R-100 TO END TRIP JUST BEFORE DARK

Slows Down Over St. Lawrence to Avoid Wasting Gas by Making Landing in Heat of Day—Canadians Show Little Excitement Over Arrival As They Took Success for Granted.

St. Hubert Airport, Montreal, Que., July 31.—(AP)—The R-100 slowly approached the end of its flight from England today, its arrival delayed by choice or necessity until shortly before dark tonight.

Progress of the dirigible, the greatest ever to rise against the sky, over the ocean and down Belle Isle strait had justified a general and even official belief that the R-100 would get in about 4 p. m., but at noon today a relayed wireless from the ship itself announced that arrival would be at 7 o'clock E. S. T.

Believe Delay Chosen

No reason was given for the delay, but it was not believed that it was caused by adverse weather. The dirigible's six great engines. Rather it was believed the officers in command had decided that atmospheric conditions would be better close to dusk than in the heat of the afternoon sun.

Most Experimental

St. Hubert is an excellent field, large and with all modern facilities, but it is a strange field to most of the men on the dirigible and it was probable that these men preferred to take no chance merely for the purpose of making a slightly better time record.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police in their scarlet coats and yellow sashes patrolled the dirigible today, keeping all but those with official business behind the high wire fences which cannot be passed by the general public until the ship is safely swinging at its lofty mast.

Few Spectators

But there were few to be kept back—fewer visitors, in fact, during the first part of the day than there were police and soldiers.

Canada seemed to be looking on the safe accomplishment of the mother country's latest achievement in aerial progress as a foregone conclusion.

HOLD EX-DRY AGENT AS MURDER PURCHASER

Glenn McKnight Charged by Slayer With Procuring Death of South Carolina Senator.

Columbia, S. C., July 31.—(AP)—Glenn D. McKnight, former bootleg whiskey king and one time Federal prohibition agent, is in the state prison here today charged with slaying Senator E. J. Dennis, as instigator of the assassination.

McKnight, sought by more than 16 state constables since he confessed he was hired to shoot Dennis a week ago today, was arrested in a Charleston hospital yesterday. Despite the affidavit of his physician that he was in no condition to be removed, Gov. John G. Richardson ordered him brought here. Thornley, 35 year old world war veteran, repeated his confession under oath to a coroner's jury here last night. He again named McKnight as the man who had inspired the shooting.

McKnight, picturesque character of the Hell Hole Swamp area of Berkeley, branded Thornley's confession a "lie."

WOODCOCK PUTS HOOVER LIQUOR POLICY IN FORM

Dry Director Says Non-Commercial Violations Will Be Ignored, Urges Judges to Confer On Sentences.

Washington, July 31.—Outlining the policy on which the Federal government henceforth will endeavor to enforce prohibition, Amos W. W. Woodcock, Prohibition Director, today attributed "past criticism of prohibition in the United States to blunders and mis-conduct of dry agents," and said he would endeavor to make the army of 2,700 individuals in the service into the "best trained body of detectives in the world."

At least half of the corps of prohibition agents, it was learned today, are now ex-service veterans more capable of working into the new and semi-militarized policy announced by the director.

Non-commercial methods in enforcement are disapproved by the director. Guilty is barred except in defense. Large commercial violations of the law are to be operated against.

Outlines His Policy

An important motive of the new policy was described in Director Woodcock's words briefly as follows:

"I think the prohibition laws can be successfully enforced against commercial operations. I propose to make that our objective and not to dissipate our energies in other fields. I shall insist that a steady pressure be maintained against these commercial violations. I disapprove sensational methods."

State co-operation, he declared, will be also a vital factor, "for complete success."

Urges Judges to Confer

The director outlined a plan which he hoped might become effective to promote public understanding and respect for the law by which there may be uniform sentences imposed on violators found guilty of essentially the same offense.

San Francisco, July 31.—(AP)—A recommendation by former Police Captain Duncan Matheson that pardons be given Warren K. Billings and Thomas J. Mooney, convicted of the "Prezidents Day" bombings here in 1918, was before the Supreme Court today as it resumed consideration of Billings' application for pardon.

Matheson, questioned by an associate justice, said he was convinced of Mooney's and Billings' guilt at the time of the bombing, but now had "grave doubts" about it.

John MacDonald, Baltimore waiter, whose identification of the two men was a factor in their conviction, testified yesterday.

London, July 31.—(AP)—King George has signed the instrument of ratification of the London naval treaty which now has been ratified and signed by both Great Britain and the United States.

The announcement of the King's signature was made by Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, and was greeted by cheers in the House of Commons.

VESUVIUS IN ERUPTION BEFORE QUAKE

Smoke and fire ominously belching from the cone of historic Mount Vesuvius, as pictured above gave sinister warning of the earthquake which was to rock south-central Italy. This Herald-NEA Service picture, taken shortly before the disastrous tremors which cost many hundreds of lives, shows the great volcano in eruption. Increased activity within the crater since the quake has caused alarm among residents of nearby towns.

LEVITT GETS INTO NEW POWER FIGHT

To Act for Farmers Opposing Condemnation of Land for High Tension Lines.

New Milford, July 31.—(AP)—Professor Albert Levitt, independent Republican candidate for governor, today prepared to enter a new controversy with his arch-enemy, Henry J. Roraback, and the Connecticut Light & Power Co. He has agreed to act as counsel for a group of farmers fighting condemnation proceedings instituted by the power company for rights of way across their land.

The company is seeking a strip of land, approximately 125 feet wide for a high voltage line between Bull's Bridge and Waterbury. Its offers were rejected by the farmers and subsequently condemnation proceedings were instituted. A hearing will be held in the Litchfield County Superior Court, August 18, when an assessor will be appointed to set a fair value on the land.

Port of Roraback Fight

Prof. Levitt, who has attacked Roraback, president of Connecticut Light & Power Company, and chairman of the State Republican committee, in a series of campaign speeches, promised to represent the farmers at a conference here yesterday.

The farmers involved are Harry Antman, Charles E. VanHorn, Raymond Hines, Mrs. James Hyland, Sr., Joseph and Clement Hyland, Robert Ferriss, Caroline Ferriss, Edward Brown, Susie Brown, J. P. McGarry and others.

A statement issued by them said: "The farmers affected are no longer interested in machine control of local and state courts. We are determined to carry the matter to the highest court in the land to obtain justice."

SOVIET COLLECTIONS OF GRAIN A FAILURE

Union Gets Only 10 to 37 Per Cent of Assessments Despite An Excellent Crop.

Moscow, July 31.—(AP)—Although Russia's crop this year promises to be one of the best in the history of the Soviet Union, the government is experiencing extreme difficulty in certain areas in collecting grain from state, private and collective farms.

In the Kirgiz Soviet Republic, for example, only 10 per cent of the total amount of grain which the government had planned to gather in this region in July has thus far been realized, while in the Uzbekistan Soviet Republic only 15 per cent of the total quantity has been collected.

In the fertile Crimea, which produces the finest grain in the Soviet Union, only 37 per cent of the total quantity of grain contemplated by the government has been gathered. In other regions similar deficits in the grain collected for July are noted.

The government has urged all those concerned to use their utmost efforts within the next two weeks to overcome these shortages.

NEW SYNAGOGUE ROBBERY

Bridgeport, July 31.—(AP)—Another synagogue robbery was being investigated today by police. The latest occurred in the Adath Israel Synagogue where four vases, valued at $150, used in services, were stolen. The thieves also broke open the coin box in a telephone booth.

HOSE DEFENDS VENUS PURITY

Firemen Uproot Poison Ivy With Which Prude Sought to Clothe Nude Statue at Winona Lake, Ind.

Winona Lake, Ind., July 31.—(AP)—The fire department has come to the rescue of the Venus de Milo, and a scheme to clothe the goddess' statue in poison ivy has been thwarted.

Mrs. Mary Schell Starr of Chicago, summering here, holds the opinion that the statue, which has been a figure of artistic pride for 20 years, should wear something. Yesterday the statue was moved to a location near the fire department, and the circumstance gave Mrs. Starr an opportunity to put her idea into action.

Poison ivy was planted around the base of the statue. The firemen, who are really art lovers at heart, decided to fall the ivy with their hands, so they turned the hose on it, rooting up.

Police Chief Frank C. Edington, upholding the firemen, said Winona Lake is the home town of Billy Sunday, the evangelist, and that Sunday never had become publicly exercised about the statue.

"It's O. K. with Billy's O. K. with me," the chief concluded.

FREES HIS WIFE OF BURDEN OF LIVING

London Killer Says He Killed His Mate Because Existence Irrked Her.

London, July 31.—(AP)—Police today held a man who, they said, had given himself up with the confession that he had killed his wife to free her from an existence of which she had tired.

The story of the "mercy slaying" was related in the West London Police Court when Charles Augustus Gallchet, 52-year-old French citizen, was committed for trial on the charge of the murder of his 47-year-old wife.

Gallchet walked into the station house yesterday, according to the police, and said he had taken his wife's life that morning by hitting her on the head with a flat iron while she slept. In a statement, Gallchet was quoted by the police as stating:

"Nice To Pass Away"
"My wife and I had been reviewing things and were coming to the conclusion that the future held very little to make life worth living. One of her last remarks was 'how nice it would be to pass away peacefully in one's sleep.'"

The detective who had investigated the case told the court his inquiry had shown Gallchet and his wife had been a devoted couple.

LOS ANGELES FLYING IN THIS AREA TODAY

Newport, R. I., July 31.—(AP)—The Navy dirigible Los Angeles, which arrived here early today from Lakeshurst, N. J., and moored at the U. S. S. Patoka, left at 9:40 a. m. (E. D. T.) for a training cruise over New England. She will return at sundown to moor on the Patoka for the night and continue her flight tomorrow, returning to Lakeshurst in the late afternoon.

HOPE LOW PRICES WILL MOVE GRAIN

Canadians Expect Foreign Buying Will Be Forced By Extremely Low Figures.

Winnipeg, Man., July 31.—(AP)—Rock-bottom grain prices brought hope today of salvation from an impending grain-storage crisis in Canada.

Stores are piled higher in grain bins than they were a year ago, and a far greater crop is in the offing, but grain men believe wheat prices, lowest in 17 years, may prod overseas buyers into action.

Unless greater export demand comes soon and is sustained, repetition of last year's grain tie-up in the West is threatened. Lakehead elevators are filled to almost the same level as a year ago. Last fall both the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific railways put into effect an embargo against grain movement to packed Lakehead bins.

Other Grains Pile Up

Today the best cash wheat is selling for less than 90 cents per bushel. However not only the wheat yield, forecast as some 100,000,000 bushels larger than last year, is causing the storage worry; barley and oats crops are expected to be much larger than in 1929. Rye and barley stocks at the head of the Lakes are more than three times as large as twelve months ago.

HOUSEKEEPER GONE, TWO CHILDREN ARE MISSING

Pennsylvania Troopers Seek Little Sons of Camp Caretaker, Absent a Week.

Honesdale, Pa., July 31.—(AP)—State police today said they were without a clue as to the whereabouts of the two children of Scott Thompson, of Buckingham township, who disappeared July 22, at same time that Irma Clark, housekeeper for Thompson, vanished.

The disappearance of the children and the woman was made known by the state police last night after working on the case for a week and losing trace of the woman and children in New York state.

The woman is 32 years old. The children are Francis Thompson, 5, and Norman Thompson, 2. Their mother died about two years ago. Miss Clark has been acting as housekeeper for Thompson, who is 35, for about four months on a small farm. Thompson is caretaker for a summer camp at High Lake, near here.

Thompson found the children missing when he returned from the camp on the night of July 22.

THIRD BANK CLOSES

Connellsville, Pa., July 31.—(AP)—The Citizens National Bank, one of the two remaining banks in Connellsville, closed today within a month of the closing of the Pennsylvania and Trust Company of Western Pennsylvania and the Union National Bank here. Withdrawal of deposits was reported the cause of the closing.

U. S. SHIP BEATS CHINA REDS IN A HOT BATTLE

CHARGE FATHER AIDED BOY, 17, TO DO MURDER

Bridgeport Man One of Three Held As Parties To Fatal Holdup — Admits Giving Son Pistol, Removing Clue.

Bridgeport, July 31.—(AP)—When they agreed to waive examination, three Bridgeport men whom police believe to be involved in the fatal beating and robbing of James Harinstein, owner of a grocery store 1002 Maplewood avenue, on the evening of June 17, were bound over to the September term of Superior Court by Judge William Buckley in City Court today.

Dominick Mastroni, 41, father of Tony Mastroni, 17, one of three other youths who had already been bound over to the higher court for their part in the Harinstein assault, was accused of aiding his son in the crime by furnishing him with a revolver and attempting to cover up clues that might have led to the youths' arrest.

Present At Crime

Others bound over were John Macjones and Frank Romero, 28, father of two children, both of whom are alleged by police to have been in the machine when Harinstein was set upon, dragged into the car, driven to a secluded spot on North Park avenue and thrown out of the machine after they had taken $42 from him.

Mastroni, whose bonds have been set at $1,000, has admitted that he knew his son and the others were planning the holdup and that he forced washing young Mastroni's bloody shirt after the youth returned.

Bonds in the cases of Macjones and Romero have been set at $200 each. The other three were previously bound over to the high court were Tony Mastroni, Andrew Chervanik, 17, and Richard Smith, 17.

BIGGEST OF RAIDS ON BEER IS PULLED

Million and a Half Involved in Brewery-Cafe Seizure in Brooklyn.

New York, July 31.—(AP)—Federal prohibition agents today were taking inventory of a brewery and cafe, valued at $1,500,000, seized in what they described as the "biggest raid in the history of prohibition."

