

GERMANY FACES A CRISIS OVER MONEY MATTERS

President Threatens to Dissolve Reichstag If It Fails To Pass Cabinet's Method of Financing Nation.

Berlin, July 16.—(AP)—A motion of non-confidence against the Brüning government was rejected by the Reichstag late today by a vote of 244 to 59 with 151 absentments.

The motion was introduced by the Communists in the midst of a struggle between the ministry and the Reichstag over the financial program of Finance Minister Dietrich.

Only a few minutes previously the Reichstag had rejected the second article of the program whereupon the chancellor announced that government had no interest in a further vote leading to the belief in some quarters that he would invoke Article 48 of the Constitution giving the president dictatorial powers.

The German Nationalists voted against the non-confidence motion while the Socialists abstained.

Berlin, July 16.—(AP)—Chancellor Brüning visited President Hindenburg today and received authorization to invoke Article 48 of the Constitution and dissolve the Reichstag if the latter failed to pass the cabinet's finance measures scheduled for vote late today.

Article 48 contains the following provisions:

"The president, in the event that public security and order in the German nation should be considerably disturbed or endangered, may take all necessary measures to re-establish public security and order, and if required, to intervene with the aid of armed power. To this end he may provisionally abrogate, in whole or in part the fundamental laws established in Articles 114, 115, 117, 118, 123, 124 and 125."

President von Hindenburg, who has hesitated to invoke the dictatorial powers granted by this article, has not hesitated, however, to scare the Reichstag by the threat of his use, or at least has stood by the chancellors, notably Brüning, who used the threat as a whip.

COVERED SHORTAGE FOR OVER 5 YEARS

Bank Bookkeeper Confesses He Concealed Loss of $246,000 for Years.

Providence, R. I., July 16.—(AP)—Examination of the books of the National Bank of Commerce, followed by a full confession, according to Federal officials, has revealed that Peter L. Simoni, a bookkeeper, has concealed for five years a loss of $246,000 in the bank. Simoni, Monday night, arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Fred A. Otis on a charge of making false entries was held in $10,000 bail.

Simoni states, and bank officials believe, that he had profited one cent from his illegal dealing. Five years ago, a friend asked him to allow an overdraft of $6,000, the bookkeeper said in his confession. The request was made on a Saturday and the man promised to make good on the following Monday. Simoni, without asking the advice of or informing bank officials, allowed the overdraft. On Monday it was not made good, he said, but worse, the man went back again and again and forced Simoni to allow other overdrafts until the defalcations had reached a staggering proportion. At the end of 1925, Simoni's fund died, leaving the bank's accounts $246,000 short.

Foiled Examiners

Ten times, the Federal Bank examiners failed to discover any false entries in the books where Simoni had covered his overdraft allowances by distributing the funds among other accounts. Once a big auditing firm examined the books and found nothing wrong, but the current Federal examination revealed the losses.

Of the sum $150,000 is covered by insurance and the bank's undivided profits and surplus of more than a million and a quarter present any serious damage to the institution, its officials say. Federal authorities have refused to reveal the name of the man who made the overdrafts, so much as they hope to recover some of the money from his estate.

Accounts is well known in this city, is married and the father of six children.

GOLF BETTERS HERE LOSE IN BIG SWINDLE

South Wales Pari-Mutuel Company Has No Office in Cardiff, Wales, Cables To This Country Disclose.

Manchester's chances of getting the $5,000 some of its betting citizens "won" on the chess of Bob Jones "won" the British Open golf championship today appeared very slim. Over the Associated Press wires came the word from London that nobody in Great Britain seems to know anything about the matter and the general opinion seems to be that the whole affair is a gigantic swindle. The company with which the money was posted appears to have departed without leaving any address.

Company Departs

Information from Roanoke, Va., today stated that an enthusiastic golfer in that city who, like many Manchester persons, had become alarmed over not receiving his money had sent a cablegram to the "South Wales Pari-Mutuel Company" at Cardiff, Wales, and received an answer that the company had departed to parts unknown. The London report also intimated that officials in that country were making a rigid investigation into the matter and it is more than possible that prosecutions will follow although it is highly doubtful that the money invested here in United States will ever be returned, let alone the "profits" they should have won.

Cable Unanswered

For some time all sorts of rumors have been prevalent here to the effect that the whole affair was a swindle but several of those who bet the most money still entertain hope. It was not until The Herald received the first definite news on the matter from London that their last hopes went gliding. A prominent Manchester man who cabled the money pooled by Manchester betters to the "company" in Wales, sent a cablegram Monday but said that no reply had been received at noon. He plans to write for whatever information is obtainable. The London dispatch follows:

London Report

London, July 16.—(AP)—English newspapers today were treating as a first page sensation a story from Roanoke, Va., of an alleged swindle in Wales in connection with betting on Bobby Jones and other stars in the British Open Golf championship. So far it appears as though people in Great Britain know nothing about the affair or if they do they are saying nothing about it.

It is known that sleuths of the golfing world are busy on such clues as are available trying to run them down to their source but nothing tangible has as yet been reported.

WORLD WAR VETS APPLY FOR HELP

New Disability Law Attracts Many Daily To Hartford Veterans' Bureau.

Hartford, July 16.—(AP)—Ex-soldiers who faced Verdun and the Argonne, who came through months of hell-fire in France unscathed are now among several hundred World War veterans, their limbs gone, nerves shattered, senses inoperative, as a result of the strife of peace time living, who are daily making application at the United States Veterans' Bureau for pensions provided for in the recently passed disability allowance bill, according to Major Thomas J. Bannigan, regional manager of the bureau.

No new provisions have no connection with compensation paid for service connected with disabilities. Major Bannigan stated in an analysis of recent legislation in regard to the pension and other amendments of the World War Veterans Act of July 1, 1930.

