WHAT'S IN A NAME?

New Directory Reveals Surprising Number of Celebrities—If You Read Carefully

Manchester is a strange town in many ways, perhaps not unlike many other cities and towns, but its character background the same as that of the average town. It has made up the livable town but the strangest thing is the possible application of the names of local residents.

The Herald has classified all local names and if you will pardon the placing of possibly your name in its proper category we find the following classification of local residents:

We have used the new directory and find that we must lead off with the Greek Goddess Diana with King and Duke representing royalty next in the lead. There are many races in Manchester like the Whites, Browns, Roman, Negro, Lapp, Irish, French and one Rich but Poor and Poverty are among the missing. There is Day but no Night; Graham and Rice but no Wheat and with cities represented with the following: Galt, Scranton, Paisley, Palmer, Paris and Ayer. Naughty words are represented by Sass and Sasse and the preparation of food shown by Frye, Fried and Fryer. There is a Sankey present without a Moody.

Listed in their proper order, the names of Manchester residents are interesting in their resemblance. Among Manchester's names there is an imposing list of ex-presidents, vice-presidents and statesmen via Adams, Cleveland, Coolidge, Buchanan, Calhoun, Grant, Harrison, Hayes, Jackson, Jefferson, Johnson, Pierce, Lincoln, Tyler, Taft, Wilson, with such well known personages as MacDonald, Webster, Mann, Bryan, Curtis, Douglas and Clay.

Inventors and scientists tally five names with Howe, Erickson, Fulton, Newton, and Cooper. Generals and Admirals show up quite strong with such names as Hood, Morgan, Pickett, Hull, Logan, Long, McDowell, Mead, Pickett, Pickles, Custer, Crooks, Banks, Dewey, Nelson, Price, Lee, Knight, Knapp, Porter, Gates, Hill, Shields, Sheridan, Swift, Sherman and French. The bible is represented by Abel, Adam, Parson, Christian, Hope, Church, Cross and Lord.

Athletics have a fine representation beginning with Mack, daddy of them all, Cobb and Booth, with the following noted boxers, Maher, Corbett, Dempsey, Maloney, McGovern, McFarland, Firpo, Devlin, and Fitzsimmons. Animals and birds are strong with Deer, Buck, Fox, Capon, Sparrow, Thrasher, Martin and Hare trailed by Hunter and Hunt for effect only.

Colors are Black, Brown, White and Green with Hue and also ran. Virginia is the only State to be represented in the directory but such well known explorers and adventurers are to be found like Clark, Lewis, Hudson, Smith, Charlier, Cook and our own Lindy without the "H".

Authors and poets boast the following collection of stars, Lamb, Bacon, Markham, Shaw, Irving, Flagg, Dumas, Burns, and last, not least Hoyle. The months of the year are sandwiched in with August, May and an April with an added "E". Singers and composers are not to be denied to the extent of Calve, McCormick, Lind and Clavin. Actors get the jump of one name here with Gilbert, Haines, Gillette, Hodge and Hopper.

Last Room of Charles I Is Parley News Center

London.—(AP)—News of any naval cuts agreed on at the five-power parley here will be telegraphed and cabled to the world from a tragic room.

That room in which King Charles I passed his last hours before walking across St. James park to lay his head under the executioner's ax, is part of St. James' palace, in the state apartments of which the delegates of the five powers will hold their main deliberations.

The telegraph and cable operators will sit between walls adorned with seventeenth-century armor and weapons—weapons which Time, the great disarmer, already has relegated to the peaceful status of antiques.

It is in Queen Anne's drawing room, one of the loftiest and most magnificent chambers of the palace, that the delegates will meet for sessions other than the public plenary sessions in the house of lords.

This room was designed by Sir Christopher Wren, the architect of St. Paul's, and remodeled by William Kent in 1730. Kent also designed the Georgian fireplace with its Medusa-head centerpiece.

Looking down upon the conference table from silk-covered walls are several Stuart queens by Van Dyck and Lely, but the dominating portraits of the room are three large likenesses of the Georges, including the George III so intimately bound up with the history of America.