The property consisted of the North American brewery and the Palm Garden cafe at Wilson and Greene avenues, Brooklyn. William C. Nolan, assistant administrator in charge of Brooklyn, led the raid last night. The raiders said large quantities of beer in thousands of kegs in the brewery, as well as beer on tap in the cafe, tested 4.98.

The North American brewery is one of the largest in the country and covers an entire city block. The cafe is adjacent to it.

Several hundred bottles which the agents said contained whiskey and wine were seized in the cafe. The haul also included a fleet of 12 motor trucks in the brewery garage.

The raid was made without a warrant. The agents explained that they had purchased and tested beer on the property several times, using an ebulliometer to determine the alcohol content.

FILIPINO LEADERS TO DISCUSS ROOSEVELT JOB

Accept President Hoover's Invitation to Talk Over Appointment as Vice-Governor.

Manila, July 31.—(AP)—Manuel Quezon, Senate president, Acting President and Acting Speaker of the House De La Salas today accepted President Hoover's offer to discuss the appointment of Nicholas Roosevelt as vice-governor of the Philippines.

PALOS' GUNS KILL 50 AT CHANGSHA

WOMEN IN PRISON ASK FOR RIGHT TO SMOKE

Auburn, N. Y., July 31.—(AP)—Inmates of the State Prison for Women at Auburn want equality with the inmates of the prison for men in smoking privileges. This was disclosed in a report accompanying that submitted by the Cayuga county special Grand Jury to Supreme Court Justice Benjamin B. Cunningham.

The report said: "The inmates feel that it is a privilege that is given the men and should be given them if they are to use it. We find that 75 per cent of the punishment is given for violation of the no smoking rule."

NEW TONG FIGURES IN A FRESH WAR

On Leongs Fight Tong On This Time Instead of Hip Sings—Three Are Killed.

New York, July 31.—(AP)—Police reserves patrolled Chinatown today after the killing of one Chinese and wounding of another signaled the outbreak of a new tong war. Seven Chinese are in jail.

The opening of hostilities between members of the On Leong Tong and Tong On here was schooled in Boston where an On Leong partisan was killed.

In Quick Succession

The first shooting occurred last night when Nap Ling was killed at the door of a Motatrest laundry in the heart of Chinatown.

Police were on their way to the scene of that attack when Soo Bock Ling was shot ten times at a bazaar a few doors away.

The shootings, police said, followed the circulation of a report in Chinatown that Bao Wang, an On Leong member, had been indicted for the murder of Hung Wah Hong, president of the Tong On, who was shot and killed while watching a performance in a Chinese theater on July 9.

Eight Chinese and one negro are under arrest. Six Chinatown tong members rounded up last night after the shootings in Chinatown. Three pistols and nine home-made bombs were found in a raid on a Brooklyn flat occupied by the Chinese.

Among them was Dr. Hen Yung Ing, 38, in whose Chinatown office police found a reading "tong" membership list for $100,000, valued at a letter than 9 p. m. Five dollars." Dr. Ing was arrested with his two brothers. One of them, Theodore, a student, said he had left the note in response to a telephone call received in the doctor's office Tuesday night. He said the five dollars referred to was a debt owed to Doctor Ing by No Wen, another of the Chinese arrested.

BOSTON LODGE OF ELKS GOES INTO BANKRUPTCY

Receivers Appointed When Head Admitted Hotel Business Had Impoverished the Body.

Boston, July 31.—(AP)—Affairs of the Elks Hotel were in the hands of receivers today after a hearing during which former Grand Exalted Ruler John F. Malley admitted that the Boston Lodge of Elks is bankrupt.

A petition of the First National Bank of Boston was brought by the bank because the Elks were in arrears in payments. During the hearing, Malley said the venture of the lodge in the hotel business had failed and the lodge is bankrupt.

The charter of the lodge was suspended recently after padlocking proceedings following a raid in which liquor was found on sale. The national body ruled later that one of the conditions of reinstatement was for the lodge to get-out of the hotel business.

Five American Sailors Are Hit But Not Badly Hurt By Rifle and Machine Gun Fire — Palos Undamaged By Bullets—Many Mission Properties Are Destroyed; Now Believed Reds May Quit the City — Japs Hear That Foreigners Were Slain — All Americans Safe But One.

Shanghai, July 31.—(AP)—Five American sailors were wounded as the crew of the United States gunboat Palos successfully fought off an attack of Chinese communists near Changsha yesterday. About fifty communists were killed and many wounded as the blue jackets returned the fire of the Reds, who raked the ship with machine guns and rifles.

The Reds attacked from the banks of the Siang river as the Palos was approaching the communist-ravaged city to make a survey of the ruins. Opening fire with 400 rifles and ten machine guns, the communists shelled the Palos with bullets.

Battle Lasts An Hour

Caught in close quarters and unable to turn back, the Palos brought her three-inch rifles and machine guns into action, sending the attackers of the river.

The battle raged for an hour before the communists were silenced. The assailants had taken up positions behind shacks and in underground growth along the banks. Fire was necessary to clear the shore.

The five sailors received flesh wounds only. Although the Palos was hit hundreds of times she was not materially damaged. Her steel armor plate turned the Red bullets.

Commanded by Lieut.-Commander R. D. Tisdale of Baltimore, the Palos, which previously had helped to evacuate foreigners from Changsha, just before the Reds overran the city, sought to approach and survey the damage. An unexpected rise in the river enabled her to get near the city.

After the battle the Palos withdrew down the river to an installation of the Standard Oil Company of New York and was moored.

The Palos is one of the six to twelve ships comprising the American Yangtze patrol headed by Rear Admiral Thomas Craven.

The names of the foreigners wounded were not immediately available.

Reds May Leave City

Changsha advises today indicated that the fury of the Communist army which burned and looted much of the foreign property in the city was over. The Reds apparently had been anxious to destroy Japanese property, having burned the Japanese club there.

The communists also looted and burned the Japanese consulates and the Japanese hospital on the mainland. The British Jardine Matheson Steamship Company's wharves were burned last night.

A slight rise in the river enabled gunboats to reach the vicinity of the Standard Oil and Shell Oil properties on the outskirts of the city and it was believed these would be saved unless a receding river forced the gunboats to withdraw again. The oil properties are valued at about $5,000,000 each.

The foreign gunboats apparently improved their positions as a result of the river rise and reached the vicinities of the city.

Japanese gunboats dispatched from the coast.

TREASURY BALANCE

Washington, July 31.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for the week ending July 27, 1930, were $100,000,000. Balance, $1,000,000,000.

SAYS BUSES SAVE N. H. R. R. MILLIONS

Sounds Line Inquiry Turns To Motorization With A. H. Fairfield Testifying

Hartford, July 31.—(AP)—The New Haven Road is saving $1,201,682 a year by the partial elimination of steam and electric service and the substitution of buses throughout its system, according to testimony given at the opening of the fourth day of the Sound lines hearing in the Supreme Court room today. This saving was effected by the elimination of 1,183,224 train miles per year, 836,366 electric miles and 346,858 electric miles. The saving in steam miles amounts to $1,045,457 and electric miles $156,086.

Fairfield Testifies This testimony was given by A. H. Fairfield, operating commercial assistant of the New Haven road, who is the first witness called today by his company which is now presenting its case before Examiner John Lowell of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Today shifted to trucks to certain buses, with the New Haven Road presenting a comprehensive picture of its co-ordinating system of rail, truck and water.

Mr. Fairfield, in discussing the saving effected by the elimination of certain steam service, explained that the figures were arrived at by multiplying the number of miles eliminated by the average cost per train mile of the whole system, and said it was impossible to compute the actual cost of every train.

Cost Per Mile The total cost per mile of steam service eliminated was $1,250 and the cost of the discarded electric service was $450. Mr. Fairfield said the costs represented out-of-pocket costs.

Mr. Fairfield also described the improvement made possible by substitution of truck service for legal rail service. He said truck pick-up or cross-country service in the area between Southwick, Mass., and Simsbury, Conn., would save the shipper the cost of shipping by truck in the afternoon, from where they are taken to New Haven by rail and from there to New York by boat. Before the trucks were used, he said, shippers had to load their goods on the rails early in the morning in order to get overnight service.

yesterday prior to the issuance of the carefully prepared statement. The director's statement also reflected possibility of future legislative recommendations for larger enforcement appropriations when he expressed opinion that the corps of 2,700 persons employed in enforcement is "inadequate." He said, "I am confident that the result of experience before making any definite conclusion."

As a measure for closer Federal co-operation in law enforcement, an effort was to be made, it was said, to develop "cordial" relationships with Governors of the states, state prosecuting attorneys, heads of the police department, sheriffs and all other officials concerned in law enforcement.

GORE ADDS TO LEAD IN OKLAHOMA RACE

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 31.—(AP)—Thomas P. Gore, blind former Senator, seeking to regain his seat lost in the Harding landslide today gradually increased his lead over Charles J. Wrightman of Tulsa, as the tabulation of the Democratic vote in the state primary yesterday neared completion. Wrightman and Gore were the leaders in a field of nine, including three former governors, with 2,537 more than three-fourths of the state's 3,338 precincts reported. Gore had 56,665 votes, Wrightman 51,645.

B. & O. MAY GET ALTON

New York, July 31.—(AP)—George M. Shriver, senior vice-president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, said today that negotiations for acquisition of the Chicago & Alton railroad were being carried on, but no definite conclusions had been reached. His statement was made in answer to reports current in Wall Street that the B. & O. had acquired control of the mid-west carrier through a third party, who had turned a majority of the bonds of the Chicago & Alton over to bankers for the B. & O.

U. S. NAVAL FORCES SUFFICIENT IS ADAMS' DECISION

Washington, July 31.—(AP)—American naval forces in China will not be augmented for the present but should Communist depredations increase the danger of American lives and property the detachments probably will be speedily increased. A careful consideration of the situation caused by the increased Communist and bandit activities in the provinces of Hupeh, Hunan, Honan and Kiangsi, led officers in charge of the Asiatic Squadron to conclude the present naval force there adequate. U. S. SHIP BEATS REDS IN BATTLE

Hankow today said refugees arriving there expressed the belief that some foreigners had been murdered when communists ravished Changsha. The refugees said all foreigners not rescued were in the hands of the Reds.

Merchants Abducted The Hankow refugees, all Japanese, stated the Communists also had abducted 300 wealthy Chinese merchants of Changsha and were holding them for ransom.

Two Americans, the Rev. W. H. Lingle and Dr. Allen N. Cameron, Miss Gertrude Rugg, a British missionary, and an Italian priest were reported to have remained in Changsha when foreign gunboats left with about 50 refugees. One report expressed the belief Lingle had escaped from the Communists. Another report said two German missionaries had been held. The four missionaries were said to have declined to leave the city.

All Safe But Cameron Washington, July 31.—(AP)—The safety of all Americans at Changsha, China, except Allen Cameron of Lawrence, Kansas, was reported to the State Department today by Richard T. Buttrick, the American consul at Hankow.

The consul, in forwarding a list of Americans evacuated from Changsha, said only Cameron remained and that all American residents not mentioned in his report had left Changsha previously. He had left Changsha his report being about the U. S. Gunboat Falos and some going to Hankow.

The Rescued Those evacuated were: William Lingle of Salisbury, N. C.; George Heide, New York City; Lester Talbot of Gibson, Nebraska; Lester Jones of Lynn, Indiana; Worley of Walkersville, Maryland; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Farnham and children of Portland, Oregon; James Pates, Washington, Pa.; Edward Tudor Sowa, of Boston; Maud Russell of Hayward, and Buchan Parker and Mrs. Louise Farnham, whose addresses were not given, and of whom the department has no record.

The telegram from Hankow was dated July 30 at noon. At the same time the Navy Department announced that another United States gunboat was on her way to the area near Changsha, China, to protect the lives and property of foreigners from Communist troops.

Only Gunboats Usable The Panay, which previously had been anchored at Iohang, was ordered to Chingling Fow, about 100 miles from Changsha, where the Falos yesterday engaged in a fight with Communist forces.

Low river levels have handicapped naval forces in their efforts to aid foreigners. Only gunboats, mounting three inch guns, are able to reach Changsha, but with the decrease of water even these must wait for rises before they can maneuver efficiently, naval officers said today.

Destroyers cannot proceed further up the Yangtze than Hankow, about 200 miles from Changchow. The seven available gunboats, which can operate in about four feet of water, must move down stream when the water level begins to fall.

Societies Affected. Shanghai, July 31.—(AP)—A list of Protestant missions at Changsha reported looted and burned by communists follows: Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States, with American headquarters in New York; the China department of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, Cal.; Institute of Faith Mission, supported by the Galilee Baptist Church at Denver; British-American China Inland Mission, American headquarters at Germantown, Pa.; German Leseben, German headquarters at Berlin; Missionary Society, headquarters at Stavanger, Norway; American Northern Presbyterian Mission, headquarters in New York; Eastern States, headquarters, Philadelphia; Seventh Day Adventist Mission, headquarters, Washington, D. C.; Wesleyan Methodist Missionary Society, headquarters New Haven; Y. M. C. A. headquarters New York.

Changsha was one of the principal Protestant mission centers in China.

Red Wave Threatens Shanghai, July 31.—(AP)—Intensive Red activity sweeping middle China, which culminated yesterday in an attack by Chinese Communists on the American gunboat Falos near Changsha, resulted in about fifty Chinese being killed and five bluejackets wounded today, threatened to engulf Hankow, Wuchang, Hanyang and other important cities in the Yangtze valley.

NO ADDED SHIPS U. S. Naval Forces Sufficient Is Adams' Decision.

Washington, July 31.—(AP)—American naval forces in China will not be augmented for the present but should Communist depredations increase the danger of American lives and property the detachments probably will be speedily increased.

