DRYS GETTING EVIDENCE FOR NEXT HEARING

Say Witnesses from All Over the Country Are Anxious to Tell of Bene- fits of Prohibition Law.

Washington, March 7.—(AP)—Supporters of the 18th Amendment announced today they proposed to utilize the recess period in the House judiciary committee's prohibition hearings by going over the testimony of the anti-prohibition group and arranging to call witnesses to combat each phase of the question that opponents of the dry law had touched up.

Mrs. Lena L. Yost, in charge of the dry witnesses, said it was the plan of the drys to cover every angle of the question from a moral to a legislative aspect.

She added that the problem confronting her was attempting to arrange the program to include as many as possible of the number of people desiring to testify.

Many volunteers.

"So many telegrams have come from all parts of the country from persons who desire to testify in support of prohibition that it will be impossible for all to be heard," she said. "We intend to sift them and present a large number briefly."

The drys have used their first two days in an effort to establish that prohibition has been a contributing factor to home comfort, industrial prosperity, improvement through increased buying power of the farm market, the general health, and that the dry law has the indorsement of high society, the heads of industry, the farmer and the people as a whole.

REICHSBANK HEAD TO RESIGN POST

Dr. Schacht to Quit Because Of Changes Made in the Young Plan.

Berlin, March 7.—(AP)—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, today announced his intention of resigning from his post.

The announcement was made at a meeting of directors of the Reichsbank this morning.

Dr. Schacht informed the directors that he had taken steps to terminate his presidential contract with the bank before its expiration date, but would remain in office until his successor was appointed.

The resignation, it was understood, was due to his personal interpretation of the final protocol reached at the second Hague conference on reparations which he claimed made changes in the original Young plan such as to endanger its success.

While Dr. Schacht at present will not discuss his announcement, members of his staff told the Associated Press he was so convinced that the second Hague conference departed from the Young plan which he helped to draft that he cannot assume responsibility for its execution.

Old Plan Better.

They said that the Reichsbank president felt the so-called new plan was immeasurably inferior to the original Young plan and placed one-sided burdens upon Germany which enabled her creditors to do practically what they wanted with her.

Now that adoption of the plan by the Reichstag is assured, Dr. Schacht was represented as feeling honor bound to make room for someone willing to assume responsibility for fulfillment of the Reichsbank's obligations under the plan.

Dr. Schacht became president of the Reichsbank in 1923 and for the past six or more years has exercised great influence in German financial affairs.

Last year he was head of the German delegation to the conference at the Hague which resulted in the Young plan and the setting up of the Bank for International Settlements.

In recent months he has had several run-ins with the political authorities in Germany regarding financial policy. Last December he issued a statement in which he declared tampering with the Young plan had endangered the success of the Reichsbank and announced that the Reichsbank would not subscribe to the capital of the International Bank. This caused a great flurry in international banking circles and brought a speedy reaction in Berlin where it was proposed to amend the law governing the Reichsbank so that its participation in the International Bank would be obligatory.

TREASURY BALANCE.

Washington, March 7.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for March 5 were $4,296,548.27; expenditures, $3,402,639.68; balance, $35,944,454.28.

HUGE CROWDS GATHERED AT RED DEMONSTRATIONS IN NEW YORK CITY

While the greatest peacetime army in New York history—18,000 policemen and 7,000 firemen—was held in reserve to prevent violence, Communists staged this huge unemployment demonstration in famous Union Square. Here you see a part of the great crowd, estimated at more than 50,000, that milled through the streets on "Red Thursday," flaunting banners while speakers harangued capitalism and the "police Cossacks."

TARIFF MAN'S OFFICE IN SEN. GRUNDY'S ROOM

Tells Lobby Probers That He Receives $500 a Month for Issuing News Releases to Papers.

Washington, March 7.—(AP)—Questioned by the Senate lobby committee before he became a United States Senator from Pennsylvania, the work of Joseph R. Grundy on behalf of a protective tariff again was before the committee today with Warren F. Doane, editor of the Manufacturer, testifying that he employed by the Pennsylvania Senator at a salary of $500 a month.

The committee called Doane after attention had been directed to a newspaper story that Grundy's old newspaper, the American Tariff League, had moved its headquarters into the Senator's offices in the Senate office building after he succeeded William S. Vare.

Grundy on the Senate floor yesterday denied this report emphatically and said that his offices were used only by his own employees or those of the government.

In Senator's Office

Doane, whose magazine devotes itself mostly to tariff matters, said that he was employed by Grundy for the last six or seven years and that he Grundy took his seat here (Doane) abandoned his downtown offices where he issued newspaper releases under the name of the American Tariff League News Bureau and was assigned a desk in the Senator's office.

Doane denied, however, that the news bureau had any connection with the American Tariff League and said he had issued no news releases from Grundy's quarters. He added that he did much of his work at a downtown hotel where he lived.

"Are you an employee then?"

MITCHELL APPROVES PAROLE FOR COOK

Famous Claimant to North Pole Fame Is Now In a Federal Prison.

Washington, March 7.—(AP)—The parole of Dr. Frederick A. Cook, serving a sentence in the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas, for using the mails to defraud, has been approved by Attorney General Hoover.

His parole was recommended sometime ago to the attorney general by the parole board.

During his term in the penitentiary, Dr. Cook who won worldwide prominence years ago by leaving claim to being the first to discover the North Pole, has been editor of the prison publication the New Era.

GET COURT ORDER ON NAPOLEON GEMS

New York Jeweler Restrained from Breaking Up Necklace or Selling It.

New York, March 7.—(AP)—Archduchess Maria Theresa of Austria, grandmother of the last of the Hapsburg emperors, today obtained a court order restraining David Michel, a 5th avenue jeweler, from breaking up or disposing of the diamond necklace which Napoleon, Emperor of France, gave to his second wife, the beautiful Marie Louise, after the birth of their son, the Duke of Reichstadt, more often known as "The Eagle," in 1811.

Michel bought the necklace, whose value had never been appraised at less than $200,000, from Charles Townsend, one time agent for the archduchess, for $60,000.

Got Only $7,000.

The archduchess' attorneys, Guggenheimer, Untermeyer and Marshall, said they had been informed by the Vienna police that Marie Louise, who is past 70 and impoverished, had received only a little more than $7,000 out of the $50,000 Townsend having informed her by letter that the rest was due him for expenses incident to the sale.

The order issued by Justice Alfred H. Zownley requires Michel to show cause on Tuesday why the junction should not be continued.

INDIAN WOMAN MURDERS WIFE OF AN ARTIST

Was His Model and Became Jealous—Artist Did Not Know of Infatuation, He Asserts.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 7.—(AP)—Miss Lillian Jimerson, 35 year old Indian, has charged, according to police detectives here, that another older Indian woman from the Gowanda Reservation yesterday killed Mrs. Clothilde Marchand, wife of Henri Marchand, eminent artist and curator of the Buffalo Museum of Science.

Miss Jimerson is also said to have admitted that she was present at the time of the slaying.

Jealousy as Motive.

The motive was jealousy, it was learned from the detective detail under Deputy Police Commissioner W. R. Connolly, who arrested Miss Jimerson at the reservation near Silver Creek, N. Y.

Police were searching the river bed near Springville this morning for the weapon said to have been used by the Indian woman in slaying Mrs. Marchand at her home here yesterday afternoon.

STATE'S BOARD IS SILENT ON SCHOOL PROBE

More Than a Score of Wit- nesses in Meriden at First Day's Hearing—No De- tails Given to Public.

Meriden, March 7.—(AP)—More than a score of witnesses, inmates and former Governor Trumbull's special commission investigating charges of brutality in maintaining discipline at the Connecticut School for Boys here.

George H. Day, of Hartford, chairman of the commission, said that it was likely that he and his three colleagues would hold three sessions including today's before they would be ready to file a report with the governor.

Gives No Details.

He declined to discuss the nature of the testimony adduced today. At the same time, the State Department of Health continued its inquiry into the sanitary features of the school.

The investigation resulted from charges filed by the State Department of Welfare and most of the witnesses today are those who made statements to the department's secretary, John Hadley.

TAFT'S CONDITION

Washington, March 7.—(AP)—Dr. Francis Hagner, one of William Howard Taft's physicians, said today that the former chief justice was "probably a little better and certainly no worse than he was yesterday."

The physician said he had talked with a nurse at the home this morning and that he planned to visit Mr. Taft later in the day, after which another bulletin would be issued.

Later, Dr. Hagner and Dr. Thomas A. Clayton issued the usual morning bulletin. It read:

"The former chief justice seems a little better this morning, but the change in his condition from day to day is almost negligible."

COMMUNIST FINED

Bridgeport, March 7.—(AP)—Irving Lewis, who was arrested yesterday when he refused to move on orders of the police during a Communist demonstration in front of the City Hall, was fined $100 and sentenced to three months in jail when arraigned in City Court today. Lewis gave notice that he would appeal and bond for the appeal was fixed at $3,000.

FLAGMAN KILLED

Columbus, Ga., March 7.—(AP)—Ocie E. White, of Phenix City, Ala., a railway flagman, was killed at Glen Alto, Ga., 25 miles south here, early today, as the second section of the northbound Seminole Limited, Central of Georgia railway passenger train, crashed into the rear of the first section which had halted.

Railway officials were without information as to the number of injured, pending return of a relief train dispatched to the scene of the wreck. The relief train was due to reach here about 9 a. m.

The observation car of the first section was telescoped but it was not known here whether compartments in the car were occupied by passengers.

WEYLER'S CONDITION.

Madrid, March 7.—(AP)—General Valiano Weyler, who was reported in a dying condition over the week-end, continues to improve.

Purchase of Liquor No Crime Under Act

Boston, March 7.—(AP)—Federal Judge James M. Morton today handed down a decision ruling that purchase of liquor is not a crime under the National Prohibition act. The decision was given in the case of James Farrar of Watertown, recently indicted for purchasing two pints of liquor. Judge Morton's decision approximately covered ten typewritten pages.

Farrar's counsel had moved the indictment to be quashed on the grounds that Congress did not intend to make the purchase of liquor a crime. After lengthy argument Judge Morton quashed the indictment.

Assistant U. S. District Attorney Eilhu D. Stone immediately took steps to appeal the case to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

In his decision, Judge Morton quoted a Supreme Court decision which set forth that "no person shall manufacture, purchase for sale, sell" liquor and referred to Section Six of the prohibition law. "The language of Section Six is similar," he said. "Both sections relate to the same subject, control of permitted liquor. This decision comes close to being a decisive authority against the government's contention."

"The same view seems to have been uniformly held by prosecuting officers and by the public at large for more than ten years."

"As I construe the indictment, it does not charge the defendant with aiding and abetting the sale of liquor. Even if it does, no crime would be charged. It has been repeatedly held that the buyer was not ipso facto an aider and abettor of the seller and the government counsel concede that no other relation existed between the defendant and Rotondo in this case."

The Rotondo referred to was charged with sale of two pints of liquor to Farrar as two undercover men looked on.

REDS OF NEW YORK IN POLICE LINEUP

Leaders Refuse to Answer Questions—100 Hurt In Yesterday's Riots.

New York, March 7.—(AP)—Refusing to answer all important questions, five Communist leaders, alleged instigators of yesterday's riots in Union Square in which more than 100 persons were injured, were paraded before 200 detectives in a lineup at police headquarters today after a night in jail. They had failed to furnish bail.

Foster A Prisoner

The five are William Z. Foster, presidential candidate of the Workers Communist Party in the 1928 elections; Robert O. Minor, editor of the Daily Worker; Israel Amter, Harry Raymond, and Joseph Lester. The clerk of the Municipal Court said today that parents of the 66 children rounded up by truant officers at yesterday's demonstration would be questioned next Thursday by school authorities and if they prove untractable would be arraigned in court on charges of re-entrance into the city after having been taken to Yorkville Court to answer charges of inciting to riot.

SEE DOLES' PLANE AND TWO BODIES

Fliers Missing for 12 Days Located in Canyon High Up in Mountains.

Los Angeles, Calif., March 7.—(AP)—Chasing a 12 days search, two automobile parties today were enroute to a canyon high up in the San Bernardino Mountains above Lake Arrowhead where the wreckage of a Western Air Express transport plane and bodies of its crew were sighted yesterday by Mrs. Juanita Burns and Dudley Steele, aviators.

The plane piloted by James E. W. Doles and carrying co-pilot A. W. Dieber and siteward John W. Slaton had been the object of a search since it became lost in a storm after leaving Kingman, Ariz., on the morning of Feb. 23, enroute to Los Angeles. Mrs. Burns, a 45-year old widow, 25 years old, had been flying over the mountains for several days looking for the plane.

Sees Men's Bodies.

"We descended to within 200 feet of the wreck," she said "and I could see with my field glasses the crumpled bodies of two of the men. They looked like they had been burned."

"It looked to me as if Doles had struck the top of a ridge with one wing as he was trying to turn back. Another five feet and he would have crashed."

Steele said he could see the wreckage plainly and that the "WAE" initials and number could be made out on the tail. The plane he said, apparently had landed right-side up.

LONGER TRAINING FOR OUR TEACHERS

State Board of Education Adds a Year to Normal School Course.

Hartford, March 7.—(AP)—Three years training instead of two will soon be required for normal school students in Connecticut. Such is the action of the State Board of Education which was approved by the state board of finance and control yesterday.

The plan will become effective in September at the New Haven normal school and successively, one each year, the other three schools will be placed on a three year basis. It was deemed inadvisable to place all four schools on the plan at once as that would bring one year in which there would be no normal graduates. New Haven was chosen to begin the plan as that section has the largest number of unemployed teachers.

Need Longer Study

The education board feels that the state should require a greater degree of preparation by its elementary school teachers, and under the plan adopted, that of reducing the size of entering classes at the normal schools, this will be done at an additional cost to the state. The no additional cost to the state. The present facilities and equipment are deemed adequate to accommodate the three year program.

The size of the entering classes at the normal schools next fall will be limited as follows:

New Haven 120; Danbury 100; Danbury 100; Williamantic 100; New Britain 160. The quotas assigned last September were: New Haven 160; Danbury 120; Williamantic 120; New Britain 160.

MASS CULTURE IS IN SIGHT SAYS NOTED HUB MERCHANT

Philadelphia, March 7.—(AP)—For the first time in human history, "leisure plus luxury is happening to the masses, and mass culture is in sight," Edward A. Filene of Boston, asserted today in addressing the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

Speaking on "The New Capitalism," Mr. Filene said that if the consumer's dollar was to function at its best something more than low prices and high wages would be necessary.

"It will be necessary," he declared, "for the consumer to want more things. If the masses are working 16 hours a day, they will not become great customers; for they will sleep the other eight hours and peo-ple do not buy much while they are asleep."

EAT INTERNATIONAL MEALS FROM HALE'S

Fresh Fruits and Vegetables Come from Far Distant Lands to Local Store.

Shoppers at Hale's Self Serve grocery and Health market will be internationally minded when they buy their fresh fruits and vegetables on which the Self Serve market is specializing this week from all over the world. The buyer will scarcely believe that his "eats" have come from such great distances. Ten tons of fresh fruits and vegetables were delivered to the Hale store today for the week end trade. Just glance through the list below and see where your favorite delectable comes from.

- Tomatoes—Mexico.
- Cabbages—Holland.
- Horseradish—Germany.
- Endive—Belgium.
- Fresh Peas—Mexico.
- Peppers—Florida.
- Strawberries—Florida.
- Artichokes—New Jersey.
- Fresh Asparagus—California.
- Radishes—Boston hothouse.
- Lettuce—Florida.
- Spinach—Texas.
- Turbin Squash—Florida.
- Delicious Apples—Oregon.

A vegetable or fruit salad this week end though it might arouse international complications would prove particularly delightful since Hale's fruits and vegetables are selected and shipped under the best possible conditions. And while looking over the fresh vegetable line advertised in Hale's full page announcement today don't overlook the special prize on native potatoes. Hale's Self Serve is actually setting native raised potatoes at a lower price than Maine potatoes. The Health market is offering some more roasting chickens this week at an attractive low price. Last week's consignment of 200 chickens was sold out by 10 o'clock Saturday morning so an additional 100 were ordered for this week end. The price this week on chickens is one cent below that of last week and two cents below the lowest price advertised by any Hartford store this week end.

Housewives are urged not to forget the contest on balanced menus which closes tomorrow night. A great many menus have been offered in this contest and there are several unusually good ones among them. The winning housewife will be given a fine Wearver cooker as a prize. Simply call at the Health market and get your blank for submitting a menu in the contest. The Modern Priscilla magazine will judge the menus instead of Good Housekeeping since the latter magazine's expert is on a leave of absence.

Tom McCann, manager of the Hale food departments, is especially stressing his fruits and vegetable lines this week end, and Louis Andisio, acting manager of the Health Market is specializing on the roasting chickens noted previously.

ROCKVILLE

WINCHELL CHARGED WITH AUTO THEFTS

Will Be Tried in April Session Of Tolland County Superior Court—Confesses Guilt.

Henry Winchell, who was before the Rockville Police Court on the charge of theft from the Lee home, and who is now awaiting trial at Tolland County jail, to appear at the Tolland County Superior Court in April, will be charged with taking two autos on the evening of December 25.

