

BOARD O. K.'S MAIN ST. GAS STATION

Selectmen Approve Gorman Petition, Vote Purnell Place Sidewalks.

No objections were raised to the proposed gasoline station on the Gorman property on Main street opposite Bissell when the hearing for the purpose was held last night and the Board of Selectmen approved the petition of Hans Hansen for a filling station permit on Middle Turnpike East, just beyond the Lake street junction. Five-foot sidewalks with granite curbing were voted for Mill street to the north end and the Board also voted four-foot sidewalk on Purnell Place between Main street and the easterly corner of the street.

The application for the Main street filling station permit made by Michael Gorman. He told the Selectmen that the tenements located on the property could not bring in enough revenue to offset the high taxes and the only way that the property could be made to pay was to develop it in a business way. Mr. Gorman was the only one present to speak either for or against the application.

James Matchett, John Bonzeck, Walter Hall and Edward Hogan were present to be heard on the Mill street sidewalk petition. Mr. Matchett spoke for his sister, Miss Elizabeth Hall, and favored the sidewalk. Mr. Matchett favored the petition as did John Bonzeck. Mr. Bonzeck, however, thought that curbing at least should be laid on the opposite side of the highway to hold the street surface together. Mr. Hogan was opposed to the construction at the present time. The Selectmen believed that it would be impossible to give the property owners a better highway without sidewalks and consequently they were voted.

Purnell Place Sidewalks. In favoring the petition for sidewalks on Purnell Place the Selectmen also instructed the highway committee to investigate the possibilities of further improving the entire Purnell Place area. Edward J. Holl, whose property did not abut on the proposed sidewalk line appeared before the Board and urged that the sidewalk construction be held up until the Selectmen could see whether or not a much greater improvement could be effected. Louis Jaffe, a property owner, on the opposite side of the street believed that sidewalks should be constructed on both sides of the narrow highway. The Selectmen voted the sidewalks in as the petition requested since they were of the opinion that the walks would naturally fit in with any development which may come later.

Two communications were received from Howell Cheney relative to school matters. Mr. Cheney questioned that, under the by-law passed by the last town meeting the high school committee named in the annual meeting which had preceded the legal. In other words he wondered if there was such a thing as a high school committee. Judge W. S. Hyde's opinion was sought and he ruled that the high school committee named by the electors stands under the by-law passed in open meeting. It was merely a question of the intent and purposes of the framers of the by-law, Judge Hyde said.

School Leases. In his other communication Mr. Cheney reminded the Selectmen that an agreement would have to be reached between the town and Ninth school district regarding the leasing of portions of the town's buildings being used by the Ninth district. The Selectmen considered this question and finally delegated George E. Keith and George H. Waddell a committee to give it further study and report back to the Selectmen.

Bids for the contract for supplying bituminous coal to the Ninth District schools and high school were opened and G. E. Willis and Son, Inc., were awarded the work. The Willis bid was $2,500. Other bidders were the Manchester Lumber Company, L. Pola and Harry Seaman. One bid was rejected because the specifications required were not met.

Edgerton St. Walks. The highway committee was given power to investigate and vote on the proposal of sidewalks on Edgerton street bordering the Center Springs park. The Selectmen also voted to install a storm water sewer pipe on Union street. The application of the Southern New England Telephone Company to install a guy wire in the sidewalk on School street was rejected.

PORTER SCHOOL PUPILS ENTERTAIN PARENTS. Children of the Porter street school held the first big auditorium period of the season yesterday afternoon in the assembly hall, which was filled with parents and friends of the children. The program was a musical under the direction of Mrs. Willo Suprenant, supervisor of music. Each room from the first to the seventh grade had some part in the entertainment. Some of the numbers called for special costumes and property.

INDIA MISSIONARY TO BE HEARD HERE

Will Address Swedish Lutheran Ladies at Parsonage Tomorrow.

Miss Moses, who for the past 23 years has been teaching in India and is in this country on a furlough, will speak before the Ladies' Missionary society of the Swedish Lutheran church tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. The meeting will be held at the parsonage, with Rev. and Mrs. P. J. O. Cornell, and will be open to all ladies of the church who would like to hear about the missionary work being done in India.

Miss Moses has been the guest of Rev. and Mrs. S. C. Franzen of Hamlin street for the past week. She is a close friend of Dr. Kugler, sister of Mrs. Franzen who is in Guntur, India, and will bring greetings from the medical missionary to members of the missionary society who met her while visiting her sister here.