A careful consideration of the situation caused by the increased Communist and bandit activities in the provinces of Hupeh, Hunan, Honan and Kiangsi, led officers in charge of the Asiatic Squadron to conclude the present naval force there adequate. Secretary Adams concluded in their decision for the present. Meanwhile cables to the State Department, report continued efforts by American diplomatic and consular officers to obtain the withdrawal of Americans living in remote spots where protection is not available. A general warning was sent out early in July by Richard Buttrick, American consul at Hankow, and new warnings have just been ordered.

SEE AIRPLANE BLAZE NEAR RUM RENDEZVOUS Coastguards Witness Accident But There's No Report of Legitimate Plane Missing.

San Francisco, July 31.—(AP)—The Point Reyes Coast Guard station lookout today reported a large airplane burst into flames over "Bottleleggers Cove" eight miles east of the station and plunged into the ocean. Point Reyes is 30 miles north of here.

The guards said the accident occurred shortly after 9 o'clock last night. A life saving crew put out to sea to look for the wreckage but they had not located the plane or any survivors early today.

H. C. Day, the lookout, said he saw the plane flying about two miles off shore at an elevation of about 200 feet. Suddenly a great tongue of flame seemed to spurt from the fuselage. The next moment the plane plunged downward. A check of San Francisco Bay airports showed no planes missing and none due.

clution. There were no indications up to early afternoon that there would be any such crowds as stormed the Naval Reservation at Lakehurst, N. J., when the German Graf Zeppelin made its 1 1/2 crossing to America.

The guard at the field was not relaxed, however, for officials were convinced that as arrival time approached, thousands would jam the narrow road from Montreal and the excursion trains leaving the city at frequent intervals throughout the day.

Landfill in 48 Hours Having crossed the Atlantic ocean the British dirigible R-100 made fast time today over land locked waters toward Quebec and Montreal.

The R-100 left Cardington, England, at 9:45 p. m. (E. S. T.) Monday and at 8:39 p. m. last night made its landfall at Belle Isle, an island off the coast of Labrador, having travelled 2,278 miles, most of it over the ocean in a few minutes less than 48 hours. At 12:25 a. m. today the ship passed the steamship Duchess of York in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Its speed then was seventy knots.

Route Over Quebec Its course from Belle Isle to its destination at the airport here, a distance of 946 miles, lay in a direct line over the straits of Belle Isle, which separated Newfoundland from the province of Quebec, over the Gulf of St. Lawrence and up the St. Lawrence river to the city of Quebec to the airport of St. Hubert, outside Montreal.

Elaborate arrangements were made at the airport for the arrival. A tall mooring tower with many cable and winches, was carefully tested by the crew of 12 men.

175 Miles from Quebec St. Hubert, Que., July 31.—(AP)—The R-100 passed Fairbairn Point, Que., on its flight up the St. Lawrence river at noon, E. S. T. today, according to a report from the signal service. Farther Point is about 175 miles east of Quebec.

MEXICAN REDS URGED ASSASSINATING MORROW Plot for Jail Delivery and Political Murder of Rubio and Others Is Frustrated.

Mexico City, July 31.—(AP)—A plot to incite inmates of the Federal Prison Penitentiary here to kill their guards and burn the establishment has been frustrated by prison authorities.

Officials confiscated a quantity of handbills inside the prison. It is believed that a group held on charges of being communists planned to distribute them to the other prisoners.

Senator Maria Trinidad Sandoval was arrested on a charge of being a go-between. The handbills, besides urging the slaying of keepers and the burning of the prison, also called for attack on President Ortiz Rubio, General Plutarco Elias Calles and Dwight W. Morrow, the American ambassador, charging them with responsibility for persecution of communists in Mexico.

Hood River, Ore., July 31.—(AP)—Mountaineers assembled here today to search for Velma Hathaway, 26, Wasco, Wash., who was lost while descending Mt. Hood.

Miss Hathaway was with a party climbing the mountain yesterday. She became tired and told her companions she would turn back alone. The party including her mother, Mrs. C. A. Hathaway, was attempting to make the climb with her a guide.

LIONS LABOR LONG TO CLEAR NEW CAMP

Site in Bolton Attacked With Vigor Yesterday to Put It Into Shape.

The Lions Club Recreational Camp on the second Bolton Lake was a scene of great activity yesterday afternoon as members labored mightily and brought about a vast improvement to both land and building of the recently acquired property which will be made available for the use of Manchester organizations.

Under the direction of Arthur Wilkie, members of the camp committee, Hugh J. Campbell, Arthur Holmes, Gardell Keeney, George Bagley, Peter Salmonson, and three Boy Scouts, armed with pails, mops, brooms, soap powders, and hot water, gave the camp building a thorough scrubbing. Then the interior side walls were given a fresh coat of paint while part of the conging of workers armed themselves with brush scythes, brush hooks, grub axes, and rakes, and cut out the underbrush, bringing out the full beauty of the landscape.

Saturday afternoon the work will be continued with transportation and other services will leave from Mackley's Chevrolet Agency at 1 o'clock. Boy Scouts who wish to assist in the improvement of the camp, are asked to report there and both to and from the camp.

The regular weekly meeting of the Lions Club will be held at the camp Monday evening and following the dinner members will join in the work of clearing the volunteer camp. It is hoped to open the camp for the junior organizations as soon as possible.

The camp is exceptionally well situated in an ideal location for organization outings what with volunteer and other services. It adds to the Lakeview development of O'Leary and Smith, and a shortport of 400 feet gives it the advantage of exclusiveness. Members of the Lions Club heartily enthusiastic about this project and insist the camp must be seen to be appreciated and suggest that townspeople driving by, stop and inspect the camp.

The club is planning a benefit dinner to be held at the camp, at the Sandy Beach Ballroom at Crystal Lake, Tuesday evening, August 19. Music will be furnished by the Hotel Bond Broadcasting orchestra, Lionel Kennedy, directing.

Work was started by the Edward Ball Company on the short stretch of road at the Center which should be asphalted to complete the Main street resurfacing which was done last summer. With this completed asphalt will run the entire length of Main street.

A number of boys who live in the vicinity of Linden street have a little golf course that requires only a golf ball, a stick or two and some hazards. A club has been organized and the boys start by shooting a hill through coffee cans, down a grade and into an inverted baking powder can with the top off. The builders play over the course without cost, but to non-members the cost for one round is $0.1. No tips are given the caddies as none are needed.

EDISON TEST BOYS TAKE THEIR GRILING

Quizzed on Wide Range of Subjects and Find Day's Job Was No Holiday Affair.

West Orange, N. J., July 31.—(AP)—Soon after boys from every state and the District of Columbia filed into the laboratories of the Edison Industries shortly after 8 o'clock the rooms took on the academic air of a classroom.

Many of the contestants were dressed for a day's holiday, in white flannel trousers and dark jackets. They talked and joked on the way to the laboratories, but their conversations were in whispers or ended once they entered the apparatus-filled workshops.

Some of the questions propounded to the boys were puzzlers. Here are some samples: "In the year 1900 how would you have gotten the first cable of a suspension bridge across an impassable gorge one-half mile wide?" "If you could prescribe and enforce a system of education for the whole population of the world, on what essentials would you place the greatest emphasis?"

"If you had a brother who wanted to be an artist or a poet, would you encourage him or attempt to dissuade him? Why?" "Assuming it were an engineering and financial possibility, and you were given the opportunity of devoting twenty years of your life to the task of digging a hole thirty miles into the earth's interior, would you accept it or turn it down? Give your reasons."

"Suppose your best friend came to you and admitted regretfully that he had deliberately wrecked your chances of winning the Edison scholarship by writing a letter designed to hurt your standing with the judges, what would you do?" "Briefly state how you think Communist propaganda should be dealt with."

"Briefly identify Jane Addams, Leonardo da Vinci, Charlemagne, John Ericsson, John Hay, Colonel T. H. Lawrence, Pasteur, Marco Polo, Phidias and Tamerlane." "Give the approximate dates of the fall of Troy, the battle of Gettysburg, first successful airplane flight, Solomon, birth of the earth, Michael Angelo, discovery of America by Europeans, formation of the League of Nations, Pinescanonop, Eriecrus, Norman conquest of England."

There were dozens of others, no easier.

SHIPS IN COLLISION IN MEDITERRANEAN British and Spanish Steamers Reported Sinking; Rescuers Hasten to Aid.

London, July 31.—(AP)—A dispatch to Droy's committee said that the British steamer Nerubudda and the Spanish steamer Legaspi were in collision 100 miles east of Gibraltar, and that both were in a sinking condition.

The message said that the salvagers steamer Coler and Rescuer had proceeded to their assistance. The Nerubudda is a vessel of 4,928 tons and the Legaspi of 2,568.

The funeral will be held at 8:30 Saturday morning at St. Augustine's church on Campfield avenue in Hartford and burial will be in St. Bridget's cemetery here in Manchester. Mr. Ward was a member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen.

INTIMIDATION CHARGE FOR NEW BRITAIN MAN Auto Dealer Accused of Writing Letters Threatening a Creditor With a "Ride."

Hartford, July 31.—(AP)—Max D. Honeyman, president and treasurer of the Honeyman Auto Sales Company of New Britain, charged with intimidation after being arrested in New Britain yesterday and held for local authorities, was presented in Police Court this morning before Judge John L. Bonee and his case continued to August 5, under $500 bond. The charge was changed from breach of the peace yesterday, Detective Sergeant Nicholas Gillis, of Hartford, having worked on the case to determine whether two anonymous letters had been written on typewriters of the sales company.

Honeyman is accused of sending threatening letters to a mortgage firm in this city, which had recently started suit against the accused to foreclose on property on Arch street of which he was part owner. The case was settled out of court, but since then it claimed that the two letters, threatening to take the addressee "for a ride" and to "fill you full of" (believed to mean buckshot) were received. The Hartford detective was aided in the investigation by Frank Santoro, typewriter salesman, who furnished letters from typewriters of the sales company have been obtained and studied.

SCHWAB IS NOT IN ON BONUS SALARY SCHEME Gets Straight Salary of $150,000 a Year As Chairman of Board of Bethlehem Steel.

Youngtown, O., July 31.—(AP)—Charles M. Schwab receives a straight salary of $150,000 a year as Chairman of the Board of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation and does not participate in the bonus system, it was revealed today in the suit to enjoin merger of the Youngtown Sheet and Tube Company with the Bethlehem Corporation.

Defense attorneys brought out testimony to refute an implication that the Youngtown steel firm depressed its 1929 earnings and assets. William N. McDonald, comptroller of the Sheet and Tube Company, testified in direct examination that a large loss in 1929 was charged to a contingent reserve fund, but could have been properly charged to profit and loss.

The loss occurred, he said, in the Continental Supply Company, a subsidiary of the steel firm.

RUSSIANS TO BE GIVEN HEARING ON PULPWOOD Will Have Further Opportunity to Disprove Charges of Convict Labor.

Washington, July 31.—(AP)—Further evidence will be introduced by Soviet representatives before the Treasury which its final decision on the embargo against Russian pulpwood.

The pulpwood was barred after reports to the Treasury that convict labor entered into its production. Representatives of the Amtorg Trading Corporation and the Spanish-American Steamship lines protested and were heard. They did not, however, introduce evidence to show the pulpwood was not handled by convict labor and Assistant Secretary Lowman today promised to give them an opportunity to do so and ample time in which to arrange their data.

Three senators, Reed of Pennsylvania, Black of Alabama and Odell of Nevada have urged embargoes on lumber, anthracite and manganese. The government, however, has indicated that no action would be taken unless it was shown convict labor entered into their production or the goods were being dumped here.

DIPLOMAT ACCUSED OF INDISCREET DOINGS

Greek Legationist at Washington Said to Have Asserted He Was "Better Than Americans."

Washington, July 31.—(AP)—The Washington Post said today warrants had been issued charging the wife of Stephen Koundouriotis, chancellor of the Greek legation, with violations of the Maryland automobile laws.

Justice of the Peace Herbert J. Moffat, of Hyattsville, Md., who issued the warrants, the Post said, plans to make a formal complaint to the State Department that the Greek attaché, while discussing the charges against his wife, said he was "better than Americans" and was not bound by their laws.

Moffat was quoted as saying Koundouriotis had cited his ability to have liquor in his home as proof that he was "better than Americans."

The warrants against Mrs. Koundouriotis were said to charge her with driving an automobile equipped with District of Columbia license tags while she is a resident of Maryland, and with failure to secure a Maryland operator's permit.

The Greek envoy was said to have told Moffat his wife was an American citizen, having regained this status in Baltimore about two years ago, and that she both lived and voted in Maryland.

TRUCK ON VISIT HERE IS ALMOST TOO BIG

State Law Forces New York Drivers to Drop Trailer at Putnam Because of Length.

The largest truck yet seen in Manchester was parked in front of the Montgomery Ward store on Main street for the better part of two hours last night awaiting the arrival of one of the managers of the store to unload three suites of furniture that were due to be delivered yesterday afternoon.

The truck attracted much attention, considering the few people on the street. It was a specially built White with a sheet iron body, padded walls and was intended for long distance hauling. It was on its maiden voyage and was so large that at Putnam it had been such an attraction that the State Policeman Brown of the Danielson barracks became interested. Measurements were taken of the truck, and the trailer. It covered a distance of thirty-four feet without the trailer and was fifty-two feet and seven inches in length with it. The owner of the truck is the Kroehler Manufacturing Company of Binghamton, N. Y., and it was loaded with furniture.

After checking up on the law to question it was found that forty feet was the limit in the length of a truck that could travel over the roads in Connecticut. A special session of the Putnam Police Court was held to help out as much as possible and a fine of $5 and costs, or a total of $19.51, was imposed. The state police barracks got in touch with the state motor vehicle department making known the conditions and that the truck was to go to Manchester, New London, New Haven and then to Stamford before returning for a return load out of New York.

As the truck proper was within the forty feet limit it was decided to order the trailer removed. A permit from the state commissioner is now being sought so they may connect up the trailer and carry it through the state on this trip.

