

DRASTIC DRY BILL PASSED BY CONGRESS

Jones Bill Now Awaits President's Signature—Is Aimed at the Big Bootleggers.

Washington, March 1.—Congress today laid on President Coolidge's desk the most drastic prohibition enforcement measure ever advocated by national dry organizations. The signing of the bill is expected to be one of Mr. Coolidge's most important acts in his few remaining days in office.

The smashing triumph of the Drys, wholly unexpected even by their leaders a month ago, raised violation of the Volstead law to the class of a felony by providing a maximum penalty for first offenders of five years imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

Passage of the Jones bill was accomplished in the House after a vociferous but impotent minority was swept aside by a vote of 283 to 90. The bill had already passed the Senate, 61 to 18.

Dry leaders claimed that enactment of the measure is the most important victory they have won in Congress since the 18 Amendment was written and submitted to the states for ratification.

Count On Hoover

Not only did they demonstrate their overwhelming strength on Capitol Hill but they believed they had placed a potent weapon in the hands of President-Elect Hoover, upon whom they are counting for the most serious drive against dry law violators ever made in the nation.

F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, was among the spectators in the House gallery when the measure, which not even his predecessor Wayne B. Wheeler, could

FILIBUSTERS MAY CRIPPLE CONGRESS

Half Billion Dollars of Appropriation Bills May Not Be Passed.

Washington, March 1.—With adjournment of the Seventieth Congress less than a hundred hours away, the Coolidge administration today faced the tremendous task of securing approval of conference reports on a half billion dollars worth of appropriation bills before its legislative program will be completed.

These money bills constituted the one big problem awaiting disposition before Congress expires at noon March 4. They included the $286,000,000 interior department, the $126,000,000 first deficiency, the $130,000,000 second deficiency and the $1,000,000 legislative appropriation bills.

Presidential nominations and all other legislation will be abandoned, if necessary, to get these bills enacted. Their defeat would seriously cripple the government's activities from now until July 1, virtually close the interior department and force Congress itself to work without pay during the next fiscal year. The necessary relief, however, could be provided at the special session to be called by President-Elect Hoover in April but even then, many governmental functions would be curtailed for a month at least.

More Filibusters

A handful of filibusters were lurking along the Legislative road—three major controversies have developed friction between the House and Senate over these bills. In the case of the deficiency measures, the issues were the action of the House in rejecting the Senate's $24,000,000 dry fund and the Senate's provision for publicity on income tax refunds, $75,000,000 of which would be paid at this time. The other controversy revolved around the Senate's action in rejecting a House provision giving the secretary of interior carte blanche authority to confiscate private land in the Glacier National Park of Montana.

The Senate however, demonstrated again last yesterday that it can transact business in a hurry when it disposes. In a little over three hours, it jammed through 203 bills, approximately one a minute. Among the measures enacted in its legislative spurge were dozens of claim bills, bridge bills and personal bills. The outstanding measure was the gold star mothers bill, sending widows and mothers of soldiers to visit the graves of their husbands and sons in France at government expense.

Scientists In Europe Fear Another Ice Age

Berlin, March 1.—The extremely cold weather from which all Europe has been suffering and from which Central Europe is still suffering today, has raised the question in scientific circles whether this continent may be approaching another "ice age."

Geologists have ascertained that, for about a million years, Europe has suffered repeated periods of ice and snow to which the name of "ice age" has been applied.

Mild climate in Northern Europe in winter time is attributed to the change of the Gulf Stream.

According to Prof. M. Diersche, reports from trans-Atlantic liners indicate the course of the Gulf Stream is undergoing considerable change. In at least one place, it is said, it is flowing westward instead of eastward, as heretofore.

Norwegian meteorologists are therefore inclined to attribute the cold summers of recent years to these changes, which, if they are continued, may end in a catastrophe for Europe.

Another fundamental consideration is advanced by Prof. W. Gothan. He estimates that the warm intermission between the various ice ages—the so-called interglacial periods—lasted about 50,000 years. The last ice age in Europe was approximately 20,000 years ago.

It is therefore likely, he assumes, that Europe is in another interglacial period and has already passed the warmest part of it. But both professors agree that neither this nor the immediately following generations of Europe have very much to worry about.

HARTFORD WANTS HISTORIC WARSHIP

Legislature Asks Governor Trumbull to Petition President of United States.

Hartford, March 1.—Under a bill passed by the Lower House of the Legislature, Governor Trumbull is requested to petition the President of the United States for the transfer of the U. S. S. Hartford, historic battleship, from Charleston, S. C., to the submarine base at New London. The resolution came in the form of a favorable report today and was passed under suspension of the rules. Representative Pelton, of Clinton, submitted the resolution, making a lengthy speech on the subject in which the boat's history was recited.

The subject was Farragut's flagship at New Orleans. Then seven other admirals used the boat as flagship during his long career. After the boat question had been settled, the House refused to ratify the child labor amendment to the Constitution. The proposition came through with an unfavorable report from committee. Mrs. Alice Rudd, of Shelton, reported for the committee, and her report was accepted without comment. A number of citizens of the state had petitioned the matter and they today given leave to withdraw their petition.

The Bill Passed

One bill from the House calendar was passed today: An Act establishing a Town Court in East Haven with judge and deputy judge. The

REO ANNOUNCES ITS NEW "CHENEY" CAR

Local Silk Firm to Make Fine Upholstery Fabric for Unusual Auto.

A noteworthy step in the manufacturing operations of Cheney Brothers is the decision of the silk manufacturers to enter the automobile field, not in the sense that cars will be built but through their participation with the Reo Motor Car Company of Lansing, Michigan, in presenting a new conception in motor car luxury to the public. The Cheney Brothers product, known the world over as "Cheney silk," is used in the manufacture of various merchandise. This announcement was made by Reo today.

New Field

The advent of Cheney Brothers into the automobile field, however, marks an innovation for the big Manchester plant and opens up a new field in their industry. The introduction of the name "Cheney" into the automobile building activities of the Reo Motor Car Company can be traced directly to the constantly increasing influence which women are exerting today in the purchase of automobiles. Women of fashion desire the accessories of her daily life to express her taste and personality and between Cheney Brothers and Reo, of Manchester, the Reo Motor Car Company of Lansing, Michigan, it is now possible for her to accomplish this in the car she drives.

"Car of the Month"

Cheney Brothers express the mode of the moment in their broad-clothed silk upholstery which will be used to finish a new class of Reo Flying Cloud passenger cars, a limited number being produced so that each Reo dealer is allotted one a month. For that reason the car is known as the "Car of the Month." In place of purely utilitarian design which has so long characterized the interior finish of motor cars the Reo "Car of the Month," through Cheney Brothers, will afford a background as personal and appropriate as that which

HOOVER SILENT ABOUT CABINET

Two Names Still Missing and President-Elect Will Not Talk.

Washington, March 1.—While most of official and unofficial Washington speculated over the two "mystery names" that have completed the Hoover Cabinet, the President-Elect stretched back today at his S street home and looked forward to three days of quiet rest before he rides down Pennsylvania avenue to take the oath of office as chief executive of the nation.

Eight of the ten Cabinet posts are considered public property already. Which two men will be secretary of commerce and secretary of agriculture, however, remained pretty much of a mystery this morning despite the unremitting efforts of the press to get definite leads as to their identities. Half a dozen names were bandied about as probabilities and possibilities for each post, but it was stated definitely that the final two to be selected, while "men of national reputation" up to last night had not entered into the newspaper speculations.

Preparations

Mr. Hoover, meanwhile read proofs on his inaugural address so it could go to the public printer by noon today. None of the appointments were of particular significance, involving mainly the paying of respects. He proposed to adhere to engagement lists of that nature today, tomorrow and Sunday.

Aides of the President-Elect rushed about frenziedly throughout the morning making last-minute preparations for Monday's inauguration. Harassed on all sides by demands for hundreds of more tickets than there are seats in all the grandstands combined, they attempted to soothe "close friends" and "distant relatives," while polishing up innumerable details that sprang up from minute to minute.

'QUAKE SHOCKS REPORTED, MAY BE IN AMERICA

Fordham University's Seismograph Records Disturbance Less Than a Thousand Miles Away.

New York, March 1.—Two "severe" earthquake shocks believed to be in close proximity to the United States if not actually on the North American continent were registered on the Fordham University seismograph today. The instruments at Fordham indicated that the shocks, coming at 2:45 and 4:17 a. m., were less than a thousand miles from New York although Boston dispatches estimated the disturbance at 2,700 miles. Neither station could determine the location of the shocks.

TWENTY-FIVE FOUND FROZEN TO DEATH

Vienna, March 1.—Rescue workers found the bodies of twenty-five persons in the snow-bound village of Zavaje, near Karlstadt, Jugo-Slavia, according to dispatches reaching here today.

The victims apparently had starved to death. The village had been isolated for months owing to the unprecedented snow storms in central Europe this winter.

CAMBRIDGE REPORT

Cambridge, Mass., March 1.—Twin earthquakes, both about 2,700 miles distant, were recorded within a short space of time on the Harvard university seismograph today, according to an announcement by Harvard officials.

The first quake, reported as of moderate intensity, began at 2:39 a. m. Eastern Standard Time, and lasted over an hour. Starting at 4:13 a. m. the second quake lasted only a short time.

Harvard officials said no estimate could be made of the direction of either quake and for that reason nothing could be said as to the origin of the earth disturbances.

TIDAL WAVES

London, March 1.—Tidal waves have caused terrific damage along the Japanese coast in the vicinity of Choshi, according to Tokyo dispatches received by the Exchange Telegraph Company today.

The dispatches state that many villages have been destroyed. The tidal waves caused the coastline to recede many miles in some places. Several villages are said to be under water more than 12 feet of water. The number of casualties is not yet known, but it is feared the toll will be high.

Choshi is on the Pacific coast side of the island of Niipon and about sixty miles east of Tokyo.

IT'S UP TO HOOVER TO REDUCE TAXES

Washington, March 1.—Business conditions in the next few years will determine whether the Hoover administration will be able to reduce the federal tax load carried by American corporations and individuals.

Reductions in the past eight years were made possible, both by increasing productivity of business, and the reduction in operating costs of the government. The latter consideration no longer is a factor in tax cutting because government expenditures are on the upgrade. For some years to come the drop in interest on the public debt will be more than offset by greater financial requirements in expansion of government activity.

Future Tax Cutting

Future tax cutting must be based upon increased revenues from greater profit yield of business according to treasury experts. Maintenance of prosperous conditions probably would make possible a reduction of taxes within two years, especially if the March 15 collection of income taxes shows an increase over last year, despite the 1.2 per cent reduction in the corporation tax.

On the other hand some "lean years" might mean that Congress would be forced to boost taxes to maintain a balanced budget.

No Program in Sight

Officials said that no tax cutting program is in sight, although the final effect of the 1928 revenue act will be studied closely to determine the stimulating result to business of the corporation tax reduction.

This year the tobacco taxes and customs receipts will yield the government substantially $1,000,000,000, and the income and corporation tax somewhat more than that

What Has Happened To John DiSimoni?

Local Youth Walks Out of Boarding House in Old Clothes Six Months Ago and Disappears.

John Di Simoni, a weaver at Cheney Brothers, left his home in the rear of Woodhouse's store, on Spruce street, one morning, walked down Oak street and out of the lives of his relatives and friends. This happened nearly six months ago and still his disappearance is surrounded with mystery—dark and sinister.

He never came back, was never heard from again. Was he shanghaied to some far off land? Did he, despondent, commit suicide? Was he murdered? All these questions and countless others, are asked by his relatives and friends, of which he had many in Manchester especially among the town's Italian element.

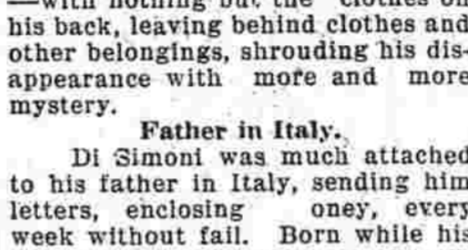

Was 21 Years Old.

Di Simoni, at the time of his disappearance was nearly 21 years of age, a few inches under six feet in height, well built and dark complexioned. He was flat-footed which eliminated any possibility of his joining the Army and Navy.

