

HICKEY MAKES TWO ARRESTS AT ROADHOUSE

Chef of Resort at Avon and Chauffeur Brought to Hartford on Bench War- rants and Questioned.

Hartford, Feb. 5.—(AP)—One of the 18 bench warrants already in the hands of State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn was used, and an additional warrant obtained today, in connection with two arrests on liquor charges, made in Avon by County Detective Edward J. Hickey this morning shortly after midnight.

William Stevens, 40, a chef, who took over the roadhouse known as Roby's Tavern, in Avon, about a week ago, and Joseph J. Lang, 33, chauffeur of 90 Maple street, New Britain were the two arrested. Both were questioned at length at the state's attorney's office this morning, having been lodged in the police station immediately after they were brought to Hartford.

Asks For Warrants

It was late yesterday afternoon, just before the Grand Jury returned its indictments for first degree murder against the four youths involved in the slaying of a Bristol policeman, that Assistant State's Attorney Donald Gaffney presented the applications for eight warrants. Judge Newell Jennings immediately ordered them issued.

There are now seventeen secret warrants waiting to be served. Of the first batch of thirteen obtained when Sebastian Aliano was indicted for a murder in a Fruit street speakeasy, ten remain. Three were for the three convicts who escaped from Wethersfield prison. One of the eight obtained yesterday afternoon was served on Stevens, it is believed, the additional warrant issued today being for Lang.

Stevens is charged with the sale of liquor. His bond was set at $1,000. Lang's is to be set at $2,500 as the charge is transportation of liquor, third offense.

DORAN DECLARES BIG LEAK CLOSED

Dry Commissioner Says Only Three Per Cent of Alcohol Is Diverted Now.

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Answering recent charges of wide diversion of denatured alcohol to bootleg channels, Prohibition commissioner Doran today said diversion last year did not amount to more than three per cent of the total production.

Senator Borah and others in Congressional circles have asserted recently the diversion of alcohol for illegal purposes was a major prohibition problem.

Leaks closed. No mention of the attacks, but he said agents of the Prohibition Bureau in co-operation with United States attorneys, have been investigating the situation for the last seven or eight months and have "practically closed this leak."

He added that "appropriate court action may follow" as a result of the inquiry.

The commissioner said 52,405,000 gallons of completely denatured alcohol were produced last year, most of which was used principally as an anti-freeze solution for automobiles.

Doran gave the production of specially denatured alcohol as 34,550,000 gallons. He gave a list of 11 firms, which he described as "undoubtedly reputable, who used 44,000,000 gallons but added that concerns in New Jersey and Pennsylvania whose permits were revoked by prohibition administrators, only to have them restored by district courts, used 735,000 gallons. He did not name the New Jersey and Pennsylvania firms.

Principal Problem

The commissioner said the principal diversion problem centered in liquor, thinners, solvents and low grade toilet waters but asserted diversion from this source was not one fourth of what it was three years ago.

"In an intervening period the independent denaturing plant has been practically put out of business," Doran said, "hundreds of permits have been revoked, very few new ones have been issued and hundreds of formulas have been strengthened."

Hints At Legal Action

He added that legal action might be taken as a result of the long inquiry made into the situation in these industries.

"The skilled technician will always be able to recover alcohol from a mixture," he said. "The problem consists of making it as difficult and uneconomical as possible."

Doran asserted that closing of the industrial alcohol plants would have "no material effect on the illicit"

CHILDREN BET ON HORSE RACE

Man Arrested for Taking School Pupils' Lunch Money as Wagers.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—(AP)—School authorities today renewed efforts to prevent gambling in the vicinity of schools.

Acting on the complaint of parents, police yesterday arrested George Glover who they charged with taking the bets of school children on horse races. Wagers of 50 and 75 cents, the sums representing the children's lunch money, were accepted, police charged. Glover was arrested as he sat in an automobile parked near the school.

Judge Erickson today was to pass on the evidence against Deinese Durak, charged with operating a speakeasy opposite a school building.

DEMOCRATS IN A TEST VOTE WIN 41 TO 38

Dramatic Entrances and Tie Votes Excite Members of Senate Voting on Tariff; Independents to Rescue.

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Dramatic entrances, tie votes and frenzied rounding up of absent members marked the beginning in the Senate today of the Democratic assault on rates in the pending tariff bill, the Democrats finally winning the first test of strength by carrying a proposal to cut in half the existing rate of five cents a pound on acetic anhydride, a material used in aspirin manufacture.

Taking rates left undisturbed thus far in the Hawley-Smoot bill, Senator Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, proposed the reduction on acetic anhydride. The Republicans contested the amendment stubbornly and a tie vote seemed in prospect.

That meant defeat for the Democrats. Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, jumped to his feet to propose reconsideration of the vote.

In dashed Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland. His vote would have given the party the majority. Senator Goldsborough, Republican, Maryland, rushed in just as dramatically and saved the day, or rather a part of it. The vote was 39 to 39.

Round Up Members.

Harrison obtained recognition immediately and moved reconsideration. The Democrats in the meantime were rounding up absentees and the motion to reconsider carried 41 to 38. Another roll call began and the rate on acetic anhydride was cut to two and a half cents a pound.

The vote was regarded as a test for further attempts in the tariff bill. Democrats and Republican independents to reduce industrial rates in the tariff bill which was opened up to individual amendments today for the first time.

Ten Republican independents lined up with the Democrats for the Barkley amendment. Only one Democrat, Broussard, of Louisiana—voted with the Republicans against the reduction. Senator Ransdell, Democrat, Louisiana, voted against the cut on the first roll call but was paired on the second.

With the strength determined on the test vote approval was quickly given to another amendment by Senator Barkley to cut the duty on boric acid from 1 1/2 to 1 cent a pound.

Another Democratic proposal, to restore the existing duty of 25 per cent on formic acid was adopted, 42 to 34. The House and Senate bills provided a rate of four cents a pound.

357 MILES AN HOUR NEW WORLD'S RECORD

British Flier Cops L. S. Thompson Trophy Presented by Senator Bingham.

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Great Britain today became custodian of the L. S. Thompson Trophy for the world's greatest speed in the air.

Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador, in accepting the trophy from Senator Hiram Bingham, Connecticut, president of the National Aeronautical Association, said:

"The British are generally supposed to be a slow moving race but it seems that in some branches of the speed we can still hold our own with the rest of the world."

The trophy will be kept in the embassy until a new record is established. A smaller model of the award remains the permanent possession of Squadron Leader Orlebar, who set a new record of 357.723 miles an hour.

TAFT CARRIED TO HIS HOME

Pale and worn and pronounced by physicians "a very sick man," William Howard Taft—a private citizen again after relinquishing his post as Chief Justice—is shown in this remarkable Herald-NEA Service picture as he was carried into his Washington residence upon his arrival from Asheville, N. C. The former President is pictured here as he was borne upon friendly arms from the automobile which conveyed him from the railroad station to his home.

LOBBY PROBERS REPORT IMPORTERS' ACTIVITIES

Gives Highlights of Efforts Made to Keep Down Tar- iff Duties in Various Com- modities.

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Activities of importers and others interested in lowering tariff rates, were reported to the Senate today, by its lobby investigating committee.

The report, prepared by Senator Robinson, Republican, Indiana, gave first attention to the National Council of American Importers and Traders, incorporated during 1929. The report said "the council was quite active and through its personnel and various branches expended large sums both in Washington and New York."

The report added that the council was "particularly successful in its effort to employ men who had been connected with the Customs and other branches of government service." A letter sent out by the council soliciting funds to carry on the "lobby activities" was put in the report. Some members were asked for $100 and others for $259, the report disclosed.

Publicity Bureau.

The cost of the publicity bureau set up by the National Council was reported by the committee at $5,676. The committee also reported that Samuel Kridel, of New York City, spent $18,000 in 1922 to keep down the tariff on silk and expected to spend the same amount this time.

Senator Robinson withheld any report on the inquiry into activities of the German dye industry and on the investigation of payments to the campaign funds of Senator King, Democrat, Utah, pending recovery from illness of the Utah Senator.

Sick Defense.

The committee report stated that Arman C. Stapfer was employed by the silk defense committee for $12-

40,000 ARE PRESENT AT INAUGURATION

Mexico City Turns Out to See New President Install- ed—Many Tourists.

Mexico City, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Inauguration ceremonies attendant upon the transference of Mexico's chief executive post from President Portes Gil to Pasqual Ortiz Rubio, began in the National Stadium this morning in the presence of a huge crowd estimated at 40,000 persons.

The transmission of power from the provisional government, of President Portes Gil to the constitutional government of Ortiz Rubio began at eleven o'clock when the National Congress met in extraordinary session as a preliminary to the new president's taking the oath.

Occupying the platform with the Congress were diplomats who arrived in a body a half hour previous. Solid files of soldiers lined the streets from the National Palace to the Stadium. It was a beautiful day and the whole city of Mexico blossomed out in color in honor of the Pontifical states. But the unfettered democracy of the small national entity was too much for him. The San Marinese repulsed similar attempts in 1825 and 1832. Their independence was formally recognized by Italy on March 22, 1862.

San Marino's area is only 38 square miles, and its population but 13,013 according to the census of two years ago. Its capital, San Marino by name, has only 1,700 inhabitants. Its government is carried on by two "captains-regent," elected every six months from the members of a general council of 60 members, chosen for life from the nobles, bourgeois and rural landowners.

BOARD URGES A PAROLE FOR DOCTOR COOK

Att.-Gen. Mitchell Has Yet To Pass on Matter Con- cerning Arctic Explorer Now in Leavenworth.

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, Arctic explorer, serving a 15-year sentence at Leavenworth Federal penitentiary today was recommended for parole by the Federal Parole Board.

Attorney General Mitchell has yet to pass upon the parole board's recommendation, and there was no indication from the Department of Justice today what action would be taken. Should Mitchell approve the recommendation, it will be submitted to President Hoover for his approval.

In Stock Fraud.

Cook was convicted of using the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of petroleum stock. He became eligible for parole on March 5.

Cook began his sentence on April 6, 1925, after he had been convicted at Fort Worth, Texas, before Federal Judge John M. Killeets, who was sent there from the northern district of Ohio. Cook was charged with receiving about $375,000 from sale of fraudulent stock. He was sentenced to serve 14 years and 9 months and pay a fine of $12,000.

On March 22 last, President Hoover denied Cook's plea for executive clemency whereby he sought to have his sentence commuted to ten years which would have enabled him to apply for parole sooner.

TILDEN IS DEFEATED IN STARTLING UPSET

E. C. Peters, Sixth Ranking British Player Trims "Big Bill," 9-7, 8-6.

Cannes, France, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Big Bill Tilden, American tennis champion, was beaten today by E. C. Peters, sixth ranking British player, in one of the biggest upsets ever witnessed on the Riviera.

The match was decided in straight sets at 9-7, 8-6.

Tilden attributed his downfall to over-confidence and failure to keep his mind on the game.

Tiny Republic Celebrates Independence Anniversary

San Marino, Feb. 5.—(AP)—This divine republic, encompassed all about by the territory of its big neighbor, Italy, today celebrated its independence with pealing bells and a great display of flags. The festivities are due to continue two days more.

The occasion is the 190th anniversary of the San Marinese revolt against the encroachments of Cardinal Alberoni, Papal legate of Ravenna. That prelate, acting contrary to the orders of his master, Pope Clement XII, invaded the republic territory, imposed a new constitution, and tried to force the inhabitants to accept the government of the Pontifical states. But the

BALDWIN ASKS FRANKNESS ON NAVAL PARLEY

Says House of Commons Has to Learn from the Press What Great Britain Is Planning to Do.

London, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Stanley Baldwin, former Conservative premier, in outlining policies of the Conservative Party before a big gathering of his supporters at the London Coliseum this morning, declared that if the Labor Party wanted the support which the Conservatives wish to give it in international affairs there will have to be more frankness on the government's part than there has been in the past.

Referring to the naval conference, Mr. Baldwin said that no one realized more than he the difficult position entailed by that party but that he considered that the Commons was entitled to more information than it had received. He remarked that the House learned for the first time through the press that two cruisers were going to be dropped.

People Uneasy.

"That is the kind of thing which makes the people of this country uneasy," he said. "If the scrapping of the conference was to be made the result of an agreement inside the conference we ought to have been told if on the other hand, it was merely a gesture, we should have been told also."

"We have every intention of playing the game with the government," he said. "We want them to play their part. We are not going to play the part which was played by the leaders of both opposition parties. My friend Lord Bridgeman attended the Geneva conference on naval disarmament and the leaders of both oppositions allied themselves in this country with Mr. Shearer."

