BORAH ASKS SOVIET TO AID U. S. AVIATORS

Senator Makes Direct Plea to Russia to Help in Search for Eielson and His Companion.

Washington, Dec. 24.—(AP)—A direct request to the Soviet government for aid in rescuing Ben Eielson, American aviator, lost for six weeks on the ice off the coast of Siberia, has been made by Chairman Borah of the Senate foreign relations committee.

The request was made yesterday in a cablegram to M. Litvinoff, acting secretary of foreign affairs, at the request of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former assistant attorney general in charge of enforcement and now council for the aviation corporation which employed Eielson and his mechanic, Carl Borland.

Independent Action. Senator Borah said today his cablegram was sent independently of the action taken yesterday by Secretary Wilbur, who appealed to the Soviet government for aid in the rescue work.

Senator Borah, long an advocate of recognition by the United States of the Soviet Government, sent the following cablegram:

"Two American aviators, Eielson and Borland, flying from Teller, known to be down in the vicinity of icebound steamship Nanook within hundred miles of our icebreaker Stavropol. I bring this to your attention believing you will be glad to direct Stavropol to make such search for them as practicable."

Senator Borah today received from Vilhjalmur Stefansson, Arctic explorer, thanking him for his interest in the missing flyers. Stefansson yesterday appealed to the Interior Department to request the Soviet government to search for them.

The telegram, sent from New York, follows: "Mrs. Willebrandt has told me of your interest. Best thanks in which I am sure all friends of Eielson and Borland join."

PLAN RECEPTION FOR ORTIZ-RUBIO Mexican President to Be Received by President Hoover at Capital Thursday.

Washington, Dec. 24.—(AP)—A reception and entertainment, more elaborate and extensive than that for any similar dignitary in many years will mark the forthcoming visit to the capital by President-Elect Ortiz Rubio of Mexico. The Mexican president-elect, will arrive by special train at Union station at noon Thursday from Baltimore.

Headed by Secretary Stimson and Mrs. Stimson, three representatives of President Hoover, a distinguished gathering will greet the Mexican official upon his arrival.

Soldiers, sailors and marines, will render the military honors at the station and the Mexican Embassy, with service bands on hand to play the American and Mexican national anthems. The line of march from the station to the Embassy will be accompanied by a large escort of motorcycle police accompanying the party from the time the last salutes are given at Union station until military honors are resumed upon the arrival at the Embassy on Sixteenth street.

President Hoover will officially receive the distinguished visitor at the White House at 3 p. m., Mrs. Hoover receiving Senora Ortiz Rubio immediately afterward. Precedent established at the beginning of the history of the United States will be broken by President Hoover and Mrs. Hoover in returning these calls.

Previously calls of presidents-elect visiting the United States, and even that of Prime Minister MacDonald have been returned by the President and First Lady by cards left by an aide. The function which will climax the social entertainment of the president-elect and his suite will be the state dinner to be given by the President and Mrs. Hoover at the White House at 8 p. m. Friday. The party will leave the capital Sunday afternoon.

TRAMP STEAMER SAFE

Boston, Dec. 24.—(AP)—With no further word at 7 a. m. today from the Norwegian tramp steamer "Korning" reported at first aground and sinking last night 15 miles south of Nantucket lightship and later reported proceeding under her own power to Providence, R. I., danger to the ship was believed past. The boat was not expected to arrive before noon.

HUNTER SHOTS GOOSE; GOOSE SHOTS HUNTER

San Francisco, Dec. 24.—(AP)—W. F. Speedy of Pittsburgh, killed a goose but the goose had its revenge. It shot off Speedy's left hand.

Speedy with a group of companions, had bagged several geese and was about to quit the hunt yesterday when a particularly tempting flock sailed over head. Speedy fired and one goose fell. It dropped into a neighboring blind, striking the trigger of another hunter's gun and discharging it. The charge tore off Speedy's hand.

Austrian Chemist Has Valuable Secret But He Is Facing Bleak Christmas.

New York, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Penniless, far from home, and unable to speak a word of English, Heinrich Weber, Austrian chemist and engineer, moped about the home of relatives at Coney Island today, facing a bleak Christmas. In his brain he has a $1,000,000 secret. In his pockets not a penny.

Equally bleak were the holiday prospects of his two erstwhile friends, Moses Rosenthal, who paid Weber's expenses to this country from Lemburg, Austria, and Isidore Thornschein, who back in the old country saved him from military service in the World War thereby making it possible for him to continue on his scientific labors.

Valuable Formula. Locked in the brain of Weber was a secret—a formula which, he and his former friends say, might be worth millions and revolutionize the coal industry.

But today neither Weber nor his former friends were getting any benefit out of it, because the chemist, afraid lest his precious formula be stolen from him, has refused to reveal it to anyone or to have it patented. He wants to sell it outright, for $1,000,000.

Rosenthal and Thornschein, however, had one bit of satisfaction. They obtained a Supreme Court order enjoining him from leaving the country or divulging his secret to anyone save themselves.

Cheap Coal. Weber, according to the papers submitted by Rosenthal and Thornschein in their petition for an injunction, has invented a formula which, mixed with water and coal dust, will produce excellent briquettes—possibly at $1 a ton.

The Lehigh Valley Navigation and Coal Company, Rosenthal said, had witnessed a test but before making any arrangements with Weber and his friends, the firm insisted that the process be patented.

Weber refused, he said it would be stolen if patented. And he continued to refuse after receiving subsequently offers from the Prospect Coal Company, the Susquehanna Coal Company and J. M. Markel, a coal operator of Hazelton, Pa.

He demands $1,000,000—$250,000 in cash—before he will reveal to anyone his formula.

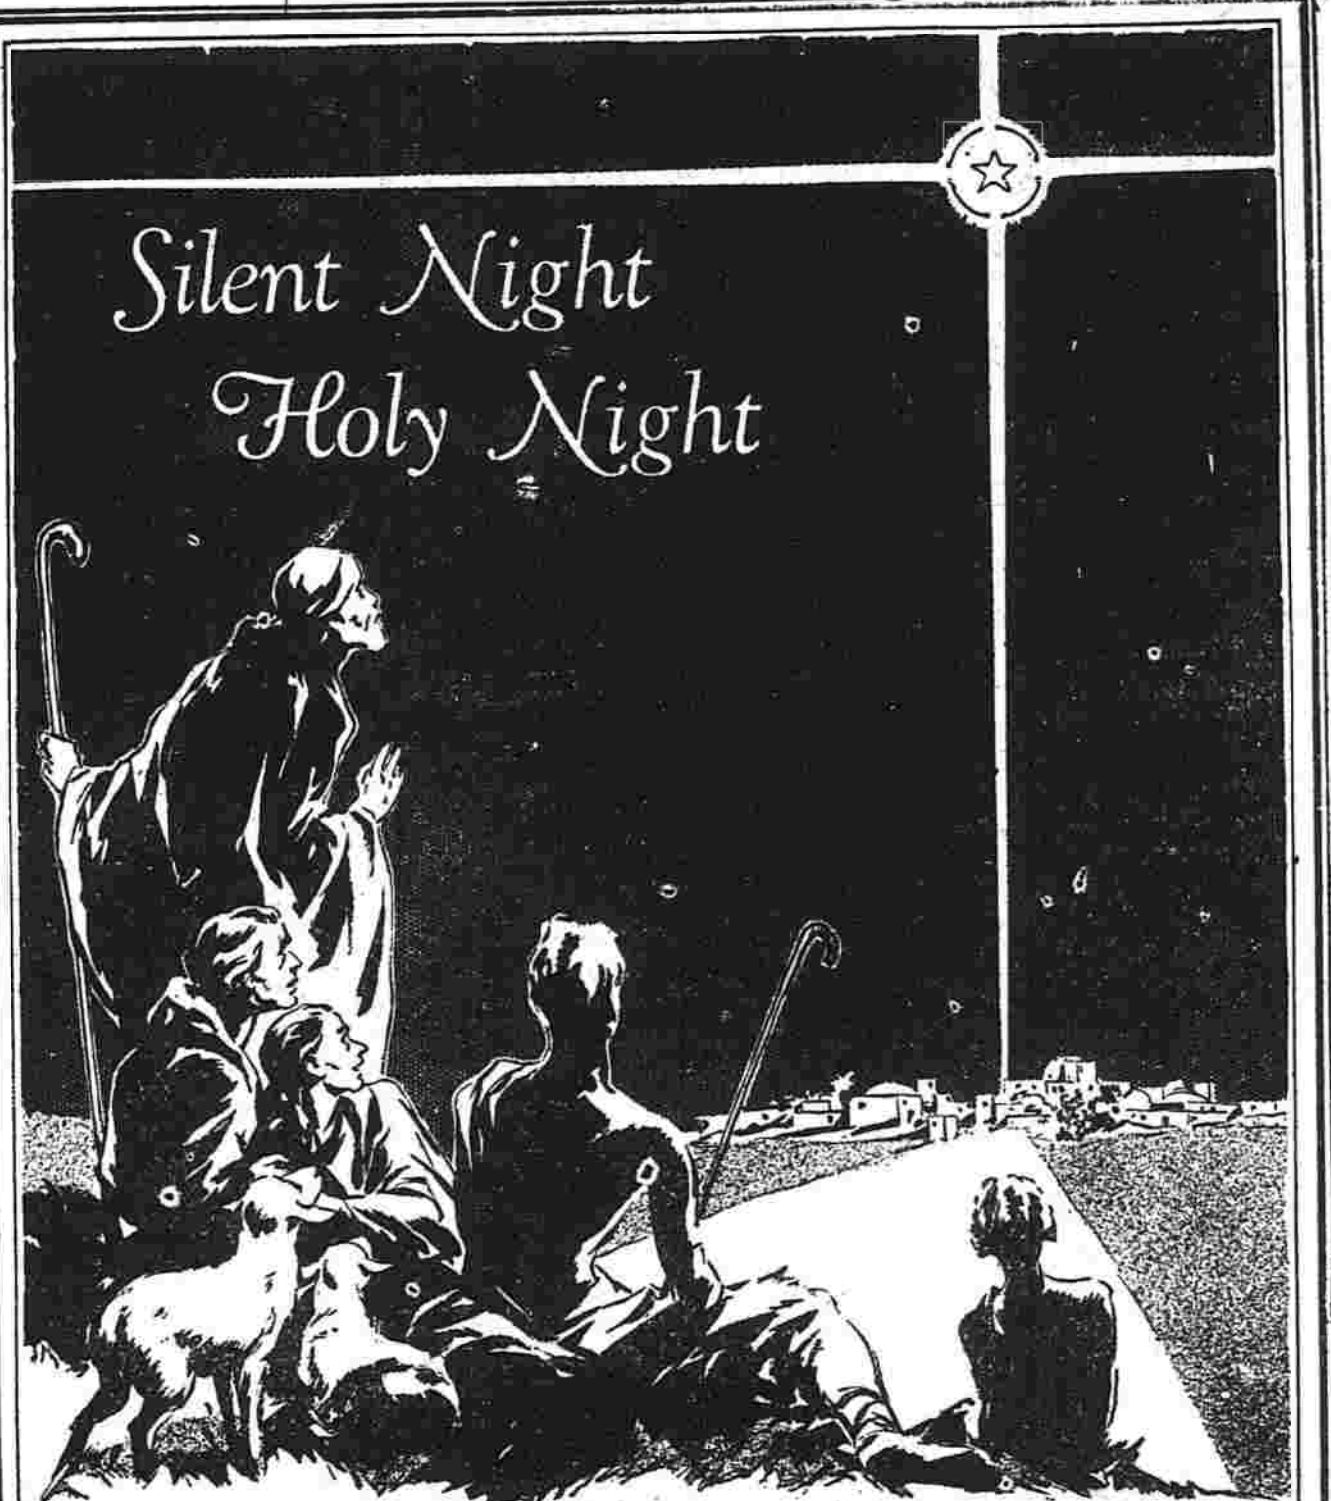

BINGHAM NAMES PINNEY TO U. S. NAVAL ACADEMY

Grandson of Lucius Pinney, Local Civil War Veteran, Wins Coveted Annapolis Appointment.

No Christmas gift or message of good cheer could bring more happiness to Lucius Pinney, well known local Civil War veteran, than the welcome news that his grandson has been appointed to the West Point Military Academy. Comrade Pinney's son, Frank L. Pinney, is captain of the U. S. S. Wyoming which is the flagship of the scouting fleet. But now that his grandson, Frank L. Pinney, Jr., has followed in the footsteps of his father, the Civil War veteran is a happy man.

Young Pinney is only 16 years old and is at present attending the Severn School in Severn Park, Md., an institution close to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. He was graduated from the Friends High school at Washington, D. C. He will enter West Point next spring to begin his four year's course.

Captain Pinney's son was one of three men selected by Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut to fill vacancies at the Naval Academy. Preliminary Civil Service examinations were conducted and the best suited applicants sent before Senator Bingham and some advisors at New Haven last Saturday afternoon. The Manchester young man was the first of three principals selected. Six more were named as alternates.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people; For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. —From the second chapter of the Gospel according to St. Luke (King James Version.)

WHITE XMAS THE RULE OVER ALMOST ALL U. S.