Among the liberal amendments to the veterans' act the regional manager of the bureau stated that particularly important was the provision for payment of pensions to veterans who have been disabled in civil life together with the elimination of the time limit on filing claims for compensation. The new legislation, especially that concerned with the amendments will affect some 3,000 ex-soldiers in Connecticut, he said.

Maine Youth Arrested in Murder of Girl Clerk

James M. Mitchell, 22-year-old shipping clerk, was held by police at Portland, Me., on charges of killing and then burning the body of pretty Lillian I. Mitchell was said to have confessed that he hit Miss MacDonald with a grate shaker when she pushed his advances, then placed her body in a furnace. The charred remains were found on the day after this girl's disappearance with $800 of her employers' money.

SECRECY AROUND PACT NEARLY STARTED A WAR

Declares Sen. McKellar 'Attacking the Treaty—Calls Washington Parley Victory for Great Britain.'

Washington, July 16.—(AP)—Senator McKellar told the Senate today France and Italy had been "brought on the verge of war" by "secrecy, had blood and jealousy" surrounding negotiation of the Franco-Italian relations after the London negotiations were available, although records of the Washington and Geneva conferences were printed in book-form soon after the 1922 and 1927 gatherings.

Not a Peace Treaty

"That's the reason why this treaty is not a real peace treaty," he said. "That's the reason this treaty is a sham and why only three powers signed it. That's the reason we almost brought on a war between France and Italy."

Senator Reed, one of the treaty framers, informed McKellar the records of the London conference kept records of the proceedings which undoubtedly were in the State Department files.

Senator Johnson, a treaty opponent, said the State Department was printing a volume embodying the views on the pact. The proofs of this book, he added, had been turned over to "one admiral who was friendly to the plan adopted by the American delegation."

"They are secretly guarded by him and will be delivered to the Senate after action on this treaty is taken," Johnson said.

The restless party leaders were holding informal conferences looking to a definite hour for voting. They hope to obtain ratification by a weak margin today.

McKellar called the Washington

STATE'S BUSINESS FOR MONTH SPOTTY

Increases in Few Lines Offset by Decreases in Others—Local Survey.

Hartford, July 16.—Business in Connecticut continued to be spotty during June, 1930, increases in a few lines being offset by decreases in many others, according to the monthly business survey of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce conducted in collaboration with the leading local Chambers of Commerce throughout the state. A substantial gain in savings bank deposits, in several communities was in evidence, deposits in Willimantic being 48 percent greater than in June 1929 and those in Naugatuck having increased 42 percent over the same period.

Building Permits.

Building permits issued in the leading construction centers decreased on the whole 18 percent in number and 37 per cent in value compared with the permits issued in June 1929. The number of real estate sales was 26 percent less than those of June a year ago. Total carloadings in 14 Connecticut cities decreased 18 percent, the totals being for June 1930, 11,425 and for June 1929, 13,748.

Electricity consumption on the whole increased 1.3 percent, while gas consumption was 2 percent greater. Industrial conditions remained fair, despite the level of June 1929; retail conditions, while reflecting a continued depression, in many communities were slightly better than in May 1930. Report of Committee Says Arguments Against Plan Have Been Disposed of Through Schools Purchase

The consolidation of the school districts of the town of Manchester, one of the several issues beaten in a charter revision vote in 1928, is again urged for restudy in the report of the Ninth District school committee released for publication today.

The Ninth district committee, through Howell Cheney, its chairman, believes that the purchase of the Cheney owned schools by the Ninth district removes the major argument against schools consolidation.

BLAMES THE REDS FOR MOST STRIKES

Witness Says Their Aim Is To Prevent Settlement of All Labor Troubles.

New York, July 16.—(AP)—Communists were charged with fomenting strikes as one line of attack on the form of American government before the special House investigating committee today by Charles G. Wood, commissioner of conciliation of the Labor Department at Washington.

Wood was the first witness to be heard and probably will be followed by Richard Lyons, New York police inspector.

The witness declared that Communists had centered their activities at Passaic, N. J., New Bedford, Mass., Greater New York, and in Gastonia, N. C. He said that they instituted strikes and then made every effort to prevent settlement of disputes over wages, working conditions and hours.

Workers in textile mills at Passaic as well as in other places where strikes were conducted under Communist leadership were often intimidated and thousands driven from employment he said.

New Britain Sisters Hear They Will Share in a Canadian Estate.

New Britain, July 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Clifton J. Sanborn and Mrs. Oscar J. Austin, sisters of this city, are hopeful of sharing in an estate valued at $175,000,000, the property leased to the city of Montreal, Canada, by an ancestor 99 years ago. The lease will expire in September. They are two of 125 heirs who may share in the large fortune. Their information on the case is meager. They learned the news from an aunt, Mrs. Charles Baker, of Peru, N. Y., who is going to Montreal to investigate.

Mrs. Sanborn said today that if they do receive a share in the estate they will remain in this city and will not change their mode of living.

A reporter asked Mrs. Sanborn what his future plans were, if fortune dropped its gold into his lap.

"He'll keep right on working" his wife said with emphasis.

"I may even do my own housework as usual" Mrs. Austin said.

FIRE AT OXFORD

Oxford, Eng., July 16.—(AP)—Historic Trinity college of Oxford University was the scene of a fire today but the solid stones of which the seventeenth century building is constructed confined the blaze to a small space.

The fire started in the undergraduates' quarters and was kept to two suites of undergraduates' rooms. Students in pajamas watched the fire-fighters at work.

One student had a narrow escape. He was awakened by the bursting of an electric light bulb in his room and thus was able to get out in time to avoid anything more serious than a hair singe.

GENERAL ELECTION STIRS UP CANADA

Unemployment and Tariff Problems Are Issues in Campaign Now Going On.

Ottawa, July 16.—(AP)—The general election campaign in which the Liberal government, headed by Premier Mackenzie King, is seeking return to office, reached a climax today with the provinces of Ontario and Saskatchewan as focal points.