Some Comfort.

"But we do take some comfort in the declaration made by the prime minister the other day when he gave expression to a sentiment which we are in full agreement with which coming from the party which he leads, was the first time such an utterance had ever been made—'our Navy is us'."

He continued: "Our Navy indeed is us and when we discuss naval matters we are touched far beyond our intellect, we are touched in the depths of our sentiments and our hearts."

Mr. Baldwin previously had indicated Conservative sympathy with the naval conference, which the Labor Party took its first opportunity to make a reality. "Had we been turned to power we probably should have held a conference also. We are as keen on progress of disarmament as any party in the country."

NEXT CONFERENCE

London, Feb. 5.—(AP)—An international disarmament conference dealing with land as well as sea forces after the five power conference has been completed was predicted by Prime Minister MacDonald today.

The prime minister, replying to a question as to whether a conference of the kind was being considered by the League of Nations for some time.

"I hope that at the conclusion of the five power conference, a further meeting of the preparatory commission on disarmament will be held, which will enable the next assembly of the League to arrange for summoning an international disarmament conference."

MOSES EXONERATED

Concord, N. H., Feb. 5.—(AP)—The Concord Monitor-Patriot today publishes a letter from U. S. Senator George H. Moses, recently named by Francis P. Garvan, former alien property custodian, as one of those who had sought to restore the German dye industry to its pre-war supremacy in this country, in which is included a copy of a letter written on March 9, 1927, by Emory R. Buckner, then Federal district attorney for New York, purporting to exonerate Moses of connection with certain phases of the complicated alien property situation.

Buckner wrote that checks given to Senator Moses by John T. King and then in his (Buckner's) possession "were found by us to have no connection whatever with the American metals case or to the alien property custodian which we were investigating."

King, now dead, was indicted jointly with Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney-general, and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, for conspiracy to defraud the government.

TREASURY BALANCE.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Treasury receipts for February 3 were $5,936,625.20; expenditures $12,419,938.49; balance $93,221,144.93.

TAFT, BIT BETTER TO MEET HOOVER IN A BRIEF VISIT

ARREST 6 PERSONS IN PRICE MYSTERY Members of Family Say Real Estate Man Is Now Being Held for Ransom.

New Haven, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Six persons were under arrest here today in connection with the mysterious disappearance of Max Price, 62, real estate dealer.

The six persons, three of them from Bridgeport, it was learned, were taken into custody last night and this morning, and are being held under technical charges of idleness for questioning.

Three New Haven men, Jacob Prober a wholesale meat dealer; Hyman Orchowsky, grocery store proprietor and Solomon Bodek, dry-goods merchant were arrested last night.

Three More Held

Suddenly shifting the scene of their investigation, police this morning arrested Mrs. Emma Delmator, 30, a clairvoyant of 36 Norman street; Isaac L. Katzman, 45, of 101 Keeler avenue, general contractor and Morton E. Lassner, 43, insurance broker with offices at 945 Main street, all of Bridgeport.

When asked for information, police said that a "bunch" had been picked up for questioning, but would not elaborate upon the latest developments in the week-old mystery.

Claim Kidnaping

Members of Price's family have expressed the belief that the man had been kidnaped.

Just what connection the six persons could not be learned. Yesterday New Haven police called at New York police headquarters asking for aid in searching for Price who was said to have been held there for ransom set as high as $75,000.

Police here today would not comment on that angle of the case.

Mrs. Delmator came into prominence in 1921 because of her close friendship with Mrs. Ethel Nott, whose husband, George B. Nott, of Bridgeport, was murdered. Elwood B. Wade, sweetheart of Mrs. Nott, was hanged for the murder and Mrs. Nott now is serving a life sentence.

Near New Haven

While police steadfastly refused to discuss the rapid developments in the case, the New Haven Register in a copyrighted story today said that Price was being held a prisoner within five miles of this city.

Abraham Price, a brother, carrying a satchel containing "more than $25,000" and Assistant City Attorney Nelson R. Durant, according to the Register went to New York last night to pay the ransom.

The Register said that they were to have met New York representatives of the kidnapers near the 125th street station, a "plant" in the

HERBERT ABSOLVED IS BACK AT POST

Doran Says No Charges Are Pending Against Dry Ad- ministrator.

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—John F. J. Herbert, whose appointment as prohibition administrator for Montana and Idaho, caused attacks by Senators Borah and Wheeler, has been ordered to return to his post by Prohibition Commissioner Doran, who asserted today that no charges of any kind were pending against Herbert.

Doran in a formal statement said all complaints against Herbert had "been thoroughly and painstakingly inquired into and found to be either frivolous or without basis in fact and the matter has been closed."

Called to Capital

Herbert, formerly prohibition administrator at Baltimore, was summoned here from the west after Senators Borah and Wheeler had assailed him on the floor of the Senate. Borah, who represents Idaho, said if reports to him about Herbert were true the latter should be in the penitentiary instead of enforcing the dry laws. In summoning Herbert here Doran made it plain it was because of the attacks made by the Senators and not from charges pending in the Prohibition Department.

Close Friends

The President and the former Chief Justice long have been friends. Mr. Hoover was highly pleased at the optimistic bulletin which was issued today by Mr. Taft's physicians. Dr. Francis Hagner and Dr.

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—A slight improvement in the condition of William Howard Taft today prompted Herbert Hoover to take advantage of this opportunity to call on his old friend who nearly a score of years ago held the office of President of the United States.

Hardly had Mr. Taft's physicians issued a bulletin at 11:30 a. m., saying the former Chief Justice was "slightly better" after a "quiet night" and a "comfortable" morning, than Mr. Hoover announced at the White House that he would call at the Taft home on Wyoming avenue.

Ever since Mr. Taft returned here yesterday from Asheville, North Carolina, Mr. Hoover has kept in close touch with the condition of the patient. About the time the physicians' bulletin was made public—and it was given in a press both at the White House and the Taft home—word reached the Chief Executive that Mr. Taft was able to leave his bed and sit in an easy chair.

Mr. Taft also informed the President that Mr. Taft would be glad to see him.

Still Seriously Ill

Although physicians still regard Mr. Taft as a serious ill man, the 11:30 a. m. bulletin was the most encouraging word since his resignation Monday as Chief Justice of the United States and returned to his home here.

The bulletin read:

"The Chief Justice is slightly better than yesterday. He spent a quiet night and is comfortable this morning."

An indication that apprehension had lightened a little was seen in the decision of Mrs. Taft to take a short automobile ride.

The scenes about the Taft home pictured tranquility today. The neighborhood is quiet and little of the city's heavy traffic flows ever that of the Taft are present, but for the exception of an automobile stopping occasionally to take passengers from one of these houses there was little sign of the busy going about which was taking place on Connecticut avenue, a block away which has become one of the city's busiest streets.

Reporters Wait Outside

Newspaper men and others waiting outside the home of the former Chief Justice for some word of his condition sought shelter from the cold in automobiles parked there. Photographers now and then set up their cameras in the middle of the street to get pictures of visitors or of the home itself.

Numerous cars stopped at the entrance to the home while chauffeurs delivered messages of greeting to the stricken former president, but few persons were admitted to the household.

There was no police guard because the quietness of the neighborhood itself made that an unnecessary precaution.

Mr. Taft's home is on a corner plot. A block away Associate Justice Stone, of the Supreme Court has his home, and a few doors removed from the Taft residence is that of Stanley Harris, manager of the Detroit American League Baseball team, who was an Athletic club in Washington during his stay here with the Washington American League club.

There was no gathering of the curious about the Taft lawns today. Pedestrians and automobiles passed, knowing the serious condition of the sick man inside, looked or pointed to the home, and went their ways. The nurses, on entering and leaving, were lighted about their patient, forcing inquirers to look elsewhere for information.

FARM BOARD TASK IS ORGANIZATION

First Problem is to Help Farmers Help Themselves, Legge Reports.

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The big job of the Federal Farm Board in bringing about farm relief, is to help the agricultural interests to organize, so they can help themselves, in the opinion of Chairman Legge.

Legge testified before the House Appropriations sub-committee considering the annual supply bill for the next fiscal year in which $1,700,000, was set aside for his organization.

Legge said that before Congress adjourned the board might ask for a supplemental appropriation to the revolving fund but that the longer the time was delayed "the better case we can make as to what is going to be required."

His estimate, he added, "would be that we would ask you to set aside another $100,000,000 or $150,000,000."

In a statement filed with the committee, Chairman Legge showed that 119 applications had been filed for loans totaling $11,628,000; 79 approved, amounting to $86,236,000; and a total of $17,796,000 advanced.

It showed that nine applications totaling $6,507,000 had been refused and the remainder still were under consideration.

Of the approved loans, cotton co-operatives received $23,000,000; grain, $11,136,000; livestock, $8,600,000; dairy, $5,380,000; fruit and vegetable, $13,615,000; honey, $123,000; and wool and mohair, $1,275,000.

Legge said the board was trying to set up a foreign crop reporting service, because there "is something wrong with that proposition" of competition with foreign farm products, particularly cotton.

"We have got to go into this proposition as to what can be done to put our growers on a competitive basis as to both quantity and quality," he said.

500 and expenses to assist "in keeping down tariff on silk."

"All he says he did," the report said, "was to gather some facts and figures and data. He made some 15 trips from Chambersburg, in 1929 and two trips in 1930, for which he has charged an expense of $4,000."

The report listed Harry S. Radcliffe of Montclair, New Jersey, as spending for the National Importers Council $16,800 in behalf of lower tariffs. The report showed expenditure of $16,000 for maintenance of a Washington office for the National Retail Dry Goods Association.

DORAN DECLARES BIG LEAK CLOSED

TALK ON ENGLAND FOR GARDEN CLUB

Hartford Woman to Describe Outdoors of England Here Monday Night.

Miss Lucy O. Hunt of Hartford will be the guest speaker at the February meeting of the Manchester Garden club which will take place Monday evening at the Manchester Community clubhouse, 79 North Main street.

Her subject will be "Out of Doors in England," illustrated for the most part by colored views.

Miss Hunt who is president of the Hartford Bird Study Club, with two companions took a trip through England and some parts of the continent last summer. They visited many of the places of interest and had some unusual experiences.

While Miss Hunt did not make a study of the private English gardens, she did visit Lord Gray's beautiful estate "Faldoune" among others, and took special pains to secure excellent pictures of English gardens and lanes, with flowers and birds of the countries visited.

Through the co-operation of Thomas Maxwell and the Manchester Electric Company these views will be shown in the beauty of their original.

The business session will begin at 7:30 and Miss Hunt's talk will follow. The officers who are in charge of the program feel gratified that they have been able to secure Miss Hunt who has been a keen observer and brings vividly to her hearers experiences which she enjoyed.

YOUTH THOUGHT HANGED IS FOUND IN HARTFORD

Hartford, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Hartford police today dispelled the belief of Branford authorities that the body of a youth, found hanging from a tree in Westbrook Sunday, was that of Theodore Peterson, son of a Lorain, Ohio city councilman, when they located Peterson, working at a restaurant at 611 Main street, here.

Detective Philip H. Dooley, assigned to investigate the case, found that the Lorain youth, who was formerly in the Navy, was living at 142 Jefferson street and was employed at the restaurant. It is understood that his mother, who was married a second time, lives in East Hartford.

Before this was learned, Clinton police had been searching for a man who gave his name as John Martin, of Pawtucket, R. I., one of two men who applied at the Branford police station for lodging, the night of January 21. The other man gave his name as Fred Peterson of Lorain, and it was thought at first that he was the victim.

railroad station here, however, the papers said, tipped the New Yorks that Durant was accompanying Price and the scheduled meeting fell through.

The kidnappers, the Register said, had promised that Price would be in his home here ten minutes after the money had been paid in New York, showing that the man was being held at no great distance from New Haven, Conn., where he is said to have suggested to the Price family that it enlist the aid of a fortune teller in tracing the realtor, Abraham Price, the Register said, first visited a local woman, who in turn recommended Mme. State Briefs

NEW STATE BUILDING. Hartford, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The State Board of Finance and Control at its meeting on Thursday, the first to be held in the last few weeks because of the absence of Governor John H. Trumbull from the state, will have before it consideration of the plans for the proposed new state office building.

The plans are said to provide for approximately 5,000,000 cubic feet of space for the new building.

ARREST MURKIN. Bridgeport, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Rosa Munkacsy, 62, midwife, was arrested today charged with performing an illegal operation which resulted in the death of Mrs. Julia Grassich, 19, mother of two infant children.

