DEBT CLEARED ON NEW CHURCH IN SINGLE DAY

Contributions and Pledges to South Methodist Church
Yesterday Total $15,662;
Fred Patton Sings.

The South Methodist Episcopal church, Manchester's most imposing edifice, was yesterday cleared of debt on the third anniversary of its dedication. In a unique Josiah Day ceremonial contributions and pledges totaling $15,662.00 were given to the church by two congregations which numbered nearly 2,000 persons. Of the total $12,488.00 was in actual cash, the rest of the amount being in pledges that are "good as gold."

Notes Burned
At the evening service when the collection of the subscriptions and pledges had been completed the cancelled notes, delivered to Lawrence Case, chairman of the building committee, by H. C. Alvord, of the Manchester Trust Company, were burned. This service has seldom been surpassed in Manchester for a display of enthusiasm. Men and women representing every denomination and creed joined with the Methodists in rejoicing that this $375,000 structure, has been built and completely freed of debt within three years.

Rev. Robert A. Colpitts, himself the leader in the construction of Fall River's magnificent Methodist church, called this accomplishment the outstanding achievement of the Methodists in New England in ten years. No other church in all the New England states has done as fine a task as this, he declared. Praise was uttered in the name of Rev. Joseph Cooper, now of Norwich, who was the pastor here when plans were made and who continued through the building and dedication of the church.

Morning Service
Yesterday morning the church was filled with those interested in this Josiah Day ceremony. The regular church service was shortened somewhat so that the ceremonial could be enacted. Following an inspiring address by Rev. Robert A. Colpitts, hostesses dressed in white passed around pledge cards, envelopes and pencils.

Then the Josiah chest was borne in on the shoulders of four men robed in purple. They deposited the chest at the front of the church. Then the hostesses led the procession around through the center aisle past the chest. As the congregation filed past the chest which was then carried out to the office by the robed men.

Patton Sings
Fred Patton, bass baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company, a former Manchester man was in the choir for both the morning and evening services. He sang the bass aria of "Zion Is Captive Yet" from Parker's "Horo Novissima," the solo "A New Heaven and a New Earth" from Gaul's "Holy City," bass solo "The Almighty" by Schubert, and the solo "Spirit" instrumental from Attila by Verdi. Although Rev. Colpitts said that Mr. Patton's voice was not at its best, and that Mr. Patton wished to apologize, his solos seemed to his hearers to be done in his usual excellent manner. The solos Mr. Patton was given to render were not particularly pleasing, but did give him an opportunity to display his magnificent tone, and tremendous vocal power.

Last night's service included also the Josiah ceremonial again as in the morning with the exception that

STYLE SHOW FOR CHENEY GUESTS NOV. 7

Latest Designs in Silk Garments to Be Exhibited for Manufacturers in Cheney Hall Wednesday.

In the belief that manufacturers and their wives and friends would be interested in a silk and costume exhibit to be given in connection with the annual meeting of the Manufacturers Association of Connecticut which is to be held at Cheney Brothers on Wednesday the officers of the association prevailed upon Cheney Brothers to present an exhibit of their creations.

This striking departure from the usual routine of business has never been attempted before by the association. In former years it has been customary to confine the program to events of a strictly business nature and of interest only to the executive of manufacturing plants. This year, however, executives will be forced to take a back seat during the latter part of the afternoon session of the meeting for their wives and friends who have been invited to witness the display of the latest creations in silks and velvets which have been prepared especially for their benefit.

In an interview with Miss Helen Cheney who is in charge of silk exhibits and style shows at Cheney Brothers, a representative of the manufacturers association was told that the show was to take place on the stage of Cheney Hall, the main auditorium of Cheney Brothers.

Miss Cheney stated that the stage is to be draped with a selection of the very latest patterns in silk and velvet dresses, in representative modern design. The majority of these dresses will be of a colored pattern and many will consist of brocade and printed materials displayed with plain velvet and satin.

KISS KILLER IS CALM AS HE ADMITS MURDER

Seventeen Year Old Slayer
Says He Killed High School Girl Because She Tried to Kiss Him.

New York, Nov. 5.—Vincent Rice, latest jazz age slayer, today presented a baffling study in criminology as he sat in a prison cell, apparently unmoved, and awaited developments following his amazing confession that he strangled Alice Jost, pretty 15-year-old high school girl, because she "kissed him" over his protest and said, "come on and be a sport."

