

HOME TOWN OPENS ARMS TO COOLIDGE

Northampton Takes to Its Bosom "the Boy Who Went to the City and Made Good."

Northampton, Mass., March 5.—Main street stretched out its arms today and took Calvin Coolidge to its bosom. The boy who had gone to the city and made good, was back home.

"Oh! There's No Place Like Home," bravely blared the American Legion band as the man who had been 29th President of the United States stepped from his private car into the rain, and the home folks roared a vociferous ascent.

Ten years ago this thin-faced, sandy-haired man, who had once been their mayor went away to become governor of the state, and in that intervening time he became Vice-President and then President, today, he returned a private citizen, prepared once more to cast his lot with theirs, to live in their midst and to do as they do.

Arrived This Morning

It was just quarter of nine this morning when Calvin and Grace Coolidge stepped off the private car that had brought them straight from the pageantry of the ceremonies in Washington incidental to the inauguration of Herbert Hoover as Northampton's most distinguished son's successor in the White House. They had remained aboard since their arrival shortly after one o'clock this morning so all of the town that cared to could be present for the welcome. Most of the town, it seemed, wanted to be present, despite the rain.

The Legion band had arrived early shortly after 8 and serenaded promptly at 8:30 o'clock Mayor Jesse A. G. Andre marshalled the reception committee he had appointed and they climbed aboard the car.

"Mr. Coolidge," said the mayor, "I welcome you. We are happy to have you here."

"To which the former president replied:

"How do you do, Mr. Mayor, glad to see you."

"It is very nice of you," added Mrs. Coolidge, who a second later was embracing Mrs. R. B. Hills, her old school-mate and intimate friend.

Thomas J. Hammond stepped up. He was chairman of the reception committee and a son of John C. Hammond, in whose offices Mr. Coolidge studied law. Then came Ralph Hemenway, Mr. Coolidge's former law partner. On his window remains the legend, "Coolidge & Hemenway," as so on down the line, old friends all glad the Coolidges were back with them once more.

There was no parade, as such. A motorcycle escort had been provided to escort the home-comers to their extremely modest residence at 21 Massasoit street, which is half of a two-family house, renting at $42 a month. Shopkeepers along Main street came out to wave as the auto swept by, and at Smith college all of the girls were out to shrill a greeting.

A little farther on, they passed a scene dear in the memory of Mrs. Coolidge—Clarke School for the Deaf, where she was a teacher at the time she first met her husband. A two million dollar drive for funds for the institution went over the top just yesterday, with $17,000 in excess. Mrs. Coolidge had been informed just before the train left Washington.

Girl Injured

Only one incident marred the home-coming. A car carrying Calvin and Mrs. Coolidge, an auto driven by a police lieutenant knocked down and seriously injured a little girl, who was rushed to the hospital. At Massasoit street, Mrs. Alice Beckahn, the housekeeper, was waiting. She had swept and scoured the house from top to bottom and attended to all the other thousand and one details incident to such an important event as the return of an ex-President and his wife.

A Boy Scout who belongs to the same troop of which Calvin Jr., their dead son, was once a member, hoisted the flag to the top of the pole set on the front lawn. Grace and Calvin Coolidge passed inside. They were home once more after an absence of ten years.

AUTO MAGNATE DYING

Detroit, March 5.—David Buick, 74, founder of the Buick Motor Car Co., and whose signature appears on the radiators of more than 2,000,000 automobiles throughout the world, was believed dying of cancer in Harper hospital here today where he has been confined for two weeks.

Buick has lived for years in obscurity and comparative poverty. He lost his big fortune in the mammoth automobile concern before they brought wealth.

REPUBLICANS PEERING INTO THE FUTURE

First Day of Hoover's Presi- dency Finds Leaders Plan- ning for the Next Big Election.

Washington, March 5.—Herbert Hoover's first day in the White House today was signalized by the outlining of a comprehensive plan to keep him there beyond the one term—or at least to insure perpetuity of Republican control of the government.

A hundred members of the Republican national committee assembled for a general stock-taking session under Dr. Hubert Work, the national chairman, and heard from him a new conception of how the national politics should be conducted.

Appraising the past campaign and peering into the future, Dr. Work sees no reason why the business of keeping Republicans in power should not be reduced to a business-like basis, with all the efficiency and organization that characterizes the conduct of a successful corporation.

Work's idea, as broadly outlined to the committee, is that the national committee and the various state committees should be kept functioning at intervals every day in the year; and not merely be galvanized into feverish activity a few weeks before each campaign begins. Such methods, Dr. Work observed, are wasteful and antiquated in this modern age of business efficiency.

"The headquarters of our last campaign expended $3,000,000 in twice that necessary if organization had been timely," said Dr. Work. In national campaigns a state unit system should be in motion six months before the national convention.

Selective Draft

"The selective draft in the late war put 3,500,000 men in uniform and had 12,000,000 classified on Amstutz day. We could do as well. We now have 3,000,000 Hoover-Curtis pledge cards, thousands of key men and women listed, thousands of club officers on our roster, all available for state organization at call.

"Our peace time army should be in line immediately that the national convention assigns its commanding officers."

The national committee, Dr. Work said, might as well make up its mind that there is a new era in national politics at hand.

"Thoughtful voters in the last election," he said "demonstrated that a new political perspective has come into public view. An American party is forming, to be reckoned with. Not under a new name, not building on the ruins of the Republican party, but as its super-structure. We need not anticipate a Third party movement in the near future. Such movements have heretofore failed, but independent voters may sway old parties at will. Sensing this, a different type of campaign was waged by the Republican organization in the last election. It succeeded.

"The party nominees and public speakers took the higher plane in addresses, the finer things in character, in accomplishment and in foresight were stressed as its super-structure. There were moral and spiritual interests awakened in the public mind. At times they threatened to culminate into local crusades, so often unreasoning when at their heights, but in this instance held in check, though not without difficulty.

FOURTEEN ARE DEAD FROM POISON BOOZE

Dozens Desperately Ill and Many Are in Danger of Los- ing Sight.

Peoria, Ill., March 5.—Three alleged poison "boozers" were under arrest today following an intensive investigation of fourteen deaths in this district, apparently the result of poison liquor.

Three thousand local bootleggers are said to have closed up shop as a result of the alarming death rate and the consequent investigation.

All of the fourteen victims have died within the past 72 hours. Dozens of others are desperately ill and many are feared to have lost their sight. The total deaths from week-end drinking of moonshine may reach 20, according to Coroner Wm. E. Elliott.

Those arrested in connection with the liquor deaths are Morris Mansfield, Louis Fels and Walter Nelbert. While no specific charges have been lodged against the men, they are being held in the county jail pending the conclusion of Coroner Elliott's investigation.

THE OLD AND NEW PRESIDENTS

Down historic Pennsylvania avenue, acclaimed by cheers from thousands of throats, rode the President and the old. Here you see Herbert Hoover, President of the United States, and Calvin Coolidge, only a private citizen again, side by side in the automobile that bore them to the capital and the inauguration ceremonies.

'Twas Wet Inauguration In More Ways Than One

Washington, March 5.—It was a wet inauguration in more ways than one. While the thousands of visitors were getting drenched to the skin, Washington police blotters recorded 148 charges of intoxication. Most of those arrested forfeited collateral in police courts.

Liquor prices sky-rocketed for the inauguration. The combination of the heavy penalties of the new Jones bill and 215,000 visitors gave the bootleggers a good excuse to more than double the figures at which their dubious wares could be obtained.

Prices Go Up

The bull market started Saturday night. Prices kept going up Sunday and Monday and today quotations by even the most "reliable" of the recognized vendors in the capital were from two to four times above last week.

A heavy rain increased the demand, while the stern language of President Hoover in referring to the enforcement of the 13th Amendment didn't tend to encourage bootleggers to drop their price lists.

A few bootleggers suspended delivery during the inaugural period declaring that the penitentiary sentences and high fines for violations in the Jones bill made the risk too great, with the large swarms of dry agents in the city.

VATICAN TREATY NOW PUBLISHED

Details of Pact With Italian State Made Public for First Time.

Vatican City, March 5.—The concord between the Catholic church and Italy, published here today, gives the Holy See supreme authority on all ecclesiastical matters without any interference by the state.

The recognition of this authority was one of the outstanding features of this historic document.

Italy thus renounces the right hitherto enjoyed of confirming or refusing the nomination of Catholic bishops. This right, although never exercised in practice afforded Italy the privilege of granting royal assent or "exequatur" to the papal nuncios.

In the future goods shipped to the Vatican will be admitted duty free. The Italian government stipulated that it would charge no customs upon such consignments.

All embassies and legations accredited to the Vatican will remain upon Italian soil. Even countries having diplomatic relations with the Vatican but none with Italy, will house their envoys upon Italian soil, not church territory.

This clause of the treaty may give rise to complications should Italy become embroiled in war with a country having diplomatic representation at the Vatican.

WATSON LEADER

Washington, March 5.—Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, was formally elected Republican leader of the Senate today by the Republican majority.

Senator Wesley L. Jones, of Washington, was chosen assistant Republican leader and Watson appointed Senator Simeon D. Fair of Ohio, as Republican whip. The new floor leader was empowered to name a new Republican committee on committees and he named the old committee with Senator Deneen, (R) of Illinois.

The new floor leader also named a Republican committee on committees with Senator McNary (R) of Oregon as chairman.

STORM COMING NORTH

Washington, March 5.—Storms of marked intensity prevail over the southern Appalachian region and are moving probably northward.

The U. S. Weather Bureau ordered storm warnings placed south of Delaware breakwater to Jacksonville, Fla., to be lowered at sunset south of Cape Hatteras to Jacksonville.

Northeast storm warnings were ordered from Delaware breakwater to Eastport, Me.

