

LINDBERGH'S IN SURPRISE HOP TO HARTFORD

Stay But 25 Minutes at Brainard Field; Mrs. Lind- bergh Remains in Plane; May Summer in State.

Hartford, June 19.—(AP.)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh paid a hurried surprise visit to Brainard Field this noon to have their Lockheed Sirius plane serviced at the Pratt and Whitney Aircraft hangar.

Although the flier himself talked with Lieut. A. Lewis MacClain, test pilot of the aircraft company for several minutes, he did not divulge his future plans other than to say he expected to be back in New York later this afternoon.

The plane was here 25 minutes, during which time Mrs. Lindbergh did not step from the rear cockpit.

Summer Home Here
About a week ago, it was announced that Mrs. E. K. Dillingham, of Texas, a cousin of Mrs. Dwight Morrow, mother of Mrs. Lindbergh, had leased a 25-room house in Old Lyme. It was then assumed that the Lindberghs might be summering at Old Lyme.

BANK HEAD SCORES TOO EASY CREDIT

Economist Says It Is Bad Policy for Banks to Loan On Securities.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 19.—(AP.)—Benjamin M. Anderson, economist of the Chase National bank of New York, warned the Minnesota Bankers Association today against the "disquieting rapidity" with which bank funds employed in investment in securities and collateral loans on securities has grown in recent weeks.

Reports from 600 odd reporting banks of the Federal Reserve system in the great cities show the ratio of their bond holdings plus stock and bond collateral loans to their total loans and investments increased from 59.70 per cent on February 12, 1930 to 163.27 per cent on June 4.

Not Good Policy
"It cannot be good policy to make bank money so abundant and so easy that it must overflow at this rapid rate into the securities market," he said. He warned that "when business revives, when hundreds of millions of dollars must flow out of bank reserves into hand to hand circulation, and when commercial borrowing increases with reviving trade, we shall have to pull this money out of the securities market again, a process which will not help along the business revival."

"It is far better," he said "that in times of slack the Federal Reserve authorities should take up the excess reserves in the money market, allowing the volume of general bank credit to contract and conserving the reserve money of the country so that it may be used in a time of revival to permit bank credit to extend comfortably to meet the needs of trade."

JURY IN HARTFORD RAPS THE POLICE

Scores Department and Names Chief Farrell and Detective Sergeant.

Hartford, June 19.—(AP.)—The special Grand Jury investigating liquor selling conditions in Hartford county will probably make a report to the Superior Court this afternoon. It had planned to make a report this morning but disagreement among members of the investigating body regarding the text of the report prevented an immediate appearance in the Criminal Court room. The Grand Jury met in its special room at 10 o'clock and it was expected that Foreman Ralph C. Wells would be reading the report before Judge Booth about 10:30. But the jury did not appear before noon and it became known that an agreement as to the text had not been speedily effected. It was assumed at the court house that some portions of the report were being rewritten.

The Grand Jury began its investi-

QUARANTINE A TOWN BECAUSE OF SMALLPOX

Eldorado, Ark., June 19.—(AP.)—The district surrounding and including the town of Calton, with a population of approximately 1,000 was ordered quarantined last night by Union county health authorities as a preventative measure against an outbreak of smallpox there.

FEAR INCOME RATE IS TO BE HIGHER

Expenditures for Next Fiscal Year Estimated to Exceed All Revenues.

Washington, June 19.—(AP.)—Washington is wondering if income tax rates are to be higher next year.

Prospective expenditures for the next fiscal year already are estimated to exceed the total government revenue expected within that period. From present indications in fact the nation faces the threat of a deficit on July 1, 1931.

Temporary Measure
The one per cent reduction in taxes on incomes of 1929, those paid this year, was a temporary measure only. It took the form of a joint Congressional application instead of the usual tax revision measure and unless action is taken to prolong its life, the rates on incomes of 1930 will revert to the level of those of 1928.

Treasury officials decline to express an opinion on whether the reduction can be extended.

Budget Message
In his budget message of last December President Hoover estimated the fiscal year 1931 would close with a surplus of $122,788,966. Since then, the Spanish War pensions bill, approved over his veto, has added $75,000,000 to prospective expenditures and the expenses of the farm board now are set at $100,000,000 more than was then expected. The total government revenue was then figured at $4,225,000,000 for the fiscal year.

Already Congressional applications for the year, although they have not been totaled officially are said to exceed that amount.

CONGRESS WORKING FOR ADJOURNMENT

Speed Up to Make Possible End of Session Some Time Next Week.

Washington, June 19.—(AP.)—Wearily and hopefully, Senate leaders looked forward today to adjournment some time next week and gave their backing to efforts to make this possible.

The first step was the negotiation of agreements for votes on the World War pensions bill and the rivers and harbors measure. They were confident these would be disposed of by the end of the week, with the close of the session to follow shortly thereafter.

It was arranged that the veterans measure be given first attention today, provided an agreement for a vote could be reached. It had widespread support, and there was every likelihood of passage by nightfall.

Rivers and Harbors
Next on the program, Chairman Johnson of the commerce committee intends to press to a speedy termination the controversy over the rivers and harbors measure which centers around the amount of water to be withdrawn from the Great Lakes for the Illinois waterway project.

Senator Glenn, Republican, Illinois, will make the final appeal for

Bootleggers Shipping U. S. 'Alki' To Canada

Boston, June 19.—(AP.)—The Boston Traveler today says that bootleggers and rum runners are now shipping huge quantities of alcohol from the United States to Canada for use in the manufacture of illicit liquor which later finds its way back to the United States by way of the growing liquor business at St. Miquelon. The Traveler in a previous article said that as a result of the new Canadian law against liquor shipments to the United States the center of the export business had shifted to St. Pierre, Miquelon, a French possession south of Newfoundland.

With eyes alert and head held high. We face a future vague and dim. With eager hopes and youthful zest. We join a game both hard and grim. A game with rules of sterner stuff. A game that shuns the one who shirks. A game whose goal is fame and power. A game that's won by him who works. If we persist and do our best, And work according to the code, We're sure to reach that cherished goal."

FRANCE PROTESTS AMERICAN TARIFF

Herriot in Newspaper Article Calls It a Question of Life and Death.

Paris, June 19.—(AP.)—The committee on customs of the French Chamber of Deputies decided this afternoon to draw up a protest to the United States against the new tariff schedules of the United States, deeming it injurious to French interests.

Several members of the committee said they thought a clause should be inserted in the protest declaring that, the French customs committee should be free to discuss and to adopt such measures of reprisal as seemed to the committee to be necessary.

Situation Serious
Today's newspapers continued to regard the situation as serious. Skeptical editors questioned an official note issued at the American embassy by Ambassador Edge that the new tariff measure would bring an increase of only 3.35 per cent in duties to France on 88 per cent of her exports to America.

EIGHTH DROPS DR. SWEET AS ITS PRESIDENT

District Names Robertson In His Place by 2 to 1; Miller Succeeds Hibbard As Clerk-Treasurer.

Vote of nearly two to one last night deposed Dr. F. A. Sweet as president of the Eighth School and Utilities District of Manchester and elected William W. Robertson in his stead. Much closer balloting elected John M. Miller to the position of clerk and treasurer over William E. Hibbard. Otherwise uneventful, the annual meeting of the district proceeded with unruffled celerity to adjournment exactly 51 minutes after it had been called to order in the Assembly Hall of the Robertson school on North School street.

Sweet Overwhelmed
Section 12 of the call which read "to elect officers for the District and Fire Department," saw the Sweet faction overwhelmed at every turn. Although Dr. Sweet had been a member of the school committee for the past two years his name was not presented last night. W. W. Robertson nominated Alvin L. Brown, William Foulds, Jr., and John H. Gill, the nomination was carried and the secretary cast one vote for their election.

Dr. Sweet's failure to win a position on the school committee last night coupled with his loss of the presidency, marked the first time in 25 years that he has not served the district in an official capacity. Dr. Sweet has been an officer of the district for the past quarter century and was its president for the past two decades.

By Acclamation
Except for the office of president and clerk and treasurer, all positions were filled by having the secretary cast one vote for the nominee for each office, as the aforementioned two positions were the only ones contested.

CHICAGO DOCTORS RAP PROHIBITION

Say It Is Responsible for Present Crime Condi- tions; Urge Law's Repeal.

Chicago, June 19.—(AP.)—The retiring and incoming presidents of the Chicago Medical Society joined, in addresses last night, in denunciation of prohibition and of what one of the speakers called "racketeers of the underworld."

It was the second attack on the law in Chicago during the day, the City Council earlier having adopted a resolution attacking the prohibition laws as an "abuse of the law-making power."

Work for Repeal
Dr. Hutton said that American medicine should start an organized national resistance to any further reform laws and work for the repeal of existing legislation of that kind, as the shortest cut to eliminating a large part of present crime conditions.

Dr. Reed said: "The complete collapse of prohibition is due not only to the fact that law is inconsistent with the political, social and moral demands of democracy, but also because in principle it is definitely wrong and immoral to deny the individual his right to choose in a matter that is entirely his own business."