BROWNE SAYS WEATHER IS DUE TO 56 YEAR CYCLE

Washington, July 31.—(AP)—Henry Janvrin Browne, whose long range weather forecasts have brought him into conflict with the Weather Bureau from time to time, today said the present break in the heat was only temporary and there would be no definite end to the wave until after Labor Day. Months ago, Browne said, he was convinced a sun spot cycle, coupled with a lunar cycle, had destined that the summer of 1936 be hot and dry. Perusal of weather records, dating back through the centuries, had convinced him usually hot and dry summers came every 56 years. Similar conditions to those of this summer prevailed in 1874 and 1818, Browne said. The forecaster said the moon had traveled so far north it had pulled the waters of the Atlantic westward, dragging with them the heat of the Gulf Stream under which the Mississippi Valley has been sweating. Similar conditions, he said, prevailed in 1874 and 1818 when records kept in the middle west showed the Great Lakes had receded greatly. Moon and sun conditions then were much the same as this summer.

Ocean His Beasts Browne has made weather predictions for months in advance for a number of years, basing his forecasts on ocean meteorology rather than atmospheric conditions over the continent. Weather Bureau officials put little faith in his methods, but among his clients are many large corporations.

WALL STREET TODAY

New York, July 31.—(AP)—The bull group, feeling that it had gone too far to give up at this juncture, struggled to regain control of the price movement in today's stock market, and managed to win back a substantial portion of the losses of the previous session. Yesterday's severe setback proved a keen disappointment to speculative quarters, but with reports that several industrial plants which had been closed for regular July shutdowns will resume operations, many traders felt that for the moment at least, the seasonal trend of business was more favorable to the bull than the bear cause.

AFGHAN KING ENDS REVOLUTION QUICKLY

Has Two Days' Battle, Using Big Guns and Planes and Crushes Insurrection. Peshawar, India, July 31.—(AP)—Latest advices received here from Kabul indicate that a revolt against Nadir Shah, king of Afghanistan, was crushed after a two-day battle in which several hundred of the rebels were killed. Heavy field guns and airplanes were used by the government forces. The reports received here said that as soon as Nadir Shah heard of the plot against him he rushed to Kabul, the capital, and summoned the citizens to meet en masse. Then he put the question up to them after much speechmaking and asked frankly whether they desired that he continue to reign or whether they preferred a revolution. The citizens assured the king of their loyalty and urged strenuous measures to deal with the insurgents. After the battle more than 3,000 captured insurgents were then handcuffed to Kabul.

LAST MEMPHIS BOAT QUITS THE BIG RIVER

Memphis, Tenn., July 31.—(AP)—Down on the Mississippi River front this morning, they said the Valley Queen was due and that it would not leave again. An epoch will end as the Valley Queen swings around the bend and glides into the shadow of the Memphis skyline. It is the last of the Memphis packets. The Valley Line Steamers, Inc., goes out of business today, closing the last of the packet lines which have sent boats from Memphis to the ports and landings along the big river for more than a century. The docking of the Valley Queen leaves no packet on the river but Memphis.

YOUTH SET FIRES TO AID SNEAK ROBBERS

New York, July 31.—(AP)—Two youths were charged today with setting fire to apartments and then robbing houses on the opposite side of the street while the occupants watched the arrival of fire apparatus. They were arrested yesterday in Brooklyn when they ran from a building they are alleged to have set on fire. Golf to Bobby Jones seems to be a matter of course.

FRANCE GAINS LEAGUE PRAISE BY PEACE ACTS

Geneva.—(AP)—Ratifications by France of the "optional clause" in the statutes of the Permanent Court of International Justice, and of the General Act for Arbitration, have been commended at Geneva as an important double step toward world peace.

The "optional clause," it will be remembered, provides that states who sign it accept the competence of the "World Court" for settlement of all disputes of a juridical nature. Thus far more than forty governments have signed the "optional clause," and with the recording of Parliamentary ratifications reached 28, or more than half of the number of members of the League of Nations. And 23 of these are European states.

Italy and Czechoslovakia, in addition, have signified their intention to ratify. Only Albania, Poland and Rumania of European countries which are members of the league, are now counted as non-ratifiers of this clause.

League officials and observers who regard the "optional clause" as one of the brightest omens in the campaign against war, point out the remarkable progress which it has made since the court's constitution in 1920. At that time, only Panama, Portugal and Switzerland were willing to sign the clause.

The General Arbitration act, ratified at the same time by the French Parliament, covers more ground than the "optional clause" but does not impose it. The ratification of the general act would open the way for revision of the peace treaties of course been advanced in several quarters.

Characterizing this "step" as a commercial, however, one of the most experienced observers at Geneva has added this comment: "Arbitration, far from being a means of revising the international treaties, is essentially a preserver and stabilizer. The arbitral judges pronounce judgment only on the basis of existing law. Nothing, therefore, is more appropriate to the conservative and pacific policy of France than arbitration."

PORTUGAL TALKING OF COUNTERBLOW IN TARIFF

Not Likely to Come, However, Americans Believe — Poland Adopts Reprisal Measure.

Lisbon.—(AP)—Portugal, the world's second largest producer of cork, has joined all other continental countries hit by the new American tariff in attacking the new law.

Retalatory action so far has not materialized but there is a movement all over the country to restrict American imports to the bare requirements of the nation. Automobiles will be the first to suffer.

In American quarters conversant with the cork situation an optimistic view was taken, because, observers said, it has been brought home to the authorities that, high as the tariff is, it hardly affects Portuguese exports of the commodity as they see it. The American consumer and not the exporter will bear the weight of the increased tariff.

American representatives pointed out to government circles that increased demand for cork had raised the price to ten times its value of 1914.

Some of the Americans think that the much threatened tariff war may not go beyond the stage of discussion, after all. Exports of cork to the United States in 1929 amounted to $4,784,394.

Poland Hits U. S. Products Warsaw, July 31.—(AP)—Tariff increases, some of which affect the United States, were published in the official gazette, having been approved by the Cabinet. They will become effective tomorrow.

The increased customs, it was said, will seek to protect agriculture. The tariff on wheat is raised from eleven zlotys per hundred kilograms to 17 1/2. This increase will not affect American import orders very much but increases on lard and bacon are considered important for American dealers. The customs rates on lard were raised 100 per cent.

Eight Federal men who staged the raid yesterday expressed the belief that a shipment had just been made.

McNEIL CALLS HOOVER "WEAKEST PRESIDENT"

Democratic Leader Would Restore Prosperity by Repealing the Eighteenth Amendment.

Bridgeport, July 31.—(AP)—Archibald McNeil, Democratic National committeeman, in an address before the State Democratic Committee here today, placed the full burden of the present business depression upon President Hoover and advanced repeal of the 18th amendment as the most effective way to restore an era of prosperity.

McNeil criticized the president as showing a "woeful lack of constructive leadership" and asserted that "he stands today before the bar of American public opinion, thoroughly repudiated by the nation—the weakest president since Franklin Pierce."

Censoring the chief executive for signing the tariff bill, which he said, has been responsible for a partial stoppage of manufacturing plants, McNeil predicted that "a lowering of wages is not unlikely to follow in the wake of this Hoover panic."

As one of the planks in the state platform, the national committee favored a system of old age pensions. Connecticut is a wealthy state, he said, and "it spends millions for public improvements and public comfort. It spends thousands in needless sinucures to keep in office a selfish political machine whose principal object is self enrichment. The few dollars necessary to enact such a law would not be missed."

Touching on the Connecticut political situation McNeil said: "Here in Connecticut we realize we are fighting against odds. A powerful machine, long years entrenched at the polls, has all the patronage and money at its command. Its autocratic leader dominates and dictates by the prestige and power of the support of those great corporations whose servant he has always been, so that the people have had little voice in their government. Such progressive measures as have finally passed our legislature have only been enacted through much public agitation. He has found it unnecessary to publicly question the propriety of the legislation, while most of his subservient henchmen dare not speak without his approval."

In regard to Republican responsibility, he declared: "The Republican Party has large majorities in both branches of Congress and for many years it has been in complete control of the administrative and executive program of our government. It loudly claimed credit for the country's prosperity in the country enjoyed in 1926. On a like basis of reasoning the major share of present deplorable business conditions can be justly placed upon its shoulders."

"The most effective way in my opinion," he continued, "to restore an era of prosperity is to repeal the 18th amendment, a law which stands today as the most obnoxious, unenforceable and unpopular statute ever placed upon our books. A law that has cost the tax payers over one billion dollars already in a futile attempt to enforce it. The immediate effect of the repeal of this iniquitous law would be to help restore the price of grains to normal by increasing their consumption and indirectly bring general prosperity because of the increased prices the farmers of the country would receive for these products."

The Democratic State Central committee are guests this afternoon of Committeeman McNeil at the Stratfield Hotel. The place and time for the state convention to name a state ticket will be decided and the forecast, is that the New London delegation will be ready to offer a place and ample accommodations in that city for more than a thousand delegates.

National Committeeman McNeil has been in favor of having this convention go to the Eastern part of the state and he said today he had every confidence New London would be the host.

English And Athletics Important Studies In Italy's Naval Academy

Mussolini (on platform with chevron on left arm) reviews middles of Italy's Naval Academy at Leghorn.

By HUDSON HAWLEY (Associated Press Staff Writer) Leghorn, Italy.—(AP)—English and sports are two of the most important subjects taught at the Italian naval academy.

Faculty members stress the importance of the first because they recognize it has become practically the "language of the seas," owing to the preponderant positions of the British and American navies, and the merchant marine of the former. Therefore, they insist that none of the midshipmen shall take his degree until he has passed stiff written and oral tests in the foreign tongue he is most likely to use in foreign ports.

The sport program of the Italian middies has been enlarged and intensified under the Mussolini regime. To be sure, Leghorn teams do not compete with the military academy at Modena or the aviation school at Caserta. But intra-mural contests in rowing, soccer, rugby, tennis and basketball keep the 400 young men on the roster thoroughly tough and busy.

The ability of any sailor, even though an officer and a gentleman, to use his fists to good effect is another thing the physical instructors emphasize. The spacious inner court of the academy's main building, where all formal ceremonies are held, has its walls studded with stiffs for punching bags.

Stiff sessions with those leather boomerangs feature every morning's setting-up exercises, coming right after the spectacular descent

WHOLE BOARD OUSTED IN "WATER CURE" CASE

Governor Asks Resignation of Four Remaining Trustees of Girls' Industrial School.

Concord, N. H., July 31.—(AP)—The four remaining members of the Board of Trustees of the Manchester State Industrial School, at which Governor Charles W. Tobey has charged "barbaric treatment" was given girl inmates, today face demands for their resignation.

Reappointment of Charles S. Emerson, Milford, was recently refused by Governor Tobey and later specific instances of water and whipping "cures" and dungeon treatment were brought to light by the governor. Emerson demanded an investigation of the charges.

In reply, the Governor's Council late yesterday refused to order an investigation and approved the executive's request for the resignation of the four remaining members. The members are: Thomas J. Conway, acting chairman, and Geo. E. Trudel, both of Manchester, Miss Jessie Doe, Concord and Frank W. Hamlin, Charlestown.

The affair was declared to be a closed incident. A letter was sent to each of the four trustees, saying, "we believe the best interests of the state and school will be served by its management being placed in the hands of an entirely new board."

The appointment of Harry A. Gregg, Nashua, former police chief and merchant, to succeed Emerson was approved.

SEE BRITISH ELECTION IN FALL OR NEXT SPRING

Experts Believe Macdonald Will Have To Appeal For Support Before Very Long.

London.—(AP)—Lobby experts in the House of Commons are about equally divided in forecasting the date of the coming general election. One section is certain it will come in November; the other equally certain it won't happen before spring.

A Cabinet minister, when asked which date he favored replied: "Safety first—I intend to be ready in November."

At a recent meeting of the Labor party, the prime minister mentioned the possibility of a general election toward the end of the year. Since that remark his government came within two votes of being defeated.

Many observers feel that a general election will be a "snap" probably as soon as the new register of voters comes into operation the middle of October.

Two important events come in October: the imperial conference and the Indian round table conference.

No matter how the Conservative party may regret that the imperial conference will be in the hands of the Socialist government, the opportunity for avoiding that contingency through a general election seems to have slipped by. No responsible party leader wants to make a political party question out of the Indian situation nor interfere with the round table conference by forcing a general election.

But there are many other reasons for an early election. The continued growth of unemployment almost forces Ramsay MacDonald to ask for the country's verdict on his efforts. The government's majority in the House of Commons on this issue has been reduced to 29. To complicate matters three dis-against a peculiar little problem in comparative values.

 During the last few years most people have made a genuine effort to get away from the old attitude toward war. Dozens of books have been printed to prove that war is not glamorous and romantic, as we used to suppose, but filthy and cruel and senseless. We have told ourselves that only by adopting this attitude can we ensure the continuance of world peace.
 But here we have the Constitution—glamorous and romantic, if any ship ever was. The mere sight of this old square-rigger, with her white gun ports, her distended sails and her graceful hull cutting through the water is enough to stir warlike emotions in the heart of the most confirmed war-hater on earth.
 Furthermore, the Constitution has a past that is worth remembering. The men who sailed on her, upwards of a century ago, did some fine and gallant things. The ship was not unimportant in the development of this country. She deserves the homage we give her.
 What is the answer then? On the one hand we have this new-born determination not to wrap her in a false glamour; on the other, we have war's glamour incarnate. The Constitution's cruises will bring the old attitude and the new face to face. Which way shall we jump?
 Probably the answer is that we don't need to jump either way. The conditions that attended the building of the Constitution, for one thing, are gone forever. World civilization has changed. Actions that were necessary then are not so necessary now.
 In addition, we might remind ourselves that the Constitution is not a modern warship. She may be romantic and picturesque—but wars aren't fought that way now. The modern sailor, instead of standing by the breech of a carronade and cheering as the enemy comes alongside, is more apt to be crouched in the bowels of a submarine, working at a mechanic's trade to deal out death to a ship that he can never see. Whatever war may have been in 1812, it is something else again in 1930.
 We can honor the Constitution as a relic, but that does not commit us to the belief that war is either as necessary or as colorful now as it used to be.

