

NEW BRITAIN SURVEY SHOWS STATE IS WET

Mayor Paonessa Sent Questions to Officials in 62 Communities—Want Dry Law Modified.

New Britain, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Mayor A. M. Paonessa of this city who sent out some weeks ago a questionnaire to mayors, selectmen and heads of police departments in 62 communities in the state asking their opinion of local sentiment on the prohibition law today basing his assertion upon this survey declared Connecticut is "wet" and that he regarded the dry law as having been a failure, not enforceable, not a benefit to the country and in favor of modification.

Fifty-nine mayors, selectmen and heads of police departments answered the questionnaire. New Britain, Hartford, Bridgeport, Waterbury and New Britain being represented in the opinion.

Calculation of population represented was declared to embrace 85.7 per cent. of all the people of the state, insofar as public officials could be considered to speak for their communities. No community between the first and the sixty-second in order of its size was omitted from the canvass.

The Questions. Mayor Paonessa submitted four questions in each case. They were: "Do you believe the law has worked out as a success?" "Do you believe it can be enforced?" "Do you think it has benefited the country or has had the opposite effect?" "Do you believe it should be kept on the statute books or modified?"

Mayor Paonessa in summarizing the results of the questionnaire stated that some officials did not answer all of the four questions. Officials representing 76 per cent. of the state's population went on record in favor of modifying the dry law.

GRUNDY IS SEATED AFTER LONG DEBATE

Objection Based on Activities as Lobbyist and Pennsylvania Primaries.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—(AP)—Joseph R. Grundy, who never had any objection to being named a lobbyist, today was a full fledged member of the Senate, privileged to use both vote and voice in advancing the cause which lies closest to his heart—the enactment of high tariff legislation.

A resolution to eject the veteran Pennsylvania politician from the Senate seat which he assumed only yesterday awaited disposition by a perplexed Senate elections committee, the chairman of which, throughout the debate on Grundy's admission, repeatedly asked what he was expected to do with the measure.

Four Hours Debate. Appointed by Gov. Fisher to the seat of W. S. Vare, Grundy received the oath of office last night. His qualifications for office were challenged by Senator Nye of North Dakota, Independent western Republican but at the close of nearly four hours of debate the Senate admitted the Pennsylvania to its ranks.

The objection to Grundy was based upon his long record of consistent efforts to obtain high tariff laws and upon the famous 1925 Pennsylvania primary election in which Vare and Fisher, on opposite tickets won the Republican nominations for the Senate and governorship.

Factional leaders are well agreed however there is no valid and legal objection to Grundy's appointment and predict that Nye's efforts will be overwhelmingly defeated.

Xmas Funds In State Reach Several Million

(By Associated Press.) Christmas cheer as it has been stored up little by little, week after week, in Christmas Clubs of 1929 and in other funds is being poured out in a golden stream in greater volume this season than ever before at Christmas since this form of systematic saving has been adopted. The practice in saving in manner of the Scotch adage "many a mickle makes a muckle" in the aggregate has reached several million dollars in this state alone, and this flood of dollars began with the trinking into banks and other institutions of tiny streams of pennies, dimes, quarters and half dollars is now being turned into channels of trade to make what merchants are forecasting as a very busy season.

Estimates obtained in various communities show that in most instances the totals of savings have gone ahead of last year. Here are some of the figures: New Haven has had about $690,000; Ansonia $113,000; Derby $91,000; Shelton $45,000; Torrington $151,000; Danbury $200,000; New Britain $250,000 and more; Stamford $500,000; Waterbury $514,000; New London $388,000.

Meriden $200,000 or ten per cent. more than last year. Bristol $92,000 to $300,000 in checks ranging from $50 to $250. Norwalk $335,000 in checks to seven thousand members or $5,000 more than last year. Manchester $100,000. Bridgeport $2,100,000.

COMPETITION OF INDIA HURTS COTTON GROWERS

Uncertainty of Pending Legislation Also Depressing Prices, Exchange Official Declares.

Washington, Dec. 13.—(AP)—J. P. Henican, president of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange today told a Senate agriculture sub-committee investigating the causes of depressed prices for cotton, that "uncertainty of pending legislation is exercising a detrimental influence" on the market.

Henican continued that until definite action was taken on the pending measures, "the valuable protective influence of the contract market will be minimized."

Operators who were accustomed to inventing excuses for the price when prices were low, he said, now are unwilling to "assume the double risk of the market and legislation."

Capital Needed. He added that "these men on the street with their capital" were needed, but said they had been conspicuously absent since the Agriculture Department's prediction of a drop in cotton prices in 1927 and the subsequent slump in values.

Another reason he assigned as contributing to depressed cotton prices was competition from India. He said foreign mills were turning to foreign cotton at the expense of America and asserted India was becoming the greatest competitor of the United States and the world's largest producer outside of this country.

Supply and Demand. Gardner H. Miller, president of the New York Cotton Exchange, who testified yesterday, said the low price of cotton resulted from "the law of supply and demand" and asserted the large crop here and abroad and slump in stock values all had combined to keep the price down.

Senators Smith and Heflin, Democrats, however, disagreed with Miller both said market manipulation had played a part in the fall of the staple. Heflin asserted the firm of Anderson, Clayton and Co., Houston, Texas cotton brokers, had exercised a dominating and depressing influence on cotton prices.

Questioned about the legislation to which he was referring Henican said that measures now pending before Congress range "from additional regulation to practical abolition of trading on the exchanges."

"It is within the range of truth to say that they are a disturbing influence on the cotton market and will continue to be until they are finally disposed of," he said.

Chief Rabbi on Stand. Jerusalem, Dec. 13.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)—Chief Rabbi Abraham Kook took the witness stand in public today at a hearing of the Palestine Inquiry Commission which is investigating the Arab-Jewish riots of August.

Quoting the sages, Rabbi Kook declared himself unafraid, not bashful and ready to tell the truth. He explained that though the commission was prepared to come to his house, he preferred to appear in public, because it was his custom to make all pronouncements in public.

ALIANO PROBE WILL INCLUDE BOOZE TRAFFIC

Slayer Gives Self Up—Alcorn Asks More Power for Grand Jury Which Will Make Investigation.

Hartford, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Authority for a "general investigation" into the liquor traffic in Hartford, and possibly throughout the county, was granted to the Grand Jury ordered for the indictment of Sebastian N. Aliano, charged with murder, by Judge Allyn L. Brown in Superior Criminal Court here this morning at the request of State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn. The inquiry will be called for Friday, Jan. 3, at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Alcorn told the court that "other phases of this case, that the specific charge of murder, have come to the attention of my office, and in the interests of the state, I want the jury to have authority to proceed further into the matter, if in the judgment of my office the situation warrants it."

Inference Obvious. Mr. Alcorn made no direct reference to "liquor" and refused to amplify his statement after he had left the courtroom, other than to say that the inference is obvious.

Since the murder of Alfonso Minniti shot to death in a front street speakeasy on Dec. 4 by Aliano, his employer, numerous reports of corruption in connection with the liquor laws in Hartford have been received. Aliano gave himself to the Hartford authorities yesterday after a nine days search. County Detective Edward J. Hickey said Aliano admitted that he had committed the crime in self-defense because he feared punishment at the hands of Minniti's friends.

THICK FOG DELAYS STEAMSHIP TRAFFIC

Liners and Ferryboats Held Up in New York Rivers and Harbors.

New York, Dec. 13.—(AP)—It was "Black Friday" in New York's streets and harbor today.

The fog which descended early in the morning and thickened as the day advanced, delayed the docking of several trans-Atlantic liners, with large passenger lists and a great deal of overseas Christmas mail, and threw river, harbor and street traffic into a tangle.

In the middle of the rush hour, ferries along the entire waterfront were running five to ten minutes behind schedule, those between the Battery and Staten Island and 69th street, Brooklyn, being the most affected.

New England steamers, coming through Long Island Sound, however, reached their piers with fair regularity.

Liners Overdue. The Bremen of the North German Lloyd, overdue since Tuesday, reached Quarantine at 1:30 a. m., but it was still fogbound there at 9:30, half an hour after its scheduled docking time.

The Cunard liner Ausonia from Southampton via Halifax, was reported anchored at 8:05 between Sandy Hook and Quarantine. The French liner Bourdonnais and the United Fruit freighter Irona, from Kingston, both of which were due about 9 a. m., were reported their positions up to 9:30.

The rain and the rising temperature combined to make removal of the snow that fell last night a light task. Most of the slush was washed away by street cleaners with hose lines, although 612 extra workers assisted the 1,700 street cleaners who worked at snow removal during the night.

Continue Tunney Case. Bridgeport, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The scheduled hearing of a demurrer filed by Frank L. Wilder, counsel for Mrs. Katherine King Fogarty, a divorcee of Forth Worth, Texas and New York City, in her $500,000 breach of promise suit against James J. Tunney was continued today in Superior Court here until next Friday.

The one-time heavyweight boxing champion was abroad with his wife, the former Polly Laidler, of Greenwich, when the attractive Mrs. Fogarty made her charges, but his counsel answered with a cross complaint alleging an attempt to traduce Gene's character and to extort money.

The demurrer seeks to have these latter allegations expunged from Tunney's cross complaint on the grounds that he has sufficient defense at law.

Judge Carl Foster recently ruled against Wilder on a motion to delete twenty paragraphs from the cross complaint as immaterial and evidential matter.

Manning Walls for Attack

How National Guardsmen manned the walls at the "siege of Auburn," while closing in on the last of the desperate convict mutineers who held out against them, is shown in this Evening Herald-NEA Service photograph taken inside the prison during the rioting. While these troops stood guard, others, armed with machine guns, rifles, and lethal and tear gas bombs, charged into the building where the ringleaders were barricaded, and shot down six of the mutinous convicts, bringing the spectacular episode to an end. Lower left you see tear bombs, handed by planes from New York, being unloaded at the Syracuse, N. Y., airport to be rushed to the state troopers at Auburn.

TO FILE CHARGES AGAINST VETERAN

Official is Said to Have Neglected Families of Sick Members of A. L.

Meriden, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Major Clarence C. Scarborough, secretary of the State Veterans Fund, will receive within a few days, charges prepared against Herbert H. Bartlett, of New Haven, investigator for the fund, by the Interpost Council of the American Legion. At that time and probably not before then the validity of complaints that Bartlett in his official capacity, neglected the families of sick members of the Legion and others who were out of work.

State Commander William S. Alexander, following a meeting of the executive committee of the Connecticut Department American Legion here last night forecast the filing of charges which have resulted in a great degree of dissatisfaction among Legionnaires during the last six months.

Nature of the charges was not divulged but Commander Alexander stated that they came up with state session.

Bartlett has been investigator in the New Haven district. The state fund for relief work is about $2,500,000 and its administration is under the supervision of Legion members.

It was announced at the Meriden meeting that National Commander O. L. Bodenhamer will visit Hartford and Bridgeport Feb. 4 and 5.

LAKIN'S LETTERS CENTER OF PROBE

President of Sugar Co. Tries to Explain Them to the Senate Lobby Committee.

Washington, Dec. 13.—(AP)—As has been the case since his testimony began, the examination of H. C. Lakin, president of the Cuba Company, sugar importers, by the Senate lobby committee, today centered around the employment of E. P. Shattuck, attorney, to work for low sugar rates and to Shattuck's reported friendship for President Hoover.

Much discussion was given to letters Lakin had written to Cuban officials and friends. In said of those letters, the influence of Mutual Welfare League officials, the entire prison population of the north-cell block was marched from the yard to their cells and kept there quietly during the entire excitement, taking no part in the attempted escape and rioting.