"Yes so-called moral leaders think it is of small consequence if humanity is unhappy under the lash of their own narrow views, or bootleggers build up a three hundred thousand dollar business, so long as they can pursue in comfort their own purgatorial pleasures."

Italian Newspaper Worries Over France's Militarism

MANHATTAN GREETSS BYRD ON HIS RETURN

Receives Enthusiastic Welcome Aerial Conqueror of Both Ends of the Earth is En- thusiastically Received; "It's Good to Be Back Again," His First Words; Tells Reporters He Has No Future Plans.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd (right) arrived at New York today. He came back from Little America in the bark City of New York (left).

New York, June 19.—(AP.)—Aerial conqueror of both ends of the earth, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd set foot again today at 11:40 a. m. (E. D. T.) on the turf of lower Manhattan, from which he sailed sixteen months ago on a pilgrimage of exploration into the white wastes of Antarctica.

Surrounded in sea and sky and on the land by a roaring welcome in which planes and harbor craft and cheering thousands joined, he debarred from the city welcoming tug Macom to receive from the city of New York the third and by far the most boisterous greetings it has tendered to him for his achievements of exploration by air.

Meets His Mother
Admiral Byrd had boarded the Macom half an hour before from his quarantine, the City of New York, at Quarantine. The first person he greeted was his mother, whom he held in a warm embrace for a moment, then turned to other relatives and friends.

"It's good to get back again," he said smiling, as he greeted the city from the radio telephone aboard the Macom. "It's good to have this reception."

Then, turning to the reporters, he spoke of the serious business which took him to the Antarctic and of what his expedition had accomplished there.

First, he said, they had discovered and explored 125,000 square miles of land, existence of which had only been surmised before. They found rock formations indicating great ice deposits, of commercial significance. They photographed miles of ice-covered terrain and they definitely established the need in Antarctica of a permanent weather station.

The thing for which he was most thankful, he said, was that he had brought his expedition all safely home. "All my men have come back safe," he said feelingly, "for which we must thank providence."

No Future Plans
The admiral said he had no future plans and would not undertake further explorations until a $100,000 debt remaining from this expedition was cleared away.

"There's not much left to explore is there?" he was asked. "There are thousands of miles of unexplored lands in South America and Antarctica and as long as there is land no one has seen, man will continue to seek it."

Mrs. Byrd, who was prevented by high seas from boarding the City of New York last night from a specially chartered tug, was not down the bay today to meet her distinguished husband.

Relatives said she had not returned from the future trip out to Ambrose light until 3 a. m. this morning and had decided to postpone her greeting until later. She was expected to join the Admiral after the reception at City Hall.

START OF JOURNEY

He was aboard the municipal tug Macom, escorted by two other city tugs, a private yacht, three city patrol boats and a host of gaily decorated smaller craft.

Following them up the harbor were the sea-scarred veterans of the Bay of Whales, the barque City of New York and the supply ship Eleanor Bolling.

Whistles shrieked a salute as the marine parade headed up the harbor.

MARKET IS QUIET AFTER ITS RALLY

Opens in a Flurry But Buy- ing Wave Shoots Up the Prices.

New York, June 19.—(AP.)—The Stock Market appeared to have completed its latest phase of liquidation today, and turned quiet, after a swift upturn at the opening, such as normally follows a selling climax.

More than two score issues sold up $2 to more than $10 a share on the New York Stock Exchange, cancelling a large part of yesterday's loss. Prices fluctuated uncertainly for a time during the morning, as the initial rally attracted considerable hangover liquidation.

OVER 2,000 COPS WATCH FOR SLAYER

Insane Writer of Letters to Papers Does Not Put in An Appearance.

New York, June 19.—(AP.)—Falling to rise to the bait of a score of police automobiles parked in lonely sections of the borough of Queens, New York's homicidal maniac, with two victims already to his credit, today continued to spread fear through the district.

The mysterious slayer in a series of letters to a newspaper announced he would commit his third murder on a list of 14 at College Point Queens last night, but apparently was frustrated by a mobilization of 2,425 police. As both previous victims were men seated in parked cars with women companions, a score of department autos occupied by detectives and police-women were planted in secluded spots in the hope that the slayer would pick one of the occupants as his third victim.

JONES TOPS FIELD IN BRITISH OPEN

Leads Fred Robson One Stroke and Horton Smith Three in Big Golf Tourney

Hoylake, Eng., June 19.—(AP.)—Bobby Jones led the field by a stroke and five other Americans were in the first nine at the close of the second round of the British Open golf championship. Jones scored 72 today for a 36 hole total of 142, just topping Fred Robson, veteran British pro, who scored 143.

The Country Club Soda Company of Springfield, Mass., is again sponsoring this year their annual "Country Club" Day at Riverside Park, for 225,000 youngsters in Springfield and surrounding towns.

Although the outing is planned, primarily, for children, it is also open to adults as well, including all who hold tickets distributed through Country Club dealers.

One of the features will be a vaudeville show to be presented from the main platform. Mayor Dwight R. Winter has been invited to speak.

Manchester parents and children intending to avail themselves of this two-day outing should get in touch with the local Country Club dealers for tickets.

CARAWAY INDIGNANT OVER FALSE REPORT

Washington, June 19.—(AP)—The report of the Senate lobby committee on its examination of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., was submitted to the Senate by Chairman Caraway today.

Caraway told the Senate his committee had granted "immunity" to Bishop Cannon as an "unqualified and deliberate falsehood."

Whoever claimed immunity had been granted, he said, made the statement "with the knowledge that he is a commiserator."

Caraway confined the committee had not treated Cannon differently from other witnesses in refusing to compel him to talk about his 1928 campaign activities, and asserted that he had not changed his position while the Southern Methodist churchman was on the stand.

"Whoever makes that statement," he repeated, "either does not know what he is talking about or is uttering a willful and malicious lie. That stands in the Senate and out."

The Arkansas Senator explained said the committee had decided in its authority to investigate political activities and that the same rule was followed with Cannon.

The bishop challenged the authority of the committee to inquire into his political activities and the investigators sustained him.

NAMES COOK FUND WINNERS AT GREEN

When Aaron Cook, Jr., a life-long resident of the Manchester Green section and for over a half century an officer in the district, died a few years ago he left $100 in an investment that paid 5 per cent, or $5 a year to the high school of the Manchester Green district on graduation from the eighth grade.

At the exercises held last night, when the class was graduated, it was announced that the $250 for boys had been awarded to Thomas Johnston and that $250 for girls went to Pearl Dregler. The presentation was made by Superintendent of Schools A. F. Howes, who also presented the diplomas at the graduation.

MANHATTAN WELCOMES BYRD ON HIS RETURN

Bowling Green Park the crowd was ten deep along the pathways. In City Hall Park hundreds more waited. The grandstands erected there were filled rapidly and the park was closed to all except those holding tickets.

At 10:30 the Macom could be made out from the Battery wall and the crowd gave a cheer. Small boats were selling tickets at a stand up for a ride out to the marine parade.

As the Macom nosed into Pier A the crowd on shore added its voice to that of the harbor craft. The admiral stepped ashore at 10:40.

A moment later he and his party were in automobiles and swung out of Battery place, preceded by bands and a military and police escort, into the canyon of lower Broadway.

As far up the street as the eye could see a solid wall of people followed, leaving only a narrow passageway.

As the open car carrying Admiral Byrd swung around Bowling Green Park and into Broadway the ticker tape, which had been floating down in small streamers for several minutes, came down in a storm.

Police, arms locked together, made a wall barely wide enough for the cars to creep through.

Like a great wave rolling in from the sea, a continuous roar of cheering swept through the massed thousands in the street as the admiral's car rolled up the "glory trail" to City Hall.

Two messengers boys were waiting at City Hall with telegram of welcome from Governor Allen of Massachusetts and Mayor Curley of Boston, each message bearing five thousand signatures.

Awaiting the admiral at City Hall were three who really had a personal interest in the proceedings. They were Richard E. Byrd, Jr., and the admiral's two little daughters Evelyn and Katherine. They were fairly dancing with excitement.

Mrs. Byrd was waiting at Pier A and greeted her husband there. They had time only for a word and then were parted, the admiral entering one car and Mrs. Byrd another.

The mayor then escorted Admiral Byrd to the front of the reception stand, erected on the steps of the hall.

As the crowd recognized the admiral, conspicuous in his white duck uniform and in his gaudy epaulettes, it let out a great cheer.

Mayor Walker hailed him as a great scientist and a still greater human being.

"You are a great scientific achievement," he said. "But your humanitarianism in the care of your men was even greater. You are one of the finest human beings alive in the world today. Welcome home, Admiral."

"I stand here as a spokesman for 70 odd men," Admiral Byrd said in reply. "I wish to give to you our sincere gratitude for this greeting. I know of no other man who could make me feel so graciously welcome as Mayor Walker."

Chancellor Elmer Ellsworth Brown of New York University then conferred on Admiral Byrd the honorary degree of Doctor of Engineering. When he addressed him as "Doctor Byrd" the crowd roared.

The ceremonies over, the admiral was escorted back to his automobile and left for the New York Advertising Club on Park avenue for a welcome home luncheon.

