

SENATE APPROVES TARIFF AMENDMENT

To Keep Maple and Birch
Lumber, Except Flooring,
On Free List—How They Voted on the Question.

Washington, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The Senate today approved a Republican amendment to the tariff bill to retain maple and birch lumber, except flooring, on the free list. The House provided a duty of 15 per cent.

By a vote of 38 to 35 the Senate then rejected that part of the section which would have levied a duty of 15 per cent. ad valorem on maple, birch and beech flooring and restored this wood to the free list.

Thirteen Republicans joined 23 Democrats in support of a motion by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, to eliminate the proposed 15 per cent. duty.

Four Democrats—Blease, South Carolina; Bronsard, Louisiana; Dill, Washington, and Kendrick, Wyoming, combined with thirty one Republicans for the duty.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, opposing the proposed duty on flooring cited figures to show that the United States produces annually 100,000,000 feet of oak and maple, against imports from Canada of only about fifty million feet.

The United States exported to Canada last year 106,578,000 feet of hardwoods and imported only 52,150,000 feet, Walsh said, declaring Canada imposed a heavy duty on American hardwoods.

Senator Walsh said this was no excuse for taxing American consumers of Canadian woods.

Hale for Duty.

Senator Hale, Republican, Maine, and Senator Keyes, Republican, New Hampshire, urged the duty. The former said most of American exports to Canada were of oak and maple. Therefore, he argued, the comparison made by Walsh was not fair.

The domestic hardwood industry is having "hard times" and Walsh said, adding that imports and the growing use of linoleum was having a depressing effect.

Keyes said a flooring mill in his home had been forced to close because it could not meet Canadian competition.

Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, arguing against a tariff, said the request for a duty was "undoubtedly the most flagrant example of greed on the part of the manufacturers of the country."

Approval was given to a committee change to increase the rate on molders' patterns of wood from 83-1/3 per cent to 50 per cent. The House had proposed 40 per cent.

Duty on Furniture.

The Senate also approved a committee increase to forty per cent in the present duty of thirty-three and one-third per cent on bent wood furniture.

A proposal by Senator Wagner, Democrats, New York, to restore the existing duty was rejected. The House had proposed fifty-five per cent on bent wood furniture.

Without a record vote an increase from 16 2-3 per cent to 33-1/3 per cent in the duty on paint brush handles was approved.

The finance committee had recommended a duty of 15 cent each and 33-1/3 per cent, but the 1/2 cent was eliminated at the suggestion of Senator Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma.

The duty of 33-1/3 per cent was carried in existing law until the President, acting under the flexible clause, lowered it to 16 2-3 per cent.

TWELVE HOUR SCHEDULE ACROSS THE CONTINENT

Engineers Predict This Will Be a Fact Soon—Safety Appliances Explained.

Los Angeles, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Airplane transports, flying passengers night and day across the United States on a twelve hour schedule, were forecast by aircraft authorities in papers read here last night before the Southern California section of the Society of Automotive Engineers and the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America.

W. E. Boeing, president of the Boeing Airplane and Transport company, expressed belief that night flying, aided by radio telephone connections between plane and ground and by radio directional beacons, soon would become as safe and common as day flying. He pointed out that the airway between New York and the Pacific coast already was lighted, and that pilots over this one line, fly more night hours than all the air pilots of Europe.

Horace M. Hanshue, president of Western Air Express, said only two essentials, an air-minded public and planes than can cruise at 200 miles an hour, are necessary to bring about a twelve-hour coast to coast schedule. He predicted commercial planes soon would be built to fly steadily at 200 miles an hour.

WORLD BANK PLANS ARE MADE PUBLIC

Purposes of New Finance
Institution Explained for the First Time.

Baden Baden, Germany, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Purposes of the new Bank of International Settlements were described in the statutes of the bank published today by the committee which has just drawn them up.

To promote co-operation of the central banks, provide additional facilities for international financial operations and to act as trustee or agent in regard to the international financial settlements entrusted to it.

So long as the Young reparations plan is operative the bank shall not only "observe provisions of the plan in administration of operations of the bank" but also "will conduct its affairs with a view to facilitating action of the plan."

Statutes of Institution.

These statements of the purposes and functions of the new bank are contained in the first chapter of the bank statutes which as published contain sixty articles and seven chapters, first chapter in addition fixing Basel as the seat of the institution.

Capital stock of the bank is fixed in chapter 2 of the statutes at 500,000,000 Swiss francs (about $96,896,500) divided into 200,000 shares of which 112,000 must be subscribed before the bank begins business.

Chapter Five of the statutes provides that at general meetings voting rights shall be in proportion to the number of shares subscribed in the country of each institutional represented at the meeting. Extraordinary meetings may be called to amend the statutes, increase or decrease the bank's capital or to liquidate the bank.

Chapter Six the financial year beginning April 1. The bank must publish an annual report and at least monthly statements.

Chapter Seven provides among other things that the bank may not be liquidated except by three-fourths majority in a general meeting and not before it has discharged all obligations assumed under the Young plan.

Settling Disputes.

Disputes among institutional or application of the statutes shall be referred to an interpretation tribunal established under the London agreement of August 30, 1924. By common consent both parties may refer any dispute to the president or any member of the tribunal as sole arbitrator.

Articles relating to the domicile of the bank, its objects, functions, reduction or increase in capital, non-voting right of shares, the veto clause, forbidden operations, composition of the board, early profits, or arbitration, cannot be amended.

ARRESTED ON WAY TO WIFE'S FUNERAL

Russian Who Married Ex-
Kaiser's Sister Violated a Deportation Order.

Bonn, Germany, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The grim tragic comic note that enveloped the last days of Princess Victoria, Schaumburg-Lippe, sister of the former Kaiser, was again sounded today with the arrest of Alexander Subkoff, her youthful husband whose escapades had caused his exile from Germany.

The young Russian, dancer and adventurer who married the princess, thirty-four years his senior, two years ago, was picked up by the Bonn police en route from Treves to Frankfurt in an attempt to attend his wife's funeral. Only ten days ago a divorce suit the princess had brought against him was filed.

Reason for Arrest.

Subkoff was arrested for violating an order forbidding him entrance into Russia. He also was held on swindle charges brought by many creditors here from whom he was alleged to have obtained money under false pretences by means of the unauthorized use of his wife's name.

Advices from Frankfurt-on-Main said the former Kaiser would be represented at his sister's funeral Saturday in the Cronberg castle chapel by Prince Adalbert of Prussia. A wreath of white roses from him will be given the place of honor among the floral tributes.

Numerous telegrams of sympathy have been received from the German foreign aristocracy. The funeral ceremony will be simple and will be attended only by relatives.

INCOME TAXES TO BE SLASHED FOR NEXT YEAR

Reduction of One Per Cent
All Along the Line Will Be Made, Secretary Mellon Announces.

Washington, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Congressional leaders spoke quickly today to voice approval of the Treasury proposal for a $160,000,000 tax cut, and simultaneously Secretary Mellon said announcement of the contemplated reduction had been decided upon a week ago, and was merely a coincidence with the disturbed condition in the Stock Market.

Mellon coupled this statement with an expression that he had the utmost confidence in the continued prosperity in the country and that before the tax reduction was decided upon all elements entering into government income had been considered thoroughly.

To Draft Legislation.

At the Capitol leaders of both Houses prepared to move swiftly to draft legislation to carry out the proposed reduction and today it was their intention to offer the necessary resolution early in the December session.

The measure must be introduced first in the House where under the constitution all revenue legislation must originate. The Treasury proposal would provide for a flat one per cent cut in the normal individual and corporation tax rate.

Conditions Justify Cut.

Mellon in discussing the situation said losses in the Stock Market, which might tend to reduce income of those who had suffered in the market, had been given thorough consideration and that it was the decision of Treasury experts that the continued prosperity of the country justified a tax reduction at this time.

If the Treasury had not had confidence that the prosperity of the country would continue, the tax reduction would not have been recommended, Mr. Mellon added. Congressional leaders said it was their intention to carry out the proposed reduction by means of a resolution rather than by a bill looking to any widespread revisions of the revenue law. This, they added, was because the proposed cut would apply only on

LONDON PROTESTS CLAIMS OF JAPAN

Wants 70 Per Cent of American Strength in Cruisers
With 8 Inch Guns.

Tokyo, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Although official confirmation was unavailable, it was learned authoritatively today that Japan's claims for 70 per cent of American strength in cruisers carrying 8-inch guns, have met with a discouraging reception both in London and Washington.

Recent diplomatic correspondence from those capitals has been a closely guarded secret at the foreign office but this afternoon's papers gave prominence to reports of an Anglo-American tendency to reject the Japanese ratio claims arousing editorial criticism which also appeared to be cropping out in some official circles.

Hold Conference.

While it was officially denied that they were meeting in connection with the receipt of unfavorable reports from Washington and London, it was noteworthy that Premier Hamaguchi, Foreign Minister Shidehara, Kyo Takarabe of the Admiralty, and other advisers were closeted this afternoon discussing the prospects of the London naval conference.

An unconfirmed report which the afternoon papers published was that while Great Britain was prepared to agree to Japan's desire for a 70 per cent 8-inch gun cruiser ratio towards Great Britain, Japan would have to be content with a 60 per cent ratio towards the United States.

STEAMER AGROUND.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Efforts of four tugboats from Buffalo to pull the grain laden steamer Briton from the rocks on the Point Abino, Ont., were frustrated last night in a dense fog, have been unavailing.

The freighter was in no immediate danger this morning, but her position would be precarious in case of a heavy blow, according to word from the offices of Boland and Cornelius, Buffalo agents for the Buckeye Steamship Company, of Cleveland, owners.

TREASURY BALANCE.

Washington, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for November 12, were $7,810,353.89; balance $134,515,323.91.

She'll move from a luxurious hotel suite in New York to a small apartment, and says she must work harder than ever at her music.

PILGRIMS SPEND NIGHT AT GRAVE

Rain Drenches Crowd of 10,000 in Malden Cemetery Seeking Cures.

Malden, Mass., Nov. 14.—(AP)—A night of intermittent rain which drenched a crowd of more than 10,000 pilgrims about the reputedly miraculous grave of the Rev. Patrick J. Power in Holy Cross cemetery here, failed today to lessen the ardor of other thousands who crowded to the sacred grounds.

The surrounding lots in the portion of cemetery given over to the graves of the clergy were badly trampled by the muddy throng which seized upon the opportunity to pray at other graves, including that of former Archbishop John J. Williams, immediate predecessor of Cardinal O'Connell.