Winchell has confessed his guilt it was learned at the Stafford police barracks on Thursday.

On Christmas night last year a taxicab owned by Ray Connor, was taken from the place where Mr. Connor was accustomed to park it each night. The car was found the following day at Stafford, where it had turned over on the highway. The same night a car owned by William F. Silk of 27 Center street, Stafford Springs was taken and was found the following day on Fox Hill.

State Police Lieutenant Russell I. Harmon and Sergeant Harris Hulbert have been working on the automobile case, and Winchell will have these counts added to the charges already against him when brought before the session of the Superior Court.

Lions Club Meeting.

The Rockville Lions Club met on Wednesday night at the Rockville House, with a supper being served at 6:15. President Philip M. Howe presided at the meeting. The speaker of the evening was Rev. Watson Woodruff of South Manchester, who gave an address on "Words, Words, Words," which proved most interesting.

All mail matter sent out of the city by members of the Rockville Lions Club beginning shortly will bear a sticker advertising this city. The community advertising committee hopes to have 12,000 such stickers at the next meeting for distribution, which is next to advertise Rockville.

The committee also reported that the two Lions Club signs, which are to be put at two of the entrances of the city, have arrived and will be set up on strong posts sunk in concrete. These signs give the name of the city, mention the fact that the city has a Lions Club and extends a hearty welcome to the motorists.

Gerik Property Sold. Stanislaw and Konstanja Gerik have sold to Frank and Bronislaw Kula the property on South street.

The property in question is the lot in which Mr. Gerik was shot by his sixteen year old daughter, Jeanette several months ago.

The bearers were James Morrison of Hartford, William Morrison, James Doherty, Sr., James Doherty, Jr., James Bolger and O. P. Morin.

On Tuesday evening, Kiowa Council, Degree of Pocahontas conducted a service at the home.

C. of C. Meeting Wednesday. On Wednesday afternoon, March 12 at 4 o'clock, the Rockville Chapter of the C. of C. rooms at which time plans will be made for the Spring Fashion Show, to be held by the Tolland County Farm Bureau and the former organization.

The merchants are discussing the possibility of holding a spring fashion show at the Town Hall Memorial Building, Wednesday, April 3, at which the latest spring fashions will be displayed. The plan also calls for garments being displayed by living models. Miss Ellen Van Clee of the Farm Bureau Office staff will attend and explain the new features of the latest styles.

To Take Trip. C. F. Hagenow, sales manager of the Rockville office of the Rockville Willimantic Lighting Co., has been awarded a trip to the Frigidaire factory at Dayton, Ohio. This is a high honor. Mr. Hagenow has won cash prizes for several years. He plans to leave on the trip with other salesmen in about two weeks.

Kiowa Council Meeting. Kiowa Council Degree of Pocahontas will hold its next regular meeting in Red Men's Hall on Friday evening, March 14, when a box social will be held. Each member can invite a friend. The members are to pack a box of lunch for two people not to exceed twenty-five cents. Dancing will be enjoyed after the meeting.

Jewish Club Formed. About twenty Jewish young people have formed a local organization to be known as the Young Hebrew Association and the next meeting will be held on Sunday night at 7:30 in the meeting rooms in the Fitch Block and after the meeting there will be a social.

Officers of the organization are: President, Harry Stone, secretary, Ethel Cohen; treasurer, Leo Stone.

TIN WALLS, GREEN WOOD KEPT FIRE CONFINED

Dudek House Burned Slowly Because of Sheathing in Ell Where Fire Started.

Many reasons are being advanced for the slow progress of the Dudek fire on Avery street Wednesday night, resulting in the general impression of women at the scene that if the first call had been answered the main part of the house could have been saved. One of the reasons for the apparent slow burning of the ell was because of the tin covered walls inside, keeping the fire within the walls for some time. The fire originated in the room adjoining the kitchen, in which was stored a large quantity of green wood. When Mr. Dudek opened the door the room was filled with thick, heavy smoke apparently caused by smouldering green wood. The conditions were such that an investigation is under way to determine, if possible, the cause. The loss will be greater than the insurance carried.

The ownership of the property is still in the hands of the South Windsor Probate Court, there being three heirs to the estate left by Herman Dudek, who died intestate. Under the law the widow will get one third and two other sons will each receive one third.

Notes. Doris Klee, twin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Klee is recovering from her recent illness.

Mrs. Mary Welch of East Hartford has been named administratrix of the estate of her father, John Schaefer.

Mrs. Frank Blake of Orchard is confined to her home by illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Chapman are spending several days in New York City.

June Beinbauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Beinbauer of Village street is ill of pneumonia.

EAST HAMPTON LEAGUE GUESTS OF LUTHERANS

The East Hampton League will be guests of the Luther League of the Swedish Lutheran church at the regular bi-monthly meeting at 8 o'clock tonight and will present a half hour program in charge of Harry Anderson, president of the visiting League.

A short business meeting will precede the program, presided over by President Herbert Johnson. Refreshments will be served and Herman Johnson will lead the social period.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Troop 4 held its meeting Monday evening at 7:00 o'clock. Bantly had charge of the opening exercises. The Scout Oath and Laws were given. Dues were then collected and the roll called.

Afterwards there was a test passing period. Bantly was advanced to 2nd Class. Three boys were made Tenderfoots: W. Krause, Sam Dotsch and F. P. McCaughey.

Executive Dean showed pictures of Camp Pioneer and the Seascout Cruise with Skipper James to Provincetown. The meeting was closed with the Scout Oath.

Troop 4 will have use of the Rec room from 5 to 6 on Wednesday. Several Scouts have passed some Merit badge tests—Scribe Matchett.

Troop 1 held its regular meeting at 7:30 Monday evening in the Second Congregational church. The meeting was opened by repeating the Scout Law and Oath. After this, the boys studied and passed tests.

In about two weeks a hike will take place. The boys and Mr. Fish, scoutmaster, were trying to decide where to go. No definite plans were made for the hike.

The new Assistant Scoutmaster, Mr. Hayden Griswold was introduced to the Scouts, who gave him a rousing cheer.

The meeting was closed by repeating the Scout prayer, led by Richard Smith.

Scribe, Harry Juul.

ABOUT TOWN

Manchester High school will send a male debating team to Wallingford tonight to debate Chasite school on the question of whether or not United States is justified in continuing its present Caribbean policy. With Coach Arland Jenkins, three students will go. They are Carle Cudberry, Maurice McKeever and Austin Johnson. This will be the first debate of the season.

The Everyman's banquet will be held at Second Congregational church this evening at 6:30. While tickets have been sold in advance in order to determine how many to cater for, provision will be made for any who have not been approached by the committee. If there are any who desire to attend for the purpose of hearing the speakers discuss the men's community class movement, they will be welcomed at 7:45.

The final meeting of the Epworth League Midwinter Institute will be held this evening at the Rockville Methodist church, beginning with supper at 6:30. Rev. Truman Woodward will speak on Theodore Roosevelt; Rev. Edwin T. Jones of Somers will discuss Heretics of Science and their religion, and Rev. George S. Brookes of the Union Congregational church of Rockville will lecture on "Memories of Scotland and England."

The confirmation class of the Swedish Lutheran church will meet as usual at the church tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock with Rev. S. C. Franzen in charge, as Dr. Cornell is still confined to his bed, although much improved.

LONGER TRAINING FOR OUR TEACHERS

for the state board, said today that New York, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Jersey and California are now on a three year basis and Rhode Island is planning to increase the normal school course to four years. In the past five years the number of available teachers has increased by about 150 and there is a relatively decreasing demand for new teachers as women are remaining in elementary school teaching for a longer period, due possibly to increased pay schedules and better conditions. The surplus of elementary school teachers in the state at the present time is about 200.

The policy of the state board in the past few years has been to limit the size of normal school classes in proportion to the expected requirements of Connecticut schools. At the New Haven normal school last year about half of those who applied were accepted for the entering class. At the New Britain school the situation was about the same.

MERIDEN SCHOOL PROBE

Meriden, March 7.—(AP)—A committee of three started an investigation at the Connecticut School for Boys today as Governor John H. Trumbull's personal representatives. soaked wad of paper was found jammed in the woman's throat. Names Murders. Police made two trips to Silver Creek early this morning. On the first trip they took Miss Jimserson into custody and returned with her to Buffalo. When they arrived at police headquarters she told them the person who was guilty was a Mrs. Bowen and said that Mrs. Bowen was hiding under the stairs in the house the police had just left.

The police made a hurried return to Silver Creek where they found Mrs. Bowen still in hiding. She was incoherent when hauled from her hiding place and mumbled a mixture of Seneca and English in response to the police questioning. Hanson Jimserson, 80, father of Miss Jimserson, and reported to be chief of one of the Seneca clans, was not questioned.

Captain Connolly donned hip boots and began a systematic search of the neighborhood in which the two women were arrested. He said he expected to find the clothing worn by the women at the killing.

The police learned the two women came to Buffalo Thursday from Rivving, where they took a trolley car.

SCOUTMASTERS HERE IN MONTHLY SESSION

Plan Activities for Coming Summer; Swimming Meet to Be Held in April.

The Scoutmaster's Association held its monthly meeting last night at the School street Rec with 12 Scout officials present. Activities for the coming summer months were arranged and committees elected to take charge.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Valley Stream, N. Y.—Casey Jones, who has flown every sort of thing with an engine, is now a glider fan. He and his prowess sail plane made a hit with each other at the first attempt.

New York.—Referring to the addition of "negro" to the list of words in its style book to be capitalized, the New York Times says that it now joins many of the leading southern newspapers as well as most of the northern in according this recognition.

La Roche Sur Yon, France.—The most famous resident that La Vaudouze, as this section is known, ever had consumed little or none of its great product.

Paris.—The Municipal Council plans to name a street "The Street of the Four Sons of Paul Doumer." All sons of the president of the Senate died in the war.

New York.—Engineers are to have prefixes in this year's Federal census so that food wives cannot cause enumerators to classify window washers and steam shovel operators with technical experts.

Niagara Falls, Ont.—Red Mill, who has pulled out of the Niagara river bodies of more than 100 suicides and stunt performers, propose to go over Niagara Falls in a steel barrel on Decoration Day.

Newport, R. I.—The cotillion with favors, extremely popular in the Nineties in the summer social set, is to be revived at an Easter Monday ball to be given by the Art Association.

New York.—Girls who retain their jobs after marriage are indulging in selfish desires to remain independent, in the opinion of the Rev. Dr. Arthur L. Charles, rector of St. Mark's Protestant Episcopal church.

Brooklyn. He told clubwomen that much of the discord of young married persons and much unemployment could be traced to such an attitude.

RUM RUNNER SHOT

Lorain, O., March 7.—A man who said he was Fred Hentrie, Detroit, probably was fatally wounded and an unidentified companion was captured by Coast Guardsmen who fired on an armor-plated tug midway between Lorain and Cleveland early today.

Captain J. T. Hagelove of the Coast Guard boat said the tug failed to heed his orders to halt and turned about in a clumsy effort to escape after two warning shots were fired high.

The tug was bombarded for a time before the Coast Guardsmen went aboard. They met with no resistance, their prisoners having thrown their guns overboard if they carried any.

PARASITIC INSECTS GIVEN TENDER CARE

Madison, Wis. (AP).—On a tiny parasitic insect which University of Wisconsin scientists are nursing with utmost tenderness, garden raisers of this state are basing their hopes for reducing the loss caused yearly by pea aphids.

The insect, known to science as the Syrphidae, has an appetite for the pea aphid, one of the most destructive pests attacking Wisconsin crops.

C. L. Fluke of the economic entomology staff at the university is doing the experimental work with the insect. He believes the annual loss of from 5 to 20 per cent of the pea crop through the ravages of the aphid will be reduced materially by the insects he is nurturing.

DEATH ACCIDENTAL

London, March 7.—(AP)—A verdict of accidental death was rendered today at an inquest over the body of Mrs. Pearl Larkin De Maret, stenographer to Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson.

ULTIMATUM RECEIVED

New Delhi, India, March 7.—(AP)—Viceroy Lord Irwin today replied to the ultimatum of Mahatma Gandhi, Indian Nationalist leader who Monday informed the British government that if Indian independence was not granted he immediately would inaugurate a campaign of "civil disobedience."

The coming Paul Whiteman-Old Gold Hour will produce Edmund Love, left, Lilyan Tashman, upper right, and June Parker, below.

The viceroys answer was non-committal and formal in the extreme. It bore the signature of his private secretary.

PAPER SAYS FIGHT

FILMS WERE "CUT"

New York Daily Mirror Sued for $250,000 for Stating That Sharkey's Low Blows Were "Erased."

New York, March 7.—(AP.)—Newspaper stories alleged to imply that scenes showing foul blows were deleted from movie films of the Jack Sharkey-Phil Scott boxing bout at Miami led today to the filing of a libel suit for $250,000 against the New York Daily Mirror.

GRUNDY'S DENIAL

Washington, March 7.—(AP.)—Subjected to a cross examination in the Senate today Senator Grundy, Republican, Pennsylvania, insisted that no one "directly or indirectly" connected with the American Tariff League occupied his offices in the Senate office building.

Senator Moses reported his investigation to the Senate after Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, had called the Senate's attention to a newspaper story stating that the American Tariff League was using the Grundy's quarters in the Senate office building.

ASKS BANK INFORMATION

Washington, March 7.—(AP.)—The House banking committee today unanimously approved two resolutions calling on Secretaries Stimson and Mellon for information as to the extent to which the Federal Reserve Board is participating in the formation of the Bank of International Settlements.

Official American participation in the creation of the International Bank, designed to handle reparations payments under the Young plan, has been opposed by Chairman McFadden of the committee. The two resolutions, both introduced by McFadden, would require that all information available, showing what part the Reserve Board, Federal Reserve banks, or private American banking interests, have taken in organizing the Settlements bank.

SUPREME COURT SESSION

Hartford, March 7.—(AP.)—The Supreme Court in session here today heard the case of the Harvey Realty Company against the Borough of Wallingford and others, in which the plaintiff seeks an injunction preventing the defendants from interfering with the plaintiff's rights to sell a parcel of land near the town of Wallingford in its own way, or that the borough compensate plaintiff for the loss of bathing privileges on the property. The land consists of 162 acres bordering on Pine Lake, which empties into Fine River upon which the borough of Wallingford operates an auxiliary water supply pumping station.

HELEN'S FATHER ILL

Oakland, Cal., March 7.—(AP.)—Dr. C. A. Willis, father of Helen Willis Moody, the tennis champion, was reported recovering today from a major operation performed last Friday. Dr. Charles Duker said the operation was performed to correct a long-standing ailment.

EDITORS EXONERATED OF CONTEMPT CHARGES

Cleveland, March 7.—(AP.)—Convictions of contempt of court against Louis B. Seltzer, editor, and Carlton K. Matson, editorial writer, of the Cleveland Press, were overruled today by the Cuyahoga county Appellate Court.

The editors had been convicted about a year ago by Common Pleas Judge Frederick P. Walther, who sentenced them to 30 days in jail and fines of $500. Walther's action against Seltzer and Matson was taken after an editorial appeared in the Press, criticizing the judge for issuing an injunction restraining Sheriff E. J. Hanratty from stopping a betting method at a race track. Newton D. Baker, who represented the editors in the appeal, told the Appellate Court decision said: "We live in an age of pitiless publicity where the freedom of the press and freedom of speech are paramount issues and newspapers should have the right to print what they please, always guiding themselves by the laws of libel. A free people must have a free press and a newspaper should have the right to speak freely its views."

The decision ordered that the $500 fines and the jail sentences be not paid or served.

COLUMBIA

Funeral of Judge Lyman.

The funeral of Judge Dwight A. Lyman was held at the Columbia church Wednesday afternoon. The first part of the service was in charge of the Columbia pastor, Rev. John Howell, the latter part of the service being in charge of the Willimantic Lodge of Masons, of which Judge Lyman was a member.

The church was filled with relatives and friends, and there were many beautiful floral tributes. Burial was in the Willimantic cemetery.

