

ROCKVILLE

Mrs. Little C. Davis.
Mrs. Lottie C. Davis, of Ellington, widow of Dr. Edwin C. Davis, died at her home on Thursday morning following a short illness of pneumonia. She was a woman of many lovable qualities and is sure to be missed by the older residents of Ellington, where she resided many years.

She leaves four children, Harold of Rockville; Edwin W. Davis of Ellington; Miss Mary Davis, teacher at a school in Vergennes, Vt., and Miss Elizabeth Davis of Dean Academy, Franklin, Mass.

The funeral will be held from her late home on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Daylight Saving Time. Interment will be in the Ellington cemetery.

Mrs. Caroline Kuhnly.
Mrs. Caroline (Zimmerman) Kuhnly, 73, widow of John Kuhnly, Sr., of Talcott avenue, died at her home last evening, following a long illness. She was born in this city, December 31, 1856, the daughter of the late Joseph and Caroline (Getz) Zimmerman. She was a member of St. Bernard's church and Kiowa Council, Degree of Pocahontas.

She leaves three sons, John, Jr., Frederick and William Kuhnly of this city; a sister, Mrs. Paul Grenier of Hartford; three brothers, Edward Zimmerman of Manchester; Joseph Zimmerman of Hartford and John Zimmerman of Rockville; also 9 grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be completed today.

Sandy Beach Opening.
Sandy Beach Park and Ballroom will open tomorrow and it is estimated there will be a crowd of approximately a thousand at the dance in the evening starting at 9 o'clock daylight time, and for which Worthy Hills and his Club Worthy orchestra of eleven pieces will provide the opening program. Several changes and improvements have been made to the ballroom and restaurant that are sure to prove pleasing. An expensive amplifier has been installed that will provide music for the park patrons during the periods the various orchestras are not playing for dancing and this new innovation has been so arranged that it can be adjusted to carry the music more than a mile from the park.

Tomorrow evening's program for the grand opening has been carefully arranged and should prove very popular with dance patrons from many towns throughout eastern Connecticut. Worthy Hills and his splendid orchestra are making their first appearance in this section of the state and will be directed by Worthy Hills in person. The decorations this season are new and novel with a harmonious color scheme enhanced by additional colored lights and a marvelous stage setting designed and executed by John Staudt the popular local florist.

Weather permitting Sandy Beach ballroom at Crystal Lake should witness one of the largest crowds in its history tomorrow evening when this popular resort opens its doors on the 1930 season. The admission for the ballroom will be 50 cents and dancing will be from 9 to 1 day-light time.

George Bokis proprietor of Sandy Beach Park and ballroom has completed arrangements for the opening of his resort at Crystal Lake and announced to the Herald representative today the personnel of his staff for this year which is practically the same as has been associated with Sandy Beach ballroom since its opening in 1928. J. N. Keeney will again head the staff as managing director and treasurer and will be surrounded by the following: Gerard J. Rock, cashier; Kerwin J. Elliott, door chief; John DeCarli and Charles Connors, officers; Ofelio Frazzella floor director and Wm. Bokis electrician. Thomas C. Hasset will again manage the park and its various concessions assisted by a staff of assistants to be selected at an early date.

Legion Promoting Contests.
At the regular meeting of Stanley Doherty Post, American Legion, it was announced that the organization is again this year promoting the awards contest among the pupils of the graduating class of the East School, Maple street school, St. Bernard's and St. Joseph's schools, which will result in awards being made to the pupil of each graduation class who, during the past year has been the outstanding pupil. The award is based on scholarship, loyalty, courage, character and other virtues.

The legion is also promoting again a flag essay contest in each of the four schools, and another for the one written the best of the four. The winner of the big prize will read the prize winning essay at the Elks Flag Day exercises in June.

The Legion Firing Squad and Bugle and Drum Corps is going to Broad Brook, Sunday, May 25, to conduct Memorial exercises there.

The American Legion has gone over the top in its recent membership drive and has 210 members to date, against 207 last year.

The next meeting of the local Post will be held on May 20th, at which time final plans will be made for Memorial Day.

Common Council Notes.
The Health and Sewer committee of the city is following up the work started during the cleanup week. On Saturday afternoons Alderman Ernest Ide and Councilman Charles Underwood, Arthur Newell and John McKenna, have been visiting various pieces of property to make sure places are being kept clean. When property is not kept so, the owner or occupant is notified. The committee was commended by Mayor A.

E. Waite for the excellent work done in keeping the city clean.

Permits have been granted as follows: Charlotte M. Pich, permit to build addition to, shed on Union street; John Slesakowski permit to build addition to veranda on High street; Arthur Clift, permit to build garage at 83 Orchard street; Alfred G. Held, permit to raise roof of ell, Village street; John Kacowik, permit to build garage at 122 Grove street; Edward A. Pierce, permit to build garage at 16 Gaynor Place; William Dowgiewicz, permit to build addition to chicken coop at 78 West street.

Small Claims Court.
The State Chamber of Commerce has called attention to the Rockville Chamber of Commerce the recent law which permits the establishing of small claims courts in communities. Under the small claims court idea the merchants, without hiring attorneys, can bring a party into court, explain the situation and if the court thinks advisable can award judgment to the merchant. Many of the merchants are interested.

At the next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce one of the local attorneys will be invited to speak on the Small Claims Court and how it would operate. An officer from the State Chamber will also attend and speak on the matter.

Awarded $6,250 in Auto Case.
Harry A. Wells of Rockville, formerly of Manchester, was awarded $6,250 by a jury Wednesday at the Hartford County Superior Court. Judge Alfred C. Baldwin was on the bench. The award was made for the death of his son, Robert Ellsworth Wells who was killed in an accident on the Hartford Road, July 26, 1928, with two other boys, when the auto truck in which he was riding and which was driven by Joseph Radville of Hartford, overturned. Radville was later sent to prison. The case will be appealed by the defendant.

Mrs. Redfield Heads Council.
The annual meeting of the Council of Congregational Women was held recently in the South Parlor of Union church. The annual reports of the secretary and treasurer were given, which showed the Council had a most successful year. Reports of the state meeting held in Hartford recently were given by Mrs. Charles Redfield, Mrs. William Tyler, Miss Marion Butler and Miss Margaret Schmogro.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Charles Redfield; vice-president, Mrs. George S. Brooks; secretary, Miss Margaret Schmogro; treasurer, Mrs. Anna Dickinson; finance committee, Mrs. George Dickinson; social committee, Mrs. Thomas Sykes; literature committee, Mrs. William Pray; Americanization, Miss Marion Butler; music committee, Miss Sarah Hammond; religious education and Young People's work, Mrs. Walter Draycott; service committee, Mrs. Richard Blankenburg.

Presented with Check.
Steve Farrell, formerly of Rockville, who has been head track coach of the University of Michigan and who is to take a rest, was tendered a banquet by the Alumni of the university and presented with $1000. He is considered one of the greatest track coaches and trainers in college athletics.

To Play Weaver High.
Rockville High school's newly formed tennis team will open its season today against the Weaver High of Hartford. A great many candidates have reported and some good material from which Coach Paul Roden will pick a quartet to play has been found, including several sophomores and freshmen.

Friday's double matches will be played on the Eckhardt court on West Road, this city. The singles are to be played on the Kumjoynus tennis court. Playing will start at 3:30.

Wesley Osborne Speaker.
Wesley Osborne, son of Rev. Melville E. Osborne, pastor of the Methodist church, who took an active part in the Senior play recently presented, has been named as the third speaker on the High school graduation program, being chosen by the class. The fourth speaker to be named by the faculty will be named soon.

Berry Auxiliary to Meet.
Ellen G. Berry Auxiliary, U. S. W. V., will hold a regular business meeting, Monday evening, May 12, at 8 o'clock in G. A. R. hall. Every member should make a special effort to be present.

Afternoon Whist Club.
At the last meeting of the Afternoon Whist club, which was held at the home of Mrs. Maurice Spurling, prizes were awarded. Mrs. James Murphy of this city, Mrs. Frank Balkner of South Manchester, and Mrs. Stephen Connors, Refreshments and a social hour followed.

Maybasket Party.
The Ladies Catholic Benevolent Association held a meeting in its new meeting rooms in Red Men's hall on Wednesday night. A Maybasket party was held and delicious refreshments served by the committee in charge.

Notes.
Miss Lois Randall of New York has been the guest of her sister, Miss Lillian Randall of Talcott avenue the past week.

A daughter was born this week to Mr. and Mrs. James Healey of Union street, at the Rockville city hospital.

Rev. and Mrs. Edward Nield announce the coming marriage of their daughter, Jane, to F. Henry Aspinall, of Lebanon, Conn. The wedding will take place in the Baptist church on Saturday, May 17, at 3 p. m.

F. U. C. HEARING.
Hartford, May 9.—(AP)—The Public Utilities Commission today heard the application of the Stamford Water Company for approval of its petition for the purchase of the outstanding capital stock of the Shippan Water and Realty company.