Last Night's Storm Covers All Eastern States With White Blanket; Heavy Snows, South and West.

New York, Dec. 24.—(AP)—A white Christmas was in prospect throughout most of the country from Maine to Texas today. A northeast storm brought snow and sleet to New York and the Atlantic Coast states, while the west had received from the blizzard of last week, experienced another heavy fall of snow. The unprecedented snow which visited the south as far as Louisiana was melting, but in Texas and other sections snow continued to linger over the holidays.

A number of fatal accidents, disrupted air mail service, delayed trains and difficult highway travel attended the series of storms. A heavy snow storm in Maine hampered the work of repairing damage done by last week's sleet storm. Filing drifts in Vermont tied up rail service and halted motor traffic.

In New York Throughout New York state a heavy fall of snow was reported ranging in depth from six inches at Buffalo to more than a foot in the central part of the state. In New York city a slight rise in temperature turned a light snow fall to sleet which froze on pavements and sidewalks and impeded traffic. Several minor accidents were blamed on slippery pavements.

Pittsburgh, Pa., had a fall of five inches, the greatest amount of snow of the season. A snow which was general throughout Maryland turned to rain in Baltimore, coating the streets with ice. Two deaths were attributed to the storm. Three deaths, numerous injuries and blocked highways were due to the heavy snows in Virginia.

Residents of Hillsboro, Texas, were digging themselves out of a fall of 26 inches of snow, the deepest blanket ever recorded there. Florida had freezing temperatures and overcast skies as far south as the Everglades. At Miami and Key High school in Washington, D. C. West warmer weather prevailed with the mercury at 68 degrees.

In the region of the Great Lakes snows which began to fall Sunday continued. The northern half of Ohio was virtually snowbound with eight inches on the ground and no indications of a let up. The forecast on the Pacific Coast called for snow and rain in Washington, Oregon, Idaho and probably Northern California and Nevada.

SNOWDEN HITS AT PROTECTION IN HIS SPEECH

British Chancellor Tells Commons Silk and Sugar Duties Will Be Repealed At Earliest Opportunity.

London, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Philip Snowden, Labor chancellor, told the House this afternoon that the government would renew none of the "Tory safeguarding" import duties after their expiration. He added that the McKenna silk and sugar duties would be repealed at the earliest practicable opportunity.

Mr. Snowden said the government would decide when the time was ripe for such action and declared he would make no further statement before the April budget came up.

Mr. Snowden's announcement was a direct blow by Labor at the Conservative "protectionist" policies. Liberals have been in sympathy on this issue with the Laborites.

Raps Snowden. Winston Churchill, former Chancellor of the exchequer, enlivened the Christmas eve session by a violent attack on Philip Snowden, his labor successor in the post, and on Snowden's financial methods.

Mr. Churchill declared Mr. Snowden was becoming more and more "crapulous and distasteful" in his attitude. He thought England was not celebrating a very cheerful or bright Christmas under the labor government.

Prices have risen, wages are declining, unemployment has risen and there is a considerable financial disquiet," Mr. Churchill went on.

Gloomy Prospects. "In the New Year lies a vista of political turmoil and possibly a momentous general election. It is a black and gloomy prospect for Great Britain, but she has the remedy in her own hands."

Mr. Snowden in reply said "how- ever strenuous may be the conflict between Mr. Churchill and myself, I want to assure the House that I am very fond of him. I really don't know how I should get on without him. Therefore I conclude by wishing the right honorable gentleman a Merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year."

NO TREASURY BALANCE. Washington, Dec. 24.—(AP)—All government offices were closed today. No statements of the condition of the U. S. Treasury were issued.

Services in nine churches, before dawn and after, will usher in Christmas Day in Manchester while one solitary sports attraction and the theatre will see the Christmas Day out. Home with its mistletoe and holly, its Yuletide spirit of good cheer, will undoubtedly be the center of interest to most.

Several of the churches held their Christmas services last Sunday and will hold none on Christmas day.

Early Service. "Julotta," the traditional service of the Swedish people, meaning "Before the dawn," will be held in both the Swedish Lutheran and Swedish Congregational church at 5:30 o'clock in the morning, with many of the others observing the day at 6:30 o'clock and 8 o'clock.

The sports attraction promises to be well worth seeing. The Rec Five will entertain the strong New Britain National Guards in the evening. The New Britain basketball team will play the locals over Manchester and the victory will be out for revenge. Dancing follows the High school meets its Alumni.

On Friday morning the State theater will present a benefit performance for the needy children of the town starting at 10 o'clock. Five hundred tickets have already been placed in the hands of George Wadell, town treasurer who will distribute them through Miss Jessie Reynolds. The show will be of the type that children like with feature, comedy and newsreel that will provide two hours of enjoyable entertainment.

ASSASSIN KILLED AS HE TRIES TO SHOOT PRESIDENT

Chief Executive of Argentina Has Narrow Escape from Death; Italian Anarchist Fires Three Shots at Him, Wounds Two and Is Himself Slain by the Guards.

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Dec. 24.—(AP)—An attempt to assassinate President Hipolito Yrigoyen today was frustrated by the quickness of his guards and the attacker was shot down within a few minutes, seven bullets being found in his body.

The assailant who was described by police as an Italian Anarchist named Guiberto Marinelli, 44, fired at least three shots at the presidential automobile as the president was en route to the palace from his home.

President Yrigoyen was unhurt, but an employee of the investigations office was wounded in the stomach and was taken to a hospital critically injured. Another attendant also was injured.

It was reliably reported that the president's chauffeur was killed and the police commissioner injured, but because of the great excitement at the scene and the reticence of the police, it was impossible to obtain official confirmation.

The attack took place on the International road, Marinelli concealing himself beside it and then springing out to fire as the president's automobile passed.

The assailant's shots had barely rung out when the president's escort returned the fire, pouring a stream of bullets at the man and felling him where he stood.

President Yrigoyen has long been one of the most powerful figures in Argentina. He was first elected to the chief executive's post in 1916 and was in office until 1922. He was re-elected in 1928.

(By Associated Press) Anarchists and Extremists were alleged by police to have been behind two attempts at violence reported in Europe and South America today.

In Buenos Aires, an alleged Anarchist fired several shots at President Yrigoyen. The president was unhurt, but several of his escort were wounded. The assassin was shot dead by guards.

From Brussels came reports of the discovery of a plot against the Belgian royal family which was to have been bombed while en route to Rome to attend the marriage of Princess Marie Jose and Crown Prince Humbert in January.

Belgian police declared that Anarchists and Extremists were behind the plot.

JERUSALEM CELEBRATES THE EVE OF CHRISTMAS

Churches Crowded With Tourists and Natives; Hold Night Service at Bethlehem.

Jerusalem, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Bright sunshine and blue sky today gave Christmas eve in Jerusalem a spring-like air. The streets were crowded with people after the early closing of offices, and most of the passers-by carried parcels of Christmas presents. The shops were decorated in honor of "Father Christmas."

All the western churches, representing nearly all the peoples of the western hemisphere, were thronged with people praising God in many languages early this evening. The religious celebrations culminated with the Roman Catholic and the Anglican night services at Bethlehem, where the ancient monasteries surrounding the spot where Christ was born were the centers of a lavish pontifical mass and resounded with Christmas songs.

Three hundred American and Canadian tourists, who arrived at Haifa aboard the liner Empress of Australia, attended the services in Bethlehem.

It's Just Such Mistakes That Make Xmas Merry

Independence, Kas., Dec. 24.—(AP)— Possession of olfactory memories that date back to pre-Volsteadian days has made an Independence motorist the most popular man in town. The happy one, who prefers to be nameless, purchased a gallon of alcohol for the radiator of his motor car.

There will be no issue of The Herald tomorrow, Christmas Day. The Herald extends the season's greetings to its readers.

HARRIS DEMANDS JUDGE'S REMOVAL

Georgia Senator Says McCormick Remarks Would Encourage Lawbreakers.

Washington, Dec. 24.—(AP)—President Hoover conferred today with Senator Harris, of Georgia, who has demanded the removal from the law enforcement commission of Federal Judge Paul J. McCormick.

The Georgian, a leader among those who have expressed dissatisfaction with the procedure of the commission, said he had been called to the White House by Mr. Hoover. He would make no comment on the nature of the discussion.

Senator Harris objected to statements Judge McCormick made in Los Angeles about prohibition enforcement. McCormick said that search of private dwellings without warrants was an outstanding evil. Harris contended that McCormick's utterances would encourage lawbreakers.

QUINN DEMOTED. Washington, Dec. 24.—(AP)—John J. Quinn, former deputy prohibition administrator at Baltimore, who was suspended after complaints against him had been filed with the White House, has been demoted to the rank of prohibition agent.

Prohibition Commissioner Doran, who announced Quinn's demotion today, said the former administrator would be transferred to another district, but declined to say where. The charges against Quinn have never been made public and Doran would not discuss them.

HOW CAPITAL'S WOMEN WILL SPEND THE HOLIDAY

A Peek Behind the Curtain In Washington; Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Will Hang Up Stocking.

Washington, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick actually hangs up her stocking on Christmas eve.

Mrs. Dolly Gann puts all her packages in a spare bedroom, and doesn't peek until after breakfast.

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen insists on singing carols, even though it is an apartment house.

Thus, with Christmas customs that have come from childhood, official Washington celebrates, just like the rest of the land.

"I've fourteen children in my carol crowd," reported Representative Owen, "two grand-children, three borrowed children, four invited-in children. Sometimes I've been afraid we'd put out of the apartment house with the noise we've made practicing."

A Happy Time. "We're having a happy time, the first Christmas in our new home," said Representative McCormick, who now occupies one of Georgetown's historic homes, remodeled to her taste. "The Children, Matrina, Medill and Ruth, are deep in annual tree-trimming and Christmas-decorations contest, and we all have our stockings ready to hang by the fire place."

At Alice and Nicholas Longworth's home, the report was that everything seemed to be centering about little Paulina, the child who does her own Christmas shopping.

Christmas breakfast is the big occasion in our home, confided Mrs. Gann, sister to the vice president. "But we'll have a happy family dinner, too, and a peek at the midshipman's ball afterward."

Representative Pearl Oldfield was happy because a young man from

EX-SENATOR PERCY DIES IN HOSPITAL

Leading Citizen of Mississippi Passes Away in 69th Year; Liberal in Politics.

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Leroy Percy, former United States Senator from Mississippi and leading citizen of that state, died in a hospital here shortly before 9 a. m. today. He had been a patient there several weeks.

Mr. Percy was 69 years old. His home was in Greenville. His work for flood control in the Delta and for levee works long before the Jadwin plan was conceived, made him a leading advocate of protection for the rich acres along the Mississippi river.

Mr. Percy, owner of extensive acres in the rich delta around Greenville, was appointed to the United States Senate in 1910 to fill the unexpired term of Senator A. J. ("Anse") McClure. He served until 1913, when he was defeated for re-election by James K. Vardaman.

After defeat, he returned to his home in Greenville and never again sought public office. Always an advocate for flood protection for the delta, Mr. Percy took an active part in the fight for flood control following the 1927 disaster.

Herbert Hoover, then secretary of commerce, often conferred with him and named him one of Mississippi's flood commissioners.

But long before flood control became a national issue, Mr. Percy was advocating levees and government protection. He was known as a liberal in politics.

Besides a son, W. A. Percy, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. C. J. McKinney of Knoxville, Tenn. Senator Percy's wife died recently.

SON OF PRESIDENT HOME FOR HOLIDAYS

Washington Ready to Celebrate Christmas—White House Decorated.

Washington, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The glad spirit which comes each year with holly wreaths, sprigs of evergreen and bundle-laden pedestrians, today pervaded the national capital, as its residents entered heartily in observance of Christmas. The vast machinery of the government was at rest. The day was given over to last minute preparations for the happy celebration of the morrow.

With a son home for the holidays, President Hoover cancelled practically all engagements including the regular Cabinet meeting and the conference with Washington newspapermen, in order that he might be free to spend as much of the day as possible with Mrs. Hoover and the boy.

White House Decorated. Huge wreaths of holly were hung in every window of the White House, festooned with the crimson Christmas lights and the bright hued poinsettias added to the gray color scheme of the executive mansion. There were two Christmas trees, one a monster spruce in the east room and another, smaller, in the President's apartments upstairs.

TRADE SCHOOL HOLDS CHRISTMAS PARTY

Over 150 students and members of the faculty enjoyed the trade school Christmas party this afternoon. This is an annual affair and is given every year by the faculty of the school. The following program prepared under the direction of Mr. Hanna was enjoyed by all.

Selection, Trade school orchestra. Christmas carols, entire school. Address of welcome, Mr. Echmalian.

Piano solo, E. Heimerdinger. Readings, Mr. Higgins. Selection, Trade school orchestra. Harmonica duet, Paul Rizza and Michael Pottay.

Violin solo, John Stoutter. Christmas carols, entire school. Grab bag, Santa Claus. Refreshments.

After welcoming all present and wishing them a Merry Christmas Mr. Echmalian took opportunity to tell what the trade school has done in the past year. He said that Trade school had two objectives first namely to train for a profitable vocation and secondly to build men of character and personality who through their training may make a good living and live a good life as respected American citizens.

