Rogers presents city with big public park. Danbury Manufacturer Plans Lake and Playground in Center of City.

Danbury, Conn., Aug. 10.—Danbury finally is to have a centrally located public park of large area. Cephas Burton Rogers, a local manufacturer, today announced he had acquired a tract of fifty acres extending from the Hill avenue to Mountainville avenue in the southern section of the city and would develop the property for a park to be presented to the city.

Mr. Rogers' plans include a boulevard to run through the center of the new park, a lake suitable for bathing and boating, and play grounds. Several dwelling houses are to be removed from the park area. Mr. Rogers is a son of the late Mayor N. Burton Rogers, and is of the prominent Meriden Rogers family.

STOLE TO 'COVER' ANOTHER'S THEFTS

Startling Confession Made By Man Who Stole a Half Million. New York, Aug. 10.—Cornelius E. Callahan, who handled millions of dollars while receiving only $2,700 a year for the empty title of assistant secretary of the Bancitaly Corporation made a startling confession today, the authorities said, of his embezzlements, said to total $500,000.

That was the substance of his story, revealed by Assistant District Attorney Harold W. Hastings, chief of the indictment bureau.

The thefts started, according to the story revealed by Hastings, in 1924 when an unknown stole 300 shares of Bancitaly and $3,000 in cash from safe deposit boxes in Callahan's custody. To conceal this theft the young assistant secretary manipulated checks.

Callahan converted, to his own use, Hastings said, checks sent in by the banks clients for the purchase of Bancitaly stock. With a friend, he went into the market, buying stocks through brokers.

After making a joint profit of $200,000, according to Callahan's story, the "friend" praised him for his keen financial judgment, withdrew their combined capital and profits and vanished.

That was the blow that led to Callahan's downfall. Stripped of his working capital, he was cornered when Bancitaly stock experienced a meteoric rise. Stock buyers who checked he had appropriated demands delivery of the city's stock, the hurried Callahan was forced to abstract more checks, go into the open market and buy Bancitaly shares at bull market prices, sometimes as high as $270 a share.

He was getting deeper instead of pulling himself out of the hole. His position was similar to that of a speculator who, after selling short, is caught in a soaring market.

Callahan insists, according to Hastings, that his speculations will total no more than $300,000. Hastings, after inspecting the bundle of checks, remarked: "I think the total is a cool half million."

Teapot Dome Oil Stays In Ground For Present

Admiral H. H. Rousseau, direct or of naval petroleum reserves, now in charge of Teapot Dome and Elk Hills fields.

Washington, Aug. 10.—The Teapot Dome oil reserve is going to be a lone some place — perhaps until some distant national emergency when the navy will need its oil to operate its ships of war.

The government's policy now is, in the words of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, to keep the Elk Hills reserve recovered from E. L. Doherty and the Teapot Dome reserve recovered from Harry Sinclair "in underground storage for as long a time as possible and until it can no longer be readily obtained elsewhere."

The receivers closed down Elk Hills in April, 1927, and Teapot Dome on Dec. 31, 1927. The receivership terminated in January and the last phase of the deals which got Doherty, Sinclair and Albert B. Fall into trouble will probably have passed when some of the Sinclair equipment on the Wyoming reserve is sold in September by the navy.

The director of naval petroleum reserves is Admiral H. H. Rousseau. No one is going to take them away from him.

The man in immediate charge of Teapot Dome is Lieut. Com. C. A. Trexel, aided by two civil service custodians. These three, with a stenographer and a draughtsman, are now the only occupants of this oil field which has figured so prominently in courts, politics and newspaper accounts in the last few years.

The Elk Hills reserve, known as No. 1, is guarded by an equally small and probably equally lonesome staff.

Make Drainage Tests. Meanwhile, by direction of Secretary Wilbur, experts of the Geological Survey are making observation tests at Teapot Dome to see what is going on beneath the surface. It will be recalled that the alleged danger of drainage was one of the main items of defense cited by lawyers for Fall's course in leasing the reserve. The navy decided to experiment for at least a year to determine whether there was anything to that contention.

A dozen wells have been fitted up with gas pressure gauges which are checked once a month. After several months, no evidence of drainage has been found, but no definite conclusions have been announced. The only possibility that Teapot Dome won't remain closed up tight for an indefinite period lies in the chance that evidence of serious drainage may yet be found.

In closing down Reserves No. 1 and No. 2, the navy made arrangements whereby either the offsetting line wells of adjoining operators were also shut down or whereby the adjoining operator agreed to pay the government an additional royalty on any increased production due to shutting down the navy wells.

DR. BEEBE WILL CATCH SEA FISH FROM MILE DEEP

London.—"Afraid of sharks? Not in the least! They are the most intelligent, awkward, chitless cowards that infest the sea."

The speaker was Dr. William Beebe, the famous American scientist and explorer, and his derogatory opinion of these much-feared denizens of the deep was expressed in an interview with International News Service during a visit to this city.

"I have been in shark infested waters," Dr. Beebe continued, "wearing only a diving helmet and a bathing suit. Never once has a shark attacked me. They were too cowardly."

Dr. Beebe, who is Director of the Tropical Research Department of the New York Zoological Society and the author of a number of books on exploration, was in London completing preparations for a new venture in deep-sea research.

In Hudson River "At the end of this month," he said, "I intend to plunge into the mysteries of submarine life in the ancient gorge of the Hudson River, no more than 125 miles from New York City."

"There I shall dive a mile deep. The ocean conditions at that depth are practically the same all over the world. Through choosing the Hudson's gorge, we shall be able, at what may be called the doors of New York City, to get at any of the dwellers of the deep that are to be found almost anywhere in the world."

An effort to keep the deep-sea fish alive for exhibition in the New York Zoological Society's aquarium. They will be caught by special dredges, put under suitable water pressure in tanks, and rushed to New York.

"A new diving cylinder, in which it will be possible to study life at a mile below the surface, has been contrived, and one of the reasons 'I'm in London is to get for the cylinder glass that will withstand the great pressure of water at that depth."

Signal to Surface. The cylinder will contain the requisite supply of oxygen, and there will be no connection with the surface except the cable. As I shall be using submarine detectors, I shall be able to communicate with those at the surface by tapping on the cylinder."

Dr. Beebe, whose expeditions to the Sargasso Sea and the Galapagos region of the Pacific have made naturalistic history, plans to start on his Hudson River explorations immediately upon his return to the United States.

ONE DEAD, THREE HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Party on Vacation Crashes Into Truck on Post Road at Rye, N. Y. Rye, N. Y., Aug. 10.—One person was killed and three others were seriously injured today when an automobile in which they were riding collided with a truck on the Boston Post Road near here.

Ellis Partridge, 40, of Worcester, Mass., was killed. The injured are Mrs. Ellis Partridge, wife of the dead man, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Aldrin, all of Worcester. Mrs. Partridge suffered a fractured hip and internal injuries. Mrs. Aldrin is believed to have suffered a fractured skull. She is severely bruised about the body and Aldrin has a broken nose and severe body bruises.

Daniel Castegant, of Lyndhurst, N. J., who was driving the truck, is being held by the police of Rye, pending an investigation by Acting County Medical Examiner Edwin Huntington.

The police said that Aldrin told them that with the Partridges he and Mrs. Aldrin left Worcester late last night for New York City where they planned to pass part of their vacations. Aldrin said he tried to pass a truck proceeding slowly ahead of him when the collision with Castegant's truck which was approaching from the opposite direction occurred, the police reported.

THINK ESCAPED CONVICT ATTACKED SMALL BOY Child Recognized Picture in Rogues Gallery as His Assailant. Medford, Mass., Aug. 10.—Search for William App, who escaped from Charlestown state's prison, centered in this city today following an attack upon a 7-year-old boy near Mystic Valley Parkway.

Brused and bleeding, the child was thrown into a clump of bushes and his assailant fled in an automobile. When the child reported the matter at post headquarters he was shown three photographs of men, one of whom was App. The lad identified the picture of App as that of his assailant.

As a result, squads of Medford and metropolitan police combed Middlesex Falls but without success. App, serving a 10 to 12 year term for attacking a Winchester girl, and accused of attacking a Saugus girl, escaped from prison by evading a guard while working as a trusty, entered the house of a prison official and, changing his prison garb for a civilian suit of gray, walked away. Until today, search for the escaped convict had centered in Maine, where his relatives live.

WARANOKE SOLD ON STRICT MORTGAGE

Farmington Purchaser Held to Precise Conditions by Third Mortgage Terms.