Hundreds of Cars.

Hundreds of parked cars surrounded the cemetery enclosure all night while many of their owners spent hours in prayer on the rainy grass or waited their turn for a brief moment before the spot where numerous cures were believed to have been effected.

The little mortuary chapel which stands on a knoll on the grounds was crowded by an ever changing group of supplicants and cemetery officials were hard put to keep replenished the supply of vigil lights, so great was the demand.

Exteriorly, the chapel was like some country church at Christmas time as soft light from the votary lamps shone through the stained glass windows to cast prismatic hues on the strange scene without. Later the rain ceased and before dawn the skies were clear.

A police sergeant and nine officers, some of them weary by as many as 16 consecutive hours of duty, kept order and watched the long lines of pilgrims. Otherwise they had little to do. A small child who sought to vend sandwiches in the vicinity of the cemetery was quickly stopped while a more ambitious ice cream peddler was discouraged by a sharp warning.

PAROLED NEGRO CONVICT ESCAPES FROM OFFICERS

Covers Them With Shotgun and Then Flees Under Cover of Darkness.

North Troy, Vt., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Search was being made in this vicinity today for August Rene, 23, paroled negro convict, who escaped from police after he had held them at bay with a shotgun.

Rene was taken into custody last night when Wilfred Mossa had reported that the negro had stolen $19 from him. Accompanied by an officer, Rene went to his boarding house to get the money, which he said he had hidden there. He failed to produce it, however, but instead, according to police, consumed some liquor without the knowledge of the officer. Rene then refused to return to the police lockup.

The officer, William Wheeler, sought the assistance of two customs officers, Fay Temple and Edwin Wilson, both of Newport. The trio returned to the house but were compelled to leave when Rene covered them with the shotgun. While they sought other officers, Rene escaped under cover of darkness.

New Britain, Nov. 14.—(AP)—James B. Nock, 38, of 21 Wetherfield avenue, Hartford was bound over to Superior Court under a bond of $1,000 when he pleaded guilty in Police Court today to embezzling $145 from the West End Laundry Company of this city while employed as a wagon driver. He said he intended to make restitution.

He has a wife and three children; Nock was arrested in Hartford yesterday by the police of that city.

SHORT SKIRT CONTROVERSY STIRS WOMEN

League of Women Voters
Discuss Subject Again at Today's Parley—Resolution Introduced.

Hartford, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The Connecticut League of Women Voters today refused to vote resistance to style changes involving longer skirts. After a none too serious discussion the annual state convention voted down a resolution offered by Mrs. Ruth M. Dourain, wife of Prof. H. M. Dourain of Trinity College, in which the asserted style ban on the short skirt was deplored.

Much Opposition.

That the resolution found little favor with the delegates was evident as soon as it was presented on the floor. Mrs. Herbert Knox Smith of Farmington called it "contrary to the principles of the League" in that it was being considered without sufficient investigation of the problems involved, "and refused to concur with Mrs. F. L. C. Ketchell of New Haven, the only supporter beside Mrs. Dourain who claimed that such action would be in accord with the policy of the League to resist advertising and high pressure salesmanship as a means of reducing living costs.

Mrs. Hiram Percy Maxim of Hartford, asked the gathering to con-jure up a picture of the situation which would be created by the League in attempting a stand against the change in mode.

GOOD'S CONDITION IS STILL CRITICAL

Secretary of War, Dangerously Ill, Has Entered Serious Stage, Doctors Say.

Washington, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Secretary Good, dangerously ill at Walter Reed hospital was thought today by his physicians to have entered the critical period and the next 48 hours were expected to determine whether he would survive from the acute attack of appendicitis for which he underwent an operation.

EARLIER BULLETIN.

Washington, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Dr. Joel T. Boone, White House physician, announced early today that the condition of James W. Good, secretary of war, who is in a serious condition following an appendicitis operation, was "as good as could be expected."

Army surgeons attending the war secretary noted with some apprehension that his temperature had risen slightly this morning.

This, however, was not considered particularly alarming as it was said the patient's temperature might rise as a natural defensive measure on the part of the body as a reaction from the operation.

Had Fair Night.

Mr. Good had a "fair" night and his condition was stated at ten o'clock this morning to be as satisfactory as could be expected under the circumstances.

The critical nature of the secretary's condition was not minimized by his surgeons and constant contact was kept by the White House with his bedroom so that President Hoover could be kept informed.

No one was permitted in Mr. Good's room. Mrs. Good spent the night at the hospital in an adjoining apartment.

EAST HAMPTON BOOKS.

ARE ALL TANGLED UP

Hundreds of Taxpayers Bring Receipts Showing That "Unpaid Taxes" Were Paid.

East Hampton, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Under investigation since the recent disappearance of Herbert N. Watrous, former tax collector of the town, hundreds of taxpayers reported to Alexander with receipts bills and cancelled checks showing that the "unpaid" taxes had been paid.

During the course of an audit which he was authorized to make, H. N. Alexander of New London sent bills to hundreds of residents for "unpaid" taxes dating back to 1913. Today the "delinquents" were given an opportunity to make known any claims for exemptions which they might have. Hundreds of taxpayers reported to Alexander with receipts bills and cancelled checks showing that the "unpaid" taxes had been paid.

Besides Watrous who is awaiting trial in a charge of absconding with town funds, this town has had three tax collectors since 1913; Leon Tracy, N. W. Purple and Clifford Watrous a brother of Herbert.

Market Bounds Upward
from Very Opening.

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Wall street cast aside its mantle of gloom today as prices of leading securities rallied $2 to $20 a share and closed practically at the top.

It was the first sustained rally after a week of destructive liquidation which had wiped out billions of dollars in quoted values, and sent scores of stocks to prices which represented only a small fraction of their year's high levels.

Closing prices of several leading shares were: U. S. Steel Common, $160, up $8.50; American Can, $102.50, up $16.50; New York Central, $169, up $9; Westinghouse Electric, $119.50, up $14.50; General Electric, $190, up $17; Johns Manville, $109, up $10; General Motors, $38, up $1.87; Radio, $33, up $4.25; Montgomery Ward $56.87, up $7; Columbia Gas, $62.75, up $9.25; American Telephone $217.25, up $10.25; Union Pacific, $213.87, up $13.87; Standard Oil of N. LOST $108; GETS IT
ROUNDABOUT WAY

Pocketbook and Money Pass Through Many Hands Before Reaching Owner.

On Friday evening, Nov. 1, soon after cashing her pay check, Miss Florence V. Lamberg, a teacher in the State Trade school, accidentally dropped her pocket book containing $108 and a little change as she was stepping from her car. She was on her way to buy a coat in a local store and did not notice her loss until she went to make the purchase.

Police Tipped.

Miss Lamberg inserted an advertisement in the lost and found column of The Herald and told friends about her loss. Through this medium Mrs. Henry F. Lord of 7 Cottage street, manager of the Circle theater, was able to give the police a tip that resulted in the recovery of the pocketbook minus about $60 of the original sum.

A few nights after Miss Lamberg dropped the pocketbook Mrs. Lord received an appeal from a boy about ten years old that he had found a pocketbook containing around $50 in the Circle theater. At the time Mrs. Lord did not think very much about this unusual phase of the matter but later wondered why a boy of that age should be in possession of so large a sum.

Man Finds It.

Her suspicions were further aroused when a man appeared at the box office saying that he had found the pocketbook that the boy

Clever Delivery Plan.

A Manchester man, Walter W. Donaghy of 54 Chestnut street, was responsible for the arrest yesterday morning of 67 year old Mrs. Elizabeth Ferrone of New York City at the Wethersfield State Prison when it is alleged she attempted to bring narcotics to her son, Lawrence Ferrone, notorious convict serving a long term at the state institution.

Donaghy, a guard at the prison, detected the aged woman in the act of attempting to pass a tiny metal box said to have contained drugs, to her son as she kissed him when they met in the visitors' room. The attempt failed, the container dropping to the floor.

Mother Suspected.

As usual the mother and son yesterday was being visited in addition to being chief mail clerk. Ferrone's mother had been under suspicion for some time, but a careful search had failed to reveal any illegal articles on her person. Guards were always present when Ferrone and his mother met but outside of a rather lengthy embrace at the meeting, no contact was discernible until yesterday's meeting.

As usual the mother and son yesterday and when she stepped back the tiny metal box dropped to the floor. Donaghy stepped forward quickly and picked it up. Examination proved that it contained white powder said to be dope. The prisoner was sent back to the shirt factory without further delay and Mrs. Ferrone taken into the office for questioning. The aged woman stolidly denied that she had attempted to bring dope to her son, insisting it was medicine a New York physician had given her for personal use. The

TARIFF POSTPONEMENT

By Vote of 74 to 7 It Refuses to Take a Recess Until December 9.

Washington, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Despite warnings that half of its members were sick and did not know it, that others were tired out and in need of rest and that it was "cruel" to keep members at work, the Senate today by a vote of 74 to 7 refused to postpone consideration of the tariff until Dec. 9.

Senator Blease, Democrat, South Carolina, who issued most of the warnings about the Senators' health offered the motion. He, however, found only Bingham, Connecticut; Dale and Greene, Vermont; Phillips, Colorado; and Reed, Pennsylvania, Republicans, and Copeland, Democrat, New York, ready to join with him in voting for a rest.

Immediately after this vote, the Senate rejected a motion to adjourn on Nov. 25 until the regular session beginning Dec. 2.

The second motion was made by Senator Simmons, Democrat, North Carolina.

It was defeated 51 to 34.

SCHOOL ADDITION IS FORMALLY ACCEPTED

Building Committee Saves Money on Hollister Street School; Dist. Board Pleased.

In a letter written yesterday by Edward J. Murphy, clerk of the Eighth School and Utilities District the new addition to the Hollister street school was formally turned over to the officers of the Eighth District Schools.

The chairman of the school board, was formally told that the work had been done over by the district officers, the builder and the architect and that everything was found to be in fine condition.

The actual cost of the building of the new section was $58,705.15, but through the architect and the builder the trouble that has been experienced in the proposed heating of the school had been rectified by the building of a new flue and the rearrangement of the heating system.

The letter states that the committee finds the equipment carried out in detail and the district board is much pleased with the work that was done.

Both men are recognized as excellent speakers, assuring the 150 members of the Chamber who are expected to attend the meeting of an interesting evening.

C. H. Beam of 20 Phelps Road left this morning in a house automobile which he has built for himself on a trip that will take him to Florida and other points south.

