NEW YORK BETTER UNDER DRY LAWS

Missionaries Tell Their Experiences—Al Smith Lost Election Because of His Wet Views.

Washington, March 14.—(AP)—“Little Old New York,” as they frequently refer to it on Manhattan island, today entered the picture of the House judiciary committee’s prohibition hearing and one who has seen much of the ne'er do wells who drift along with the rest of the millions testified it was his opinion that America’s first city has grown bigger and bigger, it also has grown better.

The lights along the “Great White Way” may sparkle just as brightly as a decade ago, but in the opinion of John Callahan, the chaplain at the Tombs Prison, an amazing change has taken place. He told the committee it was a change for the better and he attributed it to prohibition.

“I hope to God the dry law will stay on the books and be more consistently enforced,” were the words he left in the committee record to combat the previous testimony by the anti-prohibition group that since enactment of the Eighteenth Amendment crime has increased and conditions grown worse.

Bishop of the Bowers

Often referred to as the “Bishop of the Bowers,” Mr. Callahan said the dry law had brought “great good” to the Bowers district where he had ten years ago there had been 44 saloons. Now, he added, conditions had changed. Twenty-five years as director of the Hadley Rescue Mission has given the chaplain much opportunity for observation and automobiles. Again, he attributed this change to prohibition.

Callahan was the second witness of the day. Before him Raymond Robins, Chicago social worker, likewise had endorsed the Eighteenth Amendment and made the assertion that Al Smith had been defeated as Democratic presidential nominee because of his stand on prohibition.

Chief Nullifier

When Smith signed a bill repealing the New York State Prohibition Enforcement Act, Robins asserted, he became the “country’s chief nullifier under the flag.” He argued that Smith’s being a member of the Catholic faith had won him as many votes as it lost. The third witness was John R. McIntyre, superintendent of the Whosever Gospel Mission of Germantown, Penn. He also spoke in support of the dry law. He said the work of the better under prohibition, and that it was no longer necessary to pick up intoxicated men from the streets and try and build them into self-respecting citizens.

The committee also heard Ralph H. White, of New Haven, research secretary of the Fact Finding Committee on Law Enforcement in Connecticut who testified that students in high schools and colleges had reduced their drinking since prohibition.

“The youth of this generation in Connecticut,” he said, “have broken all the scholarship and athletic records of their fathers. But when it comes to getting drunk and making careers of dissipation those records are safely in the possession of the fathers and no youth of today could get started in such a career before he would be dropped from the student body.”

Shortly after he finished, the committee recessed until next Wednesday when friends of the Eighteenth Amendment will continue presentation of testimony.

BLADES OF PLANE KILL A MECHANIC

Was Trying to Start Williams' Machine When the Engine Starts.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., March 14.—(AP)—Struck by the propeller when the motor of a Triad amphibian on which he was working started, Helmut Kohlt, 40, Columbia Air Lines mechanic, today received injuries which caused his death a short time later in Nassau hospital.

Kohlt was attempting to start the motor of the plane which was being prepared for Roger Q. Williams, and had climbed onto a partition to give the propeller a whirl, the self starter having failed. When he pulled the prop down, the flying blades struck him.

He was rushed to the hospital at 4:15 in an ambulance, but died shortly after admission.

FALL'S TESTIMONY IS PUT IN RECORDS

Prosecution at Doheny Trial Reads Statements Made At Probe of Senate.

Washington, March 14.—(AP)—Testimony that drew the country’s attention in 1924 when the Senate oil committee was investigating the oil scandals was heard today by the jury in the bribery trial of Edward L. Doheny, the prosecution reading into the record Doheny’s story before the committee of the $100,000 which he claims he loaned to Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior.

The scene in the courtroom was in sharp contrast to that before the Senate committee. Doheny sat quiet and relaxed today as the reading of the testimony continued, but in 1924 after the committee pressed him about differences in testimony about the note that Fall gave him in return for the $100,000 which the government contends was a bribe he burst out: “Are you trying to get me to admit I lied about it?”

The Testimony

The prosecution also placed before the jury today the testimony before the Senate oil committee of the late Edwin Doheny, former secretary of the navy, in which he admitted that he knew nothing of the details of the Elk Hills lease which he signed.

The government planned also to read today Fall’s explanation that he got the $100,000 from Edward B. Lean, publisher of the Washington Post, an explanation which was later proved to be untrue.

Fall admitted that he got the money from Doheny but insisted that it was a loan. The secretary of the interior in the Harding Cabinet was convicted of receiving a bribe from Doheny last October. The oil man is now on trial on a charge of giving a bribe, the prosecution arguing that because of it a Doheny co-ownership even the lease to the Elk Hills naval oil reserve in California.

NEW HAVEN GAINS IN ITS RECEIPTS

Net Income Equal to $11.72 a Share Compared With $8 in 1928.

New York, March 14.—(AP)—The New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company today reported net income of $22,296,268 for 1929, equivalent after the payment of preferred dividends and guarantees on separately operated companies, to $11.72 a share on the common stock. This contrasts with net income of $16,857,909 equivalent to $8 a share on the common in 1928.

Operating revenues for 1929 included $4,270,000 applicable to prior years, consisting of $2,401,000 paid mail pay received from the U. S. Government and $1,869,000 freight revenue covering disputed divisions, principally on Canadian loop traffic. This additional revenue, which after taxes amounted to $3,686,000, was used in a special improve-ent program, over and above the regular 1929 budget, to provide better passenger and freight service.

Decrease in Freight

Freight traffic, the report says, showed a substantial decrease in the last two months of 1929, and the decline in freight traffic still continues, although indications point to improvement. Notwithstanding the present decline in revenue, the company expects to carry through its improvement budget for 1930, which was prepared in the early fall of 1929. Passenger revenue declined $428,618 last year.

Tourney Scores At The Herald

The result of the Manchester West Haven Yale Tournament basketball game at New Haven this afternoon will be available at The Herald office on Bisell street soon after 4 o’clock this afternoon. For the score, call 5121.

The box scores of the game will be posted on The Herald’s bulletin board in front of the State theater building soon after the game is completed. The Herald will have a personal coverage on the games through its sports writer, Thomas W. Stowe, who is in New Haven attending the games.

Southern France in Grip of Floods

Torrential swollen streams, sweeping down from the foothills of the Pyrenees, cost hundreds of lives and untold property damage in southern France. This first picture from the city of Cahors, in the heart of the flood region, shows how the community was inundated by the bursting of a dam on the River Tarn. Hundreds of homes were swept away and surrounding vineyards were ruined. A recurrence of the floods has been threatened by the overflowing of smaller rivers.

FIRST TO SEE NEW STAR HE DESCRIBES SENSATION

Clyde Tombaugh Says He Was Greatly Excited As He Saw Pinpoint of Light On a Photographic Plate.

Editorial Note: The following written for the Associated Press by Clyde Tombaugh of the Lowell Observatory, Flagstaff, Ariz., who was the first man to see the new trans-Neptunian planet.

Flagstaff, Ariz., March 14.—(AP)—“How would you feel if you saw a new world giving you a sign from beyond the rim of the solar system? That is what happened to me in the dark room when I was running another bunch of photo plates through the machine.

“Just a strange flicker of starlight in a routine day’s work. “Excited? I should say so. That is no word for it. I just didn’t know what to do or think, or how to act.

“Sure I was the first to see it, but the whole Lowell staff has been working on it for a quarter of a century. I was just lucky. That was all there was to it.

“And what did the others say”

TWO FIREMEN DIE IN MAINE BLAZE

Two Seriously Injured and Supreme Court Building Is Totally Destroyed.

Ellsworth, Me., March 14.—(AP)—Two firemen were killed and two others seriously injured today in a fire which destroyed the Hancock County Supreme Court building with a loss estimated at $175,000.

The dead: Raymond Peavey and Lester Salisbury.

The injured: George Fortier, internal injuries. George Patrick, internal injuries.

The four men with Russell Clark had climbed to the second floor of the three story brick building and were carried to the basement when a brick cupola on the eastern end crashed through the roof.

Fortier carried Peavey out and Patrick made his way from the fire but Salisbury remained in the basement. Firemen said there was no chance that he would survive the flames.

Dies in Few Minutes.

Peavey died a few minutes after he was brought out. Fortier was taken to his home and Patrick to Hurley hospital.

Clark crawled out to the roof and was taken down a ladder.

The fire broke out at 3:45 a. m. near the roof in the western end of the 40 year old building and fanned by a stiff northwest wind was soon roaring through the greater part of the structure.

Unable to cope with the blaze, aid was called from Bar Harbor.

Sparke were carried for more than two miles by the high winds and authorities said the heavy rains of the past few days which had thoroughly soaked roofs of dwellings and business buildings probably stopped the spread of the fire to the rest of the city.

Sheriff Ward W. Westcott said the loss would reach $175,000.

BLAINE MIXES IN TILT WITH G. O. P. LEADER

Huston Wanted to Explain Data of River Association and Senator Objects; May Produce Records.

Washington, March 14.—(AP)—Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican National committee, became involved in a heated exchange with Senator Blaine of the lobby committee today over the question of Huston’s obtaining records of the Tennessee River Improvement Association which committee members had asked for.

Huston lost the calm that has characterized his appearance before the Senate lobby committee after Blaine had intimated that he might object to a statement that the Republican chairman said he wished to place in the record.

Huston reminded the committee that he had offered to obtain files wanted from J. W. Worthington, who is executive secretary of the Tennessee River Improvement Association, and asked permission when he had done that to place in the record a statement explaining any of the data.

Not the Custom

Blaine replied that it was not customary to permit witnesses to place statements in the record unless they were subjected to questioning concerning the statements.

“We haven’t asked you to do it,” Blaine asserted. “It is your duty to have those records produced.”

“All right, then, I don’t do it,” Huston retorted, explaining that whether it was his duty was a matter of opinion.

“I volunteered to do work which you can’t make me do,” he said. “I don’t think it is fair to go out and get this material and not be permitted to explain it. I volunteered to go as a courtesy to the committee.”

After the hearing ended, Blaine instructed Huston to obtain the records and transmit them to the committee.

Asked later whether he would do it, Huston replied: “I don’t know until I read the record and see what it says.”

“NEVER CONFESSED” CONVICT DECLARES

Moulthrop Says He Never Told Detectives That He Killed Their Companion.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 14.—(AP)—Watson Moulthrop, escaped convict, on a trial with Roland Malone, for the killing of Detective W. D. Smith in a gun battle here last January, denied on the witness stand today that he had ever made a confession while in the Pensacola, Fla., jail, after his capture.

Moulthrop was under rigid cross-examination part of the morning by William A. Hallows, chief prosecutor. He told about his arrest in Pensacola when he and Malone were about to sail for Mobile, Ala.

Fred King, county detective, had testified that Moulthrop confessed to him in Pensacola that he shot the man who was searching their automobile. That man was Detective Smith. But Moulthrop today denied he made such a statement.

Denies Landry’s Story.

Moulthrop denied that he or Malone had ever told Landry they would die before being taken by officers. He said Fred King put those words into Landry’s mouth when

English Woman Discovers Germ Causing Paralysis

London, March 14.—(AP)—The Lancet, British medical journal, today announced discovery of what may prove to be the germ of “disseminated sclerosis,” a degenerative disease of the brain and spinal cord.

The discovery was by Miss Kathleen Chevasut, a young pupil of Sir James Stewart, widely known British medical authority. If substantiated, the Lancet believes that it will rank among the foremost achievements of bacteriology.

Disseminated sclerosis is often responsible for paralysis. It usually steadily progresses, chronic nephri-

AGREEMENT REACHED BETWEEN JAPAN—U. S.

France To Build Up Its Own Guarantees

Paris, March 14.—(AP)—French official circles expressed the feeling today that a guarantee of security for France or even a consultative pact has been thoroughly scrapped at the London conference.

It was added authoritatively that France, having failed to obtain a guarantee of security from the other powers, must build up such a navy as will look after its own guarantee itself. The French figures have been 724,000 tons. It was also mentioned that Italy while insisting upon a parity with France had failed to present the figures of her own requirements.

NO NEW ORDERS.

Washington, March 14.—(AP)—Published reports that President Hoover had sent new instructions to the American delegates at the London naval conference were denied today at the White House.

It added that messages were being received from London as has been the case throughout the conference but that no messages of any nature had been sent to the delegates within the last 72 hours.

So Say Reports from Well Informed Quarters; If Accord Has Been Reached It Is One of Outstanding Features of Conference—Will Mean a Three Power Pact.

London, March 14.—(AP)—The American and Japanese naval delegations were said in well-informed quarters this afternoon to have achieved an agreement which is only dependent on confirmation from the home authorities.

Senator Reed and Ambassador Matsudaira, two old friends who have been threshing out the complicated difficulties between the two countries, met again this morning and observers were led to believe that they had discussed final details.

Big Stumbling Block

The big task which they are reported to have all but accomplished included settlement of the Japanese claim for a 70 per cent cruiser ratio. This has been the outstanding stumbling block since the beginning of negotiations.

Just what settlement is projected was not indicated, but well-informed persons believed it involved, including concessions on both sides.

Observers say that if this agreement has been achieved, it is not only one of the outstanding features of the conference but is of paramount importance at this moment.

This is so because it would permit of a three power agreement between the United States, Great Britain and Japan if the conference failed to settle the French question and the Franco-Italian problem.

The impression obtains in well-informed circles that the United States, Great Britain and Japan have been trying to rush through their agreements so as to get set for a possible three-power pact in the event France and Italy could not participate.

The Japanese demands were the last outstanding questions to be settled among these three powers.

WOMAN PAYMASTER ROBBED OF PAYROLL

Five Men Crowd Her Car to Curb and Escape With $6,000 in Cash.

Somerville, Mass., March 14.—(AP)—Five men in two autos held up a woman bookkeeper of the C. E. Hall and Sons Ink Company here today and escaped with a payroll of about $6,000. The holdup occurred with 100 feet of the company offices.

Bookkeeper Florence E. Kimball, of Brookline, was driving back to the office from bank when the two automobiles of the robbers crowded her car to the curb. Three men jumped from one car, snatched the bag from the woman’s hand and jumped into the other car, in which two men were waiting. They abandoned the first car, but the second was stolen from a Boston dealer.

A group of men in a nearby auto gave chase as the robber fled along the Mystic Boulevard toward Medford. The pursuers lost the speeding car in Somerville, and today the number of the machine of the robbers proved to be that of a Swampscott man from whom it had been stolen.

Today’s Talk May Have a Fateful Bearing on the Conference

Although no official meetings of the delegations have been arranged, the conference from the brink of a precipice, not as head of the British delegation but as chairman of the conference charged with keeping the machinery going, and today Secretary Stimson was hard at work on the negotiations.

No Office Meetings

Today’s talks may have a fateful bearing on the conference although no official meetings of the delegations have been arranged. Prime Minister MacDonald planned to go to Chequers this afternoon and tomorrow will attend the annual British-Scottish rugby game in London. Sunday has been set aside for an important conference with Premier Tardieu of France at which the British and French statesmen will review the whole conference position.

The renewed life of the conference was signaled today by the appointment of a new technical committee to study what changes may be required in the rules under the Washington treaty for scrapping old ships.

SEN. BINGHAM LOSES FIGHT FOR TOBACCO

Washington, March 14.—(AP)—The Senate today declined to reconsider its previous action in denying the House increase of 40 cents a pound in the existing tariff on wrapped tobacco.

Senator Bingham, Republican, Connecticut, proposed reconsideration, but was defeated, 43 to 27. This left rates in the Senate Bill of $2.10 and $2.75 a pound, respectively, on unstemmed and stemmed wrapper tobacco. The House Bill increased each of these duties by 40 cents.