Object Of League. "The Mutual Welfare League is based solely upon the proposition that there is hope for men sentenced to prison, and the part played by the League officials clearly demonstrates the value of an appeal to their sense of necessary discipline."

PARTY CHIEFS RUSH TO THE DEFENSE OF CUT IN INCOME TAX

DEATH RATE ON INCREASE, SAYS REPORT

Natural Increase in Population Accounts for Less Than Half of Those Reported, the Survey Shows

New York, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The mortality among life insurance policy holders in the United States indicates that 49,000 more persons will have died this year than in 1928, Dr. Henry W. Cook, vice president and medical director of the Northwestern National Life Insurance Company told the Senate today. The natural increase in population accounts for only 15,000 of the number he said.

Dr. Cook's statement was based upon mortality records of 52 leading life insurance companies for the first ten months of 1929.

Rate on Increase. "It appears," said Dr. Cook, that the death rate among policy holders increased from $2.0 per 100,000 in 1928 to $4.7 in 1929. This means that there will be 18.7 more deaths among each 100,000 insured persons this year than last year, an increase of 2.3 per cent.

"The application of this percentage of increase to the population death rate for 1928 indicates that the total deaths in the United States during 1929, will approximate 1,494,000. If last year's death rate had been maintained, there would have been 15,000 more deaths because of the increase in population. The increased death rate of this year, therefore, will result in the death of 34,000 more persons during 1929 than would have occurred if the 1928 death rate had continued."

Deaths from Flu. The increase in deaths from influenza alone, Dr. Cook said, more than accounts for the year's increase in the general death rate. "The homicide rate remains stationary, while there was an increase in the suicide rate from 13.1 to 13.4 per 100,000."

"The reduction in the death rate from tuberculosis especially continues its brilliant record. This disease no longer holds the terror it once did, for people are learning not only the means of protection against it, but also the importance of its early diagnosis and treatment. In the year, there has been a reduction in the death rate. Tuberculosis will claim 3.4 fewer persons per 100,000 in 1929 than it did in 1928. The once feared typhoid fever has been almost eliminated. The death rate this year has again been reduced and will be only 2.2 per 100,000."

Praises Guards. Of the special term of court, the executive said: "I do this in justice to the family of Principal Keeper George A. Durnford who was killed, to the guards who were wounded and to the other guards who with the state troopers and militia acted with such conspicuous bravery in the riot."

Dr. Kiehl, commissioner of corrections, has expressed the view of prison officials that guns used in the outbreak did not come from the prison arsenal.

"Some of them evidently were smuggled in and the others were taken from guards who had been overpowered," he said. "The convicts had no rifles at any time. The handcuffs apparently came from the principal keeper's office of which they were quickly in possession after they had killed him."

NOTED FINANCIER DIES IN NEW YORK

Chellis A. Austin Was Recently Elected Head of Equitable Trust Co.

New York, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Chellis A. Austin, recently elected president of the Equitable Trust Co., died this morning of pneumonia. Mr. Austin was head of the Seaboard National bank until it was taken over by the Equitable Trust a few months ago, was born in West Berkshire, Vt., in 1876. He was educated in the public schools of Canaan, N. Y., and received degrees from St. Lawrence University in that town and from Columbia University.

Shortly after leaving Columbia in 1898 he began work as a messenger in a broker's office and then entered the employ of the Erie Railroad as a clerk in the president's office. From the Erie he went to the Lehigh Valley railroad as trainmaster of the Jersey City terminal division.

Becomes A Banker. Mr. Austin entered the banking field in 1901 as a solicitor of new business for the Columbia Trust Company. He was subsequently promoted to credit man, assistant treasurer, assistant secretary and vice president. He became president of the Mercantile Trust Company in May, 1917, and when that institution was merged with the Seaboard National bank in 1922 he became president of the consolidated institution.

Mr. Austin died suddenly at 4 o'clock this morning at his home in Montclair, N. J., from an attack of angina pectoris. He had addressed a meeting of the association of life insurance presidents in New York Thursday afternoon.

Party Lines Forgotten When Republican Independents Assail Administration's Plan—Norris Wants to Reduce War Debt.

Washington, Dec. 14.—(AP)—The Administration's proposal for a one per cent. cut in the corporation income tax rate drew fire in the Senate today, but both Republican and Democratic leaders rallied to its defense as the Senate settled down to consideration of the House resolution to carry out the program for a $160,000,000 reduction in individual and corporation income taxes.

The Republican Independents, led by Senators Norris, Nebraska, and Borah, Idaho, assailed the proposal in the corporation levy on this year's income, contending the corporations already had passed their taxes onto the consumers and their tax cut would amount to merely a bonus.

Norris' Argument. Norris argued it would be better for the country, anyway, to apply the $160,000,000 Treasury surplus to the reduction of the war debt and the surplus was returned to the taxpayers it would tend largely to remove a psychological situation that threatened serious consequences. He argued that this purpose would be defeated if the proposed cut for the corporations was eliminated.

Norris had insisted that the resolution was proposed to relieve those who have suffered in the recent collapse of the Stock Market.

TAX CUT WINS OUT. Washington, Dec. 13.—(AP)—After one taking up the $160,000,000 tax resolution today, the Senate later was forced to make a record decision between consideration of the tax cut and the tariff bill, and voted overwhelmingly to go ahead with taxes.

Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, refused to permit the bill to be laid aside temporarily for consideration of the resolution when the tariff measure automatically came before the Senate.

Chairman Smoot of the finance committee, thereupon moved to go ahead with the tax resolution and his motion was carried, 60 to 15, Democratic and Republican leaders joining in its support.

The vote was believed indicative of the measure of strength for the tax resolution in the Senate, and leaders were pressing for an early decision.

Those voting against laying aside the tariff for immediate disposition of the tax resolution were: Republicans—Blaine, Borah, Cutting, Brookhart, Frazier, LaFollette, Norris, Nye, Norbeck, McMaster and School—11.

Democrats—Blease, Connally, Thomas of Oklahoma and Wheeler—4.

WEATHER BUREAU NEEDS TRAINED FORECASTERS

Washington, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The expansion of aviation activities has so greatly increased the demand for weather forecasts that the Weather Bureau is unable to find enough trained men to meet its new requirements for safeguarding life and property.

Dr. Charles F. Marvin, chief of the bureau, testified before the House appropriations sub-committee for agriculture that the work of forecasting aviation weather has grown to such an extent that "we are up against it in a certain sense, for trained men to do this work."

"The rapid expansion in the work of the Weather Bureau," Dr. Marvin said, "due to the fruit-forest, weather observation distribution, fire-weather and aviation programs, especially the latter, has created a situation in regard to forecasters which is serious."

He said the bureau wanted to train men to be able to give forecasts and weather advice to pilots, because "it involves lives and property." The demand, he predicted, would continue to grow with the development of aviation.

Vice President Has Cold. Washington, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Vice President Curtis remained at home again today to nurse a heavy cold which has bothered him for several days.

Mr. Curtis was reported much better, however, and he is expected to be back at his post in the Senate shortly.

ICE AND RAIN MAKE TRAVEL DIFFICULT Several Mishaps Reported as Slippery Roads Cause Much Skidding.

Weather in Manchester nowadays seems to be copying after the recent stock market fluctuations having its "ups and downs". If it isn't intense cold, snow or rain that brings the discomfort, some other element intervenes. Today, for instance, a treacherous coating of sleet and ice caused immeasurable difficulties.

Traveling Bad
A slight rain and mist that froze soon after it reached the ground made traveling conditions exceedingly hazardous. While no serious automobile accidents were reported there were a number of minor mishaps and scores of wise persons left their automobiles in the garage all day taking other means of transportation which was easier, safer and more comfortable.

The sidewalks and streets were coated with a thin sheet of ice that caused cars and persons to skid and slip badly despite a liberal application of sand, ashes and sawdust wherever possible. In comparison to other normal days, a very small number of people were seen on the streets resulting in a drop of several hundred dollars to Manchester business men. Those who did venture out took slow steps but even then many took tumbles. Those who had occasion to traverse Main street kept well away from the stores so that a tumble would not send them flying through the plate glass display windows.

Milder
The weather was much warmer today, probably between 20 and 30 degrees higher than yesterday when the town was struck by the most severe cold wave of the present winter season. Yet it was cold enough so that the streets and sidewalks wore their treacherous sleet coatings. The storm started early last evening with a snow fall but during the night this was transformed into rain which fell intermittently throughout the greater part of the day.

Trucks Skid Together.
A light GMC delivery truck and an American Express Agency truck skidded and crashed together at the corner of Church and Chestnut streets at noon yesterday. The GMC, driven by Sherwood Anderson, of Anderson and Noren's, was damaged considerably but the other truck, driven by Leo Coughlin of 14 Griswold street only had the transmission disabled.

Coughlin was going south on Chestnut, Anderson north on Church. Both saw the other but the brakes refused to hold on the slippery pavement. When the trucks collided the GMC skidded again and climbed over the sidewalk, coming to rest a few inches from a pole. Its right front and rear fenders were smashed, the radiator caved in, headlights broken, and chassis sprung. Neither driver was injured and both carried full insurance. Officer John McGlinn investigated.

Those who drove automobiles reported that the sleet on the windshields was a serious handicap if not a hazard. Some drove to their place of business on Main street, but walked to other places than where they usually ride in connection with their business. Attorney Raymond A. Bowers had the front of his new Buick coupe badly damaged when his car crashed into a truck at the Center. Officer Rudolph Wirtalla had commanded the truck driver to stop but the brakes on Bowers' car could not prevent the car from skidding into the rear of the truck. No one was injured.

GETS STORY OF KINSMAN LOST IN MAINE WOODS

Mrs. E. P. Walton of Strong street has received a letter from her niece, Mrs. Louise Barker Litchfield of Calais, Me., whose husband, together with Guy E. Hall, was lost in the Maine woods for two days and two nights this week. Mrs. Litchfield sent Mrs. Walton a clipping from her local newspaper. The facts as related were practically the same as stated in an Associated Press despatch yesterday.

The men who are employees of the Maine State Highway department, were hunting in dense woods when they became hopelessly lost with the weather 10 degrees below zero. They built a shelter of boughs and kept themselves from freezing by continuous fires, while they anxiously waited to get contact through rifle shots with searching parties. An airplane sent out from Bangor Wednesday to assist in the search arrived just after the men had been found. Mrs. Litchfield, at the time of writing, said her husband and his companion were evidently none the worse for their experience.

FIND WOMAN DEAD BESIDE COLD STOVE

Mrs. Mary Keating, Who Lived Alone, Expires as She Sits in Her Kitchen.

Their curiosity aroused by a growing collection of milk bottles and newspapers on the doorstep, neighbors last evening informed police who broke into the home of Mrs. Mary E. Keating, 66, at 1 Elizabeth Place, and found Mrs. Keating dead in the kitchen.

Mrs. Keating, widow of Timothy Keating, who died February 7, 1928, at the age of 69 years, was sitting in a rocking chair with her feet in the oven. A hot water bottle lay on the floor beside her. There was no fire in the stove and water in the sink, which had been drawn to wash dishes was frozen.

Dead Two Days
Dr. LeVerne Holmes, assistant medical examiner, pronounced death due to heart disease. He said it was very apparent Mrs. Keating had been dead for at least two days.

TALL CEDARS COMPLETE NEW YEAR'S EVE PLANS

Arrangements are going forward satisfactorily for the second annual New Year's dance to be given by the Tall Cedars of Lebanon at the Masonic Temple on Tuesday evening, December 31. Dancing will continue until 2 o'clock on the morning of the new year. Ernie Rock's famous Cotton Pickers orchestra will furnish the music. Fred P. Finnegan, is chairman of the committee in charge, and he reports an unusually heavy demand for tickets, due undoubtedly to the success of a similar party last year, when several hundred persons were present.