This is not the first trip of this kind that he has taken as several years ago he built a house automobile and did considerable touring before coming to Manchester.

Early this fall he started to build the new house car and with it all completed he stocked up with provisions, as he will be able to do his own cooking while traveling, and has now started on the trip to the Sunny South.

OPEN FORUM EYE WITNESS TELLS OF ATTACK ATTEMPT

Mr. Metter Says There Was Evidence of Attack Intent in Monday Night Affair.

Editor of The Herald
Dear Sir:

Having read with interest the letter published in last night's Herald signed by Ray C. Pillsbury I feel it a duty, not only because of the peculiar situation in which it places me, but as a note of warning to all young girls and young women of the town, to clearly state what I saw on last Monday night.

Shortly after the Armistice parade was dismissed I walked from the Army and Navy club up Park street towards my home at 56 Chestnut street. A young girl, possibly fourteen or fifteen years was some fifty feet in advance of me. My attention was focused on her as she suddenly jumped to one side and ran as if trying to escape from something that had frightened her. As I reached the spot I noticed a man about 5 foot 7 inches tall, in a light overcoat and light cap, with his face turned away from me. I kept on walking towards my home as I had no reason to suspect this man of any violence, although I did have reason to believe that he was there for no good purpose.

About fifty feet beyond the point where I passed the man I passed Mrs. Pillsbury, although I did not recognize her at the time. Thinking of the man I had passed, I walked somewhat slower, half turning my head as she continued on up Park street.

Suddenly, Mrs. Pillsbury turned as she reached the man and came running back down Park street. She was very excited as she said: "Oh Mr. Metter, I am so glad it is you. That man back there grabbed me by the arm."

I did what any gentleman would do under the circumstances. I offered to take her home, which offer was accepted.

I am firmly convinced that an attack was attempted on both the young girl (who ran out of sight before she could be identified) and Mrs. Pillsbury. It was an ideal spot for such an attack. Park street is quite dark at this point and the woods and shrubbery of the Cheney estate on the south side of Park street is close to the street. Another thing, there were few people on the streets as the parade had just returned.

When I read of the assault on the two girls on Center street I did so with considerable skepticism. I wish to lend a note of warning, however, in respect to the affair of Monday night as I was an eye-witness and feel that the man who accosted the Gliglio and Sidwell girls on Nov. 11 is none other than the one who I saw attempting two such advances on Monday night.

Signed:
M. METTER.

OPENING STOCKS

New York, Nov. 14—(AP)—The Stock Market rallied sharply at the opening today under the impetus of reassuring news from Washington and action by the Exchange to curb short selling.

U. S. Steel opened with a block of 10,000 shares at 155, up 1/2. Radio opened with a block of 10,000 shares at 33, up 1/4. Union Carbide opened with a like block, up 4 5/8. A block of 20,000 shares of General Foods changed hands up 1/2, and a block of 30,000 General Motors, unchanged.

Safeway Stores was a soft spot, dropping 3 7/8.

Scores of issues were quickly bid up from 1 to 15 points as stocks were taken in blocks of 5,000 to 40,000 shares. The promise of the Washington administration of reductions in corporation and individual income taxes as evidence of its belief in the soundness of business conditions; the action of the exchange in demanding reports of short accounts, evidently to frighten any huge, destructive bear pool that may be operating, and the placing of an order last Wednesday for 1,000,000 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey at 50, with rumor that huge buying orders had been placed just under the market for other leading issues, were factors in the spectacular upturn.

General Electric opened with a block of 5,000 shares at 189, up 16; Public Service of New Jersey at 65 1/2, up 11; 10,000 American Can, 100 1/2, up 14 1/4; 4,000 Columbia Gas, 61 1/2, up 8; 40,000 of Standard of New Jersey, 89, up 8 1/4; Commercial Solvents, 30,000 shares at 31, up 9; New York Central, 500 at 167, up 7; 30,000 Standard Brands 28, up 7; Johns Manville, 105, up 10. American Telephone, Westinghouse, Union Carbide, Simmons, American Tobacco, Atchison, and Chesapeake and Ohio were among shares rising 1 to 5 points.

Girl Scout News State Conference.

The fall meeting of the Connecticut Girl Scouts will be held November 19 in the auditorium of the Stamford Gas and Electric Company, 431 Main street, Stamford, Conn. The morning session will open at 11 o'clock with Mrs. Clifford D. Perkins as chairman. There will be group singing of Girl Scout songs, roll call, secretary's and treasurer's reports, three-minute written reports from councils, community committees, and some troop captains. There will also be news from the Region by Mrs. Joseph Merritt, and report from National Convention by Mrs. Cavanaugh. At the afternoon session there will be a question box, and an address "What is Girl Scouting," by Mrs. Frederick Eddy, fifth vice-president, National Girl Scouts.

The November meeting of the Manchester Girl Scout Council was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frederick Snow, 225 Park street, with the following members present: Mrs. C. I. Balch, Mrs. John Pickles, Mrs. Robert Dewey, Mrs. Robert Hawley, Mrs. Clarence Quimby, Mrs. Stephen Hale, Mrs. Frederick Snow, Mrs. Louis Grant, Mrs. Nelson Smith, Mrs. John Winterbottom, Mrs. W. M. Brownell, Mrs. Norton, Mrs. Brownell, commissioner, and Mrs. Winterbottom, secretary, were appointed delegates to attend the state conference at Stamford. After adjournment, refreshments were served.

Officers' Association.
The November meeting of the Girl Scout Officers' Association took place on Wednesday, November 6, at the home of Mrs. Snow. Previous to the meeting, a delicious buffet supper was served. The meeting opened with the saying of the Girl Scout Promise and the reading of the Litany. After the reading of the secretary's and treasurer's reports a discussion took place concerning the having of a course in first aid. Mrs. Quimby wants orders for equipment once a month, about the 20th. It was decided that each Girl Scout troop will pay for her home service badge, but the troop will pay for the membership service stripe. Mrs. Snow asked the captains to have the buglers in their troops play assembly and taps at the troop meetings.

The December rally will be in charge of Troop 3; the January rally, of Troop 2; the contest game for the December rally will be observation, including seeing, hearing and feeling. Mrs. Reinartz spoke of her class for leaders, which will be held on Wednesday afternoons from two till four. Instructions in judging was given by Captain Buckland, and judging game was played. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Brownell, and first class signalling will be taken up with Mrs. Reinartz in charge.

November Rally.
This rally was in charge of Troop 7, Captain Buckland. It was opened by the bugle call "assembly" played by Suzanne Eaton, followed by an exhibition by the drum and bugle corps. After the formal opening ceremony, Philip Emery of the Manchester High school faculty gave a talk on nature lore. His talk brought out the fact that it is not necessary to go to distant places to study nature, but that it can be studied every day and at home, if the ability to observe is cultivated. He suggested playing nature games and starting nature museums, by troops or by individual Girl Scouts, and living outdoors as much as possible. As a Girl Scout grows older, she will gain a knowledge of nature is a resource to fall back on, to take the place of artificial excitement.

Mrs. Robert Hawley, chairman of the awards committee, presented the following badges: Suzanne Eaton, swimmer and observer; Betty Harvey, observer and scribe; Florence Henschel, scribe; Edith McComb, scribe; Shirley Richmond, scribe; Ruth Cheney, second class; Roberta Hanson, second class. Lois Wilcox was presented with the silver service stripe showing five years' membership in the Girl Scouts. The contest for the rally was a nature game, matching leaves, which was won by Troop 7. The November banner was presented to the troop by Mrs. Hawley. The meeting closed with formation of a circle and singing "taps," followed by the bugle call "taps" played by Phyllis Barrett.

Troop 2.
Each member of the troop is asked to bring a pencil with her to the meeting November 15, to give to the troop's equipment.

Troop 3.
Mrs. Reinartz, leader of Troop 3, gave a Halloween party for her Girl Scout troop at her home on Saturday, November 9. There were 25 present, and all except a few were in costume. They opened with a grand march. Prizes were awarded for the best costumes. These prizes were won by Florence Henschel and Anna Schmecheth. They were dressed as twins and won the admiration of all. Games were played, after which followed an entertainment, which consisted of a toe dance by Shirley Stevens and readings by Shirley Richmond. The party broke up at 10 o'clock, all enjoying an excellent time. Shirley Richmond, scribe.

Troop 6.
The meeting on November 11 was opened with horseshoe formation. The patrol meetings were held. Margaret Bushnell gave a little signal test to the older girls and the new girls practiced their knots. An observation game was played and also a relay race. We then had the goodnight circle and taps. Court of Honor was held. Barbara Stoltefeldt passed her second class table setting.

Troop 7.
An observation game was played, followed by patrol corners. Troop 7 won the banner at the rally. First and second class work was taken up. Elizabeth Colyott passed signalling. A note of thanks from the D. A. R. was read. There will be no meeting next Monday, November 18. Taps ended the meeting. Suzanne Eaton, scribe.

VARICOSE VEINS

Can Now Be Safely Reduced In Your Home

Why is it people are always so repulsed by unsightly Varicose Veins? Maybe it's because a physical defect is always offending and you'll have to admit there's nothing more distressing than to see a beautiful woman with shapely legs disfigured with thick, bulging veins and bunches!

But it's her own fault because the swift and effective way in which Moore's Emerald Oil has been stopping the pain of Varicose Veins and reducing the ugliest and most swollen veins to normal again—right in your own home, without the slightest inconvenience—is nothing short of magical.

A lady from Ogden writes:—"I had Varicose Veins so bad I couldn't even walk in comfort. The doctor said I had to be operated on but I read about Emerald Oil and tried it and in 3 days time it fixed me up—one bottle did the work."—Adv.

MANCHESTER CLUB ASKS BANK SURVEY

New Civic Organization Plans to Study Possibility of Starting One.

The name of the new civic club recently organized at the north end of the town is The Manchester Club. This was decided upon at the monthly meeting held at the Community club headquarters last night. By-laws were adopted and it was decided to make the dues five dollars a year.

A bank to be located on Depot Square was the principal subject before the meeting. The bank committee, appointed at a previous meeting of the club, suggested that it would be advisable to have a survey of the section of the town and immediate vicinity to be served, made by an expert. It was estimated that the cost would not be more than $200. This proposition was endorsed by the meeting and it is now up to the committee to start the job.

The Christmas lighting project was discussed at some length. It was the opinion of the meeting that the expense of the job should be borne by the community rather than the merchants alone. The meeting endorsed the work, and funds will be solicited from all the residents of the north end.