AT CAPITAL TOMORROW. Washington, June 19.—(AP)—Surrounded by the men who followed him to the South Pole, Rear Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd, will be honored tomorrow in the national capital.

President Hoover will present to him the special gold medal of the National Geographic Society tomorrow night at ceremonies in the Washington auditorium.

a score of 188, but George Von Elm, former amateur champion of the United States, who took 160 strokes in the two days' play was eliminated. The lowest round today was a sparkling 71 by Cyril J. H. Tolley, former British amateur champion, but he scored 84 yesterday and as a result was far down in the list.

Only players scoring 158 or under for the first 36 holes will continue over the stretch of two rounds tomorrow.

Hoyle, Eng., June 19.—(AP)—Bobby Jones scored a par 72 in his second round of the British open golf championship and led the field with a two days score of 142.

Leo Diegel played his second round in 73 strokes and joined Archie Compston and Mac Smith with a total score of 147. Jones, after a shaky start came home brilliantly, covering the last nine holes in 35 strokes and leading the field with a total score of 142.

MacDonald Smith and Leo Diegel with scores of 147 and Jim Barnes, who had 148, were close to the leaders, as was Archie Compston, big British pro, with 147. Cyril Tolley turned in a score of 71, the best of the day when he finished. However, he needed 84 yesterday and had a 36 hole total of 155.

George Von Elm, Detroit, required 79 strokes for his second round today, giving him a 36 hole total of 160, enough to remove him from the first 36 holes of competition tomorrow.

Diegel played almost perfect golf for the first nine holes, making only two bad shots and getting to the turn in 36 strokes. He started home with a string of 3's and 4's, and took two sixes by driving into rough, placing a second shot and in rough and a third to rough behind the green. He reached the two holes in four strokes and two putts at each left him with sixes to make.

Don Moe, young Portland, Ore., amateur turned in a score of 73 to go into a tie for third place with a total of 147.

Fred Robson English professional sided 72 today in his 71 yesterday to slip into second place with a total score of 143, only one stroke behind Jones. Robson holed a long putt for a birdie four at the 16th and had two fours left for a 71.

Mr. Ellsworth, arriving in Paris from Basel, en route to America, confirmed Captain Wilkins' announcement.

Mr. Ellsworth will leave for America Saturday aboard the Mauretania and will accompany New York almost immediately on an 800-mile canoe trip to the unexplored headwaters of the St. John's and Hamilton river in Central Labrador. Beekman Toole, of Harvard and Ellsworth will accompany Captain Wilkins in his expedition.

Captain Wilkins announced last year that he would attempt the trans-Polar submarine trip, and stated that he had discovered an old submarine constructed by Simon Lake, the inventor, which would suit his purpose " admirably."

OLD NAVY SUB

Washington, June 19.—(AP)—A dismantled, battered Navy submarine, the O-12, is to be chartered to Sir George Hubert Wilkins for his Arctic expedition.

Captain Wilkins asked the Navy to lease the submarine to him as a "Assistant Secretary Jancke ruled the request must come through the Shipping Board. Application was made to that agency, which in turn has asked the Navy to turn over the submarine to the board on the condition that it be leased to Sir Hubert for $1 a year.

The O-12, one of a group built by the firm of which Simon Lake, submarine developer, is a member, is dismantled at Bridgeport, Danenhower yards at Bridgeport, and will be equipped with scientific apparatus as well as devices intended to enable the submarine to bore a hole through 60 feet of ice so as to renew the air supply and charge the batteries.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, June 19.—(AP)—The Stock Market snapped back with a bang today, a familiar phenomenon at the end of a phase of liquidation. The lifting of selling pressure late yesterday, and the fact that the market in London, where this market opened, prompted a flurry of short covering at the opening, when prices leapt forward as buying orders of 1,000 to 10,000 shares were executed.

At the initial buying orders were disposed of a little more hanger-over liquidation had to be absorbed, but it was not of important proportions, and by midday many professional traders took the bull side of the market in the belief that a substantial technical recovery might be expected. Belated short covering continued to appear. The market turned comparatively dull after the morning trading, however, as it uses at such times.

There was practically nothing in the day's business news to influence the market, and Wall Street was left to conclude that the recovery was purely a correction of an over-sold condition. Some commission houses advised their customers cautiously to accumulate stocks at this time, but market sentiment was not to conclude that the recovery was purely a correction of an over-sold condition. Some commission houses advised their customers cautiously to accumulate stocks at this time, but market sentiment was not to conclude that the recovery was purely a correction of an over-sold condition.

The rapid recovery embraced commodity as well as the security markets and non-ferrous metals, cotton and grains moved upward in both foreign and domestic exchanges. The failure of small, local stock exchange house, was announced today but it had no more influence on the market apparently, than did suspension of both a New York Cotton Exchange house and a Chicago Board member yesterday.

EIGHTH DROPS DR. SWEET AS ITS PRESIDENT

tal of 309 votes were cast, of which 155 were necessary for a choice. Mr. Robertson received 104 votes and Dr. Sweet, 105. For treasurer, 311 votes were cast, with 156 necessary for a choice. Of this number Mr. Miller received 177 and Mr. Hibbard, 134.

Six tellers distributed and collected the ballots and the time spent in counting the votes was used by Moderator William S. Hyde to call for nominations for the officers, and for reports for the past year. The Robertson faction had printed ballots which they distributed to their followers. The tellers were Edward Coleman, Joseph Chartier, Nelson Smith, Joseph Wright, Scott Simon and W. E. Keyes.

Wells A. Strickland nominated Mr. Robertson for the presidency and William R. Palmer nominated Dr. Sweet. Mr. Miller was nominated for clerk and treasurer by W. W. Robertson and W. E. Hibbard was nominated by Robert Leclerc.

Other Officers Before voting on the uncontested positions Dr. Sweet moved that the secretary cast one ballot for electing them and this was seconded and carried. Wells Strickland then nominated Joseph Chartier for tax collector and W. W. Robertson nominated Edward Coleman for fire chief, William McGonigal, first assistant fire chief, Harlowe Willis, second assistant fire chief. Robertson also nominated John Gill and Wells Strickland as directors of the district. Dr. Sweet nominated John F. Limerick and C. D. Whiteaker as auditors. The nominations were all seconded and the secretary cast one vote for election.

The meeting opened by naming William S. Hyde as moderator, followed by the report of the president, school committee, treasurer, tax collector, and chief engineer of the Manchester Fire Department. All reports were accepted.

That Overdraft In reference to the school committee report the question of an overdraft of $707.67 was raised by George H. Williams, which went unanswered by officials of the district. It appears that the committee's report as of 1929 showed an amount due from the town of $707.67. On the 1929 report it makes no mention of this amount but shows a cash balance of $328.62, which means that the town either owes the district the $707.67 or the district received a greater amount from the town than the report shows. When asked by Moderator Hyde to explain this overdraft the officials were unable to do so, and the question was passed over by acceptance of the report which was done.

The report of tax collector Joseph Chartier brought out that taxes amounting to $2184.79 remain uncollected for the fiscal year ending June 1, 1930. According to the report of Fire Chief Coleman, the Manchester Fire Department answered 43 alarms during the year, 29 still alarms and 14 whistle alarms. Damage totaled $9,031.78, all covered by insurance.

Appropriations On motion of Mr. Robertson, $1,000 was appropriated for playground uses, to be spent under the supervision of the school committee. Also on his motion $2,000 was appropriated to repair and reconstruct the sanitary conveniences at the Union School, to be left in the hands of the school committee. An appropriation not to exceed $1,400 was voted on recommendation of Mr. Robertson to be used in replacing the platforms and steps at the Union School with concrete, to be spent under the direction of the school board.

Salaries of the various officers were fixed at the same figure as last year as follows: president, $300; chairman of school committee, $200; treasurer, $200; chief engineer of fire department, $100.

Five Mill Tax Mr. Robertson made a verbatim recommendation of last year's motion to lay a five-mill tax on the district, due and payable October 1, which was seconded and carried.

It was voted, on motion of Mr. Robertson to authorize the district officers to borrow up to $50,000 to meet the necessary obligations of the district and other obligations therefor, when in their opinion it is in the interest of the District so to do.

The meeting adjourned at 8:51 o'clock, there being no further business to transact.

BRIDGEPORT DIVORCES

Bridgeport, June 19.—(AP)—Granting of 11 uncontested divorces and assignment of 12 cases for each day next week gave indication today that an effort will be made to clear up the Superior Court docket before the summer recess.

Seven women and four men were granted divorces today by Judges Christopher L. Avery, Ernest C. Simpson and Frederick M. Frasley. One of the divorces was granted to Bessie Feaser Scott of West Haven, who charged her husband, John Scott of New Haven with intolerable cruelty.

MISS BARONOUSKY'S CASE IS CRITICAL

Girl Who Leaped from Hartford Police Headquarters Window Shows No Improvement.

The condition of Miss Alice Baronousky, 22, of Manchester, remains critical at an official bulletin issued late this afternoon at the institution. This morning some improvement was thought to be observed but this afternoon it was said that there was no material change one way or the other. Miss Baronousky is the young woman who attempted to commit suicide by leaping out of a Hartford police headquarters window after being accused of abducting four years old Mary Lee who lives in the same house with Miss Baronousky.