Other state apartments at St. James' set aside for the delegates and the secretariat include the entire room, the council room, the king's retiring room, the picture gallery and the banquetting room. During the two months the parley is expected to last there will be, including delegates, secretariat and press representatives, more than 300 persons accommodated at the Palace. About a third of these will be newspapermen. Michael J. McDermott is press officer of the American Delegation.

CATERER'S ART IN EVERY HOME

Herald's Cooking School Next Week to Show Latest Pastry Tricks.

The modern housewife no longer need envy the artistically decorated cakes and complicated-looking dishes arranged by the expert caterer. If she knows the latest short cut methods of cookery she may duplicate any attractive delicacy in her own kitchen in less time than it would take her to dress, go to the shops and make her selections.

Mrs. Katherine Delaney nationally known authority on the science and art of cookery, declares that it's all in knowing the latest tricks through which enviable effects may be obtained with a minimum of time and effort. When the Herald's cooking and homemaking school opens here Mrs. Delaney intends to demonstrate recipes which take drudgery away from cooking and make it a creative art. The school will be held in the Masonic Temple next Tuesday afternoon, Wednesday night, Thursday afternoon and Friday afternoon.

Cakes, from plain white to rainbow and cross word puzzle concoctions, may be made from the same recipe if the housewife understands the basic ingredients and their combination. Fourteen kinds of biscuits, each a delicious surprise in itself, can be turned out in but little more time than it takes to make them all alike, if the little creative tricks are understood.

After years of experience and experimentation, Mrs. Delaney has worked out a simplified method of keeping house which is so necessary in these days when women's responsibilities outside the home have increased so rapidly. She can give the homemaker rules for making pie which will insure a flaky crust, the envy of every cook. And she knows too, how to keep the crust from sticking to the board during the rolling out process and how to keep fruit pies from dripping over the edge of the pan during baking.

Homemakers today, Mrs. Delaney declares, like to have an individual touch to the pies, pastries and desserts they serve, and for that reason they want to make these delicacies themselves if they can find time to do it.

"And they will have time to make whatever they want if they know how to use modern methods," Mrs. Delaney assures. "The day has gone when the housewife must stand over the hot stove half a day to prepare the delicacies with which she wants to surprise her family. Wholesome pastry and unusual desserts may be prepared easily and quickly now by up-to-date methods.

"Because women want to know how to do their work the modern way, homemakers all over the country are flocking to cooking schools. They want instruction in how to

Macedoine of Beef, Waldorf

The desired quantity of rump steak is cut into slices half an inch in thickness and formed into the shape of cutlets, three inches by two inches, flat. Trim all to the same size and lard thickly on one side with bacon fat.

Lay out, larded side uppermost, in a flat pan and nearly cover with richly flavored stock. Cover the pan with a lid and braise in an oven for an hour. Remove the lid, baste the slices with gravy, and let them remain uncovered in the oven until the larding has taken color, they are then ready to dish.

Use equal amounts of sliced carrots, turnips, cutting them into fancy shapes; green peas, string beans, asparagus tops and small sprigs of cauliflower; boil all in salted water until quite tender.

Melt in a saucepan a lump of butter, add a little flour and stir in enough milk to make a sauce, adding pepper, salt and a little grated nutmeg. Put into this sauce place the slices around them in a circle. Skim off all fat from the gravy, pour it around the dish but not over the slices, and serve.

Young Salmon Are Raised On Canned Mother Fish

Portland, Ore.—(AP)—A cannibalistic trait of new-born salmon to feed on the deceased mother's carcass has solved Washington's problem of food for the small fish, which are reared on the communistic plan by the state each year.

Walter Hofford of Stevenson, Wash., member of the Washington department of fisheries and game, studied the cannibalistic trait and as a result the state of Washington, each year cans millions of salmon mothers.

FACE POVERTY AS SARDINES DESERT PORTUGUESE COAST

Algarve, Portugal.—(AP)—Many districts of Portugal, the world's greatest producer of sardines, which annually exports more than a million dollars worth of that delicacy to the United States, face poverty.

In this formerly prosperous district, for example, it was found recently that the sardines have all but disappeared. The suggestion was made that oceanologists investigate the migration with the object of safeguarding the future of the industry. Sardines are plentiful one season and scarce in the next.