No written invitations have been sent out. The church calendar has carried the announcement of this reception which is for the purpose of getting better acquainted one with another. The committee earnestly hopes that all families who come under the above category and who consider the South Methodist their church home, will cooperate by their attendance tomorrow evening.

"toasting did it" —

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

An English auto manufacturer has announced a rust proof car to be manufactured in the near future. A plating has been devised, it is said, which will be applied to all metal parts of the body. This special coating will keep the metal from rusting.

"Came home coughing their heads off—"

Yet both my boys are hale and hearty in two days. George and Al went out to play football. They came home in the rain, both with a very bad cough. Believe me—I was scared, particularly for Al—he is not very strong. Immediately I put them to bed. Immediately I gave them a dose of Smith Brothers' Cough Syrup.

"Both boys slept fine that night. In two days they were well again—even Al didn't have a trace of cold." Mrs. A. Stone

Needless Pain!

Some folks take pain for granted. They let a cold "run its course." They wait for their headaches to "wear off." If suffering from neuralgia or from neuritis, they rely on feeling better in the morning. Meantime, they suffer unnecessary pain. Unnecessary, because there is an antidote. Bayer Aspirin always offers immediate relief from various aches and pains we once had to endure. If pain persists, consult your doctor as to its cause. Save yourself a lot of pain and discomfort through the many uses of Bayer Aspirin. Protect yourself by buying the genuine. Bayer is safe. Always the same. All drugstores.

POP!

Just as a persistent bearish trend in the stock market invariably produces a swarm of bucket shops whose proprietors pigeonhole their cash customers' buying orders in order of executing them and thrive fatly in the process, so a persistent bull market like that of the last five years inevitably gives birth to a swarm of corporations bearing high sounding names and doing, on a rather magnificent if thin-scale, an "investment" brokerage business.

When the bubble bull market collapses and the mahogany assets and a capital of beautiful faith go into the hands of receivers. The worst that is likely to happen to the bucketeer is enforced residence somewhere else. The worst likely to happen to the bull market "investment" peddlers and their salesmen is when they eat their automobiles and then go to work.

If anything is certain it is that we are in for a period of extensive liquidation of hot air finance companies. Perhaps a few of their promoters may go to jail, perhaps not. But the reports of their various explosions is likely to sound like a Chinese firecracker celebration for the next few months. There have already been some preliminary pops.

Such failures will mean nothing—nothing, that is, but ultimate good. The banks are sound. Business is sound. Industry is sound. And agriculture is a great deal more sound than its noisy champions in Congress would like to have us believe.

The only thing that is in the soup in this country is bunk finance, fake speculation, and the suckers. Six months from now the condition of this deflation, ought to be a great many per cent better than it ever has been since the settlement of Jamestown.

But it's going to be a hard time for the $30 a week boys who have been gleaming $300 or $3,000 out of the gear sully public—and blowing it in idiotic confidence that the game was going to last forever.

THEIR BUSINESS

Our sympathies are deeply enlisted by the effort of Mrs. Ruth M. Dadourian, wife of a Trinity professor, to have the Connecticut League of Women Voters place itself on record as denouncing the infiltration of the long skirt and restricted waist into the fashions of women's wear. It seems to us that the position taken by many of the members of the League that the subject was not a proper one for League action is quite mistaken.

To be sure, it is not a matter of government—the reason presented by the opponents of Mrs. Dadourian's resolution—but what of that? The capacity of women to fulfill the functions of citizenship, in all relations, is as much the concern of the League as any matter of law-making, we should think; and if the women of America allow themselves to be made puppets of by a handful of dress designers they will be falling very signally in their aim at complete emancipation. There are many states which still impose certain disabilities on women. Against these disabilities the League of Women Voters is a consistent battler. We should think it would be obvious enough that the chances of winning is going to be vastly less if the women of the country confess themselves to be a lot of silly sheep, led around by the nose by semi-idiotic fashion creators, than if they steadfastly adhere to the rational and esthetically intelligent costumes of the last few years.

Very decidedly, we should say, the effort to return women to the status of the 80's is a concern of the League.

POOR SUPPORT

Edwin L. James, Paris correspondent of the New York Times, foresees much antagonism to the Hoover plan of blockade immunity for food ships from various European quarters. He hasn't waited for the outcry to develop; he hears it before it is uttered—regretfully, to be sure, but, as those who follow his dispatches must be aware, inevitably.

Mr. James is an intelligent and informed correspondent, but if we had his temperament we'd trade it off, if we could, for a third-hand doormat and make a bonfire of the doormat. He is the sincerest little seeker after disappointments in all Europe. He is forever praying for the sun to shine in the profound conviction that it is going to keep on raining forever. We would like to set off a very big firecracker under him and give him something to weep about.

WRONG, MR. COX

We do not in the least agree with Publisher James M. Cox, who has ordered the editors of his several newspapers to take the stock market drama off the first page. Mr. Cox's explanation is that continued featuring of the daily developments in the market is liable to produce an artificial mass psychology that will damage general business. We believe him to be completely mistaken.

As a matter of fact the more deeply this lesson of the burst bubble is seared into the consciousness of the American public, the more fully the people are made to realize the hollowness and wickedness and folly of trying to make speculation the life business of a nation, the better for the future.

If Brother Cox were to devote as much energy to making the public understand that this smash of inflated stock prices is the finest thing for the real prosperity of the country that could have happened, and that a continuation of the bull market would have resulted in inevitable disaster, as he is displaying in soft-pedaling the news, he would be doing his readers and the nation at large a better service.

MUCH HIS OWN FAULT

To be a reserve officer in the Army Air Corps and also aviation editor of a big newspaper which demands that the news shall be told would appear to be quite incompatible jobs. First Lieutenant C. E. Allen has been trying to fill them both. Now he faces the reserve corps equivalent of a court martial and must face an "examining Board" because he has been writing articles which in effect criticize the War Department for the indifferent equipment and facilities afforded to the aviation reserve.

It is not suggested that officers of the army or navy shall go into public prints with any sort of criticism of their superiors. The justice or injustice thereof is a subject we do not care to tackle; it is a big and many sided question. But the futility of trying to be a publicist and a military officer at the same time is obvious. In this sense Mr. Allen has hardly anyone to blame but himself for his present plight. He should have cut his bonds when he took a newspaper job.

JACK RABBIT IDEA

The chances are that he who lives with his finger on the trigger of a six-gun shall end his days on the gallows or in jail. This Jeff Harris, who at 65 has been sentenced to fifty years in prison for shooting to death an unarmed and feeble man in the course of an Oklahoma rum raid, Harris being then a federal dry raider, has been "on his muscle" all his life. Town marshal, deputy sheriff, agent of cattlemen's protective association, posse man, etc., his business has been largely with the butt end of a revolver. Like a good many of his kind he had a rather casual outlook on the lives of his fellow beings. In the sober precincts of the Oklahoma state prison he may gradually arrive at the conclusion that the life of a human being is of more account than the life of a jack rabbit and that even a legalized gun toter has his responsibilities.

BIG NEWS AHEAD

There are some big news stories coming to the editors of the next decade or two. It is worth first page position now when announcement is made that a liner airplane is to be built in the United States capable of carrying 500 passengers and a crew of 100 from New York to London in six hours. But that is tame stuff compared with the bigness of the story when such a plane, with its company, crashes or tumbles into the sea. However, perhaps by that time the biggest story of all will be when some citizen dies a natural death.

ONE OF THE EFFECTS

When a Bridgeport mother took her three-year-old son to the Emergency hospital because he "kept falling down" a physician discovered that the tot was soured. It developed that a neighbor's little girl had introduced him to some stuff that her father had made in the cellar.

We hold no brief for the saloon, but at least it didn't leave its wares where infants could get at them.

TOPSY-TURVY PAINTINGS

A great deal has been written about that modernist picture which drew a $500 prize at the winter exhibition of the Academy of Design at New York though it was, as it afterward transpired, hung upside down. But not by us. We didn't even know that it wasn't altogether the usual thing to hang these pictures upside down. Almost all of them that we have seen looked just that way to us.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer

Washington, Nov. 14.—Prohibition has come along again to pile up a wad of news in Washington. It always does. Year in and year out it remains the liveliest of issues. The organized drys are now rowing among themselves over the merit of Senator Sheppard's proposed law to make liquor buying appointed Aaron Youngquist assistant attorney general to take over command of prohibition enforcement eventually. George L. Cassidy, the "Man in the Green Hat," has been arrested again for selling liquor to the Senate office building. Washington cops are raiding Washington bootleggers oftener than usual and an attempt is being made to dry up the capital. Senator Brookhart of Iowa decided to tell the grand jury all about a party given for a large group of senators in 1926 at which liquor and gift-flasks were handed out.

It's Rather Old Stuff Well, all of this has a familiar ring.

The drys were fighting among themselves on the proposal to make the liquor buyer a criminal when they wrote the Volstead act. There would have been more of a fight if Wayne B. Wheeler hadn't put his foot down on it. Youngquist is just one more of a series of men who have been given command of prohibition enforcement—great things were expected of some of them. George L. Cassidy was arrested several years ago after he had dropped and smashed some liquor in the same Senate office building. Washington cops have been raiding Washington bootleggers in sporadic drives for years and all kinds of promises and threats have been made to dry up the town. The dinner referred to by Brookhart was described, flasks and all, by your correspondent two or three years ago, so that story isn't anything very new, either.

Of course there is some possibility of a change in some direction sooner or later. When and if the enforcement of prohibition is taken over by the Treasury Department and given to the Justice Department it may make some difference, though no one knows whether it will be for better or for worse. Also there is just one chance that the president's law enforcement commission spending much time and effort in investigating the enforcement problem, may some time make a recommendation of importance. But meanwhile the status quo continues. The organized drys are just as strong in Congress and the organized wets just as weak. The price of gin remains the same.

The business of making a model town out of Washington is an old habit. Congress is the District of Columbia's city council and it likes to try things out on the dog. The president is, in effect, the mayor. Various congressmen and senators have from time to time made political capital with their constituents by raving on the floor about local sins and iniquity. Conditions here are better than in most cities of the size, but somehow the idea is that Washington ought to be a spotless town and set up as an example for the rest of the country.

