Washington, Dec. 20.—(AP)— The bustle and stir known to every American home as Christmas comes round was seen in the White House today as President and Mrs. Hoover prepared for an old fashioned yule-

Christmas trees were ordered for the close friends of the Chief Executive, one to be placed in the east room and another for the President's private apartment on the sec-

To compensate for the failure of Herbert Hoover, Jr., to come with his young children to spend Christmas at the White House, Mr. and Mrs. Hoover have arranged for a party at which the youngsters of the men in their immediate official families will participate. Secretary and Mrs. Davis will bring their children for a special Christmas party as will assistant secretary Davis of the War Department and the President's two private secretaries George Akerson and Walter New-

On Christmas eve the President and Mrs. Hoover will participate in an open air party in Sherman Square, where a huge community tree will be lighted. Later there will be Christmas carol singing on the north lawn of the White House where several hundred school children will sing.

At the ceremonies in Sherman Square an appropriate Christmas address will be made by Ray Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior.

MacDONALD WINS OUT BY ONLY EIGHT VOTES

London, Dec. 20 .- (AP)-Ramsay MacDonald, prime minister today retained the confidence of the British House of Common on an important measure but only by a narrow margin in 8 votes. The Commons last night voted the coal mines bill on its second reading, 281

Since the voting was almost strictly along party lines with the Liberals siding with the opposition, it appeared that the government staved off defeat on a major issue only because 32 Conservatives were absent from their seats. The vote actually was on a Conservative amendment rejecting in toto the coal mines bill. The division climaxed the first serious crisis

Between now and January 21, when Parliament assembles after the holidays, the government will negotiate with the various political and economic interests that have registered disapproval of the bill in whole or in part, hoping by this means to placate enemies of the

STORM HITS CANADA

Toronto, Dec. 20 .- (AP.) -After causing extensive damage to communication systems and orchards in western Ontario, the most severe sleet storm in years was moving into the eastern part of the province today.

Only main highways in western Ontario were passable; street car service continued disrupted, and communication lines were being restored but slowly. Reports of property damage most serious was that at London where hundreds of miles of telephone poles toppled to the ground. The damage is estimated at a quarter of a million dol-

Welland, where more than 200 ice enshrouded telephone and telegraph poles fell, resumed communication with outside points last night. Other places reporting extensive damage were Port Colborne, St. Catherines, Sarnia, Windsor, Stratford, Branford, Guelph, Chatham, Ingersall and Woodstock. Grave fears were felt for the famous orchards of Niagara, many of the trees having been blown to the ground and others stripped of all

FOR DEER SLAYERS

Hartford, Dec. 20-(AP)-There is no penalty for the slaying of deer in Connecticut according to the act concerning deer passed by the General Assembly and signed by Governor John H. Trumbull.

Deer slayers may be arrested, have their hunting licenses revoked and the state may confiscate the carcasses of the slaughtered animals but punishment for such violation of the law is not included in the statute ..

John W. Titcomb, superintendent of the State Board of Fisheries and Game admitted yesterday that such said was the general situation but it was

STATE BANK SAVINGS

Hartford Dec. 20- (AP) -Savings in Connecticut banks for the fiscal year ended September 30 showed an increase of $26,079,549, according to a report filed today with Governor Trumbull by state bank commissioner Lester E. Shippee. This gain in bank deposits is in addition to $30,443,383 increase in commercial deposits in trust companies, the two items representing total gain of $56,523,033.

Despite the complaint of some bankers that depositors were withdrawing their bank deposits to purchase stocks prior to the collapse of the stock market, the report indicates that during the year the banks had 1,366,474 accounts, the increase in new accounts totalling 54,373. During that period the banks increased their assets from $1,077,322,395 to $1,162,740,982 of which $456,298,221 was for state banks and trust companies and $706,442,760 for savings banks.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Tularemia)

Question:-H. M. P. asks: "Will you please give me the symptoms and treatment for the disease known as tularemia caused from the bite of a rabbit?"

Answer:-The disease known as tularemia usually comes through an infection in the hands which comes from the intestines of a rabbit while being cleaned. This disease is sometimes fatal, but the victim usually recovers after months of extreme weakness. A more speedy recovery will be effected through a rigid diet regime. The details of this treatment are too complicated to be given in this column. (Gassy Foods)

Question:-T. Y. writes: "Kindly state what fruits and vegetables to avoid if one is inclined to gas on the stomach.'

Answer:-Those who are inclined to flatulence should avoid using the acid fruits with meals, and should not use onions, garlic, cabbage or navy beans and very limited of the starchy foods. (Increasing Height) Question:-J. B. asks: "In your opinion, would a height-increasing course be injurious to a person 19 years old? I understand that the object of the course is to loosen the segments, and exercise the bones, especially the spinal column, which causes the person to grow. Answer:-If this treatment is given carefully it is of great value not only in increasing the height but in its effect upon other parts of the body from the stimulation to the spinal nerves.