A jolly good fellow, friends termed him, willing to spend his money on a good time with anyone. Still, he was a fellow of steady habits, no wild parties or such. Di Simoni received letters regularly and Di Simoni paid them a visit. Neither he would achieve an orchestra position in three months.

Where Is He?

Di Simoni was much attached to his father in Italy, sending him letters, enclosing one, every week without fail. Born while his parents were residing in Brazil, Spanish came easily to him and Italian he, of course, picked up from his parents. He came to Manchester 12 years ago with his sister and entered evening school here, learning the English language.

An uncle in Newark, N. J., and his sister, who is in New York, also received letters regularly and Di Simoni paid them a visit. Neither he would achieve an orchestra position in three months.

Purchasing of these instruments proved quite a strain on his finances and landed him in debt and when he walked out, he was broke

TALK OF CUBAN PLOT QUICKLY DYING OUT

There is No Prospect of Rebellion Going Beyond the Talk Stage.

Havana, March 1.—Cuba was quiet today following the sensational discovery of what was labeled as an anti-government plot. There is no evidence of disorders. The government has the situation in hand. There is no prospect that the reported rebellion will go beyond the "talk stage."

Three additional arrests have been made in the interior, the prisoners being accused of seditious conspiracy.

Approximately a dozen persons have been arrested to date. Scores of other warrants have been issued, but have not been served.

Some Cubans living abroad are accused of complicity in the alleged plot to bring on revolutionary disorders and consequently military intervention by the United States.

In view of the tranquil condition of the country it is believed that the public feeling over the alleged plot will be short-lived. The large numbers of American and other foreign tourists visiting here noticed nothing out of the ordinary.

CAPITAL PREPARES FOR INAUGURATION

PRICES SOARING ON STOCK MARKET

Speculation in Copper and Steel Puts Ticker Far Behind Today.

New York, March 1.—Industrial stock prices were swept skyward in a flood of mid-afternoon buying today. It resembled the Hoover bull market of post-election days.

The copper and steel stocks led a move to higher prices in a rush to buy which swamped the facilities of the big board and set the ticker back more than half an hour before the noon period.

Stock sales in the first two hours were close to 3,000,000 shares, of which nearly 1,200,000 were turned over in the first half-hour. Speculation flowed like a rushing torrent into the Copper and Steel stocks, which have been carrying everything before them in a wild rush to the higher price levels in the last two weeks. Anaconda sold today at $155 a share, about 16 points up from yesterday's low price, and Kennecott, which, recently split up its stock and boosted its dividend rate, was swept forward on a buying wave to 93.

Hoover's Welcome

A "welcome to Hoover," with his constructive policies in national administrative affairs and corporation business matters, was Wall street's designation of today's market. In addition to the Copper stocks already mentioned, new advances were scored in the Motors and Specialties. The Express Company shares jumped 7 to 20 points, following yesterday's sharp advance. Radio, the big sensation of 1928 rose ten points to 407, and Wright Aero, also in the sky-scraping group, gained 12 points at 288. Bethlehem led the Steels, with a new advance to 104, and American made a new 3 point jump to 123 1/2.

Following up yesterday's 900-point advance the stock of the First National Bank of New York jumped 60 points today to a record high price of $7,100 a share.

Hotels Filled—Avenue Windows Selling for $50 Each—Last Cabinet Meeting Today—Farewell and Welcoming Parties Going on Everywhere.

Washington, March 1.—The vanguard of the inaugural hosts began trickling into Washington today to find the capital in the throes of final preparations for Monday's great quadrennial show.

They found Pennsylvania avenue, from the Capitol to beyond the White House, one prolonged grandstand, cluttered up with circus-like seats that command unbelievable prices; avenue windows selling for $50 each; hotels filled police and bootleggers unusually busy, farewell parties and welcoming parties going on everywhere; and all over the town a madhouse of bustle, commotion and rush.

Perhaps the least perturbed men in Washington today were the principal actors in the March 4 drama—Calvin Coolidge, the outgoing, and Herbert Hoover, the incoming.

Last Cabinet Meeting.

Mr. Coolidge met with his Cabinet today for the last time. For eight of the men in the cabinet it was the last time they would find their chairs up to the White House Conference table. For two of them, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Secretary of Labor Davis, it was merely the end of the Coolidge epoch. They are to continue in the Hoover Cabinet.

Secluded in his S street home, Mr. Hoover took things easy today for the first time in many weeks. His cabinet has been selected; his inaugural address drafted; the pulling and the hauling incident to those jobs ended. He spent a part of the morning going over the final proofs of his speech. It is somewhat shorter than the usual inaugural speech, being about 3,000 words in length.

Hoover Cabinet.

The personnel of the Cabinet will not be publicly announced until Monday noon.

Most of it, however, is already known. With the decision to retain James J. Davis as secretary of labor, at least temporarily, eight of the ten men who will constitute Mr. Hoover's official family have been definitely identified.

There remain two "mysterians." Friends of the President-Elect reiterated today that when the selections for secretary of agriculture and secretary of commerce are made known there will be real "surprise." The selections for these two posts, they said, have not figured in the pre-Cabinet speculation. That would seem to eliminate a score or more of men whose names have been widely mentioned for the jobs, and indicate that in these appointments Mr. Hoover has followed his personal inclinations rather than the advice of his numerous political advisers.

Mr. Hoover will take the oath of office about 12:30 o'clock Monday on a flag-draped stand erected on the east steps of the capitol. His friends said today he would "swear" to the support of the Constitution instead of using the "Hoover" affirm which he could do if he so desired. His inaugural speech probably will consume 25 or 30 minutes in delivery. After that the big parade down the avenue with marching troops, a score of governors and their staffs, and many organizations in line.

While all this is going on, Calvin Coolidge, private citizen, will be lunching privately either in the capitol restaurant or on a private car, waiting for the Monday express to pick him up and take him away to the piece and quiet of a little town.

USE SOUP KITCHEN TO FEED STRIKERS

Nearly 2,000 Workers Walk Out in Lynn, Mass.—Ask Wage Raise.

Lynn, Mass., Mar. 1.—For the first time in twenty years, a soup kitchen was started here today for use by 1,800 shoe strikers, more especially by the 475 strike pickets on duty outside 45 factories.

The 450 pickets took their posts outside the factory gates as the opening whistles sounded today. Squads of police patrolled the strike area but picketing was peaceful.

There were 700 cutters, 900 lasters and 200 stock fitters on strike. More than 15,000 shoe workers employed in 45 shoe factories were affected.

Unusual Angle

An unusual angle was injected into the strike today when approximately 300 workers at the Golden Rule factory, where the operatives own the company stock, went on strike. The workers said under the "golden rule" plan there was no restriction against them being affiliated with the unions but other shoe manufacturers declared that the "golden rule" workers were seemingly put in the position of striking against their own interest.

The manufacturers claimed they did not receive official warning of the walkout from the workers. Union officials denied this, stating that the strike followed the failure of factory officials to keep faith in signing a new agreement. Also the workers demanded a wage scale adjustment to conform with the awards made by the board of arbitration several weeks ago.

NEW ENGLAND BUSY ON AIRPLANE PARTS

Nearly 150 Manufacturers Selling Direct to Aviation Trade Now.

Boston, March 1.—The economic importance of aviation to New England is illustrated by the fact that there are today approximately 140 New England manufacturers, representing 45 distinct industrial lines, selling direct to the aviation trades, declared President Samuel W. Stratton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology speaking today before the New England council at its fourteenth quarterly meeting here.

In addition to this, it is pointed out, there are today two manufacturers of complete airplanes in New England which are already producing planes, one at Hillsboro, R. I., and the other at Lowell. Other plans will soon be in production in New England, according to public announcements.

Stratton's Remarks.

"In New England we are seeing the gradual development of airplane manufacture," President Stratton said. "Although it is not improbable that New England will find its greatest industrial opportunity in the production of parts and accessories."

Despite the great increase in number of landing fields in New England in the last two years, the "development of adequately equipped and lighted airports in New England is unsatisfactory, but this is closely dependent upon the degree to which the speed and other advantages of aviation are utilized by business and industry," the speaker declared.

TWINS GO TO JAIL

Bridgeport, March 1.—James and Robert Kelly, twins, 24, were sent to prison for two to four years by Judge A. C. Baldwin in Superior Court here today after the two had been found guilty on a charge of burglary by a jury which heard a trial lasting more than two days.

The Kellys stole a barrel of wine from the cellar of a Bridgeport man's home in January.

Paul McAdam and Edward Daker, arrested with the Kelly twins, testified for the state during the trial. They will face court later.

GIRLS ESCAPE DEATH

Chicopee, Mass., Mar. 1.—Five girls narrowly escaped death here today when a sedan went out of control, crashed through a fence, dropped 25 feet down an embankment onto the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad, and was struck by a passenger train.

The girls heard the train in the nick of time, and escaped from the auto which had landed upright on the tracks. The car was smashed, and a moment later burst into flames.

The car had gone out of control down a steep hill which had been made slippery by the sleet storm.

Beside a few bruises and scratches, the girls escaped without injury.

Miss Annie Molneau told police she was the driver of the car. The party was enroute to a mill where they were employed. In addition to Miss Molneau the car contained Miss Yvonne Laroche, Annette Mangioni, and her sister Lorette, and Germaine Boutin, all of Chicopee.

Hartford, March 1.—Under a bill passed by the Lower House of the Legislature, Governor Trumbull is requested to petition the President of the United States for the transfer of the U. S. S. The resolution came in the form of a favorable report of the committee on the subject of the Hartford, which was passed under suspension of the rules. Representative Pelton, of Clinton, submitted the resolution, making a lengthy speech on the subject in which the boat's history was recalled.

The Hartford was Farragut's flagship at New Orleans. There seven other admirals used the boat as flagship during its long career. After the boat question had been settled the House refused to ratify the child labor amendment to the Constitution, and the project came through with an unfavorable report from committee. Mrs. Alpe Rudd, of Shelton, reported for the committee, and her report was accepted without comment. A number of citizens of the state had petitioned the matter and they today given leave to withdraw their petition.

The Bill Passed

One bill from the House calendar was passed today: An Act establishing a Town Court in East Haven with judge and deputy judge. The

TWENTY-FIVE FOUND FROZEN TO DEATH

Vienna, March 1.—Rescue workers found the bodies of twenty-five persons in the snow-bound village of Zavaie, near Karlstadt, Jugo-Slavia, according to dispatches reaching here today.

The victims apparently had starved to death. The village had been isolated for months owing to the unprecedented snow storms in central Europe this winter.

Local Silk Firm to Make Fine Upholstery Fabric for Unusual Auto.

A noteworthy step in the manufacturing operations of Cheney Brothers is the decision of the silk manufacturer to enter the automobile field, not in the sense that cars will be built but through their participation with the Reo Motor Car Company of Lansing, Michigan, in presenting a new conception in motor car luxury to the public. The Cheney Brothers product, known the world over as "Cheney silk," is used in the manufacture of various merchandise. This announcement was made by Reo today.

New Field

The advent of Cheney Brothers into the automobile field, however, marks an innovation for the big Manchester plant and opens up a new field in their industry. The introduction of the "Cheney" into the automobile building activities of the Reo Motor Car Company can be traced directly to the constantly increasing influence which women are exerting today in the purchase of automobiles. Women of fashion desire the accessories of her daily life to express her taste and personality and between Cheney Brothers of Manchester and the Reo Motor Car Company of Lansing, Michigan, it is now possible for her to accomplish this in the car she drives.

TIDAL WAVES

London, March 1.—Tidal waves have caused terrific damage along the Japanese coast in the vicinity of Choshi, according to Tokio dispatches received by the Exchange Telegraph Company today.

The dispatches state that many villages have been destroyed. The tidal waves caused the coastline to recede many miles in some places. Several villages are said to be under more than 12 feet of water. The number of casualties is not yet known, but it is feared the toll will be high.

Choshi is on the Pacific coast side of the island of Niipon and about sixty miles east of Tokio.