MURDERER EXECUTED

San Quentin, Cal., March 14.—(AP)—Alphonse Reilly, 22 years old, was hanged here at 10 a. m. today for the murder in Los Angeles of Abraham Sandelman, a young shoe clerk, during an attempted hold up a year ago.

YELLOW PERIL, BUGABOO, NELSON TELLS CONGRESS

Wisconsin Representative Says Japan Is True Friend Of U. S.—Says Groups Spread Propaganda.

Washington, March 14.—(AP)—Referring to what he termed the “Bugaboo” of Japanese imperialism, Representative Nelson of Wisconsin, said in the House today that nothing could be more groundless than the assumption that the Japanese conquest of the islands.

Nelson said he had made an extensive study of the problem in the Pacific, and that propaganda which leads Americans to fear Japanese aggression in the Philippines was “false, slanderous, and selfish.”

“It is not a curious fact,” he asked, “that only those who are opposed to Philippine independence are fearful of Japanese imperialism?”

Cites Various Groups

Nelson listed the Philippine-American Chamber of Commerce of New York, the Industrial Workers of the World, the Navy League, the Exclusion League, the American Legion, and the yellow press, among those agencies which he said had at one time or another spread propaganda against Japan because of selfish interests.

“As a part of this propaganda against Philippine independence,” he declared, “members of Congress have received other circulars and letters from financial interests.”

CROSS-CONTINENT RAILROAD READY

Van Sweringens Need But One More Link to Complete the Deal.

Cleveland, March 14.—(AP)—Formation of America’s first trans-Continental railroad system under control of O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringens, is near completion, it was learned in financial circles here today. Only one more railroad is needed to complete the Van Sweringens coast-to-coast chain, according to the information of various railroad financial observers.

Gets Missouri-Pacific.

Already on control of a large railroad system covering northern states from the Atlantic ocean to the Mississippi river, the Van Sweringens, according to good authority have acquired recently a working control of the Missouri Pacific system, which covers important trunk lines as far west as Salt Lake City, as far southwest as El Paso, Texas, and connecting with the International Great Northern railroad from Mexico at Laredo, Texas.

The Missouri Pacific control has been acquired, financial observers said, through quiet buying of its common stock and convertible bonds.

The only remaining link believed necessary to join the Atlantic and Pacific by a railroad system under the Van Sweringens management is the Western Pacific from Salt Lake City to San Francisco.

TREASURY BALANCE.

Washington, March 14.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for March 12 were $8,789,484.33; expenditures $18,162,718.89; balance $685,231.04.

Judge Burrows So Rules on the Application of a Springfield Company.

New Haven, March 14.—(AP)—Holding them to be gambling devices, Judge W. B. Burrows today denied the application of the Royal Vending Machine Company of Springfield, Mass., for an injunction to restrain New Britain police from seizing machines installed in that city.

The applicant was Zello Green, who said he intended to place 150 in stores and shops.

Judge Burrows so defined gambling in his decision filed with the U. S. Court clerk here: “Combining the element of chance with inducement of receiving something for nothing results in gambling.”

Is Gambling Device.

He further said “I am satisfied from the evidence that the petitioners’ machines come under the condemnation of the statute. Operating the machine shows that it also comes within the definition of gambling devices.”

The petition for the injunctions was heard in Hartford.

A similar petition has been filed and heard here by the Eastern Mint Vending Machine Company which

GREAT WHITE WAY MORE MORAL NOW

"Bishop of the Bowery" Tells of Improvement Under the Dry Laws.

Washington, March 14.—(AP)—The lights of New York's "Great White Way" may shine as brightly as they did a decade ago, but there has been a big change for the better under prohibition, in the opinion of John Callahan, sometimes known as the "Bishop of the Bowery," who testified today before the House judiciary committee in support of the Eighteenth Amendment.

I for 16 years, Callahan, as chaplain of the famous Tombs prison, have seen much of the life of those who do not stroll down Fifth avenue in fashionable clothing. A quarter of a century as director of the Hadley Rescue Mission has afforded opportunity for observation.

His story today before the committee was that an "amazing" change had taken place. He asserted it was a change for the better. "Great good," he testified, has been brought about in the Bowery by the dry law.

"Ten years ago there were 44 saloons in the Bowery, next year they dwindled to six," he said.

The witness told in picturesque language of "McGurk's Suicide Hall," the "Tub of Blood" and similar places on the Bowery, which he said had now disappeared.

He said hundreds of men he knew ten years ago had lived "without God and without hope" now had homes, families, autos and radios as a result of prohibition.

"I hope to see the dry law will stay on the books and be more consistently enforced" he declared.

SCHOOL DRAMATISTS IN FASHION SHOW

Hollister Street School Assembly Features Unusual Program This Morning.

A program of unusual interest took place in the assembly of the Hollister street school this morning, when the dramatic club of the seventh and eighth grades presented a fashion show and a play. The fashion show included models from 1890-1930.

As each one appeared, appropriate music of the time was played and sung by a chorus backstage. Those taking part were Marion Warner as Priscilla in 1890, Christine Royce as Nell Gwynn in 1700, the Esther Wells as Betsy Ross in 1775, Ida Poharski as Peggy O'Neil in 1825, Margaret Kompanik as Mary Lincoln in 1865, Florence Bieri as the Bicycle Girl of 1890, Helen Ferrance as the Gibson Girl of 1910, Lucille Brown as the Liberty Belle of 1917, Dorothy Brown as the Flapper of 1925, and Katherine Fike as the Girl of 1930. Those taking part were well chosen, and the costumes were very attractive.

"What Sometimes Happens" was the title of the play presented. Beda Carlson, as the wife who made preparations for a tea, and John Zatkowski, as the husband who forgot to mail the invitations, took their parts well.

SEVEN OVERCOME AT EVERETT FIRE

High into the air swung out towards the firemen and forward the back. Chief Hamann and Everett and Deputy Chief George J. Hatch were half carried and half hauled from the blaze, choking and spluttering from sulphur fumes, and Boston's fire chief, Daniel Sennott, took control. Within a short time he was overcome.

Officials of the company at the scene thought that from 15 to 25 men might have been working in the plant when the first dull roar from the laquer building foretold the blaze. Nobody at the fire seemed quite sure of the exact number working there or whether they all got safely away.

Sulphur fire. Huge sulphur piles in the open at one end of the plant burned one by one as the fire worked along in front of the buildings and as each yellow pile burst into flames, huge clouds of smoke covered even the roof of the flames.

The $500,000 loss didn't anywhere near tell the entire story of the fire, the most disastrous that Everett has ever seen. The constant searers that came from the burning embers that settled down on the huge gasolene and oil tanks of the Beacon Oil Company and spread themselves over the oil soaked marsh lands and the wooden tenements and dropped atop the explosive storage buildings of the chemical company itself formed a story of their own.

SEEKS NEW RECORD

Bridgeport, March 14.—(AP)—Captain Boris Bergevisky, chief pilot of the Sikorsky aviation company, announced today he would attempt tomorrow morning to break the world speed record for seaplanes carrying a load of 2,000 kilograms over a 500 kilometer course.

He will fly five times over Long Island Sound from Fairfield to Execution Point near the Hell Gate Channel, the same course over which he flew yesterday to set a new record of 143.7 miles an hour for a hundred kilometer flight.

The present 500 kilometer record of 111.483 miles an hour is held by Richard Wagner, a German.

Soloist Here

Frederick A. Shipman, bass soloist and guest artist appearing on the program which is being sponsored by the Manchester Mothers' Club on Tuesday next, is well known in local musical circles and comes with an exceptionally wide experience in concert, radio and church work. At the present time Mr. Shipman is bass soloist at the Central Baptist church in Hartford where he has recently completed eighteen years of unbroken service.

TWO SERIOUS CHARGES IN ROCKVILLE COURT

Expressman and Brooklyn St. Resident Arrested for Carnal Abuse of Female Children.

Two men were in Rockville city court this morning both charged with carnal abuse of female children. Both were bound over by Judge John E. Fisk.

Edward Willis, age 63, a widower, of Prospect street, and a veteran expressman, was held in bonds of $2500 after his lawyer, William D. Shew of Hartford waived examination. Although only held on one charge five children appeared to testify against Willis.

Peter Purgall, 32, of Brooklyn street, a married man who has been in court for non-support, faced the same charge. He was not represented and pleaded guilty. He was bound over under bond of $2500.

ABOUT TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Crowell of Highland Park left today for New York and will sail tomorrow, at noon on the S. S. Comte Grande for a vacation to be spent on the Riviera at Villefranche. Mr. and Mrs. Crowell expect to return early in May. They plan to spend some time in Paris and at Chateau Thierry with Rev. and Mrs. Julian Wadsworth, formerly of this town.

Sunset Council Degree of Pocomantas announce a whist party to be held in Tinker hall Monday evening at 8:15, following a short business meeting of the lodge. They will award six prizes as usual and refreshments at a nominal charge. Mrs. Lillian Pentland and her assistants on the entertainment committee will be in charge. All players will be welcome.

Miss Mildred Tinker who is directing the play "The District School at Blueberry Corners" has called a rehearsal for 7 o'clock this evening at the Masonic Temple. The sketch will be presented under auspices of Temple Chapter, O. E. S. on Wednesday evening, March 26 following a short business meeting. Upwards of 25 of the members will take part.

Members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will assemble in the basement of St. James's church at 6:45 o'clock Sunday morning to attend the seven o'clock mass, in honor of St. Patrick, instead of 7:15 o'clock as stated in last night's Herald.

Dilworth-Cornell Post No. 102, will hold its regular monthly meeting at the State Armory, Monday evening, February 24 at 8:15 o'clock. The House Committee will present a program of three boxing bouts. Refreshments will be served by P. H. P. Sullivan. The attendance prize amounts to $21.45.

Lenten Services, to start this evening at 7:30 and end at the 8:30 mass on Sunday in the Polish National Church, were announced today by the priest in charge of the Polish National Church. They are to represent what is known as the Forty Hours Devotions in the Roman Catholic Church, only are reversed in their order. In the Roman Catholic Church the devotions start on Sunday and end on Tuesday.

THIRD SCHOOL DISTRICT MAY ADD 8TH GRADE

A meeting of the officials of the Third school district will be called to consider a proposal that an eighth grade be added to the present school. Since the Ninth district took over the Cheney schools a charge is being made per pupil for those who go to the Ninth district schools and reside outside the district. This charge is $20 a year per pupil.

Some of the third district officials are of the opinion that it would be better policy for the district to send its eighth grade pupils to school within the district rather than to continue them in the Ninth's schools. An eighth grade is added at the Porter street school it means adding also a domestic science and manual labor department.

MRS. WINZLER AWARDED PRIZE FOR BEST MENU

Modern Priscilla Chooses Cedar Street Woman's Entry in Hale's Market Contest.

Mrs. Andrew Winzler, of 105 Cedar street, is the winner of the Wear-ever waterless aluminum cooker awarded by the J. W. Hale Company, for the best balanced dinner menu submitted at Hale's Market. The Modern Priscilla magazine proving plant judged the menus which numbered nearly 300.

The winning menu follows: Cream Soup Broiled Lamb Chops Baked Potato Creamed Peas Mint Jelly Bread and Butter Tomato Salad French Dressing Snow Pudding with Custard Sauce Postum or Coffee

The prize awarded to Mrs. Winzler is a large, 12 quart capacity cooker with two inside half-moon pans and lifting rack. A whole dinner can be cooked at one time, including meat, potatoes, and one or two vegetables besides.

The letter giving the decision to Mrs. Winzler reads as follows: March 13, 1930. The J. W. Hale Company, South Manchester, Conn. Attention: Miss Ethel T. Anderson Gentlemen:

After considering carefully all the menus which were submitted in your contest, we have decided upon No. 7 as best meeting all the requirements of a balanced menu.

Any menu, in order to conform to established principles for balance when judged by itself, must contain some of all the elements necessary to good nutrition; protein for growth and fruits and vegetables for their minerals and vitamins, which are necessary in regulating the body processes, and milk especially for its calcium content.

The menu which we have chosen contains all of these factors. There is a good supply of protein in the lamb chops and also some in the peas and milk that is used in preparing the meal. In the creamed peas and tomato salad there is an adequate supply of vegetables to meet the day's requirement. The snow pudding provides a proportion of lemon juice so that the requirement of a fruit is met. The creamed dessert sauce which is used for the custard takes care of the milk very satisfactorily. The baked potato and bread and butter and French dressing supply enough carbohydrate and fat to complete the caloric requirement.

We have considered not only the nutritive balance in judging the menu but also the aesthetic appeal. A menu to be perfectly balanced must be appetizing and pleasing to the eye, as well as containing specified nutritive elements. In this dinner menu there is no monotony of color and no inharmonious color combination. It shows pleasing contrasts in texture: firm meat, semi-soft vegetables, crisp salad and soft fruits. The flavors, all blend well and there is special appetite appeal in the clear soup and the jelly.

Another point, not considered in judging the merits of the menu, but worthy of mention, is that this menu is excellent for family use. A dinner for even the very young child who is taking his first solid foods can be made up from it.

We hope that you will agree that our choice was a good one. If you use the Fradins Plant name in connection with the news story which you are planning to run, we shall very much appreciate it.

We suggest that in publishing the menu you use the following form: Clear Soup Broiled Lamb Chops Baked Potato Creamed Peas Mint Jelly Bread and Butter Tomato Salad French Dressing Snow Pudding with Custard Sauce Postum or Coffee

BUCKLAND SETBACK TOURNEY RESULTS

The result of the playing in the setback tournament in Buckland last night leaves the Hose Company team in the lead with the Midways second. These two teams have each played one more game than the others and with the Midways on the floor punching for one night it is likely that they will lose their present position, but even with one more game played than the others, the Hose Company team looks like a real leader and promises the other teams a battle to displace them for the first position in the tournament.

The scores as a result of last night's play are as follows: Hose Co. No. 1 1205 Midway 1083 x Hackett 1045 x Lydallville 1025 x Hartman No. 2 1021 x Foley's Express 995 x Buckland 964 x Hartman, No. 1 951 x Hartman, No. 3 831 x Sons of Rest 877 x Wiping 875 High score—Wilworth and Kulguski.

Second—Pickham and Cousen. x—Played 1 night less.

GIFT TO ODD FELLOWS.

Manchester, N. H., March 14.—(AP)—More than $500,000 of estate value at $600,000 is bequeathed to the Odd Fellows Home in Concord under the will of Mrs. May F. Nichols, widow of Elmer P. Nichols, shoe machinery inventor. Tied for probate here today. The home was made residuary legatee.

The Herald Hears

That income tax returns must be in by tomorrow, March 15. That the former site of the car barns at the Center is now used as a baseball diamond by boys living in the vicinity.

That people still insist on crossing the street at the Center in the usual place, despite all warnings, etc., of the police commission.

That basketball was overdone in Manchester this year, proved by the exceptionally small crowds in attendance at the Rec nearly all this year.

Portation companies both show deficits in income for the year, although there was an improvement compared with 1928. In an endeavor or to build up traffic between Hartford and New York, the steamers "Hartford" and "Middletown" were sold by the Hartford and New York England Steamship Co., which has assumed operation of the Connecticut river line. Efforts to improve the service, the report says, have aroused the interest of the sections served by this line; passenger earnings have increased, and the prospects are promising for better results during the coming year in both passenger and freight traffic.

The New Bedford, Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket line has shown continued improvement in freight and passenger traffic.

Passenger traffic on the New York, Westchester & Boston line continues to increase.