HYMAN'S MEN'S STORE

695 MAIN STREET OPEN EVENINGS
Between Dunhill's and the Colonial Lunch.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The Hi-Y Club of the Manchester High School will hold its second annual dance on May 23. The affair will take place in the assembly hall and Bill Waddell's six piece orchestra will furnish the music. The price of admission will be one dollar for each couple. Tickets may be purchased from any number of the Hi-Y Club.

At the weekly assembly yesterday Mr. Quimby, in announcing the honor roll for the fifth marking period, read the senior B honor roll in view of the fact that this is the last opportunity he has of announcing the honor rolls of the class of 1930. Ordinarily only the A honor rolls are announced at the assemblies.

The feature of the assembly was an address by a representative of the Bryant-Stratton College of Business Administration. The speaker was not a stranger to the High school, having delivered an address last year. His talk concerned the creating and utilizing of opportunities and the essentials to success. Mr. Proctor, who is leaving his position of vice-principal of this High school to accept the principalship of the Wellesley High School of Wellesley, Mass., was honored at the assembly by a speech from Mr. Quimby in behalf of the appreciation of Mr. Proctor's splendid work during the time in which he was connected with this school. Mr. Proctor then gave a short speech. The applause accorded him was evidence of his great popularity with the student body.

ZEP IS EQUIPPED FOR NEXT FLIGHT

New Rudders, New Gondola and Many Other Improvements Are Noted.

Friedrichshafen (AP) — Although the "Graf Zeppelin" has weathered many a storm and is no longer a new vessel, it will take off on its first flight to South America, May 18, more perfectly equipped than it has ever been before.

Not only did the officers and crew gain invaluable experience in navigating and running the airship during the round-the-world flight of 1928, but this experience has resulted in a number of improvements.

Thus the horizontal rudder has been enlarged considerably and reinforced. This means that the dirigible can rise or drop much more easily than hitherto. Up to now, if the officers wished to drop from 1,500 meters to 300 meters or rise similarly, they had to sacrifice considerable gas or ballast and the maneuver required time. The test flights of this year have shown that changes in altitude can be easily and quickly accomplished with the new rudder at the sacrifice of almost no ballast or gas.

Previous Experience
It will be recalled that the "Graf" nearly ran into a mountain during its ill-fated attempt in May, 1929, to fly to America when the engines went wrong and the dirigible struggled through the Rhone valley, vainly trying to get back to Germany and having finally to land at Cuers, France. It was only Eckener's presence of mind in instantly dropping ballast that saved the passengers from certain death. This experience, at the narration of which all participants in that flight still shudder, probably was the deciding factor in changing the rudder.

Additional Gondola
Another decided improvement is the attachment of a second gondola besides that for the passengers, this gondola serving as the central station for electrical apparatus. The new gondola contains two auxiliary motors and a dynamo, and supplies the current needed for lighting, cooking, and other purposes. Hitherto all electric current came from generators which depended for their yield upon the speed of the airship. When the dirigible travelled slowly, the current was insufficient.

The world flight has further shown just what part of the outer hull is subjected to special strain. At these points the material has been reinforced. And the five motors have, of course, been overhauled.

guest soloist of "The Travelers Hour," booked for 10:30 o'clock to-night from Station WTIC. Supporting her and offering a varied program on its own behalf, will be a concert orchestra under the baton of Christiana Kriens.
Before her European venture, Miss Doria was affiliated in turn with the San Carlos, the Scotti and the Chicago Opera companies. In 1924, she gave a number of recitals in England and France, then went to Italy, where she made her European operatic debut in the title role of "Carmen" in Catania, Sicily. Among her souvenirs of appearances in Italy are a Fascist medal and testimonials from Queen Elena and the City of Milan. On her return to America, she made a concert tour of the Pacific Coast, then came east to appear as guest soloist of the Philadelphia Civic Opera Company in several Wagnerian productions.

THE LIGHT OF HISTORY

Previous to 1844 the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States was one cohesive unit. Dissension over a sectional political issue split that united organization into two parts which never have been entirely reunited.

Five charges have been laid against Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of Virginia and there is little likelihood that the General Conference of the Methodist Church South, at Dallas, will be allowed to dispose of them without a serious investigation.

That appears to be the situation in India as it develops in the mad whirlpool of human passion which is Sholapur. If it spreads and becomes more intensified Great Britain will have to deal with a problem hardly paralleled in modern times.

Can the British people, with their inherent sporting instinct of fair play, stand such a situation for any length of time without a sickening revulsion of feeling throughout the entire empire? It is to be doubted.

THOSE AIRPLANES

The spectacle presented yesterday by the flight over Connecticut of scores of military airplanes, sweeping in formation across the limits of the commonwealth in an incredibly short space of time, may possibly have occasioned some reflections on the part of those super-patriots who still contemplate the possibility of war with more of valor than discretion.

What a similar number of enemy planes, well supplied with bombs, could have done to the industries and population of this state, in the period of their passage, is a matter deserving of a little prayerful consideration. And what system of defense against such a raid could be made at all certain of success, we doubt if even the D. A. R. has ever figured out.

The enormous speed of air attack, the lightning-like rapidity with which the blow can be struck and the devastating effects of it, make it substantially impossible for any nation anywhere to insure itself against ruinous assault through this agency, no matter how superior might be its own armament. It might retaliate with destruction ten times as great, it might wipe out the raiders absolutely in a dozen cases out of thirteen, but it could not by any conceivable amount of preparation render the peril of the air negligible or even slight.

BANKRUPTIES

A certain Connecticut newspaper, which for obvious reasons we shall not name, has just been editorializing about bankruptcy. It believes most bankrupts arrive at that status because they knew nothing about the basic principles of business to start with. It concludes: "It is likely that no man ever went bankrupt by overestimating the difficulties ahead of him in modern competitive business or devoting too much personal time and attention to his own affairs."

True enough, no doubt. But what especially interests us is the early history of the newspaper making these comments. It is now a big and important and highly profitable enterprise. It was started by two men, now belonging to the past, who not only did not overestimate the difficulties in their way but almost ludicrously underestimated them; and who, incidentally, knew nothing whatever about any business and least of all the newspaper business. But they had one tremendous asset—force. They bulled ahead without the slightest idea of where they were likely to come out—and they came out right side up.

SHOLAPUR

Events of the last few days in India have been of a nature to suddenly command a large part of the attention of the world. The name "Sholapur" stands out with starling distinctness against the background of everyday affairs. This Indian revolt is thrown on the screen, starting in the brilliance of its illumination. It provides an illustration of the temper of the natives such as we have not had before.

Here is a city of perhaps 75,000 people, presumably well policed and with the male white residents organized and armed for the defense of constituted authority, which suddenly explodes. Its thousands of passive, submissive people, long accustomed to the discipline of an oriental industrial community where the white man's hand is on every lever of economic control, almost instantly turn into a wild mob animated by the bitterest of hatred and driven to every extreme of violence and cruelty by excess of their passions.

Apparently unarmed and using sticks, stones and the torch for weapons, they fling themselves upon their masters with a fury that sweeps away all the advantage of superior arms and organization on the part of the objects of their destination. Troops are summoned from garrison points but the infuriated populace fights them almost barked—and evidently with serious effect, for more and more soldiers and guns are called.

It is a frightful situation for a civilized government to face. If these people were armed revolutionaries it would be very different. But apparently they are giving battle to their white masters with no better arms than an infatuated willingness to sacrifice themselves before the eyes of the world. The British-Indian government seems to face the alternative of somehow yielding, and so inevitably losing its mastery, or of shooting down fanatically inspired men and women whose only weapon is their wrath.

That appears to be the situation in India as it develops in the mad whirlpool of human passion which is Sholapur. If it spreads and becomes more intensified Great Britain will have to deal with a problem hardly paralleled in modern times.

Can the British people, with their inherent sporting instinct of fair play, stand such a situation for any length of time without a sickening revulsion of feeling throughout the entire empire? It is to be doubted.

WASHINGTON LETTER

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of several stories reporting some of the most interesting and significant things heard at the annual U. S. Chamber of Commerce meeting in Washington. These are especially timely because of the current interest in the business situation.

By RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer

Washington, May 9.—Business received more attention from American business men at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States here than it ever received before, if that's possible. The chamber made "What's Ahead for Business" its program, voicing a question interesting the entire country at this time and most poignantly the business men themselves.

Besides inspiring the usual predictions about how good things are going to be and the customary complaints about taxes and "governmental interference," the meeting produced many serious and significant discussions and addresses which indicated that the members were alive to current problems of all descriptions and that they didn't intend to permit the current depression to resolve itself into any period of stagnation or to allow its lessons to go unlearned.

Urges Unemployment Study. One of the most impressive messages given to the chamber was brought by John H. Fahey, the Massachusetts publisher, a former president of the U. S. chamber. Fahey raised and discussed many questions of importance which he said were now being pressed from many directions for re-consideration following "the unfortunate developments of last year."

The problem of unemployment, he said, could not be ignored, if only because of its inescapable adverse effects upon the industry and population of this state, in the period of their passage, is a matter deserving of a little prayerful consideration. And what system of defense against such a raid could be made at all certain of success, we doubt if even the D. A. R. has ever figured out.

It might retaliate with destruction ten times as great, it might wipe out the raiders absolutely in a dozen cases out of thirteen, but it could not by any conceivable amount of preparation render the peril of the air negligible or even slight.