Good Food Is Scarcer The only effects of the latest "model city" drive which anyone appears to have noticed are the closing up of two of the very few

MORE ABOUT GAINING WEIGHT

Often underweight people are troubled with mental outlooks which keep them thin. They may get into such a habit of externally worrying over little things that they cannot avoid, and will invent something to worry about if necessary. One who is continually thinking "I just know something wrong is going to happen—am looking for it any minute now," is just in the frame of mind which prevents a normal digestion of food. Those who are tangled up with domestic troubles and don't know how to obtain harmony in the home also come under this class. There is usually one martyr in every family who waits upon all the others and agonizes over intake of things that they never who must sit up after the others to see that the lights are out and the doors closed, and get up early in the morning to look after the breakfast table.

Some people are underweight because they prefer soups, coffees, teas and other liquid things, consequently they indulge in a taste for these articles. It is not so much that these items of food are bad as that they take up room in the stomach which should belong to the more nourishing and solid things. When one wishes to drink liquid it is better to do so between meal-time rather than start at the beginning of a meal. One cannot gain by doubling the food intake, although one may lose by cutting it in half. All we get when we try to eat twice as much is indigestion and biliousness.

Some people become so excited and nervous that they get into the habit of nervous eating enough at mealtime. Nervous children sometimes often come under this class, as are the millions of shop girls and office workers who cannot miss their luncheon quite cheerfully and feel no hunger whatever. Nature, always obliging, knows the full capacity of the stomach, and, if it is not being used, it accordingly makes the size of the stomach smaller, after which these people when eating a full meal, feel overcrowded and too full because the stomach does not stretch to its normal proportions.

Often patients find that the addition of citrus fruits and green vegetables to the diet causes a gain in weight even though these foods are not intended as weight builders. However, they do help by balancing the diet with mineral salts and vitamins without which the complete assimilation of food in the body is impossible.

There is a paradox connected with underweight and that is that often the best way to gain weight is first to lose some. By this, I mean underweight people

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Bladder Tear

Question: M. J. asks:—"What a tear in the bladder he in time, or is it necessary to operate? Will a method of treatment would you suggest to help the condition?" Answer:—"The cure of the condition mentioned in your letter depends entirely upon the extent of the tear. The best thing to do would be to place the patient on a diet of orange juice for four or five days. However, not much water should be given during this time. If it is going to heal it will heal within a few days."

Orange-Milk Combination

Question: H. J. J. asks:—"Are graham crackers with milk and orange juice a good combination for breakfast?" Answer:—"Milk and orange juice is a good combination for breakfast, fast, or to be taken in place of any other meal of the day; but graham crackers or other starchy foods should not be used with this orange-milk combination."

Poliomyelitis

Question: Mrs. W. G. writes:—"My children have been exposed at school to infantile paralysis. One of the pupils having recently died. Will you please tell me the symptoms that I must be on the lookout for? My children have just gotten over scarlet fever, having followed your advice through this disease." Answer:—"The incubation period of acute poliomyelitis, or infantile paralysis is from three to ten days, so if your children have been exposed to this disease it is unlikely that the children have contracted this disease. The first symptoms of the disease are drowsiness, irritability, digestive disturbances, fever, twitching and jerking, usually usually stiffness of the neck and back."

BISHOP ANDERSON TAKES HIS OFFICE

Chicago Cleric Heads Episcopal Bishops—Bishop Burleson, Assistant.

Washington, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—A dynamic exponent of the separation of church and state—the Right Reverend Charles P. Anderson of Chicago—today took office as presiding bishop of the Episcopal church.

The bishop of the Chicago Diocese will serve the two years remaining of the terms of Bishop John Gardner Murray of Maryland, who died before the altar of St. James church in Atlantic City October 3.

Bishop Anderson's election came on the sixteenth ballot of the House of Bishops, and as his first official act, he appointed the Right Reverend Hugh H. Burleson, bishop of South Dakota, as his assistant.

In an address before the forty-ninth triennial convention of the church in Washington during the heat of the presidential campaign last year, Bishop Anderson favored sectionalism and intolerance, and then declared:

His Views
"Whenever the church spends its energies on social and political reforms, or undertakes to fight the world's political and social battles by using the world's weapons, or identifies itself with the world in hope of producing a glorified human society by external pressure, the result will inevitably be a loss of morals."

"It is beginning at the wrong end," he said. "It is patching up the machinery of society which may work today and break down tomorrow, instead of reconstructing the motives of men."

Bishop Anderson, who is 65, was born in Ontario province, Canada.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Trenton, N. J.—Contending that disappointment over lack of a son caused her father to bequeath $700,000 to found a school, Mrs. Anne Culbertson Collins of Camden is contesting the will. The will stipulated that income be added to the principal until the fund reached $327,000,000 and then there be established a school for physical, moral, intellectual and religious training in keeping with the Quaker faith. The testator, John J. Albertson, once county engineer, left $1,000,000.

New York—An announcement by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Iselin says the engagement of their daughter Louise to Count Leonard Mercati has been broken by mutual consent. The engagement was announced in September. The Mercatis—a Greek nobleman—is employed in the Paris office of American bankers. Miss Iselin is a member of the Junior League.

LAST NIGHT OF ARLISS TALKING FILM 'DISRAELI'

"The Sophomore" Coming to the State Tomorrow, Said to Be a Roaring Comedy.

George Arliss, in the screen's foremost talking picture "Disraeli," will be seen for the last time tonight at the State Theater.

Eddie Quillan and Sally O'Neil in the brilliant story of college life "The Sophomore," head the new program for Friday and Saturday. Discriminating fans will find much to quench their thirst for real comedy when they see the "Sophomore." This humorous story of college life has proved itself to be one of the most popular pictures of the season. Eddie Quillan, who got his first chance in the movies in Mack Sennett comedies, is the ideal, wise-cracking college boy type—an exaggerated college boy to be sure, but nevertheless convincing. Sally O'Neil proves that the talkies are her forte. Her voice is excellent. Her sparkling personality loses none of its pep and charm with the addition of sound. One of the highlights of the picture comes when the hero is sent in at a crucial moment of a tremendous football game, and—doesn't win the game. All the tragedy, thrills and humor in the life of the average college lad are embraced in the story of "The Sophomore."

The program also includes Lupino Lane in the all-talking comedy "Shipmates," the Vitaphone acts "Bob Nelson" and "Ersi and Mayer," and the latest screen news.

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

BUCHANAN ELECTED.

Today is the 72d anniversary of the election of James Buchanan to the presidency of the United States on Nov. 14, 1857.

The electoral vote was: for Buchanan, 174; for John C. Fremont, 114; for Millard Fillmore, 8. Buchanan had the vote of every slaveholding state, except Maryland, which went for Fillmore. The vote also gave him Indiana, Illinois, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

In the executive chair, Buchanan was apparently subservient to southern politicians and allowed their threats of secession to influence his actions. After Lincoln's election, Buchanan was more than ever anxious to stifle the slavery discussion and in his last message to Congress pointedly charged the north with having brought about the existing crisis by a discussion which had "produced its malign influence on the slaves, and inspired them with a vague idea of freedom."

While holding that the states had no right to secede, he said that the nation had no power to prevent it.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By Herbert Plummer

Washington—Sometimes it takes more than the sharp rap of Charlie Curtis' gavel to remind United States senators that they have strayed from the path of parliamentary law.

Especially has this been true in the bitter tariff war now being waged. During heated moments of debate, senators have detoured in all directions. The chair is powerless to call them back. For once on their feet the distinguished gentlemen may talk as long as they care to, and on whatever subject they please.

The other Senator Shortridge, republican of California, and Senator King, democrat of Utah, locked horns in debate. Both are members of the senate's finance committee and both have had a lot to say on the subject of tariff.

King had returned to the "reactionary element" in the republican party. Shortridge challenged him, and called upon King to give a specific definition of the word "reactionary."

Sarcasm
Before permitting King to answer, Shortridge proceeded to review American history for several periods. He was waxing strong and mighty in his argument against being called a reactionary when Senator Norris of Nebraska arose and asked if he might interrupt the speaker.

"I have listened with great interest," Norris said with that familiar twinkle in his eye, "to the detailed account of the various phases of American history which the distinguished senator from California has given us."

"Would it be too much to ask the Senator to give the senate an explanation of his views on the Einstein theory?"

That stopped the debate.

Hoover Trip Filmed
President Hoover will have ample opportunity to recall his goodwill tour of South America in the years ahead if he so desires.

An eight-reel film depicting every important phase of this trip has been completed. Newspapersmen were given a private showing of the film recently.

And now the President has added to his library a specially prepared log of the tour.

It is a 100-page volume, and came from Capt. Victor A. Kimberly and the officers and crew of the U. S. S. Maryland, which carried the President's party southward from San Pedro, Calif., to Valparaiso, Chile, last year.

The book printed on fine gloss paper, is artistically bound and filled with photographs by the ship's photographers depicting all phases of the trip. Many of the pictures show the deck pastimes, with several pages devoted to the Neptune day ceremonies when the battleship crossed the equator with its cargo of "pollywogs."

Maud Parker, divorced wife of Richard Washburn Child, one-time American ambassador to Italy, has a serial story appearing in a current magazine which is furnishing plenty of fuel for tea table gossip in Washington.

The capital and staid old Georgetown are used as the setting. The story apparently aims to show the party scene here plays in the workings of international compacts and the like.

My Favorite Bible Passage

Today's Choice by JUDGE FRANKLIN CHASE HOYT

Presiding Justice of the Children's Court of New York City

I delivered the poor that cried, and the fatherless, and him that had none to help them. . . . The cause which I knew not I searched out.—Job 29:12, 16.

Comment
"This passage has proved of great help to me in my work among neglected and delinquent children." (Compiled by the Bible Guild.)

Friday: Franklin D. Roosevelt, governor of New York.

SIMPLE, ISN'T IT.

Kansas City, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—A solution of the social difficulties of Dolly Curtis Gann and Mrs. Alice Longworth would be a simple matter if the principals would but accept a suggestion to be made to President Hoover by the Murray Davis Post of the American Legion here.

The Legionnaires last night drafted a letter to the president suggesting: "Simply have the two ladies flip a coin for place at each dinner. That will be fair to both of them."

SPORTS EDITOR DIES

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Benjamin Franklin Frint, sports editor of the Morning Telegraph for 28 years until his retirement a month ago, died at his home at Long Island City this morning. He was 65 years old. He was born in St. Louis, and is survived by his wife.

PUTS MARKET NEWS ON INSIDE PAGES

Publisher Says There is Too Much Prominence Given to Financial News.