The Connecticut Co., has been able to maintain its net income notwithstanding the decrease in gross revenues and continuing large expenditures due to city and state paving programs. Improvement also is reported in the Springfield Street Railway and Worcester Consolidated Street Railways, companies on which $1,850,000 and $2,480,000, respectively, has been spent for additions and improvements since 1927.

The New England Transportation Co., showed a deficit in income for the year, due largely to a falling off in passenger revenues during the latter part of the year, but it is pointed out that the combined results to the Transportation Company and the New Haven from motor coach operations co-ordinated with rail service were most satisfactory. Motor truck freight service was started in the summer of 1929, with 90 trucks now in operation.

Resumption of dividends by the Boston & Maine, after a lapse of 17 years, will increase the New Haven's income approximately $888,000 a year.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Members of the Bulkeley High School, of New London, swimming team were guests at the weekly assembly yesterday. Their presence was due to the swimming meet between Manchester High and Bulkeley High School which took place immediately following the assembly. The assembly was devoted chiefly to singing and the reading of important announcements. Miss Marion Dorward led the singing.

Mr. Quimby related to the assembly the excellency of Manchester High School's debating team being victorious over the Choate debating team. He stated that the local debaters had debated against the same team from both the Yale and Princeton freshmen debating teams. Moreover, the Choate debating team had not suffered a defeat for five years. A hearty applause was given to the three debaters.

Mr. Quimby also announced that the Triangular Debates will be held next Wednesday, March 19. The question for this debate is "Resolved that the trial by jury should be abolished." The affirmative side of this question will be upheld by local debaters at Manchester, while the negative team will debate the question at Middletown. Margaret Quinn will be the first speaker for the affirmative; Austin Johnson, the second; and Charlotte Rubinow, the third. Miss Quinn will be allowed eight minutes for her main speech, and both Johnson and Miss Rubinow will be allowed seven minutes. All the members of this team possess a large amount of experience and ability in speaking, and, together, they comprise a well-balanced debating team. With one exception, Manchester has a record of straight victories in all its home Triangular debates. The one exception was Middletown's close victory over Manchester's team last year. The admission fee to the debate Wednesday night will be small and a good-sized attendance is expected. Max Goodstein will be the alternate for local debaters. His duty is to be prepared to speak in the place of any of the speakers who might be unable to deliver his speech and to aid in compiling the rebuttal material. Each speaker will be allowed five minutes in which to deliver his rebuttal.

Beatrice Lauffer will be the first speaker on the negative team. Her main speech will last eight minutes, and she will be allowed five minutes for her rebuttal. John Lloyd will be the next speaker on the negative team. Incidentally, he is the only sophomore to be a speaker on the Triangular debating teams this year. Carle Cuberly will be the last speaker on the negative team. Both he and Lloyd will be allowed seven minutes for their main speeches and five minutes for their rebuttals. Should they lose their debate in Middletown and should Meriden also lose her debate with Middletown, the H. Wales Lines cup would go to Middletown for permanent possession. Manchester's negative team, however, is a strong one and

At the assembly yesterday Mr. Quimby paid tribute to the splendid achievements of Joseph McCuskey, who graduated from Manchester High School as a member of the class of '29. Mr. Quimby stated that some day Manchester High School will take great pride in mentioning that McCuskey had graduated from it, as he is said by experts to have a bright future before him as a runner.

Many pupils were excused from the afternoon session today in order that they might attend the basketball games at the Yale tournament. For those who were not able to go to New Haven a social hour was held after school. The results of the Manchester-West-Haven game were announced by quarters at the same hour. West Haven has a record of having won eleven games and lost three.

The Torch Club has been presenting a series of moving pictures in order to raise funds for carrying on its work. On Tuesday the club gave a movie benefit, charging fifteen cents for admission. The moving pictures are shown in a room especially provided for this purpose in the basement of the Franklin Building. On March 21 "The Electric Ship," a moving picture, will be shown under the auspices of the same club. Mr. Wigren, of the mathematics department, will address this freshman club on a very interesting topic, "War Experiences," on April 4. The Torch Club will present another moving picture, "Log of a Lubber" on April 18. On May 9 Mr. Potter, who is a history teacher in the main building and is connected with the night school, will entertain the club with a speech. The last moving picture shown on May 23, and it is entitled, "The Happy Landing." Mr. Quimby and Mr. Robinson will be the guest-speakers at a meeting of the club on June 6. This schedule is evidence of the activeness of the Torch Club.

Next week's assembly will be held on Friday instead of on Thursday. On Thursday, during the seventh period, the seniors will be able to see slides picturing their proposed Washington Trip.

On next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday a photographer will establish his apparatus in one of the High School offices for the purpose of taking the individual pictures of the members of the senior class to be used in the Commencement issue of Somanhis. If necessary, the photographer will remain on Thursday also.

E. HARTFORD MYSTERY REMAINS UNSOLVED

Hartford, March 14.—(AP)—The brutal killing of Mrs. Frances Sylvester, 50 year old East Hartford woman, may go down on the records as the fourth unsolved murder in that town in recent years, as police today admitted that they had failed to uncover a single valuable clue in the case, after three days of intensive investigation.

Another effort to find the instrument used in inflicting the wounds on the woman's head, was scheduled for this afternoon, when the East Hartford police intend to drag the woods in the marshes surrounding the spot where the body was found, using a powerful magnet.

YOUNG PRESIDENT RULES DOMINGO

Gen. Rafael Urena Is Considered One of Country's Best Orators.

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic. (AP.)—The new president of the Dominican Republic is probably the youngest man to rule this tempestuous Caribbean land since the days of Christopher Columbus. General Rafael Estrella Urena, successor to Horacio Vasquez, who was forced out by a brief and virtually bloodless revolution, is scarcely 40 years old and does not look that. With a pleasant, youthful smile he makes a good impression on all whom he meets, and is rated as one of the foremost orators of the country. He is slight in build. Estrella Urena long had hoped to achieve the presidency but he never dreamed that he would be catapulted into it so suddenly. Less than two weeks before he became provisional president, Estrella Urena had agreed to run for the vice-presidency on a coalition ticket. He considered that if he was elected and became popular in office, he might some day aspire to the presidency.

Is Now President
Now he is president, but the circumstances which placed him in office will prevent his being a candidate for that or any other office at a regular election. As to his administration, he has difficulties immediate and future. First, there was the drafting of a Cabinet. Among the first appointments and those considered for the remaining posts, eight in all, there were no less than five potential candidates for the presidential nomination. Not all of them can be nominated and only one can be elected at a "free and fair" election which the president hopes for. Financial difficulties. Then there are financial difficulties. The foreign debt will be cared for through the American Customs receivership, established 25 years ago and which has met all external obligations promptly. But little will be left to restore over to the republic once the debt service is provided for. Other sources of revenue are limited. Also there are the personal demands of friends. In a small country such as Santo Domingo everybody more or less knows everybody else. It is difficult to say no, and be popular in office. Many a presidential career has been wrecked because there were not jobs and salaries enough to satisfy all.

MANNING REGAINING USE OF ARMS, LEGS

Has Fractured Vertebra; Condition Still Serious. Hospital Reports Today.

The condition of Arthur R. Manning of Hillstown Road, remained practically unchanged today at the Memorial hospital where he was taken after a 20 foot fall from a shed he was helping erect for the Woodland Tobacco company near Laurel Park. Some improvement was seen in the fact that Mr. Manning was beginning to regain the use of his arms and legs which were paralyzed by the fall. His condition, however, remains serious. There is a fracture of a vertebra between the shoulder blades and several cracked ribs are also feared. Mr. Manning is 68 years old.

WOMEN SHOULD LEARN USES OF MAGNESIA

To women who suffer from nausea, or so-called "morning sickness," this simple measure is proving a blessing. Most nurses know it and it is advised by leading specialists.
Prepare a small quantity of finely cracked ice about a wineglassful. Pour over it a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Sip slowly until the mixture is gone or you are entirely relieved. It is seldom necessary to repeat the dose to sick stomach or any inclination to vomit.
Its anti-acid properties enable Phillips Milk of Magnesia to give immediate relief in heartburn, sour stomach, gas, its mild, but effective laxative action assures regular bowel movement. Used as a mouthwash it helps prevent acid erosion and tooth decay during expectancy.
With every bottle of Phillips Milk of Magnesia, come full directions for its many uses. All drug stores have the 25c and 50c sizes. Demand the genuine, endorsed by doctors for over 50 years.
"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and it preceded, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.—Adv.

DOCTOR TITLE STRIPPED FROM PLASTIC SURGEON

Chicago, March 14.—(AP)—The State of Illinois has stripped the title of "Doctor" from Henry J. Schireson, self-styled "greatest of plastic surgeons."
An order revoking Schireson's license, signed yesterday by Michael F. Walsh, director of education and registration, culminated charges brought by Miss Sayde Holland that Schireson induced her to submit to an operation "to straighten her bow legs". As a result of the operation, it was necessary to amputate both legs.
Dr. M. L. Harris, president of the American Medical Association, headed the state medical committee which heard the charges against Schireson.
Among other things, Dr. Harris reported it found that Miss Holland did not have bow legs; that Schireson was not of good moral character; that he had been the owner of a "quack institute and had twice served prison terms for quackery."
Among the celebrities Schireson listed as patients were Fannie Brice, "Peaches" Browning, Trully Shattuck and Sophie Tucker.

MRS. TAFT'S SISTER DIES.

Washington, March 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Helen H. Taft, widow of the late Chief Justice, has received word of the death of her sister, Mrs. Charles Anderson, at Paris, France.
The death occurred yesterday, resulting from a sudden heart attack. Mrs. Taft was informed by a cablegram received last night.

Now Is The Time to make arrangements for the spraying of your fruit trees for the control of the San Jose Scale.

Also, it is advisable to place your order for the spraying of your fruit trees and shade trees at your earliest convenience. ### LOCATE PYRAMIDS IN MEXICAN WILDS

American Fliers Stumble on Ruins While Following Tiger's Trail.

Mexico City.—(AP)—Following a tiger's trail through thick jungle on a huge mesa in the state of Vera Cruz led Charles M. Drayton, pilot of the Mexican Aviation Company, and his companions, J. G. Philen, Jr., and F. O. Willy of Brownsville, to discovery of two pyramids about 50 feet high.

The pyramids were six miles apart and connected with a broad river highway running straight across the mesa.

Nearby was the ruin of an edifice which might have been an ancient Aztec temple or one of the first jungle churches constructed by the conquerors. Its state and the fact that the jungle had almost reclaimed this, as well as the pyramids and highway, kept the men from discovering whether it was Aztec or Spaniard.

First White Men
The discoverers of the ruins believe they are the first white men ever to see the ruins, inasmuch as none of the Indians resident there had any knowledge of the pyramids. The men stumbled upon the ruins by pure accident as jungle growth hid them even within a yard of the base.

The men were chopping their way through the jungle when suddenly they came to a low stone wall. Just ahead of this they saw what appeared to be a small hill rising, but examination disclosed that it was a pyramid of seven terraces, about 200 feet along the base, and 80 feet high. On top were several sacrificial stones and a shaft which had been filled with debris.

Discovers Highway
Leading from the pyramid the men found a highway paved with cut stone which led for six miles across the mesa, and at the other end of this road, they discovered another pyramid, almost identical.

In the open spaces of the mesa, which is completely uninhabited, they discovered hundreds of burial mounds, some of which were twenty feet high. There were also innumerable wells, faced with rock and still serviceable, going to a great depth to rock.

Unable to Land
The number of burial mounds and wells on the open surface of the mesa kept the men from landing their airplane on top of the table land and they had to set up camp six hours distant by horseback.

The ruins are 125 miles southwest of Tampico, about 80 miles from the gulf, and only 100 miles in an airplane from Mexico City.

When the men told Indians living on lower plateaus of their find, Indians recalled a legend of how their predecessors had uncovered a golden image which had been lost when a terrific tropical storm and nightfall preyed on the superstitions of the Indians, causing them to flee after throwing away the treasure. The legendary edifice had never been discovered by the modern Indians.

That, led the three discoverers to believe, that perhaps gold in considerable extent lies buried about the ruins or in the burial mounds, inasmuch as it is known that the Aztecs of that period possessed gold in such quantities that it was used for a great variety of purposes.

The men are planning an organized expedition to the ruins within a few months.

NO "HAMBURGER" IN BERLIN
Berlin, (AP).—What used to be called "liberty steak" in America during the war is not, as one might imagine, known here by a 100 per cent German name. Those who eat "hamburger" in Berlin get it by ordering "Deutsches Beefsteak." The way to get sauerkraut, however, is to ask for sauerkraut.

FIRST AID, HOME REMEDY WEEK IS MARCH 16-23

The Good Samaritan is pictured as "The First First Aid" in the national reminder which has been sent to druggists all over America, announcing the ninth anniversary of "First Aid—Home Remedy Week," fixed for March 16-23. The idea of an advertising-merchandising once-a-year drive timed with spring housecleaning was given to the drug world by Sterling Products, Incorporated, in 1922. Preparedness for meeting accident or sudden illness is emphasized as a sensible and reasonable sales plan which serves to alleviate needless suffering and undoubtedly save life.

The National Association of Retail Druggists sponsored this advertising plan and later added Pharmacy Week as an autumn festival for intensive advertising and salesmanship in the drug world.

The National Wholesale Druggists Association and the National Association of Drug Clerks have joined the N. A. R. D. in establishing both these festivals of selling as Spring and Autumn fixtures for the welfare of humanity.

"Fill That Medicine Chest Now" is the slogan of "First Aid—Home Remedy Week" and has been from the beginning. It was Dr. William E. Weiss, General Manager of Sterling Products, Incorporated, himself a graduate from the ranks of retail druggists, who first saw the value of "First Aid—Home Remedy Week," and wherever live-wire druggists have co-operated by showing a window filled with suggestive first aids both for accident or illness, and using their home newspaper advertising space, they have added cheerfully to their March business.

Friday
Breakfast: Cottage cheese, sliced pineapple, Melba toast. Lunch: Cooked carrots and peas, Raw spinach, baked parsnips, Sliced tomatoes, Jello or Jell-well.

Saturday
Breakfast: Coddled egg, crisp bacon, Toasted Shredded Wheat Biscuit. Lunch: Baked potato, Salad of chopped celery, peas and shredded raw cabbage. Dinner: Broiled steak with mushrooms, baked ground beef, Salad of cold cooked asparagus, Minced prunes in gelatin, whipped cream.

*Cream of spinach soup:—Thoroughly wash one or more bunches of spinach in several waters to remove all grit, not discarding the wilted leaves, as they may be used in this soup. Place in heavy kettle with small amount of water and cook slowly until tender enough to put through a sieve. Return spinach and liquid to fire, adding enough milk and cream (half and half) to make thickened amount of soup. Let become hot but do not boil. Serve with a sprinkling of grated cheese and thin strips of Melba toast.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(J. L. Nose)
Question:—J. L. writes:—"A person who has never tasted liquor always has a red nose. What is the cause, and is there any way to 'bleach' it?"

Answer: A red nose is always the result of intestinal putrefaction. Such intestinal putrefaction is always present with one who drinks a great deal, but is found also with those who are food drunkards and those who are troubled with constipation and auto-intoxication. A red nose will gradually become lighter in color when the causes are removed, but sometimes it is not entirely possible to reduce all of the enlarged veins which have formed. A good treatment to use is to rub ice over the nose and face two or three times daily. This will help the circulation and tends to contract the smaller blood vessels of the nose.