Musical Mania

Di Simoni had a mania for anything musical. His room at the Genoffi home was cluttered with musical instruments. Starting with the drum, he tried everything known to the musical world, without any degree of success. The trombone, had been his latest, as the teacher had said his lips were too large to make a success as a musical instrument. He came to Manchester 12 years ago with his sister and entered evening school here, learning the English language.

An uncle in Newark, N. J., and his sister, who is in New York, also received letters regularly and Di Simoni paid them a visit. Neither have heard from him since last fall. Meanwhile, anxious letters are coming from his father asking relatives, of which he has an uncle and an aunt, and friends to do everything possible to locate his son.

SENATOR ADVISES YOUTHS TO SEEK PUBLIC OFFICE

Washington, March 1.—Every citizen should take a real interest in public life but men and women should aspire to public office only if they seek to serve their country.

This was the parting advice to Senator James A. Reed, the "Fighting Jim" of Missouri Democracy, who retires to private life next Monday after 24 years of public service, 18 of them in the United States Senate.

"Do you advise young men to enter public life, in view of your own experiences?" he was asked by the duty of every young man and every citizen to take a real and keen interest in public life," Reed replied.

"Do you advise young men to seek public office?"

"It all depends on the character

NEW ENGLAND BUSY ON AIRPLANE PARTS

Boston, March 1.—The economic importance of aviation to New England is illustrated by the fact that there are today approximately 140 New England manufacturers, representing 45 distinct industrial lines, selling direct to the aviation trades, declared President Samuel W. Stratton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology speaking today before the New England council at its fourteenth quarterly meeting here.

In addition to this, it is pointed out, there are today two manufacturers of complete airplanes in New England which are already producing planes, one at Hillsboro, R. I., and the other at Lowell. Other planes will soon be in production in New England, according to public announcements.

Stratton's Remarks.

"In New England we are seeing the gradual development of airplane manufacture," President Stratton said. "Although it is not probable that New England will find its greatest industrial opportunity in the production of parts and accessories."

Despite the great increase in number of landing fields in New England in the last two years, the "development of adequately equipped and lighted airports in New England is unsatisfactory, but this is closely dependent upon the degree to which the speed and other advantages of aviation are utilized by business and industry," the speaker declared.

TALK OF CUBAN PLOT QUICKLY DYING OUT

Havana, March 1.—Cuba was quiet today following the sensational discovery of what was labeled as an anti-government plot. There is no evidence of disorders. The government has the situation in hand. There is no prospect that the reported rebellion will go beyond the "talk stage."

Three additional arrests have been made in the interior, the prisoners being accused of seditious conspiracy.

Approximately a dozen persons have been arrested to date. Scores of other warrants have been issued, but have not been served.

Some Cubans living abroad are accused of complicity in the alleged plot to bring on revolutionary disorders and consequently military intervention by the United States.

In view of the tranquil condition of the country it is believed that the public feeling over the alleged plot will be short-lived. The large numbers of American and other foreign tourists visiting here noticed nothing out of the ordinary.

PRICES SOARING ON STOCK MARKET

Speculation in Copper and Steel Puts Ticker Far Behind Today.

New York, March 1.—Industrial stock prices were swept skyward in a flood of mid-afternoon buying today. It resembled the Hoover bull market of post-election days.

The copper and steel stocks led a move to higher prices in a rush to buy which swamped the facilities of the big board and set the ticker back more than half an hour before the noon period.

Stock sales in the first two hours were close to 3,000,000 shares, of which nearly 1,200,000 were traded over in the first half-hour. Speculation flowed like a rushing torrent into the Copper and Steel stocks, which have been carrying everything before them in a wild rush to the higher price levels in the last two weeks. Anaconda sold today at $155 a share, about 16 points up from yesterday's low price, and Kennecott, which recently split up its stock and boosted its dividend rate, was swept forward on a buying wave to 93.

Hoover's Welcome

A "welcome to Hoover," with his constructive policies in national administrative affairs and corporation business matters, was Wall street's designation of today's market. In addition to the Copper stocks already mentioned, new advances were scored in the Motors and Specialties. The Express Company shares jumped 7 to 30 points, following yesterday's sharp advance. Radio, the big sensation of 1928 rose ten points to 407, and Wright Aero, also in the sky-scraping group, gained 12 points at 238. Bethlehem led the Steels, with a new advance to 194, and American Can made a new 3 point jump to 123 1/2.

Following up yesterday's 900-point advance the stock of the First National Bank of New York jumped 600 points today to a record high price of $7,100 a share.

Hotels Filled—Avenue Windows Selling for $50 Each—Last Cabinet Meeting Today—Farewell and Welcoming Parties Going on Everywhere.

Washington, March 1.—The vanguard of the inaugural hosts began trickling into Washington today to find the capital in the throes of final preparations for Monday's great quadrennial show.

They found Pennsylvania avenue, from the Capitol to beyond the White House, one prolonged grandstand, cluttered up with circus-like seats that command unbelievable prices; avenue windows selling for $50 each; hotels filled, police and bootleggers unusual the bustle, farewells and welcoming parties going on everywhere; and all over the town an atmosphere of bustle, commotion and rush.

Perhaps the least perturbed men in Washington today were the principal actors in the March 4 drama—Calvin Coolidge, the outgoing, and Herbert Hoover, the incoming.

Last Cabinet Meeting.

Mr. Coolidge met with his Cabinet today for the last time. For eight of the men in the cabinet it was the last time they would hitch their chairs up to the White House Conference table. For two of them, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Secretary of Labor Davis, it was merely the end of the Coolidge epoch. They are to continue in the Hoover Cabinet.

Secluded in his S street home, Mr. Hoover took things easy today for the first time in many weeks. His cabinet has been selected; his inaugural address is finished. The pulling and the hauling incident to those jobs ended. He spent a part of the morning going over the final proofs of his speech. It is somewhat shorter than the usual inaugural speech, being about 3,000 words in length.

Hoover's Cabinet.

The personnel of the Cabinet will not be publicly announced until Monday noon.

Most of it, however, is already known. With the decision to retain James J. Davis as secretary of labor, at least temporarily, eight of the ten men who will constitute Mr. Hoover's official family have been definitely identified.

There remain two "mysteries." Friends of the President-Elect reiterated today that when the selections for secretary of agriculture and secretary of commerce are made known there will be real "surprises." The selections for these two posts, they said, have not figured in the pre-Cabinet speculation. That would seem to eliminate a score or more of men whose names have been widely mentioned for the jobs, and indicate that in these appointments Mr. Hoover has followed his personal inclination rather than the advice of his numerous political advisers.

Mr. Hoover will take the oath of office about 12:30 o'clock Monday on a flag-draped stand erected on the east steps of the capitol. His friends said today he would "sweat" to the support of the Constitution instead of using the Quaker "affirm" which he could do if he so desired. His inaugural speech probably will consume 25 or 30 minutes in delivery. After that the big parade down the avenue with marching troops, a score of governors and their staffs, and many organizations in line.

While all this is going on, Calvin Coolidge, private and quiet, is lunching privately either in the capitol restaurant or on a private car, waiting for the Montreal express to pick him up and take him away to the piece and quiet of a little town.

USE SOUP KITCHEN TO FEED STRIKERS

Nearly 2,000 Workers Walk Out in Lynn, Mass.—Ask Wage Raise.

Lynn, Mass., Mar. 1.—For the first time in twenty years, a soup kitchen was started here today for use by 1,800 shoe strikers, more especially by the 450 strike pickets on duty outside 45 factories.

The 450 pickets took their posts outside the factory gates as the opening whistles sounded today. Squads of police patrolled the strike area but picketing was peaceful.

There were 700 strikers, 900 lasters and 200 stock fiters to four years. More than 15,000 shoe workers employed in 45 shoe factories were affected.

Unusual Angle

An unusual angle was injected into the strike today when approximately 300 workers at the Golden R factory, where the operatives own the company stock, went on strike. The workers said under the "golden rule" plan there was no restriction against them being affiliated with the unions but other shoe manufacturers declared that the "golden rule" workers were seemingly put in the position of "striking against their own interests."

The manufacturers claimed they did not receive official warning of the walkout from the workers. Union officials denied this, stating that the strike followed the failure of factory officials to keep faith in signing a new agreement. Also the workers demanded a wage scale adjustment to conform with the awards made by the board of arbitration several weeks ago.

TWINS GO TO JAIL

Bridgeport, March 1.—James and Robert Kelly, twins, 21, were sent to prison for two to four years by Judge A. C. Baldwin in Superior Court here today after the two had been found guilty on a charge of burglary by a jury which heard a trial lasting more than two days. The Kellys stole a barrel of wine from the cellar of a Bridgeport man's home in January.

Paul McAdam and Edward Dakar, arrested with the Kelly twins, testified for the state during the trial. They will face court later.

GIRLS ESCAPE DEATH

Chicago, Mass., Mar. 1.—Five girls narrowly escaped death here today when a sedan went out of control, crashed through a fence, dropped 25 feet down an embankment onto the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad, and was struck by a passenger train.

The girls heard the train in the nick of time, and escaped from the auto which had landed upright on the tracks. The car was smashed, and a moment later burst into flames.

The car had gone out of control down a steep hill which had been made slippery by the sleet storm.

Beside a few bruises and scratches, the girls escaped without injury.

Miss Annie Moinseau told police she was the driver of the car. The party was enroute to a mill where they were employed. In addition to Miss Moinseau the car contained Miss Yvonne Laroche, Annie Manglino, and her sister Loreta, and Germaine Boutin, all of Chicopee.

TREASURY BALANCE

Washington, March 1.—Treasury balance February 27th: $36,401,687.53.

FILIBUSTERS MAY CRIPPLE CONGRESS

Half Billion Dollars of Appropriation Bills May Not Be Passed.

Washington, March 1.—With adjournment of the Seventieth Congress less than a hundred hours away, the Coolidge administration today faced the tremendous task of securing approval of conference reports on a half billion dollars worth of appropriation bills before its legislative program will be completed.

These money bills constituted the one big problem awaiting disposition before Congress expires at noon March 4. They included the $280,000,000 interior department, the $125,000,000 first deficiency, the $130,000,000 second deficiency and the $1,000,000 legislative appropriation bills.

Presidential nominations and all other legislation will be abandoned, if necessary, to get the bills enacted. Their defeat would seriously cripple the government's activities from now until July 1, virtually close the interior department and force Congress itself to work without pay during the next fiscal year. The necessary relief, however, could be provided at the special session to be called by President-Elect Hoover in April but even then, many governmental functions would be curtailed for a month at least.

More Filibusters

A handful of filibusters were lurking along the Legislative road—three major controversies have developed friction between the House and Senate over these bills. In the case of the deficiency measures, the issues were the action of the House in rejecting the Senate's $24,000,000 dry fund and the Senate's provision for publicity on income tax refunds, $75,000,000 of which would be paid at this time.

The other controversy revolved around the Senate's action in rejecting a House provision giving the secretary of interior carte blanche authority to confiscate private land in the Glacier National Park of Montana.

The Senate however, demonstrated again last yesterday that it can transact business in a hurry when it disposes. In a little over three hours, it jammed through 203 bills, approximately one a minute. Among the measures enacted in its legislative splurge were dozens of claim bills, bridge bills and personal bills. The outstanding measure was the gold star mothers bill, sending widows and mothers of soldiers to visit the graves of their husbands and sons in France at government expense.

HOOVER SILENT ABOUT CABINET

Two Names Still Missing and President-Elect Will Not Talk.

Washington, March 1.—While most of official and unofficial Washington speculated over the two "mystery names" that have completed the Hoover Cabinet, the President-Elect stretched back today at his S street home and looked forward to three days of partial rest before he rides down Pennsylvania avenue to take the oath of office as chief executive of the nation.

Eight of the ten Cabinet posts are considered public property already. Which two men will be secretary of commerce and secretary of agriculture, however, remained pretty much of a mystery this morning despite the unrelenting efforts of the press to get definite leads as to their identities. Half a dozen names were bandied about as possibilities and possibilities for each post, but it was stated definitely that the final two to be selected, while "men of national reputation" up to last night had not entered into the newspaper speculations.

