

SMITH SETS THE DATE TO LAUNCH CAMPAIGN

To Be Formally Notified of Nomination in Albany on Aug. 22—90 Stations in Radio Hookup.

Albany, N. Y., July 24.—Gov. Al Smith will formally launch his campaign for the presidency from the east steps of the State Capitol at 7 o'clock on the night of August 22.

At that time the governor will be formally notified that he has been nominated for the presidency by the Democratic Party. This will bring the governor's notification just eleven days after that of his Republican opponent, Herbert Hoover.

90 Stations

The governor indicated that he expected his address which will be broadcast over ninety radio stations and in which he will state his views on all the issues of the campaign, would require about one hour. He already has declared he will deal extensively in his speech with two of the more important issues, prohibition and farm relief.

Delayed Announcement

The governor had expected to announce last week the date of the notification ceremony but he was prevented because of a tangle over radio broadcasting hours.

Because he intends to deal so extensively with the campaign issues the governor refused to fix the date for the notification until he could be assured that his address would be sent out over a nation-wide radio hook-up.

The steps of the Capitol face a spacious park in which 100,000 Democrats are expected to gather to listen to the governor formally launch his campaign.

When asked if he was satisfied to have the notification ceremony broadcast at 7 o'clock daylight saving time, in view of the difference in time in the west, the governor replied:

"No, assuredly, the time suits me fine."

In Good Humor

The governor was in fine humor today. It was evident that he was glad to have the date for the notification settled. He expects to start shortly to whip into shape the final draft of his address. He already has made a rough draft of what he intends to say on some of the more important of the campaign issues.

He smiled broadly when told that Senator George H. Moses, Republican of New Hampshire, had predicted that Hoover would carry New York.

"The history of politics is that the Republicans always claim everything," the governor said. "I was elected governor four times in the face of claims to the contrary by the Republicans, and always by large majorities."

Heads It Often

"Then you don't think much of the attitude of confidence of the Republicans that they will carry the east for Hoover?" someone suggested.

"No," the governor replied, smiling. "I've heard it so often that it's getting a little stale."

Asked if he thought Senator Moses was right when he said the coming presidential campaign would be the hottest since 1892, the governor replied:

"I didn't vote in '92."

After the notification ceremony the governor plans to go to Sea Girt, N. J., for a brief vacation. He does not expect to begin his active campaign until after Labor Day and he will probably visit a majority of the large cities in the country.

BODENHEIM SECLUDES SELF IN CONNECTICUT

Novelist Hides From Reporters; Girl Friend Taken Away by Her Father.

New York, July 24.—After weeks of strenuous activity as "literary mentor" for girl writers, Max Bodenheimer was reported early today to be hard at work on a novel of his own in a Connecticut shore town.

Dr. Martin J. Loeb, located at his home here after removing his 13-year-old daughter Gladys from the novelist's cottage in Provincetown, Mass., said he had parted from Bodenheimer on the road near Provincetown. They had led reporters a merry chase over a large portion of Massachusetts, whether the harassed novelist had fled following the suicide of Miss Virginia Drew in New York City. She took her life after Bodenheim had criticized her literary efforts unfavorably.

Determined that his daughter should not seek Bodenheim again for literary guidance, Dr. Loeb sent her to the home of relatives for a "rest cure," he said. He announced that Gladys would resume her studies at New York University in the fall.

MEXICO MOURNS AT FLYER'S BIER

Political Quarrels Forgotten as Crowds Gather to Pay Tribute to Capt. Carranza.

Mexico City, July 24.—Political quarrels were forgotten today while the whole populace mourned at the bier of Captain Emilio Carranza, the brave young Mexican "good will airman," who was killed while flying from the United States where he returned Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's Mexican visit.

There was an emotion in the republic's grief that transcended the sorrow over the Obregon tragedy. Throughout the night the body had rested in state in the War Department, the coffin banked by magnificent floral tributes while an honorary guard of soldiers stood by.

Crowds Gather

Shortly after dawn crowds were astir in the streets for the funeral. An influx from neighboring states swelled the population of the city to pay final homage to the youthful ace who had given his life to further his country's international friendships.

The whole diplomatic corps had accepted the invitation of President Calles to be present at Pantan Dolors where a place had been prepared for the body amidst the graves of the republic's heroes.

All Walks of Life

Seldom in its history has the capital witnessed such a spontaneous outpouring of the nation's sorrow. In the crowds that lined the streets from the war ministry to the pantheon were men of rank and shabby peons. School children bore armloads of flowers to scatter before the gun carriage bearing the coffin. Women stood with men who bore the scars of revolutionary battles.

Gen. Zertuche, chief of the police of the federal district, and the military authorities had made plans to handle a crowd of more than 300,000 persons.

Captain Carranza was a personal friend of Dwight W. Morrow, the United States Ambassador, and Mr. Morrow has increased still higher the esteem and friendship of the Mexican people by the prominent part he was given to play at the last rites for the republic's young hero.

BODY ROBBED

Mount Holly, N. J., July 24.—The body of Captain Emilio Carranza, being buried in Mexico City today, was plundered of valuables by vandals after the Mexican ace was killed near here on his attempted non-stop flight from New York to Mexico City. One of the thieves, whose identity was not disclosed, became so conscience-stricken that he returned two rings, a military medal and several suits of the flyer's underwear to police here.

"I couldn't keep them," the man told police. "I could never sleep again."

JAP DIPLOMATS WIN FIGHT OVER MANCHURIA

No More Clashes Between Soldiers— Chinese Nationalists Halt Flag Raising.

London, July 24.—The diplomatic struggle between Japan and the Chinese Nationalists over the future status of the Manchurian government has swung in favor of Tokyo, according to advices from the Japanese capital today.

It is reported that the ceremonies arranged by Chinese Nationalists at Mukden tomorrow, when the Nationalist flag was to have been hoisted over Manchuria, have been cancelled.

Shanghai dispatches indicate that the negotiations between the Nationalist administration at Peking and Marshal Chang Hsueh Liang, military governor of Manchuria, to place Manchuria under Nationalist rule, have been halted.

FRENCH FLYERS BOUND FOR AMERICA

Bent on conquering the Atlantic in an east-west flight, the French airmen and their seaplane pictured above took off from the harbor of Brest, France, to fly to Bermuda or New York by way of the Azores. They landed successfully at Horta and await favorable weather for the ocean hop. Their attempt is backed by the French government. Upper left is Lieutenant Paulin Papis, chief pilot; lower right is M. Cadou, radio operator. M. M. Marrot is relief pilot and mechanic. Their ship, La Fregate, is powered with two 80 horsepower motors, mounted in tandem.

18,000,000 CATHOLICS NOW LIVE IN UNITED STATES

Gain Over 2,000,000 Since Last Census; Churches Valued at $837,206,053; 28,000,000 Protestants.

Washington, July 24.—The Roman Catholic Church has a membership of 18,694,850 in America, the Census Bureau reported today.

It gained 2,883,025 members since the last census in 1916, an average of approximately 288,000 annually.

The Friends Society, Quakers, at the 1926 census had a membership of 91,253 and 714 churches in comparison to 18,939 churches for the Catholic Church.

While all religious census reports for 1926 have not been compiled, figures obtained at the Library of Congress showed that the Protestant population of the United States numbers approximately 28,500,000.

Census Bureau figures reported the value of Catholic Church property in 1926 as $837,206,053, compared to a valuation of $374,206,895 ten years before. Total expenditures for 1926 reported by 16,316 of the Catholic churches amounted to $204,522,987, of which $181,734,288 went for current expenses and improvements and $19,281,523 for benevolences and missions and the remainder unclassified. In 1916, 13,722 churches reported expenditures of $72,358,134.

Young Girl Is Killed By Big Motor Truck

Norwalk, Conn., July 24.—Gladys Mangus, fourteen, of Mount Tom, West Virginia, was instantly killed on the Post Road here today as she stood beside an automobile in which her grandparents were seated as a truck driven by Lawrence Boland, of Newark, N. J., struck her in a few feet of the place where the accident occurred.

The Mangus party was in two machines bound for Boston to visit relatives and stopped beside the Post Road here for a rest, most of the party leaving the cars. The girl's grandparents were seated on the rear bumper and she stepped over to talk with them. Boland's truck swerved from the pavement to the dirt shoulder, struck one of the cars and threw the Mangus girl beneath its wheels which crushed her to death instantly.

Boland was arrested following the accident. The West Virginia party was still here at noon, awaiting legal papers to permit them to take the girl's body home for burial.

G. O. P. Women Meet To Map Out Campaign

Washington, July 24.—Rallying under the Hoover-Curtis banner to control the women vote of the country for the Republican ticket next November, national committee women from sixteen eastern and New England states met today and formulated their plan of campaign.

The meeting, while distinct from the meetings of the Republican National committeewomen held in New York yesterday, was participated in by the same states, with the same purpose, of taking up the gauge of battle in the east.

"This is to be absolutely a business meeting," declared Mrs. Alvin T. Hart, of Louisville, national vice chairman in charge of the women's part in the campaign. "We are here to work and we mean to work from now until election day. It goes without saying that we will make an intensive campaign for Mr. Hoover and Senator Curtis and am confident of their election."

At the session, presided over by Mrs. Hart, there were short speeches on the general policies of the campaign by Herbert Work, National chairman; Franklin Fort, national secretary; J. Francis Burke, general counsel for the national committee, and Mrs. Hart.

Pursuant to a suggestion by Mrs. Hart made several days ago that committeewomen from other states than those actually covered by the conference, attend the meeting Mrs. Beulah Hughes, national committeewoman from Tennessee, and Mrs. Hugh Clarke, of Ohio, were present, as was Mrs. W. E. Kennan, of North Carolina.

The only state in the eastern and New England section not represented was Virginia. Mrs. M. M. Caldwell, of the state telegraphing that illness prevented her attendance. Connecticut was represented by Miss Katherine Byrne.

RASKOB QUILTS AS CHAIRMAN OF GEN. MOTORS

To Devote All of His Time to Managing Democratic Campaign—News Comes as Surprise.

New York, July 24.—Confirmation that John J. Raskob has resigned, temporarily, as chairman of the finance committee of General Motors Corporation was given today by Mrs. Henry Moskowitz, confidential adviser to Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

Raskob did so, Mrs. Moskowitz said, in order to be able to devote his entire time and attention to electing Gov. Smith to the presidency.

He still retains his positions as vice president and director in General Motors, however, and is expected to take charge of the finance committee again after the election.

First Plans

When he accepted the position of chairman of the Democratic national committee, Raskob did not intend to sever his connection with the corporation which he helped to attain its present gigantic proportions. His campaign work proved so heavy, however, that he felt forced to give up either politics or business for a time.

News of his temporary withdrawal caused surprise today among close political and business associates.

"I had not heard of it," said George E. Van Name, press-convention manager for Gov. Smith, and a member of the advisory group for the national committee.