No satisfactory explanation has been adduced for the sudden desertion by the little fish of the waters which once were its regular home, some attribute the phenomenon to explosives placed in these waters by panish fishermen, who, it is declared, drive the sardines to their own waters.

In any case, the whole population of Portuguese fishing villages which formerly depended upon sardines, not only as a food but also as a means of livelihood, are faced with unemployment and misery. Thousands of men, women and children, formerly engaged in packing and shipping sardines for consumption in the United States and other countries are without work. The introduction, in recent years, of labor saving devices has also operated to reduce the number of wage earners.

Motion Pictures Taken Of The Internal Organs

Detroit.—(AP)—Within the last year it has become possible to take motion pictures of the interior of the human body, says a report of Dr. H. A. Jarre of Grace hospital to the Radiological Society of North America.

"Until a year ago," he says, "we depended upon visual observations on the fluoroscopic screen, but in some X-ray studies the objects obtained in this way are too faint."

"Now we have an apparatus resembling a moving picture film which shows us many things we could not learn from photograph."

"You might say our pictures are slow motion because of course the organic movement in the body will tolerate only a limited amount of X-ray energy."

SAYS GILLESPIE KILLED HIS WIFE

New York, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Testimony of Mrs. Frances Marion Brandon that the body of Mrs. George J. Gillespie ought to be exhumed to determine the cause of death was on record today in the trial of Mrs. Brandon's suit against Gillespie, for preachment of promise to marry and an accounting of a law practice which she says she turned over to him.

Mrs. Brandon, an assistant corporation counsel, is asking $754,165, president of the New York Board of Water Supply, "Stole" her clients and then refused to keep a promise to marry her after his wife, who was an invalid, died in 1925.

Under cross examination yesterday, Mrs. Brandon testified she had accused Gillespie in a letter of killing his wife. She also said she told him that she was going to have the body exhumed.

Nothing was done about it, she said, adding that she still believed that "a man who will destroy me—who will destroy any woman—will do anything."

She also asserted that she believed Gillespie had victimized 1,000,000 other women.

In answer to a question regarding Gillespie's repudiation of her announcement of their engagement she said: "He said he would not have been surprised if any one of a million women had made the announcement. I knew from that that he had victimized 1,000,000 other women."

SPRINGFIELD GIRL IN BANDITS' BAND

New York, Feb. 20.—(AP)—A blonde haired young mother, who came from Springfield, Mass., four months ago "looking for excitement" was arrested today charged with being the accomplice of four men, who are held for participating in more than 35 store holdups.

The young woman and two of the men were arrested in a restaurant at Poth street and Lexington avenue, after one of the men attempted to shoot it out with detectives. The others were arrested in a rooming house at 50 West 112th street.

The prisoners, all of whom police say admitted their guilt, were booked at the West 100th street station charged with assault and robbery. The specific charge on which they are held connects them with the holdup of a shoe store at 2593 Broadway, on January 20, when $300 was taken.

PENN'S TOP POST NOT PEACEFUL ONE

New York, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Columbia's basketball team has its contention that Pennsylvania is not going to have a clear road to the eastern intercollegiate championship. Columbia stopped Pennsylvania once to take the lead, then after going down in an upset at the hands of Yale, the Lions regained a tie for the top last night by trouncing Cornell 41 to 34.

Penn's position became even more precarious yesterday with the announcement that Fred Ulrich, star sophomore forward had been put on probation and was lost to the team for the rest of the season.

Columbia does not play another league game until next Monday while Pennsylvania plays at home Saturday against Cornell with a good chance of gaining its fifth victory. Saturday's other game ends the fourth place Princeton team against Yale, which now is third with three victories and four defeats.

Identify Solomon The younger Solomon, according to the police, is the robber by whom Detective Charles Huber, of the West 47th street station, was worsted and disarmed in a struggle when the detective interrupted an attempted holdup of an Eighth avenue shoe store. The revolver identified by its serial number, was one of two found in the young woman's apartment, the detectives said. Mrs. Bascomb told the detectives that she was married two years ago but that she and her husband, Stanley, "did not get along." She came here four months ago, leaving behind her ten months old son, Stanley, Jr. At a party soon after her arrival, she met the four men and became a member of the band. She returned here last night after paying a visit to her small son, she said.