Judge Lyman was born in Barrie, N. Y., November 11, 1843. Both parents and ancestors for several generations were natives of Columbia. In 1850 his father moved to Columbia, purchasing the farm now occupied by Judge Lyman's brother, Edward F. Lyman. On Sept. 15, 1885 he was married to Abbie Margaret Hunt of Columbia, by the Columbia pastor, Rev. F. D. Avery. In 1874 he left Columbia, moving to Versailles, and a couple of years later to Willimantic where he lived until about 16 years ago, when he moved to Columbia, building a house next to the old homestead, where he resided up to the time of his death. Mr. Lyman was a member of the local Grange. He had held many town offices serving several terms as Selectman, Assessor and Secretary of the School Board. He was always keenly interested in town affairs and was a loyal supporter and attendant of the Columbia Congregational church, though not himself a member. Mr. Lyman had a remarkably keen mind, and for one of his advanced age was remarkably active. He went often to Willimantic to attend to business and was well known there. He is survived by his widow and four children, Mrs. Lizzie Tharp of Porterville, Cal., Hollis Lyman of Willimantic, Samuel Lyman of New-Haven, N. J., and Miss Lillian Lyman of Columbia, and four grandchildren, Lyman, Hardy and Lillian Tharp of Porterville, and Edson Hunt Lyman of Willimantic. His two brothers also survive him, Chester Lyman and Edward Lyman, both of Columbia and several nieces and nephews. Miss Laura Greene, Mrs. Elsie Collins, Miss Gladys Rice and Mrs. Lillian Rice, members of the local Grange, motored to Gilead Grange Tuesday evening to attend the Competitive programs of the Grange there. At the regular meeting of the local Grange, Wednesday evening, Miss Bertha Strickland was obligated in the 1st and 2nd degrees, as she was unable to be present at the last meeting when the rest of the class received the degree work. A special meeting will be held tomorrow evening at which time the class of candidates will be initiated in the 3rd and 4th degrees by a degree team from Gilead Grange. Chaplain Charles Downs of Killingly Grange will also be present and inspect the Grange. Mrs. Mary Smith is at the St. Joseph hospital in Willimantic and was operated on Wednesday morning. Reports from the pastor's wife, who is at the Hartford Hospital recovering from an operation, are that she is getting along nicely. Dense Dorothy thinks "Boo-boop-a-doop" is an Indian chief. MONUMENT PRICES REDUCED Place Your Order Now for Decoration Day. DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Friday, March 7. The love story of the German musician Robert Schumann will be dramatized through the program to be broadcast by the WJZ chain at 8:45 Friday night. When Schumann met Clara Wieck she was a brilliant concert pianist, and her father disapproved of her marrying anyone, particularly the young musician. Eighteen months after he met her, Schumann told Clara to marry him, and she promised to live through another eighteen months without seeing her father as a test. During this period Clara's father not only threatened to shoot Schumann but also told his daughter that he was untrue to her. After four years Clara defied her father and married her lover. Joseph Levine, pianist, pupil of Josef Hofmann, will be the principal soloist in the fourteenth Curtis Institute of Music program to be broadcast at 10:30 by the Columbia network. In addition to the program will bring voices of the Cornell vocal quartet and the strains of the violin of Celia Cambert to air. The vocal quartet and the strains of the violin. The concert will open with "With Old Vienna," a waltz. Wave lengths in meters on left of station title; kilocycles on the right. Times are all Eastern Standard. Black face type indicates test features.

SEEK LIABILITY OF BOOZE BUYER Test Case in Washington Soon to Answer Question Of Purchaser's Guilt.

Washington. — (AP) — Prohibition's big question—can a buyer of liquor be prosecuted?—may be answered here soon. The case of the United States of America vs. John Wayland is the medium. Wayland is charged with purchasing liquor and will be given a jury trial in police court.

David A. Hart, assistant United States district attorney, who will prosecute the Wayland case, says it is "without loopholes either as to legal technicalities or evidence." Hart holds the Volstead law does specifically prescribe punishment for the individual buyer of liquor. He is prosecuting Wayland under section 6 of title 2 of the act which reads in part: "No one shall manufacture, sell, purchase, transport or prescribe any liquor without first obtaining a permit from the commissioner so to do."

High School Carnival Notes On Saturday night only the management of the High School Carnival have arranged a super-sport specialty in a series of boxing matches, the main attraction being a four-round affair between Frankie Bush and the Masked Marvel. What is the Sport fans have been assured through the Herald that it will not be Phil Scott of horizontal fame. Visitors at his training quarters who were admitted only after being led blindfolded through tortuous alleys say he is sure to give Frankie a real fight. This Frank admits but is confident of victory. The main attraction of Saturday night will be dancing to music by Al Behrend's orchestra. The games of skill, side shows, and booths will be open Saturday night. It is hoped that an announcement may be made at the carnival Saturday night regarding the selections of the teams at the Yale tournament for which the Manchester High school basketball team is a likely candidate. Crank the Ford, use the trolleys, hitch up old Dobbin, or hit the trail—go some way but be sure and go to the High school carnival.

DAILY LENTEN THOUGHT By WM. E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of The Congregationalist. If Jesus commended the prayer that is to the Father in secret, he never set that prayer over against the open life. The outward expression is the evidence of the inward preparation. The power developed in the inner chambers of a great engine is useless until it is released and tested in practice. It is in the suppling and exhaustion power that its purpose and mission are accomplished. It is so with the human soul. The power developed in its inner chamber and sanctuaries must be spent and must be renewed. The life that seeks the way of love and devotion to God, but neglects the way of love and devotion to man, is sure to miss the way. Our emotional experiences may mislead us, but the prayer that tests itself in daily living is the prayer that has found power in the secret sanctuary. Even the way of the Cross lay for our Lord through the common scenes and experiences. There was no golden path. It was the rough way of the much-trodden, familiar path. Do we not too often assume that the great experiences of life, of tragedy or of joy, will come to us in a strange and dramatic setting? We picture ourselves meeting heroic demands in an heroic setting. But when the testing time comes the scene is so commonplace! The way is rough and stony; the cross is ugly and crude; the witnesses are hostile and unsympathetic. There is nothing to sustain the soul—nothing but the secret prayer in the heart, and the assurance of the Master's presence. Yet with that, in their hour of trial, in the common way of life, men have seen heaven opened!

dered communists to show world-wide capitalism where it got off. Redism was supposed to demonstrate in such force as to send shivers of fear down the spines of all bourgeois everywhere. America in particular was to burst into a flame of revolt which would straightway, of its own force, become a conflagration.

The net outcome of the long anticipated test of the Third International's power was the ludicrously easy suppression of such violence as was attempted, together with flat failure to attract attention of the proletariat wherever the day's doings consisted merely of hard words. It is doubtful if even the most nervous of the ladies of the hyper-patriotic societies were able to get up even a momentary scare.

In this country, naturally, the biggest demonstration was in New York—where the best of Soviet raw material foregathered. The communists were able to muster some two thousand adherents there. Also they succeeded in stirring up a real bribe row—which never came anywhere near to the point of calling for shooting. They manufactured a grievance against the police—who had offered to escort their leaders to the City Hall to register their protests against unemployment and everything—and started the trouble by attacking the cops. Nightsticks and fists quickly put them to flight and the Third International's demonstration was done for in a few minutes amid the laughter of ten times as many spectators as there were rioters.

Much the same sort of thing, only on a much smaller scale, went on in various cities. In many places, as in Hartford, nobody, not even the police, paid any attention to the vapors of the handful of hysterical boys and girls who made up the "red armies."

It was a great blunder on the part of the Moscow leadership. It showed, as scarcely anything else could have shown, how completely hopeless is the task of trying to communicate the American people. Radicalism of the Moscow brand is utterly repugnant to nine hundred and ninety-nine out of every thousand people in this country, even including the paid agents of Moscow. The voodoo cult of Haiti has as much chance of converting the Christians of the United States to belief in the magic power of a snake's tongue boiled in toad's blood as Russian communism has of getting a foothold among the working people of this land.

not so good a one for the school master.

However, life may be longer in Bulgaria because it is simple. Recently at the command of King Boris a traveling cinematograph plant went on tour through the country villages—and in more than five hundred settlements the people saw moving pictures for the first time. In none of these villages was there an electric light, in none of them was there illuminating gas.

Mostly the Bulgarians are living as their ancestors for five centuries have lived. They may not, perhaps, have so varied an existence as those who have more of the "facilities of civilization," but they last longer.

TEMPERITOUS HENRY
Henry Ford, who during the World War went to Norway on a peace ship in expectation of talking the Kaiser and the Allies into a kiss-and-make-up, says that opponents of the Eighteenth amendment are not sane. Why bring that up?

IN NEW YORK
New York, March 7.—Ringsiding with some of our better known celebrities....

The scene is Rudy Valle's supper club. The location is East Sixtieth street under a most dignified appearing hotel-apartment which attracts many literary and artistic folk from Europe. Edgar Wallace, the mystery tale-teller, always stops there—for instance.

It is well toward morning. The large room is decorated with ultra modernistic mirrors and wall fixtures, mixed with the usual gaudy trimmings of most night resorts.

Because M. Valle's particular type of music lends itself to dimmed lights and "moonlight" the carpeting is rimmed with long white lines—like street-traffic stripes—which guide the dancers to the floor. One must watch his step, since there are several sets of tricky little stairs which build the room into a gently sloping amphitheatre. The waiters all carry little electric flashlamps concealed in what appear to be fountain pens. They rush up from time to time to guide the uncertain foot.

The crowd is typical. A large percentage is drawn from every section of the nation. Rudy is, to hundreds of visitors, one of the town's new tourist attractions. Having heard him on the air and the records and the screen, they want to "see what he really does look like." So many myths are built about such personalities.

The conversations to be overheard on the dance floor are more than passingly amusing. Most of the visitors and most of the native young women things from nearby colleges and high schools dance hurriedly toward the platform upon which "their hero" and his band are perched.

What they see is a very young man who, thank heaven, is not as "pretty" as most of his photographs make him. His eyes are closer together than most suspect; he has an extremely casual impersonality toward his audience. A saxophone of medium size is swung over his right shoulder. A target one is at his right hand. He toots along with his band until a "croon" tune comes along and then—swish—the room is suddenly blackened! A series of soft blue front stage lights spread an eerie pallor over the stage and, from just above, a green spot plays down upon the face of the crooner. His body is lost in the gloom. Only the face appears, in that chalky-white which only a green spot can create. It's all very dramatic—in a sentimental, youthfully romantic fashion.

That's what you notice almost immediately about Rudy, his band and his atmosphere. Not since the dear old days of the high school dance have you felt quite this way about things. The pranks of the youngsters who dance by are either high school or young collegians. It's all very young and—if you'll pardon me—just a little amusing.

But enough people have taken a crack at annoying this young man and his methods! So, to get back to my ringside seat....

The youngsters are babbling as they dance past in the half-light. "I told you he was funny looking...." "Look, he shuts his eyes when he sings...." An envious youth bursts into sneering laughter. "What a racket!" "He doesn't look anything like I thought he would."
Two more mature and critical curiosity mongers open a warm discussion of abstract and psychological values.

Upon his band stand Rudy must hear the echo of the many-sided remarks. But he goes impersonally on. Now, in the green spotlight, he caresses the gleaming metal circle of the microphone. His hand is almost stroking the metal. His face is pressed close to it. It might be some beautiful woman, with a lover-troibador addressing her in song. He's giving everything he's got to "the air" and if those nearer by are infected—well, that's that!

HEALTH DIET ADVICE
By Dr. Frank McCoy
Why Not Eat Parsnips?
QUESTIONS IN REGARD TO HEALTH OR DIET WILL BE ANSWERED FREE OF CHARGE IN CARE OF THIS PAPER. ENCLOSE STAMPED ADDRESS ENVELOPE FOR REPLY.
THE VERSATILE PARSNIP
During the months when fresh vegetables are scarce, a dish of buttered parsnips served hot and steaming often makes an appreciated change. Parsnips do not appeal to everyone, being liked by some and exceedingly disliked by others, but everyone can learn to like them.

This vegetable has found itself put into many strange uses in the course of its historical career. Starting out in Asia and Europe as a wild plant, we find it well cultivated by the time of the Romans, the variety and the size of the root being greatly enhanced. This vegetable was thought of so highly that it was pictured on the frescoes of historical Pompeii.

It seems as though when human beings ran out of other things they bent the parsnip to their will and used it as a perpetual substitute. It has, for instance, in time of stress been used for flour, although parsnip bread might seem strange to us. In Europe it is often used instead of hay for feeding cattle. The roots have been dried, ground and baked and used as a coffee substitute. In Europe the roots of this versatile plant are usually used to furnish a liquor which is said to be very good. A liquor can be made which is somewhat similar to Maderia. Can you think of any other vegetable which serves as a bread, cattle food, wine, coffee, liquor, or just plain buttered parsnips?

When the parsnip was a very common food for the poorer peasant of Europe, it found its way into the folk-lore in the statement, "That doesn't butter any parsnips."

Parsnips contain potassium or potassium. Potash is one of the elements which keeps the body young. People who are suffering from acidosis and underweight are usually starving for potassium. It is an element which usually needs to be brought in from outside, and changes in the body. Besides potash, the vegetable contains good amounts of lime and magnesium, two other valuable elements.

Small parsnips may be used raw in salads. After being first washed and scraped with a vegetable brush and then grated. When parsnips are cooked in water, care should be taken not to use too much liquid or some of the valuable mineral elements might be washed away. Here are a few recipes for parsnips which you might find interesting.

Parsnip Patties: Boil four or five parsnips and when tender cut in small pieces and mash them. Add a tablespoonful of Melba toast crumbs and one beaten egg. Form into small cakes, place in a baking pan and brown in the oven, turning over as they are browned on one side.

Baked parsnips: Peel, quarter and steam the parsnips after which they should be arranged in a buttered baking pan, seasoned and baked until brown.

Parsnips baked with bacon: Boil some small parsnips, place in a baking dish and over the top lay strips of bacon. The dish is ready when the bacon becomes crisp.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
(Synopsis)

Question—Interested writes: "I will be exceedingly grateful if you will kindly inform me of the cause, symptoms and cure of synovitis."
Answer: Inflammation of the synovial membrane may develop in any joint. It would be necessary to know more about each specific case in order to know the cause. Such disorders often come from injuries, and need to be treated with hot towels or the application of a deep therapy lamp, or treated with the diathermy current.

(Two Meals a Day)

Question—A Reader asks: "Do you approve of my going without breakfast until twelve o'clock every day, at which time I lunch according to your menus? I eat only two meals a day, as my work is light. Will you kindly print your recipe for Melba toast, as there seems to be a great deal of misunderstanding concerning it among people with whom it has been discussed."
Answer: If one uses only two meals a day it is well to experiment with the time for meals. I think it usually best to eat breakfast and dinner, omitting lunch, but you may find the other arrangement perfectly satisfactory in your case. Melba toast is made by slicing white bread a quarter of an inch thick, removing all crust, and allowing these slices to dry overnight. Toast in a slow oven until a golden brown all the way through. This thorough toasting dextrinizes the starch, thereby making this toast an article which may be combined with any other food.

(Heavy Feeling in Back)

Question—W. H. H. asks: "What is the cause of a tight, heavy feeling across the lower portion of the back, below the waist-line? This condition is more noticeable upon awakening in the morning?"
Answer: You may have some form of lumbago or rheumatism of the lower spine, or you may be simply suffering from the effects of a bad posture which strains the muscles of the lower back.

SHOCKING!
It is almost impossible to find any angle of the prohibition question that is not interesting. One of the most interesting of all is the ideal sought by the undismayed dregs, that of absolute enforcement of the prohibitory enactment—of a bone dry nation in which there is no potable alcohol and no way of getting or making any; a nation completely sober in all its parts—always, of course, with the exception of the very few very rich men whose pre-war supply of liquor was sufficient to outlast themselves. These are negligible, although we know of one Connecticut citizen who put down $50,000 worth just before prohibition went into effect, at pre-war bargain prices. He is still able to keep legally lit, can be as drunk as a boiled owl every night, if he so chooses, and yet he as law abiding as Bishop Cannon himself.

Having arrived at that happy state, it would be intriguing to know whether the good folks who had thus killed and buried King Booze would next devote themselves to the job of cleaning up the drug traffic—inevitably greatly enhanced through the deprivation of alcoholic addicts of their less spectacular kick—or whether they would tackle the wicked cigarette. Our bet is that the cigarette would list next if no other reason than that war upon it would annoy a greater number of persons. But in any event a desecolohized world would be something worth seeing—something no human eye has yet beheld in all the thousands of years of the history of the race.

Then there is the angle of the Post bill before the New York Legislature. This bill provides for the entrance of the State of New York into the business of manufacturing and dispensing liquors. Which is altogether startling, of course.

It will interest a good many people to learn that quite a number of legal authorities declare that there is nothing to prevent a state from engaging in the manufacture, transportation and sale of intoxicating liquors, in spite of the fact that the Eighteenth amendment expressly prohibits these things. These legal authorities contend that a state cannot be proceeded against for violation of the federal enforcement laws even though an individual can be. Every good dry in the country will cry "Nonsense!" at this; but we are not quite so sure. It must be remembered that the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments are flatly nullified by the action of ten Southern states, and there doesn't seem to be a thing that can be done about that.

Suppose, just for the sake of argument, that the state of Massachusetts, which seems to be about as wet a commonwealth as there is, should enact a law establishing state breweries, distilleries and dispensaries, and proceed to make transport and sell alcoholic drinks according to its own laws—what then?

We do not profess to know what would happen, though we shrewdly suspect that it would be nothing whatever. Nothing has ever happened to the Southern states that refuse to permit Negroes to vote or to enjoy equal civil rights with the whites, though they are commanded to do so by the Constitution. There is no penalty clause to the Eighteenth amendment.

All booze subjects are interesting—and will continue to be until booze returns, in the fullness of time, to its properly subordinate place in the minds of the American people.

BULGARS
It appears that Bulgarians live longer than most other people and the New York Times discusses this circumstance in association with various facts about diets, etc., in that little known Balkan state. A recent Bulgarian census shows that among the population of five and a half million there are 158 centenarians—or were quite lately. Ninety-five per cent of these are vegetarians, having eaten meat but seldom throughout their lives. Only two per cent are regular meat eaters. Only a fifth of them are teetotallers. Only twelve of the lot can read and write. Which seems to make out a pretty fair case for vegetarianism and John Barleycorn and possibly

TAKING THE CENSUS
(Middletown Press)
Yesterday the Federal officials in this state opened in Hartford the office for the director of the census who will begin planning for that decennial numbering of the people which the constitution requires. The main purpose of this counting is to fix the proper proportion of representatives in the house at Washington. Each state also takes action for legislative purposes.