The Waranoke Hotel property on Main street was yesterday afternoon sold by Jacob Podrowsky of Hartford and Morris Eiman of Manchester to Anthony Richter of Farmington on a conditional sale which becomes effective on the carrying out of agreement.

The sale, closed in the office of George B. Older of Hartford, conveys the property by warranty deed to Richter, subject to two mortgages, one for $33,000 to the Hartford-Connecticut Trust Company and the other of $13,000 to Samuel E. Yaffo.

The conditions of the sale as set up in this mortgage provide that in case there shall remain unpaid, after a period of thirty days, any interest on the mortgage, the grantor has the right to have named at once a receiver of rent and the whole amount of the mortgage that is held shall at once become due and payable, at the option of the holder of the mortgage.

Tom and Miss Marion Dunn, of Port Washington, Long Island, were secretly married, and this picture shows them in a New York hotel when they first consented to pose for photographers.

Appointment Books In Denver Stores Contain Messages of Odd Greetings

Denver.—Department store appointment books, which are provided for the convenience of local shoppers in the lobbies of two of the larger department stores in downtown Denver, recently proved an interesting subject for a survey here recently when some of the messages were read.

"I've waited now for forty-five minutes—keep this up and you can get yourself a new wife, dearie," read one of the notations from a Denver woman to her husband.

Another woman became angry with her husband when he didn't show up for an appointment with her and left this note.

"Jim—Sorry there'll be no necking tonight. You're in town.—R—" "Zee—This line just let you know I'm back on the job. Didn't find out anything.—Minnie."

"Jibs—I'm in the sox dept. filling a pair of silk hose that yours truly must buy.—Kiki."

Even little Danny Cupid comes in for his share of the announcements.

"Sweetheart of mine—I'll always love you. Don't come over at 10. Annie's still in town, darn 'er.—Thel."

"Jud—Baby wants you and needs you. Please come back.—H."

Cupid scored a knockout, evidently, on this couple, it's a joke on mother. "Mother—this is a joke on you. I have eloped.—Will write when we get to Ohio.—Annie."

Quite a few of the appointment bookings are in code language, such as "B-W-T 4 N."

One which was evidently not written by a college graduate was: "Jim—Listen here, I ain't gonna wait all day for you. You're not so swell, you know.—Migs."

Only one patient was reported admitted to Memorial hospital today. He is Richard H. Bryan, 42, of 43 Church street, seriously ill.

Madeline and George Jacquemin of East Middle Turnpike were discharged. No deaths, births, or accidents were reported.

THE WORLD HAS A NEW AND FINER MOTOR CAR Twin Ignition means Power, Speed, Economy People who already have driven the new Twin-Ignition-motored Nash "400" have instantly realized its superiority in performance to cars with older types of motors. In this new car, they discover more power and speed than they will ever care to use. They find a real thrill in the snap of Twin-Ignition traffic getaway. Has Nash accomplished these remarkable results by building a larger motor—one with an enormous appetite for gasoline? Or by building a high-compression motor that needs special, high-priced fuels? The answer to both questions is, "No." Nash has developed new principles of high-compression motor construction which create more power, more speed, with ordinary gasoline, and less of it! Today the Twin-Ignition, 12-spark-plug, high-compression motor powers all Nash "400" Advanced and Special Six models. We'll let you drive a Twin-Ignition-motored Nash "400", anytime. WOMEN'S PART IN WORLD WORK IS SHOWN IN PARIS

Paris—That the women are still the center of the Frenchman's universe is now being shown in Paris by two unusual expositions. One at the Salon des Arts Decoratifs shows that if women's place is still in the home, they intend to make it something more beautiful.

French women are now entering fields of interior decoration hitherto reserved for men. Marguerite Cross is exhibiting a huge affair designed to hold the mechanism for an electro-magnetic reproduction of phonograph discs. Mile. Lucie Holt Le Son, who by the way, was born in Philadelphia, shows a complete tourist office in combined metal, cement and lacquer. Suzanne LeFevre is offering an exquisite palisandre buffet.

Ceramic vases and lamps, silverware combined with polished woods proved that women have entered the field of porcelain work. Wool carpets cut in original form and unique designs are also the work of the women. Luminous porcelain in white, silver and orange give some of the charming new lighting effects.

Marvellous glass flowers are exhibited by Marie Chauvel and Madame Le Bourgeois has night-lamps, toilet sets and statuettes in ivory of unusual beauty.

Another exposition showing the importance of women was held in the Salons of "La Renaissance" in the rue Royale. One hundred and sixty portraits and figures of women only were represented, the work of every artist who has achieved fame since Ingres. They include all classes of women—princess, wives of diplomats, bourgeois and peasants—all under the artist's brush. Picasso is there with Degas, Monet, Renoir, Gauguin and Kees Von Dongen, celebrated painter of modern women. Portraits of noble women of his day done by Winterhalter make a striking contrast and the short haired, short-skirted women of this modern painter. And whether it be Renoir's "Women with Lilacs" Constantin Guys' "Furry" to the "Rendezvous" or Matisse's very modern "Venus"—all show the great importance of being a woman.

Donkey meat?—Yes sir, it is a food and not a slang expression. Mule steak and donkey sausage were served at a dinner given by the French National Horse Industry at the Paris Fair.

A famous group of gourmets who boast they have eaten alligator and Brazilian ant-eater, smashed their lips and asserted that "tough as a mule" is a slanderous reference.

There were several dishes of horse including horse consomme "a la Delacroix," but that beast of burden has been eaten in France for some time.

"Why should it be extraordinary to eat mule?" queried Monsieur Antoine Buffon, toastmaster. "Remember that supreme authority of French cuisine, Brillat-Savarin. One of his pieces de resistance was roast young dog."

Lee Statts, celebrated ballet-master of the Paris Opera, is looking for a good French name for French "girls."

"This English appellation for the charming young creatures who must be prepared for all the surprises of a modern music-hall spectacle, is very good for English and American dancers," says Mr. Lee Statts, "but I would like to find something original and picturesque to specify a new type of French artist which I am expecting to launch."

"And even in America, this word 'girls' does not suffice and we find the 'Unite girls' who always dance together, and the 'chorus girls' who are principally singers, as well as 'mannequins' who are figurants." "Chorettes," which recalls the "Chorettes," has been promised but refused because of its similarity to 'chortles'. 'Ballerettes' suggests too much of the dance.

The French word must cover everything that is meant by the artist who does classical as well as acrobatic dancing, sings, talks and plays a number of musical instruments.

DUTCH GIRL BREAKS OLD OLYMPIC MARK

Olympic Swimming Stadium, Amsterdam, Aug. 10.—A new world's swimming record for the 100 metres back stroke for women was hung up in the Olympic games this afternoon by Miss Braun, of Holland, who covered the distance in 1:21-3-5. The Holland girl won the second heat by beating a new Olympic record that had been made in the first heat by Miss King, of Great Britain. Miss Lindstrom was second in the second heat in 1:23.

Miss King won the first in 1:22 equalling the old world's record and making a new Olympic record. Miss Marion Gilman, of Alameda, Calif., was second in 1:24.

Miss Eleanor Holm of the United States, won the third heat in 1:33-3-5 with Miss Cooper of England, second in 1:24-1-5.

The first two in each heat and the best third in all heats qualified.

FIRE IN NEWBURYPORT.
Newburyport, Mass., Aug. 10.—Fire today destroyed the Joy building and damaged the Newburyport News building directly across the street with a loss estimated at $40,000. Powers wires in the center of the city were cut off by the fire. The Joy building was a 2 1/2 story wooden structure. The flames swept across the street and broke many windows in the news building. Woodwork was also damaged before firemen were able to protect it with a water curtain.

"NEWS-PARADE" TELLS OF NEWS CAMERAMAN

Feature on Two Picture Bill at State Tomorrow Is Chock Full of Thrills.

Colorful backgrounds from bustling New York to languorous Havana and from snow-girt Lake Placid to sun-baked Palm Beach are a feature of "The News Parade," the swiftly moving screen story of adventure and romance, at the State Theatre on Saturday.

The hero of the picture is Nick Stuart, portraying an indefatigable newsreel cameraman who has been given the assignment of photographing Brandon Hurst, an eccentric and exceedingly camera-shy millionaire. In stalking his prey all over the world, Nick falls in love with the millionaire's beautiful daughter, Sally Phillips. In order to get the picture and win the girl, Newsreel Nick has to foil two international crooks, played by Earle Foxe and Cyril Ring.