Only the elimination of war itself can do that, from now on.

Other significant things the chamber heard from Fahey: "The question of devising better means for curbing speculation is arising more sharply than it has for many years."

Investment over mergers and combinations, with their capitalization and possible final good or bad effects, exists among average citizens as well as hundreds of thousands of business men and bankers.

It seems inevitable that government will concern itself finally in some degree with problems presented by investment trusts, branch banking and concentration of control over credit. Should not business men interest themselves in sound thinking toward establishment of just, reasonable and constructive regulation?

Some sections of the country are becoming less enthusiastic over railroad consolidations and development of national systems. Some shippers begin to feel that in transportation regulation offers no adequate substitute for a certain amount of competition.

Many defects exist in state regulation of public utilities. A just solution must soon be found.

"No one can yet foresee the final results of application of the present tariff bill. The whole experience raises an interesting question. The United States occupies a new and different position in the world from that of two decades ago. Has the time arrived when the business men of the country might to advantage restudy the whole question of tariff policy from the angle of prospective ence. A spider has infinitely greater intelligence than a turtle, but you can imprison a spider in a paper box that a turtle would jam his way out of in ten seconds.

FINE FIGURING Our admiration goes out to the Poughkeepsie reporter of the "New York Times" who, in describing a forest fire, said it presented a wall of flame fifty-nine feet high; also to the similarly meticulous minded head writer who solemnly embodied that precise information in the headlines over the dispatch. When you get things down so fine that you can measure with such precision the height of a leaping wall of woodland flame you have earned, even if you don't get, the palm for accuracy. Pity that correspondent didn't happen to notice a snake expressing its vexation at the intrusion of the fire, because he would probably have observed that it stuck out its tongue at the flames seven and a quarter times each second.

Urges Unemployment Study. One of the most impressive messages given to the chamber was brought by John H. Fahey, the Massachusetts publisher, a former president of the U. S. chamber. Fahey raised and discussed many questions of importance which he said were now being pressed from many directions for re-consideration following "the unfortunate developments of last year."

The problem of unemployment, he said, could not be ignored, if only because of its inescapable adverse effects upon the industry and population of this state, in the period of their passage, is a matter deserving of a little prayerful consideration. And what system of defense against such a raid could be made at all certain of success, we doubt if even the D. A. R. has ever figured out.

The enormous speed of air attack, the lightning-like rapidity with which the blow can be struck and the devastating effects of it, make it substantially impossible for any nation anywhere to insure itself against ruinous assault through this agency, no matter how superior might be its own armament. It might retaliate with destruction ten times as great, it might wipe out the raiders absolutely in a dozen cases out of thirteen, but it could not by any conceivable amount of preparation render the peril of the air negligible or even slight.

Only the elimination of war itself can do that, from now on.

Other significant things the chamber heard from Fahey: "The question of devising better means for curbing speculation is arising more sharply than it has for many years."

Investment over mergers and combinations, with their capitalization and possible final good or bad effects, exists among average citizens as well as hundreds of thousands of business men and bankers.

It seems inevitable that government will concern itself finally in some degree with problems presented by investment trusts, branch banking and concentration of control over credit. Should not business men interest themselves in sound thinking toward establishment of just, reasonable and constructive regulation?

Some sections of the country are becoming less enthusiastic over railroad consolidations and development of national systems. Some shippers begin to feel that in transportation regulation offers no adequate substitute for a certain amount of competition.

Many defects exist in state regulation of public utilities. A just solution must soon be found.

"No one can yet foresee the final results of application of the present tariff bill. The whole experience raises an interesting question. The United States occupies a new and different position in the world from that of two decades ago. Has the time arrived when the business men of the country might to advantage restudy the whole question of tariff policy from the angle of prospective

TOM THUMB GOLF PLAYED AT NIGHT

As the sandlots made baseball America's "great National game" so Tom Thumb Golf promises to popularize the ancient Scotch pastime. Tom Thumb Golf, the fascinating sport which has swept through the South, has invaded the North with the passing of winter and the arrival of pleasant weather. Indications are that the game will prove just as much of a craze in the northern cities as it has south of the Mason and Dixon line.

Almost without exception, every live-wire community is astir, preparing for one or more of the popular Tom Thumb Golf Courses. Not only does this pleasant pastime prove itself a whiz by day, but because of its brightly illuminated setting at night, it affords thousands of golf enthusiasts an opportunity to enjoy their favorite sport to the nth degree.

Tom Thumb Golf is a unique layout of a miniature 18 hole golf course, simple, entertaining, yet tricky in its play, furnishing what perhaps no other American sport has done to date by delighting its fans in a great New Outdoor Sport, played both day and night.

It is predicted that before the Summer Season is over, there will be a Tom Thumb Golf course dotting every community who has heard about it.

The Western League magnates, who introduced night baseball in Des Moines recently thought that was the best way to bring out the stars.

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

NORTH POLE FLIGHT

On May 9, 1926, Richard E. Byrd, American naval officer and aeronautic explorer, flew over the North Pole in a trimotored Fokker monoplane piloted by Floyd Bennett. He was the first to achieve the feat.

About an hour after leaving Spitzbergen on the final dash to the pole the oil tank sprang a leak. But the plane was so far away from land that it was impossible to turn back with any degree of safety. This is the situation which Byrd later called the most thrilling of his life.

On reaching the pole Byrd circled several times and verified the observations of Admiral Peary who discovered it in 1909. The appearance of the pole is described by him as follows: "It did not look different from other miles of ice we had just passed. There was the same stretch of brilliant white marked by ridges, hummocks and a few leads recently frozen, showing green against white. This was the desolate top of the earth and we were over it."

After recording his observations,

Next Sunday is Mothers' Day. Remember your Mother with flowers. Phone 5463.

PARK HILL FLOWER SHOP

Byrd flew a little further, changing from north to south in an instant. Then he circled the pole again and flew back to his starting point. Byrd recently returned from an expedition to the South Pole which he crossed also by airplane.

If the illuminated pastime takes hold in the majors, it is our guess Art Shires will monopolize the spotlight; that a famous Brooklyn pitcher will be dubbed Dazzle Vance and that the customers will be called electric fans.

FIND SMITH'S CARDS IN MUSKOGEE STORE

Oklahoma Police Think They Were Left There to Establish an Alibi.

Muskogee, Okla., May 9.—(AP)—An effort by unnamed persons to establish an alibi, today was believed by police to have been responsible for the finding of personal cards of George Smith, Connecticut capitalist, who with his brother David was slain under mysterious circumstances here two weeks ago.

Police indicated the cards, together with several small photographs, might have been left on a ledge of a downtown store window in an effort to establish an alibi. They declined to indicate the person or persons they believed to be seeking the alibi.

The Smiths were shot and killed in a Muskogee hotel. P. G. Sealey and John Wike, their automobile traveling companions, and personal friends declared the victims were killed by two strange holdup men after a fight. Charges of murder, filed against Sealey and Wike, were dismissed after a preliminary hearing.

Bill Ballard, an Indian medicine man whose tribal name is Tuskwiki, discovered the cards yesterday. He notified police.

WAPPING

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Grant quietly observed their fiftieth wedding anniversary at the old Grant homestead where Mr. Grant was born and has always lived, last Tuesday, May 6. Mr. Grant is ninety-one and Mrs. Grant seventy-five.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant have four children, Louis L. Grant of Buckland, well known as an extensive potato grower, Mrs. Ralph Wheeler of Ridge Road, Wethersfield, but formerly of Hartford, Donald J. Grant, well known tobacco farmer, and Miss Finis E. Grant, who lives at home, and is a teacher of penmanship in the Northwest School District of Hartford.

There are also seven grandchildren, Jane, Horace, Jack and William Grant, children of Mr. and Mrs. Louis L. Grant of Buckland, Douglas and Phillip Grant, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Grant, and Delano Grant Wheeler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wheeler. The golden wedding was confined to a family gathering. All the children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Grant were present, also Rev. and Mrs. Harry B. Miner, pastor of the Wapping Federated church. Mr. and Mrs. Grant received many gifts of flowers and gold. Mrs. Emma Wood of Providence, R. I., is a guest at the home of Miss Etta I. Stoughton.

Miss Ellen J. Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. Foster of Foster street, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Sharp of Mystic. Mr. and Mrs. Sharp were formerly of this village but moved to Mystic this spring.

There were over one hundred people who attended the sixtieth annual meeting of the Hartford-East Association of Congregational churches, which was held at the Wapping Federated church, last Wednesday, May 7. The devotional service was led by Rev. Elmer T. Thienes of Marlborough church, which was followed by an address of welcome by Rev. Harry B. Miner of Wapping. The Marlborough church was heartily welcomed to the association, coming from the Tolland association. Rev. W. F. English then presented the "News of the Churches." This was followed by a very earnest address by Rev. George S. Brooks of Rockville, entitled, "The White Tower of Salomika." Then followed the dinner which was prepared by the ladies of the Wapping church at the Parish House. The conference was called together again at 2 p. m. and after the reports of committees, and election of officers there was another fine address by Prof. Andrew H. Henley, whose subject was "Children of the Forest." Rev. Fletcher D. Parker of Hartford then gave an address on "Undergirding the Foundation," after which he opened the conference for discussion. Harold Newberry, Mr. Finehart and Mrs. Noble of East Hartford spoke for seven minutes each and were followed by others. The meeting closed with the benediction by Rev. Truman H. Woodward of East Hartford.