Mrs. Grassich died last Thursday at the Bridgeport hospital under circumstances which caused Medical Examiner H. L. Peters to perform an autopsy. An inquest is being conducted by Coroner Phelan.

GUARDSMEN SENTENCED. New London, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Archie Lee Vines and L. J. Angelo, members of the Coast Guard patrol boat Legare which on December 29 seized the rum-runner Flor-Del-60 and 30 days respectively for placing a large wreath tie on the railroad tracks.

The men, arrested shortly after the theft of liquor from the seized rum-runner, was discovered by Coast Guard officials, pleaded guilty to charges of breach of the peace in Superior Court today. At the time of their arrest, both were intoxicated, police say.

USE TOO MANY SONGS IN MUSICAL TALKIES SAYS IRVING BERLIN

Hollywood, Calif.—One of the most glaring faults of the motion picture industry is that its films have too many songs.

This, folks, is the diagnosis of an expert—Irving Berlin. If Berlin, who is generally recognized as America's foremost composer of popular tunes, doesn't know his songs, then Lindbergh better stop flying.

He gets plenty of money every time he puts a note on a piece of paper. So when he says there are too many songs in pictures, there must be some sense in it.

Talking pictures have almost ruined the song publishing business," declares Berlin. "And the reason is that they have given the public too many songs. So far the talkies have produced only one real song hit. That was 'Sonny Boy,' which Al Jolson sang in 'The Singing Fool.' And there have been a great many fine songs written—so many, in fact, that none of them had a chance to become a hit."

"A few years ago I wrote four songs within 18 months, each of which passed the million mark in the number of copies sold. It was not uncommon then for a publisher to sell a million copies of a song. Each of them managed to put out one or two such hits every year. But now they think they have a hit if they send a score of copies. The whole situation boils down to one thing—over-production."

"In my opinion no picture but an operetta should contain more than four songs but these four should be sung often. Even a musical comedy shouldn't have more than four or at the most five songs, of which two are almost certain to become hits. And a great many pictures would be much better if they contained only one or more songs."

This situation will be remedied, however, according to the noted composer, who has taken his place as the leader of Hollywood's Tin Pan Alley. It came into existence because of the rapid evolution from silent to sound pictures and the producers didn't quite know how to handle their new "babes."

But now that they are learning their "do's" and "don'ts," there is bound to be a great reduction in the number of songs and a great improvement in the general quality of pictures.

Standard Still High. "There has been considerable talk about songs not being written under pressure," continued Berlin. "I don't agree with these people for the simple reason that I think a large percentage of the songs written for pictures have been extremely good, despite the fact that they have been written under pressure—a condition not conducive to the best work."

Another element that now enters into this song business is that songs no longer stand or fall on their own merits. A real hit song might turn out to be a 'flop' merely because of its spot in a picture. If the situation is not just right, it simply won't go over. On the other hand, a mediocre song might turn out to be a hit because of a powerful situation leading up to the singing of it."

CONN. MAN KILLED. Albany, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Phillip Leslie Conkling, 24, of Norwich, Conn., died in a hospital here, the result of an automobile accident near East Greenwich in the early morning hours. He was found beside his wrecked car by a milkman. The machine was believed to have skidded on a turn.

Bolton School Isolation Scares Away Teachers

Over on Birch Mountain in Bolton Mountain District school. She obtained a transfer to another school and another came. The new teacher also a graduate of Willimantic Normal lived in New London. There was absolutely no comparison with the seat of city and the Bolton hills and teacher No. 2 departed. Ansonia produced the third schoolman, a graduate of Danbury Normal and she went the way of the others and for the same reason. At this point a departure was made and a small town teacher was employed by the superintendent. Her home was in Stoughton where they make tar soap and do some fishing in the winter. She appears to be a fixture, at least until June, because she has had a year's training in a rural school and seems to like it, after two weeks on the job yesterday.

WEST GETS JUDGMENT OVER QUISH IN SUIT

Judge Jennings Regrets That Personal Feelings Entered Into Offering of Evidence.

Judgment in the amount of $2,000 on a suit of $2171.90, brought by Hector H. West, senior member of the firm of H. West & Son, general building contractors, of Bissell street, against Maurice T. Quish of 86 Benton street, was awarded yesterday by Judge Newell Jennings in Superior Court after a trial that began January 24.

Mr. West claimed that the amount was due on a contract to build a house for $6,100, of which $4,100 had been paid. An added amount of $171.90 was asked to cover extra items disputed by the owner of the house, Mr. Quish. The latter contended that the work was not entirely in accordance with specifications and that he would be obliged to spend between $800 and $900 to finish the work satisfactorily to himself.

ABOUT TOWN

TWELVE CENSUS DISTRICTS HERE

Applications for Jobs Must Be Made to Washington, Says Harney.

Of the 244 enumeration districts in the Second Connecticut District, of which Attorney William M. Harney, former Manchester man, will be director during the forthcoming tabulation of the Federal Census, Manchester has 12. This means that the services of a dozen census takers will be required when the actual work of counting begins on April 1. This is expected by Federal officials to take two weeks in centers of more than 2500 population, and three weeks in less densely settled communities.

Mr. Harney said yesterday that he is flooded with applications for work as enumerators and pointed out that all who desire such a position must write to the Director of the Census at Washington, D. C. for an application. On filling it out the application must be returned to Washington, whence it is forwarded to Mr. Harney. The examinations will be graded prior to March 1, the approximate date on which appointments will be made.

Enumerators for the greater part of the Hartford District will receive four cents for each name listed, with five cents to be paid for each name in the more sparsely settled sections of the county. Enumeration of farms will pay from 30 to 40 cents each.

Five districts have been established in Connecticut, Hartford being the largest with 244 enumeration districts; the Fourth Census District, will have 225 enumeration districts, the Fifth, 180; the Third, 173, and the First, 180.

The directors of the four other districts conferred with Mr. Harney at the City Club in Hartford yesterday noon. The directors and the town supervisors are: Andrew J. Cooney of Waterbury, First District, Litchfield County and western New Haven County; Mr. Harney, Second, Hartford County; Otto E. Robinson of Willimantic, Third, Middlesex, Tolland, New London, and Windham counties; George S. Hill of Bridgeport, Fourth, Fairfield County; Frederick M. Smith of New Haven, Fifth, eastern New Haven County, including New Haven.

An office to serve as headquarters from which the work will be directed, will be established in Hartford about February 15, Mr. Harney announced the exact spot being, in all probability, the room which formerly served as the Court of Common Pleas on Trumbull street. Final approval of the county commissioners and authority from the Census bureau in Washington to locate at this site is expected within a short time.

When the day's collection of old bills is complete in the Federal bank they are fed through a cutter, which slices each bill neatly in two halves, upper and lower. The upper halves are mailed one day; the lower halves the next. By this method any thieves who might happen to steal today's uppers in transit will be fooled, for the lower halves will journey to Washington on the morrow. The thief would have to rob the mail twice, on two successive days, to get any whole bills. The Federal Reserve Bank will get credit for the whole bill if the other package of bills arrive. A simple plan but effective.

Although the old bills have pretty much passed from daily use, they are not all extinct and will not be for over half a century, according to those whose duty it is to handle the old moneys of other years. Many of the old Civil War bills are still coming in for retirement especially from the rural districts of Northern New England.

The new bill, being smaller, is wearing out faster than the old and consequently many of the new vest pocket bills have already gone the way of the old. The new bills have been treated to a formaldehyde bath, a process which is intended to render them impervious to moisture, grease and dirt.

ELECTRICAL KITCHEN EQUIPPED HERE

Local Firm Plans to Demonstrate Many Different Uses Of Electricity.

The Manchester Electric company believes in keeping abreast of the times in "everything electrical" and their announcement today of the opening of their new kitchen tomorrow afternoon and evening, and Friday afternoon will be of especial interest to housewives in this town and the surrounding country.

Modern, electrically equipped kitchens attract and hold the attention of the women visitors to the "better" homes of today perhaps more than any other single room in these model houses. It is safe to say there is no more completely equipped kitchen, electrically, than this new one of the Electric company, within a radius of ten miles.

FINE, BIND OVER AUTO THIEF ARRESTED HERE.

Hartford Man Admits Taking Car, Driving It Drunk and Wrecking It.

Hector Laberge, of 31 Russ street Hartford, the man who was picked up in Hilliardville Sunday evening by Patrolman Joseph Prentice and who was charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, driving without a license and the theft of an automobile, was arraigned in the Manchester police court this morning before Judge Raymond A. Johnson. The man was not represented by counsel.

He pleaded guilty to the first two charges and not guilty to the theft of the automobile. The witnesses in the case were the officer making the arrest and Samuel Phelps of Hartford, the owner of the car. Laberge at one time worked for Mr. Phelps. In making his investigation of the case Prosecuting Attorney Charles R. Hathaway had learned something of the man's past record. It was the third car that he had smashed for Mr. Phelps.

Laberge denied that he had deliberately stolen the car. He told the court that he did not remember taking the machine. He admitted that he had been drinking on Sunday and must have been intoxicated when he took the car. Judge Johnson found him guilty of driving while drunk and imposed a jail sentence of ten days and a fine of $100 and costs. On the second charge, driving without a license, a fine of $15 and costs was imposed. The theft of the automobile was beyond the jurisdiction of the local court and accordingly Laberge was bound over to the March term of the Superior court under a bond of $1,000.

William DeHan who drove his Ford roadster into a New England bus at Center and Newman street Sunday evening, pleaded guilty to driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He was represented in court by Attorney William J. Shea. A fine of $100 and costs was imposed which was paid.

Valentine Lombardi, a Hartford junk dealer, with his son Pasquale, came to Manchester yesterday to do some business and as a consequence landed in the police court. The father was charged with theft of automobile parts from the property of Clarence Jeffers of the Love Lane filling station, and engaging in the junk dealing business without a license. According to the story told by the father and son they did not believe the automobile parts belonged to any person in particular. They picked the stuff up at what they supposed was a dump opposite the filling station.

The case against the son was nolleed and in that of the father Judge Johnson suspended judgment on the theft charge and imposed a fine of $5 and costs for failure to secure a license to deal in junk.

RAIN, SNOW AND ICE INTERRUPT TRAFFIC

Last Night's Combination Makes Walking and Riding Difficult; Trolleys Off Schedule.

Traffic of all kinds was made disagreeable if not paralyzed by a combination rain and snow storm last night and many persons stayed indoors. Walking conditions were bad. The snow that fell mixed with rain later and formed a sleet effect underfoot. The trolley cars were thrown off schedule.

Few automobiles were out during the night and those that were driving were traveling at a slow speed while the trucks that go through each night were making slow time. Because there was fear the wires would be ice coated this morning trolley cars were kept running all night on both the Rockville and South Manchester lines to keep the wires clear.

Arbiters of men's fashions say the males soon will appear in brighter colors. The men have to show their superiority some way.

HANGING, NO SUICIDE, IS CORONER'S BELIEF

Clinton, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Search was being conducted today for a man who gave his name as John Martin of Pawtucket, R. I., by police in their investigation of a youth's body found hanging from a tree near Westbrook Sunday. Although believed to be Fred Peterson, son of a Lorain, Ohio, city councilman, the dead youth has not been positively identified.

Two men asked for a night's lodging at a Branford police station January 21. One gave name as Fred Peterson of Lorain and the other as John Martin of Pawtucket. The next morning they left, saying they were going to New London.

Fictitious Address. Inquiry in the Rhode Island city revealed that Martin gave a fictitious name and address.

Coroner L. A. Smith said while he had not received a full report of an autopsy performed on the body, he was not satisfied that it was a case of suicide.

Charles Peterson of Lorain said he believed the body was that of his son who lived in Hartford. He was expected here today.

MANY HENRY FORDS.

Detroit, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Henry Ford, maker of automobiles and collector of antiques, has 12 namesakes in his own home town, it was learned today after a study of the new Detroit city directory. The other Henry Fords are classified in occupations ranging all the way from laborer to minister, with at least five of the group employed in some phase of the automobile industry of the city.

ADMIRALS DECRY NAVY CUT PLANS

British Sea Lords Wail That They Have No Place In the Conference.

By MILTON BRONNER

London, Feb. 5.—The Naval Conference may be a great success to some people, but so far as the old English sea dogs are concerned it is just a big mistake. Hardly had the various delegates settled down in their new quarters where there broke out a wailing chorus of protest from the Admirals. And, listening to this chorus, one realizes that Premier Ramsay MacDonald is not having easy sailing in his own country.