(Sulphur and Molasses)

Question:—J. H. L. asks: "Is the old-fashioned remedy of sulphur and molasses good for the blood? This was always given us in the spring when we were children."
Answer: There is no question but what this old-fashioned remedy is of some value in that it produces

Wise Mother

Here are Len and Wally, husky young sons of Mrs. M. Parri, 343 Fortieth St., Brooklyn, N. Y. Their mother's experience shows what can be done to keep children robust. She says: "Since I found out how good California Fig Syrup is, I have kept some in the house. It always helps my boys. I give it for colds."
When your child's breath is bad, tongue is coated, or is headachy, bilious, feverish, without appetite or energy, give him a little California Fig Syrup. See how its gentle cleansing helps a child. Appetite, digestion and assimilation improve, stomach and bowels are toned and strengthened.
The genuine always bears the word California. So look for that when buying. Seven million bottles used a year proves its merit.—Adv.

more copious intestinal elimination, but it is much better to take a fruit fast for a few days and more thoroughly cleanse the whole system. A fruit fast is the best spring remedy.

(Vibrators)

Question:—C. Y. asks: "Is the use of a vibrator of any value in reducing high blood pressure?"
Answer: An electrical vibrator can be of value in treating various parts of the body, providing it is used by a physician or someone who thoroughly understands its use. It is of little value and may cause harm in the hands of one who does not understand physiology, the distribution of nerves, blood vessels, etc. In the hands of a skilled operator it may have some effects in reducing high blood pressure through the vibrating effect upon hypertension of the arteries.

STRIKE DELAYS LINER.

Paris, March 13.—(AP)—The French line was unable to reach an agreement with the Seamen's Union, members of which aboard the liner Paris struck last night at the hour the vessel was due to sail for New York. At headquarters of the line today it was said the Paris probably would sail tonight.

ly summed up in "billions," it is difficult to see how the billions could have been saved by prohibition, even granting that the liquor traffic was completely suppressed.

We doubt, however, whether any really informed dry would make the claim that prohibition is more than 75 per cent enforced—some of their most notable leaders put it at 80 per cent. But assuming that there is only one-fourth as much intoxicating drink consumed as there was previous to prohibition (the wets insist there is more drinking instead of less), we must take into consideration the circumstance that the drinker now pays at least six dollars a quart for liquor that in those days cost him a dollar and a quarter—to be generous, let us say four times as much. So that even if prohibition were three quarters successful from a sociological and moral point of view there wouldn't be a nickel of saving in the booze bill.

There is quite a difference between a minus nickel and "billions" of dollars.

But not more than there is between the facts of prohibition and the rosy dream of these ladies who are down there in Washington instructing Congress.

"OLD IRONSIDES"

"That ancient hooker 'Old Ironsides,' nee 'Constitution,' has climbed aboard the ocean and will soon be rigging and trotting about the country's coast line to give the boys and girls an idea of what the old navy looked like in the days of canvas engines.

We heartily wish that she might come sailing, some day, up the Hockanum—she almost could—so that any of the Manchester boys and girls, or older people, who may have contributed to the fund for the reconstruction of the old frigate could have a chance to see in toto a whole hundred thousand dollars of "repairs" can, with sufficient ingenuity, be jammed.

We would like to have a contract to build a brand new "Constitution," from keelson to maintrunk, timbers, planked, finished, rigged and painted precisely as "Old Ironsides" was the day she took the water on the day of her christening, for a hundred thousand dollars. By sub-letting the contract to any wooden ship-building concern between Bath, Me., and Noank, we should expect to clean up fifteen or twenty thousand dollars clear profit. Yet if we are not mistaken the "repairs" on the old ship have cost the contributors something like a quarter of a million dollars. And if anybody outside of a naval architect can find those dollars, converted into we don't care what, in the carcass of this little wooden ship or in her armament and equipment, he will have Sherlock Holmes and his microscope beaten to a frazzle.

It's a lucky thing for this country that ideas were less wildly extravagant in the days when the Constitution first took to the seas—else we should have been either navyless or bankrupt.

DIGEST'S POLL

The first tabulation of votes in the Literary Digest's prohibition poll is of course of no value as an analysis of public sentiment, as the total of the ballots recorded is less than one and a half per cent of the total number in the poll. Not until many times as many individuals have registered their opinions will any significance whatever attach to the figures. If there is any interest in the statistics, however, it may be that it lies in the comparative votes for repeal and modification as measured against the Digest's poll on the same subject eight years ago. Then the vote for repeal of the Eighteenth amendment was, in the first compilation, only a little more than two-thirds of that for modification. The present figures show a considerably greater number for repeal than for modification. However, the time for making any deductions from the poll is not yet.

CAPITAL LETTERS

A critical correspondent finds fault with the New York World because it capitalizes the word Negro and does not capitalize white man. He points out that if capitalization goes to such words as Caucasian, Mongolian, Ethiopian and so on it is because they are derived from proper nouns, whereas Negro is merely the exact equivalent of black man. Hottentot or Bantu, he says, should be capitalized as the names of nationalities, like the French or Chinese are, or, as that of a distinctive group, like the Jews.

If this critic only knew it he has hit upon a bone of contention that has been wrangled over in every newspaper office in America at some time or another, in most of them frequently. There are a few papers which "keep down" the word negro but most of them capitalize it.

This newspaper is one of the latter. And it doesn't pretend to be able to support its decision by any very profound logic. We don't, for that matter, have to. The Herald "keeps up" Negro for the sole reason that literate Negroes for a great many years complained that it was by way of being a slight upon them when nationalities or national derivatives were given capital letters and their own race was not. They objected to such contrasting combinations as "A Yankee, an Irishman and a negro." And because it was an easy way to keep from hurting the feelings of a large and sensitive group, newspapers began to use the capital N—this one among them.

If there is any other crowd that feels aggrieved because it doesn't get capitals, be it the Visiting Firemen, the Fight Fans or the Drys, all it has to do is to let us know and we'll elevate it to capital letter distinction on the composing room style board. We're not so fussy.

OPPORTUNITY

It is announced that a ninth planet of the solar system has been discovered, the third in three thousand years. Now what do you suppose the Standard Oil crowd will do about that?

IN NEW YORK

New York, March 14.—Just a few amusing little sidelights glimpsed along the line of march. . . .

It was at the extremely swanky Central Park Casino the other night. They were putting on a "black and gold" pageant by way of spring opening. And the ballet of the evening was an ever-so-sophisticated allegory depicting a modern marriage. The general idea was that modern marriage is a ceremonial preface to a future divorce. Thus, so went the theme of the dance-story, the marriage and divorce might as well be celebrated at the same time. Across a gay gala ex- prior ran this somewhat somber commentary with marriage and divorce present at the same altar.

Very well! But it so happened that two tables from the spot where I sat was Dudley Field Malone, the lawyer who does such a rushing business in divorces—and he, with his latest wife, having himself recently unlocked old handcuffs only to put them on again. And at other tables I counted from six to nine society folk who have figured in divorce actions within the past couple of years.

All rather appropriate, I thought.

Then there's the case of one of the most successful comic artists in America. His income has run into huge sums. His drawings were considered more than passingly sophisticated. And so he went rural. He took a farm well out of town, raised horses, dogs, chickens, cows and grain. Faster than he could make money it went into the place. There were times when he was all but in hock.

Everyone thought he was sitting on top of the world. Everyone envied him. Everyone thought his pockets would be lined with gold. But it appears that his wife held the purse strings, and loosed them on her interurban urge. So that the time came when, ironically enough, if he wanted a dollar, he had to ask his wife for it.

He began to wonder what was the use of money if you never had it. And being as careless as many artists, he didn't bother much for a time. But it seems that he had a certain hobby for picking up antiques in curio stores, wandering about and purchasing an old vase or a candelabra. He seldom would have the money to pay for it but his reputation allowed him to take it away. Then he would have an argument over getting the money to meet the bill. Ofttimes he would be refused the amount he needed.

And so there came a family rift. He's back in the city now and his wife clings to the farm. The estrangement is fairly serious. And the other day, so a friend told me, someone mentioned the matter of getting spring bulbs and shoots for trees. "Trees!" he exclaimed. "There's a half mile of them along my farm path you can have. I never want to see a tree again."

Which shows what can happen when a city guy goes rural.

And there's the case of one of the most widely ballyhooed dancers to hit this town in many a day. For three years producers had tried to obtain her services, but she would balk and never come down. Her price went steadily up. When finally she got here, a $10,000 bond had been put up by a revue producer to guarantee her against possible managerial differences. Two dressing rooms had been set aside and one was fitted up at considerable expense in ultra-modernistic fashion. On the opening night the audience all but laughed and jeered her from the stage. She was an overnight flop. Within a week she was "out" and the ten thou was surrendered.

NERVE CONTROL

Many people fly hither and thither from one thing to another like bees from one flower to another. This is due to a definite purpose and gathers honey, but these people do not accomplish anything because they do not stick to one purpose.

Aimless wandering or restlessness, or interminably talking without saying anything, are indications of poor nerve training and control. Very few people have developed the ability to sit still and relax or to conserve energy for definite accomplishment.

Almost everyone wastes vitality and energy by numerous purposeless movements caused by nervous habits. Some of these habits may be listed as follows: Restless movements of the hands and feet or head; inability to sit still; shrugging of the shoulders; swinging the legs; tapping with the toes or fingers; inability to concentrate; worrying about making a costly error or irretrievable mistake; lighting a cigarette only to throw it away and light another; trembling of the lips or hands; flying off the handle and indulging in tantrums; continual chewing of gum, candy, toothpicks or matches, etc.; inability to sleep soundly, and the habit of allowing such destructive emotions as worry, fear and jealousy to gain power.

Nervous people usually have a combination of several of these methods for wasting energy. It seems that the body only manufactures a certain amount of energy a day, and when this is wasted through useless nervous habits there is not enough left for the really important things in life.

Sometimes these habits are very difficult to correct, because the nerves may be irritated by toxic substances in the blood stream, or the nerves may actually seem to develop the routine habit of dispersing the nervous energy through these wasteful channels as soon as it forms.

In attempting to overcome nervousness, it is highly important to pay strict attention to the diet. All drugs, stimulants and irritants must be rigorously excluded as should the sugars and starches, at least for a time, as carbohydrates tend to stimulate the nervous system. A special effort should be made to use a diet rich in fresh vegetables; also proteins such as meat and fish; a diet of fruits and raw milk. It is also a good plan to try to rest and relax for about twenty-five minutes in the middle of the day away from phones and callers. Keep the eyes closed and breathe deeply during

SOME ENCOURAGING SIGNS
 (Waterbury Republican)

Two new developments in the naval parity situation are significant and encouraging. One is Secy. Stimson's reply to American critics of the course of the conference that present agreements at London will allow the United States to reduce its tonnage 200,000 tons from the total of ships built, building and appropriated for. The other is the change of heart which Sen. Moses seems to have experienced. It is let it be known that he, one of the strongest of the "isolationists," would not oppose a consultative pact such as might mollify France, and which would be similar to the four power Pacific pact.

Of the two developments, Sen. Moses' new attitude is the more promising. Since Secy. Stimson did not explain how he arrived at his figures he has caused a good deal of skepticism.

Sen. Moses' statement, on the other hand, is distinctly encouraging. It is believed in many circles that President Hoover's refusal to consider a political pact with European nations was largely the result of a conviction that the Senate would not ratify any treaty which included such a pact. If the administration has some assurance that the Senate would consider such a pact, might indeed look more kindly on that than on an increased cruiser program, the way might be clear toward opening the way for those negotiations.

A book borrowed by one North Carolinian of another has been returned after 40 years. The current issue of the Saturday Evening Post, ought to hold the borrower for the next 40 years.

HOME DYNAMITED
 Chicago, March 14.—(AP)—The home of William Evans, president of the suburban village of Broadview, was bombed early today for the second time in less than two months.

The bomb, placed at the head of the steps leading to the front porch, wrecked the porch and broke every window in the two story house.

Evans was in bed and was not injured.

Evans said he had received no warnings before either of the attacks and knew of no reason for them.

WASHINGTON LETTER
 BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer
 Washington, March 14.—As soon as the tariff bill gets out of Congress—and the Senate is now putting the finishing touches on it before the bill goes to conference—Washington will become a dumping ground for all the political dope from the campaigns leading up to the Congressional primaries and elections.

Already some of this dope is trickling in and, for what it may be worth, tends to favor some of the more outstanding senators among those who are up for re-election this year for another six-year term. For instance, Couzens of Michigan, Walsh of Montana, Norris of Nebraska and Grundy of Pennsylvania. On the other hand, from Alabama one hears that the skids have been pretty definitely placed under Tom Heflin.

Prohibition Issue Rises
 The wet and dry issue apparently is going to figure as importantly in Congressional elections as it has in any non-presidential election year since prohibition, if not more so.

Out in Nebraska, George W. Norris, the notorious independent progressive Republican, now faces the pleasant prospect of a divided field of candidates. The candidates definitely entered against him for the nomination in the August primaries are State Treasurer W. M. Stebbins and Lieut-Gov. George A. Williams. Both Stebbins and Williams insist they will stay in the primary fight to the bitter end, but there have been recent reports that former Governor Samuel R. McKelvie, a member of the Federal Farm Board, may after all decide to enter the race.

In that case sufficient pressure might be brought on Stebbins and Williams to cause them to withdraw and leave the situation a two-man fight between Norris and McKelvie. The recent drop in wheat prices, however, has been calculated to dampen McKelvie's hopes.

The anti-Norris candidate or candidates will have the support of Anti-Saloon League officials who want Norris punished for supporting Al Smith in 1928, and the support of public utility and other corporations and standpat Republicans who resent the incumbent senator's failure to take orders from President Hoover. Other members of the Nebraska Congressional delegation believe McKelvie is reasonably sure to be returned, but think the contest may develop into an interesting fight.

NASH engineering has built an amazing amount of extra value and extra satisfaction into the 1930 Nash "400's." You will not find the oil-cushioned chassis in any other car at the Nash price. Eventually, perhaps, but not now. And Nash offers you this superior chassis protection in both the Twin-Ignition Eight and Six. All Nash models, even the lowest priced, are equipped with an efficient, modern system of centralized chassis lubrication which eliminates the bother and uncertainty of hand greasing. In addition the Twin-Ignition Eight and Six have permanently lubricated springs, encased in steel spring covers. This means chassis bearings, including spring shackle bolts and springs, constantly bathed in oil. No squeaks, creaks or rust—longer life! And you will find the "400" price no higher than that of other cars without this valuable safeguard.

OVERFACING PRACTICE HIT BY FRUIT EXPERT

Declares Deceit Is Not Necessary to Sell Connecticut's High Quality Apples.

Hartford, March 14.—Overfacing, the art of "topping off," has lost little, if any, of its charm since the day Eve pushed the apple before tempting Adam, declares Earl H. Hodge, Assistant Director of the Connecticut Bureau of Markets in denouncing the poor selling practices of many fruit men.

"The habit of overfacing apples in Connecticut still persists. Farmers, wholesalers, jobbers, commission men and hucksters are all implicated. Some farmers 'top off' their packages of their own accord while others do so at the request of the wholesaler, jobber, commission man or huckster."

"This deceitful practice has developed to a point where the buyer (either wholesale or retail) expects to receive an overfaced package when purchasing fruit. The habit has become so strongly fixed in the minds of some packers that it is practiced unconsciously. Others more honestly inclined are evading the law because it seems to be 'the thing to do.'"

"Who derives the benefits from overfacing—and who loses? Do those who practice this art think they are selling their goods more easily or are they getting more money for overfaced goods? Do overfacers think they are hoodwinking the buying public or does the buying public demand overfaced goods and show a willingness to pay a premium for them?"

"The profits derived from commercial fruit growing in Connecticut depend largely upon consumer satisfaction and repeat orders. It seems quite impossible that the woman buyer will be satisfied and return to a source where she had been deceived into buying an overfaced package."