Miss Marion Hills was the guest of Miss Marion Bowen of Worcester, Mass., over the week-end.

White Plains, N. Y. — Bequests totalling $250,000 for study of time, the sun and the brain are contained in the will of James Arthur, New Rochelle manufacturer. New York University receives $100,000 to keep a collection of watches and clocks in perfect condition and for an annual lecture on time and its mysteries. The Smithsonian Institution is given $75,000 for study of the sun and an annual lecture about it. The American Museum of Natural history is bequeathed $50,000 for study of the brain and a lecture yearly on its evolution.

London—The correct dress for the modern woman, in the opinion of Ellen Willinson, M. P., comes an inch or two below the knees and covers the knees and when the wearer is sitting. At a meeting of women workers she said the long skirt was a cloud on the female horizon. By vote of the meeting ankle lengths were disapproved and knee lengths favored 250 to 1.

One condition was that all children should be of the same marriage and all living.

New York—Uncle Sam has accepted a 12-year-old six footer from the Orient as a citizen. Fong On, who explained that he was born in California and who is a little fellow, asked the authorities if his son, about so high (indicating his knees) could come from China. They said yes. But when Big Fong Bing Len arrived, his size caused him to be held by immigration people. There was litigation, with study by doctors and a special master. The re-

South Manchester, May 9.—Sylvia Pogis of Waranoke 720016, a purebred Jersey cow owned and tested by Pitkin and Calhoun of South Manchester, Conn., has completed her second official production test. Sylvia Pogis of Waranoke was started on this test when she was 4 years and 1 month of age and in the following 305 days she produced 594.10 lbs. of butterfat and 8842 lbs. of milk. Her milk averaged 5.70 per cent butterfat for the ten months of the test and she carried calf for 188 days of this time. Sylvia made this record on two milkings per day and with it she qualified for the Register of Merit of the American Jersey Cattle Club. The sire of this young producer is Edna of Hillside's Pogis and her dam is Sylvia Georgia 3d.

The Husband Hunter

© 1930 BY NEA SERVICE INC. BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

BEGIN HERE TODAY

NATALIE CONVERSE tries to conquer her jealousy over her husband, ALAN. But they quarrel over BERNADINE LAMONT, a popular night club hostess, when the latter asks Alan to look after her son, BOBBY, whose father had saved Alan's life during the war. Alan tries to explain that the doctor had given Bernadine only a short time to live, but Natalie's rebuffs cause him to seek understanding and sympathy from his secretary, PHILIP WEST, who is waiting for the opportunity.

Phillipa manages to widen the breach between Alan and Natalie by showing her a letter from Bernadine in which she thanks him for the toys he has given Bobby. However, an explanation and a week-end at Lake Placid restore harmony to the couple and Phillipa is furious. She changes an order of Alan's for orchids and when Natalie goes to the bridge party and hears another woman boast that Alan has sent her orchids, all her old anger is aroused. She refuses to believe his denials. Angered, Alan takes Phillipa out again and wonders if he could love the girl when she coyly refuses his kisses.

On returning home he finds Natalie packing to leave. They quarrel but wounded pride prevents reconciliation. After she leaves the house seems desolate to Alan and he seeks consolation with Phillipa. She flaunts her victory to the office force.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIX

Phillipa's triumphant smile did not fade in Alan's presence. Before she entered the office she saw at once he had become immersed in his business.

Something important had attracted his attention, and for the time at least he forgot he might expect sympathy and understanding from his secretary.

She was glad the girls outside could not see with what earnestness he began his dictation. Her native caution warned her she might have been a bit hasty in giving the office a peep behind the scenes.

Phillipa was reflective; a trait which had proved of value to her on other occasions. Had she not lost control of her temper at times she would have had remarkable ability to govern.

Now, in the pauses of Alan's dictation, she concluded it was better for her to let herself be approached, and the disclosures as well, perhaps. The girls had been given their cue; Phillipa made up her mind not to carry it further and run the risk of being made ridiculous.

She got up without a word when Alan told her that was all, and walked quietly out of the room. Alan did not dream she was keenly disappointed in him, or that under her calm exterior passion smoldered dangerously.

It was only by an effort of will that Phillipa accepted the dictates of her better judgment and common sense.

She was able to maintain her poise when the girls looked up at her again, as she stepped out of the private office.

But she came close to losing it when, about an hour later, she took the letters that had been left for her, and found Alan telephoning his house.

She heard him ask Frances if there was a letter from Mrs. Converse, and for a moment her face was dark with fury. Fortunately for her, Alan did not look up. Her expression would have been enough to kill his interest in her instantly. For if there was one thing that he'd had enough of in women, it was temper.

Phillipa knew it was temper, she smoothed out her features into a semblance of amiability.

"There isn't? Are you sure?" Alan replaced the receiver and turned around when Phillipa saw he looked glum. She put the letters down with a flourish and hurried out.

Alan signed them and, being on his way to the office, took them back to her for mailing.

Phillipa was bent over her task, trying to hide her expression, both from him and from the others present.

Alan did not appear to notice. He wasn't, in fact, thinking of her at all. Some impulse, which he did not try to define, had prompted him to put in the call to his home and inquire about the mail. He was unconscious of feeling greatly disappointed now that he knew there was no letter from Natalie.

The feeling grew on him as the day's work was disposed of, and he had less to think about. In the early afternoon, he decided suddenly to write to her. Perhaps he would not have been inclined to do so if it hadn't happened that Phillipa went out to lunch when she did.

She had waited beyond her usual time, hoping to have a few minutes with Alan, while they had the offices very much to themselves.

But Alan wasn't hungry. He stayed in his office. It was only when he felt like eating out because he was restless, that he thought of lunching. He did not think of lunching with her. She didn't talk business when they were away from the office; and all the time he could get hold of at short notice.

Phillipa was gone when he went out. He didn't mind greatly. On the other hand, it might be more agreeable to lunch alone.

He swallowed a hasty bite or two, and lost interest in the food. The restaurant, although a good one, was not pleasing to Alan. It was a dismal rainy day. The people who came in trailed a wet track across the floor, and some of them leaned dripping umbrellas against the chairs.

He looked dreary to Alan. He thought of the South, of Bermuda, of California. If Natalie hadn't gone away, he would be getting out of this for a few weeks. A trip, with Natalie choosing their destination, was to have been his birthday present to her.

Now, he supposed, she would want a check. Come to think about it, he'd intended to surprise her with the trip as a gift had known about it. He got up quickly, paid for his lunch and left. No good sitting thinking about sunny climes on a day like this.

Before he got back to the office, his feet were wet. Natalie was jealous, but she was also thoughtful. Alan knew she'd have made him wear rubbers when he left the house that morning.

Seated again at his desk, he succumbed to the desire to write to her. He made the letter practically a demand that she return to him, thinking to establish a firmness that would be helpful to him in the future. His real longing was for a streak of stubbornness causing him to conceal what he considered weakness. He called a permanent separation between them "silly" and asked her to be sensible, even if she didn't love him. He thought they ought to go on together for the sake of this, and that—her position, their families. But not a word that she might construe as the sign of a broken heart.

As he wrote, Alan grew even more firm than he had intended to be when he began the letter. "Of course, Natalie," he added near the end of it, "we won't have a ghost of a chance for happiness, unless you can realize that your insane jealousy is absolutely without justification."

He wasn't thoroughly satisfied with the letter when it was finished, but he was afraid he might not compose another if he destroyed it. Writing of Natalie's jealousy had almost dissipated his softer mood, and brought to his mind a number of hard-to-forgive experiences.

He signed the letter with a determination to send it as it was.

Al Crockett sends me one about Charles H. Sabin, the millionaire head of the Guaranty Trust Company.

Sabin had called at the St. Regis Hotel to see a friend and, while waiting at the room clerk's desk, suddenly pointed out two gents walking across the lobby.

"Do you know who those men are?" asked Sabin.

The clerk shook his head.

"Well, they're two of the biggest gunmen."

The clerk, turned slightly pale, looked around for aid and rang a secret buzzer for the house detective.

But when the two men reached the desk and registered, they put down the names of Captain James Purdey and Thomas Purdey of London, England.

What Sabin had meant to state was that they were two of the most famous manufacturers of firing arms in the world. The House of Purdey has been in the gun-making business for a century and a half, the business having been handed down from father to son.

Speaking of vaudeville performers being out of work, reminds me that Coney Island has been calling upon many of them to do spicing for the famous boardwalk sideshow attractions.

The tryout thus far showed them to be adroit and unusually eloquent artists of the ballyhoo. They are well acquainted with the "ad lib" which is very necessary to this particular racket.

GILBERT SWAN.

Pajamas With Slit Trousers

By ANNETTE

Of course you will want to lounge on the beach this summer. And you will feel quite out of things unless you have snappy pajamas to don over your bathing suit.