MA AND THE SAILS
 Texas is a very large state and a long way from Manchester. Also its native sons have a large way of talking which sometimes makes it difficult to be sure whether or not it is a long way from the truth. Anybody who has come into contact with many Texans will tell you that this largeness and general broadness of statement is a bit disconcerting to people accustomed to more precise not to say more truthful exchanges.
 For which reason of distance and size it is not easy for an Easterner to be sure about just what is going on in Texas, at any time, in the field of politics. You never can quite tell whom to believe, or whether you can altogether believe anybody.
 However, making all manner of allowance for the sketchiness and inflation habitual to Texas talk, it requires a lot of faith in human nature, plus a determined resolution to believe no evil, in order to see in Ma Ferguson the proper sort of a person to be governor of a great state or in Pa Ferguson anything but an unconscionable old grafter masquerading as a plain old friend of the plain folks of Texas.
 As the case of Pa appears to those who must depend on their memory and then on reports which, after all, must be founded on the well known Texas type of "speech of the people," the state of Texas stood about as much from him as it was possible to stand before he was impeached. And afterward, when Ma got herself elected governor, it was notorious that Pa was just as much governor as he had been before he was thrown out. Still and all, we have only the Texas talk to go on. Except for one thing.
 There is one fact chargeable to Ma—whether she or Pa was really responsible for it makes no difference—which has never been disputed; which seems to be a matter of figures, and figures tot up the same in Texas as they do in Connecticut when they are the same figures. And that uncontroversial fact would seem to make Ma a perfectly impossible person for the job she again seeks.
 She let 3,600 of the state's criminals out of jail in two years.
 During about 600 working days she set free, every day, half a dozen prisoners to incarcerate whom the police and the courts of Texas had labored against the disadvantages that beset the machinery of justice everywhere and who, presumably, had been convicted only after due trial.
 We don't know whether Pa Ferguson was the personal beneficiary of all sorts of road graft or not. We don't know, as a matter of fact, very much about him because you can't believe a great deal of what passes for the truth in Texas. And we don't know whether Ma was his boss or he was Ma's during her term as governor. But we do know that the state of Texas must be looney if it again gives the governorship to a person who, by her own volition or another's, turns criminals loose faster than the courts can convict them.
 We should think that that one item would be more than sufficient to defeat Ma in the run-off.

BACK TO THE LAND
 The American Legion, in establishing a system of prizes for achievements in agriculture by boys, has perhaps been building more wisely than it knew. Unless we are very much mistaken the time is rapidly approaching when the vital character of agriculture, in its relation to individual security for large numbers of people who now disregard it, will be deeply impressed upon the consciousness of this Eastern country.
 Not yet, not so early in the partial collapse of our dream of an industrialized world, have economists in general begun to think seriously about the necessity of a return to the land by a not small proportion of our industrial workers; but the time is perhaps not far away when we shall begin to hear a good deal about this subject.
 Perhaps it may be the Legion itself—which fortunately includes in its membership a great many young men who know in their own lives that city existence is not the only one that is supportable—which will prove to be the agency capable of promoting a "back to the land" movement.
 At all events, there will be more Legionnaires than members of almost any other great organization who will be able to grasp the significance and vital quality of such a movement once it is begun.

RAILROAD WHISTLES
 Railroad men believe that they will eventually be able to devise a railroad whistle which will shoot its shaft of noise directly to the railroad crossing instead of scattering it all over the countryside; and while this would be highly efficient, and while any step to diminish the daily amount of noise in this noise-ridden civilization of ours ought to be welcomed, we're not sure that we're entirely in favor of this plan. The railroad whistle is in a class by itself. It is one of the most romantic sounds one ever hears. To lie in bed, late at night, and hear some distant flier whistling for a crossing, is to experience the feeling that one has heard the eerie horns of elfland blowing beyond the horizon. The note is haunting beyond words, with an insistent melancholy that defies description. We should be sorry to be deprived of it.

A NEW "DECLARATION"
 We glory in the spunk of the Industrial Council of Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers in defying the attempt of the Parisian style bosses to compel women to walk about in their own garments. Whether the Council is overstating when it declares that styles are American-made may be open to some argument. But when dress designers in Paris attempt to force the adoption of styles that are unbecomingly unbecomingly and extravagantly wasteful, then American women certainly ought to set their own styles, whether they have ever before done so to any great extent or not.

 A style boss is just like a political boss. He can boss just so long as his boss is not challenged. After that he is all washed up.
 If the French dressmakers were given to understand that American women would not consent to be made fools of they would very quickly indeed stop trying to make fools of them. They know which side their bread is buttered on.

MONEY FOR AMUSEMENTS
 The Very Rev. W. R. Ingr, England's famous "gloomy dean," remarks that what Americans spend on luxuries in two years would pay off the British war debt. He estimates that Americans spend ten and a half billions on amusement annually.
 Undoubtedly, the dean means that this is all very deplorable; but for the life of us we can't see why. Granted that a deal of money is spent on very foolish, insane amusements; granted that we spend a lot of money for amusement when we might better be putting it in the bank; even so, that huge expenditure for recreation is, to our way of looking at things, a good sign.
 At the very worst, it means that an enormous number of Americans are able to spend time and money on recreation. They are able to forget about the cares of the workaday world every so often, even if they don't always make their expenditures wisely. If we are leaving drudgery and monotony behind us it is a good thing, no matter how foolishly we act when we look for amusement.

IN NEW YORK
 New York, July 31. — For several years the historic "melting pot" of New York has been spreading like lava, or molasses in hot weather.
 It has been trickling away from its pivotal point — Manhattan's Ghetto, the colorful East Side.
 The causes are several, and not the least interesting is the shadow of luxury creeping along the lanes of struggle and poverty.
 "The children of the East Side went to their schools. They learned of hygiene and sun-filled rooms; they learned of playgrounds and summer camps in the hills. The social workers came about. They preached a new gospel. They had nothing to do with dark corners and dingy windows and strange smells."
 The voice of another generation grew louder and louder—and the exodus began. It won't be so very long now that the East Side of the slums will be all but gone. The melting pot has spread like lava and encompassed many races.

Meanwhile, the invasion of the rich had begun. It started in a small, but exceedingly exclusive way, up in Sutton place, where dwelt such rich folk as the Mellons. A few years later model apartment giants with gardens, lawns and fountains, began to appear in spots occupied formerly by venerable relics of days when housing laws had not been written.
 They began to tell the people "who could afford to pay" that it was good business to live closer to the heart of the city and to walk to work. Suddenly the East River was officially discovered all along its banks from far up in the Fifties to well down in the Thirties. One after another the new places appeared, one block, two blocks, three blocks from the river. The

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
 Washington, July 31.—The farmer isn't getting much joy out of life, as everybody knows, but it isn't as if nothing had ever been done for him. The farm relief act passed by the present Congress in a special session was the culmination of a series of lesser measures stretching back over many years.
 In the last 10 years some 206 bills have been referred to the Committee on Agriculture of the House, of which 37 have been reported out and 27 have been passed, according to a compilation by Representative John C. Ketcham of Michigan, a member of the committee. Ketcham doesn't say that these were enough to cure the farmer's ailments, but he does insist that the farmer has been getting plenty of attention.
 "The Capper-Volstead act of 1922 was the first federal law on the subject of co-operative marketing," he says in reviewing the measures. "The act laid the foundation of farmer owned and farmer controlled agencies for marketing farm products around which principle the recent agricultural marketing act has been built."
 "Congress also passed the packers and stockyards act in answer to a demand for control of operations of certain packers and stockyards accused of price favoring and manipulation. The effect has been very helpful and wholesome. The act gave control to the Department of Agriculture under very rigid rules and regulations.
 "Excesses of speculation in grain have been curbed and unfair practices eliminated by the grain futures act of 1922, which made it unlawful for other than owners or growers of grain to deal in futures. Owners and growers of grain were given new protection.
 "The warehouse act of 1922 was passed as essential to the continued growth of co-operative marketing; a system of Federal warehouse certificates issued from them have been of great help to producers in financing their operations.
 "A co-operative marketing division was created in the Department of Agriculture by the co-operative marketing act of 1926 to help the new co-operative movement organize itself on sound business principles.
 "Farm Product Protection
 "In 1920 a very large share of farm products were on the free list under the provisions of the Underwood tariff law. Early in 1921 the emergency tariff was passed by Congress establishing substantial protective rates upon practically all farm products. These were written into the general tariff revision known as the Fordney-McCumber law. The flexible provision in that law was used several times by the president to raise rates on agricultural products, notably butter, from eight cents to 12 cents a pound.
 "In the Smoot-Hawley tariff act recently passed, the basic rates on practically all agricultural products have been substantially increased.
 "Passage of the seed staining bill which I introduced corrected abuses which arose in sale of alfalfa and red-clover seed coming from countries whose climatic conditions made the seed unfit for use in America, especially in higher latitudes.
 "Stimulating 4-H Club Work
 "The Capper-Ketcham bill passed in 1928 provided $1,450,000 annually to develop the Department of Agriculture extension system, especially with regard to home economics and boys' and girls' club work, greatly stimulating the national organization of farm boys and girls called the 4-H Clubs.
 "The past 10 years have witnessed great expansion of the reforestation program. The so-called foreign service bill for agriculture has been passed, placing the Department of Agriculture's foreign service on the same basis as those of the Departments of State and Commerce. This new agency will promptly determine world crop, market and price conditions.
 "The Borah-Summers bill established a system of licensing for commission merchants, having producers and shippers of perishable farm products many millions a year—formerly lost because of unfair practices by irresponsible commission men. Butter and oleomargarine have been protected by new legislation.
 "Development of the intermediate credit system has been of untold benefit to farm organizations in marketing operations. The federal government has been co-operating in road building to the extent of from $75,000,000 to $125,000,000 a year.
 "Federal legislation can't solve all farm problems, but it can help a great deal in meeting them."

PASSING MIDDLE AGE SAFELY
 Little mistakes in eating begin to cause indigestion. Slight over-fatigue begins to bring on headaches. The patient becomes aware that his bodily forces are not being renewed as in youth.
 One of the worst features of middle age is the constipation which so often accompanies it. Due to years of wrong diet, without enough roughage, and to the flabby abdominal muscles, which are the result of indoor work of today, the colon, after forty is, in most people, not able to perform its full work of elimination.
 High blood pressure and arterial hardening are also common hazards at this time. Patients with high blood pressure complain of pressure in the head, ringing in the ears, and inability to sleep. When the arteries become hardened and thickened, they do not carry the blood freely to the various organs, and in severe cases these blood vessels may even give way and cause hemorrhages. By keeping the blood pressure down and keeping the arteries flexible, many serious attacks of apoplexy could be avoided. Heart trouble, kidney trouble and rheumatism are other disorders which should be guarded against during middle age.
 The gradual decline in physical strength after forty is due, to a large extent, to changes in the ductless glands. Suddenly taking on weight, or becoming thin and wrinkled, after forty, are signs of harmful changes taking place in some of these glands. One of the best methods for improving the condition of the glands is to take short fasts, as this tends to normalize their secretion. Sir Arbuthnot Lane, the noted English physician, says, "An occasional fast is beneficial for the middle aged, and especially if there is a tendency to obesity."
 Women have learned to fear this period of life. However, nearly all of their trouble might be avoided if the proper dietetic and hygienic rules were followed. Almost every one of this age has some degree of prolapus of the stomach and other visceral organs which press down upon the large intestine, further hampering its action and elimination. The chemical result is that toxic material finds its way into the blood stream and the body thus poisons itself.
 After forty you should cut down on the starches and meats and eat more fresh vegetables, raw salads and fruits. More systematic exercise is needed after forty. The body rusts out more quickly than it wears out, and regular exercises and the right diet will keep it flexible and ward off the rusting process.

 Mental exercise is just as important as physical exercise. A man or woman makes a great mistake who tries to retire from active mental work. Proper mental activities without undue strain promote happiness at this time of life. Your accumulation of knowledge and experience should enable you to enjoy the maturer years of your life if you will make the effort to preserve your health.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Correct Blood Pressure
 Question.—R. J. asks:—"What, as a rule, is the correct blood pressure for a man 58 years old in good health and spirits? Mine is 160 systolic and 100 diastolic. Many thanks for your information and advice."
 Answer.—The systolic blood pressure should range between 118 and 132 millimeters at any adult age, not be too high if you have a tendency to high blood pressure. Your present blood pressure is certainly too high but can be easily reduced through living on a careful diet.

Packing Lunches
 Question.—O. J. asks:—"Will you kindly give me a few suggestions as to what would make a wholesome and nourishing lunch to be carried to work? Up to the present my lunch has consisted of meat, bread, butter and jam sandwiches. I am quite aware how faulty that is considered, so would appreciate your help very much."
 Answer.—You can put up a good lunch with real wholewheat bread sandwiches, and also add some non-starchy vegetables which can be kept warm in a thermos bottle. Be sure to get the real wholewheat bread. At lunchtime the sandwiches may be freshly buttered, and peanut butter or lettuce added. Such cooked vegetables as the following may be used in the thermos bottle: spinach, asparagus, string beans, squash, celery. In addition, add to the lunch some fresh raw salad vegetables such as lettuce or celery, wrapped in a damp cloth which will keep them crisp until noon. I will be glad to send you an article on the subject of packing lunches if you will send me a large self-addressed stamped envelope.