ACCEPT RESIGNATION

New York, July 24.—The resignation of John J. Raskob, chairman of the finance committee of General Motors Corporation was accepted today. Raskob resigned so as to be free to take complete charge of the campaign of Gov. Alfred E. Smith for the presidency. Raskob recently was elected chairman of the Democratic national committee.

The acceptance of Raskob's resignation was announced by Alfred P. Sloan, president of General Motors. In a statement Sloan said Raskob's resignation has been under consideration and, it being to the interest of both the corporation and Mr. Raskob to accept the same, it has been done with the greatest regret on the part of the entire organization.

The news that Raskob had tendered his resignation had had its effect in Wall street shortly before

NEW HAVEN STORM CAUSES BIG LOSS

Half Million Dollar Loss and Many Lives in Peril—Fire Also.

New Haven, Conn., July 24.—A heavy shower sweeping across New Haven today put many lives in peril and did damage estimated at well over half a million dollars. In the height of the storm firemen rescued nearly fifty persons from drowning in the heart of the city and put down a fire that threatened to destroy a large apartment house from which tenants had to be carried to safety.

A motor bus containing 45 persons was trapped on Whitney avenue and when firemen reached the machine four feet of water was surging around the bus. Two women, in danger of being drowned in a basement apartment at 58 Grove street, were carried out

DETECTIVES SEEK 'MODEL YOUNG MAN'

Starts on Vacation and It Is Found He Is $150,000 Short in Accounts.

New York, July 24.—A model husband and father, who lived well within his generous income and endeared himself to his neighbors by his career, industrious life, today is a fugitive from justice, charged with stealing $150,000 from his employers.

Detectives all over the United States and Canada are seeking William H. Pilkington, 28 who lived for six years with his wife and two young sons on Miles Square road, Yonkers, N. Y.

He was last heard of a week ago when he and his family checked out of a hotel in Vancouver, B. C., presumably to sail for Japan.

Pilkington was New York representative of Joshua Hoyle and Sons, Ltd., cotton converters of Manchester, England. He came here as a salesman six years ago and soon was promoted to the post of American manager. His father is a trusted employee of the English firm.

Starts On Vacation

Early in June Pilkington started on a vacation, his first in six years, visiting the office on June 13, he found auditors making their semi-annual examination of the books. He left hastily and has not been seen since. The audit revealed that the money was missing.

After discovery of the theft, which had extended over a period of two years, detectives visited Pilkington's Yonkers home. It had been stripped of its furniture, some of which had been sold to neighbors at ridiculously low prices. These neighbors revealed that the Pilkingtons had gone to Canada.

POLITICIANS AFTER ATLANTIC STATES

REPORT THAT ITALIANS DEVoured PROFESSOR

London, July 24.—While resentment in Italy against hostile criticism of the Noble expedition is growing, feeling in the Scandinavian countries is running higher. The Daily Mail today printed a Copenhagen dispatch saying that it is persistently rumored that A. Marianno and F. Zappi, Italian aviators, who were killed in a crash, were devoured by the body of Prof. Finn Malmgren, the lost Swedish scientist, who was with them.

Zappi, who was picked up with Marianno by the Russian ice breaker Krassin and later transferred to the Clitta di Milano is reported at Copenhagen to be very ill as the result of hardships on the Arctic ice.

These rumors, it is believed, will tend to increase the friction between the Scandinavians and the Italian members of the expedition. So far as known here, there is nothing upon which to base the rumor of cannibalism beyond the fact that Malmgren's body is missing and there has been great conflict in stories regarding his fate.

ACCUSE LABORITES OF ASSASSINATION

Farmers' Party in Mexico Demand That Members Be Ousted From Office.

Mexico City, July 24.—With the Laborite members of the Calles administration ousted through enforced resignations, the National Agrarian party, the backbone of the candidacy of the late President-Elect Alvaro Obregon, today demanded the complete elimination of all members of the Labor group from the National Congress and Senate.

Celestino Gascuanti, formerly director of the national munitions factories, who quit his post, when Minister of Labor Luis Marone resigned, was reported today to have fled from the capital disguised as a chauffeur.

Accuse Laborites

Leaders of the Agrarian party accuse the Laborites of responsibility for the assassination of General Obregon. They demand that these leaders be arrested and punished.

Morones, who is head of the Mexican Labor Party, was reported in hiding here, but the police claim to know his whereabouts.

"The basis of our demands is justice," said former Governor Aurelio Manrique, of the State of San Luis Potosi, who reported that he had been arrested by Agrarians. "The people must not confuse serenity with fear nor prudence with egotism. We wish to point out to President Calles that public opinion demands elimination of the labor element from Congress and the Senate in order that they will be genuinely Obregonists."

A statement was made at police headquarters that "the case against the Laborites is complete and indisputable." General Antonio Rios Zertuche, chief of police of the federal district, said he would give proofs as soon as he had concluded his investigation.

READY FOR SECOND LEG OF HOP OVER ATLANTIC

French Flyers Make Repairs on Plane at Azores—May Go to Bermuda.

Horta, Azores, July 24.—Lieutenant Paulin Papis, noted French flyer and his two companions will continue their flight to America today if they can complete repairs on their seaplane, the Frigate, in time. The flyers completed the first leg of their flight at 5:20 a. m. (local time) yesterday morning after an uneventful journey from Brest, France. They had intended continuing the flight almost immediately but it was discovered that slight repairs were necessary.

Mechanic Marat, who is acting as chief pilot, and Radio Operator Cadou are accompanying Paris. The flyers will probably head for the Bermudas on the second leg of the flight but they will fly Halifax instead if weather conditions on the northern route are better.

Then they will refuel and continue to New York. If all goes well on this flight, the flyers hope to make a return flight from New York to Brest with only one stop at Newfoundland enroute.

REPORT DENIED

Oslo, Norway, July 24.—A report that Norwegian Aviator Captain Hjalmar Riser-Larsen had found the body of Prof. Finn Malmgren was without confirmation here today and was generally discredited.

Both Parties Agree That Here Main Battles in Campaign Will Be Fought; New York Important.

New York, July 24.—The Atlantic seaboard from Maine to Maryland was clearly marked today by both the Democratic and Republican high commands as the crucial battle ground of the 1928 presidential campaign.

Three political gatherings of the first magnitude here within the last 24 hours have established the scenes of the major encounters. New York state is to be won by a political battle of the Marne, and Massachusetts is to be a sort of oratorical Verdun. New Jersey, Maryland, Rhode Island and Delaware are red-flagged on the huge wall maps of the campaign strategists.

A heap of political straws thrown to the wind by the three gatherings revealed this year's mid-summer campaign zephyr to be something of a gale and disclosed at the same time an astonishing agreement between Democratic and Republican strategists as to where the most blood is likely to be spilled between now and November. "X" marks the spot, which comprises exactly all the territory of "the original thirteen colonies lying north of the Potomac.

Important Sector

So important is this sector in the view of Dr. Hubert Work, Republican national chairman, that the day-to-day campaign management will be under his personal supervision. He will be aided by an advisory committee composed of the national committee members from the eleven states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Delaware.

Of this group, New York, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Delaware, New Jersey and Maryland, with a total of 83 electoral votes, are regarded as "fighting chance" states by both strategy boards. The Republican chieftains regard the region west of the Alleghenies as "in the bag," just as the Democratic managers see the "Solid South," safely in the Democratic column for November 5.

New York State

The Cruz of the eastern struggle, according to detailed campaign plans disclosed today, is to be in New York state. Here the Republicans polled 1,627,000 votes for governor in 1924 while President Coolidge was winning the state from John W. Davis with a total vote of only 1,320,000. On the basis of these figures, Democratic managers stake their hopes on a switch of a bare 100,000 votes in the entire state to win New York's 45 votes in the electoral college—this on the general assumption, they assert, that Herbert Hoover can poll as big a vote as did President Coolidge.

Republicans point out, on the other hand, that Smith polled 104,000 fewer votes for governor in 1926 than in 1924 and stake their hopes for the election on a still diminishing Smith popularity at home.

Following his first meeting with eastern managers to map major campaign policies, Work returned to Washington today to confer with women committee members from the same states on their part in the Hoover drive. For the first time since women were given place on the national committee, they will have their own independent campaign organization this year.

While Work continued to whip his campaign machine into shape at the capital, Chairman John J. Raskob of the Democratic national committee was busy with the actual execution of plans submitted to the first meeting of the Democratic national advisory committee.

"A Smith campaign from coast to coast," was the battle slogan announced after the meeting. "But it will be a New York campaign all the way across the country—beginning in New York, ending in New York and managed throughout by New York political intimates of Gov. Alfred E. Smith."

"Voters everywhere will know the issues in this campaign—but particularly will they know the candidates," said Raskob.

Smith's Personality

Gov. Smith's magnetic personality is to be the big Democratic "issue." Raskob assured "extensive speaking tours" by the governor, intimating even that "the happy warrior" would carry his own whirlwind campaign as far as California, home state of his Republican adversary.

While Work and Raskob met with their committees in closed session, the New York state Democratic committee assembled at the National Democratic Club, midway between the two headquarters hotels, to select Rochester for the state convention, October 1 and 2, which is to name the favored candidates whose names will go under Smith's on the ballot.

On motion of George V. Olney, the chief of Tammany Hall, the state committee pledged its "active" support to the governor.

THINKS STATE FAVORS A LOT OF EQUIPMENT. The State Police Department is sending to the sealers of weights and measures in the various towns and cities of the state a questionnaire, which, when filled out, will give to the department full information as to what equipment local sealers of weights and measures possess.

Henry L. Wilson, local sealer, has received one of them. He says that while the standards and weights in use in Manchester do not number as many as the state department seems to favor, there are sufficient for all work that has been called upon to do.

The work of the local sealer is under the supervision of the State Police Department and that department has the appointment of the state sealer.

MANCHESTER SCOTCHMAN MAKES NEW YORK TRIP

Tells The Herald How He Spent Sunday in Metropolis and It Cost Him $1.85.

They say a Scotchman bought a radio set from Watkins Brothers and took it back somewhat dissatisfied with his purchase. He complained that the tubes didn't show enough light to read by. That must have been the same fellow who went to New York City on the New Haven Road excursion last Sunday.

He reported to The Herald that outside of his excursion ticket he had only spent $1.85 and he saw New York's most interesting points. "This is how he says he did it."

He took the Fifth Avenue bus at 42d street and Fifth Avenue to 181st, via Riverside Drive, passing many places of interest and the rapidly disappearing millionaires' homes on the avenue.

At 110th street he crossed the bridge to the Cathedral of St. John the Divine which is still under construction. On arrival at 181st street, he crossed Washington bridge to the Lexington Avenue subway to 167th street, proceeding south through the subway to the Battery.

From the Battery a trip was made down the lower bay by ferry to Staten Island, a most delightful cruise of 20 minutes, passing the Statue of Liberty and viewing the extensive shipping, comprising ships from all nations of the world.

Coming back the same way, on arrival at Battery Park a walk was made up Broadway, passing Old Trinity church, with the historic churchyard where are buried many revolutionary patriots.

Washington was inaugurated as president, was another object of interest. The next place visited was the Woolworth tower, where a charge of 50 cents is made for the elevator trip to the top.