Prepares Address

Mr. Hoover meanwhile read proofs of his inaugural address so it could go to the public printer by noon today. None of the appointments were of particular significance, involving mainly the paying of respects. He proposed to adhere to engagement lists of that nature today, tomorrow and Sunday.

Aides of the President-Elect rushed about frenziedly throughout the morning making last-minute preparations for Monday's inauguration. Harassed on all sides by demands for hundreds of more tickets than there are seats in all the grandstands combined, they attempted to soothe "close friends" and "distant relatives," the while polishing up innumerable details that sprang up from minute to minute.

IT'S UP TO HOOVER TO REDUCE TAXES

Business Conditions in Next Few Years Will Settle the Question.

Washington, March 1.—Business conditions in the next few years will determine whether the Hoover administration will be able to reduce the federal tax load carried by American corporations and individuals.

Treasury experts expressed this opinion today in outlining the program of the last two administrations which have accomplished cuts of over $2,000,000,000 on income, corporation and miscellaneous taxes and relieved entirely of federal tax some 2,500,000 persons.

Reductions in the past eight years were made possible, both by increasing productivity of business, and the reduction in operating costs of the government. The latter consideration no longer is a factor in tax cutting because government expenditures are on the upgrade. For some years to come the drop in interest on the public debt will be more than offset by greater financial requirements in expansion of government activity.

Future Tax Cutting

Future tax cutting must be based upon increased revenues from greater profit yield of business according to treasury experts. Maintenance of prosperous conditions probably would make possible a reduction of taxes within two years, especially if the March 15 collection of income taxes shows an increase over last year, despite the 1-1/2 per cent reduction in the corporation tax.

On the other hand some "lean years" might mean that Congress would be forced to boost taxes to maintain a balanced budget.

No Program in Sight

Officials said that no tax cutting program is in sight, yet although the final effect of the 1928 revenue act will be studied closely to determine the stimulating result to business of the corporation tax reduction.

This year the tobacco taxes and customs receipts will yield the government substantially $1,000,000,000, and the income and corporation tax somewhat more than that.

MEASURES BLUSH ON GIRL'S CHEEK

Marvelous New Invention Startles Broadway; Other Wonders of Science.

New York, March 1.—Broadway which usually is too busy with its own affairs to bother today marveled at the wonders of science. Savants from all over the nation gathered at the exhibition of the American Institute and put on a theatrical revue—a sparkling, magical show. Light beams caused music to play, a magnet deriving its power from heat supported a man without a court order, 500,000 volts (enough to electrocute everybody in the room) crackled and thundered, and a rabbit's leg was revealed with the original cell splitting up and re-splitting. But to Broadway, these tricky presentations were a detail. What caused the big buzz was the measurement of a chorus girl's blush by an instrument called the thermopile. Neither was it exactly the measuring by Dr. E. F. Free of the radiant heat from the velvet skin of a chorus girl which woke up Broadway. It was the riddle—can anybody find a chorus girl who blushes? Well, they did. Her name is Joanna Allen. She is 21, with hair like white gold, and prettier than a picture. Still Some Left "I don't think so many chorus girls blush but there are still a few of us left," said pretty Joanna. Of course, Joanna is really more than a chorus girl. She is a show girl in "The Houseboat of the Stix," musical production, and those who know their front row know that there is as much difference between a show girl and a chorus girl as between a Senator and a Representative. Joanna stood in the midst of sparkling machinery on the platform beside the professor. She is 123 pounds of atoms and scientifically symmetrical. The professor brought the thermopile closer and closer to the like cheek of Joanna. Under the flood of Klieg lights you could see: rose-like flush mangle Joanna's cheeks. Movie cameras were grinding.

The stunt had clicked and everybody was highly pleased. "What made you blush?" Joanna was asked. "Just as they started taking my picture, I got a run in my stocking—can you beat it?" said Joanna with tears in her pretty eyes.

Robert E. Dougan, for many years a dyer at Cheney Brothers, will open up his own business at 129 Center street, opposite Church street, on March 4. The Manchester Cleaners and Dyers, the name under which the business will be run, will do all kinds of cleaning, dyeing and pressing. High quality work at reasonable prices will be maintained. Work will also be called for and delivered. Many years of experience with Cheney Brothers and with his uncle, William Dougan, who owns the Dougan Dye Works has made Mr. Dougan especially fitted to offer work of high standards. His grandfather, John Dougan, was also a dyer.

CLASS AMERICANS BIGGEST GAMBLERS

Paris Officials Say 28 Out of Every 100 Patronize Roulette Tables.

Paris, March 1.—Americans are the greatest gamblers in the world. Casino statistics showed this to be a fact today. Out of one hundred people who try their luck at the roulette tables here 28 are Americans. Before the war the Germans held this distinction with 25 per cent. Americans are said to win more than any other nationality because they can afford to lose more and consequently they risk more to win. Still, the Casino chalks up an average profit of $50,000,000 a year, according to figures believed to be authentic. The Are Classified Gamblers are classed in four categories by roulette observers. The first category, in which Americans predominate, consists of those who pay for pastime and consequently can afford to lose, these people usually win. The other "castes" include those who play whether they can afford it or not; those who play because they expect to make a living from it and finally the kind who play merely to say they have had the experience. The attendance at Monte Carlo has increased about 500 per cent since the war, reflecting the increase in the world's wealth. More than 3,000,000 men and women were seen at the green tables last year.

figure. Stimulated by the gigantic sale of cigarettes, the tobacco taxes are increasing rapidly. Treasury experts considered that a ten per cent maximum tax, both for individuals and corporations, would be ideal, but of course no such reduction would be possible as applied to individuals, until the $17,000,000,000 public debt is cut to less than half. The maximum individual tax is five per cent normal and twenty per cent surtax, the latter applying to net incomes of $100,000 and over.

NEW HAVEN'S HEAD TAKES HIS OFFICE

J. J. Pelley, New Railroad President Grants Interview to Reporters.

New Haven, Mar. 1.—A new president came to the New Haven railroad today, an upstanding, broad shouldered man, with what his new colleagues call a "fighting face," a "fr-spoken," pleasant manner, on who is expected to carry the railroad to new heights. J. J. Pelley, fresh from the Central Railroad of Georgia, who before going to Georgia was with the Illinois Central, began his work as president promptly at 9 this morning. Mr. Pelley took over the office that the late E. J. Pearson had resigned only a short time before his death with the thought "I am going to like New England." He said it in so many words as he gave his first interview to press representatives in his flower-decked room in the New Haven's office building here. For the next two days Mr. Pelley is to spend his time getting to know his aides here. On Sunday evening he intends to start for Boston to look into that portion of the New Haven system and its affairs. Golf His Hobby. Mr. Pelley has the physique of a football player though he said today he had played it only as a schoolboy—"I've had no college football," he put it. He stands five feet, eleven inches, and weighs, stripped, 183 pounds. He has no superfluous flesh. To keep in condition, Mr. Pelley plays golf. He refused, smilingly, to indicate his score on the links. When spring is here in earnest, Mr. Pelley said today, he would bring his family here from Savannah where their home now is. His daughter has just recovered from influenza and he felt fearful of the results if the child were brought here at this time. "I did not know New England could furnish a day in the winter, as bright as this one is," he said, laughingly today. He had heard dire things of New England weather, and was pleased with what he found when finally he came here. To Survey Road. New England still is but a name to Mr. Pelley. He declared he would start at once to learn his new railroad. His first official directors' meeting comes on March 12. "Of course I have met them all before," he said. James J. Pelley is the tenth president of the New Haven road has held. The first came in 1872 when the New Haven was founded. He was William B. Bishop. In succession afterward were George H. Watrous, Charles D. Clark, John M. Hall, Charles S. Mellon, Howard Elliott, James H. Hustis, E. J. Pearson, and E. G. Buckland. Mr. Buckland was president of the road when the government operated it in common with all other United States railroads during the war. Railroad men who have met their new chief declare they are impressed with his appearance and manners, just as they had been with his reputation. From the executive staff along to the men on the rails a feeling of satisfaction is declared to exist concerning the new president.

House concurred with Senate on bills increasing the membership in the boards of Hartford, Waterbury, and Bridgeport hospitals, and gave the New Haven Burial Ground Association, and Westville Cemetery, Inc., the right to sell unoccupied lots. Unfavorable reports in the House follow: Authorizing the granting of a bill reimbursing the State for expenses by specially chartered corporations; giving the liens of warehouse owners priority over other liens on goods stored in warehouses; authorizing a number of veterinarians to practise without taking examinations; amending the warehouse receipts act; reimbursing Union to the amount of $86,100 because of taxes paid the state on forest land. Favorable report was received on a bill reimbursing the State for the amount of $260 for taxes on forest land, and the bill was passed under suspended rules. Two favorable reports filed and tabled for calendar and printing concern charter amendments for Bloomfield and West Hartford permitting assessments for pavings. The House had favorable reports on a bill making a seven inch limit on white perch and a 30-per-day bag limit for the same fish; putting a closed season on crappies; putting a closed season on ratted ground squirrels; providing that specially chartered corporations which desire to change names must file notice with the attorney general; authorizing shareholders of the Middletown Building & Loan Association to increase their holdings from 25 to 50 shares; incorporating the Charter Oak Title & Fidelity Co.; authorizing the Connecticut Title & Guaranty Company to increase capital to not exceed $1,000,000; including among the bonded state officers all persons who disburse state moneys. Speaker Samuel A. Eddy announced just before adjournment that he would name former Speaker John H. Hill, of Shelton, as the presiding officer for the session on March 5. THE SENATE In the State Senate today the committee on executive nominations reported favorably on nominations to the State Board of Medication and Arbitration. The names include Frank Cragg, of Stamford, Frank A. Fogarty, of Hartford, and Joseph Lawler, of Waterbury. Favorable reports received in the Senate today and tabled for calendar and printing are: Extending to July 30, 1931, the time for organizing the Fairfield County Title & Mortgage Co.; abolishing the $1 annual fee for members of the New Britain Hospital Corporation; increasing the authorized capital of the Southern New England Telephone Company to $100,000,000; authorizing the appointment of a committee to study the project for creating a veterans way and to beautify the grounds in Bushnell Park, Hartford; authorizing an increase to $300,000 in the amount of property to be held by the Osmerson Trust Association, of New Haven, a Yale fraternity; exempting property of the Bridgeport Ladies Charitable Society from taxes to the value of $200,000; authorizing Warner Brothers Co., of Bridgeport, to increase its directors and officers; authorizing an increase to 21 of trustees of Berkeley Divinity School of New Haven; incorporating the Guaranty Title Company of Hartford, with a capital of one million dollars.

Gets Contract to Carry Two Loads a Day from Manchester to Hilly City. All mail to and from Rockville is now to be unloaded at the Manchester railroad station starting April 1. The successful bidder for the contract is Edgar Mohr of this place. He will make but two trips each day, under the new schedule. The first trip will leave the Manchester railroad station at 6:15 and on the return trip the mail out of Rockville will be brought back to the Manchester railroad station. The other trip leaves the Manchester station at 5:45 at night and calls for a thirty minute run, which will mean that the Rockville mail to leave that place at night will have to close about 6 o'clock to be loaded on to the truck and returned to Manchester. In order to do this work Mr. Mohr is to buy a new truck. The early hour in the morning that the truck leaves for Rockville makes it possible to get to Rockville and back to Manchester and allow him to continue with his usual express business between Manchester and Hartford during the day.

LINDY ON VISIT Mexico City, March 1.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his fiancée, Anne Spencer Morrow, accompanied by Miss Spencer's mother and sister, Miss Elizabeth, left the sun-baked streets of Mexico's capital city today for a visit to the palm shaded hacienda of one Don Antonio Riba Cervantes, near Toluca. Don Antonio, who is 75 and one of the wealthiest land owners in the State of Mexico, also is an enthusiastic aviator. He owns and pilots his own airplane. Toluca is about 80 miles almost due west of Mexico City. Col. Lindbergh and the Morrrows made the journey in an embassy automobile, and planned to spend the entire day at the hacienda. Although no definite announcement has been given out from the embassy, it is generally believed the Morrrows and their distinguished guest will motor to Cuernavaca tomorrow for the week-end.

force through Congress, was passed.