The English leaders will have the opposition of this country's diehards—admirals, politicians and newspapers alike. And he will have the opposition of Lord Bridgeman whose stubbornness when head of the Admiralty, wrecked the Geneva Naval conference. It was a sullen lot of old sea-dogs who, sitting in their Pall Mall clubs some months ago, read how MacDonald and President Hoover had agreed that the London Naval conference, insofar as America and Great Britain were concerned, should be conducted by civilian statesmen and not by professional sailors.

The silence of the Pall Mall clubs was broken finally by a lot of huffs and a lot of sniffs. Then all was quiet again on the London front and optimism thought it would remain so. The wailers, however, were merely hiding their time.

Lord Beatty Protested
Admiral Lord Beatty, who commanded the battle cruisers in the Battle of Jutland and was afterwards First Lord of the Admiralty, led off in the House of Lords. He viewed with alarm the government's proposal to cut down cruiser strength—the very strength Great Britain had made all the way her sea-borne traffic and keep open the paths to her dominions and colonies.

Then Lord Bridgeman took up the sad song at a meeting. Everybody, he said, was anxious for the conference to succeed, but there must be a proviso that nothing should be done which would impair Britain's feeling of security and the power of the navy to protect the British Isles, the empire and its trade. The cruiser problem was the difficulty in 1927 and it remained the difficulty today.

The First Lord of the Admiralty, this Labor successor, A. A. Anderson, said recently that Britain was willing to reduce her cruiser strength to 50, but his reason for this proposal was most unconvincing. It was that the Kellogg Pact had made all the difference between 1927, when Britain wanted 70 cruisers, and the position now. But the danger of war in 1927 was no greater than at the present time. The Kellogg Pact only embodied in documentary form the desire of nations not to enter war. And if the Kellogg Pact was the only difference, why should it have such curiously different effects in different countries? The effect it had on Britain was to reduce her claims by 20 cruisers, whereas other countries were preparing to increase their cruiser strength enormously. He viewed with alarm the absence of British naval experts and asked whether this might not be a sign that the government's policy was not one which naval experts might find difficult to swallow.

Admirals Didn't Agree
Vice Admiral E. A. Taylor, addressing a Navy political meeting, said the Kellogg Pact was no guarantee whatever that was a thing of the past. If it was so certain an assurance of future peace, why was not his chief either (United States) not giving up the execution of her latest naval program?

The speaker did not believe the Admiralty had agreed to 50 cruisers. He was certain that not a single admiral would say he was prepared to go to war with 50 cruisers as a maximum. Britain could not go on reducing her forces without sacrificing her national security. They were constantly being asked whether they might not be a sign that the government's policy was not one which naval experts might find difficult to swallow.

Then Admiral D. R. L. Nicholson delivered himself of a letter to the Times, as all good Britons do when they "view with alarm." He spoke of Britain's present unhappy position. "We seem to have given up our sovereign right to decide what is necessary for national security and to have surrendered the strength of the Royal Navy to an international conference."

Admiral Percy Grant was equally low in his mind, because he sat himself down at the United Services Club and wrote a letter to the Post in which he said he viewed with alarm the fact that no British Admiral had been named as a full delegate to the Naval Conference. An Admiral, by his training and long experience, would be better able to grapple with the many points raised in discussion. He was very sure the country would have felt far more confident if any decision arrived at if an Admiral were a full delegate.

BRITAIN'S OLD "SEA DOGS"

Great Britain should be free to fix her own standards of naval needs, and that in the five power naval conference no reduction in ships tonnage or personnel should be agreed to, which, in any way, would lower the standard of imperial safety.

The sea-dogs having had their wall, the Morning Post, Tory organ which is the favorite reading matter of retired sea-dogs in their clubs, took up the sad story in its editorial columns. Commenting upon the fact that in deciding upon 50 cruisers, the Admiralty was asked to take into account such conditions as the Kellogg Pact, which did not exist in 1927, it said contemptuously: "If that pact and all the other contraptions of World Courts and Peace Agreements, regional and universal, really worked—such, we gather, was the hypothesis which the Board of Admiralty was asked to consider. And, if they really did work inevitably and universally, work inevitably and universally, the British Empire could do with 50 instead of 70 cruisers. But on such a question of life and death we do not trust these hypotheses. The Kellogg Pact is, after all, a mere pious aspiration. To found, therefore, our naval estimates on the Kellogg Pact is as if we were to found our domestic calculations on that other hypothesis—'if all the world was apple-pie.'"

Rubbish—Garbage
Burn It With Gas Quickly! Safely!

More than 50% of the staggering loss through fire destruction in American homes is caused by accumulation of rubbish in unsafe places in and about the home. Don't take chances. Burn your waste paper, rags, and rubbish in a gas incinerator. Serves a double purpose—burns all garbage, too. Saves trips through rain and snow to the garbage can. Makes possible a new degree of cleanliness, sanitation and safety about home premises. The Gas Incinerator is easily installed in any home, old or new. Burns all refuse without smoke, odor, fuss or muss. Every home needs it.

Let us show you the type of gas incinerator that best fits your needs. Easy time payments if desired.

MEXICO'S PEASANTS THE NATION'S HOPE

New President Promises to Work for People in His Inauguration Speech.

Mexico City, Feb. 5.—(AP)—President Ortiz Rubio of Mexico, in his inauguration speech today, promised above all things to work for the people, terming the workers and peasants the "hope" of Mexico.

He said he would endeavor to remove all boundaries between the government and the people, seeking to establish a "social government" of common understanding and interests with the masses.

The address was brief, consisting of but ten typewritten pages. It set forth in general the lines and purposes of the new administration which is to fill out the four years, nine months and 25 days remaining unexpired of the term of President-elect Alvaro Obregón who was assassinated July 17, 1928.

The new president said the ideals of the revolution—justice and welfare for all—had been accepted by the nation as exemplified in his election by popular vote, adding that his government never would lose sight of the word it was pledged to carry out.

Restoration of conservative or even moderate men and systems, he declared, was impossible because the country was heart and soul intent on the radical work of restoring to the race its heritage.

Merits of Revolution.
The revolution had brought its own morals, its own justice, its own policies, in short, its own conception of life, he explained, promising that his government would be "eminently revolutionary."

Pointing out that Mexico enjoys cordial relations with the outside world and "particularly with the United States," the new president termed it an auspicious occasion for getting down to the solid work of reconstruction. In this he asked the help of all Mexicans at home and abroad, co-operating with whatever means were within their power toward the progress and prosperity of the nation.

At the same time he warned the "counter-revolutionists" that the social movement championed by the revolutionary governments of Mexico was a "co-ordinated fact."

Properly prepared scientific men will be given preference in his government, he stated, but they will be obliged to place all their efforts at the service of the revolutionary ideals, "to build up a better country in which all Mexicans will enjoy the privilege of being considered men." Class distinction will have to go, he warned recommending a fusion of the peoples populating the country to produce one race.

Present Problems.
He promised to attack immediately such outstanding problems as infant mortality now equalling almost half the birth rate; unemployment by aiding the agricultural industry, and illiteracy by an intense educational campaign among the working classes.

Mexico, he said, is large and rich enough to support six times its population and if most of the people so far have not been able to live in even relatively human conditions, it has been due to "the absolutist conception of the regime of private property, the profound division of classes and the deficient method of exploiting the country's resources plus certain political factors, all of which happily are being rectified by the revolutionary ideals."

Property Rights.
The right to property, he said, was being transformed from an absolute and private one to a social privilege and today the interest of collectivity is predominant in the minds of the governors and the people. The new ideals have destroyed class prejudice, humanized the country's morals and generalized the conception of citizenship.

Referring to the agrarian problem, he said the government would work for the adoption of modern methods of cultivation so as to increase production and perhaps the government would establish some sort of economic control to help this work.

He laid emphasis on the existence of nation-wide peace, lauded the work of his predecessor, who will be secretary of the interior in his Cabinet, and recommended "the immediate dignifying of our electoral practices and at all costs definite establishment of the institutional system broached by President Calles in his memorable address before Congress in September, 1928."

(On September 1, 1928, General Calles, then president, announced that he would not run for president again. He said that if Congress, the Army and the Mexican people would work unitedly and with patriotic motives, Mexico would at last get away from the idea that only strong military chieftains would govern. Instead, he said, would be established the sanctity of the power of laws and institutions which would command respect for whomsoever was made president.)

RETURNS JEWELS AFTER 20 YEARS

Oakland, Calif., Feb. 5.—The attempt of a conscience-stricken thief to make restitution was advanced today to explain the recent finding in Murfreesboro, Tenn., of $2,000 worth of jewels belonging to Miss Virginia Wardlaw who died 20 years ago while waiting trial for murder in East Orange, N. J.

Mrs. Mary Snead, who with her two sisters, Mrs. Caroline Martin and Miss Wardlaw, was arrested in 1909 for the slaying of Mrs. Martin's daughter, said yesterday that the jewels had been stolen from Miss Wardlaw's desk at Soule college, Murfreesboro, in 1906.

Mrs. Snead came to Oakland 15 years ago to live with her son, Albert.

"The jewels," he said, "were stolen from a secret drawer in Miss Wardlaw's desk. I am sure I know who took them out. I don't want to get her into trouble as she is a member of a prominent family and in educational work."

Conscience Troubled Her.
Mrs. Snead said she believed that the woman, troubled by conscience, had rented the safety deposit box in the first National bank of Murfreesboro and placed the jewels in it as an attempt to restore them. She said Miss Wardlaw had never rented a safety deposit box in Murfreesboro. The jewels she described as family heirlooms.

The sisters, Mrs. Snead, Miss Wardlaw and Mrs. Martin, were arrested in East Orange, N. J., after the body of Mrs. Martin's daughter, Cecy, who was married to Fletcher Snead, son of her aunt, was found in a bathtub in an unfurnished apartment.

CURIO HUNTERS RUIN FINE INDIAN RELICS

Ann Arbor, Mich. (AP)—Priceless records of former human life are being destroyed "at a rate incredible to those not in touch with the situation," says Dr. Carl E. Guthe, director of the museum of anthropology, University of Michigan.

These records are Indian relics which Dr. Guthe says become almost valueless to tell the story of tribes, nations and customs now extinct, unless they are studied in the original mounds where unearthed.

He lays the destruction both to curio hunters and to amateur archeologists.

He suggests that vandalism may be checked by correcting an erroneous impression that archeological objects have an intrinsic financial value.

KENTUCKY HAS ROOM TO STUDY SUN RAYS

Lexington, Ky.—(AP)—A laboratory of life and light that looks like a combination zoo and conservatory, has been completed at the University of Kentucky.

In it will be studied secrets of temperature and sunlight that make for health or illness.

Endowed by Percy H. Johnson of New York, the solar conservatory is an eight-room steel building with a glass roof.

It is equipped with large ultraviolet ray lamps and apparatus for air conditioning so as to provide any degree of temperature, humidity and air motion.