From there he walked up to City Hall park, crossed Brooklyn bridge by trolley, returned and took the trolley up to 42d street, walking up through the theatrical district to Central Park and Columbus Circle.

Outside of the railroad fare the total cost was $1.85, made up as follows: Fifth Avenue bus .10 Trolley across Washington bridge .05 Subway to Aquarium .05 Staten Island Ferry, each way 5c .10 Trolley to 42d St. .05 2 ice cream sodas, 15c .30 Lunch at Child's .40 Woolworth Tower .50 Trolley across B'kly bridge .10

Total $1.85 Editors Note: Evidently our friend likes the music on the Staten Island ferry. His lunch at Child's must have been bread and water 'cause 60 cents doesn't go far there.

UPON BEING ASSURED THAT one accident in 18 years was a mighty good thing, a man being assured by practically every spectator of the crash that it was one of those things that are liable to happen to anyone, Mr. Barber decided that the affair wasn't so much and drove safely home.

It is likely that Mr. Barber and his Ford will continue to be one of the sights on the streets of Manchester for some time to come.

REGISTRARS PREPARE FOR FALL CAMPAIGN. Notices of First Meetings Are Sent Out—New Voters Have Until October 9.

Posters are out this week announcing the dates on which the registrars will be in session at the municipal building to receive the names of voters who wish to register for the primaries.

The registrars will meet on the first two Fridays in August, New voters, who were made last fall, will have an opportunity to register with a party of their choice.

In Manchester, as in the larger towns, new voters will be made in October. The latest possible date on which names may be turned in will be October 9. The registrars will be again in session on that date for that purpose.

Persons who intend to become voters this fall may also hand in their names to any member of the Republican or Democratic committees and they will get that they get into the right hands.

FAMOUS OLD FORD IN BUMP AT LAST

George M. Barber's 1910 Wonder Hits Buick—Repaired, He Drives It Home

After driving his famous Ford car for 18 years without an accident, George M. Barber, Manchester's grand old man among automobilists, crashed into a Buick touring car, driven by John Lennon of 28 Division street, on Main street at 18:30 this morning.

Mr. Barber had parked his celebrated 1910 Ford on Main street almost directly in front of George H. Williams, Inc. clothing store while he did some shopping in a nearby store. It happened that the stall next to the Barber Ford was parked a new 1928 Ford coupe and the outstanding contrast of the two types of Fords attracted quite a number of spectators.

Mr. Barber, when he had finished his shopping, climbed into his car, threw on the switch and the old boat as usual responded and started on compression. One of the spectators commented on the fact that such a feat was something even the new Ford would have to go some to duplicate.

Mr. Barber backed away from the curb and looked to see if the road was clear, so that he could turn around and head back down Main street. He noticed one car coming and waited for it. He did not, however, see the Buick driven by Lennon, which was following. So, while he was turning his ancient Ford into the Buick on the right side, the Ford bounded, started up again and hit the Buick a second time, denting the back mudguard.

The second crash caught the Ford on the side of the left front wheel, bending the wishbone and smashing a headlight.

Lennon's first interest was in finding out the extent of damage to his Buick. He then straightened out the fenders of his own car and drove down to the Ford station, where he is employed as a mechanic, got a new wishbone, brought it back up to the scene of the accident and repaired the Ford.

George M. Barber's Ford vintage of 1910 is far and away the best known automobile in Manchester. Mr. Barber, is mighty proud of the old boat and for a few minutes he was considerably upset, for he was afraid that perhaps it had been seriously damaged. As soon as he found out the car was O. K. he calmed and made little of the experience, not a slight one for a Civil War veteran.

In 18 years of driving the car it was Barber's very first accident. As a rule, he said, he did not try to turn around on Main street but went up a side street instead and came back down the next street. Why he tried turning around today was something he did not quite understand.

The elder McMenemy secured a leave of absence from his duties at the National Fire Insurance Company and left several weeks ago on a summer trip to the Pacific Coast. He was at his desk on time yesterday, however, after what might be termed a record trip. Lieutenant McMenemy who drove all the way was in fine form physically at the start and yesterday was out with his car, taking his mother and sisters with him.

The Herald believes that many people would be interested in a detailed account of the trip and has asked the McMenemys to furnish such an account if possible. They left the coast Saturday morning, the 14th and were at their home on Marble street, Sunday, July 22, shortly after noon. They had very little trouble, traveled the greater part of the distance by Lincoln highway, taking the northern route. More than 500 miles was covered one day and the car used was a Wyllys-Knight cabriolet.

Country Store at the State Tonight. Loads of Presents to Be Given Away—"Three Ring Marriage" is Film Feature.

The famous Country Store and Fun Night will be back at the State theater this evening, after a hiatus of a week. Loads of valuable presents will be given away to the accompaniment of several new surprises and more laughs than ever before.

Hundreds of Manchester movie fans remember the last Country Store event, which was the best for better than the average vaudeville show.

"Three Ring Marriage," co-starring Lloyd Hughes and Mary Astor, will be the film feature for tonight and tomorrow.

"Three Ring Marriage" offers something distinctly new and modern in circus story plots and screen romances. It deals with the frank pursuit of a cowboy hero by a cowgirl heroine, right up to the time she ropes and ties him with a wedding.

Miss Astor in the role of the pretty cowgirl is at her very best and contributes a sparkling performance. Lloyd Hughes is very effective as the handsome hero. Others in the cast are Alice White and Lawford Davidson.

A splendid variety of State Short Subjects will be shown in addition to the feature.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the State are going to be banner days—three days that local theatergoers will long remember. For it is the annual Manchester Children's Annual Kiddy Revue will be presented.

This year's show is going to be far better than any of its predecessors, according to those who have seen a preview of the production. This year's Kiddy Revue has four stars. They are Doris Roy, Billy Shea, Rosanna Lindy and Buddie O'Leary with a cast of 120 Manchester children.

Tickets for the Kiddy Revue are now on sale at the box office of the theater.

DANCE FEATURE AT SANDY BEACH

The management of Sandy Beach at Crystal Lake is offering an unusually attractive program of features this week in which Manchester musicians and dancers will take an important part and the splendid list of attractions is sure to bring Sandy Beach ballroom two large crowds on Wednesday and Saturday evening when special extra programs will be offered at no advance in price of admission.

On Wednesday evening the Hotel Biltmore orchestra of Providence, R. I., will appear at the ballroom to offer the dancers another special dance feature in the line of noted dance bands. This band is among the finest in New England and has appeared in all of the leading ballrooms of the east including Rhodes at Fawcett, R. I., Crescent Park, Shannard Stores, Providence, Syracuse, New York City, Boston and Springfield.

As an added big time feature, Mr. Bokis is offering the Dancing Cardinals, champion ballroom dancers of New England, tests and headlines on Keith's winners of over 300 dancing coin-vaudeville circuit.

No less important will be Saturday's program arranged as Manchester-Rockville Nite when "Al" Schreind and his melody boys of Manchester will present the dance program. There will also be vaudeville and a championship prize fox trot to provide the champion dancers of Eastern Connecticut and the best dancers of Manchester, Rockville, Thompsonville, Stafford Springs and Willimantouan opportunity to compete for the honors. Never before has such a complete and pretentious list of events been offered for the approval of the public as has been arranged for Sandy Beach this week and record crowds will be on hand to witness the feature programs.

No expense is being spared to provide the best attractions to be booked and the public is showing its appreciation by visiting Sandy Beach Ballroom regularly. Other bands representing the best in New England that have been booked for next month are Bennie Kahn; Percy Stevens of Boston, Ernie Rock, Dick Newcomb, Max Kabrick and an all star colored jazz band.

TOOK NINE DAYS TO CROSS COUNTRY

Lieut. McMenemy Makes Record Time in Drive Here From Los Angeles.

Lieutenant Edward McMenemy's friends were chaffing him last night regarding the time consumed on his cross-country trip from the Pacific coast. The heading of a Herald item containing the news read "Drive Cross Country in Auto in 3 Weeks," while the body of the article stated that the 4,000 mile trip was covered in "a week."

The bottom is so graded that the smaller youngsters can play about safely while one part of it is plenty deep for the older ones. A diving plank and chute are to be added within a few days. The water is constantly changing every other night, but will also be changed and leaving the pool. The outflow pipe is so situated that it affords a shower bath.

Next in line, so far as popularity with the youngsters is concerned, is the "Jungle gym" which was recently installed, and which was the gift of William W. Robertson and his sister, Miss Grace Robertson. It is a maze of iron piping strongly imbedded in a cement foundation. This apparatus is used daily by hundreds of children as a means of exercise. The "gym" can accommodate as many as fifty or sixty children at a time.

Other recreation features are the tennis court, horse-shoe pitching, volley-ball courts and basketball courts. There are also eighteen long chain swings, four new ones soon to be installed; also four saw boards. One of the biggest assets of the Community Club playgrounds is its many big trees that shade almost the entire plot and which, with the brook and swimming pool, make the place unusually cool.

The playgrounds are supervised from 10 to 12 in the morning, 2 to 4 in the afternoon and from 6:30 to 8:30 in the evening. The Eighth and Utilities District, which finances the playgrounds, does not assume any responsibility for any accidents which may happen, as signs posted on trees throughout the park declare.

SCOUTS MEET TONIGHT AT HIGHLAND PARK

The Scouts of Troop 6 of the South Methodist church will hold an outdoor meeting tonight at Highland Park. A hot dog roast followed the meeting which was attended by the 25 Scouts that are part of the Scout troop of the South Methodist church to continue their meetings throughout the summer.

They are now in their fifth year without missing a meeting, and to date all meetings have been very well attended.

All Scouts of Troop 6 going to Camp Wheeler for the Manchester Scout week at this popular camp will assemble at the church at 8 o'clock where transportation to camp will be provided for them. The Scouts of the other Manchester troops will not leave for camp until tomorrow.

PLANE-RAIL TRIP

New York, July 24.—An order for delivery next month of six folding-wing cabin monoplane to be used in a new plane-train passenger service between Chicago and Los Angeles, was announced here today.

The planes are on order by the Seaside Airways, Inc., of Chicago, from the Palcanid company. Fare for the trip by airplane and railroad train in two stages will be $150. The journey across the continent will be made in 38 hours, saving 32 hours in the present railroad-traveling time.

LOTS OF SPORTS AT COMMUNITY CLUB

Swimming Pool and Jungle Gym Only Parts of the Attractions.

The Community Club playgrounds at the north end fairly buzz with activities these summer months with hundreds of children making use of their facilities daily.

The most popular means of recreation just at present seems to be the swimming pool, which was formed by damming the stream with a concrete dam. It is large enough to accommodate a hundred or more children at one time.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mason Surprised by Friends. Celebrate 25th Wedding Anniversary With Party; Over 50 Attend Affair.