Naturally, he was not required to hole out as his opponent had to do. In 40 minutes the airman had completed the course in 29 "strokes". On several of the greens he required only one shot. At the eighteenth his first ball fell on one of the cars of a London Railway Express train. At times he hovered as low as 100 feet, the lowest he could safely attempt.

GODS OF CHINESE IN THE THOUSANDS

Theologist in Ten Years Study Has Not Counted Them All Yet.

Shanghai (AP)—The Chinese people worship so many gods that it has taken Newton Hayes, noted theologian, many years to count them. As a matter of fact, he never actually completed the job.

In a recent survey of Chinese religions, published after ten years of study, Mr. Hayes quotes earlier contemporaries who state that the Indian divinities total 33,339, while the Greeks of ancient time had 30,000.

Besides thousands of idols, Mr. Hayes has found that the Chinese worship horses, cows, snakes, while even some insects which feed on the human body have supernatural powers accorded to them by human beings living in Cathay.

No Supreme Creator Mr. Hayes has also found that one can search in vain for a supreme creator and ruler of the universe. All other nations have a supreme deity, he points out, but China has none that occupies exactly the same place in her category of gods.

"Ten years' study of the gods of the Chinese leads us to feel that it is safe to say that there are probably even more recognized deities in the Chinese Pantheon than in those of any other race," he declares.

There are more images in the country than are found in the temples and homes of any other land. Indeed, the number of gods is so great that De Groot not only characterizes it as "infinite" but almost in desperation resorts to hyperbole, declaring that in the creation of new gods for their "unlimited polytheism," the Chinese are "bounded by nothing but the circumstance that even the human art of inventing gods has its limits."

NEW MILL TO REDUCE MEXICAN SUGAR COST

Mexico City (AP)—Reduction of the cost of sugar within Mexico is the aim of General Plutarco Elias Calles and others in starting construction of one of the largest sugar mills in Mexico in the El Mante diversion project territory in the State of Tamaulipas between Monterrey and Tampico.

The mill started operation early in February. More than $400,000 worth of machinery from the United States was installed and plans call for more than $1,000,000 added expenditure for machinery next year.

When in full operation the mill will produce 3,000 tons of sugar daily and it is planned to dispose of all the product within the republic. In this manner the promoters hope to cut the cost of sugar from its present high rate.

HERE'S FULL TEXT OF ITALIAN NOTE

Armaments Should Be Defensive and Should Be Reduced to the Limit.

London, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The statement of Italian naval policy, delivered in London yesterday by Dino Grandi, follows: "The Italian delegation confirm their previous statement. They consider that armaments should be exclusively defensive and should be reduced to the lowest possible level."

"From the outset the Italian delegation has called the attention of the other delegations to these two points, which they consider not only essential to the success of the conference but which are also intimately connected with determination of the methods of limitation to be adopted."

"Notwithstanding her greater and special defense needs, Italy is prepared to accept the self-limitation of her right to arm and to reduce her armament to any figure, however low, provided it be not exceeded by any European continental power."

"She strongly advocates reduction of naval armaments because, as a member of the League of Nations as one of the signatories of the Kellogg-Briand pact, Italy considers such reduction as the natural outcome of those treaties. It is by reduction of armaments that nations can show the value they attach to the aforesaid treaties and prove their loyalty with the pledges they have given."

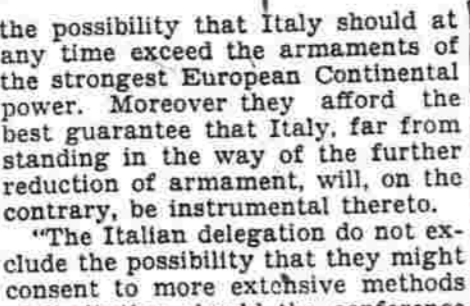

"The more I have seen of the conduct of our foreign relations, the more I am convinced that we are better off out of the League of Nations."—Calvin Coolidge.

"No one who thinks of Joan of Arc can think that marriage is the only perfection for human life."—Dr. Richard C. Cabot.