Provisions of Bill The provisions of the Jones bill, originally sponsored by Rep. Stalker (R) of New York, had lain virtually dormant in the House during two Congresses. It was finally reported to the House a year ago, but even its sponsors did not demand a vote until the measure was unexpectedly put through the Senate a few days ago.

Senator James Reed (D) of Missouri raised his silver-tongued voice against it in his last big debate in Congress with Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, but failed to turn the House lawyers criticized the measure as being couched in ridiculous legal phraseology, but the Dry refused to permit amendment because this would endanger final passage.

Backed by Department The bill has the endorsement of the department of Justice. Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney-general, having personally appeared before committees to request its enactment. The fact that the Justice Department had sought the law was expected to assure its approval by President Coolidge.

As passed, the bill destroys none of the present minimum penalties provided in the Volstead Act. It applies to the offenses of transportation and sale of liquor, though not to possession.

The Department of Justice has indicated that the extreme penalties would be invoked against the big bootleggers only, and the bill carries a proviso stating that it is the intention of Congress that the five-year prison term shall not be imposed upon casual offenders.

The value of the bill, Dry leaders declare, is that it permits federal judges to impose both a heavy fine and prison term upon the big bootleggers, rings on their first appearance in court.

At present, they say, members of a bootleg ring will take turns in leading guilty to a first offense and escape with a light fine and not more than a six month's jail sentence.

POLISH CHURCH JEWELS RECEIVED AS GIFTS

Altar, Chalice, Communion Cup Presented—Seek a Burial Ground.

Several gifts have been made to the National Polish Independent church which holds services in the Polish Hall on North street. Because the hall in which the services are held is also used for entertainments and dancing it has been necessary to use a portable, or home-made altar.

The funds were low and the subscribers did not all meet their promises and as a result, it was necessary to solicit gifts to be used in the services. Among the recent donations has been a golden chalice which cost $150 and also a communion cup. With the funds that they had on hand they have fitted up three room quarters on Union Court for the priest that is to be located here and this afternoon a committee from the organization went to Springfield to buy portable stoves.

A site has been selected as a burial grounds. It is located between Depot Square and Buckland and is on the south side of the trolley tracks near the Hockanum river. The property is owned by Cheney Brothers. The church is planning to raise funds so they may be able to purchase this property by April 1, in order to bury the 6 years old Smith child who died last week and is now in the receiving vault in the Buckland cemetery.

ARMED DELEGATES AT MEXICO PARLEY

Queretaro, Mexico, March 1.—Five hundred delegates, all armed, are gathered here today for the political convention of the national revolutionary party. They will nominate a candidate for president. The three leading contenders are Aaron Saez, governor of the State of Nuevo Leon; Pascual Ortiz Rubio, former Mexican minister to Germany, and General Manuel Perez Trevino, former governor of the State of Coahuila.

Automatons rivaled allots for public attention at times. It was a commonplace sight to see a group of delegates engaged in friendly discourse upon the merits of their respective choices, but outlived with arms that almost rose to the classification of artillery.

The task of selecting a candidate promised to be split. The political campaign will be even more so. Already Gilberto Valenzuela, former Mexican Minister to England, and the leader of the most important religious faction, has officially been declared a rebel in open revolt. His speeches are being directed against former President Calles.

WILBUR NOMINATED Washington, Mar. 1.—Secretary of Navy Curtis D. Wilbur, who resigns Monday with the Coolidge administration, this afternoon was nominated by President Hoover to be United States Circuit Judge of the Ninth District in California.

One hundred dollars monthly invested at six per cent compound interest will grow in 25 years to $2,977.15.

REED ADVISES YOUTHS TO SEEK OFFICES

of the young man and the circumstances which confront him," said Reed. "If it is with a desire for self advancement, no; if it is for the purpose of serving his country, yes."

No Money In It "I can say though that any young man who enters public life in order to make money for himself, is making a big mistake.

Reed, tired after two decades of political warfare, will devote himself in the future to "taking things easy" and to the practice of law. Reed retired at the age of 67. His public life began in 1888 as public prosecutor in Kansas City, Mo. He then served four years, 1890 to 1894 as mayor of Kansas City. In 1910, he was elected to the Senate. In 1916 and again in 1922, he was re-elected.

Opposed the League The Missourian probably will be remembered most as a having opposed the League of Nations, as an investigator of corrupt elections and as an unyielding foe of prohibition. His career, however, has been replete with constructive legislation. He has not been "anti-everything." National defense measures have always had his support.

One of his first great accomplishments was helping to enact the Federal Farm Loan Act. Another was his fight for the Joint Land Bank Act. These bills loaned $1,750,000,000 to farmers at a saving to them of $32,000,000 a year in interest. He helped create the Federal Reserve System.

Wilson His Enemy Reed won the lasting enmity of Woodrow Wilson for opposing the League of Nations. But the Missourian previously was a champion of the wartime president. Reed hotly defended Wilson's policy when Mexico was invaded. He defended the wartime president on other occasions but on the League question, they parted never to be friends again. In 1922, Wilson tried to defeat Reed for re-election but the Missourian staged one of the outstanding campaigns of American political history, won a renomination and was returned to the Senate.

In his final term, Reed's outstanding feat was the battle against the World Court, for the ousting of Senator Eliot F. Smith (R) of Illinois, for denying the oath to senator-elect William S. Vare (R) of Penna., for an interpretation of the Kellogg-Briand treaty, for the new cruiser bill and against the five-year penalty for prohibition violators.

THEVES GET $12,000 New York, March 1.—A trio of hold-up men cleaned out the jewelry store of Isadore Boobis today, taking gems valued at $12,000 from the store window and safe. They bound three victims with gimmings and cord and wadded their faces across their mouths to stifle any outcry.

Mr. Wilson at present is employed in Cheney Brothers, but it is understood he plans to give up his work in the mill and start a modern chicken farm featuring Rhode Island Reds. A new house will be erected on the farm which has been vacant for a year.

Hose Companies No. 2, 3 and 4, were last night called out by an alarm of fire to the home of Walter Flavel of No. 191 Spruce street. The cause of the alarm was an overheated furnace which it was feared might set fire to the house. The members of the three companies had nothing to do when they arrived, as the fire had been dumped and they waited until the trouble was over before returning to their houses. No water or chemicals were used.

The cast for the two-act play, "Bobby Takes a Look" will have a rehearsal at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening in St. Mary's parish house. All members of the cast are urged to be present at this time as the play will be repeated Friday evening, March 8, at the Buckland school assembly hall for the benefit of the graduating class.

The Children's chorus will hold its rehearsal at the Swedish Lutheran church at 6 o'clock tonight; the senior choir at 7. All members of the choir who wish to take part in the cantata, "Olivet to Calvary," are asked to be present tonight.

N. E. BOILED DINNER WELL PATRONIZED

Chill, damp weather, such as that of last night, was just the kind to make people look forward to a hot, substantial meal served in the old-fashioned way as was the New England boiled dinner at the North Methodist church. The realization was greater of course, than the anticipation, as the steaming hot dishes were brought in from the kitchen containing well cooked, tender corned beef, cabbage, turnips, potatoes, all everybody wanted to eat, topped off with steamed pudding and sauce and excellent coffee. Every place were attractive individual salads composed of beets, carrots, string beans and lettuce.

This meal, the second of the kind, was served by two groups of the tireless women workers of the North Methodist church. It was enjoyed by a large number of the congregation and a good representation from other parts of the town. As it was the last day of February, the month that gave us Washington and Lincoln, the decorations were of a patriotic nature. The candle colors were red, white and blue and the napkins at each place were in red, white and blue braided napkin holders.

Hospital Notes Esther Holmes of 267 Main street, Mrs. Anthony Bischo of 141 1/2 Prospect street, and Robert Knofia of 31 Arvine Place, Paul Litzichyck of North Coventry and Virginia Rubacha of 64 North street, were reported discharged today from the Memorial hospital. The group having the highest percentage of attendance for the whole five Sundays will be entertained by the losers in the contest. LOCAL YOUNG MAN LOSES SIGHT AFTER ACCIDENT

James F. Griffin of Manchester Green Blind as Result of Spinal Trouble.

James F. Griffin, of 443 Middle Turnpike East, well known Manchester Green young man, has become stone blind apparently as a result of a serious accident with which he met in Hartford more than a year ago. It was learned today, Griffin was working for the Otis Elevator company in Hartford when he was injured. The accident resulted when Griffin mistook the elevator shaft for the stairway, stepped into the open shaft and fell thirty feet. His spine was badly injured and he was in the hospital for a long time.

Then came the trouble with his eyesight which is understood to have developed as a result of the spinal affliction. Gradually he lost his sight despite every possible medical and surgical aid until now he is unable to tell right from day. Physicians believe his loss of sight is permanent. Nevertheless, Griffin sees a New York specialist regularly.

This news cannot help but bring sympathy for Griffin from his large circle of friends. The fact that he is only 31 years old makes it all the more pathetic. Griffin at one time delivered mail from the South Manchester post office.

MANY WOMEN HEAR MISS JEANETTE KELLEY

White House Assembly Hall Filled Yesterday Afternoon for Demonstration

The assembly hall of the White House on North Main street was filled yesterday afternoon with housewives from all sections of the town who came to greet Miss Jeanette Kelley after an absence of three years. Miss Kelley is an expert on home economics with years of practical experience gained in the employ of several of the internationally known food manufacturers. For two or three seasons she gave a series of cooking lessons at the Manchester Community clubhouse and in other sections of the town. Her winning personality and skill in cooking and explaining her methods won for her a host of friends. Evidently the feeling was mutual for although Miss Kelley has not been engaged in this particular field since that time, through the good offices of Miss Christine Mason, director of the clubhouse, she consented to make a stop-over here on her way from Boston to New York, to give a cooking demonstration and renew acquaintances.