REBEL TROOPS READY TO MARCH ON CAPITAL

"Flying Instructor" Was Yale Bootlegger

New Haven, March 5.—Yale students have been drinking not alone from the fount of knowledge, but indeed out of something much, much stronger.

The beginnings of a good sized scandal in this college town were made evident today, but the hints from present indications, the rum-soaked atmosphere of the campus will be purified and all will again be serene.

How certain undergraduates, many of them from prominent families, paid for liquor by giving their own or their rich papa's checks for "flying lessons" was revealed with the arrest of the "flying instructor" on the campus.

HOOPER TO AVOID CABINET DISPUTE

Names of Mellon and Davis Not to Be Sent to Senate for Confirmation.

Washington, March 5.—The names of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon and Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, both Pennsylvanians, will not be sent to the Senate for confirmation when President Hoover asks approval of his Cabinet, it was reported today on "good authority."

President Hoover, it was said, will continue Mellon and Davis in office under the appointments given them by President Coolidge.

A fight against confirmation of Mellon apparently will be avoided by this process, although Democratic-Insurgent leaders have declared they will "do something about it" if Hoover withholds the names. The opposition to Mellon, however, has been scattered and thus far, no organized fight has been uncovered.

NEW PRESIDING OFFICERS HEAD THE ASSEMBLY

John H. Hill Directs Lower House and Harry R. Dur- rant the Senate—Today's Legislative Business.

Hartford, March 5.—New presiding officers appeared for both branches of the State Legislature today. John H. Hill, of Shelton, directed the Lower House, and immediately went into speedy action. Mr. Hill dispensed with much of the formula and hurried non-controversial matters.

President of the Senate today, he asked for more forceful replies on votes, and the Senate replied with a will.

The House today received favorable reports today on bills as follows: Providing for election of a tax collector in Ridgefield; providing that the Bethel board of finance shall have control of sidewalk and gutter repairs and construction; providing for an additional clerk in the police department at Norwalk; providing an appropriation for the Putnam memorial camp in Redding; extending to March 9 the time in which the Norwich Board of Relief shall complete its duties; this bill being passed under suspended orders.

H. S. STUDENTS HEAR INAUGURAL CEREMONY

Classes Suspended So That Broadcast May Be Heard by School Body.

Regular study and recitation periods were waived at the local high school yesterday for the radio broadcast of inaugural ceremonies for President Hoover at Washington.

Principal C. P. Quimby cancelled all sessions from 11 o'clock in the morning until 2 o'clock in the afternoon. During that time the students were able to hear both the president and vice-president take their oath of office and deliver their addresses.

A high powered electric dynamic speaker six feet square was installed by William Krah and Edison Pearl, former high school students, who are now in the radio business. The speaker made word audible in every corner of the room.

An hour's dance program followed the inaugural broadcast. Dance numbers were supplied by a Victrola in the school and were also obtained by means of the radio.

Revolution in Mexico Is Spreading Hourly—Ten States Now in Revolt; Government Keeps Strict Censorship on News; American Property and Lives Safe So Far, Lindy In Mexico City—Troops Mobilized to Defend City.

Nogales, Sonora, Mexico, Mar. 5.—Preparing to march on Mexico City, 3,000 rebel troops, under the leadership of Gen. Rabele, today were concentrating at Navejoa, in southern Sonora, according to reports reaching the border.

Gen. Jaime Carrillo and a force of federal troops under his command have retreated to Mazatlan, Sinaloa, in the face of the revolutionary movement.

BULLETIN:

Mexico City, March 5.—A Federal Army will be concentrated on the southern front to give battle to the rebels in that part of Mexico, according to a communique issued at the office of President Emilio Portes Gil, today. It will be commanded by Gen. Juan Andre Almazan, military chief of the State of Nuevo Leon, and the youngest division general in the Mexican Army.

The announcement contains the first concrete news of the government's step to crush the revolt. All day yesterday and throughout much of the night the streets clattered and rumbled with marching troops, field artillery units, ammunition trains and supply wagons, but the destinations of the moving troops was not known outside of official circles.

The sweep of revolution throughout Mexico has increased in the past 24 hours.

Ten states are in revolt. It is reported from the border that fighting has broken out between the Insurrectionists and Federalists in the state of Sonora. This report is not confirmed, however.

The Mexican government is maintaining strict censorship. American interest in the revolution is increased by the fact that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his fiancée, Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, daughter of the United States Ambassador to Mexico, are in Mexico City.

So far as known no American lives nor properties have been menaced.

President Emilio Portes Gil, of the Mexican republic, was quoted in Mexico City dispatches as saying he was positive the government can put down the revolt.

Calvin in Charge

Former President P. Elias Calles, who was especially appointed war secretary, is personally directing the movement of federal troops. He is confident of victory. Troops of known loyalty are being massed about Mexico City.

Gen. Juan Andre Almazan, military commander of the State of Nuevo Leon, has arrived in Mexico City to take the field in command of the Federalists in the south.

The revolt has spread from the northern and western states to communities south of the capital. The states controlled either wholly or in part by the Rebels are Sonora, Coahuila, Sinaloa, Durango, Coahuila, Nuevo Leon, Jalisco, Vera Cruz, Zacatecas and Nayarit.

The great northern state of Chihuahua has evidently remained loyal so far.

Sensational Rumor

A sensational rumor was circulated in both the United States and Europe that President Portes Gil had been seized and imprisoned, but it proved untrue.

One of the latest of the well known Mexican military leaders to join the rebels is Gen. Jose Gonzalo Escobar. He was military commander in the State of Coahuila.

There are evidences that the various groups of insurrectionary forces throughout Mexico have joined forces. The nucleus of the rebel movement was the religious anti-government forces in Jalisco.

Rebel Leader

One of the chief political leaders of the rebel forces is Gilberto Valenzuela, a candidate for president, who has been making savage speeches against former President Calles. He accused the former president of bringing on the religious crisis in Mexico "to give him an opportunity for persecutions."

Gen. Topete, governor of Sonora, who has cast his lot with the Insurrectionists, has declared the religious laws nullified in Sonora. This is the first direct move of the rebels to abolish the religious laws throughout the republic.

Howell Cheney Outlines Consolidation Movement for Kiwanis Club.

In his talk before the Manchester Kiwanis club yesterday Howell Cheney brought out some facts endorsing school consolidation that have heretofore not been made clear.

In 1860 Connecticut passed a law providing for school consolidation, making it optional with the towns and cities.

Cheney's school consolidation movement is in use. They are: Hartford, Bristol, Manchester, Norwich, Hamden and Middletown.

Cheney Brothers long ago realized that if they were going to make a success of the silk business in this town the firm must attract brains to Manchester.

With the steady growth of the town the Cheney influence lessened and today the property of Cheney Brothers is from 33 to 40 per cent of the town's grand list.

What consolidation would bring about in regard to a town library, fire districts and sewer districts

BIDS LEGIONNAIRES TO AID MANCHESTER

Need of Proper Leadership Here Charles Ray Says at Annual Post Banquet.

Charles Ray, president of the Rogers Paper Manufacturing Company, toastmaster and principal speaker at the annual American Legion banquet here last night told the Manchester Legionnaires there was a void in the town's social progress that the World War veterans could adequately fill.

Need Leadership. The condition of affairs was pointed out by Mr. Ray as a sociological defect that Legionnaires could correct with the proper kind of leadership.

The attitude of the people of Manchester is wrong towards the man with new ideas, Mr. Ray told the Legionnaires.

The annual dinner of Dilworth-Cornell post was held in the Sub-Alpine club on Eldridge street. It was attended by 115 Legionnaires.

The dinner prepared by Chef John Lege consisted of fruit cocktail, antipasto, spaghetti, roast turkey, mashed potatoes, peas, bonavita, rolls, coffee, ice cream, cigars and cigarettes.

The Girl Scout rally will be held at the School Street Recreation Center Friday evening of this week at 7 o'clock.

State Commander Paige Seaton said that the American Legion is rapidly becoming one of the first service organizations of the country.

During the evening several door prizes were awarded. Those who won them were Captain W. S. George, Paul B. Donze, Robert Modean, Jack Copeland, Nelson Buck, Walter Sheridan, Dr. J. F. Barry and Almeron Hollister.

The committee in charge of the banquet was: Joseph G. Pero, chairman, Otto Sonnicksen, John D. Hartnett, Leonard A. Weiman, Francis Bray, Walter Sheridan, Victor W. Bronke, Camillo Andisio and Fred C. Lorch.

FIRE TRUCK HITS AUTO; MAN KILLED

Newport, R. I., March 5.—While speeding to the fire in the business district early today, the naval training station fire apparatus was in collision with an automobile driven by John Young, of this city, a machinist employed at the naval torpedo station. Young was seriously injured and died this forenoon at Newport hospital.

Newport, R. I., March 5.—Prominent society girls and matrons turned volunteer Red Cross workers early today in aiding several firemen who were injured while battling a $150,000 fire which menaced the business district of this fashionable city and damaged two business blocks.

Prominent among the society women who helped the Red Cross workers in giving first aid to the firemen, who were cut by glass, were Mrs. Muriel Vanderbilt Church, the "Golden Girl of Society," whose divorce suit against Frederick Cameron Church Jr., the "Greek God of Harvard," comes up this month in court.

The society matrons aided the Red Cross unit in emergency work to the injured firemen and also furnished coffee and food to the fire fighters.

The damaged buildings were the Rosen block and the Bryer Exchange block.

SHOT WHEN HE USES RIFLE TO PROBE NEST

Clarence Hazen of Bolton Gets Bullet in Body But Escapes Fatal Injury.

Seventeen year old Clarence Hazen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett A. Hazen of Bolton Notch, is suffering from a bullet wound in the body which resulted from the accidental discharge of his own rifle.