All seats in the House of Commons are to be filled in the voting July 28.

NEWS FROM EGYPT

Alexandria, July 16.—(AP)—The British government has ordered the battle ships Queen Elizabeth and Ramilies to proceed to Alexandria for the protection of foreign lives and property endangered by disorders there.

Prime Minister MacDonald, in announcing the dispatch of the vessels, also informed the House of Commons that Sidky Pasha, the present Egyptian premier, and Nahaas Pasha, former premier and Nationalist leader, had been warned they would be held responsible for the protection of foreign lives and interests.

During rioting in Alexandria yesterday 13 natives and one Italian were killed and many natives were injured in clashes between Egyptian soldiers and police and strikers.

The Ramilies is a 30,000 ton vessel and is armed with eight 15-inch guns while the Queen Elizabeth is a 28,000-ton ship and also carries eight 15-inch guns.

London, July 16.—(AP)—Prime Minister MacDonald announced in the House of Commons today that two warships have been sent to Egypt.

The ships have been ordered to proceed to Alexandria which was the scene of serious rioting yesterday, resulting in the deaths of 13 natives and one Italian.

The prime minister said that Sir Percy Lorraine, high commissioner for Egypt, had been instructed to inform the Egyptian prime minister he must be held responsible for the protection of foreign lives and property in Egypt.

Frederick's Speech

The prime minister said: "As early as June 4 when the present constitutional crisis in Egypt first showed signs of developing, His Majesty's government instructed the high commissioner that his attitude must be one of strict neutrality, though consistently with that position it was left to his discretion to remind both parties to the dispute that we, at this point, were doing all in our power to maintain the good atmosphere in which the treaty negotiations had terminated."

"Sir Percy Lorraine made statements in this sense both to King Fuad and to Nahaas (former prime minister), who expressed his gratification. Since the formation of the present government, Sir Percy Lorraine made it clear that he adhered to the treaty and non-intervention in what appeared to be a purely internal issue for the Egyptians themselves to decide."

No Other Attitude

"No other attitude was consistent with the declared intention of His Majesty's government in 1922 and we shall continue to maintain it to the extent compatible with our international responsibility."

"Before news of the deplored events in Alexandria had reached London, the high commissioner had been instructed to make it quite plain that His Majesty's government did not intend to be used as an instrument for an attack on the Egyptian Constitution. In consequence they could be no party to an alteration of the electoral laws as if concluded by the declaration of 1922, from actual intervention in an internal issue of this nature."

"In consequence of yesterday's events, Sir Percy Lorraine has been instructed to inform Sidky Pasha we must hold him responsible for the protection of foreign lives and property in Egypt. His Majesty's government has also been instructed to inform Nahaas Pasha that, in order to maintain the good atmosphere in which the treaty negotiations had terminated, we shall hold him equally responsible with the government for foreign lives and interests and are empowered to take such steps as may be necessary."

Warships Ordered Out

"In the meantime in view of the menace to foreign lives and property in Alexandria, His Majesty's government have ordered two warships to proceed towards that port."

The prime minister was questioned with supplementary questions principally by E. Thurloe, Liberal, who asked him if he was aware that the government's action in sending the ships to Alexandria was likely to be misinterpreted by the Egyptian people. The speaker of the House intervened to prevent an answer, however, as he did in the case of several other questions in connection with the present crisis.

MACDONALD STARTS ON TRIP TO COAST

Witness in Mooney Case To Tell His Story To California Officials.

Baltimore, July 14.—(AP)—John Macdonald, whose self admitted perjured testimony played a leading part in the conviction of Sam Francis J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings on murder charges fourteen years ago will start for San Francisco today on the first leg of the trip he wants to take to officially and personally tell the authorities of the coast state his story about the case.

The Macdonald party will go from Baltimore to New York, where it will be joined by Frank P. Walsh, eastern attorney for Mooney. From there it will go to California by way of Chicago. The witness' attorneys, Hilary W. Gans and Charles Rusicka announced. When the departure from New York will be made is in the hands of Mr. Walsh.

The recanting witness will be accompanied by his attorneys and Edward N. Nockels, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor, who in 1921 obtained from Macdonald the first statement that he had been coached by the prosecution in perjured testimony given at the trials of Mooney and Billings.

Macdonald's testimony identified Mooney and Billings as the men who planted a suitcase containing the bomb which killed and injured 10 during the Preparedness Day parade in San Francisco in 1916. In a sworn affidavit, made since his arrest here Friday, he declared he never had seen the two until taken to the cells in the San Francisco jail where they were pointed out by prosecution officials.

Governor Clement C. Young of California has pledged expenses for the trip from Baltimore to the coast for the witness so that he may appear before the Pardon Board in the Billings case. Law officials already have petitioned to have the case reopened, and Walsh holds out hope for asking them to be reopened on the ground of new evidence.

The circular said that all wagers exceeding $200 must be received by "Par-Mutuel Cardiff, S. Wales," and all wagers of $50 and over will be acknowledged by cablegram.

It was further stated that "cover for all investments made must be mailed direct to the company's bankers—giving the name of the bank of commission—and that the cost of cablegrams may be deducted for all investments of $50 or over.

The communication was signed by L. Lesley and it was pointed out that "smaller investments may be made by mail provided they are posted not later than the 14th of June."

The company said the circular was established in 1902. Mr. Lesley offered his thanks in anticipation of "your patronage" and signed himself, "yours faithfully."

ward into Georgia before it crashed. The fliers were taken to a hotel. They were not downhearted, Carrigan said, and are determined to try again.

The K of New Haven was purchased last winter from the Detroit Aircraft Company for a non-stop refueling flight to South America. The flight long had been considered and during 1928 Lieut. Herbert Partridge had interested a tooth paste company, which wanted to expand in South America, in the flight.

Lieut. Commander George Pond was selected as co-pilot. The ship was fitted out and the take-off tentatively was set for the time of the full moon in April.