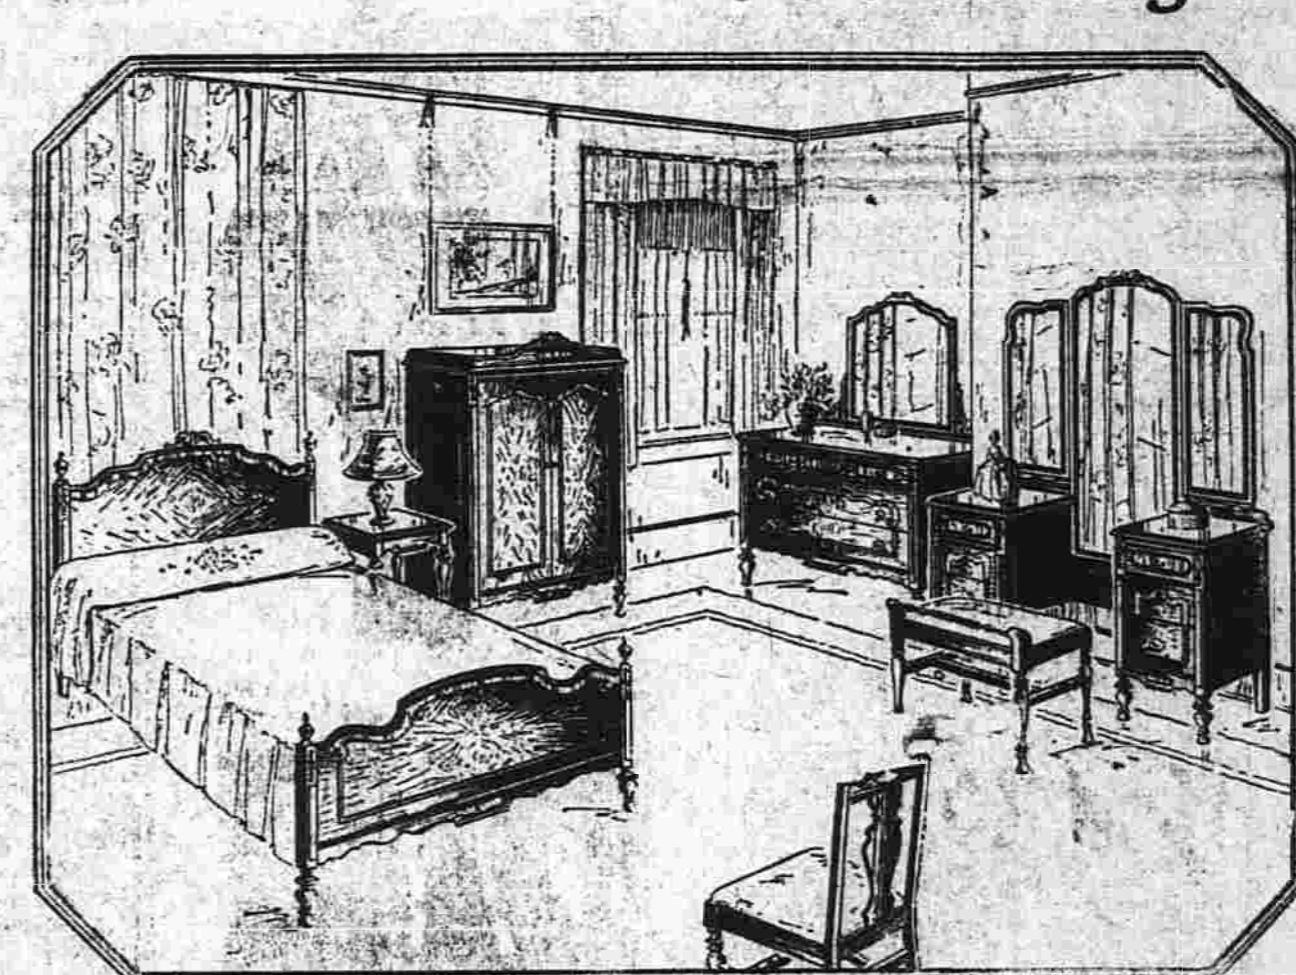

An attractive springtime supper or luncheon menu, consisting of ham loaf with horse radish sauce, sea green salad, Parker house rolls, southern style, daffodil cake and coffee was prepared. The women were interested in watching the processes of mixing, chilling the salad, baking of the oven dishes and then had the opportunity of sampling the food prepared. Many remained for a social chat with Miss Kelley, who is a warm, personal friend of Miss Mason. Both young women were among a party of business and professional women who enjoyed a trip to Europe together two summers ago.

Recipes, and a more detailed report of Miss Kelley's cooking lecture will appear on the home page tomorrow.

Three-Year Legal Battle Believed A New Record

Clerk James Squire is shown examining some of the evidence in California's record lawsuit, which would fill 100 books of novel size.

San Diego, Cal.—A new world's record for the longest continuous lawsuit is believed to have been established in San Diego county, California, where a legal battle over riparian water rights to the Santa Margarita river, which has already cost the litigants nearly a million dollars, has just entered its third year before Judge Lacy D. Jennings.

Rancho Santa Margarita, a $4,000,000 corporation, owner of the largest single ranch in southern California, is suing for six-sevenths of the water of the Santa Margarita river. The defendant, Margaret Vall and others, wealthy ranch owners of Riverside county and elsewhere, are claiming five-sevenths.

Here are a handful of statistics on the suit:

More than 10,000,000 words of testimony, or enough to fill 100 average novels, have been taken.

It has required a specially-constructed ceiling-high cabinet to hold the 44,000 pages of transcript.

Exhibits and Witnesses. More than 1,880 exhibits have been introduced, costing from the price of a post card to $10,000 for some of the 20 by 30-foot typographical maps.

More than 190 witnesses have been called. F. C. Finkle, plaintiff engineer, was under fire for more than 100 days.

It has taken the entire time for more than two years of a battery of engineers and attorneys, each paid $100 a day, to prosecute the case.

Clerk James Squire has been calling the same case almost every morning since October 18, 1926. "I even call the darned case in my dreams," Squire declared. There are so many issues in-

involved in the complicated action that it takes Judge Jennings half an hour to recall each one.

Breaks Old Record. Up until this case, the Strathmore-Lindsey case in San Joaquin valley, which lasted nearly two years, held the record for California's longest lawsuit, but the San Diego case took the lead months ago.

Richard O'Neil, Sr., late owner of the Santa Margarita ranch, which consists of 244,000 acres north of Oceanside, Calif., bought the property from the last Spanish governor of California, Gov. Pico Pico. There is a rumor that the land changed hands as a result of the flip of poker hands.

Native Born Chinaman, Civil War Vet, Hunts "Dakota Diamonds"

Hot Springs, S. D.—Edward Day Cahota, only native born Chinese known to have served in the Civil War, is now 85 years old and lives in the Battle Mountain National Sanatorium here.

Cahota, when a mere lad, stood on the shore of a Chinese port and watched with rapture an American clipper dock. The boy went aboard the ship and expressed to the captain, Edward Day, a desire to accompany the ship on its voyage away from China. The captain assent, but it was not until after three years sailing of the high seas that Cahota reached Africa.

Upon arrival in the States, Captain Day, adopted Cahota and named him Edward Day Cahota.

The Chinese man never saw his mother after the day he left the oriental shore, although he sent money to his brother for her support. Later, when the two brothers met in San Francisco they could talk to one another only through an interpreter, for one was an American and the other a Chinaman.

Cahota has made his living in various ways since his service in the army during the civil war and in the regular army after peace was declared. At the present time he spends hours in the hills surrounding the sanatorium hunting "South Dakota diamonds." These stones are a form of topaz and are very beautiful when polished.

Cahota was married to a Norwegian girl during the time he served in the U. S. Regular Army.

London's youngest councillor is Miss Gladys Waldron, 21, who has just been elected to Fulham Council.

FRIDAY, MARCH 1, 1929

AT CLEVELAND

Much edification is coming out of Cleveland where fifteen thousand
 school superintendents and principals
 and their superiors are gathered together in convention of the Department of Superintendence, National Education Association. In some slight degree they represent the actual teachers of the country
 but largely they make up the administrative branch of education.
 Not the least edifying of the emanations from the convention is the declaration of Ross L. Finney of Minneapolis, one-time professor at Wesleyan, that "the educators
 are running not only the schools
 but the whole world itself. The control of the collective life is passing
 from the soldiers, diplomats,
 politicians and ecclesiastics, to the scientists, scholars and educators."
 Well, well!

And then there is further edification in these remarks by President Boynton of Ithaca, illuminating assault on those who oppose the creation of a Federal Department of Education:
 Birth control artists have furnished dangerous information to the youth, discredited judges are speeing the sewage of their courts
 through salacious magazines until our newsmen groan under the weight of pretentiousness which they contain; our theaters aim at an appeal so crass at times as to disgust
 the press, civilization's greatest asset, is becoming the chief source of the criminal's information,
 where he finds himself daily featured on the front page; our churches
 are clinging to man-made creeds
 hundreds of years old while their doors are closing rather than devoting themselves to interpreting the times to a befuddled and bewildered multitude.

From this the conclusion is inevitable that we're "all out of step but Jimmie." Everybody but the administrative educators is going wrong. Yet how reconcile this deplorable state with the fact that the educators are now running the world, as per Professor Finney?
 But perhaps the great Cleveland
 convention won't try to reconcile
 these contradictory declarations.
 Perhaps it will be too busy thinking up new and advanced ways of spending the public's money; and of making more jobs—not for teachers, oh, no! but for administrative experts, by the thousands.

VETO NEEDED

This newspaper is committed,
 of its own volition, to refraining from any academic discussion of prohibition until the incoming administration shall have had opportunity to develop its position concerning that great question. It has seemed to us that, the country having by its vote transmitted that problem, along with others, to Mr.
 Hoover for guidance any alteration of the status quo in the interval between election and inauguration would be unfair to the President-elect.

Congress, however, has recognized
 no such inhibition. It has proceeded to do something which, under the circumstances, it had no
 business to do, in passing the Jones
 bill greatly increasing the penalties
 for violation of the Volstead act.
 It is not so much that the increased penalties are likely to prove of worse than dubious value, since it is very rarely that the present
 penalties are invoked to the full and since juries will be still more reluctant to convict for liquor violations than they have been; but there is in this procedure an inexcusable interference, by a lame-duck Congress, with the prohibition
 program of the new administration.
 To hand over to Mr. Hoover responsibility for the enforcement of a law which he, quite conceivably,
 might not countenance at all, with-

in four days of the termination of the Congress adopting that law, indicates a callous disregard for the proprieties which is inexcusable.
 The Jones bill was carried by a majestic majority. It has votes enough to carry it over a Presidential veto. But President Coolidge would be eminently justified, nevertheless, in returning the measure to Congress decidedly without his approval. He, at least, is capable of understanding the unfairness of
 the manoeuvre to his successor.

BIRTH CONTROL

Never before has the presence of women in politics demonstrated itself as a distinct force in such striking manner, in Connecticut, as in the discussion of the proposed repeal of the birth control law at the hearing before the judiciary committee in Hartford yesterday.
 It is impossible to imagine any
 such debate as having transpired,
 through any set of circumstances,
 in the days when the handling of such subjects was left entirely in the hands of men. The reason is obvious—it is impossible, from the nature of the case, for any man to look at this extremely vital question from the standpoint occupied
 by many highly intelligent women;
 impossible, not because he may not be sympathetic and in a general way understanding, but because he is a man.

There is no subject among all the problems of civilization on which so much cock-sure advice
 has been given by persons almost ludicrously unable to understand
 it in all its aspects as that of the procreation of the race. Much of it has come from men of barbaric impulses, whose thoughts run to national man-power and military strength. Much of it is born of animal instinct. Much of it, on the other hand, derives from profound religious conviction which implies
 a presumptive knowledge of the purposes of the Almighty—Very little of it has ever been inspired by women or been given by women.

That the women themselves are divided, in their attitude toward the legalization of birth control, by differences as wide apart as the poles, is apparent. And yet we have a singular notion that this is, above
 all things in the world, a proper subject for determination by women and by women alone. We will go so far as to say that we would like to see the repeal of the statute
 in question left to a referendum
 in which none but women voters
 should be allowed to participate.

No such means as this is even remotely likely to be adopted. But without it we fail to see how the question can ever be justly settled.
MONOPOLY K. O. D.
 The complete annihilation of the
 presumptuous and monopolistic
 real estate brokers' license measure
 through a unanimously adverse report by the committee, ought by all good rights to put an end to the persistent attempts to inflict that law upon the people of Connecticut.
 This unfair, unreasonable scheme
 has been beaten in the Legislature
 several times but always before it received a considerable measure of committee support. This year its full import seems to have been borne in on the members of the judiciary committee, and it did not have a single supporter in that body.

Still, it would not be surprising
 to find this bill, prohibiting in effect anyone not a member of the guild of professional real estate
 dealers from negotiating a sale of realty, cropping up again at the next Legislative session, and the next and next.
 There is nobody any harder to discourage than the chap who fancies that if he can only get him a little legislation his fortune is overlastingly made. The Man from Shropshire had nothing on the monopoly-hungry proponents of the Realty License, for persistence.

OUR SHARE

Connecticut is to be congratulated
 on the fact that an illy-considered outcry against the appropriation of money for the trip of the Foot Guard to the inauguration at Washington failed to block proper participation by this state in that notable event.
 The sharpest line should be drawn between such an affair as this one and mere junkets of no great public usefulness. To waste
 the public's money on the pleasure of a group of individuals is to steal it. But this is no mere pleasure trip for the Foot Guard. They go to Washington as representatives of the historic and important commonwealth of which we are all members, and as the body most peculiarly fitted to bear that representation with dignity and impressiveness. The occasion is a serious
 one, and one on which the state

cannot afford, for a dozen reasons,
 to be inadequately represented.
 No precedent is established
 which it would be unwise to follow.
 No encouragement of a wasteful or irresponsible attitude toward the public funds is involved. We send these people as representatives of the state in the quadrennial celebration of the nation's greatest institution. We ought to be willing to pay their way.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Mar. 1.—The harbin-gers of spring, insofar as Broadway is concerned, are not the robins but the balloon ascension acrobats, the high-divers and other people of the great ballyhoo racket.
 Long before the first violet can be seen creeping from the thawing
 earth, the cold walls of the Broadway buildings hide transactions
 which will materialize beneath the warm sun of the county fair grounds. The chill may still be in the air, but the spirit of coming spring and summer enters into those conferences going on behind
 snow whitened windows.