Dayton, O., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Ex-Gov. James M. Cox, of Ohio, owner of a group of newspapers in the north and south has issued orders to his publications to take all Stock Market news off the first page. Asked why he did it he said: "The purpose is obvious. The buying of stocks in the market, or if you want to call it, speculation, is a minor and incidental thing in the life of the country. The emphasis we have given it makes it appear that more people are interested than in our normal pursuits. The inevitable reaction came. It is nearly if not quite over and yet all of our newspapers are filling the public mind with the idea of disaster. This can easily develop a physiological condition harmful to the general interest."

Cites Distinction
"There is a distinction between journalistic enterprise and sensational squeezing, without regard to consequences, the last atom out of a dramatic event. The operations of the Stock Market should be set back in their proper department, but of course without suppression of fact or development. The great masses of the people who are not involved can pursue uninterrupted their course in commerce. Otherwise the impression will grow that we are on the verge of a serious industrial depression. What is not in any sense justified by fundamental conditions now, can be created by widespread timidity or fear. The impressions of the country in this active age are on a very sensitive center, and the newspapers are in a position to render great benefit to create serious injury."

"My thought as publisher was to help our public forget the panic which has been in no small degree mental with the holders of securities and let the country go to work. For more than a year the general efficiency of business has been below par because of a speculative obsession."

RAINBOW DANCES

The usual Thursday night dance at The Rainbow will be featured tonight with Bill Waddell's Orchestra, fresh from a series of dance triumphs in various sections of Hartford county. A large number attend these Thursday night dances at The Rainbow each week, evidence of their popularity.

The quality of The Commanders is reflected in the increased crowds that are attending Saturday night dances at this popular ballroom at Bolton, attracted by the superior brand of music that is provided by this splendid orchestra and Saturday night the 16th a special program of latest dance hits will be featured by The Commanders, who have been engaged to furnish the music for the Fireman's Ball at Cheney Hall, Thanksgiving Eve. Mr. Pinney thus early is making preparations for a gala night New Year's Eve, with the annual ball at the dance palace and vaudeville and music at The Inn. Reservations are now being made for the date and the biggest affair ever held at The Rainbow is being planned on an elaborate scale.

Sonnenberg Beats Lewis; Joe McGinnity Is Dead

Tumor Operation Fatal To Iron Man McGinnity

Famous Baseball Pitcher for Brooklyn and Giants Passes Away In Hospital; 32 Year Career.

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—Joe McGinnity, one time "iron man" of the pitching staff of the New York Giants, died at the home of his daughter in Brooklyn today. He was 58 years old.

He had been critically ill since last August when he failed to rally after an operation for the removal of a tumor.

His baseball career extended over 32 years, beginning in Montgomery, Ala., in 1893, and ending only four years ago in Dubuque, Iowa, where he was players-manager he pitched twenty games at the age of 53.

He was first called the "Iron man" when as a member of the Brooklyn team he pitched in seven days winning the pennant for the team.

He joined the big leagues in Baltimore in 1899 and continued as one of the foremost pitchers of his day for almost ten years. He came to Brooklyn in 1900 when a reduction of the National League circuit from twelve to eight clubs brought about a merger of the two teams.

At the start of the 1901 season he joined the Baltimore Americans, then under the guidance of John J. McGraw, and when McGraw a year later came to New York to lead the New York Giants, he came with him. He remained with McGraw during the remainder of his Major League days.

McGinnity figured prominently in the giant pennant victories of 1904 and 1905 and divided two games in the 1905 World Series against the Athletics. In June of 1904 he strengthened his claim to fame by winning three double-headers. The triumphs of 1905, however, marked the peak of his success, although he remained with the Giants until 1908. He went with Newark the following year and thereafter played on numerous minor league teams until his retirement.

SEC. MELLON EXPLAINS POINT WITH A STORY

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—Secretary Mellon today used an old joke to illustrate his denial that interests with which he is associated in Pittsburgh were connected with the reported bid in New York yesterday for 1,000,000 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey at $50 a share.

At Mr. Mellon's press conference he was told of rumors that the bid came from Pittsburgh and the conclusion that no one save those he was associated with could have handled such a block of stock.

The secretary of the Treasury laughed. "An old darkey," he said, "was once asked if he could change a $100 bill and replied: 'No, suh, but thank you for de compliment.'"

"And that," smiled Mr. Mellon, "is my position in regard to the report."

Town Series Grid Talk

BY TOM STOWE.

Coach Tom Kelley says the Cubs are going to play offensive football from the very beginning in their series opener with the Majors Sunday. While he has not yet announced his starting lineup, the former Bates College star made it plain that he would have scoring backs, offensive ends and a hard charging line in action at the opening kickoff.

The Major's coach, Jack Dwyer intimated that his tactics would be just the opposite. He plans to start his so-called shock troops and keep them under fire until the right moment comes to launch a sure-fire slashing offense. Then his regulars will trot into the fray pronto. The Majors figure to finish stronger than the Cubs the same as the Cloverleaves did in the first game last year.

"I will have no alibi to offer if the Cubs beat us," Dwyer said yesterday "only words of praise for the winners and their coach. Of course, I don't expect they are going to beat us, but football is a funny game. One can't always tell what the future holds in store."

Walter Moske is the only member of the Majors who will see very little service in the series because of injuries. He hurt his knee early in the season and the injury was aggravated when he tried to play again a couple of weeks ago. All of the others are in satisfactory condition, Dwyer reports.

Assistant Manager Pete Happeny of the Cubs is having a hard time denting a cub bear to be used as a mascot for the south end team during the series. It seems that the goat has really died after all. Whether it was that green Duco or not, we don't profess to know.

One thing seems certain about the forthcoming bruising championship settes and that is both the Cubs and Majors will be up against the best opposition they have faced all season long. It has been next to impossible to get a fair example of the maximum ability of either contender for the town honors, because most of their opponents have been soft picking.

