

KIWANIAN AGAIN HIT AS MINSTRELS Full House Sees Local Men Sing, Dance and Tell Jokes About Each Other.

The old time spirit of minstrelsy was again brought to the footlights last night in the State theater by the Manchester Kiwanis Club in their annual benefit program for the Hebrew Kiddies Camp.

The first part of the program was the performance of the school children, the performance of the evening opened to a full house with new faces, new costumes, scenic effects and snappy song numbers, combining to produce a well-rounded evening's entertainment.

The first part opened with the announcement of the objective of the Kiwanis Club by the Spirit of Minstrelsy, played by Mrs. Victoria F. Tate, followed by a solo, "Look for the Silver Lining" by Fayette E. Clarke, done in the usual fire man's manner.

"Picking Petals Off Daisies" by end man Ralph McNally went over with a bang. The elephantine daisies and the dancing, plait-plucking act which accompanied the song, was unique and added much to the offering.

The High School Girls Quartet composed of Misses Lucile Murphey, Virginia Lowell, Susan Allen and Doris Curkington gave a youthful exposition of jazz singing in the popular, "Singing in the Rain."

"Amos 'n' Andy" by end man John Barlow hit the popular fancy of the day singing about the troubles of the famous radio pair.

BYRD IS WELCOMED AT THE CANAL ZONE

City of New York left New York, until today, the expedition had been conducted not only with results that exceeded its hopes but without the loss, amid the perils of unexplored sub-Arctic travel, of a single member of the party.

Arrive at Barrier. The expedition arrived at the ice barrier on Dec. 25 and established the permanent base at Little America Jan. 6. Ten days later the then Commander Byrd made his first Antarctic airplane flight, exploring 1,200 miles of territory.

Then came the supreme thrill of the Pole flight in consequence of which Commander Byrd was commissioned a rear admiral by President Hoover.

This afternoon's ceremonies included calls upon the United States Minister to Panama, Roy Davis, Foreign Minister J. D. Arosemena and President F. H. Arosemena.

Following today's ceremonies the Byrd party will be confronted by many others during the two weeks they will remain in the Canal Zone, assembling the entire personnel of the South Pole Expedition and gathering together all of their materials, records and paraphernalia.

The Byrd expedition reached its climax on Nov. 29 when the commander wirelessly from the South Pole at 8:55 a. m. (New York Time). He returned to his base in Little America at 5:10 p. m. that day having flown with three companions to the goal of his ambitions.

Put Over. It began to look like a deadlocked jury when prisoner Ferguson, conferring with his attorney, decided that the case was out of its jurisdiction in court and was set ahead for further trial in the Federal court at Gastonbury at a later date.

THE Mock Trial "Is He Guilty," featuring the alleged payment of a Kiwanis meeting fine of ten cents in a trolley by Deputy Judge Thomas Ferguson was clever. Several cases on the docket had been either continued or dismissed when State and defense attorneys, George H. Waddell and Clarence P. Quimby, respectively, agreed to proceed with the prosecution.

Attorney Waddell opening for the State charged prisoner Ferguson on Dec. 23, last, with the voluntary insertion of a trolley token in lieu of a ten cent fine at a regular Monday noon luncheon of the Kiwanis Club for the inadvertent use of the title "Mr." The States attorney by numerous witnesses tried to prove that there was evidence to show that the peanut-munching prisoner had so acted in Kiwanis business procedure.

NEW HAVEN LOSES PLEA. Washington, May 14.—(AP)—A petition of the New Haven railroad to the Interstate Commerce Commission of the value of rights it had in the Grand Central terminal in New York City was dismissed today without action.