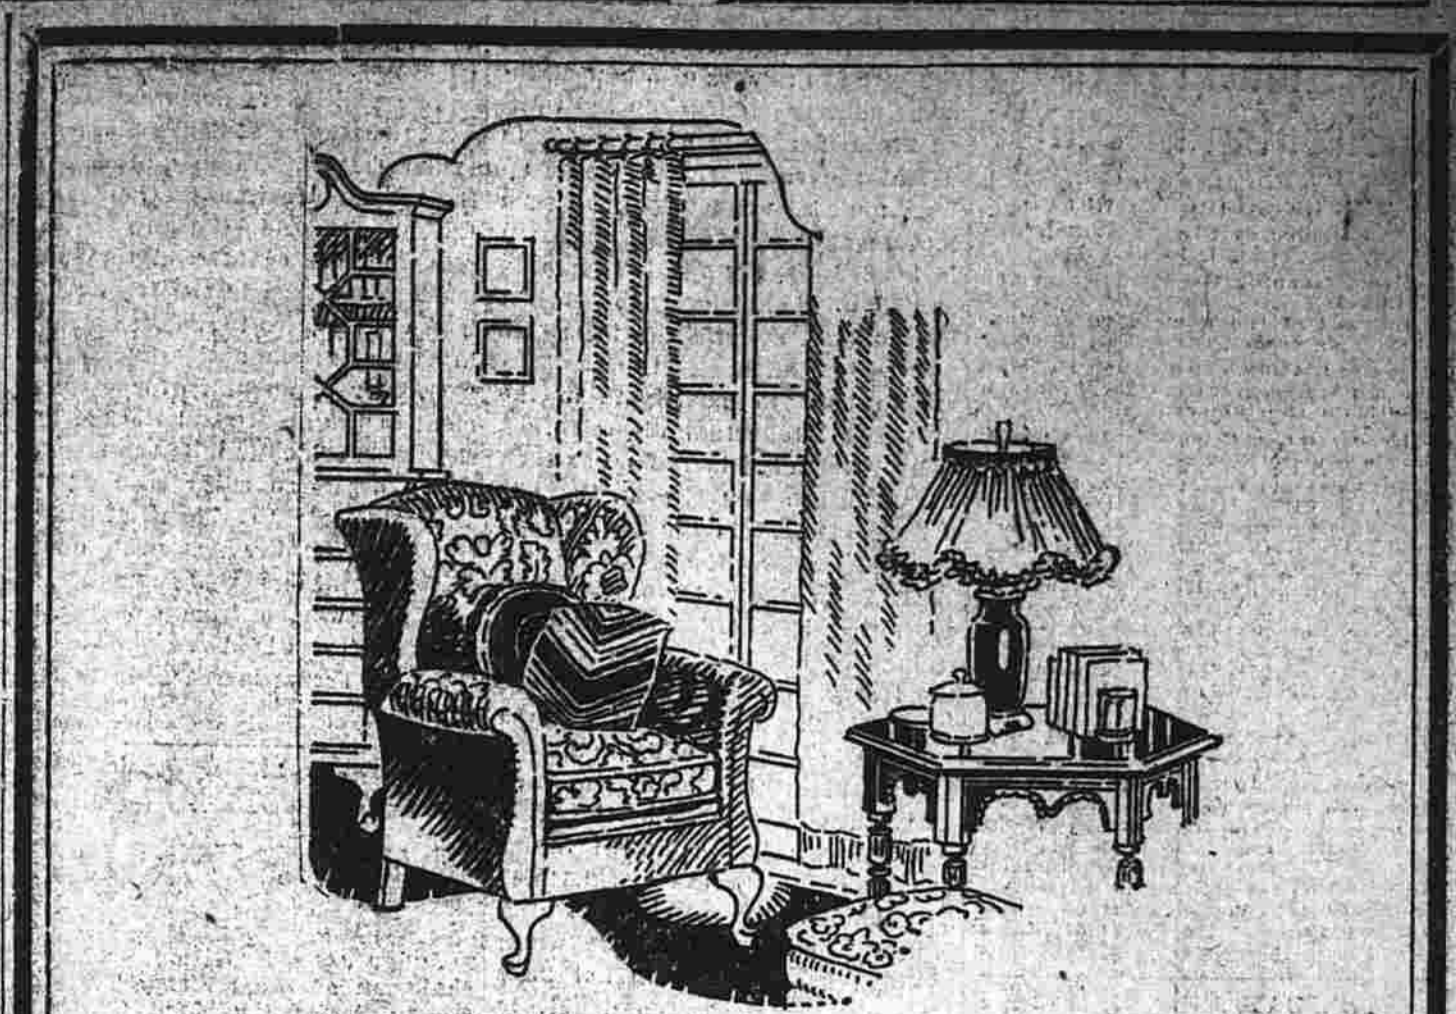

Mr. and Mrs. William Mason of Pearl street were taken completely by surprise last evening when a party of more than fifty of their relatives and friends from this town and Hartford, came to help them properly celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

Wesley Shorts acted as master of ceremonies and was complimented for several thrilling games were played and cake, ice cream and punch were served.

Mr. Mason and the former Miss Elizabeth Smith were married 25 years ago by the Rev. Jacob A. Eldridge, the then rector of St. Mary's Episcopal church. They have spent all their married life in Manchester.

What A Whale Of A Difference A Few Minutes Make

Minutes are mighty important sometimes. If you have ever missed a train or a boat by a few minutes you will appreciate what they can mean. On the other hand there are times when, going a little out of the way—using just a few more minutes will repay you a thousand times their actual worth—and trading at Keith's is one of those times.

It takes only a few extra minutes to reach the "Low Cost Store"—but these few are "worth their weight in gold" to you. Our inexpensive location gives us a tremendous advantage in offering lower prices. Actual savings result—savings that we can guarantee and they more than repay you for a little extra time. Even for Hartford people it's only a matter of minutes either by trolley or auto.

Our store is easily reached—parking facilities are better—and it sure makes a whale of a difference in price.

Just now with our Mid-Summer Clearance Sale in full swing you have a double opportunity to save. Come in—spend a few minutes—save a few dollars at Keith's.

RABALM QUICKLY RELIEVED MY SUNBURN SUFFERING

Sunday morning he was climbing such a fence in the back of his house. He became frightened when a man suddenly shouted at him and fell to the ground. He was very painfully injured.

A big segment was torn out of his arm, his mother said, and it was necessary to take two stitches inside and six outside to close the jagged wound. Another stitch was taken on his nose, which was also badly cut. The boy was given anti-toxin treatment this morning as a preventative against lockjaw.

GUARDSMEN SORROW IN CHIEF'S BEREAVEMENT

Manchester's National Guardsmen and others who knew Colonel D. Gordon Hunter, commanding officer of the 169th Infantry, C. N. THE WORLD EXPLAINS

The New York World has just washed up after the most agonizing job that a self-respecting American newspaper has been called on to perform for many a long day. After a number of weeks of nagging at the hands of a lot of people with unpleasantly retentive memories, it has made formal explanation of its reasons for not opposing the candidacy of Herbert Hoover, after, in 1920, quite as formally declaring its conviction that "in the judgment of the World the best equipped and best qualified man to succeed Woodrow Wilson as President of the United States is Herbert C. Hoover."

And it must be admitted that the World has made as good a job of explaining as was possible under circumstances which include a sturdy resolution on the part of the editors to stick to their attitude of fairness toward the man Hoover as distinguished from Hoover the candidate. What the World has to say it must say in the light of these words, embodied in the explanation itself: "For Mr. Hoover's personal integrity, his intellectual capacity, his great gifts and his loyalty to American institutions we have none, as we had in 1920, a very warm admiration."

In other words, Mr. Hoover in 1920 was an ideal President in potentiality; in 1923 he has lost nothing in integrity or in genius; yet the World is impelled to oppose him. Naturally the reasons must be ingenious—or, to be fairer, the margin of reasons must be extremely narrow.

They consist, it appears from the World's statement, in the fact that in these eight years Mr. Hoover has become a partisan Republican—honestly and without mental shrinkage or loss of loyalty to his country, it must be remembered. He has sat in two cabinets and did not spot and stop the oil grafts and he did not control the foreign policy of either administration—in which connection he "has not once in eight years raised his voice in behalf of any idea which the dominant Republican machine could not approve."

And that, if you please, is the sum and total of Hoover's offending, even in the eyes of the sturdily Democratic World. Further, the explanation becomes easier, in 1920 the Democratic party, so the World says, had no potential candidate of Hoover's caliber, whereas today it has a "better man" in the person of Governor Smith.

Frank Cobb, who penned that 1920 commendation of Hoover, is dead. If he were still alive and employing his active mind in accounting for the World's reversal of form, he might possibly have done a more convincing job, but we doubt it. Even the great Cobb would probably have been able to do no better than to come out at the same hole as the present leader-writer of the World does—and tacitly admit that there isn't a thing in the world against Hoover save that he is a Republican candidate and the World is a Democratic newspaper.

We do, however, believe that Mr. Cobb would have omitted that rubbish about a secretary of commerce not smelling out the oil scandals and not dictating the administration's policies in foreign affairs. Since when has any secretary of commerce, if he is attending to his own affairs with anything like the industry which Mr. Hoover has displayed and is building up an insignificant department into a great economic engine for his country's good, the slightest opportunity to fix a nation's foreign policy or act as its police-force?

However, the World's statement is valuable as indicating the impossibility of finding a valid and honorable reason that amounts to anything at all why Mr. Hoover shouldn't be the next President. Our compliments to the World for taking the licking given to it by events in as graceful a manner as it has.

IRRECONCILABLES

There are rumors of a new alignment of irreconcilables in the United States Senate in a movement to defeat the ratification of the Kellogg multilateral treaty. No such movement can be perfect unless it is headed by Big Bill Thompson and Illinois is not likely to readjust her political assignments in such a way as to land Big Bill in the Senate in time to participate in the proposed intellectual diversion.

But, well nigh incredible as such an adventure would seem, there is a little element in the Senate that is quite capable of engaging in it. There is no slightest prospect, however, that it will develop strength enough to block the ratification of the treaty.

The Kellogg peace treaty is a sufficiently feeble effort, heaven knows, but it has been endowed with much importance by the gravity with which the United States has offered it to the world. Such as it is, it is the offspring of amiability and at least a luke warm national heart. It would not have been a serious loss, no doubt, to civilization or civilization's history if it had never been conceived. But, having germinated in America, and having been fostered in America, and ballyhooed by America, and solemnly presented by America to the eyes of the world as this great nation's ultimate contribution to the cause of universal pacification, its rejection by the Senate would be catastrophic—nothing short of it. We might as well, almost, declare war against all of Europe and important Asia as to reject that treaty, insignificant as it is in its actual value, after having imaginatively attributed to it all these vital qualities.

Any Senator who opposes the Kellogg treaty will lay himself open to the charge of deliberately seeking to array the United States against the combined nations of the world.

GROWING MEAN

This good-fellowship campaign is already becoming mean. What, for instance, could be more unfeeling than the following performance of a Chicago Cartoonist?

He depicts a horny-handed Tammany farmer addressing a corn belt audience at whom he shouts: "New York is one of the greatest agricultural states in the Union—and Al Smith has carried it four times. Just remember that when corn picking time comes!"