Miss Baronousky with little Mary Lee

It was related in The Herald yesterday how Miss Baronousky who has a particular liking for children, especially the little Lee girl, asked the child's mother for permission to take the girl to a circus in Hartford and how the mother became alarmed and notified police when Alice failed to return two days afterward. The child was found safe in Miss Baronousky's care at an apartment house, 159 Wethersfield Avenue, Hartford.

but the entire list again developed a strong tone around midday. The Stock Market entered the fourth day of the third week of declines, having very closely duplicated its performance of the previous week-breaking sharply on Monday, rallying on Tuesday, tumbling on Wednesday, rebounding and turning dull on Thursday.

Opens in a Flurry The market opened with a flurry of short covering, and leading stocks were taken in blocks of 1,000 to 10,000 shares at sharply rising prices. When the upturn failed to attract any extensive volume of further selling, brokers said a considerable volume of investment money appeared from sources evidently waiting for the selling movement to show signs of having run its course.

On the whole, however, the market remained highly professional. After the first rally failed to bring out any further heavy selling, shorts who had not covered at the opening hastened to do so, and traders who had taken bullish positions in the market in anticipation of a sharp technical rally continued to press their advantage.

The commodity markets, both domestic and foreign, also rallied, but in the main Wall Street was inclined to await further testing of price levels before drawing any decisive conclusions as to the trend of the speculative markets, since so many recent rallies of late have proven so short-lived. Some commission houses recommended a more cautious accumulation of stocks, but market sentiment generally remained somewhat pessimistic. Business news was not of a character to influence the market.

Some Prices Allied Chemical and J. I. Case shot up more than $10 a share, retaining more than half yesterday's gains. Eastman Kodak rose $9 and shares gaining $5 to $7 included the American Tobacco issues, American Can, Macy, Electric Power and Light, Union Pacific and Vanadium. Shares advancing $3 to $4.50 included Standard of N. J., American Telephone, Lowes, Consolidated Gas, American Water Works, Stone and Webster, American Can and Westinghouse Electric. U. S. Steel, Radio General Electric and New York Central advanced $2 or more.

JUNE WEDDINGS DRIVING TOTAL FOR YEAR HIGHER

June weddings this year are holding their own against those of other years according to a checkup made at the office of the town clerk this afternoon. For the first five months of this year there have been 37 marriages as compared with 39 over the same period last year. So far this month there have been eighth applications made which compares favorably with the average number for the most popular month for marriages.

June produces from 15 to 20 local marriages each year, and with more post-school marriages expected during the latter part of the month, the young hopefuls are prepared to give old man hard times a swift knockout.

ABOUT TOWN

The regular meeting of the Manchester Camp Modern Woodman of America, will be held this evening in Tinker Hall.

Twenty-six were examined for drivers' licenses by State Policeman Edwin J. Tracsek of the Hartford barracks here this morning. He replaces as examiner in Manchester Henry Zeher, who has been transferred from the Hartford to the State police. Zeher is sent to Stafford Springs barracks of the state police. Tracsek is sent to the force at that barracks made by the promotion of Trooper Heinhold to sergeant and the transfer of Trooper Murphy to the Hartford barracks.

Close to 300 persons attended the recital given by the Manchester and Rockville pupils of Mrs. Nellie Carey Reynolds of Hartford, at the Swedish Lutheran church last night.

The Fidelity Bible Class and the Young Men's Fellowship Class of the Swedish Lutheran church will hold an outing to Coventry Lake tomorrow night, leaving the church at 6:30 o'clock.

Members of Mary Bushnell Cheney auxiliary will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at the corner of Wells and Main streets, and proceed to the home of Mrs. Rebecca Ritchie whose funeral takes place tomorrow.

ENTERTAINS SENIORS TOMORROW EVENING

State Theater to Give Special Show for Graduating Class; Orchestra to Play.

Tomorrow night will be Senior Class night at the State theater, when Manager Hugh J. Campbell will host to the 130 members of the graduating class of 1930 of Manchester High School. Mr. Campbell issued his invitation several days ago and it was accepted by Principal Clarence P. Quimby with the thanks of the seniors.

The High School orchestra, under the direction of Miss E. Marion Dowd, will occupy the orchestra pit for a fifteen minute concert starting about 8:15 o'clock. They will accompany the class when it sings its class song and will also play the school song and other numbers. It is expected that Edward Hansen, president of the senior class, will speak a few words of welcome.

A portion of the orchestra seats will be reserved. The show will consist of a double feature bill, "Parade on Parade," and "Rin-tin-tin in the Manhunters."

DEMONSTRATE THEREMIN AT LEGION CARNIVAL

New Musical Instrument Played by Hands to Be Shown Here Next Week.

One of the greatest attractions of all time will be featured during the entire week of the American Legion carnival, scheduled to open on the Douglasville lot at the corner of McKee and Center streets, Monday, June 23. This attraction is Theremin, the art of drawing music from radio apparatus merely by waving the hands over it, which caused a sensation at a recent exposition at Hartford.

The demonstrator will be Ralph Kahn, who bills his act as "the mystery marvel of the age." He will be accompanied by Jerome Shea, song writer, who has composed songs for many famous vaudeville stars, including Belle Baker. Theremin has the approval of the Radio Corporation of America and is a marvel of electrical wizardry.

The carnival is the third annual affair of the kind to be held by the American Legion, and it is expected to outshine any and all carnivals yet presented in Manchester. Among the rides will be the Ferris wheel, merry-go-round, airplane ride, and whip.

FORDS PLAN TO SPEND 30 MILLIONS THIS YEAR

Detroit, June 19.—(AP)—New branch plants, additions and other improvements to present facilities and equipment planned by the Ford Motor Company this year will represent an expenditure of substantially more than $30,000,000 officials of the company said today.

Work involving $24,500,000 already is under way or in the hands of architects. The expansion program contemplates new branch plants in various parts of the country as well as improvements in the parent plants here. Improvements also are planned in the various foreign plants of the company but these were not included in today's estimate of the total expenditure.

Branch plants on which work already is under way or for which plans have been drawn will involve an expenditure of $18,000,000. Included in this program is a branch plant at Edgewater, N. J., another at Richmond, Calif., and three new plants whose location will be announced shortly.

Besides the expenditures for new branch plants the company is spending $3,000,000 this year on a water tunnel, intake house and pump house at Dearborn near here. A million dollars is being spent in the improvement of Boa Vista, the Ford rubber plantation in Brazil. Another $5,000,000 is being spent on the Edison Institute of Technology and other activities of Henry Ford not directly associated with the automobile and airplane plants.

SLEUTH APPOINTED TO PROBE LEASES

Man Who Got Evidence for Teapot Dome and Lobby Committees, Gets Job.

Washington, June 18—(AP)—A 30-year-old veteran of the Teapot Dome and lobby investigations has been called to the assistance of another Senate committee.

He is John Holland of Montana, whose work as investigator for the lobby committee so impressed Senator Blaine of Wisconsin, that he has been employed to help uncover any fraud that may exist in approximately 6,000 postoffice leases.

Blaine, a member of the lobby committee, is chairman of the post-office investigating committee.

Holland is now busily engaged in winding up the affairs of the lobby committee which expired after the examination of Bishop James Connelley. As soon as this work is completed he will tackle his new assignment.

Started As Clerk

The youthful investigator came to Washington several years ago as a clerk in the office of Walsh of Montana. He served as the Senator's right-hand man in the Teapot Dome investigation, in which Walsh played a prominent part, and his work was publicly praised by his employer.

When Walsh was appointed on the lobby committee, he requested Holland, who had joined the Prohibition Bureau in New York, to come to Washington as his investigator.

He arrived the next day and has been here more than eight months.

Blaine said today information concerning the leasing of about 600 postoffice sites in the larger cities had been obtained by the committee and that the next step would be learning the financial details of the leases.

Hearings will be started within a few weeks and witnesses will be asked to appear to testify about any of the leases which are suspected of being fraudulent.

*In the U. S. Public Health Reports of 1923, Volume 38, Page 1271, we find the following: "Among short men less than 5 feet 7 inches in height an excess (in weight) of 20% involves an added mortality of 30% above normal. A 40% excess adds 80% to the mortality." We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky instead," you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

TARIFF AND PRICES

The tariff is a good deal like religion in that there is not only wide difference of opinion concerning it but almost every holder of an opinion knows positively and incontrovertibly that he is right. There is very little open-mindedness in connection with it. For our part we are about as definitely committed as anybody to the principle of a protective tariff for this country.

This country has only been experimenting with this tariff thing on any considerable scale for about a hundred years and it would take perhaps a thousand to teach us all about it.

One of the things that this newspaper doesn't feel sure about is the effect of the tariff on prices. We look kind of sideways at the theory that you can give the manufacturer necessary protection through a tariff rate and yet have the same rate cut the cost of the commodity to the consumer.

On the other hand, we don't put any more stock in the everlasting claims that an increased tariff rate is going to raise by so many millions a year the nation's bill for a certain commodity, or that all the rates in a tariff bill are going to increase the cost of living by a certain definite percentage corresponding to the percentage of increase in duties.

