

THREE MEN DIE, ONE INJURED IN STAMFORD FIRE

Loss Estimated at $35,000; Explosion Starts Blaze; No Hope Held Out for Fourth Victim of Accident.

Stamford, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Three men were burned to death and another badly injured in an explosion and fire at Richards and Company, manufacturing chemists here this morning. The fire loss was estimated at $35,000 and all fire apparatus and firemen in Stamford were called out.

The three men burned to death were: George Starbuck, 38, and Frank Amoreo, 59, both of Stamford, and Frank De Marco. The bodies were burned beyond recognition and identification was made by the fact that those three men were the only known ones at the scene of the explosion. The injured man, for whom little hope of recovery is held, is Majk Keryehny, 42, of Stamford.

Cause of Blast.

The cause of the explosion is believed to be static electricity igniting alcohol fumes in the dehydrating department of the factory.

It was thought at one time that another man lost his life but later it appeared he did not go to work this morning.

The four storage buildings were wrecked. The estimate of loss after a survey of the plant remained at about $35,000.

SOUTH NO FIELD FOR COMMUNISTS

Southern Speaker Discusses Labor Situation at Public Affairs Institute.

University, Va., Aug. 5.—(AP)—The South will never turn to Communism or Socialism in the opinion of John E. Edgerton, president of the National Association of Manufacturers and a speaker at the Institute of Public Affairs here today.

Mr. Edgerton and Franklin Walters, Jr., a Washington representative of the Baltimore Sun were speakers on this morning's program. Former Governor Frank O. Lowden, will deliver the principal address at the general meeting of the Institute tonight.

Round tables and open forums of the Institute went into full swing today after formal opening last night by Governor Pollard, Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, president of the University and Charles C. G. Memphis, director of the Institute.

South's Labor Policy

Edgerton's subject was "A Labor Policy for the South."

"If I know the South as well as I think I do," he said, "it is not, for a long time, the matter of labor, but of the laborer. Socialism, or other 'isms' of varying hues parading in different disguises which conflict with American institutions and those eternal principles or rights upon which they are founded."

He said freedom in the matter of employment was the principal reason for American industrial supremacy and the South must continue "open shop" to have permanent prosperity.

Discusses Haiti

Mr. Walters, who visited Haiti with the Forbes commission last winter, discussed the United States' policy in that island republic.

Without criticizing the United States' motives in Haitian intervention, Mr. Walters said it had encouraged rather than aided in self-government in Haiti.

Of three reasons offered for the American occupation of the little republic after the assassination of President Sam in 1915, Walters said only on the grounds of safeguarding the Panama Canal was this country justified in its action. The other two reasons offered at the time were to protect Americans, and for the sake of humanitarianism.

"It is because of the Panama Canal that Haiti constitutes a problem for the United States," he said. "This country could not tolerate the idea of any foreign power getting foothold in Haiti, which is just across the windward passage from our naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba."

He expressed the opinion that the United States representatives had "trayed from 'cooperation' with the republic to 'domination'."

KINGSFORD-SMITH GOES UNDER KNIFE

Noted Flier Suddenly Taken Ill With Appendicitis While On Visit.

Verre, Holland, August 5.—(AP)—Hendrik Willem van Loon, Dutch-American author, who was host to Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith, Australian transoceanic aviator, when he was taken ill, said today that his friend was resting well after an operation last night for acute appendicitis.

The author visited the hospital at Middelburg this forenoon. Afterwards he said: "The patient is resting well. There are no complications and normal convalescence may be expected. The only complication which can be foreseen is possibility of a civil war breaking out in the hospital over who will have the privilege of taking care of him."

It was learned that the operation revealed that the appendix had been severely inflamed for some little time but that the aviator had disregarded this as anything serious, attributing the pain to slight digestive trouble. In view of his exhausted condition his doctors have advised keeping him incommunicado, using the opportunity to give him a complete rest.

COUPLE BURNED TO DEATH

Cumberland, Md., Aug. 5.—(AP)—A spark from a pipe which he was smoking when he went to sleep is blamed today for the deaths of Joseph Davis, 58, a canal lock-keeper, and his wife, Alice, 53. Their charred bodies were found in the spring of a bed in the ruins of their home at Kifer, which was burned Sunday night. No inquest will be held.