Miss Moses will leave on Friday and will go to England for a visit with her sister and to spend Christmas before returning to her work in India.

WARD STORE WORKERS IN HALLOWEEN PARTY

Entire Force of 34 Goes to Osano Cottage in Bolton for Celebration Last Night.

The entire force of 34 employees of Montgomery Ward's department store held a combined celebration of the stores first anniversary in Manchester and of Halloween in Bolton last night. The party was held at the Osano cottage in Bolton Lake last night. George Hauch, district superintendent, was the guest of honor.

It is needless to say the supper was delicious, because Osano's catering made it so. Edward Stern, local manager, acted as master of ceremonies, calling on everyone for stunts.

Frank Kent of the furniture department recited "Gunga Din." A trio comprised of Leon Wadsworth, Victor Swanson, and William Harding sang several numbers and Mrs. Kent gave the evening's entertainment of further improving the entire Purnell Place area. Edward J. Holl, whose property did not abut on the proposed sidewalk line appeared before the Board and urged that the sidewalk construction be held up until the Selectmen could see whether or not a much greater improvement could be effected. Louis Jaffe, a property owner, on the opposite side of the street believed that sidewalks should be constructed on both sides of the narrow highway. Some of the numbers called for special costumes and property.

For the second section of the assembly period, Principle Spillane's room put on a play entitled "Knights vs. the Dragon," the theme of which was character training, the object being to acquaint the children with what was being done along this line. The play program worked out nicely for all concerned.

The Junior Young Men's Club will have a weekly meeting tonight at 7 o'clock at the Manchester Community clubhouse. The members are urged to be present.

Does your Dining Room Create a favorable Impression?

A beautiful dining room is truly a part of the well dressed home. No room reflects more your hospitality as a host or hostess and the true environment of your home. By its appearance you are judged. Does your dining room create a favorable impression or does it mar the beauty of the rest of your home with unsightly worn out pieces that barely serve their purpose? Why not resolve this year to discard that antiquated furniture and modernize the dining room. Make it as up-to-date and beautiful as your new car. Then no longer will you need to apologize to your guests for its appearance. Now is an opportune time with Thanksgiving but a few weeks away. We can show you how to do it at a surprisingly low cost.

'Let's Refurnish the Dining Room during November'

At no better time could you possibly refurnish the dining room than during November when it holds more interest than ever in the home. We all look forward to that glorious Thanksgiving day with its joyous feasting. There's nothing that makes one feel better than such happy anticipation. If you want this Thanksgiving to be the happiest ever give a thought to refurnishing the dining room with beautiful new pieces. For this occasion Keith's present a most interesting display of dining room furniture... representative of the finest styles and quality. Complete suites that match piece for piece and interesting odd groups have been assembled on our floors... all of which are offered to you on very liberal club terms.

For the home that wants a beautiful but inexpensive dining suite we present this elegant example of what Keith's have to offer. The eight piece combination in walnut, including buffet, table and six chairs is priced at $121.50. The china at $35.50. The server at $19.50. A year to pay.

This suite has really captured that something called "charm." Its distinctive Colonial design is greatly enhanced by lustrous crotch mahogany panels. Each piece is exactly as illustrated. The entire group including buffet, table, six chairs and china cabinet, is priced at $270 with a whole year to pay.

Fine Dinnerware

How much the atmosphere of your table settings is improved by the presence of fine dinnerware. Our stocks now include a splendid assortment of patterns in both domestic and imported sets priced at $11.50 and up.

ELECTION NEARS IN DOZEN STATES

In the midst of a complex political situation. Just one seal in Congress is at stake this November, that for the Twenty-first New York District. Representatives, twenty State Senators, Joseph A. Gavagan, Democrat, Herbert T. Delany, Republican, and Frank Crosswath, Socialist, are the candidates. Normally the district is strongly Democratic. State-wide elections will be held in Pennsylvania for the election of two Superior judges; in Illinois for the selection of state judges; in Ohio on constitutional amendments and in Kentucky for the selection of the 100 members of the House of Representatives, twenty State Senators and decision of constitutional amendments.

