REBELS LOSE 2,000 TROOPS IN TWO DAYS

Battered Remnants of Once Proud Army Now Retreating Into Hills North of La Reforma, Chihuahua.

Mexico City, April 4.—The battered remnants of the once proud rebel army of Gen. J. Gonzalo Escobar today retreated into the hills north of La Reforma, Chihuahua after suffering almost complete annihilation at the hands of Gen. J. Andreu Almazan's federal army in one of the bloodiest battles of the present revolution.

The rebels fell into a federal trap at La Reforma, 12 miles north of Jimenez. Evacuating Jimenez after suffering losses estimated at 2,000 in the two day battle there, what was left of their original army of 6,000 retreated to La Reforma.

There they found that the railway bridge had been burned down the day before by federal cavalry. While attempting to repair the bridge, pursuing federal cavalry led by Gen. Anacleto Castellon fell upon them and the battle began.

Rebels Dig In

The rebels hastily dug in behind entrenchments and began the most heroic stand yet seen in this revolution. Federal airplanes flew overhead dropping destructive bombs. Then the federal infantry came up to reinforce the attacking cavalry. Finally the federal brought their artillery into play.

Protected by a heavy artillery barrage, the federal infantry charged time and again. The casualties were heavy on both sides. Quarter was neither asked nor given. It was a fight to a finish.

In the midst of the battle, Gen. Almazan, impressed by the defense of the rebels, sent a courier back from the front lines to the field radio with the following laconic message for Gen. Plutarco Calles, generalissimo of all the federal forces whose headquarters are at Bermejillo:

Many Casualties

"The rebels are fighting like Mexicans."

The battle waxed furiously. Machine guns on both sides took a heavy toll but the rebels above began to show great effectiveness. From the federal side, the rebel dead could be seen lying upon the ground in heaps.

Then came the turning point of the battle. Gen. Almazan sent Gen. Lopez against the rebel left flank. Meanwhile the federal infantry

VACCINATION BILL LEADS TO DEBATE

House Finally Rejects Measure That Would Exempt Conscientious Objectors.

Hartford, April 4.—A measure to permit conscientious objectors to obtain exemption from vaccination for their children in a fight in the House here today. The bill finally was rejected by an oral vote with about a dozen votes against the unfavorable report from the Judiciary committee. Reimers, of Durham, led the fight to save the bill, with a long speech. Defends Committee

Col. Le Da Cour, of Stratford, upheld the committee. He declared that vaccination of soldiers in the World War was of great benefit to them and that he believed they were as altruistic as any group in our state.

Judge Peck forced the vote after Judge Johnson, of Manchester, had posed the debate by the remark that the gentleman from Durham had said a lot but he had said very little about vaccination.

The House then rejected a pro-

CRAZED SLAYER HAD HANDCUFFS TO HOLD GIRL

Wilton, Conn., Man, 49, Kills School Girl, 18 and Then Commits Suicide—Leaves Diary Behind.

Wilton, April 4.—Insane from brooding over the affairs of life in general, Edwin Melhuish, 49, shot and killed Mary Yates, 18-year-old high school girl, and then killed himself here late yesterday, leaving behind him a written record of what he had been considering. State police attached to the Ridgefield barracks found the writings of Melhuish today when they pushed their examination into the tragedy. They found also a pair of handcuffs that perhaps the man intended to use on his victim if he could get control of her.

Had Handcuffs Ready

Letters and the handcuffs were in Melhuish's overcoat. The letters, apparently intended as a diary, described the man's infatuation for the girl. There were other things on the letters which have not been mentioned. One end of the pair of handcuffs was closed the other open and ready for use.

In the course of their investigation state police found that Melhuish until two months ago, had a responsible position with the Southern Pacific railroad in his New York office. He had worked there for years, commuting from Wilton. But two months ago he was discharged. "Neglect of duty" was the reason given by the railroad for his discharge. Melhuish was forever thinking about something else beside his work while he sat at his desk in New York.

State police also learned that Melhuish had been bothering pretty Miss Yates for a year. She was a close friend of his daughter, Elaine, sixteen, and only a short time ago went on a trip with the Melhuish family. The Yates family finally learned that the man was annoying Mary. They were hard put to defend her. Things reached the pass where the Yates family sent their son with her sister whenever she went out with Elaine Melhuish. Once, in the recent winter, they went skating together, and the boy was forced to tell Melhuish to "mind your business" when he bothered his sister.

Takes Daughter Home

The children went to Norwalk high school as usual yesterday morning. When school closed for the day Melhuish was waiting outside. He picked up his daughter and another Wilton girl to carry them home. He ignored Mary Yates who went home on the school bus. In Wilton Melhuish, having taken the two girls home, finally picked up the school bus, driving behind it and singing. The children recall his chief song was "Hall, Hall, the Gang's All Here."

Mary Yates left the bus at the Wilton library and went inside for a while. Then she came out, intending to walk home. Melhuish drove up and offered her a "lift." The girl climbed in.

Coolidges Live Like Millions Of Others

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second of two outstanding stories by Rodney Dutcher, Washington correspondent for The Herald and NEA Service. Yesterday, Dutcher described the daily routine of President Hoover in the White House. Today, in the following story from Northampton, Mass., he describes in intimate detail the daily life of Ex-President and Mrs. Coolidge, now that they are private citizens again.

By RODNEY DUTCHER, Northampton, Mass., April 4.—Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge have been private citizens for a full month today.

Almost from the time they left the capital during the Hoover inauguration ceremonies, they began living just like millions of other Americans do. Already Northampton seems to look upon Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge as townfolks, rather than a former president and first lady.

"We want to live like our friends

Local Committee to Quit Solicitation of Funds Though State Grants License.

"I do not feel that the local committee should make any renewal of their request for funds," said Frank Cheney, Jr., chairman of the Manchester China Famine Relief committee, after learning that a license to solicit funds in this state had been granted to the organization yesterday by Secretary Julius J. Hadley of the State Department of Public Welfare on the advice of the board of directors of the department following a meeting between the officials of both organizations.

"Nearly $2,000 has already been solicited from Manchester citizens and in comparison with the quota of larger cities I believe that Manchester has contributed her share," he added. Manchester's original quota was $5,000. Worcester and Hartford, cities much larger than this town have quotas of only $20,000.

Will Cease Activities

This means that all activities of the local committee will be dropped. The money received to date will be turned over to the China Famine Relief headquarters in New York City for distribution, but no further solicitation will be made.

Following a long session with the board of directors of the Department of Public Welfare, officials of the China Famine Relief said that the campaign in the state would be resumed immediately and that Rev. Dr. Rockwell Harmon Potter, former pastor of Center church, Hartford, and dean of the Hartford Theological Seminary, would act as a national committeeman in this state.

Given Clean Bill

Connecticut's quota in the appeal for emergency funds was set at $30,000, according to the officials. All money collected will be turned over to the China Famine Relief headquarters in New York City.

MORGAN'S CASE NOT LIKELY TO COME TO TRIAL

Customs Inspector Swears That Congressman Brought in Liquor Despite Denials from Washington.

New York, April 4.—Prosecution of William M. Morgan, the "Bone Dry" Congressman from Ohio accused of violating the dry law, appeared to be unlikely today in spite of the testimony developed in United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle's investigation to the effect that Morgan did not bring in four bottles of liquor when he landed at this port from Panama on March 25.

The alleged contraband (two bottles of whiskey and two of champagne), Customs Inspector Louis E. Crawford told Tuttle Morgan informed him, was intended for his wife's father, and the Congressman claimed "free entry" privileges of his baggage into this port.

Although Morgan may escape prosecution, the spectacular incident in which he is playing the leading role, may have one far-reaching effect. Swift action to repeal the "free entry" privileges of Congressmen was foreseen as a result of the investigation.

"Not Finally Closed"

There will be no Federal Grand Jury action, it was asserted by Tuttle, although he admitted the case is "not finally closed." Tuttle int-

HOOVER COMPLETES HIS FIRST MONTH

Many Changes Introduced by New President in Last Four Weeks.

Washington, April 4.—Herbert Hoover completed the first month of his presidency today.

It has been a month of intense activity, witnessing the overthrow of some major Coolidge policies, the retention of others, and, in general, the charting of the course for the next four years.

That there is a new administration in the White House—and not merely a continuation of the old—Washington no longer doubts.

Innovations and renovations have been introduced, and more are to follow as the new regime settles to its tasks.

In his first month in the presidency, Mr. Hoover has done these things:

Called Congress into special session for the purpose of revising the tariff upward and dealing with the agricultural problem.

Reversed the oil policy of the previous administration by withdrawing all public lands from leasing and prospecting, and announcing a policy of strict conservation.

Ordered publicity for all tax refunds and abatements in excess of

WATKINS SAID EGAN 'PUT OVER' HIS DEALS

Pass Emergency Law To Legalize Wedding

Hartford, April 4.—Emergency legislation was passed by both Houses of the General Assembly today so that the marriage of a New Britain couple, now on their honeymoon "on the high seas," might be valid. The couple are Stanton E. Ashley and Miss Elva McCurdy who were wed in Shuttle Meadow Club, New Britain, after taking a marriage license out in that city.

After the couple had departed someone discovered that the room in which they were married was really in the town of Berlin. Friends appealed to the legislature which acted with promptness today and sent the resolution to the engrossing clerk.

Gov. Trumbull is expected to sign the bill by tomorrow.

"When I want Something Put Over I See Mr. Egan"

Broker Told Accountant Who Found Books of Concern in Sorry Mess; Watkins, Himself, May Take the Stand Late This Afternoon.

Hartford, April 4.—"When I want legal advice I go to Mr. Shipman. When I want something put over, I go to Mr. Egan." Such was the practice of Roger W. Watkins, now serving a prison term, when Watkins was head of a brokerage house here.

Seth Hatfield, head of a public accounting firm, today told Judge Isaac Wolfe in Superior Court, that Watkins made the statement to him in November, 1927. The conversation grew out of an audit of the books of the Winthrop, Gregory Co., at the request of the Hartford Courant, which had refused to accept any more advertising from the company until an audit had been made. Hatfield told Judge Wolfe he recommended that the Courant take no more advertising from the concern.

The books of the concern were not written up, and "there was not a sign of an asset," Mr. Hatfield said. Watkins, then head of the concern, asked Mr. Hatfield what he should do about it all.

"See your lawyer," Mr. Hatfield replied, and then Watkins remarked: "When I want legal advice I go to Mr. Shipman; when I want anything put over I go to Mr. Egan."

DOUBLE FUNERAL SERVICE FOR MYRON T. HERRICK

One at American Embassy and Other at Pro-Cathedral—All Paris Mourns for Myron T. Herrick.

Paris, April 4.—While all Paris mourned as though a beloved son of France had passed, a double funeral service was held today for Myron T. Herrick, late American ambassador.

The first service was held at the United States Embassy. Then the body was borne to the American Pro-Cathedral where the final ceremonies took place. The body was then placed in a temporary vault preparatory to shipment to Brest. From Brest it will be carried to the United States upon the French cruiser Tourville.

Three speakers paid tribute to the memory of the diplomat. Premier Poincaré spoke for France, and Senator Quinones de Leon, Spanish ambassador and dean of the diplomatic corps, expressed the sorrow of his fellow envoys.

Flags were at half mast on Eiffel Tower and throughout the city. Silent crowds stood with bowed heads as the hearse, bearing the body, passed to the American Pro-Cathedral. Airplanes draped overhead in majestic sweeps adding another touch of honor to the widespread tributes of the French Republic.

The Embassy service was official and was confined to members of the French and American governments, the diplomatic corps and representatives of American organizations in France. There were no women present.

Military Guard.

Outside the Embassy in the Avenue D'Iena a military guard from the garrison of Paris was drawn up. It consisted of companies of infantry and the Republican guard.

The streets to the church were lined by a double row of soldiers with fixed bayonets holding back the crowd.

The flag draped coffin was placed in the hearse before the Embassy at 10:40 o'clock as a French military band played The Star-Spangled Banner. As the cortege proceeded to the church the only sounds were the tramp of feet and the roar of airplane motors.

The people lining the streets, most of whom were little French and American flags, stood silent.

Two Marshals Present.

Two marshals of France were in the procession—Marshal Pétain and Marshal Franchet D'Esperey.

Marshal Joffre, the hero of the First Battle of the Marne, was invited but owing to a crippled knee was unable to march. His injury prevented him from appearing in the procession at the funeral of Marshal Foch.

Marshal Lyautey also was absent.

With so many distinguished Americans taking part, it was a fitting circumstance that the funeral procession passed a statue of George Washington, the greatest of

PROHIBITION SPY TELLS HIS STORY

Says He Is Made the Goat by Officials in the De King Killing.

Aurora, Ill., April 4.—Eugene Body Fairchild, Dry informer, whose admittedly false affidavit describing the purchase of liquor from Mrs. Lillian de King led to her death in a dry raid on her home, was back in Aurora today where he faces arrest on a perjury charge.

Fairchild, who "disappeared" shortly before the perjury warrant was issued on his own admissions during the inquest at Geneva, was found in Springfield, Ill., by a representative of International News Service after officials of Kane county had been unable to locate him.

The Dry sleuth returned voluntarily to Kane county, stating he had not "run away," and that he was anxious to tell his side of the story.

Fairchild bitterly denounced State's Attorney George Carbery of Kane county and his chief prohibition investigator Walter Millar, he declared Millar gave him $15 and told him to "get out of town and stay out for a while."