JOHNNY JOHNSON'S BAND AT SANDY BEACH BAL

"If there is one man in New York who is probably as popular as Al Smith himself, it is surely Johnny Johnson," wrote an interviewer in The Business Survey, who goes on to say: "His joyous syncopated jazz is like a ray of sunshine to the hearts of the weary. Regardless of how rotten a day you have had at the office, regardless of how much money someone is cheating you out of, if you go to the Club Mirador, at 200 West 51st street and get a good earful of Johnny Johnson's melodies, we defy you to even think of any trouble that has occurred during that day or any other day. You will find your feet tingling and your lips smiling and your eyes sparkling and before you know it you are whirling around the floor perfectly oblivious of everything that is not joy and happiness and muttering to yourself something to the effect that you are on top of the world."

This clever director, pianist, master of ceremonies and entertainer, is bringing his orchestra to Sandy Beach Ballroom for a special engagement Thursday evening, the 15th. For the first time in a number of years Johnny Johnson has been persuaded to leave New York supper clubs and hotels, where his music has been the featured attraction for dancers and music lovers, to go on a limited tour under the management of the Music Corporation of America, in order to get personally acquainted with the tens of thousands who have heard him and his orchestra on the air from WEA and other New York stations, or on his numerous popular Victor records.

Johnny Johnson himself is one of the most gifted young pianists of the day, and records for the Welte-Mignon reproducing piano. He has an all-star group of musicians and entertainers in his unit, and presents a clever and versatile program which will be seen and heard at Sandy Beach Ballroom tomorrow evening.

HURT IN SCHOOL GYM

SUES WETHERSFIELD

Hartford, May 14.—(AP)—A school girl, Evelyn Goodwin, has sued the town of Wethersfield for $50,000 for injuries to her spine sustained when she alleges, she was compelled to jump over a horizontal bar in the junior high school and there were no mats on the floor for her to land on. The writ, signed by Lawyer Robert J. Travis, is returnable to the Superior Court, and has been served by Deputy Sheriff Joseph J. Fanelli.

In her complaint the girl, who is a daughter of Charles J. Goodwin, now of Hartford, says that in May, 1929 she was a pupil at the Wethersfield Junior High school and was compelled to take physical exercises in the gym of the school under the instruction of a physical instructor in the employ of the town. The girl also alleges that she was compelled to take the physical exercises over the protests of her parents.

KING OF ITALY VISITS

AMERICAN EXPOSITION

Rome, May 14.—(AP)—The King and Queen today visited the exposition of the American Academy near the Janiculum Hill and inspected the works of art by new world artists.

Their Majesties were received by Gorman H. Stevens, director of the faculty, while a band played, a special selection by Robert Sanders, of Chicago, a former fellow of the Academy, instead of the usual royal march.

Professor William Borinz, head of the School of Architecture of Columbia University and treasurer of the Academy, was among those presented to the royal pair.

The sovereigns inspected the exposition minutely, talking with each exhibitor in English and chatting cordially with Professor Frank P. Fairbanks, of Boston, Mass., head of the Art Department. In the classical section they visited the library where Professor Henry A. Sanders presented to the King a specially bound volume of the Academy's 1930 publications.

Mrs. Stevens, the director's wife, presented flowers to the Queen and to Mrs. John W. Garrett, wife of the American ambassador.

NEW GOOD WILL FLIGHT

Valley Stream, N. Y., May 14.—(AP)—The good will plane "Pilot Radio" took off from Roosevelt Field at 7:35 a. m. (E. S. T.) today on the first leg of a six-week flight to South America to further amicable trade relations.

It is the same monoplane in which a flight to Bermuda was made recently, and its crew included Lewis Yancey, navigator; Emil Burgin, pilot and Zeh Bouch, radio operator.

A passenger to Washington, the first stop, was Isadore Goldberg, Brooklyn radio manufacturer, sponsor of the flight, who declared the trip to be the most extensive yet sponsored by a commercial organization to another continent in the interests of trade.

Yancey hoped that President Hoover would see the plane off from Washington on the second leg of its journey—to Jacksonville, Fla., where it will stop overnight. It will go thence to Miami, Havana, and the Panama Canal, proceeding down the west coast of South America to Santiago, Chile, crossing to Buenos Aires and flying on to Rio de Janeiro.