Young Hazen had been watching a fox burrow, hoping for a shot at the fox from his .32 calibre sporting weapon, but had given up and was on his way home when he came across an old nest in the lower branches of a tree.

Reversing the rifle, he poked at the nest with the butt. The gun was not cocked but a branch caught the hammer, pulled it back and then slipped off, discharging the rifle.

The bullet struck Clarence near the hip, entered the body and glanced off the pelvic bone.

Bleeding, the boy made his way home, half a mile away. His father hurried him to a doctor's office for treatment. The wound, while no joke, involved no vital part and he is expected to recover rapidly.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by softening food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE. Write the Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

THE CABINET

No President from Washington down has ever been able to foretell with precision the performances of the members of his cabinet as at first selected. But some Presidents have picked the members of their official families with much greater care and permitted themselves to be less affected by practical political considerations in the choosing than have others. Among those who have made their selections with supreme care none has surpassed President Hoover in weighing the fitness of each and the correlation of the group.

Beyond that it would be impossible to go. But it is highly probable that never before was a cabinet selected with less of a sense of finality. Mr. Hoover is the last man in the world who would retain among his advisors and subordinates an official who did not make good. No false pride, no reluctance to admit that he had made a poor selection, would be permitted to interfere with the best possible administration of the country's business. Because that is the kind of a man our new President is.

It seems, however, highly improbable that any member of this cabinet will not make good. The genius of Andrew Mellon is too well known to leave the secretaryship of the treasury open to discussion. The new attorney-general, an independent in politics, is rated as one of the three greatest lawyers in the United States, ranking with Charles Evans Hughes and John W. Davis. Henry L. Stimson, secretary of state, combines a rare devotion to the service of his country with great diplomatic ability as demonstrated in his service in the Philippines, where he met the difficult task of following the iron-fisted Wood, and in the pacification of Nicaragua. In the Interior Department, which is destined to handle some tremendous works under this administration, Mr. Hoover has placed Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, a personal friend with whose every capacity he is absolutely familiar. He has put a man who knows the sea, in the person of Charles Francis Adams, at the head of the Navy Department and the War portfolio he has bestowed on another loyal and able friend, Secretary James B. Good. The engineering mind, trained likewise to large business, will be applied to the problems of the Department of Commerce in the selection of Col. Robert F. Lamont of Chicago. The choice of Arthur M. Hyde, long governor of Missouri, reinforces Mr. Hoover's well known attitude toward farm relief—that farm aid must be through some other method than McNary-Haugen equalization fees. And in the selection of Walter F. Brown of Ohio to be postmaster-general there is, for the first time in a long while, promise that the postal service will be headed by a bona fide organizer whose principal purpose will be the improvement of the most intimate of all public services, rather than a mere politician. In the appointment of Secretary Davis, Department of Labor, Mr. Hoover has obviously deemed it wise to yield to the demands of Labor itself.

So far as it is possible to judge at this early day it would seem highly probable that Mr. Hoover has formed his cabinet so skillfully that it will function, as it will have to suit him, for the reform of many departmental deficiencies. If any of the members should prove to be inadequate he will surely have to go.

DAWES

It is too bad that Charles G. Dawes' swansong to the Senate, at the moment of his retirement from the Vice-Presidency, had to be sung to the accompaniment of inaugural music of so much greater volume than it was, so to speak, lost in the shuffle. For Dawes spoke again, as he did four years ago when he assumed his office, words full of truth that, while bitter to the palates of senators, will live and persist and sometime gain the victory.

The somewhat crabbed, somewhat acid and occasionally amazingly violent personality of Charles G. Dawes is not such as to endear itself over-much to the hearts of those whom he castigates. But he has the distinction of having done twice what no other human being ever did so much as once—told the Senate exactly what the people think of its pompous, time-wasting, ludicrous rules and its filibusters and its reckless expenditure of time and the public's money on mere wind and sound.

If he never did another thing, his larruping of the Senate, coming and going, made the elevation of Charles G. Dawes to the Vice-Presidency worth the while. The Senate frowned at him, on the coming, and it laughed at him, on the going. But there wasn't one in all its membership who didn't know, in his secret heart, that Dawes, in his castigation and his calling down of doom upon them, spoke God's truth.

AN ALTERNATIVE

An impious proposal has been made to take Farragut's ancient flagship, the Hartford, out to sea and sink her. In opposition to this there is a suggestion that the historic old craft—which performed one of the most gallant feats in the history of naval warfare when she luttled the forts below New Orleans, ran them and the rams, fire-rafts and chain cables which obstructed the Mississippi, and captured the city—be taken to New London and there anchored or beached and permitted to wear out her old bones in honorable rest.

There is only one objection to this. In New London they have been used to the sight of historic old craft for so long, and have seen so many ancient whalers and other dead ships returning slowly to the elements, that they haven't the same respect for such a spectacle as might be true elsewhere, and the chances are that before long the gallant old Hartford might become a way station or storage warehouse for rum runners, which would be a sad scandal, there under the very nose of the Coast Guard.

Why not, then, bring the old ship up the river, give her a good soft berth along the bank within sight of the big bridge and let her sleep away the rest of her days in the purlieus of the city after which she was named? That would be sentiment carried to its logical conclusion. Certainly a lot better disposition to make of the splendid old warrior than to drag her out and drown her—and better than to have her disregarded or debauched at New London.

POISON GAS

It is hardly to be credited that the great chemical interests which have grown up in this country during and subsequently to the World War are in any way responsible for the hesitancy of the United States in ratifying the Geneva protocol against the use of poison gas and bacteria in warfare. The protocol was initiated by representatives of this country and has received the ratification of France, Italy and several other nations, including Poland and Germany, the latter's endorsement being as yet informal but assured. There has, however, been a good deal of propaganda against the anti-gas agreement, and its source is not easy to trace. It probably originates with that element which, deeming itself thoroughly progressive, is ready at all times to advocate the new and condemn the old. The idea of a return to warfare restricted in any way appears foolish to such people, who take a sort of grisly delight in picturing the "next war" as one in which the civil populations must necessarily suffer as severely as the armies and navies from direct assault. They seem to get a thrill out of such contemplations, and they point to the very general scrapping of military chivalry during the World War as proof of their contentions.

Now it is not true that the World War discarded all civilized amenities and returned to sheer barbarism. The immense number of prisoners of war taken will alone refute that belief. Prisoners were taken, were on the whole well treated and received the benefit of the rules of war. Nor did such barbarities as were committed profit the side committing them to any great extent. It is probable that the powers are as ready to accept and abide by war restriction regulations, right now, as they ever were.

The elimination of poison gas and the use of bacteria in war is a step toward lessening the horrors of any possible great conflict. It would be a terrible mistake if the United States should stand in its way merely because there is an impression that our government is in possession of the most deadly gas of all. That may or may not be true just now. It might be completely untrue ten years hence.

THAT CONFERENCE

The step of inviting into conference tonight several groups properly interested in the proposed revision of the charter of Manchester is a sound one and the only fault to be found with it is that it is somewhat belated. There would have been less ill feeling, less badly informed gossip, less resentment and perhaps a better understanding of the situation in more than one quarter if there had been much earlier and many more such meetings of the various elements affected by consolidation and by other proposed changes in the town government.

It is sincerely to be hoped that there will be no sulking or holding back from this necessary and well conceived gathering and no attendance upon it, on anybody's part, in a warlike spirit of rule-or-ruin. There is no fame to be gained, for anyone, and no advantage to be gained in the long run, for anyone, by throwing monkey wrenches into the machinery.

There is not too much time but there is still time enough, if the business be gone about in a spirit of mutual helpfulness, to achieve corrections in any injustices in the general scheme of consolidation, if injustices there be; there is even still time, if there can be shown sound reason for it—which we do not at all believe—for the abandonment of the scheme—and if there are those who conceive consolidation to be a bad thing, and who believe that the consolidationists are in error, here is the opportunity to show the other side the error of their ways before the whole matter is submitted to all the people.

Not enough people understand the purposes, the aspirations, the objections and the fears of other people in this undertaking. Tonight's conference should be a help toward such understanding.

IN NEW YORK

New York, March 5.—In a city so large and ramified as Manhattan, the game of pretense can be played to the limit.

There are, I believe, few cities upon the globe where so many individuals are so generally engaged in the business of kidding themselves and each other.

Nor does it always end with pretension; there are hundreds who float in and out of the city's affairs or bogus wings. Their favorite role is that of pseudo-royalty. Counts and dukes and lords and even princes are fabricated by these suave pretenders, many of whom achieved their foreign accents in the New York ghetto. As a rule, however, the bogus titles bolder are artful in their pretensions. They slide along on excellent parlor and salon manners, plus a willingness on the part of a certain portion of the feminine population to be impressed.

It's really amazing how little it takes to "impress" a vast fraction of the New York population. They love it. They will turn out in droves and hordes just to "impress" each other. In a sense, it's the answer to the importance placed upon being one of the "first nighters" at the theater. A newspaperman of my acquaintance once made up a list of "typical first nighters," and was able to sell this to various promoters of amusement for a goodly sum. The idea was that if this crowd could be assured at any given event, the "army of the impressed" would all but break down the doors to get in.

There are hundreds of individuals who feel that they have slipped vastly in the social scale if they are not present on "such-and-such" an occasion. There are others who take advantage of this weakness to build powerful social reputations. Of course it's all a lot of bunk, based entirely upon the mental and social attitudes of those involved.

Health and Diet Advice
By DR. FRANK MCCOY

HAIR DYES

In spite of the many different colors of the hair found among the races of mankind, it has been determined by science that there are only two kinds of hair pigment, a reddish-yellow and a sepia-brown. All of the variations of color are produced by the varying combinations of these two pigments. The density of the color may be modified by the thickness of the hair, the presence of air cells within the hair shaft, and the amount of oil present upon and within the hair cells.