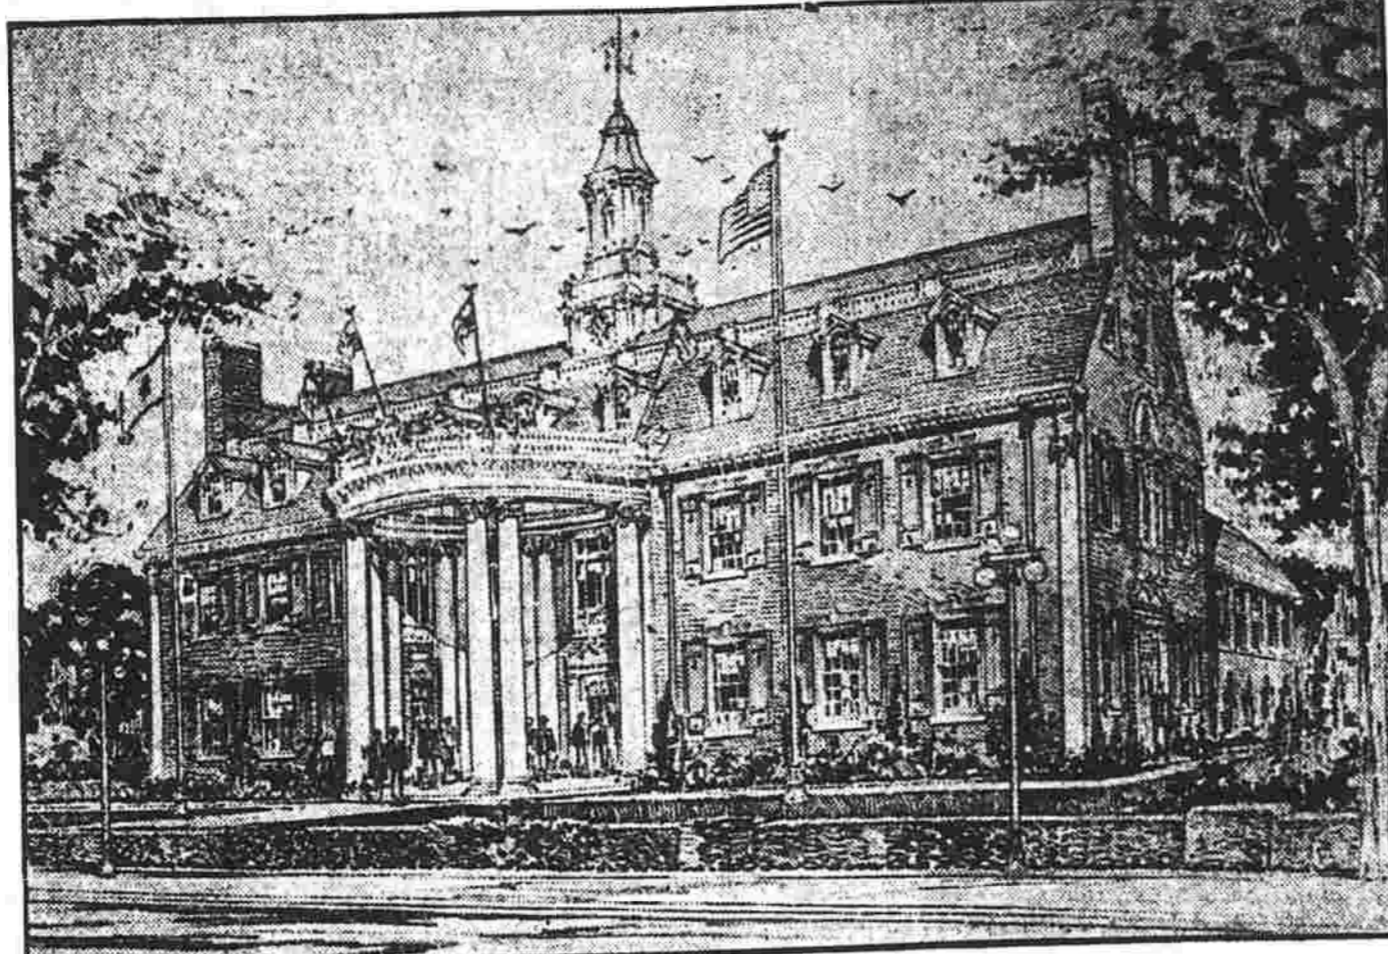

Excavators in Siam have dug up 40 volumes of forgotten laws. But you can go to Washington and dig up that many.

NEW EASTERN STATES BUILDING

Springfield, Mass., Feb. 5.—Another imposing structure, the New Hampshire State building, will be added this year to the group of permanent exhibition buildings on the Avenue of States at the Eastern States Exposition according to announcement by the special New Hampshire commission named to construct and manage the new Granite State building. The commission has selected its architect, contracts will be let within the next few weeks and ground will be broken early in the spring. The New Hampshire building will be ready for the 14th annual fall Exposition from Sept. 14 to 20 inclusive, and will be utilized in connection with the first National Outdoor and Indoor Recreational Exposition early in 1931.

SUBMARINE REFOLOATED

Portsmouth, N. H., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Driven aground during a heavy snow storm near the entrance to the harbor and resting on the rocks for four hours, the submarine O-3, a school ship, was pulled off by a tug. The submarine was little damaged and came to the Navy Yard here early today under her own power, with her crew of 30 men and three officers unharmed.

Small boats from nearby Coast Guard stations and several tugs and navy craft here rushed to the stricken craft after radio calls for help were sent out early last night. The civilian tug Mitchell Davis pulled her into deep water at 11 p. m. while tugs from Boston and Gloucester and the Coast Guard cutter Osage off the Main coast were steaming to the rescue.

The O-3 bound from New London to Portsmouth for overhauling and repairs, grounded while proceeding at slow speed between Odiorne Point and Parsons Point off the Eye shore. Relief boats did not find the submarine in the storm for more than an hour.

FLOWERS ARE FROZEN TO STUDY IN WINTER

Fargo, N. D.—(AP)—Mechanical refrigerators have become important aids to education, says a report to the American Association for the Advancement of Science by A. F. Yeager of North Dakota Agricultural college.

Fruits, flowers and vegetables that flourish in the summer, when there is no school are thrust in their full bloom into ice boxes at below zero temperatures and kept frozen solid for classroom analysis the following winter.

The results are remarkable, says Dr. Yeager, the samples remaining "for the most part in perfect condition so far as appearance is concerned. Most of the material had the appearance of being taken fresh from the field.

QUICK RELIEF FOR COUGHING SPELLS

Famous Prescription Stops Them Almost Instantly

The phenomenal success of a doctor's famous prescription called Thoxine is due to its double action. It immediately soothes the irritation and goes direct to the internal cause not reached by patent medicines and cough syrups. The very first swallow usually stops even the most obstinate cough.

Thoxine contains no harmful drugs, is pleasant tasting and safe for the whole family. Sold on a money back guarantee to give better and quicker relief for coughs or sore throat than anything you have ever tried. Ask for Thoxine, put up ready for use in 35c, 60c and $1.00 bottles. Sold by Murphy's drug store and all other good drug stores.—Adv.

a 27 mill tax on one-third of the property's worth.

Town and city authorities would be less or more than human if they didn't take advantage of these greatly increased valuations to boost their budgets a bit while the taxpayers are shaking hands with themselves over the certainty of lowered rates. It is going to be up to Mr. Taxpayer to avoid delusions of grandeur under the new order.

UP TO THE TOWNS

Motor Vehicle Commissioner Stoeckel is becoming funny. His utter devotion to that brain-child of his, the theory that the best way to regulate automobile speed is to let the lunatic speedster be the judge of "reasonableness," has developed into a fanaticism and the logic he employs in his constantly repeated arguments in its support is like nothing ever before known to the science of reasoning.

The Connecticut law making the driver the judge of "safety under the conditions" is the finest automobile law ever thought up, he once more assures us. However, the best way to give it effect is to permit the towns and cities to establish rules for the guidance of the motorist in forming that judgment; so Mr. Stoeckel admits in his latest essay on the subject—the latest of a long, long procession.

In other words the present speed law is a marvelous law but it is no good until patched up according to the Stratford system.

The only explanation for Mr. Stoeckel's obstinate insistence on retaining the present law is a fixed determination on his part not to admit that he has been mistaken, though the heavens fall. We don't know why he should be so stubborn about that—everybody makes mistakes, everybody worth his salt at least. But it makes a lot of difference whether the experimenter, when his mistake is conclusively proven, admits it and tries for a fresh start or whether he sticks to his blunder and sinks with it.

Meantime, it would seem to be up to the towns and cities to get busy and establish their own speed limits following the Stratford plan. We have in mind very particularly the town of Manchester, where the principal streets have been turned into race tracks.

Under all this rhetoric of Mr. Stoeckel's lies a shamed-faced offer to let the towns and cities make their own rules and help stop the killings. That is the meat in the cocoon.

OPEN THEIR EYES

There are parts of the charge of Judge Jennings to the Hartford County Grand Jury, concerning the inquiry into the McNamee murder at Bristol, which, it seems to us, might very well be clipped and not only employed by teachers of civics in the schools but be posted in public places all over the state for the special attention of the youth of Connecticut. It might not be an altogether bad idea if, in enlarged type, they were blazoned at every highway entrance to the state, for the benefit of visiting gunmen and crooks. These are the paragraphs:

If a criminal about to commit a crime arms himself for the purpose of resisting or evading arrest, and when interrupted in the commission of the crime, shoots and kills the officer attempting to arrest him, that killing is first degree murder.

* * * This statute provides that: Every person who shall assist, abet, counsel, cause, hire or command another to commit any offense may be prosecuted and punished as if he were the principal offender.

This statute has done away with all the distinctions which formerly existed between principals and accessories, and now all are principals who are engaged in any way in the commission of an offense. No man is an accessory to a felony committed here. He is a principal under our law, or nothing.

* * * Everyone is a party to an offense who either actually commits the crime or does some act which forms a part of the offense or assists in it or in any way forms a part of it, or directly or indirectly counsels or procures any person to commit the offense or to do any act forming a part of it.

REVALUATION

Among the revaluations of property for assessment purposes that have been going on throughout the state, none that we have noticed has been so revolutionary as that in the town of Weston, in Fairfield county. They had been fiddling along, down there, with a grand list of $700,000 and a tax rate of 26 mills. The revaluation results in a grand list of $2,500,000—and a probable tax rate of 9 mills.

Even with so small a tax rate as nine mills, it is probable that the total income of the town will be somewhat higher than it was under the old arrangement.

That is the worst part of these revaluations. They are correct in principle; they are a great deal more honest, as a rule, than the old valuations; and they comply with the law instead of violating it; but when they produce any such results as those in Weston it is a question whether they will not, unless a good deal of restraint is employed, result in extravagance.

When a property owner has been paying a 26 mill tax and is suddenly let off with a nine mill tax, it is well nigh impossible for him to feel that he isn't getting a bargain, even though his property was originally in the lists for a third of its value and now goes in for every nickel it is worth. Yet as a matter of fact his nine mill tax is going to cost him a trifle more in cash than the 26 mill tax did, for it is, in full valuation, equal of course to an essayist, a playwright, a poet, a director of a higher theater movement, a soldier (commanding National Guard troops in the suppression of the great railroad riots in Cleveland in 1884), a Republican campaign orator of note, a magazine contributor, a clubman.

At an age when most men are content to sit in the mellowing sunshine and watch the shadows lengthen he suddenly bursts upon the attention of the country as the author of a flaming demand for the creation of a great new political party to bear the stamp "Liberal" and whose fundamental purpose shall be to destroy the influence of religious and "moralist" groups in the government of the United States.

It is a stupendous job that Mr. Church has cut out for himself, but it would be denying the obvious to assert that there is not opportunity in this country, at this time, for the launching of a very important movement along the lines proposed by this elderly zealot. That millions of Americans are sorely irked by the everlasting efforts of creeds to convert their peculiar religious views into regulatory laws for the whole nation is very certain.

Whether or not their impatience has reached the point where they would be capable of being rallied into a really great party of protest and defense, or whether the number of those whose sense of liberty is outraged by the political religionists is large enough to create such a formidable party, is another matter. At all events the proposal comes from a source a bit too high to be ignored, either by the liberals or by the agencies against which it is directed.

A LIBERAL PARTY?

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer

Washington, Feb. 5.—The Chinese nationalist government at Nanking, of which many Americans expected great strides toward reconstruction and modernization after its victories of 1927, has been trying to live up to the expectations.

The measure of its success will depend upon its ability to strengthen itself and peacefully persuade war lords in wide areas of China to disband large sections of their armies and permit Nanking to extend its influence. Meanwhile China is changing slowly, regardless.

"Basic economic and intellectual forces are at work molding what will in fact be the new China," says a report of the Foreign Policy Association. "City walls are torn down to make way for modern highways, even while aviation and radio are transforming older methods of communication; the ancient guilds are disintegrated by the cheaper products of western industry; and a labor proletariat develops in the cities; a literary revolution scraps an elegant classical language, and thousands of illiterates are taught to read and write in the tongue they speak."

To Limit Army to 500,000

The extent of the Nanking government's contribution to Chinese reconstruction is contingent on its area of administrative control. It has undertaken to continue foreign loan payments, institute an improved military appropriation and limit the army to 500,000 men with a fixed annual military appropriation and establish a sound banking system with a reformed currency. The Foreign Policy Association reports partial progress in putting these vital measures into effect.

Despite success in some phases of its taxation policy the government has had little luck in collecting its national consumption taxes and so has been severely pressed for ready funds, its collections having been principally obtained from nearby provinces of Chekiang and Kiangsu. Failure to effect army limitation and financial unification of China have forced it into precarious methods of financing.

Controls Only Nearby Provinces

While the Nanking government pretends to be responsible for the whole of China, it has until recently had controlled only adjacent provinces. There are at least a million more troops under arms in China than its policy calls for and the generals in charge of these troops have been raising taxes for themselves. Defeat of the Kwangsi revolt last year, however, has given Nanking a commanding position in central and south China. Its troubles now lie in the north, where Feng Yu-Hsiang, reviled after a Shanghai abandonment conference last August. Its lack of control in Manchuria was demonstrated when the Manchurian government negotiated separately with the Soviet government in the railway dispute. Army demobilization and the proposed national budget plan appear to be no nearer realization than ever because of the stalwarts in north China.