In Virginia, two college professors—John Garland Pollard, of William and Mary, and William Mosley Brown, of Washington and Lee—are the gubernatorial candidates. Dr. Pollard is the candidate of the regular Democrat organization. While Dr. Brown has the endorsement alike of the anti-Smith Democrats responsible for the 1923

FINE DOUBLE BILL PLAYING AT STATE

"Words and Music" and "The Time, the Place and the Girl" on Today's Program.

Another corking double feature, all-talking program, has been booked into the State for today and Thursday. "Words and Music," an all-talking, singing, dancing, musical comedy, and "The Time, the Place and the Girl," a snappy story of college life are the attractions.

"Words and Music" presents Lois Moran in the leading role. This demure little miss has never before attempted a part of this kind, having heretofore been segm in silent pictures of a dramatic nature. Miss Moran rises to all the requirements of the role and by her excellent work, is adding millions to her legions of admirers. The supporting cast has been recruited from the musical comedy stage, providing a stable background for Miss Moran to work with. Tuneful melodies, a galaxy of dancing, prancing gorgeous girls, and clean, fast comedy, make this production one of the most enjoyable of the season.

"The Time, the Place and the Girl" is a sparkling comedy drama of college life, in which a star athlete, who wouldn't say no to the ladies, and found that brains, not good looks and a swelled head were needed to win love and fortune. The leading parts are enacted by Betty Compson, James Kirkwood, Grant Withers and Gertrude Olmstead. Wednesday night is Duo-Dollar Auction night. There will be but one show tonight, starting promptly at seven thirty. Come early for choicest seats and join in the fun frolic.

FORD PARIS LOCATION STIRS BOULEVARDIERS

Paris—(AP)—"Ford is invading the boulevards."

Such was the information whispered in alarm or shouted with glee along the bright lights of Paris, according to whether the informant belonged to the auto manufacturing or auto purchasing category of Parisians.

The launching of the Ford French company stock on the market caused a flurry in the automobile world, but the announcement that Ford had bought one of the busiest and most centrally situated corners on the Boulevard des Italiens, two blocks from the Opera, has made the boulevardiers sit up and take notice.

The price paid was $500,000 for the expenditure of $1,000,000 to erect a six-story building to be used as show rooms and offices.

The fact that the new Ford place is one block from the Paramount theater and headquarters are causing old boulevardiers to shake their heads sadly and say:

"The Americans are requisitioning our boulevards with their dollars."

TO BACK EMPLOYEES

Chicago, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The Herald and Examiner said today in a copyrighted story that Julius Rosenwald, philanthropist, and chairman of the board of Sears, Roebuck & Co., had pledged without limit, his personal fortune to guarantee the Stock Market accounts of the forty thousand employees of his company.

Mr. Rosenwald decided to take this action the paper said, following the market drop last Thursday.

A wealthy business man was admitted to a California cult and given the title of "Now and Hereafter." He also turned out to be quite a present.

COTTON MANUFACTURERS GATHERING IN BOSTON

Boston, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Cotton manufacturers of the country met here today to study problems of the industry.

Representatives of all branches and allied interests of the great textile trade, from the mills of South Carolina to those of New Hampshire, and from such widely separated types of work as fashion bureaus and employee relations courses, came together as speakers and listeners at the annual convention of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers.

General business conditions, manufacturing problems, style trends and questions of distribution were on the program for speeches and discussion.

"Some aspects of employee relations" was the topic for the opening session, led by President Lincoln Baylies of Boston, and Congressman Scott Leavitt of Great Falls, Mont., who was to be the principal speaker at the evening at the annual dinner.

Junior League girls were to appear as models in a fashion promenade tonight sponsored by the association and the cotton-textile institute.

Tomorrow Frederick M. Felker, chairman of President Hoover's committee appointed to study distribution of manufactured products, will lead a session on "distribution."

A style conference will follow and the two day convention will close with the election of officers.

London, Oct. 30.—(AP)—A writ on behalf of General Higgins, the new commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, asking for transfer to himself of army trust property now held in the names of executors of the late General Bramwell Booth, was issued today.

The writ was served immediately on General Booth's executors, Mrs. Booth, Commissioner Catherine Booth, his daughter, and a solicitor named Sneath.

ZEPPELIN WILL ACT AS "MOTHER BALLOON"

Friedrichshafen, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin is to become a "mother balloon" in undertaking experiments preparatory to its Polar flight next spring.

After overhauling, it is expected the dirigible will, late in November make a flight over Norway and Sweden to obtain meteorological information. This will be obtained by means of a pilot balloon which will ascend to a height of 32,800 feet from a special platform to be constructed on top of the Zeppelin.