MANY CHANGES NOTED IN STATE GAME LAWS

New Trapping License Must Be Secured; Hunting Doesn't Cover Trapping.

Several new changes in the State Fish and Game laws, effective Jan. 1 must be taken into consideration by Manchester's nearly 1500 anglers and hunters before applying for licenses this year. The ordinary resident fishing license will cost $3.35 this year, the non-resident and alien fee being $5.35. The state is issuing for 1930 a new trapping license for residents to cost $5.35 which shall authorize any holder over 16 years of age to trap and hunt subject to the restrictions provided by law. This license is obtainable by persons under the age of 16 for $2.35. Residents over 16 years of age may obtain the combination hunting and fishing license for $5.35 and non-residents over the age of 16 must pay $14.35 for this same license. The resident hunter's license for cost $3.35 and the non-resident hunting license is $10.35.

Don't forget that a special trapping license is required this year. Previously the hunting license included trapping but a new form of license is required for 1930. Women can fish without a license as formerly except for fishing in state leased streams and fishing through the ice.

About 1500 licenses of the three principal classes of licenses; fishing, combination hunting and fishing and hunting were issued last year, distributed as follows: hunting, 325; fishing, 800; combination hunting and fishing, 325.

Dunn, Camden, N. J., received possibly fatal injuries early today when the car Barstow was driving crashed into a trolley car.

APPEAL CAMPBELL CASE TO HIGHEST COURT

All is not yet quiet along the East Center street front, where Earl J. Campbell is attempting to locate a filling station on his property at the corner of East Center and Foster streets against the wishes of other property owners who feel that the attractiveness of the boulevard of Manchester will be impaired with its erection.

EASTERN STAR NAMES ITS OFFICERS FOR 1930

Temple Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star held its annual meeting with election of officers at the Masonic Temple Wednesday eve-

ing. A Christmas party followed in the banquet hall. Santa Claus was on hand with a gift and a bag of candy for everybody. A prettily decorated Christmas tree, a one-act entertainment, and home-made cake and coffee was served.

The chapter voted to sponsor an Order of the Rainbow for girls. The elective officers for 1930 will be: worthy matron, Mrs. Lulu Eldred; associate matron, Mrs. Pauline Grant; associate patron, Henry J. Thornton; secretary, Mrs. Minnie Goslee; treasurer, Miss Mary Miller; conductress, Mrs. Georgia Lettney; associate conductress, Mrs. Mary Straw; chairman for three years, Harry Trotter. The incoming matron will choose the appointive officers, and the installation ceremony will take place at the next meeting which would ordinarily fall on Wednesday, December 25, Christmas, but which has been postponed until Friday the 27th. The work will be in charge of Past Matron, Mrs. Beatrice Robb and the retiring worthy matron, Mrs. Jessie L. Winterbottom, will act as marshal.

HOLD THREE SUSPECTS.
Stamford, Dec. 13.—(AP)—William J. Haines, 36, and Dick Solomon, 32, and Virgil Dodson, 23, all of Port Chester, N. Y., were taken from Stamford to Bridgeport, this morning, by Stamford police on a bench warrant, issued by the Superior Court at Bridgeport on request of State's Attorney William H. Conley. The three were arrested here, Wednesday night, by motorcycle police, when a fully loaded .32-caliber automatic was found in the car. At the time they were headed for Danbury. Their total capital amounted to more than $400 and they also had several pairs of dice. Stamford police investigated them in New York, yesterday, but could find no record against them.

NOT TO QUIT SMOKING TO GET $10,000 GIFT

Boston, Dec. 13.—Mrs. Samuel Temple, Boston artist, today apparently had no intention of renouncing the weed for the sake of $10,000 left her in the will of an aunt, Miss Esther M. Groomer of Carlisle, Pa., on condition that she refrain from cigarettes.

"I hold no vitious views for or against cigarettes," said the artist when seen at her studio home. "I have not made any decision because I do not consider it necessary. My aunt was always opposed to my smoking cigarettes. It was one of her idiosyncrasies." Samuel Temple, the artist's husband, said she did not consider the anti-cigarette stipulation in the will legal. "We understand the executor of the will is of the same opinion," he said.

MARCONI SPEAKS OVER BIG NETWORK

Inventor of Wireless Tells How His Dream Came True 28 Years Ago.

New York, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The voice of Senator Guglielmo Marconi spanned the Atlantic ocean yesterday, just as did the letter "S" 28 years ago on the memorial occasion when a radio signal coming from England was heard for the first time in America.

But unlike that early day when only himself was listening, an entire nation heard him tell of the first trans-Atlantic signal faintly audible. He spoke through an extensive network of broadcast stations linked to the NBC studios in New York.

The voice of the pioneer radio inventor was brought to America by short waves, and a special receiver at Riverhead, L. I., was linked by wire to the local studios and in turn to the network.

It was 28 years ago, in the morning, with a gale raging on the coast of Newfoundland, where his receiving station was set up on Signal Hill that Marconi and his aides listened on crude receivers for England, finally the three short dots that make the letter "S" were picked up. The feat was repeated the next day.

Crude Instruments
"The instruments we had at our disposal" he said, "were very crude. All we had for transmitting was the means of making crude waves by means of irregular spark discharges. The receivers were insensitive as compared with those of the present."

After his review of the early accomplishment, he spoke of what radio is today.

"Spanning of great distances is now child's play compared with what it was then. Radio telegraph and telephone stations are now exchanging daily hundreds of thousands of words between distant parts of the earth."

Wireless Phones
"Wireless telephony over world-wide distances is now a reality, together with transmission of pictures, and the day is approaching when television will also be commonplace. It may even be that the transmission of power over moderate distances may be developed in the not distant future. I must leave to your imaginations the uses which can be made of these new powers."

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

U. S. WIRELESS CONTROL

On Dec. 13, 1912, the United States government assumed control of all wireless stations in its territory.

Volume and activities of numerous amateur stations which had sprung up in the country had increased to such an extent as to seriously interfere with the operation of government and commercial stations.

An act passed by Congress provided for the licensing of radio operators and stations within the country and made it unlawful to operate an unlicensed station.

Enforcement of the regulations was placed in the hands of Department of Commerce officials. The country was divided into nine districts, each in charge of a radio inspector.

The duties of inspectors in each of these districts consisted in inspecting and testing radio apparatus, examining and licensing operators and licensing radio stations.

In Day's News

New York—A fine scheme of George Bernard Shaw has gone askew. He signed five blank sheets for Sava Botzaris, Greek artist, telling him to draw sketches of him on them as Americans would pay more for them if autographed. The sketches have been burned in a hotel fire.

Chicago—Othello is to be a sun-burned Caucasian in Chicago, not a black as Shakespeare had him. Charles Marshall of the Civic Opera, Louis Leon Hall of the Civic Theater, Othellos, and Cesare Formich of the opera and Fritz Lieber of the theater, Jagos, have so decided in conference.

New York—It cost Mrs. Frederick McCourtland, Penfield $246,900 to raise she became convinced that Dorothy Knapp, who once won an Atlantic City beauty contest, could not sing, dance or act. Testimony has been given as to the amount Mrs. Penfield invested in Earl Carroll's show "Fioretta." Dropped from the cast, Miss Knapp is suing Mrs. Penfield, Carroll and others for $250,000.

Paris—Stephane Lauzanne, editor of Le Matin, never calls on the telephone. He says the service is so irritating that he prefers to write or call in person.

Vatican City—The number of pilgrims given audience by the Pope so far this year exceeds 100,000.

Paris—The Big Three of the French government are all bachelors: Gaston Doumergue, president of the republic; Andre Tardieu, premier and minister of the interior; Aristide Briand, foreign minister.

"What chance have I to get through a tax on bachelors?" wailed Henri Cheron, married, minister of finance.

New York—Matthew Anderson is an Englishman who is grateful for American cookery. In disproof of gloomy predictions on the other side, he says, our cooking never gave a chronic dyspeptic like himself a single twinge of indigestion. As a representative of the city of Liverpool he has been touring making speeches to Chambers of Commerce.

London—George Goodard, police sergeant served 18 months in prison for taking bribes from night clubs, is worth at least $45,000. The Crown seized $62,000 from him and in court proceedings he has recovered most of it. In addition to being imprisoned he was fined.

New York—A beautiful tall blonde of 22, a great granddaughter of Queen Victoria, is visiting us. She is the Grand Duchess Kira, daughter of Grand Duke Cyril, claimant to the Russian throne. There have been suggestions that she will marry King Boris of Bulgaria. Asked about them, she said he had never proposed. Boston—A ducking stool will be in action at the famous Frog Pond on Boston Common next summer. It is to be one of the attractions of the city's tercentenary celebration. A real persons will be immersed just like scolds used to be. So far, there has been no competition by girls for the honor.

MINERS SIGN PACT

Truro, N. S., Dec. 13.—(AP)—Westville and Pictou county miners today voted by a three to one majority to accept a long-disputed agreement for higher wages and better working conditions.

managements after an investigation by Commissioner R. S. McLennan.

FRIDAY, DEC. 13, 1929

THE IMPORTANT THING

Murder is murder and properly so regarded by the law. Just the same the significance of such a crime, in the mind of the public, is inevitably affected in no small degree by the quality of the person slain. For that reason Chicago people of respectability have come to pay but slight attention to killing among the city's racketeers.

And for some such reason it seems to us that the outstanding feature of Hartford's bootlegging murder is the fact, brought out by the crime, that the principal actor in the case, besides sending large sums of money out of the country, had accumulated in three years a cash estate of some $25,000 from the operation of three or four little doggeries in the Capital City.

By and large, it is a marked minority of industrious, intelligent Americans who, throughout a life time of unremitting effort and thrift, are able to gather as much as twenty-five thousand dollars that they can call their own. Sebastian Aliano, wanderer and alien, turns the trick relatively in the twinkling of an eye.

He was founding a family. He had a son in a military college in Europe. He was going to be a person of importance and his sons were to become distinguished.

And today the United States is crowded full of such men and such families. There are thousands upon thousands of these possessors of substantial fortunes that are the fruit of law breaking. There are thousands upon thousands of families living on a scale that cannot be equaled by their law-abiding neighbors, driving better cars, dressing better, the sons and daughters going to expensive schools and colleges. We are developing a "superior" class upon a foundation of crime and with a background of vicious lawlessness.

Even as early as this, many of the colleges are graduating young men whose educations have been paid for by bootlegging, hi-jacking and machine-gun war. Plenty of these young men are becoming lawyers with all the implications of such a leave in the bar.

To our way of thinking there is far more ground for speculation in Sebastian Aliano's money than in his shooting of another bootlegger. The country conceivably can well survive the sudden demise of quite a number of its racketeers, however, occasioned. How well it can survive the inoculation of its wealthier classes with the virus of criminalism is another matter.

GOOD WORK

If everybody in Connecticut were to meet the mythical danger of depression as it is being met by the Bridgeport Chamber of Commerce there would be little need of Presidential conferences on the situation.

The Bridgeport Chamber isn't indulging in any painting of the rainbow or cheering-section blah. It is gathering facts and turning them over to the newspapers for publication. Discovering a certain amount of slackness in certain lines of industry, and frankly admitting it, the Chamber also learns such interesting facts as this: That despite all layoffs there are in excess of three thousand more people employed in Bridgeport industries now than there were a year ago and that the total of man-hours of employment last week was correspondingly greater than in 1928.

Yesterday the Chamber, having belted into the figures, made it known that automobile sales in the Park City during October and November, when the stock market fiasco was supposed to have pauper-ized all hands, were almost exactly equal to those in the previous year and much larger than two years ago.

