second round with the hopes of playing off with the Green.

The Aces Are Ready
After the fine showing they made against the Heights Monday evening, the Aces are all ready for a grand and glorious comeback against Gibson's Garage notwithstanding the fact that they might have to face none less than Tommy Sipple on the mound for the regulars. That sure smacks of confidence plus.

Barret, star hurler for the Aces is almost sure to be on the firing line for the squad when it takes the field against the garage men. His team gave him excellent support afield Monday evening but failed to solve Weber's delivery for a single hit in any description. The whole outfit promises to do better this evening and the Heights claim any team that tackles the Aces will know that it has played a game of baseball before the last man is out.

Highland Park Ready
Apparently there was some confusion at Highland Park over the allowances made by the league officials to recruit more players for the second round. However, Nichols stated this morning that his team would be ready for any and all invaders of his section.

The Soapmakers, or in other words, the Bon Ami team believes that it can get away with any team in the circuit now that they have managed to hold the Green to a tie score in eight innings. Dick Edgar may pitch tonight and if he does and is going right the Highland Park boys will know what it is all about before the final chukker.

Owing to the arrangement of the schedule the Heights will not play until Monday evening again.

WITH OLYMPIC TEAMS

Aboard S. S. President Roosevelt, (By Radio) July 19.—This was the last day on shipboard for the United States athletes who will compete in the Olympic games at Amsterdam. The President Roosevelt is due at Amsterdam tomorrow morning.

Coch Lawson Robertson called off the day's training schedules at several members of the athletic team reported stiff muscles. Otherwise all the members are in good condition.

Final American entries were telegraphed to the Amsterdam Olympic committee from Plymouth, Eng. Macaulay Smith, of Boston, and Wm. Agee, a Baltimore youngster, have been added to the entrants in the 10,000 metres race.

Another way to make your new car's finish last is always to park in new cars.

Glancing through some old score books on file at the office here a game between the Manchester team and the Doherty Silk Sox, won by the locals, 2 to 1 in one of the best played contests ever staged at the old McKee street Stadium.

In another place in the same book we found where Farmer Jones was slated to pitch for the Twilight Leaguers against the Manchester team at the McKee street grounds and sat in the grandstand until after the game was lost. Those were the days of real sport. Farmer got his price for the next game before he got out of his car.

Rumaging through the basketball score books we found the game between the Hartford and Manchester Kaceys played at the local C. C. hall. Manchester won after the hottest kind of a tilt 31 to 30. Dick Dillon handled the contests and declared overwords in the dressing room it was the hardest game he had worked in a good many years. And it was, too.

Old stuff the above but good reading nevertheless. Again we wander back to the first football game for the town title between the Tigers and the Carlises of the north end at Mt. Nebo. This game resulted in a 24 to 0 victory for the south end boys but was much hotly-contested than the score would indicate.

All right gang let's go back a bit further and make the real old-timers chuckle. Remember when Woodland Park situated at the north end was going in full blast? The feature of the horse racing those days was the long fur galloping trotter owned by the late Walter Cowles of Buckland in the free for all trot. His horse usually copped the 200 bushels of oats which went to the horse finishing first.

Then Woodland Park was also used for a baseball game on Sunday when the old Cracker Factory team would meet the Untype Company nine. They generally put a keg of beer on first base at the start but before the game opened the keg would rest on third.

Perhaps there are a few of the real oldtimers who used to play handball on the Kerry street court over at the north end. Those were the days when the frigid zone citizens pretty nearly had a corner on the sports of Manchester.

DROP BILL TILDEN FROM DAVIS TEAM

American Tennis Star Put Out of Game for Writing for Papers.

Paris, July 19.—"Big Bill" Tilden, for years the "big gun" of American tennis, has been dropped from the American Davis Cup team which is to play Italy tomorrow for the right to play France, the present holder of the cup, it was learned here today.

Secretary Collum, of the American Amateur Tennis Association, threw a bombshell into tennis circles when he made the announcement that Tilden had been dropped because of breaking the association's rule preventing players from writing newspaper articles about tournaments in which they were playing.

Tilden, Collum charged, had been writing of his recent matches in American newspapers. By his announcement, Collum brought the much-mooted player-writer rule to a startling crisis.

When informed of Collum's statement, Tilden made an immediate and vehement denial of all charges that he had broken the player-writer rule. He made the following statement to International News Service:

"I refute all charges. I have protested in vain as usual. The orders to drop me from the Davis Cup team emanated from New York. I know nothing about the charges. There is nothing I can do about it."

Francis T. Hunter was picked to supplant Tilden in the singles matches. Hunter will play Stefano, of Italy, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

John Hennessey, America's other entrant in the singles will play Baron de Mompurgo at 4:30 p. m. tomorrow. Hunter will face the biddexious Baron Sunday afternoon and Hennessey will play Stefano on the same day.

George Lott and Hennessey will face the Italian doubles team of Mompurgo and Gaslini Saturday at 3:30 p. m.

J. Joseph W. Wear, chairman of the U. S. Davis Cup committee, told International News Service he was cabling his resignation.

CHAMP CARELESS IN HIS TRAINING

Artie McGovern Says Tunney is Boss at Camp; Does What He Likes.

Editor's Note: The following is the first of two articles on Gene Tunney's training for his coming world's championship fight with Tom Heeney, written by "Artie" McGovern, famous physical culturist and trainer of Babe Ruth, Johnny Farrell and Gene Sarazen. The second article will appear tomorrow.

By "ARTIE" MCGOVERN.
Spectator, N. Y., July 16.—If Gene Tunney loses his title to Tom Heeney on July 26th, it will not be because he has deteriorated as a pugilist, but because he insists on being his own manager, trainer, dietician and general expert around his training camp. Any orders or instructions the champion takes in regard to the amount of training he should do, the amount and kind of food he should eat, and other matters pertaining to the training of a prize fighter, come from Gene Tunney alone. His corps of managers, seconds, trainers and other camp aides are merely figure-heads.

I am not, by any means predicting that Gene is going to lose his championship to Tom Heeney, but my observation of his training methods for the past three days, forces me to make the statement that for an athlete as intelligent as he is supposed to be, Tunney knows very little about diet rules which are so essentially important to scientific physical training.