On the same bill will be seen Jobyna Ralston in Zane Grey's famous story "Lightning." Today for the last times, "Detectives," featuring Karl Dane and George Arthur, will be shown in conjunction with "Fleetwing," an Arabian romance.

Men are more intelligent than women, says a political writer. Maybe that's why they have to wear double-breasted suits on hot days while the ladies are keeping cool.

TO PLAY PRO FOOTBALL AGAIN

Bruce Jones, one of the best guards ever turned out in southern football, will play pro football for his second year with the Green Bay Packers this fall.

The total amount of damage caused by the spring flood disaster in Vermont is estimated at $30,000,000.

STORM WARNING

Washington, Aug. 10.—The Weather Bureau today ordered storm warnings displayed on the Atlantic coast from Jacksonville, Fla., to Cape Hatteras.

A disturbance over Southern Georgia is moving northeastward and will cause strong south and southwest winds between Jacksonville and Charleston, and strong southwest winds shifting to southwest between Charleston and Hatteras.

The storm probably will increase in intensity as it moves up the coast.

A LOOSE PEG
One of the pegs upon which the Democrats are draping their hopes of carrying the state for Smith next November—the other being the extremely wet sentiment in the eastern part of the state—is the presence in the field this year of Candidate David I. Walsh, who must gain re-election in order to hold his seat in the United States Senate.

There is just one point that they overlook. Campaigner Walsh campaigns for Walsh. He always has and there is not the slightest reason to expect that he will ever do anything different in the future.

Any Democrat who believes that David I. Walsh is going to load up his machine with Governor Smith, as he strives in low gear to make the extremely difficult grade to his senatorial re-election, must be a sanguine and simple soul.

ONE REASON ENOUGH
We do not altogether agree with the Waterbury Republican that one reason why Mr. Hoover is practically certain to carry all the normally Republican farm states of the Midwest is that the people out there are apt to complain a lot between elections and yet on election day vote the same old party ticket.

There are three elements in it. First is the fact that Hoover was a country boy himself and from personal experience understands many of the problems of farm life. Second is the fact that he is the world's chief humanitarian—with the welfare of human beings his greatest concern in life.

On the other hand the Midwest knows that Governor Smith is a cockney—a city born and city bred man with no more contact with the agricultural life or agricultural puzzles than a New York policeman who once spent eighteen years on the old Broadway squad and boasted he had never seen the Brooklyn bridge.

Governor Smith confesses that he knows nothing about farm problems when he tells the farmers he will ask them about them immediately if he is elected. Is he likely to be regarded as their tower of strength by voters who understand perfectly well that if there is anybody in America equipped to help them out of their mess it is Herbert Hoover?

TRAIL THEM
We continued to be bewildered by these stories of the extraordinary effrontery, loquacity and other evil qualities of the starling. The Mount Vernon institution of an annual starling hunt by the police has been promoted, it seems, by citizens who complained bitterly that the starlings made so much noise that they could get no sleep.

Now no starlings we have ever known acted like that. Those of our acquaintance spend their days hunting out worms and caterpillars, the early evening in gentle twitterings in the tree tops and the nights in silence, along with almost all self-respecting birds and quite differently from the screech owl and the whip-poor-will.

As we have been thinking this matter over we are almost forced to the conclusion that the Brookline starlings and the Mount Vernon starlings must have the advantage—or disadvantage—over Manchester starlings, of having access to large piles of mash. Ergo, follow the starlings and find the stills.

DAUNTLESS
Perhaps if George Brennan, Illinois Democratic boss, had been content to lead a less strenuous life, he might have lived a longer one. There is no way of telling. But it's a good enough guess that he lived longer than he would have if he had yielded to that utter fear of illness which visits so many people when they learn that they are no longer sound of body.

Brennan had knowingly been a diabetic patient for six years at the time of his death. Perhaps, if he had gotten out of politics and devoted himself to the care of his health, long ago, he might have still been alive and comparatively well—provided he had at the same time been able to preserve his mental serenity.

Instead he kept right along, bossing the Democrats of his state and running his party's affairs generally—which is a job for a well man in many a state much smaller than Illinois. It is only two years ago, for that matter, that he tried to get himself elected to the United States Senate, though then four years an invalid and more than sixty years old.

It is impossible not to admire the courage of some of these old warriors who keep right on fighting, in the very shadow of death, sturdily refusing to give a thought to the limitations placed upon their endurance by disease. Politics is full of them.

CONTRAST
Before the question of further reduction of naval armaments again becomes a live issue between the nations, as it now bids fair to, and before Americans again begin to line up automatically as violent partisans of a scrapped navy or a huge navy, as the case may be, perhaps it might be a bad idea to consider a recent assertion of Admiral Magruder's that what the American navy needed most was reorganization—and consider it in the rather special light of the performance of the Italian navy in raising a sunken submarine in 24 hours, in contrast with the American record of half a year for a job strikingly similar.

THEY REMEMBER
What Pat Harrison has been telling the people of Mississippi lately is exactly what this newspaper said some weeks ago when there was first some talk of a Democratic bolt against Tammany. He is advising them to stand by Tammany because Tammany has stood by the South. In any other section a younger generation might have forgotten how Tammany stood by the South in the days of the War of Rebellion by staging bloody riots against the draft, but in the South old memories do not die and the Lost Cause is dear to many a man and woman who was not born until long after Appomattox.

HEALTH AND DIET ADVICE
By Dr. Frank McCoy
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"
QUESTIONS IN REGARD TO HEALTH AND DIET WILL BE ANSWERED BY DR. MCCOY WHO CAN BE ADDRESSED IN CARE OF THIS PAPER

CAUSES OF INSANITY
A great majority of those of unsound mind may be classed in the dementia praecox group. As in hysteria, one of the principal causes of this trouble must be considered the result of congestion within the pelvis, either of the uterus or prostate. Displacement of the abdominal organs and constipation are contributory causes to this congestion by functional activity, and negative emotional desires. There is often a history of an unhappy love affair.

Every case of dementia praecox should be given a few days rest, in order to assist in the blood cleansing processes and also to relieve pelvic pressure caused by a prolapsus of the stomach and intestines, since, when the prolapsed digestive organs are comparatively free from food, there is much less pressure upon the organs and nerve plexuses of the lower abdomen.

Many cases of mental instability, accompanied by illusions and hallucinations have been shown by psychoanalysis to be due to mental impressions and incoordinations of thought. Besides these mental complexes, there are some other causes of a distinctly material nature, such as brain irritation from poisons, traumatic injuries, surgical shocks, and venereal diseases.

The wasting of nervous energy has a very decided effect in contributing to the formation of these diseases. For example, eye strain may produce disorders in parts of the body seeming to have no direct connection with the organs of vision. Indigestion, constipation, general eye weakness, and mental irritability can be entirely caused by an eye strain which does not impart any pronounced indication in the region of the eyes.

That which is termed "nervousness" has its origin in some mental or physical irritation, aggravated by fatigue and general enervation. The symptoms coming from some weak spot in the nervous system. Actual disease and destruction of the nerve cells are very rare, and do not usually occur until the body becomes exceedingly toxic.

WASHINGTON LETTER
This is the second of three articles by Rodney Dutcher, Washington correspondent for this paper and NEA Service, discussing the leaders and issues that came to the fore in Mexico following the assassination of President-elect Alvaro Obregon.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington, Aug. 10.—Both Soto y Gama and Aurelia Manrique, who sprang into such prominence in Mexico news after the assassination of Obregon, are crusaders of the Utopian type.

Haters of social injustice, neither is willing to wait upon the slow processes of evolution. But frebrands as they may be, their intellectual integrity and their honesty in government affairs have never been questioned by their most bitter enemies.

They have failed in their efforts to make the Agrarian party the dominant force in Mexican politics, despite the fact that in Mexico those who till the soil are the vast majority of the people. The small farmer and the peon are not politically minded and both Soto y Gama and Manrique have refused to recognize this.

The bitterness displayed in their attacks on the Laborites after Obregon's death did not arise spontaneously. The assassin's bullet merely gave them a chance to attack the Laborites, led by Morones, in more effective way than they had been able to do in the previous six years. They were now allied with the powerful Obregonistas.

Part of their bitterness was caused by the fact that they believed Morones and his two scores affiliated leaders, known as the Group of Action, had used the Labor movement both politically and industrially to their own enrichment. The Agrarians had thrown in their lot with Obregon and the Obregonista Revolutionary party saw in his election a chance for fuller recognition and added power. Enmity between Obregon and Morones had been becoming more and more bitter up to the time of the former's death.