This model is exceptionally practical. The trousers are slit at either side of lower legs to provide freedom over the bathing suit. They are fitted closely to the figure at the hips with a shaped yoke.

The tucked-in bodice in surplus styling is very becoming and comfortable.

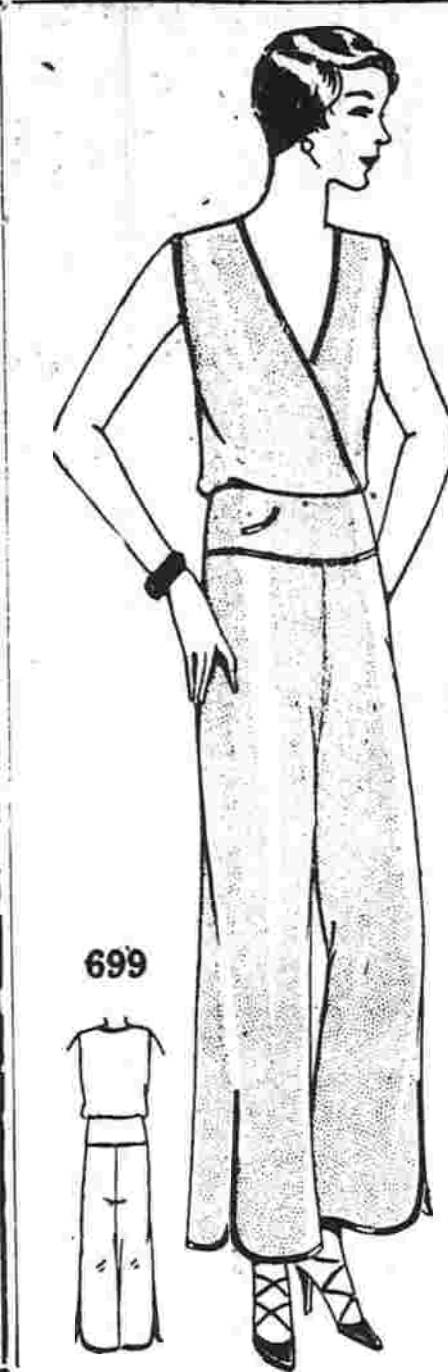

They are sketched in cotton broadcloth in shiny finish. The ground is yellow-beige covered with tiny vivid green dots. The bias binding is in the green shade.

Style No. 699 comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22 and 24 and 38 inches bust.

Printed linen is effective in black ground with large splashy white pattern, with the binding in orange.

For the bodour, they are fascinatingly attractive in flame colored flat crepe silk.

Printed tub silk, shantung and pique print silk.

HEALTH

TUBERCULOSIS STILL TAKES HIGH TOLL, THOUGH RATE IS FALLING

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Death from tuberculosis continues to menace mankind, although the rates have been cut more than one-half in the past 25 years.

It has been estimated that the rate for 1922 was about 90 per 100,000, whereas in 1900 it was 201.9 per 100,000, and in 1920 106 per 100,000. There are at least a million people with tuberculosis during any one year. The battle goes on. The strategists of preventive medicine occasionally gain a little ground.

Figures just made available indicate that the rate for New York dropped by 4 per cent, from 1928 to 1929, and the rate of 85 instead of 89, and the rate for Chicago by 7 per cent, dropping from 85 to 78. The greatest decrease for the year was shown by Providence, R. I., which dropped 16 per cent, and the greatest increase by Dallas, Tex., which advanced 11 per cent.

Of the 39 leading cities of the United States, 31 showed a decrease in tuberculosis from 1928 to 1929, six showed an increase, and two showed no change.

Tuberculosis rates among the colored population constitute a special problem. In Chicago particular attention has been given to this problem in recent years with the result that a greater decrease was shown in Chicago among the colored tuberculous than in any other city.

Significant advances in the colored rate of mortality occurred in Philadelphia, Detroit, Cleveland, and Newark, N. J., and significant decreases in New York City, Chicago, Birmingham, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

How important the colored mortality rate may be is indicated by the fact that in Chicago 29 per cent of all deaths from tuberculosis were among the colored; in Birmingham, 64 per cent; in Washington, D. C., 59 per cent, and in New Orleans, 52 per cent. Tuberculosis is particularly a fatal disease among negroes and among the North American Indians.

The Irish, according to Sir William Osler, both at home and in the United States, are more prone to this disease than other nations. Jewish people everywhere have a low mortality from tuberculosis.

Fortunately, through the years human beings have begun to develop resistance to this disease, and only a small part of all of those who become infected develop the disease in an active form. Fortunately, it is known that plenty of outdoor air, sunlight, plenty of good food, and hygienic living help the body to build resistance against this condition.

It has been characterized since the earliest times as the captain of the men of death.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY, NEA Service Writer

New carrots are a delicate and succulent vegetable that are rich in possibilities. Raw or cooked they are a valuable food from the health standpoint.

The old saying that "carrots are good for the complexion" has been proved and established through scientific research. Nowadays we know that it's the vitamin and mineral content of this vegetable that gave it the properties our grandmothers valued as a complexion beautifier.

To gain the most benefit from carrots, they should be eaten raw. New carrots are especially desirable in this manner of serving. Carrot sticks add charming bit of contrasting color to a tray of relishes and at this time of year are deliciously crisp and tender. Grated raw carrot is good in any vegetable salad.

Out Fruit in Inch Slices.

Next to onions, carrots are the most efficient blood purifiers and they rank next to spinach in iron content—two reasons for clear complexion and sparkling eyes.

Vitamin C is found quite generally in carrots. This is the vitamin that is affected by heat, so if carrots are eaten raw there is no possibility of losing any of this important substance. Fresh young vegetables contain larger amounts of vitamin C than those which have been stored for some time.

Vitamin A and B also are present in carrots, making them one of the most important vegetables available. Comparatively few vegetables furnish the three vitamins, A, B, and C, as abundantly and cheaply as carrots.

The carrot crop seldom "fails" and they are always plentiful and cheap. This puts those food substances which are essential to growth, health and vigor within the reach of every family. Strong muscles, red blood, sound teeth, firm flesh, straight bones, glossy hair and clean skin are the result when the food substances known as the "vitamins" are present in the diet.

Instead of paring or scraping carrots, try the following method.

Pour boiling water to more than stand over carrots. Cover and let stand five minutes. Drain and plunge into cold water and rub off skin with a rough clean cloth.

This saves the hands, too, for carrots stain badly.

AFTER STOCK SWINDLERS

Washington, May 9—(AP)—In the first movement of its kind to check stock swindling, the National Conference on Prevention of Fraudulent Transactions in Securities will hold a two-day session at the Chamber of Commerce of the United States on May 22 and 23.

The purpose of the conference is to coordinate efforts to check stock securities swindlers—ranging from $500,000,000 to $1,500,000,000 annually—to devise new measures for suppressing the evil and to extend public knowledge of sound investment.

Probably more than half the population of Mexico are full-blooded Indians.

MENUS For Good Health

A Week's Supply
Recommended By
Dr. Frank B. McCoy

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, May 11th:—

SUNDAY
Breakfast: French omelet, crisp bacon, Muffins made of soy bean flour, Stewed prunes.
Lunch: Buttered beets, creamed cucumbers, lettuce.
Dinner: Roast pork, okra, baked eggplant, celery and ripe olives, Jello or Jell-well.

MONDAY
Breakfast: Coddled eggs, Melba toast, Stewed apricots.
Lunch: Raw apples, glass of sweet milk.
Dinner: Broiled steak, string beans, small carrots, head lettuce, baked pears.

TUESDAY
Breakfast: Egg and tomatoes (baked) served on Melba toast, Crisp bacon.
Lunch: Cream of spinach soup, buttered green bean salad.
Dinner: Baked sea bass, cooked tomatoes, salad of raw spinach and cabbage, No dessert.

WEDNESDAY
Breakfast: Eggs poached in milk on Melba toast, stewed raisins.
Lunch: Fresh fruit as much as desired of any one kind.
Dinner: Mutton chops, cooked carrots and peas, string bean salad, pineapple whip.

THURSDAY
Breakfast: Crisp waffle, a little maple syrup if desired, baked apple.
Lunch: Generous dish of Junket.
Dinner: Vegetable soup, roast beef, zucchini, McCoy salad, (lettuce, tomatoes and cucumbers) ice cream.

FRIDAY
Breakfast: One coddled egg, wholewheat muffins, stewed figs.
Lunch: Dish of berries (canned without sugar) Cottage cheese.
Dinner: Broiled fillet of sole, string beans, sliced tomatoes on lettuce, applesauce.

SATURDAY
Breakfast: Wholewheat mush with cream (no sugar).
Lunch: Glass of orange juice.
Dinner: *Quick vegetable-cream soup, Salisbury steak, asparagus, stuffed celery, Jello or Jell-well.