"It has been truly said, 'You can fool all of the people all of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time.' Connecticut apple growers in general are complaining of serious effects of competition from shipped-in fruits upon the Connecticut-apple industry. Is it reasonable to believe that the consumption of native apples can be increased when these apples are sold in overfaced packages?"

"Who receives the benefit and who takes the loss from overfacing? Although the wholesaler may blame the farmer, the wholesaler certainly does not benefit from handling this type of goods. In spite of the fact that the farmer blames the wholesaler for demanding overfaced apples, the farmer himself is the ultimate loser due to decreased purchases on the part of the woman buyer."

"After all, we are dealing with a human problem. It is human nature to show the best we have and quite natural to put our best apples on top. Just how large a part we should let misguided instinct play when we are trying to build up a reputation for the Connecticut apple is a question that each fruit packer must give due consideration."

"It should be clearly understood that although overfacing is altogether too common an increasing number of reliable and conscientious growers who have a well-earned reputation for placing a high-grade, honest pack on the market."

ROCKVILLE

D. A. R. Meeting

Sabra Trumble Chapter, D. A. R., held its March meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the home of the vice-regent, Mrs. Charles H. Allen. Mrs. Walter H. Skinner, regent, presided. An invitation was received from Mary Silliman Chapter, Bridgeport to the 37th Annual State Conference to be held in that city next Thursday and Friday. Members desiring tickets are asked to notify Mrs. Skinner before March 15. Mrs. Lewis McLaughlin, chairman of inter-town relations, gave a short talk on the Monroe Doctrine. Mrs. Lester Martin, chairman of patriotic education, reported on the box sent to the Pine Mountain Settlement school. Miss Katherine Nettleton, state regent, gave a resume of the work done by the Connecticut chapter during the year. Harold Ransom sang two numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Herbert Schwartzgauer.

Lieut. Governor Ernest Rogers was introduced by Mrs. Allen and spoke interestingly on "some Patriotic Origins." Miss Emaline Striet, state vice-regent gave a short talk on Americanism. Refreshments were served by a committee, Mrs. Charles Allen, Mrs. Jesse Favor, Mrs. F. H. Belding, Mrs. J. Steele, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Metcalf, Mrs. Kemp, Mrs. Heck and Mrs. McChristie.

Special Town Meeting There will be a special town meeting at 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening and a tax rate not to exceed 15 mills is expected to be laid. The exact rate to be laid cannot be stated definitely in view of the fact that state treasurer was unable to tell First Selectman Francis J. Prichard today the amount the town will receive from the corporation tax.

Badges For W. R. C. Burpee Woman's Relief Corps will present service badges to all who have been members of the organization for twenty-five years or more, with bars for each additional five years. These will be presented at the meeting to be held in G. A. R. Hall next Wednesday evening, March 19. Those who will receive badges are: Mrs. Maria Newell, badge and three bars, 44 years; Mrs. Mary Brigham, badge and three bars, 44 years; Mrs. Sophia Chapman, badge and three bars, 44 years; Mrs. Anna Dickinson, badge and three bars, 40 years; Miss Sara Wicks, badge and two bars, 39 years; Mrs. Stanton, badge and two bars, 36 years; Edith Rich, badge and one bar, 33 years; Isabelle Newell, badge and one bar, 33 years; Laura Wendtner, badge and one bar, 32 years.

Mrs. Emmeline Ludwig and Mrs. Alice Kingston.

Anna Club Speaker T. J. Abernethy, principal of the Westfield, Mass. High school, will be the speaker at the next meeting of the Lions club, which will be held at the Rockville House on Wednesday next. His subject will be "Flying Fool." Mr. Abernethy served as an aviator in the World War and brought down four enemy planes. He is a professional lecturer and has given this talk in many places. He is a personal friend of Rev. George S. Brookes, pastor of Union Congregational church, and was a teacher at the High school at Ellsworth, Maine, when the former was pastor there.

Taking Local Census Frederick J. Cooley and Robert McNeill, are taking the mercantile census of the city, the former taking the upper part of the city, while Mr. Cooley is covering the lower end, with Market street as the dividing line. William Pinney of Ellington is taking the census on many of the tobacco farms of the state.

Legion Auxiliary At the meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary held in G. A. R. Hall on Wednesday the membership drive ended. The team headed by Mrs. Lena Hewitt won the contest. That in charge of Miss Emma Batz being the loser. Nine new members were added to the organization. The losing team will serve refreshments at the next meeting.

STREET OF CHANCE A HUMAN PICTURE

Stars William Powell as Gambler Who Can't Shake Habit—More Stamps for Kids Tomorrow.

"Streets of Chance", William Powell's first starring picture, which will be seen at the State today and Saturday, is entirely different from any picture you have ever seen before. It is a real picture, just made for the suave artistry of William Powell. He is the lord of all gamblers in the big metropolis. He is alike whimsical, humorous, affectionate and sinister. He loves his wife, but he loves gambling even more. He loves his brother and he hates the idea of him becoming a gambler like himself. He tries to save his wife and brother from the sinister influences which hold him.

Against the death-laden atmosphere of big time gambling he struggles for better, cleaner things. He loses the love of his wife—but he saves his brother from the threat of a career like his own. He loses his life in accomplishing this high purpose. Here indeed, is a picture that will hold you in vise-like grip of suspense from beginning to end—and after it is all over, you will wonder that this high-stake gambler could win your sympathy. That's human. Powell is capably supported by an excellent cast including Jean Arthur, Kay Francis and Regis Toomey.

Berthold's Strong Finish Beats Kebart by 83 Pins

Local Town Champ Gets Away to Good Start But Can't Keep Fast Pace.

Art Berthold, Rockville's classy duckpin artist, had little trouble defeating Charlie Kebart, local town champion, last night in the first half of a home and home bowling match at Joe Farr's alleys by 83 pins. A big crowd witnessed the match. Berthold took a lead of about 40 pins in the first three games but was able to win only one of the remaining seven. With two to go, Berthold was up eight timbers but he turned in score of 157 and 144 to make the match one-sided at the finish.

HARTFORD CASINOS BEAT LOCAL GIRLS

Once again the Hartford Casino Girls have taken the measure of the Manchester Girls on the bowling alleys. Last night the Capitol City lassies won two out of three games at Gamba's alleys, the same margin by which the match in Hartford was decided. Manchester took the first game by three pins but lost the next two by wide margins. Miss Pearson's 137 was high. The score:

LOCAL TEAMS PLAN YALE TOURNEY TRIP

The members of the Community club and Better Boys' club basketball teams of the north end have been invited to New Haven tomorrow by Samuel J. Massey, former director of the Community club and now director of athletics at the Trinity Parish House in New Haven. A large bus has been chartered for the trip and it is planned to take in some of the Yale Tournament games in the afternoon. Two New Haven teams coached by Mr. Massey will provide the Manchester teams with some Elm City opposition in the evening.

The Nut Cracker

Phil Scott expects to be offered a fight in London with some leading American heavyweight. Southwestern Louisiana Institute of Lafayette, winner of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association basketball title, is the first Louisiana quintet to cop the championship of the 34-team loop.

George Lott will prepare for Davis Cup play by competing in several tournaments in Europe. George university students have selected Vernon "Catfish" Smith, star football end, as the greatest all-around athlete at the Cracker school. Smith plays center on the basketball team.

Reggie McNamara, 42-year-old bike race expert, says this will be his last year in the six-day contests. Raleigh Drennon, guard on Georgia Tech's undefeated 1924 football eleven, has received an appointment to West Point.

Jack Quinn, 44-year-old athletic hurler, expects to keep on pitching until he's 50. If Jack Dempsey does return to the ring he will promote his own comeback probably at Soldiers' Field, Chicago.

John McGraw works his Giants cold days as well as warm to accustom them to the cooler climate in their own home town. Annapolis, Md.—(L.P.)—Stories of fighting parsons hold particular interest for Norman Hall, welterweight boxer of the Naval academy boxing team.

Hall is a minister's son, and before entering the academy was preparing for the ministry himself. In the ring Hall is one of the hardest sluggers on the team and is considered a rough and tumble fighter. He is one reason, at least, why Navy has not lost a duel meet in 11 years of intercollegiate fighting.

However, there is another side to the church's contribution to cauliflower industry. Each week Hall teaches a Sunday school class of young boys.

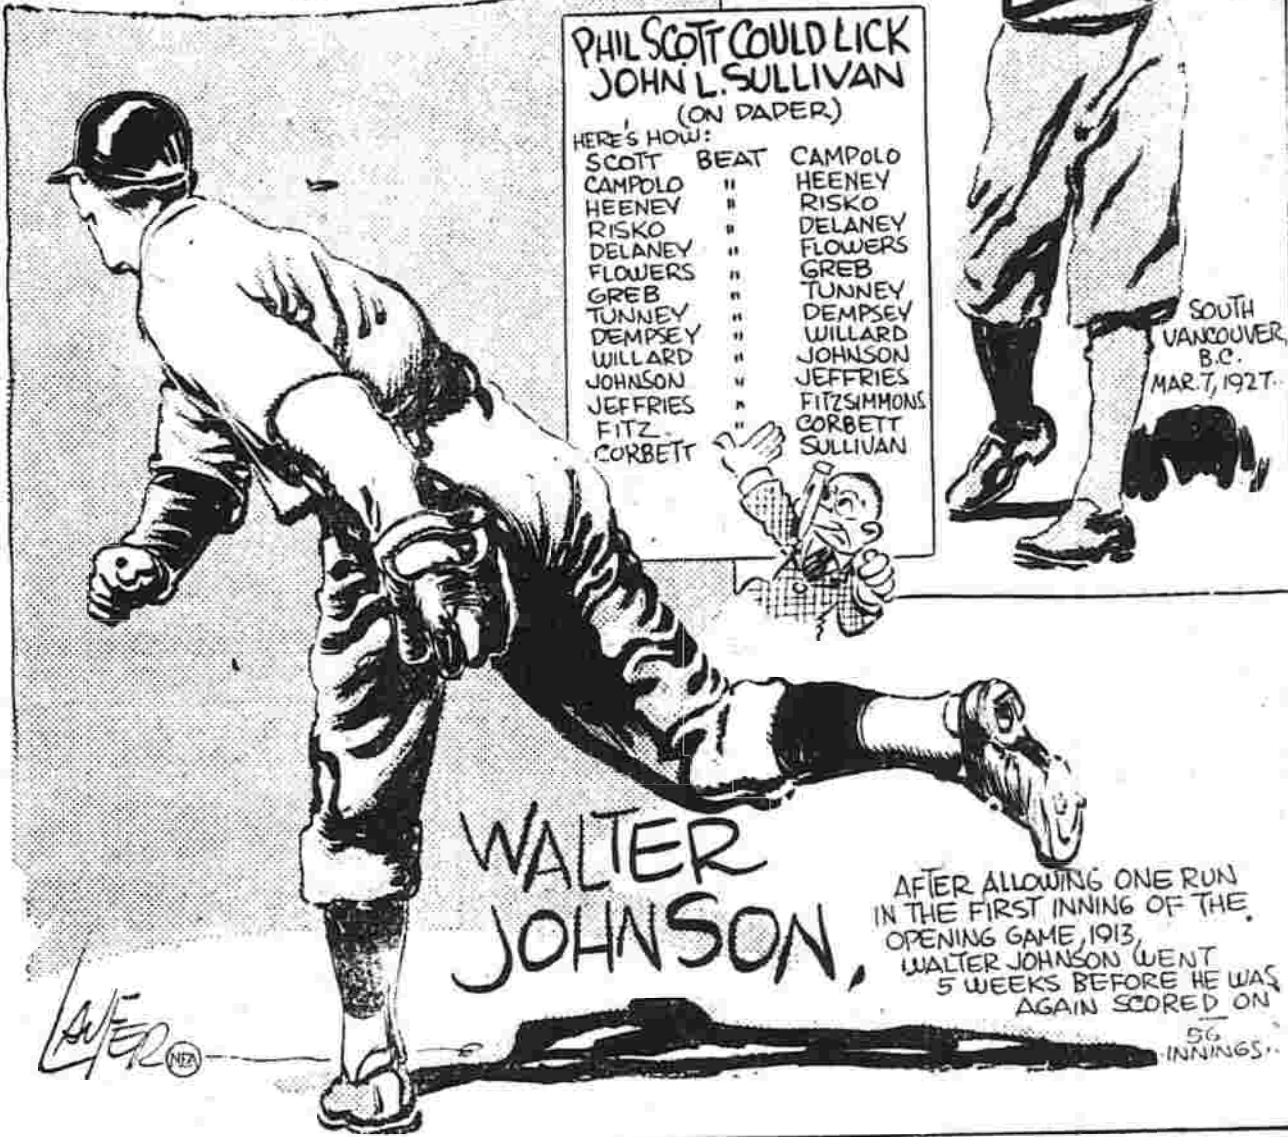

Buffalo, O., March 14.—(AP)—Buffalo bidder for the 1931 tournament of the American Bowling Congress will have 32 teams in the annual classic in progress here tonight.

In addition to Buffalo, there will be 28 teams from Chicago, Waukegan, Ill., Marion, Ohio, Kenosha, Wis., Altoona, Pa., Portsmouth, Ohio, Parkersburg, W. V., Detroit, Utica, N. Y., and South Bend, Ind. Out-of-state teams failed in their efforts to land in the prize money yesterday and last night.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 14.—(AP)—The whole town's turning out for the Braves-Athletics fray today postponed from yesterday because of rain. The folks down here haven't had many chances to see the world champion Mackmen in action and the heavy advance sale of game tickets tells the story.

Clearwater, Fla., March 14.—(AP)—Irritated over Babe Herman's refusal to sign a contract, President Frank B. York of the Brooklyn Robins, said he would try to trade Herman for another outfielder within the next few days unless Herman decides to sign at $15,000 a year. He is holding out for $25,000.

San Antonio, Texas, March 14.—(AP)—Larry Barton, holdout right-hander of the N. Y. Giants came to terms with John McGraw yesterday. Freddie Lindstrom as well came to terms with the club, leaving Ed Roush as the only holdout of the moment.

Fort Myers, Fla., March 14.—(AP)—Connie Mack in his many years as manager of the Athletics has seen 'em come and seen 'em go, but he's getting a thrill from the flashy play of his second and short rookies, Williams and McNair.

RUNNER IN HOSPITAL ESCAPES HIS GUARDS

Lorain, Ohio, March 14.—(AP)—Fred Hentrie, 42, Detroit alleged rum runner supposedly bed-ridden from wounds received when Coast Guardsmen shelled his armor-plated tug, escaped from a hospital here last night.

Despite two serious bullet wounds in his back which lured his guard into a feeling of security, Hentrie arose from his cot and leaped through a ground floor window. An automobile was standing outside with the engine running, police learned. It was traced to a Cleveland gangster by the license number.

Hentrie's condition was regarded as critical and Federal authorities were awaiting his recovery to remove him to Cleveland for arraignment on charges of smuggling and violating the prohibition laws.

Frank Smith, Hentrie's companion on the Sambo G. captured March 6 with Canadian liquor and beer valued at more than $75,000 aboard, is being held in the county jail at Cleveland under $7,500 bond.

Indians' Main Weapon Their Hitting Ability

New Orleans, March 14.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians are on the march and their whoops will be heard around the top of the hill when the 1930 season closes. Roger Peckenpaugh is whipping a powerful squad into shape at Heine-mann Park. While they may not have enough power to fend off the Athletics and Yanks they will be giving somebody a winter comes.

The Indians are fortunate in having the backbone of their team made up of men old in baseball but young in years. In addition they have a promising bunch of huskies itching to step into the shoes of the regulars. Out of the squad of forty-two big, stout men, thirty-five may be considered well beyond the raw age.