SWISS EXPORT BREAD
 Berna. (AP.)—Constant increase in the waterpower generation of electricity has, through Swiss land's output to the equivalent of one-fifth of a horsepower for every man, woman and child of the country. Electricity is one of the main export items, one-third of the three generated being sold across the border.

There is one fact chargeable to Ma—whether she or Pa was really responsible for it makes no difference—which has never been disputed; which seems to be a matter of figures, and figures tot up the same in Texas as they do in Connecticut when they are the same figures. And that uncontroversial fact would seem to make Ma a perfectly impossible person for the job she again seeks.
 She let 3,600 of the state's criminals out of jail in two years.
 During about 600 working days she set free, every day, half a dozen prisoners to incarcerate whom the police and the courts of Texas had labored against the disadvantages that beset the machinery of justice everywhere and who, presumably, had been convicted only after due trial.
 We don't know whether Pa Ferguson was the personal beneficiary of all sorts of road graft or not. We don't know, as a matter of fact, very much about him because you can't believe a great deal of what passes for the truth in Texas. And we don't know whether Ma was his boss or he was Ma's during her term as governor. But we do know that the state of Texas must be looney if it again gives the governorship to a person who, by her own volition or another's, turns criminals loose faster than the courts can convict them.
 We should think that that one item would be more than sufficient to defeat Ma in the run-off.

Divorce Ends Romance Of Actress And Duke

BY MILTON BRONNER

London.—One of the greatest modern romances of the peerage of Great Britain and Ireland went to its final chapter and ultimate smash the other day when a Scotch court gave a divorce to the Duke of Leinster from his Duchess on the grounds of her misconduct.

Starting in beauty, the story ended in bleak sordidness. It began amid all the glamor of the gloomy court room of the Edinburgh Court of Session. The woman in the case had boxed the compass from the dreary London suburb of Brixton to wearing the golden strawberry leaves of a great peeress and then back to Brixton, become more dreary than ever.

Back in 1913, in the happy-go-lucky days before the war, one of the reigning buds of the London stage was May Etheridge. She had a big part in "Princess Caprice" at the Shaftesbury Theater and was the toast of the town for her charming youth, her dewy loveliness, her unimpaired innocence. All the gilded young men of her time were head over heels in love with her. She bombarded her with flowers. They filled the front rows of the theater night after night. They languished for a nod of recognition from her shapely head. They were overjoyed when she deigned to sup with them.

Considered Matrimonial Catch
Twenty-one years before, she had been born in humble circumstances in Brixton and had attended school until she was 13, when she got a minor job on the stage. She was quick, she was intelligent. She rapidly forged to the front. When she had an almost star part, one of her most ardent admirers was Lord Fitzgerald, then in an Irish Guards regiment. He was considered a great matrimonial catch, being a younger son of the Duke Marquess and Earl of Ireland.

The shy and impressionable, but very good-looking, dark-haired young officer fell madly in love with May Etheridge and she reciprocated his affection. For love of him she refused an advantageous three years contract on the stage and one fine day they gave aristocratic society a real thrill by announcing they had been quietly married at a registrar's office. They spent their honeymoon chance. She would be released in charge of friends who would take her to a quiet place in the country. But the magistrate added he would put her on probation and suspended sentence for two years, to prevent her from falling into bad habits or getting into bad company.

Pale, poor, and old-looking, a mere wreath of her former loveliness, she was taken away by her friends.

The final chapter was swift and sure. The Duke of Leinster filed suit against her in Scotland, asking for divorce and naming Williams as co-respondent. The action was not defended and the court quickly decided in favor of the plaintiff.

Connecticut's sixth annual insurance day conference will be held the day following the national convention.

About New York

By RICHARD MASSOCK

New York.—John Erskine, novelist, pedagogue, pianist, poet, essayist, opera librettist and president of a school of music, is naturally lazy on his own admission. So lazy that he is always relaxed, and if his mind gets tired he immediately quits work.

Under those circumstances he has written the librettos for two operas which the Metropolitan plans to produce. One is "Helen Retires," for which George Antzell, young modernist of Paris, is doing the music, and "Jack and the Beanstalk," of which Louis Gruenberg is the composer.

Has Four Pianos
Erskine keeps four pianos handy to the Juilliard School of Music, of which he is president—in a nearby hotel, in a dealer's salon and in his home at Wilton, Conn. He practices at least three hours every day.

Playing the piano is his favorite recreation, although he likes tennis, traveling, lecturing and teaching. He also can play the organ and violin.

He was born in New York, October 5, 1879. He is 6 feet, 1 1/2 inches tall and weighs 185 pounds. His name is that of an old Scottish clan.

His first composition was a comic opera in his student days at Columbia; his first written work a sonnet, when he was 15.

He has toured with the New York Symphony orchestra as soloist and is the author or editor of 20 books. Of these his favorite novel is "Adam and Eve."

He always wears gray suits, colored shirts with soft collars, horn-rimmed glasses and the ribbon of the French Legion of Honor, the latter awarded for his educational work in France during the war.

He smokes cigarettes and big-bowled, curved stem pipes, keeping one of the latter wherever he is likely to be, because he never has learned to carry them.

He is married and has two children, a girl and a boy, Graham, who is developing into an artist.

Erskine is fond of walking, swimming, riding, chess and billiards. The latter he plays badly. Chess he gave up because it took too much time. He never has played a game of cards.

He goes to bed late and gets up early, regretting that he cannot afford to oversleep.

He becomes very angry, but it never lasts long.

As a professor of English literature, his interest always has been in seventeenth century literature, and the French and Greek classics.

He likes best the writings of Montaigne, Racine, Voltaire and Anatole France. His favorite composers are Chopin, Wagner, Mozart, Cesare Franck and some of the moderns, but he is unable to appreciate Stravinsky.

He has a hymn of his own composition in the Protestant Episcopal hymnal. He is a vestryman of the famous Trinity parish, honorary citizen of Beaune, France, and secretary of the American Council of Learned Societies.

WARNING AGAINST PASSING-ON RIGHT

Commissioner Stoeckel Says Autoists Are Breaking Law By So Doing

A large number of serious accidents have been caused recently by operators who disregard a rule of the road and use the right hand side of the highway in passing another vehicle from the rear. The Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, Raymond Stoeckel, today issued a warning against this practice and calls attention to the fact that passing on the right is against the law.

"As to the dangers which surround this driving act," says Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Raymond Stoeckel, "no reasonable individual can deny that many unexpected things may happen to cause trouble when a car leaves its proper pathway. It is evidence of poor judgment on the part of any operator to pass to the right, and constitutes reckless driving. It is admitted that there are many times when going up a long hill an operator finds conditions which are trying to get behind a slow moving vehicle when there is a line of traffic on the other side. Perhaps there is room enough on the right side of the slow vehicle so that the operator honestly believes he can go safely. Even first class operators confronted with a situation of this kind are sometimes tempted beyond resistance."

DOUBLE FEATURE BILL AT STATE TWO DAYS

"Arizona Kid" and "In Gay Madrid" Featured Here Friday and Saturday

Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell in "High Society Blues" will be shown for the last time at the State today.

Friday and Saturday brings another double feature program of proven merit. Warner Baxter will be seen and heard in the thrilling story of the Mexican border "The Arizona Kid," and Ramon Novarro will demonstrate his golden voice in the romantic "In Gay Madrid."

"The Arizona Kid" has caught the genuine spirit of the old west, that elusive thing which so few western productions manage to transfer to the screen. Perhaps the fact that all of the scenes were made on the actual scene of the story, a little village in southwest Utah, has something to do with the note of unquestioned realism that pervades the production.

Baxter has exceeded any of his previous performances, and that is some feat when one considers the marvelous work this sterling actor has already contributed to the screen. Mona Maris, "Theodora" on Eliza, Carol Lombard and Hank Mann are prominent in the supporting cast.

St. Louis — (AP) — If statistics mean anything, then the Washington Senators have out-traded the St. Louis Browns.

Alvin Crowder and Heinie Manush went to the Senators have done considerable to boost the pennant chances of Walter Johnson's team, and while "Goose" Goslin has raised his batting average while with St. Louis, so far his work hardly even up.

ROCKVILLE

Council Meeting

At the meeting of the Common Council held in the Council Chamber, Memorial building, Tuesday evening, a letter was read from the State Highway Commissioner in reply to the request of the council that the corner at the junction of Windsor avenue and Union streets be eliminated if possible. Mr. Macdonald stated that the matter would be looked into before completion of the new road from Manchester to this city.

The meeting was called to order at 7:30 by Mayor A. E. Waite and the following members of the council were present: Alderman Roger Murky, Thomas Larkin, Ernest Ide, William Schaefer; Councilmen LeRoy Market, William R. Dowling, Arthur Newell, Bruno Doss, Charles Underwood, Frank Cratty.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and all bills ordered paid. The claim of $5 presented by Mrs. F. Behler for damage to a fence on Prospect street was settled.

At the last meeting of the council the matter of a house being built on Berkeley Terrace without a permit was referred to the Public Works committee, and a favorable report was submitted on Tuesday night and the permit granted.

Bids have been opened the past week from coal dealers and action was taken at the meeting to purchase all coal for city use from the coal dealers of this city, which includes L. W. Martin, J. Schwartz and the Rockville Granite Co.

The Public Works committee were authorized to investigate the petition of A. J. Costello to install a gasoline station at his new place of business on Union street. Mayor A. E. Waite stated he was in favor of the petition.

It was announced that the next in the series of municipal band concerts will be given by the Boys' Polish Band on Thursday evening of this week.

Petitions were granted as follows: William Schaefer, 8 car garage 84x22, brick and wood, at 26 Orchard street; Thomas Ryan, addition to garage, one story, 4x12, on Village street; John Moser, garage at corner of Grant and Rheel streets, 18x20.

Manuel L. Man in Court. James Loney of Charter Oak Place, South Manchester was before the Ellington town court on Tuesday night charged with reckless driving and evading responsibility for leaving the scene of an accident.

The accident occurred at Crystal Lake on Sunday afternoon, when a Lake on Essex registered in the name of Alexander Duncan of South Manchester, and driven by James Loney, rammed into a Buick Coup owned and operated by John Hancock of 51 East street, Manchester, and Miss Marie were Mrs. Hancock and Miss Marie.

Loney entered a plea of guilty to evading responsibility and was fined $50 and costs of $20. One half of the fine was remitted by Carl A. Goering, justice of the peace and the total amounted to $50. Mr. Loney made arrangements for the fine and costs and agreed to pay for the repairing of the Buick coup.

The reckless driving charge was nolle.

The case was investigated by Deputy Sheriff L. R. Campbell.

New Officers of Bank. Announcement has been made of the officers of the Rockville National Bank, which merged with the First National Bank on Monday. The same personnel and directors of both banks have been retained and the officers are as follows: President, Francis T. Maxwell; vice president, John G. Talcott; cashier, Charles Phelps; assistant cashier, Frederick H. Holt; assistant cashier, Frederick H. Holt; assistant cashier, Frederick H. Holt; assistant cashier, Frederick H. Holt.

The complete list of directors are: George Arnold, F. N. Belding, A. T. Bissell, L. F. Bissell, M. E. Charter, S. C. Cummings, J. E. Fisk, G. E. Hammond, F. H. Holt, L. Martin, F. T. Maxwell, William Maxwell, E. F. Newmarker, Charles Phelps, N. D. Prince, C. M. Squires, D. A. Sykes, J. G. Talcott, C. A. Thompson.

One of the important features of the newly remodeled bank is the installation of a new handit protective device against holdups. This new protection is tear gas equipment.

To Consider Speedboat Ban. The board of selectmen of Ellington will meet again this latter part of the week to take up the matter of motor crafts on the waters of Crystal Lake. It has been necessary recently to take measures to govern the operation of these crafts. It is a rather complicated matter and it will take time to consider which is the best course to take. It has been suggested to the selectmen certain hours be named for the operation of the boats, but as some are used for commercial purposes, this plan is not contemplated.

The cottagers at the lake have been complaining of the speed used by these crafts, which endanger the lives of the bathers and those in canoes.

To Play in Broad Brook. The American Legion Bugle and Drum Corps of this city will go to Broad Brook on Saturday, where they will lead the firemen's parade. The Broad Brook firemen are holding a carnival and on Saturday night there will be a big celebration, including a parade and dance.

Postponed Game. The baseball game between the Bon Ami and All-Rockville baseball teams, which was to have been played at Henry Park on Tuesday night was postponed until Friday night because of rain. Previous games played by these teams have ended in tie scores.

Tracy Spring. Tracy Spring, 18 Florence avenue, died at the Hartford hospital on Wednesday afternoon, following an operation which was performed earlier in the day. He was taken to the hospital on Sunday.

Mr. Spring has been a resident of Rockville for the past ten years and during his residence here was overseer of the spinning department of the American Mill of the Hockanum Mills Co.

Besides his wife, Mr. Spring leaves a daughter, Eleanor of this city. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Notes. Arthur Bateman of East Main street, local mail carrier, has returned to his duties after a week's vacation spent in Long Island.

Mrs. Max Smith has returned to her home on Lawrence street, after being confined to the Rockville City hospital the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Hartl of New York City are the guests of their cousins, Miss Jennie and Charles Bate of Mountain street.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Flaherty have returned from a two weeks' vacation spent in South Norwalk.

Arthur Lanz, driver for the New England Transportation Co. is enjoying a vacation at shore resorts.

George Evans of South Manchester is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gebler of High street.

George W. Eddam has returned to his home in New York following a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eddam of West street.

Fans Don't Mind. The idea seems to have been downed that it makes a difference to the fans whether John Gilbert has a young daughter by a former wife, Leatrice Joy, or that Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Mack Brown have a fairly new baby daughter.

Douglas Fairbanks, even if he wanted to, couldn't keep his Junior's light under a bushel, for Doug Jr. has cut his own movie niche, as Charles Chaplin's two children have been in the limelight so often that they are nearly as famous, by proxy, as their dad.