The musical program, put on entirely by Trade school students was exceptionally good. Much credit must be given Mr. Hanna for his untiring effort in developing this talent.

STATE ASSESSORS MEET

Hartford, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Almost three hundred town officials attended the six round-table conferences for assessors conducted in various parts of the state during the last five weeks under the auspices of tax commissioner William H. Blodgett it was announced. These sectional meetings, called for discussion of local assessment and valuation problems, served to acquaint newly elected assessors with the requirements of their office, and to permit an exchange of views by assessors on the troublesome phases of their work.

Of the 169 towns in the state, 107 were represented at the conference. The number of assessors in attendance totaled 220, and members of boards of relief, selectmen, town clerks, tax collectors and town counsel comprised the remaining 75 officials present.

DEATHS

MISS MARY S. BLISS IS SUDDENLY DEAD

Prominent Resident of Green Section Passes Away Today. Was Nearing 80.

Miss Mary S. Bliss died at her home, 562 East Middle Turnpike, this morning a few minutes after three o'clock. The news brought sadness to a host of neighbors and friends in the Manchester Green section of the town where Miss Bliss was born and lived all her long life. Had she lived until February 26, 1930, she would have been 80 years old. Her brother, Charles S. Bliss, died last year at the age of 83. Miss Bliss continued to live at the homestead where she was frequently visited by her brother Edward A. Bliss of Hartford.

Miss Bliss was a gentlewoman of the "lavender and old lace" type always smiling and ever ready to lend a helping hand wherever assistance was needed. She was prominent in the affairs of Center Congregational church and much interested in missions, and took an active part in community affairs in her section of the town while her health permitted. For some time she has been confined to her room as the result of a shock, and had not been absent from her home since last summer when she was taken for an automobile ride. Older residents of the Green recall that her father, E. A. Bliss, died on Christmas day, many years ago. Mr. Bliss conducted a carriage painting and repairing shop just across from the mill, near the Homas property which was moved to widen the highway at that point.

Funeral services will be held at her home Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Watson Woodruff of Center church will officiate and burial will be in the East cemetery.

Mrs. Anna Axelson

Mrs. Anna Beata (Anderson) Axelson, aged 84, died at 1 o'clock Sunday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Hanson of 137 1/2 settling in Haddam Neck, Conn. She removed to Manchester 24 years ago. Mrs. Axelson was a member of the Swedish Lutheran church.

She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Hans and Miss Josephine A. Axelson of New York City. There are two grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Abraham Anderson of Portland. The funeral will be held at the Hackmatack street home at 1 o'clock Thursday and burial will be in the family plot of the Rock Landing cemetery in Haddam Neck, Rev. P. J. O. Cornell will officiate. Friends may view the body at the funeral parlors of Thomas G. Dougan, 59 Holt street, tonight and any time tomorrow.

John S. Pickett John S., three year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Pickett of 39 Cambridge street, died at the Manchester Memorial hospital last night, following an operation for appendicitis. Funeral services will be held in New Haven Thursday afternoon, at the undertaking establishment of Beecher & Bennett.

XMAS ACTIVITIES AT THE COMMUNITY CLUB

Various groups using the Manchester Community Club as a base for their social activities will jointly hold a Christmas party at the clubhouse this afternoon. Open house will be held at the club this evening, with carol singing by the clubs, followed by dancing. The schedule of activities for the week at the clubhouse:

Today, 4 o'clock—Christmas tree and party; entertainment by club groups; at 8, open house with Christmas carol singing and dancing.

Wednesday, Christmas Day—Closed.

Thursday, 6—Meeting of Junior Boys' club; meeting of Eagles club; 3:30, club meeting; 4:30, club meeting; 7:30, meeting of Young Women's Community club.

Saturday, 2 to 4—Supervised games.

LONDON NAVAL PARLEY TO BE EPOCH-MAKING

London, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The Labor government is entering the five-power disarmament conference in January with the hope of making it "the most epoch-making conference the world has yet seen."

A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, made this statement to opposition members in winding up debate today on the great Singapore base enterprise.

"The government's position is that we are going into what I hope will be the most epoch-making conference the world has yet seen. If that conference is to be successful, as men of good will in all parties hope, it is obvious that we must consider very seriously any large capital expenditure that may be involved in the future in either our naval or our military defenses. We must see whether such a capital expenditure is being wisely and properly arranged, having regard to the change of circumstances that might arise as a result of the conference."

SANTA CLAUS TO VISIT THE LOCAL HOSPITAL

Plenty of Christmas Cheer to Be Extended to Those Confined There.

According to exclusive information trickling out of Santa Claus' exclusive palatial home at the North Pole, the first stop of his team of reindeers will make upon arriving in Manchester will be on the roof of the Memorial hospital. By means of radio communication, it was possible to get in touch with Santa as he sped southward this morning and he admitted that his first personal stop and visit would be to the hospital. He inquired as to the weather here and was glad to learn of the snow.

Hospital authorities reported this afternoon that there were still 32 patients in the hospital notwithstanding the usual attempt of confined persons to go to their homes for Christmas whenever possible. Those who are not able to do so, however, will be made to feel very much at home in the hospital. The building has been appropriately decorated with Christmas attire of little cedar trees, holly and other similar Xmas clothings.

Hospital authorities, although reluctant at first, finally admitted that Santa Claus would appear in person and that he had a gift for all of the patients. Mrs. Albert T. Dewey and Mrs. Mabel Rogers were instrumental in helping make the necessary arrangements for the celebration. The latest arrivals at the hospital who are just in time to get a glimpse of Santa Claus although they may not know what it is all about are a boy and girl one and two days old respectively. The son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Sullivan of 47 Lancaster Road this afternoon and the daughter to Mr. and Mrs. John Dabel of 450 Hilltown Road yesterday afternoon.

Three patients decided to have their interview with Santa in their own homes and were discharged. They are Mrs. Mary Paris of 87 Hamlin street, Mrs. Catherine Matzko of 124 Spruce street and Mason Wetherell of 29 Elro street.

TO TRY TO BROADCAST KING GEORGE'S SPEECH

New York, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The National Broadcasting Company today announced that an attempt will be made to pick up and rebroadcast the address of King George of England when he opens the London naval conference January 21. The king is to speak in the royal gallery of the House of Lords at 6 a. m. Eastern Standard Time, and he has given permission to the British Broadcasting Corporation to broadcast the address. The British company will send the speech on short waves to the United States and if successful in picking it up, the National Broadcasting Company will rebroadcast it.

ABOUT TOWN

Automobiles owned by Garfield Keeney and C. Ely Rogers came together at Hackmatack and Prospect streets this noon. The cars were somewhat damaged and traffic was blocked for a time. The slippery condition of the road was the cause.

Members of the Junior choir of St. Mary's Episcopal church will meet at the parish house this evening at 6:15 and go by autos to the almshouse to sing Christmas carols to the elderly folk there. The choir members are also reminded to be at church tomorrow, Christmas morning, at 7:45 to take part in the 8 o'clock service.

At the Swedish Congregational church on Spruce street a Juletida service will be held tomorrow morning at 5:30. In the evening the children's exercises will be held at 7 o'clock in both Swedish and English.

Austin Chambers, son of Contractor and Mrs. David Chamberlain of Hollister street, has arrived home for the Christmas vacation. He is a student at the University of Alabama, Tusculoosa, Ala.

Richmond, Va., Dec. 24.—(AP)—J. J. Berner, president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company announced today that new equipment to cost $42,500,000 is provided for in the 1930 budget of the C. & O. lines.

An allocation of $20,700,000 has been made in the budget for the Chesapeake and Ohio railway while $21,800,000 has been provided for the Hocking Valley and the Pere Marquette, other units of the Chesapeake & Ohio lines. The major part of the $21,800,000 is allocated to the Pere Marquette. Mr. Berner announced that the budget for the Nickel Plate and Erie roads have not been completed, but that their appropriations probably will bring the total for the Van Sweringen system to $100,000,000.

ENGLAND'S ROYAL FAMILY GATHERS FOR CHRISTMAS

First Time All the Members Have Been Together Since the World War.

Sandringham, Eng., Dec. 24.—(AP)—The royal family of England, from King George and Queen Mary down to their youngest grand-children, gathered at their favorite country retreat today for their first complete Christmas party in years. The King and Queen have not spent Christmas with all their children and grandchildren since the war.

Princess Mary and her husband, the Earl of Harewood, formerly Viscount Lascelles, and their two small sons arrived last night at the palace, where little Princess Elizabeth greeted her cousins with great delight. The Duke and Duchess of York and the Duke of Gloucester traveled together from London this afternoon, and the Prince of Wales and Prince George are expected to arrive in time to hear the village choristers sing the traditional carols this evening.

The Christmas party will be a family farewell to the Prince of Wales, who is leaving early for January to resume his African trip interrupted by the King's illness a year ago.

COMMANDERS TO PLAY AT RAINBOW TONIGHT

Conditions being what they are in the dance places about the state, it is next to impossible to foretell with any degree of certainty just what the programs for the Christmas holidays will contain, even though we are on the brink of the period. However for those who care to spend an appreciable portion of the holidays in pleasurable dancing to excellent music there is being offered at The Rainbow this evening a splendid Christmas Eve program by the Commanders, who on Saturday evening played to a crowd of 900 at the Black & Gold ballroom, Holyoke, Mass., and scored a distinct dance triumph. Tonight they will present the "one dance program" and many will want to hear the several special numbers that will be played from 8:30 to 12:30. It is expected dance fans will be present from Rockville, Stafford Springs, Thompsonville, Hartford, New Britain and Manchester. The Christmas Eve dance tonight bids fair to establish a record for a holiday eve at The Rainbow due largely to the popularity of The Commanders who will present a splendid orchestra unit and an equally splendid program. Last evening the band played in an important engagement at Hartford. The usual Thursday evening dance will be held at The Rainbow this week with Bill Waddell and his orchestra providing the music.

RAIL EQUIPMENT

Richmond, Va., Dec. 24.—(AP)—J. J. Berner, president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company announced today that new equipment to cost $42,500,000 is provided for in the 1930 budget of the C. & O. lines. An allocation of $20,700,000 has been made in the budget for the Chesapeake and Ohio railway while $21,800,000 has been provided for the Hocking Valley and the Pere Marquette, other units of the Chesapeake & Ohio lines. GASPARRI MAY RETIRE

Vatican City, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Popolo di Roma today said the question of retirement of Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, had arisen again and that there was talk that Eugenio Pacelli, papal nuncio to Berlin, and newly created cardinal, would succeed him. A son was born last week to Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Young of 29 Hudson street.

FRIENDS FROM ORIENT ARE VISITORS HERE

Silk Experts Come from Shanghai, China, to Be Guests of Cheneys and Hubers.

Ralph Buchanan and Floyd Chenetz of Shanghai, China, friends of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Cheney and Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Huber of Manchester, arrived late yesterday afternoon in Englewood, N. J., completing an unbroken journey from that Chinese city. Landing at Vancouver their car was taken from the Pacific steamer and the long drive across the country was begun in the face of poor driving conditions throughout the Northwest. Through the west and middle west, their progress was retarded by snow and ice coated roads, forcing them to drive with chains nearly all the way in an effort to reach Manchester for the holidays. Both young men, employees of the United States Testing Company at the Far East branch are to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Cheney and Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Huber over the holiday.

OFFICIALS OF STATE TO SPEND DAY QUIETLY

Hartford, Dec. 24.—(AP)—For the most part Hartford, its municipal officials and the state office Christmas on Capitol Hill, will spend Christmas quietly at home. A public carol service is to be held this evening until midnight before the old State House, with candles in the windows and Governor's Foot Guardsmen in full dress, as guards. Tomorrow Mayor Eatenon will greet the children of the city at one of the theater parties given to them free of charge.

It was announced at the governor's mansion in Plainville that Governor and Mrs. John H. Trumbull will spend Christmas eve and Christmas day at home with friends and relatives. John and Florence Coolidge will drive up from their New Haven home for a Christmas eve celebration with the Trumbulls and tomorrow morning will motor in their roadster to Northampton, Mass., to have dinner with Ex-President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge. The daughter and son-in-law of the Trumbulls, then expect to return to Plainville for another family gathering.

This afternoon all state officials are leaving their offices for their homes, and the Capitol will be closed tomorrow.

PANTAGES IS SICK

District Attorney Bureau Fitts announced today he would appoint three physicians to examine Alexander T. Pantages, vaudeville manager convicted of assaulting Eugene Pringle, co-ed dancer, and report the condition of his health to the Superior Judge Charles Fricke Thursday at hearing of the multi-millionaire's petition for release on bond pending decision on his appeal.

UTAH CONGRESSMAN LEATHERWOOD DEAD

Washington, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Representative Leatherwood of Utah died here today. Leatherwood's home is in Salt Lake City. He has been sick for some time. The Utah member was one of the Republican stalwarts in the House. In recent years his opposition in the House to irrigation committee and later on the floor to the Johnson-Swing Boulder Canyon dam bill attracted nationwide attention.