Delays in tests and weather delays kept the flight until late in May. Then, after a start from Hartford, Conn., the plane landed at Roosevelt Field, Long Island, with an oil leak having been found. Other delays followed and finally the backers withdrew their support.

The plane, stripped of instruments, was auctioned to the highest bidder. Repurchase Plans The tooth paste company, however, decided to go through with the flight, repurchased the plane and put Gerland Peed, co-pilot, at the head of the expedition.

Commander Pond also was retained and Randy Enslow was hired as radio technician. At the last moment Pond withdrew and Jimmy Carrigan was hired as co-pilot.

The start was set for Monday but was delayed for further tests until yesterday. Shortly after 4 o'clock the plane took off and four refueling contacts were made, the last at dusk. Finally loaded with enough gasoline for the 1,200 miles between Long Island and Havana, the big, single motored monoplane roared off to the south.

The plane originally was built by Eddie Stinson for an assault on the endurance, non-refueling flight record, now held by Germany. Speed was sacrificed for lifting capacity but it was considered ideal for a long refueling flight such as the one attempted. Its cruising speed is about 85 miles an hour. Fully loaded it had a flight range of around 2,500 miles.

Kansas City Awaits Triple Hanging as Widow Refuses to Say Word That Might Save Slayers

Wife of Victim is Besieged With Pleas for Bandits' Release.

Kansas City, Mo.—Three men will go to their deaths on the gallows in a triple hanging here July 25 because the woman who was made a widow and whose four children were orphaned by their bullets refuses to say the word that might save them. With the wholesale execution, Kansas City will have settled its account with the bandits who committed a particularly sensational bank robbery and cold-blooded murder while the Republican national convention was in session here in 1923.

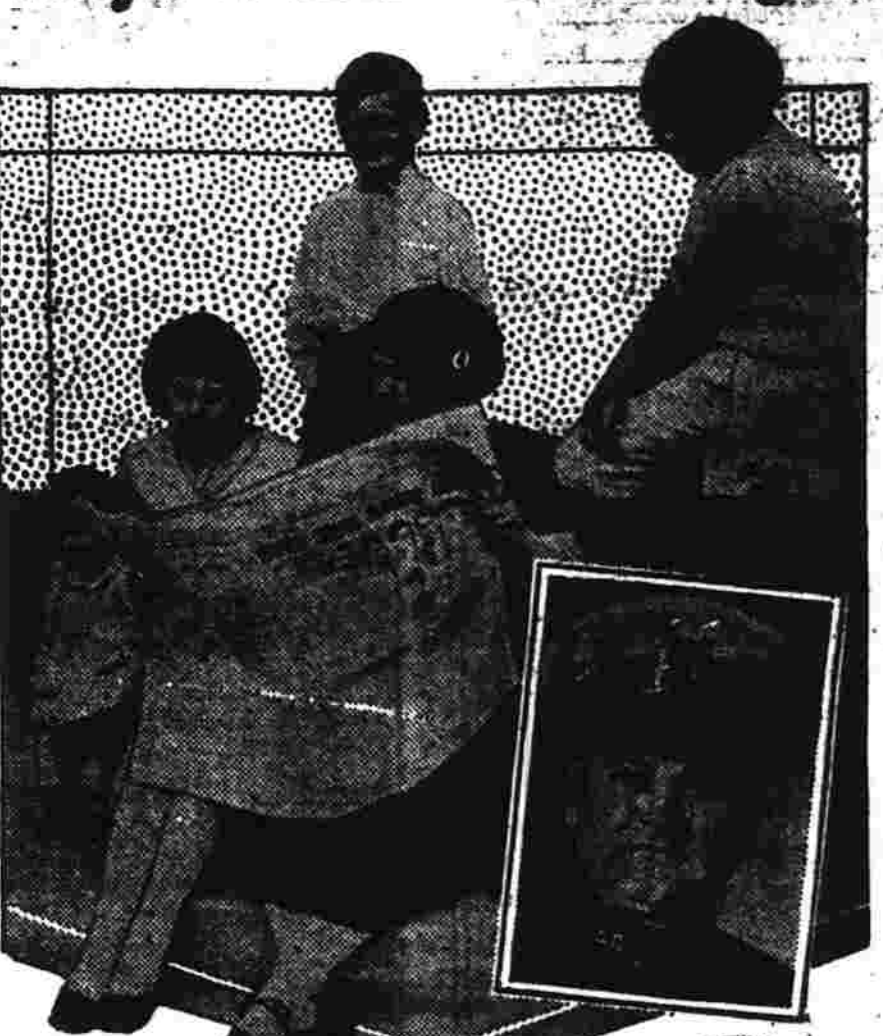

And the death of Policeman "Happy" Smith, one of Kansas City's most popular traffic officers, will have been avenged. The woman whose silence, despite tearful pleas of relatives, has sealed their doom is "Happy" Smith's widow. If she should ask that their lives be spared they might have a chance. If she does not, they have no chance. She insists that she will not move to save them.

Widow's Home is Guarded As the day of execution nears, police have placed a guard at Mrs. Smith's home, for friends and relatives of the bandits have put severe pressure on her in a futile effort to win commutation of the death sentence. Meanwhile, the three condemned men—Carl Nasello, Tony Mangiaracina and John Messino—are under heavy guard at the county jail where machine guns have been mounted to thwart any possible attempt to rescue them.

Several times the mothers of the condemned men have gone to Mrs. Smith's home with other women who identified themselves as mission workers. On each occasion, after pleading with Mrs. Smith, the visitors would fall on their knees. One of the mission workers would say, "Let us pray" and the visitors would offer a prayer asking that God move the heart of the woman so that she would intercede for the murderers.

Mrs. Smith and her orphaned children would stand with bowed heads each time when the prayers was finished, Mrs. Smith would say: "I am sorry for you. It is terrible for any mother to know her son is to be hanged. But I could not interfere even though I wish to."

