Calling attention to his party's success in a number of contests, Shouse in a statement said that "ordinarily municipal elections might not have a great deal of bearing on the national situation, but in yesterday's elections in nearly every case national issues were brought in and the appeal was made on behalf of the Republicans that the support of Republican national policies and the endorsement of the Hoover administration was in the contest."

In Virginia. Referring to the Democratic landslide in Virginia, he said "the frank purpose" of the Republican campaign was to retain Virginia in the Hoover column—and a Democratic governor was elected in the face of the coalition of Republicans and Democrats to mount today as late returns gave the victorious party seventy of the 100 seats and their opponents, the Coalitionists eight.  The progress on amendments was interrupted at one time by a clash between Smoot and Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, who accused finance Republicans with deliberately recommending rate increases on certain articles so as to force Democrats to seek increases.
 Harrison asserted this had been the purpose in the unsuccessful effort of the committee to decrease the rate on China clay. Senator George, Democrat, Georgia, sponsored the move for a higher duty.
 The Mississippi Senator also charged the Republican committee with voting for a raise in duties on pottery and Chinaware after recommending elimination of the increases.

BANKRUPTCY PETITION FOR BAY STATE FIRM

New York, Nov. 6.—(AP)—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed today against Baran and Company, Inc., a stock brokerage concern, in the U. S. District Court. The First National Corporation was the petitioner.

The petitioning corporation, a Massachusetts concern, alleges that the defendant corporation is bankrupt, and demand is made for the appointment of a liquidator. The petition for a claim against the defendant for $45,000, the claim being based upon the sale and delivery on October 25 of 100 shares of capital stock of the National City bank, for which it had been agreed $45,000 should be paid in cash. The fact that such a payment was not made, although Baran and Company obtained and retained possession of the certificates, resulted last week in action in the state courts and by the attorney general of New York state.

In the petition, it is alleged that "Baran and company fraudulently obtained the certificates without payment" and that no part of the amount due has since the date of delivery been paid although the certificates have been transferred to an innocent purchaser for value.
 Baran and Company is not a member of the New York Stock Exchange.

STUDENTS EXHIBITING INDIAN-CRAFT WORK

Nathan Hale Pupils Have Interesting Display—Open Tomorrow Afternoon.

Students of the Nathan Hale school have prepared an exhibit of Indian craft work which will be on display tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 4 p. m. Those who attend will see a very interesting and instructive display of Indian life prepared by all grades of the school in connection with other courses of study. Many tribes have been studied by the students and as a result they have arranged many layouts of native Indian villages true in every detail. Villages of Hopi, Acomas, Aztecs and other tribes made by the students shows an intensive study of the conditions under which they lived and the handicraft which accompanies the exhibit is very fine.

The puppet stage representing Hiawatha's childhood made by grade four under Miss Mignerey is especially well done and the songs that describe the exhibit are typical in tone and rhythm. Blanket patterns and pottery designs done from the originals in recognized books are commendable. Other copies of totem poles of Alaskan Indians add color to the display. The desert layout of the Acanat desert Indians is realistic with loaded pack-burros, cactus and the endless sand.

An Alaskan Indian village done in detail with the igloo, ice seals and the fur-clad natives lends a bit of freshness to the exhibit as a whole. The work done by students of the Nathan Hale school is similar to that done by the Lincoln school of New York City, noted for its advancement along modern lines of instruction. Students and teachers are to be congratulated on the wonderful effort put forth in the regular course of study to make this exhibit possible.

Following the exhibit in the auditorium guests will inspect the library after which tea will be served.

BIG PLANE BUILDER TELLS HOW IT WORKS

Berlin, Nov. 6.—Dr. Claude Dornier, builder of the giant DO-X flying boat, today explained to the Scientific Society for Aviation how the big ship, even with heavy ballast, can be raised from the water in a few seconds.

He told the members of the society that the crankshaft of the DO-X was vibrationless and that all twelve motors could be started running in four to five minutes.

Dr. Dornier pointed out that the increase in the ballast capacity of airplanes from 3.7 tons in 1918 to 7.5 in 1928 had been trippled by the DO-X with 22 tons. He was confident that this could be increased within a decade for seaplanes to 100 tons.

He said the fuel consumption of the DO-X, inclusive of lubrication, was 180 gallons per H. P. hourly. Over a distance of 2,480 miles the Junkers gasoline motor required 25 per cent less fuel than the Diesel motor.

TRAYLOR ATTEMPTS TO STOP DEADLOCK

American Expert at Bank Parley Gives Opinion of Payments in Kind.

Baden-Baden, Germany, Nov. 6.—(AP)—M. A. Traylor, American delegate to the Bank for International Settlements conference, today made an effort to break a deadlock which has developed since yesterday's meeting with the committee on deliveries in kind. At that time it became apparent that this committee desires the bank to exercise supervision over deliveries in kind contracts.

The organizers of the international bank, however, felt that the supervisory function did not come strictly under the banking business and they were loath to assume this responsibility.

Traylor's Opinion
Mr. Traylor in a two-page memorandum said that under the Young plan, the Bank for International Settlements could not escape a certain amount of the responsibility of supervision. Consequently he suggested that under its proposed statutes the bank could appoint committees outside its directorate for special purposes. Supervising deliveries in kind contracts, he held, constituted a case where the appointment of a special committee would be justified.

The conference took Mr. Traylor's memorandum under advisement and experts to vote on it shortly. It is understood that adoption of Mr. Traylor's proposal is likely inasmuch as there is a feeling that if the bank declines supervision the government at the Hague may create a political organism for this purpose. Such a step would be unwelcome to the organizers of the international bank who desire to keep it out of politics.

BROOKHART WOULD CALL BIG "WALL STREETERS"

Washington, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Proceeding his appearance before the District of Columbia Grand Jury today, Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, suggested the jury should summon a number of the "Wall Street" financiers, including W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, and Otto Kahn, New York international banker, to testify concerning the alleged "booze party" given to United States Senators three years ago.

Besides Atterbury and Kahn, the Iowa said two others, E. E. Loomis, railroad official, and Walter Fahy, New York broker, should be called.

The Senator said he was in favor of summoning "all the Wall streeters" who attended the affair which was held at the Willard hotel.

The deepest place in the ocean yet found is 145 miles southeast of Tokio, Japan—32,636 feet.

GRADE ESTABLISHED FOR CONN. TURKEYS

15,000 Birds Represents Increase in State's Turkey Crop, Country Shows 9 Per Cent Increase.

The approach of Thanksgiving brings with it the adoption of an official grade for turkeys grown in Connecticut. The Connecticut Native Fancy Grade which was established by the State Department of Agriculture at the request of the recently organized Connecticut Turkey Producers' association will become effective on November 22, 1929.

Estimations based on the best available information place the increasing turkey population of the state at approximately 15,000 birds. The grade which has been adopted is purely voluntary and it is expected by the State Department of Agriculture that it will be of great assistance to Connecticut consumers by stopping the masquerading of shipped-in birds as Connecticut turkeys.

Turkeys sold under this grade shall be birds grown in Connecticut, which are young, soft meat and well fleshed with broad, full breasts. They must be well bled and cleanly picked, with no noticeable feed in crops. No flesh bruises or prominent skin abrasions will be allowed. There shall be only slight discolorations, none of which shall be on the breasts. Slightly dented breast bones (not to exceed 1/2 inch in depth) permitted but there shall be no crooked breasts or other deformities. There shall be no broken bones excepting wing tips. Birds must be dry picked or semi-scalded; skin to be clean and dressed with head and feet on.

The grade further requires that no birds shall be sold under this grade excepting those identified by the official yellow tag bearing the New England Quality Label and the name, address and registry number of the producer. This tag shall be firmly attached to the right wing of each bird.

Each producer of Connecticut Native Fancy Grade Turkeys will be registered with the State Department of Agriculture from where the official tag and label may be received. Inspectors from the department will visit the farms when the turkeys are being prepared.

HOLIDAY DANCES AT RAINBOW PALACE

Approximately a thousand people attended the dances at the Rainbow at Bolton last week and both the dance palace and inn did a thriving business evidence of the increasing popularity of this fine old tavern and dance palace. This week's program has been especially arranged to meet the needs of the holiday that will be observed in a general observance of Armistice Day.

Tomorrow evening old fashioned and modern dances will alternate an attractive program which Bill Wadell and his popular dance orchestra will provide and on Saturday evening the Armistice grand ball will take place with The Commanders, sensational dance band of eleven pieces provide a special holiday program for the big event at The Rainbow. With business in general suspended on Monday the 11th (Armistice Day) Saturday night's ball should be largely attended. The efforts of Mr. Pinney to please the public by high-class dance attractions is bearing fruit and the steadily increasing crowds at Eastern Connecticut's most popular night club is the talk of Tolland, Windham and Hartford counties.

Announcement that George Bokis, the popular proprietor of Sandy Beach Park and ballroom is to take over the Rainbow Inn this week and will immediately introduce many radical and modern night club ideas, will be received by the public with interest and enthusiasm. Mr. Bokis is an experienced hotel man with liberal ideas as to the needs of his patrons and it is assured the inn will at once take on a new lease of life under his capable management. A wide variety of excellent dishes, with chicken and steaks featuring the menu will attract a patronage of broadening scope and The Rainbow will be known for the excellent of its food and hospitality throughout Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, where Mr. Bokis has a wide acquaintance with the general public. A large holiday crowd will visit the inn and dance palace Saturday to enjoy the splendid program that has been planned for the weekend and Armistice Day.

"DUO-DOLLARS" SELL TOWN TO ITS PEOPLE

Manchester Residents Realize Advantages of Shopping at Home—Those in Suburban Areas Learn to Come Here for Their Regular Purchases—How the Plan Operates.

To have so short and yet so colorful a career as has been the lot of the Duo-Dollar campaign to date is an achievement worthy of more than ordinary notice; an achievement that is worthy of being retraced to the time of its origin.

The birth of Duo-Dollar came about in September when the merchants of Manchester banded together in a discussion of business conditions. They wished to put across the idea of Manchester people trading in Manchester and of people in outlying districts coming to the town for merchandise values.

The Plan
From this discussion emerged the Duo-Dollar plan which briefly is as follows: Customers trading at the subscribing stores will for every dollar, part of a dollar, or more that a dollar he given its equivalent in Duo-Dollar currency. Each customer should save this currency. Once every month an auction will be held at the State theater at which prizes will be offered by the stores. These prizes will be purchased with Duo-Dollars. The prize list will be published a month in advance of each auction.