SOUTH METHODIST NOTES

Young people affiliated with the South Methodist church who are at home for the holidays include the following: Roberts Burr from the American college, Washington, D. C.; Francis Burr, Samuel Crockett and Sherwood Mercer from Wesleyan; Elizabeth Veinard from Elmira college, Anne Strickland, Alice and Elsie Harrison and Margaret Lewis from Boston University; Dorothy Gates from Bryant & Stratton Business college, Boston; Robert Mercer from Mt. Harmon; Gay Hastings from Wilbraham Academy and Jack Hastings from the Boys' Latin school, Boston; Katherine Purinton from Barnard college.

Approximately forty of the young people from the Epworth League of this church made a tour of the parish in automobiles, at the close of the musical service Sunday evening. They sang carols at the homes of shut-ins, after which they gathered at the home of Mrs. Henry Harrison on Center street and Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. H. Ross Lewis served hot coffee and other refreshments.

Thursday the junior department of the church school will have its Christmas party at 3 p. m. At 7 o'clock the intermediate department will have theirs. Santa Claus is expected with gifts for all.

ENGINEERS REMEMBER NEGRO WHO SAVED THEM

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 24.—(AP)—A group of Memphis engineers plan to make their way today to the home of a negro boatman to play Santa Claus—not as a matter of charity, but as a mark of gratitude. The negro is Tom Lee, hero of the steamer Norman disaster in 1928 and the visit will be in continuation of an annual custom of members of the Engineers Club of Memphis, many of whom owe their lives to Lee.

He saved 32 persons when the Norman rolled over in the Mississippi river and sank. At the time a delegation of southern engineers, here to form a chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers were aboard. Twenty-three persons drowned. The home the Santa Claus party will visit is one bought by popular subscription, sponsored by the Engineers Club and the Memphis Commercial Appeal.

LEATHERWOOD DEAD; UTAH CONGRESSMAN

Washington, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Representative Leatherwood of Utah died here today. Leatherwood's home is in Salt Lake City. He has been sick for some time. The Utah member was one of the Republican stalwarts in the House. In recent years his opposition in the House to irrigation committee and later on the floor to the Johnson-Swing Boulder Canyon dam bill attracted nationwide attention.

MORE XMAS TREES SOLD THAN THERE ARE HOUSES

Lots of Them Have Gone Out of Town—Tree Fires Not Yet Made Impossible.

More Christmas trees have been sold in Manchester this year than ever before, according to the statements of the large dealers. One dealer who stocked 2,500 trees was nearly sold out, this noon and expected to be all cleaned up by 1 o'clock. Reports of other dealers bring the number of trees sold up to a point in excess of the number of houses in the town, indicating that a great many out-of-town shoppers had carried Christmas trees home in their cars.

There has also been a marked increase in the sale of electric trimmings for the trees, showing that the all-ways hazardous candle lighting has been largely abandoned. In this latter connection, however, there is always a certain amount of danger from short-circuits as well as candles setting fire to highly inflammable trimmings and the usual watchfulness on the part of the departments is not to be relaxed. Chief Foy was planning today to have men in all the fire stations of his department ready to respond instantly to any Christmas tree fire alarm.

EDISON WILL STUDY ON CHRISTMAS DAY

Fort Myers, Fla., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Thomas A. Edison may drop an hour from his ten hour working day for an early dinner with Mrs. Edison before she attends a community Christmas celebration tonight but other than that he has made no plans for his first holiday season in Florida.

Since he came here in 1886 on his wedding trip the inventor has spent each Christmas with the children and grand-children at Menlo Park N. J. This year his health and a desire to continue experiments in the outdoors led him to break an old custom and journey south in December.

Several of his family are expected to be with him tomorrow. However, he will devote the greater part of the day to reading in connection with his rubber research and perhaps an automobile ride. His friend, Harvey Firestone, may come to see him within a few days but this is only a possibility. Tempting holiday delicacies will be refused by the inventor in favor of his strict milk diet.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAMS AT SALVATION ARMY

The Christmas programs in the Salvation Army Citadel this year are of a very high order. On Sunday afternoon in addition to the regular service, the choir will sing at the Memorial hospital, the Male quartette augmented the program, and sang to the enjoyment of both the patients and the personnel of the institution, a number of old favorite carols.

At the Citadel at night the Songsters sang with rare taste and beauty the splendid Salvation anthem, entitled, "Hosannah" thrilling the congregation with its rendition, under the capable leadership of Songster Leader Fred Clough.

With the introduction of several of the familiar Christmas carols expressive of the sacred event throughout the 15 sections of selection, winding up with an exultant finale, expressive of the Angel chorus. The audience was electrified with this superlative piece of musical excellence.

CROSS-TOWN BUS LOAD 9 OVER LEGAL LIMIT

Suspension of School Trips Sees Conn. Co. Vehicle Carrying Unlawful Number.

For some days following the announcement of Police Chief Gordon that he would arrest the driver of any motor bus operating in Manchester with more than the legal limit of passengers aboard, the Connecticut Company's vehicles on the Cross-town and Manchester Green line took on no more patrons after the limit of forty had been reached.

WHITE XMAS THE RULE OVER ALMOST ALL U. S.

ern New England, lashed within a week by one of the most severe sleet storms in history, was being buried last night by heavy snowfall following low temperatures during the day.

Woodville, N. H., had eight inches of snow at 6 a. m., this morning and reported 10 inches at Whitefield and 12 inches at Berlin.

Two trains were delayed at Newport, Vt., one finally reaching Springfield, Mass., four hours late and the Redwin, Montreal to Boston Express, running three hours behind schedule.

Rebecomes Warmer The cold, which had reached 18 below at points in Maine yesterday, diminished in the face of a stiff northeast wind last night but heavy snowfall followed. Hundreds of workmen repairing damage by the sleet storm were handicapped.

The storm in eastern Massachusetts turned a light snowfall to sleet and during the night coating streets, wires and trees with ice. One freighter cancelled a sailing from the harbor yesterday.

New Haven reported a temperature of 22 degrees during the evening and hearing thunder during the late afternoon.

IN THIS STATE Connecticut, as well as nearly every other section of the country, will have a white Christmas. Snow ranging from a depth of less than an inch to two and three inches fell in the state last night accompanied by a wind, hail and rainstorm.

While one-half of the family was doing the last of its shopping today, the other half was clearing away the path of the storm. Many sections were hampered with drifts. Rain and hail made motoring extremely hazardous and numerous minor accidents were reported.

One woman, Mrs. Julia Garatoka, 38, was killed in Thompsonville when she was struck by an automobile after alighting from a bus during the height of the storm.

Granada, Spain—Conde Aldama, former deputy, will be ordained a priest here tomorrow and his wife will take the veil in a convent at Seville where two daughters have been nuns for several years.

The new priest will say his first mass at the convent assisted by three sons, who are Jesuit priests in Istanbul.—There are four Christmas celebrations in this great center of Islam with a heterogeneous population.—Dec. 25, Jan. 1 for Orthodox Greeks, Jan. 6 for Armenians and Jan. 7 for Russian emigres.

San Juan—Hundreds of Christmas trees have been imported into Porto Rico from New England.

Berlin—Rockets are the vogue in toys this year because of the experiments of adults in transportation by rocket power. There are toy rocket motor cars, rocket planes and little bicycles fitted with rockets.

London—Perhaps King George's speech at the opening of the naval conference in the House of Lords Jan. 21 will be heard around the world. His words will be radiocast; presumably arrangements will be made for rebroadcasting in other countries.

San Francisco, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The dream of a new China, where each man will be a citizen as he is in the United States, is causing the Chinese in America to return to their homeland by the thousands.

She invited a group of disabled veterans to join in a celebration Christmas dinner with her and her mother—a gay dinner indeed, with many colorful favors, and prepared to spend Christmas morning touring hospital wards.

Everett North Elected Treasurer

At a meeting of the Corporation and Directors of the People's Savings Bank, held Monday morning at 11 o'clock, Everett North, son of Mrs. M. C. Wetstein of Talcott avenue was elected Treasurer to succeed George W. Randall, deceased. He was also elected a corporation director of the bank.

Mr. North was born in Woonsocket, R. I., coming to Rockville with his parents before he was a year old, attended West District School and graduated from the Rockville High School with the class of 1921. After graduation Mr. North accepted a position in the Cost Department of the Hockanum Mills Co. Since April 8, 1923, he has been employed at the People's Savings Bank, where he served as secretary, later assistant treasurer, which position he held until he was elected to the responsible position of treasurer on Monday.

At the meeting a dividend of one and one quarter per cent was declared. The bank has had a very successful year.

Members of the executive and financial committee are: Judge John E. Fisk, Frederick N. Belding, J. Everett North, George Arnold, Jr., John J. Cameron and Frederick J. Cooley.

Installation Last Night

Damon Temple Pythian Sisters held an important meeting in Forrester's Hall last evening and officers for the ensuing year were installed. Mrs. Sadie Nutland of the local lodge was installing officer, and she was assisted by several members.

The new officers of Damon Temple are as follows: excellent chief, Mrs. Mabel Morgan; excellent senior, Mrs. Alma Dittrich; excellent junior, Mrs. Ellen Fisk; manager, Mrs. Louise Blair; mistress of finance and correspondence, Mrs. Ruth Young; mistress of finance, Mrs. Ella Lehmann; protector, Mrs. Marion Teahy; guard, Mrs. Flora Baer; degree mistress, Mrs. Minnie Dowling; press correspondent, Mrs. Florence Rowe; representatives to state convention, Mrs. Minnie Dowling, Mrs. Carrie Kane, Mrs. Annie Kellner. After the installation, a Christmas party was held at which time Santa Claus distributed gifts, followed by refreshments.

Funeral of Mrs. Hecker

The funeral of Mrs. Alice Hecker was held from the Quish Undertaking Parlor on Park street, on Monday morning at 8:30 and from St. Bernard's church at 9 o'clock. At the offertory "O Salutaris" by Dooley was sung by Francis Cratty, and after prayer Mrs. Anna Mae Plunder rendered "Sweet Day." As the body was being borne from the church, Miss Margaret the church organist rendered the "Funerary" funeral march. There were many beautiful floral tributes. The bearers were James Bolger, James Doherty, Sr., William Morrison and Frank Hall.

Town Clerk Speaker

Town Clerk, John B. Thomas was the speaker at the Men's Corner of the Methodist Church on Sunday morning at 9:15. He explained how the business of the Town of Vernon was conducted. He pointed out how the various receipts of the town were collected or received, either by taxes or from the State in grants, and then told how the various expenditures were made. There were many of the members and friends present to listen to the interesting address.

Community Parties

A community Christmas party was held in the Ellington Town Hall last night, with nearly all of the people in the vicinity in attendance. Santa Claus was present and gifts were distributed.

There was also a community party in Vernon at the Methodist church, at which time the children gave recitations and two short plays. Gifts were distributed by Santa Claus.

Robbery at Hewitt Home

Some one entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hewitt of 100 Talcott avenue on Sunday night and took nearly one hundred dollars in money. The rear door was forced open. The local Police are investigating.

Band Gets Checks

At a Christmas Party held in the R. A. A. Building on East Main street last night, members were presented with Christmas checks, amount being based on each one's attendance at rehearsals and concerts. Gifts were exchanged and a social time enjoyed. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served through the kindness of David A. Sykes.

Police Court Notes

Officer Dowgiewicz of the Rockville Police force arrested Martin Pomeroy, 65, of Ellington, near the Bradley Lumber yard on Sunday night about 6:30 for intoxication. When he was brought before Judge John E. Fisk on Monday morning, he had not recovered from the effects of his spree and appeared in court this morning.

Notes

Miss Anna Hall of the Academy of the Holy Family, Baltic, is spending the Christmas recess at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hall of Brooklyn street.

Mrs. Andrew Friffin of Boston, Mass., was in this city the past few days being called here by the death of Mrs. Alice Hecker.

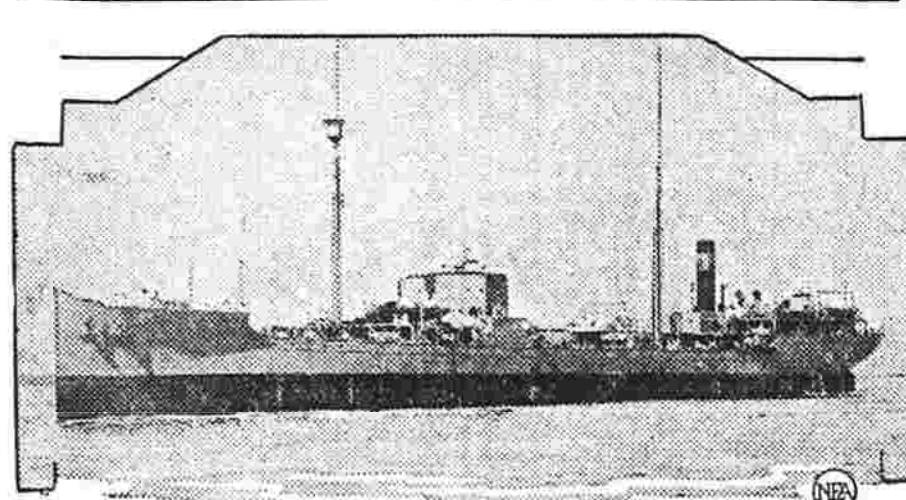

Mrs. Amelia Lehmann of Grove street was pleasantly surprised at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Wilson of Broad Brook on Saturday night, this being the occasion of her birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pascoe of Derby are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Einsiedel of East Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Einsiedel have returned to New Haven after several days spent in this city, being called here by the death of the former's mother.