GOLD RUSH ON IN AUSTRALIA

Thirty Ounce Gold Nugget Found—Over 250 Prospectors Already on the Field.

Bendigo, Australia, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Discovery of a 30 ounce gold nugget at Tarnagulla, Victoria, 40 miles from here, has started a new gold rush.

More than 250 prospectors, most of them driving American cars, already have reached the field and pegged their claims. A strike today was in the throes of the greatest gold fever in many years. Seven expeditions with full equipment including airplanes, trucks, and camel caravans, the prospectors backed by many thousands of dollars and their outfits staffed by experienced pioneers have been fitted out for penetration of the waste areas where traces of gold have been found.

Hostile bushmen already have caused considerable trouble for some of the prospectors.

UTILITY RATES CAMPAIGN ISSUE

Democratic Leaders Decide That the Small Consumer Must Be Protected.

Southampton, L. I., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Political observers today professed to see the possibility of public utility rates as a national issue in 1932 as the result of a conference among Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Democratic Party leaders here.

Despite repeated assurances from the participants that their sessions were of no consequence whatever, the politically minded insisted more than ever today on attaching great importance to them.

As they regarded yesterday the midday session between Franklin D. Roosevelt, Alfred E. Smith and John J. Raabok as having interesting possibilities in connection with the 1932 presidential campaign, they were today interpreting the governor's espousal of the cause of the small consumer in connection with possible reductions in utility rates in a national light.

Edison Co. Plan

It was known, they said, that Governor Roosevelt looked upon the proposed $5,398,000 rate reduction of the small consumer in the Edison Company and three affiliated organizations as indicative of what might be in the minds of other utilities corporations.

And they discussed with interest the possibility of a Democratic National plank in 1932 based on the cause of the small consumer. "Help Mr. Average Citizen to keep down his expenses," Governor Roosevelt did discuss at some length yesterday his letter to Milo R. Maltbie, chairman of the Public Service Commission in which he pointed out that the New York meter charges proposed by the New York Edison Company along with a cut from 7 to 5 cents per kilowatt hour might mean an increase, instead of a decrease in the cost to the small consumer.

Small Consumer

And he made the point insofar as he could in the policies of the commission without assuming a dictatorship in excess of his authority, the state of New York would in the future demand that public utilities corporations contemplating rate

OUR FIRST LADY CHRISTENS SHIP

Special Train Brings Mrs. Hoover From Capital to the Camden Shipyards.

Camden, N. J., Aug. 5.—(AP)—The steamship Excambur, built for the American Export Steamship Company, was christened by Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the President, as it was launched today from the New York Shipbuilding Company yard.

Mrs. Hoover came from Washington in a special train with friends to be the sponsor of the ship.

There was a great cheer and much hand clapping as she swung the traditional birchbark bottle against the prow of the big hull. The bottle was filled with water which splashed against the receding ship.

Engine Leaves Tracks

The special train which brought Mrs. Hoover from the national capital was run directly to the shipbuilding yard. It was planned that Mrs. Hoover was to leave her car as near as possible to the launching platform. One of the wheels of the slow-moving locomotive, however, left the track inside the yard bringing the train to a standstill.

An automobile was pressed into use and Mrs. Hoover was saved the short walk through the broiling sun to the launching platform.

At the platform she had to climb 25 steps to the little christening platform. She was greeted by Henry Heberman, president of the export line; H. E. Erick, vice president, and T. L. Bardo, resident of the shipbuilding company.

Mrs. Hoover carried a huge bouquet of roses. She wore a rose colored and black chiffon dress over which she wore a black chiffon coat. Her face was protected from the blazing sun by a large hat.

FULLER APPOINTED

Washington, Aug. 2.—(AP)—President Hoover today appointed Brig. Gen. Ben H. Fuller, commandant of the Marines succeeding the late General Neville. General Fuller became acting commandant on the death of General Neville. His experience, rank and his familiarity with the duties of the office were considered factors in his selection. At one time General Fuller was secretary of state, police, war interior and navy for Santo Domingo. He is 60 years of age, and a native of Michigan.