CENSUS RETURNS

We can feel a certain amount of sympathy with Hartford, which is disappointed in the result of its census enumeration, but after all what difference does it make if half of one per cent of its population didn't get onto the census takers' slips.

The major interest in a census, anyhow, lies in the comparative rather than the actual size of the population. Hartford's keenest concern is whether she is the second or the third city of the state in size, and this she can know beyond much doubt as soon as the figures for Bridgeport are given out.

Incidentally, however, we feel some curiosity as to what is meant by "first figures" given out by the census authorities "subject to change." If the total of the enumeration in Hartford as taken, is 161,327, it would seem possible for the census authorities to know it, quite definitely, and that would seem to settle the matter.

Probably by 1940 some altogether different system of taking the census will have been evolved. In the meantime the good old law of averages has undoubtedly been at work in the making of the mistakes and at worst the count of noses is probably a good deal more dependable than any of the ratios used by school and health boards; so that cities that have been disappointed might as well let it go at that as to get mad and rave.

McBRIDE, HOMEBREW

One of the most surprising things that has developed in the everlasting prohibition situation in a long time was the admission by Dr. McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League and exponent of the theory that the League is the direct implement of the Almighty, that Representative Fort's theory that homebrew and light wines can legally be made for domestic consumption is "probably right."

From his testimony on this point before the Senate Lobby Committee it is deducible that Dr. McBride is quite sympathetic with the Fort idea that it is all right for the people to have such booze as they can make for themselves—and this is startling in its newness when it comes from such a source.

There is this difference, however, between Representative Fort's presentation of the theory and Dr. McBride's endorsement of it. When Mr. Fort made the speech developing the legal homebrew proposition the Supreme Court had not rendered its famous decision that dealing in any materials whatsoever, intended for the making of intoxicants, is in conflict with the law.

There is, as a matter of fact, every reason to believe that that sweeping Supreme Court decision has greatly disturbed all the Dr. McBrides. Knowing very well that a great proportion of the dry votes even in the driest states comes from the people who are willing to support prohibition provided it does not interfere with their own moderate drinking habits and so long as they can make their own beverages and perhaps now and then buy a bottle or two of bootleg liquor, but who would instantly become wet if their own privileges were interfered with, the McBrides were scared by the decision.

Understanding perfectly the danger to their support that lies in the implications of the decision, it is now the obvious business of the dry leaders to reassure these thousands upon thousands of their moist living but dry voting supporters that they need not fear for their privileges, and that, in spite of the Supreme Court ruling that it is impossible legally to have homebrew, it will continue to be possible to have it, as usual, comfortably and without risk, even if illegally.

Dr. McBride merely seized an opportunity to publicly serve notice that, regardless of the Supreme Court, the Anti-Saloon League proposes to determine what parts of the prohibitory laws shall be enforced and what shall be ignored. And that it isn't going to stand for any enforcement that will alienate those valued dry voters who have cellars full of kegs and bottles.

When a citizen, however worthy, writes to a newspaper for publication a letter in which he takes a passionate stand on some public question he never knows exactly what he is laying up for himself. A great many copies of any considerable newspaper, are printed and they are read by all sorts of people. Some of the readers have excellent memories and some have the scrap book habit. Some, when they see a letter in a newspaper signed with the name of some person whom they do not particularly like, are liable to quietly slip it out, put it away and await the future.

Albert Sidney Lanier, a New York lawyer, wrote a rather high-hat letter the other day to the New York World, demanding to know by what right that lay newspaper presumed to pass upon the qualifications of Judge Parker as an associate justice of the United States Supreme Court.

In view of the record of Justice Brandeis on the Supreme Court during those fourteen years it was most unkind of the clipper-and-keeper to spring that letter on its author at this late day. But as an illustration of Mr. Lanier's own skill as a picker of good judges for the Supreme Court it comes pretty pat.