There is no coal black hair pigment. When analyzed, black hair proves to be only a sepia-brown. Red hair consists in an abundance of the reddish-yellow pigment and brown hair of a moderate amount of the sepia-brown color. Light yellow hair has only a small amount of the reddish-yellow pigment to which some air cells or bubbles are present, giving a lighter color. Gray and white hair is produced by the presence of air in the hair shaft and the lack of the pigment colors.

We often hear of hair having become gray overnight. Many scientific attempts have been made to verify this belief, but to date authentic cases have not been recorded. It is possible for the hair to gray or become white within a short time, however, and one would not be surprised at seeing a friend, after not seeing him for several months, appear with white hair.

I frequently receive inquiries as to the effect of dyes upon the system. Those dyes containing lead and arsenic should be avoided, but most of the other dyes are non-injurious. The vegetable dyes are not always reliable in their tints and may lead to off colors. For this reason they should be tested upon a small strand of hair before the entire head of hair is dyed. In using the mineral and silver dyes, care must be taken to avoid contact with the skin. Usually vaseline or some such substance is first placed upon the scalp, skin of forehead and ears. Hat which has been dyed or bleached is sometimes injured by the heating afterwards used in producing curls or waves. Water waving seems to be the advisable method in these cases.

Where the hair is partly gray, it sometimes is desirable to make it entirely white. Hair can not be dyed a lighter color, but it may be bleached with ammonia or peroxide of hydrogen. When properly performed, this treatment is not injurious and may enhance the appearance.

The question of dying hair is largely a matter of individual preference and can undoubtedly be used to advantage in some cases. However, it should be remembered that the natural color of the hair can often be preserved throughout life if the proper care is taken to conserve the general health and vitality.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Leg Exercise
 Question: Mrs. J. C. asks: "Will coco-butter develop the calves of the legs? If not, is there anything that will?"
 Answer: The best method of developing the calves of the legs is through the following exercises: Stand on one foot, balancing the body by placing one hand against the wall and raise and lower your weight on the toes and ball of foot. When the muscles become tired you should do the same on the other foot.

Diet in Manual Labor

Question: P. Q. asks: Do you think that a man working at the machinist trade can get enough nourishment from a diet that consists of an extra ordinary apple and select an extraordinary apple and at least one banana, four slices of wholewheat toast with a handful of dates for breakfast; a handful of peanuts for lunch, and a raw vegetable salad for dinner, consisting of carrots, cabbage, celery beets and parsnips, in all weighing about a pound. Is it right to eat the same diet every day or should it be changed?"

Answer: The diet you outline does not seem sufficient for a working man to use for any length of time. The average person doing hard muscular work of any kind requires a proportionate amount of physical culture exercise should use as much protein in one day as that contained in two eggs and about a quarter of a pound of lean meat. My weekly menus appearing in this paper every Friday would be suitable; or, I will be glad to send you some special articles, including a menu which outlines a diet I would recommend for anyone doing manual labor.

Aluminum
 Question: Mrs. J. B. R. asks: "Is there any truth in the reports that food cooked in aluminum are poisoned?"
 Answer: I do not believe there is any truth in the recently reported statements about injury from aluminum ware. I continue to use this kind of cooking utensil and recommend it to all of my patients.

brought home a periodical containing a picture of article about the theatrical man.
 Showing it to his mother, the actor remarked: "And there's my boss, me!"
 The mother scanned it.
 "Goodness me," said she—words to that effect. "Why that's so-and-so. Your father gave him his first job, driving trucks."
 The young actor now thought himself in good standing. This old actor, he presumed, would insure him a better break. But when he mentioned the fact to the theatrical man, he met a stern and cold welcome. A few days later he was "let out," for no particular reason and has never been able to get an engagement since.

WATKINS BROTHERS, Inc.
54 YEARS at SOUTH MANCHESTER

Washington, March 5.—Things continue to be brought about rather than merely allowed to happen. Especially important things.

It is reasonably certain, for instance, that the United States and the allies had pretty well agreed on the results of the present reparations conference before it began. It is also impossible to imagine that British Ambassador Esme Howard's recent statement about a new naval armament conference was made without previous careful consultation with his government. And again, it may be said that with the most complete assurance that the Geneva naval conference would not have flopped if British had lived up to what our State Department considered its private agreement.

job himself, is now hardly entitled to crab.
 Or, it may be that Mr. Hoover sought to impress the dregs with his earnest determination to select an extraordinary able and together sincere dry who would make a most vigorous effort to enforce.
 At any rate, Mr. Hoover probably has done both. Politics is not exactly unlike that and poor Mr. Borah had to choose between a lifetime job as a powerful senator and a rightfully tough job as Mr. Hoover's little helper for an uncertain tenure. The effect of the incident was rather tough on Mr. Borah.

True story:
 Passenger in House office building elevator: "Can you please tell me where's Congressman Clyde Kelly's office?"
 Young elevator boy, without turning his head: "Now, there's a directory out at the main entrance."
 Girl secretary, after passenger has left to go back and look: "Don't you know who that is? That's Lindbergh!"
 Elevator boy, as he stops car at next floor and dashes down the stairs: "Holy Cats!"

merely mentioned it as a rumor in a public address!
 "Michiganers," says the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals in a publicity sheet, "don't be gessal!" The board is urging Michigan not to repeal the law which has sent a mother of ten children and other persons to prison for life for selling liquor, the sales being fourth offense.

"When some sap arises in your legislature to propose that you repeal your habitual criminal law," says the board, "passed to protect your wives and children and homes, don't let him make fools of you. . . . Do not be moved by skillfully constructed 'sob stories. . . . Michiganers, keep your law and see to it that it is used until the criminals of Michigan realize that the will of the Michigan people is not a thing too reduced, despised or condemned."

beautiful opportunity for the wets to make an honest appeal in the one place where it would do the most good if it were convincing—a church.
 Curran muffed it just as the Venus de Milo would catch a forward pass. His answer, execrable in judgment if not in taste, was a flat "No." He wouldn't join in "dragging a political dispute into a house of Christian worship. There was a time when a church was a sanctuary. You would degrade it into a political soap box. . . . If the pastor in this church in New Jersey wants to debate prohibition under your management, let him hire a hall. Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's. . . . You say you will be passing your subscription cards at the meeting. Did you ever hear about Christ driving the money changers from the temple? Yours very truly, Henry H. Curran."

It is sometimes hard to decide just what the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment is driving at. The public meetings department of the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League in a polite letter asked President Henry H. Curran of the association if he would suggest someone who would be willing to take the wet side of the Methodist Episcopal church at Arlington, N. J., on the occasion of the league's regular presentation of its own cause and appeal for subscriptions.
 The pastor, it said, wanted to "have his people hear the other side of the question." Curran was thanked in advance for his consideration. The letter was fair and courteous and presented a

U. organization for the best essays on the announced subjects written by pupils of the local schools.

Mrs. Mary E. Mitchell is the owner of an antique waffle iron used in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Post of Gilead, more than a hundred years ago. These irons are constructed on the plan of a pair of tongs, opening and closing to admit of the pouring in of batter and its removal in the shape of the desirable waffle. They were used originally in the coals of the fireplaces but Mrs. Mitchell says she finds she can use them equally well in a bed of coals in her kitchen stove or even on the top of a wood, coal or gas stove. She finds that waffles cooked in these irons have as fine a tenderness and flavor as those prepared on the newest-fangled kind of electric irons, or even better and she says that the old-fashioned irons are astonishingly easy to use. Mrs. Mitchell dined on Thursday with her neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Tennant. She took her waffle irons with her and helped in the preparation of the meal by turning out some particularly tempting waffles from her treasure bedroom.

A number of members from center and other parts of the town attended the Young Women's Club which met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Clifford Perry. Mrs. Perry, Mrs. Winthrop Porter, and Miss Jessie Post were hostesses. The members of the club dressed in costumes to represent favorite characters in history or fiction, dramatizing the same. Part of the program consisted in the discussion of plans for money saving in the home. Refreshments were served. Owing to illness of some of the members and the inclement weather Thursday evening the Bible class again postponed its meeting.

The funeral services for Mrs. Lillian (Vinton) Benjamin, age 75, were held from the Federated church in Wapping on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and were very largely attended. Rev. Truman H. Woodward, of East Hartford, but a former pastor here, with Rev. Harry B. Miner, the present pastor officiated, and Robert Gordon of Manchester sang two solos, "Rock of Ages" and "Gathering Home-ward One By One." Mrs. Clarence W. Johnson accompanied him at the piano. There were many beautiful floral pieces, which bore the silent testimony of the high esteem in which the deceased was held. The burial was in the family plot in the Wapping cemetery. The bearers were Clynton Buckland and John Collins of Wapping and William R. Wood and John S. Clapp of South Windsor, and Gerald Riley and Arthur Galinat of Manchester.

The choir of the Federated church met Thursday and began rehearsing for the extra Easter music.

Daily Lenten Thought

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Editor of The Congregationalist.

The "forty days" of Lent commemorate the forty days of Jesus in the wilderness (Matthew 4:1, 2), with their emphasis upon prayer and fasting in preparation for his ministry. But with their culmination in Good Friday and Easter the Lenten days have come to have a deeper significance in relation to the whole life of Jesus and his mission as the world's Redeemer.

The wilderness experiences would have meant nothing but gloom and loss had they not led to Christ's conquest over temptation and to his acceptance of that sacrificial way that ended in Calvary and the Resurrection. But, through Christ's submission to the Father's will, what began in the wilderness ended in glory.

The prophet predicted a day when the wilderness would "blossom as the rose." It was this prediction that Jesus made literally true in human life. But it is those who share Christ's wilderness experiences of sacrifice and self-surrender who find the fruitfulness and flowering of life in peace, in beauty, and in power.