Last year the Indians finished in third place and were playing ball like demons when the season ended. There will be no drastic changes in this season's lineup over last. Charlie Jamieson may be forced to function as utility outfielder as his 37 years have placed him in the twilight of baseball. It will be hard for him to hold his regular post against such men as Bib Falk, Earl Averill and Dick Porter.

The Indians had the fright of their lives when it looked as if scarlet fever would keep Lewie Fonseca off first. But all is well now when word came from California that Fonseca was up and about and was even taking light training on the coast and would be fit for the start of the season.

The ankle twisting shortstop Bilet is causing lots of excitement as three, Carl Lind, Ray Gardner, and John Goldman are out for the post. Lind is making a drive to get back regular after being routed off second by Urban Hodapp when he got sick. Hodapp has second clinched about as much as Joe Sewell has. Luke Sewell and Glen Myatt as usual will carry the hot behind the bat.

The pitching squad is something to behold. Only one pitcher stands under six feet and only one of them is in the thirties. There are 12 ve-tiable giants, righthanders and four southpaws, with Ferrell the top hand but with Eudine, Miller, Holloway and Shaute not far below. Others with more than passing ability are Clinton Brown, Milber-Shoffner, Mel Harder and Pete Jablonowski.

But the main weapon possessed by the Indians is their hitting power. Every man of the regulars can pound the ball, the lightest hitters being among the shortstop candidates and the pitchers. With Fonseca setting the pace and an all-star hitting outfield and such batsmen as Joe Sewell, Luke Sewell, Hodapp, Ferrell and Shaute. A lot of trouble is ahead for opposing pitchers.

Behind the bat the veteran Art Smith and Jimmy Wilson again will do most of the work. When the Cards obtained Earl Sparty Adams from the Pirates, the assumption was he would play second and Frankie Frisch would move to third. Street, however, vetoed this plan. He will keep Frisch at second base, because of his double play skill; work Andy High, a great spring performer, at third and hold Adams in reserve. Charley Gelbert is expected to improve at short, and Jim Bottomley still is among the hardest hitting first sackers.

Chick Hafey, his eye-sight improved, and Taylor Douthit have no serious rivals for their regular jobs in left and center. With the speedy movie actor, Ernest Orsatti in right, there is a 330 punch or better in the outfield posts.

Newark, N. J.—Abie Bain, Newark, outpointed Babe McCorgary, Oklahoma City, 10.

CARDS NEED YOUNG PITCHERS ON TEAM

Old Timers Cannot Be Expected to Carry Brunt of Attack Without Rest.

By ALAN GOULD.

Bradenton, Fla., March 13.—(AP)—On their record as pennant winners in 1926 and 1928, the St. Louis Cardinals have had sufficient interval to furnish impetus for another pennant drive.

Their new manager, Charles (Gabby) Street, has tackled his job with a spirit of enthusiasm, manifesting no concern for the short-shrift experienced by his immediate crop of predecessors.

"Some people may not think we have a great club but I think we have a real chance to win," remarked Street. His employer, and club president, Sam Breadon, was even less conservative.

"This is the best club we have had in years," Breadon said. Unfortunately, it will take more than this optimism, more than the excellent record of past performances to put the Cards into anything approaching

If anything is to be accomplished this year by the Cards; in fact if they are to stick in the first division, they must uncover at least two or three new pitchers capable of carrying on where the veterans weaken or leave off. Gabby Street who handled Walter Johnson's fast ones in the days of the Coffeyville Cyclone's prime, knows his pitchers, but he has a man-sized job on his hands to develop an effective corps out of the material on hand. Of the principal veterans, Clarence Mitchell is 39, Jess Haines, 36 and Willie Sherdiff 33. All possess a lot of the old stuff and their experience counts considerably, but as Street admits, "they need a lot of rest between starts."

Sylvester Johnson, a courageous righthander, is only 29 and should be a mainstay. Jim Lindsey, who had a fine record with Houston, one of the Cardinal farms, may be the best of the newcomers.

Behind the bat the veteran Art Smith and Jimmy Wilson again will do most of the work. When the Cards obtained Earl Sparty Adams from the Pirates, the assumption was he would play second and Frankie Frisch would move to third. Street, however, vetoed this plan. He will keep Frisch at second base, because of his double play skill; work Andy High, a great spring performer, at third and hold Adams in reserve. Charley Gelbert is expected to improve at short, and Jim Bottomley still is among the hardest hitting first sackers.

Chick Hafey, his eye-sight improved, and Taylor Douthit have no serious rivals for their regular jobs in left and center. With the speedy movie actor, Ernest Orsatti in right, there is a 330 punch or better in the outfield posts.

Newark, N. J.—Abie Bain, Newark, outpointed Babe McCorgary, Oklahoma City, 10.

BACK IN TENNIS

Pasadena, Cal., March 14.—(AP)—For the first time as Mrs. Helen Willis Moody, the world's women's tennis champion came out for some tournament play today.

Mrs. Moody's opponent in the first round of women's singles competition in the Huntington Hotel Invitation tournament was Helen Marston of Santa Monica, Cal., second ranking girl player of the nation.

Since Helen Willis laid down her racquet after a successful court campaign last summer, she has married Frederick S. Moody, Jr., young San Francisco broker. Her appearance here in tournament marks the opening of her 1930 campaign.

MIAMI GOLF TOURNEY

Miami, March 14.—(AP)—Cyril Walker and his youthful partner, Clarence Gamber, were ready today to battle it out with Harry Hampton and Neil McIntyre, in an eighteen hole play-off round for championship honors in the seventh annual international four ball matches. Darkness halted the final round of the tournament yesterday with the teams all even on the 9th green.

AMERICAN LEAGUE TEAMS SUPERIOR?

New York, March 14.—(AP)—Not that it necessarily means anything but the American League which has won the last three world series, holds a two to one edge over the National interleague baseball combat this spring trading season. As even dozen games between representatives of the two leagues have been played in the south so far and eight of them have gone to the American League men. Only eight of the sixteen major league clubs have participated in the interleague games so far, so it would be manifestly unfair to make any rash deductions as to the relative strength of the two organizations from the few early contests played so far.

Here's how the clubs stand in interleague warfare.

Chicago (A)	3	0
Brooklyn (N)	1	0
New York (A)	2	1
Philadelphia (A)	2	2
St. Louis (N)	2	2

BRUINS DEFEATED AT CHICAGO, 3 TO 2

Chicago, March 14.—(AP)—The Chicago Blackhawks today had broken the winning streak of the Boston Bruins, world's hockey champions, through a 3-2 overtime victory last night and finished the series with the Bruins for the year without a Boston victory on Chicago ice. The Bruins had won 11 straight games and gone 17 games without a defeat.

An unassisted goal by Johnny Gottselig five minutes after the overtime began, won the game. Ed the Shore, Bruins defense man, drew a major penalty and a $25 fine for striking at the goal umpire.

TRIES OUT CAR

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 14.—Kaye Don, English driver, who seeks to break the world's automobile speed record, prepared to take his giant car onto the beach course today and probably again Saturday to lumber it up and get accustomed to the performance of the machine and the "feel" of the beach. The car never has been driven since it left its factory in Wolverhampton, England, and certain adjustments to obtain proper abrasion probably will be necessary after the preliminary tests. Which conditions indicated an official speed trial would not be feasible before next week.

(Special to The Herald.) New Haven, March 14.—Full of hopes but far from over-confident, a happy band of ten basketball warriors representing Manchester High school arrived here shortly after 11 o'clock this morning and went directly to its quarters at the Hotel Strand for a couple of hours rest prior to officially opening the annual Yale Interscholastic Tournament for the state championship at the New Haven Arena where they were to be pitted against a powerful West Haven quintet.

Pre-game dope in the Elm City pointed to a victory for West Haven by a close score but the contest was regarded in many circles as more or less of a toss-up. Both schools have won 11 games and lost four, but of the pair Manchester's is the more impressive.

Manchester is making its fifth appearance in a Yale tournament and has yet to win a championship. But there are many schools that have answered the roll call more often with similar results.

Bristol, three-time pennant winners, is here seeking a fourth consecutive championship and rules the favorite with Torrington conceded the best chance to spring an upset. Following the Manchester-West Haven game at 3 o'clock, Naugatuck and Meriden will take the floor at 4:15. Tonight at 7 o'clock Torrington will battle a tough foe in Bridgeport Central with Bristol and Warren Harding of Bridgeport playing at 8:30.

Tomorrow afternoon at 1:30, the Manchester-West Haven winner meets the Naugatuck-Meriden victor while the other two winning teams will battle at 3 o'clock. The finals will be played at 8 o'clock in the evening.

REPORT OF PRISON PLOT EXCITES FILIPINO MOB

Manila, March 14.—(AP)—Two attacks upon American sailors by Filipino mob at Iloilo were believed by authorities today to have been engendered by fears that the white men were plotting to poison the natives.
The stories told recently in Detroit by James Baker, including one that he poisoned a man in the Philippines some time ago, and resentment over the anti-Filipino demonstrations in California, were believed by officers to have aggravated the mobs.
Those attacked were members of the crew of the motorship Yonachichit. The trouble occurred Wednesday night after a report had been spread among the ignorant populace that the Americans intended to poison the townspeople.
The Filipinos became highly excited and attacked when one of the sailors gave an apple core to a native boy. Timely intervention of the police prevented serious injury to anyone. After the incident was explained the crowds calmed down and apologies were made to the Americans.
Jose Romero, author of the poison plot rumor, was sentenced to jail.

KANSAS BANK CLOSES

Independence, Kas., March 14.—(AP)—The Commercial National bank of Independence, one of the largest banks in Kansas, was closed today.
L. K. Roberts, chief national bank examiner for the district, said the closing resulted from losses caused by defalcations by the bank's president, George T. Guernsey, Sr., and from bad assets.
A national bank examiner was placed in charge of the institution. The bank's statement December 31, 1929, showed resources totalling $6,230,337.09 and deposits of $5,460,986.77.
The chief examiner declined to state the amount allegedly taken by the 70-year-old president, but said the loss had been made in stock speculations.

"I'd be one of your first arrests, Chief," Dundee grinned. "My dinner coat's reeking with the stuff."

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The Crime. Doris Matthews, lady's maid, murdered Friday night in summerhouse by blow with heavy perfume flask; body dumped into lake on estate of millionaire Berkeley.

Detectives: Bonnie Dundee, great at time of crime and discovery of body; Captain Strawn of the homicide squad.

Members of Household: Mrs. George Berkeley; social climber; George Berkeley, opposed to his daughter Clorinda's engagement to Seymour Crosby, New York society widower and a close friend of Berkeley's social secretary, Mrs. Letitia Lambert; Clorinda Berkeley, engaged to Crosby; Gigi Berkeley, who unaccountably sprinkled all suspects Friday night with perfume from flask presented by Crosby to her mother; Dick Berkeley, now in contact with Doris that he had forced her to agree to meet him later, although she was engaged to Eugene Arnold, the chauffeur; Wickert, butler; formerly in employ of both Mrs. Lambert and Crosby.

Wickert, questioned by Strawn and Dundee, says he went up to bed at 11:15; knows nothing of the crime; that Doris had an appointment to meet Arnold, but Arnold had left late for her that evening; not keep appointment, as he was required to drive guests home. Estate is being sought for Dick Berkeley, missing from his room all night. Coroner Price, finished with the body, is asked for expert opinion by Captain Strawn.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XI
Dr. Price shook his white head. "Sorry, Captain Strawn, but I can't answer either of those questions now—definitely. Only an autopsy can tell whether the blow killed her or whether she was only stunned, and died by drowning. As to the time death took place, that will be hard to fix accurately, even after the autopsy. Unofficially, however, I'll say now that she has been dead between eight and nine hours—that opinion subject to revision, of course."

"Hm... That places the murder between 11 o'clock and midnight, if you're right, and you usually are. Good enough for a starter, at any rate... By the way, Doc, in examining the body, did you find a letter or note?"

"No—nothing of the sort. There's only one pocket—on the blouse—of her uniform, and you can see for yourself it's empty. I rolled the stockings down to look for bruises, and can assure you that no note was concealed in them. The stockings, by the way, have snags and runs in the back of them; that a pretty girl like that—" the chief of the homicide squad began.

"There were no runs in her stockings when Dick Berkeley was forcing her to dance with him last night," Dundee interrupted. "I distinctly remember noticing how pretty her legs were in their sheer black silk stockings. But I think I know what is responsible for those runs," and he pointed to the rough edge of the flooring which extended slightly over the flight of three narrow steps leading down into the lake. "See! Here's a tiny thread of the stocking silk, caught in a splinter. The body was dragged to the steps—"

"Dragged?" Strawn repeated. "Then it couldn't have been a very strong person—"

"Remember the rocks with which the body was weighted," Dundee reminded him.

"And whoever dumped the girl in knew the lake pretty well—knew the water was deep enough here to hide the body, provided it was weighted down so it couldn't rise and float," Strawn pointed out. "Temporarily, at least, that counts Crosby out, unless he was so panicky he had to take a chance. How far out was the body?"

"Very near the steps—not more than five or six feet," Dundee answered. "Here's how I visualize the crime—and by the way, I think it was an impromptu murder, one growing out of sudden anger, or fear. The use of the perfume flask as a weapon certainly points that way—"

"How do you know it was the weapon?" Strawn objected.

"Three reasons: first, your nose tells you that perfume has been spilled here. Lots of it! Second, there's a glass splinter in that crack between the boards. Third, and he drew from his pocket the handkerchief-wrapped stopper of the crystal flask, I found this under the bench, overlooked by the murderer. I suppose you'll want Carraway to look it over for fingerprints, but I doubt that he finds any. It's so intricately carved surface to take a print."

When Carraway had accepted the stopper, shaking his head dubiously, Strawn burst out exasperatedly: "But how the devil did the perfume flask get out here?"

"If we knew the answer to that question, I think we would know everything," Dundee replied. "Frankly, it stumps me. But it is certainly obvious that nobody but a maniac would choose a crystal flask of extremely concentrated perfume with which to clout anyone over the head with premeditatedly murderous intentions. I mean, therefore, I say the crime was impromptu, the weapon the first and only one at hand. The deeply cut crystal flask broke with the first blow, of course, and the perfume spilled on the floor, and I'm pretty sure it didn't spatter much; therefore it's rather obvious that Doris was either sitting on the bench, or that she had slipped from the bench to her knees, and pleaded with her assailant. The latter, I think, since that would bring her head closer to the floor, to account for the fact that the perfume did not splash all over the place."

"Poor little thing!" And Captain Strawn, who regarded himself as very much of a "gentleman" in murder, shuddered with horror and pity. "Whether that assailant meant to murder her or not we can't know yet, of course," Dundee went on. "But granted that the blow only stunned the girl, the person who had hit her thought she was dead, or desperately wanted to conceal the crime, she regained consciousness and told what had happened. In any case, that person had only one thought—to conceal the body. And here was the lake—a made-to-order grave. The girl's disappearance would cause excitement, of course, but it might be days before it occurred to anyone to suspect suicide or murder, and to drag the lake. The swimming season was over. No one could have foreseen that this morning would be unseasonably warm. That Gigi Berkeley would get up a swimming party... Poor Gigi!" he added compassionately.

"You like the kid?" Strawn asked, grinning.

"Very much!" Dundee answered curtly. "But to get along with the story, as I see it. The murderer was panic-stricken, but the instinct for self-preservation was strong. The body mustn't rise to the surface before he had a chance to escape, as naturally as possible. Therefore it must be weighted. And the means for that, too, were at hand. An artistic border of rocks all along the lake's edge, and right up to the very steps that lead down into the lake. Look!" and he drew Strawn to the top step and pointed. "There's where he got the stones. Didn't even have to leave the steps. Stopped and gathered them in—three from the right side of the steps, two from the left."