WATKINS BROTHERS, Inc.
EXCLUSIVE REPRESENTATIVES FOR CRAWFORD AND CHAMBERS RANGES

New York, Aug. 10.—New York is full of boys who are fired with ambition. They have, one and all, their heroes whom they watch and copy in every way possible.

Today John Cordes is just about the most distinguished detective on the force. He has twice received the department's medal of honor, the highest award for bravery a policeman can win; usually the man who wins it loses his life doing it.

in a gymnasium, built up his physique—and, after a year or so, managed to pass the police examinations. He was put through the regular police training school and emerged a detective, due to the excellent record he made.

Such a person, in this city of dreams and dreamers, was John Cordes. As a boy (this was a number of years ago) John Cordes lived in Greenwich Village, near the Charles street police station. He made friends with the officers there and confided his desire to grow up and be a policeman. Also, he said, he was getting a good start by reading dime novel detective stories.

They laughed, told him detective stories were the bunk, and added that he was built too slightly to be a cop, anyway. But John Cordes stuck to it, even after he entered his teens and went to work as a prosaic clerk in a Wall Street broker's office. He put in his spare time

Sixth avenue between 38th and 60th streets, is seldom without more or less of a crowd on its sidewalks. The crowds are made up of men, usually more or less unshaven and ill-clad; they are not cheerful. The reason for them? There are approximately 70 employment agencies in that district. They are busy places, licensed and bonded by the city. A fee is collected in advance from all men who get jobs through them.

If, at about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, you were to pass along the lower level of the Pennsylvania railroad station, you might see a semi-circle of grown men, squatting upon the concrete floor and blowing an endless number of rubber monkey-tails. When they have blown until their lungs give out, they begin to fasten their rubber body of the toy monkey. Then they sit and wait for the commuter crowds to arrive.

It appears that by squeezing a certain amount of air out of the rubber tail a hidden whistle is blown that has the sound of a screeching monkey. It's the latest of the pitchman's toys. GILBERT SWAN.

RUMANIAN ARMY MAN PLANNING HOPE FROM N. Y. TO BUCHAREST IN SEPT.

Cleveland.—A lieutenant of the Rumanian army, George G. Fernie, plans a non-stop flight from New York City to Bucharest, late in September, it was learned here recently at the office of John J. Popovich, Rumanian consul. Fernie, it is said, is now awaiting completion of his twin-motored biplane at Marine's Harbor, N. Y. "After the construction is completed, we intend to take off as soon as the weather is favorable," Fernie was quoted as saying. "We will reach Europe near the Franco-Spanish border, then fly across Italy and the Mediterranean, along the Danube into Bucharest."

Cheers for Lind

When Lou Fonseca was injured in the opening game of the season, Manager Roger Peckinpaugh put Carl Lind, a rookie, on second base to fill his shoes. Lind did well in the field, but was a little weak at the bat until the Indians entertained the eastern clubs at home in early June. Then he started hitting and raised his mark above .300. He looks like one of the finds of the 1928 season.

A Remarkable Sale Of Fur Trimmed Cloth Coats For Fall

Why Remarkable?

A Straightforward Statement About This SALE

SMARTER COATS:

These coats are safely smart and just what "the fashionables" will wear. They are authentic reproductions and adaptations of the finest models collected at the late Paris showings. A Board of Fashionists composed of nationally known specialists pronounced them superb.

BETTER TAILORING:

They are better made because they were manufactured before the rush season at a time when leisurely attention to the smallest detail was possible.

BETTER FURS:

Since furs are a natural product there are only so many good skins each year. As soon as it was evident what furs would be smart, the fine first selection was reserved for these coats.

LOWER PRICES:

Proud as we are of our own store we must confess in all truthfulness that this sensational event is beyond our individual resources—we are confident that it would be beyond the power of any one, two or three stores. This sale was planned months ago by 178 of the finest stores in the country. We planned together; we worked together; we pooled our purchases with manufacturers who were glad to give us substantial concessions because of our enormous buying power; and now we are passing these savings on to our customers. Our months of preparation and the important union of store behind this event insure smarter coats, better tailoring, better furs and lower prices.

THOSE who are looking for radical changes in line and treatment in the new fall costumes will be disappointed, but those who look for perfection of line and detail will be delighted.

Skirts for day wear are full and easy, usually circular in cut, and quite as short as we have been wearing.

For evening, the irregular lines continue and the skirt that is down in the back and up in the front is the approved model. It is in the materials themselves that the most noticeable changes are to be seen.

Elegant materials such as printed velvet, lustrous satins, and chiffon-weight wools have taken the honors from crepe de chines and flat crepes. Printed velvets, while they were introduced last season, did not receive the skilful handling that will make them so successful this year.

After a summer season in which fur has been used much less lavishly than in former years, it is indeed delightful to see autumn mode's luxuriously furred coats and wraps, that are so flattering and so satisfying.

Fur trimmings of this season do not try for odd effects, they are quite content to be collars and cuffs, and to be handled with a certain restraint.

ILLUSTRATED today are some of the most exclusive of the newest fall modes, that show the effects the smart women will try to achieve.

For the schoolgirl or debutante, fall can bring nothing more snappy than the sports ensemble with the three-quarter-length coat and the box-pleated skirt. The color scheme of the ensemble at the lower left is particularly happy, the coat and skirt being of crepella in royal blue, and the novelty striped wool jumper of red, white and blue. The smart chapeau is of royal blue felt with a fine edging of blue leather.

The tie fastenings on the coat softens a neckline that is often trying and a bit severe—and this year nothing is severe, in millinery, gowns or shoes. Femininity is fashion's first law.

Of the two other and dressier ensembles shown on this page, each has its points. For afternoon, I like the model at the upper right, with the black skirt and coat and the long blouse of chartreuse colored crepe Roma with an irregular neckline, and the embroidery in self color on a background of soft brown.

The coat has a deep collar and cuffs of light fur, which relieve the straight-cut coat of any sombreness. To complete the ensemble is a small black felt hat with a tiny rolled brim and a bewitching bow of black satin low on the left side.

OF lighter color, the other ensemble—at the top center—is perhaps more dressy.

Both the gown of crepe satin and the coat with its collars and cuffs of beaver are of beige—a color that is next to black in the affection of the really smart woman.

The dress is fitted trimly about the hips and the skirt has two tiers of flounces that fall irregularly, longer in the back than in front. A graceful and negligent looking bow tie finishes the neckline.

Always a necessity, the separate coat of this season is an accommodating affair that has plenty of character of its own but can also share honors with the frock with which it is worn.

A typical model is the afternoon wrap at the lower right. This is of soft gray cloth, elaborately furred with gray fox of exactly the same tone. The gray velvet turban is just a few shades darker.

This coat, as all smart coats should, keeps the line of the figure narrow and slim, no matter how full or circular the dress beneath may be.

JUST how smart printed velvet may be is shown by the afternoon frock at the upper left. This is in brown and beige, with coin-figured spots. Here is the snug fitting hipline, the two-tiered flounce, and the draped bodice that gives almost the appearance of a cowl neckline.

The close fitting turban, so plain that it follows the line of the halo, rather than a hat, is the final word in smartness for the youthful and piquante face, but it should be modified for the more mature woman, or one whose features need to be flattered rather than defied.

Of printed velvet, too, is the evening wrap at the lower left. This is the style which Paris now prefers to all other styles. The ground is of black with figured motifs in beige and gold. It features the smart cape back with its glamorous sweep, and the wide shawl collar of beige fox.

For the peacock type of evening gown—that is, the one that spreads out in the back and falls below the ankle—this is the ideal type of wrap.

LOVE FOR TWO
RUTH DEWEY GROVES © 1928 By NEA Service Inc.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
BERTIE LOU WARD married ROD BRYER, who had previously been engaged to LILA MARSH. Lila makes life miserable for the bride until she meets rich MR. LOREE and marries him. Then she asks Bertie Lou to forgive the past.

But her anger remained sufficiently strong to send her to Lila. If they had not gone away together, Lila and Rod, Bertie Lou still had a chance to let them know how despicable had been their conduct. She would tell Lila what she thought of a girl who would marry for money and then work day and night to amass a fortune in a low intrigue.

Lou replied, struggling hard to keep down her emotion. "And I wish you both the sort of luck you deserve!" She wheeled and hurried out of the room, slamming the door behind her. Lila settled down on her pillows with a soft sigh of relief issuing from her colorless lips. There was nothing to be feared from Bertie Lou, and her almost fanatical pride. "I'd like to see myself stand by and give up the man I loved, no matter what he thought about anyone else!" she thought, sneering at Bertie Lou. And Rod hadn't gone to Bertie Lou with any tales, after all. Lila took hope in that. It gave her a chance, a slim one perhaps, but nevertheless a chance, to put herself right with him until... well, Lila could herself, people get used to shocking ideas. She might find a way to make herself irresistible.