Jesus never leaves us in the wilderness. He leads us out when we are prepared for it into the active world of work and service. But he leads us into life with a new sense of its value, even in its sorrows and trials, as well as in its joys and triumphs.

The justice of the peace in Leadville, Colo., has been admitted to the porchouse. Shades of the old Wild West!

WHEN CEREMONIES AND UMBRELLAS OPENED

NEA

From all over the nation they came, eager to participate, if only as cheering spectators, in the making of a president. It had been many years since such an enthusiastic display of sentiment had attached to a change in administrations, and it was the largest crowd that ever had gathered before the east wing of the capitol, where the ceremonies traditionally are held. This NEA and The Herald photo shows the sea of umbrellas turned against the rain as the area in front of the stand was packed by onlookers. Other hundreds lined the roof-tops of nearby buildings, and even of the capitol itself. This striking photo was developed in a dark room aboard an NEA Service airplane as it flew through stormy skies from Washington to New York. From New York the photo was rushed to this newspaper by fast train.

LAW ENFORCEMENT HIS FIRST PLEA

NEA

"The worst evil of disregard for some law is that it destroys respect for all law".... "I have been elected by you to execute and enforce the laws. I propose to do so".... "Advance the cause of peace".... "There would be little traffic in illegal liquor if only criminals patronized it".... Upon radio microphones, sound amplifiers, talking picture machines and human ears tell these words as President Hoover delivered his inaugural address under gray Washington skies. This NEA Service and The Herald photo was taken from the rear of the inaugural stand as Mr. Hoover stood before the throng of spectators.

COLUMBIA

A well attended town meeting was held Saturday afternoon. Several subjects were discussed and voted on. The first one was in regard to the road which has just reverted to the town by the state, from Katzman's corners to the intersection of the state highway. This stretch of road was abandoned by the state when the road was straightened last year. It was voted to abandon the road. The next subject was discussed at some length. It was in regard to repairs leaving the highways to the Board of Selectmen as in the past. It was voted that a committee of five be appointed to consider some plan of celebrating the 125th anniversary of the incorporation of Columbia which takes place this spring. The following committee was chosen: Hubert Collins, Mrs. Henry Hutchins, Mrs. Fannie Dixon Welch, Clair Robinson and Edward P. Lyman. $125 was appropriated by the meeting towards the expense of such celebration. It was also voted to add $200 to the estimated expense for the year for town paupers also to add $1,000 to the budget to pay for indexing probate records. The last vote was to lay a 18 mill tax on the grand list and that said tax should be payable April 1, 1929. The meeting then adjourned.

The heaviest snow of the season fell Saturday afternoon and early in the evening. It was a very wet snow and stuck to everything it touched, so that when the sun rose Sunday morning it was the most beautiful sight that can be imagined. The storm had other effects not so beautiful, inasmuch as there were no electric light in the town for most of the evening. Some lighted candles and others went to bed early and got a little sleep ahead. The snow ploughs cleared the state roads at an early hour, but the country roads with a layer of snow over the previous ruts and mud, are in bad shape, and not so comfortable for auto travel.

At the Sunday morning service of the Congregational church, the pastor spoke on "The Last Supper." At the close of the service the Lord's Supper was observed. Mrs. Charles Hatch and Miss Anne Dix were received into membership by letters from Brooklyn churches.

Miss Harie Field was the leader of the Christian Endeavor meeting Sunday evening. Her subject was, "Recruiting for Christ." It was the monthly Consecration meeting.

The town schools re-opened Monday morning after a week's vacation. The pupils attending school at the Windham High school have also had a vacation, both being on the 8 weeks' plan now.

LONDON'S REACTION

London, March 5.—President Hoover's inauguration speech was generally welcomed in official circles here today as a genuine contribution to world peace.

Comment on his speech was extremely favorable. It was stated authoritatively that Great Britain would welcome any proposition regarding the limitation of armaments and was open for the discussion of any suggestions.

The President's anxiety to enter the World Court was widely and favorably discussed.

GILBERT AND GARBO
IN NEW PHOTOPLAY

"Woman of Affairs" Coming to State Tomorrow.

John Gilbert and Greta Garbo have been given another opportunity to enjoy close-ups together in "A Woman of Affairs," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, which, synchronized with special music score, will open at the State Theater tomorrow for a two day showing.

The film is from a story by Michael Arlen, and was directed by Clarence Brown, who, it will be remembered, also guided the two stars thru what might modestly be described as the rather more than less affectionate sequences of "Flesh and the Devil."

In this picture Miss Garbo has the role of a vivacious, hoydenish and effervescent society girl, of London, which sounds rather different from her previous screen interpretations. The advance word also is that she has altered her style of clothes in this picture.

Gilbert is seen in the portrayal of Neville Holderness, a rollicking and dashing young Englishman, whose flirtations with Miss Garbo are superb and cleverly acted.

Others in the cast are Hobart Bosworth, Lewis Stone, Dorothy Sebastian, John Mack Brown and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.

The companion film features at the State for tomorrow presents that inimitable pair of fun-makers, Karl Dane and George K. Arthur, in their latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle, "All At Sea."

Plenty of hair-raising thrills and hearty laughter are to be found in this rollicking story of two salty sailors who both love the same girl.

Not once do Dane and Arthur fail to draw a grin or a chuckle from the audience. Both are ace high when it comes to curing blues.

A pleasing variety of State Short Subjects will be shown in conjunction with the two features.

Friday and Saturday of this week, the State will present Richard Dix in "Redskin," a Paramount Quality Sound production photographed entirely in color.

No. 10 Downing street, the English Prime Minister's official residence, was originally designed by Sir Christopher Wren.

NICE WORDS WON'T DYE a dress or coat...

Neither pretty pictures nor colorful adjectives will dye a dress or coat. It takes real dyes to do the work; dyes made from true anilines.

Next time you have dyeing to do, try Diamond Dyes. See how easy it is to use them. Then compare the results. Your dealer will refund your money if you don't agree they are better dyes.

You get none of that re-dyed look from Diamond Dyes; no streaking or spotting. Just fresh, crisp, bright new color. And watch the way they keep their brilliance through wear and washing. They are better dyes because they contain plenty of real anilines—from three to five times more than other dyes. But you pay no more for them than for ordinary dyes.

The white package of Diamond Dyes is the original "all-purpose" dye for any and every kind of material. It will dye or tint silk, wool, cotton, linen, rayon or any mixture of materials. The blue package is a special dye, for silk or wool only. With it you can dye your valuable articles of silk or wool with results equal to the finest professional work. Remember this when you buy. The blue package dyes silk or wool only. The white package will dye every kind of goods, including silk and wool. Your dealer has both packages.

NEW FURNACE DISCARDS A SHOVEL FOR A BUTTON

Schenectady, N. Y.—The American housewife needn't worry about her soiled draperies and linens, nor her husband about his last wink of sleep, these cold mornings, if they discard the coal-burning furnace for the latest invention in home heating.

This is an electric furnace, the culmination of seven years of research work at the General Electric laboratories here by Chester I. Hall. The furnace is now being manufactured here and has been put to actual use in half a dozen cities of the middle west. The principle is that of a large thermos bottle, in which water is heated to a certain temperature and the heat drawn off at will.

The advantage of this method lies in the fact that the electricity for heating the storage tank can be obtained at night, when the day's current supply runs low and the cost of the current is reduced. Hot water also can be supplied the same way.

The cost of this system is still higher than that of a coal furnace, but it is cheaper than gas used for heating during the winter.

POPULAR DESSERTS AT THE OLD COLONY INN

The Old Colony Inn of Meriden chosen for this morning's "Baker's Little Journeys" is on the Boston Post Road. Its proprietor, George Morzan, is also manager of the Edgehill hotel in Ontario, Canada. The desserts he serves his guests have done much to win his enviable reputation for good cooking.

- Here is the recipe for the Old Colony Chocolate Cake: 1-4 cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 2 tbsps. cocoa, 3-4 cup milk, 1 egg, 2 cups flour, 2-1/2 tps. baking powder, 1-2 tsp. Cinnamon, 1 tsp. Vanilla Extract. Cream the butter, slowly add sugar, add beaten egg, Vanilla and Cinnamon and milk. Sift flour, baking powder and cocoa together and add to mixture. Beat mixture. Bake in layer cake tins.

- Another favorite Old Colony Inn dessert is brownies, the recipe for which follows: 2 squares chocolate, 1-2 cup butter, 2 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1-2 cup pastry flour, 1 cup English walnut meats (broken), 1 tsp. Vanilla Extract. Melt chocolate with butter. Add sugar to beaten eggs and gradually stir in pastry flour. Add to this chocolate and butter mixture and English walnuts. Flavor with vanilla. Bake in rather slow oven 15 or 20 minutes. Cut in squares while warm.

THE BOSTON MASSACRE. A bright moon was shining on a fresh blanket of snow in Boston 159 years ago this evening, so that a disturbance as conspicuous as the "Boston Massacre" should have been clearly visible to everyone in the neighborhood.

To some it was a brawl between a few British soldiers and a group of heckling Boston vagabonds. To others it was a cold-blooded massacre of respectable citizens by a regiment of domineering Redcoats. At all events, the affair was of sufficient importance to hasten the Revolution. It came as a climax to the lodging of two regiments of British troops in Boston. Their presence in the city was offensive to the majority of the citizenry and, undoubtedly, the soldiers were heckled occasionally. Following the "massacre" which resulted in the killing of three persons and the wounding of eight others, the troops were removed, largely due to the efforts of Samuel Adams.

Of those killed, only one, Crispus Attucks, a mulatto, had taken any part in the disturbance which preceded the firing.