"That's the story of this good-looking smartly dressed 'sheik' of seventeen—and he's sticking to it. The girl's friends don't believe it. For Alice had an excellent reputation, and even the police are skeptical of that phase of the confession which deals with the motive. The rest of the confession the authorizer believe, that as young Rice said, he became angry with the girl while being entertained alone in her home, struck her with his fist and then strangled her with a cord of an electric iron."

A Good Girl
"Alice was a good girl," her mother, Mrs. Lucie Jost, a widow, sobbed as she made arrangements for the burial of her daughter. "God will punish him for what he has done."

HOLD SEC. OF STATE FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

Sensation Sprung on the Eve of Election in New Hampshire.

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 5.—Armed with a warrant charging embezzlement of $134 of state funds, police and county authorities today arrested Secretary of State Hobart Pillsbury.

The arrest, coming on the eve of election, caused a tremendous sensation in the Granite State.

The secretary of state was taken to the capitol at Concord. Gov. Huntley M. Spaulding went from his Rochester home to his office in the State House to formally receive the resignation of Secretary Pillsbury.

The warrant was issued by Attorney General Jeremy R. Waldron and the county solicitor. Although the warrant charged an alleged defalcation of $134 authorities said alleged irregularities exceeded that amount.

Berlin, Nov. 5.—The crew of the German trans-Atlantic dirigible Graf Zeppelin and the three United States naval officers who crossed the Atlantic in the airship today in audience today by President Hindenburg, who expressed the hope that such flights would bring Germany in closer friendship with far-away countries.

After shaking hands with his visitors the president addressed them saying: "I want to express my esteem and admiration for your national deed and the manner in which the Zeppelin defied storms and fog. Your wonderful reception in America, for which we are most grateful, shows that the Zeppelin is admirably suited to bring nations which are now separated by seas closer together."

Turning to the three United States Naval officers President von Hindenburg said: "I hope this will further cement our friendship."

PREDICT GOOD WEATHER
FOR ELECTION TOMORROW

Washington, Nov. 5.—Favorable weather will prevail generally over the United States for the election tomorrow, the Weather Bureau predicted today.

The temperature will be mild for the season. A disturbance now centered over Manitoba will move rapidly eastward and it will likely cause light showers near the northern border from Michigan eastward and another disturbance over the lower Rio Grande valley will likely cause showers in the lower Mississippi valley and portions of the west gulf states. No other precipitation is indicated except possibly along the north Pacific coast.

BOTH LEADERS CONFIDENT ON ELECTION EVE

Raskob Claims 402 Electoral Votes and Moses 409;
Outside Observers Say
Situation is Doubtful.

New York, Nov. 5.—The most unusual and complex presidential campaign in the political history of the country roared down the streets to the finish today with the leaders on both sides shouting "we win!" At the same time, not a few of those same leaders are secretly wondering just what is going to happen anyway, in tomorrow's battle of the ballots.

The principals themselves, Herbert Hoover and Gov. Al Smith, are confident enough, and apparently genuinely so. They have seen the madness of the crowds that flocked about them; into their ears has poured the enthusiastic acclaim of the multitudes; and their eyes have scanned the glowing reports passed up to them by their lieutenants. Being human they have been affected by what they have seen, and they are confident.

Indicate Victory
Gov. Smith emerges from a two-hour conference with John J. Raskob, the Democratic generalissimo, saying, "the reports and advice clearly indicate a Democratic victory tomorrow."

Herbert Hoover, nearing the end of his long journey to the Pacific coast, informs his associates that he does not doubt the correctness of their reports of victory tomorrow.

With All Extravagant Claims by Both Sides Thrown Out, Four States, New York, Massachusetts, Missouri and Wisconsin Are Termed "Key" States—Republicans Confident They Can Carry These Handily Tomorrow; Hoover Smiling as He Nears End of Cross Continent Trip.

Hoover Special Enroute to Palo Alto, Calif., Nov. 5.—Herbert Hoover returned to his home state today to await the verdict of the electorate upon his candidacy for the presidency of the United States. Despite his long journey from Washington, which started at 5 p. m., Thursday and included fourteen rear platform appearances as well as four prepared addresses, Hoover came home smiling, confident of victory and "happy to be back" after the arduous campaigning which has kept him from the trout streams of his homeland since early August.