DAILY WASHINGTON LETTER
By RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington, March 7.—Theoretically the Senate can put on a burst of speed, but actually it can't.

This has been demonstrated in the case of the tariff bill. The president and the leaders of the House were shouting "Giddap!" and every member of the Senate was anxious to get the bill over with as rapidly as possible, but attempts to limit debate got nowhere at all despite a general consent to night sessions.

The upper house is now meeting at 11 a. m. and continuing right on into night sessions of indeterminate duration, with no recesses, which means a theoretical working day of 11 or 12 hours without counting such time as senators must spend in their offices or in committee meetings prior to convening at 11.

Wanted an Earlier Start
Senator Smoot of Utah, in charge but not in control of the tariff bill, urged that the Senate meet daily at 10 so as to get an earlier start on the non-tariff bill which has often taken up the first hour or so. He agreed with Simmons of North Carolina, Democratic tariff leader, who asked unanimous consent that each senator's remarks on amendments should be limited to 10 minutes. But Simmons started the movement that wrecked this plan when he proposed that the amendment proposing duty on petroleum be made an exception because that proposal had been discussed.

"We are all worn out with the strain," complained Walsh of Massachusetts, supporting Simmons.

Steiner of Oregon objected because he felt lumber also should be excepted from the limit on debate. Other senators were willing to exclude lumber. Smoot then moved that the Senate meet at 10 next day, but McKellar of Tennessee objected because it would interfere with committee meetings.

Walsh of Montana guessed that if crude oil and lumber were excluded from the limitation there would be no further objection to the gag. But Dill of Washington demanded a quorum so that other senators might have a chance to get their own pet items accepted.

"I object unless long-staple cotton is excluded," said Shortridge of California, as soon as the roll had been called and the situation explained. Barkley of Kentucky contended that two or three amendments were likely to arise where 10 minutes would be insufficient properly to treat the subject and promised not to object if the limit were 15 minutes instead of 10. Norris of Nebraska asked another exception for an amendment aimed against monopolies created by reason of high tariffs.

Smoot objected to Barkley's 15-minute proposal and it turned out that Barkley was principally interested in bricks. By this time the exceptions were piling high, but Copeland of New York made the pyramid insurmountable when he insisted on reserving the right to talk on any subject as long as he felt necessary. New York was the greatest industrial state, he said, had no senator on the Finance Committee and hence could only voice the needs of its industries through its senators on the floor. His objection stood.

Several senators had engagements for the evening so it was decided to start night sessions the next evening instead of at once. George of Georgia hoped no senator would object to meeting at 10 a. m. and after McKellar had withdrawn his objection Smoot made the motion. This time it was Dill who protested that, with night sessions, that was too much. And La Follette of Wisconsin said that if they convened at 10 it would take nearly an hour to get a quorum and meeting so early would be futile. Howell of Nebraska proposed 12 o'clock as the meeting time, so a senator could spend some time in his own office and still not miss the tariff debate. A Senate meeting from 12 to 10 p. m. would be performing its duty, he insisted. Walsh of Massachusetts suggested working hours of 12 to 10:30.

Says He'll Stay Away
Norris then pleaded that staying until 10:30 meant many senators couldn't get home and in bed before 11 or 12. "We cannot keep up that kind of a life," said Norris. "I cannot and I am not going to try. I will not object, but I will not be here." He would prefer meeting at 11 and stopping at 10, but would agree to anything, however unreasonable.

No closing time was set. The night sessions were to last as late as they might happen to last.

Toward the end Heflin of Alabama, a champion at the dinner table, suggested a dinner recess of from 6 to 7:30, but was howled down. Senator consequently are sneaking out for a bite whenever their presence seems least required.

tacular wets who ever sat in the National Capitol.

The change is indicative of the changing history of Boston. Originally, Boston was "Shawmut." Then the three-hills got to be known as "Tremont." Indian names were preserved—Massachusetts avenue, for instance. Then came names like Hanover street, immortalizing the reigning House of England. After that came revolution, and Wash-ton street. Then came the cultural growth of Boston—Copley Square.

During all this time, Boston, the cultural capital of New England, has developed from a purely Anglo-Saxon town to a city where the Irish are the predominant race. Gallivan boulevard was bound to come. Curley street, Fitzgerald avenue, Lomax park, are on the way.

TWIN-IGNITION MEANS— Greater Power, Greater Smoothness, Extraordinary Economy

BECAUSE two different motor cars are alike in price, it does not follow that they are also alike in quality, value or performance. There is always a best, and if you are looking for it, drive a Nash Twin-Ignition Eight or Six. They are the only cars in their price field which offer the superiority of Twin-Ignition performance.

□ Twin-ignition (two spark plugs, two simultaneous sparks per cylinder, instead of one) produces smoother, more thorough combustion and consequently a smoother, more vigorous flow of power. You can feel the difference. You will know immediately what you have been missing, driving a car with single ignition. □ Other "400" features of superior performance and value are Bijur centralized chassis lubrication; lifetime-lubricated springs, encased in steel spring covers; built-in, automatic radiator shutters; and Duplate non-shatterable plate glass in all windows, doors and windshields (no extra cost in the Twin-Ignition Eight—optional at slight extra cost in the Twin-Ignition Six and Single Six).

MENUS
For Good Health
A Week's Supply Recommended By Dr. Frank B. McCoy

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, March 9th:

SUNDAY.
Breakfast.
French omelet, toasted cereal biscuit, stewed raisins.
Lunch.
Stewed corn, buttered beets, shredded lettuce with peanut butter dressing.
Dinner.
Roast chicken, asparagus, cooked celery, salad of grated raw carrots and chopped celery, apple whip.

MONDAY.
Breakfast.
Breakfast food (re-toasted) served with cream, but no sugar, stewed figs.
Lunch.
Baked potato, spinach, salad of shredded raw cabbage.
Dinner.
Vegetable soup, roast beef, steamed carrots, green peas, (canned), raw celery, Jello or Jell-well.

TUESDAY.
Breakfast.
Coddled eggs, melba toast, stewed prunes.
Lunch.
8-ounce glass of grape juice.
Dinner.
Baked halibut, string beans, salad of sliced tomatoes, baked pears.

WEDNESDAY.
Breakfast.
Wholewheat muffins with butter, baked eggs, stewed raisins.
Lunch.
Boiled rice, buttered parsnips, celery.
Dinner.
Stuffed pork chops, baked tomatoes, salad of head lettuce, dish of berries (canned).

THURSDAY.
Breakfast.
Eggs poached in milk, re-toasted triscuit, baked apple.
Lunch.
Plum of buttermilk, 10 to 12 dates.
Dinner.
Roast veal, spinach, salad of peas, string beans and chopped celery, molded in gelatin, cup custard.

FRIDAY.
Breakfast.
Cornmeal mush with butter or cream.
Lunch.
Cooked lettuce, oyster plant (salsify), salad of grated carrots.
Dinner.
Broiled fillet of sole, asparagus, buttered beets, lettuce and tomato salad, no dessert.

SATURDAY.
Breakfast.
Coddled eggs, melba toast, stewed apricots.
Lunch.
Oranges as desired.
Dinner.
Broiled steak.
String beans, pineapple whip, stuffed celery.

Stuffed pork chops: Have the chops cut about an inch thick and trim off all fat around edges. With a sharp knife, slice each chop through, back as far as the bone, making a sort of double decker, between which place a tablespoonful or more of the following dressing: Crush a sufficient amount of Melba toast (grinding through a food chopper is better) and moisten with milk. Add the desired quantity of chopped celery, minced ripe olives and raisins. Mix together, being careful to moisten only enough to hold ingredients together. Fasten hold layers of each chop together with toothpicks, and bake until thoroughly done. Drain on brown paper just before serving, and garnish with uncooked puffed raisins around the edge of the platter.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
(Epilepsy.)
Question:—W. L. C. writes: "I have a brother who has epilepsy and I am about to be married and this has worried me greatly, as I am afraid it may be hereditary. If so, I would not like to take a chance on marrying."
Answer: If you will keep yourself in perfect physical condition there is no reason why you should be afraid of marrying. Have your brother write to me and I will send him some complete instructions on the cure of epilepsy which can be accomplished through the fasting and diet treatment and other measures which will produce perfect intestinal elimination.

(Nosebleed.)
Question:—E. writes: "I am a boy of fourteen and I am so disgusted with my nose I don't know what to do. It bleeds every time I take a bath, and also every morning."
Answer: I would advise you to see a nose specialist as there must be either an anatomical difficulty inside of your nose, or the membrane may be too tender and delicate. If the latter is so, the nose specialist could treat the nose to encourage the membrane to grow stronger.

(Hairy Child.)
Question:—Worried Grandmother writes: "I have a little granddaughter seven years old, whose arms, neck and sides of face are covered with hair. In fact, for the last year her mother had to have the hair on her neck cut, and I have never seen such long hair on anyone's arms. Would peroxide and ammonia kill the hair roots? Or do you think a skin specialist could help her?"
Answer: It is likely that your granddaughter will gradually get over the tendency to having the excessive hair growth, but if you are worrying about it, I would advise you to see a skin or beauty specialist and get his opinion. The trouble may be caused by some glandular derangement.

HEBRON

The warning for the special town meeting to be held at the town hall, reads as follows: The legal voters of the Town of Hebron are hereby warned to meet in the Town Hall in said town on Saturday, March 8, 1930, at 3 p. m. First, to lay tax to defray the expenses for the coming year. Second, to take action in regard to discontinuing as a public highway that portion of road known as the Gillette road, lying between the northerly line and the southerly line of location of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad. Dated, Hebron, March 1, 1930. F. Bailey, Winthrop S. Porter, Claude W. Jones, selectmen. The highway mentioned leads to North Pond.

Lenten services began with a service on Ash Wednesday at the rectory at 3 p. m., Mr. Allan L. Carr in charge. Mr. Carr read from a book of meditations by Dean Inge, making comments and inviting discussion. An informal discussion with question asked and answered followed. There will be services on each Wednesday through the Lenten season, at the same time and place. All of whatever denomination, are invited to these services. Justice of the Peace Carlton B. Jones has rendered judgment in the case of Everett G. Lord versus Jack and Jennie Price of Columbia, tried before him several weeks ago. Mr. Lord's complaint was that Mrs. Lord bought him at public auction and had were not as represented and has sued for $50.00 damages. Judgment was withheld pending further investigation. Justice Jones finally decided in favor of the plaintiff, Mr. Lord, to whom he allowed $25.00 damages, and costs to be assumed by the defendants, Jack and Jennie Price.

A meeting of the local League of Women Voters which took place at the Congregational church parlors at Hebron Center, on Wednesday, at 2 p. m., was of unusual interest. The leader scheduled for the afternoon's program, Mrs. Mark W. H. Hill, was unable to be present, and there was a last minute change of program. Five members of the Colchester League were present and their leader, Mrs. Joseph Agronovitch, gave a very interesting report of the convention in Washington, D. C., on the Causes and Prevention of War, which she attended as a delegate from the Council of Jewish Women. A social hour followed with refreshments served. The Hebron League is invited to attend a special meeting of the Colchester League, to take place Thursday evening, March 20, at Day Hall. This will observe the first year anniversary of the founding of the Colchester League.

Mrs. Mark W. H. Hill has returned from a visit of a week with relatives in New York. The competitive program between the Blues and Golds brought out a large attendance at the last meeting of the local Grange held in Gilead Hall. Mrs. Ruby Gibson was in charge of the Blues and a delightful minstrel show program was presented. A plantation scene was shown with many laughable and attractive features. Many of those taking part were blacked up and dressed in plantation costume. Edward A. Smith took the part of the owner of the plantation. Mrs. Della Porter Hills was captain of the Golds. The program which they gave received the first award and carried off the honors. Both programs, however, were exceptionally good. The Golds gave a vaudeville sketch, and an educational talk of a humorous and instructive nature was given by Mrs. Edward Smith, taking in current events of the month. Other features were sketches by Jesse Hills and Everett Hutchinson, a proposal in grandmother's day, and an up to date proposal, all of which were unusually good. The stage was made up to represent a garden scene, with a garden fence, hollyhocks, a rising sun, etc. Light refreshments were served. Robert Owen handed in his resignation as master of the Grange, which was accepted with regret. The Owen family have given much help to the Grange during their two years of residence in Gilead. They are to move to North Adams, Mass., this month. The Hebron degree team went to Columbia to work the third degree at the Columbia Grange Thursday evening.

The masquerade dance recently held at Amston Hall brought out many dancers both local and from other towns. Many were present from Colchester. Miss Mabel Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Porter, took the first costume prize. She wore an old fashioned costume. The fox trot prize was won by Miss Julia C. Clark of Norwich and Joseph Folbowski of Colchester Edward Driscoll of Stafford Springs was one of the judges.

The Rev. John W. Deeter motored to Springfield on Thursday. His Bible class was postponed for this week on that account.

Theodore Roosevelt was the youngest president of the United States. He was inaugurated at the age of 42.

Way To Get At A Cold Is Through the Bowels

As soon as you catch cold, the pores close; perspiration is checked. Gases and waste can't escape through the skin. That's why your doctor's first advice in case of colds is a mild laxative like Cascara. Medical authorities agree it actually strengthens bowel muscles. You get cascara in its most pleasant form in candy Cascarets.

Remember this when you catch cold; whenever breath is bad; tongue coated; or you're headachy, bilious, constipated.

Why resort to harsher things when Cascarets activate the bowels so quickly, so harmlessly and pleasantly—and cost only a dime?—Adv.

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

LUTHER BURBANK'S BIRTH

On March 7, 1849, Luther Burbank, famous American nurseryman and plant breeder, was born on a farm at Lancaster, Mass.

Inspired as a youth by his readings in Darwin's work on plant domestication, young Burbank bought a 17-acre farm near his home and began his life work of plant breeding.

At the age of 23 he developed the Burbank potato, which is now an important standard variety of the Pacific coast region. In 1875 he removed to Santa Rosa, Calif., where he was to carry on for 50 years notable experiments with thousands of kinds of plants.

Burbank introduced among the fruits numerous varieties of apples, cherries, peaches, quinces and nectarines. Among vegetables he produced, besides his potato, new tomatoes, field and sweet corn, squash, asparagus and peas. Perhaps his most extensive experiment was his production of a series of spineless cacti, useful for feeding cattle in arid regions.

EFFECTIVE RELIEF FOR WIDESPREAD ILL
Millions Enjoy It as Daily Diet

Constipation is an ancient ill. Modern diets with their soft foods have caused it to become about the most common ailment known to mankind. Lack of roughage in the diet is usually the cause. Add bulk to the diet and constipation disappears.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is bulk. Millions now eat it regularly. They are no longer subject to the evils of this dreaded disease, which is the source of many other physical ailments.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is positively guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. In addition, it supplies your body with iron which enriches the blood, building strength and the glowing color of health. With milk or fruit juices, or in many cooked foods, it brings important vitamins into the diet.

Use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN and it will never be necessary again to take pills and drugs that often create dangerous habits.

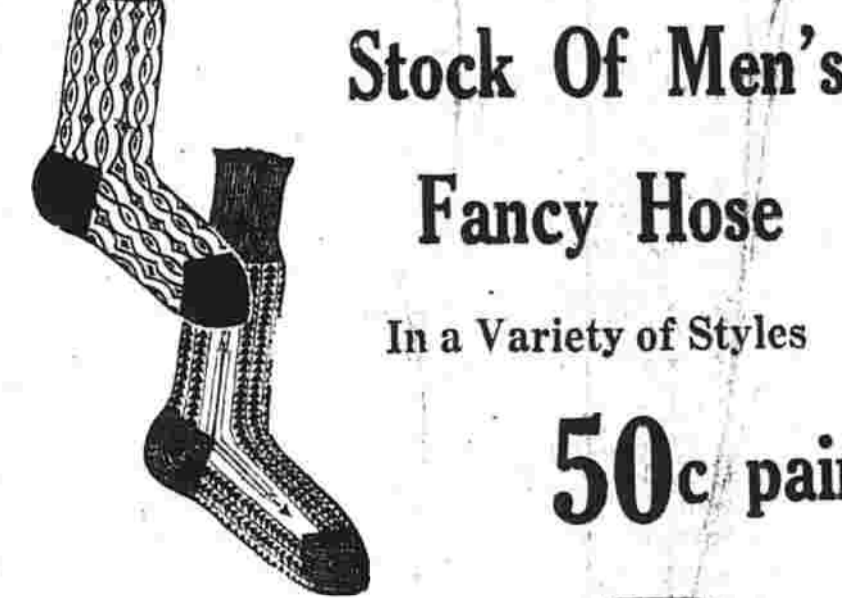

Two tablespoons daily will prevent and relieve constipation—in recurring cases, with every meal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is delicious—and effective! Your grocer has ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Britton's Masterful Work Boosts Stock of Oldtimers

Old Master Makes Aggressive Schell Look Like Crude Amateur Through Clever Ring Generalship.