COCOA STAINS. If chocolate or cocoa stains are hard to get out of linens, try borax water and sunshine and if that fails, use Javelle water. Bethlehem is the center of the mother-of-pearl industry.

BY HORTENSE SAUNDERS time, a theater on Louisiana avenue was purchased for the Inaugural ball, and there were 2000 guests. They went back to Carus's saloon for President Polk's ball, and history records a baffling crush.

By Roosevelt's time, there was not a foot of available space on the floor, and the ball had become the unwieldy event that brought on its downfall. It was customary for girls' schools and colleges to send their young women as a part of their valuable, social training in the capital city. More and more people poured into Washington just to attend it so as to report to the folks back home.

This year, the ranking guests were to be Vice-president Curtis, his sister, Mrs. Gann, and his daughters. Many of the Senators and Representatives, some of the diplomats and many officers of the army and navy purchased bonds. No, the Inaugural ball isn't what it used to be—but as a charity affair it has some justification. As an affair of state it outlived its purpose.

In General Grant's time, the north wing of the Treasury Department was the scene, and a terrific jam was the result of the close quarters. His second ball was worse, however. A temporary stand was built at Judiciary Square, and hundreds of canary birds were imported to give a festive and tropical air, and 2,500 gas burners were installed to carry out the illusion. But arctic weather on the fourth of March spoiled the party, and ladies dancing in their wraps and the men in their overcoats, and though fine food had been brought down from New York, the guests turned down the ice-chilled salads and demanded hot drinks. The canaries, most of them, died from the cold.

The President Garfield ball was held in the National Museum with 5000 guests. The one for President Cleveland was held in the pension office, for the first time with Sousa's band behind the palms, and much elegance. The success of this ball was duplicated in the ball for President Harrison in 1889—a terrible night, but 12,000 people braved the storm in their best bib and tucker. Came the High Hats. At the Inaugural for the McKinley-Hobart administration, eve-

Some old timers here speak regretfully of the passing of the old ball, as just another tradition gone. Anyhow, the history of the ball is an interesting commentary on the growth of a nation. The first one was held in Philadelphia in 1793, during the second Washington administration. The first one held here was in 1809, when President Madison was inaugurated. At this time it was estimated that 400 persons attended, and it was an intimate affair. In Jackson's time the ball was given in Carus's, which is referred to in contemporary accounts as a saloon. It wasn't such a high-hat affair by this time, but President Van Buren's ball later at the same place, was spoken of in the press of the day as a brilliant social event. By William Henry Harrison's

BILL CAREY MAY STEP INTO TEX RICKARD'S SHOES

Man Who Put Over Miami Beach Bout Is Likely to Get Job.

By DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, March 5.—Having shed a lot of Hollywood tears for two months over the passing of a great promoter, the time has come for the Garden Corporation to step back into the shoes of the late Bill Rickard. It has discharged its obligation to Tex Rickard's memory with only the customary amount of sniveling; so naturally it now feels free to go ahead and snarl in a discreet and gentlemanly way over his empty shoes. They will be awarded, it is understood, to either Wm. F. Carey or Col. J. S. Hammond at a meeting of the board of directors some time within the next two weeks.

It also is understood that Carey can have them for the asking, it being the common impression around the Garden today that this gentleman personally and individually enacted the miracle of Miami in connection with Messrs. Sharkey and Stribling. To hear the returning survivors tell it, Jon John, the Dempsey boy, had no more to do with this than did the late promoter and so Carey is very much the boy with fair hair and florid complexion around the Garden.

Hammond a Saver
Hammond is no psychological brunette, either. While Carey was spending money like a custom-made man at Miami Beach, the colonel was up here saving it like a maiden aunt with a hope chest. The boys are not disposed to be nettled when someone forgets to leave the lights burning when he goes home for the night. They will be as reliable about things like that.

The result has been that the net profits at the Garden since Jan. 1 have shown a most respectable increase, the colonel having cut out everything except the ticket windows.

Carey a Good Man
Carey, although lacking the Midas touch of Rickard's inspiration, seems to be a man cut to the general dimensions of the dead promoter and, what he may lack in experience and imagination, he overcomes by an innate sense of business that Rickard never troubled to acquire.

Being a railroad builder, he was able to erect an arena at Miami Beach at a minimum waste of money and time. No other promoter could have done this. Carey's men in the comparative few weeks at his disposal without paying a prohibitive price. Carey got it done for $40,000 and salvaged a quarter of this by selling the lumber to the city of Miami. His arrangements with the railroad, whereby rates were cut in half for the first six months, was a stroke that only a man such as Carey could achieve. The handling of the ticket sale, they say, was effected in a manner that would have done credit to Rickard himself.

So, the Garden directors have two radically dissimilar types to consider for its general manager: one, a spender who makes money; the other, an arch-conservative who saves it. They may not reach a decision at the current meeting or, if they do, they may withhold their support for a more plausible moment. In either case, it seems likely that Carey can have the position, if he cares to assume its responsibilities. And it may be that he doesn't.

San Antonio, Tex.—Manager McGraw of the Giants is the inventor of a one-inning ball game. Yesterday each team kept the field until it had engineered 27 putouts, and had but one inning at bat. The scrubs scored a 3 to 0 victory over the regulars.

Clearwater, Fla.—Fritz Wilson, former Notre Dame second baseman who has been paying his own bills here in the hope of landing a job with the Brooklyn club or one of its farms, is to get his chance. Manager Robinson has promised him to the Macon, Ga., Club.

Avalon, Cal.—Norman McMullan and Clarence Blair, reserve infielders, are making a good impression on Manager Joe McCarthy, the latter admitted today. Third baseman Clyde Beck, the presumed uncertain link in the regular Cubs infield, is automatically put on defense by the efforts of these youngsters.

Dallas, Tex.—Manager Blackburn of the White Sox was advised today that President Comiskey had signed Harold McKinn, right hand pitcher from Decatur, Ill.

LEAGUE PREXIES PICK CUBS AND A'S FOR FLAGS

Heydler Names Chicago and Barnard Thinks Athletics Will Check Reign of Yankees.

By LES CONKLIN

New York, March 5.—Big league presidents usually are most reticent in picking pennant winners. But this year both league heads are out with predictions as to the probable flag winners. President John Heydler picks the Cubs to win the National League race, while President Barnard thinks the Athletics will check the reign of the Yankees in the Junior League.

Yanks Favorites
In the American League the Yankees are even money favorites, with the Athletics quoted at 5 to 4. The St. Louis Browns are third choice at 8 to 1.

The uncertainty as to how the Yankees will fill Joe Dugan's shoes at third base has influenced the odds on the world's champions.

Emil Yde, the tall southpaw with the short right arm, has another chance to make good on the big time circuit this year. "Eddie" is up with Detroit. Five years ago he was a sensation with the Pirates, and American Association men declare he is at good as ever. Last year he won nineteen games and lost twelve with Indianapolis. Even if he falls to star on the mound for the Tigers, Yde may be converted into an outfielder because of his hitting. He always bats over .300 and starred as a pinch hitter with the Pirates. Bucky Harris, however, declares he will use him only for pitching purposes.

A Hero Returns
Bruce Caldwell, the idol of Yale a year ago last fall, goes back to New Haven this season. But the youth who, once was the toast of the town is returning as a failure, not as a conquering hero. He has been farmed out to the New Haven club in the Eastern League by the Cleveland Indians for further seasoning.

What a comedown for the Rhode Island boy! Heralded as one of the greatest baseball and football stars when turned out to the New Haven club in the Eastern League by the Cleveland Indians for further seasoning. Life of Boxer Soon To Be Just One Shirt Stud After Another

By DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, Mar. 5.—Can it truly be that the vulgarian enterprise they call boxing is to go genteel? Is the aristocracy "going slumming" for a new vogue by identifying itself actively with the pastime just as millionaire sportsmen race their horses? Must one prepare oneself to look to the society page for boxing or to the sport page for social chitchat or both?

Don't answer questions, ask them. It is cardinal rule for all seekers after information and I must confess that, any time "Tack" Hardwick and Eddie Mack occupy the same pullman stateroom, I am utterly baffled and must seek the light of understanding.

What Is the Answer?
What is the answer? Who is responsible for this impending transition from gutter to saloon? Some blame it on Brother Tunney, who is alleged to have lured the Better Element to the town of Detroit thing a grapple, because he regards the automobile city as rich territory and ripe for any sporting venture to which Dempsey may lend his name. He has already tied up with a group that will build a race track in Detroit as soon as the anticipated favorable legislative action is complete.

Dempey Tells Carey He Will Not Fight Unless His Venture Fails.
By SID MERCER
New York, March 5.—Jack Dempey is leaving Florida and will be here in a few days to tell William F. Carey that he is not going to fight again unless his Detroit racing proposition falls down, through failure to pass a law permitting the mutuels in Michigan.

Dempey Knows Something of Racing from the Standpoint of a Stable-owner and a Player.
He knows a little of the business end. In Florida he discovered that he had plenty to learn about a game he had played for years as a fighter. However, he got by in Florida by picking his spots and he ought to do just as well in racing.

Dempey Does Not Intend to Retire as a Boxing Promoter but He is Planning to Make Detroit a Base of Operations.
With Floyd Fitzsimmons to handle the detail work and himself to furnish a background for publicity purposes. The pair already contemplate staging a lightweight championship fight in Detroit at the baseball park and Dempey has made overtures to Kid Chocolate and other little fellows to perform for him.

Back in old John's head there is a lingering ambition to crawl into the ring once more himself to put his ducks up with some big boys who will tear into him.
He has a chance being flattened by one blow himself if he could trade with those lads whose idea is to peck him to pieces.

Jack Not to Fight
It is now the belief of Carey and other Garden officials that Dempey will not fight next summer, unless his Detroit bubble bursts and leaves him in need of old "ready." Jack isn't investing in the Michigan proposition but at the same time the money isn't rolling in as it used to and expenses are even higher.