Nobody knows about that, even though some folks pretend to. The best one can really do is to guess—and to recognize the fact that you're guessing about a mighty complicated subject.

We have encountered one editorial article today which solemnly forecasts that the cost of living will go up 20 per cent under the new tariff. Our suggestion is that it simply can't. Where, if you please, is the 20 per cent to come from?

If it were a fact that the new tariff were going to increase prices 20 per cent, it would be simply unescapable that the people would have to buy less or get along with inferior commodities. That would reduce the market for a part of the commodity output. Prices would have to come down again or the industries in the neglected products would have to quit.

town is adopted at the special town meeting to be held next Monday evening.

In almost every reform operating for the benefit of children women have taken the lead. Men are too casual—can't be bothered. They are prone to be influenced by considerations, often frivolous, of business friendship or of political affiliation.

It is childhood that provides the victims in fireworks accidents, in a great majority of cases—the lovely little girl who must bear through life a disfiguring scar, price of a moment's carelessness on somebody's part; the fine little boy who must grow up handicapped perhaps by the loss of a finger or two, possibly a whole hand.

It is the mothers who know best the anxiety which attends annually what ought to be a gay and splendid holiday—the days, for that matter, of worry as explosives bang here and there, wherever the little folks are gathered together.

It is the mothers who know how nearly impossible it is to deny to their own little ones the excited thrills that are all the rage among the rest of the children at that time of the year. And what a tremendous relief it would be if the whole infernal institution of fireworks were done away with so that face burnings could be eliminated without causing heart burnings.

If the women in Manchester who dread the Fourth of July season each year because of the little ones will make it their business to attend that town meeting and vote—that will settle the whole business once and for all. If they stay away the by-law may be passed—and then again it may not be.

There are quite a number of persons who don't want such a by-law. Some of them want to sell fireworks and make some money—they are not interested particularly in the children except as customers. There are some others who enjoy above all things a riotous, reckless jamboree, with a spice of danger in it. Most of these will be at the meeting. They will vote "no" against the by-law.

EAGLES

Newspapers and citizens are being solicited by an organization calling itself the Emergency Conservation Committee, with offices in New York City, to support a bill protecting the bald eagle. Its pamphlet criticizes the United States Biological Survey for authorizing the continuation of the bounty on these eagles paid by the Alaska territorial government and flatly contradicts all of that great mass of testimony as to the destructiveness of the bald eagle which is familiar to many Americans who never saw one of the birds.

So far as we can see the Emergency Conservation Committee does not make out a very strong case. It limits itself largely to refuting some of the more nonsensical stories told about the prowess of the eagle. It fails to disclose why the people of Alaska tax themselves for the payment of a good many thousands of dollars a year in bounties, and why the Biological Survey sanctions such payments, if there is not good cause for them.

On the face of it the Alaskans may be expected to know more of the actual facts in the case than any group of Eastern sentimentalists and it is going to take more than an unsupported declaration to make most folks believe that the Biological Survey would be likely to countenance the complete extinction of a bird of prey which, perhaps unfortunately, is commonly accepted as the national emblem.

SACKETT'S EYE-OPENER

When a person of the standing of Frederick M. Sackett, ambassador to Berlin, who has been associated with the history of hydro-electric power development from its infancy, declares in an address before a world conference of power leaders that "I know of no other manufacturing industry where the sale price of the product to the great mass of consumers is fifteen times the actual cost of production," we have something novel—and, we suspect, something important, to contemplate.

Ambassador Sackett was making no political speech; he was not addressing a public mass meeting. He was issuing a warning directly to the power interests of the world that the track they are following leads to the conversion of the great body of public opinion to governmental ownership and operation of power utilities.

There will be endless denials and explanations. They will need to be good ones; for the authoritative-ness of the Sackett charge of excessive pricing, the special conditions under which it was made and the sensational revelation of profiteering it contains, will furnish the government ownership advocates with a text for a tremendous offensive against the power interest of more than one country unless we are greatly mistaken.

BYRD

New York today is going through the motions of a great spontaneous welcome to a great adventurer—all carefully planned and sedulously promoted. It may be just a little significant that almost the first function in the Byrd celebration was a luncheon given by the Advertising Club.

Perhaps we have a mistaken slant on this business, but we strongly suspect that the ticker tape and the torn up telephone books today were merely doing a job, whereas on numerous previous occasions they have carried with them down into the Broadway canyon the genuine message of excited enthusiasms.

What, as a matter of fact, does New York care about Byrd's highly organized and vastly expensive trip to the South Pole? What thrill was the town likely to get out of an achievement in the rules of arithmetic?

Perhaps it would have gotten more if it were not aware of the care with which Admiral Byrd's companions on his first great adventure, the famous world flight, have been suppressed and jockeyed into obscurity.

TODAY'S LOVELY THOUGHT

John F. Kramer, who was the first U. S. prohibition commissioner, says that in about sixty years, when the present generation has passed away and there is a change in the appetite of the American people, prohibition will be a success. And we trust that the good folks who brought it all about will then be very, very happy.

Washington—This is the soda pop season and maybe you'd like to know what you've been drinking as you heave the bottle at the umpire or some other convenient target. Things are not always what they seem, and neither is pop. Take, for instance, that different, you might be able to find a little fruit juice some time in ade—orangeade, limeade grapeade and ades like that—but not in pop. The Food Standards Committee of the Food and Drug Administration of the United States Department of Agriculture is trying to arrange things so that makers of ordinary soda pop will not call their product ade, reserving the title to ade for those who put in some fruit juice.

They Do Use the Peel. It is true that some lime peel oil finds its way into lime soda, some orange peel oil into orange soda and some lemon peel oil into lemon soda, but none of the pulp or juice is used. And the committee is trying to write standard definitions for the various pops, so that there will never be any misunderstanding about it all.

Maybe you didn't know that root beer, birch beer and sarsaparilla are all made with the same flavor and that if you think there is any difference it's because one of the three carries more or less flavor than another. The flavor is oil of sassafras. Sarsaparilla is the extract of roots of certain South American plants, incidentally, and there isn't any of it in sarsaparilla any more than there is in butter-milk.

The committee has sent copies of its proposed definitions to food officials, the trade and others concerned, inviting comment. Inasmuch as these definitions show just what's in virtually every bottle of pop being sold under these names this summer, here they are, verbatim:

Root Beer is the carbonated beverage prepared from potable water, sugar (sucrose) sirup, and root beer flavor, with or without caramel color, and with or without harmless organic acid.

Orange Soda Water Flavor, Cream Soda Water Concentrate, is the favoring product in which oil of orange, or terpenesless oil of orange, is the essential favoring constituent.

Lemon Soda, Lime Soda and their flavors are just like that, except that oil of lemon and oil of lime—right out of the peels—are used respectively.

When these definitions become commonly known it will doubtless be a great thing for the pop business. So many persons have always thought that the ingredients of pop were so much worse than they really are.

MUSCLE TRAINING FOR HEALTH AND BEAUTY

We have a natural appreciation of beauty which causes us to admire a well formed man or woman. In looking at a person we only see the outside, but if we could see under the skin we would find out that the best formed figures receive their contour principally from muscles. If there is not enough muscle, or if there is too much fat, the figure appears disproportionate. For the figure to appear at its best, the muscles must be evenly developed.

Many thin people, women especially, make the mistake of trying to become rounder by becoming fat. It is done without developing the muscles, it always results in the weight becoming distributed unevenly and, hence, unbecomingly. Many women are afraid to exercise for fear they will appear muscular. This is a mistaken idea, because it is almost impossible for a woman to develop those bulging muscles that you sometimes see in men athletes. About the only way a woman could develop such muscles would be to go in for heavy weight lifting, and even then she would not be likely to have bulging muscles because in a woman there is a tendency for fat

DISTANT POINTS ASK FOR HAYES STORIES

Listeners Miles Away Want Copies of Herald Giving Details of Broadcast.

Manchester people were not alone in listening to the re-broadcast of Tommy Hayes' long distance talk with his brother John in Sydney, Australia by radiophone.

From Florida This morning $50 mail brought among many other requests for copies of the Hayes story one from Kissimmee, Florida. Harry A. Neel of Kissimmee said that he had listened to Station WGY's broadcast of the Hayes brothers conversation and was extremely interested.

Gathering Letters Station WGY is receiving queries about the broadcast and the staff is saving out all the letters about the Hayes brothers and promises to send them to The Herald so that some idea of the territory covered by it may be gained.

Carried in Many Papers Perhaps of considerable importance as far as the publicity angle is concerned is the fact that the two associated Press and the United Press, carried the story of the broadcast on its trunk lines. Such newspapers as the New York Times, New York Telegram, New York Herald Tribune, Albany Evening News, Boston Post and many others outside of New England gave the story big play in their columns.

Big Publicity Taken as a whole the Hayes brothers conversation has gained more widespread publicity than any other affair ever executed locally.

UNEARTH LOTTERY RING

Stamford, June 19.—(AP)—Three colored men, one colored woman and a white man are under arrest here, ending what police term a lottery ring in which colored residents of Stamford invested $1,000 weekly. The lottery is based, police say on New York clearing house reports and players may wager from one cent to one dollar, getting a return of 500 to 1 if the sequence played is the same as the last three numbers of the clearing house report.