Millar today admitted he gave Fairchild the money, but denied that he told him to leave town. He said Fairchild said he was "broke" but did not say what he wanted the money for.

"Not Fleeing Justice."

"I am not fleeing justice," Fairchild told the reporter who located him. "I left Geneva hours before that warrant charging me with perjury was issued to wake up."

"I came to Springfield to see my lawyer."

"I'm not trying to hide. I'm sick and tired of being pushed around by Carbery and Millar. They've been making me the goat and I'm just beginning to wake up."

"Millar gave me $15 today and told me to get out of the county and stay out."

Known Where He Was.

"Why should I? Why should I take the rap for them?"

"Why have they kept telling the newspapers that they don't know where to find me so that an air of mystery has been cast around me?"

"I don't know anything about law. I signed that affidavit for a search warrant to enter the De King home because I was told to. I didn't even read it."

"I trusted them that everything was according to its proper form and was only following orders."

"Why should all the blame be put on me?"

Had No Experience.

"I never had any investigating experience before. I only took the job for Millar to get experience so I could make application for a Federal position."

"I had no idea that I was committing a perjury."

"After the shooting of Mrs. De King others than myself realized that they were in a hot spot and tried to keep me away so that it would look like the whole fault was mine, that I was the only one guilty."

"After the shooting I was told that I had better go some place outside of the county until public sentiment cooled down a little."

"I did. I went to my father's home in Odell, Ill. What was the result? Nobody in the state's attorney's office would admit that they knew where I was. Everybody then naturally thought I was hiding because I was guilty of the whole thing."

"I'm through keeping under cover."

REBELS SHOOT DOWN FOES BOMBING PLANE

Pilot and Mechanic Killed When Machine Explodes High Over Lines.

Naco, Arizona, April 4.—The pilot and a mechanic of a federal bombing plane were killed today when rebel anti-aircraft fire brought the plane down while flying over rebel troops just south of Naco, Sonora.

The plane was seen flying over the rebel troops dropping bombs when suddenly it was a terrific explosion in mid air. The demolished plane fell in a black cloud of smoke.

It is believed that rebel bullets scored a direct hit on its cargo of bombs causing them to explode.

Pilot Gutierrez was at the controls of the plane but the name of his companion is not known.

Advices from rebel sources said that only fragments of the bodies of the two fliers remained in the wreckage of the plane which fell within the rebel lines.

FISH, GAME DINNER A ROUSING SUCCESS

250 Members Attend Annual Session at Odd Fellows Hall Last Night.

Upwards of 250 members of the Manchester Fish and Game club, with their friends and invited guests, crowded into the Odd Fellows banquet hall last night for the annual dinner of the organization.

Every possible bit of space was utilized to accommodate the crowd. It was by far the most successful affair the organization has yet held.

The enthusiasm not only of the officials of the club but of the members was apparent on all sides. Every gathering forgot all formalities and went in for a jollification that was worth while.

The club had as its guests, John W. Titcomb, superintendent of the State Board of Fisheries and Game, Senator C. E. Wheeler and H. True, Senator of the Fish and Game Commission.

In addition there were delegates present from Coventry, Rockville, Bolton, Talcottville, Hartford, Glastonbury, Willimantic, South Willington and Stafford.

Chief Urbanos served one of his famous roast chicken dinners. Souvenirs were distributed and fishing prizes were awarded to the holders of lucky ticket stubs given out as door prizes.

WHETHER OR NOT HERALD ADS PRODUCE RESULTS.

Last night's Herald carried an advertisement stating that 14 dresses would be sold at the Sport Shop on Thursday morning for one dollar each; value up to $9.95. Forty-three women were on hand at 9 o'clock this morning to take advantage of the offer!

given hearty applause at the conclusion of his interesting talk. President "Bob" McKinney of the local fish and game club, was the final speaker of the evening.

DROPS CHINA RELIEF HERE AS BAN LIFTS

State Department of Public Welfare after Wednesday afternoon's meeting, members of the Welfare Board said they were convinced that the assurances given by the officials of the China Famine Relief, as to the integrity of the appeal were adequate to conform to statutory requirements of "reasonable standards of efficiency and integrity."

The board also pointed out that the permit was never denied but merely tabled, pending the investigation of information received by the department which they considered important in determining whether or not to grant or refuse the license.

Acting as spokesman for China Famine Relief, Dr. Sidney L. Gulick, secretary of the organization and secretary of the Commission on International Justice and Goodwill of the Federal Churches of Christ in America, voiced the regrets of China Famine Relief in an apology for starting the campaign in this state before a license had been granted as required by statute.

Other officials admitted at the meeting that they had negotiated with the Association for the Welfare of the Children of China, incorporated in New York City, as to whether or not a joint appeal for funds might not be of more benefit, but no contract was made to that effect, they said.

CURTIS SHATTERS SOCIAL PRECEDENT

Orford Parish Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution will hold its April meeting Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Mrs. C. R. Burr of Main street. Reports of the delegates to the state convention at Windsor in March will be given.

Miss Minnie Rock is chairman of the large card party which the High school teachers will give in the High school assembly hall Tuesday evening, April 9. Miss Marguerite Oates is chairman of the ticket committee and members of the faculty are working enthusiastically to sell tickets and make up tables, Bridge and straight, which will be played with prizes in each section and refreshments. The social will be given in the nature of an alumni reunion and the proceeds will be turned over to the trustees of the Verplanck Foundation, a fund for the purpose of assisting worthy High school students in obtaining higher education.

The Wapping Grange Dramatic club presents their play, "A Poor Married Man," with great facilities at Second Congregational church last evening. The leading man figured in an automobile accident in another town and was unable to take part, and one of the principal women character fell a victim to measles. Mrs. Arthur Sharp of Wapping director of the play explained their dilemma save several recitations while waiting for another young man from the place to fill the part of the part in question. One or two of the young ladies of the club volunteered musical numbers. When the play finally got under way the cast found the audience both sympathetic and appreciative of their efforts. OBITUARY DEATHS

Mrs. Ada Anderson. Mrs. Edward (Ada Augusta Peterson) Anderson of 27 Hackmatack street died at her home shortly after midnight last night following a brief illness. She was 55 years old.

Mrs. Anderson was born in Sweden and she and her husband have been residents of Manchester for 33 years. In addition to her husband, Mrs. Anderson leaves three daughters and three sons, Elsa, Ada, Gudrun, Albert, Einar and Martin, all of whom live at home; five brothers, Ernest, Emanuel, Carl, and Einar Peterson of this town and Elsie Peterson of Sweden; also two sisters, Mrs. Anton Carlson of Burnside and Miss Millcent Peterson of San Francisco, Cal.

Mrs. Anderson was a member of the Swedish Lutheran church and a member of the Scandia Order of the Polaris. Her funeral will be held at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon at the home on Hackmatack street. Rev. P. J. O'Connell, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church, will officiate. Burial will be in the East cemetery.

RIGHT OF WAY PREVENTS POLISH LAND PURCHASE

Site of Cemetery Chosen But Price Agreement and Rights Must Be Decided Upon.

The question of a right of way over property from the east end of Mill street, a dead end street, for a distance of about 500 feet to the entrance of an eight acre plot which the Polish Independent Catholic Church Inc. wishes to use as a cemetery has prevented the completion of the sale of the property.

It so happens that the property, known as the Scandia Order of the Polaris, is owned by four or five different heirs and while most of them live in Connecticut they are not located in any one town. Their consent to the purchase of the land has not been secured. There has been no agreement to buy the property. The body of a seven year old child is in the Buckland cemetery vault, being held until such time as a cemetery can be purchased.

ABOUT TOWN

The Carlyle Johnson company of Manchester is not considering entering the outdoor market business. The company has been in the business for some time but the demand for their goods has not been as great as they have made of the present lines they are manufacturing has led them to feel that the change back to the making of motors will not warrant breaking up their present factory system.

Starting Thursday, April 24 and lasting for eight days the Jewish Passover will be observed. For two days the members of the Hebrew race will refrain from work, that being on Thursday and Friday, but will again return to work until the eighth day when the period ends. The annual meeting of the Manchester United and Athletic Association will be held Monday evening, April 8. The report of the officers for the year will be given and terms that expire will be filled and also a president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer and assistant treasurer.

DON'T BE ILL MONDAY AND SPOIL M. D.'S FUN

They'll All Be at Chamber Dinner, Close to Phone, However, If Needed.

Manchester people who are planning their annual illnesses should not pick Monday evening, April 8, as all the doctors will be at the Chamber of Commerce Reservations for fourteen has been reserved for the medical profession. In case of emergency however, they will be easily reached, as someone will be on duty at the telephone during the entire evening. Reservations promise to exceed those of any previous year. The committee wishes to emphasize the hour of the dinner, which will be served at 6:30 sharp, and diners are urged to be present, ready to file into the dining room to the strains of martial music by Behrend's Paramount orchestra.

Several new humorous features will be introduced by Harry Butts, the professional song leader. The committee has the assurance of Dr. Elbert Shelton, chief chemist in Cheney Brothers' research laboratory, that there is no possible danger from the gas filled balloons which will be one feature of the evening. Timid persons had yearned the fear that there might be danger in the presence of these balloons. Mr. Shelton points out that unless they are exploded in very close proximity to one's face, no danger can possibly result. That dinner reservations close tomorrow, Friday, at 6 p. m., and that, after that, table parties which have not been completed will be filled at the discretion of the committee and seating. The importance of making up table parties is urged, as this contributes largely to the pleasure of the evening.

Aids Canadians Get Their Papers—Deportation of Little Account Here.

Through the efforts of Miss Jessie Reynolds, R. N., the effect of the deportation of Canadian citizen who have come into Manchester, will hardly be noticed here. Miss Reynolds, as a member of the British American club, has done much to have the men and women who have come into Connecticut take out their naturalization papers. In most cases all have their first papers.

Miss Reynolds is not a native of Canada, being born in the West Indies, but came to Connecticut as a public health nurse and has long been connected with the Ninth District. She left Manchester to enlist in the nursing service of the British forces, going to Canada, before the United States entered the war. She remained in service working on transport boats after the war conveying wounded and sick soldiers back from France and England to Canada.

KIWANIS DIRECTORS IN MEETING TODAY

At a well attended meeting of the board of directors of the Manchester Kiwanis club this noon at the Franklin school, routine business was transacted and plans for the annual minstrel show were discussed at length. This entertainment will be put on at the State theater on Wednesday afternoon and evening, May 22. William Hallows of the Southern New England Telephone company who has been ill is back on the job and will have charge of the major part of the program, which promises to be an excellent one. Mr. Halsted has had considerable experiences putting on shows of a similar nature in Windsor. The chorus has already begun rehearsing and the end men and those having specialties are working on their parts.

NEW LIBRARY BOOKS

The following books were added to the South Manchester library this week: Action, and other stories, by C. E. Montague; Anthology of World Poetry, edited by Mark Van Doren; Best Plays of 1927-1928, edited by Burns Mantle; Black Abbot, by Edgar Wallace.

McCORMACK RETURNS

New York, April 4.—John McCormack, famous Irish tenor, back in New York today after a trip to Europe, intimated that he is greatly interested in sound pictures and may consider proposition to appear in them. The singer will appear at Carnegie Hall here Sunday night and will make a tour, including Boston, Chicago, Minneapolis, Cleveland and Columbus.

proposal to establish a state normal school at Waterbury. The bill called for the sum of $8,000,000. Mrs. Dowling, of Stratford, reported for the committee, declaring that there was no need for such a school and that no one had appeared in committee in favor of it.

PUBLIC RECORDS

Lease. The Manchester Theater company to Maurice T. Quish and Mark H. Peterson, store located at No. 735 Main and cellar for a term of three years. The lease gives to the said Peterson the exclusive rights to sell confectionary and cigars and tobacco in the state building.

TAKING NO CHANCES. Chicago, April 4.—John Landis, investment broker who came here recently from Boston, today purchased the home of Charles C. Fitzmorris, former chief of police, whose home was bombed recently. Landis inserted an advertisement in the newspapers which called attention to the purchase. "I just wanted the bombers to be sure that Mr. Fitzmorris had been protected," he said.

CRAZED SLAYER HAD HANDCUFFS TO HOLD GIRL

out, unhurt. Melhusch seized the girl and she fought him off. He ran to the car and came back, waving a revolver. He fired two shots into her body. Thorpe dashed at Melhusch who ordered him away, and turned the revolver at him. Thorpe dodged behind a tree and a second later a bullet buried itself into the other side of the tree.

Takes Poison. Melhusch ran to his car again and this time turned around with an orange. He went down the road a few feet and climbed the wall in Thorpe's view, sucking the orange. Suddenly he made a wry face, and turned the revolver, which he had been holding, against his head. He shot himself through the head, dying instantly.

The orange, it was found later, had been covered with cyanide of potassium. In the man's coat was a bottle of the same poison. The man found that taste too bitter.

There will be no inquest into the two deaths. Dr. Ernest H. Smith, a leading medical examiner, made his official investigation and issued a statement declaring the affair "murder and suicide."

DOUBLE FUNERAL FOR AMBASSADOR

American patriots, on the way to the cathedral. His Decorations. The coffin was followed into the church by the bearer of Ambassador Herrick's Legion of Honor decorations.