Frank J. Limbacher

amount on the bid slips which you may obtain in any of the Duo-Dollar stores for the asking. This bid slip you deposit in the large green and white box located in the lobby of the State theater. On the night of the auction you go to the theater with your Duo-Dollars. After the show is over an auctioneer calls off the highest bid made on each article. If your name is called you advance to the stage, pay your Duos and get the article you bid on. If your bid is not the highest you will be able to bid at the open auction which is held on all merchandise not disposed of by auction. Don't forget you can bid on as many articles as you wish.

The Auctions
The auctions have already been held with great success. At the first one there were nearly ten bids on everyone of the 100 or so pieces of merchandise. At the second the bids numbered nearly 6000. The first auction packed a crowd into the State and the second had people

Each of the 29 subscribing merchants participating is contributing a proportionate share of merchandise to be given away at the auction. Naturally, the person doing the largest amount of cash buying during the period of months allotted to the scheme will have the largest number of Duos to offer at the auctions.

Special Promotion
One month a special cash prize of $25 was offered to churches or fraternal organizations represented by a duly authorized officer of the body at the auctions. This was discontinued after the first month. On each of the four months of the campaign The Herald publishes a merchants supplement of which this is one.

A complete list of all the prize merchandise is advertised in The Herald a month in advance and is repeated from time to time to keep the people informed. This merchandise is also displayed in the windows of the subscribing stores.

Duo-Dollar currency is issued in denominations of 10c, 25c, 50c, $1.00, $5.00, and $10.00. Now suppose you go into one of the subscribing stores, you will know if it is one by the large yellow placard displayed in the window—make a purchase of say $5. You then receive $5 worth of Duos. Save this money.

How To Bid
Now look up the list of merchandise which is to be offered at the auction. Glance through it and find the article you desire. Say, a pair of shoes marked to retail at $10. You decide to bid $75. In Duos for them. Accordingly you enter this

Committee Strove To Put Plan Over

The Duo Dollar Trading Plan has proved one of the most popular merchandise stunts that has been operated by the merchants of Manchester. One has needed only to try and attend one of the auctions in the State theater to learn that fact.

Store date in your mind and be on hand to get something for nothing—or rather for your trade in Manchester, for which trade you get besides, full value for every dollar with courtesy and service in the bargain.

BOUDOIR JACKET.

The newest l'ouoir attire for Milady is a stunning eggshell satin pajama suit, with full legs and a cowl collar and over this shining surface, the neatest little rose pink velvet jacket that nips in at the waist and fits like the paper on the wall.

BLACK GLOVES.

A dark red duvetyon suit with black kimmer trim is topped by a black felt turban and completed by a pair of six-button black suede gloves.

HAT PINS.

New jeweled vanities are hat pins. One, worn with a black felt of infinite grace and beauty. It is diamonds, rubies, emeralds and sapphires working out a tiny nose-peg, against a platinum flower pot of lovely filigree work.

PIGSKIN GLOVES.

Sports gloves use a variety of leathers this fall. A pigskin gauntlet, furined, with only fine stitching on its back, is a favorite.

ACOUSTICS OF HALL FOR WOMEN'S VOICES

Washington—(AP)—Special acoustics features designed to bring out the voices of women were built into the big auditorium in the $1,500,000 Constitution hall of the D. A. R.

As women will preside at most of the meetings the best authorities were consulted and much money was spent to eliminate echoes. A voice amplification system for the weaker voiced "daughters" will be installed.

The auditorium will be one of the finest in the capital and is expected to become a musical center of the city. It already is booked for a series of fall concerts. The Philadelphia orchestra and the Philadelphia-Symphony of New York will be heard there.

The architecture is colonial and the decorations are in buff and blue, the colors of the D. A. R. Fifty-two boxes in horse-shoe formation surround the orchestra section. Forty-nine of these represent the states of the union and the District of Columbia.

One will be at the disposal of the President of the United States, one for the use of the president general of the D. A. R. and one for the use

FEW WOMEN QUALIFY FOR FOREIGN SERVICE

Washington—(AP)—Few women have made the grade for government foreign service despite the fact it was seven years ago that a woman blazed the trail into this field.

The examinations are held twice a year. No women passed the most recent one.

In the one held last spring, Miss Nelle B. Stogsdall of South Bend, Ind., and Miss Margaret Warner of Lincoln, Mass., passed and are now serving as vice consuls in Geneva and Beirut. There are now only four women in foreign service: Miss Patricia Field at Amsterdam and Miss Frances Willis at Valparaiso being the other two.

ORCHESTRA LED BY GIRL PROMOTES TERCENTENARY

Boston—(AP)—An orchestra of women, led by a young woman, has become the first regular radio feature to begin telling the world about the Massachusetts Bay Colony tercentenary next year.

The unit is known as the Massachusetts Tercentenary orchestra and has gone on the air weekly on WEZA of Boston and WEZ of Springfield. The leader is D'Zama Murielle who, despite her youth, has behind her five years as conductor of an orchestra.

Miss Murielle is working out carefully prepared programs designed to help tell in music the story of the earlier days in the Massachusetts colony.

ELIZABETH JORDAN BROWER

Birmingham, Ala., (AP)—Elizabeth Jordan Brower of Birmingham, who sings under the name Elizabeth Glordini, is hailed as a singer with a future by Italian critics.

Her operatic debut in Italy was made in the Verdi theater at Florence. She took the part of Glilda in "Rigoletto."

Mrs. Brower, member of a pioneer Birmingham family, is the wife of Walter Brower, Birmingham attorney. She plans to continue singing in Italy until December when she will return to Birmingham for a visit. Then she will resume her operatic career.

Here's How a "Duo-Dollar" Looks

When buying in a store in Manchester that bears the above insignia somewhere in its window the purchaser can secure "Duo-Dollars" of a denomination in keeping with the amount of buying done. Simply ask for "Duo-Dollars" and you will be given a few of these bits. If you buy $10 worth you will get $10 in "Duo-Dollars." Save them up for the next auction, December 11 and use your "Duo-Dollars" to bid on the valuable merchandise offered at that time.

BATHROOM DECORATION

Little colored prints, framed in pink, blue, yellow or green very narrow frames, make a most decorative border around the top of the bathroom's tiling. For the white bathroom they are unusually effective.

TALL MODELS BUSY WITH LONG SKIRTS

Paris—(AP)—Long legged mannequins of 5 feet 4 and over are the pets of the Parisian couturiers this season, for they can display the new long skirted evening gowns to best advantage.

The Dianas slim and slinky command the best salaries, while the flappers of yester-year, the "half-pints" so much in demand when it was the fashion to look boyish, are plying their needles in the work-rooms, or have gone into the selling end of the dressmaking profession.

The plight of the short legged mannequins is echoed by many women who complain that they cannot wear the long skirted models with success. The fact that French women are small on the average may be a deciding factor in bringing skirts back to a higher level next season.

Small French women, on the whole, are sticking doggedly to medium length evening dresses with even or conservatively dipped hemlines: They prefer the soft materials like chiffon, velvet and lace to the stiffer taffetas, faille and moire, of which most of the long flared or trained frocks are made.

PRESIDENT TO RECEIVE WOVEN COAT OF ARMS

Washington—(AP)—Miss Katherine Penn Crawford, recognized as one of the most efficient Norse weaving experts in the country, is preparing to weave the Hoover coat of arms. It will be displayed in Heraldic Hall, New York, when finished.

Norse handicraft became almost extinct during the Seventeenth century. Secrets of the dyes used and of the method of obtaining similarity on both sides of the tapestry were lost. It has only been revived within the last 30 years.

Miss Crawford, so far as is known, is the only artist in the United States producing woven coats of arms. Her work was deemed so important by the Smithsonian institution that a loom was installed for her in the arts and industries building. She regularly weaves from time to time for the benefit of visitors.

COMMUNITY CLUB'S DRIVE FOR $5,000 OPENS TODAY

Directors to Captain Teams In Canvass for Funds; Institution Has Been Big Benefit for Welfare of the North End.

The drive for $5,000 for the support of the Manchester Community club opens today. It will last for two weeks. Teams under the captainties of the directors of the club will canvass for funds.

The Manchester Community Club is today asking for the continued financial support of the citizens of the town of Manchester. They are asking for $5,000 in this two weeks canvass to carry on the work of the club which began five years ago in the "White House" at 79 North Main street by those that loved the old fashioned community spirit.

The directors of this community organization are asking those who know the value of the proper guidance of youth to do their bit helping to carry out the original ideals of the club. Past records warrant this whole hearted interest in the boys and girls, and any tendency to "title or underestimate" its worth as "little or undervalued" is not shown during the past years is unjust, though at times it may not appear striking or spectacular in its operation as a whole. However, in the community at large the effect is far reaching—becoming more and more successful with each succeeding generation.

Mr. Bowers' Statement

In this age with numerous outside influences, many of them detrimental in the proper moulding and shaping of youth, especially during the younger years, it is quite the contrary to interest that is being created, they are on their way to a proper course in preliminary citizenship. A cherished statement of Judge H. O. Bowers, one of the early guiding spirits of the community club made as the shadows were falling over his eventful and public spirited life, is well worth quoting. "If I had had the advantages of helpful community instruction I would not be where I am at present." The driving statement of one who knew the power and value of the organization and one with which he was identified for many years is sufficient proof for the need of the cooperation of all.

The men back of the drive are not young men. They are men whose childhood was spent during a time that knew a spirit of neighborhood friendliness and association that is all but forgotten in the hurry and bustle of modern civilization. Memories still linger in these minds of the time when the old "kitchen parties" served as a medium for the propagation of social life of the time. The modern social progress is the same old village type with many new features added and adapted to our age.

Out of the Street

At the present stage of civilization the street is not the proper atmosphere in which to rear children. Most parents will frankly agree on this point but there are those that do not. Little to remedy it. In addition to the negative results produced by these will-o-the-wisp wandering youngsters there is the realization of lost time in advancement along social lines. Habits thus formed are contradictory to their well being, with the result that the youth meanders along minus the poise and proper knowledge of social requirements essential to good citizenship.