Commissioner Blodgett will discuss "taxation of personal property" at the meeting.

RIVER CASE HEARING

Hartford, June 19.—(AP)—Deputy Attorney General Ernest L. Averill, and Benedict M. Holden, special counsel for the State of Connecticut in the water diversion action against the Commonwealth of Massachusetts will go to Boston next Tuesday for a conference on Wednesday with Massachusetts counsel on Wednesday.

Bentley W. Warren, special counsel for Massachusetts and Assistant Attorney General Cutter, have invited Connecticut counsel to Boston for the purpose, it is presumed, of agreeing on a course of action in steps yet to be taken before the United States Supreme Court in the diversion case. Connecticut had tentatively agreed on a date for the filing of exceptions to the acceptance of the report, and the Boston conference is expected to definitely determine that date, and also the date for final argument.

CLEAN UP CHICAGO IS MAYOR'S ORDERS

Chicago, June 19.—(AP)—John Alcock, the "Iron man" who has been made acting commissioner of police today, issued a two-edged sword that aimed at gangsters without the law and dishonest officers.

The new commissioner had this injunction from Mayor Thompson: "Your first job is to capture every gangster in Chicago. Your second is to get evidence that will send everyone to the electric chair. You have a free hand. You will not be interfered with."

Alcock announced his intention of purging the police department of crooked officers. The Herald and Examiner, today quoted him as saying to certain friends that one out of every five men in the police department is or has been on the payroll of racketeers.

The murder of Alfred (Jake) Lingle, Tribune reporter will have a prominent part in the investigation of gangster-politics, alliance, Alcock said, for authorities believe this slaying may provide the key both to gang domination and to police scandal.

In Alcock's opinion 500 crooks cause virtually all the criminality in Chicago. Working For Lingle Anthony (Red) Kissane, well known gangster who when arrested for carrying concealed weapons was reported as demanding freedom on the ground that he was "working for Lingle" was convicted last night and faces a maximum sentence of a year in jail. In an interview outside the courtroom with a Tribune reporter Kissane denied ever having mentioned Lingle's name.

The acting commissioner, like his predecessor, William Russell, blamed prohibition and the selling of beer by means of syndicates for Chicago's recent crime situation. Mrs. Lingle, the slain reporter's widow, appeared yesterday in probate court and asked for letters of administration. A petition filed by her said Lingle left an Illinois estate not in excess of $5,000. This according to her attorney, represented Lingle's personal property and did not include the Lingle summer home in Indiana.

PLACE 1,000 TROUT IN KEENEY POND

Fish and Game Club Stocks Local Pool With Many Seven-Inch Beauties.

The Manchester Fish and Game Club stocked Keeney Pond off Keeney street Tuesday and Wednesday with 1,000 seven inch brook trout. Signs will be placed around the shore today showing the pond to be under lease and stocked by the local club for the use of members only. Any violations will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

The local club has had this project under consideration all spring, following a decision made at one of the meetings held last winter to lease the pond and clean it out preparatory to stocking with trout for use of club members. The sum of $200 was appropriated to purchase the trout at that meeting.

The trout were purchased at the Willow Brook trout hatchery, Westfield, Mass., and were transported over the road in a new type of oxygen tanks, the most up-to-date method of transportation for hatchery fish. The Willow Brook hatchery recently delivered 300 one-pound trout over the road to New Brunswick without losing a single fish. Several large turtles were shot Tuesday by members of the Fish and Game committee before putting them in the fish. Large turtles cause much trouble in stocked ponds by destroying the spawn.

The rules of the local club with reference to taking fish from Keeney Pond are as follows: "Members cannot take more than five fish at a time and may fish but twice each week. Any member of the club may demand the 1930 club card of any other member found violating the rules. Any member thus caught will be suspended."

Quick disposition on this measure in the Senate is planned, for emergency situations. Severe attack upon the $10,000,000 item for starting work on Boulder Canyon dam in the Colorado river. Until this important appropriation measure, the last of the supply bills is out of the way, no move will be made toward adoption of an adjournment resolution.

Another threat against adjournment has developed in the deadlock between the Senate and House over the District of Columbia appropriation bill. The House proposed $9,000,000. The Senate voted $12,000,000. The House refused to consider even a compromise on their figure.

Cheer up! Those puns on Morrow can't last forever.

SCHOONER WRECKED

Gloucester, Mass., June 19.—(AP)—The crew of the Gloucester fishing schooner Flora Oliver has been taken aboard the U. S. Coast Guard destroyer Wilkes and word was received at section base seven here today that the men were being brought to this port. The message gave no details as to what had happened or where. The schooner was under the command of Capt. Charles Williams and carried a crew of nine men. It was assumed here that the ship had been wrecked.

FINAL SCHOOL FIGURES TO BE KNOWN IN JULY

Final figures on which to base its estimate of school costs for the coming year had not been fully completed when the Joint School Board met this week.

The meeting was held before the closing of the current school year, so the figures presented, it was pointed out, could not be exact for the entire period. It was decided to await the completion of the current year's financial history before settling upon the budget for the next school year.

For that reason all figures considered were regarded in the light of tentative estimates. Next month, when the Joint School Board meets again, it will deal with final figures.

PAONESSA PROTESTS SPEEDBOATS ON LAKE

New Britain, June 19.—(AP)—Former Mayor Angelo M. Paonessa today appealed directly to Chairman John W. Titcomb of the State Fish and Game Commission to abolish speedboats on Lake Pootopaug in East Hampton where Paonessa has large property holdings. A petition to the same end signed by 125 property owners at the lake was presented last week to the selectmen of East Hampton.

In his letter to Titcomb Paonessa asked "what is the commissioner on fish and game going to do about it? This lake is visited annually by thousands of sportsmen who pay a license fee to the commission of which you are the executive head and they demand and are entitled to protection. You have stocked the lake with perch and bass every year, more or less. As you know, most bass fishing is done in the evening after dark but with speedboats traveling over Lake Pootopaug 35 miles an hour it is unsafe. Then, irregular explosions of the motors, being pushed to capacity discharge quantities of oil on the lake which is most harmful to the fish."

MORROW SPENT $44,000 IN ELECTION EXPENSES

Newark, N. J., June 19.—(AP)—Expenditures on behalf of Dwight W. Morrow in his successful campaign for the Republican Senatorial nomination today were placed by his campaign manager at approximately $44,000, of which Morrow contributed $15,000.

Douglas Thomson, the campaign manager, said contributions totaling $63,608 were received. He said figures included expenditures up to and including June 13.

Alexander Simpson, Democratic nominee who will oppose Morrow in the November elections, in a statement said: "The Democrats will enter this fray untried by the money of J. P. Morgan and Company which almost floated New Jersey out of a position between New York and Pennsylvania."

Morrow was a partner in the Morgan firm before assuming the post of ambassador to Mexico.

With only a few districts in the state unreported, Morrow's plurality was 299,619. The vote was: Morrow, 417,053; Franklin W. Fox, 117,439; and Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, 47,780.

FIGHTS TONIGHT IF STORM CLEARS

Hartford, June 19.—Again last night the elements stepped in to bring a postponement of the Stan Loayza-Pinkney Kaufman bout at the Hurley Velodrome in East Hartford and Promoter Ed Hurley put the bouts over until tonight when, the weather man willing, this popular-priced card will be staged at the big arena over east.

Kaufman and Loayza are fit and ready and impatient for the bell; this bout brings together a hard hitter in Loayza and a clever boxer in Kaufman, a combination that usually results in a real fight.

There is much interest in the double semi-final; in one half, Johnny Haystack meets Bobby Brown and in the other bracket, Joe Smith, hard hitting Hartford middleweight, meets Harry Thorpe of Buffalo. Each of these bouts is down for eight rounds.

This is the remainder of the card: Special eight: Young Granada, Cuba, vs. Frankie Minerva, Boston. Six-rounds: Rocky Rayo, Hartford, vs. Sal Carta, Middletown. The first bout is set for 8:15.

DANCING JUDITH

By CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN
COPYRIGHT 1930 BY CHELSEA HOUSE

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

Judith Grant, beautiful artist's model, shares her Greenwich Village apartment with Clarissa Morley, known as Chummy, a beautiful girl whose memory has been gone ever since Alan Steyne, her lover, abruptly disappeared seven years ago. Alan suddenly returns, to retrace his steps, but Chummy fails to recognize him. Instead, Alan falls in love with Judith, telling her that he never really loved Chummy and had not dreamed his disappearance would unsettle her so greatly. Then, unexpectedly, Chummy recovers her memory. She returns to the apartment one day, finds Judith and Alan talking together, and with a glad cry throws herself into Alan's arms.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER VIII.

Judy took one look at Alan Steyne's face and fled. She went into her own room and stood under the little window set high in the slanting roof. Her emotions were too many and too complex for her to analyze them; but she was sure that foremost among them was joy because Chummy was here! Again, and because she was so lovely, so irresistible, and Alan must fall in love with her now, if he had not done so before.