Drinks Cold Milk.

I was seated in Tunney's dressing room after he had completed a 50-minute workout which included punching and boxing. Perspiration flowed freely from every pore. As he stepped from a shower, one of his camp lieutenants handed him a pitcher of milk. I was really astonished to see Gene drink almost a pint of the milk without stopping, and after a few minutes he consumed the remainder. I did not question the champion in regard to this practice, but I did speak about it to Billy Gibson, Tunney's manager. Gibson agreed with me that it was the wrong thing to do, but said that it was one of Gene's pet theories which could not be shaken.

Had Bad Night.

It so happened that the following day Gene appeared at his training quarters in anything but perfect condition. He claimed that he had had a bad night, that he was not feeling fit and was suffering from dysentery.

I had an opportunity at that time to discuss with him the matter of drinking such a large quantity of cold milk while his body was in an over-heated condition. I told him that it was a dangerous practice to take any cold drink at such a time, but more so with milk, since milk in large quantities is a food difficult to digest.

Gene believes in drinking milk as an aid to health, and rightly so. But unfortunately his enthusiasm for this great, natural health food has led him to the belief that the more milk he drinks the more strength and stamina he will attain. He never indulges in tea or coffee, but his average consumption of milk is several quarts a day.

After our talk Gene said that he would change his plan in the future and although he would not reduce the quantity he drinks every day, he will never take more than one glass at a time and not more frequently than at half hour intervals.

The Nut Cracker

Recent losses sustained by promoters indicate a bear movement in the boxing industry. In the bear trend, several wolves may be displaced.

FISTIC VALUES, OF COURSE, HAVE BEEN OVEREMPHASIZED. WE EVEN HAVE THE SPECTACLE OF JACK SHARKEY BEING SUBDIVIDED AMONG SEVERAL FIRMS. JACK NOT ONLY HASN'T PAID ANY GREAT DIVIDENDS TO DATE, BUT THERE ARE THOSE WHO SAY THIS STOCK IS SERIOUSLY INFLATED.

George Godfrey's stock as a Black Menace was boomed considerably until he ran into little Mistah Risko, who gave him a seat on the curb and made him not make so much noise.

Tex, however, still is bullish about the Tunney-Heeney affair. We still believe it would be a great stunt if Tex could bring that Democratic Mississippi delegation to Madison Square Garden and send Tunney home to his books.

The fight racket may be a little depressed now, but if Jack Dempsey ever takes down the old plow, we'd venture a guess that there would be an awful flurry of shorts covering.

Maybe the fact is that the fans have seen enough bums belaboring one another and really went to see a fight. This is a truly horrible thought.

EIGHTH DISTRICT LIST IS WELL UNDER WAY

The work on the grand list of the Eighth School and Utilities District is well along and will be ready several weeks before the tax is due, which is October 1. In making a rate book for a school or fire district there is a lot of work in checking up changes in ownership, as the tax is laid on values as of October 1, 1927, and the ownership as of the date of the meeting when the tax was laid. In the Eighth District the tax was laid on June 20.

Lives Like Natives

As the heroine the new actress had to live much in the same manner as the natives of the island. "Little White Princess," the natives called this girl, who is extremely pretty. Festive ceremonies were held in Raquel's honor by various tribes and chieftains.

Gets Proposal

"The night before we were to sail for home old Chief Mehevi, who had played a small part in the picture, came to my thatched bungalow and asked me to marry him. I was to be princess of the tribe, part ruler of the island and step-mother of his 19 children.

RABALM QUICKLY TOOK STING OUT OF INSECT BITE

"Riding through the swamps of Louisiana last summer, I felt a painful sting on my arm, followed by an immediate swelling that had all the earmarks of becoming serious. As soon as possible I applied a little Rabalm on the sting, which had become badly inflamed. Imagine my delight to find that within fifteen minutes all the pain had gone. The swelling had begun to disappear, and within an hour, no trace of the bite was apparent." H. D. Arthur, New Orleans, La.

Man's Proposal

"I would rather own one small home here than all of his pearls and have to live on that island," she declares. "And anyway, when I marry I want a young good-looking man—not one who is almost ready to die of old age."

BIKE ATTACKS AUTO GETS THE WORST OF IT

There was a rear end collision between a bicycle and an automobile on Main street at 11:10 this morning. Miss Howell, of Cooper Hill street was driving a close car south on Main street and when opposite the Johnson block came to a stop. One of the passengers in the automobile was about to get out when a boy, who was riding a bicycle came down the hill, failed to notice that the automobile was stopping and ran into the back of it. The boy did a half turn in the air and landed on his side. He limped to the side of the road, straightened out his handle bars and after catching his breath rode away before Officer John McGinn, who was coming up the street, could reach him to learn his name.

A bootlegger was arrested in Kansas City the other day for parking on the wrong side of the street. Is there nothing those bad men will stop at?

MORRIS, CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNORSHIP

New Haven, Conn., July 19.—Charles G. Morris, of New Haven, today yielded "to the urgings of many friends to make clear my attitude toward the gubernatorial nomination" and announced: "My position is that the party must put forward its strongest candidates for all positions on the state ticket this year, and if I shall be the choice of the convention I shall be proud to be the party candidate for governor and bear a part in the coming campaign under a leader of such proven public courage and candor and such clean Democracy as Alfred E. Smith." The statement was contained in a letter addressed jointly to Thomas J. Spellacy, Democratic national committee man, and James J. Walsh, state chairman.

LOVE FOR TWO

1928 By RUTH DEWEY GROVES © NEA Service Inc.

Molly arose and pulled out a chair. "Thank goodness you came," she said in greeting. "We couldn't have waited very long."

THIS HAS HAPPENED

BERTIE LOU WARD marries ROD BRYER, who had previously been engaged to LILA MARSH. They spend an ideal honeymoon and the only shadow on the young bride's happiness is the fact that she accidentally overheard a friend refer to her as Rod's second choice. This shadow deepens when they return and find Lila playing dictator in their apartment because she "knows what Rod likes."