Having made a fine show of indignation over the mob violence at Sherman, where the county courthouse was burned by rioters in their determination to lynch a Negro, Governor Dan Moody and the rest of the state of Texas have apparently decided that that is about all that need be done about the matter. Announcement that the guilty parties will straightway be apprehended and prosecuted and the dignity of the law vindicated at any cost, followed by sudden forgetfulness of the whole business—that is the typical formula in such affairs in the South.

Meantime the state of Texas, which in late years has come to be a close rival of Tennessee in the element of godliness, has the Dallas Conference to turn to. It is always more comfortable to contemplate one's own outer adornments of respectability than his underclothing of lynch-law and bloodshed.

William C. Deming, chairman of the commission wants an appropriate number of fingerprint applicants before they reach the appointive stage. Prohibition enforcement applicants were fingerprinted as part of their examination because of their expected money for it, but they're only a small section of the "classified service."

The result of our character investigations has been startling, Deming says. "It is evident that the worst crook may sometimes be able to give a very good account of himself in a written mental test. When an applicant is submitted not only to fingerprinting but to searching personal inquiry among his associates, neighbors and employers, there is little chance of covering up a bad record."

Worcester, Mass.—Any man who can stand being beaten by his wife five times a week for four years, deserves a medal, not a divorce. But Frank B. Woodward was recently granted the latter when he gave undisputed testimony to the foregoing effect. He told the judge that his wife had once stuck him with a pitchfork and once hit him with a batiron, knocking out all his teeth. Her chief delight was in chasing him with a horsewhip, Woodward said.

What strikes us most particularly about the fact that there are seventy-five persons in Hartford hospitals apparently permanently disabled from the effects of drinking jakey, is that a monumental silence concerning these cases—which are distributed all over the country—is maintained by those statisticians for the dries who make tables and charts to show the blessings of prohibition.

That doesn't represent all the appointees who have minor police records because in many states fingerprints are not taken unless a felony has been committed. It doesn't include the prohibition enforcement service because applicants for prohibition jobs who have criminal records are weeded out before they reach the appointment stage.

Four thousand out of 10,000 applicants for prohibition jobs, after passing all other examinations, have been barred because the Civil Service Commission, after investigation of their characters, found them morally unfit. Advance announcement of the character test may have prevented the proportion from being much larger.

These figures are Uncle Sam's own. Just ask the Civil Service Commission. In 1929 only one person in every 13 selected for federal jobs by the appointing officers was found to have a fingerprint record. But in the first 10 months of the fiscal year 1930 such records have been found in more than 10 per cent of cases.

That's no reflection on the government's army of incumbent employees, although it emphasizes the importance of the commission's character tests and fingerprint studies. Nor should it be supposed that all persons found to have such records are permitted to stay in the federal classified service. If the record is bad enough the Civil Service Commission may, after the appointee has been sworn in, refuse to consummate the appointment and remove him.

With more than 250,000 examinations for federal jobs every year and only between 40,000 and 50,000 appointments the commission has to hold up its fingerprinting until after an applicant has been placed on the job. To fingerprint all applicants at the outset would be five times as large a job. The prints of new appointees are checked with police records in their own communities and with the great file at the Department of Justice in Washington. More than 50 per cent of such jobs are in the postal service.

There were 30 cases of murder or homicide, 324 of larceny, 122 of liquor violations, 26 of breaking and entering, 89 of burglary, 29 of embezzlement, 20 of forgery, 27 of drunken driving, 35 of criminal assault, 75 of robbery, 144 of arrests as suspicious persons, 20 of vagrancy and so on.

These figures, as noted before, were quite incomplete.

HEALTH DIET ADVICE Dr. Frank McCoy

STICK TO YOUR DIET Few people have the will power to adhere to a regular diet. There are so many temptations on every hand that one requires a good deal of uncommon sense to stick to the course of one's convictions.