But, as she stood there, her face set and pale under the patches of paint, her lips trembled a little. Her thoughts leaped involuntarily back to that one perfect night of dinner and the musicale and the violets, and tears that she struggled to keep back made her eyes smart and tingle.

Chummy put her head in at the door.

"Judy, what are you doing? Come along. You've been away ages and ages."

Judy smiled into the transfixed face with the silver flaxen hair and the golden-brown eyes that were so wonderful since they had lost their vacant look. She followed her friend into the other room.

She did not look directly at Alan, although she spoke to him in her gay, hoarse voice.

"Well, this is a great day, isn't it, Mr. Steyne?"

"Judy," put in Chummy excitedly, "did you know that Alan was coming back? It's all so wonderful—just like a fairy tale!"

"A little bird whispered something about it to the other girl answered, laughing. You know I didn't expect you back so early today. I was preparing Mr. Steyne, you see—telling him he mustn't startle you, because you'd been ill."

"Alan has been telling me all about his travels, Judy," said the deep, bell-like voice, now as charged with color as the lovely face with which she long since went away; it's so long since he went away; it's so splendid to think that he's had such a wonderful time!"

Judy was uncertain how to answer, so she gave her friend a hug and said faintly:

"You see, Chummy, dear, dreams do come true. Well, and when are you going to get married?"

"Oh, Judy!" exclaimed Chummy, rosy with shyness. "We haven't thought of such a thing yet. It's just enough that Alan is back!"

She had gained since her recovery, among other qualities that surprised Judy into wondering admiration, a reserve that she had never displayed in her childish state. The younger girl felt her friend withdrawing herself into realms where she could not follow. There were dignity and authority about her. There were many other things, too, but Judy would never understand—stores of knowledge in a well-trained mind that were drawn out once more by the revived intelligence, and the desire for books, and the appreciative sensibilities of the artist directed upon every subject in nature and human life.

After the first embarrassment at Judy's question about their marriage, Chummy suddenly became self-possessed. Her beautiful face went grave and quiet, and she looked at her friend, as Judy put it, "as if she had suddenly gone to live in the next street."

"Judy," she said, "I want you to tell Alan about me—I mean about my losing my memory, and being ill, and all that. Somehow, when I try to tell him, I can't find the words; but I want him to know. I still feel rather queer about it, almost as if I'd been born all over again."

Judy looked at Alan and poured out jerky sentences in a great hurry.

"I wasn't there at the start, Mr. Steyne," she said; "but I believe that soon after you went away Chummy was very ill, and when she got better she'd lost her memory. She was well and strong again, but she just didn't remember anything about that time. And that's all there is to it. Then, the other day, when she had pneumonia and nearly died, her memory came back."

"But, Judy, how did I live?" interrupted Chummy, with a puzzled air. "My old aunt I went to see to-day asked me that. I don't think I had any money."

"Oh, yes, you had," said her friend. "It lasted a long time," she added vaguely. "There wasn't much to spend on."

"But now, Judy!"

Chummy's golden-brown eyes compelled an answer.

"Oh, that's all right—everybody at the cafe loves you so, Chummy, dear. They were only too pleased to—"

"You mean that I've been living on charity?" asked Chummy with a touch of proud revolt.

At this Judy stared up.

"If you call it charity when a lot of people adore you, and would do anything in the world to keep you

But as she stood there her lips trembled a little. Her thoughts leaped back to that one perfect night.

well and happy, and simply gloat over every little thing they can do for you! I call it something else."

A very humble look came into Chummy's proud face. In the years of her mental stagnation she had acquired a certain way of ordering people about and taking things for granted that was not natural to her.

"Oh, Judy," she whispered, "how wonderful you've all been to me! I'm beginning to understand. I must have been quite helpless and like a child. I suppose I wasn't mad?" she added anxiously.

"Of course not!" was the emphatic answer. "What an idea! And now that you're well again, everything will be all right. You can work, and we'll all be happy and jolly as the day is long!"

"Yes," Chummy said. "I believe I can work again—now."

Her eyes rested for a moment on Alan Steyne's face. The young man rose to go.

"What about the cafe tonight?" Judy asked. "I've almost promised to take Chummy there. She hasn't been there since her illness, you know, and the boys are mad to see her again. Chummy"—she looked at the other girl with a touch of anxiety—"do you remember all the boys—Tony Leigh and Michael Stone and Johnny Plarmel, and all the others?"

"Yes," Chummy replied; "but it seems a very long time ago. Tony Leigh did wonderful caricatures, and Michael Stone painted that glorious 'Venus Quarrelling with Adonis' that the Academy turned down, and the Paris Salon hung on the line."

Judy gave a sad little laugh.

"They're all the same in one way, Chummy—they're failures, every one of them, according to the world. The only one who did anything at all was Vincent Stornaway, who simply gave up trying, and now paints millionaires and their wives. His women are all satin and diamonds, and, as he says, he manages to make them look just a little bit naughty. He makes ten thousand a year, but he hardly ever comes to the cafe. Well," she added, looking from one to the other, "what about tonight?"

"It will be lovely!" said Chummy. "I'm dying to see them all again."

"Of course," put in Alan. "Clarissa must go and see all her friends. What time shall we meet?"

Judy named the hour. As the young man left the room, he held out his hand. She had to put hers in it, and she knew from the swift look he gave her that it was not because of Chummy that he would be at the Cafe Tur that night.

Miss Morley, the aunt with whom Chummy had communicated since her recovery, had invited her niece to go across to the Italian Riviera with her, but Chummy had declined. She was quite strong, and since Alan had come back, she was itching to get to her long-neglected work again. Everybody, Alan included, told her that she could paint; and she had the feeling that to get to work would complete the reconstruction of her life.

Chummy had gone to spend Miss Morley's last day in New York with her at her hotel, and Alan Steyne, knowing of it, came to find Judy just before lunch time. She was just about to go to the cafe.

"Come to lunch with me, please," he said. "We'll go somewhere where we can talk."

This was the second day after the evening at the cafe, where Chummy had had a reception that might easily have paralyzed a queen used to the adulation of her subjects.

"Oh," said Judy, with her purple eyes fixed anxiously on Alan. "I don't know. What is it you want to talk about?"

"You," he said boldly.

"You had a very determined look on his face, and she gave in with a sigh.

"You are making it awfully difficult," she said.

They went to one of the big res-

Bokhara's Bazaars Lose Rug Trade To Soviet Government

Bokhara, Uzbekistan Soviet Republic (AP)—Communism and cooperative trading have brought change to Bokhara's bazaars, which for centuries were known round the world for their famous rugs, silks, spices, oils, perfumes, dyes and all the rich products of the East.

As virtually all trading in the Soviet union is confined to government and cooperative organizations, many of the local bazaar-keepers, who in their long, patriarchal beards, flowing silk robes, spotlessly white turbans and ornate sandals, are among the most picturesque in the world, have been forced to close shop.

Four years ago it was possible to buy here all manner of oriental articles, including exquisite Bokhara, and Samarkand rugs, but today one can buy only such common objects as copper and bronze water-jugs, native hubble-bubble pipes (narghels), tobacco and snuff containers, and tawdry jewelry.

All the fine rugs made by the local weavers are bought by the government at its own price and exported to Berlin, Paris, London and New York. There they can be purchased in department stores at lower prices than prevail in the retail shops in Bokhara or Samarkand. The same condition applies to embroideries, table-covers, wall draperies and similar articles.

With the closing of the bazaars, the color and fascination of Bokhara seems to be vanishing. The visitor no longer sees long trains of swaying camels laden with the rich merchandise of China, India, Afghanistan and Persia plodding laboriously through the narrow, dusty streets of Bokhara, led by a venerable, bearded figure mounted upon an ass.

The wonderful mosques and meddresses or divinity schools, which made Bokhara a center of ecclesiastical learning for the Mohammedan world, appear deserted and are half ruined.

Storks and cranes build their nests in the vaulted recesses of the meddresses or on top of the minarets, feeling secure from the hand of the Moslem, who regards these birds as sacred.

Even the picturesque water-carrier with his pigskin sacking bulging with water, a hallmark of Bokhara since Alexander the Great invaded Turkestan, is disappearing. His place is being taken by modern water-supply systems installed by the soviet.

Seemingly unchangeable, however, are other native customs. The men still wear long, padded coats over white pantaloons, making them resemble walking bedquits.

The women are attired in equally long, gaudily colored coats of silk or velvet, with a thick black veil made of horse hair over their faces. From the time a girl in Bokhara is 12, no man, except it be her father, brother or husband, is allowed to gaze upon her features.

Yet the timeless, almost immutable East, or at least that part of it under soviet domination, is succumbing slowly to modern influences, and is losing the exotic, bizarre and romantic characteristics that have made it the theme of writers, poets and painters for centuries.

The Russian Communist rulers of Russia acknowledge it will take years to collect from the desert and plains the millions of tribesmen now scattered over Tur-ab2, ca., who now are scattered over Turkestan and organize them on "collective" farms.

YOUR CHILDREN

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

What kind of stories do you tell your children? Stories of good little bunnies, wicked witches, pirates, or maudlin tales of mistreated orphans?