All that is needed now to make the British situation complete is for some hard-bolled old Tory landowner to issue a statement blaming England's recent severe storms and floods on the radical Labor government.

MEN OIL WAR

The U. S. S. Pecos, one of the navy's oil tankers.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the twelfth of a series of articles on the strength of the U. S. navy, especially as compared with that of Great Britain. The articles are of especial interest in view of the approaching naval arms limitation conference at London.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington Correspondent for The Manchester Evening Herald

and NEA Services Floating gasoline stations with large cruising radii are an important part of a navy. Thus the United States has 11 avar oil tankers, carrying fuel oil and gasoline in bulk to supply the other vessels of the fleet.

Naval oilers also carry ammunition and general stores on occasion, but are usually laden with bunker oil, cargo oil, fuel oil, cargo gasoline, lubricating oils and kerosene. During battles they are supposed to be kept well out of the line of fire.

Most oilers are about 475 feet long and some 60 feet in beam. They are vessels of from 14,000 to 16,000 tons and the largest ones have a cargo capacity of 11,000 tons of oil. Their speed is from 10 to 14 knots and most of them are equipped with 5-inch guns. Their crews consist of as many as 155 officers and men. Built during wartime, most of them cost between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000. The annual cost of upkeep and operation runs as high as $450,000.

British naval oilers are owned by the Admiralty, but operated by civilians and also commercially in peacetime. Any tanker can serve as an oiler and the American navy maintains its oiler fleet just so that it can handle its fuel in its own ships.

Department of Agriculture When a few public-spirited individuals in a community become conscious of a lack of plants about the homes or in public places the desire quickly follows to make some effort to improve the appearance of the neighborhood in this respect. One of the best methods of accomplishing the result is to form a garden club of those people in the community who are fond of plants and those who have a desire to make conditions better.

The first step is to gather an interested group to consider the situation. Often this group is a garden committee of some active civic organization or a women's club, but sometimes it must be gathered more or less at random. Often it is best for a small group to try to arouse interest in doing some specific piece of work, like beautifying a public or semi-public property or holding a flower show, and in this way form a working group for a specific problem and later follow by the general organization. Of course the execution of a particular project is much easier after the club is thoroughly organized.

When a group of interested persons has decided to form a club the simplest form of organization to accomplish the object in view should be consummated. Only a few immediate needs should be met. A more complicated constitution may be developed later if the activities of the club require it. The vital part of such an organization is a group of people who are willing to work rather than an imposing set of rules and a long list of officers. Dividing responsibility by assigning specific duties to functioning committees is most desirable.

The month-to-month activities of a garden club are studies of the culture and use of various ornamental plants. Exhibitions and community-improvement projects are the high spots that accentuate the regular routine. Much of the most valuable information is that gleaned from the experience of the members, although it is desirable to have occasionally a speaker with special training in some particular line.

It is often practicable for each member of the club to take some plant or group of plants and grow and compare several varieties of it and report the results after a year or two of experience.

The National Congress of India adopts an independence resolution, lifting much of it verbatim from the American Declaration of Independence. Those Indians had better be careful; we signed the thing 153 years ago, and now look at us.

ESTABLISH SELF-SERVE IN MINING COUNTRY

Thomas McCann, manager of Hale's self-serve grocery recently returned from Steubenville, Ohio, where he has been engaged for the past seven weeks installing a self-serve grocery in one of the largest department stores in that city, has many interesting things to say about the people in this mountainous coal-mining region.

Conditions in that part of Ohio are not very good at the present time because of shutting down of the coal mines, the principal industry. For this reason, and the natural aptitude of these mountain people to spend wisely and well, the new self-serve, an innovation in the city, opened to good crowds.

Mr. McCann journeyed to the Ohio city at the solicitation of a friend, the manager of the department store and a former manager of Hale's self-serve for the installation.

In Berlin, Vienna, Rome and Budapest it is not unusual to see a man enter a drawing-room and bestow as many as ten hand kisses before he sits down for a cup of tea.

this paper, and to those who never read it, a new measure of happiness.

JUST A SCOLDING

If ever there was an instance of a righteousness indignantly person lacking the courage of his convictions, it would seem to be the case of the district attorney of Middlesex county, Mass., who nominally prosecuted a Cambridge bookseller for selling a copy of a privately printed book alleged to be obscene. This is the case where an agent of the Watch and Ward society, finding that the bookseller did not carry the book in stock because he did not deem it fit for general circulation, besought the dealer to get him a copy, masquerading throughout the affair under an assumed name. The dealer did get the book for him, and was then prosecuted by the Watch and Ward society, and convicted. On the appeal the district attorney denounced the ethics of the Watch and Ward society and gave notice that if he ever learned of another such affair he would prosecute the officers of the society for conspiracy. The judge was also severe in his criticism of the proceedings and reduced the penalty inflicted by the lower court.

What is extremely difficult to understand is why, if they felt this way about the matter—and with a shred of decency they could not help feeling that way—the district attorney and the judge consented to being parties to such a rascally prosecution. If there is about Massachusetts laws something so rigid and irrevocable that the case against the bookseller could not be thrown out of the higher court, or an acquittal entered, the district attorney might very well indeed have instituted conspiracy proceedings against the society in the present instance instead of merely threatening to do so in the future.

As it transpires, the Watch and Ward society has gotten away with a piece of mighty dirty work at the cross roads and received nothing but a scolding—which will worry that bunch of fanatics not at all.

GERMAN REFERENDUM

It would seem as though the great "anti-war guilt" referendum of the German nation, instituted by the Nationalists in hope of defeating the operation of the Young plan and issuing defiance to all the allied powers, had thrown on the general attitude of the German people the brightest light since the war.

There are more than 41,000,000 voters in Germany. It would have required, in order to make effective the measure proposed by the Nationalists, that about 21,000,000, or more than half the electorate, had approved of it at the polls. As a matter of fact less than six and a half million voters cast their ballots for the proposition.

This has been no flash-in-the-pan referendum. It has been the subject of much discussion in a campaign extending over months. It is fair to assume that a people as thoughtful as the Germans must have given on the subject reasonably full consideration. Yet considerably fewer than one in six of the voters found merit enough in the Nationalist measure to give it support.

The result seems to prove, beyond much question, that the old Junker control of the German mass mind is over and done with for good and all; that the people there have had enough and to spare of swagger and defiance and warlike gestures. That, in a word, there is nobody of opinion large enough to be of great consequence, in support of the regime that brought on the World War, and that Germany is as safely and sanely determined to get along with the rest of the world as any other nation in Europe.

RIGID RULES

Two New York cops are under suspension, if both are alive, for losing their guns. One was in a speakeasy, in his off hours, when bandits raided it. He hadn't any business to be hanging out there, but just the same he was a man and a cop—so he pulled his gun to fight the gang alone. A gangster beat him to it and shot him in the arm. The gun dropped. Then the gangster shot him again, this time in the head. He was taken to a hospital with small chance of living. But the gangsters took his gun, so he was suspended.

The other policeman, also off duty, was window shopping for Christmas presents. Down the street somebody cried for help. His tour of duty was over but he was a man and a cop, too, and he started a-running toward the cries. It was a trap. A Negro thrust a foot out of a doorway and tripped the officer. He fell and the Negro and four others beat him into insensibility—and took his gun. Suspension.

There seems to be something about such a regulation, that a cop who loses his gun must be suspended ed no matter what the circumstances, almost as dunder-headed as the old British Board of Trade rule that a merchant marine captain who lost his ship, no matter what the circumstances, lost his captain's license—a rule that they say was never broken until the loss of the Lusitania.

IF YOU FORGET

If in the multiplicity of Christmas remembrances you did not remember to "remember" your neighbor, you might remember that even Santa Claus himself has been known to "back call," in an emergency trip, when he discovers that one of his little clients has been overlooked. Like in court it's always nine o'clock until it's ten, so it's always Christmas, in a sense, till it's New Year's. The annual little gift to the youngster who, like Farragut, damns the weather torpedoes and goes ahead with his newspaper deliveries on days when you wouldn't go across the street for the profit on a hundred newspapers, will probably be just as much appreciated the day after Christmas as if you had given it to him an hour ago. And besides, he'll be broke, for the chances are that before he goes to bed tonight he will have spent all his holiday purchases on gifts for his mother and the other kids. So the aftermath tip will come in mighty handy.

BUSTED AND GAY

Interest in the announcement that the Banks in Manchester will be open this evening is probably largely academic to most folks in town, with the possible exception of those storekeepers who catch, so to speak, the last run of shad. Hardly anybody else will have anything to put in and almost nobody has anything left in to take out. But it's all part of Christmas this being broke and happy about it.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Dec. 24.—There's nothing quite so disturbing in the entire Manhattan parade as the sight of a tiny baby being carried into a crowded subway.

Not that this is an unusual sight. There's at least one to every train headed for the Bronx. But the effect on the passengers is nothing short of magical.

It was on one of those late afternoons during the holiday shopping chaos. Three women, having battled the store crowds and plodded up and down the avenue, all but melted into the subway benches or leaned limply against the iron supports. In the half-light of the platform, congestion grew. Stout ladies protected armloads of bundles with their last Amazonian thrust. More willowy damsels sagged under their load of packages and looked hopelessly about for a spare inch of room in which to protect their precious purchases. Youngsters, with the usual violence of youth, flung themselves freely into the surging mob.

With tempers keyed to fighting such, the mob crashed the sliding gate. Bickering . . . showing . . . a shrill feminine voice . . . a whispered curse . . . a muttered threat . . . And then, just as the door was about to slide back, a tiny lunge catapulted a frightened-looking young woman into the sardine can.

In her arms was a bundle of pink. The bundle was designed something like a popoose's sack, with a wee opening at the top for a tiny face. And through this opening peeped, now and then, a smiling baby face. The infant was having a grand time. But not the mother. There was in her eyes something of the look one sees when a doe takes her fawn through the forest.

Men who had been jostling for a single strap upon which to hang, now thrust each other back to form a protective circle. Dirty looks passed down to seat-holders, who pretended to bury faces in their newspapers. A strap hanger deliberately stepped on the toe of a seat holder. Then, as briskly as though they had suddenly met upon the five men rose and offered their seats to the mother.

The tired woman suddenly found smiles forced to their lips. An overboard lady, who had boarded the car at Times Square, tried vainly to pick up a winking acquaintance with the child. Two hard-boiled girls stopped their flirtation with a quartet of sailors, and burst into the "Oh-Isn't-it-cute" language.

So it went—that is, until the mother left the train at the Seventy-ninth street station.

Then, almost to a man—and woman as well—strangers began talking to each other.

"I just can't understand how a woman dares bring a baby out in these New York crowds," sputtered the fat lady with the bundles.

"No, I don't either," came back the equally fat little man who had stood chewing an unlighted cigar.

"Thank God, I wasn't a New baby."

The two hard-boiled girls caught this. They snickered "Yeah—thank God she wasn't," one whispered to another.

So far as this episode was concerned, the last word had been said.

But half a minute behind this train was another crowded train and then another . . . and all of them staging this same little drama.

CHRISTMAS FEASTS

Modern Christmases are tame affairs compared with some of the merry making festivals of the feudal times when thousands of serfs and underlings flocked to the castle at Christmastide and there feasted together in right oily fellowship. The feasting was crude compared with our modern etiquette, and foods were served without benefit of forks. The tumbler which held the wine was so called because they had no bases to hold them upright and had to be drained in one fell swoop. Their rich plum puddings were covered with burning brandy, served at the table cheerfully ablaze. Among the lists of the foods which made the groaning board groan in King Arthur's day were roast pigs which were roasted whole and served at all feasts. The boar's head was brought in on nothing less than a golden or silver platter with an apple stuck on each tuck or thrust in the mouth, the head was wreathed in greens, and the whole affair was "held in state," preceded by blasts of the trumpet, to be served with careful carving and mustard.

Next in popularity came the peacock, classed the food for lovers and for lords. The peacock was roasted, stuffed with sweets and spices and then replaced in the skin, the neck being guided and the tail spread out to show the beauty of the feathers.

Mince pies were also known at these feasts, being known under various names, such as mutton pies and Christmas pies. They were baked in eblong shapes to remind those present of the manger of the Christ child.

Another well-honored custom at these feasts was the wassail bowl, a big bowl of ale, often spiced, with seeds and with roasted apples or roasted crabs floating on its surface. The word "wassail" is supposed to come from "was-halle" meaning "Here's to you."

These feasts lasted from several hours to several days, and the thousands of people who attended them view to see who could eat the most or become the most drunk. Fortunately, this custom has become somewhat modified within recent years, especially in regard to the eating. However, it would be well for us to continue to enjoy the spirit of Christmas' joviality and friendliness. We can all do this without making drunkards or gut-tons of ourselves. As many good stories can be told around a table filled with a wholesome repast such as is outlined in my Christmas menu, as if the table had a conglomeration of rich foods difficult to digest. One also has the advantage of being able to enjoy the full benefit of the jollification with old friends without becoming sick afterwards. Many of the poor each year at Christmas have hunger gnawing at their vitals but yet who are more fortunate should remember that "They are as sick that surfeit with too much as they that starve with nothing."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Soft Soled Shoes)

Question.—F. N. W. asks: "Are the crepe soled shoes for children harmful in any way?"