The following examples typify the principle of the duck: 1-Dummy holding--hearts A K 9 8 7 6; declarer holding--hearts A K 4 3. Four cards in the heart suit are out against you. They may be divided two and two or three and one. Play safe and duck the first time, giving up the trick. You will then be reasonably sure of winning six tricks as against a possible two. If you hold a re-entry card in another suit in the dummy it is not necessary to duck and you may give your seven tricks in hearts.

One-Minute Interviews. GAYETY IS A PRICE-LESS POSSESSION. There should be imagination, gayety and beauty in the relationship between parents and young folks today in order to preserve the home bonds, in the opinion of Mrs. Robert E. Spear, president of the National Board of Young Women's Christian Association, herself a mother and grandmother. "The dogmatic attitude of adults which said, 'do this because I say it is good for you' has broken down today and parents must meet their children on an entirely different ground," she stated.

The WOMAN'S DAY BY ALLENE SCAMBER

One of the most vivid, biting, realistic stories ever written of the drabness and bickerings and sordidness and chaos of family life in hundreds and thousands of homes is in "We Are Incredible," by Margery Latimer. Myrtle Fry, mistress of the Fry home, wherein the main characters of the book dwell, is almost too real to be true. Some critics think she's an exaggeration of the nervous, talky, carping, martyr wife most of us know. I only wish several dozen Myrtes I know would read this book. But what good would it do? If you're a Myrtle, you'd never think the author meant you.

No sooner done than Baby is soothed; relief is just a matter of moments. Yet you have eased your child without use of a single doubtful drug; Castoria is vegetable. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot put away. Eddie Boyce Pitches No-Hit, No-Run Contest Here

Baffles Bon Ami Nine; Aces Drop Out Of Loop

Carroll Throws in Sponge When Team Fails to Show Up for Game at Heights; To Revise League Schedule.

Eddie Boyce, former High school pitching sensation, realized a much-cherished ambition last night when he pitched a no-hit, no-run game for Manchester Green in the Community Club Twilight League against the Bon Ami.

For four innings, the battle raged nip and tuck, neither team being able to punch across a run. Then came the disastrous fifth and sixth for the Bon Ami in which the Green scored thrice and twice respectively. Then it was all over—a 5-0 whitewash victory for the Green.

Although two games were advertised for the league last night, only one of these developed. The Aces-Heights game did not materialize.

This contest was set for the Heights field and only part of the Aces' team showed up. Captain Billy Wiganowski of the Heights said Coach Carroll of the Aces told him it meant the end of the Aces' team; that they were out of the league and disbanding for the season.

With the departure of the Aces on the footprints left by Highland Park, the North Ends, Depot Square and Talcottville, the league is left with four teams—Heights, Green, Bon Ami and Gibson's. The Heights and Green are undefeated.

Following is the revised league standing with the Aces' three defeats omitted, and last night's box score:

Green	1	0
Bon Ami	0	2

The Green has added Eddie Von Deck to its lineup and the Heights have signed up Nino Boggiino and Jimmy Foley of the Aces, it was announced today.

Monday night, Gibson's and the Bon Ami clash and the Green is booked with the Aces but will probably meet the Heights instead. It is expected that the schedule will be rearranged for the four teams.

Billy Wallace, first man and one of the only two ever to kayo Kid Kaplan, will be at the ringside at the Kaplan-Bruce Flowers 10-round light-weight bout in the Hartford Eastern League baseball park tonight to announce his readiness to give Kaplan the return bout the Meriden boy has sought ever since that fateful night when Billy laid him low.

Kaplan looks on to-night's bout as one of real import; he wants to win and win decisively so that he can launch out on the campaign he has mapped out and which contemplates return bouts with both Wallace and Jimmy McLarrie, the duo who did to him what no other fighter ever had been able to accomplish.

Kaplan has worked like a beaver at his camp at Silver Lake and the result is that he is in the best condition he has known in more than a year; his footwork has speeded up and he is punching faster and harder than in a long time. Dinny McMahon is satisfied that Kaplan will stage one of the great fights of his career against the dusky Flowers.

"I'm going to fight one of the best fights I ever did," Kaplan said at his camp yesterday. "I expect to win and hope to win on a knockout."

Kaplan weighed 134 1/2 after the workout and will come in around 133, his best fighting weight. Flowers yesterday afternoon wound up his training at the Charter Oak gym. The colored boy is in wonderful shape and he showed more than 100 fans, on hand to see him train, lightning footwork and a great left hook. Harry Garnish, Flowers' manager, said of the bout: "Mr. Kaplan will know he has been in a fight this time." Flowers would venture no prediction.

Matchmaker Tony Paolillo has arranged an attractive undercard, the whole card calling for thirty-eight rounds.

Frankie O'Brien, rugged Hartford middleweight, meets Frankie Konchina of New York in the eight-round semi-final. Flowers' manager, who handles Billy Franklin, the New York boy, knocked out by Konchina in New York last week, says Konchina is a terrific fighter and dangerous at all times.

Franklin was outpointing Konchina and the last round was half over when Konchina caught Billy flush on the jaw and stowed him away for the long count. O'Brien, who has been training at Silver Lake with Kaplan, is in fine condition, as, in fact, he always is and is hitting hard with his deadly left, Frankie being a southpaw. Therefore, a kayo in this bout would be no great surprise.

Eddie Plister of New York, a stablemate of Flowers, meets Tommy Hamby of Holyoke in a six-rounder. Plister worked out at the Charter Oak gym Wednesday and Thursday. He isn't the best boxer in the world but is a very hard hitter.

Jimmy Clinch of New Britain, another of Kaplan's training mates at Silver Lake, gets the hardest test of his career in meeting Johnny Clucose of New Haven, the only boy in the pro ranks to earn a decision over Bat Battalion. Two bouts will open the show; in one, Big Boy Williams of New London meets Joe Barlow of New York, who kayoed Larry James on the Kaplan-Day card, and, in the other, Max Maravanich of Meriden battles Frankie Marino of New Haven. The first bout is set for 8:15. Many from here are going.

PIRATES AFTER WALSTLER. The Pittsburgh Pirates are said to be after Rabbit Warstler, promising young shortstop with Indianapolis in the American Association.

It was in 1842, while studying acoustics in Paris that Adolphe Sax made the discovery that led to the instrument which bears his name.

Dowd's All-Stars Trim Cheney Girls

Team of Ten Year Olds Too Strong for Helen Bodreau and Co.; Final Score is 17 to 1.

Cheney's girls baseball team was defeated last night at the West Side playgrounds by a picked team from the junior playground baseball league. The score was 17 to 1.

The girls did not have a chance at any time, with the boys, who were all under ten years of age. Jackie Fraher made two wonderful catches in center field and also figured in a double play. The girls all acted as if they were tired. Evidently their boy friends kept them up too late Wednesday night. When they ran they ran too long in one place.

J. Morgan made four errors and her goat was out, but she sure has got pep. The Cheney girls missed Ruth Peterson who only played one inning. She is one of their best players. Helen Bodreau had her hands full trying to keep her team full of pep.

The boys used 16 players and the girls claim that was why they won—because the boys kept putting in fresh men all the time.

The double play that the girls made, was a pip on the Hollister girl's part. The All-Stars would like to get a shot at Sam Prentice's girls team. The box score:

Junior League Race Tightens

Gee Pitches Robins to a 13-7 Win Over League-Leading Sparrows in Dowd's Circuit.

The Robins defeated the Sparrows in the Junior League play game yesterday morning at the West Side playgrounds by the score of 13 to 7.

Mahoney pitched good ball for the Sparrows but his teammates gave him poor support. A. Brimley made a nice running catch of a foul ball and also had a perfect day at the bat. Gee pitched good ball for the Robins and he also made two hits.

Monday the Robins and Owls play. This game is the starting of the last round.

Huggins Picks Pitcher From Sticks To Win Game

New York, Aug. 10.—The sleight-of-hand ability of Professor Miller Huggins, director of those temperamental Yankees, today is the envy of fifteen other big league managers. The professor never pulled a rabbit out of a hat, but he demonstrated an even better trick yesterday when he pulled a crackerjack pitcher from the minors.