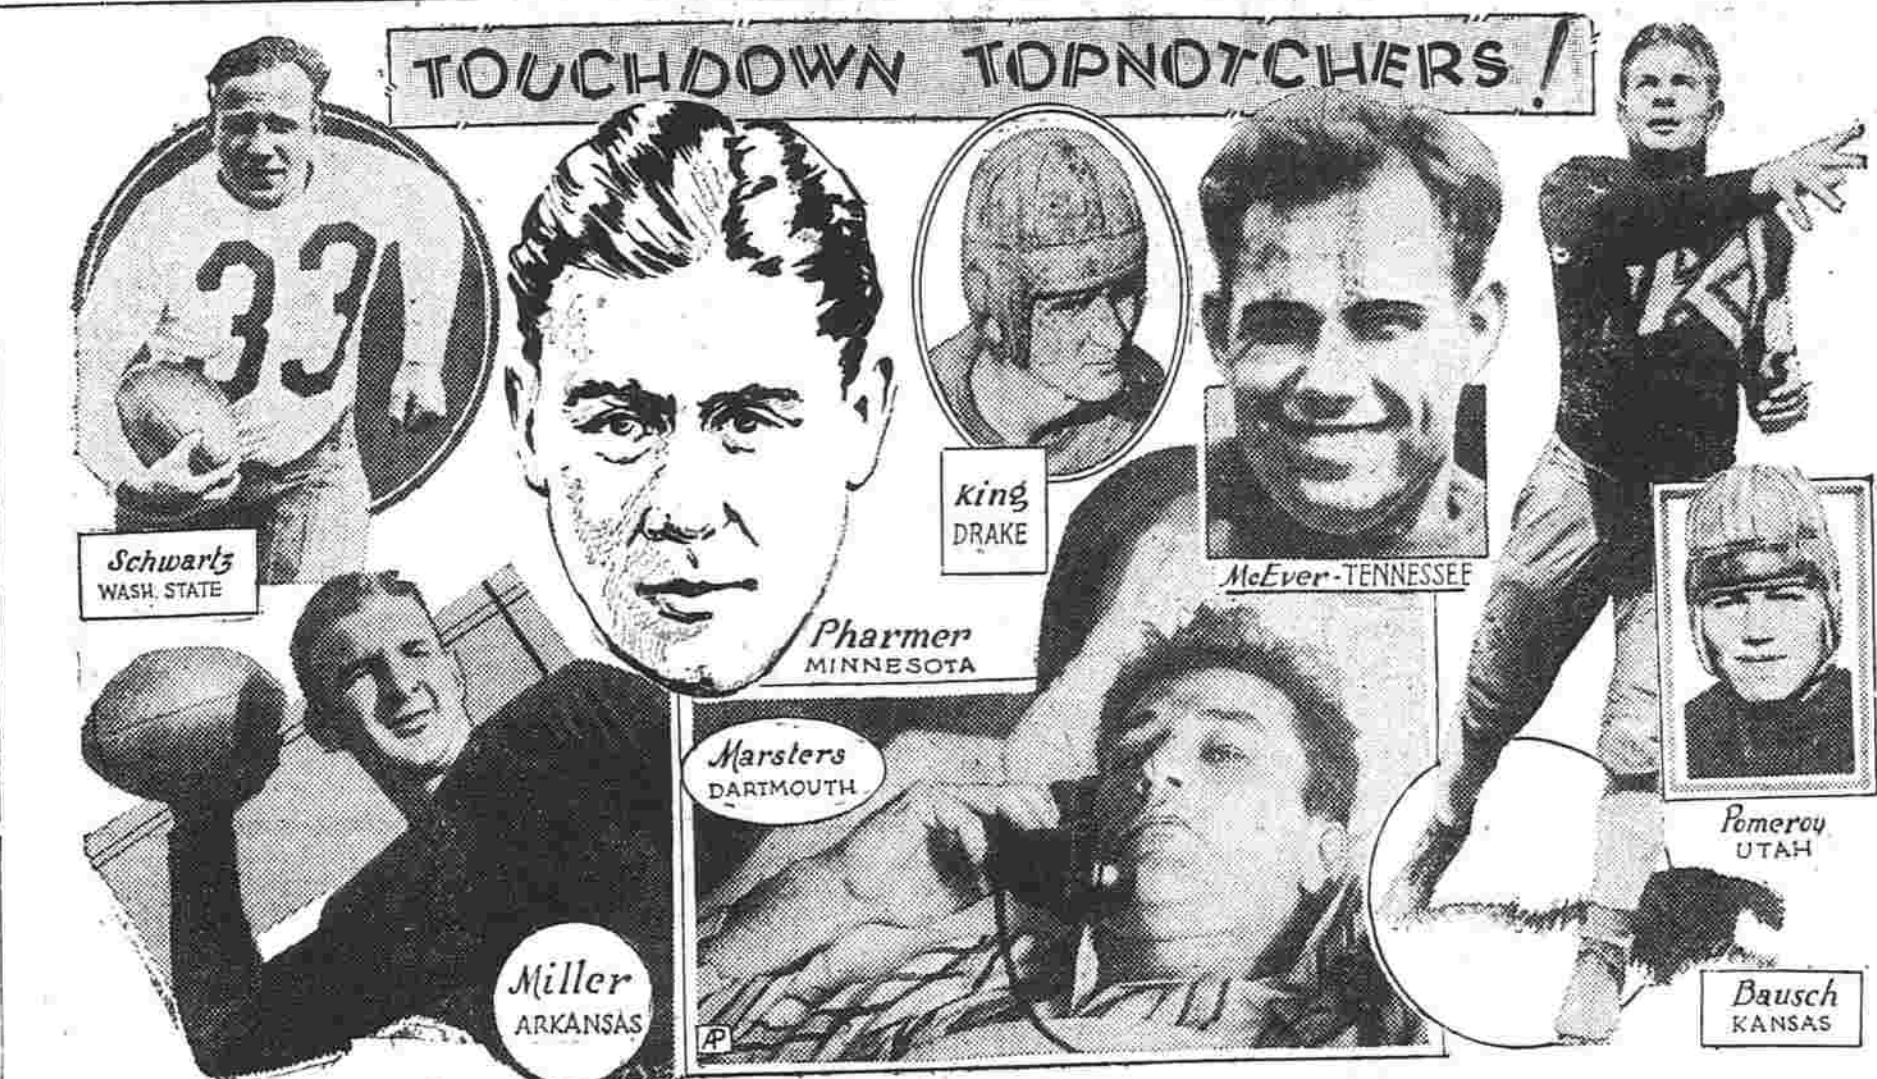

Dr. Moran, president of the Majors, calls up over the phone with the request that we do not use pictures of Jack Dwyer and Pete Happeny on the same night because he fears it would leave no room for anything else on the page.

Manager Bill Griffin of the Majors reports that his team will hire the services of a band for the second game of the series at Hickey's Grove a week from Sunday and hopes that the Cubs will do the same for the opening tussle. However, so far at least, no such action has been taken by the champions, it is understood.

The Cubs maintain that they should have beaten the Cloverleaves the first year they met for the town title as well as the last two years. They refer to the scoreless tie game at Hickey's back in 1925 when Billy Wolfrom, the slowest runner on the south end team picked up a fumble with a clear field and only about 30 yards to go. It seemed a sure touchdown but Walter Moske overtook the unfortunate Wolfrom from the rear and thud the Cloverleaves held on downs. They went on to win the next game 19 to 0.

If psychology means anything, the Majors will have some advantage over the Cubs in the fact that their coach, Jack Dwyer, has never lost a town football series in his 15 odd years of experience. He has led both north and south teams to victory. On three occasions he piloted the old Pirate team to the championship and directed the Cubs to the same pinnacle two years in succession before they dropped him in favor of Kelley. Last year Dwyer coached the North Ends who were the best junior team in existence here and assisted Jerry Fay on the Cloverleaves in the series. However, the latter could not be chalked up as a defeat for him as he was not the sole boss.

But regardless of every other fact, the one that stands out most glaringly all is that Manchester boasts two mighty good football teams, each directed by a highly efficient coach and every indication points to a corking good series brimming over with a very entertaining and satisfying brand of football.

Here are the high point scorers for the various major conferences. They lineup as follows: East—Marsters, Dartmouth, 198; South—McEver, Tennessee, 91; Pacific Coast—Schwartz, Washington State, 72; Southwest—Miller, Arkansas, 66; Missouri Valley—King, Drake, 52; Big Ten—Pharnor, Minnesota, 49; Rocky Mountain—Pomeroy, Utah, 42; Big Six—Bausch, Kansas, 24—Marsters, out for the season because of an injury received in the Yale game, is shown above listening to a radio report of the Dartmouth-Brown game which the Big Green won.

Night Football Success Despite Rainy Weather

Over 3,000 Persons Brave Steady Drizzle to Watch Meriden Game; Ball Visible at All Times.

BY THOMAS W. STOWE

Night football received its baptism in this section of Connecticut last night at Meriden and proved a decided success despite very unsatisfactory weather conditions. A steady drizzle fell throughout the game between the Meriden Insilcos and Bristol Maple Ends which ended with the Silver City eleven overcoming a 6-0 halftime lead to emerge a 22-6 winner.

More than 3,000 persons braved the elements to watch the novel attraction, several hundred coming from out of town. Among those from Manchester were William Griffin, manager of the Majors, Arthur St. John, halfback of the Cubs, and Lawrence Gaskell. The slippery field and wet ball were a decided handicap to the players but there were surprisingly few fumbles.

It was very easy to see the players and follow the ball at all times. A white football was used which accounts for a good share of the visibility in that respect. A brown ball would have been next to impossible to see but the white one stood out very plainly as it sailed through the air silhouetted against the jet black and clouded sky overhead. Players were able to follow the ball on punts almost as easily as in broad day light.

Six large flood lights stood on top of electric light poles on one side of the field and five were on the other. None were installed on the ends because the glare would blind the players too much. In fact this was about the only uncomfortable condition from a standpoint of the spectators strung along the sides of the field. The onlookers were forced to face the steady glare of the strong flood lights at all times while watching the game.

However, this is a trivial discomfort. The weather was not too cold last night to take away the enjoyment of watching the game. The Insilco management plans to continue its night football games and will play again next Wednesday night. Manager Bill Gaffney of the Insilcos said that the cost of installing the lights would run into several hundred dollars but that the actual cost of electricity used during a game was surprisingly low.

Whether or not night football would be practical in Connecticut, I am not prepared to say after watching only one game and that under such weather conditions as last night. Offhand, I would venture the opinion that many October and No-

NIGHT TENNIS BEING PLAYED AT COLGATE.

Hamilton, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Decision by Andy Kerr, head football coach at Colgate, to discontinue football practice by floodlight because he could accomplish all the work necessary under his system before darkness, has given to Colgate tennis devotees the entire floodlight apparatus for night play on the courts. The lights originally were erected about one of the practice gridirons so that Coach Kerr could continue football drills into darkness. This season he declared they were not needed, so instead of scrapping the lights, William R. Reid, graduate manager of athletics, had them transferred to the tennis courts, where many students are finding the night play a popular pastime.

RIOTS IN MEXICO

Mexico City, Nov. 14 (AP)—Six persons were wounded and others badly mauled in political rioting last night a short distance from the national palace. At Oaxaca City troops restored order after two persons had been killed and several wounded in a political riot. The trouble started when followers of Jose Vasconcelos, anti-re-electionist presidential candidate, attacked the headquarters of Pascual Ortiz Rubio, his rival.

Leaves No Doubt as to Which Is Better Man; Flying Tackle Works Perfectly Except Once.

Los Angeles, Nov. 14 (AP)—Gus Sonnenberg retained his heavyweight wrestling championship here last night by winning two out of three falls from Ed "Strangler" Lewis in a return match.

The champion's flying tackle was working better than in the meeting between the two here recently, in which Lewis claimed Sonnenberg tackled him while his back was turned, after he thought the champion had been disqualified.

Both the champion's falls last night were recorded by way of the flying tackle route. Sonnenberg missed one tackle near the end of the match and fell into the press box. He returned to the ring in 15 seconds.

20,000 Persons To See Corn Husking Contest

Platte City, Mo., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Down in the fertile Missouri river bottoms of Platte county approximately 20,000 persons will gather tomorrow to watch a sporting event. There will be no stadium, no cheer leaders, no pennants or colors, but excitement will be at fever heat along the sidelines and 23 radio stations will carry the play-by-play to millions of persons. It's the sixth annual "world series of the corn fields"—the national corn husking contest.

Most of the twelve contestants have a liberal sprinkling of gray hairs, for the art of bouncing 'em off the bang-board at record speeds comes only with arduous years in the field. All are state champions, or runners-up in state contests. They are the very cream of the "tail corn" states.

Represented in the field and in the thousands of spectators will be Indiana, Minnesota, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri.

STEVENS SAYS ALBIE BOOTH WILL START AGAINST TIGERS

Roper Sends Princeton Squad Through Secret Practice for Big Classic at Bowl Saturday.

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Most eastern eleven football work and a tapering off drill tomorrow for the traditional games which dot Saturday's card. Almost all got their hard work for the week finished in yesterday's rain from Maine to Maryland. An exception to the general rule was Yale which had no scrimmage and which may go through at least a dummy drill at New Haven this afternoon as final preparation for Princeton's invasion of the bowl on Saturday.

Mal Stevens still expects to start Albie Booth against the Tigers, a departure from the season long policy of withholding the toy bulldog for a climax effort. Bill Roper gave the Tigers secret practice yesterday and a large part of the drill was devoted to developing a defense against Booth.

Cornell and Dartmouth finished their hard work for a game against each other on Saturday and Cornell prepared for the long hike into Hanover. Colgate and Syracuse had a drill in fundamental preparation for Saturday's clash in Archbold Stadium.

Charley Crowley still was unable to muster full strength for the invasion of Baker Field by Pennsylvania. Columbia's line remains shaken from the losses of the Colgate fray.

Harvard faces only a light drill today as final preparation for a Holy Cross eleven which is preparing to give the Crimson a lot of trouble. Holy Cross can shoot the works but Harvard must hoar its resources for its game against Yale.

THEY'RE BOTH RIGHT—HOORAY!

Now and then you come across a dispute in which both sides have strong arguments. Such seems to be the case in the current Army-Navy quarrel. The average innocent bystander hardly knows which side to step in and slug with.

The Army takes the position that nobody else is kicking against its eligibility rule, so why should the Military Academy allow the Naval Academy to tell it where to get off? Athletics for all is the West Point standard.

The Navy seems to take the stand that it does not care for pitched battles with some very, very experienced players, some of whom have played at other colleges and universities for several years before matriculating at West Point. The Navy offered compromises, which spokesmen for the Army deemed attempts for parity rather than eligibility.

PITTSFIELD NOW IN HOCKEY LOOP

Hartford, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Announcement was made today that the Brooklyn franchise in the American Roller Hockey League had been transferred to Pittsfield, Mass. The opening game will be played at Pittsfield next Tuesday night when the Albany club will furnish the opposition. Arthur E. Lives, who has managed three championship fives in as many years in the American League, will handle the players.

ASK FOR ACCOUNTING OF CLUB'S FINANCES

Minority Stockholders of Giants Wish to Know How $410,000 Was Spent.