Milton Sills, George Bancroft, Richard Barthelmess, Victor McLaglen, Harold Lloyd, John Boles and Lawrence Tibbett all are among proud fathers of filmland, and none seem to have suffered in popularity.

The movies have stopped trying to kid the public into the notion that their stars are fabulous creatures living enchanted lives. The more home-like they can be pictured the better.

Famine Amid Plenty. Although there are thousands of extra girls in Hollywood, there are only 88 who qualify as "Class A Dress Girls"—meaning that their device against holdups. This new protection is tear gas equipment.

To Consider Speedboat Ban. The board of selectmen of Ellington will meet again this latter part of the week to take up the matter of motor crafts on the waters of Crystal Lake. It has been necessary recently to take measures to govern the operation of these crafts. It is a rather complicated matter and it will take time to consider

SERVICE for the MOTORIST

Motor Hints

Timely Suggestions on the Care of the Car by the Automobile Club of Hartford.

Care Following Service. A little more care in the operation of the car following repairs should be the rule if owners expect full returns on their investment in service.

This is illustrated by the process of putting special compounds on the brake linings to eliminate brake noises. Even though the mechanic may be very sparing with the material he is using the brakes will have a tendency to grab until the compound works into the lining properly. If the treatment has been made to only one or two brakes it should be obvious that grabbing during a sudden stop might cause a bad slide.

Furthermore, caution in operating the brakes following this sort of treatment aids the compound in making the lining more nearly squeakless, by spreading it about over the lining surface.

Warning in Oily Shackles. Do your spring shackles look to be overoiled?

If so, and if you have taken this as a tip to hold off on further lubrication, it may be a warning of trouble. In hot weather lubricant leaks to the surface more readily, thus giving the impression that a shackle doesn't need attention when as a matter of fact its bushings inside may be dry.

The rule for this time of year is to lubricate more frequently the lighter lubricant used. If grease is used naturally it will stay inside longer, despite other disadvantages. Owners of cars with centralized lubricating systems using oil, therefore, should pull out the plunger more often but of course not so extravagantly as to risk overloading the brakes, if a mechanical braking system is used.

Best Test For Brakes. When can brakes be considered to be perfectly adjusted?

Probably the most exacting test is that of noting how steady the car is when stopped from a speed of thirty miles per hour coming down a curving hill when the paving is wet. The car should not swerve to the right or left, nor show any tendency for the rear end to skid around.

Many brakes that work well enough in the straight-ahead position fail to equalize properly when the car is turning. Of course in making the test it is important to have the tires properly inflated all around and to take into consideration any variation in traction due to tread wear.

A gravel driveway also furnishes an exacting test of brake equalization. When stopping on the loose stones the wheel of the slightly more active brake will be sure to slide.

Putting Trouble to Work. There's nothing like making use of trouble in these days when time is at a premium and expenses run high. It may, for instance, look discouraging to have the radiator boil over on a hill but if there is an opportunity to get a fresh supply of water at the top much can be gained by opening up the drain cock and letting part of the contents of the cooling system run off.

This will get rid of much of the rust and dirt in the water jackets and radiator core, which may be the cause of the overheating itself. Do not, of course, drain off all the water.

When engines become chronic overheaters it is customary to hold out the cylinder block and the radiator core. Some owners do this every year to excellent advantage.

So that accidental overheating can be useful, even if the cause of the trouble is not the accumulation of rust in the system.

Where the Oil Leaks. Now that motorists are becoming aware that much of the engine's "consumption" of oil is nothing more than leakage it may be timely to point out a difference in construction which makes it more important to watch leakage in the new cars.

When splash systems of engine lubrication were in general use it wasn't essential to keep the valve cover plates tight. Valves worked

"dry" and stuck so often that many owners kept the plates off so they could lubricate the valves over the stems with less fuss. This picture is now completely changed because of pressure lubrication.

Valves are lubricated in such a way that the compartment is wet with oil at all times. Quite a bit can be lost if the covers are not tightly fastened.

Kerosene Not For Valves. Kerosene, the old standby for sticky valves, is gradually being ruled out of the picture as special valve oils and oiling devices become perfected.

While it will free sticky valves kerosene has certain disadvantages, the most important of which is the fact that it is not a lubricant. A valve usually sticks because it is too dry. It needs oil. Kerosene frees the sticking temporarily but gets into the cylinders if injected through the carburetor or a spark plug opening.

Oil dilution and undesirable removal of oil from the cylinder walls are two very obvious results of such treatment.

New Pointer on Tires. Owners of new cars should be especially careful to keep tire pressure up to standard at all times not only because the side walls are new and stiff but also because of a change in tire conditions which is apt to be overlooked. The tires on the new car are not likely to be overzealous.

Overzealous is usually left to the owner when he comes to purchase a new set of tires. If he has run his previous car for any length of time he probably has oversteered the tires not only to obtain better riding qualities but also as a means of tire economy. Larger tires naturally carry their load more easily.

It is customary not to overzeal tires on a new car unless the buyer desires to make a further investment, and for this reason it is important to prevent undue strain on the tires by keeping them up to the recommended pressure.

Resistance Unit Important. Attached to the dash observing motorists may have noticed a small coil of iron wire mounted on a porcelain spool. The part is known as the ignition resistance unit and its function is to prevent the battery from discharging back into the primary winding of the coil when the ignition switch is left on with the engine dead.

Under such circumstances the iron wire heats up and retards the rate of discharge. If the car is left too long in this condition the unit burns out, requiring replacement if the machine is to be used again.

One reason why owners sometimes leave the car with ignition on without anything happening is simply because luck is with them. The interrupter points of the distributor must be closed before there can be current leakage back to the coil.

Oil Springs on Sides. Where it is recommended to lubricate the springs with oil and the owner has not equipped the springs with covers the way the job is done has much to do with the results obtained. It is not enough to squirt oil over the top leaf of each spring on the theory that oil will feed to the other leaves from this point. In fact, this is about the most inefficient way of doing the job.

When the oil is squirted on the spring tops it generally flows toward the axle easily, especially if the owner scrapes the dirt off the top leaf. Oil then quickly reaches the point where it is needed least. If this same oil were squirted over the sides of the leaves it would work back to the axle more slowly and would have made opportunity to get in between the leaves on the way.

Last year nations of the world launched 50 per cent more automobiles and 800 per cent more were in progress of building than in the twelve months preceding the World War.

The Hollywood Story

DAN RORIMER had been in Hollywood two weeks when he got a letter from an old movie paper friend, ZIGGY YOUNG, telling him to look up a girl named ANNE WINTER, who had come to Hollywood from Tulsa, Okla., to "crash the movies." Dan doesn't want to be bothered chasing "movie struck" girls but he gets in touch with Anne Winter, expecting to find the sort of girl that Ziggy had described—and is literally swept off his feet by her charm.

They go to dinner, where Dan, at her request, tells about himself—how he had given up newspaper work to write fiction, and how one of his stories had been bought by the movies, a circumstance that led to his signing a contract as scenario writer for Continental Pictures.

Anne is an extra—or is trying to be, for she has worked just one day since coming to Hollywood. She has had stage experience—in stock companies, which, Dan tells her, is the best foundation for an extra to have. Dan is a little dissatisfied with things at Continental, and Anne gains the fact from little things he had said. That same evening they go to the Roosevelt Hotel to dance.

CHAPTER III

It was wonderful to dance with someone who followed you so effortlessly and lightly as a flower inclining in the wind who responded to your every mood as though the two of you had been born to dance together.

Dan Rorimer told himself before they had gotten around the crowded tables that it was for girls like Anne Winter that the modern rhythms had been invented. "Happy days are here again," he had spoken truly; it did get into his blood. He suspected it was in hers, too. Music like this did things to you, if you were young and found youth something to enjoy; it awakened slumbering fires within you, brought you to quick pulsating life. She was just a tick over average height—not more than an inch at most. Rorimer thought, but it counted a lot. He was tall—six feet in his shoes—and he didn't like to hold his arms too low when he danced. Not that it mattered; he merrily reflected. Such things really didn't view from another and maturer perspective; but as long as they contributed to perfection they were not unimportant.

It somehow pleased him that several of the musicians were watching them. Swinging past the orchestra stage at the far end of the room, he noted how their eyes followed; and when the leader caught his own glance, smiled, Dan smiled back. It enhanced even his own estimate of his partner to know that others approved, too.

Two pianos now took up the refrain alone while the other players rested and beat time with their feet. Soft cadences, yet somehow a little mad . . . stirring . . . irresistible.

Dan began to sing the words. He turned his head a little and sang softly into Anne Winter's ear:

"Happy days are here again!
The skies above are clear again.
Let us sing a song of cheer again—
Happy days are here again!"

Anne smiled happily, blended her low, smooth voice with his:

"Altogether about it now!
There's no one who can doubt it now—
So let's tell the world about it now—
Happy days are here again!"

Dan stopped. He wanted to listen. Her voice, scarcely above a whisper, but vibrant and alive, did things to him. Thrilled him—a worn-out word but the right one . . . And this was the girl, he thought with a little contempt for himself that he had called up just as a favor to Ziggy Young!

" . . . cares and troubles are gone; there'll be no more from now on. Happy days are here again!
The skies above are clear again; let us sing a song of cheer again—
Happy days are here again!"

And now the whole orchestra took up the refrain—brasses, string, drums . . . Fast rhythm; happy, carefree rhythm. Someone near them said, "What a score of voices sang the chorus, and cheers tore the air when the song was ended."

"And that's that," said Rorimer, walking off the floor with her. "You've been holding out on me. Why didn't you tell me you sang?"

Anne laughed. "If you call that singing—"

"I'm discovering something new about you every minute. Did you sing on the stage any?"

"No."

"Their waiter arrived before Rorimer could ask her why. Anne said, 'I'd like something with plenty of ice in it.' Dan ordered a salad of avocado and artichoke for her, and an iced drink.

She began to question him about his plans. "You gave me the impression," she said, "that you weren't exactly satisfied with things at Continental Pictures. I call it rather wonderful—there are millions, you know, who'd give anything to do what you're doing; and such a very few who can."

Rorimer said, "Perhaps I'm dissatisfied with myself. I sold myself before I came out here that I wouldn't criticize their methods. It's the popular thing, of course, for disgruntled writers to knock the moving picture producers, but I've always thought there must be some brains in the business or it wouldn't be where it is today."

"But . . . I stopped. Not so

Centers Interest on the Back

In Youthful-Buttoned Closing

By ANNETTE

A printed crepe silk with youthful appeal closes at the back with buttons from neck to hipline. The flat collar of plain white crepe is decidedly modern.

The pointed seaming detracts beautifully from breadth through the hips.

This charming model of modified princess lines is belted at the normal waistline.

Style No. 837 may be copied exactly. It comes in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Black canton faille crepe with pale pink crepe collar is extremely chic.

Patterned wool jerseys, sheer crepe wools, georgette crepe and crepe satin are advanced ideas of Fall that lend themselves perfectly to this smart type.

Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch material with 3/4 yard of 35-inch contrasting.

Wrinkled neckties take on pristine freshness again and no shine whatsoever when the new tie iron is used. It not only presses the lining of an old tie that is sad looking, but it raises the nap while it both steams and presses.

HOW TO SHOP

CUT GLASS

By William H. Baldwin

Fully half of what is now on the market as "cut glass" is nothing but pressed glass which is finished and polished by hand. This is a cheaper method of manufacture and produces a poorer quality of glass. It can be readily identified by running the fingers over the inside of the piece in question. Pressed or molded glass always has slight ridges.

There are other ways of telling the difference. Real cut glass has a brilliant finish, whereas the imitation lacks luster. The real ware is heavier than the imitation and gives a resonant ring when tapped, while the pressed product lacks a noticeable ring.

TRAVEL PURSE

A new travel purse for traveling has, in addition to passport and steamer ticket compartments, small pockets for checks, others for bills and express checks and an attached memorandum for addresses, hotel numbers and other important things you might forget.

Maybe the linotype who called them radio production statistics had good grounds for the spelling.

YOUR CHILDREN

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

We all turn vagabond in summer—in mind at least. The claims of desk or housework can't hold our minds from wandering into those delightful dream worlds of woods and sea and mountain—our noses sniff the spicy air of pine, the salty border of the pebbled skirt in la of the red, and white dots, too.

CONTRASTING DOTS

A new silk suit with blue and white polka dots—has a tuck-in blouse of red and white dots. The border of the pleated skirt is la of the red, and white dots, too.

NEW TIES

Don't be stingy about purchasing new grosgrain ribbon or new shoelaces for your oxford. They should be kept as immaculately clean and pressed as neckties or scarfs.

Restless CHILDREN

CHILDREN will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper, mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than a more powerful medicine.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is need. In cases of colic, diarrhea or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. A coated tongue calls for just a few drops to ward off constipation, as does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed.

THIS AND THAT IN FEMININE LORE

Old Mother Nature must have realized the harmony between peaches and melons when she arranged to have them ripen at the same time. They are delicious diced in equal quantities and sweetened with sugar or preserved in ginger syrup. The combination is even better frozen and served with a topping of whipped cream.

Old-fashioned rockers, or modern ones for that matter are coming in again and it is good news for there is no denying the relaxation of a comfortable rock.

An artistic arrangement of pictures over a mantle was effected by hanging two small round silhouettes, one above the other in the center, and at each side large square pictures. At the extreme ends were low bowls of trailing ivy which was most effective against the white woodwork of the fireplace.

Backless sport frocks of cotton were quite the thing for wear at the fashionable watering places during the hot spell. Linens, batiste, ginghams and other cottons. The girls have been shedding their popular jackets and the new short-sleeved, belted, one-piece frock came into prominence, with sensible wide brimmed hats.