Two gigantic French and American flags draped the facade of the church. Inside there was a profusion of emblems and flowers. Mrs. Parmalee Herrick, daughter-in-law of the late envoy, sat at the left of the coffin. Representatives of the French government were behind her. Uniformed standard bearers of the American Legion were in the central aisle.

The funeral service of the Episcopal faith was read. The ceremonies began with the hymn "Lead Kindly Light," the Recessional and Chopin's Funeral March. The church was crowded and many of the mourners who had known and loved Mr. Herrick in life sobbed.

TEST FIRE APPARATUS

A representative of the La Franco motor fire apparatus, with which all of the companies of the South Manchester fire department, aside from No. 1, are equipped, is in town today making his annual test of the different pieces of apparatus owned by the South Manchester Fire District. Such tests that need attention are taken care of and a general test of all the apparatus is made. He is not finding any real trouble, but his present work will take him about four days to make the necessary tests.

ANOTHER EINSTEIN THEORY

Berlin, April 4.—Prof. Albert Einstein today submitted to the Prussian Academy of Science a new work to prove the results of his recent theory by another mathematical system based upon the geometrical methods of William Hamilton, English astronomer and mathematician.

MORGAN'S CASE NOT LIKELY TO COME TO TRIAL

mated, however, that prosecution was unlikely for two reasons: 1. Morgan could, if he wished, claim immunity if asked to testify before the Grand Jury. 2. Under the Federal law a wife cannot testify against her husband in a criminal proceeding.

Morgan, of course, could waive immunity and personally appear before the Grand Jury to vindicate himself. He has steadfastly declared, in statements given out, in Washington, that he did not bring any liquor into port.

Did He Have Liquor? But Inspector Crawford flatly contradicts this. He testified that Morgan not only brought liquor but threatened to "raise hell in Washington" when free entry was at first refused to him. It was on Morgan's claim that he had been to Panama on "official government business" that free entry was granted.

The testimony of the Customs men alleged also that Morgan had refused to open his hand baggage or that of his wife, and had instructed the wife of Rep. Ball of Bismarck, N. D., not to open hers.

Tuttle to all intents is continuing his investigation of the Morgan case. The Congressman persists in his denial that he brought the liquor in and classed statements that it was done for his wife as "persecution."

Meantime, this incident—and others that have cropped out over the nation in the last fortnight—is causing many reactions. In New York, Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, founder of the Women's National Republican Club, has issued a call for a fight against the prohibition law. She announced that she plans to devote her "untrammeled efforts toward working for a change in the prohibition law."

Congressman Bloom of New York demanded an investigation into the use of fire arms by prohibition agents, Customs officials, Coast Guards and others. He cited the shooting of Mrs. Lillian De King in Aurora, Ill., and the boarding of Stuyvesant Fish's yacht in New York as proof that there is "too much gun play."

$20,000, also a reversal of the policy of his predecessor. Started a clean-up of the southern patronage system by virtually reading out of the party the Republican organization leaders in Georgia, Mississippi, and South Carolina.

Gives Up Yacht Shelved the presidential yacht "Mayflower" and abolished the White House stables, completely motorizing the White House equiptage for the first time in history.

Started the renovation and enlargement of the White House executive offices so that mail and visitors may be more expeditiously handled.

Revised the customs of having the vice president attend Cabinet meetings.

Publicity Methods Reformed the White House publicity methods by making public statements on questions of public policy.

Informed Congressional leaders that there is to be maintained a distinct line of demarcation between the legislative and executive branches of the government—in effect, that it is up to Congress to formulate legislation, and up to the executive to pass upon it after its accomplishment.

All told, a fairly strenuous four weeks. In between times, President Hoover has established a cordial relationship with party leaders, many of whom opposed his nomination.

To a question today as to how the new administration has started off, Senator James E. Watson, (R) of Indiana, majority leader of the Senate, who opposed Mr. Hoover's nomination at Kansas City, said: "In my judgment the new administration has made a splendid start. His first month augurs well for the future of his administration. What he has done shows a comprehensive grasp of the situation. Both as to governmental affairs as well as those of the Republican Party."

Several Democratic Senators, asked the same question, declined to comment, as did Senator Norris (R) of Nebraska, the insurgent leader.

ELABORATE CONFERENCE PROGRAM IS ARRANGED

Boys' Sessions to Be Held in South Methodist Church Here April 26 and 27.

The program committee of the 11th Annual Hartford County Older Boys' Conference, to be held here in the South Methodist church April 26 and 27, is laying elaborate plans to make of the program of the conference one of the most unusual ever arranged for boys' conferences. The theme of the conference is announced by Rev. Richard H. Elliott of Rocky Hill, chairman of the program committee, is "To Attain the Heights." The committee has already secured the services of Clarence P. Quimby, principal of the local high school, and Professor A. C. Purdy of the Hartford Seminary Foundation, Hartford, for two of the principal addresses.

Special attention is being given to the musical program of the conference which will be participated in by Archibald Sessions, organist of the South Methodist church, and a double male quartet composed of Sylvester Strickland and Paul Volquardson, first tenors; Harry Armstrong and Maurice Ferris, second tenors; Robert Gordon and Robert Von Deck, first bass; and Fred Bendall and Charles Robbins, second bass. Harold Turkington will be the pianist.

The committee finds the church admirably suited for the conference and is planning its program with these advantages in mind. Each session of the conference will be opened by numbers played on the chimes. The conference is under the auspices of the Hartford County Y. M. C. A. and co-operating organizations. Ralph Proctor is chairman of the local committee of arrangements.

Town of Washington—About 5,450 feet of waterbound macadam on the Bee Brook Road to Oneglia and Gervasini, Torrington, Conn. for $27,075.40.

POLICE COURT

Gregory Mulka, of North Coventry, was in the Manchester town court this morning for driving an automobile without a license and for driving with defective lights. He was arrested by Patrolman Joseph Prentice last night. In court this morning it was learned that the man has a wife and five children, works for the town of Coventry on the roads and has hard work to eke out a living for his family. The fact remains, however, that he has an automobile and has had one for a long period of years. He has been without work the greater part of the winter and could not afford to renew his license this year. But he continued to drive the automobile.

ABOUT TOWN

Mrs. John Reinartz of Wadsworth street gave a benefit bridge at her home last night for the Girl Scout Officers association. Nine tables were filled with players. Mrs. John Allison won first prize, Mrs. Ralph Proctor second, and Mrs. N. B. Richards consolation. Mrs. Reinartz was assisted by Mrs. Robert Hawley, Miss Esther Sutherland and Miss Irene Buckland. The next benefit bridge will be held at the home of Mrs. Frederick Snow, 140 Benton street, Monday evening, April 15.

The Manchester Green Community club will run another whist and dance at the Green school assembly hall tomorrow evening. Playing will begin at 8:30 sharp and continue 2 hours. Two attendance prizes will be awarded, one for ladies and one for gentlemen, in addition to the regular prizes. Refreshments will be served by the committee of ladies headed by Mrs. Fred Mohr. Dancing to music by an orchestra will continue until midnight.

Miss Elizabeth Reardon is leaving tomorrow to spend a week at Atlantic City. Her niece Miss Maryclare Sullivan of New York will join her there.

The Scoutmaster's Association will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the School Street Rec.

Scandia Lodge, No. 23, Order of Vasa, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at Orange Hall.

The first meeting of the creditors of the bankrupt estate of George E. Hunt of West Center street, a traveling salesman, was held yesterday, before Referee Saul Beriman, but no trustee was appointed.

The guard team of Shepherd Encampment, No. 37, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, will go to Hartford tonight to take part in the rehearsal at Odd Fellows Temple, for the district meeting to be held there Saturday. The team will leave Odd Fellows Hall at 7 o'clock, tonight in private cars.

"WETS" IN WISCONSIN CLAIM 2-1 VICTORY

Waukegan, Wis., April 4.—With "Wets" claiming a 2-0-1 victory in Tuesday's statewide referendum on repeal of the State Prohibition Enforcement Act and legalization of 2.75 per cent beer, interest today focused on the State Legislature at Madison.

Although returns are not yet complete, due to crippled wire service as a result of the Easter storm, enough ballots have been tabulated to indicate a "Wet" majority of approximately 150,000.

With slightly more than 2,000 of the state's 2,759 precincts heard from, the wets had a lead in excess of 130,000 on the question of repeal.

Senator Thomas M. Duncan, Milwaukee Socialist, author of the resolution in the Legislature, said: "One upstate Senator voted against the referendum resolution, and his district gave a mandate of almost four to one for repeal. Such a member should be recalled from office by popular petition if he fails to carry out the wishes of his constituents."

The Dries, however, were far from discouraged by the sweeping sentiment for repeal and 2.75 per cent beer.

"We have only begun to fight," said Rev. Warren G. Jones, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League. "The Legislature will never pass a repealer bill."

ANOTHER REFERENDUM

Lansing, Mich., April 4.—Stirred to action by Wisconsin's overwhelming vote to repeal its State Prohibition Enforcement Act, a movement was started in the Michigan Legislature here today to have the state prohibition laws submitted to a referendum.

A resolution was prepared for presentation in the Senate today by Senator Cass J. Jankowski of Detroit which would provide for a state referendum on prohibition at the election in November, 1930.

Lieut. Gov. Lucretia D. Dickinson, a life-long prohibition advocate, is expected to refer the Jankowski resolution to the Senate prohibition committee, which is 100 per cent dry.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS DO DRAMATIC WORK

Monologues and Plays Form Examples of Sophs' English Preparation.

Seven monologues and two one-act plays were presented by members of the Sophomore English Divisions 2 and 4 of Manchester High school at the regular Thursday afternoon assembly program today.

All of the monologues who gave them and the plays were also original. The program in reality was an example of the work done in the English classes. The monologues and plays were written for composition work and today given orally.

Charlotte Rubinow opened the program with a sketch entitled, "Da Lettle Friend." Marian Jones next presented "Trials of a Country Schoolmarm." Other monologues were "Roadside Purchases," by Marian Rippin; "Johnny Goes Traveling," by Virginia Straughan; "At the Movies," by Dorothy Silcox; "Aunt Mary at the Game," by Maurice McKeever and Jack Danclon School, by Charlotte Rubinow.

The plays were "A Letter," written by Anna Maloney, with a cast including Lucille Murphy, Stewart and Hazel Rogers; and "Whose Hand?" written by Marian Jones and including the author, Roger McCormick and Marshall Finlay in its cast. Miss Helen Eetes supervised all productions.

OLD FASHION MINSTREL AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH

St. Mary's Men's Bible class will give their old-fashioned minstrel show tomorrow evening in the parish hall of the church and an unusually interesting and varied program is confidently expected.

James Harrison will be the interlocutor and Samuel Gaylord and Wyville Peabody will act as end men. They will be ably supported by Robert Marchant and Alex McBride as soloists. Making up the chorus will be George Boyce, Henry Miller, Robert Miller, Lester Wolcott, William Turkington and Frank Diana. The olio which follows will feature vocal duets by Miss Agatha Wright and Miss Violet Madden, a monologue by Samuel Gaylord, the Minstrel, the village band, and old time songs.

The music is under the direction of Miss Agatha Wright. The minstrel is in charge of Samuel Gaylord and Wyville Peabody at Henry Marchant, president of the Men's Bible class is in charge of all details of the production.

WITH PYLE'S RUNNERS

Wilmington, Del., April 4.—C. Pyle's bunion marathons started again today at 7 a. m., on their foot of the continent to the resolution in the Legislature, said: "One upstate Senator voted against the referendum resolution, and his district gave a mandate of almost four to one for repeal. Such a member should be recalled from office by popular petition if he fails to carry out the wishes of his constituents."

The Dries, however, were far from discouraged by the sweeping sentiment for repeal and 2.75 per cent beer.

BOMB WRECKS HOUSE

New York, April 4.—Labor differences are believed to have been responsible for the explosion of a bomb underneath the Brooklyn home of Basilio Desti, an officer in the cloak and suit union, today. The house was wrecked. Seven persons were hurt from their beds and the entire neighborhood was thrown into a panic by the blast.

pressed from the front. As the rebels began to give way before this combined attack, another federal cavalry detachment swung into action against the rebel right flank.

This threw the defenders into great confusion. Those of the rebel infantry who had survived surrendered. Only a few, including the rebel leaders, escaped.

Six rebel troop trains and a great quantity of supplies and ammunition were captured. Five hundred rebel wounded were given immediate medical attention by the federal medical supplies to treat those wounded in the carnage were sent to this city.

The federal army of 12,000 outnumbered the rebels more than two to one. The latter's losses were terrific. It is believed more than 4,000 rebels were killed, wounded or captured in the battles of Jimenez and La Reforma but no estimates have been made by the government as yet.

Military experts at Chapultepec castle in analyzing dispatches from the front today declared that the battle of La Reforma has practically ended the revolution. They declared that after today the rebels would be unable to put a sufficiently strong force in the field anywhere to present formidable opposition to the government forces.

LOCAL CHILDREN'S NAMES IN MOTHER GOOSE BOOK

Birthday Announcements for Several Youngsters Here Come Over WTIC.

Do South Manchester children have birthdays more often than the youngsters of any other town? "Mother Goose" of the radio is almost convinced they do. Her mail each week invariably includes several birthday announcements from children of South Manchester, Miss Bessie Lillian Taft, who is "Mother Goose," broadcasts at 6 o'clock each Monday evening from Station WTIC of The Travelers, Hartford.