Unquestionably, the schools have been a powerful force in these young lives from the time they leave the parental roof in the morning until they return again in the evening. Others have been reached through the churches and the juvenile clubs. But the community club steps in between the two. It takes the average child and ushers him into the proper grouping, interesting him in sports, games, contests and whatever form of recreational subject that is to his liking. They are their own bosses. They are given full power to elect their own officers of the clubs formed, framing the by-laws and conducting the business of the organization along adult and Parliamentary lines.

The Benefits

There is a two-fold benefit thus derived. The child mind in the plastic state is being trained to properly conduct his or her business affairs whether it concerns the deliberations of the clubs membership or some matter of more importance. It is entirely possible for the youngster to preside over his juvenile body in the one room and a parent to do likewise in the next room at the same time. The child is given free rein, receiving corrective instruction at all stages but emerges at the end of several seasons trained in all details of social work and oftentimes shows remarkable aptitude in management and organization. The community idea does not kill the natural spontaneity of the child but directs and encourages greater concerted efforts along recognized and essential lines.

Information concerning the Morton Will which provides for a Young Men's Christian Association building to be erected in Manchester has been jockeyed about so much in past years that the true conception of the bequest is shrouded in mystery. For the benefit of those who are interested in the history and development of the Manchester Community Club a complete review of the club movement from its beginning is cited below.

The Child's Gift

On May 22, 1924 the late William Hamlin Childs of New York signed a document: "Deed conveying gift of William H. Childs, to the Manchester Community Club." The deed stated that Mr. Childs desired to help the community club in carrying out its objects and in perpetuating its principles as set forth in its constitution and rules, and for this purpose he did "give, grant and convey that tract of land and buildings thereon in the town of Manchester" known as the White House property, No. 79 N. Main street.

The deed conveyed the property to seven trustees to hold it in trust for the purposes of the Community Club, the trustees named by Mr. Childs being at that time: C. R. Burr, Arthur E. Bowers, Wells A. Strickland, Fred H. Wall, Mrs. C. J. Strickland, Miss Grace Robertson and W. W. Robertson.

This property is known to Manchester people as consisting of building on a considerable land in the heart of the Eighth School District and the business section of the North End, and is assessed by the town board of assessors at $29,000.

The Morton Will

The club continued to function along the lines upon which it was first organized. Early in 1925 an event occurred which in the way of opinion of many opened the way to a broader program and greater usefulness for the organization. William T. Morton, a well known business man passed away. On April 22, 1925 his will was presented in the Manchester Probate Court and was ordered heard May 2nd.

The reading of the will on May 2 showed that Mr. Morton had bequeathed to the Hartford-Connecticut Trust Co., as trustee, in trust, the sum of $100,000. The will further directed that if a Young Men's Christian Association of Manchester be in existence at the death of the donor, or if one be formed after his death, such Young Men's Christian Association would receive the $100,000 specified in his will for that purpose.

One of the stipulations of the will was that within eight years of Mr. Morton's decease a suitable lot be obtained within one-quarter of a mile of Depot Square, and there be erected a suitable building for the work of such Young Men's Christian Association, the location and building to be approved by the trustees of the will. The will stipulated that work must be begun within eight years of his death but need not be completed within that period. However, no payments for such building can be made under the will within five years of the date of Mr. Morton's death.

Logical Group

Therefore, the Manchester public were not long in seeing that the logical organization to take leadership in bringing about such development as Mr. Morton had in mind, was the community club. It was intact; it was a going concern; it owned the logical site for such a building as outlined under the will, and was backed by a board of directors that had the interests of the Citizens of Manchester at heart.

A committee consisting of Wells A. Strickland was named by the Community Club to confer with Judge Bowers as to the proper procedure. After a careful study, Judge Bowers gave it as his opinion that the Connecticut Legislature would charter an organization of this kind under the name of the Young Men's Christian Association of Manchester, authorized to carry on its work along the same general lines of the "Y."

Scott's Belief

A very important development came at this point. At this stage of the movement Mr. Strickland conferred with one of the officials of the Hartford-Connecticut Trust Co., trustees under the will in regard to the bequest and received assurance from Clement Scott, counsel for the bank, regarding the possibility of securing from the Legislature a charter for the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Scott stated the lawyer who drew up Mr. Morton's will, and it is safe to believe that he knew Mr. Morton's intentions.

Mr. Scott informed Mr. Strickland that if the Manchester recreation workers formed a Y. M. C. A. under a charter secured from the legislature as proposed by Judge Bowers, that his bank would feel warranted in paying to such organization the bequest for a Y. M. C. A. in the Morton will. This is a highly important point, as in the last analysis it is the bank which has the Morton legacy which decides to whom the payment shall be made, subject of course to existing laws.

Bill in Legislature

Following the conference with Judge Bowers and the bank officials a bill was introduced in the 1927 session of the Legislature. The hearing was held, Mr. Strickland being in charge for the Manchester people interested. The bill became a law, June 10, 1927.

The bequest is available to the Manchester Y. M. C. A. properly authorized and going concern, many of whose officers are earnest workers and officials of the community club as is, in April 1930. It is functioning with a view of availing itself of this magnificent bequest at that time and to continue the community service along broader and more far reaching lines.

Library Provision

Another matter having an important bearing in connection with community activities is the provision for a library building. Though the provision does not become operative during the lifetime of Mrs. Whiton yet it is generally believed that the "White House" grounds would be the ideal location for this group of buildings centrally located, and with plenty of space and shade trees. There are many other reasons to support this belief. There is considerable land North of the Community club property disposed of by the late J. T. Robertson which can be made available in the event a recreational program of broadened scope is adopted.

The season just begun finds many young clubs using the clubhouse for their meetings as in the past seasons. The Boy Scout's Troop 9, B. S. #### EDITOR DESCRIBES SILK MILL VISIT

Martels at Huge Industry Found In This Town; His Impressions.

Bernard Peterson, well known industrial writer for the Boston Transcript, who accompanied the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company's editors on their ground study of New England's industries, which study included a visit to Cheney Brothers tells of the impressions gained by walking through the various departments of the factory in a recent issue of the Transcript.

In part he says: "Few people realize, perhaps, that in South Manchester, Conn., alone there is a silk industry that employs 4,500 men and women who turn out finished products for $25,000,000 a year, and this may be increased when the management carries out its intention to motorize the looms in silks."

In reference to "motorize the looms in silks," Howell Cheney said today that over 80 percent of the weaving machines had been motorized some years ago and it was only a remaining few in the Velvet Mill that were undergoing the change now.

In his article Peterson goes on: "In at least two of the largest fac-

RUSSIA'S WAR TANKS

Moscow, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Thirty war tanks built in Soviet factories from money raised by a fund known as "Our Answer to Chamberlain," the one-time British foreign secretary, were presented to the Red army today as part of the twelfth anniversary ceremonies of the 1917 revolution.

The tanks bear individual names such as Railway Worker, Printer, Miner, Textile Worker, Sailor and Soldier. They are of various sizes and are said to combine the best principles of European and American tanks.

In preparation for tomorrow's ceremonies which mark the foundation twelve years ago of the Soviet regime headed by Lenin, Moscow, Leningrad and other large cities blazoned out today in great splashes of red and miles of revolutionary placards.

Three hundred and fifty thousand men and women are employed in the post offices throughout the country.

BESSLER'S PETITION TO PARDON DENIED

Bessler, one of the five Madden murderers in prison for the killing of Night Matchman William Madden at the corner of Pine and Pleasant streets on April 5, 1910 was denied a pardon by the State Board of Pardons in session at Wethersfield State Prison. Bessler was the driver of the truck which was to have transported the silk Cheney Brothers when Madden intervened.

LEAGUE WAITS REPORT

Geneva, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The permanent mandates commission of the League of Nations began its semi-annual session today, but there was no prospect that the question of Palestine would be discussed.

The commission is awaiting the conclusion of the British government's inquiry into the troubles between Jews and Arabs and the report thereon by Arthur Henderson, British foreign minister.

The next regular session of the mandates commission is in June, but if the British report warrants quick action, the commission would be summoned in extraordinary session to hear the results of the Palestine investigation.

Queer Twists In Day's News

London.—Queen Mary is getting ready for Christmas early. One day after returning to Buckingham palace from Sandringham she spent a busy day with her needlework guild unpacking parcels and sorting out goods. She was so busy she sent out for lunch. New York.—Fatty Arbuckle, who for five or six years has been running restaurants, is to return to the movies in a talkie. He has signed up with James Cruze. Tonopah, Nev.—Death Valley Scott is to erect a $400,000 radio-casting station on his estate. He proposes to employ the best talent and to permit no advertising. London.—Among arrivals for the dinner next Saturday to be given to holders of the Victoria Cross is Subadar Isha Singh, who won the honor on the northwest frontier of India in 1921. He came most of the way by air. Friends are joshing George Gershwin, king of Tin Pan Alley. He bought himself a cute wire-haired fox terrier named Tony. The first day under his new ownership Tony stared awhile in the studio as George tried out endless "sober" efforts on his grand piano. After a while Tony heard the call of the wild. He fled. London.—Now what could have Lady Astor meant? In the House of Commons she assured Prime Minister MacDonald that all the "sober" elements of the United States wholeheartedly supported his mission. New York.—It is absolutely certain how one New Yorker voted in all respects. George Schrader is the lone person registered in his election district and it cost $240 to keep the polls open for him, with four clerks and a policeman on duty. The district went solidly Democratic. Denver.—Elk are a pest, the authorities have decided, and so the first open season for hunting them in this state is on. Some 100 have been killed. Washington.—Maybe it is due to Lindbergh. The average fledging arms aviator is a slim erect young man. From the study of characteristics of cadets the Army air corps visualizes the average as 150 pounds, five feet 9 and 22 years old. The coal fields of China, Japan, Great Britain, German, Russia, and India contain apparently 303,000,000,000 tons which is said to be enough for 700 years at the present rate of consumption.

POISON BOOZE KILLS SAILORS ON STEAMER

Panama, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Two seamen of the steamer Graylock died at sea on Nov. 3 from the effects of drinking poison alcohol, while a third seaman, Carl Uppman, is in the hospital at Colon gravely ill from the same cause. Leonard Larson and Eric Johansson, were buried at sea Sunday. Uppman told the authorities he and his companions had bought a bottle of liquor in New York and had mixed this with alcohol from a container in the ship's hold, not knowing it was poison. The ship's officers radioed the Cristobal health officials asking advice to treat the stricken men, but their medical efforts were without avail.