And then he pictures a wise old party in the rear standing up and challenging the speaker with these facts:

"Yes, and in his long period of office holding he has never carried a single agricultural county in New York!"

"In no election has he ever carried more than sixteen of sixty-two counties in New York state."

"In 1918 he carried only two counties outside the New York city district."

"In 1922 he carried none."

"In 1923 he carried nine."

"In 1924 he carried only one."

"In 1926 he carried only three."

Yes, verily, the campaign is growing mean. It is pretty tough when they get to twitting on facts.

KISSING IS "OUT"

Right away there is a divergence between Mr. Hoover and Mr. Moses. In the presence of the inevitable cameras a Nebraska mother held her baby up for Mr. Hoover to kiss. Right then and there Mr. Hoover once more demonstrated the quality greatness: "I will kiss no baby for publication," he declared.

And the great heart of the nation warmed to a Presidential candidate who had the courage to resist the awfullest variety of hokum that ever entered into a campaign, and which has entered into well nigh every one of them since American political campaigns began.

But when Mr. Hoover bars the baby-kissing stunt he attacks the very fundamentals of the George Moses political credo. Moses has climbed to his present high place over the drooling lips and gooey noses of uncounted thousands of New Hampshire babies. Of all baby-kissers, past and present, he is the top-noddy champion. Kissing babies has been, to Uncle George, the one infallible road to success and power.

It is perfectly obvious that the influence of Senator Moses is to be relatively slight in the management of Mr. Hoover's campaign. We can almost see him, bowed in despair, muttering: "All is lost!" Meantime the only vote that Mr. Hoover can possibly have lost is the baby's—and if the truth were known the baby would probably vote twice for him, if it could, in gratitude for not being played for a sucker by a political candidate.

AN "IRISH INVASION"

America is not the only country that has its immigration problem, it seems. Just now the Presbyterians and Anglicans of Scotland are trying to get some sort of legislation from the British parliament that will restrict what they term an Irish invasion of Scotland. They want the establishment of a quota system like that of the United States.

The petitioners declare that the whole character of Scotland's population is being rapidly altered by the stream of immigration from Catholic Ireland. Glasgow is already 25 per cent Irish, they say, and the increase in the Irish population is three or four times as rapid as that of the native population.

Greater opportunity for employment in the great steel works and shipyards of Scotland is the magnet which draws so many sons of the Emerald Isle to the neighboring country. And the American quota system, which prevents many Irish men and women from coming to this country is held responsible for the more recent increases in the influx.

INVITE PUBLIC TO SEE ARMY TRAINING CAMP

Judge John L. Gilson, who is chairman of the Military Training Camps Association for Connecticut, today announced at the headquarters in the Federal building, New Haven, that the Student Camps now being held at Fort Adams, Newport, R. I., Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass., Ford Ethan Allen at Burlington, Vermont, on Lake Champlain and Fort McKinley in Portland Harbor, Maine, in all of which Connecticut boys are enrolled as students, will be thrown open to their parents and friends for inspection at any time during the month of July.

Those invited will receive the courtesies of the officers in charge, and may arrange to join in the company mess with their friends and relatives. All of the New England camps are filled to their capacity, and over 3,000 young men between the ages of 17 and 24 are enjoying all of the privileges of a month in the open at the expense of the United States government.

The Citizens' Military Training Camps are maintained under the provisions of the National Defense Act, their procurement being in charge of the Training Camps Association, presided over in each state by a civilian aide, designated by the Secretary of War.

Citizens who may be interested in the routine work at the training camps are also invited to inspect any of the New England reservations during the present month, where they will be afforded every facility to become familiar with the camp routine, and to obtain an intimate knowledge of the patriotic work in which both citizens and instructors are participating.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY FUTCHER

Washington, July 23—The danger of talking too much is ever present in politics. That's probably why, from year to year, important politicians say less and less that might possibly be interpreted as meaning something.

Smith will have an exception to that this year. He will have to talk himself into the White House if he gets there at all. The country looks for him to say something that will mean something and Smith is trying to comply. His record shows, fortunately for him, that he can open his mouth without putting his foot into it.

Roosevelt's unnecessary remarks about a third term rose later to plague him. "God knows," President Taft said once when someone asked him the solution of a pressing national problem, and it had a bad effect over the country. Wilson's assertion that there was such a thing as being "proud to fight" hurt him considerably. Coolidge has demonstrated his capacity as an expert politician by saying nothing important, hedging and confining his speeches to platitudes.

This year either candidate may make some break which could conceivably cost him the election.

Both vice presidential candidates already have talked too much. In the opinion of some members of their own parties.

Much can be forgiven Charlie Curtis, of course, for he did his talking before the conventions. It was Charlie who attacked Herbert Hoover almost savagely and publicly proclaimed that Hoover's nomination would put the Republican party in the defensive.

That crack is bound to be hurled back at him before the campaign is over. It was made during those dear sweet days when Charlie, delicious from a deep bite of the apia bombus presidents, believed he had an excellent chance of nomination.

Although he didn't know it, he was never more than a vice presidential candidate. By the time the first Republican reached Kansas City, his best friends and backers were abject, all working to land second place for him.

Charlie himself was honest and earnest about his higher ambitions right to the finish, though his friends must have worried when he let out that blast against Hoover.

The other candidate who is believed by some of his party brethren to have talked too much is Joe Robinson. Joe went to New York and unleashed a public statement to the effect that there was dirty work afoot in the south and that it seemed serious enough to lead the Democrats to open up a southern headquarters to offset it.

One now learns that the reaction in the New York Democracy was very sour indeed. The Robinson proposal was rejected without ceremony and Joe was told, in effect, that he was all wet about the possibility that the party might lose any of the southern states.

Some of the Tammany boys have been remarking since that if Joe had talked too much, he should have come to tell the national committee about it in whispers instead of blating it out in public. Bad psychology and all that you know.

Both national chairmen became volatile after their appointments. There is reason to believe that someone told Dr. Hubert Work that a little less noise from him would be more than plenty.

John J. Raskob has merely followed the lead of Candidate Smith; it remains to be seen how his word to Massachusetts Democrats to the effect that liquor's place in the home will take with the country.

FLATULENCE OR GAS

Almost every patient is troubled with intestinal and stomach gas. Hundreds of people are dying each day from the mechanical effects of this gas pressing against their hearts and other vital organs. Many functional and chronic disorders are a result of the continual irritation from food fermentation.

There is a small amount of air or gas present in the alimentary tract at all times. It is the excessive amount which causes painful symptoms. Many pains in various parts of the body sometimes far removed from the digestive organs are only reflexes from intestinal pains from stretching by gas.

Many patients have the odd habit of unconsciously swallowing air with their food or at the same time that they imagine themselves belching. I have examined many patients under the x-ray who, not having any gas in their stomachs would begin belching. Immediately I could see them swallowing bubbles of air which soon filled their stomachs and caused unpleasant symptoms.

This is simply a bad habit which must be corrected. Any inflammation of the stomach or intestinal tract will produce gas even when one is not eating. Patients who correct their diet sometimes wonder why the gas does not immediately disappear but it often continues to form until the inflammation has subsided and digestion takes place normally.

Overeating, bad food combinations, eating too rapidly, eating when tired, drinking too much, using indigestible foods, and the use of foods which are gas-forming in themselves are also causes of this trouble.

After all these bad habits have been corrected, it sometimes takes several months to eliminate most of the gas-forming bacteria which are in the intestines for the purpose of breaking up food materials that have been used in excess or in bad combinations. One who lives on an ordinary diet may harbor millions of these harmless bacteria whose purpose is to bring about changes in food which would otherwise be poisonous.

It is well for one afflicted with flatulence to taboo all onions, garlic, chestnuts, cabbage, turnips, and condiments, and to select a suitable diet to which they will adhere strictly until they have overcome their trouble. Those who use restricted diets where a smaller amount of food is used will often be surprised to notice that they have more gas than they did before while eating carelessly. This is because the small amount of food does not entirely use up the digestive juice, and the result is that gas is formed when the excessive acid fluids of the stomach pour into the intestines and are neutralized by the alkaline intestinal juices.

Doctors should use the x-ray as an aid to the diagnosis of all digestive troubles, for with cases so examined they will usually discover a large pocket of gas, sometimes as big as a toy balloon just underneath the heart. Sometimes this is not easily belched up, and one so afflicted will not realize that the condition exists.

Many women's disorders are aggravated or entirely caused by the distention of the intestines with poisonous gases which force the pelvic organs out of their normal position.

Most cases of flatulence can be benefited or cured by following the "Cleansing Diet" regime which I so frequently advocate. Those who are literally walking "gas factories" will do well to send for the

New York, July 24.—Manhattan has an extremely short memory for persons and events.

Experts have figured that it takes a rare celebrity or public figure to survive in the public mind after three months.

And, for the same reason, New York is an excellent place in which to "disappear."

When young girls disappear, the general cause is a desire to break away from the home ties and "run wild"; or a chance meeting with a young man leads to cheap and sordid pathways.

to give aid to those handicapped by ignorance, inexperience or poverty. The baby centers, the slim centers, the mental examination centers, the gymnasium centers, the open swimming pools, the branch libraries, the free concerts and lectures are all aimed at such a mark.

Millions are spent by a dozen or more philanthropic agencies to help in the terrific battle for survival that goes constantly on.

Scores of people "come up missing" without anyone so much as suspecting it. I can recall the day when a small posse would take up the trail if a dog or a cat terrier disappeared from Goldie's barn.

Men have been dead in their bedrooms for days without their absence being so much as noticed.

LOVE FOR TWO

RUTH DEWEY GROVES © 1928 By NEA Service Inc.

"Now, look here, Bertie Lou," Rod said soberly, "we're gonna save."

THIS HAS HAPPENED. BERTIE LOU WARD marries ROD BRYER, who had previously been engaged to LILA MARSH. The only shadow on the bride's happiness is Lila's persistence in broadcasting to their friends that she was Rod's first love.

A position in New York is offered Rod by TOM FRASER and he accepts. Anxious to make a good impression, they go to an expensive hotel until they can find an apartment. This seems to antagonize MOLLY FRASER, who urges Bertie Lou to buy more than she can afford. Rod wins money from Tom at poker and, feeling under obligation to them, recklessly invites the crowd to a night club. Lila visits Molly and goes to the party where she meets a rich Mr. Loree. The affair costs the Bryers more than $100 and Bertie Lou scolds Rod for the extravagance. But their quarrel is forgotten in the rush of getting settled in the new apartment. Lila surprises them by marrying Mr. Loree, and she asks Bertie Lou to forgive the past and become friends. She showers favors upon them with such sincerity that Bertie Lou is deceived. But keeping up appearances with their crowd is a severe strain on Rod's finances. He becomes discouraged and Lila grasps her chance to force her sympathy upon him by offering a position with more money under her husband.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXI

Lila sat before her dressing table removing the jewels she had worn that evening. She lifted the long string of pinkish pearls from around her neck and tossed it carelessly into a velvet-lined jewel box. It was the first time she had handled them carelessly. Always their glittering beauty had excited her with the reminder of their intrinsic worth and the fact that they belonged to her.