MAPLE SYRUP FOUND A FOE OF WING ICE

Washington, - (AP) - Plain maple syrup, such as served with pancakes, is one of the best preventive solutions to combat formadon of ice on airplane wings and struts.

Its use, and the use of other prerentive solutions, however, is efective only for a brief time, the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics has determined.

The best way of preventing ice formations is for the pilot to learn of the conditions under which ice might be formed on his plane and avoid them. Successful prevention by the coating method, the committee reported, appears to be very unlikely.

Investigation of formation of ice on airplanes in flight was taken up the advisory committee at its Langley field laboratory after re-ports of planes having been forced down by ice had brought the confusion that the failure of many long distance flights, the fate of hose personnel is unknown, might have been caused by ice.

Oiling wing surfaces, seemed the most logical preventive means, the advisory committee reported, developed the unexpected ct that ice formed on the treated surface more quickly than on the untreated surface. Unlike the behavior of water imply poured upon such surfaces, rops striking the greasy material ith great force were imbedded, ad froze before they had an oprtunity to roll off. Heating of wings to prevent ice rmation was found impractical. Experience in many flights de-ermined that clear, transparent such as forms on trees and ires in a sleet storm, and the ost dangerous variety for the airane, forms only in a narrow range of temperatures below 32 derees fahrenheit when fog, rain or jouds are encountered.

This form of ice piles up on the sading edge of surfaces and diserts their shape, resulting in seri-us loss of aerodynamic efficiency; uses wings to lose part of their e, and brings forced landings. At temperatures below this narw band, and down to 14 or 15 deees fahrenheit, a light, white, ow-like ice is formed. This type, alled "rine ice," adheres closely the shape of the object and ises less loss of efficiency.

Looking ahead to gloomy days, othing is cheerier than a lively fored kitchen. Sunny yellow, eam with crimson trim, parchent-colored walls with flaming range curtains or black and hite with the most vivid of decorations are all stimulating.

USE 60 TONS OF COAL DAILY FOR YALE PLANT

New Haven, Dec. 23 — (AP) — Some figures made known today bearing upon the power plant which supplies heat and electricity to Yale University show that sixty tons of coal a day are used during the 35 heavy weeks of the season, or about 12,500 tons in all.

To provide heat for the new Sterling Library, the new law chambers, new gym, new Sterling dormitories and William L. Harkness Hall, it would be necessary to add three boilers to the equipment which next summer will make the number eight in a plant designed Mechanical equipment is such that no hand touches the fuel, the stoking and handling of coal being with automatic devices and the ashes being removed in the same, way. Five men constitute the plant force. To provide current, none of which except for a small amount used in the art gallery and theater, is bought, Yale had turbine generators which have over a thousand kilowatt capacity.

Not too much success, but too much of the carbohydrates is the usual cause of the blood pressure soaring higher than the normal. Nevertheless, I promise you that everyone can enjoy all of the success in the world and never have a high blood pressure if very little of the sugars and starches is used. Another common fallacy is that meat or smoking causes high blood pressure if very little of the sugars and starches are used, neither of these seems to have any important

TROTZKY REGAINS

Former Bolshevik War Lord Now in Exile, Has Hope of Regaining Power.

Prinkipo, Princes Islands, Turkey. -(AP)-Leon Trotzky, former Bolshevik war lord, is still an exile on this island of the Marmora Sea, but his famous beard and mustache, shorn when he was secretly brought into Turkey, are back. With their return there seems to have come a recrudescence of his Samsonian vigor, mental and physical. Recent interviewers found him no longer a sick, pallid, down-andouter, but as bristling with energy as his restored mustachios.

His summer on the island has restored his health, but his physical energy finds an outlet in daily fishing excursions on the Marmora Sea. He remains wary of public promenades-for there are still some 1300 lean White Russians drifting about. So long as they are in the neighborhood, the smasher of their fortunes keeps prudently within his villa, and Turkish secret service man and police dog keep guard without the

GROWNUP'S LETTER TO

SANTA CLAUS Put in my stocking this year a dash of Human Kindness. Add some of the Breadth of Vision that will make me realize that all men are my Brothers. Pour in some of the Oil of Graciousness-the mark of a true gentleman. Give me to play well my part in this big, busy world, and so to regulate my life that when I pass on no man can say of me: "He lived for self alone." Leave me a generous package of Good Cheer, so the when my brother is weighted down with despair, I may go to him and him to look up and hope anew. Bring me a Jackin-the-Box, like the one that set my boyish heart to beating faster in days gone by. Only let it be filled with Faith, and give me to unlock its magic for every heart that comes my way.

And don't forget a cane-not the age-old peppermint candy cane, but a staff of Spiritual Strength, on which I may lean when sorrow casts its shadow on my path. Make all the children of earth glad, Dear Santa, but don't forget that growntoo, sometimes dream of dreams and wish again for childhood unrealities. Write upon the minds and hearts of all who have relinquished the carefreeness of youth, for the stern realties of life, the message that Real Happiness consists not of material things, but of days spent in the service of one's