With a territory larger than the United States and a population as great as Europe's, China has 7000 miles of railways and 20,000 miles of motor roads as compared with 275,000 miles of track and 3,000,000 miles of motor roads in the United States. Railways and waterways have suffered during civil war. The Nanking government, however, has an ambitious development program. It has improved new badly needed lines. Road construction is now being carried on enthusiastically in nearly every province and 1931 probably will show 25,000 miles of motor roads as compared with about 100 in 1921.

It appears during the second act in which merchants from many ports begin to boast about the products of their lands. The Hindu begins to tell about the pearls and whatnot of his home town. And behold, it is the enchanting refrain.

Oh, well, check up another disillusion!

Which reminds me that just a couple of years ago, I picked up a newspaper containing a story about this same Rimsky.

He was in actual poverty and hungry in a cabin in Russia when found by a reporter. His Indian chant had sold millions of copies in America. . . . Countless orchestras had played it on records and piano rolls. . . . And he had never collected a cent.

Speaking of Rudy Vallee a couple of paragraphs back reminds me that he is supposed to start on moving picture circuit trip soon. Which completely burns him up. Rudy takes it or leave it—likes his Broadway. And he is as much a fan to his fan audience as his fan audience is to him. When he croons in front of a mike he makes the same croony faces that he does when he sings to his visible public. He's funny that way.

And again speaking of Rudy, also reminds me that recently he put up a considerable amount of the cash for a new resort in Greenwich Village. . . . "Staked it," as they say.

It so happens that many years ago—or not so many—Rudy was a mere orchestra player in a certain cafe owned by a certain gent.

Rudy's voice leaped the limits of the place and gained recognition among these same radio fans to whom he is still loyal. When the prospect of a personal triumph loomed he kissed the place good-bye.

And that, so the tale goes, is why he slapped considerable money into Don Dickerman's new Daffydille Cafe in Eighth street.

Dickerman himself is an odd guy. Being another lad from another small town, he holds a gathering of mid-western friends once a year.

When he had made a sudden pile of money in the evening resort business he opened a place called the County Fair, with plenty of rural atmosphere. And he always goes on William Beebe's expeditions, having a fair for exploration.

SAVING YOUR EYESIGHT

For thousands of years man roamed out of doors, using his eyes constantly, looking at things far and near. His eyes were in the manner given a constant and varied exercise and as a result the sight was good because of its active use and consequent circulation of good blood.

Within recent years those individuals living in towns and cities lead a more unnatural existence, being cooped up inside of four walls most of the time so that the eyes do not have the opportunities of constantly changing focus. This leads to a never ending strain that is responsible for much eye trouble.

The eye is the most delicate of all the exposed portions of the body and for this reason has been sup-

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Nervousness)

Question—S. C. R. writes: "I wonder if you could give me any advice concerning my son. He is 21 years old and in fairly good health, but the trouble is when he goes to bed he seems to roar and shout and it gets worse when he rolls on his back, and he has not got a nail on his fingers but what he has bitten off. He is very hot tempered. I think this is all I can say until I see your answer."

Answer: Your son is no doubt suffering from some disorder of his alimentary canal, but of course he may not be distressed enough by this to notice it. However, when he is asleep he is made nervous by the internal irritation. During the day time such nervousness is shown by the habit of biting his fingernails. If you son is willing to follow certain definite rules about eating, exercising, etc., I will be glad to send him instructions. Unless he is willing to receive such advice it would be folly for you to try to force it upon him. Talk to him about the matter and have him write me personally if he desires to do so.

(Meat Substitutes)

Question—Miss M. G. asks: "Do nuts, eggs or cheese take the place of meat at a meal?"

Answer: There are many foods which contain proteins besides meat. Nuts, eggs and cheese contain large amounts of certain kinds of proteins, but are lacking in amino acids which are contained in fresh meat. Many people get along quite well on a diet entirely free from animal proteins, but have more difficulty in keeping their diet well balanced due to the fact that so many of the vegetable foods containing proteins also have too much starch in their composition.

HIGHWAY BRIDGE ON HOUSATONIC TO BE MAMMOTH

Cornwall Structure Biggest in State and Largest Grade Crossing Project in New England.

When completed late next fall, the new Cornwall Bridge spanning the Housatonic River and the tracks of the New Haven railroad on Highway Route No. 134 between Cornwall and Sharon will be not only the longest concrete crossing elimination project in New England, according to a statement by Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald today.

From end to end, the bridge will be 724 feet long. It will include eight spans, six of which are to be of the open spandrel arch type and two of which, those at each side, will be girder spans. The center arch, spanning the river will measure 192 feet from center to center of the piers. The extreme width of the bridge will be 3 1/2 feet 6 inches with a roadway width of 33 feet. Reinforced concrete will be used both for the substructure and superstructure, the amount of concrete required being sufficient to pave more than four miles of highway at a width of 20 feet, and the amount of steel sufficient for two miles of railroad track.

The bridge will pass 40 feet above the streets of the villages on both sides of the river. Concrete stairways will be constructed on both sides for the convenience of pedestrians going to and from the stores, railroad station and post office.

Approaches for the huge span will comprise a full sized highway construction job in themselves. Approaches on the Torrington and Hartford roads on the East and on the Canaan and New Milford roads on the North and South, respectively, will have right of way of 30 feet and pavements of 20 feet. Their length will total about 6,275 feet.

The greater part of the southerly approach from New Milford will depart completely from the old road and will be carried over a new right of way through the fields, which will require an excavation of about 25,000 cubic yards of sand and gravel. Because of unstable fill, waterbound macadam will be used to pave the approaches and this at a later date will be replaced with a more permanent type of pavement.

Contract for the paving of the approaches cannot be awarded until after the completion of the structure itself since the bridge will be required to carry excavated material from the East side for use as fill on the other side of the river.

When completed, the bridge structure will cost about $360,000 and it is estimated that the approach work, including a small but expensive box culvert, will cost in the neighborhood of $140,000. The contract for the structure is in the hands of C. W. Blakeslee & Sons of New Haven.

Work on the bridge was begun early in July, 1929. When work was discontinued for the winter, about one-third of the project had been completed, but this third was the most difficult part of the job, the construction of the foundations. Operations will be renewed early in the spring and the span, itself, should be finished by late fall. Following this, work will be started on the approaches and probably by the close of 1931 the entire project will be finished and opened for traffic, thus closing the last gap in the beautiful Housatonic Valley Road between Danbury and Lime Rock.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES PATRONS, PATRONESSES FOR PROM ANNOUNCED

High School's Annual Social Function to Be Held This Week Saturday Night.

The list of patrons and patronesses for the Junior Promenade Saturday night has been announced. There will be two patrons Superintendent P. A. Verplanck and Principal Clarence P. Quimby. Mrs. F. A. Verplanck, Mrs. Clarence P. Quimby, Miss Harriet D. Condon, Miss Elizabeth Olson, and Miss Helen J. Estes will be the patronesses.

The Argonaut Club of the Franklin Building is planning to present a play, "The King's English" before the Freshman assembly in the near future. The play is a humorous phantasy and was written by Herbert Bates. The entire cast has not yet been selected, but tryouts on yesterday and Monday resulted in the selection of the leading characters.

The character of Ripley O'Rannigan, a gentleman adventurer and king of the western shores of "Karrara Wanga," will be portrayed by John Sullivan. Merle Rubinow will take the part of Kawa Koo, the cannibal king of the eastern shores of Karrara Wanga. The part of Loola, daughter of Ripley, will be taken by Dorothy Virella. The part of Sokka Wagg, Ripley's attendant and messenger, will be played by Harold Tedford. Stuart Joslin will portray Montmorency Van Rensselaer Smythe, a gentleman who considers himself to be one of those "higher up." Among this fellow's fellow-travelers will be "Hard-boiled" Mike, to be played by Emily Andrews, Silas Q. Puddins, to be played by Arthur Shortt, Morris Perlechner, to be played by James Toman, Carelton Purley Paterby, to be played by Elizabeth Quimby, and Richard Willis, to be played by Clifford Treat. The scene of the play is an unusual one, a tropical island.

The list of ushers for the Junior Prom is not yet available, but it has been announced that Doris Nelson will, as the partner of the president of the Junior Class, Richard Joslin, have the honor of leading the Grand March with him.

SECOND ROUND SETBACK TOURNAMENT STARTED

Gordon Market Team Takes Place of South Ends and Carries Off the Honors.

The North End Industrial League got underway last night at the Community House with the South End team missing. The Gordon Market team, which had applied for membership was admitted as one of the teams for the season and substituted last night for the South ends. They showed that they were worthy opponents and of sufficient standard to take part in the play by carrying off high honors for the night leading the first round with a score of 195 while "Sandy" Hanna and Herman Gordon of the team carried off the pair honors by being high men of the night with scores each of 105.

For "Sandy" this is no longer an honor as he has been the high man so many times that it becomes natural, but it was a happy moment for Mr. Gordon when he was announced as the other high man. Instead of having a team do the punching last night as planned the boys of the Community club did it and the Business Men prepared and served the lunch which will follow each sitting. The teams scored as follows:

AUTO VICTIM DIES

Lowell, Mass., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Miss Irvina, husband, 35 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. I. Husband, wealthy residents of West Amsterdam, N. Y., who was injured in an automobile accident here last Saturday died this morning.

Death was due to a fractured spine which had virtually paralyzed her entire body. Specialists summoned by her parents had entertained little hope that she could recover.

Miss Husband, a student at a fashionable school here, was being driven to Boston for a theater party with Eleanor Murphy, her roommate, by the latter's parents, Major and Mrs. Francis P. Murphy of Nashua, N. H. All were seriously injured when the machine skidded down an embankment. Francis P. Murphy, Jr., escaped with bruises while Joseph Gagnon, the chauffeur, sustained a fractured jaw.

Major Murphy, a prominent manufacturer and Republican, was at first believed to have been critically hurt, was reported this morning to have a good prospect of full recovery.

ZIEGFELD'S REVUE ON STATE PROGRAM

"Glorifying the American Girl" Plays Today and Tomorrow—Also Pauline Frederick in "Evidence."

Florenz Ziegfeld's "Glorifying the American Girl," with Mary Eaton, Eddie Cantor, Helen Morgan and Rudy Valee, and Pauline Frederick in "Evidence," are the leading attractions on the new program at the State today and Thursday.

"Glorifying the American Girl" is swathed in all the gorgeous splendor that one would expect from any production, stage or screen, bearing the magic name of Florenz Ziegfeld. With many of its spectacular scenes reproduced in full color by the magic of the technicolor process, with scores of stunningly beautiful girls in the singing and dancing ensembles, with lavish settings, with comedy, drama and a heart-gripping story this moving panorama of womanly pulchritude moves across the silver screen in a continual parade of highly absorbing amusement. Mary Eaton, Eddie Cantor, Helen Morgan and Rudy Valee, stars of the first magnitude from the greatest stage productions, have important duties to perform—and how they do it. It is all too gorgeous to attempt to describe. See it and get one of the greatest thrills of your life. Pauline Frederick's life has been a succession of dramatic triumphs, but never has she had a part which gives wider powers than that of Myra Stanhope, one time Lady Wimborne, unjustly accused by her husband, and by the false standards of "circumstantial evidence" robbed of her child and home. Miss Frederick's portrayal of the role is extremely moving and pathetic. Her supporting cast is one of unusual excellence, including, Conway Tearle, Lowell Sherman, Alec Francis and Lionel Belmore.

ROGER WILLIAMS' ARRIVAL

On Feb. 5, 1631, Roger Williams, founder of the state of Rhode Island, arrived at Boston from England.

Williams refused to join the congregation at Boston because the people would not declare their repentance for having been in communion with the Church of England. He therefore went to Salem as assistant preacher.

From Salem, Williams went to Plymouth where, in addition to assisting his pastor, he studied Indian languages. Returning in 1633 to Salem, he again brought himself into disfavor by holding that the Massachusetts Bay government had no right to take the Indians' land without purchase and to impose on their faith and worship. Banished from the colony, Williams escaped in midwinter to the shores of Narragansett Bay, accompanied by a few adherents, and here purchased lands of the Indian chiefs, founded the city of Providence in 1636, and established a government founded on complete toleration. He later founded the first Baptist church in America, but withdrew when he doubted the validity of baptism.

Dove of Peace Floats Over Brooklyn's Camp

Robinson Resigns as President and Director and Is Re-engaged as Manager for Two Years.