Tonight they were, for the moment, of no more importance to her than any of the imitation strings she had worn in Wayville before she had ascended to opulence. The bracelets came next. Just two. Lila had thought them crown jewels, when Cyrus presented them to her. Since then, however, she had seen wedding rings and eight of them at a time. Hers, she felt now, were nothing to write home about. Mere single width affairs. A real bracelet, she was about ready to tell Cyrus, should be an inch wide at least. A flexible string of "decent" diamonds would please her more. Jewels were not in her mind, however. Something more important to her than jewels occupied her thoughts. She was smiling over a campaign. . . the campaign she had launched when she had extended the olive branch to Bertie Lou.

At the moment Rod was thinking of her as a surprisingly good fellow the smile slid off her face like a mask. Cyrus had opened her door and come in without knocking. Lila quickly took up a hairbrush and began stroking her bob over her face. Some day, she feared, Cyrus would see the telltale change in her features for which his approach was responsible. The dumb ox! Coming in like that when her mind was filled with a man who made him look like a caricature of the beef trust.

Cyrus was a little fat, and more than partially bald. But his eyes were kind in spite of the hard lines that business competition had set around them and his wide, firm mouth.

He adored Lila. To him she was a kitten—a greedy little kitten who would lap the cream he gave her and then scratch. Not a soft kitten, but an amusing one at least.

Cyrus was not unthankful for having the cream to give her, and he did not inquire too deeply into the real measure of her affection for him. So far he'd never heard of the other man.

Lila always ducked his kisses and ran from his hugs, but she was eyeing him and calculating.

about it. Cyrus took it all-in fun. That she really meant it never occurred to him. But upon this occasion she sat very still when he put his hands on her shoulders and pressed his forehead down on her sleek hair. He sniffed appreciatively of its perfume—knew what that particular scent cost.

Unexpectedly Lila turned and thrust her arms up around his neck. Cyrus was delighted when she kissed him. "It was a swell party, wasn't it?" she said. "No casualties." "You've got them all beat at entertaining, baby," he told her. "Where'd you acquire all your social talent?"

"By keeping my eyes and ears tuned in on those who know what's what," Lila laughed. "Came on pretty speedy for a little girl from the sticks, didn't I? Proud of me?"

"You bet. But that sounds to me like the preliminary round to a touch." "Maybe you could call it that," Lila assented. "Say, did you notice anything about the Bryers tonight?"

"I noticed that Bertie Lou is still almost as pretty as you are." "Don't you think they're both looking sort of . . . sort of done in?"

"Well, Rod wasn't pulling any Samson stuff. The roof stayed on." "He's sick with worry. And so's Bertie Lou. I feel awfully bad about it because if they were compelled to quit the fight and go back to Wayville I'd lose a good girl friend."

"What's the trouble?" Cyrus most obligingly asked. "Oh, money," Lila replied with a gesture that implied the situation was a usual one.

Cyrus frowned. "Well, you know," he began doubtfully. "I rather think they must be spending more than they make." "Of course they are!" Lila exploded. "Rod's borrowing from his father. But don't blame them. Tom Fraser brought Rod here and Molly started Bertie Lou out trying to keep up with them. And Tom doesn't pay Rod half enough," she added complacently.

"Oh, now, Lila, you know Rod hasn't got a very big job. I dare say Tom's fair enough to him." "That's just it. Rod hasn't anything to look forward to there. And I don't think Rod's father can lend him very much. It will be a pity if they have to leave New York. I wish Rod could get a better job. Her voice trailed off wistfully.

"H'm. Maybe I could do something for him," Cyrus suggested. Lila became highly animated at once. "Why, of course," she exclaimed gleefully. "We should have thought of that before. You must have some place in your big company for Rod. And I'll be so glad if Bertie Lou can have more money to spend. It's always so hard to get her to trail around with me when it costs anything. Just as if you didn't give me oo'les of money, you precious old darling."

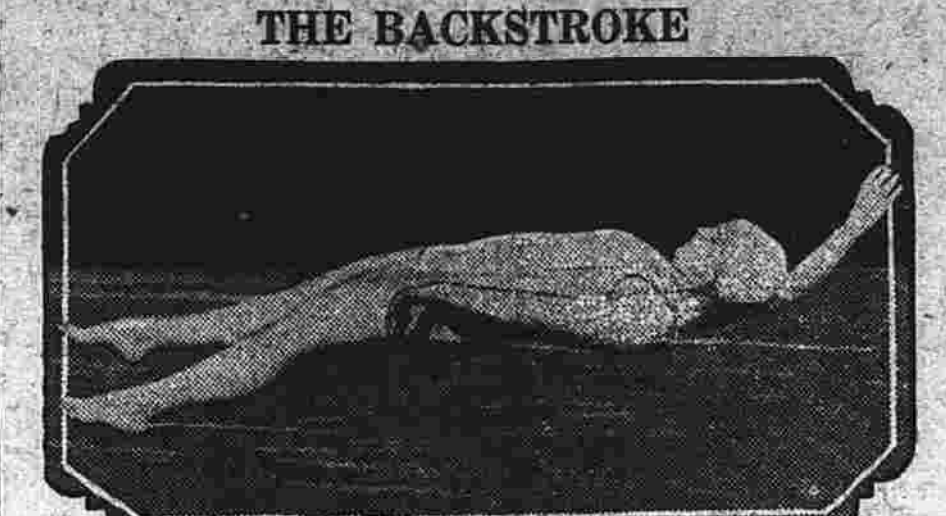

"Well, I'll see what I can do."

Indeed he did something about it. He sent the auditor of his company out to take charge of a western branch and put Rod in his place. He invited Rod to lunch with him when he reached this decision and put it up to him. For a moment Bertie Lou can have more money to spend. It's always so hard to get her to trail around with me when it costs anything. Just as if you didn't give me oo'les of money, you precious old darling."

Phyllis Zitenfeld shows how the twins use the backstroke in long-distance races.

By THE ZITENFIELD TWINS Distance swimmers must know the backstroke. It is invaluable for long distances when the best of swimmers begins to feel exhaustion. Swimming on the back allows muscles to rest. For its a reverse motion of the crawl stroke. Kicking is just the same time, six kicks to a full crawl stroke. But it is so much harder to kick the water up than it is down that, when you turn over on your stomach again, it seems easy. In training, one should always perfect the backstroke. It rounds out the training of those character muscles which do much for swimming. At until one can swim both ways, exhaustion threatens.

MARYE and MOM Their Letters

Dear Mom: Well, darling, I'm coming home. So get out all those marvelous jams and jellies you've been fixing, and prepare for a clean-up. And let's have hot bread for every meal.

And don't worry, I'm not leaving my husband. After a few weeks of the most terrible agony on my part, during which time I suffered all the pangs that a silly, jealous, miserable woman can suffer when she thinks somebody else is getting her man, all is rosy. And I honestly believe that I did penance for all foul things I've done, and all the suffering I've heaped upon my long suffering husband in our hectic period of marriage.

In order to tell you all about our glorious reconciliation, I shall have to tell you my little secret—and I might as well inform you here and now that you are about to become a grandmother. And if baby hands don't do for my character what you have promised, and if they don't give me that valuable perspective on life and that swell sense of values I've never had, then at least, I've sinned you, on your best argument.

Things with Alan and me went rather badly, and as I told you, I became the biggest and best weeper in this part of the country. One evening at a dance down here at the hotel, I was looking my most charming in my white georgette and pearls and Alan was just starting to dance with that Helen person, whom I hope never to see, when I just went mid-Victorian, and pulled a faint that would have made any dime novel heroine rage with jealousy.

I came to with Alan, and a doctor bending over me. The doctor besides informing me that I was to have a son and heir, said that I was quite run down and nervous, and that I needed a complete rest, only because he was so miserable and so sure he had lost me. Well, the long and the short of it is, that we patched up our difficulties, swore never to lie or deceive each other again.

And I'm coming home for a business trip to Chicago, and then we are going on a nice vacation together for a month. No more summer hotels for MARYE.

Martin Luther was tried for heresy in Germany, in 1521, by the Imperial Diet of Worms.

The bright little blue-eyed baby was made to feel from the beginning of her spoiled young life that the earth and all that is in it, rotated around her. The stars sang and the moon shone and the sun beamed, all for her babyship. Greaks came bearing gifts! Father worked, mother worked, holidays existed, parties were planned, the house was cleaned, clothing made, meals gotten—all with the little girl right in the middle of it. Everything was for her.

With things in such a state, it was natural that her eyes should soon become surmised on her babyhood. Also, the psychology of his mind must be looked into. Instead of looking in, as Gloria did, he must be taught to look out.

GIVE THE HOMEMAKERS A GREAT BIG HAIR, SAYS A CLUB WOMAN "Don't forget that great army of 'home-makers,' when you praise that the 'new woman' has done for feminism."

That is the plea of a nationally known clubwoman, Mrs. Walter Seaman Conroy, past president of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, chairman of the Culinary Arts Competition at the Annual Exposition of Women's Arts and Industries held this fall in New York.

"Much attention has been given the woman who makes a success in business or in some profession. She deserves great commendation. 'Yet, in our enthusiasm we must not forget that home-making is a profession, the most important and exacting one, that may be assumed by women."

"Fortunately colleges and clubs realize the importance of these key women in America. Much time is being given to the study in home economics. Our girls in school have opportunities now to learn the art of home-making in all its branches. Women already in the homes, are giving much thought to the scientific management of their homes."

"These women all deserve the word 'patriot' applied to them. For they are serving their country well by guarding this and the coming generation. Let us not forget these faithfuls."

Acid Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia" Better than Soda

Here after, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gas. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips" Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1876.

The WOMAN'S DAY

Doubtless Commander Fitzhugh Green thought himself lucky when he delivered himself of the opinion that a woman could fly on long trips with men pilots and still be a conventional woman. "A year ago," continued he, "women could not take part in such an enterprise and win public approval. This iserack takes us way back to the day when women first began sitting or juries and somebody began yowling that 'all good women should be insulted at being called for jury service and forced to mingle with strange men.' Somehow some men just can't seem to get used to the idea that women now live as people instead of as just women! And that their universe today is infinitely more than just a man-woman relationship universe!

Grave Necking Problem It seems that cemeteries are becoming a great national problem, because young people insist upon using them for trysting spots and seem to think a gravestone not a all desecrated. I used to see a picture of The Association of American Cemetery Superintendents is so concerned that it has urged cemetery trustees to close their gates at 5 p. m.

I liked a story which came out of West Branch, Iowa. Hoover's old home town, to the effect that even the oldest inhabitants confessed they could barely remember the boy Hoover who lived there. This rang so true Human nature is like that and this pose, it so often wears just a pose.