KILLS SELF IN CELL

Chandler, Okla., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Fred Davis, 24, held in the Lincoln county jail for robbery of the Bank of Kendrick, hanged himself with a string of knotted handkerchiefs early today. Officers said Davis, who was captured October 16 after a running gun fight in which about 30 shots were fired, had brooded over the death sentence recently imposed by Judge Saul Yager of Tulsa on Ted Cole, 17, who pleaded guilty to robbery with firearms in connection with a holdup in which no shots were fired. "If Cole got the chair for that kind of a robbery, what will they give me for robbery where a man was shot?" Davis asked jailers. EXTINGUISH GAS FIRE Spiro, Okla., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Steam today had snuffed out a flaming gas well near here after it had burned out of control since Monday, when it was ignited by friction. The well, the property of the Red Bank Oil Company of Tulsa, was fed by from 35,000,000 to 40,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily. It is the largest in the southeastern part of the state.

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY LINCOLN WINS ELECTION

Washington, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Credit again is given in official Washington to the Federal Reserve banking system for what is regarded by those who have analyzed the situation as the isolation of the recent financial crisis to the Stock Market itself. The present situation is likened in these quarters to that of 1907-08 with the difference that then the crisis extended to the business and financial fabric of the country because there was no Federal Reserve system to intervene to keep down interest rates when large quantities of capital were withdrawn from the speculative centers. As viewed in official circles the ultimate result of the recent phenomenon of the Stock Market will be the release of capital in large quantities for the bond and mortgage market and the creation of a considerable reserve for general business. It was explained that many states and municipalities have been holding up their bonds because of an inability to obtain what were regarded as fair prices and that, with the general wave of speculation diminished more advantageous markets for these securities would be presented with an extension in public improvements and a consequently increased market for labor.

Washington, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Credit again is given in official Washington to the Federal Reserve banking system for what is regarded by those who have analyzed the situation as the isolation of the recent financial crisis to the Stock Market itself. The present situation is likened in these quarters to that of 1907-08 with the difference that then the crisis extended to the business and financial fabric of the country because there was no Federal Reserve system to intervene to keep down interest rates when large quantities of capital were withdrawn from the speculative centers. As viewed in official circles the ultimate result of the recent phenomenon of the Stock Market will be the release of capital in large quantities for the bond and mortgage market and the creation of a considerable reserve for general business. It was explained that many

BOY KILLS SELF

Caribou, Maine, Nov. 6.—(AP)—"Nagging" by other boys was thought to have caused the suicide today of William Pitt Allen, 15, a high school sophomore. He shot himself in the head this morning with a revolver according to the police. The youth was found by police chief Murphy and taken to Caribou hospital where he died two hours later. He was rated as a good student. It is estimated that the United States consumes 297,483,000 barrels of gasoline yearly, or 76.2 per cent of the world's total consumption. All of North America accounts for 310,565,000 barrels, or 79.54 per cent. Europe consumes slightly more than 14 per cent.

Has the laxative in your home a family doctor's approval?

MOST of us value our health too much to purposely neglect ourselves when we are warned of constipation by bad breath, feverishness, biliousness, a headache, lack of appetite, or that weak, helpless feeling. The continuation of our trouble is more often due to the things we leave undone. Some things people do to help the bowels really weaken these organs. Only a doctor knows what things will cleanse the system without harm. That's why the laxative in your home should have a family doctor's approval. A wonderful product, now known to millions of people as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a family doctor's prescription for sluggish bowels. It never varies from the original prescription which Dr. Caldwell wrote thousands of times in his many years of practice at Monticello, Illinois. He proved it safe and reliable for women and children; thoroughly effective for the most robust men. He showed it actually corrects constipation. It is made from fresh herbs and other pure ingredients. Since Dr. Caldwell first permitted his prescription to be put up in bottles and sold through drug stores, it has increased steadily in popularity until today it is the largest selling laxative in the world.

litical parties, when it comes to municipal affairs, is becoming dim. In Hartford and New Haven plenty of people who last year voted for Smith, in a particularly bitter campaign, must have voted in 1925 for Patterson and Tully. In Bridgeport plenty of people who voted for Hoover in 1925 must have voted for Buckingham this year.

It would seem to be pretty well established, then, that so far as local government goes, there is a rapidly increasing number of independent voters. The thought suggested by this comes in the form of a question—where, in such a situation, do off-year state affairs come in? Is this tendency to independent voting in municipal elections likely to begin and end at the city and town elections, or is it liable to reach as far as decisions on state officials, particularly in the years when national politics are involved only in the matter of members of Congress?

BRITISH UNEMPLOYMENT
 J. H. Thomas, de facto minister of employment in the Ramsay MacDonald cabinet, announcing a proposed program of public works and corporation co-operation in the provision of hundreds of millions of dollars worth of days' work for the idle, lets it be known that he is attempting to bring about the substitution of the use of British coal and steel in Canada in the place of the extensive amount of those products now imported from the United States. Just what plans have been making to this effect Mr. Thomas did not tell Parliament or else he was inadequately quoted in the dispatches to American newspapers. However, he did say that the movement had already met with some success and a number of ships had been ordered to take care of next season's shipments of coal.

MIXED ISSUES
 The American people do not know how to handle the referendum. In this country, wherever that political system is employed, and whenever it is customary to link up the question at issue with the election of public officers. Almost invariably the contests for office absorb the entire interest of the majority of the voters at the polls and the matter in reference, no matter how important, gets the go-by.

In Hartford yesterday less than 15,000 of the more than 43,000 voters who went to the polls expressed their opinions on the subject of the so-called metropolitan district. Less than 27,000 of them voted at all on the highly important question of school consolidation. The number who refrained from voting on the school item was six times as large as the majority in favor of the district system.

There is little justification for the explanation that none of these people who failed to vote on the referendum subjects took any interest in them. No doubt many of them did take an interest. But the capacity for action on the part of the average voter, in the polling booth, is limited. He is very liable indeed to feel hurried and to have a self-conscious fear of doing something wrong, of making some mistake, unless he simplifies his job as much as he possibly can. So he votes a straight party ticket or he votes for only that part of the list of voters in which he is most deeply interested and gets through with the task as speedily as possible. He has an instinctive dread of complicating his duty at the polls. He goes away, in many instances, without having recorded his opinion on what may be, to him, a subject of quite lively interest.

NOT UP TO ADVERTISING
 Senator Brookhart advertised a three ring circus and then gave a one-man medicine show. His much touted speech in the Senate on "Wall Street Boozing Parties for Senators" turned out to be an ordinary, very ordinary, prohibition lecture, with only the faintest of possible suggestions of news value. One might have supposed that the Iowa was going to tell what senators he saw drink and what and how much at one very particular "Wall Street" party, but the man from Iowa was circumspect to a degree. He named no names and left the wide world wondering.

There was more kick to Senator Gillett's terse and casual mention of having seen plenty of representatives soused on the job, when he was speaker of the House, than there was to the Brookhart "expose," for all the latter's billposting.

UNACCOUNTABLE
 The case of Frank H. Warder is amazing. Not because he shut his eyes to the crookedness of a criminal banker—such things have happened before; there is nothing novel in a faithless public servant. But this man allowed the banker to shower his wife and daughter with gifts, rode in a fine car that the banker paid for, occupied a luxurious apartment whose rental the banker guaranteed, stood for the banker's financing a European trip for his women folks—made them active partners in his betrayal of his trust. We can't remember any case in which the defendant in a criminal trial cut such an utterly miserable figure. He appeared like a protoplasm in trouble, a dish of mush gone wrong. The amazement comes in that so weak and sloppy a soul could, by any conceivable sequence of political accidents or political designs, have become superintendent of banking in a great state like New York.

MISSED REAL THRILL
 One of the most dramatic news stories of recent times has been largely lost to United States readers because the persons, locale and objectives concerned happened to be Canadians. For more than a month dozens of fliers had been combing the widest and most remote areas of this continent in search for seven airplane explorers lost somewhere along the desolate fringe of the Arctic. The episode was packed with romance, suspense, dramatic quality. Yet almost nothing was printed in the newspapers of the Eastern United States. And because of that fact the people of this section have missed a rather splendid thrill in the discovery that Colonel McAlpine and his party are, after all, safe at a far-off trading post of the Hudson Bay Company.

MAD NEW YORK
 As to the New York election, it is like looking on while a whoopee party cheers for itself on the way down hill, brakes off, accelerator down and everybody rejoicing. There isn't a thing to be done about it—and hardly anything to be said about it. The whole thing sums up to the fact that there are more people in New York City who don't want good government than there are who do want it. Walkerism, crime protection, graft and mad extravagance are what the bulk of New York people like. There isn't anything to be done, even by the most serious-minded and responsible elements in the community but to keep on plugging and hoping that the smash at the bottom of the hill will leave some salvage of life and property.

IN NEW YORK
 New York, Nov. 6.—Wall Street is brightest when things are at their darkest. Paradoxical though this may sound, the fact remains that the lights of the "cash canyon" burn through the night only when there is grievous trouble in the world outside.

Under ordinary circumstances, the narrow lanes are soon enveloped in deep purple. As night creeps on, a dense blackness envelops the entire district. A few night watchmen, a scrub woman and a policeman are the only people abroad. Desolation is almost completely accomplished long before midnight.

But when the skyline sparkles brightly after nightfall—look out! It bodes no good to investors and speculators. Clerks and bosses and stenographers and bookkeepers are not burning the midnight oil for nothing.

It means, of course, that the market has been overflooded and that all through the night tired clerks must toil. It means that restaurants and lunch counters, ordinarily abandoned about the dinner hour, now operate until dawn, while nerve-troubled workers dash in and out for coffee and bread.

It has been estimated that something like half a million cups of black coffee are drunk to stave off the inroads of sleep. It means that hot soup and sandwiches will be served, that workers will all sleep over desks. It means that, just across the bridge in Brooklyn there will be hurried demands for hotel rooms and that a rush business will be done.

Or again—what brings woe to many, brings happiness to the hearts of newspaper circulation departments. With panic in the air, speculators buy many copies of the daily papers, watching grimly for the next quotations. At the end of the day, the streets resemble those occasions when a Lindbergh has ridden by. They are strewn with tape and papers and the "white wings" have a busy night ahead of them.

Not the least interesting phase of such tense moments in the "lower Manhattan" belt is the activity of those sprightly marionettes—the office boys. Boys being boys, they crave excitement and here comes an opportunity to stage a game which is all their own. The Worried brokers and the more worried investors may wonder at the sudden bursting of the play spirit.