By HERBERT W. BARKER

New York, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The dove of peace finally hovers over the strife worn Brooklyn club of the National League. The long battle between Wilbert Robinson, president-manager-director of the club and S. W. McKeever, a director heading an opposition faction was ended yesterday by official action of the National League, holding its spring meeting here.

Under the somewhat complicated terms of the agreement, Robinson resigned as president and director and was re-engaged as manager for two years. Frank B. York, attorney for McKeever, and member of the board, was elected president for two years. Robinson's successor as a director will be named by Joseph Gillette, secretary and member of the board who represents the holders of the late Charles H. Ebbetts. Still another member of the board will be named by John A. Heyder, president of the National League. The directors will consist of S. W. McKeever, York, Gillette and the two appointees, one by Gillette and the other by Heyder.

The league also adopted the schedule for the season, which will start on April 10. Robinson will be re-elected as vice-president and referred to the rules committee of the Boston Braves that the rules be amended to permit umpires to eject players from games for a specified number of innings instead of for the duration of the contest.

GRAHAM IS AFTER BATTALINO BOUT

Roams About in Both Bantam and Feather Divisions; Fights in Hartford.

Dusky Graham of Utica, who meets Al Rackow of Hazelton, Pa., in the star bout on Thursday night in Hartford, is now roaming about in both the bantam and featherweight divisions. He has met the best of the boys who loom large in that division. He beat Andy Martin decisively and believes he can outpoint the hard-hitting Battalino.

There are few busier boxers in any class. Graham last week beat Freddy Miller out west, breaking Miller's long winning streak, and next week he fights Eddie Shea, one of the best boys the Middle West has ever produced.

Rackow, Graham's opponent in the bout at Hartford Thursday night, is an aggressive, hard-hitting fighter; he has not had the experience of Graham nor has he met the headliners whose names decorate Graham's record, but he gave Graham a real battle a year ago and is meeting him now with more than a year of additional experience.

There is an attractive undercard. In the semi-final, Alf Schell of Germany meets Johnny Walker of Boston. These boys fought a slugging battle at the Velodrome on the Routs-Battalino card. It was by far the best bout of the night.

Eddie Reed of Hartford meets Jimmy Quinn of New York in a special six-rounder and there are two four-round bouts opening the show.

CONRAN TO BOWL PONTILLO TONIGHT

Winner Promised Crack at Title Held by Johnny Sasela.

A special 20 game home and home bowling match has been arranged between Tommy Conran, former town champion, and Jim Pontillo, member of the West Sides in the Herald League. It will start tonight.

The first ten games will be rolled at Gamba's alleys and the final half over at Conrans. This is the first time this year that match has been arranged between the north and south and a large gallery is expected.

Pontillo has been averaging around 125 in practice games according to alley followers. The winner has been promised a "shot" at the title now held by Johnny Sasela. Jack Mills, the old warhorse, will bring his five man team here for a special match and he will also meet Berthold in a match.

Kind Words for Scott
Ever since they arranged that affair between Jack Sharkey and Phil Scott at Palm Beach, we have been scanning the public prints with the eye of an eagle, seeking favorable mention of Mr. Scott. Our search was vain until this morning when a copy of the London Sunday News came to hand. We are now able to present one story in which Philip is not referred to as "Phainig Phil," or the "Swoning Swan." The piece is by Castor, the News' boxing writer, and here it is:

"Jimmy Johnston, the American manager of Phil Scott, has carried his bit of corn. He has fought relentlessly to secure recognition for Scott as the logical opponent for Jack Sharkey, and has won. It is a signal triumph, because nearly every American boxing critic has been doing his best, or his worst, to belittle our champion in the eyes of the American sporting public. Sharkey and Scott meet at Miami, Fla., Feb. 27, and we are sure that the fight will be a world challenge for the world's title.

Says Max Ran Away
"Let us forget that part of it. If Scott can beat Sharkey we shall have a champion of the world, without asking him to meet the man who ran away from him when ordered to fight in America, and who was later told he must meet Scott before he could be considered in the light of a world challenger.

"Quite apart from his obvious desire to avoid Scott, why should Schmeling be brought into the limelight? He has never done anything to prove himself worthy of being a round half-dozen heavier in the game, and one or two cruizers, whom I would back to beat him every time they met. No, let us forget Schmeling and get ready to cheer Scott and proclaim him champion of the world if he is able to beat Sharkey.

"Johnston has won the first round for him, as American writers were all against the fight.

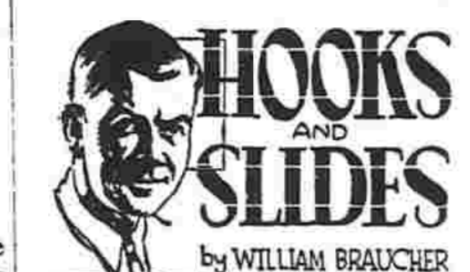

You Should Have Seen It!
"They have not forgotten Scott for beating Otto von Porat on a foul. They unanimously agree that the blow was a low one, but urge that the punch did not hurt and that Scott should have fought on.

"This is an illogical argument. The rules are explicit. Any fighter transgressing must pay the penalty.

"Quite realize that Scott has been unfortunate in winning several fights through his rival hitting him low, but this was not his fault. He would prefer a clear-cut victory, either on points or by the knockout route.

"Scott says that he is confident of beating Sharkey. He can hardly say more or less. Sharkey will also express himself in similar terms.

Our only comment will be: Castor says that Scott would prefer a clear-cut victory: either on points or by the knockout route. We too, Castor!

Although President William Veck refused to announce the amount of salaries it is known the big reason for lack of holdouts is due to substantial increases in pay for the more important members of the National League championship cast.

Failure to Profit on Marchinek's Pivot Play Cried Factor in Defeat; Led 21-6 Once.

Lack of the proper kind of teamwork robbed the Rec Five of a victory over the Brandford Tanks in the third and deciding game of a basketball series at the local court last night. Ineffective foul shooting also contributed to Manchester's downfall. The Tanks took away the honors for the evening, 38 to 36 by virtue of a sensational last quarter rally.

Manchester was forced to taste some of the bitter medicine it has been prescribing for other patients. Brandford trailed almost the entire game and then shot into the lead with 20 seconds to play. A spectacular overhead shot from far out on the side of the court toward the middle by George Heyer, former New Haven Hillhouse High and Collegiate Prep star at New Haven, settled the issue.

Although the gap was fairly well closed at halftime, Manchester had such an overwhelming lead (21 to 6) at one time in the first half that there seemed no doubt as to which team would win. Only the extent of the victory appeared in doubt. Holland, Marchinek and Farr scored three field goals apiece the first half but the entire team caged only four the second.

Didn't Co-operate.
Failure to permit Ray Marchinek, imported center from Holyoke, work into the team-play, was one of the reasons for the Rec's unexpected downfall. Marchinek is very valuable working the pivot play on the offensive. Time and again last night he got into this formation only to have the ball passed to somebody else. Whether or not this was intentional it is hard to say.

It is better to think that such neglect was due to the fact that the Rec players have not grown properly accustomed to this style of play. If such is the case, then it is not too late to get busy with studying in the art of basketball, for such a style of attack is used by the best teams in the country.

If it is because there is some sort of a personal feeling against the injection of Marchinek into the lineup, it is also high time some drastic action was taken to put a stop to such practice. Marchinek proved beyond doubt last night that he is a very valuable player and he held his man scoreless in addition to playing a whole of a floor game.

Failed to Cut.
Oftentimes when the ball was passed to Marchinek in the pivot position at the foul line, only one or two men cut in for the ball. When they were covered, Marchinek had no alternative but to attempt to dribble around his man and shoot. The Bristol Endees scored basket after basket against the Rec on this same style of play with two minutes holding the ball in the pivot position and feeding the forwards as they broke and raced under the basket.

Brandford deserved the victory it finally attained. Never once did the visitors give up hope even in the discouraging first half. They showed a word of pep and fight. Time after time the Brandford players intercepted Manchester passes, especially in the second half when Manchester's attack wilted like a tulip at sunset. Then too, they followed up their shots a great deal better and more consistently than Manchester. This fact weighed heavily in the final reckoning.

Heyer Wins Game.
The fourth quarter was so close that the fans were given a real treat. Manchester led 31 to 28 but successive long range field goals by the Montelius twins, Carl and Axel, put the visitors a point or two in the lead. Gustafson knotted the count with a foul shot and then put Manchester ahead with a neat follow-up shot. Marchinek sunk two free tries and Heyer a basket to make the score 38-34 Manchester with two minutes to go. Carl Montelius tied it up with a field goal and Heyer won the game with his sensational overhead shot.

With Charlotte Foster leading the way, the Rec Five easily defeated the Royal Typewriter Girls of Hartford in the preliminary 20 to 9. Manchester's foul shooting was particularly good. Several of the K. of L. girls were in the Hartford lineup. Heyer found Manchester leading 18 to 6.

FIVE CAPTAINS IN TRACK.

The roster of the 1930 Texas Aggies track team includes five captains. Both captains and captains-elect of football and cross-country participate in the track sport.

YANKS WAIVE DUROCHER.

New York, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Waivers have been asked by the New York Yankees on Leo Durocher, shortstop, according to reports yesterday.

Queer Twists
In Day's News

New York—One Louis Goldstein sought judicial permission to change his name to Golding on the ground that Goldstein was not an authentic American name. The court said that the only authentic American names were those of Indians; that the petitioner was seeking by subterfuge to conceal his religion and racial identity. The decision was delivered by Justice Louis Goldstein.

London—A clever and tactful envoy is being sent to Washington by Great Britain. Sir Ronald Lindsay can even make a terrified and shy banquet speaker into a hit. Sitting next to the speaker and being about the only one to hear him, Sir Ronald interjected a loud "hear hear," which the audience echoed. The speaker improved so much he got an ovation.

Madrid—If Alfonso were not king? Easy! Inspecting Juan de la Cierva's autogiro the monarch said he would be an aviator himself except that governments seem to think it is too dangerous for kings to fly.

New York—From afar a voice can control an automobile. Directions given into a telephone at Pitsburgh, Pa., made a car in New York go forward or back or stop in a test by engineers.

Washington—Submarines resting on the bottom of the ocean can hold a two-day telephone conversation with surface craft. The Navy has tested new devices successfully. Most of the apparatus is on the surface ship.

Milwaukee—It must have been one of those timid souls who obey orders to the letter. A motorist with a new car asked at Waukesha the shortest way to Milwaukee. He was told to follow the car tracks. He did, bumping over ties for ten miles till at West Junction somebody shunted him to the highway paralleling the tracks.

New York—For reckless driving in a manner unprecedented in the history of the Traffic Court, Thomas Downey is in the hoosegow for two days. He was overspeeding with his horse and wagon.

London—George Bernard Shaw is disgusted over floggings in prisons. He thinks every judge who imposes such sentences ought to have two or three doses himself. A controversy has arisen over the suicide of a prisoner in jail. Lord Darling, formerly on the bench, has joined in the arguments with the statement that no one is flogged unless he has been guilty of personal violence.

New York—Broadway is purest at 4 a. m.; it is the least pure at 9 a. m. The atmosphere of the city is being tested by an automatic device. The dirt averages 1.35 pounds per million cubic yards of air.

New York—Rupert Hughes is stirred by two cents stamps depicting George Washington praying in the snow at Valley Forge. He told the Delta Upsilon that by the issue an extravagant government is endorsing what all historians know to be a downright lie.

FANS APPROVE MUSIC IN WORLD EXCHANGE

New York—(AP)—General approval has been expressed by listeners, both in America and abroad, of the type of programs given in the international exchange at the Christmas season.

A compilation just made by NBC shows that out of each dozen letters received, eleven considered the programs a real cross section of American music, while one resented the use of jazz. Foreign listeners asked more frequent program exchanges, expressed a desire to hear more American radio stars and liked the orchestras which played both classical and jazz music.

TALCOTTVILLE

The Golden Rule Club will meet on Friday evening, February 7, at 7:30 o'clock in the church parlors. The Hostesses for the meeting will be the Misses Miriam Welles and Gertrude Gibbs, and the Program Committee The Misses Sara McNally and Gertrude Gibbs.