By T. W. STOWE

Jack Britton's convincing victory over Alf Schell in the feature bout at Footguard Hall in Hartford last night was a feather in the hats of those who argue that the boxers of today are of a markedly inferior grade to those of yesterday.

Jack Britton

made Schell look like a crude amateur many times and yet the German boy is one of the best in the game at his weight.

Britton is old enough to be Schell's father but proved himself a cunningly last night that it takes a pretty good man to beat him. To be sure, it has been done, but not often. Britton was too crafty to be caught unawares by one of Schell's dynamic dealing punches which the super-aggressive German had poured in from all directions.

Abuses the Air
If Schell missed Britton once with his vicious lunges, his mits suited him perfectly to the old master's head into the defenseless opponent's face five times. And that figure is conservative if anything. Although his 26 years of strenuous ring warfare have taken the sting out of Britton's punches and slowed him down, Jack is able to overcome these handicaps through sheer ring generalship.

Keeps Him Off Balance
Britton kept Schell continually off balance thus preventing the hard hitting German from getting the proper range with his heavy artillery. Jack often countered with short jabs to the face and several times crossed with fairly hard rights. Schell had a slight advantage at the outset until Britton completed analyzing Alf's style. Then it was the old, old story of a boxer making a slugger look foolish. The crowd roared its delight and gave the old master a big hand when the exhibition was over.

Schell put up a fine battle, notwithstanding his lack of equal skill. He kept boring in all the time flinging vicious punches, anyone of which might have put Britton to sleep had it struck the proper cord. Schell's aggressiveness was kept the crowd on edge all the way through and it was far from a certainty that Britton would win during the early rounds in spite of his superior, referee Bill Conway gave Britton nine rounds, Schell none and called one even. I thought the German had the edge in a couple of the earlier cantos and couldn't see Britton winning them all. However, that's only a personal opinion.

The Other Results
The other bouts resulted as follows: Joe Smith knocked out Joe Howarth in the second round; Sammy Kraft, Bridgeport, knocked out Billy Smith, Yonkers, four rounds; Mike Toronto, Bridgeport, outslugged Roy Powers, Holyoke, to get the six round decision; Marty Marino of Hartford, outpointed Joe Cicento, also of Hartford.

St. Petersburg, March 7.—(AP)—The casualty list among the N. Y. Yanks is growing at an alarming rate. Four of the boys were more or less seriously injured in practice yesterday. Two of the catchers were victims. Bubblers Hargrave stopped one of Dusty Rhoades' shots with his wrist and had to retire. Benny Bengough took up Hargrave's job only to have the hand torn off by one of Rhoades' pitches. Herb Pennock, left-handed ace, stopped a batted ball with his knee and was limping badly. Ken Williams spent most of the day in the clubhouse taking treatments for a lame back.

MANCHESTER WILL HONOR MCCLUSKEY ON MONDAY NIGHT

To Present Star Athlete With Gift at Armory Meet; Funds Being Raised; Plan Dinner Too.

Manchester is going to show its appreciation to Joe McCluskey, Fordham track star, who first came into prominence at Manchester High under the able coaching of Charles L. Wigren. McCluskey is coming home to take part in the big track meet at the Hartford State Armory next Monday night and it is planned to hold some sort of a celebration in his honor at this time.

Young McCluskey, although only in the infancy of his athletic career, comparatively speaking, has done more already to advertise the name of Manchester than any other athlete except Herman Bronke, well known big league baseball player. And yet it seems a foregone conclusion that McCluskey's greatest accomplishments and subsequent honor is yet to come. His chances of making the U. S. Olympic team are good.

Manchester is anxious to show its appreciation to McCluskey for what he has already done and wants to have him know that the town is proud of his splendid work. And so it was with this thought in mind that a committee of interested persons met at the Manchester Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon to make arrangements.

Due to the uncertainty when McCluskey will arrive for the Hartford meet and when he has to return, the definite time for a testimonial dinner is pending.

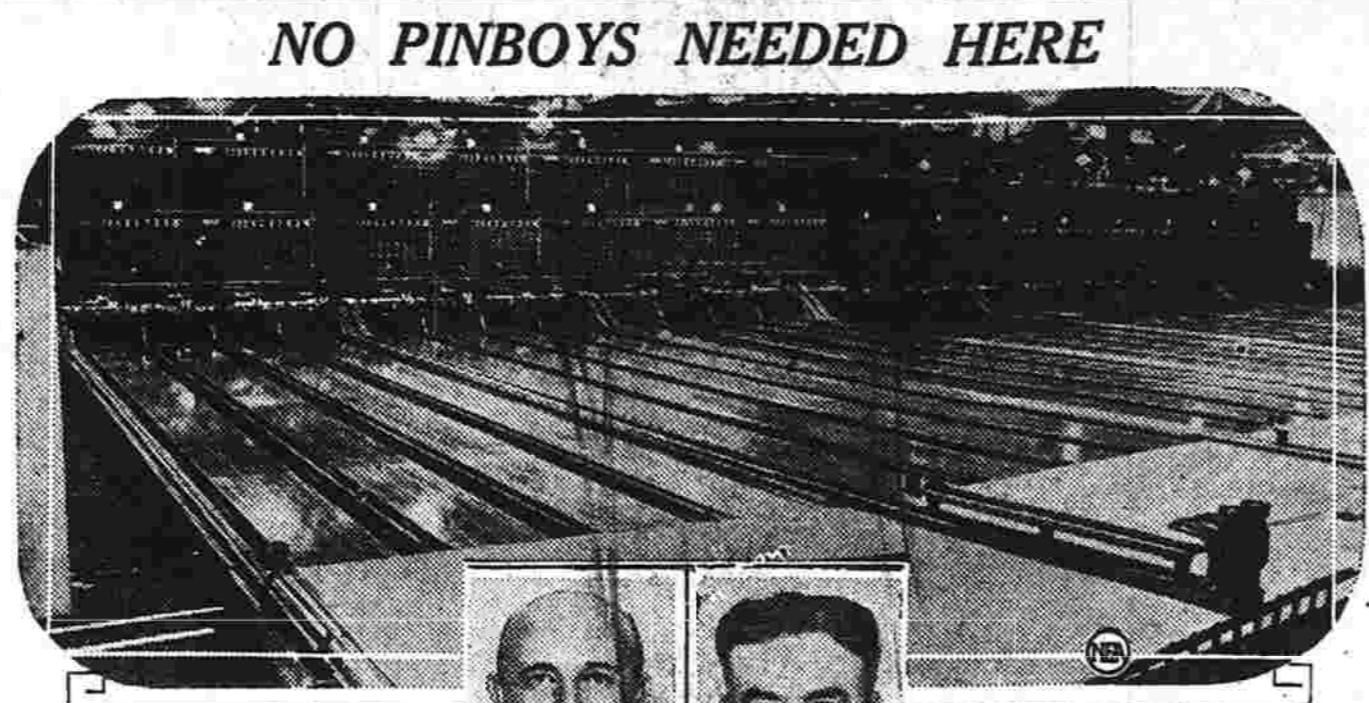

Present plans are to hold the banquet at some Hartford hotel following the conclusion of the track meet Monday night which would make it possible for the young athlete to take a midnight train back to New York and be back at his studies the next day. If such arrangements can be made the testimonial dinner will be held at 10:30. Anyone interested in attending should make arrangements with Executive Secretary E. J. McCabe of the Chamber of Commerce.

However, regardless of whether a dinner is possible, a suitable gift will be presented to McCluskey upon the conclusion of his two mile run in the armory Monday night by a delegation of Manchester men representative of the various civic and sport organizations in the town. In an effort to raise sufficient money to make the gift an appropriate one, the subscription is open to any person in town. In fact people are urged to send their contribution to the Chamber of Commerce immediately. A canvass of business men was made today for a similar purpose.

RUTH'S PAY CHECK TO BE DISCUSSED

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—The momentous question whether Babe Ruth will be paid $75,000 or $85,000 for his 1930 mauling, transcended training camp activities of the New York Yanks today, with the club's president and sole owner, Colonel Jacob Ruppert, here with his lawyer for a conference with the homerun king.

In advance of the big salary source, speculation among the camp followers centered upon these two possible eventualities: 1.—That Ruth and Ruppert will compromise on a one year agreement calling for the record salary of $85,000. 2.—That Ruth will submit to the Ruppert legal and sign on the club's terms of $75,000 a year for 1930 and 1931, representing an increase of $5,000 over the slugger's salary for the past three seasons.

Above is the interior of Public Hall Annex at Cleveland, where the American Bowling Congress is presenting its 30th annual tournament. Thirty-two brand new alleys were laid, score boards and lighting systems installed and pin boys, foul men and scorers hired, necessitating a force of several hundred men. For the first time in the history of the event, pin-setting machines are being employed to place the maple on the spots. In previous years the pin boys' labors included that particular detail.

ACKERMAN LANGTRY

MAMMOTH BOWLING TOURNAMENT IN CLEVELAND NEXT MONTH

38-Day Marathon Draws 2,443 Five Man Teams; Over $100,000 In Prizes.

At 7:59 p. m. a hush fell over Cleveland's spacious Public Hall Annex. The clear tones of a bell rang out. Thirty-two white-shirted men stepped onto the smooth runways. The roar of 32 balls glinting under the light as they slid over the highly polished drives and crashed into 320 glistening new pins, almost drowned out the muffled shouts of spectators.

That was opening night of the 30th annual American Bowling Congress tournament which, during the remainder of this month and early April will witness something over 12,000 bowlers competing for $100,000 and diamond medals. They come at intervals from New York and Philadelphia, from Chicago and Kansas City—in fact, almost every community on the Atlantic seaboard, New England, the middle west and Dixie, the southwest and Pacific coast will be represented. They number 2,443 five-man teams who paid a total of $151,210 in entry fees for the privilege of participating in the contest.

A six-day bike race along side of the "ABC's" marathon would seem as brief as a mere "How-de-do" in comparison with a Senate filibustering session. The tournament prolongs its activity over 38 days, morning till late at night, Sundays and holidays included. A gentleman who dabbles in statistics came forth with the information that 1,750,000 mineralite balls, weighing 28,000,000 pounds, will thunder over the drives before the contest closes. This same gentleman concludes that since each ball travels 145 feet from foul line to pit and back again, the total distance traversed by the balls will reach more than 48,000 miles, or far enough to circle the earth twice.

The boys at Joe's place or the Dandy Recreation parlor who frequently bruise the maples for 600, 700 and occasionally an 800 series, will find the surroundings strange and the conditions exacting. Alleys are so smooth and most finely finished that competent hands can make them; pins are new and stubbornly resist the thumps of the mineralite. It won't be the same as on alleys 3 and 4 at Joe's or 11 and 12 alleys over at Dandy Recreation. Perfect scores of 300 pins have been recorded but twice in "ABC" competition.

Thirteen years after the first tournament of the American Bowling Congress, Billy Knox tossed 12 straight into the "1-3" pocket for a 300 score. That occurred in 1913 in Toledo. Thirteen years after that, in 1926 and again in Toledo, Charlie Reimle of Racine, Wis., notched the second perfect game.

Booster teams, Cleveland aggregations whose team average does not exceed 850 pins, blast away at the sticks during the competing in the open events take the slides. The quest of the highest honors known to the bowling world. One executive dictates to the bowling realm. He is A. L. Langtry of Milwaukee, secretary of the American Bowling Congress. Aiding the bowling czar for the 1930 event is John Ackerman, secretary of the Cleveland Bowling Association, who is in complete charge of Cleveland's part in the tournament.

New Haven, March 7.—(AP)—Johnny Farr, Cleveland lightweight, has been matched to meet Louis (Kid) Kaplan in a ten round bout at the Arena here on March 18. This will be the second meeting between the rivals. They fought a ten round non-decision fight on the Pacific Coast shortly after Kaplan won the world's featherweight championship.

The Tanna tunnel, most difficult engineering feat ever attempted by Japanese railway engineers, will cost $9,970,000 and pierce volcanic mountains.

ABC ALL-TIME RECORDS

Five-man event—Milwaukee Tea Shops, $199 pins, 1927.
Doubles—H. Thoma-C. Thoma, Chicago, 1380 pins, 1924.
Singles—Harry E. Smyers, Pittsburgh, 749 pins, 1924.
All events—Billy Knox, Philadelphia, 2019 pins, 1923.

GRIFFITHS MEETS FRIEDMAN TONIGHT

Boston, March 7.—(AP)—"Tuffy" Griffiths of Sioux City, Pa., young heavyweight who recently conquered Johnny Risko and Paulino Uzcudun, will seek his second victory over Al Friedman, Boston Hebrew, in a 10-round bout tonight at the Boston Garden.

The Iowa battler was awarded a decision over Friedman in Chicago last summer and has been in training here for four days. He has commented unfavorably on the outcome of the Miami fight between Jack Sharkey and Phil Scott, who was substituted for Griffiths when Sharkey did not regard the Iowa man as a suitable opponent. In Friedman's recent fights with Ernie Schauf, Jim Maloney, and Larry Rawson have given him confidence and made him popular with ring followers. The match will be Griffiths' first appearance here.

Willie Oster of New London, Conn., rugged middleweight, will meet Ralph Wagner of Philadelphia in an eight-round semi-final event.

Last Night's Fights

San Francisco—Frankie Klick, San Francisco, outpointed Ward Spark, St. Paul, 10.

Janesville, Wis.—Mike Rosegall, Omaha, outpointed Jack Elkhart, Chicago, 10.

Hartford, Conn.—Jack Britton, Chicago, outpointed Al Schell, Boston, 10.

St. Joseph, Mo.—Henry Lenard, Chicago, knocked out Eddie O'Dowd, Columbia, 1.

Faceprints Identify Bon Ami As Champions

Isn't the only sport in the north end is superior to its brethren from south of the Middle Turnpike equator. No siree! What about baseball? Didn't the Bon Ami Soap Makers give the Manchester Green Colts a thorough scrubbing. And wasn't the title at stake? Right you are. Check, and double check!

The sport editor of the Herald pleads guilty to the inexcusable error of forgetting that the Bon Ami rules the baseball world. He thought it was a white-haired old chap by the name of Ken Landis. Any doubt which might have possibly existed wafted into air when Ken and Arthur the Great Shires sit on the dance stool. But there must be an error somewhere.

COEN DEFEATED BY BRUGNONN IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Menton, France, March 7.—(AP)—Wilbur F. Coen Jr., Young American tennis star, met a surprise defeat at the hands of Jacques Brugnonn in the quarter finals of the Menton open singles tennis tournament today. Brugnonn won 6-0, 3-6, 6-3.

HELENE MADISON IN ANOTHER RECORD

St. Augustine, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—Helene Madison, young Seattle, Wash., aquatic star, has turned in another record smashing performance bettering the previous world mark for the 200 meter free style swim by five and four-fifths seconds.

She negotiated the distance here last night in 2:34 4-5 in a meet in which two other records were broken by Liza Lindstrom of New York and Josephine McKim of Los Angeles.

Miss Lindstrom won the 300 yard event in 3:55 1-5. The old mark was 3:58 1-5. Miss McKim clipped one and two-fifths seconds from the record of 3:03 3-5 for the 250 yard distance. Her time was 3:04 1-5.

Miss Madison set up a new standard for the 100 yard free style swim here Wednesday night. The contests here were supervised by the A. A. U. Warriors: Einar Anderson, Welles, Healy, Radding, Lyons, Reid, Lovett, Earl Anderson.

Taffy: Sturgeon, Oppizzi, Campbell, Gavello, Accoimozzo, Boggiani, McConkey, Boggini, J. Maggi.

Results to Have No Bearing On Yale Tourny Selection to Be Made Tomorrow.

Pawing impatiently as it marks time waiting for official word from New Haven tomorrow as to whether or not it has been selected for participation in the Yale tournament, Manchester High will find something else to occupy its mind tonight when it travels to Willimantic to oppose Windham High in the State Armory.

Manchester gave Willimantic a beating in the game here a few weeks ago but not by a large enough margin to assure the outcome of tonight's set. Windham never did night defeats administered by Manchester and the one a short time ago surely was no exception. A big delegation of Willimantic fans came here on that occasion to see the pride of the Thread City humbled.

Coach Tom Callahan, however, is confident that the game this evening will result just the opposite. The outcome of the contest will have no bearing whatsoever on the Yale tournament selections. All records have been submitted and the state conference officials will gather in the Elm City tomorrow morning to make a careful study of each and select the eight teams to battle in the elimination tournament for the state championship next Friday and Saturday. Bristol, three-time winners, will be the defending champions.

BRISTOL, WEST HAVEN DEFEATED BUT TWICE

The Bristol High school and West Haven High basketball teams, each of which has lost only two games this season, are considered sure entries in the Yale Interscholastic Tournament which is to be held at New Haven March 14 and 15.

The Bristol quintet will be seeking a fourth straight state title, having been declared champion for the past three seasons.

Besides Bristol and West Haven, other teams which will be considered at the meeting of the school principals in New Haven tomorrow are Torrington, Manchester, Meriden, Windham and Central High and Warren Harding, of Bridgeport, each of which has lost only three games, and Naugatuck and Hillhouse, each of which has lost four.

The teams will be conceded five points for each victory of their home floors and six for each game won on their opponents' courts.