The pitcher who put the Yankees right back into the thick of the American League pennant scrap was Lefty Helmach, and his successful comeback set Connie Mack to gnashing his teeth because Helmach once was discarded by the Athletics. The A's traded him to the Boston Red Sox, whom he held to four hits yesterday in his first start as a Yank. Lefty struck

Prefers Brains To Big Fellows On Grid Eleven

Baton Rouge, La., Aug. 10.—Given his choice of big fellows who are not so smart and little fellows with brains, Russ Cohen, Louisiana State's new football coach, will pick the little fellows every time.

"Brains come first with me, because you find few smart men who lack courage," he says. "Of course, I like to have some big men around, especially for those two tackle positions, and if they're fast and smart, they don't have to be so big."

Cohen will be in charge of the Louisiana State eleven for the first time this fall, having succeeded Mike Donahue. He served as Wallace Wade's assistant at Alabama for the past five years and learned his football while in college at Vanderbilt under Dan McGugin.

WEST SIDE TENNIS

Following are the results of the junior elimination tennis tournament at the West Side playgrounds yesterday afternoon.

Austin Brimley eliminated Vincent Lennon 6—3, 6—0, 6—0. Andrew Raguskus eliminated Eddie Raguskus 6—4, 4—6, 6—1.

The following men are requested to report at the West Side playgrounds tonight for the senior horseshoe pitting:

American Golfers Favor Lighter And Bigger Ball

British Idea, Curious Enough Originated in These United States Away Back in Year 1925.

By DAVIS J. WALSH New York, Aug. 10.—The lighter golf ball almost surely is coming into adoption, perhaps immediately, but certainly within two years time.

This was the semi-official sentiment expressed today at the headquarters of the United States Association on Great Britain's proposal to curtail long hitting by the introduction of a larger but lighter ball. The American officials merely were awaiting the arrival of Henry Gulien, secretary of the royal and ancient committee of St. Andrews, with British suggestions for the proposed new ball before committing themselves definitely.

The British official will arrive on Monday aboard the Baltic and much of the preliminary detail, looking toward the proposed adoption of this ball, will be cleared up in conference with various U. S. G. A. members, including the ball and implement committee. These conferences will be held largely for the purpose of learning British official sentiment on the question of the Americans admitting that they are strictly on the defensive in this matter.

An Old Idea "If the British ask for what they are supposed to want, a ball 1.25 ounces in weight and 1.68 inches in diameter, I don't see how we can do other than accept the proposal, whole hog," declared one American official today. "For the specifications quoted are exactly those that we proposed in 1925. The British idea is the British decided to sanction the idea. They apparently have changed their minds but we can't afford to change ours. We sponsored the idea and must stand behind it."

The official vote on the proposal will be taken by the executive committee during the amateur championship at Brae Burn in September. This vote, according to the word passed along, is likely to follow the lead of the royal and ancient committee, which also will be a decided down in September. It is believed that Secretary Gulien already has the forecast of that vote in his pocket, so that his arrival on Monday probably will forecast the nature of the action to be taken.

That the British have seen fit to do a think-about-face on their refusal of Bill Fownes' plan in 1925 is directly attributed here to the record 285 with which Bobby Jones humbled their famous St. Andrews course in the British championship. The sentiment of the British public is not behind the proposed change—a straw vote was almost unanimously in favor of a retention of the present ball—but officialdom on either side has looked with no great favor on the flouting their traditions received when Jones last won their title.

American manufacturers intimated that they would continue to turn out the present ball in order that the dufters might suffer no more anguish than is customary with them.

ARMSTRONG FANS TWELVE AT CAMP

Collecting Company, With Local Boys In Lineup, Beats New Haven, 7-1.

In the elimination for the baseball championship of the 118th Medical Regiment which is stationed at Camp Trumbull, Niantic, the Collecting Company of Hartford succeeded in winning the first game from the Service Company of New Haven by the score of 7 to 1. The game was well played, both twirlers pitching wonderful ball. The Collecting Company also won two practice games by scores of 16 to 6 and 10 to 0 from other companies. Several local boys are in their lineup.

They also defeated the Service Company of New Haven in a regular game in the indoor baseball league. Wonderful material has been available in the Collecting Company to date. The score of the game was 24 to 6 when it was stopped.

In the baseball team are 18 candidates, so Manager Pete Vendrillo is having a difficult time selecting the regular squad. All the candidates did not get into the game last night. The feature of the game was the twirling of George Armstrong of the Hartford company. He allowed two hits and fanned twelve batters. Armstrong entered the game in a minute's notice, as Senkbeil was to have pitched, but was unable to, as he was on guard duty. The Semi-finals will be played Friday afternoon when the Collecting Company will play the Hospital Company of New Haven. The box score:

Private John T. Sinnamon was also court-martialed for riding his motor cycle up and down the company street. Captain Thayer of New Haven was again judge of the court-martialing.

Tuesday night, the twenty rookies were given their baths in Pine Grove. The Collecting Company is the only company in Camp Trumbull with 100 per cent attendance consisting of two commissioned officers, 10 Sergeants, 5 Corporals, and 42 enlisted men.

GENE'S BROTHER MUM New York, Aug. 10.—Gene Tunney, who, since his retirement from the ring and subsequent announcement of his engagement to Miss Josephine Lauder, heiress to millions, has sought to keep out of the public eye and demands to be let alone, need not fear that any of his marriage plans or gossip concerning him and his fiancée, so dear to the heart of the average society matron and debutante, will be betrayed by his brother, Detective Tom Tunney. Detective Tom is attached to West 68th street station, and when asked today to comment on his brother's engagement said: "Nothing out of me."

SHE CAN DO IT. It is a well known fact that very few star athletes are good teachers and that some of the best coaches in the country were not star performers in their line.

One of the most prominent exceptions to the rule is Miss Mary K. Browne, star tennis and golf player, who has been known for years among tennis players as one of the best analyst and strategists in the game.

In her recently published book, "Top-Flite Tennis," Miss Browne proves herself not only an interesting writer but a most excellent theorist and teacher. She succeeds better than any other author on record in putting over her many points in language that the beginner and novice player can understand.

And, to make her book more noteworthy, it should be mentioned that Miss Browne not only wrote all her own copy but supervised the art work, directed the illustrations and "made up" in the composing room.

Some of the interesting suggestions and points stressed in her book are: Success begins and ends with accuracy and control. Practice, practice and practice is essential.

Conservate your energy while exhausting your opponent. Use a system of play which not only runs your opponent back and forth of the base line but also up and back from the net.

Stress anticipation. Study your opponent's habit of making fixed replies. Study your opponent's way of telegraphing advance information.

Mitigate your own errors. Sacrifice speed for accuracy. Clear the net well on each return.

Get the ball in play off service. Do not stand flat-footed; balance lightly and be prepared to move in either direction.

Turn sideways for your deep strokes.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—Gene Tunney was asked what kind of a boy he thought Tommy Loughran is. . . And he answered—"I never heard that he was arrested for any crime."

And Loughran, when he heard of it, said—"It's a good thing I can't be arrested for what I think about him."

Bobby Jones admits he gets scared when he has to make a money shot. . . There's a tale in Detroit about the Yankees over their last visit here. . . The tale is that they broke training.

Some of the baseball writers in the west are suggesting split-season pennant races for the major leagues. . . But the old-fashioned way will be good enough if the Yanks lose.

The fifty grand that Rickard paid der colonel for the rent of the ball park will just pay Ruppert's doctor bill if the Yanks don't get going.

Horace Stoneham says if Rickard and Ringling buy the Giants he is going to buy the circus. . . But Rickard isn't so keen for a big stadium in N. Y. now. . . and young Stoneham doesn't want a lotta lions.

"big flop" were astonished one afternoon when Tommy Loughran, the world's light heavyweight champion, dashed into the press room with a handful of notes and pounded out "his own story on a typewriter."

And he used more fingers on the keyboard than any of the experts, did less editing and produced a technically fine piece of copy.

The Nut Cracker

Some of our American athletes were crowned champs in their particular Olympic event before the games started, but from the way they showed up O'Quilty is certain that Tunney's retirement idea is spreading.

The Americans won their first polo match without competition. The scheduled opponents went bye-bye.

One of the big upsets came when Love won the 800-meter event, Hahn down—in fifth place.

Hungary took the lead the first few days of the chess tournament. Well, what of it?

Track officials want to bar the tenth-stamp watch. They say it is untrustworthy. Some of the Americans in the Olympic games are afflicted the same way.

Perhaps you can explain Lord Burgley's victory in the hurdles by saying the Americans were not up on their royalty stuff—at least, not high enough.