*Quick vegetable-cream soup: While I always advocate the water-less method of cooking vegetables whenever possible, there are many instances when there will be found on hand a small quantity of the liquid drained from canned vegetables, which contains valuable mineral elements that should be used. This liquid may be combined with an equal amount of canned or fresh cream, a little chopped parsley or celery, heated just below the boiling point, and served garnished with a dash of whipped cream. As an example, even the water in which cauliflower has been cooked makes a very appetizing soup; or the liquid from canned asparagus, peas or tomatoes. Those vegetables with the more pronounced flavors are especially suitable. It requires but a few moments to prepare soup in this manner, and the result is very pleasing as well as economical and healthful.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Myopia)
Question:—R. M. G. writes: "I wear thick glasses for myopia. Do you think it would be possible to discard them if I used the right system of dieting and exercising?"
Answer:—Myopia is due to an irregular shape of the eyeball and this can seldom be completely cured. However, a fasting and dieting regime nearly always proves of benefit in any form of eye defect. You can help yourself in a general way by proper dieting, but to be sure to wear suitable glasses if your optometrist tells you that they are necessary.

(Water)
Question:—H. B. J. asks: "How much water can a healthy person drink without injuring the kidneys? Some doctors advise drinking six or eight glasses, and others do not advise any certain amount. What is your idea?"
Answer: The amount of water one should drink during the day depends upon the amount of exercise, the weather, amount of seasoning in food, and the proportion of fruits and vegetables used. If one uses enough of the juicy fruits and green vegetables it is not necessary to drink much water. If dried foods are used instead of the fresh, six or eight glasses of water would not be too much.

(Sulphur Dioxide Gas)
Question:—A. C. V. asks: "Can sulphur dioxide gas have any serious effect on the lungs?"
Answer: Sulphur dioxide gas is irritating to the lungs and sometimes predisposes one to tuberculosis.

TOWNS GROW BIGGER.

New Haven, May 8.—(AP)—A trend to increased population in Connecticut towns is indicated by census returns, the number of towns completed and figures announced, 66 out of 169 making the forecast positive up till last night the population is 114,772 as compared with 106,539 in 1920. So far Shelton in Fairfield county is the only city in which the figures have been announced. It also is the only community exceeding 10,000 in population in which the enumerators figures have been given out.

NEW AIRPLANE ROUTE

Saint John, N. B., May 8.—(AP)—An eight to ten day flight between Saint John and Moscow, by way of Alaska, will be attempted this fall or next spring by George E. King of New York with a view to establishing a northern air route linking Asia commercially with the United States and Canada. King is a representative of the Junkers Corporation.

NEW POLICE HEAD
INSPECTS BOSTON

Boston, May 9—(AP)—A tour of inspection of suspected speakeasies, gambling dens and vice resorts was made by Police Commissioner Eugene C. Hultman within 36 hours after his appointment. Accompanied by Superintendent of Police Michael H. Crowley and without other escort, the new official visited nine resorts last night.

No liquor was found but one man was arrested for drunkenness. Crowds assembled and began to follow the two about. "We will raid them once a week or oftener, if necessary," the commissioner said later, "until we make it so unprofitable for them that they will have to get out of the business." The places visited were three suspected speakeasies, three alleged disorderly houses, two night clubs and a dance hall. Burma has an annual rainfall of 600 inches.

RADOX BRINGS
FOOT COMFORT TO AMERICA

Nothing Like It Ever Sold By Druggists Before
Corns—Callouses—Burning Feet

Now you can buy Radox in America at any up to date drug store. Packard's Pharmacy is selling dozens of packages a day.

Three or 4 baths according to directions and your corns and callouses are gone, your tired, burning aching feet are changed to strong vigorous ones and bear this in mind.

If Radox doesn't do as advertised—money back.

Getting a corn out needs only a few Radox footbaths. In the last few years millions of packets of Radox have been sold to corn sufferers. Here is a typical letter:

"My wife had a very bad corn for several years on the ball of the foot, and four smaller ones on the toes, also hard skin which was very painful. After a few sockings in a Radox footbath the hard skin began to peel off, and the corns came right out after a week. It is a pleasure for her to walk now." E. S. 1st November, 1929.