OLD WOMAN KILLED

Danbury, April 4.—Mrs. Mary Richmond, 80, was killed, and three other persons badly injured on the New Milford road last night when an automobile went out of control and plunged into a fence. State police are investigating today. Three victims of the accident, now in New Milford hospital, are Rev. A. J. Cook, pastor of the First M. E. church, of New Milford, who is suffering from internal injuries after being hurled through the door of the automobile; Miss Honora Tracey, of New Milford, who sustained a broken leg; and Wilbur H. Osbourne, of New Milford, the driver, who is under treatment for shock and bruises.

Theaters

Parson's Theater, Hartford

Carrying a company of more than one hundred people and transporting its lavish supply of scenery, costumes and equipment in four 70-foot baggage cars, "Rain or Shine," the gay, glamorous epic of circuses, will come to Hartford for four performances at Parson's theater, starting Thursday night. Joe Cook is the star and Tom Howard is the featured player in "Rain or Shine," which comes here after 48 weeks at the George M. Cohan theater in New York and correspondingly successful engagements in Boston and Philadelphia.

The show is presented in two acts and fourteen colorful and hilarious scenes. It was written by James Gleason and Maurice Marks and has been staged by Alexander Leftwich. The outstanding song numbers in the musical are "Forever and Ever," "Oh Baby" and the title number, "Rain or Shine." Music and lyrics for these and other songs in the piece were schemed by Jack Yellen, Milton Ager and Owen Murphy. A. L. Jones and Morris Green are the producers.

Proceeding on the theory that wit is the most important essential in musical comedy, the producers have in "Rain or Shine" given the comedians and comedienne free rein. Heading the buffoons, of course, is Joe Cook, an energetic and versatile a zany as ever exercised in the girl and music reveals. In perfect contrast to Cook is the angular and sombre-visaged Tom Howard, dry, slow and thick-witted in his comedy. As co-managers of a defunct circus, Cook and Howard keep "Rain or Shine" a prolonged orgy of merriment.

Others who are prominent in the numerous and expert company are Frances DeFoe, Nell Roy, the extravagantly dimpled ingenue; Warren Hull, the juvenile; Ethel Norris, singing comedienne; Dave Chasen, skilled in pantomime; Elsa Petersen, the prima donna; Joe Lyons, Ernest Lambert, Rosie Moran, Estelle Jayne, Hazel Vergez, James Hawkins, Pat Walshe, Paul

Frances DeFoe

Brack, Fred Gregory, Margaret Sullivan, the Sixteen American Rockets, the Tom Nip Dancers and a troupe of lithe and lustrous Bobbe Barri girls. Forty refreshing and distracting beauties of the white tops add a distinctive decorative note to the proceedings and are ever prominent in the song and dance episodes.

This suave and sophisticated musical is notable for its comedy; its beauty of line, scene and costume; and for the artistry, good taste and imagination evident in all its gay maneuvers. The company, without a single exception, is the same as appeared in the show at the George M. Cohan theater, New York.

OUR FLAG.

On April 4, 1818, Congress enacted the law which fixed for all time the design of the flag of the United States.

The law rectified an error which a short-sighted Congress had enacted in 1795, after the admission of Vermont and Kentucky to the Union. This 1795 act provided that a stripe should be added for each of these states, and for 23 years the national ensign had 15 stripes.

It was a 15-stripe flag which waved over Ft. Mifflin and inspired Francis Scott Key to write "The Star-Spangled Banner." And only the action which Congress took 111 years ago today saved the general characteristics of our flag as it was in revolutionary days for this day of 48 states.

As everyone knows, the act of 1818 reduced the number of stripes to 13—one for each of the original states—and provided that each state of the Union should be represented by a star. Each state's star is added to the flag on the Fourth of July following the state's admission to the Union.

JONES HAS FINE PRESS NOTICES

Soloist With Choral Club Gives Promise of Being a Leading Tenor.

Allan Jones

Allan Jones, tenor soloist, who will appear with the Choral Club in its concert on Monday, April 22, comes to Manchester with a well established reputation as a singer, verified by the following press notices: "Jones has a clear, fresh voice, and in the main he is working out as a singer of fine attainments, both as regards technical equipment and interpretative ability. He sings with an ingratiating spirit and gusto. His forte passages are proclaimed with a splendid resonance."—Plainfield, N. J.

"Allan Jones, in his song group displayed his excellent voice to much advantage. All were sung with warmth of color and fine shading and were deservedly applauded at the close."—Haltfax, N. S., Chronicle and Daily Star.

"Last night's concert was further enlivened by the capable and intelligent singing of Anna Case and Allan Jones. Jones' advent in the concert field seems to be a happy move."—Samuel Chotzinoff, New York World.

Allan Jones received his boyhood training as a singer at St. Luke's Episcopal church of Scranton, Pa. When sixteen he won the tenor solo competition at the National Welsh Eisteddfod at the Academy of Music in Philadelphia. In later years he went to Paris to continue his study with Claude Warford with whom he studied in New York, and to coach opera with Felix Leroux, chef de chant of the French National Opera. In the fall he went to London and worked on oratorio with that noted authority, Sir Henry Wood.

Returning to America for the season of 1927-28, the tenor filled many important engagements in concert, oratorio and opera. The succeeding spring, Jones once more returned to Paris to work with Warford and also to continue his operatic coaching with Leroux. While in the French capital the tenor was soloist at the American church, Reynaldo Hahn, France's foremost composer-conductor, engaged the artist to sing leading roles at the opera in Deauville for the summer season of 1929.

THAT STABBER AGAIN

Danbury, April 4.—Police spent the night hunting for a man who slashed Margaret Duval, 18, across the right breast, inflicting a wound half an inch deep. Miss Duval was on her way to her home late at night when the man attacked her without warning. Miss Duval fled after the attack and gave the police a description. Police say the case resembles that of the Bridgeport "phantom stabber."

MANCHESTER PEOPLE NOW WELL AND STRONG WHO WERE SICK AND UNHAPPY; "ERBJUS" THE WONDER REMEDY, DID IT!

You May Find a Friend and Neighbor Here—If Not Look Around Your Neighborhood; There Are Plenty of Them Who Will Tell You About "ERBJUS" and What It Did for Them—You Run No Risk Buying "ERBJUS" Because We Stand Back of It.

MANCHESTER LADY HAD STOMACH TROUBLE FOR 14 LONG, LONG YEARS

Mrs. Mary Bonkowski, of 147 Spruce St., South Manchester, Testifies As to How the Tonic ERBJUS Relieved Her of Indigestion.

Mrs. M. Bonkowski

Stomach trouble will make one sick all over and the cause is simple. The food ferments and turns sour and the blood takes up this sour and fermented mass and the consequence is a tired, worn out and poisoned body dragging around and wondering why they are tired. ERBJUS will work wonders with these people. It will start the stomach into action, spur up the lazy liver and purify the system. These aching legs and headaches will disappear with the stomach trouble. Mrs. Bonkowski says: "For 14 years I have had indigestion and stomach trouble. They began with light attacks and gradually grew worse. I used many ways to get relief, but still my distress continued. My stomach would get so sour and acid that my food would come up into my throat and burn me like boiling water. "I had gas pains around my heart until I was choked for breath. At night I would toss around and wait until morning. I was tired and worn out and felt miserable. I was completely discouraged. I heard of ERBJUS and decided to get a bottle. I took the bottle and derived so much benefit that I took two more and I am now feeling better than I have in 14 years and I believe that is going some. Put me down as an ERBJUS booster."

"ERBJUS" SALES MANAGER TELLS WHAT HE LEARNED WHEN HE VISITED MANCHESTER

Mr. D. MacIntire, Who Has Charge of the Sales Department for Northern Connecticut Gives an Interesting Interview.

Mr. D. MacIntire

In talking with Mr. MacIntire, he said:—"I have visited eight or nine towns within the past three weeks and I have noticed the many testimonials that have been given us where "ERBJUS" seemed to make the spring weather easier to bear. This fact has been noticed all through the country and the reason is that "ERBJUS" contains no alcohol or anything that will heat up the system. Herbs are cooling to the blood. "ERBJUS" also keeps the bowels normal and the kidneys active hence it is an ideal spring tonic. In fact, "ERBJUS" is an all the year around tonic. In visiting Manchester I ran across quite a few rheumatic sufferers and the results that they are getting from "ERBJUS" is very gratifying. "ERBJUS" is a system purifier and cleans up the blood and gets rid of the cause of this pernicious disease. Of course, many cases of rheumatism are caused by local infection and must be removed. I have picked at random a few testimonials of local people and their statements simply bear out what we advertise, viz: That "ERBJUS" will get results if taken according to directions. This remedy is a nature remedy and is made from the juice of raw herbs combined with pure and healing glycerine. "ERBJUS" is superior to herb teas or herbs that have been boiled, because boiling destroys the vitamins and impairs the healing qualities."

PAIN ALL OVER BODY AND MY BACK ACHED MOST ALL THE TIME

Mrs. M. Minnich, of 79 Bridge St., South Manchester, Is Loud in Praise of ERBJUS Because It Gave Her the Greatest of Relief.

Mrs. M. Minnich

The news that backache can be relieved by the use of ERBJUS is in itself quite an item, but we have on file many hundreds of testimonials that will verify this fact. Backache is caused by many things, but most of them are rheumatic or from the kidneys. Mrs. Minnich says: "For over a year I have been a sufferer from pains all over my body and especially my back and have tried many ways to get relief, but nothing seemed to help me until I tried ERBJUS. I also had headaches and a loss of appetite. I would get so tired during the day that it caused me to lie awake nights rolling and tossing around. I heard of ERBJUS through the papers and saw where it had helped many people and decided to give it a good trial. The first bottle gave me some relief and I kept on taking it and on each and every bottle I could see a great change for the better. I took five bottles of ERBJUS in all and those five bottles entirely relieved me of my troubles and it is with the greatest of pleasure that I endorse ERBJUS to the Manchester public."

FIFTEEN YEARS OF KIDNEY TROUBLE AND CONSTIPATION RELIEVED BY ERBJUS

Mrs. Isabelle Best, of 63 Church St., South Manchester, Conn., a Resident for Fifty-five Years Indorses ERBJUS.

Mrs. Isabelle Best

Constipation can cause more sickness and disease than any single disorder that the human flesh is heir to. If the bowels are stagnant it means that undigested food remains in them and is absorbed into the blood stream thereby poisoning the entire system. You get headaches, backaches, dizzy spells and one gets tired out and drags. In fact, you are poisoned. There is no use in getting rid of this trouble by oils or harsh remedies for if you do you will have to stay with it and increase the dose as time goes by. Oils will grease the lining of the stomach and bowels and food will not absorb and in the end there is a semi-starvation. ERBJUS tones up the muscles of the bowels and promotes the flow of intestinal fluid and bile, and in a short time you will be able to cut down the dose of ERBJUS and then leave it off entirely. Mrs. Best says:—"For the past fifteen years I have suffered from backache and headaches. I was constipated and had kidney trouble. I always felt tired. I went to bed tired and got up tired. I never felt rested. I tried many remedies and many ways to get relief, but nothing came my way. I was getting disgusted when I read about ERBJUS. I have now taken two bottles and the results have been marvelous. It certainly rid me of my trouble and it is with great pleasure that I tell the residents of Manchester that I indorse ERBJUS because it has absolute merit."

BACKACHE AND STOMACH TROUBLE IS NOW A THING OF THE PAST

Mrs. Max Wagner of 673 Hartford Road, Manchester, Tells the Public and Her Friends and Neighbors of the Wonderful Results That She Received from ERBJUS.

Mrs. Max Wagner

Anyone who has suffered from backache can appreciate how happy and glad that Mrs. Wagner was to give this testimonial. Backaches can cause many an hour of misery. You do not feel like going to bed but drag yourself around wishing for night to come and many times you cannot sleep. ERBJUS will give excellent results in most forms of backaches. We have many testimonials to this effect. This distressing trouble can be caused by constipation, rheumatism, kidney trouble and liver trouble. ERBJUS gets after the liver, kidneys and bowels and tones them up. Rheumatic backaches quickly disappear by the use of this herbal remedy. Mrs. Wagner says:—"For the past year I have been bothered with stomach trouble. Everything I would eat would turn sour and acid and riot me up. I would belch after meals and had dizzy spells and severe headaches and to add to my trouble and I was certainly miserable. A friend of mine told me about ERBJUS and I decided that it would be a good thing to try. I took one bottle and received such wonderful relief that I purchased another. I am now on my third bottle and I am certainly pleased with the wonderful results."

CITY EMPLOYEE SAYS "I WOULD NOT BE ABLE TO WORK NOW BUT FOR ERBJUS"

Mr. Frank J. Wright, of 44 Adams St., Manchester, (Buckland) Tells How ERBJUS Restored His Health and Helped Him Keep on the Payroll.