The villain in the show takes one on the chin from Jack. O'Goofy thinks they ought to give that job to Tunney.

Ex-champ Gene, however, is preparing for his coming meeting with George Bernard Shaw. That probably will go down in history as the Battle of Epigrams.

Gene can't hope to win. He didn't get enough preliminary training in that light scrap with Shekepeare at Yale.

Billy Gibson says Gene is a fool to go for that one. Gibson thinks he should first take on some lesser literary light in a warm-up bout.

He says he won't second Gene in this battle. No use of spoiling sacred memories by seeing the ex-champ take one on the chin in a literary punch.

CHALLENGE EGGS A lot of Connecticut poultry raisers are going to tour New Jersey next week and find out how the broiler-and-egg men of that state do things. We don't know what they expect to learn, but short of raising eggs already peppered and salted it seems to Pinehurst that the Connecticut hen farmers are pretty good at their game themselves and perhaps haven't much to learn anywhere.

Anyhow, if they grow any better eggs in New Jersey than come daily to this establishment from the near-by henneries we hope that some of the dealers when they get back, will hand us a sample of them. Still and all, when you come to think of it, perhaps not all the so-called fresh eggs sold in Connecticut and coming from Connecticut poultry farms are quite up to the Pinehurst standard. Possibly the folks from this state can pick up a few tips. Just the same we'd kind of like to match up any one day's stock of Pinehurst eggs against any similar number raised in the state of New Jersey—for fun, marbles or money.

Free Fireworks All Over Sky Scheduled For Tomorrow Night

The diagram above shows how they come to earth in the United States. It fell near Portland, Me., passes into the meteor belt, so on, an idea of its size is given by that "shooting stars" are visible to the two boys who are nesting in a great abundance. Below is a photograph of the largest meteorite.

Washington, Aug. 10.—The earth is about to keep its annual date with Perseids and anyone who cares to stay up until after midnight tomorrow night has a good chance of getting an eyeful. Then, one is certain, according to the astronomers, to observe a brilliant shower of shooting stars. One can see meteors on other nights in the year, but the show put on by the Perseids is the biggest and most brilliant of all. This way and that, they shoot almost horizontally. It is also the most regular, for tween 2 and 3 o'clock on the morning of August 12. After that, the earth will begin to edge out of this meteor belt. These meteor showers, Captain Freeman explains, follow in about the same periods as comets. The Perseids shower comes just at the time the earth is crossing the orbit of Tuttle's comet of 1862, which we will not see again until 1935. These meteors form a closed ring or endless chain along the comet's path and the earth always finds them in its annual visit.

The Perseids are meteoric fragments breaking off the racing cluster. As they strike the earth's atmosphere friction develops so much heat that they are generally entirely consumed before they hit the earth. Some of them, however, are too large to succumb to incandescence and reach the ground, whence they are unearthed and placed in museums. The remains prove to be some form of iron in most cases, though some have a rock base. The flaming Perseids are to be seen in the northern sky.

Indications are, according to Captain Freeman, that they will be visible from most parts of the United States. The most brilliant meteoric shower on record was that of Nov. 13, 1833. Hundreds of thousands of shooting stars fell within two or three hours and the spectacle was witnessed generally throughout North America. Many persons thought that the end of the world had come and some observers compared the display to a celestial snowstorm.

How brilliant will be the August shower of this year cannot yet be determined. Sometimes it dazzles the whole heavens. Last year at least 40 large meteors were seen, traveling as fast in some cases as 30 or 40 miles a second.

Reach High Temperature
The velocity of the earth itself is 19 miles a second and Professor Newcomb figured out that the rise of temperature produced by the impact of our atmosphere with a perfectly stationary meteor would be some 600,000 degrees. But even the most solid metal must be burned up or volatilized with an immense evolution of light and heat before such a temperature is obtained. Thus, we can see 50 or 100 miles away particles whose mass may not exceed a single grain.

Of the Perseids, Charles P. Olivier, astronomer at the Lander McCormick observatory and one of the greatest meteorologists, says: "Of all the annual showers they are most certain to return with average richness. Also, as they come in August, when the nights are still comfortably warm, they furnish the most excellent opportunity for a person, casually interested in meteors, to see a good shower. Many of the Perseids leave very bright and enduring trains which, being beautiful phenomena, add to the interest of those observing these meteors."

Illustrated posters showing pedestrians where they may cross the streets are used in Paris to reduce the number of accidents.

2 NEW CHAIN STORES
 HERE PART OF PLAN

Massachusetts Merger to Enter Conn. Field With 200 Grocery Plants.

In pursuance of a plan to open 200 stores in Connecticut the First National Stores, Inc. of Somerville, Mass., has made two selections in Manchester, one at the north end and the other in the south end.

The First National Stores was organized in 1917 and was first known as the Ginter Company, but in 1925 combined with the John T. Connor Company and the O'Keefe, Inc., stores, operating in Boston and vicinity. The company has since opened stores in other parts of Massachusetts and in New Hampshire and has a few stores in the eastern part of Connecticut. The nearest one to Manchester is in Rockville.

The company plans to have a central location in Connecticut from which they will ship supplies to the stores to be operated in Connecticut. At present 1,720 retail stores, mainly restaurants and several warehouses are operated by the company.

Manx, the ancient language of the Isle of Man, is dying out. Fewer than 1,000 of the island's 50,000 inhabitants have now any working knowledge of Manx.

PLANS WEEK-END HIKE
FOR SOUTH END BOYS

Runch of South Enders Scale Last Year's Country Trip.

James "Dodger" Dowd, recreational playground instructor, is planning an over-night hike for south end boys ten or more years old, to be held a week from tomorrow. A similar affair on a smaller scale last year proved sufficiently successful to warrant a repetition this year.

Each boy is to carry his own lunch and two blankets. Plans call for leaving the West Side Recreational Center at 9 o'clock Saturday morning and the East Side Rec. an hour later. It is expected that the fifteen mile hike to the camping location, which will be on the shore of Coventry Lake, will be completed by three o'clock in the afternoon.

In announcing the plans, Dowd made it emphatic that no boys will be allowed to go on the hike who do not bring written permission from their parents. Otherwise some boys might steal away on the overnight trip, causing their parents unnecessary anxiety.

After camping over night, the boys will go for a swim early Sunday morning and spend the rest of the forenoon as they see fit. The start for home will be made in time to have the boys back in Manchester before dark. Boys wishing to go on the trip should either get in touch with Mr. Dowd or leave their names and addresses at one of the Rec Centers.

BLACK PERCEPTORY TO HAVE "DERRY" OUTING TOMORROW

The annual outing of Star of the East, Royal Black Perceptory, will be held at the Courtney farm in Somers tomorrow and will be in observance of the anniversary of the Siege of Derry.

Automobiles will leave the Washington Social Club rooms on East Center street at 1 o'clock. At Somers a chicken dinner will be served, followed by a program of sports. In the evening there is to be an entertainment.

Epiphram McAuley, Joseph Binks Hamilton McKee and Joseph Kennedy are the committee having the arrangements in charge.

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE: (362) A Garden Seat
 Sketches by Bessey; Synopsis by Braucher

At the formal evening affair in Hollywood delectables grow lower and frocks become more moulded to the figure than ever before.

Greta Garbo, a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star, appeared at a smart function wearing a startling gown of gold colored satin, absolutely without trimming. Its effectiveness relied upon the cut. Entirely form fitting to below the hips, it then flared out in a gored skirt, with an uneven hemline.

$3,500 is the price of a nice cottage, furnace, gas, bathroom, etc., near Main street, 3 rooms on first floor, space for 2 more on second floor. Garage also.

$7,500 for 3 family house on Spruce street. One of those places to hold for future increase in value, pays good rent.

Green Hill street, excellent home of 6 rooms and breakfast room, oak floors, steam, screens, 2 car garage. Owner sold, leaving town. Your opportunity.

West Center Street on lot 85x 175 with fruit and poultry house, a six room single. Would you take it for $5,000. Small cash payment. Six room Colonial, oak floors, steam, gas, white plumbing, 2 car garage. A buy at $6,650, $500 cash.

79 YEAR OLD WOMAN
WINS DIVORCE CASE

St. Clemens, Mich.—A 79-year-old blind woman has been declared winner in a divorce suit which has been contested bitterly in Circuit Court for the last six months.

An absolute decree was granted to Mrs. Matty J. Mott, of Elko, the defendant in a suit brought by her husband, Frank Mott, Utica business man. Mrs. Mott two years ago accused W. H. Schofield of attempting to kill her and accused her husband of conspiracy. It was on this grounds Mott sued for divorce, charging cruelty.