Bridgeport is not, we feel sure, exceptional. It is a representative industrial community. We don't believe there is a city or a large town in the state which can't produce similarly encouraging facts if it will dig for them and not deliberately develop a case of business hypo.

NEGLECTIBLE

Henry Grew Crosby, who wrote purple poetry, and Mrs. Josephine Rotch Bigelow, Junior League and daughter of distinguished Boston parentage, made themselves more or less drunk and then, via the pistol route, shuffled off the burden of their troubles under circumstances contrived with the utmost care to bring shock and shame to the wife of the one and the husband of the other.

Neither of them had ever had to engage in the healthy exercise of earning a living. Neither of them had ever had anything but the soft side of life to rub against. Neither of them, quite naturally, had the remotest idea of what existence was all about; so, naturally each was quite certain that it was an empty show and all there was to be gotten out of it was to burn up the bloom on the peach, so to speak, and then ditch the untasted peach—making their departures as showy as tinsel tragedy can be.

For the grief of a devoted husband and an equally devoted life, there will be the natural sympathy that humanity extends to the bereaved. For the couple whose eroticism blended into neurosis about the only sentiment for which a busy and hearty world will have time is the impression that the loss, anyway you look at it, is small.

UNREGENERATE

The action of the Wethersfield, W. C. T. U. in inviting the town's post of the American Legion to join in the celebration of the tenth anniversary of prohibition is amazing only to those people who do not just exactly understand the state of mind of the good souls who constitute the Temperance Union.

Conceiving themselves to be endowed with all knowledge as to what is good and what is bad for mankind, they see it as their duty, to be performed at all costs, to give everybody his chance to escape the consequences of error, even when there is no hope whatever that it will be accepted. Least of all would they care, in the Great Accounting, to have to admit that they had not labored to save from destruction those guideless young men who were grappling with death, devastation and vin ordinaire in France the while the W. C. T. U. and the Anti-Saloon League were jamming through the Eighteenth amendment. Of course, if these young men just won't be saved it is too bad but it's so satisfying to know that we can tell St. Peter we tried.

Just the same it took the dickens and all of a gall.

KEEPING STILL

During the last two weeks the Atlantic Ocean has been on one of its worst rumpages. Giant ships have been terrifically beaten. There have been many disasters on the European coasts. But the great liners have carried their passengers safely if not comfortably from port to port.

Meantime there hasn't been a period in the last three years in which so very little has been said about the impending establishment of transatlantic lines of dirigible and hundred-passenger airplanes.

In view of the recent performances of the ocean and the ocean airs the idea of attempting to cross from New York to England or France, via the atmosphere, is fairly well calculated to give even star-eyed aviation enthusiasts a gone feeling at the pit of the tummy.

DENSE

Governor Allen of Massachusetts has ordered his attorney-general to investigate allegations in a New York magazine article which charges that vice, bribery, graft, bootlegging and general crime are rampant in Boston.

It's the strangest of things that a native of the Boston Metropolitan Area, living in Norwood and sufficiently a man of affairs to be elected governor, has to get his information on Boston conditions from an out of town magazine when the veriest stranger begins to sense the overripe odor of the Hub about the time his train pulls out of the Putnam railroad station.

BUS SERVICE

It is fair to say that the Connecticut Company has met the well foreseen increase in afternoon traffic demands on the Crosstown and Green bus lines with its customary masterly inactivity. Passengers jammed after the pattern of the New York subway at rush hours, standing on one another's feet and rendered completely uncomfortable will probably continue to be the rule during the rest of December. To the Connecticut Company human beings are not human beings—they are fares; so why not get as many into a bus as the springs will support and the gears carry up-hill?

CANDIDATE

It is announced that during the celebration of Boston's tercentenary the institution of the ducking stool, colonial cure for scolds and gossip, will be physically re-established at the Frog Pond on the Common and a live victim in period costume immersed in the waters of the celebrated sea at regular intervals. Now if the real—not the dummy—book and play censor of the Hub could be dug out from his anonymity and strapped into the colonial practical joke machine it would make a real drawing card besides doing a pint measure of justice.

SIMPLE

"It's a fine description you've given me of the boys that raided your garden, Ma'am," once said a New London policeman. "Now" with deep cunning—"if we only had their names we'd likely catch them!"

Democratic leaders in Congress are beginning to say that they will vote for tariffs "in reason." Now if we only knew what a Democratic Congressman means by "in reason" we'd be all set.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS

The Pennsylvania aunt of a Boston woman artist left her $10,000 on condition that she take an oath to refrain from smoking cigarettes. Now if the artist will write to the probate judge down there, "I wouldn't give up my Ostrich cigarettes for twice that amount," it's a bet that she can get a $15,000 fee from the Ostrich brand people, thereby cleaning up an extra five grand.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Dec. 13—He arrives now on crutches.

They help him out of a taxicab and he hobbles feebly through the theater crowd and takes his seat.

Sometimes he appears on Broadway as often as twice a season, sees a show and is trundled back home.

And this was once his street! He saw them all come and go from his point of vantage. He saw them come and go, but he seldom saw a show. For his post was at the stage door.

Now he lives "with his folks" somewhere outside of Brooklyn.

I'm talking about "Pap" O'Connor—otherwise Tom—the veteran doorman of Broadway.

Pap's retired now. A year or more ago he wandered away from the dark back doorway of the Longacre theater—he was something like 84 then.

They said along Broadway that he knew more show girls than all the Johnnies put together—and how he hated the Johnnies! Well, hated may not be the word. Certainly he was more than passing contemptuous.

I hadn't heard of the retirement which Time had forced. The other day I went over to have a chat with him, after a couple of years. "Oh," they said, "He comes over once in a great while. Just drops in to see a show."

A couple of years ago, while actors and stage hands drifted in and out, loitering to smoke a cigarette and look for their mail in the crude post-box built near the entranceway, we sat down and talked about the theater. He talked of the children and the grandchildren who now, in all probability, look after him.

"I don't want any of my family to go on the stage," he announced emphatically. "There's a lot of danger—no matter what they say, and especially for girls. You know, I've seen 'em coming and going for many a year, and most of 'em have been all right. They're steady and all that. But when they go the other way, there's no limit."

He had known the best of them—knew them all, too. Eddie Foy was a particular favorite. And he liked Ethel Barrymore a bit also.

"Fay Bainter and Helen Hayes are two of the nicest gals that ever came into a theater," he went on.

As for "stage-door Johnnies": "They're no good, none of them," he commented, pounding an aged fist upon his desk. "Say, I've seen 'em as old as I am coming around after pretty girls—the old fools!"

"Pap" felt like a father toward most of these girls. They'd tell him their love troubles and their family troubles. Many had husbands with whom they quarreled.

"And having been married 50 years myself, I knew what it was all about," he would add, with a shrewd wink.

But Pap's gone now. Like so many who have the taste of Broadway upon their tongues, he can't stay away. So he comes limping back now on crutches because he's "been ailing." And he goes around to the stage door to see how his successor is coming along. And after a bit he drops in on the show.

Speaking about stage sentiment—there's a tale in Helen Broderick, who is getting her big chance in "Fifty Million Frenchmen." She's no stranger to Broadway—and she has a droll way about her fun making which could have carried her far. But she never would go in for the "big money" unless her partner—who happened to be her husband, Lester Crawford—also was booked. Well, they're both in the same show now and he's getting plenty of deserved bouquets.

ICE CREAM

A Luxury a Few Years Ago... But an Everyday Health Necessity Today.

The consumption of ice cream has increased to where it now requires the services of thousands of dairymen, thousands of sugar planters, and thousands of ice harvesters and manufacturers, and thousands of fruit growers to meet the demands—and the end is not yet for the universal recognition of the nutritive and dietetic benefits of it as a refreshment as well as a food, together with the appeal it makes to the taste of everyone, young and old, and the improved facilities for producing it promises an even greater consumption and larger growth.

WATKINS BROTHERS
55 YEARS AT SOUTH MANCHESTER

FISHERMAN RESCUED

Gloucester, Mass., Dec. 13.—(AP)—Fred Day, 30, Kittery Point, Me., lobsterman, was picked up three miles off Cape Ann today by Coast Guardsmen after he had been adrift in an open motor boat since yesterday afternoon. He was brought here aboard the Coast Guard patrol boat 157 and except for fatigue was none the worse for his experience.

Day put in at the Isles of Shoals Coast Guard station yesterday afternoon after a leaky gasoline line had caused the loss of motor fuel. After making temporary repairs and receiving gasoline, he set out for Kittery a distance of about 12 miles. His failure to arrive there caused Captain S. R. Sands, commander of the First Coast Guard District to order a search. The patrol boat 157 which found him was out of Base 7, Gloucester, in command of Boatswain Mate Roy Fitzgerald.

FIND NO FRAUD

Brownsville, Tex., Dec. 13.—(AP)—The special Federal Grand Jury investigating alleged irregularities in the general election in Hidalgo county, Texas, last November has been discharged by Federal Judge J. C. Hutcheson of Houston after reporting it found no evidence of fraud in the election.

The jury examined scores of witnesses from Hidalgo county. Most of the evidence was understood to have centered about the action of the County Commissioners Court in throwing out returns from the Wesla county box when the votes were counted. The box was excluded from the total on the grounds that the returns from it were not properly sealed when sent to the commissioners.

RETAIN WOOL RATE

Washington, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The Senate today approved without a record vote an increase in the tariff on top wool waste from 31 to 37 cents a pound. The case bill provided a rate of 34 cents.

This would provide a differential of three cents a pound between the previously approved rate of 34 cents a pound on raw wool and the 37 cent rate for top waste.

SUIT DISMISSED

New York, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The suit of the United States Navigation Co., Inc., against the Cunard Steamship Co., Ltd., and 12 other lines for an injunction restraining them from attempting to monopolize the carriage of general cargo by vessel, was dismissed today by Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey.

PLANS MOORING MAST ATOP BIG BUILDING

Washington, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Alfred E. Smith has an appointment with Secretary Adams for tomorrow morning, and if the former presidential candidate talks about a plan for landing giant airships atop a building 85 stories above the sidewalks of New York—As it is assumed he will—he will find receptive ears in the Navy Department.

Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the Aeronautics Bureau today expressed interest in plans for the mast and said: "If Governor Smith is correctly quoted, we will be glad to hear just what he has in mind."

Smith was quoted as saying in New York that he would ask for cooperation of Navy engineers in construction of a 200 foot mooring mast for dirigibles on top of the 1,100 foot tower of the building which the Empire State, Inc., of which he is chairman of the board of directors, will build on the site of the old Waldorf Astoria hotel.

Washington, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Congress today took time from its legislative duties to complete plans for its Christmas vacation, the House following the lead of the Senate in passing a resolution providing a holiday recess from Dec. 21 to Jan. 6.

HERE'S THE PERFECT CRIME
Providence, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Two young robbers with a pistol heldup the grocery store of Joseph Biller at 164 Camp street here today, tied Biller and a biscuit salesman, William C. Schrenk, of this city, back to back in the rear room, robbed the two men of $140, took $80 from Biller's cash register and departed in the car stolen from the salesman.

FOUR YEAR CHASE ENDS WITH ARREST

Boston Man Long Sought for Cold Blooded Murder of Bank Messenger.

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 13.—(AP)—Sought for four years after a bank messenger had been shot down in a payroll robbery, Jerry Cappello, 24, was held without bail on a first degree murder charge here today after he had been recognized and captured in front of his East Boston home yesterday.

One man, Jerry Gedzium, "Jerry the Pole", was electrocuted in February, 1928 for his part in the crime and another, Louis Lacedra, 24, of East Boston, was released because of insufficient evidence to prosecute him.