He can get half a million guaranteed to fight and probably will make close to a million if he meets the right man.
Even if he gets a good break in his other affairs in Detroit, it is possible that Dempey will consider an early fall match in Canada. It could be staged at Windsor, just across the river from Detroit, and thus escape the heavy federal tax. In Canada the government tariff is 25 cents a person regardless of ticket price.

If this should come to pass the Garden will likely handle the promotion.
Dempey likes to deal with responsible people. He stuck to Rickard, who made him a millionaire, and now he has high regard for Carey, who teamed with him in Florida. They will have a talk here this week.

Boston, March 5.—Jack Dempey, it was announced today, will take part in a charity boxing card at the Boston Garden Friday night. According to Eddie Mack, promoter, Dempey will fight a three round exhibition preliminary to the Joe Dundee-Al Mello bout. Dempey's opponent was unnamed.

It was an arm for a natural hook and a devastating one.
Monroe's trunks are so high they are mindful of Jack Sharkey in the Dempey fight, when Sharkey had his pants so high the referee had to pull them down several times. Jefferies knocked out Monroe in the second round.

It goes back to Benny Leonard and Ritchie Mitchell, a couple of society men from Stillman's gymnasium, who consented to aid devastated France, at the behest of Anne Morgan.

Miss Morgan's behest was accompanied by a purse of about $150,000 and I will say the young man earned it.
Those lads put on a prize fight that evening and society, which attended the show as a duty, went away in a glorious daze. The chances are good that converts in High Places were made that night. The Dempey-Carpenter business must have helped, too.

Then Comes Tunney
Brother Tunney's appearance on the scene undoubtedly was fortuitous, for it established the fact that prize fighting wasn't always conducted in a manner calculated to make those of sweeter natures swoon right away in horror. The fact that the Better Element found itself intrigued by what went on probably had its influence in the shaping of Brother Tunney's self-determined destiny, too. But that doesn't explain the fact that Jack Sharkey, the ex-sailor, is living in the exclusive Chestnut Hill section of Boston, with a young millionaire for a patron; nor does it explain how it comes about that Johnny Buckley, the ex-truckman, is so busy attending Boston "first nights" that life has become one skirt stud after another.

No, the mere I think of it, the more I am convinced that I must ask myself one more question: Whither are we drifting and why not?

Meriden Endees Oppose Rec Five In Big Battle

NEW YORK GIRLS LIKE SPORTS OF ANY KIND

New York — March 5.—Believe it or not, sports, either in a gym or out-of-door, is the favorite pastime of New York's work-girls.

Of about 200 representative New York girls, forty-three expressed their preference for this sort of amusement, thirty-nine preferred reading while only 17 would "rather dance than anything else."

TOUGH ON ALEX

It is interesting to observe the demand being made for the services of those fellows who helped Alex Alexander turn out that crack football team at Georgia Tech last fall.

It may be remembered that Alex's team was defeated in the southland, that it defeated Notre Dame for the first time, and then eked out a victory over California in the annual Tournament of Roses game.

Don Miller was one of Alex's assistants. He coached the backs, and there is no need to tell anyone that he did a very swell job of it. Few teams had a better backfield than Georgia Tech had in Mizell, Thomason, Lumpkin and Durant.

When Ohio State appointed Sam William successor to Dr. Jack Wilce, the first step William made was to enlist Miller's services as backfield coach. The former Four Horseman lives in Cleveland, where he practices law nine months of the year, and the post was accepted.

Yale Wants Fincher
Another fellow whom Alex is quite willing to give ample credit for the part he played in the development of the Georgia Tech team, this year and other years, is Bill Fincher.

Fincher is one of the greatest players ever turned out in the south, and was an All-America line choice a number of years ago. Fincher, so the rumor has it, won't be back at Georgia Tech next fall. It is said he has been approached by Mal Stevens, the young Yale coach, with a proposition that would give the 211 situation his services as line coach during the football season.

If This Is True
Another interesting angle to this rumored offer to Fincher is that it may mean the breaking up of the graduate system of coaching at New Haven.

If the offer was made, and there seems ample reason to believe that Stevens did write Fincher to that effect, it can be taken for granted that Stevens didn't do so of his volition without the consent or approval of the football committee.

Their sanction of such an offer naturally implies that they are quite willing to have the forward wall at Yale directed by a coach other than one who learned his football at Yale.

Fincher's loss, added to Miller's departure, would be a severe blow to Georgia Tech football, but not one which would be so terrible that Bill Alexander couldn't get out from under.

He has said nothing of the rumored offer to Fincher. Atlanta newspapers, however, have been crying in alarm about it, and imploring the athletic authorities at Georgia Tech to do all in their power to keep Fincher for the "Tornado."

Being a graduate of Tech, Fincher may be a hard man to take away to New Haven. On the other hand, Yale is one of the richest schools in the country and well able to make an attractive offer to any man it really wants.

The moral to all this, if there is any, is that Alex is paying a penalty for all the honor heaped upon him and his football team last fall—the penalty of losing two major assistants who helped him make the team the outstanding one of the year.

At Philadelphia: Matt Adgie, Philadelphia light-heavyweight, won decision over Con O'Kelly, Irish heavyweight, 10.

At Newark, N. J.: Charlie Weisner, Newark heavyweight, won decision over Murray Gittits, of New Haven, Conn., 10.

Large Crowd Expected; Fans to Renew Acquaintance With Jack Curry, Former G Star; New Haven Girls Meet Rec in Preliminary; Dan Ahern to Referee.

PROBABLE LINEUPS

Rec Five — Meriden
Ty Holland — Jack Rothenfeld right forward
"Hank" McCann — Billy Cook left forward
Roy Norris — Jerry Conway
"Happy" Madden — Herm Cohen right guard
Geo. Stavinsky — "Red" Linger left guard

Ben Clune's Rec Five is all primed for its final effort to gain recognition in state championship basketball circles tonight at the expense of our old friend Jack Curry and his hustling Meriden Endees who at present are leading the muddled-up race for the state title.

The old G star is bringing a truly powerful quintet here in Rothenfeld, Cook, Conway, Cohen and Linger with McCarthy in reserve. This outfit has twice taken a fall out of Joe Carroll's Bristol Endees and any team that can turn that trick must be good even if it did do it before Bristol signed Richman, Bristol and Meriden meet again next Saturday night in the Silver City. A win for Meriden would just about clinch the title.

Although Manchester has been in a slump for the season while games, who knows but what it will surprise and turn back the Meridenites tonight. The Rec Five from top to bottom is just about fed-up on losing and promises to make it hot for all opposing teams the remainder of the season while games, which extend through the month of March and not end tonight as some have understood.

Roy Norris will be back at his regular berth at center for at least part of the game. And the chances are that he will be in there all of the forty minutes of the contest. The lineup after an absence of several games will be most welcome and may help turn the tide.

The presence of Curry at the helm of the Meriden outfit is bound to prove an attraction in itself. Old time fans here recall his fine work with the old G team years ago and will be on hand tonight to give him the glad hand he deserves. Jack is a real veteran of the game; one of the few still actively connected with the favorite indoor pastime in this section of the state. He is manager of the Endees and coach as well. At times, he dons a suit. Incidentally, Jack still can show the present day stars a few pointers about the game.

Jack Curry will not be the only old-timer here tonight. Danny Ahern of Middletown is slated to referee instead of Al Hubbard, as announced yesterday. Ahern played many games with Middletown against Manchester in those hallowed days gone by. He, too, will be in line for a renewal of acquaintance with old-time basketball fans here tonight.

The Rec Girls meet the All-Collegians of New Haven in the preliminary engagement. Dancing will follow the main attraction.

WISE, SMITH PLAN

NEW 10 STORY STORE

Will Go Up Beside Present Building on Site of Former Roberts Opera House.

Wise, Smith & Company, a leading department store of Hartford for thirty-one years, announces the most decided building expansion movement of its career with the announcement to-day that within one month the first step in erecting a new, large central unit for the establishment on Main street, to consist of ten floors for retail trade, will be started.

The new building, which will represent the ultimate in department store architecture and appointments, and which, it is said, will bring to Hartford shoppers some modern conveniences and facilities which have not yet reached the shopping center of New York, will present a new sixty-foot Main street front, extending from the present nine-story section of the store, which will remain.

Nine stories above ground, each floor representing an extension of the corresponding level in the present building to the south, which is now the latest of the Wise, Smith & Company group, and extending two floors below the street level, this future nucleus of a larger and yet more centralized department store system will increase the firm's floor space by over 100,000 square feet.

Roughly, the new Wise, Smith & Company establishment, which will be rushed into its new form, with the certainty of functioning in the additional quarters some time to-ward the latter part of the year, will present a facade on Main street of an aggregate frontage of 172 feet, while the addition will go back to a depth of over 200 feet. The rear of the entire property measures forty feet more than the front.

The old opera house stage, Roberts opera house, associated with the memory of some of the greatest actors, singers and celebrities of the nineteenth century, will be razed, along with other property on the site of the new project.

On the old opera house stage a parade of distinguished persons, including Edwin Booth, Fanny Davenport, Ole Bull and Adeline Pattil appeared in succession before Hartford audiences for several decades.

A sense of unity between the present high building in the department store group and the new one, which will match it in height will be achieved by carrying out across the entire front a new single cornice effect and ground floor exterior appearance matching the modern theme of the new companion section. It has not been fully decided what combination of stone facing and trim will be used on the front.