Frank J. Wright

Many a man has been kept on the payroll with ERBJUS. It is common for the ERBJUS Company to receive grateful letters from thankful men and women telling how glad and happy they are because ERBJUS made them physically fit. If the reader of this article is ailing and work is a drudgery and they come home from their labors tired out and weary, just try ERBJUS for awhile and see how spry and good you will feel. Many times the system needs cleaning out and a few doses will do it. Other times it may be rheumatic and a bottle at least will show you the way to get well. Mr. Wright says:—"For the past two years I have been bothered with rheumatism which would attack my legs and body. My legs would get so stiff that I could hardly move and I would be in pain all over. It was terrible to go to work this way and I used to think that I would have to give up. I heard of ERBJUS and decided to give it a trial and I am mighty glad I did. I have taken five bottles of ERBJUS and I feel great. My wife also is getting results from this grand remedy. We indorse it. "I wish to repeat here that I do not believe that I would be working now if it were not for ERBJUS and it is nothing more than right that I should indorse it for the good that it has done me and mine."

FORGOT THE PSYCHOLOGY

For some time there has been a growing realization, or at least profound impression, that the experiment of removing New England textile mills to the South was not proving the permanent success that it promised, just at first, to be. For at least two years there has been a very general suspension of the movement, which at one time produced a state of near-panic in the cotton towns of these Northeastern states. And now comes the news of widespread and serious labor troubles in at least two of the states where cotton manufacturing has been so sedulously promoted in the last decade.

The cotton mills which moved South, or which established branch factories in the South, went there looking for cheap labor. They saw, or thought they saw, a liberal supply of low-priced mill labor in the raw in the persons of many thousands of Southern hill-billies and crackers who were living in poverty among the mountains of half a dozen Southern states—who hardly ever saw any real money and who, it was anticipated, would welcome a steady wage, even if a small one, as the flowers welcome the dew.

But the cheap-labor prospectors overlooked the fact that for generations these people had been dawdlers and breathers of free, fresh air, living their own lives, however meagerly, in their own unbossed way. Pay day cash did appeal to them, to be sure; so did better clothes and the movies. And there was novelty in mill village life. For a while. But you can't change the fundamentals of a people in a year or a decade. It takes generations. The inevitable has happened in the growth of discontent and boredom among a hill people subjected to factory discipline, systematizing and exploitation.

Also the traditions of violence underlying the life of the Southern hill-billy are, quite naturally, coming to life under the stress of disputation. These folks are not only striking, they are rioting. The end of the Southern textile experiment may come sooner than anybody anticipated.

WISCONSIN

Whatever may be the effect on the prohibition question exercised by the vote of Wisconsin on the repeal of the state enforcement act and the authorization of 2.75 per cent beer, one thing is quite certain; and that is that the claim of the dries that they elected Herbert Hoover President of the United States is knocked higher than Gilroy's kite.

Milwaukee stood loyally by the Republican candidate last November, despite all the schismatic influences always at work within the party in that state. It gave a thumping plurality of more than ninety thousand for him. Now, on a direct test of prohibition sentiment the same voters turn in a two-to-one majority of over a hundred thousand denouncing Volsteadism and withdrawing the state's assistance in the enforcement of federal prohibition. Milwaukee, which returned a plurality of almost thirty thousand for Hoover over Smith, votes six to one for repeal of the prohibition law, in the city, and five to one in the country. And lest the impression should grow that in this referendum the wet cities and towns outvoted the dry country districts, the fact is noteworthy that out of the 71 counties in this good Hoover Republican state only 16 voted to retain the enforcement law.

This is the first opportunity there has been for a comparison of the Hoover vote last fall with a demonstration of the voting strength of the dries, uncomplicated by other issues, and it should effectually dispose of the pretensions of the Anti-Saloon League that the victory of the Republican Presidential candidate constituted a showdown on the liquor question. What it does show is that, if the wet voters of the country had flocked to Smith, he would have swept the nation. It further shows that there are a tremendous number of wet voters who meet their obligation as citizens, when the welfare of the nation is at stake, on a far higher plane than that occupied by the problem of prohibition. They are not willing to sacrifice everything else to their views on a drink.

CHINA RELIEF

The re-establishment of the China Relief drive in Connecticut, so far as its legal status is concerned, saves the face of the responsible institution but it is somewhat doubtful whether it will restore, to any great extent, the enthusiasm of either relief workers or humanitarians in this state. There has been, considering all the circumstances, something very suggestive of lack of candor on the part of the national officials of China Relief concerning the alleged deal between that organization and the Association for the Welfare of the Children of China and also concerning the disposition of the million dollar balance of the China Relief drive of 1920, which is said to have been diverted to the enrichment of colleges in China under the pretense of educating somebody or other in "famine prevention."

A good many persons will undoubtedly come to the conclusion that whenever conditions in any part of the world justify the collection and expenditure of great sums of money for relief work the Red Cross is pretty likely to enter the field and that, when it does so, the funds contributed are quite sure to be expended not only honestly but wisely.

In the present instance the admitted policy of the Famine Relief in earmarking $100,000 of the money contributed in the former famine to pay for the carrying on of a new drive at some time in the future smacks strongly of professionalism and the making of a business out of a charity.

This newspaper having, at the beginning of the China Relief drive, permitted itself to become enthusiastic over the cause, it feels constrained at this time, when the drive is being renewed, to assert a new position of neutrality in the matter. We should not care to assume the responsibility of urging any person to contribute and we certainly have no intention of urging any person to an opposite course.

DIRT ROADS KIDDING

Just how a codification of the "stage construction" plan of highway aid is going to prove an adequate substitute for the million dollar appropriation favored by the dirt-roads advocates, when it carries no appropriation whatever, it isn't easy to see; yet such a measure is said to be about to be reported to the Connecticut Senate by the Roads, Bridges and Rivers committee. Neither is it easy to see where there is any welcome coming to an increase in the gasoline tax from two to four cents a gallon unless the destination of the excess is definitely established, as its expenditure on roads which would otherwise be neglected.

A codification of the "stage construction" plan is desirable beyond question, but we doubt if the dirt-road boomers are going to be satisfied with a blueprint of the proper way to prevent mudholes. What they want is to have the mudholes stopped up and their roads made passable. They cannot run their automobiles over a document—what they want is roads. And unless there is a mandatory appropriation they know darned well they are not going to get any roads.

Last November the country towns of Connecticut kept the Republican party in power in Connecticut. In November 1921, with no national issues at stake, they will do it again—provided they get decent treatment in this vital matter of roads. But to kid the country towns—or try to—in this session, with relation to their roads, is to invite a change of administration and not improbably the election of an opposition party Legislature next time.

THE NEW CRUISERS

Gaily the Navy Department proceeds with the business of preparing for the building of its 10,000 ton cruisers as authorized by the recent session of Congress, regardless of the knowledge that none of those-to-be-built ships would have a Chinaman's chance in a conflict with one of those cruiser size battleships that Germany is preparing to spring on a bewildered world. After all, what difference does it make to the Navy Department whether the new cruisers would be outclassed by heavily-gunned yachts like those the Germans are building? They will make perfectly good ships to sail around in and they will provide opportunity for promotion for the Navy personnel—and for what else are ships? Certainly they are not expected to fight, because nobody expects that there will be a war in the few years that the cruisers will survive—and if there should be a war the submarines and the aircraft will be the only Navy elements active in it, with the possible exception of a few fast destroyers, while the battle ships and the big cruisers will be hidden away in camouflage, behind chain nets, doing their part by theory instead of by action. The cruisers will cost plenty and they won't ever be any good except to strut on—but for that they'll be as good as any other surface ships. So why worry?

GOOD JOB WELL DONE

In getting rid of its "life for a pint" law, under which petty bootleggers could be sentenced to prison for the rest of their days for a fourth offense, the state of Michigan has responded promptly to the pressure of public opinion. And in deciding to commute the sentences of the persons already committed for life under that law, Governor Green has acted sensibly and to the credit of his commonwealth. Sufficiently long terms are even now provided for habitual offenders, who may be sent up for seven to ten years on a fourth conviction, but few people will waste a great deal of sympathy on anyone put away for a net half dozen or eight years as chronic lawbreakers. It was not the punishment of such people that occasioned the cyclone of remonstrance but the unreasonable and heartless severity of the sentences. It is noteworthy that nobody is protesting because Michigan still retains the provision for life sentences for four convictions of serious felonies.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer.

Washington—Emotions of grave disquiet, serious doubts whether there will be a war in the few years that the cruisers will survive—and if there should be a war the submarines and the aircraft will be the only Navy elements active in it, with the possible exception of a few fast destroyers, while the battle ships and the big cruisers will be hidden away in camouflage, behind chain nets, doing their part by theory instead of by action.

The other evening, as he and your correspondent sat on a twig in Rock Creek park, the Senator finally blurted out his grief and explained why the Old Guard was on the verge of catfitts.

"It may be," said he, "that we have been taken in. I refuse to believe it, but if we were, we have been victims of the most hideous taking in the history of this great republic."

"We are asking ourselves today just what the Republicans elected last November. Look at him! He certainly ain't no Republican, acting the way he is. And they say he was once a Democrat."

"You know what Republican presidents are like—take Taft, Harding and Coolidge. Did they ever act like this fellow? Huh! They stuck to our principles and I mean the kind that were maintained by the nation's best minds in the Senate. If the right bird wanted government oil or higher tariff duties he got it and if he got income tax refunds, too, it wasn't anybody's business."

"Now, Hays come, I won't say we elected no Democrat. You could tear out my tongue before I'd admit that. But if there's no more gray in being Republican than this guy is providing, all of us might as well be Democrats and go hungry. Where does he think the money is coming from in 1932?"

"After he got elected it was his duty to see important Republicans. But he'd rather go see Latin-Americans. And did he resist temptation by not putting more Democrats in his cabinet, but look at what he picked. Can I go to one of them birds and say I want something done and done snappy? Do I know 'em so they get 'what I mean'? Try with them birds is Hoover himself. Just think of the downright treachery of that postmaster general of his who says the postoffice service is not a political institution and who has gone and told all the postal workers about it. Why, that was the way Wilson felt!"

"Who was it squawked about selling postoffices and oil and tariff corruption? Democrats mostly, except progressives, which is worse. Did you ever hear us real Republicans mentioning how we have fought all these years against publicity on the tax refunds. We bled and died against the Democrats on that and now this guy says they were right!"

"They Miss the Yacht. 'Did he think presidents were the only ones that wanted free rides on the Mayflower? That yacht made more friends for the Republican administration than Hays made pickles. And senators, maybe they don't need outings, too. 'Does he suppose enforcing prohibition is going to do him any good with the city-bosses and the ward bosses? They got a live, too, and no bootlegger can pay honorariums when he's pinched. 'I don't suppose the Democrats really sneaked him over on us and wanted him to win all the time, but what's biting us old-timers is why we spent so much of our own money trying to beat Al Smith. 'The worst of it is probably most who voted for him think he's fine."

An Ideal Room Treatment as Suggested by JUDD ALLEN DECORATOR

It is the conception of Judd Allen, famous decorator for Berkeley Bros., Los Angeles, that every detail of the perfect interior should reflect the design of the furniture. Note how carefully he has followed this important lesson in his suggestions for an interior featuring the "Wenham" group. Color scheme to be tan, tan-orange and blue. Ceiling to be flat old ivory. Wall finish tan, textured plaster with all wood-work nut brown stained. Decorative accessories are to include orange color window curtains and an orange wool embroidery bedspread as background for the china. A large blue mixing bowl is to be used on the sideboard.

We are happy to offer you a prominent decorator's suggestions for a charming interior as we are to offer the "Wenham" suite he used.

The group is a fine Jacobean re-creation in six beautiful woods—walnut, butternut, elm, burl, cherry, oak and selected American gaud. Hand carvings are particularly true to the period. And, of course, the suite has the usual Berkeley & Gay convenience and quality refinements.

DRIED FRUITS.

Dried fruits were an important addition to the food supply of many of the American Indians during the winter months and they practiced the drying of apples, berries, and other fruits many years before the coming of the white man.

If you have eaten properly dried fruit you have noticed that its flavor is richer than the fresh fruit. The secret of this wonderful flavor is because the fruits for drying are allowed to become fully ripe before being picked, while the most of the fruits shipped to market in the fresh state must be picked while partly green. Most of the finest food and flavoring materials of the fruit are produced in the last day or two before perfect ripeness is reached, and fruit picked before this time never attains the same flavor.

The drying of fruit is resorted to sometimes to save a crop when the market price for fresh fruit is low, but this is by no means the usual practice, because farmers have found that certain varieties of figs and grapes, for example, contain a larger amount of sugar than others and are therefore more suitable for drying and have a richer flavor.

The fruit may be either sun-dried in warm localities or dried in dehydrating plants especially built for the purpose. Either of these methods are quite wholesome. Some of the fruit, such as prunes, are dipped in lye to facilitate the peeling of the fruit or to soften the skin so that the moisture will evaporate. This lye solution does not injure the fruit because it is carefully removed by rinsing in pure water. However, many fruits are subjected to fumigation with sulphur fumes. This adds a small amount of sulphurous acid to the fruit and while it gives keeping qualities, I believe it is a bad practice from a health standpoint, and therefore recommend the unsulphured fruits. The sulphured fruit also has a slightly acid flavor that is not present in the unsulphured. The dried fruits are much more concentrated than the fresh and are therefore quite a nutritious food. They are relished by children and are very desirable as a means of satisfying their craving for sweets. Dried figs, dates, raisins, and prunes are known and used throughout the world. However, there are a number of other fruits which are less known but equally as valuable in a dried state. In this country we use considerable quantities of dried peaches, apricots, pears, apples, nectarines and currants, but it is also possible to dry cranberries, raspberries, rhubarb, cherries, persimmons, mangoes, bananas and a number of other fruits. In some cases, as in the banana, the drying produces a distinct change of the flavor nevertheless quite palatable and nutritious.