Schofield was acquitted of the charge. Mott was never tried.

FILM "YES MEN"
GIVING WAY TO STRONGER MINDS

Hollywood, California. — No "yes men" need apply.

Contrary to the opinion that the so-called "yes man" is the principal jobholder in a studio, at least one film producer says he has no use for the agreeable fellow.

Louis B. Mayer likes men about him who can say "no" when they believe it's the right answer, and say so in no uncertain terms.

"Whether it be as business executive or film director," says Mayer, "the man who says 'yes' at the proper time is, in the final analysis, the really successful worker. The ability to do this wisely is the mark of sound judgment." Mayer contends, often gets farther than fast thinking or flashes of brilliance.

"I have known business men," he says, "who, though seemingly slow in their mental processes and possessed of apparently imagination could when crises came, big or little, steer their business courses invariably in the right direction. There was none of the flare that gives the fascination to characters about them but unerring precision in big problems.

"What, then, is the basis for sound judgment that makes a man able to judge wisely? It is ability capable of development and training.

"I believe that, either in business or in motion pictures, the man who judges wisely is usually the man who has observed accurately in the first place. He has reasoned out in his own mind the relationship of things, has noticed effects that follow causes, and has seen these things straight.

"Take, for instance, King Vidor's direction of 'The Big Parade' a more recent case. Clarence Brown's direction of 'The Trail of '93.' Here were productions in which great crowds were used under unusual difficulties and often grave hardships. The slightest mistake would have been costly.

"Accuracy was the fundamental that the structure of direction was built on in each case. Tried by no guess-work at any time. The director had to know when to say 'yes' or 'no,' and this meant he had to reason out each step and see things straight.

"Thus the film director, besides having dramatic perception, has above all things to have that gift of accuracy and analysis that, say, the successful business man has. Colleges can develop the ability to use accuracy; practice makes perfect, but after all the foundation of it is judgment.

2 NEW CHAIN STORES
 HERE PART OF PLAN

Massachusetts Merger to Enter Conn. Field With 200 Grocery Plants.

In pursuance of a plan to open 200 stores in Connecticut the First National Stores, Inc. of Somerville, Mass., has made two selections in Manchester, one at the north end and the other in the south end.

The First National Stores was organized in 1917 and was first known as the Ginter Company, but in 1925 combined with the John T. Connor Company and the O'Keefe, Inc., stores, operating in Boston and vicinity. The company has since opened stores in other parts of Massachusetts and in New Hampshire and has a few stores in the eastern part of Connecticut. The nearest one to Manchester is in Rockville.

The company plans to have a central location in Connecticut from which they will ship supplies to the stores to be operated in Connecticut. At present 1,720 retail stores, mainly restaurants and several warehouses are operated by the company.

Manx, the ancient language of the Isle of Man, is dying out. Fewer than 1,000 of the island's 50,000 inhabitants have now any working knowledge of Manx.

DEWINE DEFEATED
 Amsterdam, Aug. 10.—Harry Dewine, of Worcester, Mass., lost the decision to Van Klaveren, of Holland, in the semi-final of the featherweight boxing bouts in the Olympics this afternoon. Dewine seemed to have a slight lead throughout. In the second round the Hollander was knocked to his knees with a left to the jaw, but was up immediately. In the third round Dewine slipped to his knees but jumped to his feet right away.

Kansas City Family Proudly Claim Descent From Famous Astronomer

By ROBERT A. HEREFORD
 International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Kansas City — Three times since Edmund Halley, the famous English astronomer and mathematician, foretold the dates of its arrival, the Halley comet has flashed into view of the earth.

Each time it has found the Halley family located in a different place.

The last time the world had a peek at the Halley comet, that was in 1910, the Halley family was living in Kansas City, where all but one of them still reside.

Louis B. Mayer likes men about him who can say "no" when they believe it's the right answer, and say so in no uncertain terms.

"Whether it be as business executive or film director," says Mayer, "the man who says 'yes' at the proper time is, in the final analysis, the really successful worker. The ability to do this wisely is the mark of sound judgment." Mayer contends, often gets farther than fast thinking or flashes of brilliance.

"I have known business men," he says, "who, though seemingly slow in their mental processes and possessed of apparently imagination could when crises came, big or little, steer their business courses invariably in the right direction. There was none of the flare that gives the fascination to characters about them but unerring precision in big problems.

"What, then, is the basis for sound judgment that makes a man able to judge wisely? It is ability capable of development and training.

"I believe that, either in business or in motion pictures, the man who judges wisely is usually the man who has observed accurately in the first place. He has reasoned out in his own mind the relationship of things, has noticed effects that follow causes, and has seen these things straight.

"Take, for instance, King Vidor's direction of 'The Big Parade' a more recent case. Clarence Brown's direction of 'The Trail of '93.' Here were productions in which great crowds were used under unusual difficulties and often grave hardships. The slightest mistake would have been costly.

"Accuracy was the fundamental that the structure of direction was built on in each case. Tried by no guess-work at any time. The director had to know when to say 'yes' or 'no,' and this meant he had to reason out each step and see things straight.

"Thus the film director, besides having dramatic perception, has above all things to have that gift of accuracy and analysis that, say, the successful business man has. Colleges can develop the ability to use accuracy; practice makes perfect, but after all the foundation of it is judgment.

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE: (362) A Garden Seat
 Sketches by Bessey; Synopsis by Braucher

At the formal evening affair in Hollywood delectables grow lower and frocks become more moulded to the figure than ever before.

Greta Garbo, a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star, appeared at a smart function wearing a startling gown of gold colored satin, absolutely without trimming. Its effectiveness relied upon the cut. Entirely form fitting to below the hips, it then flared out in a gored skirt, with an uneven hemline.

LETTER GOLF

You shouldn't have to get mad to SLAM this DOOR. In fact, it's a pretty simple letter golf puzzle.

A 5x5 grid for a letter golf puzzle. The top row contains the word 'DOOR' and the bottom row contains 'SLAM'. The rest of the grid is empty.

THE RULES

- 1-The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW HOW, HEW, HEN.

In the good old days, a woman could be lazy without having some specialist call her a neurotic.

The most successful way of getting around a woman is to hug her.

SENSE and NONSENSE

SLIM AND SPINELESS. Now far be it from us to rap her, But she curves herself and squirms.

It's a long time since we've seen a robust doctor.

It is reported that a girl broke her engagement because her sheik stole a kiss. The trouble seems to have been that he didn't steal it from her.

The women have taught us the utility of putting off tomorrow the thing they can put off today. They have discovered that brevity is the soul of IT. They select their clothes for what they get out of them.

A woman's idea of a fifty-fifty split is for her husband to give her half the money and then pay all the bills.

Oliver, the office boy, had been somewhat rude and the boss had to call him down. "Have you any excuse for speaking so impolitely?" he asked.

Prosperity item by an exchange: Six weeks ago the editor of the organ progress blew into town without a clean shirt to his name. Today he has a clean shirt.

A most eccentric man is Rolph. He never lies about his golf.

A tear for poor old Rolph we shed; We didn't know that he was dead.

Ah yes, the saints Rolph's now among. Alas, you know the good die young.

He Learned Something.

The real estate agent is endeavoring to interest a fair prospect in a house of her own. "Why not," says he, "purchase a home?"

Say, all I need is a garage, with maybe a bedroom above it."

ABOUT TOWN

Doris, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dunlop of Oak street was two years old yesterday, and her mother in honor of the event invited about 25 little folks to help celebrate the birthday. The children played a number of lively games outdoors and were later called indoors to enjoy the feast of good things Mrs. Dunlop had prepared. The tables were adorned with cut flowers of the season and the hostess was assisted in serving the little guests by Mrs. Samuel Pratt. Doris was remembered with many pretty gifts.

A party of 15 local friends of Mrs. William Montie motored out to Coventry lake yesterday afternoon and thoroughly enjoyed the boating and bathing, followed by dog roast. Mrs. Montie was assisted by Mrs. Jemima Smith. All report a fine time. The cottages at the lake are all filled this year and more picnic and transient visitors have been out there than any season previous.

Mrs. R. W. Garrard of 37 Edward street is driving a new Whippet coach. Mrs. Garrard was Miss Lizzie Wilson before her marriage.

Benjamin Custer, of Hartford, a workman for the Manchester Construction Company, was injured while working on a Washington street job yesterday when his lip was cut in a fall.