The Zeppelin Works has succeeded in dispelling the principal scruples of the Graf's crew against making the Polar flight, it is said. Life and accident insurance and wages have been increased and hygienic improvements guaranteed.

BY BRUCE CATTON NEA Service Writer

The follower of sea stories has always found the pilot in a minor character of no importance. This individual appears momentarily, he takes the outward-bounder only as far as the lighthouse, and his appearance on the return trip is a sure indication that both voyage and book are merely finished.

Charles Edward Russell, however, has discovered that the story of the pilots has quite as many thrills, and makes quite as interesting reading, as the story of the deep-water sailor; and Russell's new book, "From Sandy Hook to 62," is as absorbing a tale of the sea as anyone could ask.

This book, published by the Century Company and retailing at $3.50, ought to be received eagerly by all lovers of sea stories—indeed, by anyone who likes true stories of adventure, bravery and sacrifice. It tells the story of the New York pilots; the men who guide the course of every ship that enters or leaves New York harbor. Russell begins at the very beginning and takes the pilots down to the present day. He recounts the gallant adventures of the pilots in the War of 1812, when more than one crack pilot schooner became a privateer and set out to drive His Britannic Majesty's merchant ships off the seas, and continues through the years of peace when the pilot's life was quite as exciting as it was in war time.

Incidentally, Russell's book casts interesting sidelights on other phases of the sea. He mentions the old-time wind-jammers that sailed from New York to San Francisco, around Cape Horn, with hard-boiled captains and brutal "bucko" mates, whose hard fisted rule made American sailing vessels famous the world over as "hell ships," and, through the lips of pilots, he gives a measure of explanation for this state of affairs.

Sailors who shipped at New York for the trip to Frisco always signed on for the round trip, and were not paid until the ship returned to New York. If the crew deserted in a body at San Francisco, the owners were simply money ahead; and, in turn, if the crew that shipped in New York wages need be paid for the entire voyage. Thus the brutality was partly a matter of cold business; men were driven to desert so that expenses could be kept down, and captains and mates often shared in the money thus saved.

Russell's book is intensely interesting, from beginning to end, and this reviewer is glad to give it an enthusiastic recommendation.

A Sedate Spinster Who Gets What She Wants "Invitation to the Dance," by Madge Jenison, tells the story of a small-town spinster who, for all that she has no money, no charm and no background, manages to get three husbands, a fortune and a trip to Spain after she has passed middle age.

The heroine of this novel is Aunt Guddah. She "learns to understand life," the author tells us; to accept the decrees of fate without questioning them and without being appointed by them. She is entirely submissive, yet this very submissiveness enables her to get things that more self-assertive people miss.

Miss Jenison has written a novel of considerable charm. Her style is warm and rich, her character-drawing is excellent; and if the story occasionally fails to carry conviction—if Aunt Guddah seems at times to be rather more the favored child of fortune than the author intended—the book is, nevertheless, well worth your reading.

It is published by Doubleday-Doran, and sells for $2.50. If you have a young son to whom the long autumn evenings are a bit monotonous, buy him a copy of "Hunting Hidden Treasures," by Harold T. Wilkins. It ought to solve his problem nicely.

This book, published by E. P. Dutton, recounts all of the famous treasure hunts of the last half dozen centuries or more, and does it in a graphic and exciting manner. Pirate gold, buried plate, sunken galleons—are all here, in profusion. Incidentally, many a young son's father will find the book entertaining. This reviewer did, at any rate.

"The Collected Verse of Lewis Carroll," also issued by Dutton, is a book that every lover of "Alice in Wonderland" will want to have. That ought of course, to include pretty nearly everybody. The book contains all of the poems that appear in that immortal fantasy for children, and a number of others with which most of us, probably, are not familiar. It's worth owning.

The Great Year-Round Hunting Season!

GIVE OUT NO NEWS OF YALE BANQUET

New Haven, Oct. 30.—(AP)—There was silence today at Yale University on the "informal banquet" at which President James Rowland Angell, 17 varsity team captains and several officials gathered to "promote friendly relations between the athletic and academic activities of the university."

The attitude of secrecy apparent last night before, during and after the banquet was continued today and not one person who attended would describe in vaguest terms what was said. Even the Yale News, official daily organ of the university which had carried several "advance" accounts of the banquet, was silent on the event and not even an item telling it was held was carried.