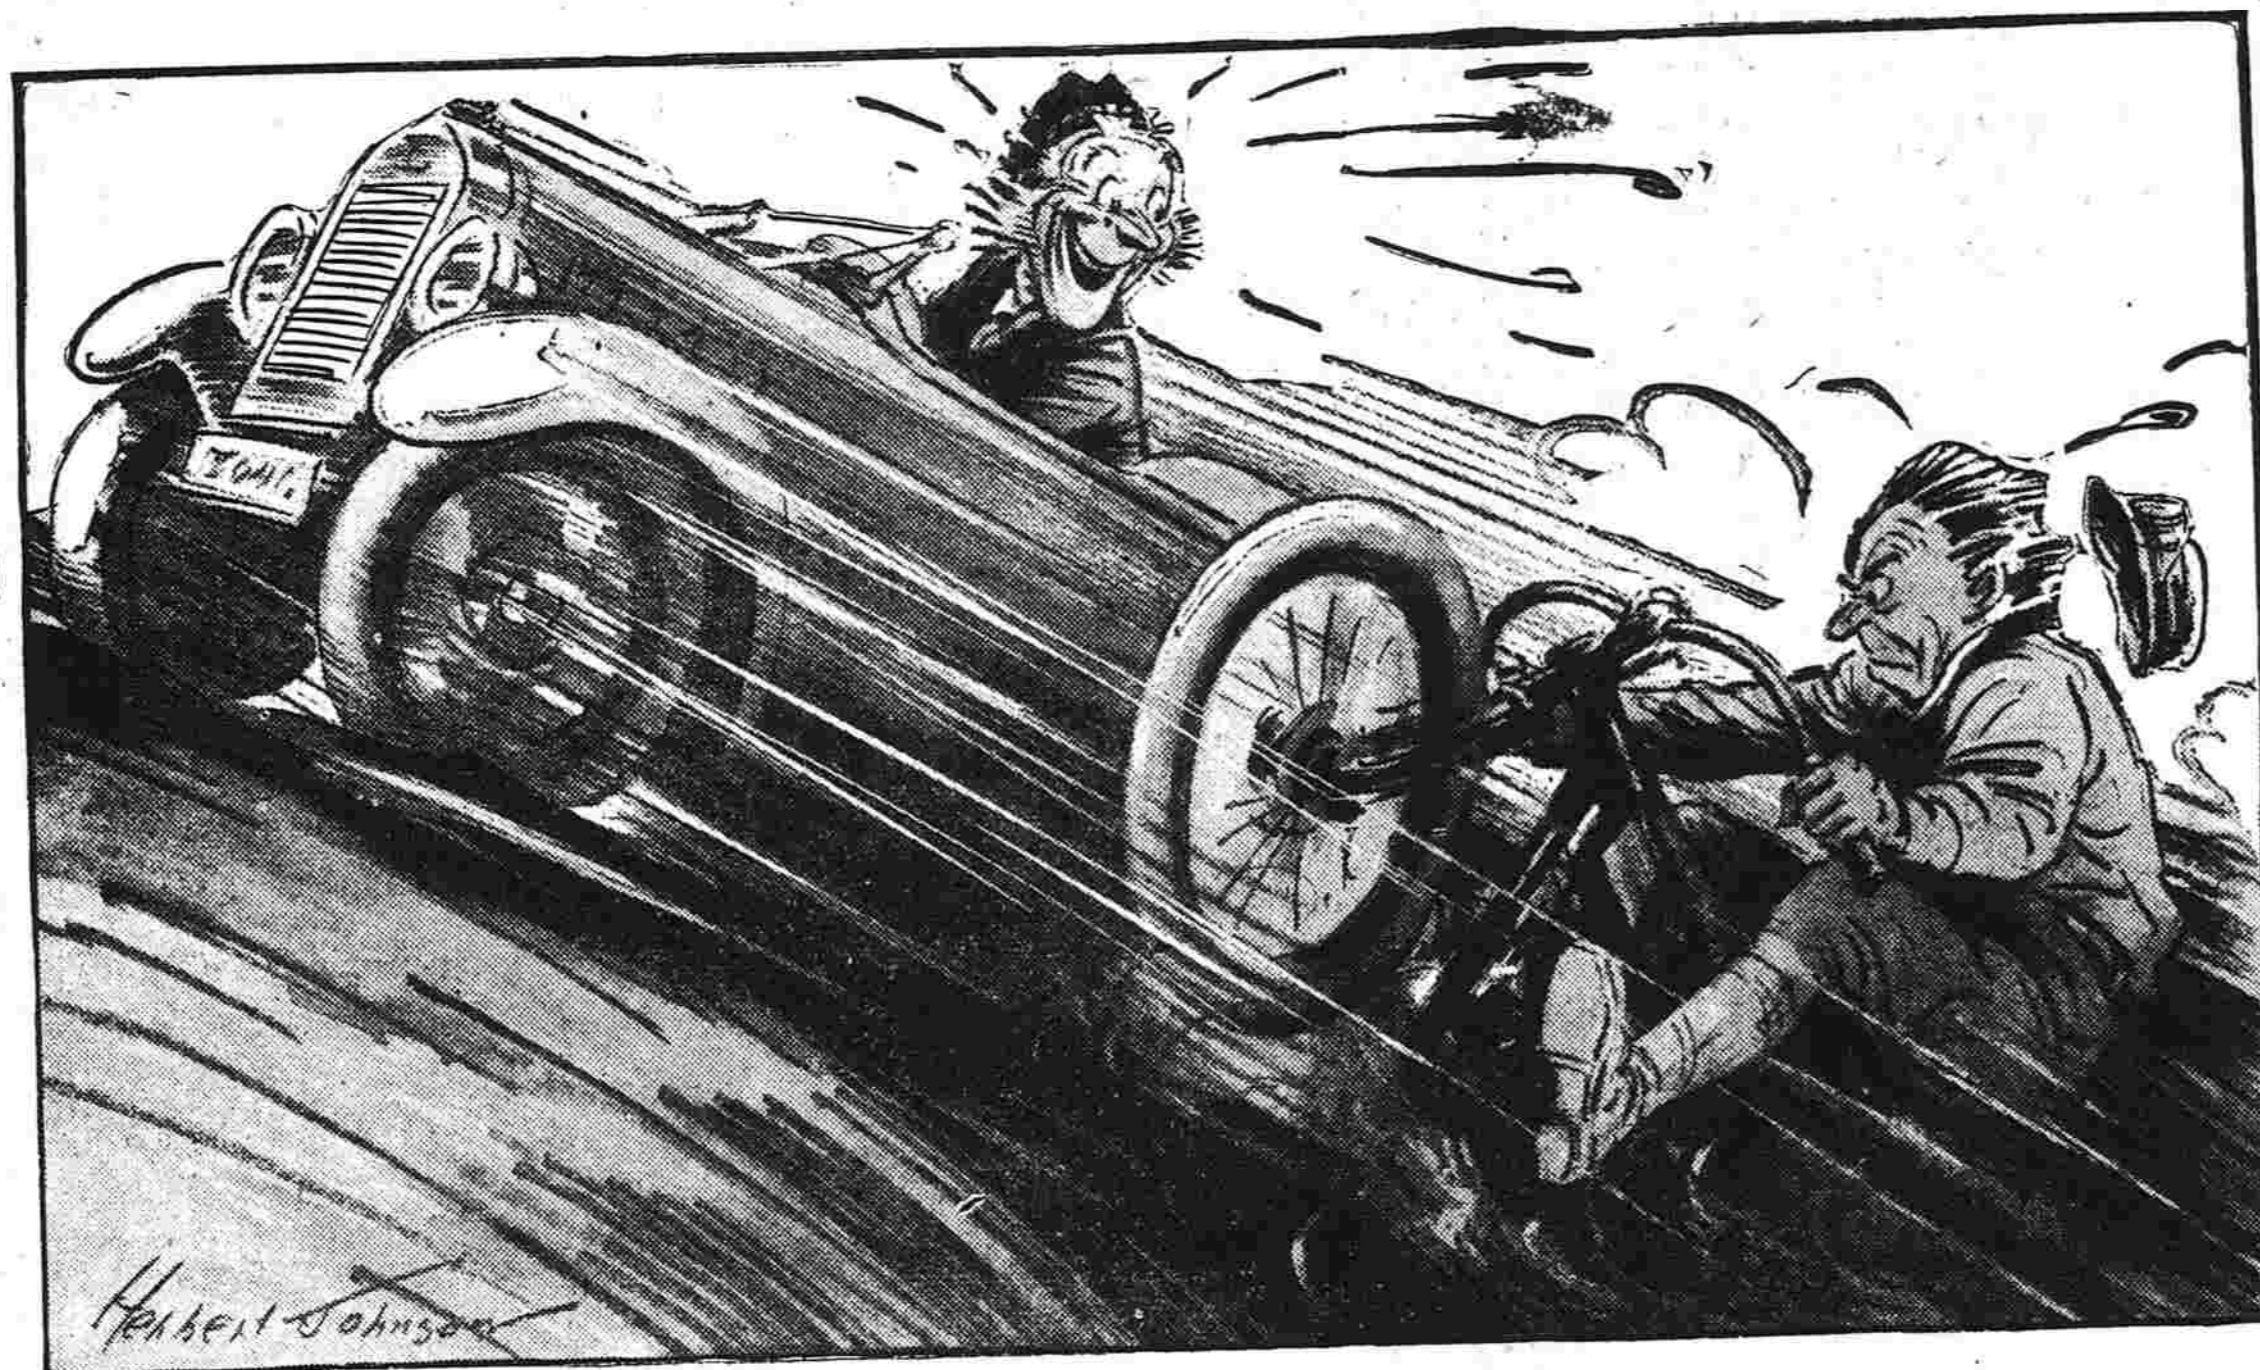

Radox contains four different salts. One hasches odor, one is antiseptic, one softens the water, and one releases oxygen which carries the softening salts right to the roots of corns which are thus loosened so that they can be lifted out bodily. Only Radox contains this four-fold combination.—Adv.

LAWYERS DISCUSS REVISION OF LAW

Washington, May 9.—(AP)—A drastic revision of the nation's criminal code destined to untie a score of knots now hindering the movement of justice, stood partially approved today by the American Institute of Law.

Until midnight last night debate over a voluminous "model code of criminal procedure" proposed as a result of four years labor by Institute experts swayed pro and con among approximately 600 high justices, judges and lawyers, drawn from all parts of the country to the Institute's eighth annual meeting.

Then with twelve chapters still to be considered a halt was called, the remaining provisions placed for study in the hands of a committee, and a vote upon them set for tomorrow.

The Recommendations
Among the approved recommendations were:
The selection of extra jurors in protracted trials, to eliminate retrials because of sickness of death on a jury.

The examination of jurors by the judge rather than the opposing counsel. Permission to defendants to waive jury trial in all but capital cases.

Issuance of a summons instead of a warrant of arrest in minor cases.

Provisions for admitting material witnesses to bail and for releasing such witnesses after taking their depositions in case bail cannot be given, thus eliminating long jail confinement.

Provision for prosecution by an information filed by the prosecuting attorney in cases which now must be prosecuted by an indictment of the Grand Jury.

JUDGE SIMPSON BETTER

New Haven, May 9.—(AP)—Judge E. C. Simpson of the Superior Court who went to New Haven hospital Wednesday for observation for a kidney stone, went home late yesterday and today he was to resume his seat in trial at Bridgeport of the Oliver G. Martin vs. Arthur L. Clark, alienation of affections suit.

COOLIDGE IN PRAISE OF EARLY SETTLERS

Watertown, Mass., May 9.—(AP)—Near the ancient cemetery in which lie the remains of the first ancestors of the Coolidge family in America, Calvin Coolidge paid tribute to the ideals and philosophy of the early settlers of New England.

"They were a very wonderful people," the former president said, "I doubt if anywhere there could be found a similar number who so greatly impressed their influence on the history that followed them."

The city observed the tercentenary celebration of its founding yesterday and Coolidge and Governor Frank G. Allen were guests of honor. Both made addresses.

"Virtues of the early settlers were lauded by Coolidge. "They were a people devoted to religion," he said. "Sometimes it is charged that they were narrow in that respect. Perhaps that is so, but it was a vital and constructive narrowness."

"They were a people that know how to think for themselves and to act for themselves. If the celebration we are to have from now on is to do us any good, it will be because it is made the occasion for study to learn what these people were trying to do and their reasons.

PROM DOESN'T PAY

New Haven, May 9.—(AP)—To "pay the fiddler" the Junior class at Yale will pay out of its graduation fees a deficit which came with the "prom" held in February. This, the most notable of class social events of the college course has seldom in recent years been a money maker.

For several years the question has arisen as the continuance of the custom. The deficit this year was $892.09. Last year, the class broke even, that of 1928 made a hundred dollars but in many other years the class footed the left over bills to square accounts.

TO LEAVE YALE

New Haven, May 9.—(AP)—Kent Roberts Greenfield, assistant professor of history at Yale will go to Johns Hopkins university in the fall to be chairman of the history department and professor of modern European history. He joined the Yale faculty in 1920.

BLAST KILLS 18 IN PACKING PLANT

St. Joseph, Mo., May 9.—(AP)—Tons of heavy debris today were being removed by city firemen and hundreds of volunteer workmen seeking bodies of eight Armour Packing plant employees believed to have been included among the 17 victims of a devastating explosion in a six story building.

While an exact check of dead and injured both men and women, was impossible due to excitement arising from the blast, officials expected a final death toll of 18 persons. Twelve other workers were injured by the blinding flash and the following upheaval, which occurred yesterday afternoon. All of the injured except one were expected to recover.

W. E. Renfro, general manager of the plant and Walter Kline, foreman in the sausage making department said they believed a gas explosion was the cause.

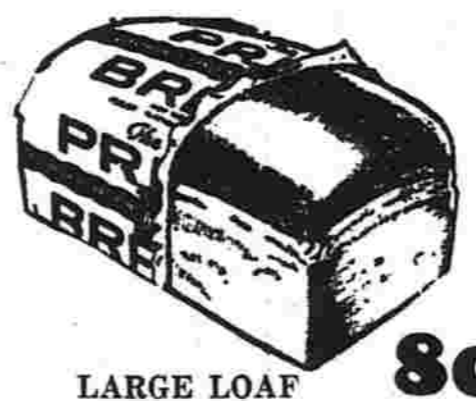

More than one thousand persons, many of them relatives of the dead, gathered at the main entrance to the packing plant grounds through the night.