Too much hospitality in the new home upsets their financial budget. This worries Bertie Lou as does the persistent annoyance of Lila. So she is happy when Rod accepts a position in New York with TOM FRASER. Anxious to make a good impression, they go to an expensive hotel until they can find an apartment. The cost of things amazes Bertie Lou and she is embarrassed when MOLLY FRASER urges her to buy more clothes than she can afford. She starts a charge account against Rod's wishes. Feeling under social obligation to the Frasers, and after having won some money from Tom at poker, Rod recklessly invites the crowd to a night club. Lila arrives to visit Molly, who includes her in the party and seems to enjoy Bertie Lou's discomfiture. The affair cost Rod more than $100 and he had to borrow from Tom as he had only taken $70 with him. Bertie Lou upbraids Rod about the extravagance and they quarrel for the first time. The strained relations continue until they received a check from home for the furniture which they had stored. Then Bertie Lou is so happy furnishing her new apartment that she doesn't see Molly for quite a time, and is surprised to have a phone call from her announcing Lila's engagement to MR. LOBBE.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVII
Bertie Lou was prepared for almost anything when she entered Molly's apartment. A maid admitted her and said that Mrs. Fraser was still in the dining room, adding: "She asked to have you shown in there, madam." Molly's servants were always well instructed in formality.

Molly and Lila were still seated at table, lingering over sweets and coffee. Sheets of writing paper were spread out before Lila and she was busily engaged in scribbling on them when Bertie Lou walked in.

Molly arose and pulled out a chair for her.

"Thank goodness you came," she said in greeting. "We couldn't have waited very long. We're going shopping."

Bertie Lou looked at Lila. "If you will," Lila said, in a sweetly coaxing tone that Bertie Lou never had heard her use before. "For my trousseau," she added with a shy, almost unbecoming blush, Bertie Lou felt like laughing. "But why in the world do you want me along?" she asked bluntly.

Cyrus is paying for my things?" Lila asked, astutely reading Bertie Lou's thoughts.

"Not a bit," the latter replied candidly. "I don't suppose it has occurred to you that I'd like to be friends with you, Bertie Lou?"

"No, not any more than Mrs. Astor, maybe," Bertie Lou laughed.

"Well, I think we ought to bury the hatchet now," Lila said. "Cyrus thinks we're friends. He's been wondering why he hasn't seen you here."

Bertie Lou got a ray of light. So that was it? Cyrus might be inquisitive. What had happened to Lila's home town friends? "I dare say Lila's afraid Molly might tell him about Rod," Bertie Lou concluded. "They're two of a feather. But what difference would it make if he knew?"

Sharply the answer came to her. "That would cut Lila off from seeing Rod!"

"Why didn't you tell him the truth—that you were with us the night you met him simply because you were visiting Molly and Tom and we were giving them a party?"

"Because I'm starting a new deal," Lila replied unhesitatingly. "and I'm perfectly willing to forget the past if you are. After all, there isn't anything much to forget. You and Rod are happily married, I hope, and I expect to be."

"I know I've been a tremendous goose, Bertie Lou," she went on, effectively lowering her voice. "I'll admit I tried to make you unhappy and did a lot of foolish things. But I was never underhanded about it. And you know what it is to have everybody in a small town laughing at you."

Bertie Lou nodded before she realized that she had betrayed herself.

"I was silly enough to believe that I was the only girl Rod ever could love," Lila continued with a frankness that Bertie Lou did not thank her for.

Lila laughed, with tolerant amusement of her own credulity. "I thought if I pretended to be crazy over Rod after his marriage, and pretended it in a ridiculous way, people would know it was just a lot of rot, and think I never had meant anything I said about him."

"I don't suppose you believe a thing I say," Lila reproached her.

"No, I don't," Bertie Lou admitted.

"Molly said you wouldn't," Lila's voice held more than a trace of disappointment.

Lila was the leading spirit of the class room and immensely popular. They had many memories to share.

"Remember the time I cut off your curls?" Lila asked. "And your mother shut you up in your room and I brought the kids around with a ladder to climb through the window?"

Bertie Lou remembered that, and how she'd felt so lightheaded and comfortable all at once. She laughed. "I never enjoyed a bob so much," she said.

"But your hair is lovely now," Lila told her. "I mean it, Bertie Lou," she added suddenly. "And you have such good taste. I've always admired you for wearing just the right things, even if I have gone in for more display in my own wardrobe. It was a sort of frantic effort to express myself, I guess. Wayville was killing me."

"But everything is going to be wonderful now. Cyrus can give me how to live and not die at the hands of those who go around with their hands in the air in horror at the thought of anyone having a good time."

"We weren't so dead in Wayville," Bertie Lou differed.

"We weren't? Say, Bertie Lou, wait until you've seen, out a few times with Cyrus and you'll know how dead you were in that one-horse dump."

"Well, have you two made up your silly quarrel?" Molly cried, and listened to singing, and with about three o'clock, hot things on, Lila. The shops will soon be closing."

Molly was happy. She liked to have a hand in things. Other people's affairs particularly. To make a match, or patch up a quarrel, or start one, was all the same to her.

The Fraser's had a car but no chauffeur. Tom said he preferred to spend the money in "living", meaning night clubs and parties.

Molly had the doorman call a taxicab. Bertie Lou demurred about accompanying them on the shopping tour, but Molly bundled her up ceremoniously into the cab and told her not to be silly. Bertie Lou had a feeling of having lost her grip on herself, of being swept along against her will.

"I'll have time to look at a fur coat for you," Molly told her. "You can't get through a winter in New York without one. Even the office girls have them. And I'm a good judge of furs."

NERVOUS INFECTIONS ARE CRIPPLING AND PAINFUL
By DR. MORRIS FISHER
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Of all of the diseases that afflict mankind those of the nervous system take a premier position in their crippling, painful, serious nature. The nervous system is the great electric switchboard of the human body controlling thought, movement and action, as well as sensation. Therefore, any disease that particularly selects the brain and the spinal cord is likely to result most disastrously.

Discovers Serum
In his George M. Kober lecture in Washington, D. C., Dr. Simon Flexner, director of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, devoted his attention to three of the most serious diseases of the central nervous system that have recently afflicted mankind. They include epidemic cerebro-spinal meningitis, epidemic infantile paralysis and epidemic encephalitis.