The murder of the bank messenger, Edward C. Ross, a Boston University student working his spare time, occurred at the Ward Baking Company plant here on September 29, 1925, and was coldblooded. Three men walked up to the bank car he was driving and opened fire immediately, killing him instantly. Wrenching the payroll of $10,274 from two guards, they ran to another car and escaped through a revolver fire. Two were soon captured.

Four Year Chase
During the last four years police say Cappello has been known to have been running liquor in from Canada and they have made trips to Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont to set traps for him. Police in ambush said they nearly arrested him at Newport, Vt., about a year ago.

On a "tip" yesterday, Patrolmen Hannebury and Lousinski recognized and arrested him on the original indictment in front of his home.

TURKS TO ECONIMIZE

Angora, Turkey, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Premier Ismet Pasha yesterday told Parliament Turkey's present economic crisis demanded that Turkish citizens abandon all luxuries, even coffee.

He exhorted the population to eschew its annual $3,000,000 worth of coffee sipping, and content themselves with plain bread till the crisis is past.

The premier asked for and received a unanimous vote of confidence on his economic program. In the midst of considerable applause one deputy cried: "Go forward my Pasha; Allah and the people are with you."

XTMAS MAIL BURNS.

St. Johnsbury, Vt., Dec. 13.—(AP)—Fire early today destroyed the store and home of Bruce V. Wakefield in East street, Johnsbury, with a loss of $12,000. The post-office in the store was swept by the flames and a considerable quantity of Christmas mail destroyed. The St. Johnsbury fire department battled in cold that was registered by local thermometers as 22 degrees below zero.

Flies will disappear from a room if 20 drops of carbolic acid are evaporated from a hot shovel every day.

DROUGHT IN FAR WEST BROKEN BY HEAVY RAIN

San Francisco, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Meteorological disturbances moving coastward from the Pacific held promise of more rain today for the far west, where the drought-ending storm yesterday exacted tribute in damage to railroads, interrupted airmail schedules and imped highway travel. In northern California, streams which had been trickles less than a month ago became torrents, rivers rose by the foot and heavy snow fell in the high mountains.

Air mails and air travel were seriously handicapped north and east of San Francisco. Transcontinental air mail was carried by train between Sacramento and Reno. North of the California border passengers and mail were transferred from plane to trains. The town of Iron Mountain, in Shasta county, was isolated when the rain washed out the Rock Creek bridge.

Exceptionally heavy rains fell Kennett, where there was a record hour period. At Buck Creek, Plumas county, a total of 30 inches was corded in three days.

The Avenging Parrot

©1929 by NEA Service, Inc.

by Anne Austin, author of "The Black Pigeon," "Rival Wives," etc.

THIS HAS HAPPENED.

Mrs. Emma Hogarth, inmate of Mrs. Rhodes' boarding house, is strangled to death. Bonnie Dundee, "cub" detective, assists Police Lieut. Strawn. Emil Sevier, former boarder whom Mrs. Hogarth accused of trying to rob her, is sought.

Cora Barker, boarder, thought to have had an affair with Sevier, is arrested as a material witness but is ordered on bail.

Other boarders under suspicion are: Henry Dowd, Norma Paige, Walter Steyer, near bankrupt, who had quarreled with Mrs. Hogarth; Bert Magnus, amateur scenario writer who was heard typing in his room until 12:15, and Daisy Shephard.

Dundee learns from papers in Mrs. Hogarth's trunk that the Sally Graves who wrote her once a month was her daughter, and that she lived in dread of her husband, Dan Griffin, sought for embezzlement. Bonnie, recalling the mysterious details of Sally's murder in New York June 2, concludes Dan murdered both women and that he is or has been living at the Rhodes House.

An old rail-ticket envelope with Dowd's name on it, showing the left New York June 3, increases suspicion against him. Sevier denies killing the woman and tries to kill Cora. Dundee goes for Cora and finds her dead, strangled with her hair braids. At the inquest Magnus tells of the love between him and Cora and of her fear that Sevier would seek revenge for what she had told police. Sevier is being quizzed when a girl dashes in. She confesses she is Sevier's wife and insists he did not kill Cora Barker.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLII.

"Please tell the jury, Miss Cannon, how you know Sevier did not kill Cora Barker." Dr. Price instructed the weeping girl quietly.

Above the scratch of pencils and the frantic shuffling of papers at the press table, the girl's voice rose triumphantly.

"Because Daddy and I followed him in the car until he was picked up by two policemen."

"You kept him in sight all the time?" Dr. Price asked.

"Every single minute!" Myra Cannon cried. "He'd promised Daddy to go straight to police headquarters, and Daddy told me he was going to make sure he gave himself up that night. Emil didn't know we were following him, and he just walked around and leaned against buildings and lamp posts, as if he was awful sick."

"I knew he was scared to death that the police wouldn't believe him, and I wouldn't let Daddy get out of the car and jerk him along to police headquarters, as he kept threatening to do. Finally—it seemed like years, and Daddy was getting madder all the time—a policeman saw Emil and Emil started to run, then the policeman yelled out, 'Stop, Sevier, or I'll shoot!' and Emil stopped and let himself back to Mercyville just as fast as he could. And then—then this morning the paper said Cora Barker had been strangled, too, and that poor Emil was being 'grilled' by the police, and—and I couldn't stand it and I made Daddy bring me here."

"And so," Dundee said to himself, "that's that!" But there was no such dejection in his face as that which had settled upon Lieutenant Strawn and Sergeant Turner.

Five minutes later George H. Cannon, rich and highly respected citizen of Mercyville, was testifying.

"What my daughter says is true. God knows I have no love for that—that man," and he jerked his head contemptuously toward Sevier, who sat with his face bowed upon his hands. "But I cannot withhold evidence. I discovered Sevier upon my premises at half-past eleven last night. I drove him and my daughter in my car to Hamilton, putting Sevier out at the corner of First and Chestnut. If you wish, I can draw you an approximate diagram of the course Sevier took as he wandered about the streets, and as my daughter and I followed him in the car."

"That will not be necessary at this time, Mr. Cannon," Dr. Price replied. "You are ready to swear, however, that from a quarter to one, when you discharged your passenger, until a few minutes after two, when he was picked up by police, he was not out of your sight!"

"I can—and do," Cannon answered grimly. "He could not have murdered the Barker woman, since he was no nearer the Rhodes House than Eighth and Main."

"You are familiar with the streets of Hamilton?"

"I lived here until five years ago, and I am in the city frequently on business."

"Thank you. . . . Now, Mr. Cannon, did Mr. Sevier make any confession to you regarding the murder of Mrs. Hogarth?"

"He did not. On the contrary, he denied it a great many times, for I myself accused him, and the witness answered positively. However, I believe—"

"I am afraid a statement of your belief cannot be admitted into the inquest record," Dr. Price interrupted courteously. "Excused—with the thanks of the jury," Mr. Cannon.

Half an hour later—it was nearly six o'clock—Bonnie Dundee entered Lieutenant Strawn's office at police headquarters. His chief and Sergeant Turner were slumped in chairs at the lieutenant's desk—each a study in profound dejection.

"Grin, damn you!" Strawn growled, as his newest detective greeted him. "Go on—say it—I told you so!" He spat gloomily, then sat more erectly. "Well, anyway, we got one verdict against Sevier. He'll be indicted by the grand jury on Monday."

"Do you really think, chief, that the grand jury will be so stupid as the coroner's jury?" Dundee asked pleasantly, as he seated himself in the open doorway. "I see you haven't any screams, either, chief. Still, your windows are nicely screened. Now if the Rhodes House screens had been put up on Monday, as Dusty promised they would be—"

"What do you mean—the grand jury stupid?" Strawn growled angrily.

"Why, surely, unless the grand jury is stupid or unless their district attorney is, it will be quite plain to them, after mature deliberation, that if Emil Sevier didn't kill Cora Barker he likewise didn't kill Mrs. Hogarth. In fact, the grand jury will think the coroner's jury incredibly stupid not to have rendered the same verdict on the Hogarth murder as upon Cora Barker's: 'Death at the hand of person or persons unknown.' For the same hands that strangled Mrs. Hogarth tied Cora's braids about her throat. One crime grew out of the other."

"Huh!" Sergeant Turner snorted. "Thought you said Cora was killed with a kiss! How many sweeties did that dame have, anyway? She's been carrying on with Sevier, she'd just got herself half-way engaged to this Magnus chap last night—"

"And Magnus has an alibi for last Saturday night. He could no more have killed Mrs. Hogarth than Sevier could have killed Cora," Strawn cut in disgustfully.

"Women have been known to kill other women—and Cora didn't take the trouble to put on a kimono," Dundee contributed, very thoughtfully.

"What do you mean?" Strawn craned his tilted chair to the floor. "I thought you'd come in here crowling about your 'bad penny,' and now you've switched around to a woman!"

"I haven't forgotten about my 'bad penny,' but I'm trying to consider every possibility," Dundee answered soberly. "And I'm not so sure that what I said just now was true—that the same hands strangled both women, but I do believe that the second crime grew out of the first."

"And me—I'm not so sure of that," Strawn retorted stubbornly. "Were any of the other girls at the Rhodes House jealous of Bert Magnus' attention to Cora? If all that love-talk took place at the piano last night, I guess everybody in the room got wise to what was going on."

A half-dozen little, unexplained things that Jewel Briggs had said flashed into Dundee's mind. For a tantalizing moment he felt that the solution of both murders was on the very threshold of his mind, knocking for admission. Then the conviction was lost. He shook his head hopelessly.

"Jewel Briggs was watching the progress of Bert's affair with Cora with much interest," he admitted slowly. "But she didn't act jealous. Seemed to be glad Cora and Bert were going to be happy, but—"

"Cora hated Jewel, and Jewel warned me that Cora might try to tell me some 'jealous old fibs' on her—to use Jewel's very words."

"And Jewel Briggs was spending the week-end with her folks when Mrs. Hogarth was murdered," Strawn pointed out wearily. "I'm stumped, Dundee. I'm still convinced that Sevier killed Mrs. Hogarth, but I'll be hanged if I've got an idea as to who murdered Cora."

"Look, Dundee!" he added suddenly, as if struck with an inspiration. "Every detective knows that one crime breeds another—and that the two are not necessarily connected. Three torch murders in or around New York in one year! Here we have an old lady strangled—no clues. No arrests. Looks like a good way to bump off somebody you don't like—don't it? And there's murder in the air. Everybody's thinking about murder, got murder on the brain. Suppose somebody—a woman or a man—either in the Rhodes House or living somewhere else—had it in for Cora Barker, and was smart enough to figure that the police lay the blame on Sevier, since he was at large and wanted for the other murder. See?"

"It's possible," Dundee admitted reluctantly. "Look!" Strawn urged. "You say Cora was murdered by the same person that killed Mrs. Hogarth. Why?"

"Because the two crimes must be connected," Dundee retorted.

"Yeah? Well, the only person Cora suspected or had said one word against was Emil Sevier. Far as I can see, Sevier was the only person connected with Mrs. Hogarth's murder that had any cause to bump off Cora—and he didn't do it!"

"I know!" Dundee agreed, shrugging. "But look, chief! Here we have three murders, all committed within a month of each other, and you expect me to agree with you that they are coincidences—that Sally Graves, as she called herself, murdered by one person; Cora by another, and poor Cora by still another!"

"And what do you think?" Strawn taunted him wearily. "You think that 'bad penny' turned up once more, do you?"