Fore Babble The commander continues to say, too, that Amelia "disproves the theory that women are not able to stand long flights." Mrs. Amelia weighs only 120 pounds, but she has shown us that women ought not to be called the weaker sex "because they can show as much physical endurance as men aviators." Miss Amelia proves nothing of the kind, no more than one individual unaided or mere white picket-fence. Little cemeteries sleeping atop a hill that slides down to a running brook which boast neither auto drives nor superintendents. Here, and the stars that sit through tall cypress trees, with the scent of the wild strawberry in the grass, lovers may still be permitted to renew the pledges of life in the midst of death. Somehow one cannot see that the dead would feel exactly desecrated. Cemeteries always have been sacred to lovers, and always will be!

HINTS ON HOW TO KEEP WELL BY World Famed Authority

SHOW HOW OCCUPATION AFFECTS THE HEART By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

The American Heart Association the relationship of occupation to has developed statistics indicating diseases of the heart. Of 11 occupations in New York City, butchers had the highest per cent of death from heart disease, with 33.5 per cent.

Tailors, druggists and shoemakers were next, each with more than 25 per cent, which is the average for all occupations. Clerical workers and painters had the lowest percentage of deaths of any workers examined. Miners suffer severely with heart disease, tin and copper miners being affected more frequently than coal miners.

In Textile Trades It was found on investigation that textile workers in every branch of industry are subject to heart disease. This includes cotton card and frame, cotton strippers and grinders, and workers in wool and worsteds as well.

The clothing industry does not show such a poor condition, although tailors and shoe operatives have high rates. Hat makers have even higher rates than boot makers.

These rates are still further exceeded by metal grinders. Among the professional occupations, lawyers have the highest rate, musicians next, and music teachers next.

Tuberculosis is no longer the leading cause of death among industrial workers, since death from heart disease represents in most instances the results of infections with insinuated or incorrect care in early life, the way to prevention is clear.

Walsh Thinks the Whole Problem is to Dope Out Just How Far the Champion Has Slipped Back.

By DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, July 24.—Exactly $10,000 in Heoney money remained in the pocket of a Wall street broker today because he couldn't get it down at the supposedly current odds of 2 to 1 to 1 favorite Tunney, and unless I slightly misunderstand the purport of Thursday's enterprise, there is blame neither for the man who held out on the Heoney commission nor the Wall street crowd that offered him $ to 2. It would seem that the gamblers realize that the time for de-banking this situation is about at hand.

The strident chant of the ballyhoo is over. The show is ready to start. It now must get by on what it has and this, as the writer sees it, is far from occult.

De-banked of its last illusion, the affair stands forth a contest between a right good heavyweight champion, Gene Tunney, and a rather earnest but rather ordinary challenger, Tom Heoney. That, anyhow, is the surface "form" of the situation, because surface indications often tell all, the man who takes worse than 1 to 2 on Heoney simply isn't giving his intelligence enough room to work.

Not Enough Fights

On the other hand, and remaining hand, we have a champion who has failed, by force of circumstances or otherwise, to stake himself to all the breaks that were coming to him. He has fought only twenty rounds against the same man, Dempsey, in three years, a fact over which he had no control. He has worked with sparring partners so familiar to him from long association that they figure to have helped him negligibly. He has given evidence in his training of having acquired a knockout complex, which, on the face of existing "form," is a piece of inspired absurdity exceeded only by his proposal to fly down 265 miles from Philadelphia on the morning of the fight.

If he wanted to give an opponent every chance, it would seem to me that no man—particularly one who figures to be keyed up physically and mentally—should take a sure course than to follow the program in question.

Odds Are Correct

In view of these known or accepted facts, the Wall street men who offered only $5,000 against the $10,000 commission on Heoney were doing themselves no particular favor. My offhand guess is that their price is no better or worse than it should be. Tunney, the better fighter on paper, should be the better fighter in the ring and must be so figured until definitely proved otherwise.

The most that can be said for Heoney is that he has better than a merely good chance to win. We may be expected to furnish few, if any, surprises and, for my part, I think it is senseless to point out how tough he is or how game. We have ever so durable, he would be a mark for the Tunney of 1926 at Philadelphia.

Tunney is the problem of this enterprise. He has caused to be raised several questions in regard to his present ability and until he answers them satisfactorily, Heoney must and will be taken seriously, at least by me.

The champion rather obviously has slipped some from the form he knew in the first Dempsey meeting. How much? Is it a 20 per cent de-preciation? If so, he still should have a working margin of superiority over the present challenger. Is it as much as 30 or 35 per cent? In that case, the odds should be no better than even money, or not slightly in favor of Heoney.

ACES LOSE 3-2; BOYCE FANS 15; GIBSON'S GARAGE SCORES FIVE RUNS IN LAST TO BEAT BON AMI

Garage Nine 5-3 Winner With Big Jack Burkhardt Pitching; Billy Dowd's Hit Beats Scrappy Aces in Seventh.

LEDOUX'S VICTORY QUESTIONABLE ONE Many Thought Ruby Bradley Had Better of Setto with the White Boy.

Gibson's Garage leads the Community Club baseball league standing for the second round with two victories and no defeats. Last night, the team won from the Bon Ami by a score of 5-2, scoring all its runs in the last inning after two batters had been retired.

Manchester Green was also victorious, Mayor Sam Prentice's scrappy Aces in a red hot battle by a count of 3 to 2. This game was also decided in the last by a count of 3 to 2. This game was also decided in the last by a count of 3 to 2. This game was also decided in the last by a count of 3 to 2.

The game between the Bon Ami and Gibson's Garage was close and exciting all the way. The soap makers tallied thrice in the opening stanza and looked like sure winners right up until the last minute. Two men were out in the seventh when Edgewood drew a base on balls that paved the way for Wilson's down fall. Hits by "Big Jack" Burkhardt, La Francis, Cervini, Kotsch, Lamprecht and Sipples ruined the Bon Ami hopes. With this lead, Sipples replaced Burkhardt on the mound, the latter's arm not being any too limber.

The Aces gave the Green a real tough battle. Both teams scored two runs early in the contest and it remained for Billy Dowd to crack out an long double to center scoring Burkhardt who had hit to the same place in the seventh. Dowd's double was a line drive that Carroll misjudged in the semi-darkness. Both Burkhardt and Boyce pitched splendid ball. The latter pulled out some tight places. The Aces gave a snappy fielding exhibition. The Green made but two more hits than the Aces. The game was scheduled to have been played at the West Side field but the teams failed to secure a permit for the diamond and the contest was transferred to Woodbridge Field at the last minute. Play did not start until nearly 7 o'clock.

Following is the league standing which does not include a tie game between the Green and Bon Ami, and also the box scores of the two games played last night:

VICTORS VICTORIOUS OVER RAMBLERS 9-6

The Victors beat the West Side Ramblers in well played game at the West Side, Sunday afternoon, 9-6. The Ramblers played a good game since it was the first game of the season. The Victors slammed McConey's offerings hard especially in the sixth inning, scoring five runs. Vince, Keenan, and Smith hit well. Falkoski caught a fine game for the winners. Dowd played best for the losers, collecting three hits.

Britain's Olympic Teams Picked; To Have Only 57 Members; Good On Track

London, July 24.—The British Olympic team has finally been picked, and, on the whole, the selections meet with popular approval.

The number is smaller than usual, only 57 having been chosen against 71 in 1924. In this connection it is pointed out that three events in the Olympic games at Paris four years ago will not be held at Amsterdam. They are the pedestrian contest, the cross country run and the team race. A full complement is being sent for the track events.

British deficiency will again be conspicuous in the field events. Not a single British competitor will take part in the discus, javelin or hop-

Local Sport Chatter

The fairer sex constitute the bulk of the ardent rooters for the Manchester Green baseball team. One of them walked clear over to the West Side field last night, only to find that the game had been re-changed to the Green field. One trip to the Green attests to their loyalty. They cheer much louder than the male fans.

Mahoney again set a new junior broad jump record at the West Side playgrounds yesterday by leaping 14 feet and 11/8 inches. His former mark was 11 feet, 10 inches. The boy is only 14 years. If he keeps leaping a foot more each year according to his present scale, he ought to be some jumper.

Leggett and Taggart won two games from Schaub and Fallon in the senior quoit tournament at the West Side last night. The scores were 21 to 9, 21 to 7 and 16 to 21.

Yankees Start For West; Babe Continues Slugfest

New York, July 24.—The New York Yankees start west tonight on an invasion which is far from crucial, yet they should draw big crowds. Western fans are anxious to witness the only race left in the American League—the race between Babe Ruth and his last year's home run total to sixty. The Home Run King reached the two-thirds milestone in Boston yesterday when he clouted his fortieth four-bagger of the season, and needs only 21 more in New York's 63 remaining games to set a new mark.

Hitting one homer in every three games shouldn't be a hard task for the bam.

The babe is now 11 homers, 30 days and 28 games ahead of last year's record pace. Former No. 40 easily cleared the left-center fence in Fenway park, virgin territory for the leagues' sluggers.

NASH NINE WINS OVER CADILLACS

The Nashs defeated the Cadillac last night at the West Side playgrounds by the score of 6 to 3. Sturgeon pitched a fine game for the winners, fanning 10 and only allowing five hits. He also made a two base hit. Eagleson played a good game at second. Wednesday night the Ford and Nashs play the postponed game, which was called off Friday night because of rain.

Friday night the Hudsons and Fords play the regular league game. Yesterday's summary:

JAMES M. BECK WEDS ENGLISH NOBLEWOMAN. London, July 24.-James M. Beck, Jr., son of former United States Solicitor James Montgomery Beck, and the Honorable Mrs. Lionel Tennyson, whose marriage last week was suddenly postponed, were married this afternoon at the Faddington registry office.

The marriage last week was to have been secret and its mysterious postponement caused much comment in high society circles.

Mrs. Tennyson, who is a sister of Lord Glenconner, had been married twice before, while Beck had been married once previously. Mrs. Tennyson was first married to Captain William Bethell in 1911 but the union was dissolved by the divorce court three years later.

Her second husband was Lionel Tennyson, a famous English cricket player. He sued for divorce in London last year, naming Beck co-respondent. He was granted a divorce and the custody of his two children, Tennyson is a grandson of Lord Tennyson, the British poet.

Beck was married in New York in 1917 to Miss Adelaide Willmerding. She obtained a divorce in Paris last year and was awarded the custody of her child.

SENSE and NONSENSE

A conversation in Manchester. Two men smoking. 1st man (audibly)—"I sure like my radio, it gives me all the news."

2nd man (silently)—"I sure like mine, because it keeps my wife from doing it."

Eekmos songs reaching this country by radio are said to be almost as bad as our own.

Radio saved the Southern Cross from disaster, and it seems that it will also save the crew of the missing Italia. Miracles more wonderful than those of Biblical times are daily being performed.

Cliff—Oh, Eubanks, I had Hot Springs on my radio last night. Pilsen—You did? Cliff—Sure things, I put the set under my bed.

"Marriage is a pottery." "You mean lottery, dear?" "No; I mean pottery—a place for making family jars."