The fact that considerably more publicity was given the banquet before it actually took place than accorded similar events apparently gave significance to it, for great interest was manifested in it at the university. Besides the president and the 17 captains, those who attended were Dean Clarence W. Mendell, of Yale college, Dean Charles H. Warren of Sheffield scientific school, Prof. George H. Nettleton, chairman of the athletic association board of control, H. F. Woodcock, general manager of the association and Dr. J. C. Greenway, director of the Yale department of health. Coaches, including Head Coach Marvin A. Stevens, were excluded.

FARM LEADERS CONFERENCE

Washington, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Direct contact with agricultural conditions in 34 states was obtained today by the Federal Farm Board in an informal conference with 34 members of the National Association of Commissioners of Agriculture in annual session here.

The members, each of whom is a state agriculture commissioner, discussed with the board members methods looking toward bringing about relief under the Federal Farm Act. The board members in turn told the commissioners of their policies and reviewed the steps already taken by them to aid various commodity producers.

NEW ALASKAN CAPITOL IN SUN PARLOR STYLE

Juneau.—(AP)—The new capitol of Alaska will resemble a huge sun-parlor when it is completed two years hence.

To make the most of the short daylight hours in this locality, architects have arranged for a maximum of windows.

Marble corridors and senate and house chambers with appropriate ornaments will greet the eight senators and 16 representatives when they assemble here in March for a 90-day session.

The governor's suite will be in keeping with the dignity of the office. The various federal and territorial offices, which have been scattered around Juneau since the capital was moved here from Sitka, will be assembled under one roof.

The new capitol will cover 15,800 square feet and will be six stories high.

Some Market 'Quotations' That Tickers Don't Carry

By ROBERT SAUNDERS. New York, Oct. 30.—Some money has been made in Wall Street though billions were lost. The gamblers were the guides, office boys and hangers-on of the financial section who volunteered to act as guides to the tourists who wandered down on foot.

On the evening of the first panic, one theatrical agency on the Broadway section—one of dozens—received 174 cancellations for theater tickets.

The hardest thing to get in New York, ordinarily, is a ticket to the opening night of the Metropolitan. Speculators will pay any price for them.

Steamship agencies who advertise de luxe cruises to the Mediterranean and to the Orient found themselves flooded with cancellations. There were orders to stop the work on fur coats at various smart shops.

Chorus girls stood in line outside a bank on 42nd street, minus their diamond sparklers, their brooches—and their smiles—

But what's wormwood to one is candy to another—and so the salaried hordes, who could never afford to "play the market," find some of the quite expensive "production" listed on the "cut rate" boards and clerks can treat their girls to $5 shows at half that price.

Stockholm.—(AP)—Sweden's first aviator was a cat, which ascended in a balloon in 1784 before a resplendent assembly of royalties and dignitaries, according to a paper of that year.

It was decided that Sweden should undertake an experiment in aviation. The queen, the crown prince and many others contrived.

On September 17, 1784, the king, the queen, the royal court, foreign diplomats and Swedish dignitaries were assembled to witness the memorable event.

In the small gondola the aviator—a cat—and a letter to the finder requesting him to return the balloon to the Royal Academy of Science, were placed.

The queen herself cut the string holding the balloon, it slowly rose, greeted by the cheers of those present, and disappeared in the direction of the sea.

The balloon later was found some 15 miles away from Stockholm, slightly damaged, but the cat had disappeared, evidently unharmed, and probably with the firm intention of not placing itself again at the disposal of those who contemplated experiments of this character.

NINE LIVES LOST IN LAKE DISASTER

Probe on Today to Determine What Caused Steamer Wisconsin to Sink.

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The Federal government, the county and the Goodrich Steamship Company joined today in an investigation into the sinking of the Wisconsin four miles off this port yesterday with the loss of at least nine lives.

A preliminary survey last night gave rise to several questions. It was pointed out that the boat was less than an hour out from Kenosha Harbor when it first began radiating distress signals.

Portland, Maine, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Belief that Francis W. Allen, missing Colby College freshman and son of Harrison Allen of Waterbury, Conn., is in New York City or Buffalo was expressed today by Captain Charles A. Radley of the Barge Enterprise, now in port here.