New York Architects
 Dennison and Hiron, New York architects, who designed the newly occupied quarters of the Hartford National Bank and Trust company, at Pearl and Main streets, have been selected by the department store to draw up the plans. In the new structure, which will embody a combination of stone exterior, in all probability, the keynote is a blend of beauty and utility. The firm promises that the shoppers of Hartford and surrounding towns will herewith find the ultimate in department store architecture, a field which in the last few years has made great strides in meeting the demand of an increasingly discriminating public. Representatives of Wise, Smith and company have completed a tour of the country, especially in the middle west where some of the most modern stores have reached completion, in order to bring to this local venture the best available data on which to build.

Although the exact date of starting the job has not been decided, it is announced that the first step will be either just before or just after Easter, which is March 31. When all is completed, some time this year, the present companion building of nine stories will also greet customers with a new face both outside and in, according to the announcement to the effect that all fixtures and much of the equipment of the present store will be modernized.

Word-blindness, the inability to learn to read and spell, was originally thought to be due to feeble-mindedness, but now it is suggested that the causes may be traced to defective development in the temporal lobe of the brain.

MAN'S CLOTHES SLASHED
 Boston, March 5.—While more than 100 policemen and detectives, aided by elevated railway guards, today hunted two subway "sneakers" suspects—a man and a woman with a horseshoe ring—Thomas J. Ryan, elevator operator at police headquarters, has his overcoat cut from shoulder to shoulder while enroute from Schollay Square to Kenore Square. Heretofore, the "subway sneaker" had confined his or her efforts to cutting the fur coats of women, 37 having been victims.

ABANDON MATINEE

OF SOC-BUSKIN PLAY

There will no matinee performance of "Pals First," the Sock and Buskin production to be presented Friday evening, 8 o'clock, at Cheney Hall. The illness of Jacob Rubinow, who was to play one of the principal parts, has made necessary several changes in the cast, and it is deemed inadvisable to attempt a matinee performance.

James Wilson, president of the Sock and Buskin Club, who made a hit in "The Whole Town's Talking," will replace Rubinow. Mary Reardon and Victor Swanson play the other leads.

Tickets for Friday night may be obtained at Kemp's Music House, Bidwell's and the School Street Rec. This play is for the benefit of Good Three, Washington Trip Fund.

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE:

Bayard
 Sketches by Bessey; Synopsis by Draucher

It was after a great battle in which Francis I, the new king of France, was victorious, that Bayard was called upon for a signal honor. The king, desiring to be made a knight, knelt before Bayard and the brave soldier placed a sword upon his shoulder creating him a knight.

When the queen asked one of her generals why he could not capture such a "crazy pigeon house," he replied "there was an eagle in it."

Coventry Choral Club met with Bolton Choral Club Monday evening to work on the cantata "The Father of Waters."

Coventry Choral Club will meet Wednesday evening of this week at the home of Mrs. A. J. Vinton instead of Tuesday evening.

Coventry Grange, No. 75, P. O. II, will meet at their hall Thursday evening. The program is in charge of the graces and a very interesting program is being planned. A short sketch about advertising appearing on the stage. A debate will be a feature of the evening.

Friday evening Mrs. Barne's Sunday School class will meet at the chapel.

Miss Gladys Orcutt and friend Miss Helen Donavan of New London spent their vacation last week with friends and relatives in Bristol, Vt., returning home Sunday.

Representative Franklin Orcutt and Louis Daniels also Secretary of State W. L. Higgins and Judge Gillman went to Washington, D. C. Sunday to attend the inauguration returning home in time to attend the Legislature this morning.

Anyone interested in the new State road connecting Rockville and Coventry should attend the hearing to be held Wednesday of this week at 1:30 p. m., Room 65 at the Capitol.

Plans are under way for a minstrel show and chicken pie supper for March 26. This will be under the auspices of the Coventry Choral Club.

Two new biographies of presidents are called "This Man Adams" and "Meet General Grant." The smart literary gentlemen of the day should get a step farther. How about such titles as "Van, Van the President man," "Hey, Hey, Hayes, and perhaps "Getting Grover's Goat?"

GAS BUGGIES—A Word to the Wise

THE SOONER SOMEBODY POISONS THAT GUY, DRESSER, THE BETTER I'LL LIKE IT. EVER SINCE HE'S BECOME SALES MANAGER, THIS DRAB HASN'T GIVEN ME A TITTLE NO WONDER ALEC WAS WILD WHEN HE TRIED TO HOG VIOLA.

ARE YOU SURE THAT IS ALL, SIR?

SHE'S ALWAYS IN THERE TALKING TO DRESSER. WHEN HE GIVES HER DICTATION SHE ACTS LIKE A KID GETTING CANDY.

GOD MORNING, SIMPSON! YOU SAY YOU HAVE A SUGGESTION! IS IT REGARDING THE BOOKS?

IN A WAY, YES. IT OCCURRED TO ME THAT WE MIGHT HANDLE OUR CUSTOMERS ACCOUNTS BETTER IF THE NEW SALES MANAGER CALLED ON THEM PERSONALLY FOR FIRST-HAND INFORMATION.

DRESSER COULD SORT OF TOUR AROUND THE TERRITORY... IT WOULD TAKE HIM SOME TIME TO COVER IT. FIGHT! NOT A BAD IDEA... SIMPSON DESERVES A REWARD FOR THAT SUGGESTION.

Bayard met his death, which was worthy of his whole life, while with a few men he was holding back the Spaniards from pursuing the French army which was retreating from a difficult position. Raising his sword to his lips, he commanded his followers to turn and face the foe. (Next: Carlo Borromeo)

BLUE CRANE
PURE SILK HOSIERY

$1.00
Pair

Although we have sold thousands of pairs of Blue Crane Pure Silk Stockings to satisfied customers in the past year, we are featuring Blue Crane Stockings this week so that more Manchester women and girls may become acquainted with this particular brand. Blue Crane service weight stockings are fashioned from pure silk and may be had with the slenderizing pointed heels or the practical square heels. They have 3-inch lisle tops for long wearing. The snug, closely-fitting ankle and foot is a very distinctive feature of Blue Crane Hosiery, a process of knitting exclusive with Blue Crane.

Featuring Seven New Spring Shades
Including the Popular "Sun Tan" Colors

NATURELLE—A delicate, pastel shade with a flesh tone, giving the appearance of nudity. Good for evening, as well as daytime wear.

NAIVE—A beige color with a delicate nude cast—for the Light Brown and Beige costumes, as well as for sports and resort ensembles.

ILLUSION—A rich sophisticated Grey for Spring, with a pronounced Mauve cast—will be especially popular for evening wear.

ALLURE—A warm Beige and another of the cosmetic shades, which will exactly match the healthy Sunburn of a brilliant complexion.

SUN TAN—A deep, full tone Beige, like the smooth Gypsy sunburn now so popular with the younger set—good for town wear and the vogue at smart resort places.

MISTERY—An almost neutral Beige that goes so well with Palm Beach Pastels. Of cosmetic origin—it is extremely stylish for both town and bathing beaches.

SUN BLUSH—A slightly deeper shade of Sun Tan with more of the blush, and with a rosy undertone. Suggests the darker skin bronzed by the sun and wind. Matches exactly the Ochre face powder now so popular.

PHONES Pinehurst
"GOOD THINGS TO EAT"

THE GOOD OLD C. B.

We won't say that no one, unless he has eaten Pinehurst Corned Beef, can possibly know how good corned beef can be, but we will say that those who have always eaten merely ordinary corned beef haven't any idea how good Pinehurst Corned Beef is. Pinehurst Corned Beef is very high grade beef to begin with, it is corned while in perfect condition—and it is PERFECTLY CORNED. The result is a revelation to a good many persons the first time they try the kind that comes from this store. There are many lean pieces in the vats today. Tell us what cut you best like, and that's the cut we'll send you.

Just now there's hardly any difference between the wholesale price of STRICTLY FRESH LOCAL EGGS and the Fresh Western Variety. We are selling the locals at 55 cents; the Rockville eggs are 58 cents. It hardly pays to bother with Westerns at these prices.

Incoming are some more of those delightful fresh Green Beans, at a considerable lowering in price. Also fresh Green Peas, which are now two quarts for 33 cents. We have, too, some extremely nice new Spinach and New Carrots.

It might be as well, if you plan to order the materials for a Boiled Dinner, to call up and get in your order for precisely the kind of a piece of Corned Beef as soon as possible. Folks seem to jump at our kind of C. B. whenever we feature it.

Deliveries at your convenience, any time of day after 8 o'clock in the morning. All you have to do is to suggest when you'd like the goods to arrive. Don't forget the popular 3:30 p. m. delivery.

TAKES 6 MINUTES TO LAY TAX RATE

Short Session of Few Voters
Endorses 15 3-4 Mills
Recommended by Board.

About 60 voters, including half a dozen women, attended the adjourned annual town meeting in the High school assembly hall last evening and in the short space of six minutes voted to accept the recommendation of the Board of Selectmen and laid a 15 3-4 mill tax. In addition the meeting in special session voted to accept the selectmen's layout of four different streets.

Owing to the illness of Police Commissioner W. B. Rogers, who presided at the annual town meeting in October, Judge Raymond A. Johnson was named as presiding officer at both the adjourned and special meetings. John H. Hyde, chairman of the board of selectmen, told the meeting that the board had studied the budget very carefully and had come to the conclusion that a 15 3-4 mill tax would be sufficient. The grand list as finally completed is $52,732,297.

He then introduced the following resolution which was voted without a dissenting vote:

"That a tax rate of 15 3-4 mills on the dollar for payment of state tax, tax for maintenance and support of the State Guard, current expenses and expenses of the common schools and high schools, of this town, be and the same is hereby levied on the taxable estate of the town as of October 1st, 1928, according to the respective assessments thereon last made and completed, this tax to be due and payable on the first day of April, 1929."

The laying of the town tax was the only business before the adjourned meeting. The special meeting followed and it accepted the layouts of St. James street, Strickland street extension, Henry street extension and Oxford street extension.