"Being a well dressed man must be almost a career; nobody goes in for it has time for anything else."—Heywood Brown, critic.

"The doctrine of thrift for the poor is dumb and cruel, like advising them to try and lift themselves by their bootstraps."—Norman Thomas, New York Socialist leader.

"The above undertakings exclude the possibility that Italy should at any time exceed the armaments of the strongest European Continental power. Moreover they afford the best guarantee that Italy, far from standing in the way of the further reduction of armament, will, on the contrary, be instrumental thereto."

How She Hides Her Car Care

BY ISRAEL KLEIN, Science Editor, NEA Service

When something goes wrong with the engine and you have trouble locating the cause, remember one important point—leave the carburetor for last.

Although the immediate cause of engine trouble most likely will be found at some other spot, it has become a habit among many motorists, and even garage mechanics, to tinker with the carburetor first.

The carburetor, therefore, should be the last instrument to touch when looking for the source of motor trouble. Before looking at it, it might be advisable to check up on the following possible sources of engine breakdown:

- 1-Compression—if that is low, there is a leak somewhere and very little power results. Compression may be tested by hand, by turning over the engine cylinder by cylinder with the crank, while the ignition switch is off and the hand throttle slightly open. If the resistance on the compression stroke is slight, and there is a leak through valves, the shock absorbers will check this greater rebound force so as to make the car actually steadier and easier than if you drive slowly.

If, after all these points have been checked up and corrected, the engine trouble persists, then the only difficulty here may concern the proper adjustment. That's not so hard a job, but even this requires knowledge of the particular carburetor in use.

All carburetors, however, have an adjustment for idling speed. It is this, in most cases, that has to be readjusted in order to get the motor operating properly from idling to high speed. This is rather simple.

First retard the spark all the way and close the throttle completely. Now turn the idling screw toward the lean and watch the movement of the fan. Keep on turning toward the lean until you notice the fan falter. Then turn the same screw back a notch or two until the fan is rotating steadily.

While doing this, open the throttle momentarily in order to clear the carburetor of accumulated gasoline, and so as not to choke up the engine entirely.

IN NEED OF REPAIRS

In a recent examination of 1,888,000 motor vehicles in Pennsylvania, 1,322,000 were found to be in need of repairs.

Overheated Motors Cost You Money!

Loss of power—loss of mileage—faulty running motors, are due to overheating in many cases. Nine times out of ten it is because your radiator is clogged up with incrustation and sediment, so that you are not getting the proper circulation. A smoother running, efficient and economical motor must be properly cooled.

If you want a better performing motor—a saving on gas, oil and repairs, let us clean your radiator with our new patented Hoyt Radiator Washer. We guarantee to restore perfect circulation and original efficiency to your radiator. It dissolves ALL the incrustation without harm to the radiator, so that it functions like new.

Your Radiator Inspected FREE. If your motor has been running hot, or if your radiator appears crusted inside, drive in and let us inspect it. We'll fix it up good as new at very small cost.

SERVICE for the MOTORIST

Motor Hints

Finely Suggestions on the Care of the Car by the Automobile Club of Hartford.

through the medium of the cylinder walls and head. If the engine runs out of oil the excess heat will burn connecting rod bearings and cause the pistons to bind until they score the cylinders. The same thing will happen if the engine runs out of water.

Handling Hydraulic Absorbers Since it is not always possible for owner of a car equipped with hydraulic shock absorbers to have the oil changed to a lighter grade for winter use just as soon as he feels the effects of a temperature drop it is a good idea to know how to get the best use out of these devices when they are being operated at a disadvantage.

One Rule for All Some time in his career every motorist of a mechanical turn of mind likes to check over the spark timing to see if he is getting full efficiency from his engine. This is when he cranks over the engine slowly by hand and watches for the marks to appear on the flywheel.

Oil Gauge Often Fickle It may seem like encouraging disregard for the messages which the meters on the instrument panel constantly relay to the driver but at least in the case of the oil pressure gauge one is justified in advising against becoming too much concerned over the variations in pressure. Many things, and most of them not a serious nature, can cause pressure fluctuations.