Worcester, Mass.—Any man who can stand being beaten by his wife five times a week for four years, deserves a medal, not a divorce. But Frank B. Woodward was recently granted the latter when he gave undisputed testimony to the foregoing effect.

Diet is no longer considered a fad except by old-fashioned people, and you need not feel ashamed of saying that you desire wholesome foods. Any child can understand that the body is made out of what we eat and drink. It is folly for one to look outside of oneself to find the cause of disease.

Those who are trying to live on diets such as I recommend in this column need not have difficulty in selecting a meal of good combination either at their friends' houses or at restaurants. Usually there is a large variety of foods from which you may choose—three or four good articles which are necessary to your diet.

meal mush you recommend in your menus? Answer: It depends on which of my diets the patient is following. Sometimes I prescribe an almost exclusive milk diet, and in other diets I do not advise milk. In the average manner in which you use any other form of protein, it is best not to use it with cornmeal or other cereals unless they are first dextrinized.

HE MAY BE THIEF BUT HE'S NO LIAR

Chicago, May 14.—(AP)—A thief may be a thief but not necessarily a liar, and there is evidence to support it.

A police officer patrolling the near north side stopped to view with suspicion a man who was having trouble unlocking an automobile parked at the curb.

"What," inquired the officer, "are you doing?"

"I'm trying to steal this automobile, if I can ever get it unlocked," said the young man.

"He, Ha, Ha," laughed the officer, and strolled on.

It's gone now.

IN NEW YORK

New York, May 14.—Just why there should be so much interest in a staid song when there are no staid worth mentioning is just a bit too deep for me.

All I know is that letters and phone calls have been coming down on my neck ever since I wrote a piece about the fabulously popular Maine Stein Song.

I have been asked, "why don't you get things straight?" And I have a note from dear old Maine itself informing me, "you didn't tell the half of it."

So he went to none other than Lincoln Colcord, who today is one of our popular novelists and who happened to be Sprague's room-mate in the house.

And when young Mons. Vallee put it on the air and all the publishers went scrambling after it, Fischer didn't do so much as know that he had it in the house.

The "Opie" composition, by the way, was the work of a band-master, Emil Fenstad, who headed a U. S. army group of players.

From one young man who signs himself "a student," I learn the song has spread the fame of this university over the land.

NORWAY PAYS TRIBUTE TO NANSEN'S MEMORY

Oslø, Norway, May 14.—(AP)—Norway paid official tribute today to Dr. Fridtjof Nansen whose sudden death occurred yesterday.

The Storting, or Legislature, held an extraordinary meeting at which President Hambro voiced the country's praise of the great explorer and humanitarian.

President Hambro said Dr. Nansen's life was so many-sided and rich, it is difficult to judge his real work.

"Science led him back to deeds and deeds led him back to science under Norway's banner," the president said.

"In difficult times he had occasion to do his country invaluable service. His name was identified with great funds which bore his name at home.

Abroad there was a Nansen passport which was the shelter of many homeless and unfortunate persons."

The Storting's offer to pay the explorer's funeral costs was accepted by the Nansen family.

CAIR'S SAGGING SPRINGS NO CAUSE FOR SEARCH

Miami, Fla., May 14.—(AP)—Sagging springs under an automobile is the opinion of Federal Judge Lake Jones are not sufficient cause for a search of a car for liquor.

Judge Jones so held in dismissing William Wright, negro and ordering the return of his car which had been confiscated by customs agents.

The ruling was made after James Wallace, United States Customs inspector, testified that he found 45 gallons of moonshine liquor in Wright's car when he searched it after observing its springs but without a search warrant.

The negro was indicted recently by a Federal Grand Jury.