The fact is that some three or four thousand youngsters have had their play instinct stifled by the work-a-day tasks. Unlike other boys they can find only moments for a game of handball or a game of "catch" in some alley.

Now they can romp and caper for all they are worth. They can toss tape in the air and they can shout at the top of their lungs. To be sure, a few mounted police will ride up in an effort to put them in their places—but it avails little.

This boy-world of the financial realm is one of the little known aspects of New York life.

It is one of the city's many responsibilities, and athletic workers go through the offices laboring to put some exercise into the lives of youngsters who are tied to their messenger routine.

There is scarce a lad in all the thousands who does not expect to become a captain of finance, for the "street" is full of tales of millionaires who rose from messengers.

MATERNITY MORTALITY.
 It has been estimated that 15,000 mothers die from childbirth in the United States every year. In spite of the wonderful hospitals and skilled obstetrical care, probably there are more mothers pay the supreme sacrifice while giving life than in any other nation of the world.

There are so many countries who lose only half as many mothers as we do. A mother in Italy, the Netherlands, Sweden or Norway stands only 50 per cent of the chance of death that the mother in America has to stand. Followed by honor or by having the lowest death rate of all for every thousand babies born only 2.3 mothers are lost. In this country for every thousand babies born alive 6.7 mothers die. The rate for Scotland is 5.8, then comes Germany with 5.3. England has lower—3.8. Italy's rate is 2.7. In Scandinavia the rate is well under 3.

In white women between the ages of 15 to 44, motherhood comes as a cause of death second only to tuberculosis. Is there any reason why we adenoids cause the speech to be backward?

Answer:—Walking is the best exercise I know of for strengthening the legs. You should start walking a short distance each day, gradually increasing it as your strength increases. You do not stop growing until we have reached about the age of 25, and if nature intended for you to be any taller, you will naturally become so, and the walking will help. Adenoids may be the cause of a defect in the speech, and if this is the case they can often be cleared up through the use of a proper fasting and dieting regime. Vocal gymnastics which any singing teacher can instruct you to use would also be of benefit.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
 Growing Taller.
 Question: Miss R. W. asks:—"Could you tell me a way to grow taller? I am 19 years of age. Also, how may I strengthen my legs. Do adenoids cause the speech to be backward?"

Drinks With Meals?
 Question: K. A. writes:—"In your menus you never mention anything to drink at mealtime, tea, coffee or milk. Should we not use any of them?"

Answer:—The best drink with meals is water, and not too much of it.

X-Ray Burns.
 Question: Mrs. J. writes:—"From taking x-ray treatments for the removal of hair on my chin and chest I received first degree burns four years ago which have left unsightly parched looking black and purple spots on my chest. Will any special treatment remove these marks, and would your curative diet help in any way?"

Answer:—It is difficult to remove the effects of an x-ray burn, but the treatment that I have found of most benefit to this condition is the infrared rays for a few minutes followed by the ultra-violet light. While the cleansing diet regime is helpful to most ailments, I do not know that it would have a specific effect upon this type of disorder.

Washington Letter
 BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer

Washington, Nov. 6.—Senator J. Thomas Heflin of Alabama, who has been fighting the name was declared war against the other fellow over in Rome, Premier Benito Mussolini.

The reports concerning Fascist tactics toward Americans of Italian descent, as revealed since the appearance of a leading article in Harper's Magazine with the provocative title "Mussolini's American Empire" by Marcus Duffield, caused Heflin to demand that the Senate with all available information regarding Fascist activities in this country.

They also stirred up Senator William E. Borah, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, when he read them.

"Sooner or later," Borah commented, "that situation will have to be considered in this country."

Borah expects that the question of Fascist American activities will be threshed out on the Senate floor and has been disposed to raise the issue of the matter in the Senate, lest it complicate the forthcoming five-power naval conference, to which Italy is a party.

The charges made by Duffield have been heard in the Senate. It is alleged that the Fascist League of North America, operating in New York under the direction of Mussolini and his Fascist leaders and with local branches throughout the United States, has tried persistently to discourage the Americanization of Italians in this country, to stifle all criticism of Mussolini and to silence American opponents of Fascism.

Italians living in America, it is charged, are compelled to join the Fascist League by threats of imprisonment directed against their relatives in Italy. This method has proved effective.

Among Duffield's most serious charges, however, is one upon which this government is able to take prompt and vigorous action if it desires. That concerns the disappearance of American citizens of Italian birth or descent who are suspected of anti-Fascist sentiments and who are not allowed to leave Italy once they have returned there. The Italian theory is that Italians are always Italian citizens and subject to Italian jurisdiction. Under Italian law, Americans of Italian descent are subject to military service, though Mussolini has been cautious in the carrying out of this law.

Secretary of State Stimson is known to be concerned about the Fascist methods, but even more than Borah he is in the position of being able to do little about them pending the naval conference.

Another sample of the common attitude here toward the Fascist and Mussolini in particular was given a year or two ago when the Italian dictator's name was proposed for non-resident membership in the National Press Club, whose membership includes nearly all Washington correspondents. Members of the club raised such a loud protest that Mussolini was not admitted.

Congressman Clyde Kelly of Pennsylvania has announced that he will take the issue up with President Hoover. Last year Kelly introduced a resolution, subsequently passed by both houses, demanding treaties providing that all American born and naturalized persons should not be held liable for military service "or any other act of allegiance" during a stay of a year or less in the territory of the signatory nations.

This resolution was directed at Italy. Kelly had found that the State Department could give no assurance that an American, born of naturalized Italian parents, would not be seized and impressed into military service if he returned to Italy. During the war Italian authorities had tried to grab Italian-Americans out of the army for their own and Kelly had obtained a temporary agreement stopping the practice, but the agreement has lapsed.

Kelly has kept after the Department of State and the department says it has been trying to get a treaty, but nothing has been done. He says Secretary Stimson expressed himself as "shocked" when he explained the situation. Another very high official used the word "startling" after reading the Harper's article.

When Mussolini claimed the right to recruit for his army from the more than 2,000,000 Italians in Argentina, the Argentine president took up the matter promptly and demanded that the practice stop. Mussolini backed down and announced that no more Argentine citizens would be drafted.

Whether or not the "whole situation is allowed to slide for the present, as Borah and the administration desire, it is obvious that the halls of Congress are going to ring soon or later with denunciations of the high-handed Fascist methods. All members like to rally round the flag and declaim about the inviolable sanctity of American citizenship.

It is likely that some of them will try to inquire into the slativity with which the Immigration Bureau has co-operated with Fascist in this country when the latter have sought deportation of Italians whom Mussolini wanted to get back home so that he could punish them for anti-Fascist utterances or activities in this country.

GOVERNOR OF SHENSI BACKS PEOPLE'S ARMY

Shanghai, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Rengo (Japanese News Service) dispatches from Peiping today quoted General Feng Yu-Hsiang, commander of the rebellious Kuomintang or "People's Army" now fighting Nationalist forces in Honan province, as having intimated that "the revolution has the endorsement of Yen Hsi-Shan, powerful governor of Shensi province."

Whether Governor Yen's sympathies have been with the "People's Army" or with the Nationalists has been a question since the outbreak of hostilities.

The Peiping advice said foreign correspondents had interviewed Feng, and that he had said: "The present military hostilities on the part of the north-western armies (Feng's forces) started only after I had consulted Yen Hsi-Shan. Therefore, we are both responsible for these military operations."

In Case of Victory. "In the event that we are victorious over Chiang Kai-Shek's troops we are planning to hold a conference at Peiping or Chengchow, discussing national affairs, including the establishment of a provisional government."

"We are seeking to carry out the Kuomintang (People's Party) principles. However, we object to the methods which the Nationalist group (Nationalists) are using. Therefore, we are seeking to impeach Nanking. If the Kuomintang comes into power we will execute the party's general policy but will abolish Nanking's make-believe foreign diplomacy such as that going on at present with Japan."

FARMERS ORGANIZING

Minneapolis, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Plans for financing the new cooperative farmers northwest grain corporation and for organizing 1,500 farmers elevators of the northwest into a single sales agency, were discussed today by the executive committee of the corporation.

Leaders attending today's meeting said the chief problem appeared to be lack of funds with which to carry the organization through the early stages. If such funds were forthcoming, they believed the corporation ultimately would dominate the northwest grain market.

The discussion centered about organization work and selling stock memberships to farmers elevators in Minnesota, North and South Dakota, and Montana. The committee, with officers of other grain cooperatives will meet again tomorrow with S. J. Cottingham, president of the Farmers National Grain Corporation to discuss proposals for a single sales agency in the northwest.

Leaders of the movement said they expected to get financial aid from the Federal Farm Board or from the National Corporation, the board's sales agency recently formed.

Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Fred Erwin Beal, former southern organizer of the National Textile Workers Union, who with six other defendants was convicted in Mecklenburg Superior Court recently of second degree murder in connection with the slaying of O. Bond was posted by J. Frank Flowers, counsel for Beal and the other defendants. Flowers said the $5,000 necessary to obtain Beal's release was supplied by the American Fund for Public Service.

Beal was sentenced to serve from 17 to 20 years. Clarence Miller, George Carter and Joseph Harrison, who is still in jail, are under a similar sentence, and Louis McGinnis are under sentences of 12 to 25 years. K. Y. Beal, who has been in jail for several months, delivered a short address from the steps leading off the county court house immediately after his release. An audience of 150 laborers and law building workers heard him talk.

No arrangements yet have been made for the release of the other five workers.

NEW DRIVER HITS GAS TANK, FLEES

Caught When Tire Blows and Pays Heavy Fine in Court This Morning.

Albert J. Coulombe of Park street, Hartford, ran into hard luck last evening when he undertook to teach a 20 year old boy how to drive an automobile. The pair came out of the Love Lane Filling Station decided that was a good place to make a turn. The boy driver in making the turn struck one of the gas tanks, knocked it down and then knocked over one of the oil tanks.

Without stopping to investigate they started for Hartford. However, in striking the tanks they evidently punctured a tire and stopped to fix it. Clarence Jeffers who conducts the filling station arrived shortly after the accident, saw the tracks on the highway and started in pursuit. When he found the men repairing the tire he stopped to question them. It was apparent to him that this was the car he was looking for. It had a bent fender and there was paint on it from the gas tanks. He questioned the men and they admitted responsibility for the damage.