Another cause of variation is change in the lubricating system. Occasionally temporary conditions in the oil lines, or at the bearings, make a difference in pressure reading. The gauges themselves, especially where relief valves are provided, play a part in the variety. The owner, however, should look into the matter if the pressure stays too low regularly or too high.

Why is it that the motorist who fears the consequences of running out of oil gives little thought to the trouble that may follow running out of water? Why does he overlook the fact that a water shy engine may give the same trouble as one that lacks oil?

Probably it is because he does not realize that water and oil perform very similar duties. They both wipe away heat, but do it at slightly different points in the engine. Oil cools by direct contact with the moving parts. Water cools indirectly.

It's speed and efficiency you want when something goes wrong with your motor. That's why most wise drivers prefer to let us do the job. They know they can rely on our promises—your car is always ready when you expect it—and it's a finer, smoother, more economical piece of workmanship. H. S. SWIMMERS SEEK TITLE AGAIN

Victory Saturday Means Permanent Possession of Plaque; Meet Is at Trinity Pool in Hartford.

Irrespective of the fact that it has been defeated in all five of its aquatic meets to date, Manchester High has high hopes of gaining its season's objective by winning the Central Connecticut Interscholastic League meet Saturday afternoon at the Trinity pool in Hartford.

Four of the six schools in the circuit will enter teams. Manchester holds two legs on the plaque offered the school winning three times, so if it can come through day after tomorrow, previous defeats will be forgotten. The mere fact that Manchester has lost all of its meets to date doesn't necessarily mean that it has a poor team. On the contrary, Manchester has stacked up against prep school teams admittedly out of its class, yet has made a very satisfactory showing.

Hence, if Manchester can cope the objective of its season Saturday, Coach W. J. Clarke and his boys will have much reason to be happy. The meet starts at 1:30. According to close followers on the water sport, Manchester has little to fear from either Meriden or Bristol and Middletown is its most dangerous rival. However, that will be seen Saturday.

Entries for the C. C. I. L. meet were announced today by Faculty Manager Edson M. Bailey. They are as follows:

HE'S TOWN CHAMP

John B. O'Hanlon triumphed over Thomas W. Stowe in their first round match of the town title chess tournament yesterday afternoon at the East Side Rec. The battle of the newspaper reporters lasted 45 minutes with O'Hanlon winning under the pressure of a double rook attack which enabled him to king a pawn after both players had lost most of their pieces. Apparently Stowe succeeded in influencing O'Hanlon not to mention the outcome of the match in the Hartford Courant this morning. He had similar intentions regarding The Herald tonight but a fellow scribe "recovered the fumble". It is understood that Stowe had been reading "The Art of Thinking" in hopes that it might help his chess game.

BEAT McCLUSKEY BY ONLY 15 YARDS

Joe Writes About His Experiences; To Compete in Junior National Championships at Detroit.

The following letter was received by the sports editor of The Herald from Joe McCluskey, well known former high school track star who is now making a name for himself at Fordham running against some of the best athletes in the country. It was written by McCluskey without any idea that it would be used for publication but it contains so many facts that are of interest to his many Manchester friends that it is forthwith printed almost in full.

Dear Tom:— "I finally have found enough time to write to you. During the past week, I have been very busy with extra curricular work and track meets. "Monday Feb. 10, I went to Newark to run in the Section High College Meet. I ran anchor in the medley race ($80,220.440 and mile). We placed only fourth in this meet, but it was a tough "break" for me. Our half mile held the lead for four laps and just barely finished the last one. He was in tenth place. Eleven teams competed. "When I finally got started, I was in tenth place and the leader was 100 yards or more ahead of me. I was timed for the mile, and ran it in 4:23.25 which was the fastest time for the mile. I gained about eighty yards but I only placed fourth, losing out by about twenty yards. The winner's time (N. Y. A. C.) was 4:43 which is seven and a half seconds away from the record. Our team did about 7.46 which isn't bad. We are badly in need of a very good half-mile.

"In the I. C. A. A. meet, I am running the mile in the medley. Our team is going to head for 7:35 which is faster than the world's record. We have a freshman runner who is practicing hard in the half-mile and hope that he can do two minutes flat. University of Pennsylvania states that it has the medley race (freshman) 'in the bag.' They have some excellent runners and a still better coach in Lawson Robertson. However, they will have to 'step' to beat Fordham. I hope to run the mile in 4:18 or 4:20.