BIGGEST PLANE TESTED

Dessau, Germany, May 14.—(AP)—The Junkers airplane, G-38, claimed to be the largest land plane in the world, started early this morning on its first extended cross-country flight, with 20 passengers aboard.

After the flight the Luftthansa Company will take the plane over to use as a freight carrier.

The craft measures 148 feet between wing tips. It is practically without body or tail, and gives the impression of being all wings.

There are four Junkers motors aggregating 2,400 horsepower, and it can carry 6,000 pounds useful load.

The cabins are built in the wings. At 10:00 a. m. the machine appeared over Tempelhof Airfield here and dropped a bag of mail.

Downes defeated Doris Stanhope, one up. Orcutt is Winner. Maureen Orcutt, Englewood, N. J., won her way into the fifth round of the championship by defeating Miss G. E. C. Rudgard, three up and two to play. Cards for the Orcutt-Rudgard match: Miss Orcutt out 356 434 643-38. Miss Rudgard out 356 435 644-41. Miss Orcutt in 645 545 3. Miss Rudgard in 555 454 6. Miss Orcutt took an early lead in her match with Miss Rudgard but found the English girl a worthy opponent after the turn was reached. Miss Orcutt held a lead of three up at the end of the nine holes. She lost the tenth; won the eleventh; halved the twelfth; lost the thirteenth; won the fourteenth; lost the fifteenth and then ended the match on the sixteenth where she was down in three to Miss Rudgard's six. Hicks Loses Lead. Miss Hicks was one up at the turn in her match with Mrs. Garon. It was a see-saw affair during the first nine holes. All square at the fifth, Mrs. Garon missed a 12-inch putt at the sixth and was trapped on the tee at the seventh to become two down. She got one hole back, however, on the eighth when Helen dubbed her second. Miss Hicks was three up at the thirteenth on putting. Mrs. Garon's drives from the tee also began to lose distance. Miss Hicks had a three-hole lead on Mrs. Garon at the end of 13 holes, but the British entrant batted doggedly to keep in the running, cut the New Yorker's lead to one up, and then squared the match at the 18th with a 40-foot putt. Miss Hicks, however, applied pressure and won the first extra hole. Miss Hicks encountered a batter in Mrs. Garon, the Northumberland champion, who after being three down at the 16th, won three holes from the match when the American found traps at each hole. The New Yorker braced, however, at the extra hole while Mrs. Garon overplayed the green from the rough. The card: Hicks out—545 435 554-40. Garon out—644 346 744-42. Hicks in—545 445 474-42-82. Garon in—555 645 363-42-84. Extra hole: Hicks-4. Garon-5. The fifth round this afternoon brought the first match between two Americans when Helen Hicks and Mrs. Leo Federman met. Miss Collett's opponent in the afternoon play was Beryl Brown of Formby, while Maureen Orcutt met Enid Wilson, former English native champion and one of the outstanding British threats in the championship.

Imagine her surprise when told by the manager she was too late. "Is the position filled?" she asked. "No," he replied, "but you should have come when you had this picture taken."—Tit-Bits.

ONCE UPON A TIME

WASH IS TRAPPED! COMES OUT OF CAVE, AND IS SURPRISED BY WAITING BRAVES. HEAD HUNTERS GET FOX AFTER THEIR DEFEAT, PADDLE AWAY FROM ISLAND BUT LEAVE SECRET WAR PARTY HIDING NEAR CAVE. QUICK AS A FLASH, EASY JERKS OUT HIS REVOLVER AND BEGINS SHOOTING, ONE SAVAGE DROPS DEAD—ANOTHER IS WOUNDED.