For the "outdoor show racket"
 gets its people and its prices in line
 just before the Easter season comes around the corner.
 Just now it is possible to learn
 just what the styles in ballyhoo will be this coming spring. And a glance down the long list will inform you that they will not be greatly different from the methods in vogue since grandpa's time. To be sure, the "air stunts" have made their appearance and proved vastly popular, but the call still goes out for "rube acts"; for what they call "the daddy long legs," which happens to be performers working on stilts; for the parachute
 jump which sent our childish
 hearts into our mouths; for the old
 captive balloon stunts; for clown
 numbers of every sort and for freaks.

All are part of the strange and fantastic parade of folk engaged in the none-too-gentle art of ballyhoo
 —ballyhoo and more ballyhoo! Get the crowds, attract the attention,
 amuse the holidayers, thrill the workaday people who turn out with their picnic baskets and spending money!

In the strange and fantastic
 world of ballyhoo, it is disconcerting to learn that the fat man and the giant are among the lesser paid attractions. Whether or not they are drugs on the market, I do not pretend to know. I merely can attest that they, along with clowns
 and still walkers, can be had for $1 an hour. Whereas a "mechanical man"—you know those grotesque
 figures who perform in show
 windows—can command up to $100 a day.

Gleaming along a list, one encounters a fellow who dubs himself
 "the man who never smiles." Serious-faced and somber, trained to a blank mask which will meet all jibes and merriment, he will walk
 the streets in the interest of ballyhoo for something like $2 an hour.

Here's a fellow to pique the imagination. What is the lure of a fellow who never smiles, and what first brought him to the notion that there would be a $2-an-hour living in somberness? Many a man walks about with a stern face out of habit, and the number of smiling faces per block are not so many as to make immobility an asset.
 One wonders what this fellow
 does when his day's work is done and he can relax his face. Does he smile at the odd ways of a world which makes him his living? Or is he victim of some facial contortion which freezes his task into severity? . . . Suppose he looks most placid when he really is smiling or laughing. . . . It reminds one of the tragic figure in "The Man Who Laughs."

Then there are "Josh and Tildy,"
 who go through life playing the

 The more I see of sick people the more I believe that they continue to remain weak because they are waiting for health to happen to them or
 for someone to make them well,
 and they do not use the aggressive

 necessary to the acquisition of

 If you wish to have strength

 you can mentally and physically to

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Nursing Mother.
 Question: Mother asks: "Is there any rule for nursing mother to follow as regard diet?"
 Answer: There are many rules
 which it is important for a nursing mother to follow. She has a double duty—first, the obligation to her child and then the duty to herself
 to keep well at this time and avoid injury to her system caused through feeding her baby from her own blood without supplying it with the necessary elements to replace and repair tissue. I have written many special articles on this subject, and will be glad to send them
 to you if you will only write again,
 giving me your full name and address.

Mustard Greens.
 Question: V. W. writes: "After picking and later eating wild mustard greens I have something that resembles poison oak breaking out on my arm near the wrist. Tell me
 if it is safe to pick wild greens in the country and of the diet values
 of wild greens, especially wild mustard. Also, can you tell me why the wild mustard has such a strong taste even when young and tender?"

Answer: There are many wild greens that are safe to use if you have a knowledge of botany and understand how to pick out the greens. Wild mustard is always stronger than the cultivated variety. In your own case it would search for greens if your skin is so sensitive to poison oaks.

Snoring, A Symptom.
 Question: Reader asks: "Is snoring a disease? If it is, can it be cured?"
 Answer: Snoring is usually a symptom of catarrh of the mucous membranes of the nose and throat.
 It can generally be cured through dieting if there are no definite obstructions in the nose, such as enlarged turbinate bones.

 speaking, popular. The Chaplin im-

 say, still overworked.

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, March 1.—Calvin Coolidge goes out of office and the feature stories about him say he is a changed Calvin, but it is difficult to see just wherein he is altered.
 As a matter of fact he seems to be just about the same Calvin who moved into the White House in 1923. He has had more effect on the presidency, if anything, than
 the presidency has had on Calvin.
 He is just as sour, just as jolly,
 just as timid; just as brave, just
 as happy, just as glum, just as selfish, just as self-sacrificing, just
 as materialistic, just as idealistic,
 as he ever was.
 And only five or six years older.
 He has taken his job seriously,
 up to the last moment, pursuing the appallingly even tenor of his ways without speeding up or slowing down. Not too much significance should be attached to the fact that he took a walk in February without his overcoat. Such an escapade is nothing new in the life of Calvin Coolidge. Only a short time after he became president he enjoyed in all its ecstatic

 hilarity the experience of watching a girl turn flapjacks in the window of a local restaurant. Undoubtedly he derived more genuine pleasure than if the girl had merely been turning flapjacks.
 They do say that the "great change" in Calvin Coolidge was really first noticed by the acutely
 observant when he donned cowboy clothes presented him by Boy Scouts in South Dakota. That meant, one reads, that he had decided to hold office no more and was setting about to emancipate himself from the repressive requirements o complete dignity.
 All sorts of explanations have been offered for the president's most unusual conduct upon that occasion, especially the one that he was trying to make a hit with the west. No one has ever suggested that it was merely a kid-dish gesture designed to please the Boy Scouts. Calvin Coolidge has been known to do that sort of thing,
 but the country roared with laughter.
 Neither does the fact that Mr.
 Coolidge was observed shooting at things around Thanksgiving and Christmas time signify that the retiring president was then or is now planning to embark on a course of what might be called comparative whoopee. Given a gun and some clay pigeons, who wouldn't?
 In the expiring session of the Seventieth Congress, he accepted his defeats just as passively and silently as he did at the beginning of his administration. He was never
 the man to make a stirring,
 uncompromising fight against an unruly Congress. Calvin Coolidge never rebelled against his fate and when his pet measures were ignored, his appointments defeated
 or his vetoes overridden, that was that.
 At the last he was neither more thrifty nor more careless with public or personal moneys than when he began. He still talked economy and still ignored the fact that the country wasn't getting it
 in the way it thought it was.
 His taste in appointments never improved or deteriorated. The appointments were both good and bad up to the last moment.
 Now it is understood that Mr.
 Coolidge will write articles, which is just what he did while he was vice president.
 He is a little older and much wealthier than when he succeeded Warren G. Harding. But otherwise he is our own Cal, uncontaminated and unaffected by experience in the world's biggest job.

Daily Lenten Thought

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Editor of The Congregationalist.
 When Phillips Brooks went to Europe on one occasion a friend jokingly suggested that he might bring back a new religion, and asked him whether he would have any trouble getting it through the customs house. Bishop Brooks replied that there would be no difficulty on that score, as any religion
 likely to become popular would have no duties attached to it.
 There is much in the life of the modern world to reflect the truth of this jest, but when one looks deeply into human experience, as Phillips Brooks himself would probably have testified, the conclusion is apt to be the other way. Man, as a matter of fact, has a profound capacity for response to the call of duty, when that call is accompanied with clear vision or with sufficient emotional urge.
 Take, for example, what happened in Canada during the war.
 An army of almost four hundred thousand men—about one-twentieth
 of the entire population—was recruiting by voluntary enlistment,
 the draft operating only in the closing stage and affecting only a small number. Moreover, enlistment was at its highest when the war was at its worst and Canadian regiments were being cut to pieces at the front.
 Can anyone believe that men generally would not similarly respond to a great appeal of religion and moral duty, if we could somehow establish the same vision and emotional urge?
 Is not that the unfulfilled task
 of religion?

Starting next month the court of honor will meet the last Friday of every month unless otherwise stated. Blanks must be in 11 days before the court. First class examinations must be taken before Arthur Anderson at least a week before the Court.

The annual meeting of the National Boy Scout Press association will be held in conjunction with the Columbia Interscholastic Press association convention on Friday, March 8, at Columbia University, New York City, N. Y., according to an announcement from the national offices of the Boy Scouts of America. Outstanding features of the meeting will be the announcement of a four year scholarship award to an approved school of journalism which will be given yearly to the member of the association doing the outstanding work in journalism, the adoption of a formal constitution and the election of officers.

Membership.
Membership in the National Boy Scout Press association is open to all members of the Boy Scouts of America who have earned the Merit Badge in Journalism, the Gold Quill of the Lone Scouts, or who are editors of Chartered Amateur Publications of the Boy Scout Movement. There will be a representation at the meeting from every part of the United States. Large delegations will be present from the Press clubs of Bridgeport, Conn., Worcester, Mass., Brooklyn and Manhattan, N. Y.

According to the program as already outlined, the annual meeting will take the form of an all-day meeting. It will be preceded by a meeting of the executive board of the Press association which will convene at 9 o'clock on March 8. At 10 o'clock the formal session of the meeting will be opened by the president of the association, Remo Marion Lombardi, of Bridgeport, N. J. Following the opening of the meeting, minutes of the organization meeting held last year will be read by Lone Scout Frederick Munich of Brooklyn, N. Y., the secretary, and at 11 o'clock the formal presentation of a constitution for ulated by a committee headed by Lawrence Miron of Worcester, Mass., will be made.

Scholarships.
Following the chartering of local chapters of the Press association, the outstanding event of the session will be the announcement of the BOYS' LIFE award in Journalism, which will be made personally by Dr. James E. West, chief scout executive and editor of Boys' Life, the magazine for all boys published by the Boy Scouts of America.

Other scholarship awards will be announced by Mr. E. S. Martin, secretary of the editorial board of the Boy Scouts of America preceding the luncheon meeting. Election of officers will take place at 1 o'clock and following the elections the business plans for the new year will be discussed.

A dinner meeting at which prominent newspaper men will speak is planned for the evening and a visit to a metropolitan newspaper plant will complete the sessions.

Troop 1.
Troop 1 held its meeting Tuesday evening. Thirty-one were present. The evening was turned over to practicing contest events for the town meet, March 5. After the practice game called "Lion Hunt" was played three times. The meeting closed with the Scout oath and laws.

Troop 1 is looking forward to the scout and father banquet, given by the League of the Second Congregational church on March 22.

Troop 3.
Troop 3 held its regular weekly meeting Wednesday night with 31 scouts present. The result of the swimming meet was given out and the scouts were told of the town contest Tuesday night. During the study and patrol period, Senior Patrol Leader Gould helped the following recruits, Clarence Snow, Milton Helwig, Howard Smith, Tony Lonesky, Richard Alton and Nelson Richmond.

Otto Cook and Kingsley both became second class by passing first aid. Saturday several boys passed swimming and Monday passed outdoor tests. Mr. Braithwaite was present from the troop committee. Patrol flags and medallions were presented at the meeting. The three patrols are planning quite a bit of

PARENTS UNDERSTOOD THIS BABY'S LANGUAGE

"We thought we were going to lose our baby, teething," says a Kentucky mother. "He couldn't digest anything and was getting thinner every day. After one of his fretful, crying nights, I thought of Castoria and got some. A few drops made him comfortable, and after a few doses, he seemed like a different baby." Doctors everywhere recommend purely-vegetable, harmless Fletcher's Castoria for colds, constipation, colic and other ills of babies and children, and millions of mothers know its gentle influence is best. Avoid imitations. The Fletcher's signature is the mark of genuine Castoria.

activity; the Pine Trees working on leathercraft, the Bob Whites on a knot board, and the Lions on a museum.

All boys were urged to attend the meet on Tuesday at the High school and appear in uniform.

Troop 4.
Troop 4 held its weekly meeting with twenty-one scouts present. Mr. Clarke, curate of St. Mary's church, gave a short talk on the first scout law, Trustworthy. After the collection of dues, a signaling squad was organized and the potato race run off. All scout requirements were practiced. After a period of study the troop was dismissed with the repeating of the scout oath and laws.

Troop 4 will hold a hike on Saturday afternoon.

Troop 5.
Troop 5 opened its meeting in the usual manner by saluting the flag and inspection of patrols. Inspection was awarded to Patrol 4, as usual.

Contest events were gone over thoroughly and all teams lined up for the coming town meet to be held next week. The records of troop advancement and all patrol leaders responsible for reports on their separate groups were checked. Five older boys, all very good instructors, acted in that capacity to perfection. The games played were very interesting and enjoyed immensely by all that were present. The meeting closed by repeating the scout oath and laws.