Answer: I believe it is a good plan to have children wear any kind of soft soled shoes rather than the stiff soled ones. Their feet will remain stronger in these shoes because the child is forced to grip the ground with the toes more than in the stiff soled shoes. The jar from hard pavements is also lessened a great deal.

(Diseased Nerve)

Question.—M. W. asks: "What causes one side of my face to become very red and perspire while the other side remains white and dry? I have had an examination and no organic trouble was found. I get plenty of sleep."

Answer:—There must be some interference with the nerve supply to one side of your face. Have an examination made by an osteopath or chiropractor to see if this depression of the nerve center does not occur in the cervical vertebrae of the neck.

(Disseminated Sclerosis)

Question.—Mrs. A. W. H. writes: "My sister is in a hospital suffering from disseminated sclerosis. Four specialists who have examined her all agree that it is her nerves that have gone dead and that she is incurable. This trouble started two years ago and has been worse than she ever did and nothing hurt her. Her limbs are almost lifeless. Please tell me about this disease and if you think there is any hope for her. She is 28."

Answer: Your sister can undoubtedly be helped very greatly through a combined treatment with diet and massage. Of course, without examining her I cannot estimate how much improvement could be made, but you should consult a physician who is familiar with such treatment as I have suggested. Follow his diet accordingly and do not give up hope, as there must surely be some chance for improvement.

Washington.—The current tariff is only the beginning of a last, decisive struggle over the protective theory.

There will be more tariff fights, continues Congressman George Huddleston of Alabama, until in 10 or 15 or perhaps 20 years a general reversal of the system will have developed and the free trader again will have come into his own.

Important branches of industry, are already coming to realize that the protective tariff system is a handicap to them, Huddleston says, and as soon as the farmers become fully aware of the same thing in their own case the destruction of the system will be in plain sight.

Financiers Don't Want It

"We have observed the days of light" this year," says Huddleston, "which forecast the future. The tariff can't help it because its prices are fixed by domestic competition. They have an important exportable surplus and the tariff system hinders them because of the high duties placed by foreign nations on American cars.

"The textile and coal industries are in poor shape in both the costs of production are increased by the protective system. Everything the pick up in the way of equipment if not in raw materials is increased in price. The man operating a coal mine buys his machinery and a great deal of expensive equipment for higher prices. When he sells coal it's on a basis of domestic competition. The same condition is true in the coarser grades of textiles and it is becoming increasingly true with the finer textiles.

"American textile manufacturers can't compete with foreign manufacturers because their costs are so enhanced by tariffs and it's the same way with automobile manufacturers and many others.

BONUSES WILL BULGE WALL STREET SOCKS

New York — (AP) — Christmas promises to be merrier than ever in Wall Street.

The ill wind that swept away billions in paper profits also expanded brokers' sales and commissions.

Bonuses of unprecedented plumpness are in prospect. Each Christmas for several years the size and number of these good-will offerings from employer to employe have increased.

Total sales on the New York Stock exchange have passed a billion shares and will reach approximately 1,200,000,000 before December 31 if the present rate is maintained.

On the basis of an average commission amounting to $17.50 for each 100 shares bought and each 100 shares sold, the commissions collected by houses that are members of the big exchange will be about $84,000,000.

The sales volume and consequently the brokerage profits this year are running approximately 20 per cent ahead of last year. This ought to show an increase in commissions of $15,000,000 over 1928. The volume is almost double that of 1927.

Last year the limit on bonuses established under this rule was 100 per cent, or a full year's salary.

A MERRIER CHRISTMAS .. FOR ALL..

A thousand human shortcomings mysteriously disappear at the sound of a single word . . . Christmas. For one day, a glimpse may be had of man's innate goodness, his potential spirituality. Faith in our fellowman is strengthened. Our eyes seek the mountain tops, where universal love will unite all living things in a brotherhood of peace.

Therefore, it is at this season that we rededicate ourselves to the service of our community. We take pride in our past record, but temper our pride with a self-criticism that will make for continued progress.

ITALY GAINS FAST IN FIGHT AGAINST IMPORTED WHEAT

Rome.—(AP)—Italy is winning "The Battle of Grain." Annually she fights this battle, and once a year she decides who has won the struggle.

"The Battle of Grain," as Mussolini calls it, is the struggle of wheat growers in Italy against foreign farmers. In a nutshell, it is the battle of Benito Mussolini to make Italy independent of the wheat fields in the United States, Argentina, Canada and Australia.

The annual day of reckoning this year yielded these figures: In October, 1929, Italy imported 237,100 hundredweight of grain. In the same month of the preceding year she imported 1,944,733 hundredweight. This is a gain of 1,707,633 hundredweight. In the four months from July to October, Italy brought in 2,616,720 hundredweight. Last year, for the same period, she imported 7,072,697.

Italy hopes that next year she will be completely independent of foreign producers of wheat. This will conclude one phase of her struggle to make herself self-sufficient in the three great raw materials, wheat, coal and steel. She is rapidly becoming independent of coal by developing hydro-electric resources. She will probably never be independent in the case of iron and steel.

Mussolini is fighting "The Battle of Grain" with laws. One law says that a farmer may not abandon his farm without permission from the provincial government. This permission is rarely given. If he goes without permission he is liable to arrest.

Another law says that owners of wide tracts of land are to place a certain percentage of that land under cultivation. If they do not, their land is confiscated, or they pay fines.

Then six months ago the government, to aid the farmer, sharply increased the import duties on wheat.

The combination of all these efforts has given the desired result. And the price of bread, despite the increased import tax, has decreased.

DANCING PLAYS BIG PART WITH GAY DIPLOMATS

Geneva.—(AP)—Dancing parties play a big part in the diplomatic life of Geneva, where statesmen from every curve of the globe come and go throughout the year on League of Nations business.

Typical of these functions was that arranged by the Chinese delegation at the assembly this year. To the strain of American harmonies, Chinese and Japanese, Siamese, East Indians and Ethiopians, in costumes of their distant countries, moved in rhythmic cadence with their neighbors of Europe and the Americas.

Some of the leaders in world affairs make these gatherings serve political purposes. But many international personages dance because they find in these affairs their chief relaxation from official burdens.

Representatives of almost all Latin-American countries in Geneva are distinguished for their enjoyment of dancing and their grace in this exercise.

Mariano Cornejo, of Peru; Aristides de Aguerro y Bethancourt, of Cuba; Dr. Gustavo Guerrero, of Salvador, president of the recent assembly; Dr. Albert Guani, of Uruguay, another former assembly president; and Dr. Jose Urrutia, Colombian minister to Switzerland, all take pleasure in treading a measure.

The British devotee of dancing is Philip Baker, once a famous Olympic Games runner, whose eloquence at a conference table is matched by his lively delight in a polished floor.

But of the celebrities who frequent Geneva, none enjoys dancing more than Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, Norwegian explorer. This genial veteran like plenty of room when he dances. Like a young polar bear on an ice-floe, he romps happily and to the joy also, of all beholders.

PLANS SEA DAM TO MAKE WELSH HARBOR

Cardiff, Wales.—(AP)—A huge sea dam costing roughly $20,000,000 which would make Cardiff and other Welsh coast towns world important harbors, is contemplated by the Great Western Railroad company.

The dam, which would be constructed on the northern side of the deep-water channels which run into the Cardiff docks on the Welsh side of the Bristol Channel, would open up this port as a great trade and passenger route linking Canada, the United States and South America, with Wales, the Midlands and Western England.

It would extend from the Cardiff breakwater to Penarth and would transform Cardiff from a tidal port to a deep water harbor capable of sheltering the biggest liners.

HOW'S IT DONE?

Motorists of England are becoming more cautious. Road accidents in that country were cut 187 during the first quarter of 1929 over the corresponding period of 1928.

2 EXCELLENT TALKIES FOR XMAS AT STATE

Eddie Buzzell in Famous Cohan Hit and "Wise Girls" Make Up Fine Holiday Bill.

A very attractive Christmas bill has been arranged by the management of the State, opening Christmas bill has been arranged by the management of the State, opening Christmas Day. Eddie Buzzell, famous Broadway stage favorite, heads the program in an all-talking picturization of George M. Cohan's famous stage success, "Little Johnny Jones." Norma Lee, Elliot Nugent and Roland Young will be seen in the all-talking co-feature "Wise Girls."

Despite that "Little Johnny Jones" is based on a musical show thrillingly dramatic plot and appealing love story. Eddie Buzzell took time off from his New York shows to play the title role of the picture, the "Yankee Doodle Dandy." Alice Day as the heroine, Edna Murphy as the vamp, Robert Edson and Wheeler Oakman have the leading roles in support of the star. "Little Johnny Jones" brims with action that runs the gamut from laughter to tears. It is, secondly but very effectively, musical. It all has the magic touch of George M. Cohan. Buzzell does most of the singing, and there are chorus girls aplenty. Two of the songs of the original Cohan production, "I'm A Yankee Doodle Dandy," and "Give My Regards to Broadway" are retained.

"Wise Girls," an all-talking version of the highly successful stage comedy, "Kempy," is one of the most amusing shows of the season. Marrying off excess daughters has been the problem of worried fathers for centuries. "Wise Girls" hasn't a false note. From the acting standpoint, it is a beautiful job. Elliot Nugent, J. C. Nugent and Norma Lee play "Kempy," "Pa" and "Kate," parts they originated on the stage. Splendid performances are also given by Roland Young, Marion Schilling, Clara Blandick and Leora Spellman.

CATHOLIC SOCIETY NOT IN POLITICS

Vatican City, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Pope Pius, responding to the Christmas greetings of the college of cardinals today, declared that "Catholic Action," an organization of clerics and laymen in Italy, was not being treated as it should be under the terms of the Lateran accords.

The pontiff vigorously denied that "Catholic Action" was engaged in politics.

"To say that Catholic Action is engaging in politics to elude that article of the treaties is — if it is permitted to say it to the father who feels himself calumniated because of his sons and such dear something absolutely contrary to truth," said the pope.

The pontiff continued that if any isolated member of Catholic Action had been found dabbling in politics he would be the first to denounce him and act in consequence. At the same time he added that even that would not be sufficient reason to accuse Catholic Action of mixing political matters.

AUSTRALIA CUTTING DOWN ON LOAN BUDGET

Signey.—(AP)—The annual burden of Australian loan interest, which has reached $300,000,000, has caused the Australian Loan Council to slow down the rate of its loan expenditures.

As a new country with vast resources to develop, Australia has necessarily been a heavy borrower. Roads, railways and other public works have had to be undertaken that have placed a tremendous burden on the 6,000,000 inhabitants of the country. The federal and state governments have been spending annually about $200,000,000 of loan money, but this year's expenditure has been cut down to $112,000,000.

Such sinks for money as the Queensland state trading concerns, which had, under the Labor regime, been losing millions of dollars, are being eliminated, and in other directions also a severe curb is being placed upon loan expenditures.

The fact that the commonwealth had to pay better than six percent for its latest London loan, although the issue was limited to 12 months, is a sufficient indication that the limitation of expenditure has been timely.

WALPING

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Sharp and family attended a birthday party at the home of Mr. Sharp's mother, Mrs. Edward E. Sharp, of East Hartford last Saturday evening.

Wilbur Nevers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Judson Nevers, of Pleasant Valley, had the misfortune to break his right arm while cranking an automobile last week. He was taken to the St. Francis hospital.

The South Windsor Parent-Teacher Association cleared $352 at their fair which was held last week, Thursday and Friday.

There were about 100 present at the public supper held at Wolcott chapel last Thursday evening and the sum of $25 was cleared. The annual church meeting followed the supper and the following officers were elected: President, H. M. Newbery, clerk, Mrs. Fannie M. Bidwell, investment committee, R. A. Boardman, treasurer, Linwood K. Elmore, finance committee, Anna E. Burnham, Kathryn L. King, Rose Stoughton, Arline M. Bidwell, Linwood Elmore, Elmer R. Stoughton, auditor, Richard Jones, assistant treasurer, Elizabeth Parker. George O. Cae was elected deacon to take the place of Erastus D. Burnham who resigned. John E. Shepard presented the church with a bulletin board to be placed in front of the church. Meeting adjourned until January 2, 1930, when the adjourned annual meeting, supper and roll call will take place.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Hyson and family who have been living in the north part of the town, moved last Tuesday to the house which was recently vacated by Mrs. Yeaw and her family, in Pleasant Valley.

THREE OTHERS NOW LOST IN ARCTIC AREA

Flyers Searching for Five Men in Siberia—No Word of Either Eielson or His Mechanic.

Nome, Alaska, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The names of three more men were added today to the list of flyers missing in the frozen wastes of Siberia, across Bering Strait from here.

Already busy with preparations for an aerial search for Carl Ben Eielson, noted Arctic pilot, and his mechanic, Earl Borland, the group of aviators at Teller yesterday diverted some of their efforts to a hunt for Phil Graham, a pilot, and his two passengers, R. B. Julian and W. B. Miller who left the Alaska mainland last Tuesday on a flight to Elephant Point, Siberia. Nothing has been heard from their since.