Now the city is guarding the widow's home, and the bandits' relatives and friends are not permitted to enter.

Plead With Parents Another object of attention on the part of the slayers' relatives has been the home of Smith's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Roney Smith, who live on a farm 100 miles from Kansas City. Several times the mothers and friends have called there. Mr. Smith, when they went on their knees before him, said: "I cannot do anything for them."

mother told Mrs. Lucille Messino and Mrs. Carmela Mangiaracina, mothers of two of the bandits: "I cannot interfere with the course of the law. Your sons should have thought of the preciousness of human life before they shot down my son in his tracks. Guards are protecting the policeman's parents, like his widow, from further visits. The murder of Patrolman Smith stirred Kansas City as few other crimes have. It took place

What Would You Do?

Suppose your husband, a policeman, had been murdered by bank robbers while performing his duty? Suppose that the bandits had been sentenced to hang and that their mothers, tearful and pleading, had come to your home and begged you to say the word that might save their lives. Suppose that they had fallen on their knees before you and would move your heart to mercy? What would YOU do? And why? when the city was crowded with visitors and delegates to the Republican convention. A motor car full of gunmen drove up to the Home Trust Company, near the convention hall. Two gunmen with shotguns stationed themselves at the entrance; three other went inside with drawn revolvers and forced clerks to give them $50,000 in cash.

The gang then jumped into a car and sped away, exchanging shots with policemen and severely wounding a 15-year-old girl.

Traced by Fast Claw Has a block away stood Patrolman Smith on traffic duty. Hearing the shots, he waited for the bandit car and ordered it to stop. They shot him dead and sped on, their car knocking his semaphores over.

It was this collision with the semaphores that eventually was the gunmen's undoing. It knocked a handle off of one of the doors of their auto, and the handle bore the car's factory number. Within three days the police had traced the car, and in a short time four of the robbers were caught. One escaped the death penalty by pleading guilty; he is now serving a life term. The other three, Nasello, Mangiaracina and Messino, were given separate trials, convicted and sentenced to hang.

The city also saw to it that the policeman's family was not left in want. A home was built for the widow and her children, and a fund was raised to provide an income.

which soon changed to a battle of wits. As a result, Wolpert suffered some severe cuts on his face and hands while Malarone was held in $500 bonds on charges of breach of the peace and assault. Wolpert went back to New York with $10 of the $75, and felt quite lucky to get it.

She still continues active and spry.

Mrs. Avery is the daughter of the late Solomon Loring of Bangham, Mass.

Ebert used the article once as an effective instrument against Bolshevism. In 1923 when the German economy had reached its lowest level, known in financial history, the exchange rate at its worst being 42,000,000,000 marks to the dollar, there was such economic unrest in Germany that Communism gained a serious footing. A Communist revolution threatened seriously.

It was then that President Ebert appointed General Hans von Seeckt, chief of the army, as virtual dictator to quell the disturbances. No sooner had he taken office than he was overthrown, however, than normal conditions were reestablished.

Every time the threat of Article 48 comes, the German press debates the question whether it was ever intended to be used. It is argued that this section of the Constitution should be invoked in times of profound peace, merely to put through measures about which the Reichstag proves recalcitrant.

naval treaty of 1922 the "greatest naval victory for Great Britain in all her history." Asked by Shortridge as to his role on its ratification, he said he was not present and did not vote. Shortridge asked him how he would have voted and the Tennesseean said he would have voted against the pact. Shortridge then read from the Congressional record on the day the Washington treaty was ratified an announcement by Senator Gerry, of Rhode Island, former Democratic whip, that McCellar would have voted for the treaty were he present.

"Has the Senator ever corrected that?" demanded Shortridge. "Many times," replied McCellar. "I have spoken time and again against that treaty."

WARSHIPS TO PROTECT LIVES IN EGYPTIAN RIOTS

Latest reports on the loss of life in rioting in Alexandria yesterday showed 14 persons killed, one of whom was an Italian, 16 injured seriously enough to be sent to hospitals and 65 slightly hurt. Thirteen of the dead were natives. Of those injured eight were Europeans. A post mortem revealed that the death of the Italian was the result of a bullet which had been struck on the head during a clash between strikers and the police.

Of the government forces two were taken to a hospital and 38 others were slightly injured by sticks and stones used by the mob. In all 147 persons were arrested, most of them youths. Earlier reports regarding property damage, it was stated, appeared to have been exaggerated. The city was fairly quiet today but troops were on guard to prevent any disorders which might arise in connection with the funeral of the victims.

ARMY FLIER KILLED

Morrisville, N. C., July 14.—(AP)—Wreckage of Lieutenant F. B. Tyndall's plane, which crashed here late last night, injuring him fatally, burned early today. The wreckage from a fire inadvertently set off by a squawp hunter. Lieutenant Tyndall, 35, left Langley Field, Va., yesterday, flying an A-1-C Curtis biplane for Kelly Field, San Antonio, Texas, where he had been assigned to study attack tactics.

Apparently lost in a fog and with his gasoline supply gone, he attempted to make a landing in a corn field near here. The plane crashed into a clump of woods which had been obscured by the fog. Tyndall was killed instantly.

Police, in recounting the story, said there was a bottle of words

The Herald Hears

That some of the boxing scribbles, and fans too, think the Battalino-Fernandez fight was almost as much of a fake as the company which offered 10 to one against Bobby Jones in the British Open now appears to be.

That the reason so many people with the name of "Johnson" reside in Manchester is because what in Sweden are three names become one in the United States. To explain: In Sweden there are "Johansson," "Johannsson," and "Jousson." When people bearing either one of these names comes here, nine times out of ten they become "Johnsons," possibly because it is the easiest of the three to pronounce.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, July 15.—(AP)—The bull leadership which recently has endeavored to pilot the Stock Market, hope to for a brief spell of nasilly weather today, but the storm of selling was not particularly violent, and by early afternoon the voyage was resumed.