Chapman Tech may also be considered a possible entry, although expectations are that the Bristol, West Haven, Torrington, Manchester, Meriden, Central, Warren Harding and Windham, will be found to have qualified as the eight competing teams.

Bristol will enter the tournament with two veterans, White and Al-laire, from last year's team. The 1929 champions have scored victories over all the leading quintets this season with the exceptions of Central High and Warren Harding. They received one point defeats from Torrington and Meriden.

GOLF TOURNAY

St. Augustine, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—The four leading women golfers in the United States battled here today in the semi-finals of the Florida east coast tournament.

Miss Glenna Collett, national woman's champion, faced stern opposition from Miss Maureen Orcutt, eastern and metropolitan title holder, while Miss Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, defending champion had the threat of Miss Helen Hicks' clubs to overcome.

RACE MEETING

Agua Caliente, Mexico, March 7.—(AP)—Announcement of a summer race meeting was made here today by Wirt G. Gowman, president of Agua Caliente Jockey Club. The meet will open July 4 and end Labor Day.

It will be the first summer race meeting ever held in the Tia Juana district.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

THE MAN OF ILL FORTUNE

Add to the list of men who have fought and given their best, only to fall short of glory when Fate tricked them, the name of John Risko, heavyweight.

Lacking the Dempsey knockout punch, the ideal pattern of modern prize ring days, but with all of Dempsey's fighting heart, Risko has battled his way again and again to the top, only to be pushed away as his fist reached out for the prize.

Johnny was the lad the dumb fathers of the New York Boxing Commission ruled as being too puny and fragile to fight victorio Campolo, the large quadruped of the Argentine, several weeks before the Sharkey-Scott nightmare in Miami. You may remember the writer disputed strongly the rationality of the commission's decision at the time, in which we were not alone.

Well, the other night at Miami, where John met the Horse in the ten-round semi-windup of the Sharkey-Scott fight, the fact was borne in upon me strongly that Risko was indeed a man of tragedy.

A Mother Chasing Her Boy

It became evident in the second round that the puny John was going to whittle the Horse down to minute proportions. As Risko kept boring in, throwing those long, looping lefts against the gaunt jaws of the Quadruped, the lines of the old song came to mind— "A mother was chasing her boy round the room." It was a strange spectacle to behold, towering gauchos backing away before the ribbing and crashing body attacks of the fragile little rubber boy.

I gave two rounds to Victorio — he did manage to lose his temper and fight on in the occasion — but I think even those two rounds were generous gestures. There were some sitting near me who gave the Horse only one round. One or two called three even and gave the rest to the feeble little Risko.

Now Come a Draw

At the end, when Referee Kid McPartland raised the paw of both of the young men in token of a draw, there was silent amazement among the men at the ring-side, who looked at "one another in questioning astonishment."

Then from the crowd came long-drawn boos, rising in volume as McPartland hurriedly left the ring.

I sat just under Campolo's corner and McPartland had to ascend the stairs there on his way to the dressing room. I touched his arm.

"How come a draw?" I asked.

"Who got the five?"

"Five four and one even," he said nervously, "a draw."

"But who got the five?" I asked. The kid, however, was gone. He had stepped swiftly up the aisle toward the dressing room. I hurried back to the hotel that night and seized pencil and paper. "Five, four and one even — a draw" was the problem.

I sat long hours, adding and subtracting. But the answer would not come.

The Nut Cracker

If the Berlin Bruiser, Schmeling beats the Great Gabbo, Sharkey, the Manassa Mauler, Dempsey, will come back, declares the old M. M. himself. And if Dempsey wins, we might look for Tumultuous Tooney's return.

The easiest way around it all, however, is for Mrs. Sharkey's husband to trounce the Teuton. It will keep Mr. Muldoon of New York from making any more of those decisions.

Jack says he would go to Mexico and run up and down the beach in sand and water to restore the pep to his legs for a comeback. Now we understand why Al Smith and Babe Ruth cavorted on Florida sands this winter.

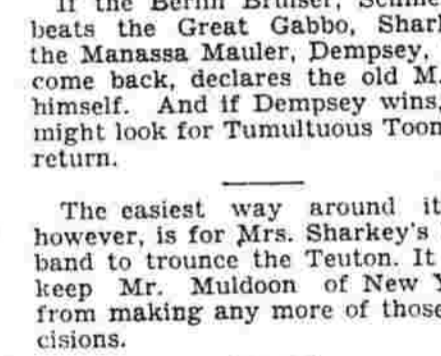

Georges Carpentier may go into the promoting game. Already he has had his nose remodeled a la Dempsey.

The latest Indian uprising has been quieted without bloodshed or loss of life. Willis Hudlin and Wesley Ferrell have decided to pitch again for Cleveland.

When Ruth, Simmons and Grimes hit the dotted line, everything will be in readiness for another season. We can't wait any longer for Ed Roush.

Paso Robles, Calif., March 7.—(AP.)—Hostilities between the Yankees and the regulars in the Pittsburgh Pirate training camp here will not begin until tomorrow, Pilot Jewell Ens said today. Too much rain has slowed up the preliminary drills.

Aviation, Catalina Island, Calif., March 7.—(AP.)—With the second game in the championship of Catalina Island series their task today, the Chicago Cubs were looking forward to a chance to take swats at the Los Angeles coast league pitcher tomorrow.

New York, March 7.—(AP.)—Reports have it that William F. Carey, soon will retire as president of Madison Square Garden Corporation and that he will be succeeded by Frank Bruen, now general manager of the corporation. Carey, according to these sources will become chairman of the board.

Austin, Tex., March 7.—(AP.)—The pitcher for the University of Texas in yesterday's exhibition game gave Sam Leslie, young outfielder of the Giants, one, and the rookie belted it for a double driving in two runs. The Giants won the game, 4 to 1.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 7.—(AP.)—Two of those rare errors by "Rabbit" Maranville and four inns of beautiful pitching by "Socks" Seibold, veteran of the Braves mound staff, featured a four to one victory for the Gowdys over the Sisslers as a prelude to a long session of batting practice. The game yesterday was preparation for the clash with the Yanks tomorrow.

Orlando, Fla., March 7.—(AP.)—Dan Howley, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, believes the hour's daily drill for pitchers in covering first base on hits to the right side of the diamond will account for at least a dozen baseball games which might otherwise be lost this season.

New Orleans, March 7.—(AP.)—Batting practice has occupied almost all of the Cleveland Indians sessions the last few days with emphasis on bunting.

Bradenton, Fla., March 7.—(AP.)—Seventeen of the fifty-odd St. Louis Cardinal squad leave today for Miami and a two game series with the world champion Athletics.

San Antonio, March 7.—(AP.)—Due to the oldest tactics of William Kamm, Alex Metzler and Art Shires and the delay of Smead Jolley in getting to camp, Manager Donnie Bush today faced the task of revamping the White Sox infield.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 7.—(AP.)—Another applicant for the right field post of the St. Louis Browns, made vacant when Frank McGowan was released, appeared in Earl McEvedy yesterday. McEvedy considered the only regular of the four aspirants, is light on hitting and as a result manager Killifer likes the appearance of Ted

How To Manage A Prizefighter or Butting Into Big Dough

By JOE O'GOFFY

Editor, Goat Herdsman's Gazette.—Bravery, of course, is the first requirement in directing the destinies of a prizefighter. It was Leo P. (Publicity) Flynn who first gave the fist world that shibboleth of encouragement, the cry of the manager that has become universal.

"Get in there and fight," was Mr. Flynn's challenge, flung into the teeth of his employe's adversary. "He can't hurt us!"

Besides bravery, the employe fight manager must have a lively command of psychology in its every form. If managing a prone heavyweight of British color, it is the fight yourself. This is one of the improvements introduced to the boxing game by James J. Johnston. During the recent arrangements in Miami, Mr. Johnston, who owns 33 1-3 per cent of the Fainting Fireman, Phil (the Souffle) Scott, almost was granted the refereeing concession, which finally was granted to Lou Magnolia, over Mr. Johnston's protests.

If displeased with the way a boxing commission is handling things, grab your hat and make a noise like you are going to stalk out — only do not stalk to

NAVAL ENVOYS MEET

London, March 7.—(AP.)—Heads of the delegations to the five power naval conference met today for the first time in three weeks. Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, was present as chief delegate for his government instead of Andre Tardieu, premier, whose defeat in the Chamber of Deputies three weeks ago led to practical adjournment of the conference.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and Ambassador Gibson represented the United States. The conferees met to discuss the work ahead of them and arrange getting down once more to the program of the parley.

Before the meeting M. Briand had a brief conference with Ramsay MacDonald, British prime minister and general chairman of the conference.

Twenty-three years is a long time in baseball for any pitcher, especially a southpaw. Old Jack Quinn, a right-hander, has been in the game a little longer than that and still has some winning stuff saved for the Athletics but Richard (Rube) Marquard claims a record for posturiers, even though he will be obliged to spend his twenty-third campaign with Jacksonville, of the Southeastern League. Rube will manage the Jaxons and, he says, take a regular turn in the box.

"It's been eighteen years since I won 19 in a row for the Giants but I still have some stuff in the old arm," remarked Marquard on a day when he was visiting the Hialeah track at Miami. The Rube has a fondness for the races but it is not difficult to start him talking baseball.

"I haven't the high, hard one I used to have but maybe I can still fool 'em a little with some of the old stuff," he went on. "I haven't forgotten how it's done, anyway. I'm only around 40 now but the trouble is I got started too soon. When the Giants paid $11,000 for me twenty years ago it was a record price. BEGIN HERE TODAY
Because he wants to observe Seymour Crosby, for certain sinister reasons connected with his profession, Detective Bonnie Dundee, accepts Dick Berkeley's invitation to spend a week-end at the millionaire Berkeley's home.

Crosby, social celebrity of New York, is engaged to Clorinda Berkeley, who is not in love with him. Her father is bitterly opposed to the marriage, but her mother is determined upon it. Dinner is an unpleasant ordeal. Gigi, the 15-year-old daughter, freely criticizes her family to Dundee.

After dinner Crosby presents Mrs. Berkeley with a large box of perfume, which Gigi snatches from her mother, dashing madly from guest to guest, sprinkling them all. Dundee, Mrs. Berkeley slaps Gigi's face, and the child runs from the room, soon followed by Dick Berkeley. On his way to telephone police headquarters for full information on Crosby, Dundee sees Dick Berkeley forcing his attentions upon pretty Clorinda Berkeley, lady's maid, who is forced to agree to meet him late in the afternoon, and the party breaks up. Mr. Berkeley, however, detaining Mrs. Berkeley for a "conference" in the library.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER V
The room to which Dundee had been assigned was on the third floor of the Berkeley mansion. Dick Berkeley, ushering him into it upon his arrival that Friday evening, had explained:

"Nobody but the servants and me up here. I chose my quarters for privacy. Sorry, but you'll have to use my bath, old man. Your room is really what mother calls my 'den,' but the couch is comfortable. Mother wanted you to have one of the lordly guest chambers on the second floor, but I thought you might enjoy a little bachelor peace and quiet. The bathroom's on the east, extending the length of the house; otherwise there's nothing clear across the front but my rooms. They turn in fairly early, all except old Wickett, the butler, and use the backstairs."

Now, as Dundee plodded rather wearily up the winding marble staircase, his mind was a jumble of half-formed foreboding of the knew not what, snatches of strange conversation, distorted pictures. A queer, mad evening. A nightmare reaching its crescendo in that terrible moment when Berkeley's broad palm had left its mark upon Gigi's cheek. Funny, brazen, impudent little Gigi! But she had not deserved that!

His hand, slipping along the cold marble balustrade, suddenly encountered something soft and living and warm. Startled, he looked down at little brown fingers curled about his.

"Gigi!" he whispered, and bent over to stare at the forlorn little figure in inconspicuous gay pajamas, crouching against the stair-head.

"I've been waiting for you to come up," she whispered, her voice catching on a sob. "Dick's not in his room, and he wanted somebody to get me and tell me what an awful little beast I am. I couldn't sleep, she confessed miserably.

Dundee rounded the stairhead and, protected from the sight of anyone below by the high marble balustrade, crouched beside her, caressing the twisting little brown hands against his dinner coat.

"You do smell sickly-sweet!" she giggled faintly. "Did you think I was terrible, waiting Abbie's perfume like that? Well, I wasn't! I was just— She broke off the confidence abruptly however; began on a new track, her topaz eyes glowing like a cat's in the dim light from the third-floor hall bracket. "I wasn't just being mean, but after— Oh, I did something perfectly dreadful! And now I'm so frightened I can't sleep!"

"Poor little, dear, little Gigi!" he said tenderly, lifting the small hands to his lips. "You can't have done anything 'perfectly dreadful,' and of course you're going to trot off to bed right now."

"MY!" she breathed softly, solemnly. "You kissed me! Just as if I were a grown-up young lady like Clorinda! I—listen!" she pleaded wistfully. "If you'll kiss my eyelids I bet I will go to sleep!"

He kissed the ecstatically fluttering lids very gently, but he did not kiss the soft, childish little mouth that quivered expectantly. After all, she was only 15.

She waited there, crouched against the stairs, until he had gone into his room and closed the door. Switching on the lights he found that a chambermaid had converted the couch into a beautifully made-up bed, and had left a thermos bottle of ice water and a napkin-covered plate of sandwiches on the dainty table. Munching one of the sandwiches, he went into the bathroom, tried the door leading into Dick's bedroom, and found it unlocked. He knocked, had no answer, then entered. The lights were on, but Gigi had been right. Dick Berkeley was not in his room, but he had been there very recently, for a thin blue layer of smoke still hung over an armchair, and an ash tray beside it held half a dozen cigar stubs, deposited there since the chambermaid had turned down the covers of the bed. And in the room was a heavy odor of whiskey and perfume.

"He can't have got far," Dundee said to himself, and frowned thoughtfully.

Suddenly his mind was made up. Regardless of the fact that Dick was his host, and that his host's love affairs were none of his concern, Dundee knew that, if he could prevent it Dick Berkeley should not return to that Berkeley backstairs that night. The girl feared him, despised him, and he was more than half drunk. There was his empty pocket flash.

Without forming any definite plan, Dundee hurried out into the hall. Yes, thank heaven, Gigi had forgotten her key! He unlocked the stairs his steps inaudible on the thick velvet runner.

In the 10 minutes or so since he had gone up, the house had apparently settled down for the night. In all the big front hall there was only one dim light burning, but as Dundee was crossing noiselessly to the drawing room there came the faint sound of a door opening, immediately followed by an angry, implacable voice:

"And that's my last word on the subject, Abbie! There'll be no engerment announced here tomorrow night! I'll not have my daughter marrying a wife-murderer!"

"Shut that door, George Berkeley!" Dundee heard Mrs. Berkeley's voice shrilling in the library. "Do you want Wickett to hear you? Now you listen to my last word—"

The library door closed, and Dundee was temporarily saved from the charge of eavesdropping. He hesitated, his plan to interfere with Dick Berkeley's amorous pursuits forgotten for the moment.

So George Berkeley suspected, too! Or did he more than suspect? Had he ferreted out, with the aid of private detectives, something that had not appeared at that strangely perfidious inquiry in London? But what! Perhaps he had had no need of private detectives! Right here in the house was Doris Matthews, Mrs. Crosby's personal maid, whose testimony had figured so prominently in the inquiry. Just what had she testified? Dundee put his brows in an effort to remember clearly.

Then he shrugged. Tomorrow he would have the resume of the case which Straw had promised to mail that night. The Dick matter was the more pressing now. And he stepped softly into the dark drawing room. His goal was the buffet in the dining room. If Dick wasn't there, he probably wasn't in the house at all. Halfway across the hall a light from the dining room made the going easier.

Wickett, the butler, stood at the big sideboard counting silver spoons into a velvet-lined chest. He wheeled at some faint sound the detective had made, and peered frowningly.

"I was looking for Mr. Dick Berkeley, Wickett," Dundee declared himself.

"He is not here, sir. The wine was returned to the cellar some time ago, sir."

"Right, Wickett!" Dundee grumbled, protested as the butler was advancing dutifully to turn on the drawing room lights. "Don't bother! I can see well enough. But if you do see Mr. Dick, I wish you would tell him I've a very much to see him before I turn in."

The butler, with a "Very well, sir," returned to his work, and Dundee threatened his way through the over-furnished, dimly lit drawing room. He was just about to step into the hall when a faint, stifled cough warned him that someone was descending the stairs. Not relishing the idea of again explaining his presence on the darkened lower floor, he shrank back against the heavy silk crocade hangings, then, because he was a detective, and because that active sixth sense of his warned him that the person stealing down the stairs was as anxious to be unobserved as he was himself, he quite shamelessly peeped.

It was Clorinda Berkeley. Even in the dim light her tall slender body was unmistakable. And she was going out, stealing out, for she was wearing, over the wine-red velvet evening dress, cape of gold tulle cloth, trimmed with dark fur. His eyes quite accustomed by now to the dim light, Dundee could even distinguished the modernistic pattern of the batik silk scarf she was nervously pulling through her fingers as she tipped down the last steps of the stairs.

He waited, scarcely breathing, for he thought she must pass very close to him on her way to the front door. But she did not leave by that door. She rounded the stairs, listened for a moment to the subdued clash of voices from within the library, then tiptoed down the hall toward the backstairs regions.