I believe that the time will come when the public will demand and be given an unsulphured fruit just as in the past the demand for wholewheat bread has been built up by the general recognition of its advantages.

The dried fruits do not contain as much acid as the fresh fruits because acids are reduced, they are slowly transformed into sugar by the ripening process. The dried fruits are excellent energy foods and at the same time are useful for increasing the alkalinity of the body.

(Friedrich's Ataxia.)
Question: A. O. writes: "I have a boy 15 years old whose case has been diagnosed as Friedrich's Ataxia. When I asked this doctor about it he told me to read up on it, but I have been able to find very little about it. I will appreciate any information you can give me. Answer: This is a hereditary disease in most cases. There are changes in the spinal cord and cerebellum causing them to be smaller than usual. The walk is swaying and irregular, resembling that of a drunken person. In making voluntary movements the action is exaggerated and the hand sometimes moves around the object and then pounces upon it. There are also cases where the body sways in a regular movement. The speech is slow or explosive, the expression is dull, but the mental power is usually maintained in the early part of the disease. The patient may walk on the outer side of the feet. This disease is usually considered incurable, but some beneficial results can be obtained through muscle re-education by training the patient to perform complicated muscular feats. I believe that a fasting and dieting regime might prove helpful as the disease somewhat resembles hereditary chorea, and I have had several cases of this latter trouble which responded to this method of treatment. I will be glad to send you instructions if you will write again, enclosing a large self-addressed stamped envelope.

(Has Extra Toe.)
Question: O. M. K. writes: "On my right foot I have six toes. This sixth toe gives me a lot of bother. I can't wear a shoe comfortably on that foot, and I can't walk any distance. What would you advise?"
Answer: The best policy may be to have the extra toe removed by a competent surgeon.

FAMOUS FRENCH CANCAN DANCER DIES PENNILESS

Paris.—"La Goulue," Paris' most celebrated Cancan dancer of the gay nineties, has just died, penniless and forgotten in an obscure French hospital.

"The Glutton" was really Louise Weber who started life as a laundress, then became a dancer at the Moulin Rouge music-hall and attracted both rank and fashion to see her. Wearing ankle-length skirts and a dozen, frilly, lace-beaded petticoats, she very often kicked her trim, black-silk-stockinged legs as high as the gentlemen's silk top hats and the Toulouse-Lautrec and other famous artists painted her portrait and she was the subject of song and gossip. But fate was unkind to her and she grew too fat to dance. The manager told her to find a new job and she wandered from one thing to another, first as a lion-tamer in a circus, later doing a bit of singing and finally ending up by selling flowers in the street. Her checked existence ended at the age of seventy-six, reminding the older generations of scenes that will never be revived.

Strawberries have appeared in Paris at the rate of five dollars a piece. Their high cost is due to the fact that they were grown by magic in a cellar under the forcing of powerful electric lighting from two lamps concentrating on a surface of about five square yards on which the plants were laid in pots. The fruit ripened in forty days, became as luscious and red as any berries which have seen the sun and air during a warm summer month.

The electric rays were of yellow-orange color. Monsieur Louis Mangin of the French Academy, who exhibited the magic fruit, believes that the process of ripening might be considerably shortened by using rays of greater intensity.

Frenchmen are not so short as they used to be, according to statistics coming from the government Naval School. The boys taking the entrance examinations recently show that the average height has been increased by several inches. The new interest in all kinds of sports is said to be the season for the change.

And if they are growing taller, they are also getting smoother, which refers to their complexions and not their characters. Imitating the Anglo-Saxon visitors, they have adopted the clean-shaven style and a bearded gentleman is now looked upon as a rare curiosity. Before the war the smooth face indicated a valet, coachman, jockey or actor. Even football players very often sported a very heavy growth and every man of politics was obliged to own one. Today, only Poincaré and a few other prominent figures adhere to the old style, and even Mr. Doumergue, the President can boast of only a very petit moustache.

And perhaps even more surprising is the large number of Frenchmen these days getting a permanent wave. Like the women, they say it saves time and trouble, and the cult of beautifully-coiffured hair is spreading so rapidly among young men of from twenty to thirty years that one scarcely knows which sex to call the coquettish one.

Theaters

At The State
With the brilliant, dazzling role of a beautiful, dance-mad daughter of old Mexico to occupy her versatile talents, the scintillating Lupe Velez never had a better opportunity in any production to be "just herself" than she has in the Paramount part-talking thriller, "Wolf Song," which comes to the State theater for a two-day engagement beginning tomorrow.

Featured with Gary Cooper, the handsome young leading man, and Louis Wolheim, the "hard-boiled" character-actor, Miss Velez plays a part which is in effect a reincarnation of her own life. She dances and sings with the same innate fervor which brought her a part in a theatrical production to Mexico City when she was but a child and which ultimately brought her to fame on the screen.

"Yo Te Amo," which is the theme-song of the picture, is sung by Miss Velez in a pleasing soprano voice. Gary Cooper also contributes a bit of vocal refraining that affords one a most unusual surprise.

"Wolf Song" was directed for Paramount by Victor Fleming from a story written from the pen of Harvey Furgerson.

Two selected Vitaphone vaudeville acts will also be shown on tomorrow's bill at the State. They are the Morrissy-Miller Revue, offering an array of delightful songs and peppy monologues, and Arthur Byron in the dramatic playlet entitled, "A Family Affair."

The current issue of State News Events will also be shown in conjunction with the above attractions.

AUTO DEATHS DECREASE

Hartford, April 4.—Reports from states having about one-sixth the country's population show a marked decrease in automobile deaths during February, according to the Travelers' Insurance Company, which today reported that health and motor vehicle commissioners of eleven states and the District of Columbia, announce 226 motor vehicle deaths in February as compared with 278 in January, a reduction of 18 per cent. Estimates for the entire country show 605 killed by autos in January, or 1.32 deaths per 100,000 persons in the United States.

IN NEW YORK

New York, April 4.—The ways of the night going playboys of Broadway can be compared only to those of Bret Harte's "heavenly Chinese."

Which is to say that they are most strange and difficult to comprehend. And it's almost impossible to say what they will do next.

Thus the other morning, as dawn was coming up like almost anything but thunder, a wealthy broker from the Wall street belt appeared at Tex Guinan's resort carrying a stuffed stork under his arm. This he solemnly placed alongside his table and just as solemnly refused to answer any questions concerning its significance. Late arrivals, who concluded that they must be seeing things, rubbed their eyes and gasped. The only conclusion anyone could reach was that the gentleman anticipated a "blessed event" in his home and was out celebrating.

Then there's a dignified looking gent of 50, or thereabouts, who always goes about escorted by his own orchestra. This band is composed of four negro jazz artists. Arriving at any night rendezvous, the gent orders his band to "get organized" and proceeds to be serenaded. Thus he travels from speak-easy to speak-easy, giving concerts as he goes.

And I think I've had occasion to mention before the anonymous spender, who arrives on Broadway about once a month, always visiting the same place. The performers know all his favorite songs and tunes. They immediately play and sing what he wants, and when he leaves he tosses some $5000 in tips after him.

There's another anonymous playboy who just loves the spotlights and pays the "spot" manipulator $100 for turning the rays upon him during the evening, thus distinguishing him from the crowd. For some reason this pleases his ego and gives the crowd the notion that he is someone of importance. The rumor is that he's merely a big buttonhole man from the cloak and suit belt.

A few Manhattan odds and ends. . . . The vaudeville strong man who always lets his v's carry a heavy looking suitcase down the stage entrance. . . . And the new game of guessing cigaret brands for the amused crowds in the mid-Fifties. . . . A publisher of temperance and religious books who has to go to speak-easies to find two of his authors. . . . The Tin Pan Alley composers who can't write a note of music. . . . And the fellow who poses for collar ads, but always wears a soft shirt.

The fellows who look like West Point cadets when in movie usher uniforms, but who can be seen slumping awkwardly at the stage entrance just before going on duty. . . . The young woman who designs some of the niftiest hat creations to be observed about Manhattan, but who generally walks about the Village bareheaded, and a more or less famous lion tamer who all but collapses if a black cat crosses his trail.

There are, I am told, but 150 men in all the United States who are expert at making those high hat silk toppers which ritzy gents wear to the opera and the swanky soirées. The making of silk toppers is something of an art, entrusted to but a few experts.

The best known of the topper makers are now old men, who have been at it for years. Five of these are in their seventies and are called upon for a final verdict when old styles are desired.

TELEPHONE PIONEERS MEET

New Haven, April 4.—Over 200 men and women grown gray in the service of the Southern New England Telephone Co., gathered here today to hold the annual meeting of Morris F. Tyler Chapter, Telephone Pioneers of America. During the meeting Samuel Reel, of Canaan, and Joseph G. Osborne, of Hartford, received gold medals indicating they have served thirty years each in the business. James T. Moran, president of the company, presided at the meeting.

STOP THE FAT AND GET THIN

The way to reduction is to stop the formation of fat. Modern science has found that way—by turning your food into fuel and energy—by supplying a natural element that helps do that. It is much better than starvation. That modern, scientific method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. Now the results in slender figures, new beauty and vitality, are seen everywhere.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. So you know the effects are beneficial, and why they all occur. Learn what so many have learned in 20 years about it. Do it now. Ask your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola and learn what it means to you.

THE surest method of producing heat in the home or industrial plant in the most economical and effortless manner is to find a coal that is extremely high in heat content, low in ash, hard so that it will hold an even fire for many hours without attention and which does not vary in its high standard of preparation. Then, having decided upon the proper coal, use only this for by so doing you will form the habit of firing it in the easiest and most efficient way.

With this in mind, I have made arrangements to handle a coal that is unusually hard and which is the best that money can buy. It is therefore with pleasure that I announce that I have secured the exclusive distribution in South Manchester of

Jeddo-Highland Coal

This premium hard Lehigh Anthracite has headed the list of quality coals ever since its mines were first worked in 1858. Its reputation is due to the inherent purity of the coal in the ground, careful mining and unusually painstaking preparation, all of which have not varied during the existence of its sole producers—the Jeddo-Highland Coal Company of Jeddo, Pennsylvania. The people of South Manchester understand the economy which attends the use of quality products and I am certain that a trial ton of Jeddo-Highland Coal will convince them of its real merits.

HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL

GREAT INDIANA SPORT

Muncie, Ind., April 4.—Indiana annually spends $9,200,000 on high school basketball in which 50,000 Hoosier youths compete, according to statistics assembled here by Albert E. Needham, president of the Muncie Bar Association, who is an ardent net fan.

During the season 377,000 persons attend basketball games every week with a total estimated attendance during the season of 7,540,000 spectators, according to Needham's figures.

In addition to admittance charges Needham figured transportation, meals and lodging of teams and fans, expenditures for equipment and buildings, cost another $10,500,000. There are 754 basketball teams and at least 700 gymnasiums in Indiana, according to Needham.

Doing Much With Little

Garber Brothers can prove to you that good taste is not expensive!

Beautiful settings—to show that the taste supposed to be Park Avenue's can be genuinely adapted to Main street incomes.

Park Avenue is supposed to be one of the most fashionable sections of New York because some of the richest people live there.

To the person of average income the interior of a Park Avenue home represents the most expensive furnishing; not so at all. The Park Avenue apartment does represent the individual taste of its owner as worked out by an interior decorator. Good taste is not necessarily expensive.

Inexpensive but good furniture, the type of furniture the average person can afford to buy, tastefully selected, harmoniously arranged, draperies, curtains and rugs carefully planned with the help of an experienced interior decorator—you will have a Park Avenue home because it will be an individual home—it will represent you.

RICH GIRL POOR GIRL

By RUTH DEWEY GROVES

© 1925 By NEA Service, Inc.

Harold regarded him enviously. "My luck is rotten," he said gloomily.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

MILDRED LAWRENCE, stenographer at the Hudson Hotel, has her fox fur snatched from her in a crowd, but STEPHEN ARMITAGE catches the thief and returns the scarf. He asks to take her home. Not wishing to seem ungrateful, she invites him to dinner. The evening is spoiled when PAMELA JUDSON, daughter of Mildred's employer, phones her to return to duty. Stephen escorts her to the hotel where Pamela recognizes him as the salesman who had sold her car. She snubs Mildred and tries to lure Stephen away by pretending she wants to buy another car from him. Then Pamela meets HUCK CONNOR, who tells her he is a broker on Chicago. Mildred thinks that Stephen is forgetting her since the wealthy girl is playing for his attention. Then he invites her to attend the theater and she accepts, not knowing that Pamela and Huck Connor are to be there. Stephen did not know they were coming either until the arrival, and he feels responsible when Pamela treats Mildred snobbishly. He is also suspicious of Huck and objects to having Pamela trust him too far. This Mildred thinks is jealousy on his part and a coolness comes up between them.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX
Stephen made a mistake when he suspected that Huck would ask Pamela to a night club. Huck was too well known at all of these places to risk his world to find out that he was interested in the girl. It would leak out soon, of course, but he intended to put through his plans before anyone started interfering, and that would mean before Pamela's father returned from abroad.

As his car moved through the traffic and Pamela sat back with ill-concealed impatience, Huck let his eyes feast upon her. He made no attempt to mask them, but Pamela was watching the sea of faces that moved by, some of them turned with frank curiosity toward her and her companion.