There was that mysterious gleam in Herbert Hoover's eyes as he rolled over the familiar countryside of California, and those who knew him best declare that gleam means but one thing—the approach again of a period of angling and casting amid the reedbeds.

Crossing the Nevada border into California with the sunrise this morning the Republican nominee sped fast cheering roadside assemblages for the fourth successive day enroute to his Palo Alto home, where tonight he will deliver his final campaign appeal over a coast-to-coast radio hook-up.

Despite the hurried schedule mapped for the "Victory Special" Hoover yielded to the pleas of California friends for additional stops in the state and added Sacramento, Lodi and Stockton to the list of places slated for platform greetings and informal talks.

Under the new schedule the arrival at Palo Alto was put forward to 2 p. m. Pacific time with a five minute stop at Sacramento at 9:35 a. m., Lodi, 10 a. m., and Stockton 11:05 a. m.

The broadcast will begin at 6:45 p. m. Pacific time. Hoover is expected to confide himself with a appeal to the voters to exercise their franchise. He has declared the campaign definitely closed, so far as his own contribution is concerned by his St. Louis speech last Friday, and his final advocacy of Republican protection and prosperity at Pueblo, Colo., Saturday night.

HERALD ELECTION RETURNS

Special arrangements have been made to get direct returns from the Republican State Central Committee headquarters in Hartford. In addition to this John F. Barstow has installed a radio and large amplifier so that the crowd can get the results through three different sources.

FATE OF CHORAL CLUB IN BALANCE

Members Meet Tonight to Decide on Discontinuance or a New Start.

Manchester is threatened with the loss of its Men's Choral Club, an organization of which it has grown very proud and which has achieved an enviable reputation in musical circles throughout the state. Somewhat like a bolt from the blue comes the announcement that a meeting of the club to be held at the South Methodist church this evening the question of continuance or immediate abandonment of the organization will be decided.

It has been known for a long time that a good many members of the Choral club have felt that the close application, many rehearsals and seriously hard work required of them for the giving of two concerts a year was not compensated by the results attained.

The policy of engaging high priced musical stars for the club's concerts, while doubtless of keen satisfaction to the music lovers of the community, has operated in two ways to dampen the ardor of the singers—it has rather subordinated the work of the club itself, so far as the concert programs are concerned, and it has cost a great deal of money.

It is understood that last year's concerts, while admirable as musical offerings and attracting large audiences, resulted in a financial deficit which the members of the club had to make up. This they feel to be rather much, in view of the fact that they had already paid their membership dues and given up 26 evenings to rehearsals during the year.

Members of the club say that the organization could probably be continued if they were assured that its concerts would receive support on their merits without the expenditure of large sums of money on expensive out-of-town talent, and if in turn the club could give two or three concerts outside of Manchester.

It is understood that the meeting tonight is pretty likely to settle the fate of the Choral Club one way or the other.

TALKS TO MEN'S LEAGUE ON ANTI-TRUST LAWS

Charles Cheney Lauds Principle of Sherman Act—Sees Need of Elasticity.

Speaking before the Men's League of the Center Congregational church yesterday, Charles Cheney gave an illuminating talk on "Are Anti-trust Laws Obsolete?" Mr. Cheney had only good words to say for the principles underlying the Sherman Anti-trust law, which, he said, was framed with the greatest wisdom in that it purposely left many details of interpretation to the United States Supreme Court.

He traced the methods of the old predatory trusts, whose purposes were frankly monopolistic and oppressive, and showed the change in the entire outlook of big business that had been brought about by the adoption of the Sherman law.

At the same time he pointed out that, under the amendatory legislation and court interpretation, many practices, which had been injuriously engaged in under the old regime, had become permissible when undertaken in a spirit of public advantage. He cited in this connection the "unscrambling" of railroad and transportation companies which were undertaken for the purpose of stifling competition, and now the proposed merging of the railroads into a few great groups in the interest of the economic service of the nation.

Mr. Cheney pointed out the need of further amendatory action or court rulings, under the Sherman law to make possible certain economic measures of co-operation among the industries, always in keeping with the spirit of the original anti-trust law. More elasticity in the operation of the law was badly needed in the textile industries, he said, to permit agreement on the regulation of competitive measures which were against the public interest—such, for example, as the overweighing of drapery silks.

He illustrated this point by showing how the automobile industry, through special interpretation of the law, had been enabled to agree on the universal sharing of patent rights—which did not lessen the competitive business but which did not have the effect of bringing about a condition where there is no such thing as a poor automobile.