Allan visited Captain Radley's son, Burton 21 and Kenneth 17, aboard the Enterprise over last week-end. They became acquainted at the summer home of the Allen family at Tennant's Harbor this year.

The three boys left here Monday morning in Allen's car for Waterbury where Allen packed his belongings and told his roommate that he was going "west."

MURDERERS OF 65 PERSONS Are Condemned To Death

Moscow, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Five men alleged to be members of a band responsible for the murder of 65 persons including six detectives, were condemned to death early today.

Another defendant addressing the court said: "I have killed only three people. It is the first time I murdered anybody, therefore I think I ought to be acquitted."

The testimony revealed that many of the gang escaped detection by getting themselves arrested as pickpockets immediately after committing a murder so that they would have not only food and shelter for several months but could throw the police completely off their trail.

EDWIN B. PARKER DIES AT CAPITAL

Was Arbitrator of the American-German Claims Commission—61 Years Old.

Washington, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Edwin B. Parker, arbitrator of the American-German mixed claims commission, died here today.

Judge Parker had been ill for several weeks but as late as yesterday it was said at his home that his condition was improving and that he was believed to be on the way to recovery.

He was 61 years old and had a distinguished career of an umpire in the settlement of international disputes. Born in Shelby county, Missouri, Sept. 7, 1868, Mr. Parker attended the University of Texas and later practiced law at Houston.

Parker was a dollar a year man during the World War and assisted in the organization of the war industries board of which he was made a member.

Behind The Scenes As Market Crashed

Feverish Activity, But No Panic, Grips Stock Exchange, in Trading.

By GENE COHN. NEA Service Writer. New York, Oct. 30.—At the entranceway of the New York Stock Exchange, Jake—the carnation man who decorates the buttonholes of a thousand Wall street traders—contemplated sadly his stock of leftovers.

Generally he is sold out before noon, and about 80 per cent. of the lapsels on "the floor" are decorated with a bright pop. Now one could count the buttonholes. In their terrific haste they were forgetting completely a custom which raised Jake from the status of a shine-boy to that of an affluent flower merchant.

For it was a typical day during the worst of the great stock slump. And the scene therein is one which is denied even to the eyes of New York. The average man who has been hit by the crash of the market since it grew from a million-share-a-day institution into an arena which found something like eight-million shares dumping into its lap.

BELGIUM PROPOSES PROHIBITION LAW

Would Cut Down Sale of Alcohol and Cut Out Imported Beer.

Brussels, Belgium, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Drastic changes in the legislation regulating the use of alcohol in Belgium, are foreshadowed by the recommendations of special investigating committees that the minimum sale quantity of alcohol be reduced from two quarts to one and the so-called aperitif drinks be abolished.

The first recommendation is considered an important concession to the anti-prohibitionists. Under the law at present, two quarts of alcohol is the minimum quantity permitted to be sold, on the theory that the large quantity discourages constant drinking. The sale of alcohol by the glass is prohibited in public bars, cafes, restaurants and hotels.

Only the sounds and the off-stage scenes are ominous—sounds which billow up like a roaring surf and carry outside where Jack stands viewing his over-supply of carnations and wondering what the world is coming to.

ABOUT TOWN

All members of the Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps of Dilworth-Cornell Post, American Legion, are requested to report at the local Armory at 6:45 p. m. sharp on Friday evening for the Red Cross parade. As the parade will start promptly at seven o'clock, it is imperative that all members report at the time stated.

Mrs. Thomas J. Lewis of Manchester Green attended the annual meeting today of the Society of Mayflower Descendants in Connecticut, held in the ballroom of the Hartford Club, with luncheon at 1 o'clock, and afternoon meeting in the lecture room of the Morgan Memorial.

The Women of the Nazarene church will hold their Thursday afternoon prayer meeting tomorrow at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Thomas Wray of Winter street.

The local officers of the Salvation Army will meet at the Citadel this evening at 7:30 for a special council conference.

Dr. D. C. Y. Moore is expected home this evening, after attendance at the international medical meeting and a visit to the Mayo Brothers Clinic at Rochester, Minn.

Mrs. E. A. Lettney is chairman of a large committee of the members of Temple Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, which will be in charge of a food sale Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at the J. W. Hale company's store. The proceeds will be donated to the O. E. S. hospital at Wallingford.

BUSINESS MEN BREAK THE PARKING RULES

Many of 57 Violators Convicted in October Had Been Blocking Their Own Doors.