It was of the epidemic meningitis that Dr. Flexner discovered a causative serum which lowered the death rate from almost complete fatality to a relatively low percentage.

About 1904 a large epidemic of meningitis broke out in Europe and America. Apparently it began in Prussian Silesia and in certain Atlantic coast states of the United States, and appeared regularly each summer with a considerable number of cases until about 1920.

Since that time it has about worn itself out as an epidemic, and appears in the form of occasional cases here and there. Prof. Flexner is inclined to believe that it is possible that the great wave of German immigration between 1900 and 1905 may have brought the disease to the Atlantic coast cities of the United States.

Epidemic meningitis is caused by a small round germ first located in 1887. The germ may live on the mucous membrane of the nose of man and is transmitted from one person to another.

Before the discovery of the serum, the deaths varied from 85 to 90 per cent. Today the mortality is under 25 per cent. Before the discovery of the serum, epidemic meningitis attacking infants one year old killed about 100 per cent; muscles less than 50 per cent; because they are helped by serum treatment.

Attack Spinal Cord
When the germs get into the body they are carried to the spinal cord and there they attack the covering of the cord, spreading even to the brain. These coverings are called meninges, which gives to the disease the name meningitis or inflammation of the meninges.

In this disease we know definitely the cause and we have a specific medical treatment which, if used early, will produce favorable results.

Sometimes severe paralysis results from this disease. With modern methods of treatment it is possible to lower the incidence of paralysis and it is possible also by study of the paralyzed nerves and muscles to secure favorable results in the matter of development and movement after the disease has passed.

MARRYE and MOM

Their Letters

Dear Mom,
I'm certainly glad that I invested wisely and wildly in smart clothes before I left Madame Elise's shop, for I need all my war paint here.

This hotel is filling up fast, and the majority of the population is of my own sex. I am surrounded by the most snappy and unscrupulously flappers, and the most elegantly marcelled and groomed matrons, and it looks as if it were going to resolve itself into a matter of every woman for herself.

Somehow, I had forgotten the fierce competition that goes on for the elusive male. For a while, I guess I have been riding high, and I haven't felt it. And by my simple system of keeping Alan constantly on the alert looking out for me, he has had very little time to get into trouble himself.

But here, I feel him slipping out of my hands. Undoubtedly all my work will be spoiled if he stays. What with Helen vamping him beautifully, and actually having reduced him to the point of submission where he will run errands for her, and listen to singing, and with about three o'clock, hot pursuit I long for the good old days when I used to come in with my face smashed up in another man's car, and get a little attention myself.

There is painfully little material for me here. Brother Shelton, whom I regard as my best bet, at the present time, is scarcely my ideal.

He quite frankly disapproves of my language, my accent, my independence, and my sunburn. He says I am abominably educated, and have no accomplishments that really matter. And yet he says I have the most classically cut head, and the best modelled features he has seen in years—and that I am full of unrealized talents and possibilities.

It would have been much better for me, he thinks, to have had a career instead of having married, for now, he says I will never be more than an enthusiast and a dabbler.

What he is really doing, is trying not to fall in love with me. For in spite of not approving of me, he really likes me, and he fights against the idea. As a matter of principle, I must humble his proud spirit. That is why I am going out with him tonight in his boat for a sail after dinner.

Anyhow, that will give Alan an excellent opportunity to listen to Helen's troubles for a few hours. Perhaps if he hears enough of them, I may not be called on to interfere.

PROHIBITION MAKES CRIME EASIER, IS HER CHARGE
"Prohibition has magnified, rather than diminished, the work of saving girls," says Rose Livingston, known as the "Angel of Chinatown," because of her rescue work there.

For almost a quarter of a century Rose Livingston has waged a battle against white slavery, dope and dens of iniquity. She is said to have had part in saving 4,000,000 girls, mostly under 17, in Chinatown, the Brooklyn Navy Yard area, and later in Greenwich Village.

When Montmorency found Jack and Jill very much occupied in overlooking him, he felt exactly like a grease-spot in a suit that was sent to the Modern Dyers—not wanted!

In a little while he did exactly what a grease-spot does when it enters the Modern Dyers—departed.

This And That In Feminine Lore

There are other things as well as bad coins that turn up time and again—satisfied patrons are like that. They keep returning each time they want a Permanent wave Mrs. Robinson's Lily & Beauty Shop, upstairs in the House & Hall building, phone 1671.

"Groceryettes."
Nearly everything in the food and fruit lines comes in small packages nowadays, and they are ideal for the woman living alone or the couple doing light housekeeping giving variety at a meal with little or nothing left over. This has given one enterprising New York man the idea for a novel grocery store, right off the Broadway theatrical district. He sells 450 food articles for a nickel or a dime each. He has been in the grocery business for 20 years and has watched the women's shopping methods change from the time they bought whole sides of bacon and other things in proportion, to the apartment or single store dweller who often wants only enough for a meal, because she has no ice or no way of storing food and does not always choose to eat at a restaurant. Women of course are the sole patrons of such enterprises but the proprietor of the store in question denies that any women gave him the idea. He has dinner specials, supplying two people for about 75 cents, buys sample packages of many breakfast foods and has small sizes of many of the staples put up especially for his trade. The store is in the main "self-serve," only a few clerks are employed.

While on the subject of gardening, I find that one or two of the local members have beautiful plants of the latest development in gypsophila, "The Bristol Fairy" brought out by Alexander Cummings, Jr., of the Bristol nurseries, one of the judges at the above mentioned show and a speaker at one of the winter meetings. It is a beauty and no mistake.

Picnic Lunch Cakes.
A Herald reader contributes the cake recipe below which she has made many times and is excellent for a picnic lunch. It is very economical, you will notice, requiring only one egg and one cup of milk. The first step is to beat the egg well and cream one half cup of butter or other shortening with one cup of sugar and a teaspoon vanilla. Beat these ingredients all well together, and add one cup of milk. Stir thoroughly and divide in two equal parts. Then take one and a half tablespoons cocoa, wet with a little milk or water. Stir in flour in which a teaspoon of baking powder has been sifted. Follow the same plan with the plain mixture and take from the light and the dark batter enough for six small cupcakes of each, frosting the dark ones with white or butter, frosting and the light ones with chocolate or white icing flavored with orange, red raspberry juice or any preferred flavoring. The remaining batter will make a fair sized marble cake. The directions sound complicated but it is really a very simple matter to make the cupcakes and the marble cakes and gives variety for the picnic lunch or the small family. We appreciate the kindness of the contributor of this recipe.