Frank Dorbandt and Mechanic Pope, who have been participating in the attempts to fly to Eielson's rescue, took off from Teller yesterday to search for Graham, Julian and Miller.

Fog Hampers Search
Heavy fog over most of the region forced Pilot Ed Young to return to Teller yesterday after making a second attempt to carry gasoline supplies to two flyers who are operating from the icebound ship Nanuk on the Siberian coast in the hunt for Eielson and Borland.

Harold Gillman and Joe Crosson, who are making the Nanuk their base, were reported to have taken off from the ship yesterday and to have returned without finding a trace of either Eielson or Borland or their plane.

Five More Missing
With five men now missing, pilots here are facing the worst conditions of the year under which to carry on a search. Daylight lasts only a few hours, limited gasoline supplies curtail the use of planes on long flights and the work of radio stations which depend upon that form of fuel to generate power. Unfavorable weather has handicapped the rescue attempts. Efforts will be continued however, to establish a base on the Siberian coast.

Railroad officials at Seward were reported to have made arrangements to start three big cabin planes on their way to Fairbanks, within two hours after their arrival at Seward tonight or tomorrow. The planes are being moved from Seattle to Seward aboard the Coast Guard cutter Chelan. A squad of Canadian airmen, on the relief expedition aboard the Chelan then will fly the planes from Fairbanks to Teller and join the search for the missing men.

Flyers here now lack closed cabin planes such as those coming on the Chelan.

MEXICAN CONSULATE TO REMAIN CLOSED

Mexico City, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Excelsior today says it has learned that permission given for the resumption of trade with Laredo merchants by Nuevo Laredo people, will in no way affect the consulate at Laredo which "will remain closed until the reasons that caused the action disappear."

The paper says that resumption of trade was permitted, inasmuch as Mexican citizens suffering and they had vigorously beseeched the government not to make them continue bearing the hardship of no trade.

HOLD AUTHOR

Mexico City, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Tristan Maroff, Bolivian writer, was detained in Federal district military headquarters last night when he went there to interview alleged anarchists arrested last week on a charge of plotting a Terrorist campaign. The reason for Maroff's detention was not revealed.

Thirteen of the alleged Terrorists have been turned over by the military authorities to the department of interior, while seven others are reported to have been sent to Vera Cruz for deportation. Four of the latter were Cubans.

TOWN'S WATER SUPPLY IS SUDDENLY CUT OFF

Coast Guard Crew and Deep Sea Diver Work During Storm to Repair the Intake Pipe.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 24.—(AP)—A Coast Guard crew of ten men and a deep sea diver were working in a blinding storm on Lake Ontario today in an effort to restore the village of Brockport's water supply which was suddenly cut off last night. Meanwhile the residents of the village, twenty miles west of here, were depending on a few wells for their supply, an emergency tank having been emptied before the stoppage was discovered.

Owing to the absence of telegraph or telephone communication due to the recent storm, a messenger was dispatched to Mason D. McCune, commander of the Rochester station of the Coast Guard, who sent a cutter and ten men with Pat Burns, Rochester deep sea diver, to the intake pipe.

TURKS TO ECONOMIZE

Angora, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Christmas day, which is laden with gifts and merriment for the Christian world, will be Turkey's day of grim national economy.

The Turkish government has named December 25 as National Savings Day to instill notions of economy in the luxury-loving Turkish people. The Savings day is part of the government's program for extricating Turkey from impending economic disaster.

The Angora Industrial bank will give a tea party tomorrow to Turkish mothers and school teachers, in order to outline methods of teaching economy to the youth of the country. Speeches and publications throughout the nation will be devoted to the same purpose, and Christmas Day will henceforth be celebrated annually as National Economy Day.

TO PAY TEACHERS

Chicago, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Dimmed for several days by the financial fogs, sunny Christmas cheer broke through today for the 13,000 or so teachers in Chicago public schools.

Ones yesterday, hope was nearly abandoned that the checks already made out could be paid. Later, however, the needed $3,100,000 was arranged for in a hasty conference of school board members; by the arrangement, money due the building fund will be transferred to the depleted educational fund.

Assurance was given that the checks would reach the teachers by noon today.

PROFESSOR BURNED TO DEATH

Copenhagen, Denmark, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Prof. Alexander Bugge, of the history faculty at the University of Oslo, met a tragic death last night, dying from burns he suffered while resting in a police station.

The professor, who was on a short visit here, was taken ill in a restaurant and was brought to the police station for aid. He complained of the cold and went into a corridor where there was an old stove. He was found soon after with his clothes burning apparently having fallen against the stove. He died in a hospital during the night.

JUDGE WATERMAN DIES

Brattleboro, Vt., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Eliaser L. Waterman, Vermont Superior Court judge from 1906 to 1917 and chief justice from 1917 to 1919, died at his home here last night after two weeks' illness. He was 90 years old.

He served single terms in the State House or Representatives in 1866 and 1900 and a single term in 1876 in the State Senate. He had been president of the Vermont Bar Association and of the Brattleboro Savings bank.

He was born in Jamaica, Vt. His widow, three sons and three daughters survive.

CAKE FOR PRESIDENT

Washington, Dec. 24.—(AP)—A fifty pound fruit cake bearing the inscription "Christmas Greetings from California to President Hoover," was presented to the Chief Executive today by Representative Fries of California.

The cake, baked by W. C. Baker, of Ojai, Calif., had a white icing into which was worked figures of the American eagle, the presidential shield and festoons of California poppies.

PAULINA'S READY

This little girl is old enough now to look forward to Christmas with keen interest—and you can just bet that her stocking is going to be full. Who is she? Paulina Longworth, daughter of Speaker Nick Longworth of Congress and granddaughter of President Roosevelt. She'll be five in February, and this is her latest picture.

VATICAN CITY IS QUIET ZONE AMID NOISY ROMAN DIN

Vatican City—(AP)—The City of the Vatican is a City of Silence.

All around it roars the throb and beat of Rome, noisiest city perhaps of Europe. Taxi horns make a maddening hash of sound, streetcars scream around curves that are never greased, metal-tired horse-drawn carriages rattle and clatter. But within the Vatican all is quiet. It is like another life, an existence apart.

You go to the Courtyard of San Damaso. From here you can climb the stairs to the reception rooms of the pope and to the rooms of the Secretary of State, Cardinal Gasparri, and of the Governor of the new state, Serardini. It is the center of life of Vatican City.

But there is scarcely a sound, only the thinking of a fountain, the passing steps of two Swiss guards, the unsuccessful invasion of a distant taxi horn. Automobiles roll up silently with dignified men of the Church or the State within.

It is almost noon. Across the courtyard marches a guard to fire the Papal cannon. You go up the broad stairs. Here pass Cardinals and ambassadors, illustrious visitors and "just people" come to see the Pope.

But all talk in whispers. In the halls there are heavy carpets. You walk without proclaiming it. You can breathe in the quiet as if it were fresh air.

It is noon. The cannon booms, the bells ring out the half-day. And then silence again, deeper than ever. A woman nearby mumbles her Angelus. There is no other sound.

In leaving, you pass the Vatican telegraph office. It is not an ordinary telegraph office. It is almost empty of noise. You pass the central telephone exchange. A subdued ringing of bells, that is all.

And then you step again into Rome and your ears, rested by the visit to the Pope's domain, are routed by the assault of a thousand clashing sounds.

ARGENTINE WHEAT CROP.

Rome, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The International Institute of Agriculture today received a report from the Argentine government on the wheat crop showing that the crop for the current year is poor.

The crop was estimated at 3,900,000 metric tons which is nearly 4,500,000 tons less than last year and 2,000,000 less than the five-year average.

COUPLE MARRIED OVER TELEPHONE

Man in Ohio and Woman in Texas—Mother and Witness Listen In.

Waco, Tex., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Homer Eakin were "honeymooning" today, although they haven't seen each other for two months.

They were married last night over long distance telephone, with Eakin in Cleveland and the bride, Miss Bethel Pharr, in Waco. Justice Audrey Morris of Waco performed the ceremony, while witnesses listened over extension telephones.

The ceremony took six minutes and the phone bill was $9.50, "considerably cheaper," said the bride, "than the railroad fare from Cleveland to Waco."

Take Affidavits.

Eakin's witness was requested to sign an affidavit and mail it to Waco. A health certificate, required by Texas laws, was wired to Justice Morris yesterday by Eakin.

The marriage is the culminating of a romance that started at a Christmas dinner in Chilton, Tex., 14 years ago, when the bride was 6 years old and the groom 8.

The bride's mother, Mrs. W. S. Pharr, listening on one of the Waco extension phones, started issuing orders to her son-in-law immediately after the ceremony, while the bride, on another instrument, cried, "Oh, mother, hush and hang up."

DIES IN ODD ACCIDENT

Great Barrington, Mass., Dec. 24.—(AP)—George Bignal, 32-year-old night man in a local garage, was killed early today while returning from having aided a stranded motorist three miles from here. Snow and sleet were falling so heavily that Bignal's windshield view was completely obscured and it was conjectured that when he extended his head to the side of the car to see the road he struck it against a tree. A motorist driving a short distance behind, found Bignal's car to one side of the road and the man himself dying of a fractured skull. Bignal leaves a widow.

Face cream, made and used by the Egyptians 3300 years ago, was found in the tomb of Tutankhamen at Luxor.

WORLD'S BIGGEST YACHT

Hamburg, Germany, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Blohm and Voss, shipbuilders, today announced they had received an order for the largest yacht in their experience. The vessel will be 410 feet long and will have a speed of eighteen knots.

(The Orion, built last summer in Kiel, Germany, for Julius Forstmann, woolen manufacturer of New York and Passaic, is said to be the largest yacht now in existence. The Orion is 333 feet long and is of 3,400 tons displacement. Her maximum speed is 16 1-2 knots.)

Heavyweight Situation May Clear Up Shortly

Predict Tunney's Vacant Chair Will Be Occupied by Next September; Sharkey or Schmeling Most Likely.

BY HERBERT W. BARKER.

New York, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Predictions that a new champion will be sitting on the long vacant heavyweight throne by the end of next September seem now to have been based on fact rather than the grandiose fancies of prize fight promoters.

Plans for the crowning of a new titleholder have advanced to the stage when it seems safe to venture a guess that the three big "shots" of the 1930 season will be held in Miami, Atlantic City and New York and that the active participants will be drawn from among Jack Sharkey and Tuffy Griffith of the United States, Schmeling of Germany, Phil Scott of England and Otto Von Porat of Norway.

As the situation shapes up now, Sharkey will meet either Von Porat or Griffith at Miami in Madison Square Garden's second annual "Battle of the Palms," on February 27; Schmeling, the Teuton ace, will face some outstanding contender, possibly Scott, at Atlantic City, March 29 with the survivors clashing for the title in New York in September.

Sharkey is a certainty to fight at Miami, but his opponent will not be named until after Griffith's battle with Johnny Johnson here Friday night and Von Porat's clash with Paulino Uzcudun at the Garden Jan. 10.

Schmeling who still is under ban in New York state has agreed to meet the "best available opponent" at Atlantic City in March. Reports that Sharkey would sign with the Taylor-Gunnis-Duffy promoter combine to meet Schmeling at Atlantic City appear somewhat far fetched. With the Miami fight on February 27 Sharkey would have to make two big ring appearances in a month and the boys don't do that in these advanced and enlightened days. The chances are Scott will get the call to face Schmeling at the seashore resort.

Provided these first two big shows go over as planned, a September meeting between Sharkey and Schmeling appears probable.

CHARTER OAKS WIN FOUR FROM CENTERS

Night Hawks and British-Americans Win by Forfeit; Majors Take Four.

It was impossible for the Night Hawks to lose their two point lead in the Herald League all night. The Shell Gas team forfeited the four points to them. The Majors kept close on the heels of the speeding nocturnal south enders and earned their points to boost when they defeated the Pirates all three games. The scores were not submitted. The Herald team forfeited three games to the British-Americans, only three men putting in appearance.

The Charter Oaks put the Centers down for the full count but won the third game by only three points. The West Sides defeated the Construction 3 to 1, losing the first game by a solitary pin. The scores follow:

A two man bowling match has been arranged pairing up Guido Groggett and Art Berge against Jack Scidella and "Yank" Saslia. Courtesy games will be rolled, the first seven at Bronke's alleys Thursday night and the final seven at "arr's" on Friday. Much interest centers around this match.

VETERAN OF HUNT

For forty years Cortez Temple, above, has poled his scow through the shallow waters and tramped the thick underbrush at the head of the adventurous eastern sportsmen on hunting trips into the great Dismal Swamp, bordered on the north by Virginia and the south by North Carolina. Cortez is shown here calling his pack of 35 hunting hounds, employing an old-fashioned hunting horn which, according to legend, a slave of George Washington used in hunting over the dim trails. The swamp, sometimes called the "lost world," is the greatest game preserve of the Old Dominion. Cortez bagged the first bear of the present hunting season, a 250-pound animal.