Boy—"Papa, tell me a fairy story." Papa—"All right, my son. Let's see, how shall I begin—"

Mama—"Begin it, I was detained at the office." Their Good Work. The wild flowers blooming all around. Seem desperately tryin' To cover up with radiance The pesky dandelion.

When the agent for the life insurance company, paid Mrs. Stone the insurance of her late husband's life he asked her to take out a policy on her own life.

"I believe I will," she said; "my husband had such good luck with his."

"How do you find business?" said one man to another. "Always, by going out and looking for it," was the reply. "There is no other way."

Yes, indeed. The human mind is like a bank I know beyond a doubt. The more you put therinto The more you can take out.

The honorary B. A. conferred on some of the big boys obviously stands for Bachelor of Applesauce.

Dumb—Do you know Adolph, the butcher's boy? Well, he just dropped sixty feet. Er—Sixty feet? My goodness, did it kill him? Dumb—No, they were pig's feet.

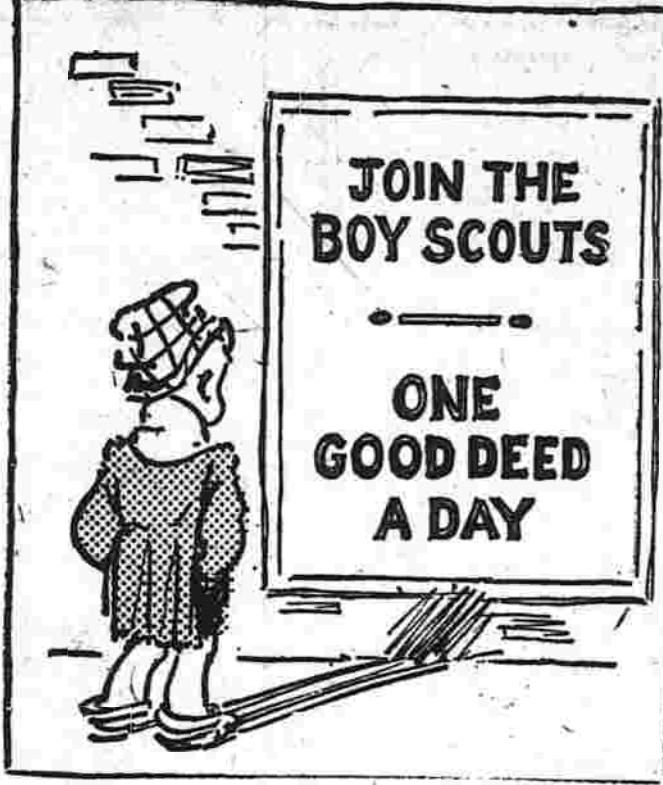

A companionate marriage doesn't prove anything except that a pup doesn't struggle to get loose if he isn't tied.

Two girls wer eoverheard talking about a railroad man. One said: "Taylor is all right, but I had to laugh at his mustache."

"Yes, it tickled me, too," said the other. Daughter: "Dad, I want some money for my trousseau."

Father: "But, my child, I didn't even know you were engaged." Daughter: "Good heavens, father! Don't you ever read the papers?"

FINE FOR PARKING A FIRE PLUG usually has a "fine for parking" sign near it, but in letter golf you'll have to park awhile to get the solution. For its nine and one solution, which you may be able to beat, is on another page:

Grid for Letter Golf puzzle. The word 'FIRE' is in the top row, and 'PLUG' is in the bottom row.

THE RULES 1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

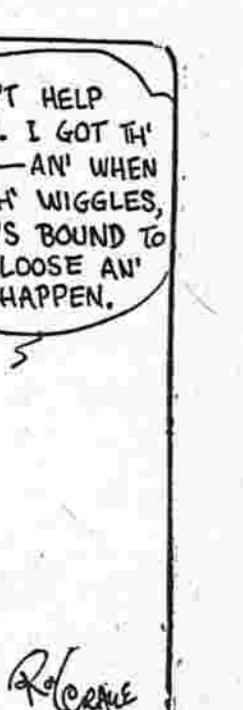

THE TNYMITES

The cooking fish grew sizzling hot. Then Carpy said, "As like as not, the fish is done. Put sand upon the fire to put it out. But don't get any on the fish, 'cause that would spoil a tasty fish." "We're smart enough to not do that," he then heard Scouty shout.

ABOUT TOWN

Mrs. Jane Tyler who is spending the summer at her cottage at Sound View, had as her guests over the week-end, Mrs. M. Duffy of this town and her daughters, Mrs. Leslie Robinson and Miss Vera Duffy, also Miss Helena Moriarty.

Harry Dimlow of Walnut street and Herbert Johnson of Garden street left today for Montreal and Niagara Falls where they will spend the next two weeks.

Mrs. William A. Knoffa and son Earl have returned from Black Point and are now at their cottage at Columbia lake for the remainder of the season.

Miss Ethel M. Fish of 217 North Elm street, announces in another column the opening on September 10 of Sunnyside Private school. Alterations are well under way at Miss Fish's home where the school will be located, special furniture has been ordered and already a number of children have been enrolled as students at her new day school for individual instruction.

Miss Barbara Chesebro, who graduated from Connecticut College, New London, with the class of 1928, has been appointed supervisor of art in the Winsted schools. She is the daughter of Mrs. Alice Chesebro a former resident of Manchester.

Doris, the six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wright of Main street, successfully underwent a mastoid operation yesterday at the Hartford hospital and is resting comfortably today. The little girl has been ill for the greater part of the past three months, following an attack of the measles.

Dr. E. J. Schreiber, well known local dentist who is also an expert angler, says the reason why the bass are not biting well this season is because the water in the ponds is so high and the weather so warm. He says the fish get plenty to eat along the shores at night.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Flood of Main street have gone on a twelve-days sea trip, during which they will stop at Halifax, Quebec and other places. They left Sunday.

Members of Company G received their drill checks at the armory last night. The Howitzer Company received this pay while at camp. It was decided to send flowers and expressions of sympathy to Colonel and Mrs. Gordon D. Hunter who yesterday lost their daughter Peggy through death.

Director Jerry Fay of the Manchester Community Club and Attorney William J. Shea are planning to attend the Tunney-Honey world's heavyweight championship fight in New York City Thursday night. They expect to continue their trip to Philadelphia and Atlantic City. John Hayes, well known building contractor, is another Manchester man who is planning to see the fight.

SOME SHIFTS LIKELY IN AUTO AGENCIES

Two Already Announced and Several Others Are Said to Be in the Works.

Automobile agencies are being changed in Manchester and before the week is out it is expected that several shifts will be announced.

Raymond F. Montie, who has been a salesman for Hudson and Essex cars has taken over the agency for these cars and will have the distribution for Manchester and vicinity.

Machell and Urwick of Wethersfield have purchased the South Manchester garage on Center street and have acquired the agency of the Hummobile in this section. In addition to the sales of the cars this firm will also handle the service department of the agency.

There are several changes in the works and there is a likelihood that one or two cars not heretofore represented here will be offered for sale in Manchester. Several dealers are considering changing their connections to other cars.

WEST SIDE PET SHOW TO HAVE 'UGLY' PRIZE

Snapping Turtle One Competitor; Muts Are Getting Much Dolling Up.

The pet show to be held at the West Side playgrounds tomorrow afternoon is sure to be amusing. Much interest is being shown by the exhibitors. The announcement that in addition to prizes for the largest, smallest and most attractive looking pets that there will also be a prize for the most ugly creature shown has opened the way for some curious developments.

Already there has been entered a snapping turtle, which will certainly stand some chance to qualify and one of the boys at the West Side has been training a red ant which he will exhibit in a bottle, expecting to carry off the honors for the smallest thing in the way of a pet.

Dogs are being washed and hair combed, for all sizes and breeds of dogs and cats are to be exhibited. There are a number of surprises promised and when the parade is held tomorrow afternoon some entertaining sights are expected.

A son was born yesterday afternoon at the Memorial hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Milkowski of Hollister street. Mr. Milkowski is a local florist.

KELLNER-GILLIE

Charles Kellner of Union street and his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Gabbey, have returned from New York where they attended the wedding Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. Kellner's elder son, Calvin, and Miss Gertrude Gilie, daughter of George Gilie of 1136 Clay Avenue, the Bronx. The ceremony took place at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Church of the Disciple and was largely attended. A reception for about 50 relatives and intimates followed at the Hotel Plaza.

Mr. and Mrs. Kellner are now on a three weeks' motor tour to Niagara Falls and Canada. On their return they will make their home with the bride's father, Mr. Kellner who was formerly with the Herald is now with a publishing company in New Rochelle, N. Y.

SUNNYSIDE PRIVATE SCHOOL

A Day School for Individual Attention Spacious Grounds for Outdoor Study When Weather Permits. School Year Begins Sept. 10th ETHEL M. FISH 217 North Elm St., Manchester

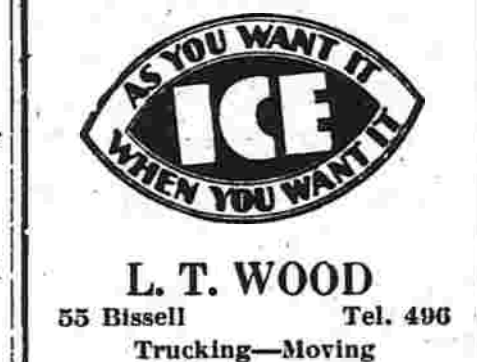

Kenneth, 2 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tomlinson of Summit street met with a peculiar accident yesterday. The little fellow with a glass in his hand attempted to get a drink at the sink when he fell, breaking the glass and cutting his face so badly about the eye that it was necessary for a physician to take five stitches to close the wound.

THINGS IN GLASS. There is something confidence-inspiring in glass containers for preserved foods. We are far from subscribing to the theory that there is anything the matter with the good old American tin can because there simply isn't. Not when the good in it are quality goods. But just the same there is a certain element of satisfaction in the handsomely packed, sparkling attractive glass container solidly filled with some toothsome tidbit. The food LOOKS as safe and dainty as it is. And there's another thing. The glass containers themselves—to those who habitually buy glass-packed preserved food they provide an endless supply of jelly or jam jars; all sorts of sizes and shapes to select from when occasion arises. Speaking of glass-packed products, did you ever try our clam bouillon in glass bottles? Well, you should. This clam bouillon is made from clams—honest-to-goodness clams, out of salt water and NOT gathered out of season. An out-of-season clam is a poor creature, and bouillon made from him is poor stuff—might about as well be made out of rosebugs. This glass-bottled bouillon has the distinctive zesty flavor of the seductive clam at his best. Ox-tongue comes in glass, too, as well as in tin. Neat, well-shaped, appetizing pink ox-tongue, tenderly crisp and delicious. Then there are lamb's tongues. And pickled pigs' feet or hocks. For a hot day lunch—what? They say that foods packed in glass will keep a hundred years. We don't know. We do know that we don't keep them very long—glass packed stuff is moving fast these days. Don't forget that telephone—two thousand—is working for your convenience. The phone and the buzzing delivery trucks. And that the trucks always bring you exactly what you order over the phone.