CONGRESS DRAWS 60,000 PERSONS

Traffic Jam Holds Up Pilgrims for Hours; Pontifical Mass Today.

Carthage, Tunisia, May 9.—(AP)—A pontifical mass on the ruins of the ancient Basilica Majorum where St. Augustine five times preached a panegyric on the martyred saints, was today's chief event of the thirtieth Eucharistic Congress now in progress here.

So taxed have the facilities of the little town of Carthage become by the influx of thousands of visitors from all over the world that traffic has become a real problem. The Eucharistic crowds have swamped the Tunis and Carthage transport facilities, the tieup being especially great after an impressive ceremony yesterday in the old amphitheater where thousands of Christians once were thrown to wild beasts.

The thousands of children in white ceremonial robes who participated in yesterday's ceremony were caught in a jam seeking to return to Tunis. It was hours before the snarl could be untangled. The American Eucharistic participants escaped the worst of this because their special autobus services run directly to their ships where they are living.

60,000 In Attendance

It was estimated 60,000 persons attended yesterday's ceremony, possibly a greater crowd than ever before was seen in the ancient amphitheaters.

So great was the press of people coming from the structure that even Cardinal Lepicier, the Papal delegate, and Archbishop Lemaire, primate of Africa, were held up by the Colonial troops handling traffic.

Among the guests at last night's brilliant reception and dinner by the French resident-general were Archbishop Forbes of Ottawa and Leland L. Smith, American consul at Tunis.

HORTON SMITH FOUR STROKES IN REAR

Southport, Eng., May 9.—(AP)—Horton Smith, youthful American golf pro, this afternoon faced the herculean task of picking up five strokes in 18 holes on Archie Compston, big English pro in order to win the Northern Professional Championship tourney.

Smith with a 72 this morning, registered a 54 hole total of 218 and this lead he held until Compston came in with a brilliant 70 which gave him a 214 and a sizeable lead.

PROGRESS OF CENSUS.
New Haven, May 9.—(AP)—The count of noses of the folks in Connecticut as reported by the five supervisors reached a total of seventy towns over night. The figures of population were 125,480 as compared with 115,295 in 1920, although in its latter figure the 1920 census of Orange is not included. That town has been divided since 1920. All the supervisors are excepting to have many towns completed within the next few days, and in several cities the indicated totals are in hand but there is more rechecking to be done before final figures are ready.

TO ENLARGE COUNCIL
New Haven, May 9.—(AP)—The Interpost Council of the American Legion here last night voted to enlarge its representation by inclusion of the negro and railroad Posts. This will make an eight Post membership.

THIS MESSAGE IS FOR MILLIONS

ALL-BRAN Is Health News to Them

Millions know that headaches, general depression and other ailments are caused by constipation. They know that cathartics, pills and patent medicines will not effect permanent relief. They will be keenly interested in the natural, effective remedy for constipation that experience has revealed to other millions.

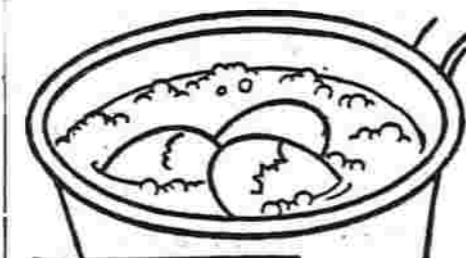

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is eaten everywhere today for the relief and prevention of constipation. This delicious cereal adds roughage to the diet that is absolute assurance against this dreaded disease. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the original ALL-BRAN. It not only prevents constipation, but contains abundant iron that enriches the blood and brings the radiant glow of health to the complexion. With milk or fruit juices, it also brings important vitamins.

Eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily is a most healthful habit. It is especially essential in reducing diets. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

SENSE and NONSENSE

It's All Up To You.
You are the fellow who has to decide whether you'll do it or toss it aside; You are the fellow who makes up your mind whether you will try for the good that's afar Or be contented to stay where you are. Take it or leave it—there's something to do! Just think it over. It's all up to you.

If Clerks Followed Impluses.
Clerk—May I help, sir?
Cent—I'm just looking.
Clerk—When do you leap.

Life insurance—the good buy that means good bye to worry.
Woman can do most anything with man but do without him.

Ask me another: If you should meet a skunk in the road, what sense would be the most pleased?
Answer: Absence.

Drinking may decline, but drinkers seldom do.

Mrs. MacPherson (just at meal time)—Sandy, we have guests at the door.
Sandy—Grab a toothpick, quick.

Somebody's recipe for happiness: Never be discouraged nor a discourager.

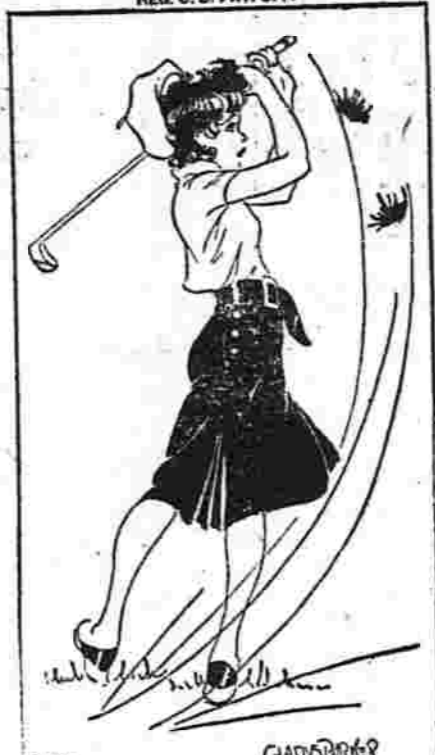

One would naturally expect something like this from Mike: "Funds for prohibition enforcement are the intake for the upkeep of the down put of the output."

A man entered a restaurant and ordered his breakfast. As the waiter placed it on the table, he remarked quietly:
Waiter—It looks like rain.
Guest—Yes, but I ordered coffee.

Nothing we know of has added less to the sum of human happiness than the discovery that spinach can be canned.

The farmer with a cellar full of potatoes, pork, canned fruit, sauerkraut, apples, jelly, and hard cider

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

Some girls take two lumps with their tea.

doesn't give two whoops in hurra! what happens in Washington or Wall street.

Attorney—Why do you say they are gamblers?
Sheriff—While we were chasing them they were betting on which one of us would capture them.

First Father—How is your son doing in the city these days?
Second Father—Oh, fine. He gets $2.75 a day working in a lunch room and for a sideline teaches the latest dances evenings at $100 a week.

Word is being sent out to "Go to work, and quit worrying." Farmers should especially take notice of this new "relier" formula.

No one can expect to make a hit by aiming at nothing.

A man is incomplete until he is married and then he is finished.

Young Husband—Last night when I got home my wife had my chair drawn up before the fire, my slippers ready for me, my pipe filled, and—

Old Friend—How did you like her new hat?

Life insurance has been known to transfer a plain, unattractive woman into a fascinating widow.

Because many of us don't know when we are well off we go ahead and get worse off.

QUOTATIONS

"Half a loaf may be better than no bread, but half a mind is dangerous economy."—Lord Wakefield.

"We should give our soldiers the dress blues again."—Congresswoman Edith N. Rogers.

"Christian ethics are seldom found save in the philosophy of some unbeliever."—Heywood Brown, author.

"No law which has to do with human thought or speech or conduct can by any possibility be enforced."—Nicholas Murray Butler.

Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, has written an opera called "The Fiery Furnace." It must be hell.

ONCE UPON A TIME.

Colonel Robert Ewing, publisher of the New Orleans States and Shreveport Times, was a messenger boy and later telegraph operator in Noble, Ala. This work brought him in contact with newspaper men.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The bird man then went on his way. "I'm going to ship these birds today and so I have to hurry to the shipping point," said he. "Each one's a pretty rolling bird. Their song's as sweet as you have heard. I'm sending them to U. S. A., far, far across the sea."

"Oh, my," said Clowny, "that makes me as homesick as a lad could be. The U. S. A. is our home land and it's a wondrous place. Around the world we're traveling now, but some day we'll go back, somehow. We don't know where all we will go. It's like a wild goose chase."

"I think you're lucky," said the man. "Just have a good time while you can. When you have grown to great big men, you'll have to work like me. It isn't fun to toil all day, so make the best of all your play. Some day you'll understand and know how different it will be."

And then they bid the man goodbye and Scouty, with a deep, deep sigh, said, "Gee, it seems a shame to keep those birds caged up so tight." Then, someone else said, "They didn't mind, 'cause everybody treats them kind. They'll soon be in much larger cages. Then they'll be all right."

The Travel Man soon stopped real quick. Said he, "Well, here's a shop that's slick. It is a German toyshop. Let's go in and look around. Fine toys are made in Germany, as you will very shortly see." They went into the shop and oh, what wondrous things they found.

Upon a table stood a toy that made wee Copy shout, with joy. "Oh, look," he cried. "That toy's a fine policeman, just like me. He stands there proud, and looks his best. That's likely 'cause he's nicely dressed. To think that I'm a policeman too is pleasing as can be."