On the whole, the speculative community was inclined to regard the cautious attitude of the bull forces as highly salutary, for the market had had a substantial advance without benefit of any notable change in business, and too rapid a body right might invite large scale bear selling.

Commission houses reported some pickup in public participation in the market, but it was scarcely sufficient to gratify the bull leadership. The fact that the upturn has been so obviously professional has inspired considerable hesitancy, although it is argued that the breaking of an impasse such as the market had reached a few days ago is usually a professional job.

The days industrial news was mixed. The steel trade reviews showed no unanimity of opinion. Both "Iron Age" and "Steel" reported declines in prices. Steel's composite price sagged 14 cents to $33.15, the lowest since March 22, 1922. Iron Age placed mill operations at 56 percent of capacity, unchanged from last week. This publication said: "The iron and steel trade, always sensitive to change, sees signs of recovery." Steel, however, said, "in its road aspects, there is nothing to warrant expectation of decided betterment, this month or next."

Further weakness cropped out in copper, although this was not unexpected and therefore not an important market factor. Some custom smelters cut the price from 1.2 to 1.1 1-4 cents, and buyers are said to be holding off for 11 cents. On the other hand, the weekly petroleum statistics were decidedly favorable.

Crude production was cut more than 50,000 barrels daily to the lowest of the year, and gasoline stocks were reduced by 1,242,000 barrels. Call money renewed at 2 per cent for the first time in ten days.

Oils were active features of the early afternoon upturn. Standard of New Jersey rose more than a point, and Mexican Petroleum and Sinclair rose moderately. General Motors also advanced a little in heavy trading. Radio and Radio Keith were also actively turned over, although showing little change.

ITALY'S JOBLESS Rome, July 15.—(AP)—The government announced today that more than 40,000 persons stepped from the ranks of the unemployed in an Italy during June.

DONAHUE STATE FIGHT WAS DEAR

State Boxing Commissioner Sees No Need To Investigate Battalino Scum

Hartford, July 14.—(AP)—State Athletic Commissioner Thomas J. Donahue said today that he saw nothing about last night's Battalino-Fernandez featherweight championship bout requiring an investigation by his office. The commissioner was keenly disappointed in the failure of the battle to measure in any way to the expectation that it would be one of the best bouts of the year here in Connecticut, but he laid it solely to the trouble the challenger experienced in making the weight and his resultant weakened condition.

"Fernandez' handlers gave assurance throughout the training period that he was getting down toward 126 and would make it without trouble," the commissioner declared.

"Then it seems that on the last day he had to resort to extreme measures to make the required weight, but nothing was said about it, and when he got on the scales at the stadium on Monday afternoon he was exactly 126."

"But I certainly see the story simply that the Filipino was down too fine to stand up against the volleys Battalino threw at him. Battalino went to work on Fernandez' body right from the first bell and in the second round right after they met in the center of the ring Bat hit Fernandez under the heart with two terrific rights. The challenger doubled up and seemed to be hurt."

"The fact that Fernandez would not allow his seconds to throw in the towel after the second round when he was down six times showed that he wanted to make a fight of it, but couldn't stay in there against the volleys Bat was throwing at his body and then his head."

CONTINUE BIKING

Hackensack, N. J., July 14.—(AP)—Four youths who were pedaled monotonously around a school house for a bicycle riding endurance record looked hopefully forward to 6 o'clock tonight to reach the end of their tenth day and 2400 hours. Jimmy Donohue, one of the quartet, was placed temporarily out of riding last night by a baseball which struck him in the forehead. One of his pals, however, was on his wheel last night and kept it in motion and jumped on. Donohue after a brief rest, resumed his place.

Bicycle riding for a record has become popular in the northern section of New Jersey, teams having started in Lodi, Little Ferry, Newark and Jersey City. Police in Newark have issued warning they will not permit endurance riders to use public streets.

GOLDBOROUGH'S CONDITION Bennington, Vermont, July 14.—(AP)—The condition of Frank Goldborough, youthful pilot whose plane crashed into a mountain side near here on Monday, remains extremely critical today. A British military hospital said its condition had not improved during the night. The 19 year old holder of the junior transcontinental flying record has failed to regain consciousness since he was admitted to the hospital yesterday suffering from a fractured skull and exposure. He had 18 hours while searching parties had beaten thick underbrush in an effort to locate him.

RAMANOFF EXECUTIONS

On July 16, 1918, the Czar of Russia and his family and their attendants were officially murdered in a house at Ekaterinburg, where they were held prisoners following the Revolution.

The first thought of executing the Romanoffs came when it was rumored that the monarchist groups were plotting to release them. With the growing anger of soldiers and sailors and workers toward the royal family, it was decided to dispose of them at once.

The execution is described as follows by W. Duranty: "The Romanoff family were informed that they must move from the upper to the lower floor. All of them, the ex-Czar, Nicholas Alexanderovich, his wife Alexandra Fedorovna, his son Alexei, daughters, Family Physician Botkin, the heirs, male nurse and the governess of the princesses went downstairs . . . where they were directed to stand against the wall."

"Then the house commandant, Avdeyev, read the death sentence, adding that their hopes of liberation were futile; all must die. The unexpected news shocked the doomed ones, and only the ex-Czar spoke, asking: 'Then we won't be taken anywhere?' Revolver shots put an end to the doomed ones. Only four persons were present who carried out the execution. About 1 a. m. the bodies were taken out to the forest . . . where they were burned the next day."

INSANITY AS DEFENSE

Portland, Me., July 16—(AP)—Reports that a second person might be implicated in the furnace slaying here last Saturday of Lilian I. MacDonald, payroll clerk of a stationery concern, are unfounded, officials in charge of the case said today.

Chief of Police Haskell said that continued questioning of witnesses was for the purpose of checking what material the investigators had assembled as evidence against James M. Mitchell, 22, shipping clerk, accused of killing the girl and cremating her body in the furnace of the building where both were employed.