"Hey! Wait a minute!" Strawn protested. "How could the murderer see to do all this, unless he had been thoughtful enough to provide himself with a flashlight? I happen to know there wasn't any moon last night."

"There again circumstances played into the murderer's hand," Dundee said. "No moon, but light where it was needed. There are wire-covered electric lights placed among the rocks, all along the lake's edge at intervals—sufficient to light up the lake and the interior of the summerhouse."

"I see... Go on with your visualizing," Strawn commanded.

"Well, the rocks were placed inside the girl's skirts, but before that, I think, her little white apron was removed."

"Apron?" Strawn repeated. "Part of her uniform, eh? Maybe she took it off before she came out on a date—"

"No, I don't think she did," Dundee assured him. "When you send divers down into the lake, I think you'll find it wrapped about the pieces of the broken flask, for I feel sure the apron was dipped into the water and used to swab the blood stains from the floor, and, possibly, from the clothes of the murderer. Also, to remove as much of the perfume as possible—but that was one task he found he can't find a trace. What about the floor, Doc?"

"I've already removed some of the blood-soaked dirt from the cracks between the boards, where the floor had been swabbed," Dr. Price assured him complacently.

"Good man!" Strawn applauded generously. "Well, Dundee?"

"That's nearly all, I think. The stones were then placed inside the skirt and it was bound tightly about the girl's knees—"

"With Clorinda Berkeley's scarf?" Captain Strawn emphatically concluded the sentence for his subordinate.

"Which doesn't necessarily mean that Clorinda Berkeley did the tying," Strawn went on quietly. "Not that I'm saying she didn't but we must not overlook the possibility that Clorinda left the house quite innocently for a walk about the grounds—headache, possibly—and that she rested here for a bit, leaving her scarf behind her, thus providing the murderer with another aid to his impromptu crime. We can't hang her with the scarf, you know."

"Maybe not, but a rope will do just as well, if we find any of this perfume spattered on her dress," Strawn went on triumphantly.

"If a spattering of this perfume were enough to get a conviction of murder, I'm afraid I'd be one of your first arrests, Chief," Dundee grinned. "My dinner coat's reeking with the stuff."

"What?" Strawn gaped at him. "Say you didn't happen to see this murderer, did you?"

"No, I wasn't an eyewitness, any more than I was the murderer," Dundee assured him. "I should have told you before, but there's been so much to tell... The truth is, Chief, that everyone who was in the drawing room last night—hence, possibly every suspect that will turn up—including Wickert, got splashed with Fleur d'Amour!"

Women Asked To Report On Films That Offend

Los Angeles — (AP) — Women throughout the country are being asked to report on motion pictures which they think offend good taste, and to explain why they think so.

Mrs. Thomas G. Winter was selected by motion picture producers to come to Hollywood as a representative of all organized women of the country. She seeks to harmonize ideas of the women and the producers so far as possible.

Women pre-viewers, representing five large women's organizations, see films before they are released as part of their plans. These women represent the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Parent Teachers Association, the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae and the American Association of University Women.

Each organization has a committee of 30, with a different group pledged to attend previews every day of the week. The women pool their opinions, then make reports.

YOUR CHILDREN

Just what is a bedtime story? A story told at bedtime, of course.

But in the new order of things the name has taken on a new meaning. When we speak of a bedtime story we mean the unexcitable narrative that soothes little nerves, brings forgetfulness of small troubles, and gives the Sand Man a chance to tiptoe craftily to the pillow of small white beds and get in his magic work of sanddropping.

Theoretically the bedtime story is a good thing. Practically—well, we question it.

Johnny hears how Lippety Long Ears used to have a long tail, too, and it snapped off as he sat down on a stone one day to rest, because the stone turned out to be old Granddaddy Snapping Turtle and Lippety's tail tickled his nose.

Sand Man Is Finicky

All so-called bedtime stories don't encourage the Sand Man.

But whether they are funny or exciting or merely quietly entertaining, most of those in the know-how about habit training of children are now looking a bit dubious about this custom of "storying" little folks to sleep.

A story is a story and no matter how simple it is, something in a child's mind has to come up to accept it. He has to follow—and to follow is to think—to think is keeping nerve material active somewhere in the mind. They may relax while doing this but it isn't likely. Curiosity will keep him awake—any mental process just before sleepy time is likely to do so in fact.

"But"—you say—"when it's over he drops off."

Some children do. It is easier for certain children to go to sleep than others; also, habit strictly scheduled, and kept to that schedule, may be more potent than the story influence.

The Best Times for Stories
Children's interests differ. The night may come when some little point in a quiet, innocuous story will particularly intrigue that child of ready habit. He won't fall asleep so readily that night perhaps. He lies awake and thinks and tries to figure it all out. Bang! Gone is the discipline of months. Once a habit is gotten in its edge, there is trouble ahead.

The real time for the bedtime story is right after dinner—or supper, rather—for children of six or seven, and right before supper for the little tots who usually tumble in soon after eight or should. There should be a space between story time and bedtime.

Little minds should not be kept active for at least a good hour before their owners turn in. The slowing down of the mental machinery, and nerve force should be begun at least that long beforehand. No games, no romping, no fussing!

Remove seeds and pith from pepper and shred flesh. Pour lemon juice over flesh and let stand 15 or 20 minutes. Combine cabbage, peppers and celery seed. Add sugar and salt and mix well. Season with vinegar and oil, mixing constantly with a fork. Add fish and mix carefully with a fork. Add more lemon juice if needed to make tart or moist. Arrange on a bed of lettuce, sprinkle generously with paprika, and serve.

Miami, Fla. — (AP) — A pair of scuffed and discolored shoes are the beginning of a profitable business for Mrs. M. Fleetwood, who has spent the last few months renovating a pair of her shoes. Friends in Port Lauderdale, Fla., where she lived, liked them and asked her to paint theirs.

Now she colors them for Palm Beach and Miami society, specializing in tints that match costumes. Some of her customers send shoes to her from Europe.

Better American Dishes Goal Of Ohio's Research

Columbus, Ohio — (AP) — The American dish is to be improved. Realizing that dishes are as much a part of art as sculpturing, the Division of Ceramic Art at Ohio State University is studying methods of improving them. The purpose is to better design and decoration of whiteware or table ware made in this nation so that the use of foreign dishes will be reduced.

The university has granted $8,000 for research in ceramic designing.

Fish salads are delicious for the first warm days of spring. A luncheon of a vegetable cream soup, a fish salad, hot rolls or rye bread, and a simple dessert of fruit, is nourishing and appetizing.

Smoked and salted fish can be used to excellent advantage in salads as well as canned and fresh fish. There is a smoked herring salad that seems to be a particular favorite with men and is excellent for a family luncheon or supper salad.

Firm-fleshed fish is desirable. Cod, halibut, haddock and salmon separate into coarse flakes and do not crush when combined with other materials. Scallops, shrimp, crab meat and lobster are generally used in party salads. Scallops might well be used in the everyday luncheon salad, for they are full of minerals and not as richly flavored as the other fish.

The most important step in making a successful fish salad lies in thorough marinating in lemon juice before combining with other material.

While the choice of additional material requires careful consideration, it is less essential than the seasoning. In many instances, the added material aids in seasoning as in the case of celery. Usually extra ingredients are added to give body to the mixture and subdue the strong fish taste. The addition of capers to many fish salads is a vast improvement. Finely shredded cabbage is an inexpensive and good substitute for celery with such fish as cod, haddock, halibut or scallops.

A combination of fish is an economical expedient occasionally. The higher priced varieties with remarkably good effect.

The dinner salad of fish conforms to the general rule of all dinner salads. It must be very piquant and appetizing. Shad roe, corn, cucumber or eggs stuffed with sardines are examples of good dinner salads.

Herring Salad
One and one-half cups flaked herring, 1/2 cup minced celery, 1 cup diced cold boiled potatoes, 1 sweet pickle, 3 hard cooked eggs, French dressing, 1/2 cup whipping cream, 3 canned pimientos, 1/2 cup mayonnaise.

Let herring soak in cold water to cover for one hour. Drain and simmer in boiling water for 15 minutes. Drain and cool. Separate into flakes. Mince pickle. Chop eggs very finely. Mix fish, celery, potatoes, eggs and pickle. Add French dressing, cover and let stand on ice for one hour. When ready to serve, whip cream and add pimientos rubbed through a sieve. Mix with mayonnaise and use to garnish salad arranged on a bed of lettuce.

Two cups boiled fish, 2 cups finely shredded cabbage, 1 sweet green pepper, 1 teaspoon celery seed, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 6 tablespoons oil, paprika.

Remove seeds and pith from pepper and shred flesh. Pour lemon juice over flesh and let stand 15 or 20 minutes. Combine cabbage, peppers and celery seed. Add sugar and salt and mix well. Season with vinegar and oil, mixing constantly with a fork. Add fish and mix carefully with a fork. Add more lemon juice if needed to make tart or moist. Arrange on a bed of lettuce, sprinkle generously with paprika, and serve.

HEALTH

OBESITY USUALLY IS DUE TO BAD HABITS, NOT TO "HEREDITY"

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

The general impression prevails that there are two kinds of fat people, those who over-eat and under-exercise, and those whose systems seem to be so constituted that they must perform fat. The latter type is presumed to be due to heredity or to some change that has taken place in the glands of internal secretion.

Investigators in the University of Michigan School of Medicine have recently completed a series of investigations of the subject which point to a different point of view. Dr. L. H. Newburgh and M. W. Johnston, who worked with him, believe that the cause of the latter type of obesity is merely a perverted appetite. In normal people there is a mechanism that maintains a balance between the amount of energy expended and the amount taken in.

The Michigan investigators divide all cases of obesity also into two groups. The first group, which is by far the larger, suffers from perverted eating habits. The normal person has a mechanism which notifies him that he has eaten enough. The obese people, through perverted habit, have come to require stronger notification before they feel fully satisfied.

Sometimes they deliberately disregard the warnings in order to enjoy further the pleasure that they get from eating. In many instances children who are too fat get the perverted habit from eating at table with their parents, who constantly overeat.

The onlooker is likely to call this type of obesity hereditary, whereas it is actually the result of imitation of a bad habit.

The second type of obesity represents a group who have been accustomed to taking the right amount of food, but whose constitution gradually changes with advancing age. They drift along with the old habits of food intake, becoming obese and indulging in over-eating, before they realize their danger.

In some instances the basal metabolic rate of the person, which is an index of his utilization of food material, remains the same but his output of energy lessens because of advancing years or change of occupation. In other instances the basal metabolic rate becomes low because of a gradual change in the gland constitution of the person with advancing years.

A physician who studies the case can stimulate the metabolism by the administration of proper remedies, or can advise a suitable diet in relation to the amount of energy used. A proper limitation of food will usually result in a loss of weight without danger to health.

A suitable diet must contain all the vital elements and in addition a sufficient amount of energy content, measured in calories, to provide for the output of energy.

DOMINIONS ASK MORE FREEDOM

Conference to Be Held in October to Discuss England's Problem.

London. (AP.)—The freedom of completely independent states would be granted to the Dominions of the British Empire under the recommendations made in a report of the committee of legal experts which will be presented to the imperial conference in October.

The interpretation of laws and regulations governing the legislation of Dominion Parliaments as agreed to by the special committee would remove all restrictions by the British Parliament as now imposed by law. The Dominions would be perfect political entities "united only by a common allegiance to the crown, and freely associated as members of the British Commonwealth of Nations."

The committee's report is the result of long, hard weeks of legislative investigation. The most brilliant legal and political minds of England, Canada, Australia and New Zealand, the Union of South Africa, and the Irish Free State, were brought to bear on the problem of adjusting Dominion legislation in view of the new status of equality and independence as granted by the imperial conference of 1926.

Abolish Veto

In addition to proposing the abolition of the king's right of veto on any law passed by a dominion legislature, the committee recommended that "no law hereafter made by the Parliament of the United Kingdom shall extend to any Dominion otherwise than at the request and with the consent of that Dominion."

This principle has been in practice for many years, ever since the Dominions outgrew their dependence upon the mother country, but despite its non-usage, the right of the Parliament at Westminster to legislate for the Dominions has been on the statute books, a fact inconsistent with the new colonial freedom.

The committee also recommended that the colonial laws validity act of 1885 become inoperative as far as the Dominions are concerned. This law provides that legislation by a colonial legislature is void and inoperative if repugnant to the law of England.

The Dominions

In defining its position on this question, the committee would carefully designate the Dominions as being Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Union of South Africa, and the Irish Free State, thus leaving the law still effective for the colonies.

The position of independence would be further fortified by the proposal that the Dominions have absolutely free play in merchant shipping legislation and come to an agreement, among themselves on those shipping questions in which other Dominions of England are concerned.

Each Dominion would also have full power to make laws having extra-territorial application without the consent either of the British Parliament or the government of the other Dominions concerned.

The committee's last recommendation is in favor of the establishment of a tribunal as a means of settling differences and disputes that might arise between members of the commonwealth. It was suggested that the matter be examined further by all the governments making up the imperial conference.

Empire observers feel sure that the committee's report will be acceptable to all the Dominions and look forward confidently to its adoption by the October general conference.

"GOOD THINGS TO EAT"

A reputation for service is constructed out of countless little thoughtfulness. Pinehurst is jealous of its reputation for service. There is no small matter of convenience or well being for our customers too small to be important here. Such is our established principle. If, in the press and hurry we ever violate it, we ask our patrons to tell us frankly. Because we place the faith and friendship of our customers above all other business considerations.

"Modify or Repeal" Lead First Prohibition Returns

FIRST REPORT OF THE LITERARY DIGEST'S PROHIBITION POLL
(From The Literary Digest of March 15, 1930)

State	For Enforcement	For Modification	For Repeal	Total
Illinois	11,201	14,680	21,175	47,056
Indiana	6,124	4,236	3,839	14,199
Iowa	10,150	7,364	6,807	24,321
Kansas	8,789	2,729	2,110	11,628
Minnesota	8,233	3,024	9,625	25,942
Missouri	9,026	8,432	13,101	30,559
Nebraska	3,047	1,990	1,664	6,701
New Jersey	1,742	3,644	5,650	11,036
New York	11,634	27,547	42,228	81,309
Ohio	12,893	13,199	12,935	39,027
	80,739	91,815	118,904	291,558

The vote "for repeal of the Prohibition Amendment" outnumbered that for either modification or "strict enforcement" in the first scattering returns from ten states in The Literary Digest's current nationwide "straw" Poll on Prohibition.

20,000,000 ballots are being distributed throughout the country to obtain referendum on the three questions:

- 1 Do you favor the continuance and strict enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment and Volstead Law?
- 2 Do you favor a modification of the Volstead Law to permit light wines and beers?
- 3 Do you favor a repeal of the Prohibition Amendment?

Of the total of 291,558 votes received for this tabulation, 80,739 expressed their favor for enforcement; 91,815 voted for modification; and 118,904 were for repeal.

The ten states represented in the first returns of the Poll include: Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, and Ohio.

In this first tabulation Kansas seems to indicate a pronounced stand on the dry side, while New York and New Jersey show a distinctly opposite opinion on the question. Returns from all other seven states imply a less decisive stand.

The Literary Digest, however,

WANTS INFORMATION ON FARM BILL ITEM

Washington, March 13.—(AP)—Action on a proposal to send the first deficiency bill, passed by the Senate yesterday with an amendment carrying $100,000,000 for the Federal Farm Board, was deferred in the House today when Representative Garner, of Texas, the Democratic leader, demanded that the appropriations committee get information on the Farm Board item.