Coulombe said there was nobody at the filling station and they did not know where police headquarters were and thought it best to report the accident at the Hartford station. The court did not believe his story but found him guilty and imposed a fine of $50 and costs. The boy paid the fine and costs which amounted to $63.57.

Two Manchester men, Harold Wilson of the north end and George Jolly of the south end were before the court on the charge of non-support. Both men were summoned to appear there for a similar offense about six months ago and at that time were ordered to pay stated amounts to their wives. Both had failed to keep their agreement and were brought in on complaint of the probation officer.

Wilson was given a 30 day jail sentence and the judge suspended it on condition that he pay his wife $7 a week. A bond of $200 was required to insure the order being carried out.

In the case of Jolly, Probation Officer Edward Elliott, Jr., testified that he was a "lover" to the accused artist and would make any statement to get out of trouble. He said he had tried to reason with him in order to get the money from him to support his wife and two children but failed to keep every agreement he ever made. Jolly was given a 15 day jail sentence which was later suspended. The judge revoked the suspension of the jail sentence and put it into effect. He gave Jolly today to make good with Probation Officer Elliott. If not he will send Jolly to jail tomorrow.

Eight more Manchester men paid the fine of $2.00 without costs for improper parking. Among the eight cases were three for parking obstructing a campaign of education on the parking laws of the town, and no matter where a car is found, if it is parked against traffic, the owner will be ordered to appear in court.

BOWLES ELECTED DETROIT'S MAYOR

Detroit, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Making his third attempt for the mayoralty of Detroit, Charles Bowles, former judge of the Recorder's Court, was elected yesterday in the closest contest that office in recent years.

Opposed by John W. Smith, former mayor, who had the endorsement of the present mayor, John C. Lodge, Bowles was elected by a majority of 8,595 votes in the non-partisan election.

The vote was: Bowles, 131,030; Smith 122,435.

The total vote of more than 250,000 was the heaviest balloting in a municipal election since the record vote of 1924. The total was about 57 per cent of the city's registration.

At Smith headquarters there was talk of a possible recount petition, but no formal statement was issued.

Reason for Victory.

Bowles' election was a victory, in a sense, for the administration of Governor Fred W. Green in state affairs, although the governor's opposition to Smith was not an open issue in the mayoralty campaign.

Smith was known to be hostile to the governor, and with control of the heavy Detroit and Wayne county voting strength in the state Republican conventions as the prize the governor's adherents had hoped for the election of Bowles.

In some political circles it was said the election of Bowles probably will influence Governor Green's plans for the campaign next year. Some prognosticators said an alliance between the governor and Mr. Bowles was likely and that the governor, in view of the outcome yesterday, may decide to become a candidate for the United States Senate, seeking the seat now occupied by Senator Couzens.

Senator Couzens, however, is a Wayne county resident and admittedly popular among Detroit Republicans.

SOPHOMORES WIN FROM FROSH 12-0

Al Smith Scores Both Touchdowns After Long Runs from Scrimmage.

The Sophomores beat the Freshmen 12 to 0 in an inter-class high school football game played at the West Side yesterday afternoon. The game was stubbornly fought and the teams were much nearer matched than the score would seem to indicate.

Al Albert Smith, lanky youth who pitched for the varsity baseball team last season, scored both touchdowns for the Sophomores. The first came on a 20 yard run in the first period and the second on a sprint of 45 yards in the fourth period. Both were end runs from scrimmage.

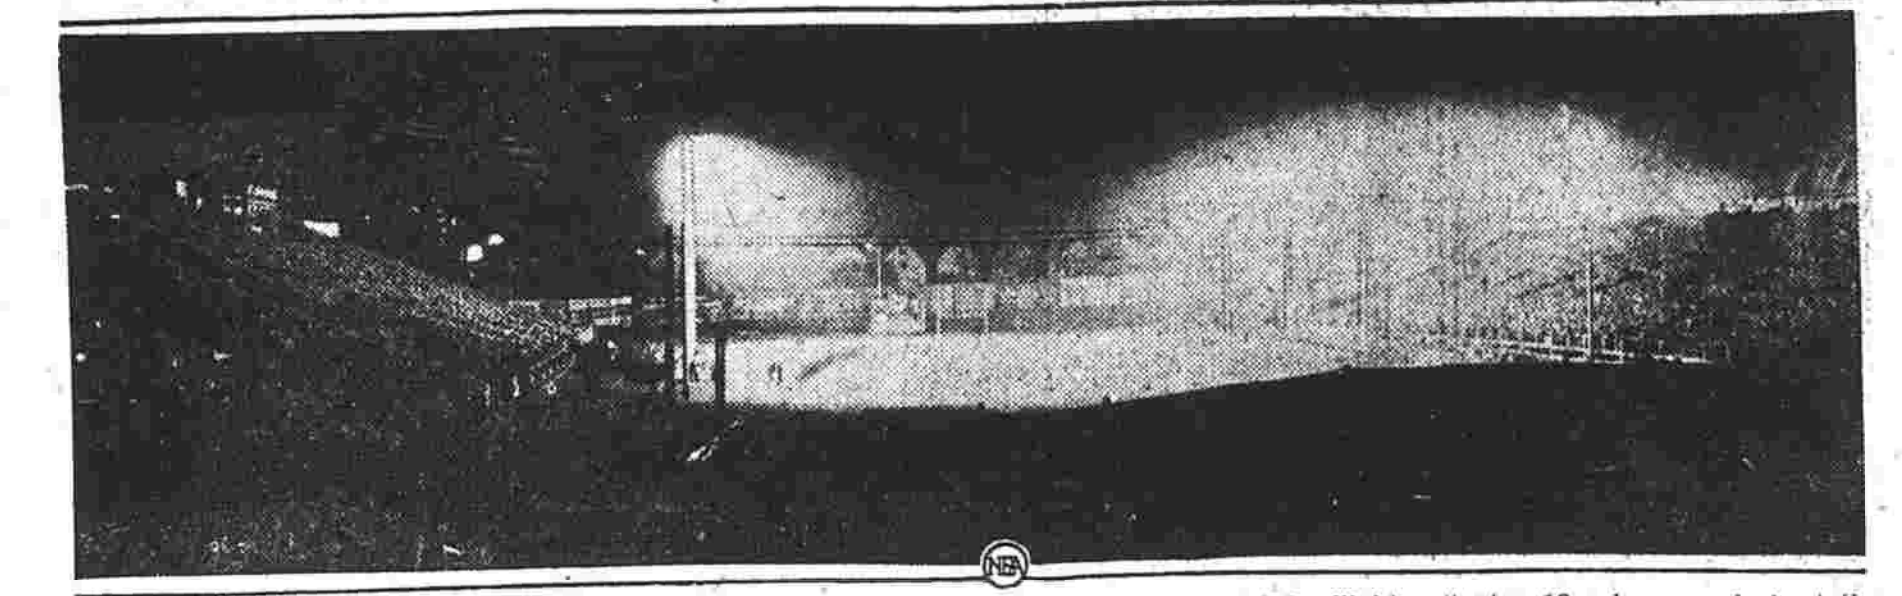

Neither team was able to get within real striking distance so strong was the other's defense. The Freshmen reached the 25 yard line once but could advance no further. The Sophomores will now meet the winner of the Junior-Senior grid clash, the date for which has not yet been decided upon.

YALE CAN'T OBLIGE

New Haven, Nov. 6.—(AP)—While it is understood at Yale that University of Maryland would like the Blue team to open the new stadium at Baltimore next fall, H. F. Woodstock, general manager of athletics said today it would be impossible to do so.

Big Turnout for Marquette's Night Game

Night football to be great stuff in Milwaukee, Wis., where Marquette University met and defeated Iowa State, 19 to 0, before 20,000 fans at Marquette stadium. The gridiron was illuminated by beams from powerful floodlights set atop 12 poles spaced about the field.

MARSTERS OUT FOR THE REST OF '29 SEASON

Dartmouth Star Suffered Bad Injury In Yale Game; Confined to Bed for Four Weeks.

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Al Marsters, the "Special Delivery Kid" who has been an especial deliverer to Dartmouth's football hopes on more than one occasion lay in a hospital cot here today, his football game a thing of the past. Marsters received a fractured vertebra Saturday in the Yale game. Not only Marsters, the high scorer of the east and a youth with his heart set on being chosen All-American quarterback this year, but the thousands of fans who have packed stadiums throughout the east to see him play, seconded Dartmouth in regret at Marsters passing from the gridiron.

In the terms of Dr. John S. F. Gile, who administers to the injuries of Dartmouth football men, Marsters sustained a fracture of the right transverse process at the third and fourth lumbar vertebrae. The injury will keep him on the sidelines while his team plays Brown, Cornell and the Navy. The doctor said he was resting comfortably and would be allowed to resume his class work soon.

This year Marsters, better even than the one of 1927, was used as the basis of the entire Dartmouth attack. He was shifted to quarterback and football experts concede that three quarters of the team's power was embodied in the husky Arlington, Mass., boy.

In the six games Dartmouth has played this year "Special Delivery" Al has scored 108 points. His performances against Yale and Harvard had stamped him as of All-America calibre.

Those who saw the big Green face Yale at New Haven last Saturday saw more than a football ball between Marsters and Booth; they witnessed the passing of one of Dartmouth's and football's greatest ball carriers. Longacker will take Marsters' place.

One good way to discuss a question with an angry person is over the telephone.

RIVAL ELEVENS BATTLE MORE THAN THREE HOURS; SCORE 1-0

Thatcher, Ariz., Nov. 6.—After playing for three hours and 15 minutes, during which time they had taken a 13 to 6 lead over the Brophy College football team of Phoenix, the Gila College eleven of this city walked off the football field when timekeepers informed officials and players that there still were eight minutes of play. The final score was 1 to 0 for Brophy, by forfeit after the Gila eleven refused to continue in the dark.

Booth's Brother Taught Albie Football Points

Bill Was Denied Chance to Star at Yale So He Coached His Little Brother the Fine Points.

Three years ago Harvard and Yale were fighting bitterly to break a scoreless tie. On the sidelines sat a senior, Bill Booth, a nice drop-kicker, an accurate and strong passer and a capable ball carrier. From the stands came the cry: "Give us Booth! We want Bill Booth!"

Another man was given the chance. Bill Booth sat there on the sidelines and watched the game end in a tie, 0 to 0. It was his senior year. He chafed for fame had gone.