Dundee heard the door open very softly, did not hear it close. Apparently Clorinda was guarding her return that it might be as noiseless as possible. After a minute of hesitation, Dundee followed her to that door, and listened. Very faintly came the sound of a chain being rattled, then still more faintly the sound of a bolt being shot back. Clorinda had left the house by the back door, which Wickett had already made fast for the night.

So Dick Berkeley was not the only member of that family who stole out to keep secret appointments! Whom was Clorinda meeting? Seymour Crosby? After all, they were engaged to be married, and their first evening together after weeks of separation had not been a signal success. But—they had not looked upon each other as lovers ardently desiring to be alone. Half an hour later—a quarter to 12—when Dundee had had a tepid bath to induce sleep, young Dick, at least, had not returned from his rendezvous. Dundee shrugged wistfully as he got into bed. Apparently the lovely little Doris had been quite willing to meet her mistress's scandalously, in spite of her seeming reluctance. Still—she certainly hadn't looked like "that kind of girl," and hadn't Mrs. Lambert told Crosby that Doris was very happy in her engagement to Arnold, the chauffeur?

The next questions Dundee asked were spoken aloud: "Who's there? What is it?"

It was broad daylight and someone was pounding on his door and calling his name.

Dressy Scarf

A THREE-CORNERED scarf of pink chiffon, accented at the corners with black and white net butterflies, was seen recently at a smart New York gathering.

YOUR CHILDREN

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
© 1930 BY NEA SERVICE INC.

Nothing makes me more resentful than to hear people say that a mother's place is altogether in the home with her children and that she should stay there. In truth, the only people who do say so are those who don't have to do it.

No woman, nor man, on earth who has ever had a real taste of it would say so. It is cruel, bigoted, and unfair. No one on earth has more right to a wholesome outside diet of other experiences, other friends, other interests, and other scenes than the woman who gets up in the morning, sees to the children's breakfast, and dressing, and gets them off to school, (perhaps this after a broken night's sleep with the baby's earache or Johnny's croup), and makes the beds, straightens the house, cleans, gets lunch, does the ironing, or sewing, or mending in the afternoon, shops if she has time, and gets home in time to get dinner.

Usually such a mother is almost as busy through the evening as she is through the day—unless she is an unusual hustler, as some few women are, and can railroad things through, dishes and all, so she can have an evening off to go to the movies.

Other Contacts, Too

All women do care for the movies. Some women, at least, want other outside contacts that the movies don't provide. People, lectures, clubs, books, welfare work, tennis, golf, walking—all sorts of things. It is immoral, then, for such a mother to scrape up an hour or two during day-time hours once in a while if she can, for her very own use, to give her soul a little spread, and her mind a chance to irrigate itself on interests outside the daily drab routine?

With me it is no question. It is not moral, but often necessary.

There will be plenty of people who resent a mother's daily duties being called a "daily drab, routine." The strange part of it is that the first ones to speak very likely would come from the ranks of the mothers themselves. We'll put husbands second—although I've talked with enough husbands to know that they sit in with the critics too often. Not all, but a good many husbands don't like their wives to have interests outside the home.

There is no question of it, that much as a mother may love her home, her children, her husband—the perpetual routine of housework, in time, becomes just that very thing, drab and dreary—especially to a woman of imagination, intelligence and spirit.

The world has changed—it has changed in every way. The things that interested our grandmothers or even our mothers can't altogether satisfy our growing intelligence now. They lived largely for their domestic interests. It was their education, their training, their lives. The world has changed—we can't help it. The world means "its people."

And so I repeat, the woman who attends to her family to the best of her ability earns time off—time purely her own in which she can do as she wishes. She may not take it—but if she does, here's to her health and courage.

Port-Of-Spain, Trinidad.—(AP.)
Lord Olivier of England, head of the West India Sugar Commission, is regarded here as a very bold publicist to refer to the proposal to sell the British West Indies to the United States. Recently Lord Olivier said:
"When you have concluded your negotiations with Washington, and put the proposal to the British government that the islands be put up for sale, then you can see about it."

King Visits Naples

Naples, March 7.—(AP.)—King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium arrived here today aboard the liner Asperra, enroute to Egypt. They were met by the civil military authorities and embarked for a brief ride over the city before the steamer left 4 p. m. in continuation of its voyage.

AERIAL TAXI SERVICE
Berlin, March 7.—(AP.)—Effective April 1, the German Lufttransport Corporation is establishing an aerial taxi-service covering the German republic for which 150 planes will be made available. The planes will carry a fare to any point in Germany having landing facilities at 26 cents a kilometer.

Now this famous salt finds a welcome in the bathroom too!

To be sure, Ivory Salt is an old table favorite... but that needn't bar it from the bathroom. It's true... we modern folk are rediscovering the old-fashioned salt bath.

A salt bath cleanses the skin of all impurities and relieves nerve-tension. It also helps to protect you against common colds because salt bathing makes the skin less sensitive to weather changes.

Just add one carton of Ivory Salt to your bath... reserving enough to massage the muscles and feet. If you prefer a shower wet the skin and rub Ivory Salt all over the body. Take a salt bath tonight and you'll look and feel much better tomorrow.

"The Magic of Salt" an interesting booklet describing many hygienic and household uses for salt is yours for the asking. Address: Worcester Salt Co., 71 Murray Street, New York, N. Y.

The Best Cooks use the Best Salt

Salt is so necessary to the digestion that we couldn't live without it. So the choice of salt is important, isn't it?

Most good cooks prefer Ivory Salt. They know that "it takes the best to make the best." Your grocer has Ivory Salt in the convenient orange carton with the easy-pouring spout.

IVORY SALT

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

The hostess who likes to entertain in color and carry her color scheme through her entire menu will find St. Patrick's Day ideal for her party.

Literally from "soup to nuts" a natural and inviting green touch can be given to foods.

Cream of asparagus or spinach soup is daintily green itself or a white cream soup can be garnished with minced parsley.

Leaf lettuce, carefully crisped and shredded, furnish a more vivid green for the salad than head lettuce. Sweet green peppers and olives, chives and watercress all can be relied upon for a note of color.

Blanched and shredded almonds and shredded cocoonnut can be colored green with a few drops of vegetable coloring if pistachio nuts are not available. However, pistachio nuts seem particularly made for a St. Patrick's party since they are naturally colored green.

Use Vegetable Coloring

Vegetable coloring can be used in jellied salads and desserts with good effect but care must be taken not to overdo the green. Artificially colored foods must be delicately tinted if they are to be most satisfactory for an unnatural decided green is not appetizing.

The following St. Patrick's Day luncheon can be used as suggested or simplified to suit individual needs:

Fruit cocktail, creamed sweetbreads-in spinach nests, new potatoes, shamrock rolls, stuffed pepper salad, St. Patrick's dessert, angelfood cake, coffee.

Ice cubes frozen in an electric refrigerator can be tinted green by freezing. If double cocktail glasses are used for the cocktail use this green crushed ice to fill the outer glass. Grapefruit sections are chilled in a heavy syrup and garnished with green preserved cherries for the cocktail.

Roll carefully new boiled potato marbles in minced parsley after dipping potatoes in melted butter. This coats the marbles thickly with green.

A Use for Spinach

Well seasoned and cooked spinach makes attractive green nests for the creamed sweetbreads.

Cream cheese is combined with drained, grated pineapple and chopped pistachio nuts for the filling for sweet green peppers. After thorough chilling, cut stuffed peppers in slices about an inch thick, crosswise of the peppers. Garnish with cucumber rings cut in the shape of shamrocks.

Balls of ice cream are rolled in green shredded cocoonnut to make the dessert. A firmly frozen par-fait mixture such as almond, orange or mint will be found most refreshing.

Green and white candles add the finishing touch of color.

By ANNETTE

A jaunty, sports and utility type that adopts pique with violet-blue and white polka-dots. It smartly reverses the color scheme for the trim. You'd be surprised how interestingly this works out.

The inset band at center-front of the bodice is undecorated and rolled with the attached collar. It employs plain blue pique, which appears again in trimming pieces that are attached to the lower edge of the band. The upper part of the patch pockets also use the plain blue.

The skirt fulness is provided by box-plaits at front.

The belt marks the normal waistline.

Here it is for you to copy! The sewing is snorous.

Style No. 523 comes in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

Powder-pink shantung self-trimmed is very fashionable and flattering to sun-tan complexion.

Orange-red wool crepe in broken checked pattern is another equally smart choice. Cut the collar, sleeve bands, belt and pocket on the bias for effective contrasting trim.

HEALTH

INCISION OF EAR DRUM ISN'T AS SERIOUS AS PEOPLE SUPPOSE

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine hearing and cause other damage whereas actually the ear drum heals promptly after the infection disappears and hearing is likely to be just as good as it was previously.

It is far less dangerous to hearing to incise the ear drum than to postpone the incision too long.

In the spring when infectious diseases are fairly common, when coughs, colds and sore throats are frequent, infections of the ear are also prevalent.

In most instances, the germs which set up inflammation in the ear with its resultant earache get into the ear from the nose and throat along the eustachian tube. This tube passes from the back of the nose cavity into the ear. It serves to equalize the pressure on both sides of the ear drum.

When the infection passes up this tube, it infects not only the tube but also all of the tissue inside the ear. In most instances the germ which causes this infection is a streptococcus, a germ of the type that is also responsible for septic sore throat, scarlet fever, erysipelas and similar complaints.

In many instances the germ seems to have a special affinity for the ear and spreads so rapidly that it produces an infection in the ear, breaking down the bony wall of the cavities and producing mastoiditis and infection of the tissue of the brain.

When the ear is infected, the first symptom is intense earache. When the physician illuminates the ear and looks at the ear drum, he finds it red and bulging. In most instances, he perforates the ear drum promptly so as to permit the infectious material to escape and thus to avoid the internal pressure that results in inflammation of the mastoid.

From the very first, the mastoid bone may be tender on pressure because of the swelling on the inside. Whenever pain is severe and there is fever, the physician knows that the infection is serious and he is likely to recommend immediate incision of the ear drum.

The operation is not difficult and, if performed soon enough, is likely to prevent the more serious complications that are mentioned.

People have strange notions about perforation of the ear drum, believing that this will interfere with

Check dandruff

You too can say goodbye to hair-worries, if you'll learn this simple method of caring for the hair. It is known to hundreds of stage and screen stars; used by thousands of women and girls, who haven't time for laborious methods. Sprinkle a little Danderine on your brush tonight. Then as you brush your hair you'll feel the soothing, toning effects.

For over 30 years, specialists have recommended Danderine; it dissolves the crust of dandruff, stops falling hair; tones the scalp, encourages the hair to grow long, silky and abundant.

The first application gives your hair new life and lustre; makes it softer, easier to manage; holds it like you arrange it. Evidence beyond doubt proves the benefits of its regular use.

PLANE CRASH VICTIM LOCAL MAN'S BROTHER

William Bunzel, Brother of Charles Bunzel of Center Street, Killed at Tulsa, Okla.

Crashing to earth when his plane got out of control as he went through aerial acrobatics, William Bunzel, 25 year old brother of Charles H. Bunzel of 687 Center street, was killed at Tulsa, Oklahoma yesterday morning, according to a message received by his parents Mr. and Mrs. Herman C. Bunzel of 141 Glendale Avenue, Hartford. The accident took place near the Spartan School of Aeronautics at Tulsa. The plane was destroyed by fire almost immediately. Bunzel, a student pilot, had been working in Tulsa as chauffeur for John E. Fossil, vice-president of the Standard Oil Company. He received his private pilot's license a few months ago and had been training at the Spartan Aviation School for his transport license. He had planned, upon receiving the license, to become a pilot with the Safety Airlines. His parents believe the accident occurred between six and seven o'clock a. m. as the son had written that he flew every day at that time. The message received indicated that he was flying alone when the plane crashed. The funeral will be held in Hartford.

Youth begins to revolt at the age of 12, according to a scientist. We had gone on thinking 60 was about the age.

RIVER DIVERSION CASE GOES TO HUB NEXT

Hartford, March 7.—(AP)—The Connecticut delegation will leave Hartford Sunday afternoon to go to Boston to testify in the matter of water diversion case of Connecticut against the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. There the Boston metropolitan district water commission will open Monday with testimony to support its claims.

Dr. John H. Gregory of Baltimore, Md., recalled in testimony here today, said he believed the Merrimac offered a better and more economical proposition than the Ware and the Swift, and that it would, with a total cost of $41,000,000 give at least 200,000,000 gallons per day. He said also that unless it was planned to provide an additional supply for the proposed Swift river reservoir, the proposed capacity of three hundred to four hundred billion gallons is much too large and that he considered it economically impractical to pump water from the Assaet into the reservoir. The only other available sources are the tributaries of the Connecticut river.

DEMOCRATS TO MEET

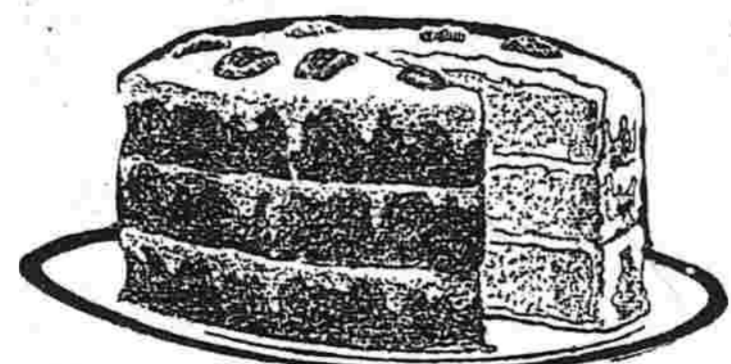

New Haven, March 7.—(AP)—James J. Walsh, of Meriden, chairman of the Democratic State committee has called a committee hearing for Thursday March 27 at 1 p. m., at Hotel Bond, Hartford to transact "such business as may come before it."

The meeting will follow a luncheon. The Democratic National committee has suggested to state committees a general observance of Jefferson Day by means of a gathering in every Congressional district in the country. The matter will come before the state committee at its meeting and the question, Mr. Walsh said, probably will be as to observing the day with a state meeting or thorough district meeting.

DIES IN AUTO CRASH

Topsfield, Mass., March 7.—(AP)—James Balog, 22-year-old Marine guard at the Naval hospital at Portsmouth, N. H., was fatally hurt and three companions were injured in an automobile accident here early today.

Balog died at the Cable hospital at Ipswich. He was the driver of a roadster which was in collision with a heavy truck operated by Joseph Rossetti of Everett. His companions, Carl Fisher, 22, of Washington, D. C., a fellow Marine, and Ruby and Della Thibau, sisters of Newburyport, were taken to the Anna Jacques hospital in that city suffering from cuts and bruises. Fisher was released after treatment. The four had left Newburyport early in the evening to drive to Lawrence.

CONGRESSMAN'S FUNERAL

Winsted, March 7.—(AP)—The funeral of Congressman James P. Glynn, will be held Monday morning, the private service from his late home, 81 Rockwell street, being at 9:15 to be followed by solemn high mass at St. Joseph's church at ten o'clock. The burial will be in St. Joseph's (new) cemetery.

The body of Mr. Glynn was received here from Washington, by way of Hartford at 1:30 this morning and escorted by those who had waited for it, it was taken to an undertaker and this forenoon removed to his late home.

Mrs. Glynn who had been accompanied by Frank Sullivan, secretary to the Congressman had already arrived here.

Many tributes collected in telegrams and letters have come to members of the family.

The Congressional delegation will leave Washington Sunday afternoon and arrive here Monday morning shortly before the hour of services. The delegation will include members of the house committee on military affairs on which body Mr. Glynn served.

Yesterday afternoon, before Mrs. Glynn left, Senator Walcott and Representatives Fenn, Freeman, Tilson and Merritt each called at Hotel Driscoll to offer their sympathy and Senator Eingham who was unable to call, telephoned his condolences. Several other members of the House, with their wives called, including Representative and Mrs. Englebright of California.

Many flags in town were flown at half staff today out of respect for the late Congressman who had served the town in many capacities.

As early as 4241 years before the birth of Christ, the Egyptians had contained 365 days and an extra one every four years.

WON'T BURY HUSBAND

Liverpool, Eng., March 7.—(AP)—The British Admiralty is having other worries than the naval conference. Because the Admiralty won't accept naval honors at the funeral of Thomas Sly, aged fifty-one, who had thirty years naval service, his widow refuses to permit him to be buried. Sly died four-

OPENING STOCKS

New York, March 7.—(AP)—The Stock Market opened irregularly higher today. Atchison moved up 2 1-2 and Loews mounted a point to a new 1930 high. Johns Manville, Dupont, Penna., and Mack Truck gained 1-2 to 3-4. American Tobacco "B" lost 1 3-4. American T. & T. 3-4 and U. S. Steel 3-8.

The band of Danzig also dropped its rate from 6 percent to 5 1-2 percent.

Early selling was believed to have been inspired largely by speculative disappointment over the failure of the directors of the New York Federal Reserve bank to follow the action of the Bank of England in cutting the discount rate. These offerings were well absorbed, and the market quickly headed upward

the leadership of a select group of specialties.