CENTER CHURCH WOMEN PLANNING A BAZAAR

Working Faithfully Each Thursday Afternoon on Plans—Will Represent Eskimo Land.

At their Thursday afternoon social meetings Center church women are working with great concentration on preparations for the annual bazaar which is to be held on November 15. Supplies of aprons, children's dresses, fancy work and handmade domestic articles of all kinds are fast accumulating and other plans for the sale and supper are assuming definite form. The setting is intended to represent Eskimoland and the decorations of the hall will alone be worth going to the church to see. Mr. and Mrs. Bert F. Andrews are planning effects that will equal the work of professionals in beauty and originality. Silver and crystal and the dead white of snowy icebergs will be used to bring about a scene of startling beauty. The theme will be carried out in the decoration of the booths and in the entertainment of the evening.

Besides the hilarious dramatic production that is being prepared by players from the Men's League, movies and side shows will be shown in other rooms during the evening. One of these is of especial interest and importance. John Reinartz will exhibit and explain his remarkable collection of Polar weapons, clothing and domestic utensils. Few communities have the opportunity to hear first hand from one of their own citizens the story of an actual expedition to the Polar regions and few museums can show a more unique and valuable Polar exhibit than this of Mr. Reinartz. Everyone in Manchester should avail himself of this opportunity of seeing this remarkable collection and of hearing Mr. Reinartz tell about it.

My food would sour and ferment and the gas would rise and then my trouble would begin. I have had this trouble so long that I began to lose both weight and strength and began to worry about my condition. I was getting discouraged because I had tried so many different ways to get well, but was always doomed to disappointment. I decided to give ERBJUS a good trial and did so. I have taken 5 bottles of ERBJUS and here are the results—My digestion is fine and I do not have gas attacks and constipation does not bother me at all. I have gained weight and lots of strength and am immensely pleased with ERBJUS."

Considerable indignation is felt over the manner the "boys" take to celebrate now and then. Halloween night several shocks of corn were burned in fields owned by R. G. Hubbard and Robert Owen. A horse rake was removed from a shed where it was stored for the winter and placed on top of the church sheds and other minor offenses.

The rummage auction sale conducted by the Young Women's Club at Hebron Thursday was quite successful. The women served hot dogs, coffee and pies, etc., so they have a good start toward repaying the interior of the town hall.

1928 By NEA Service Inc. RUTH DEWEY GROVES AUTHOR OF "WHEN A GIRL LOVES LOVE FOR TWO" AND "MISTRESS BARRYMORE"

"We can't keep you with us," he went on. "You can see the bad effect it would have."

THIS HAS HAPPENED
JERRY RAY thinks that love is a delusion and decides to marry for money. Her vacation plans are spoiled by the loss of her savings, and nothing remains but to go camping with her roommate MYRTLE. Fate introduces her to a wealthy eligible in the person of ALESTER, CARSTAIRS, when she crushes his airplane into their camp. But her heart responds to the attentions of DAN HARVEY, his pilot.

ALESTER seems interested in her fresh beauty and showers her attentions upon her. Myrtle warns her against him, but a letter from her mother revealing poverty and illness causes Jerry to try to win Alester in order to gain material comforts for all of them.

Unable to borrow money to buy a new gown for a big party Alester has invited her to Jerry gives way to the temptation to take a lace tunic from the store where she works—intending to slip it back next morning.

She has a good time at the party until LEONTYNE LEBAUDY, who is infatuated with Alester, and her friends taunt Jerry into drinking. Her dancing partner, urged by a jeering crowd, throws her in the pool to bring her to Dan appears and drags her out after knocking her abductor down. He wants to take her home but Alester calls him "impudent" and takes her home himself. Jerry is in a panic when she realizes what has happened to the store gown—especially when Myrtle tells her that there is a special detective watching the stock that week.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVI
Jerry's knees nearly caved in under her as the meaning of Myrtle's words became clear. "I didn't steal it," she whispered like a frightened child. "I just borrowed it."

"Yes," Myrtle agreed. "It looks like it. That's the way people treat borrowed things all right. For Pete's sake take it off before you stand there and shake to death."

Jerry did not move. Her eyes were wide and set. To Myrtle she looked as if she was petrified with fear.