Meanwhile Mitchell's avidity for mystery stories remained with him at the county jail where he is held to await trial on a charge of murder.

An indication that insanity might be the plea of the defense at the trial came today from Attorney Joseph P. Connellan, Mitchell's counsel.

KIDNAP DRY AGENTS

Elizabeth, N. J., July 16—(AP)—Two prohibition agents who had seized a load of beer were waylaid and kidnaped on a city street here yesterday.

Today they were freed, and came back to the city. As they passed the former plant of the Rising Sun brewery, one agent thought he saw within it one of his abductors.

Squads of Federal agents and city police, summoned to the brewery, surrounded it and held it in a state of siege for two hours until a Federal search warrant could be obtained. When the building was entered and searched no abductor could be found.

Details of the kidnaping were meager. No report was made to city police, and agents were directed not to talk. The two men were reported to have been taken from the beer truck into a motor car which whisked them out of town. It was not learned where they were released.

WATER STUNTS GIVE BIG CROWD THRILLS

Estimate 3,000 Saw Events Last Evening At Globe Hollow Pool.

Spills and thrills combined to bring rare entertainment of some 3,000 persons at Globe Hollow swimming pool last night where the annual water carnival was staged.

The weather was ideal and the large crowd took up practically every inch of standing room on the banks about Manchester's only public swimming pool.

It was about as big as an indoor baseball at the butt and tapered to about the size of a tennis ball at the end.

For some time it appeared that Clarence Lewis would be the winner. This slender lad made two fine attempts to reach the end.

The duck chase provided much excitement and also evoked much laughter. Two ducks were let loose, one at a time.

The watermelon event attracted eight contestants. The stunt was to take a piece of watermelon, jump into the water and swim to the shore on the bathhouse side.

Ann Arson won the balloon race and Raymond Moszer showed considerable skill in swimming while holding an umbrella to win this event.

Exhibitions of fancy diving were given by Edward Markley, Edward Lithwinski, Helen, Ann and Stella Arson, and Michael Arson.

PHILLY'S POPULATION

Philadelphia, Pa., July 16.—(AP.)—Hopes that Philadelphia's population would reach the 2,000,000 mark were shattered early today when the final figures were announced by the census bureau.

The complete tabulation showed a population of 1,961,458 an increase of 137,679 or 7.54 percent over 1920. A steady drift to the suburbs and to nearby New Jersey communities was held responsible for the comparatively small increase.

BOARD REFUSES ALL COAL BIDS

Five Local Dealers Give Same Quotation So Selectmen Seek Other Prices.

Five bids entered by local coal dealers for a total of 210 tons of coal to be supplied for use in the Municipal building, the Almshouse, Porter street, Buckland and Keeley street schools and the Police station were rejected by the Board of Selectmen last night because all five bidders submitted the same price for the three unit sizes of coal to be supplied.

The bids called for egg, chestnut and stove coal in proportionate quantities to be delivered at the various points before October 1 and the prices quoted by the five dealers were: $18.50 for egg and chestnut and $13.75 for stove. The bidders were: Louis Fols, Archie Hayes, W. G. Glenny, G. E. Willis and Son and Harry E. Seaman.

The Board of Selectmen held a hearing on the laying of assessments for sidewalks and curbing on West Center and McKee streets, and no objections being heard the assessment was voted.

CONVICT IS RECAPTURED

New York, July 16.—(AP.)—A convict said to have escaped from two mid-western prisons, his wife and two other men with criminal records were in the police line-up today after their arrest in a Broadway apartment last night.

The convict, William Huffman, 35, a telegraph operator, and his wife, Betty Creasey, 35, were charged with violating the Sullivan law, because of two revolvers found in the apartment. The others, Daniel J. Dennis, 33, of Providence, R. I., and Vincent Russell, of the Bronx, were accused of aiding and abetting in Huffman's escapes.

Police said that Huffman on May 20, 1919, fled the Ohio state prison at Columbus, where he was serving a twenty year sentence for burglary, and that he admitted he and other prisoners escaped from Joliet prison at Aurora, Ill., October 14, 1926, to evade a one to twenty year term also for burglary.

TRY TO KILL GANGSTER

Chicago, July 16.—(AP.)—An attempt was made early today to assassinate Edward (Spike) O'Donnell, one of the crime commission's listed "public enemies." The gunman's aim was so poor, however, that O'Donnell, asleep in his home, was not even awakened.

The bullets were fired by several men in an automobile that cruised slowly past O'Donnell's bungalow on Honor street. The gang leader had retired for the night when the guns began showering lead in the direction of his home.

OPENING STOCKS

New York, July 16.—(AP.)—The Stock Market opened generally lower today. American Telephone, yesterday's leader, sold off 1 1/2.

The list was subjected to considerable profit-taking in the first few minutes of trading and losses of one to three points quickly appeared in such stocks as U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Atchison, New York Central, Consolidated Gas, American Can, Chesapeake and Ohio and North American.

Support was quickly forthcoming on the technical reaction, however, and by the end of the first half hour the leading shares were moving forward vigorously, and had regained all or a large portion of their early losses.

A few shares reflected accumulation from the start. Union Pacific, American Tobacco "B", Great Northern Preferred and Worthington Pump rallied about one to two points.

DIVIDE KIWANIS KIDS INTO TRIBES

Competition Even To Washing Dishes Features All Events At Hebron.