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Fourteen minority stockholders have had summons served upon Charles A. Stoneham, president and Leo J. Bondy, treasurer, demanding a court accounting of $410,000 disbursed by the National Exhibition Co. to its president between 1919 and 1926. The company operates the National League baseball team.

The minority group is headed by Wm. F. Kenny, wealthy contractor, who a year ago purchased a one-fifth interest in the club. Admitting that the disbursements were made as alleged, Bondy said public accountants found the books in order when Kenny purchased his stock. Most of the payments, the treasurer added, represented returns to the club president of sums he had advanced the ball club without interest.

Bondy said Stoneham would not sell his interests in the company nor purchase minority interests at exorbitant prices.

SAFER THAN THEY SEEM.

Impatience always has stood in the way of the average driver's safety, especially in the matter of applying the brakes. If his car does not seem to start to stop suddenly when he steps on the brakes in an emergency he reaches for the hand brake and often stops too quickly for the equilibrium of the car.

It is important to keep in mind the fact that as the car starts to stop, and as it loses momentum, it keeps stopping at an increasingly higher rate. While it may seem that the brakes are going to be inadequate when they are first applied a moment of patience and faith will demonstrate that they are more than equal to the task.

Figure that the car will stop more rapidly the nearer it gets to the danger point and you won't be tempted to become panic-stricken.

Motor Hints

Timely Suggestions on the Care of the Car by the Automobile Club of Hartford.

HIGH COMPRESSION WARNING

Owners of extremely high compression engines, those carrying "red heads" and the like, should be careful to use anti-knock fuel and to have carbon removed at customary intervals. They cannot afford to follow the policy of the user of lower compression who lets carbon accumulate and who finds the arrangement efficient so long as he uses anti-knock gas.

Some of the high compression engines allow a clearance of only 1-32 inch between pistons and cylinder head. Just a little carbon will raise compression to a point where knocking will occur even with the most modern fuel available.

As yet there is no "super anti-knock" fuel. If a motorist wants high compression performance all the time and without knocking he must use anti-knock gas and remove carbon whenever knocking commences.

BRAKES THAT GO "SOFT."

Brakes that get "soft" and that reveal the ability to "come back" again need special watching. The indications are that the efficiency of the brake lining varies.

Many owners with this sort of trouble wrongly suspect the braking system. Obviously if there were anything wrong with the braking system itself it would not be likely to show improvement without making some adjustment to it.

In most cases where brakes vary so mysteriously it will be found that in trying to cure the brakes of the habit of squeaking some mechanic has put on too much anti-squeak. Of he may have worked some graphite in the lining. He may even have gone so far as to use a lining that is squeakless but inefficient.

OIL LEAKS AT WHEELS.

Having oil leak out the rear axles at the brake drums is bad enough without being able to find the remedy for the trouble. Where washers on the outside of the axle bearings become worn rapidly it is logical to suspect that the wheel fits too close, but where these washers are in good condition yet leak oil it is well to look deeper into the trouble.

There are thrust washers at other points in the rear axle assembly and these sometimes leak to such an extent that they place too heavy a burden on the washers at the axle ends. Another common cause of oil leakage is the use of too much lubricant in the rear axle or too thin a lubricant.

In one make, and it is not an isolated case, the lubricant in the transmission can work down through the propeller shaft tube, past a universal joint and into the rear axle. This happens when washers along the line are worn or broken. The rear axle then has an over-supply of oil and seeks relief at the wheels.

GREASE MAKES THEM TIGHT.

After greasing the car one naturally feels like inspecting various parts, but it is more practical to do the inspecting first.

Take the front wheels, for instance. Most motorists will repack the hubs with fresh cup grease and then shake the wheels to see if they are loose. With grease packed into the bearings it is natural that any looseness is harder to detect.

Sometimes grease makes loose parts seem tight. But this is only a temporary condition and, in the case of wheels, means danger.

Try the wheel bearings for looseness before lubricating. The same rule applies to checking over the spring bolts and shackles as well as various connections of the steering and tie rods.

BIG JOB BUT NO RESULTS.

Recently a car owner found that his battery was badly in need of water. The cells were nearly dry and the plates were about to buckle.

When he had put in an unusually large amount of water he complained himself upon having done an exceptionally good job. Naturally he was surprised to find that his reward was a dead battery.

The story illustrates the point that a lot of work is not always productive of exceptional results. Usually it works the other way. In the case of the battery the large amount of water added reduced the acidity of the electrolyte in the cells to the vanishing point. The battery could not operate on so weak solution and, lacking the addition of acid, promptly quit.

A little water and acid would have produced better results than an excess of water and no acid.

SERVICE for the MOTORIST

BY ISRAEL KLEIN
Science Editor, NEA Service

Motorists have asked me more than once why airplanes have to be equipped with an engine of differing design from that of the automobile engine. To them it seems that the automotive power plant might do just as well for the airplane or that the more powerful aircraft engine might enhance the performance of the automobile.

Here, however, are two entirely different types of transportation each requiring its own peculiar means of motive power. Their requirements are such that each engine is efficient only in its place and would be altogether useless if transferred.

The basic difference between automotive and aircraft engines lies in the order of their requirements. Both types, of course, have exactly the same requirements for efficient and profitable operation. But they differ in that, outside of only one, these requirements are reversed in order of importance.

That one requirement that is first of all in both automotive and airplane engines is reliability. Once the factor of reliability is cared for, however, the following factors vary in importance.

What is demanded of a good automotive engine in order of importance includes reliability, quietness, flexibility and smoothness, fuel economy and lastly low weight per horsepower.

The order of requirements for the aircraft engine is reliability, low weight per horsepower, fuel economy, flexibility and smoothness and lastly quietness.

MUCH OIL IN GROUND

American Petroleum Institute estimates there are more than 25,000,000 acres of oil lands in the United States. Of this number only 3,000,000 acres are actively producing.

cars and try to move along in traffic, even though some way were found to minimize its noise. For just as soon as we tried to throttle down, the engine would set up a vibration that would shake our car and bodies to pieces. The airplane engine is vibrationless only within certain narrow limits. The automotive engine is vibrationless practically within all speed ranges.

This flexibility is attained, however, at the cost of more economical fuel consumption, for the higher the speed of the motor the more fuel we have to burn. Since there is no need for a varying speed engine in aircraft, the carburetion is fixed for most economical operation at a certain definite engine speed.

The aircraft carburetor, besides being set for definite speed limits, also has to have a compensating device for quick variations in altitude, which is not needed in automotive engines.

PROTECT YOUR CAR GET YOUR GASOLINE HERE

No motorist could stand the noise of the airplane engine underneath his motor car's hood for any length of time. In order to muffle that noise, however, he has to sacrifice just those features that go to make up low weight and greater sturdiness in the airplane engine, with increased power. Cast iron cylinder blocks and heavier pistons and connecting rods make for a quieter but much heavier engine. And since a minimum of weight is demanded for air transportation, quietness is sacrificed there.

The result is that the airplane engine can supply one horsepower of energy to only two to three pounds of its weight, while the automotive engine weighs ten pounds to the horsepower.

The wide range of power requirements needed for travel on the highways, where there are all sorts of hills and varying traffic conditions, is not needed in the air. So as flexible an engine as we use in our autos is not necessary in the aircraft engine is much more limited than that for the auto engine.

It would never do therefore to put an aircraft engine into our

He: Everything I touch today seems to go wrong.
She: Don't touch me, then.

Science often prevents nature from making a cure, but nothing can prevent her from making a killing.

This country is not going to ruin. It's going to the movies.

In order to jingle coins in your pocket you've got to shake a leg.

A reporter in a neighboring town asked a woman if she could give him a new item. She thought and thought and finally admitted regretfully that she didn't know a "single solitary thing. I'm too excited to think, anyway," the woman added, "because my brother broke his arm when his house burned down this morning, and I am on my way to see him."

Fable: Once an agent demonstrated a vacuum cleaner and the housekeeper wasn't shamed by what it revealed.

We have been going to the movies for a good many years, but we still wonder if anybody ever had to re-load a six-shooter in a Wild West picture?

Still, the ladies in cool garments might be arrested if they looked as awful as men do in pajamas.

The bass drum isn't a solo instrument, but it's O.K. when it beats in rhythmic unison with the other pieces in the band.

There can be no harmony without co-ordination and co-operation.

Mrs. Blue—"How do you control your husband while you are away?"
Mrs. Black—"I leave the baby with him."

Poise is that quality in a woman which prevents her from being embarrassed on the windiest of days.

DIDN'T KNOW HIMSELF
Father: Was Jack intoxicated when he came home last night?
Daughter: I didn't notice anything except that he asked for a mirror to see who he was.
—Nebelspalter, Zurich.

SOME IMPROVEMENT
"H'm!" the optician murmured. "You say the glasses I gave you have not improved your sight? You can still see what you call spots before your eyes?"
"That's right," his client replied. "But I must admit that since I wore the glasses I can see 'em much clearer than before!"
—Tit-Bits.

Some alibis work fine, if you remember to tell them the same the second time.

THE TINIES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

At last the big man's meal was done and he exclaimed, "Now for some fun. Just let the good food simmer while you set the table quick. The silver's in the big buffet. I'll show you tots the proper way to lay it out. When once you know, it isn't any trick." "Oh, we know how," one Tiny said. "Just watch us. We'll go right ahead and have the whole meal ready. Then we'll call you in to dine. We've cooked the best that we know how and trust the food won't start a row. In fact, wee Cobby's tested things and found them all real fine." Then came a scampering of feet. The Tinies rushed the things to eat up to the towering table. Scouty shouted, "Gee, I hope that one of us is plenty strong to get things up where they belong. Perhaps to lift the food pans up, we'll have to get a rope. They shortly found, this hunch was right 'cause, though they tried with all their might, they couldn't lift the heavy things. "I'll get the rope," said one. The big man showed him where it was and all the bunch were glad because by now they thought that serving was quite a lot of fun. The big man sat down in his place and then a smile spread on his face. "Oh, gee, but it smells good," said he. "I'll surely eat my share. Bring on the stew that you have cooked and see that nothing's overlooked." As Cobby pulled the rope the stew pail rose up in the air. "Yum, yum! Can all of this be true?" the big man said. "I'm sure that you wee tots have done a dandy job. This makes my big lips smack. I'll eat until I've had enough. Now don't you Tinies let me stuff. Real soon, for all your kindness I am going to take you back." (The big man does something for the Tinies in the next story.)