There will be a hike on Saturday. All boys wishing to go please get in touch with Herman Johnson of Fairfield street. Telephone 1218.

Troop 6.
Twenty boys were present at the scout meeting on Tuesday. Contest events were run off. The meeting was in charge of Thomas Corder and Francis Burr. All boys were asked to meet at the South Methodist church gymnasium on Tuesday night at 6:45, to march in a body to the High school.

The hike last Friday was postponed because of stormy weather. Arthur Brown and Arlon Judd have passed their swimming test.

Last Tuesday five boys went on a hike to Glastonbury; they were Frank Pearson, Arlon Judd, Earl Judd, Francis Moriarty and Eddie Hanson who was in charge. Leaving the Center at 8 o'clock in the morning they reached Troop 5 cabin in time to dine with three members of that troop. The boys reached home at 4 o'clock.

STAGGER IT!

Esau Wood sawed wood. Esau Wood would saw wood. All the wood Esau Wood saw Esau Wood would saw. In other words, all the wood Esau saw to saw Esau would saw. Oh, the wood Wood would saw. And, oh, the wood-saw with which Wood would saw wood! But one day Wood's wood-saw would saw no wood, and thus the wood Wood would saw was not the wood Wood would saw if Wood's wood-saw would saw wood. Now, Wood would saw wood with a wood-saw that would saw wood so Esau would saw a saw that would saw wood.

One day Esau saw a saw saw wood as no other wood-saw Wood saw wood. Wood never saw a wood-saw that would saw wood as the wood-saw Wood saw would saw until I saw Esau Wood saw wood with the wood-saw Wood saw saw wood. Now, Wood saws wood with the wood-saw Wood saw saw wood. (I never saw the author.)

With the aid of the weather record for the growing season supplemented by tests in an incubator it has been possible for experts for the past five years to estimate how well the cranberry crop will keep when placed in storage.

British Doctors In Heated Squabble Over Speech On Number Of Suicides

London.—Declaring that physicians are more susceptible to suicide than any other group of men because instruments to bring a quick end to their existence are always at hand, Dr. E. Graham Little, M. P., has started a heated controversy by a recent speech in which he called attention to an "appalling number of deaths" among doctors from alcohol and suicide.

Many prominent British doctors are prepared to dispute the statements of Dr. Little, although others second them vigorously. The passage in Dr. Little's speech which has caused the greatest controversy was one where he declared that the doctor's consulting-room, "far from being a gold-mine, is often the shortest route to the cemetery."

After telling his listeners of many cases where physicians had met premature death by overdosing, Dr. Little said:

Doctors Overworked
"The doctor, especially the doctor practicing in industrial areas, is a very much overworked man. He is often obliged to force himself to the utmost to get the last ounce of his strength brought into action in an emergency, and the keg of whiskey is the quickest and most effective means of getting that last ounce of energy out of himself."

"The doctor also, in poor and slum districts, is usually isolated and lonely, as well as a tired man. He is largely cut off from fellowship with his equals. He cannot mix with his patients as men in better environments may do, and moderate but continuous drinking, rather than occasional excesses, constitutes the worst type of alcoholism—that of the secret drinker."

"The drabness of life under these circumstances is again a compelling factor in producing alcoholic habits," Dr. Little continued. "The insistence and rush of his professional calls, too, frequently prevent him from having any other interest in life, and he is much too apt to cut himself off from proper recreation and unrest."

Dealing with his charges of a high suicide rate amongst physicians, Dr. Little continued:

"The prevalence of suicide may perhaps be explained by a number of considerations. The doctor who thinks he is attacked by a fatal disease may yield to a temptation to end his troubles, which is not present to other persons similarly afected, and the transitory or even momentary depression of a tired man may thus precipitate a fatal issue which so simple a measure as a good night's rest would avoid. The means of terminating his existence are always at hand in the drugs he handles."

On the subject of the medical profession as a career, Dr. Little was frankly pessimistic.

"It is probably true to say that the calling has never been so anxious as one as it is today," he declared. "The profession is greatly overcrowded, as may be gauged from the simple statement that the number of medical practitioners in Great Britain has more than doubled during the last fifty years, while the general population during that period has not increased by so much as one-fifth. Far from being the gold-mine which popular imagination so fantastically imagines it to be, the consulting room of a doctor is much more often the shortest route to the cemetery."

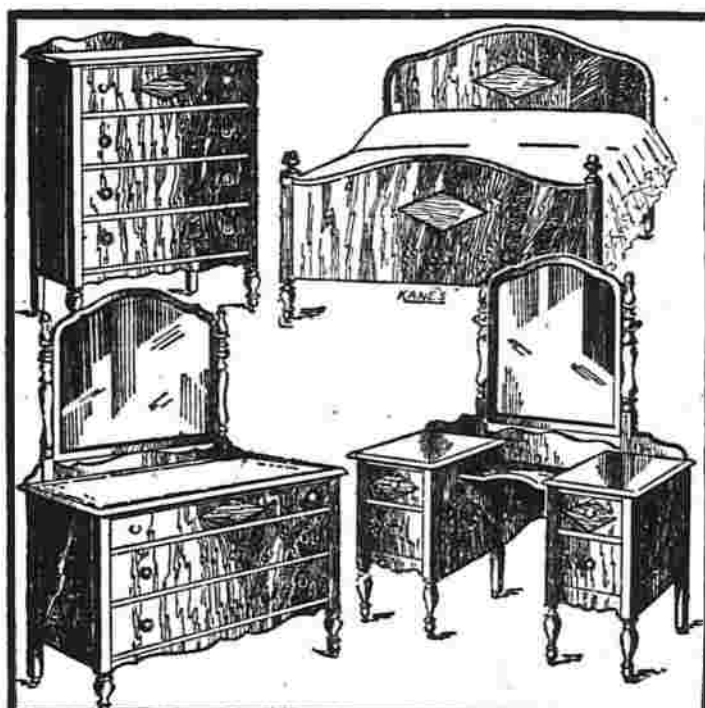

Eye-glasses did not become popular until 1296.

INSTALLING NEW DIAL
PHONE SYSTEM HERE

Western Electric Workmen Start Installation at Local Telephone Exchange Today.

A force of Western Electric workmen today started installing the equipment for the new dial system in the new home of the Southern New England Telephone Company at the Center. Manager William B. Halstead said the work would continue until the cut-over is made from the present system to the dial arrangement. Dials have been placed in a large number of homes in Manchester.

The exact date when the cut-over will be made has not been definitely decided, Mr. Halstead said. When the change is made sometime in the middle of next summer, all telephones will be affected at the same time. There are about 4,700 phones in Manchester today and all but 200 will be changed over. The balance are in the outskirts of the district beyond the dial limits, Manager Halstead said.

Compare Delivered Prices!

IN buying your new car, we have this suggestion to offer: Find out both the factory (f. o. b.) price and the delivered price of each car under consideration.

See how much difference between the two prices, and ask why.

You will discover this: That Nash "400" delivered prices are closer to the factory prices than competitive cars. Because Nash cars are factory equipped with hydraulic shock absorbers, bumpers, tire lock—every necessary accessory.

All these are bought in tremendous volume, and all are included in the factory price, instead of being added as "extras," at retail figures, by the dealer.

Some dealers (not Nash dealers) add as much as $50 or $60 for bumpers alone. Buy a "400," and get more for your money!

CONVICT TWO MEN FOR ONE MURDER

Boston, March 1.—A unique situation confronted the Commonwealth of Massachusetts today, growing out of its prosecution of two men for the alleged murder of Joseph Fantasia, of Revere.

Both Gangi Cero, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Samuel Gallo, of Revere were convicted of the crime by different juries.

Cero was convicted first, and sentenced to the electric chair but is now under gubernatorial respite. His counsel announced that action ## for a new trial would be instituted. This followed a guilty verdict returned against Gallo early today by a Superior Criminal Court jury after eight hours of deliberation.

Counsel for Gallo also announced that a motion for a new trial would be made, stating that his client had been convicted by the "perjured testimony of two witnesses."

When Gallo heard the verdict he nearly collapsed. His face blanched and his hands gripped the railing of the prisoners' dock for support.

The case of three defendants charged of conspiracy and obstruction of justice by alleged bribery in the so-called south end hotel shake down case goes to the jury in Superior Court today.

SAYS BIRTH CHECK IS NOW A CUSTOM

Well Nigh Universal Declares Mrs. Hepburn in Urging Repeal of Ban.

Hartford, March 1.—The most largely attended hearing of the Judiciary committee during the present session of the Legislature, and the one at which the most feeling was shown, was that held late yesterday afternoon on the proposed repeal of Section 6339 of the General Statutes which provides a penalty of imprisonment for 60 days to a year or fined not less than $50 for the use of any drug, medicinal article or instrument for the purpose of preventing conception.

The discussion before the committee, which was participated in by a number of persons on either side, developed so much heat at several points that the participants were checked by the chairman of the committee.

Mrs. Hepburn Leads

Leading the proponents of repeal was Mrs. Thomas J. Hepburn of Hartford, who let it be known that she is the mother of six children when Rep. Mrs. Caroline Platt of Milford, opposing repeal, declared that her greatest pride was in being the mother of three. Mrs. Hepburn insisted that "God gave man intelligence as well as sex instinct and he gave the intelligence to be used." She declared that birth control in defiance of the statute was the most universal practice among the educated people of Connecticut, "which means that three-fourths of the people in this assemblage are criminals and ought to be in jail." She stated that "Roman Catholic women are coming to realize that this is their concern and not that of their priests; that they, not the priests, have to bear the children."

Mrs. T. M. Sullivan of Hartford declared the repeal bill "savory of barbarism and paganism" and of the days when women were "men's chattels and children were forbidden fruit." The many-starred service flags were a matter of pride. "Who is to say, 'Let not that American child be born?' she demanded.

Timothy Crowley of Hartford called the bill a little orphan and advised the committee to heed the biblical injunction to "increase and multiply."

Various eugenists and one minister appeared in favor of repeal and several members of the General Assembly placed themselves on record either for or against the measure.

HOW FIRE STARTED.

Providence, R. I., March 1.—Official investigation into the motor coach fire at Hope Valley, which cost one life and injures to sixteen others, was completed today and was understood to have revealed that the fire started when a woman dropped a newspaper on the heater near the gasoline tank, the paper catching fire. Levi Hopkins, the blind man victim, was enroute to visit friends in Bridgeport, Conn., at the time of the fire.

It has just been announced that the demand for beef in this country has fallen off 25 per cent., owing very largely to the heavy increase in the use of fresh vegetables. Such offerings as these may be the reason, in large part at least:

VERY FANCY WAX BEANS, 27 cents quart.
GREEN PEAS, 2 quarts for 33 cents.
Other items among fresh vegetables in marvelous condition are Spinach, the finest of Celery, Green Peppers, Mushrooms, Carrots and some more of those admirable FRESH STRAWBERRIES at 44 cents.

Again tomorrow the Meat Department will offer Fresh Small Fowls at $1.53 each—a most attractive Sunday Dinner buy. There will be larger Fowls and also some prime Roasting Chickens.

The department also has some particularly Good Sirloin Steaks, an attractive lot of Pot Roasts and some delicious Native Veal.

This being Friday, as per custom, Pinehurst's Phone Service will operate till 9 o'clock, booking those week-end orders—big or little—for delivery early tomorrow, as early as 8 o'clock if you wish. Phone number is two thousand.

MacDONALD AND FAZENDA AT CIRCLE. Both Share Starring Honors in "Riley the Cop."

Farrell MacDonald and Louise Fazenda! What a happy combination for an outstanding comedy like "Riley the Cop."

About two years ago Miss Fazenda was paired with MacDonald for the first time in her screen career.

The story revolves around the thrilling and hilarious adventures of one Patrick Riley.

Besides MacDonald and Miss Fazenda, the cast includes Nancy Drexel, David Rollins, Mike Donlin and Billy Beran.

The co-feature at the Circle for this week-end is "The Devil's Trademark."

Miss Bennett again gives another of her convincing "mother" portrayals.