OFFENSE IS MYSTERY

Los Angeles, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Formation "B", that famous brain child of Coach Glenn "Pop" Warner, looms again as a threat to the University of Southern California Trojans must deal with when they clash with the Panthers of Pittsburgh in the annual tournament of roses game at Pasadena, New Years Day.

Will Coach John "Jock" Sutherland employ the system of two wing halfbacks in his offense against the man of Troy? Coach Howard Jones seems to think so for he is priming his defense in anticipation of the formation.

Today he plans more detailed instruction to his players in the matter of frustrating the plot of the Golden Panthers to make consistent yardage by their powerhouse tactics.

Provided these first two big shows go over as planned, a September meeting between Sharkey and Schmeling appears probable.

SPORT SLANTS

Alan J. Gould

To win one of these post-season gridiron battles on the Pacific Coast, an Eastern team must be at least 20 per cent stronger than its opponent.

This remark was once made by an Eastern coach, after experiencing the difficulties of trying to keep his team in trim in winter weather after the close of the regular season and following the long jaunt to California.

Whatever the debate on this point, Army and Pittsburgh face a pair of man-sized assignments on the gridirons of Palo Alto and Pasadena in the main post-season engagements of the season.

Pitt reached the peak against Carnegie the middle of November. The Army against Notre Dame at the close of November. As the Panthers and Cadets played on those days, they looked good enough to handle any team in the country. If they can be brought back to that notch, the Far West will not have so much to cheer about as it did last season.

Figured chiefly on the records, Pitt has an edge on Southern California for the New Year's Day assignment and Stanford an advantage over Army on Dec. 28.

Pitt's undefeated clan, in fact, is the only team of the four with a claim to national championship honors at stake in the holiday festival. The Panthers have a better-knit defense than Southern California. This observer has sized up both squads and hands the defensive palm unquestionably to the Pitt line that features Donchess, Montgomery and Dimeolo.

The Trojan attack, however, is equally as hard-hitting and deceptive as that of the Panther. Saunders and Musick crack the line as forcibly as Parkinson, Duffield is as capable a passer and kicker as Rooney, though no Trojan is as shifty through a broken field as Toby Uansa, the All-American acrobat.

Uansa will be the man for Southern Cal to watch. If the Pitt forwards and blockers can shake him loose, as they have done all season, Toby will turn a few handsprings in the open. As an artful dodger, Uansa ranks with the great Red Cagle.

This brings up the main point of the engagement at Palo Alto. Stanford stopped Cagle, except for one line, epic dash last year at the Yankee Stadium. The Cardinals and Pop Warner know that if they harness the redhead, the day's work will be much easier. Since this is Cagle's farewell to the gridiron after four brilliant years, it may not be so easy to accomplish. This fact, plus the desire to do a little something heroic for Biff Jones, the retiring Army head coach, will no doubt spur the cadets.

Army is about due for a "break", after a series of disappointments and may get it at Palo Alto, especially if the Cadet forwards can stop the berserk rushes of Fleishacker and Moffat and if Johnny Murrell can get off his punts, the way he did against Notre Dame.

"How can you figure Pitt's chances so bright when Southern Cal beat Carnegie by 45 to 13, whereas Pitt beat the Tartans, 34 to 13?"

This happens to be a classic exhibit of misleading figures. Pitt's victory over Carnegie actually was much more impressive for the Panthers settled the game with three touchdowns in the first period and then, naturally, slowed down a bit, whereas Carnegie held U. S. C. to a tie in the first half and went to pieces in the second half. Carnegie did not score against Pitt until the final quarter but rolled up a greater total of first downs than Southern California in spite of the lopsided score, which was due chiefly to "breaks" and the Trojan long-range passing.

Within a four-day period, eight of the eleven men selected for the 1929 All-America consensus will perform on California gridirons. Besides Cagle of the Army, Donchess and Uansa of Pittsburgh, the East-West game at San Francisco New Year's Day will see five more in action—Schwarz of California, Nagurski of Minnesota, Slight of Purdue, Holm of Alabama and Cannon of Notre Dame. The only missing links in this all-star festival are Feiler of Ohio State, Ticknor of Harvard and Carideo of Notre Dame.

HOCKEY GAME XMAS A. M. AT THE SPRINGS

The Whirlwinds, claimants of the town hockey championship, defeated the High school alumni 6 to 0 Sunday at Center Springs pond. The first meeting of Berlin's new city council the other night was marked by a wild riot between opposing members. Looks as if that Berlin mayor, who just finished a tour of the United States, is putting American governmental practices into effect in a hurry.

Some have found the man they think stacks up for the job. Jim Jeffries, the great old warrior, former heavyweight champion of the world and the man who conquered Bob Fitzsimmons, is taking an active part in the search. Behind closed doors on his ranch at Burbank, Calif., Jeff is grooming a young giant, Albert Morro for the task.

Another Pacific coast boy who is being groomed for greater things is Frankie Campbell of Los Angeles. He is highly regarded by Jack Dempsey himself to succeed him as a real fighting champion. Campbell has a style similar to the old masters. He punches hard with both fists from a crouch. He is serious about fighting and has rung up three straight knockouts. Of course he has only recently passed the Tony Stabeanu milestone of his pugilistic journey and may be quite a way off. But there is the possibility that he, like Dempsey may gather a sudden momentum and breeze right through the heavyweights like a borer through an Iowa corn field.

Jack Kearns who steered Dempsey to the top, has one or two likely prospects under his wing and will make his bid one of these days. Billy Gibson, who guided Gene Tunney to the title, is giving a lot of attention to a young heavyweight in which he sees possibilities. His

May Find Next Champ Hiding Under Box Car

Now is the time for every good fight manager to look under a box car for another Dempsey.

Now, if ever, is the time for some young American with iron fists and the ambition to use them to step it up and corral that wealth and glory that go with the heavyweight championship.

In every section of the country there are suspicious looking gentlemen prowling about railroad yards, looking under gondolas—around boiler factories, getting a load of the young huskies who dally with the pneumatic riveting machines. They are fight managers and their quest is for a young heavyweight who can lunge forward instead of backward, one who is not afraid to take punishment—one who has the tiger instinct—one who can hang a lethal summons on the chin of his fellow man with gusto—in other words another Jack Dempsey.

From all sides comes the same cry of disgust at the way the once great heavyweight division has deteriorated. The behemoths of the day are as uninteresting as they are big. Foreign faces have been crowding into the picture. A current heavyweight bill is strangely mindful of a wrestling show. Big cumbersome bums, who timidly try to box and will sink to the canvas with a grunt of relief, yelling foul the minute their pants are wrinkled with a punch right on the belt line!

The fight fans' expressions of being extremely bored is probably the greatest tribute that they could hand to Jack Dempsey. Jack Dempsey gave them knockouts. He is the man who spoiled them. And they'll never forget him.

HELEN WILLS MOODY TO KEEP AT TENNIS

Berkeley, Cal., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Helen Wills Moody and her young husband, Frederick S. Moody, Jr., of San Francisco, were off today on a three weeks' wedding tour. They disappeared yesterday almost immediately after the simple Episcopal ceremony which united them had been performed.

Dressed in a modish tailored suit, carrying no flowers and without the conventional musical background, the women's tennis champion and her fiance knelt unattended at the altar in St. Clements Chapel shortly after noon. Only the parents, the bridegroom's brother and his wife, and the minister were there to hear their vows.

Outside the brown shingled chapel building waited a crowd of some 300, half of them school children and many of the others newspaper and news reel representatives. Just a quarter of an hour after Miss Wills and her husband slipped in the back door of the church they emerged from the front door and faced the batteries of cameras and questioning reporters.

Less than a minute later they entered a limousine which took them to a downtown gasoline station where the bride's own automobile awaited. There they changed cars and went their way, while the other six members of the wedding party returned to the Wills home on Tunnel Road here for a wedding breakfast.

Moody who is a broker, and his bride will make their home in San Francisco. Mrs. Moody expects to continue her tennis career.

The Nut Cracker

Billy Gibson is Paulino Uzcudun's new manager. Uzy used to have three dozen managers of assorted shapes and sizes. He probably decided to split up 36 for 1.

Mr. Gibson, however, probably is not feeding Uzy under their new arrangement. A stumblebum recently approached Mr. Gibson with the proposition that Mr. Gibson become his manager. Mr. Gibson agreed.

"All's O. K.," said the Stumbler. "Shake on it—and when do we eat?"

To which Mr. Gibson replied: "My good man, the deal is off." Mr. Gibson, you see, eats, too.

Again referring to oats, Mr. Jack Curley could give you some interesting testimony about the appetites of wrestlers. He used to be a small herd of them on his farm near New York City. You ought to see the swell silos on Mr. Curley's place.

With the boxers taking them below the belt, it begins to appear that the customers who pay $15.00 for a ring-side seat are the only ones who take it on the chin.

Rec Five Seeks Revenge For Earlier 42-29 Defeat

Only Holiday Sport Attraction Should Draw Large Crowd; Rec Confident of Winning; Taffy Five in Preliminary.

Coach Jerry Fay and his Rec Five basketball team are hoping that Santa Claus will be good to them when he brings his reindeer team to a stop on the Recreation Center roof and drops down the chimney with his bag of gifts. They're not asking for a lot of nice things. In fact, they made it plain in a letter addressed to Santa's North Pole headquarters a month ago that they would be tickled pink with just one gift—providing it was the one they most desire.

The present in mind would be a victory over the New Britain National Guard combine in basketball tomorrow night. It will be recalled that the Hardware City outfit gave the local tribe a neat trimming in New Britain not so long ago. The score was 42 to 29. Somehow or other the Rec Five doesn't relish the termination of the New Britain contest, they have been anxiously awaiting Christmas night. The desired time arrives 24 hours hence and it will then be up to the Rec to make good its boast to even accounts with the Guards.

Holiday Attraction In view of the fact that the contest is the only athletic event in Manchester Christmas Day, it seems a forgone conclusion that a record crowd will be present. Manchester is full of young men and women home from college. They will welcome anything in the form of entertainment in their old home town. So what could be more appropriate than a good basketball game?

The Rec is going to have its hands full trying to avenge the New Britain defeat. Don't get the idea that you're not in store for a real treat if you take in the game. The Guards are composed of the cream of New Britain's home-town basketball players. Not an imported star is in the lineup. One favorite with Manchester fans, one who will remain such as long as he continues to play the game and even long afterward, is Johnny Sheehan. He used to play in Manchester several years ago and was a member of the old Kacey team which cut quite a wide swath in basketball circles.

Sheehan No Daddy Mike Luke, "Lefty" Cohen, Ray Holst, "Hank" Arbur and Darrow round out the visiting team. Sheehan, like an Holst, did most of the scoring in the game at New Britain.

Christmas Cheer All and Our Sincere Wishes for A Happy New Year GLENNEY'S Illinois is Discreet Illinois has reputation for dis-

SENSE and NONSENSE

THE SEASON'S WISHES. Just around the corner From Christmas week, Comes the New Year, Trying to peek Into Christmas packages...

Christmas Chimes. Across the rare and frosty air, The chimes come softly stealing, And as they ring, their voices bring A surge of varied feelings.

The Christmas Tree. Deep in the wood's enchanted heart I saw a Christmas tree, An evergreen with slender trunk Of perfect symmetry.

Long strings of pearls and diamond stars And strips of ermine rare, And soft white feathers light enough For fairy queens to wear.

Bright reds and greens, the joyous faces of children, gifts and happy greetings, the music of carolers and of distant chimes—a snowy whiteness over all.

Friends! Another year has rolled around, another Christmas season is with us, May we all lay away, if only for an hour, the cares and responsibilities of our busy lives and remember our friends with a pleasant thought and a kindly greeting. I chanced upon a few lines recently, penned by an unknown author, that to me contain the very essence of a successful life.

A THOUGHT

Offer the sacrifices of righteousness and put your trust in the Lord.—Psalms 4:5. You cannot win without sacrifice.—Charles Buxton.

The "first robin" story is already at hand—from Ohio—and the only trouble is that it's impossible to figure out whether this particular bird is getting there ahead of time or just getting away late.

CELEBRATE CARLSONS' SILVER WEDDING

Nearly 100 friends of Mr. and Mrs. Albin Carlson of 56 Wetherell street, gathered at the home Saturday night to hold a surprise party in honor of the couple's 25th wedding anniversary.

A bouquet of chrysanthemums, brought by the self-invited guests, decorated the table with a large wedding cake on which the name of Mr. and Mrs. Carlson was inscribed. Following the serving of the plentiful refreshments the evening was spent in a social hour.

DELUGE OF MAIL QUICKLY HANDLED

Post Office Forces Here Work Long Into the Night to Get All Matter Sorted.

If an enormous volume of business in the post office is an indication of hard times, then times in Manchester are terrible; for never before in the history of the local offices has such a flood of packages, cards and mail matter generally been handled in this town during the ante-Christmas season as the post office workers have toiled over.

Long Hard Task After working all of Sunday, the whole force of the South Manchester postoffice reported at 6 o'clock yesterday morning and for twenty-one mortal hours hustled like beavers, sorting, canceling, shipping, receiving and delivering mail matter.

Bright and early this morning the carrier force tackled the formidable job of getting the tremendous day's mail into the hands of the addressees.