"Here," she said and began to pull the dress from Jerry's shoulders. It slipped and lay in a damp, soiled ring at Jerry's feet. "Step out of it," Myrtle ordered and Jerry mechanically obeyed. Then she forced Jerry to remove the rest of her cogg garments, rubbing her briskly afterward with a bath towel.

"Now get into bed," she said, thrusting Jerry's nightgown into her hands. "You'd better tell me all about it," she said later when she crawled in beside Jerry, who lay with her face buried in her arms on the pillow. Jerry told her, in snatches of words broken by gasps which suppressed sobs drove from her tortured throat. Myrtle, the pool incident. Then she threw an arm over Jerry and sought to comfort her.

Jagged rip was discovered in the delicate lace. It must have caught on the edge of the pool when Dan pulled her out, Jerry thought.

The urge to make full confession, and the desire to get it over with at once drove her to wait outside the door leading to the manager's private office long before 11 o'clock.

"Who sent you here?" his secretary asked when she saw her there.

"No one; it's . . . personal," Jerry replied timidly.

"You'd better go back to your department and ask permission to come in later," she was crisply advised. "Mr. Barlow may not come in before half-past nine."

"I'll wait a little longer," Jerry said.

Silently she prayed that she might see Mr. Barlow before she must be at her counter. Her courage was leaving her rapidly. If he did not come soon she feared she would flee in terror.

She kept her eyes fixed on the door to the outside office where she so impatiently waiting. Each time it opened she felt as if she were being slowly smothered.

At three minutes of nine she rose to go. The door opened again. This time it was the manager. "You'll be late," his secretary warned Jerry as he passed into the inner office.

She groped for new words to make him understand. "You see I . . . I couldn't let my friend down. Oh, Mr. Barlow, sometimes a girl just has to have a party dress! You don't know what it means to have everything in your life depending upon a dress and yet not have the money to pay for it. . . ." she broke off, scanning his face in forlorn hope.

"But you spoke a while ago of paying for this tunic," Mr. Barlow reminded her. "How will you do that if you hadn't the money yesterday to pay for it?"

A great deal — far more than she guessed — depended upon Jerry's answer. Mr. Barlow knew that girls who attended parties at roadhouses often received expensive favors, sometimes with hundred-dollar bills tucked into them. If one of his girls . . .

"I haven't any money," Jerry said helplessly. "but I can live on half my wages, somehow, until the cash is paid for."

Mr. Barlow's face showed his relief. "I'd like to let you do that, Miss Ray," he said pityingly, "but the discipline we must maintain here forbids it. In fact, I should not like it to become known throughout the establishment that we are letting you off so easily."

Jerry fastened her eyes upon him in mute suspense.

"We can't keep you with us," he went on. "You can see the bad effect it would have upon any employe who might be tempted to do as you did. . . ."

"In a store that employs thousands of girls we can't be too careful," but I shall not insist that you reimburse us for our loss." He pressed a button.

"Miss Stahl will see that you get the money due you and at the proper time you will receive whatever you have earned in commissions."

Mrs. Hoover as Next First Lady

MRS. HERBERT HOOVER

"I do not think that Mrs. Hoover will change her habit, when she becomes the First Lady of the Land. I can picture her sitting in her private sitting room in the White House knitting, possibly with a book propped up before her. She is a voracious reader and an inveterate knitter. And I can see her eyes shine when some young chap, who has been abroad opening up new markets for American products, comes to call at the White House. She understands the pioneering spirit so well. She will know how to greet diplomats and official callers, but also youth will find a quick response when it comes down the receiving line to meet her."

MICHIGAN WOMEN LINE UP SOLIDLY FOR MR. HOOVER
SAYS BINA WEST

When the Women's Hoover Committee started work in Michigan, those in charge made a list of leaders in women's activities throughout the State and asked them to assist in directing the Hoover-Curtis campaign. These women who were asked to help were not taken from any Republican roll-call. Their party affiliations were unknown. They were selected simply because they were outstanding in club work, business, fraternal organizations or other fields. Every one of them, without exception, accepted.

This is a true indication of how solidly the women of Michigan are behind Herbert Hoover, Miss Bina West, Republican National Committee woman, said when she visited National headquarters recently.

Asked why she believes women in general are so strong for Hoover, Miss West said, "Because his interests and activities are so diversified that they affect every part of our population. He neglects no one but bends his energies toward helping every group in our national life."