Chairman Wood of the House appropriations committee, had asked unanimous consent to send the measure to conference.

Garner arose immediately to inquire if Wood had conferred with Democratic members of his committee. The chairman replied that he had not, and the Texan asked him to withdraw the request.

"No committee has passed on this $100,000,000 for the Farm Board," he said, "and I think the committee should get some information from the board."

He said Treasury officials, when Congress was considering an appropriation of $150,000,000 out of the board's $500,000,000 revolving fund, had estimated that the board would need $200,000,000.

By L. O. HARTMAN
Editor, Zion's Herald, Boston

"Let the dead bury their dead" — what a silly saying! "How can dead men arise from their graves and bury their dead companions?" asks the literalist.

What did Jesus mean? He was talking to one of His disciples who was in the mood to follow Him, but who wanted "first" to go and bury his father. With a touch of stern rebuke the Master threw a paradox at the disciple and said, "Follow me, and let the dead bury their dead."

What is the deeper meaning beneath these words? Translated into modern speech Jesus said, "Forget the past; let by-gones be by-gones; face the future; for progress. Here is the secret of all progress. Whenever anyone turns toward the past and settles down comfortably into old ways and habits he is lost.

The principle is of wide application and can be illustrated in a hundred fields. To the business man it means, "Get rid of those antiquated methods, throw out those old files, adopt new ways of advertising." In industry it means, "Forsake cut-throat competition for fruitful co-operation." In international life it means that war must be given up and that nations must go forward along the path of world peace.

Even in the church the principle applies, and means least emphasis on outworn creeds and denominationalism, and a new interpretation of life from the angle of Christian unity.

But in this Lenten season Jesus especially commands each individual in his own personal religious life to "let the dead bury their dead." It is the time to face forward with Jesus. Forget the mistakes and sins of the past. Rest no longer in old experiences of prayer and grave. Cease repeating meaningless words of ritual. Stop

Wall Street Briefs

New York, March 14.—(AP)—The Associated Oil Co., has advanced its prices of crude oil in line with those recently put into effect by the Standard Oil Co., of California.

Consumption of crude rubber of all classes by manufacturers in the United States last month was 32,726 long tons, it is estimated by the Rubber Manufacturers Association. This figure compares with estimated consumption of 36,699 long tons in January, and 41,594 long tons in February, 1929.

The Stockholders' Protective Committee of the Kolster Radio Corp., of which A. Harry Moore, former governor of New Jersey, is chairman, announced that 19,000 shares of common stock have been deposited with the committee since its formation during the past week.

Capital expenditure by the electric light and power companies for additions, betterments and new construction during the six years from 1924 to 1929, inclusive, exceed similar expenditures by the railroads, according to the Statistical Research Department of the National Electric Light Association, which reports that for the period the railroads spent $4,809,959,000, and the power companies $4,865,000,000.

CARING FOR HOMELESS.
Manila, March 14.—(AP)—The Army and the Red Cross today set up facilities to care for those made homeless by the fire in the Singalong District of Manila.

The Army pitched 110 tents to shelter the destitute and the Red Cross set about to provide food and clothing.

Police doubted whether any lives had been lost. All missing children were found, but officers were unable to find any trace of bodies.

ASKS TO ISSUE BONDS.
Washington, March 14.—(AP)—Authorization to issue $50,000,000 of gold bonds was asked today by the Pennsylvania railroad in an application to the Interstate Commerce Commission to carry through its budgeted expenditures for improvements during 1930.

ROUGHAGE IN DIET NEEDED IN REDUCING

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Eliminates Danger

Are you one of those who are reducing by diet? If so, there is one important thing you should know—diets that do not include roughage cause constipation, often with serious consequences. Guard against it!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains the roughage needed to insure regular elimination. It is guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or your money will be refunded. Two tablespoons daily—in serious cases, with each meal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is not fattening. But it does add valuable iron to the blood which helps prevent anemia (another dieting danger) and bring a glowing, healthy color to the complexion.

You can enjoy Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in many delightful ways. As a ready-to-eat cereal with milk, honey, sprinkled over cereals and salads, in soups and soaked in fruit juices. It is appetizing in cooked food. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

KITCHEN QUESTIONNAIRE

HOW CAN I WHIP CREAM OR THE WHITES OF EGGS QUICKER?

Add a pinch of Ivory Salt to the cream or egg whites. This speeds up the whipping process, and does not in any way affect the flavor.

For the countless other kitchen and household uses of this famous salt see the new Worcester Salt Cook Book. Write for your free copy today, addressing: Worcester Salt Company, 71 Murray Street, New York City.

THINK STUDENT INSANE

Hartford, March 14.—(AP)—Michael George Eskin, who said he is a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology was under observation in the psychopathic ward of a hospital here today. He is believed to be suffering from overstudy.

Eskin, carrying a traveling bag, asked a policeman here last night to take him to police headquarters. Later he was sent to the hospital. He said his family was forced to flee from Russia, during the revolution and are now living in China. A sister, a student at Smith College came here last night.

NORTH END'S COTTON CROP IS WIPED-OUT
There will be no cotton harvest at the Union School at the north end this year. Nearly two months ago one of the teachers sent South to get soil. It was necessary to thaw out a chunk of frozen dirt. For six long weeks the children have watched the tender plant from the first day it poked through the ground until the plant had reached a stage where it was soon to blossom. During the recent vacation period, it was taken home by one of the pupils to insure proper care.

All the toil went for naught yesterday when one of the boys in the class accidentally dropped his lit skull cap on the plant snapping its tender stalk. Not only did the boy lose his recess periods as a penalty but also incurred the censure of his schoolmates.

Paris, March 14.—(AP)—Edouard Gubief, honorary governor general of Algeria since his retirement from the colonial service several years ago, died today.

CHAMBER'S MEETING IS PUT OFF A WEEK

Regular Monthly Session Due to Fall on St. Patrick's Day; Postponed Until the 24th.

Because the date of the regular monthly membership meeting of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce falls on Monday, St. Patrick's Day with many special events taking place in the evening, the president and directors of the Chamber have deemed it advisable to postpone the meeting until Monday, March 24.

It will be held at the Country Club and a large attendance is expected as it will be the first meeting with the 133 members obtained in the recent membership drive. A large turn-out of old members is expected to welcome the new. Arrangements are being made for a prominent speaker.

WAPPING
Mrs. Calvin S. Bolles of Pleasant Valley and Mrs. Elmer E. Thienes of Marlborough attended the Community Service at Bushnell Memorial, Hartford, last Sunday afternoon, at which the Flisk Jubilee Singers sang and Rev. Mordcaai Johnson, president of Howard University spoke. Rev. Thomas E. Jones, president of Plisk University, who also had a part in the program was a classmate of Mr. and Mrs. Thienes at Hartford Seminary.

Marcus J. McGowan of Main street, East Hartford, has purchased the B. W. Chandler farm of sixteen acres in South Windsor. He plans to take possession of the property in April. He sold his farm to the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Company.

Mrs. Nellie McLaughlin, superintendent of the South Windsor schools, attended the Convention for Superintendents, which was held in Atlantic City, last week.

Walter M. Gilbert, who for many years lived in the north part of Wapping, but who now resides in East Hartford, is on a trip around the world.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dibble who celebrated their sixty-first wedding anniversary on Saturday received many cards and congratulations from their friends.

Mrs. Christina Johnson of Pleasant Valley, left for New York on Saturday by bus. She is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Clayton Dexter in Clifton, New Jersey.

The Friendly Indians or Junior Y. M. C. A. met at the Y. M. C. A. club rooms on Wednesday afternoon with their leader Rev. Harry B. Miner.

BYRD'S CREW RESTING
Dunedin, New Zealand, March 14.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Byrd and his associates in the Antarctic are enjoying a well-earned rest. Several have gone into the country for short trips prior to departure for the United States and home.

The City of New York and the Eleanor Bolling are being prepared for sailing Friday, over a tentative route including Tahiti and Panama. The City of New York's hull is in capital shape despite severe buffeting by the ice.

Rear Admiral Byrd today addressed 6,000 school children, who gave the explorer a remarkable ovation.

NEW TRIAL APPEAL BY EDEL DENIED

New York, March 14.—(AP)—Fred W. Edel, under sentence of death for the murder two years ago of Mrs. Emma Harrington, actress, today was denied a new trial by Judge Charles Cam, Nott, Jr.

Edel had applied for a new trial on the basis of the newly discovered evidence which he claimed would clear him of the charge of murder.

The body of Mrs. Harrington was found Dec. 29, 1927 in the bathroom of her upper West Side apartment. At first it was thought she had died of natural causes but an autopsy revealed that she had been killed by a blow over the eye.

Jewels Missing
Much of her clothing and jewels were missing from the apartment. Suspicion turned to Edel who was known to have been friendly with the woman, and certain of the missing clothing was found in a room in New Haven in which Edel had occupied. A warrant was secured for his arrest. He was found three months later in St. Paul, Minn., and returned to New York for trial.

After several postponements he finally was tried and convicted of first degree murder March 7 of last year and sentenced to death.

Edel originally was sentenced to die at Sing Sing during the week of April 22 last year but appeals delayed the crime of execution until December 30. On that night but 30 minutes before he was to have been electrocuted Governor Roosevelt granted him a 30 days reprieve which later was extended because of delay in hearing his motion for a new trial.

Edel's execution is set for the week beginning March 31.

FIND FLYERS' BODIES.
Paris March 14.—(AP)—A Brussels dispatch to the newspaper intransigent says that the bodies of the three French airmen, Roux, Gaillet and Dodegand who left Madagascar last January for Paris, have been found beside their wrecked plane in the Belgian Congo.

The men left Madagascar on Jan. 10 and were last seen on the 13 near Port Franqui fighting high winds. They were found in the great Kasai forest.

SENSE and NONSENSE

Along the Highway.
I know I'm a silly old woman,
But then, I'm so disappointed
That the new road won't come by my house.
Of course you can't understand.
What the road means to one in the country.
Since the children have gone
And I'm all day in the house by myself.
The road has been friendly to me.
Its not near enough to be dusty
But still I can see who is passing and if it is someone I know
Or some of the cars from a distance
You know this is one way into Florida
And all fall and all spring
The cars pass from over creation
When I was a child I loved to read the names on freight cars and think about where they came from,
But the highway is much better.
For people are in all the cars
And sometimes they stop and eat lunch
Because of the shade here, and I take the nice ice water or tea.
Or maybe the children will stop for a play.
Or someone be sick on the way and
I let them lie down.
And they tell be about how the roads are
And how many punctures they've had.
And often they send me cards later
From Miami, or Denver, or Maine.
Of course I ought to be thankful
To have the new highway at all.
And I am. But I'd not thought of its moving.
I know I'm a silly—but then—

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)
The Tinymites were swimming 'round all winter they could touch the ground, but it was far too deep for that. They headed for the shore. "Now, take it easy, Scouty said. "Don't get excited.
Use your head! If any of us swim too hard our muscles will get sore."
Then Clowny said, "What we should do is grab a hold of the canoe and swim along beside it so it will not drift away. "I will make the swimming easy. See? I'll show you how. Just follow me." Each one soon had a hold of it and swimming was like play.
The boat man, standing on the shore, yelled, "Turn the boat around some more. You're heading in way down the beach. Try landing right by me." The Tiny-mites did as they were told. They promptly grabbed a tighter hold and swung the little boat around as easy as could be.
They swam until their little feet touched ground. This seemed a

ABOUT TOWN

The regular monthly meeting of Washington Lodge, L. O. L., will be held this evening and all members are requested to be present to act on the death of Robert Joseph McKinney, a member of the organization.

Colonel G. W. England of the United States Army will be the speaker at the meeting of Center Church Men's League Sunday. His topic will be "The Philippines."

The cast from Sunset Rebekah Lodge will repeat their play, "Twelve Old Maids," at the chapel hall in North Coventry this evening.

Rev. W. P. Reddy will be the speaker at the Monday noon meeting of the Manchester Kiwanis club at the Hotel Sheridan. It will be St. Patrick's day and Father Reddy will have something of interest to say about Ireland's patron saint, which none of the members can afford to miss, to say nothing of the attendance contest between John Olson's "Paperhangers" and William Knoft's "Body Builders." The standing is at present 64 for the latter and 65 for the hangers. Arvid Gustafson will furnish the attendance prize.

Gibbons Assembly Catholic Ladies of Columbus will run their St. Patrick's whist at the Hotel Sheridan main dining room this evening. The party is open to players in all sections of the town and twelve prizes will be given. Both bridge and straight whist will be played.

Friends in town have received a message from Mr. and Mrs. Jack Miller of Cambridge street to the effect that Mrs. Miller's mother, Mrs. C. D. McFarland, died at the Montreal hospital Wednesday night. Mr. and Mrs. Miller left here Wednesday but Mrs. McFarland had passed away before they arrived in Montreal. Mr. and Mrs. McFarland had frequently visited their daughter here and made a number of friends who will regret to hear of her early death.

Girl Scouts are reminded of the monthly rally which will be held tonight at 7 o'clock at High school hall instead of at the Hollister street school.

The second in the series of Center church Lenten Institute suppers and programs will be given at the Masonic Temple Sunday evening. The luncheon at 6 o'clock will be served by the Professional Women's club. Miss Clarice McMinn will be in charge of the children's service and the guest speaker will be Clifford R. Stetson of Japan who will speak on that country.

Sunshine, one of the junior Kings Daughters circles will have a meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Diannor-Royce of 243 West Center street was operated on for appendicitis at the Hartford hospital yesterday, and is getting along comfortably today.

HOSPITAL TO DISCHARGE GRIMES IN A FEW DAYS

Husband to Be Arrested for Assault—Both Have Made Complete Recovery.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Grimes have recovered from their wounds and will be discharged from the Memorial hospital in a day or two, it was stated officially at the hospital this morning. While no definite time has been set, it is expected they will leave the hospital Saturday or Sunday.

Mr. Grimes, a man 70 years old, slashed the throat of his 68 years old wife with a razor at the Warronoke hotel a few weeks ago and then tried to commit suicide in a similar manner. For a time it was feared his wife would not survive. Both have responded to medical treatment, however, and their wounds have healed. They have been sitting up each day for some time but naturally have not been allowed to visit each other. Nevertheless, they ask about each other's progress.

Mr. Grimes is under continuous police guard and will be arrested immediately upon his discharge from the hospital. He will be charged with assault with attempt to murder.

NORTH END CHURCH MINSTREL TONIGHT

Pleasing Program Arranged by North Methodist Epworth Leaguers.

Howard Fish, chairman of his committee in charge of the minstrel by North Methodist Epworth Leaguers at the Hollister street school this evening, have arranged a program that they believe will please all who hear it. An amusing sketch, "Hiring Help" will be given by a cast of eight women, as follows: Mrs. Clarence L. Taylor, Mrs. C. H. Jaycox, Mrs. Thomas McAdams, Miss Marion Taylor, Miss Mildred Berggren, Miss Florence Tyler, Mrs. Ralph Persson and Miss Marguerite Marks.

In the minstrel Beaton and Warren Case, well known players on the saxophone will have a part, Beulah and Elizabeth Filbig will play mandolin duets, James August and Walter O'Connell will appear in a sketch and Arline Holmes will give two fancy dances. The end men will be Miss Hilda Magnuson and Miss Caroline Waterbury, C. H. Jaycox and Ralph Persson, with Leon Holmes as interlocutor. Others in the chorus include Mrs. Helen Grant Shead, Howard and Corwin Grant, Lillian Black, Merle Tyler, and Walter Hanna. Miss Bertha Lapp accompanist.

The Sunshine Sewing club will meet this evening at the home of Mrs. Clarence Cassells of Edgerton street.