The silkiness of her smooth blond hair—Huck knew it wasn't bleached—the haunting curve where her chin merged into her throat, appealed to him. He liked fineness, and fineness in women had been denied him.

The wealth of jewels Pamela wore meant more to him. He wanted Pamela because he was madly infatuated with her. He had tried to stem the tide of madness when first he realized that it was sweeping over him. His better judgment told him it was dangerous to fall in love with a girl like Pamela. But he might as well have tried to stop the North River from flowing out to sea.

A sudden slowing of the car when a pedestrian darted unexpectedly in front of it threw them together. Pamela drew quickly away. She was uneasy. The quiet force of Huck's personality was beginning to disturb her. She remembered that Harold had warned her he'd be unable to learn anything at all concerning the man.

"I can locate him," he added cunningly. "I'll ask if he's come in." Pamela responded and hurried over to the desk. Harold would rave when he learned, if he did, that she'd been out with Huck, but she knew he'd been disappointed about tickets for the revue. She counted on that to drag him along and prevent him from making trouble for her.

"What's the matter with you?" she snapped. "Lose again? It doesn't take that gang up there long to clean you, does it? I should think you'd take up ping pong or knitting afghans instead of playing poker."

"What a comforting presence you are," her brother jeered. "What did you bust in here for, anyway?" "I bear these gifts," Pamela smiled. "Come along, little brother. For the first time in my life I want a chaparron."

"Is your new boy friend getting rough?" Harold sneered. "Now don't try to look innocent. I got a hunch you were out with Connor."

"Why pick on him? Why not Stephen Armitage?" Pamela mocked.

"Well, maybe. I've left a call for Armitage."
"So you're spying on me, are you? I'll pay you off, don't forget. But just now we've got a date with Huck."
"Oh, have we?"
"Yes, we have. He's got tickets. Tickets, boy, that you couldn't buy for love or money."
"The new revue! Go on down and hold him to it while I phone up a crowd."
"I don't suppose you would ask Angela?" Harold said, wavering between the bait and his better judgment.

"I would not! Did you see anything of Margola's bunch? They were coming around to pick me up for the Webley's dance."
"I just got in," Harold told her. "They may be downstairs."
Pamela found her friends in the grill. Water someone got raked over the coals for not having told her they were waiting. There were a dozen in the party, but Pamela got Margola aside, and they planned to separate two more and then give the others the slip. That would make the full quota of six. Pamela never bore down lightly on account of expense.

And with Huck to foot the bills there seemed no occasion to do so. They had good seats and a sumptuous supper. Huck was the perfect host, a little older and more formal than his guests, but Pamela saw that he interested Margola not a little.

Huck being her find, she felt impelled to keep him. "Nothing doing," she declared when she heard Margola tell Huck she'd like to dance with him. "He's promised not to dance with anyone but me."
And while the show was in progress and the lights were dimmed she let him hold his arm on the back of her chair, with the tips of his fingers touching her shoulder without pulling away. Huck's petting certainly was tame, she told herself, but a wee voice whispered back that he hadn't started yet.

Pamela turned her head to look at him and met his eyes full upon her face. She could not read them, but she knew that if she could she wouldn't have found their message tame.

"Great idea, reviving the roof garden show, isn't it?" she said lamely.
"Are you having a good time?" Huck asked in return. "Like it?"
Pamela nodded. The show was good but it meant nothing as compared to the thrill she was experiencing through the knowledge that this man beside her was falling so hard he'd got to the point of trembling over her opinion of his efforts to entertain her.

And when next they danced together and Huck held her closer she dropped her head on his shoulder and told herself she might be playing with fire but it certainly was exciting. She had forgotten Stephen, who had called the hotel, and found no one wished to speak to him.

Harold, too, was succumbing to Huck's campaign to win his con-

CLEAN GARDEN WITH CARE IN SPRING-TIME

By ROMAINE B. WARE

There is a natural urge to clean up the place in the spring and it is all right to do so provided we know what to do and what to leave undone. Both are important. The winter always leaves a certain amount of refuse around and in the flower borders there is generally more or less dead material from last year. All of this must be cleaned out. Be careful in working in the borders not to injure the new growth that is coming up. In many cases it is better to remove refuse with a fork rather than rake it off. In the hardy border there are frequently many self-sown seedlings that one does not wish to injure. As soon as these are large enough to move they may be transplanted.

Do not rake the leaves from the shrubby borders. They make a natural mulch and rot quickly, adding their bit of humus to the soil. As a general rule it is not around the shrubs. A good mulch is much better, as it conserves the moisture, keeps the soil cool and protects the fine rootlets that are near the surface.

Use Rake cautiously
If your lawn was not allowed to grow too long in the fall it is better not to rake it severely in the spring. It may seem to make it look better, but if you are trying to grow a good lawn, the appearance early in the spring is not as important as the fact that the mat of grass left from winter acts as a mulch and helps to keep the soil from drying out. Too, in cutting the lawn it is better not to remove the clippings. They also add to the mulch. If you must rake your lawn, use a rake of wire or wood rather than an iron garden rake.

Get at the weeds early in your borders and flower beds. They make vigorous growth in the spring months, and if you clean them out at once you will not be troubled with them later. Do not burn over the beds, borders or lawn as some gardeners do. This destroys much material that will help to build up the soil. It is not a natural method. In all our gardening, we must try to work with nature, and if we do nature will cooperate with us.

A CHIC HAT DOUBLY NEW

NEW ON TWO COUNTS is the chic little hat from Jean Patou that Juliette Compton, English star, wears. It is extremely shallow, fitting the head easily, like a glove. Its material is satin ribbon, the same brown as the luxurious mink collar of her coat.

The WOMAN'S DAY

By ALLENE SCANNER

Holding his two little daughters, aged 6 and 4, on his knee, Charles Setter, 38, an Oregon farmer, shot them to death. He had quarreled with his wife. Whether he killed her children in revenge or through insane despair is not clear.

It's merely one more human interest story proving that mate love is usually infinitely more possessing and fraught with more fearful possibilities if it goes awry than parental love, especially in the case of a man.

JUST HER GAME?
Some schools of modern mental science are attempting to say, however, that the traditional opinion that the maternal instinct is so much fiercer than the paternal, is all unproved; that it's just one more attempt of the female to assist that she and she only is capable of really staying at home and caring for the child because she loves it most.

LADY TARZAN
Speaking of babies, an elephant hunter in the Kameruns, whatever and wherever they are, recently returned to Berlin to tell a story of discovering in the wilds of the jungle a woman living with a colony of apes.

She was without the inevitable tattoo marks of her tribe, only made the guttural ape sounds for a language, and she was quite convinced that she had been stolen from her cradle by apes, or hurried into the forest by cruel parents, and brought up by the apes much in the manner of Romulus and Remus and the wolves.

What a movie, what a movie! Here should be some sort of answer to the old question of whether it's heredity or environment that counts!

HOLLOW TREE PAPA
While not a few people get rather awarried of the radio in this day when they play every-where all the time, not everybody has a hollow tree into which to climb, as did Aaron Everett, 69, of Indianapolis.

He was missed from his son's home where he resided and was found in his hollow tree where he

by Olive Roberts Barton ©1928 by NEA Service, Inc.

The laziness that comes with the blossoms is more than mere mental inertia. It should not be classed with the complex that is mere obsession against work, but given at least honorable mention amongst spring diseases. Children get it, too. Johnny is likely to catch it at both ends of the line, at home and at school. It takes him hours to do the smallest errand, and as for lessons—the teacher never lived who didn't view the first pussy-willow with consternation. Spring is the shoal on which the good ship of learning usually gets stuck.

Sulphur and molasses, sassafras, and sarsaparilla may have thinned the blood of our grandfathers, but it never kept them from rearing of the swimming-hole and digging down under the winter accumulation of junk in the woodshed to see if the old fishing pole was ready for sale. And it never made them study any harder. About this time of year things usually begin to happen to the standard routine of household affairs also.

The first thing Johnny discovers, one fine day when he daudles in at a quarter to one with only five minutes for lunch, is that there's no mother and no lunch waiting for him. Mother is up in the attic starting the spring cleaning!

From that time on his man's soul is harried by ladders, bare floors, boiled dinners, carpets to beat, laws to clean up, old leaves to burn, and errands, errands, and more errands to run. Mother crosses and treads out, rather mad, sister peevish, teacher unreasonable, and the whole lovely world calling, calling, calling to him to go.

It is a hard time for children all round. I wish there could be a vacation for everyone in April. By the time the hot months arrive we have our second wind, so to speak, and some way we keep going far better than during the transient days of spring. Why do we pile into these precious weeks the hardest work of the year?

Why not enjoy the outdoors and follow the line of least resistance as far as possible—and allow the children to do the same? And then everyone would be happy and patient and peaceful, as spring deserves.

But one thing we grown-ups must do on days when the enervating south wind blows our way. Be patient with the children.

1 tspn. sugar
2 sprigs parsley
2 tabspn. fat
2 tabspn. flour to each cup liquid
1 tspn. salt
1-3 tspn. pepper
Cook the tomatoes, celery, onion, parsley and bay leaf together for about 25 minutes. Strain and measure. Put fat, flour, salt and pepper in double boiler, stir until smooth, gradually add tomato liquid. Stir until boiling. Cook 15 minutes.

CHOCOLATE BAVARIAN CREAM
1 level tabspn. gelatine
1-4 c. cold water
1 pt. heavy cream
1-3 c. sugar
1-2 c. scalded milk
1 tspn. vanilla
1-8 tspn. salt
2 squares chocolate
Soak gelatine in cold water: about five minutes and dissolve in hot milk then add sugar. Add melted chocolate. Set bowl containing mixture in pan of cold water, and stir until mixture begins to thicken. Add cream, beaten until stiff, then the vanilla flavoring. Turn into a wet mold and chill.

Tomato Sauce
1 can tomatoes
1 small onion
1 bay leaf
A few pieces of celery

MUST BEAR NEW NAMES
Put a fancy name on a dish of left-overs and the family will devour it like a chicken dinner, said Miss Florrie Bowering of Landers, Frary and Clark, from W.T.C. station this morning. Japanese roll, using cold meat and served with a tomato sauce, a salad and a dessert composed the menu.
The Japanese Roll recipe follows:
1 c. sifted bread flour
1 tspn. salt
4 tspn. baking powder
4 tspn. shortening
1-2 to 3-4 c. milk, depending upon the flour.
1 cup cold cooked meat
Sift together dry ingredients; rub or chop in shortening; add milk, mix lightly and quickly. The mixture should not be dry. Roll out in rectangle about 1-4 inch thick. Spread evenly with chopped meat. If you're meat is used, add bits of butter on the meat. Season and roll as you would a jelly roll. Form into crescent shape. Brush over with rich milk or butter. Bake at 425 degrees for 30 minutes. Serve with the Tomato Sauce.

(Special to The Herald)
Bartlett Gym, Chicago, April 4.—With the elimination of Bristol, Conn., yesterday afternoon by Yankton, S. D., (25-14) Naugatuck High, another Connecticut entry, remains the sole hope of the East in the national interscholastic basketball tournament being conducted here by the University of Chicago.

With Emmett Carroll in the limelight, Naugatuck swept by Newport News, Va., last evening 38 to 22 and needs three more victories to win the national title. However, their chance of beating the powerful outfit from Athens, Texas, tonight is not considered any too good. The Texans performed a brilliant feat in eliminating Central High of Oklahoma City, one of the most promising teams in the tournament 24 to 15. If Naugatuck can get by Athens, it will have a splendid chance of winning the title.

Bristol was no match for Yankton although the latter states gave their best. The Dakota team is composed of tall players while Bristol was about the smallest in the tournament. The winners show uncanny eyes from the side of the court near the foul line. Yankton's defense was too much for the plucky Easterners who have now failed three times in a row to reach the fourth round. Late this afternoon, Bristol will meet Laurel, Delaware, in a consolation round contest.

Joes Team Wins

Five boys from Joes, Col., on the fringe of the Rocky Mountains, the team which was first reported paired with Bristol, wrote a chapter in the national high school basketball tournament annals.

Laurel, Delaware State champions, was Joes's opponent, but the Easterners might as well have been sitting on the bench as far as halting the flashy Colorado boys was concerned. The fact that it was their first big time game and basketball was unknown to Joes less than two years ago, meant little to the five boys who walked thirty miles that they might catch a train to Chicago and compete for national high school basketball honors.

They passed, dribbled and shot with the coolness and precision of a professional team and when the gun barked at the end of the game the score board read: Joes, 41; Laurel, 7.

Forward Scores 7 Goals

Five youths playing as one man divided honors. Gerald Hall, 6 foot 4 inches tall, started the offensive. Harold Nikkal, a slippery little forward, found the basket five times. Captain Gerald Snyder's uncanny eye for the net counted seven field goals. Aiding this trio of offensive stars were Glenn Hudburg and Keith Vaughn, two of the best guards ever to perform in the Stag classic.

But for a lucky basket late in the last quarter by Beach, Laurel center, the Joes team might have set a new defensive scoring record for the tournament. Six points is the record, and Laurel had scored only five—all in the first half—until Beach got his goal.

Fate in the drawings that place the two great Southwest teams—Athens, Tex., and Central of Oklahoma City, Okla.—together in the second round, resulted in Athens going into the third round, winning 24 to 15. The towering Texans had the flying Central offense stopped, while the three Tompkins of Athens put on their usual brother act to further improve the prestige of Texas champions as finalists in the current national tournament.