Children are infinitely susceptible to cold influence. Long, depressing, hours of silence are not good for one, or for their. Cheerfulness, forced at first, will almost always become easier and more natural in time if one can make the effort. Of all the definitions of character, probably the finest one is, "To be able to bear up cheerfully under trouble."

MUSSEL POISONING IS MYSTERIOUS MALADY
By DR. MORRIS FISHBURN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

Numerous outbreaks of food poisoning have been associated with the eating of shellfish, oysters and mussels. In many instances these poisonings were due to bacteria, and epidemics of typhoid fever have been traced to the consumption of mussels taken from sewage polluted waters.

"A SWISS DIVORCE"
Rumor has it that "A Swiss divorce" will soon take the place of the popular "Paris divorce" — so fashionable but now most difficult to procure, because French courts frankly declare they're tired of being made monkeys by rich Americans. Whether those ladies who have consented to divorcing restless husbands in return for a nice trip to Paris with all its smart shops and restaurants will do as much for the mere chance to revel in natural scenery is a question. Here's wagering rich husbands will find it increasingly difficult to become divorced!

THE HERRING GIRLS
The herring girls, who follow the fishing fleet, come into Yarmouth, England, 4,000 strong every fall to clean and pack and dry the fish. For years the spectacle of the fisher girls from the Orkney and Shetland and other islands, each group wearing its own particular costume, has been so picturesque and colorful that tourists have rushed to see.

REFLECTED GLORY
Mrs. Alfred E. Smith, was almost crushed by a crowd of 6,000 Chicago women, clamoring to see her at a reception in that city. Police were forced to rescue her and hurry her off to her suite. Sometimes one wonders if what the feminists think of those eternal protests that the mass of women and other women interesting and worth looking at only in proportion to the fame and greatness of their husbands. Mrs. Al Smith would be little known if she were not Mrs. Al Smith, and yet as such she intrigues more women than all the women who have done big jobs in their own name and right.

WHITE'S AUTHENTICITY
In spite of lovely and gorgeous colors for evening, white gowns this season win the praise of many smart women. One with square neck and long, full skirt that dipped in square points is of white georgette embossed in a silver and white coin dot design.

FUR AND VELVET
A lovely formal daytime ensemble has a soft blonde velvet frock with a long jacket of blonde ermine with scarf collar and puff sleeves.

HOOVERISMS
Our purpose is to build in this nation a human society, not an economic system. We wish to increase the efficiency and productivity of our country but its final purpose is happier homes.

MILADY HAS BECOME "TABLE-MINDED" NOW
Tables for Every Convenience Now Fairly Cover the Modern Living Room.

Colonel Lindbergh has referred to the United States as an air-minded nation. If he were in the furniture industry instead, he would doubt refer to this as a table-minded nation. For proof, witness the striking re-orientation in the table appointments of the Great American Home. The average living room 10 years ago was considered entirely complete with one table in the geometric center of the room. Invaluable it was a cumbersome, monolithically used to display a crocheted dolly, an overgrown lamp with a bulbous red base resembling the family Bible, and a green plush-covered album. Never was its prim orderliness disturbed by dog-eared magazines, cigarette boxes, and ash trays. It was simply a permanent fixture lending not much beauty and even less utility to a cold, inhospitable room. In addition to that, a few homes could boast an end table; but they were greatly in the minority. Today, contrast even the average living room of the great middle class with that of the "top strata" of 10 years ago.

WHITER, SWEETER CLOTHES—DIRT SOAKS RIGHT OUT
"Plenty of cream, lasting suds," says Mrs. Alvine Scheldge
"No wonder so many women in Manchester are using Rinso. I have never used a laundry soap that gives such wonderful results as Rinso. It's marvelous how Rinso soaks out the dirt and cuts the grease. Even a child could do a wash with Rinso because it soaks the dirt out well. Rinso makes plenty of suds that are creamy and lasting. I can say that Rinso is a great time saver, too, on washday. And best of all—this soap washes clothes sweet and clean and makes them nice and white. I use Rinso for dishwashing also and am glad to say I find it easy on my hands. I can't praise Rinso too highly!" (Signed) Mrs. Alvine Scheldge, 59 Spruce Street, Manchester, Conn.
Just soak and rinse for a whiter, brighter wash! No scrubbing—no boiling. Rinso, the granulated "no work" soap, washes clothes—and hands, too. Recommended by the makers of 24 leading washers for safety. Rinso comes in two sizes—most women prefer the large package. Try it!