A favorite color of the moment for evening attire, particularly in tulle or other sheer materials, is brown, dark brown rather than golden, often lighted up with beige or lighter shades of brown. Navy blue is gaining on the bright hard blues of the early season, and navy with white dots has a tremendous vogue. Yellow and greens are more favored than the all white for the few occasions during the summer when evening clothes are demanded.

Beet and cheese salad is an unusually attractive salad and is ideal with a fish dinner.
Beet and Cheese Salad.
Twelve tiny beets, 1 large package cream cheese, parsley, 1 cup vinegar, 1-3 cup sugar, 6 whole cloves, 2 inches stick cinnamon broken in small pieces, 1-2 teaspoon salt, mayonnaise, hearts of lettuce.

Cook beets until tender, plunge into cold water and slip skins. Combine vinegar, sugar, spices and salt and bring to the boiling point. Pour boiling hot over beets and let stand until cool. Chill in the vinegar. Mince parsley very fine. Make tiny balls of the cream cheese and roll half of them in minced parsley. Put three beets, one plain cheese ball and one parsley covered cheese ball on each salad plate covered with leaves from lettuce hearts. Garnish with mayonnaise and serve at once.

Watch the patterns that appear daily on the home page. A number of new illustrations have been received very few of them, however, are for children and I doubt if any will be brought out before sometime in August. In sending currency it pays to take every precaution. An order comes from Homestead street, without either money or stamps, another from Lebanon contained only 10 cents and the patterns are 15 cents which is very reasonable. Use a coin container, a homemade one with pastboard

WATKINS WORKERS AT EAST HAMPTON

Manchester and Hartford Stores Combine in Holding Annual Outing.

Fifty or more highly sunburned and possibly slightly tired employees of Watkins Brothers' two stores at South Manchester and Hartford were back on the job early this morning after enjoying their 23rd annual outing, held yesterday at Lake Pocotopaug, East Hampton. With a perfect day to greet them, the store folks got away to an early start, arriving at the lake around 9 o'clock. C. Elmore Watkins, treasurer of the firm, was master of ceremonies, having preceded the others to the lake so that when they arrived a luncheon was ready to be served consisting of clam chowder and ham sandwiches.

Volley ball was the first sport scheduled on the athletic program and after a few games the contestants were ready for a dip in the lake. Hardly had they come out of the water when the call was made for the baseball game and everyone loaded into cars and proceeded to the baseball diamond situated at the rear of the school in the center of East Hampton. Here again the events were run off on schedule, the baseball game getting away to an early start so that the 5 innings planned were played before 12 o'clock.

The Hartford store again appeared on the field without enough men to make up a team so it was necessary to choose sides. However, one team was named the Hartford store and the other the South Manchester store, with the local boys coming through at the winning end of an 8 to 7 score. Eddie Gleason and Bill Wiganowski were the batteries for the Manchester nine with Joe Sargent and "Butch" Lovett doing the heavy work for the Hartford branch although both are in the shipping department of the local store. Ray Hennequin, just back from his vacation, felt fit to do the umpiring and came out of the game without a scratch.

Then all those who had not participated in the big ball game were lined up into two teams for a hand ball game, the two teams being headed by Helen Strong of the Manchester store and Helen Richmond of the Hartford store, with the Manchester players again coming out on the winning end of the score.

By this time everyone was ready for another swim and it didn't take long before practically all were in the water again, some preparing for a real sunbath by taking canoe rides. Canoe tilting proved to be one of the features of the day. Two canoes, each carrying two paddlers and a warrior with a long stick on which was tied a soft ball, were engaged in trying to tip each other over resulting in many side-splitting tips. Those who felt in better physical condition than the others after the volley ball and baseball games tried long distance swims a number of them crossing the lake and back.

And then dinner was announced. It was after two o'clock and so it was not necessary to announce the arrival of the eats more than once. Chef Osano had prepared his usual fine dinner and transported it steaming hot from Manchester to the lake. Broilers, southern style, potatoes, fresh peas, spaghetti, salads, celery, pickles, coffee, watermelon, nuts, candy and cigars were on the list.

A motor boat ride around the lake in the afternoon proved a means of cooling off that was greatly appreciated, the temperature even around the water being very high. Later in the afternoon the employees left for home, very much sunburned, stiff and tired but happy as ever. The trip to the lake and back was made in private cars with the exception of two or three of the entire forces of both stores were present.

of the chief issues in the coming campaign.

Farm Relief

Farm relief also will be dealt with extensively by Smith in his notification speech, it was predicted. He already has sent word to the farmers of the middle west telling them he stands squarely on the plank in the Democratic platform which calls for farm relief, and promising them that in the event of his election he will take speedy action to whip a concrete plan into shape for submission to Congress at its opening session.

Friends of the governor predict he will give a good account of himself as he invades the middle west. They point to the fact that he has played an important part in the enactment by the New York Legislature of measures of vital importance to the farmers of this state.

Before he makes the final draft of his acceptance speech the governor will confer with many leading Democratic members of Congress.

Two U. S. Senators, Millard E. Tydings, of Maryland, and Harry E. Hawes of Missouri, were the governor's guests at the executive mansion today. They came to Albany fresh from a conference with John J. Raskob, national chairman, in New York. Both are members of the Democratic Senatorial campaign committee which is expected to shortly open headquarters in New York City. It is understood the governor discussed various phases of his campaign with them and that they sought his advice concerning the campaign to elect a Democratic Senate.

is because he dislikes talking when he has nothing to say.

Talks of Visit

The talk veered from his visit to President Coolidge, to fishing in the Sierras and some reminiscences of his boyhood. On two occasions, during the long ride across the western plains, he told crowds gathering around the rear platform of his train how he had traversed much of the same route from Iowa, to the coast on the old Oregon trail as an eleven year old boy. At North Platte, Neb., he told of having a vivid memory of the town because in his boyhood he had learned it was the old stamping ground of "Buffalo Bill" Cody.