That Bill Booth was the big brother of little Albie Booth, Yale's football idol of the day. And it was Bill who taught Albie the football arts in which little Albie shows so much proficiency today.

Three Months Old Babe Could Keep Cubs' Score

At Least That Is What Dr. Moran Says in Regard to Cubs' Advertisement for a Competent Comptometer.

Dr. Moran of the Majors wants to know if the Cubs are still seeking the services of an expert comptometer operator for the town championship football series beginning November 17.

He says that for the price of admission to the game played at Hickey's grove last Sunday those of the Cubs who attended should have taken advantage of the valuable lesson in common, simple un-complicated arithmetic from the Major's score keeper. It was all free for the asking.

That it is antagonistic to the Statutes of the State of Connecticut to engage for hire and for monetary consideration any infant under the age of three months. A child older than three months would not even earn the salary offered.

Dr. Moran wonders if the Cubs will advance the proposition to the one lucky enough to land the job whereby they will retain the salary agreed upon that they might purchase for him a block of shares in the Cub team to guarantee him financial independence in his old age. He recommends that the Cubs wait a week or two before engaging the services of this operator for by that time the Cubs may find themselves able to iron out some of their present internal difficulties. By doing this they could then send one of their Chiefs-of-Staff thereby derive all benefits themselves from money expended.

Local Sport Chatter

Babe Hurley of Hartford who played with the Community Club against the Rec Five in the town basket ball series a couple of years ago, is now a candidate for a berth on the varsity court team at Fordham.

Johnny Mullins, home from Flint, Mich., to pay his old home town and friends a visit, says he thinks Harvard will beat Michigan without any real trouble Saturday at Ann Arbor. Johnny adds that the best team in the Wolverine state is Detroit with its famous Lloyd Brazz of All-America fame.

Mullins brings the welcome news that all is well with Sammy Smith, another former basketball star. Sammy has a fine position in one of the automobile factories, is married, has a charming little daughter and owns a new home. What could be sweeter?

There is one thing about these night football games as pictured above, they ought to give a fellow a surer chance of seeing stars.

Manchester High has played Bulkeley High of New London three times and been victorious on two occasions. They meet again Saturday in the Whaling City.

When the experts start considering the 1929 supply of All-America talent they should not overlook the names of Yucovich, Lubratovich and Stanenovich. Surely these names will help them to decide which is vict.

Green Picked a Good Man for President of their Baseball Club

William H. Cowles. The well known fruit expert takes an active interest in sports and should be able to help guide the team to another successful season.

The DeMolay basketball team will practice from 8 to 9 tonight at the East Side Rec.

Some people believe in law and order—if they can lay down the law and give the orders.

Too Lengthy A Huddle Kills Fordham Chance

FOOTBALL TROPHY IS ON EXHIBITION

State Theater Cup at Watkins; "Sophomore" Booked for Football Night.

Scoreless Game Ends With Ball One Foot from West Virginia's Goal; Miss Chances Galore.

BY WILLIAM J. CHIFFMAN.

The handsome big silver trophy which will be presented to the winning team in the local town football series by the State theater through the direction of Warner Brothers has been received by Manager Hugh J. Campbell and is on display today at Watkins Brothers. Already the huge silver loving cup with its football engraving at the base has attracted considerable attention. Manager Campbell says he plans to take the cup over north to put on display part of the time.

PALESTINE LEADS CHINA TO VICTORY

Joe Farr's Charter Oak alleys on Oak street were crowded last night to watch Freddie the Chinese laundryman defeat Ramolla Paganini in a special ten game bowling match by twenty pins.

While the scores were not very high, the interest far exceeded that of any match other than a town championship affair. It is still the chief topic of conversation along the Oak street business section tonight. Freddie averaged 95 against 93 for Ramolla.

The Chinaman made a highly impressive start with a score of 123 but was in three figures on only one other instance. Paganini went above three times. A double strike in the last box of the ninth game by Paganini cut Freddie's lead to seven pins, but under the expert guidance of Manager Coach Chan whatnot (mostly the latter) Jake Greenberg, laundry man rallied to win the tenth.

Here are the scores: Paganini: 95, 97, 85, 105, 89, 77, 101, 84, 112, 85—930. Freddie: 126, 82, 98, 110, 88, 89, 92, 85, 87, 98—930.

Even though Bill Roper refuses to take his game with Lehigh as a training gesture and with some reason he gave the Princeton varsity a second day of rest yesterday with the promise of scrimmage today. Every Princeton move from now to finish will be made with Yale game in view, regardless of the outcome of the Lehigh fray.

Yesterday's Game.

Fordham and West Virginia University played a scoreless tie yesterday the New Yorkers driving 72 yards in the closing minutes but failing a foot short of a touchdown as the game ended. The gallant fighting mountain band from West Virginia gave the Maroon every chance but all overtures of old man opportunity were steadfastly rejected by the home team. Fordham remained undefeated but had its record marred by the second tie of the season, the first, too, was of West Virginia origin, a 6 to 6 deadlock with Davis and Elkins.

West Virginia had two great chances in the first few minutes of play when a Fordham fumble caused apprehension in the Cavanaugh camp but when Fordham stopped this drive, it's time of stress was over from a defensive standpoint. The Maroon offensive did not start to function until it was too late. The one sustained drive was under way when the game ended.

Miss Eight Chances.

Eight times Fordham was inside West Virginia's 30 yard line in first down and eight times the ball was lost.

With a first down on the visitors' five yard line in the first half Fordham lost five yards.

The big thrill came at the close when Fordham practically talked itself out of a chance to win the game. After the players left a huddle with the ball only two yards from the goal, they ran back to talk it over again. But for this second thought they might have had time to make the 12 inches they were short when the time ran out.

PITT STAR REAL ACE

TARDIEU'S CABINET IS ALMOST READY

Radical Socialists in Chamber Say They Will Vote Against It.

Paris, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The newly completed ministry of Andre Tardieu, who will present his ministerial declaration to the Chamber of Deputies tomorrow, will face a determined onslaught to unseat it.

The Radical-Socialists, without waiting for the ministerial declaration, today decided unanimously to vote against the new government and emphasized its position by making such an adverse vote a matter of party discipline.

This action has stiffened the opposition and narrows the premier's already scant margin of safety as it has been hoped he might have the benefit of a few abstainers.

Press Approves. The Conservative press meanwhile highly approves Tardieu's refusal to let the party convention dictate to the government and warns political leaders that Parliament will face the solution if a majority cannot be mustered.

The cabinet held a long discussion today on the ministerial declaration and in the terms of an official communiqué found itself "in perfect unanimity on all points at issue."

This included a demand for immediate discussion of the government's general and foreign policy. Among the decisions taken this morning was that ministers will decline all invitations to banquet luncheons and other gatherings as long as vital questions still remain to be decided.

This is Paris

A LA BUSSE!
By Hazel Reavis

Paris—The cult of the Russian never wanes here.

It is manifest in the tent-like carpet hung little bottles, where the program is music and champagne from midnight until the street cleaners are at work.

There are more places than ever where the writers wear red Cossack coats and pinch in their waists; where the proprietor plays the guitar and sings in three or four languages; a lad in baggy trousers and a tunic blouse does a dance that rattles the champagne glasses, and the muffled orchestra includes the three-legged instrument that looks like a xylophone crossed with a miniature grand piano.

One such place with a mere dozen tables has made a name for itself because the urbane little proprietor refuses to allow the orchestra to play the Volga boatmen's song under any circumstances.

A Royal Visitor. A friend happened to be in the cabaret of the Comedians Russes one night when the late Grand Duke Nicholas arrived unexpectedly with four members of his staff. That was an evening, he says.

Nicholas died soon after and White Russians in Paris went into mourning for the acknowledged leader of the house of Romanoff, the uncle of Czar Nicholas II and head of the Russian army to which the Czar wrote the famous message beginning:

"I address you for the last time, my well beloved troops."

As soon as Grand Duke Nicholas was recognized the doors of the cabaret were closed and locked. The orchestra struck up the national anthem of the old Russian empire, while everybody stood.

Walters dived for the cellar and came back with champagne for everybody and in a jiffy the grand duke's health was being drunk by Russians, English and Americans alike.

Nicholas smiled and bowed and went to a quiet table over in a corner with his party.

The Singing Duke. Soon they began to sing at his table, lifting their glasses to one another. The songs were Russian, regimental or school songs they all knew. Nicholas leaned back comfortably with his dignified white head resting on a bright red cushion and sang the best of them all. Sometimes he sang the verse alone and his friends came in on the chorus.

As the champagne bottles emptied he began lifting his glass to people in the room. He toasted the American girl who was with my friend several times, winking and smiling at her as he raised his glass.

When he was leaving he stopped for a minute at their table to say: "I hope you didn't mind my flirting with you a little bit. You're very pretty and I'm just an old man, you know."

He went out with a wave of his cane and a handshake for the proprietor. It was his last sight of the little Comedians Russes, for he died at his home on the Riviera a few weeks later without revisiting Paris.

The impact threw him back to the opposite side of the road where a second machine going west and operated by John Weisheit of Norwalk, passed over his body.

"They work while you sleep"

When the bowels need help there is nothing like Cascarets; nothing more efficient, nothing so good for the system. Any doctor can confirm these facts.

Candy Cascarets give you pure cascara in a most pleasant form. Take one tonight. See how fine you feel all next day. Without discomfort and without harmful effects this gentle laxative cleanses the whole thirty feet of bowels. Cascarets never produce that nauseous feeling usually associated with the use of laxatives. And their action is so natural that there is no danger of forming the laxative habit. You can take them as often as you please—or give them freely to children or old folk.

A coated tongue or a laden breath is a signal for a candy Cascaret. Or a sick headache, or any sluggish feeling; any time you believe the liver and bowels are not functioning fully, Cascarets will sweep away accumulations in the lower bowel. They are sweetened with pure cane sugar and flavored with real licorice, making them the ideal laxative for children.

Full medical endorsement proves their principle is right; the use of 20 million packages a year proves their effectiveness.

My Favorite Bible Passage

Today's Choice by Daniel Carter Beard Author, Educator, Expert in Outdoor Life

Daniel C. Beard Jesus said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the first and great commandment. And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets.—Matthew 22:37-40.

The Sermon on the Mount —Matthew 5, 6, 7.