In spite of rainy weather Kiwanis Camp opened with a bang Monday morning with 24 boys, three junior leaders, camp director and chef in charge. After the boys had been weighed, which is done to find the increase in weight of each one during his stay at camp, each boy was equipped with a camp uniform which consists of jersey and running pants. The forenoon was spent in the dining hall which was cleared for this purpose, and an indoor athletic meet was held. The boys also learned a few camp songs and cheers. Then came one of the big events of the day when mess call blew and how those boys could eat. Dinner consisted of a rich meat and vegetable stew with plenty of milk, bread and butter on the side followed by dessert. The afternoon was spent in baseball, croquet and on the slide and swings. The boys have been divided into three tribes namely, the Mohawks, Tundis and Nipmunks, and all games and contests are run in competition. In order that the expense of the camp be cut down the boys wash the dishes, peel vegetables, and do the chores around the camp. A point system is carried out where the tribe that wins the most points is rewarded at the end of the period with special prizes. The three junior leaders, Roy and Gunnar Johnson and Harold Macintosh are proving themselves very capable leaders. Each one has charge of a Tribe of boys besides their other duties around camp and all are very popular with the boys. Mrs. Helge Pearson who is also at the camp is sort of a camp mother and was in demand when one or two of the little fellows began to miss their mothers. As soon as the boys had their dinner this homesickness was off. The favorite of the camp is the chef, Mrs. Elizabeth Macintosh and the boys are already showing an increase in weight. After an afternoon of games a camp-fire was held around the fire-pit and the evening was spent in songs and stories. After Helge had told one of his famous ghost stories the children were ready for taps and bed, and the first day at camp was over with all the boys happy and tired and fast asleep.

PAL PICKS UP TRAIL TAKEN BY LOST FLIER

Cedar City, Utah, July 16—(AP)—Coincidentally they picked up the trail made by Maurice Graham, air mail pilot, when he left his wrecked plane in the Kanarra mountains last January, searchers today prepared to push deeper into the mountainous country in their quest to learn his fate. Major R. N. McDonald, World War associate of Graham, and J. C. Leigh, sheriff of Iron county, yesterday discovered what they are convinced is the trail taken by the pilot. Several miles south of the wreckage of the plane they discovered the remains of a campfire and articles which they believe were carried by Graham, including three revolver cartridges. The rumor circulated yesterday that Major McDonald had sent a plane to investigate the report that an unidentified man suffering from loss of memory, had been living in a shack near the Boulder Dam site, proved unfounded. A check up revealed no plane had been dispatched to the Boulder Dam site on the Colorado river. Major McDonald, it was learned, had received the report of the unidentified man some time ago, but had not considered the clue worth investigating.

GRAPE MERGER FAILS

Fresno, Cal., July 16—(AP)—Failure today marked the initial efforts to organize California's $400,000 grape industry into a Federal Farm Board sponsored cooperative. Attempts to sign up 85 per cent or 441,000 acres of vineyards failed by 38,000 acres on the basis of reports last midnight, when the campaign officially closed. Campaign will be continued in the hope the government will carry out its financing program if the additional 38,000 acres can be signed before campaign returns are officially checked. The Farm Board program calls for an advance of $20,000,000 to the industry and collection of $1.50 from the growers for each ton of fresh grapes produced, the money to be used in buying up and converting into by-products the 300,000 ton surplus expected this year.

Seeing Supposed Dead Man Unearths Big Conspiracy

New York, July 16—(AP)—An insurance executive who observed a supposedly dead man hurrying on his way to work started an investigation that has disclosed a million-dollar conspiracy. Recalling that he recently saw John McCoy's death certificate, the executive inquired about it. It was all news to McCoy. The insurance man told District Attorney Fack of Richmond county who soon discovered 39 other persons on a supposed death list. The Metropolitan insurance company had paid death benefits ranging from $42 to $3,500. Two employees of the company were arrested charged with falsifying records. None of the persons whose death claims had been paid was aware of it.

NO HOPE OF REPRIEVE FOR CONDEMNED BANDITS

Canon City, Colo., July 16—(AP)—Howard L. Royston and George J. Abshier, condemned Lamar bank bandits, are awaiting execution with the last hope of reprieve shattered by a one-sentence statement from Colorado's chief executive. "No new information has come to me which would warrant my intervention," Governor Adams told newspapermen yesterday. With the approach of the bandits' hangings, came a promise from the Rev. Regis Barrett, prison chaplain, that he later will reveal the true story of the Lamar bank robbery and the slaying of four men, told him by Royston and Abshier. "The slayers are not Royston and Abshier," he said. "Men facing death won't lie," he said. "Royston and Abshier have told what I believe is the true story of the Lamar robbery. I am convinced they killed nobody." Contradictory statements in confessions and on the witness stand have left in doubt the facts concerning the robbery and the slaying of A. N. and J. F. Parrish, bank president and his son; E. A. Kessinger, bank teller, and Dr. W. U. Wineinger, Dighton, Kas., physician who treated Abshier, wounded during the hold up. The exact time of the executions have not been fixed. Royston and Abshier will follow to the gallows the reputed leader of their gang, Ralph Fiesig, hanged last week. Fiesig, fourth member of the gang, is at large.

'GANG OF GANGSTERS' BUT A SINGLE YOUTH

Salettes, France, July 16—(AP)—Police with gas bombs, after a 24-hour siege, tonight smoked out a 16-year-old boy from a house in which they had believed they were battling with a group of desperate burglars. The authorities, reinforced by civilian volunteers, had been exchanging gunfire with, as they supposed, housebreakers barricaded in the home of Dr. Bergy, of this town. A general alarm was given last night when servants in the houses reported they had surprised a band of burglars and cornered them in the dwelling. When the housebreakers ignored demands to come out the police opened fire. Their fire was returned so vigorously that the besiegers concluded a whole band was inside. This evening the lad surrendered, much to the surprise of the authorities, after they had resorted to suffocating gas. He was held for trial for housebreaking and rebellion against lawful authorities.

They met and took Deputy Sheriff Michael Ryan with them to 60 Harbor street, where they found Wancholik. A THOUGHT

But if the wicked will turn from all his sins that he hath committed, and keep all My statutes, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall surely live, he shall not die. — Ezekiel 18:21. Many believe the article of remission of sins, but they believe it without the condition of repentance or the fruits of holy life.—Jeremy Taylor.