"Last Saturday, I won the metropolitan championship for the two mile run. Gus Moore did not compete. It is reported that he is sick. He had a bad cold when he ran in Philadelphia. There was one fellow in the race who continually kept hitting my feet with his. He said that he didn't mean it and was probably so intent on following me that he accidentally did it. This fellow, Bayley, passed me with 250 yards to go, but then I passed him 50 yards later. I coasted in the last 100 yards and won by about twenty five yards.

"This race was not too strenuous. After the race, a man asked me to go to Detroit, take part in the Junior National Championships in the two mile. The school authorities have decided to let me go, so I will leave N. Y. at 6 p. m. Friday and return Sunday night. John Jarvis, a Fordham hurdler, is going with me. This fellow is good. He is getting into good condition, and he may win the 70-yard hurdles in the I. C. A. A. meet.

Seeks 100 Mile An Hour Record With Speed Boat

Gar Wood

Two cumbersome ferry boats pushed their blunt noses through the waters of Lake Okauch in a test of speed. The victor was to be rewarded at the other side of the lake with several passengers. The loser would get none.

Both boats were wood burners but aboard one of them the fuel gage went an ax to keep the fire going beneath the boilers. His efforts turned certain defeat into victory.

That was more than 30 years ago. The boy was Garfield Johnson Wood. It was his first boat race. Today he is Gar Wood, Detroit millionaire and international czar of speed on water.

The ferry on which Gar Wood helped his dad outdistance a competitor was capable of nine or 10 miles an hour under full steam. The trim racing craft Gar Wood piloted last year leaped over the smooth waters of a Florida stream at more than 93 miles an hour, establishing a world's record for boats. And before he has climbed out of the cockpit for the last time, Gar Wood says he will have that record in three figures.

"I will make 100 miles an hour—then quit, said the white-haired speed king. "That's faster than anybody has driven a boat. When I make it I'm through."

Wood might deny that he is superstitious. Nevertheless, those teddy bears hanging from the steering wheel of his boat. They provide an interesting story in themselves. "If you remember during war times, many people had a penchant for making little dolls and teddy bears from yarn. Doughboys carried these given them by sweethearts over the top with them. They were luck charms and gave a feeling of safety wherever they were worn, much the same as the dusky crashpooter who fades anybody when he feels that rabbit's foot bulging in his shirt pocket.

Gar Wood's wife made a little teddy bear of yarn to give to a nephew. But Gar Wood saw and swiped it. Mrs. Wood made another and her husband swiped that one, too. "The faith Wood placed in those good luck charms can best be explained by one incident. He was racing on the Detroit river a few years ago, piloting a boat that proved too frail for the power its motors developed. The craft sank, taking the teddy bears to the bottom of the Detroit river with it. Naturally, the boat was salvaged but the charms were missing. Divers searched the bottom of the river for two days before they found the little bears. They were cleaned and dried out and in Wood's next race, dangled from the steering wheel.

Wood has been setting world's records since 1910, his second year in power boat racing. In the cockpit of "Little Leading Lady," a boat he constructed himself, he won the inaugural of the Mississippi Valley Power Boat Association, setting a world's record of 30 miles an hour. Ten years later, his Miss America I captured the Harmsworth Trophy and the international speed championship over the historic course at Cowes, England. Four challengers since have sought to wrest the title from Wood. Sir McKay Edgar failed in the Maple Leaf VIII. France tried but couldn't make it interesting. Miss Betty Carstairs made two gallant efforts but was far behind at the finish each time. Gar Wood is a millionaire—but not through boat racing. An inven-

FROSH DEFEATED BY CASEY'S HICKS

Victors Hold Lead Whole Game; Snow and Enrico Score Most Points.

Adding the Freshman team to their rather impressive string of victories, Casey's Hicks won last night at the Franklin Gym by a score of 32 to 20. The Hicks led the entire game, their size being the decisive factor. The Proctorites trailed from one to five points the first three quarters, and then the rustic boys won on a scoring spree. No man was outstanding. Snow of the Hicks and Enrico of the Frosh being high scorers by dint of many tries. The Hicks were handicapped by the absence of West and were forced to save themselves as much as possible to meet the requirements of a stiff schedule of the next two weeks.