Warren Bros. directors of which authorized a 3 for 1 stock split up yesterday, ran up 7 points to a new high at 182. Youngstown Sheet & Tube, which has been frequently mentioned as a unit in the new Republic Steel merger, ran up nearly 6 points to 140 1-4, also a new top. Loews, in which the Fox theaters have a large interest, crossed 78 to a new 1930 peak for a gain of more than 4 points.

Johns Manville was marked up nearly 3 points in the first half hour, and early gains of a point or two were recorded by Worthington Pump, Mathieson Alkali, A. M. Evers, International Telephone, F. G. Shattuck, American Can and National Surety.

CITY EMPLOYEE KILLED... New Haven, March 7.—(AP)—Frank Farrell of the city fire repair department died in an automobile crash on the Milford Turnpike in Orange early this morning.

CITY EMPLOYEE KILLED... John DeLoughery who was with him in the car which hit a truck was badly hurt. Joseph DeRosa of Hartford, truck driver was held by the Orange police on a reckless driving charge pending a coroner's finding.

CITY EMPLOYEE KILLED... Farrell's car was coming toward New Haven. DeRosa claims he saw the car coming toward him but Farrell swung to the left instead of to the right as he approached to pass and the truck was struck on the left front.

CITY EMPLOYEE KILLED... The police theory was that Farrell was blinded by headlights from the truck. He was thrown out and received fractured skull.

CITY EMPLOYEE KILLED... DeLoughery had a fractured face and hands. Passing motorists brought him to a hospital.

CITY EMPLOYEE KILLED... Farrell leaves a widow and a young daughter.

GAS BUGGIES—A Different Story

SENSE and NONSENSE

Ma Steps On The Gas
We've got a bran' new auto--
The best there is I think;
Pa says it is good enough.
An' then gives Ma a wink.
An' no one ever gets to pass
When Ma steps on the gas.

I like to ride when my Ma drives--
It may not be real kind;
She toots the horn an' passes on
An' leaves 'em all behind.
An' no one ever gets to pass
When Ma steps on the gas.

A cop came up behind one day
An' gave his horn a blow;
Ma thought that was a signal
To speed up some and go.
For no one ever gets to pass
When Ma steps on the gas.

The cop he kept right after us
An' finally had his way;
He handed Ma a ticket--
Pa says we'll have to pay.
An' now I see when some folks pass
Ma don't step on the gas.

CROATIA ASKS LEAGUE CURB ON JUGO-SLAVIA

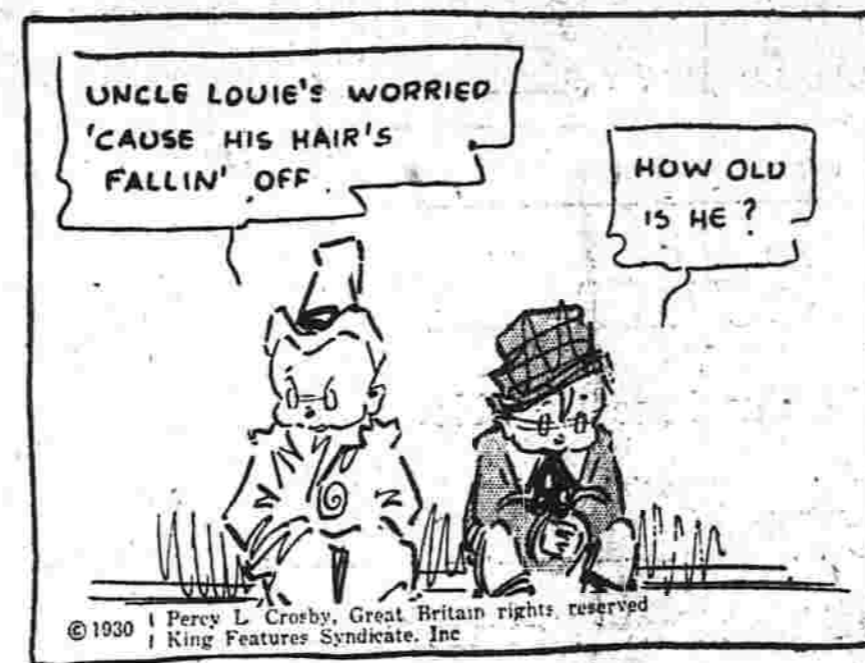

Vienna. (AP.)--Croatian restiveness under the dictatorship of King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia was expounded here when Dr. August Kosutic and Dr. Krnjevic passed through en route to Geneva to present protests to the League of Nations.

The delegates asserted that freedom of the press had been abolished, public meetings forbidden, criticism of the government banned and independence of the law courts destroyed.

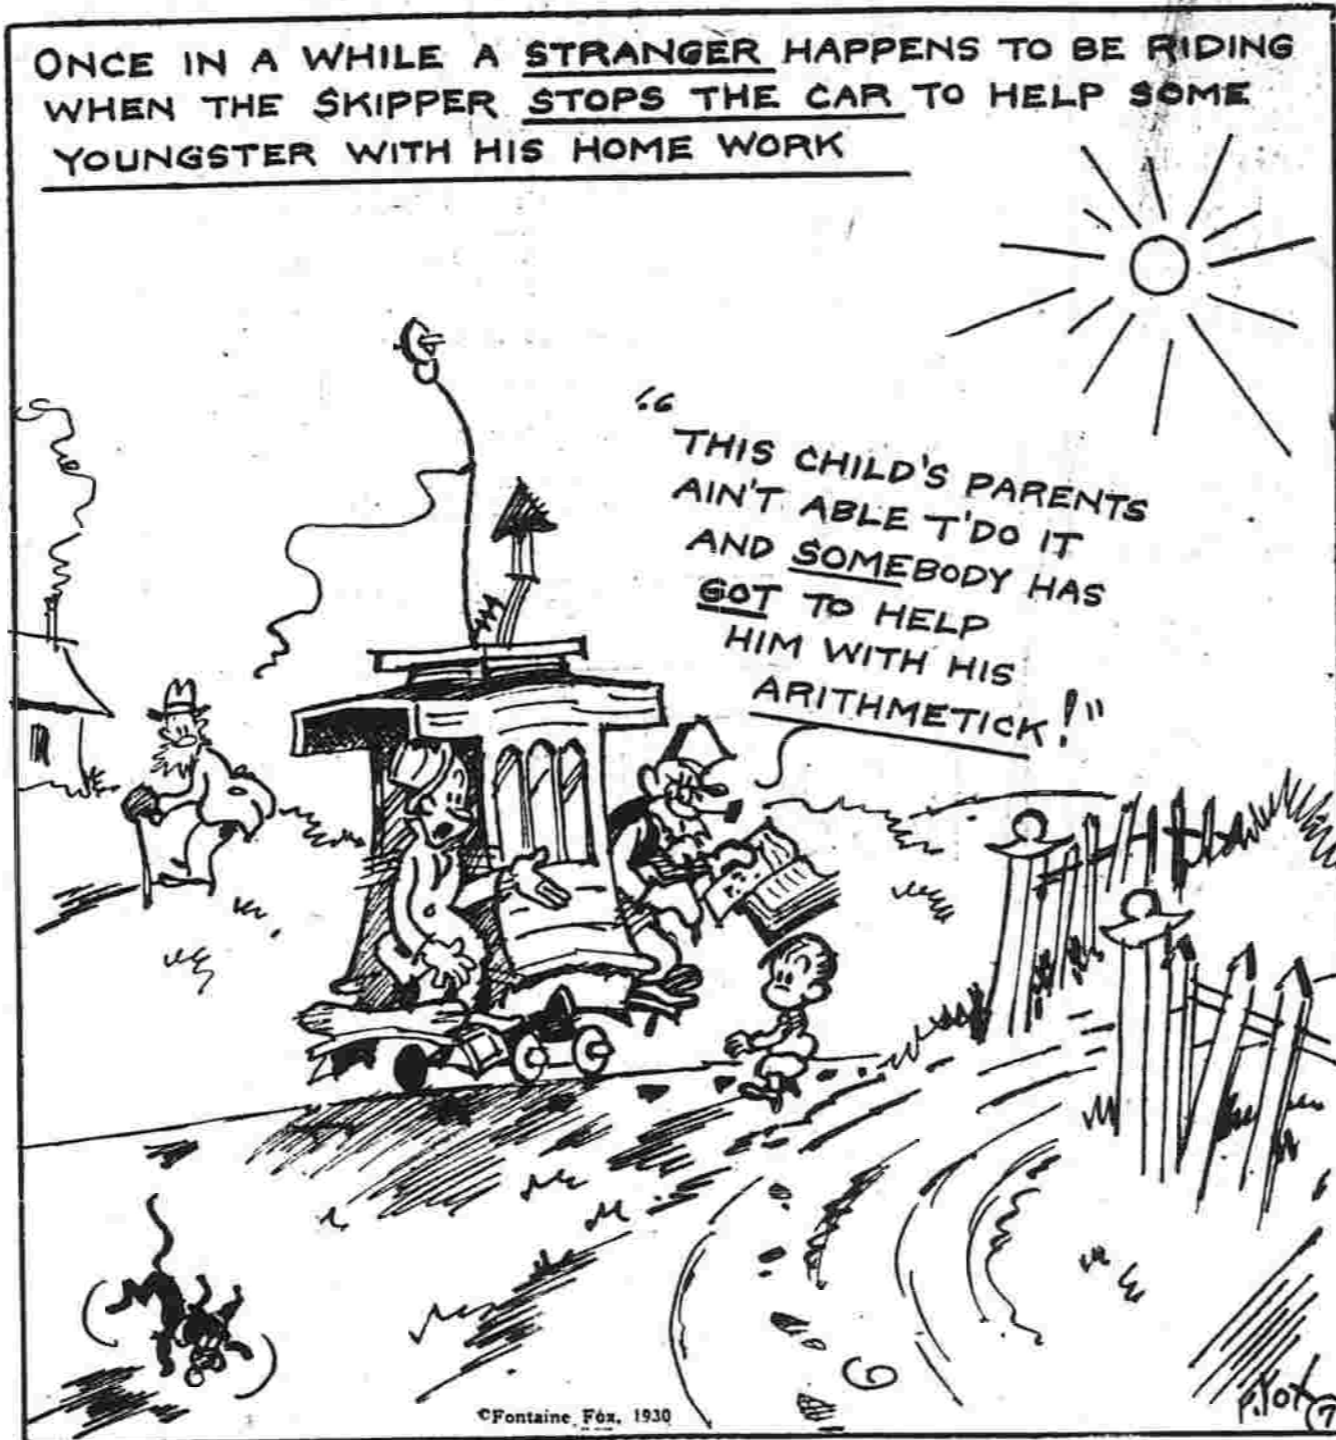

They said that although the peace treaties recognized the Croatian nation as such, its language had been barred from public schools and offices, its history falsified in text books, its educational and cultural institutions closed and its elected representatives superseded by dictatorship appointees.

They ask that the league institute an impartial inquiry into conditions in Jugo-Slavia, particularly as to the decrees which abolished the old provincial boundaries, based upon racial lines, and substituted nine "banovines" each under a governor who has vice-regal authority and rules with sole responsibility to the throne.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN--PICTURES BY KING

The flock of ducks quacked all at once. It seemed to be one of their stunts, while flying gaily through the air, in one long V-shaped line. Where'er the leader went, the rest all seemed to do their very best to trail along behind him and it made a picture fine.

The Tinies, sitting in their plane, all of a sudden seem to gain a lead upon the ducks, and then the ducks quacked louder still. "They're sure excited," Scouty said. "They hate to see us surge ahead. Each time we start to leave them far behind, they get a thrill."

Then from below they heard a shot. 'Twas a hunter, like as not. The ducks were very smart. They seemed to figure danger near. Some turned to left and others right and soon they all were out of sight. "A gun" said little Coppy, "is the one thing that they fear."

"If there's a hunter down below," cried Clowzy, "I sure hope he'll know that this is not a great big bird. He might shoot straight up here. Perhaps we'd better rise up high and fade from sight up in the sky. When Mister Hunter cannot see us, there'll be naught to fear."

So Scouty said, "All right! Here goes!" And, slow but sure, the small plane rose. All of a sudden Clowzy shouted, "This is high enough. The queer air currents change, you know. No higher can we safely go. Right now the plane is jerking and the going's rather rough."

Just then they heard a sudden snap, and Coppy cried, "We're in a trap. The rubber band has broken. Our propeller's bound to stop." And, sure enough, that's what it did. Then plane then seemed to jerk and skid. It wasn't long until the Tinies felt the small plane drop.

(The plane lands with a smack in the next story.)

ABOUT TOWN

A red letter day was registered at the Eight District schools yesterday when the reports from the different rooms in the schools in the district showed that of the 937 pupils that attend the school only twenty-three were absent. Twenty of those were absent because of illness. It is the best showing ever made in the school.

Miss Lucille Clarke of 146 Porter street a student at the Vesper George School of Art in Boston, was one of the hostesses who represented the school at its exhibition of work held all week at the fourth floor of Filene's Annex.

Rev. E. T. French, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, received a telegram last night from Mrs. David Chambers of Hollister street, one of his parishioners, stating that her son Austin, who was seriously injured in a fall from the window of a Mobile, Alabama hotel, Tuesday, was improving.

The Social Service committee will conduct a sale of salads, baked beans, cakes, pies and other home made foods in variety tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at Watkins Brothers' store. Mrs. Robert Dougan president of the group, heads the committee in charge of the sale, the object of which is to promote charitable work in the community.

Women of Mooseheart Legion will give a public whist party this evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Josephine Emond, 13 School street. Six prizes will be awarded the winners and a door prize will be given. The members will contribute refreshments.

Modern and old-fashioned dancing will be the attraction tomorrow evening at the Highland Park Community club. Dancing will continue from 8 to 12 o'clock, with Case's orchestra to provide music and Oscar Strong to call off the old-time dances. A large attendance of members and friends is hoped for.

Every Kiwanian is expected to bring a boy to Cheney hall Monday evening at 6 o'clock when the annual boys' treat will take place. The speaker will be Coach Oosting of the Trinity college football squad, and motion pictures will be shown of some of the best football teams in action.

A son, James Irwin, was born to Mr. and Mrs. James Moffatt, Jr., of West Hartford, Wednesday. The baby was born at the Hartford hospital. Mrs. Moffatt was formerly Miss Louise Irwin of this town.

The Ladies Sewing society of the Swedish Lutheran church will conduct a sale of Swedish baking at Hale's store tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Highland Lassies will run the first of a series of setback parties at the Highland Park Community club Tuesday evening of next week. Six prizes will be awarded to the man and woman having the highest score for the series. Refreshments will follow the games. Miss Sally Cross will be in charge at the coming setback, assisted by Miss Adelaide Sinnanon.

Grand officers will be in charge of the initiatory work this evening at the meeting of Chapman Court, Order of Amaranth. Mrs. Harry Armstrong is chairman of the solicited supper which will be served in the banquet hall at 6:30, to which all members are invited.

The cast of "Miss Fearless & Company," the comedy successfully presented at Cheney hall Wednesday evening, has been invited to repeat the play at Wapping for the benefit of the Federated church in that place, and will doubtless do so in the near future.

The regular fortnightly whist and dance will be held by the Good Will club at the City View dance hall on Keeney street this evening. There will be all cash prizes for the winners at cards and refreshments.

Members of the Manchester Green Community club are reminded of the business meeting and program at the Green school assembly hall tonight at 8 o'clock.

Mark Holmes, formerly president of the Manchester Community club will be the speaker at the monthly business meeting of the Buckland Parent-Teacher association Monday evening. Mandolin and guitar numbers will be played by Miss Beulah and Miss Elizabeth Filbig and Arline Holmes will entertain with solo dances. Refreshments will be served and every one is reminded to provide a supply of pennies for chances on the mystery package.

Clifford Shea, 22, of Union street, injured his left hand so badly yesterday when it was caught in an automobile door that it was necessary to cut off the end of one finger at the Memorial hospital last night.

Albert, 12 years old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Starzewski of 178 Maple street, is recovering from an appendicitis operation at the Memorial hospital.

A son was born at the Memorial hospital today to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hooley of 27 Florence street.

Dependable service on furnace and fuel oil may be secured by dialing 5145. The Manchester Lumber Co.—Adv.

Plans for the annual reunion of Camp Woodstock boys, to be held at the Hartford Y. M. C. A. tomorrow, have been completed and over one hundred and fifty veteran campers, their dads, and friends will join in the activities, scheduled from three until eight o'clock. The afternoon's fun will start with special movies in the lobby, "The Electric Ship", which will take the boys for a trip aboard the electric ship Virginia of the Panama Pacific Line, from New York to Havana, the Panamal Canal, and the West Coast. The story opens with the actual launching of the Virginia and conveys an intimate touch with life aboard during one of her regular voyages. "The World of Paper" will also be shown, which shows primitive races cutting records on stone, Egyptians preparing papyrus, and Chinese making the first paper ever used by man. Games under the direction of Leonard J. Black, Assistant Secretary of the Hartford County Y. M. C. A. will follow—after which the campers will enjoy a swim in the Y. M. C. A. pool. Supper will be served at six in the new banquet hall, with a program of greetings, short talks from the campers, stunts, camp songs and yells, a surprise burlesque put on by one of the camp groups, and announcement of plans for the coming summer.