The Twenty-Third Psalm

The Ten Commandments —Deuteronomy 5

I Corinthians 13

Comment

"The Bible passages I am most interested in, I suppose, are those which emphasize the outdoor life of the Apostles and the Savior Himself. You will note that the greatest sermon ever preached was neither in a temple nor in a church, but from the mountainside. The twelve men who followed Christ were outdoor men and the Master Himself was also an outdoor man. "The Ten Commandments" always appealed to me because they seem basic, common sense laws, and as far as I can see, there has been no improvement made upon them for many, many centuries; but on the advent of Christ, He simplified and idealized the Ten Commandments and smoothed, so to speak, the harshness from them by substituting the Great Commandment."

HOLD COLLEGE YOUTH ON A LIQUOR CHARGE

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Harold McKee of Pittsburgh, Pa., student in the University of Michigan, remained in jail today in default of $2,500 bail after his examination yesterday on a charge of possession of liquor. McKee was arrested Saturday night in a raid at Fletcher Hall, a men's dormitory, which resulted in the discovery of two cases of liquor. Warrants also have been issued for Alexander Gov of Windsor, Ont., and Charles F. Fitzpatrick of Flushing, N. Y., but neither has been apprehended. Dean Joseph Bursley of the university said Fitzpatrick reported to him yesterday and protested his innocence of the liquor charge. Friends of Fitzpatrick have intimated to Ann Arbor police that he will appear at police headquarters today. Gov is thought to be at his home in Windsor.

U. S. COMPETITION

London, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The United States is the chief competitor of Britain for Canadian markets, J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal, said in the House of Commons today. Sir Frederick Hall, (Cons., Cambridge Bulwicks) had asked what countries the minister had found to be the keenest particularly to iron and steel products. Sir Frederick further asked whether the ability of these competitors to undercut British prices was due to any great extent to inferior labor conditions in the iron and steel industries. Mr. Thomas explained that more than 90 per cent of the value of imports of iron and steel to Canada in the year ending March 31 last came from the United States. He did not think the position could be attributed in any material extent to inferior labor conditions in the United States, but added it was not for him to apportion the blame.

Shopping With Susan

Via WTIC Last Thursday... remember what a nasty, drizzly day it was... I stopped in to the W. G. Simmons Company on Pratt street. "Why Susan?" said my favorite salesman "you have no rubbers on and your feet look terribly damp... your shoes will be ruined, you'll have a dreadful cold and..." "Rubbers?" I interrupted in my most disgusted voice, "I hate them... they're heavy and hot... anyway I never catch..." and then I was unfortunate enough to sneeze. "Just as I said," he continued, seizing the opportunity to stop my tirade against rubber shoes in general, while I searched frantically for a handkerchief, "you'll be sick in bed and then who will go shopping for your radio audience. And furthermore, rubbers are not ugly and heavy and hot... they're just right here and I'll break down the argument in short order." He left me momentarily and by the time I had located my handkerchief, and sneezed once more, he stood in front of me again, looking at me accusingly. "Here," he said, "put your foot into this and see if your opinion doesn't change immediately." Feeling another sneeze coming on, I obeyed, with a meekness that was altogether unusual for me. It was rather pretty, at that, very pretty in fact... why it looked almost like an opera pump in moire... it didn't feel a bit heavy and it most certainly was not ugly. Seeing that he had won his point my salesman left me again and returned with several more very lovely arguments for well-protected feet in rainy, slushy weather... and the slushy season is on its way, you know. There was a moire rubber in a lovely beige shade in addition to the black one I tried on... there was a tiny rubber "powder-puff" case containing the daintiest pair of sandals—just the thing to slip into your bag when overhanging clouds suggested rain before your return but which did not warrant wearing rubbers at that moment. And have you seen the Shower Boots—they have the zipper closing with a top cuff which may be worn up or down... they come in beige also in all black. They are unusually light—not any heavier than the ordinary rubber and of course, fit the foot very snugly. I understand they are very popular this season. Then there was the Goodrich Convertible Zipper with a Cuban heel—it comes in brown and gray and is practical in that the cuffs may be worn high or low. The tweed Zippers are the smartest ever. They come in both beige and gray mixtures and will adapt themselves very nicely to an outfit in either color. They are of medium height with a flap buttoning beneath the turnover cuff, making a snug fitting closing. Another style which comes in both beige and gray buttons on the right side and provides either an arctic for a heavy snowstorm or one that can be worn comfortably on crisp winter days for warmth. I saw the tiniest of rubbers in white and brown for the little, little children—I understand that the

INDIA IN FAVOR OF DOMINION

New Delhi, India, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Comment on the Viceroy's declaration of November 1, affirming that the British government desired to grant dominion status to India in time, indicates that the favorable response is wider than had been expected. Lord Irwin declared that a conference should be held in London to clear up relations between British India and the native states of India, and this is considered to have removed most of the tension from Indian politics. The declaration delivered a severe blow to the growing movement for complete independence. Attacks had been expected from two quarters—extreme "European" or white opinion, in India, and the so-called "Congress" politicians. But Anglo-Indian newspapers not only were the first to describe the announcement as wise, but also resented the opposition voiced in the British party press. Native Opinion Most of the Indian newspapers, while awaiting the final verdict of Indian politicians, welcome the announcement as a wise step toward finding the way out of the political impasse. Both progressive political opinion and press opinion are being modelled on the lines of the statement issued by 30 members of the Indian Nationalist Congress and other leaders, including Mahatma Gandhi, great upholder of Indian nationalism, Srinivasa Saastri, prominent Indian leader who was formerly high commissioner to South Africa and Mrs. Annie Besant. Is Compromise This statement gives conditional acceptance and was a compromise between the three chief political schools of thought in India, the Liberal, Congress and Independent sections. The only clause in the announcement causing controversy is the demand that the Nationalist Congress should have predominant representation when the round-table conference is summoned in London. The depressed masses and Indian Christians welcome the Viceroy's announcement and ask that their interests be protected at the conference. China and Japan are said to have 200,000 square miles of coal fields. four-buckle arctic remains popular for the young people. Arctic weather is almost here... you see, I am converted... I would advise you not to wait until the day of the big storm to buy your arctic for very often the demand is so large that you are liable to be disappointed in not finding your size in the particular style you choose. The W. G. Simmons Corporation of 48-58 Pratt street, Hartford, Connecticut have a most complete line of rubbers and arctic for men, women and children and I would suggest your selecting your new rainy day boots from their large stock.—Adv.

"Oh, gee," said Clowzy. "Wonder what he's doing there. As like as not he's just a tired out fellow who has flopped down for a snooze. We'd better get away, I guess, before we get into a mess. Come on, let's run. He may wake up. We have no time to lose."
 "Oh, wait," said Scouty. "Hold your ground. I'm sure that he is sleeping sound. No man could snore as loud as that if he was in a nap. Let's stay and hide and soon we'll see, when he wakes up, whom he can be. Don't get too close, however. We may walk into a trap."
 This made brave Cobby laugh out loud. Said he, "I'll show this frightened crowd that I am not one bit afraid. Just keep your eyes on me. I'll walk right up beside the man and he can wake up, if he can. I know I won't be frightened. I'm as brave as I can be."
 So, while the others stayed behind, wee Cobby, who'd made up his mind, walked right up to the sleeping man. "It's safe up here," he cried. "A good long sleep he's going to take and I feel sure he won't awake. Let's look into his funny pail and see what we can find."
 Quite cautiously the rest came near. They found that there was naught to fear. The man slept on and snored real loud; then rolled upon his side. The bunch jumped back. Then Cobby said, "Oh shucks, I'm going right ahead and lift the pail lid up so I can see what is inside."
 The others quickly gathered 'round and Scouty said, "Don't make a sound." Wee Cobby lifted up the lid and said, "This is a treat. We're all as hungry as can be and, if you all see what I see, we're going to sit around this pail and have good things to eat."

ABOUT TOWN

The increasing patronage at The Rainbow has made it necessary for Charles Pinney to relinquish the inn which he has leased to George Bokis of Rockville, the popular proprietor of Sandy Beach park and ballroom at Crystal Lake, who will immediately assume personal charge of the place. This will afford Mr. Pinney more time to devote to the management of the Rainbow dance palace and refreshment stand. It is understood the necessary papers transferring the inn to Mr. Bokis will be completed tomorrow. The new manager is well and favorably known throughout New England and his numerous friends in this town will be glad to learn of his connection with the inn at Bolton.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Concordia Lutheran church will meet tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock.

The Bible class of the Swedish Lutheran church will have a poverty social this evening at the Osano cottage in Bolton. Cars will leave the church for Bolton at 7 o'clock.

The W. E. A. Guard club served an appetizing roast beef supper in Odd Fellows hall last evening under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert Coleman. A number of guests were present from Hartford. This evening officers and members of Mystic Review will attend the district meeting at Sunshine hall, Hartford.

The Manchester Pipe Band will hold a concert and dance at Cheney Hall, Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock with Bill Waddell's Orchestra furnishing music for dancing. Harry Flavell is chairman of the committee in charge and has secured Peter Murray a great Scotch and Irish comedian from Boston. The program will also include Mrs. Erskine, who has sung in the Peebles Hydro in Scotland during the summer season, and Eleanor Brown, champion dancer of Hartford.

A son, Milton Robert, was born Sunday, November 3, at the Memorial hospital, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Turkington of 200 Center street.

The North Methodist Ladies Aid society has made preparations to cater to a large number at its justly famed annual chicken pie supper this evening. The ladies will serve those seated at the first table at 5:30. This will give employed persons the opportunity of calling for their supper before going to their homes.

MADDEN'S COWBOY FRIEND GUEST HERE

Norman Mason, Rodeo Rider, Visits Town After Exhibiting at Madison Square Garden.

Norman Mason, a cowboy and rodeo rider with whom Frank Madden of Madden Brothers, Manchester automobile dealers, cowboied in Montana for many years and with whom Joseph Madden has also long been acquainted, through western visits, is spending the week with the Maddens here.

Mr. Mason, who is a riding celebrity in the western country, was in New York acting as a judge of the big rodeo at Madison Square Garden last week, also giving a riding exhibition at each show, when Frank and Joseph Madden, who were in the city on business, dropped in to see the rodeo. They were surprised to see Mason one of the participants. They got in touch with him, remained over to see the whole show in the evening, and prevailed on the westerner to come to Manchester for a visit. His four gallon hat attracts considerable attention on the streets.