"The traditions of 'Buffalo Bill' were deep rooted in me as a boy," he added, with a smile.

In touching upon his fishing experiences with the newspapermen, Hoover described a fishing lodge he owns with other Californians high in the Sierras.

"Maybe we can get away to go fishing for a little while," the nominee added smiling wistfully. The suggestion was applauded.

BILSH FIRM OPENS ITS NEW AND NOVEL STORE

Twenty Thousand Different Articles Directly Under Customers Eye.

The F. T. Bilsh Hardware Company opened its new store in the Tinker Block at 1 o'clock this afternoon and those who visited the place saw an ultra-modern hardware store with a display of over 20,000 different articles in sight. This represented about ninety-nine per cent. of the articles handled by the company.

This display is made possible by the unusual system of fixtures which are new in this section and are so constructed that each article contained in the drawers or shelves inside of the display boards is shown by example. The open display in glass trays set on table-like figures through the center of the room gives the customers an opportunity to see just what is offered and also to select the article he wants. This is help not only to the patron but to the salesman, as often a customer is not familiar with the trade name of an article in the hardware line though he knows what he wants.

The store is well lighted during the day time by the windows on the east and south sides and in the evening there are twelve 300 watt lights so placed as to prevent overlapping shadows and give an even, smooth light.

The arrangement of the display was done by Herbert Godschacke, who has been here for the better part of two months. He makes a

What the Kiddie Stars Say

Rehearsal was well underway at the State Theater yesterday and the Kiddies were going through their paces like professional troupers. Following the close of the first act Manager Sanson noticed two little kiddies who were not members of the cast sneaking into the theater to watch rehearsals. Manager Sanson called them to him and told them that sneaking around never got anyone anywhere. "If you want to see rehearsals, if you feel you must see them and will behave behave yourself, come to me and ask me. I'll let you in but don't try to sneak in. Now go outside."

During rehearsal today Manager Sanson suddenly noticed about a dozen outside youngsters coming down the aisle led by the two visitors of the day before.

"Well, what do you call this?" The spokesman for the group piped up with "Remember what you said? Well here we are."

Thus it happened the Kiddie Review played to a rather critical audience today and they enjoyed the rehearsal so much that they are anxiously waiting for July 26, 27 and 28 so they can see the real thing.

RADIO CO. MAY MERGE WITH THE VICTOR CO.

New York, July 19.—Merger of Victor Talking Machine Co. and the Radio Corporation of America "would be of tremendous benefit to the future of both companies," Edward E. Schumaker, president of the Victor Co., said upon his return from Europe today.

"I still believe in the possibility of the two companies getting together and expect further negotiations to that end," he declared. "The combined facilities of both companies, under one management, would work toward greater economy and would lower the cost of production which in the end would be passed on to the public."

Commenting on the earnings outlook for Victor, Schumaker said the company faced one of the best years in its history.

HEBRON

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Kellogg of Saybrook were guests of Mr. Kellogg's sister, Miss C. E. Kellogg, on Monday.

The offering at the union service at St. Peter's church next Sunday will be for the victims of the Chinese famine.

An effort is being made to organize the town in the interests of the Fresh Air organization. The matter was taken up at the last meeting of the Young Women's club here, in response to a request from the heads of the society.

Among the Hebron people who attended the service of rededication of the Westchester Congregational church on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. J. Banks Jones, Mrs. Frank Raymond, Edward A. Raymond and daughter, Miss Ruth, Mrs. Carrie Burnham, William T. Jones, Mrs. Helen White, and daughter, Miss Daisy White. The rededication service was preached by the Rev. William S. Beard, a former pastor of the church.

The sudden death of George F. Mitchell, which occurred Monday afternoon was a shock to the community. Mr. Mitchell was apparently in his usual health, and was assisting the hay makers in getting in his hay crop. He was mowing away the hay in the barn when he fell ill. Medical examiner Cyrus E. Pendleton, M.D., of Colchester and Hebron, was summoned and pronounced death as due to organic heart trouble. Dr. Pendleton said that though Mr. Mitchell's death was probably hastened by the heat and over exertion his condition was such that death was sure to have occurred within a short time. The deceased was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Stephen M. Mitchell. He was 71 years of age, and had always been a Democrat in politics. He was proprietor of a repair and hardware business in Hebron. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Mary (Post) Mitchell. Funeral services will take place at his late residence on Thursday, at 2 p. m., the Rev. John Deeter officiating.

Thursday's program for St. Peter's school includes lectures by the Rev. Lewis F. Hite, continuing his work on Plato, and by Dr. Eugene Chase, continuing 17th Century English History. A lecture on Mozart will be given by Dr. Edward Austin Warren. This will take place at the home of the Misses Pendleton and will be illustrated on the piano. Dr. Benjamin Bissell, Edward Flint, Paul Yaka and Miss Marjorie Martin will assist. Question box will take place as usual at 4 p. m.

An early communion service will be held at St. Peter's church next Sunday at 7 a. m., daylight time. The union service which was recently announced will be held at 11 a. m., daylight time.

FOR SALE THIS FINE HOUSE TO SETTLE AN ESTATE

An Opportunity for Those Contemplating Building or Buying!

This house is brand new and has never been occupied. It is located a 1-4 of a mile from Manchester Green on Vernon street. It is unusually well-built and finished throughout. There are six rooms and a large bath, electricity, modern plumbing, large porch. The lot is 60x300 which gives plenty of room for garden or other planting, and for a garage.

The large living room and dining room are finished in chestnut. The stairway is also built of this beautiful wood.

The kitchen and pantry are ample and well arranged. The second bath. Plenty of closets, built-in cupboards, and other little features that mean so much, help to make this house attractive.

Much thought has been given to the choice of wallpaper so that harmony has been attained. Built by a man who specialized in this work you will find it a real home. It can be bought on easy terms with a reasonable cash payment.