THE TINYMITES

The Kiel Bay trip was quite a sight and, with the old sun shining bright, the Tinies all enjoyed it as the boat sped on its way. "We're leaving Germany behind," said Scouty. "All the folks were kind to us and I would like to go back to that land some day." Just then they heard some melody and Clewry said, "Oh, mercy me! Somebody on this boat is playing music very sweet. Whoever it is plays mighty well. That is a banjo. I can tell. Let's find the fine musician and then tell him it's a treat." They looked inside a cabin near and Coppy shouted, "He is here!" The whole bunch ran in on the man and he cried, "Howdy do! Just make yourselves at home here, boys, and if you don't make too much noise, I'll strum the banjo strings and sing a little song for you." And so they sat down on the floor. The man began to play once more, and then he sang a song that filled the whole bunch with delight. "I am a sailor man," said he. "And I go sailing 'cross the sea. You'll always find me strumming on my banjo day and night." Of course all the Tinies hung around while other songs were sung. And when the whole bunch joined right in, it surely sounded fine. Then Coppy shouted, "Here we are in Korsor, Denmark's not so far." The boat was at the dock and men were throwing out a line. When once on shore they promptly found a cab in which to ride around. They headed toward the country, all as gay as they could be. Soon Carpy cried, "Oh, there's a cow and it is being milked, right now." They stopped and met the milkmaid. Quite a pretty girl was she. ABOUT TOWN

The Manchester Garden club has been obliged to decline an invitation to exhibit at the show of the Connecticut Valley club at the old state house in Hartford June 4 and 5, owing to the fact that the members are busy with preparations for a plant sale on Saturday and a local show early in June. Last year the club won first prize in the class open to garden clubs at the spring show held at the Morgan Memorial last season.

The first anniversary mass in memory of the late Mrs. Antonio Farr will be celebrated at St. James's church at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Temple Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold its regular meeting in the Masonic Temple this evening. The business will include the initiation of candidates. Worthy Matron Mrs. Lulu Bidwell requests the members to bring in their "rainy-day" bags, distributed in March. The latter have been few and far between this spring and she hopes the members will rather consider that they have been given for days of sunshine.

Bridge, straight whist and set-back will be played at St. James's hall this evening, with 18 prizes for the winners and refreshments.

Mary C. Keeney Tent, Daughters of Union War Veterans will meet tomorrow evening at the State Armory at 7 o'clock sharp, and adjourn at 7:30 to take the bus for Rockville. There they will visit the recently organized tent, Maria Newell, No. 22. As many of the local members who can do so are urged to attend.

Inasmuch Circle of Junior Kings Daughters will meet at 7 o'clock tonight with Emily and Janice Remig of 87 Pine street.

Epworth Leaguers of the North Methodist church will hold their annual banquet in the church vestry tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. The decorations will be in red and white, the league colors. A roast beef supper will be served by a committee of young ladies as follows: Miss Hilda Magnuson, chairman; Miss Marguerite Marks, Miss Lillian Black, Miss Florence Tyler and Miss Marion Taylor. Several of the members of the Ladies Aid Society will assist in preparing the meal. A full attendance of the Epworth Leaguers is hoped for.

Ladies of the Second Congregational Aid society are looking forward to a large gathering at their Maytime supper and sale at the church tonight at 6:30, inasmuch as it has been decided to sell tickets at the door. An attractive menu has been assembled and the meal will be well worth the moderate fee asked.

Loyal Circle of King's Daughters will sell used articles in clothing and furniture, all day tomorrow, beginning at 9 a. m., for the promotion of their community charitable work. The sale will be held in one of the stores in the Richards building, Main street, west side.

Mrs. Joseph Wood, 51 Washington street, will open her home tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock for the weekly prayer meeting of the Women of the Nazarene church.

The auctioneers who have been conducting the close-out sale at A. L. Brown's former store at Depot Square have set as the final day of their sale Saturday, May 17. From now until then the remaining merchandise in the store will go at exceptionally low prices. The shopper will find many bargains for all members of the family.

There will be a pre-natal clinic at the Memorial hospital annex tomorrow afternoon at 3:30.

Miss Elsie Deer is chairman of the card party which Bolton Grange will give Friday evening of this week in Bolton Center hall.