During the month of October 57 Manchester men paid fines of $2 without costs for violations of the town parking laws. At least one of that number has paid this sum on two different occasions. The local police have been conducting a campaign to enforce the parking rules. A very large percentage of the violations occurred right on Main street between the Center and Charter Oak street and, strange to say, many of the violators have proven to be men who do business in that section. The rules have been well advertised. There are parking signs on the poles along the street; nevertheless business men have continued to park their cars on the East side of Main street and have allowed them to remain there for hours at a time. Store proprietors and clerks overlook the fact that by so doing they deprive shoppers from this and other towns of the use of the parking space in front of their places of business.

POLICE COURT

In the police court this morning Thomas Cahill was charged with intoxication. He was arrested on complaint of Mrs. Dennis Coleman of 22 Maple street. Mrs. Coleman was summoned to appear against him but failed to do so. Judge Johnson, after questioning Patrolman Prentice, who made the arrest, about Cahill's condition, suspended judgment.

CONCERT AT CITADEL IS A GREAT SUCCESS

An audience that more than taxed the capacity of the Citadel, gathered to enjoy the concert that was sponsored by the ladies of the Home League of the local Salvation Army Corps last night. The entertainment opened with the singing by the entire audience of two stanzas of "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus," prayer and the reading of the one hundredth psalm. Adjutant Heard introduced Professor Clarence P. Quimby, principal of the High school who most admirably piloted the program. Thomas Maxwell with his mandolin club played a couple of spirited numbers, which were followed by the various artists whose work contributed so splendidly to the success of the program.

Miss May Mower of New Haven rendered two special groups of songs in excellent style, as also did our own Bob Gordon. His performance was not only masterly and superb, but his selections were most appropriate. The humorous readings of Miss Florence Chambers captivated the audience as also did the offerings of little Miss C. Greenaway. Miss Gladys Carlisle gave a spirited banjo solo and a musical trio of two mandolins and guitar by Thomas Maxwell and Misses Elizabeth and Beulah Ellberg was very tastefully rendered to the great delight of the audience. The pianoforte solo by our own Harold Turkington was greeted with boisterous applause. Most all of the artists were encored, the piano accompanists did their part to make the occasion a success. Mrs. Gordon accompanied her husband in his solos. Mr. Alfred accompanied Miss Mae Mower and Miss Theodora Maxwell played for the mandolin club.

Mrs. Arthur Kittle, the president of the Ladies' Home League, expressed her gratitude to the folks that had given such delight to the splendid crowd, and made possible the material help in aid of the local work. Adjutant Heard proposed and seconded a hearty vote of thanks to all who had contributed to the program to make it the success that it was. He ended with an appeal to the congregation to allow the impression brought by some of the messages of music to bear fruit in the life. The program came to a close by the singing of the Doxology and the Benediction. Refreshments were served to the participating artists.

The Ladies Aid Society of the South Methodist church omitted its meeting this afternoon as many of the members were busy with arrangements for the rummage sale tomorrow in the vacant store on the west side of Main street.

SLOW FIRE GIVES FIREMEN BATTLE

Home of Joseph Hublard, Jr., Damaged $1,200 by Early Morning Blaze.

Fire, started by the overheated pipe of a combination wood and gas stove standing within four inches of the kitchen wall, ran swiftly up the wall, parallel to the chimney and broke out on the roof, resulting in damage of about $1,200 to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hublard, Jr., 15 Earl street, at 8:15 this morning.

Practically all the damage was done by water and in locating the flames inside the partitions which proved a particularly hard job. Two hose and a chemical line from Companies 2, 3, 4, played on the fire, while firemen worked in thick smoke, ripping up shingles.

A side wall and ceiling of a bedroom just above the kitchen were torn out to get at the flames that licked between the two-by-four uprights. Holes were cut in the main roof and in an extension roof over a pantry. All six rooms of the house were damaged somewhat by water but the furniture was removed and escaped damage.

Chief Foy and his men were baffled for a time by the flames eating beneath the roof but axe work soon uncovered the fire and the hose made quick work of it. Several of the firemen waited for 15 minutes after the fire had been quenched to guard against a possible recurrence.

The house, which is owned by Joseph Hublard, mason contractor, was just recently redecorated. It was insured.

The alarm was rung in from Box 75, East Middle Turnpike and Park streets. The recall sounded at 9:10 o'clock.