Chicago's last hope of winning a national event went glimmering as Crane fell before Warren, Ark., 38 to 30. The Middle West fared a little better than the first day, sending Jackson, Mich., into the third round after the Michigan champions had defeated Columbia, S. C., 27 to 24, in an overtime game.

HOFFMAN-LA ROCCO TO FIGHT TONIGHT

A battle of heavyweights that should bring out action of spirited character is on the slate for Foot Guard Hall in Hartford tonight when George Hoffman, former amateur king, takes on George La Rocco, a rugged miltster from New Rochelle, N. Y., who once fought Frankie Bush of this town.

This bout of 10 rounds has the pre-eminent position on a card of six engagements. In the semi-final Mickey Flahive will tangle in a six rounder with Eddie Williams. Flahive is a former Georgian, who has, in his two previous showings here, impressed ring fans. Williams hails from Worcester in which section of the Bay State, who has campaigned with no little success.

In another six-round clash Nick Christie and Jimmy Garcia will resume their ring warfare. Christie was the winner in the previous go, scoring a kayo after he himself was in trouble in one of the early rounds.

In another sixer Ray Sanborn and Eddie Clark will square off while in the two four-round mixes, Ray Sarno will meet Zeke Mazer and Buster Wright will collide with Del Poullot of New Britain.

ROUTIS SIGNS FOR NEW HAVEN FIGHT

New York, April 4.—Andre Routis, world's featherweight champion, has signed to defend his title in the New Haven (Conn.) arena. Late this month against an opponent yet to be selected. The Frenchman also is considering a bout with Al Singer of New York or Kid Chocolate, Cuban sensation.

ONE ARMED PITCHER STARS AT BOSTON U.

Boston, April 4.—Boston University has a one-armed baseball player, and a pitcher at that, and it is possible that he may get the call to hurl the opening game with Harvard University on April 6. His name is Bruno Burns. He is a former all-around Charleston high athlete, and star of the Terrier's freshman baseball team of 1927. Burns, although getting plenty of competition from other members of the B. U. pitching squad, seems the best of the lot, according to B. U. baseball fans.

The Nut Cracker

Wilbert told his Robins that he wants them to quit kidding and get down to business. Only a short time before that Dazzy Vance had talked the old boy into a $25,000 a year contract, and now Ernie Winograd has asked him for $35,000 for two years. No wonder Robby thinks the boys have become a little barmy.

Harvard's loan of her football yard to Dartmouth comes as a distinct shock. Next thing you know some Harvard guy will be speaking to a Princeton man.

Damon Runyon was operated on for appendicitis. He is said to have received hundreds of telegrams while in the hospital. And, "boxers' managers have changed, he must be out several thousands dollars in tolls.

Grover Cleveland Alexander has a black eye. Somebody hit a high foul and he looked up just in time for the apple to smack him. Still looking around for high balls?

One of the Brooklyn pitchers, Dudy, telegraphed his curve ball to the coaches. The coaches will teach him to reserve that for the umpires.

Babe Ruth hasn't been hitting so many over the barrier in the practice games. He probably figured that home runs in the spring are nice but they don't mean anything.

Joe Lillich, New England amateur heavyweight champion, used to sell magazines. He made it a rule not to accept checks. Once he refused to accept the check of Henry Ford. That young man should go a long way in boxing with an open mind like that.

BOYS TAKE INTEREST IN LEGION BASEBALL

Meeting Tomorrow Night Expected to be Largely Attended; Age Limit Announced.

Considerable interest is being shown among the boys who plan to become candidates for the junior baseball team which will represent the local American Legion Post. It is expected that tomorrow night's 7 o'clock meeting at the School street Rec will be largely attended.

Any boy is eligible to participate who will not have attained his seventeenth birthday before January 1 1930 and who is a bona fide resident of Manchester. The number of boys who show interest will determine whether a league will be organized or whether one team will be picked immediately.

June 15 is the day set for the enrolling the team to represent the local post. In what manner the team will be selected, is to be determined later. If there are any organized teams in town under the age limit, they should be represented at the meeting tomorrow night.

Weighs Only 750 Pounds

And It Is the Biggest Jew Fish Caught in Florida Waters This Season.

This is a fish story, but not the kind that usually brings a questioning "Yea-ah" when it is told. The largest Jew fish caught in Florida waters this season is credited to the party shown here—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Middleton and Evanston, Ill., and Charles J. Hartrader and P. E. Ketrone of Bristol, Va., reading left to right. The fish weighs 750 pounds.

KELLEY ASSIGNS 28 PLAYERS ON HIGH SCHOOL FIRST SQUAD

Will Clip Off Ten More Friday; Great Battle for Second Base; Samuelson in Limelight.

A squad of 45 candidates are practicing daily under direction of Coach Tom Kelley seeking a berth on the Manchester High school baseball nine. The practice sessions are being held at the West Side playgrounds.

Coach Kelley has assigned 28 of these players to the first squad. They are as follows: catchers: Bycholski, Sullivan, Heilund, McKinney, Senowski; pitchers: McConeky, Trueman, Fraser, Smith, Woodbridge, Gelsick; first base: Tierney, H. Moriarty, Magnuson; second base: M. Moriarty, O'Leary; short stop: Squatrito, Samuelson; third base: Kerr, Eben, Schiefel; outfield: Lupien, E. Dowd, Hansen, C. Dowd, Jacobson, Vince and Venant.

Young Dave Samuelson appears to be one of the best finds of the season. He is hitting well and fields in excellent fashion at short stop. Marcus Moriarty and Jimmy O'Leary are having a hot battle for guardianship of the keystone sack. Ray Woodbridge, Roy Fraser and Albert Smith look the most promising of the pitching recruits, but McConeky and Trueman will probably do the bulk of the season's work.

Following Friday afternoon's session, Coach Kelley will slice ten players from the first squad. It is possible that some whose names were not included on the squad mentioned above may yet make a regular berth. The following boys are out for the team:

SOLVED COLUMBIA PROBLEM.

The problem of electing a football captain for the 1929 Columbia football team was solved recently when James Campbell, who fled for the honor with James Blecker, resigned in favor of Blecker.

BARBER LEADING MURPHY ONE PIN

Fair Meet Tomorrow Night In Danielson in Final Half of 20 Game Match.

Howard Murphy, local town bowling champion, and Fritz Barber, Danielson's best bet, will enter the final leg of their twenty game home and home bowling match tomorrow evening in Danielson with only one pin separating them.

Barber won from Murphy here night before last in a close and interesting match 1,069 to 1,068. Neither man made an average worth bragging about. The biggest lead either man gained was 15 pins. Murphy was leading by three pins when the tenth game started but lost by four.

Following the match, the two men bowled four series of five game matches with the local pin-striker winning three of the four. Plenty of money was at stake in all of the games. The pair rolled 19 games, Murphy winning 12 of them.

Here are the scores of the regular match:

Murphy	Barber
98	113
102	92
112	99
103	107
94	112
101	87
111	94
116	122
116	113
115	119
1068	1069

Accident To Thevenow Severe Blow To Philly

Means Another Season in Cellar for Shotton's Crew Says Walsh; Eriberg at Short.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

New York, April 4.—Fate, the ballyhooed Kibitzer who uses your money with boisterous generosity in betting against the cards, you over Burt Shotton's shoulder as he attempts to run a shoestring into a rope ladder with his Philadelphia ball club. Today, Tommy Thevenow, key-man of Shotton's new infield lies painfully injured in a Florida hospital as a result of an automobile accident and they say he will be out at least a month and perhaps for the entire season. If he is out a minute, it will be too much too long, as far as the 1929 Phillies are concerned.

Apparently destined to make some kind of a play for sixth place this year, Thevenow's injuries mean that the Phillies virtually are committed to another season in the cellar, as it was they didn't have too much. As it is, they probably have what they had before Shotton took the club over, i. e. and roughly speaking, nothing. Whatever the outfit expected in the way of minor successes was predicted on Thevenow's recovery from injuries sustained in 1927. His work at Winter Haven this year had proved that he was an assured comeback.

But this only begins to tell the story. For two years, Shotton has needed above all else, the following in the order of their importance: first, sympathy; second, pitchers. What happened? He developed the best collection of first-class sympathy ever seen in a training camp.

Frank Ulrich was rated as one of the best young pitchers in the league when Shotton took the club. If it was to go anywhere in 1928, Ulrich was the lad who might have taken it there. He contracted a serious illness and was lost for the season. He was getting himself ready for the impending campaign when illness overtook him again and he died.

The infield has been almost clamorous with its problems but Shotton seemed to have contrived his way out of that pretty well, after he wrangled Thevenow from the Cardinals in an alleged $50,000 deal. For Thevenow, almost useless in 1928, had played great ball at shortstop this spring and was working perfectly with Fresno Thompson at the ax of the infield. His only available successor is the none too eligible Barney Eriberg for this outfit in two years. It needed a third baseman. He gave it a coming star in young Whitney from New Orleans. It needed a first baseman and so he traded Jimmy Wilson to the Cardinals during the 1928 season, taking in return a lot of unknowns.

One of them was Don Hurst and that took smart figuring. Hurst hit very well for the last two months of the season and looked the part of a good first baseman. Virgil Davis was included in this deal and behind the plate he's nobody's sap, either. I think an option on "Chuck" Klein, the Fort Wayne outfielder, went with this trade, too, in which case it would have to be conceded that Shotton had done himself proud, indeed, for all Klein did to hit .360 for 64 games last year.

Thompson, however, is Shotton's gold medal exhibit. The Pittsburgh Club had this young man for a year and couldn't use him. McGraw had him overnight and didn't want him, so Shotton gladly traded a couple of passe veterans for the pad who was to become one of the ranking second basemen of the league.

"Hey, Bill!"

I don't know which cigarette this is, but it sure wins my vote!"

W. H. (Bill) McCord, of Post & McCord, steel contractors for New York's tallest skyscrapers, holds cigarette test with 94 workers.

Friend, you're smoking a certain cigarette today because you feel it's the best brand for you. And maybe you're right. But have you ever really checked up? Ever said to Old Man Habit, "Now you step out of the room. I'm going to smoke the four leading brands with brand names forgotten and just let my taste say which one is best?"

The other day one of these tests was made among the huskiest fellows in New York... those two-fisted chaps who work with steel girders, sky-high above the city streets.

Their own boss, Mr. W. H. McCord, was referee and score keeper. Each cigarette was "masked" and numbered. All Mr. McCord said was, "Tell me which one you like the best."

The result speaks for itself! 69 out of 94 men voted for OLD GOLD!

OLD GOLD wins time after time in these public tests, because smokers find them smoother and better... with not a cough in a carload.

Letter game grid with words ALONE and CROWD.

THE RULES. 1-The idea of Letter Golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

She was only a physician's daughter but she sent the blood surin' thru your veins.

APHIL FOOLISHNESS.

Husband: "What? You don't mean to say you are going shopping in all this rain?"

Signs. If creditors believe in signs, We'd get a lot of thrills.

Soon the girls will be holding coming-out parties on the beaches.

Little Tommy accompanied his father to church one cold sabbath morning and upon their return his mother asked if he could repeat the minister's text.

When all the world has got a cold, as we remark to Mollie, this good-by kissing should be left for warmer days, by golly.

Classified Ad-College widow with six children would like to marry old grad with five and a football.

The poor girl with a face only a mother could love is out of luck-if she's an orphan.

Perhaps you have noticed that the penitentiaries are full of fellows who work hard-to escape honest toil.

Whenever medical science finds a cure for one disease two others spring up in its place.

Smile! It is the spark that fires the welcome warmth of those of hard approach.

Most people worry more about what other folks are doing than what they are doing themselves.

PHONES Pinehurst "GOOD THINGS TO EAT"
QUICK ACTION.

Pinehurst, as Herald readers know, believes in advertising—not in hiding its light under a bushel. And it has reason to believe in it. But never yet did we get quicker, more definite response to an advertisement than to yesterday's announcement of the rapid-fire cycle delivery service for this neighborhood that we have added to our general truck delivery which goes all over town. Zip! Zowie! The papers hadn't been off the press an hour before we began to get phone calls asking for the immediate delivery of small items, overlooked until just as needed. "We wouldn't think of bothering you to send it to us," was the tenor of most of the explanations, "only we see by tonight's paper that you have a boy for just such work." And we've had a load of just such calls.

That's the stuff! That's just what we put on the cycle delivery for. We want our customers to use it—the oftener the better. If we have to put on a whole platoon of cycle delivery boys, so much the better.

And while on the delivery subject: Pinehurst uses every conceivable precaution against sending a customer the wrong thing or a thing that isn't absolutely first class and satisfactory. But once in a long time something goes awry—something does, once in a while, with the finest automobile in the world. And when this happens, with a Pinehurst order, it is our urge and our prayer that the patron call us up at once and let us know. We want to make good and more than good, on every such rare occasion. But how can we if we are not permitted to know that we have pulled a bone? Please give us the chance to which we are entitled—tell us; and tell us at the time.

Step by step

We have built this lumber business of ours slowly but surely, using the old reliable tools known as Quality, Service and Fair Prices. Satisfied customers have spread the word till it seems as though everybody should know that this is the place to buy lumber. Still, there may be a stranger in town, so we'll run this ad anyway and tell him!