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

Some girls proclaim their beauty from the hose tops.

SENSE and NONSENSE

Helen Willis: It's nice to have a radio on winter nights. Peggy Joyce: Yes, we are planning to buy two of them—so when the station is bad on one we can use the other.

Mrs. Graham McNamee, wife of the famous radio announcer, says she loves to hear her husband talk. Orhand, we can't think of another married couple who seem so perfectly in accord on any one subject.

"I often read of a man who has lived to be 125 to 150 years old. It is my opinion that there has never been any such person, although there may have been a few to whom it seemed that long while waiting for the radio commission to regulate and restrict broadcasting."

Radiograms

Although most distance hounds have only one horn, there are a lot of people who believe they will sprout it given time.

Radio is progressing by leaps and bounds. Already experts have perfected A battery eliminators and B battery eliminators. If you ask us, the next step is a little scientific attention to some of the programs.

Radio fans are deploring certain stations who pirate unassigned wave-lengths. This is technically known as the crime-wave-length, no doubt.

The man who stays up until three a. m. to hear a whiskey tenor sing "Sweet Adeline" from a station two thousand miles away, certainly illustrates the truth of the old saying: "Distance lends enchantment."

Proof Enough

"Time is money." "I realize it," said Mrs. Dustin Stax. "I tried to hire ten minutes over the radio."

"Boy, where did you get such big feet?" "Ah, go on. You know. My folks gave 'em to me for a birthday present."

"I heard you refused the job of president of the company." "Yeh, there was no chance of advancement."

If a man sees another man wearing a hat or suit like his own, he feels complimented. If a woman has that experience with another woman it makes her hopping mad.

Mrs. Newrich (looking over house plan): "What's this thing here going to be?" Architect: "That is an Italian staircase."

"Just a waste of money. We probably won't ever have Italians coming to see us."

If a girl invites you to dinner and her biscuits are a flop, you can be certain that she isn't trying to put anything over on you; if they are good, you will still be up in the air.

LETTER GOLF

Today's letter golf puzzle has a little HIDE and SEEK mixed up with it. For the exercise. Par is six and one solution is on another page:

Letter golf puzzle grid with words HIDE and SEEK.

THE RULES

- 1.—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinymites all sat around till on the door there came a sound. "Hey, Tinymites, you'd better go to sleep," a loud voice said. "To stay up late is very wrong, so hop in bed where you belong."

When Clowzy woke at early morn, he footed loudly on a horn. "Wake up," said he, "It's Hallowe'en. Come on, let's have some fun. We've made nice things to do queer tricks. Oh, listen how my tick-tack ticks. Wake up, you lazy Tinymites, it's time our sport's begun."

night." And Copy, too, agreed that that was just the thing to do. So through the day they slept and ate. They found it rather hard to wait. At last the stars came peeping forth, up in the sky of blue. "Let's go," cried Clowzy. "Night is here. Now, first of all we'll sneak up near to Mister Captain's window. Then we'll give him quite a scare." Their tick-tacks o'er the window slid, and then the Tinies ran and hid. The captain jumped and shouted "What is going on out there?"

Woe Copy added, "Yes, he's right. We ought to wait until to-

ABOUT TOWN

Local Garden club members are reminded of the monthly meeting this evening at the Manchester Community clubhouse.

Lady Roberts Lodge, Daughters of St. George will omit its sewing meeting at Mrs. Dotchin's tomorrow on account of its being election day.

Members of the Moose will meet this evening for the first time at the Home club on Brainard Place. A class of candidates will be initiated and other business of importance transacted. A social hour with refreshments will follow the meeting. A large turnout is hoped for.

The Ladies Sewing Circle of the Lutheran Concordia church will have a special business meeting at 2 o'clock, after which the ladies will decorate their booth for the bazaar to be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings of this week at the church.

Sunset Rebekah Lodge will hold its regular business session in Odd Fellows hall this evening. A degree rehearsal will follow in preparation for the visit of the assembly officers, December 3. The other members will play whist in the banquet hall.

Basketball practice will be held as usual at the School street Recreation Center tomorrow evening between the hours of 7 and 8:30 and all members are urged to report.

A harvest supper will be the attraction Thursday evening of this week at the Manchester Community clubhouse, the first of a series of similar social affairs it is planned to have at the White house this winter. The meal will be served between the hours of 5:30 and 7:30 and the diners may remain for a game of bridge, pool or any of the recreational diversions the clubhouse affords.