There was a time, not so long ago, that psychologists preached the doctrine of mambypamby-ism to parents in regard to story reading and telling. The story with the thrill was taboo, particularly if it contained the word "wicked," or dealt with witches, dwarfs, or trolls of distorted visage and ill-intentioned mind.

Here I shall make one permanent and irrevocable exception to the following paragraphs, and then go on with the story. No child under four should be told an alarming tale or an unhappy one. He should not even be told an exciting one, especially at night. Stories of animals who act like people, he will love. Also stories of toys or other little folk like himself. He likes to picture himself in their places, for about this time his imagination begins to run away with him. He imagines that he is everything under the sun from an airplane to a turtle; his little dream world is almost as real to him as his real world. His imagination does the work. But in the next year or so a change takes place in him.

An Impressionable Age

He is very impressionable now. He absorbs little sermons and becomes thoughtful about the difference between good and bad. But how can he learn about good or evil unless there is an occasional evil factor in the stories he hears? Also, in all real stories there must be an obstacle to overcome. There is a world of meaning in the "good fairy" who overcomes the "wicked witch," or the "kind tailor" who breaks the spell of a "bad fairy," by dividing his last morsel of bread with a beggar. How can Tori show his courage unless there is a terrible "pirate" to fight, or Jack give an example of bravery without his "giants" who are prepared for roasting Hansel. These useful people.

Now there are stories such as Hansel and Gretel, in which a wicked witch holds Hansel in a cage to fatten him for eating, and ending by Gretel pushing the old girl herself into the oven. These stories should be burned "as is." A story like "Rumpelstiltskin," the dwarf who stole the baby out of the poor queen's bed, and "The Rose Tree," depicting a flower pot in which a young man's head was buried, all these and their like should be cut out of a mother's story repertoire. As for "Red Riding Hood," I shouldn't make it too silly by changing it. But harrowing details can be omitted. "Dirty work" should never be gone into in detail.

Vary the Stories

If a child is not nervous, if he is a natural normal person, you can mix the story diet and give him a right stiff one occasionally. His imagination should be fed. If you switched dwarf over a precipice and make "the last of him" with no revealing details, or demolish a witch before she demolishes someone else, with a large fine sweep of your story brush, that's good for him.

I shouldn't go in too strongly on the adventure or witch demolishing stuff during the child's first five years. The animal stories are sufficient, then. But each year the story diet can be strengthened. A child loves to hear the same story over and over when he is little. Later he will beg, "Tell me another." And if you can beg, borrow, or steal stories, tell him all he can hold. It is good for him.

But I should not feed him pap. If he is too nervous to hear real stories, don't tell him any until he is older, and can stand a bit of a thrill.

PASCAL'S BIRTH

On June 19, 1623, Blaise Pascal, noted French philosopher, mathematician, and writer, and one of the first to attempt a philosophy of mathematics, was born at Clermont-Ferrand, France.

His mother died in his infancy and his father moved to Paris eight years later. Educated by his father here, Pascal showed remarkable precocity in mathematics. When only 16, he wrote a work on the Geometry of Conics, most of which is lost, though a part has been restored from his correspondence with Leibnitz. It contained two important theorems, one of which is known as the famous Pascal's theorem.

When his sister and father removed to Rouen a few years later, Pascal engaged in scientific studies there. A great change occurred in his life in 1654 when he gave up the study of mathematics and philosophy and embraced the austere religious life of the Jansenists at Port Royal, near Paris, where he spent his remaining years. The subsequent controversy between the Jesuits and Jansenists led to Pascal's publication of the "Provincial Letters," in favor of the latter. These letters are said to be the greatest masterpieces in the literature of irony.

Pascal's decision to devote his time to religion is said to have been caused by a carriage accident.

Hints On How To Keep Well by World Famed Authority

EMOTIONAL STRESS OFTEN SENDS ONE'S BLOOD PRESSURE UP

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

It has long been recognized that extremes of emotion will raise the blood pressure, that the blood pressure falls when one is asleep, and that when sleep is restless and disturbed by dreams the blood pressure may rise even during rest. In people who are subject to high blood pressure, the rise during restless sleep may constitute a menace because of the danger of brain hemorrhage.

It is generally known that the excitement associated with the blood pressure being taken by a life insurance examiner may cause a rise of 10 to 29 millimeters of mercury.

In a recent consideration of the effects of the emotions on high blood pressure, Dr. E. J. Steglitz gives the records of eight cases, including seven women whose blood pressure was normal when they were at rest, but which rose as much as 47 millimeters due to mental excitement.

In six of the eight cases the mental excitement was the reason which caused the women to seek medical attention. When the cases were carefully studied and means taken to allay the mental excitement, it was possible to keep the blood pressure within the normal limits.

It is obvious that the factors which control the circulation of the blood are intimately bound with the nervous system and that through stimuli from the nervous system, the blood vessels may be made to contract and in that way raise the blood pressure. When the blood vessels are dilated, the blood flow is increased and the blood pressure is lowered.

One of the difficulties of the situation lies in the fact that the person may develop the high blood pressure when he or she is undergoing examination for life insurance or for some other cause and that the very high rate taken at that time may be the cause for upsetting living conditions generally.

It is important to correct such conditions as soon as possible, since it is the tendency to get worse unless attention is given to the condition. The emotional high blood pressure may form the basis later of a permanent high blood pressure.

HOUSE MAKING SURVEY OF OUR OIL RESERVES

Washington, June 19.- (AP)-The vast pools of oil held under contract to provide the nation's fighting ships with abundant motive power in time of emergency and the problem of preserving them for that purpose today received the attention of the House naval committee.

A project intended to prevent loss of oil from the naval petroleum reserves through the operations of private drillers upon adjoining holdings came up for action in executive session.

Another proposal already has been approved by Congress at this session and a third affecting other governmental holdings is being urged for passage in the House before adjournment.

The measure before the committee today involved a step under contemplation for an eighteen year, recommended by the Navy Department and the Federal oil conservation board.

It would permit the purchase of private holdings within a reserve, by cash or through exchange for other holdings, when exploitation of the privately owned fields threatens to reduce the value of the naval reserve in question.

NO SPANISH CRISIS.

Madrid, June 19.- (AP)- King Alfonso's departure tonight for a month's visit in London and Paris is interpreted by political observers that the king and government advisors do not consider the Spanish political situation alarming at present.

All sorts of rumors have been heard, including possibilities of cabinet changes and political uprisings, but the general belief is that there will be no sweeping political developments until autumn at least.

MUST STAND TRIAL FOR SECOND TIME

Court Decides That Indian Woman Must Answer the Original Charge.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 19.- (AP)-Lila Jimerson, Cayuga Indian woman, must stand trial a second time for the murder of Mrs. Clotilde Marchand, wife of the celebrated artist, Henri Marchand, or abide by her plea of guilty to a reduced charge of murder, second degree, Supreme Court Justice Samuel J. Hand decided today.

The Indian woman's first trial on a charge of murder, first degree was terminated abruptly when she collapsed in County Court and was removed to a hospital where she was treated for several weeks for tuberculosis.

Pleaded Guilty. Several days later, in an improvised court room in the hospital she pleaded guilty before County Judge F. Bret Thorn to a reduced charge of murder, second degree, thereby accepting the mandatory sentence for that offense of imprisonment for 20 years to life.

Upon her discharge from the hospital she was brought into court for formal sentence, but appeared with two new attorneys, John S. McGovern of Buffalo, and Thomas F. Rogers of Corning. Her attorneys refused to withdraw formally the plea of guilty to the reduced charge. Proceeding on the assumption that it had been withdrawn, however, District Attorney Guy B. Moore of Erie county moved for a new trial on the original charge of murder, first degree.

U. S. Steel, after sinking a shade lower to 158, rebounded to 160 but failed to hold American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, New York Central, Public Service of New Jersey and Johns-Manville were among the many issues to show early gains of a couple of points, only to sink back to around the Wednesday close.

NOON STOCKS

New York, June 19.- (AP)-The Stock Market was highly irregular in today's forenoon trading, although the wholesale liquidation of active shares rallied 2 to 5 points at the opening, but the list soon yielded under hanging over selling and most of the advance had been cancelled by noon.

Initial gains ranged from 5 to 9 points in such volatile shares as Worthington Pump, Case, Eastman Kodak and Allied Chemical, but these were materially cut after the market began to yield.

Cuernavaca, Mexico, June 19.- (AP)-Divorces granted during the past three years in the state of Morelos, recently outlawed by a decision of the Mexican Supreme Court, were made legal in a bill passed yesterday by the Morelos state legislature. Divorces of several hundred Americans obtained here under the so-called puente code are affected by the measure.

ERRORGRAMS

There are at least four mistakes in the above picture. They may pertain to grammar, history, etiquette, drawing or whatnot. See if you can find them. Then look at the scrambled word below-and unscramble it, by switching the letters around. Grade yourself 20 for each of the mistakes you find, and 20 for the word if you unscramble it.

COUE BEDCLOTHES

Paris.—Dr. Coue's famous theory has finally wound up in the bed-clothes business. It has been adopted by this trade with the result that bed clothes are now being embroidered with the auto-suggestions, "You Can Sleep," "Count Ten and You'll Sleep Tonight," and "You Won't Dream Tonight."