"Yes, I do!" Dundee jumped to his feet, an almost fanatical light in his eyes. "I believe Dan Griffin murdered his wife and his mother-in-law and that he killed Cora Barker because he was sure she knew something against him, or—"

"Wait! Suppose Dan Griffin sneaked back to the Rhodes House last night to make another search of Mrs. Hogarth's room. Trust him to know it was no longer guarded by the police! Suppose Cora Barker heard a step on the porch and ran to her window in her nightgown to investigate. Suppose she looked out, he seized her and kissed her against her will, tying her braids as he did so. If she did see him, he would have no choice but to kill her to keep her from giving the alarm."

"And why would he be coming back to Mrs. Hogarth's room?" Sergeant Turner demanded sarcastically.

"To look for the money he failed to find that night!" Dundee retorted. "Suppose a little more! Suppose he fled from Mrs. Hogarth's room Saturday night before he succeeded in finding the money, because he heard Cora knocking. The papers have made no secret of the fact that any money the old lady had in that room was not found by the police after her murder. If Dan Griffin had reason to believe she had the money he stole from the bank, he might risk anything to go back and look for it—with some hunch of his own as to where it was hidden."

"There's just one little flaw in that pretty yarn," Strawn interrupted. "Sevier didn't see anybody else while he was hanging around waiting for Cora, and he was climbing up the rose trellis himself just about the time Cora was knocking on the old lady's door—that is, if he and Cora are telling the truth. Believe me, if Sevier had seen or heard anyone he'd have been hollering about it by this time!"

"He would!" Dundee agreed triumphantly. "Oh, he would, all right! That's why I think Dan Griffin gave him no chance to see him, for he did not leave the Rhodes House that night!"

"What's that?" Strawn ejaculated, dazedly.

"I mean I am convinced that Dan Griffin murdered three women and that he is now living at the Rhodes House!"

"And who might Danny be?" Sergeant Turner gaped nastily.

"That is what I'm going to find out!" Dundee shouted, as he strode to the door. "Remember, chief, you promised to give me till Monday, and to let me work in my own way! As pay, I promise to give you a 'bad penny' by Monday night!"

Hints On How To Keep Well by World Famed Authority

FIGHT ON 'B.' REQUIRES STRICT TESTING OF DAIRY HERDS

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN, Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

The association of men with animals is pleasant and dangerous for both. There is no doubt but that some of the diseases of man are conveyed to the domestic animals and vice versa.

Recently the Massachusetts Tuberculosis League heard a survey of the subject by J. A. Kiernan. Hog cholera does not pass on to the human being, but it can destroy millions of hogs, which if converted into food would have much value for the human being, or cholera can be certainly prevented by the inoculation of the swine against the disease. In most states there are laws regulating the prevention and control of this disease.

When foot and mouth disease breaks out among herds of domestic animals it spreads rapidly, incapacitating the animals for normal functioning, reducing their weight and stopping the production of milk among cows. Hence it has been ruled that the spread of the disease must be stopped as rapidly as possible and this is usually done by destroying all of the animals in an infected herd.

The most menacing of all the diseases affecting animals is tuberculosis. There seems to be no doubt but that tuberculosis affecting cows may pass through the milk to children and produce various forms of tuberculosis in them.

Since 1917 more than thirty-five million of cattle have been tested or retested with tuberculin to find out if they were afflicted with tuberculosis. Up to January 31, 1927, according to Dr. Kiernan, 1,173,628 cattle reacted to the test and practically all were destroyed.

In 91.7 per cent of those killed there were visible lesions of the disease seen in the post mortem examination.

amination. In more than twenty per cent of the remaining animals the disease was positively demonstrated in laboratory studies.

This should be more than sufficient evidence of the scientific character of these methods for the demonstration of tuberculosis in cattle and for the necessity of using every possible means of stamping it out of herds in which it is found to exist. When herds are made free of tuberculosis they can be kept free.

More than twelve hundred American municipalities have taken measures to protect their citizens against the possibility of having unsafe milk from tuberculosis cattle. If milk comes from clean herds and is properly pasteurized there can be no danger. It is possible now to vision the time when all of the milk consumed in this country will come from tuberculosis-free cattle.

"EXCUSE ME, PLEASE" SAID MR. BIGNEY
Brockton, Mass., Dec. 12.—(AP)—His slumber disturbed by the persistent tooting of a trolley car whistle early today, Henry F. Bigney poked his head out the window to remonstrate. "Your house is on fire," shouted John Hennessey, motorman of the car and tooter of the whistle. As is customary in such cases, Bigney and his wife were forced to flee into the extreme cold while firemen extinguished the blazing roof.

"THE GREAT DIVIDE"
HERE FOR TWO DAYS

Dorothy Mackaill in Another Hard Boiled Role—Good Program in Support.

"The Great Divide", one of the famous of all American stage plays, has been adapted to the talking screen and will be seen at the State today and Saturday. Dorothy Mackaill and Ian Keith have the leading roles.

Miss Mackaill, who gave such an admirable portrayal as the circus performer in "The Barker", is seen again in another "hard-boiled" role in "The Great Divide". She is seen as an emancipated modern girl whose "whoopie" ideas of life clash with those of the man she both hates and loves. The blonde star has made a great success in her recent pictures in creating a new type of screen vamp—a girl whose bark is worse than her bite. She played such parts in "Hard to Get" and "Two Weeks Off."

"The Great Divide" is an adaptation of William Vaughn Moody's famous stage classic of the same name, to which has been added songs and dances which enhance the beauty of the picture. The story is laid in the beautiful mountain country of Arizona, and the picture is embellished with striking scenic photography. Ian Keith is seen as Miss Mackaill's leading man and he delivers a masterful portrayal of a difficult role. Myrna Loy is seen as a colorful dancing girl of half-breed extraction. Lucien Littlefield, Ben Hendricks, Creighton Hale, George Fawcett and Claude Dillingwater complete an exceptionally strong supporting cast.

An all talking comedy, "Dear Teacher", George Lyons in "Musical Moments", Clyde Doerr and his educated saxophone and the latest Hearst Metrotone Sound news complete the bill.

Not Much Happened At Baseball Confab

Schedule Shortening, Radio Broadcasting Tabled; Very Few Trades of Important Nature.

BY WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN.

New York, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The annual winter meetings of the National and American baseball leagues have ended with a minimum of action in the matter of business transacted. The question of a September closing and radio broadcasting failed to come up for official consideration after the magnates discovered that only two league presidents had jurisdiction of the question. Since both John Heydler and E. S. Barnard favor a season running from April 15 to Sept. 28 it is safe to assume that such will be the 1930 dates.

Trade talk was rife in every quarter but actual deals, as usual, were scarce. Grover Cleveland Alexander did return to Philadelphia in a deal more important from a sentimental angle than from any other. Harry McCurdy, former University of Illinois star also became a Philly with old Alex the great and young Homer Peel became a Cardinal again in the same transaction. The only other swap returned Wally Schang to the Athletics in exchange for Sammy Hale who became a Brownie.

The joint meeting at the Biltmore yesterday saw the chain store system of baseball ownership discussed at length. Sam Bredon, the most extensive dealer in live and dressed ivory, produced telegrams from presidents of a wide range of minor leagues endorsing major league ownership of the smaller clubs.

The joint session also appropriated $50,000 for American Legion junior baseball $10,000 for National amateur athletic Federation baseball. To meet these expenditures the commissioner will deduct 15 per cent from the gross of the next world series rather than the customary 10 per cent.

MUST RESCIND RULE

Chicago, Dec. 13.—(AP)—A rule prohibiting boxing matches between whites and negroes, passed by the old Illinois state athletic commission because of a riot during the Jackie Fields-Young Jack Thompson bout at the Coliseum last March must be rescinded before the pair will be permitted to engage in a title bout in the same arena January 17. It is expected the new athletic commission will repeal the ruling.

BOSTON BRUINS TOP OTTAWA 3-2

Ottawa, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins came from behind twice to tie the score in a National League hockey game here last night with Ottawa's youthful Senators and won 3-2 in the final period on Eddie Shore's brilliant goal. The Ottawa team took the lead twice in the first period. Clancy scored first unassisted with Dit Clapper, on passes by Gainer and Welland, tying for Boston. Shields of Ottawa then counted on a pass from Finnigan. Clapper took another pass from Welland in the second session to again even the count and Shore, aided by Hitchman's pass, won the game in the third period.

The game was the eighth win in the last 20 starts for the world champions in the "Battle" between the leaders of the respective divisions in the National League.

FIELDS MEETS JONES TONIGHT IN BOSTON

Boston, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Jackie Fields, welterweight champion will defy the "jinx" that trails titleholders in this city tonight in a clash with the hard-punching "Corilla" Jones of Akron, Ohio, in a non-title bout at the Boston Garden.

Five champions have come to grief in this city during the past year. The odds are ten to nine on the champion.

Fields is confident that his terrific left hooks which won him the title from Joe Dundee recently will be as effective against the Akron negro.

SHIRES FIGHTS DALY NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

Chicago, Feb. 18.—(AP)—George Trafton, center of the Chicago Bears, who will make his professional bow against Charles Arthur Shires at White City Monday night apparently is quite undisturbed by the reputation as a knockerout "the great" one established when he put Dan Daly away. Trafton plans to take the Shires bout along with all other routine business and will have his final workout Sunday afternoon by playing center for the Bears against the New York Giants.

IOWA'S ACTION MEETS APPROVAL

Chicago, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The University of Iowa's action in declaring ineligible athletes who benefited by the athletic fund has brightened its prospect of an early readmission to the western conference. Frederick Woodward, vice president of the University of Chicago and its representative on the faculty committee said Iowa should be given an early hearing if it files notice of another appeal. Professor O. F. Long, Northwestern's representative said the action has placed Iowa in a "favorable light." Prof. Ralph Aigler of Michigan indicated that a renewal of Iowa's plea would be favorably received by the committee.

Jimmy McLarin To Face Ruby Goldstein Tonight

M. H. S. PLAYING IN E. H. TONIGHT

Manchester High will seek its second basketball victory of the season tonight over the same victim it plucked in the opening tussle, East Hartford. Manchester won the first game 18 to 9.