Mrs. Scott Simon entertained the Neighborhood Bridge club at her home on Henry street Saturday evening.

Mystic Review Woman's Benefit association will hold its regular meeting in the Odd Fellows banquet hall tomorrow evening. A large attendance of the members is hoped for as plans will be completed for the district rally here on the 20th and other important business acted upon.

Another whist, bridge and set-back party is to be held in St. James's Hall on Wednesday evening of this week. The number that has been attending these card parties has been increasing each week and in addition to the prizes that are awarded to the winners there has always been a luncheon served, which will be done during this week's party and entertainment.

The Social Service committee is planning to have a booth tomorrow for the sale of hot frankfurters, coffee and doughnuts in front of the Connecticut Company's small building on Center street. The profits will be used in furthering the work of the committee among the needy and ailing in the community. Mrs. Robert Dougan and Mrs. Walter Luettgens will be in charge and the hours of serving will be from 11 a. m. through the greater part of the day.

For the first time in three years, employees of the local post offices will have Christmas Day entirely to themselves. The past two years they have had to work half a day. This is because Christmas has been observed on Monday and rather than to tie up the mail delivery for two whole days, half-day service has been maintained. This year, however, Christmas falls on a Tuesday and there will be no rural or free delivery. Special delivery letters will be delivered.

Miss Ellenor Rogers, private secretary to Principal C. P. Quimby of the High School, recently underwent a slight surgical operation. During her absence, Miss Gladys Harrison is doing her work.

About fifty friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Emil Peterson, 25 Alton street, Saturday night to give a triple birthday party in honor of Sherwood and Florence Benson of Cambridge street and Willmore Peterson of Alton street. The date happens to be the birthday of all three. There were games, refreshments and presents.

Mrs. Thomas Curran of 72 Ridge street was removed to her home from St. Francis hospital in Holliston Brothers' ambulance yesterday.

BAKER-JOHNSON

Miss Dagmar K. Johnson, daughter of Mrs. Anna Johnson of 22 Forest street, was married Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock to Lindsay R. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baker of Wethersfield at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Johnson of Russell street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. J. O. Corneil, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church, the wedding march being played by Miss Esther Tack. The Johnson home was beautifully decorated with white and yellow chrysanthemums, ferns, palms and evergreens.

The bride and groom were attended by Miss Dorothy Tack as bridesmaid and Elden Piper, as bestman, both of this town. The bride, who was given away by her mother, was attired in a gown of white satin trimmed with lace. She wore a veil of tulle caught with orange blossoms and carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley. The bridesmaid's dress was of tan crepe, and she wore a hat to match. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. A reception, attended by about 35 friends and relatives, was held immediately after the ceremony. Guests were present from Hartford, Wethersfield and this town. The wedding gifts were numerous and beautiful.

During the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Baker left on an unannounced wedding trip, the bride wearing a black velvet ensemble with hat to match. On their return they will reside at 443 Washington street, Hartford.

"GOOD THINGS TO EAT"

CORNED BEEF, ELECTION, ETC.
Probably you know all about Pinehurst Corned Beef—its perfect corning, its perfect condition before it goes into the brine, the fact that it's not just odds and ends but fine, high grade beef to start with.
Just now the brine tanks contain some of the finest bits you ever saw—Briskets and Rib pieces. And just for the sake of starting something we're making a special on the ribs—at 17 cents a pound. This is a Corned Beef bargain to tell the neighbors about!
There's a beautiful lot of Fresh Pork in the refrigeration plant today also. And along with this subject of Pork, here's a happy thought: Ends of Pork to cook with Sauerkraut at 25 cents. And the bulk Kraut itself—tangy and just properly acid—perfect Sauerkraut, if we do say it—at 10 cents a pound.
This is the weather for Corned Beef, Pork and Sauerkraut—and "stich." Also, tomorrow will be election day, remember, and there's a lot of things that you won't have time to do tomorrow, Madame Housewife.
Remember the phone. Remember, too, that if you get us on that phone any time today or after 6:30 tomorrow morning you can have your order delivered any time after 8 o'clock a. m. that you want it. It would be a mighty good plan to tip us off as to just what hours tomorrow you expect to be home and when you expect to be away saving your country—so that we can deliver your order accordingly.
Anyhow, Happy Election day—even if you can't all win.