Church attendance recognition was awarded to the following named persons on Sunday. The number following each name indicates the number of four-month periods they have been perfect in Church attendance: Mrs. Olin Beebe 16; Arline Monaghan 16; Edna Monaghan 16; Fred Wood, 16; Clinton Webb, 16; Olin Rondeau, 16; John G. Talcott, 16; John G. Talcott, Jr., 16; Emily Rice 16; Wilbur H. Smith 16; Velma Webb 16; Beatrice Trueman 16; Morris H. Talcott, 16; Robert Beebe, 16; Alfred Rivenburg, 16; John Monaghan, Jr., 16; Ruth Blinn 16; Earl Beebe, 16; Mrs. C. O. Britton 16; Harry Welles 16; Thomas Lotas 15; Sara McNally 15; Doris Rivenburg 15; Ethel Cleveland 15; Franklin Welles 15; Miriam Welles 15; Margaret Welles 15; Marcus Cleveland 14; Edward Rivenburg 12; Harriett Rice 11; Fred Lee 9; Jack Prentice 7; Elizabeth Lee 7; Christine Petig 7; Arthur Koch 5; Vincent Koch 3.

The Christian Endeavor Society met on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. The Subject of the meeting was "How many Endeavorers Crusade With Christ?" Marcus Cleveland was the Senior Leader and Ethel Cleveland the Junior Leader.

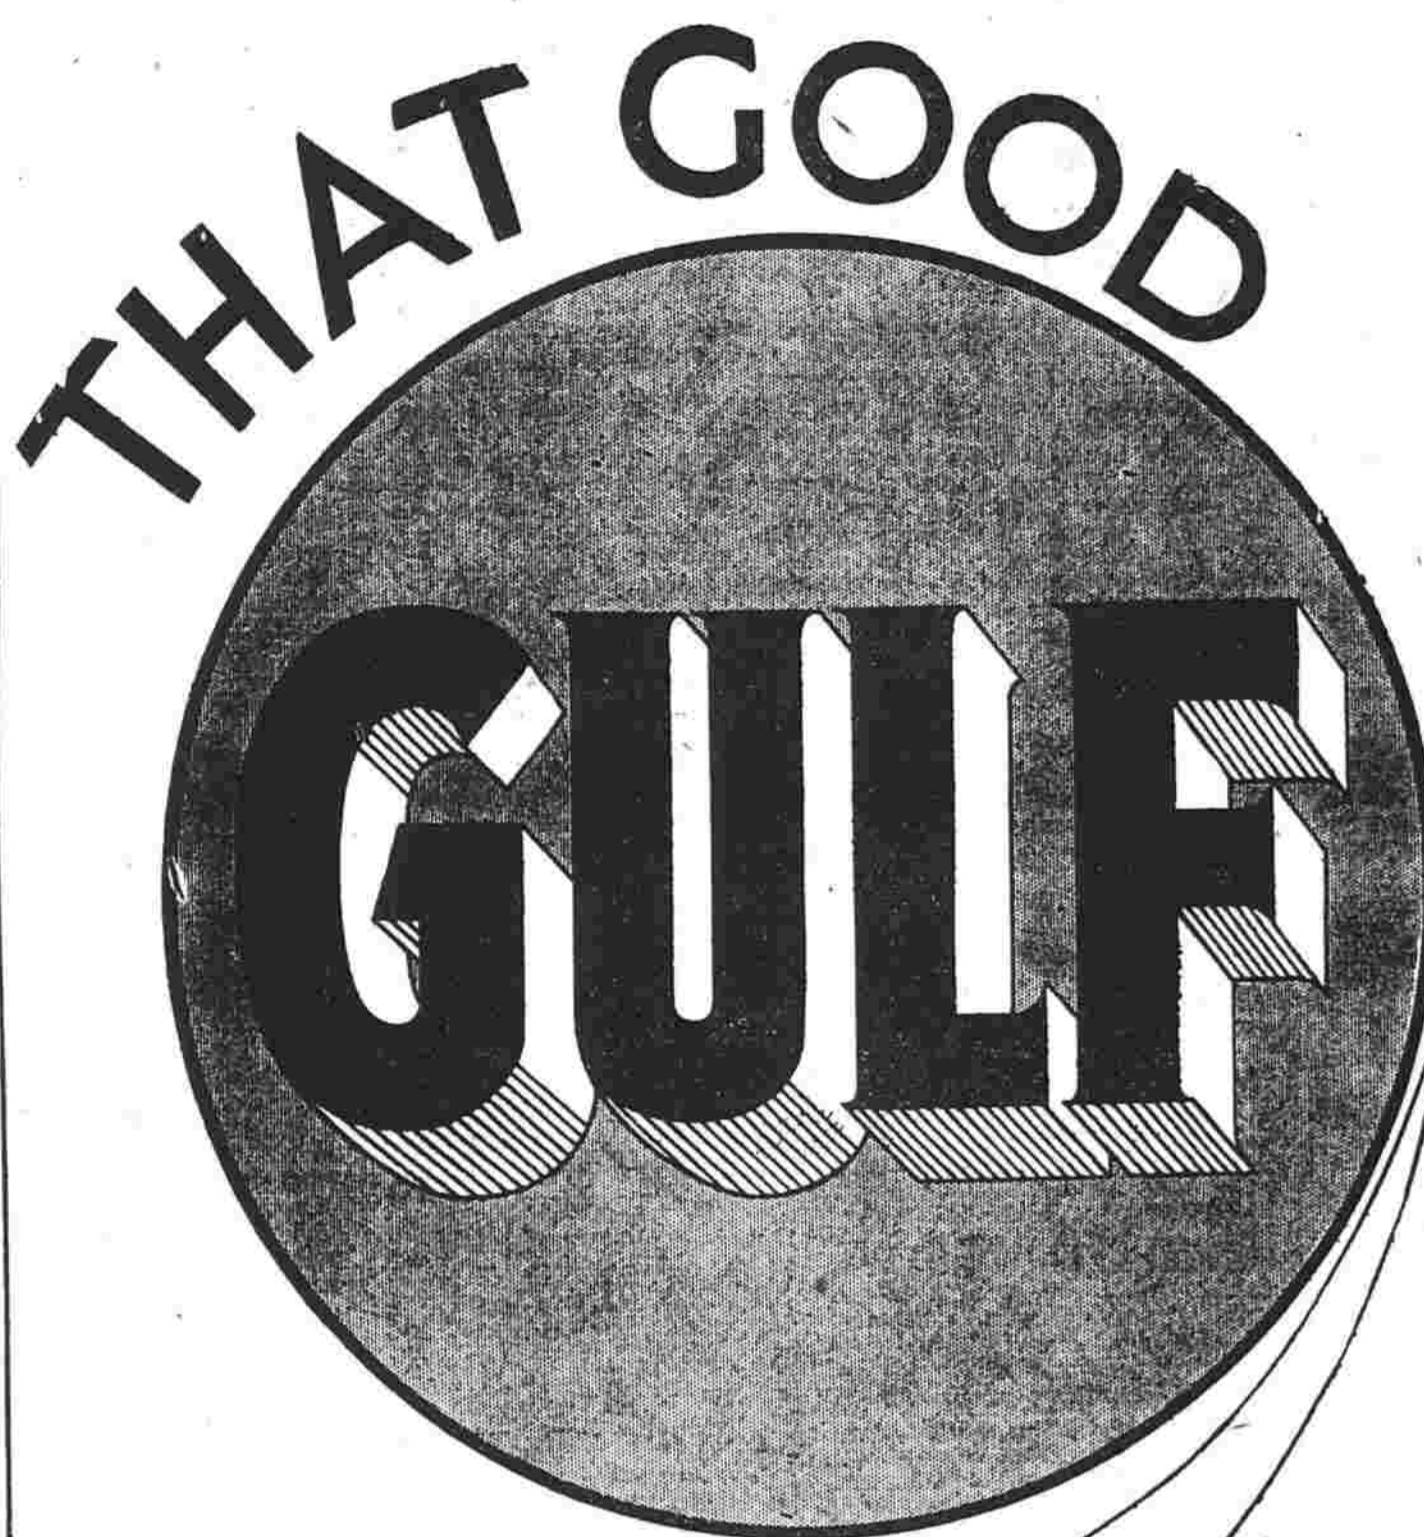

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph have been recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Olin Beebe.

Samuel Douglas spent the weekend visiting his son Dudley in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McKenna have returned after spending several days with relatives at Paterson, N. J.

According to latest available data, the average salary for radio service men has gone up from $18 to $25 per week to $40 to $60.

ANNOUNCING
A BRAND-NEW ANTI-KNOCK GAS-400° END POINT
NO EXTRA COST

THAT GOOD
GULF
MADE BETTER

THAT GOOD GULF GASOLINE is now Anti-Knock quality —400° F. end point—at no extra cost. This Anti-Knock quality stops the knocks in the new high compression motors and greatly improves motor efficiency.

The 400° F. End Point gives instant and complete vaporization to the last drop — many motorists may not know what 400° F. End Point means but every motorist can tell the difference in his car between the new Good Gulf Gasoline and the ordinary gasoline with 437° F. End Point.

{ Ordinary motor gasoline may be loaded with Anti-Knock Chemicals, but the heavy non-burning ends remains to retard engine performance... }

This combination of high anti-knock properties and volatility (the 400° F. End Point) makes the new Good Gulf Gasoline the equal of many premium gasolines and far superior to all non-premium fuels. There is but one better gas—GULF NO-NOX MOTOR FUEL AVIATION GRADE (374° F. End Point.)

Remember there is no extra cost for this new Good Gulf Gasoline.

SENSE and NONSENSE

THE GROWTH OF LOVE
A year ago I loved you all I knew—
It seemed that love had reached its limit, nearly;
But time wore on, and my affection grew.

FEMINE PROPENSITY
A lady who had a molar tooth pulled inquired of her dentist next day: "Every time I put my tongue into the cavity it seems so very large; what is the cause of that?"

THE SONG WITHOUT WORDS
"The Star Spangled Banner" as sung by the majority of Americans.

Three Things That Never Last Long Enough: Money.
Tires.
Love.

Son: "Dad, it says in this book that snakes eat sardines."
Dad: "I believe that is correct."
Son: "Well, then, how do they open the cans?"

A genius is a clever man who doesn't have to get brain fever to prove it.

The landlady of a well-known boarding house always made a point of asking departing guests to write something in her visitor's book. She was very proud of it—of some of the people whose names were in the volume and the nice things they said.

Partisans should remember the priest who said to the rabbi: "When will you be broad-minded enough to eat pork?" and the rabbi answered: "At your wedding."

One day a train for the East pulled up at the little station of a most depressing town in the fever-and-ague district of a southern state. A passenger, thrusting his head out of a car window, asked of a dejectedlooking citizen who was leaning against the station door: "Tell me, what do you call this dried-up, dreary, ornery, low-down place?"

A DEFINITION—A bigamist is a man who doesn't know when he has got enough.

A small earning capacity may be compensated for by cultivating a large saving capacity.

The soap industry welcomed bobbed hair that has so thoroughly exploited the back of necks.

Some foreigner the other day made a crack that "Americans don't know what Liberty is."

A scientist says the teeth of a gorilla are so deep set they can't be pulled. He should know my dentist.

The notice, "Boy Wanted," in the grocery window drew Jimmy's gaze, and he went in.

"What kind of a boy is it you want?" he asked the owner.

"Oh, a decent sort of boy—one who is quick and willing, who won't laze about with a cigarette between his lips who knows his manners, who—"

Jimmy thrust his hands into his pockets and eyed the storekeeper disdainfully. "Gee!" he cried, "You don't want a boy at all. You want a girl!"

JUST MEMORIES

"You must find living in the city dreadful, after spending your life up to now so pleasantly in the country. What do you miss most?"

MAJORS PLAN DINNER FOR DR. A. B. MORAN

North End Club to Hold Party Tomorrow Night in Manchester Fire House.

The Majors' football club of the north end will honor its president,

Dr. Arthur B. Moran, in a farewell party tomorrow evening at the firehouse at Main and Hilliard streets. Dinner will be served at 6:30 followed by speeches and entertainment. There will be dancing from 8 o'clock until midnight.

The Majors regret the loss of their leader and feel that the party tomorrow night will in a small way repay him for his efforts. Dr. Moran put in much time and went to considerable expense for the Majors during the last football season. He has decided to give up medical practice here and go to Johns Hopkins hospital at Baltimore for an additional year of study following which he plans to spend a year in Europe.

No action has been taken on appointing a successor to Dr. Moran as president of the Majors and such action will probably not be taken for a few months inasmuch as the 1930 season is a long way off. The committee in charge of the farewell dinner tomorrow evening consists of John Benevento, Clifford Charter, John Copeland, Walter Moske and William Griffin, manager of the team. It is requested that all members of the team make an especial effort to be present as it is planned to take a team picture to present to Dr. Moran.