WEST SIDES BEAT ALUMNI.

With "Stewey" Kennedy dropping the ball in one shot after another, and with Jolly sharing the honors, the West Sides easily defeated the Parochial school Alumni 49-46 on the former's home floor yesterday. Mahoney played best for the losers dropping no less than 7 field goals.

Trounces Middletown Brethren 58 to 10; New Britain Play Here Tomorrow In Important Battle.

Manchester Trade scored the twelfth victory of its season yesterday afternoon by swarming all over a much inferior Middletown Trade quintet at the Reg gym. The score was 58 to 10 but even that wide margin failed to show the true superiority of the Manchester outfit.

Coach Schrober used his second team for the major part of two periods, in other words about half of the time. Roger Spencer was high scorer with six hoops closely followed by Schiebel and Vince. Borilla, Viot and Sendorowski were not far behind. Ten of the twelve players Coach Schrober called upon for service broke into the scoring column.

MANCHESTER MUST BEAT W. HARTFORD

With strict orders to watch his step because another stumble means a tumble into abyssal depths, Manchester High will set sail for West Hartford High school tomorrow with the avowed purpose of bagging another basketball victory. Defeat would undoubtedly mean elimination from any hopes of going to Yale but victory over West Hartford and another at Middletown's expense here the following week would give Manchester an impressive record as all but two or three teams in the state. There are few schools with less than three defeats and that is Manchester's limit.

THE TINYMATES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE) Queer Punch and Judy jumped around and did a jog upon the ground. They both looked rather clumsy and the Times laughed in glee. Said Scouty, "This is like a show. My, aren't they quick. Just see them go! I wish that we could dance like that. They're clever as can be." The painter then said, "Well, you know, it is their job to give a show. But usually they have a stage and run by little strings. I wish we had a stage right here, but there's no chance for that, I fear. It is a shame that we can't help the funny little things." Then Clewmy jumped and shouted, "Say! I think that I can find a way to help that pair do better stunts. I have a dandy plan. We'll tie some strings on them, real tight, so they can twist with all their might. Then, to a tree we'll tie the strings. It betcha that we can." "A good idea!" someone cried

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

After marriage, many an old-fashioned girl paints to please her husband.

United we stand, divided we advance backwards.

When tights and hoop skirts were the rage. And the girls danced like this:

But in our own fine day and age, Their childrendancedlikekithis.

Helen—I don't see why he dates her. Mary—No, she can't dance but she sure can intermission.

Stop worrying. What are creditors for?

Truth is truth. There is no side-stepping it and getting anywhere that it is worthwhile to get! Saying that two and two make five does not make it so. It only stamps the maker of the statement as in ignominious or a liar—probably both.

The Lady—Yes'm, I seen it. The Lady—You should mind your grammar. You mean you saw it.

The Hobo—No'm, You saw me see it, but you ain't seen me saw it.

COUNTRY AIR CLEARS HUSKY VOICE IN KYW

Chicago.—(AP)—Getting away from the murky air of downtown Chicago to the atmosphere of the country has taken the hoarseness out of the voice of KYW.

The Westinghouse plant, first in Chicago, now has a new home near Glen Ellyn, 23 miles northwest of its former residence atop the Congress hotel. KYW's studios still are in the hotel.

Broadening from Glen Ellyn has eliminated the blurred reception of which fans in certain sections of the country complained. Engineers attributed it to the steel structures surrounding the downtown station.

The new station is called a "super-power job," and while only 10,000 watts will be used, it has much greater energy in reserve.

KYW is a landmark in radio history. It went on the air Armistice Day, 1921, when crystal sets were in vogue.

Mary Garden and Edith Mason, opera stars, sang on the first program, their voices being carried by remote control from the Auditorium where they were singing in "Samson and Delilah."

Wendell Hall, Art Linnick, Lee Simms, Mary Lee and Sally Menkes were early KYW entertainers. Ed Bojnowff, now of WENR, and Sen Raney, now with NBC, were announcers.