Some one has figured out that the rugs are the shortest-lived of all the home furnishings. The harsh treatment it receives wears it out in about nine years, while a good chair may be expected to last say 12 years. One of the ways to cut down the high death rate among rugs is to buy hardy, well made ones that will stand the friction on the under as well as upper sides. Another is the use of a rug cushion.

For the summer dance there is no fabric so sweet and cool looking as the printed chiffon with its cape floating backward. Sheer nets are also good, and some very lovely ones have been fashioned of black net with appliques of white organdies have appeared at some of the more formal social affairs.

The sausage known here as "hot dog" celebrates its 125th birthday this year. Despite its name it is not a native of Frankfurt, but was named by a butcher who learned his trade in that town and named his sausage after it.

A number of gardeners report trouble in transplanting the oriental poppy, one of the showiest of all perennials. They should not be moved in season of active growth, but shortly after the plant ripens in midsummer and continuing until about the first of October.

mainly used by florists is one of the best stakes for tall flowers. It is cheap and may be obtained from florists or seed stores. Raffia may be used to tie the plant to the stake. Choice gladioli, delphiniums and other tall varieties should be staked individually.

Over Thousand Homers Made In Majors So Far

Yanks Win Two From Red Sox; Gehrig Makes Another Circuit Clout in First Game.

By HUGH J. FULLERTON, JR.

Only a decade has passed since that memorable 1919 season when Babe Ruth opened the era of the "slugging" ball by hitting 29 homers and regardless of the still disputed question as to the liveliness of the ball, it is well worth the fans while to compare the slugging of the present and past days.

Where only six major leaguers hit 10 homers in 1919, thirty have done so in 1929, thirty eight four baggers in a dull day yesterday brought the major league total up to 1,050 more than double the number hit by the two leagues in the whole of the 1919 season.

Gehrig was the only leader in the slugging brigade to hit a home run yesterday and he picked a highly appropriate moment to connect. It came in the tenth inning of the Yankees first game against the Boston Red Sox and turned a 2-2 pitching battle between Evers and Miller to a 3-2 victory.

The double win gave the Yankees a bit of an edge on their leading rivals as the Athletics defeated Washington 7 to 4. Grove held the Senators in check while four Washington hurlers proved ineffective.

At Cleveland, Earl Whitehill's relief hurling kept the Indians from overcooking an early Detroit lead and the Tigers won, 6 to 5. Wally Stewart and George Sisler pitched a nice game for St. Louis against Chicago and the Browns won the first by 5 to 2 in ten innings and the second by 1 to 0. The Sox made seven errors in the first game.

The Brooklyn Robins showed the way to National League in home run hitting as well as in the standing as they improved their position with a double victory over Philadelphia. Glenn Wright and Harvey Hendrick hit four baggers in the second game while Evers and Eddy won 9 to 4 after taking the first 9 to 5. Frank O'Doul hit his 18th homer in the first game. The Cubs were idle.

Fred Fitzsimmons also hit a home run which clinched a rather doubtful victory for the N. Y. Giants and Boston Braves giving New York a 5 to 2 victory.

A timely single by Ernie Bartell in the eighth was all that was needed to give Pittsburgh its second 6 to 5 win over St. Louis.

BUDDIES WINNERS

The West Side Buddies took the Highland Park Juniors into camp handsly yesterday afternoon at the Four Acres. The team started for the Buddies which they won 12 to 1. The Buddies clinched the game with seven runs in the eighth. Brimley made two hits. The box score:

How To Be Popular On a Golf Course

Here's a few tips for Manchester golfers to read, but don't squirm unless the shoe fits you. There are 20 "Don'ts" in the list, surely one or two must be appropriate for most every golfer. Here's how to be popular on a golf course:

OLDTIMERS GATHER FOR GAME FRIDAY

Interest in Manchester baseball is increasing as the season draws on and the annual town series nears. Last night's Rockville-Manchester Green battle was well watched and tomorrow finds another three-star attraction on the card.

ARMOUR WINS

Ancestor, Ont., July 31.—(AP)—Leo Diegel's two-year reign over the Canadian Open golf championship has ended and in the Agua Caliente professional's place has stepped Tommy Armour, great Scotch stylist.

JOHNNY LORCH PLAYING WITH LAKE PLACID NINE

John Lorch, who played second base for the Manchester team under Coach Breckenridge, is playing the same position for the Lake Placid, New York team. When the season closes in September, he will enter the law office of Charles O'Donnell and Lory in New York City, as he received his law degree from Columbia University in June.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Bartell, Pirates—Drove in tying and winning runs in eighth with a single in Cards game. Fitzsimmons, Giants—Held Braves to eight hits and drove in three of Giants' five runs, with double and homer.

STREIBLING INCIDENT

New York, July 31.—(AP)—If W. L. (Young) Streibling, now rated as the outstanding challenger for Max Schmeling's questionable heavyweight crown, remains in England for a conference with Joe Jacobs, the German manager, he will have a long wait.

HORNBY TRAINS

Chicago, July 31.—(AP)—Roger Hornby is certain he will be ready to play second base regularly for the Cubs before the season is over—regardless of what anyone else may think. After his workout yesterday he said he felt the club was ready to start training camp.

STURGEON, KEARNS ENGAGE IN DUEL, FORMER WINS 2-1

Last night's game was a pitchers' battle between "Bingo" Sturgeon and "Gobbo" Kearns. "Bingo" got the edge when he struck out nine men. Kearns pitched a fine game but his team flipped a chance to win in the seventh when "Yummy" Dahlquist singled, Kerr walked, Jolly fanned, Falkowski went out as a grounder to Stratton and Jack Hewitt flew out to Bill Wiley.

ABOUT TOWN

Officer Joseph Prentice today starts on his annual ten-day vacation.

Frank Parulski, a student of theology at Scranton, wishes to thank sincerely the people of the Polish National church, for the gift given him to fulfill the mission in Manchester. The mission was a great success due to the people, Rev. P. Latas and Mr. Nawitowski, says Mr. Parulski.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Squires of 26 Birch street are visiting relatives in Patchaugus and South Hampton, L. I., this week. They will return Monday.

A daughter was born this morning at the Hartford hospital to Mr. and Mrs. John Erickson of West Hartford. Mrs. Erickson was formerly Miss Agatha Wright of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Blackwood and daughter Beatrice, are spending a two weeks vacation in Henninger, N. H.

Mrs. J. A. Johnson of Birch Mountain Road, Highland Park, has returned after a two weeks' motor trip to Poland Springs, Maine, with Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Blahos of New York, who will be her guests here for a few days.

Women of Mooseheart Legion will have a benefit lawn card party tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Daniel Griffin of Hilliard street. Three prizes will be awarded the winners, as well as an attendance prize.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Johnson of 33 Sunset street have as their guests, Mrs. Johnson's sister, Mrs. J. F. Fenard, with her husband and son Craig of Philadelphia.

William M. Munro of 342 East Center street is confined to his bed with illness. Mr. Munro who is 86 years old has been falling rapidly and no hope is held out for his recovery.

M. C. Jepson and son Andrew who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Clemson of North Elm street the past two weeks have returned to their home in Ellizabeth, N. J. Mrs. Jepson and her daughter will remain for a week's visit with her sister, Mrs. William A. Knoffa at her Columbia Lake cottage.

The Polish Girls Eagle club will spend the week-end at Lighthouse Point and nearby shore places. They will make the trip in private automobiles Saturday.

Robert and Paul Turcotte, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Turcotte of Center street, will spend the remainder of their vacation with relatives and friends in Vermont and New Hampshire.

Members of Dilworth-Cornell Unit 102, American Legion auxiliary, are invited to attend a social tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. Minnie Sault, 33 Foster street. Mrs. Sault is chairman of the Gold Star Mothers Pilgrimage for the local branch.

CONTINUE GAS MAINS
HERE TO ROCKVILLE

New Pipe Line Made Necessary by Abandonment of Rockville Plant—Spreads Service.

The announcement by the Rockville-Willimantic Lighting company's officials that it is their plan to discontinue the manufacture of gas at the Rockville plant, and secure a gas supply by high pressure mains from the Connecticut Light and Power company in Hartford was read with interest by the people living in the small places between this town and Rockville. They visualize the possibility of having gas in their homes for cooking purposes and other domestic uses within the near future. It is expected the work of constructing a new pipe line between here and Rockville will start at once.

The Manchester Gas company is now serving residents along Oakland street and side streets as far as North School street and plans were already under way to extend the mains as far as Oakland. The new high pressure main will be installed through that village and Talcottville. It will doubtless be laid along the proposed new state highway which will be routed back of the woolen mills of Talcott Brothers and swing over toward Dobsenville. The contract for the construction of this new road has been let and it is expected the work will soon be under way.

POLICE BEATS

The change of police beats goes into effect August 1 and the notices of the changes have been posted by Chief of Police Samuel G. Gordon.

The day force will consist of the chief, Lieut. Barron, Motorcycle Officer Casella, Patrolmen Crockett and Wirtalla.

MR. AND MRS. WM. KEAN
25 YEARS MARRIED

Maple Street Couple Observing Anniversary — Given Party By Relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kean of 127 Maple street are today observing the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, which took place July 21, 1905, at the home of Mrs. Kean's parents in Woodbridge, Conn. Tuesday evening in honor of this anniversary they were given a pleasant surprise at the home of Mr. Kean's sister, Mrs. Emil Kottke of 23 Hill street. Mr. Kottke invited them for a long auto ride and when they arrived at his home they found a number of the other members of the Kean family awaiting them. An enjoyable evening was spent and refreshments served. Mr. and Mrs. Kean were presented with a silver syrup and sugar shaker for waffle set and other appropriate gifts. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kottke, Ruth and Albert; Miss Mary and Miss Jennie Kean; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kean, Jr.; Elizabeth and Lincoln of 56 Benton street; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander G. Kean, Ruby, Donald and Kenneth Kean of Rocky Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Kean who are now having a two weeks' vacation were guests of Danielson, Conn., at their summer home at Quonset Point, East Greenwich, R. I., from Saturday until Tuesday. Today they left for a visit with Mrs. Kean's sister, Mrs. E. H. Beardmore of New Haven, where a celebration of the silver wedding will take place this evening. Saturday they will go to Ocean Grove, N. J., to remain a week. This is where they went on their wedding trip and the place they chose for their tenth anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Kean came here during the winter of 1924 from Barre, Mass., where they had spent most of their married life. Mr. Barre was a correspondent for the Worcester Telegram and the Springfield Republican and took an active part in the town's activities. Mrs. Kean was publicity chairman of the Barre Women's Club, for years superintendent of the primary department of the Congregational church of which both were members, and an active worker in its Women's Association. On coming here they identified themselves with Center Congregational church and Mrs. Kean has taken a prominent part in the work of Loyal Circle of King's Daughters. Mr. Kean transferred his membership in the Odd Fellows to King David Lodge of this town.

NO RIBS FRACTURED
IN MANNING'S FALL

Electric Company Employee to Return to Home in Few Days—Climbing Spur Broke.

X-ray pictures disclose no fracture of the ribs as was at first feared in the case of William H. Manning of 15 Walker street, who fell from a tree while engaged in line repair work for the Manchester Electric Company. Mr. Manning continues to improve at the Memorial hospital but is still very lame. It was said at his home today that Mr. Manning's fall was due to a spur which broke while he was in a tree at Oakland engaged in putting up a new high tension line. It is expected that Mr. Manning will be able to return to his home in a day or two but he will not be able to return to his work for some time yet.

POLICE COURT

John Bahler of Ellington, for failure to secure a combination registration which would allow him the right to transport employees to the tobacco farms, was in the Manchester Police Court this morning. The case was continued from July 26. Bahler was represented in court by Attorney Harry Nair of Hartford. It was brought out that a new ruling of the motor vehicle department provides for a combination registration for vehicles having a seating capacity of greater than seven, used to transport persons, but not used as a public service motor vehicle. Mr. Bahler now has this registration. Judge Johnson decided to suspend judgment in this case on payment of costs.

JUDGE HYDE GETS FIRST OF BUICK EIGHTS HERE

One of 7,000 in Country Who Placed Order for Car Before Actually Seeing Model.

James M. Shearer, manager of the local Buick agency has just delivered the first 1931 Buick Eight in town to Judge William S. Hyde, a seven passenger sedan. Mr. Hyde has been driving Buicks for years and he might be numbered among the seven thousand Buick drivers who placed bonafide orders for the new 1931 Eights before having seen them, based on confidence that the manufacturers consistently build great cars. Mr. Shearer while getting ready for the display at his salesrooms beginning last Saturday, received a telegram from the sales manager of the Buick Motor Company at Flint, Michigan, stating that orders totaling ten million dollars had already been received for the new 1931 Eights, and he predicted a record year for Buick. Mr. Shearer showed the telegram to a Herald reporter. He is very optimistic with regard to the local Buick business for the months ahead and has a number of good prospects. He was much encouraged that so many Buick drivers called at the showrooms Saturday to see the new model, in response to invitations sent by mail.

TO ATTEND BUFFALO
CONVENTION OF MUTES

Clarence White of Coventry to Drive to Unveiling of Monument to de l'Espe.

Clarence White of Coventry was in town yesterday afternoon having his automobile tuned up for a trip that he will take to Buffalo, N. Y., together with three other persons. Mr. White who is both deaf and dumb is starting Sunday to attend a gathering of men and women from all parts of the United States, Canada and some from Europe who will be present at the unveiling of a monument to the hero of all deaf mutes, the Frenchman de l'Espe. The monument honors de l'Espe because it was he, unable to speak or hear, who made the manual alphabet years ago, which is still used between mutes. In addition to attending the convention White intends to continue on to Canada and will be absent a month on the trip.

Mrs. Archie Kilpatrick and son Ralph motored to Granite Lake, Munsonville, N. H., yesterday.