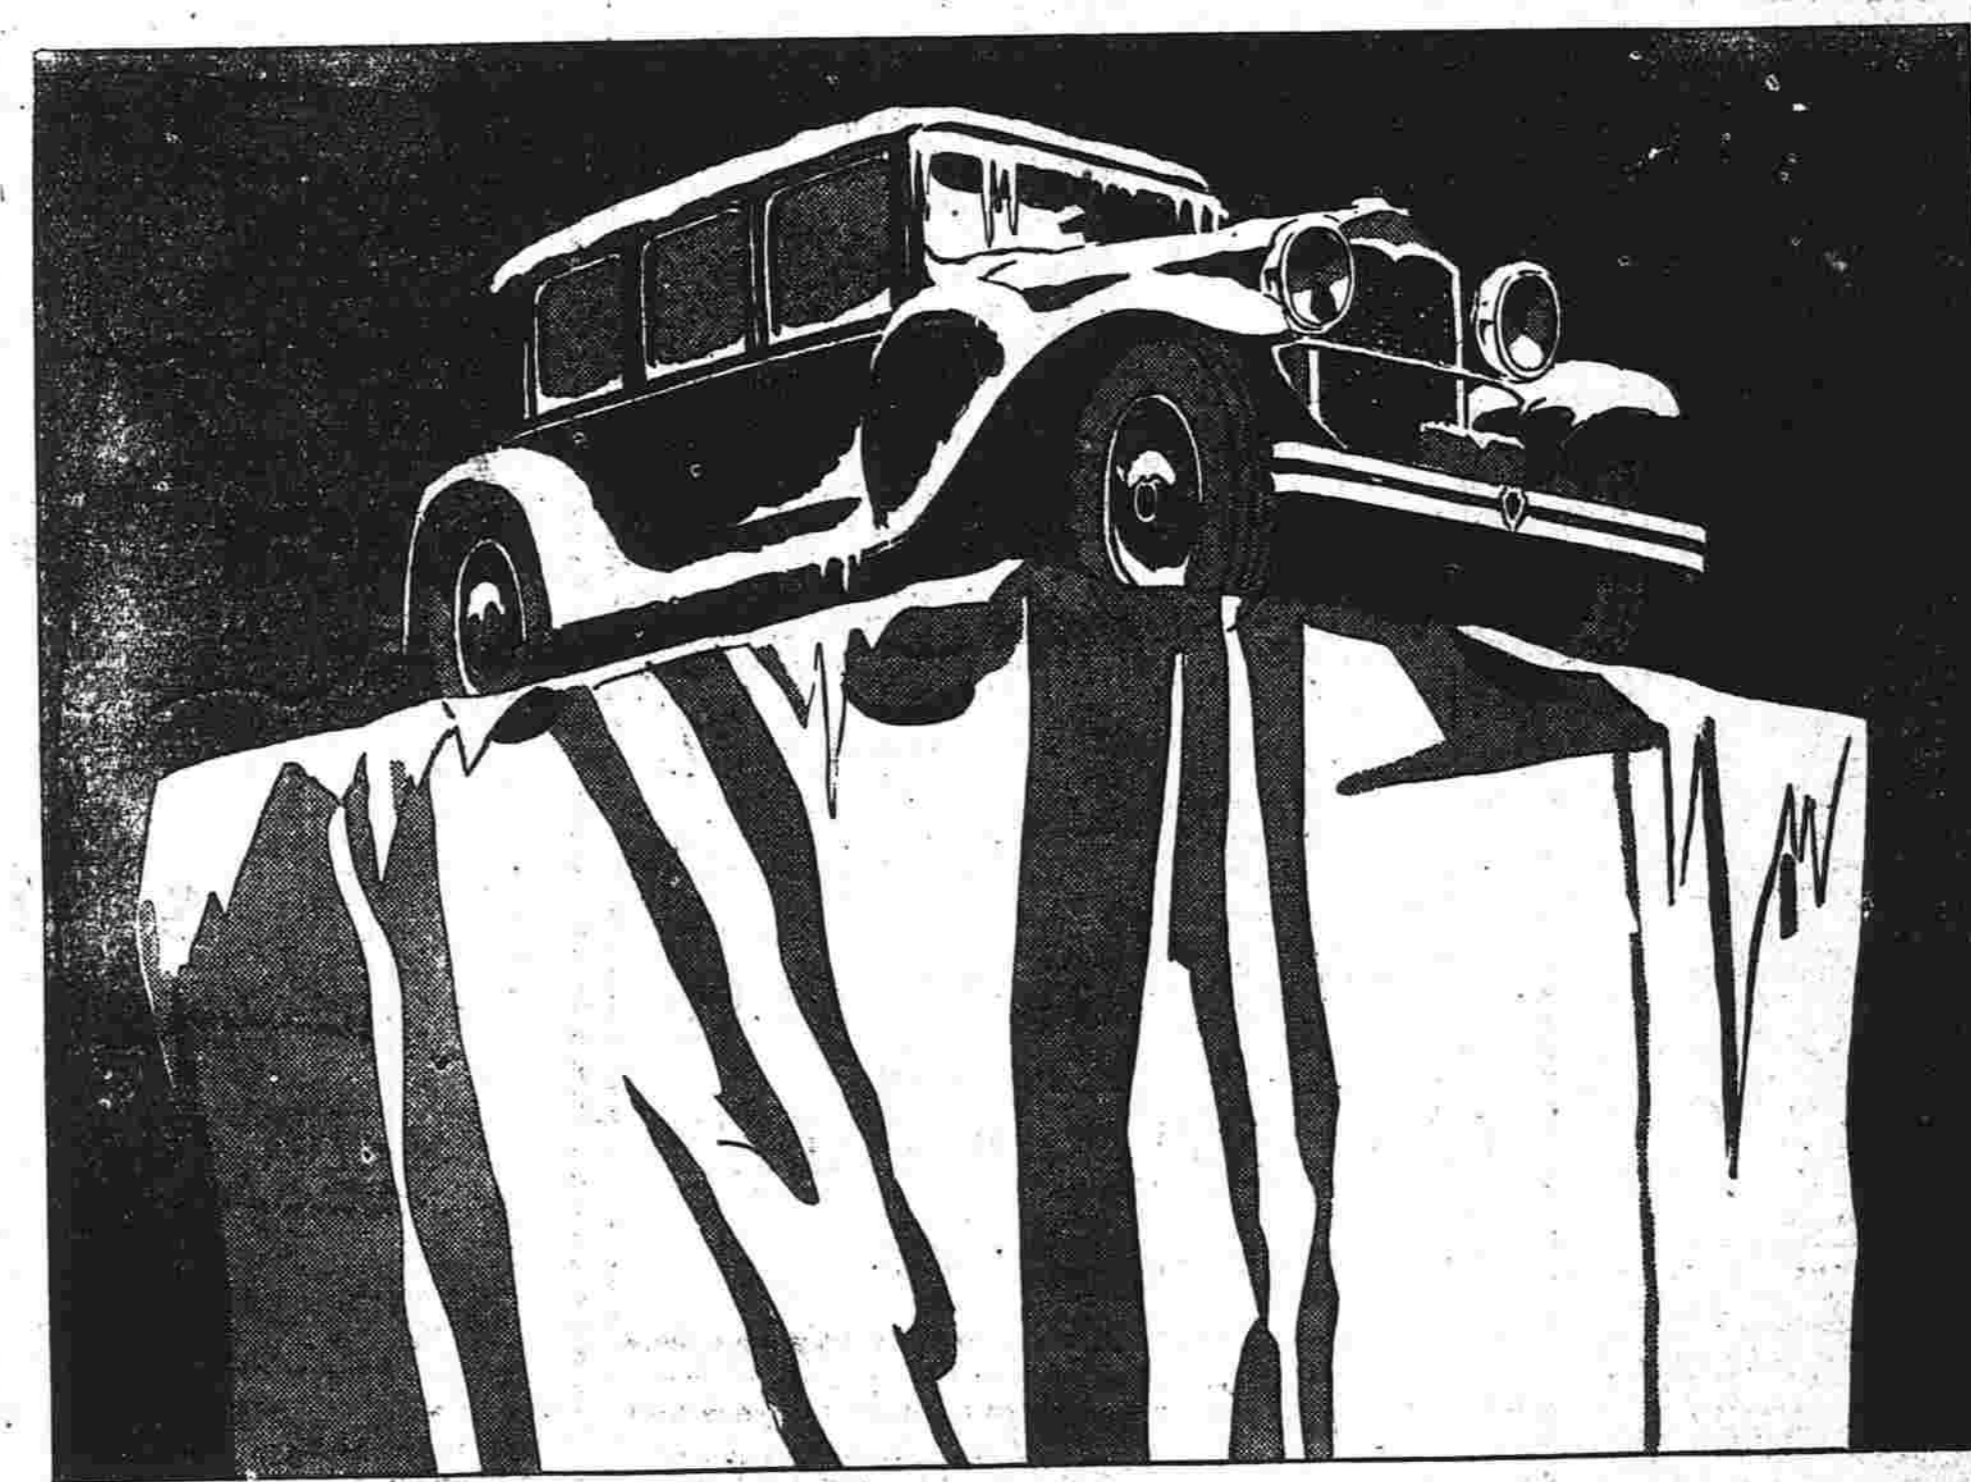

PLAY 5 MATCHES IN POOL TOURNAY

Five first round matches were played in the Masonic pocket billiards elimination tournament last evening at the Temple. Sam Turkington beat Tom Smith 50 to 42; Herb Tenney took Allen Hayes into camp 50 to 30, Loren Clifford won from Ed Swanson 50 to 25, Bob Chambers triumphed over Blanchard 50 to 28 and Sam Houston trounced Andy Raleigh 50 to 18. Tonight at 8 o'clock, Jim McCaw and Mac MacDonald will play.

Kid Kaplan Meets Andy Callahan in Ten Round Semi-Final; New York Card Attractive.

New York, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Some 20,000 spectators are expected to watch Jimmy McLarin and Ruby Goldstein punch each other around in a ten round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight. The bout seems to be a "natural" if there ever was one, bringing together two of the heaviest punchers in the welter weight class and most spectacular milling of the season in prospect. Goldstein appeared headed for the lightweight title a year or so ago, but knockouts by Sid Terris and Ace Fudkins sapped his confidence and came within an ace of sending him to the fistic scrap heap. A fast and brilliant boxer with dynamite in either fist, Goldstein has won 55 of this 66 bouts by knockouts. McLarin is a 9 to 5 favorite among the betting fraternity today. Andy Callahan, Boston lightweight meets Louis (Kid) Kaplan of Meriden, former world featherweight champion in the 10-round semi-final.

Washington, Dec. 13.—(AP.)—The House veterans committee today instructed its chairman, Representative Royal C. Johnson, South Dakota, to report a hospitalization bill to authorize an expenditure of $13,700,000.

The measure would authorize $11,500,000 for additional hospitals for World War veterans; $1,150,000 for a veterans hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., and $700,000 for alterations and repairs on existing hospitals under the Veterans Bureau.

Ruth Lloyd Kinney, talented Philadelphia concert contralto, known as "The Singer of Songs that People Love," will be the guest soloist of "The Travelers Hour" at 10:31 o'clock tonight from Station WTIC. She is equally enjoyable in the more ambitious songs of the great masters in the arias from operas or oratorios, and in simple folk songs. She has appeared with Sousa's band, Victor Herbert's orchestra, Patrick Conway's band and the Lemans Symphony orchestra. In her numerous concert appearances throughout the continent, she has given recitals in association with Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, Mana-Zucca, Hans Barth and others of equal renown. She recently completed a six months' engagement at Station WJIT, Philadelphia. She will be supported in "The Travelers Hour" by The Travelers Orchestra, directed by Christian Kriens, noted conductor and composer. A movement from his "Holland Suite" is included in the program drawn up for the presentation.

RAINBOW DANCES

Announcement that the Rainbow has already perfected elaborate plans for New Years Eve has aroused widespread interest. Many are now convinced that the program that is to be carried out at The Rainbow agreeably settles many problems for those who would make "Whoopie."
During the next two weeks 600 will banquet at the Rainbow one party of more than 300 will hold their annual get-together there. Tomorrow evening the Majors, north end club numbering 100 will hold a banquet at the Rainbow and then enjoy the dances for which The Commanders will provide a delightful program.
Tomorrow evening's Rainbow dance crowd by reason of the several interesting features to be enjoyed should number the largest of the season of the several interesting features to be enjoyed should number the largest of the season and arrangements have been made to provide an evening of rare enjoyment for all. Saturday evening the 21st. The Commanders will be the big attraction at the Black and Gold ballroom, Holyoke, Mass., and the Vagabonds of Hartford will replace them for that date at the Rainbow. On the 23rd the Commanders are playing for a big society dance in Hartford.

The Carnegie Foundation, taking an interest in the problem of age and athletic fitness, has given Stanford University $10,000 to study the matter. The Army football team would be a good subject for that research.

TELLS H. S. STUDENTS FLYING EXPERIENCES

Instructor C. L. Robinson Got First Incentive While Watching Sea Gulls.

Chester L. Robinson, Manchester's flying high school instructor, was the principal speaker at yesterday's weekly assembly of the students. He told in a most interesting manner of the experiences he has had learning to operate an airplane.