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE: (343) Marionets

Sketches by Bessey; Synopsis by Braucher

Do you know how to become a dwarf or marionet and give a puppet show? The living marionet shown on the stage above is easy to work out. There are really two boys in the picture, one boy's hands being the feet of the dwarf while the hands folded in front of the picture are those of another boy.

THE TOWN has just placed several new shelves in the public library and the librarians are taking inventory of the books. They have recently purchased over 60 new books.

HOT IN NEW YORK

New York, July 19—Thunderstorms were hoped for today to drive away the oppressive heat which has added 13 more lives to the season's toll in the Metropolitan area.

Eight of the new deaths were due to drowning, as men and women sought relief from the sun's rays at the beaches. Three persons died of heat prostration. One man, crazed by the atmosphere, killed himself.

By Frank Beck

Fix up curtains about this little stage and assemble your audience. Then recite, sing, tell stories or dance. The boy concealed from view makes his hands twirl a cane or give comical gestures. The effect is quite unusual, and should interest your friends.

COVENTRY

Mrs. Eva Buchanan and four children Eva, William, Arthur and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Buchanan and daughter motored here from Staten Island and spent the first of the week with the former's mother, Mrs. Dan Newman, returning Tuesday morning. William and Arthur staying for a few weeks to enjoy the country.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Wallace McKnight and children Kathryn and Ruth and Mrs. H. C. McKnight are expected at Mrs. McKnight's sister's, Mrs. J. E. Kingsbury. They will return Tuesday.

Monday evening the Ready Helpers and Choral club will put on another of their famous old fashioned New England boiled dinners. The McKnight family will put on a musical entertainment. Supper will be served from 6:30 daylight saving time on.

Nathan Clark who has been spending a few days at Autumn View has returned to his home in New Haven.

Gordon Southworth of Farmington has entered the employ of John E. Kingsbury.

Miss Laura K. Kingsbury has returned home having had an operation upon her knee ten days ago at the Hartford hospital.

The Choral Society started on their new four part music last meeting. All members are urged to be present at the next meeting in order to keep progressing and not have to keep covering the old ground.

The Julian calendar was in use just prior to the present or Gregorian calendar.

VISIT TO OLD NEWGATE POPULAR WITH AUTOISTS

Old Newgate Prison in the town of East Granby is proving a popular place for motorists. Besides the trip through the historic prison and copper mines there is ample room to picnic or the inn opposite the prison serves chicken and steak dinners.

All good roads lead to Newgate and they are well posted. From Manchester it makes a pleasant day's drive and an interesting adventure. The guides tell many interesting tales about dark deeds as they show you through New Gate, it is a worthwhile trip all-in-all.

GAS BUGGIES—Rumors!

LETTER GOLF

STAR TO DUST Sometimes a STAR can't be seen for the DUST. The change in Letter Golf is six strokes, according to the solution on another page, which you may be able to reduce.

Letter Golf grid with words STAR and DUST.

THE RULES 1-The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

THE KNYMITE'S STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The funny hippo moved along against a current that was strong. It didn't bother him one bit, because he was stronger still. The Tines sat within the seat upon his back. It looked real neat. Said Clowny, "Everything is fine, as long as we don't spill."

SENSE and NONSENSE

"I never knew until I got a car," said the minister, "that profanity was so prevalent."

Cop: You are doing forty miles an hour. Motorist (whispering): Sh-h, make it seventy; I'm trying to sell the car to this guy.

You can tell a sport model at a glance. It has nine colors instead of seven.

A young man who had taken his Ford out on a cold wintry day was covering the engine with a blanket. Little Boy (looking on): "Don't cover it up, Mister, I saw what it was."

The largest hog in the world has been located in Nebraska, says the Topeka Journal, but the meanest ones will continue to be found on the highways.

"More cars are driven by men than by women." Well, if you mean actually holding the wheel.

If the average husband gave his wife as much attention as he does a worn-down motor, she would suspect him of trying to cover up something.

"Does Wilbur still race the trains to the crossing?" "No, it was too tame. He traded his car for a motorboat and tried to cross in front of a battleship."

Owner of Ancient Car (refusing golfing invitation): "No, I have some spring cleaning to do on the car."

Frank Friend: "I didn't think it had springs."

WHAT JOHN JONES INTENDED TO TELL A TRAFFIC COP.

"Say! WHO do you think you're talking to? What? Don't talk back to ME! Say, do you know who I am? None of your back talk, now! One more yap out of you and I'll have your job! Get that? I'll have your job!! Don't you try to bully me! It won't go, SEE! Next time you see ME coming, you'd better hide up a side street, keep out of my way, 'cause if you don't, I'll turn you in—that GOES!!! Why, the IDEA—honestly I'm so mad I could—G'WAN, Beat it now—BEAT IT before I forget myself—WHAT JOHN JONES ACTUALLY SAID.

The Herald says an Ottawa, Ontario, man has invented a brake that will bring a car going sixty miles an hour to a dead stop in 20 feet. He is now working on a device to keep the driver from going through the windshield.

Auto horns are now devised to stimulate a bugle call. The sounding of taps would seem highly appropriate in many instances.

After a man has had a car so long another dent in the fender don't worry him. And after he has had a wife so long he doesn't even notice a few more wrinkles in her face.

Frederick Scranton of 18 Williams street was badly shaken up and had his left hip and side so badly bruised that for a time it was thought the hip bone was broken as the result of a fall from a stepladder he was using in his work Tuesday at the Economy store located at Depot Square.

Miss Gertrude Collins of Main street left today for Bridgeport where she will visit with relatives for a week.

There will be a meeting of Division No. 1, A. O. H., in St. James' School building this evening at 8 o'clock, when action will be taken on taking part in the state field day in New Haven on July 28.

William Carney of Cambridge, Mass., a former resident of Manchester, returned to his home this afternoon after a few days in Manchester visiting with his aunt, Mrs. John Waddell of Cooper Hill and Cedar streets. He was accompanied by his two sons.

Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Woodward, of 121 Hollis street, are entertaining the wife of their son, Alvin Gray Woodward, of Detroit, and two children, Miss Ruth Virginia Woodward and Master Theodore Pertram Woodward. Miss Ethel Vera Woodward has recently returned from an auto trip in New Hampshire, Maine, and Vermont, visiting in the latter state her aunt, Mrs. Edwin I. Bryant, in Morrisville. She was accompanied on the trip by Miss Mary Bundy, of Norwich, Mrs. Edith Clark Hart, of Mapleville, R. I., and Mrs. Florence Clark Booth, of Woonsocket, R. I. They also motored into Canada, trucking in Montreal for a brief visit.

SHOWER FOR MISS WHALEY
North Methodist Junior Choir Gives Party for Young Lady Soon to Marry Fred Hanson.

The Junior choir of the North Methodist church held the final rehearsal with the Misses Lydall on Hudson street last night, and followed the work with a surprise miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Ruth Whaley who is to be married in the near future to Fred Hanson. The girls had arranged with Mr. Hanson to bring his fiancée to the Lydall home at a certain time, and when she entered Miss Bernice Lydall struck up the wedding march from Lohengrin on the piano. The gifts were all for use in the kitchen, and the members of the choir deposited them in a kitchen waste basket of tin, suitably decorated. Miss Whaley also received a large bouquet of various kinds of paper flowers made by the girls. Games were played and punch with assorted cookies served.

83 MORE TAX LIENS PAID OFF THIS WEEK

Prospects of Easy Collection of Half of Arrearages Seem Realized.

When the drive to collect back taxes was started this year there were about $22,000 of arrearages on file. It was expected that at least fifty per cent of this amount would be collected without any great amount of trouble and this is proving true.

The first eight days in July saw the release of forty-three liens against property and during the present week there has been paid back-taxes on property on which 83 liens had been filed. The amounts have not been large, only one exceeding $1,000, and this was paid yesterday. Others run from $50 and $100 but the majority are small. The releases for the taxes paid this past week will be made out by the tax collector either this week or early next week and filed with the town clerk.

The town's fiscal year is drawing to a close and while it will not be possible to tell just what the final standing will be until the town treasurer has the final figures of all the different departments there is an indication that Manchester will have lived within its income.

Last March at the adjourned annual town meeting, the selectmen were apprehensive that the tax laid was about half a mill less than would be needed, but figured on back taxes to help out. It looked, after the rate was laid, as if the town would be about $20,000 short.

The fact, however, that the school budget showed a saving of about $7,000 was a big help and through curtailment in some of the other departments, together with the back taxes collected, it seems now as though the anticipated $20,000 shortage would pretty nearly disappear.

HOSPITAL NOTES
Mrs. Fritz Anderson of Burnside was the only patient reported as being admitted to the Manchester Memorial hospital this morning.

COURT REVENUE HERE INCREASES

Number of Cases Tried Less Than Last Year—Drunk Drivers Cause.

The annual report of the clerk of the Manchester town court for the year ending July 1, shows that there was a slight decrease in the number of cases tried by the court as compared with that for the same period last year. The receipts, however, show an increase over last year of nearly $2,000, being $15,052.48 while last year they were $13,149.37. This increase is accounted for because of the large number of persons found guilty of driving while under the influence of liquor. The minimum fine for this offense is $100. Another reason for the increase is the number of men and women convicted of selling liquor.

The report shows 432 cases tried. Of these 104 were for plain intoxication, 51 for driving automobiles while intoxicated and 32 for selling liquor. Last year 470 cases were tried. Motor vehicle violations of various kinds make up a large percentage of the work of the court. During the past year 43 persons were found guilty of speeding. The local traffic officers have been making an effort to reduce this dangerous practice, especially on Center street. Automobile drivers who have been caught speeding above 45 miles an hour were brought in.

All the fines imposed for motor vehicle violations are paid to the state motor vehicle department. The amount paid to the state for the past year was $5,307.01. The amount paid to the town was $9,745.47. The number of cases before the court this year was about 50 less than last year. The Manchester town court is self supporting and has been for several years. The report does not include cases held in the juvenile court and does not take into account those cases of a civil character.

The officers of the court include Judge Raymond A. Johnson, Deputy Judge and Clerk Thomas Fer-

VELVET MILL FOREMAN ILL OF APPENDICITIS

EMIL KRAUSE OF NO. 87 WALNUT STREET, A FOREMAN IN CHENEY BROTHERS VELVET DEPARTMENT, IS AT THE MANCHESTER MEMORIAL HOSPITAL WHERE HE WAS OPERATED UPON FOR APPENDICITIS.

Mr. Krause, with other members of the department in the velvet mill where he is employed, went on an outing Saturday and on returning home he became ill. He placed the cause of his illness to what he ate on the outing, but Sunday he was suffering pain and this continued through Sunday night, Monday and Monday evening. Tuesday morning there was such a change in his condition that at 10 o'clock he was taken to the hospital and at once operated upon for appendicitis.

He rallied well after the operation and Mrs. Krause, who was with him this morning, reported that his condition was exceptionally good and that unless there were unexpected developments he was on the road to a quick recovery.

Pinehurst "GOOD THINGS TO EAT"

FISH AND OTHERS.
Of course you'll want fish tomorrow. Of course you will. Of course. The weather says fish. And the need comes just right because Pinehurst's fish supply couldn't be sweeter or fresher or more nearly alive if it were zero weather than it is today—and will be tomorrow.

Again the swordfish, favorite of so many who are not real fish eaters, is prime. And we have some more of that delicious fresh salmon—than which there is no finer hot weather food. Halibut, all the way from the Greenland coast, is another favorite of the not-so-fishy-palated. Mackerel are in splendid condition, and the fillet of haddock, dressed haddock and fillet of sole are, of course, as standard as beef steak. No cod this week—the fleet has been out of luck.

Tomatoes are lower—and better. They're from Tennessee and a bit finer grade than those that have been coming from Mississippi. We have native beans today. And blueberries. And some particularly nice ripe peaches—peaches are fine this year. Native summer squash from round-about are excellent and we have a fine lot of Peterson's bunch beets at the low price of four for a quarter. Red raspberries—raw material for so many delicious desserts—are fine and reasonable in price.

You know about our Cantaloupes and Honey Dew melons. Let us pick out the Honey Dew and we will guarantee it—ever hear of a stunt like that?

Hot outdoors, but not in Pinehurst—come in and see.

Or telephone 2000.