Mr. Robinson told the student body that the first thrill of that nature came riding a "shoot-the-shoot" at Old Orchard, Me., while enroute here seven years ago. However, he first became very anxious to learn to be a pilot himself from watching a flock of sea gulls near a steep cliff on an island off the coast of Maine. The gulls would swoop down near the water, come to a stop and gently and gracefully float upwards in an air current which they had learned to utilize.

Mr. Robinson said he sat and watched the sea gulls for hours and made up his mind then and there that he would learn to fly an airplane as soon as possible. Last September he started taking lessons from Milton H. Moore of the Interstate Airways located at Brainard Field in Hartford. He has now more than 20 hours of actual flying time to his credit not to mention a solo license obtained a few weeks ago.

He told how the ship is kept at the proper level through sighting against the horizon; how difficult it is to level off after turning a loop and other points in connection with flying. In addition, Mr. Robinson explained several words and expressions used in the flying vernacular, such as ramp or apron, prop, dead-stick-landing, porpoise, zoom, dolly, monkey suits, give it the gun, cracking up, soupy, tin goose and crate.

Mr. Robinson told the interested audience that he had experienced only one close call from an accident. That came when he was still receiving instruction. As he was in the act of landing, the landing gear was broken. Before Mr. Robinson knew what it was all about, the instructor had wrenched the stick from his hand and glided the plane into the air again. In order to land it was necessary to use skill that the student flyer had not yet learned and the instructor finally brought the ship safely back to earth.

TRADE SCHOOL NOTES

The basket ball team starts its exceptionally hard schedule on Friday, Dec. 13, with the Willimantic Trade school at Willimantic. Five boys, Hugo Benson, John Rukus, Ellis Faircliff, Carl Johnson and Anthony Urbanetti, all in the textile co-operative course are on the honor roll list of the High school for this period. These boys, because of their scholastic proficiency will receive an additional bonus of five cents an hour while working on actual production work for Cheney Bros.

Committees, headed by Mr. Hanna of the machine department as chairman, have completed an elaborate and varied program for the annual Christmas party given to the boys by the faculty. This program in general will consist of a talk on the meaning and significance of Xmas, recitations, songs, selections by the Trade School orchestra, piano, violin and harmonica solos, and a surprise which will not be disclosed until on the afternoon of the party. An abundant supply of ice cream, cake, and candy will be served.

SENSE and NONSENSE

Christmas Greetings. At Christmas time the world's tumult is hushed...

Yuletide chimes peal forth their gentle music, reminding us that on Christmas day nearly two centuries ago was born the Prince of Peace.

Greetings to the Boys and Girls on Main Street. No matter what in life we meet, we can't forget dear old Main Street.

It's Christmas time—Memory takes its wings. Hark! Hark! We hear the loved ones sing. They are there, they are there, Loved ones in the silver glare...

CHRISTMAS

1 cheer of and Good-will and Fellowship, always so pronounced at Yule-Tide, thrills us with sincere appreciation whenever we think of the year just closing. While we constantly endeavor from day to day, year in and year out to amuse and entertain our readers with a clean brand of humor, we are not unmindful or grateful of the efforts of our friends who contribute many really good items.

If you haven't done your Christmas Carding yet, there is yet time. How-

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS

Fashion's long skirts have been a long time coming, but are considered a short-coming by many. ever don't put it off much longer. Remember the poor postal clerks want to eat Turkey with their folks on Christmas day and don't want to be sorting your delayed-mailed Greeting Cards.

Money talks, and in our house, says Gladys, my old man says, it speaks the mother tongue. Mother: "You mustn't leave the crusts—later on you may be glad to eat crusts."

Speaking of names, Mrs. Ura Nutt, lives in Little Rock, Arkansas.

The young chaps are becoming more girlish every day. Note the pink hats and rolled socks. Short pants and skirts will no doubt come next.

The street car was crowded. "Look, Mother!" squealed little Benny, as a passenger took a seat opposite. "There's the man who comes to our house every week for the furniture money."

EMDEN BACK HOME

Wilhelshafen, Germany, Dec. 13. (AP.)—The German cruiser Emden returned today from a year's good will world cruise during which the ship also called at Pacific coast and Central American ports. The ship's officers said the cruise did much to bring Germany into closer relationship with other nations.

MANAGER KILLED

Villacoublay, France, Dec. 13.—(AP.)—Antoine Rouverie, general manager of the Villacoublay airfield, was killed today in the collapse of one of the largest hangars here during a terrific gale. There were no other casualties. The Villacoublay field is second only to Le Bourget.

THE TINY TALES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Oh, my, what fun the Tinies had. It seemed that everyone was glad that he had come to toyland and joined in with the work. When working with a thing that's fun, it isn't long until it's done. Why, Clowzy grew out of the thought of trying to shirk. With hammers, saws and nails galore they worked upon the toy shop floor and fixed a lot of scooters into dandy running form. Express carts, too, were finished quick and every one of them looked slick. Said Carpy, "I have worked so hard I'm really getting warm."

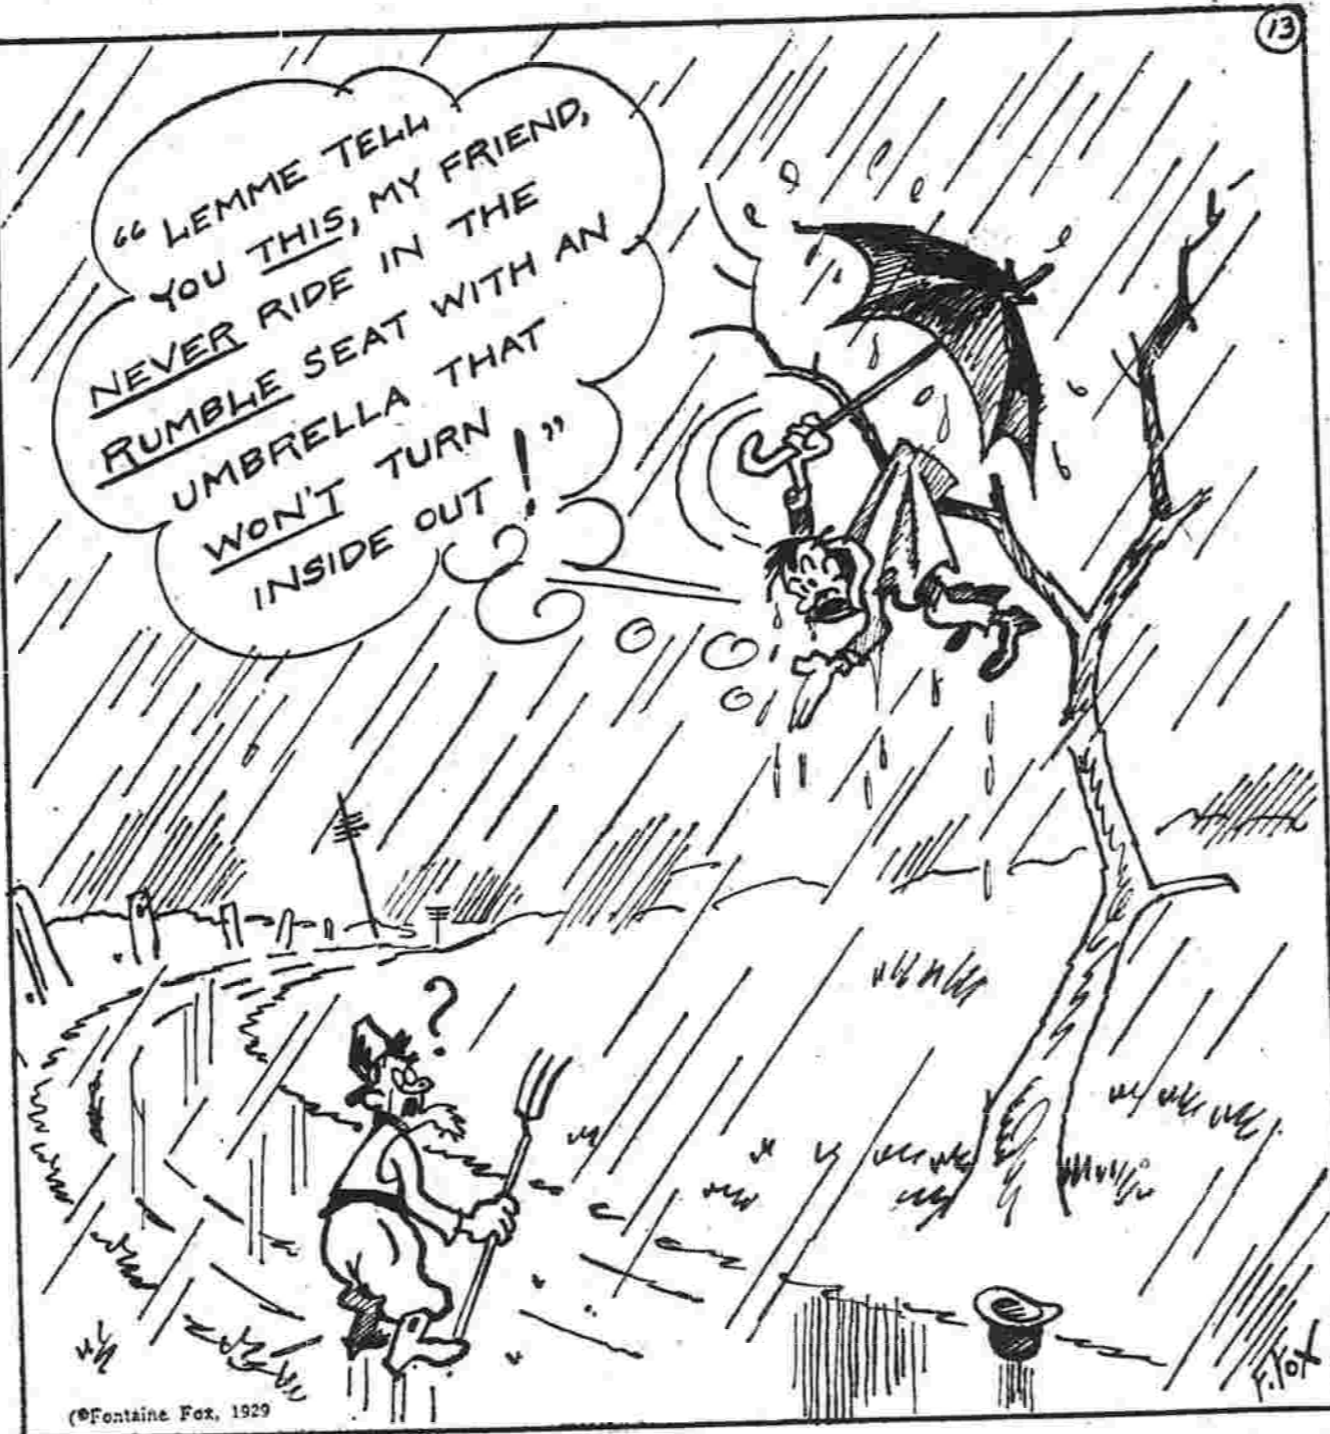

SKIPPY

"DEAR MISS LARKIN: THIS IS FROM SKIPPY'S FATHER SPEAKING. MY DEAR LITTLE BOY SENT ME YOUR LETTER WHEN I WAS STOPPING OFF CLEVELAND. IT'S VERY FUNNY, MISS LARKIN, THAT I HAVE LIVED WITH HIM FROM NINE TO TEN YEARS AND I HAVE ALWAYS FOUND THAT IF YOU DO NOT UNCOMPOSE HIM YOU GET ALONG WITH HIM BETTER, AND YOU SEEM TO FORGET, MAYBE, THAT I'M A HUSTLER AND I DON'T WANT TO BE BOTHERED WITH NO MORE LETTERS. PLEASE DO ME THE FAVOR."