Copenhagen, Denmark, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The American freight steamer Chickasaw, in collision with the Swedish freighter Femmern, was sighted three miles off Copenhagen at 4:30 p. m., today. The Chickasaw reported eleven men had been saved from the Femmern.

The American steamship's master said the survivors were aboard the salvage steamer Garm.

The Chickasaw and the Femmern collided off Denmark this forenoon, the Swedish ship being cut in two by the American freighter. Four seamen were reported lost in the crash.

The aftermath of the Femmern remained afloat, the reports said, and was being towed to port.

HAD CREW OF 48

Philadelphia, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The American combination freighter and passenger steamer Chickasaw, in collision near Stockholm, Sweden, today, left Philadelphia, July 18 and New York July 4 with a general cargo and some passengers, bound for Copenhagen and other Scandinavian ports. The passengers were taken aboard at New York.

The Chickasaw operates on the American-Scandinavia line and is owned by the Moore & McCormick Co., Incorporated. The vessel is in command of Captain O. M. Manning, of New York City. She carries a crew of 48.

Her owners here had no word from the ship other than that contained in Associated Press despatches.

The Chickasaw was built in the war-time Hog Island shipyard here. She is 401 feet long and has a gross tonnage of 5997.

40 YEAR OLD MYSTERY CLEARED BY LETTERS

Crown Prince of Austria Killed Baroness and Then Himself—First Believed Forester Was Murderer.

Vienna, Aug. 5.—(AP)—A series of remarkable notes concerning the death of the Crown Prince Rudolf, who was found dead in his hunting lodge at Mayerling with the young Baroness Marie Yvonne in 1889, has been published in a Vienna newspaper.

The material, prepared by Count Josef Hoyos, who slept under the same roof with the Crown Prince on the fatal night, says that Rudolf had been arrested in that city and had confessed to the crime.

Healey was arrested when New York police made a search of buses entering the city from Boston. They sought Healey and Paul Hurley, 20, of Pittsburgh, Pa., both of whom were wanted for O'Brien's death.

When taken into custody, Healey gave the name of "Kelley" and at first disclaimed all knowledge of the crime.

O'Brien and Albert W. Daniels, 43, a civilian were shot while the officer investigated the actions of the men who were acting suspiciously. While O'Brien searched one of the men fired the shots. Daniels was expected to recover from his wounds.

Suspicion was thrown on Healey and Hurley after Gordon Wilson, whose name was found on a discarded hat that had been discarded near the scene of the shooting, told police that the men had taken buses out of the city.

Healey was employed in a hotel as a clerk.

G. O. P. CONVENTION SEPTEMBER 15-16

To Be Held In Foot Guard Hall In Hartford—Demo- crats Also Pick Dates.

Hartford, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Connecticut Republicans will hold their state convention to select candidates for a state ticket in the Foot Guard Armory here Sept. 15 and 16.

Caucuses to pick delegates to the state and district conventions will be held September 4 while the Senatorial district conventions will take place September 8.

These dates were chosen last night at a meeting of the Republican State central committee at the Farmington Country Club. The time of the state convention is much later than has been customary as a result it is probable that for the first time in years the Democratic state convention will precede the Republicans.

The Democrats have selected New London and are expected to convene between Sept. 10 and 16. A committee will announce the date within a few days.

Farmers in Grain Belt Feeding Wheat to Cattle

Chicago, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Farmers throughout the grain belt have begun to feed their wheat to the hogs and to cut it for hay, reports to the grain trade here indicated today, and LaSalle street hailed the news as an indication that old Sol is having his turn at producing some farm relief.

The loss to the corn crop from drought during July has been estimated by grain brokers at about 400,000,000 bushels.

Nature seems to be settling the farm relief problem, said Bernard Snow, former assistant U. S. secretary of agriculture, now a member of the grain firm of Bartlett, Frasier & Co., here. "The tremendous loss of the corn crop during July" he said "is a loss which is still continuing, is likely to prove a blessing in disguise."

Pointing out that the heat and drought were accomplishing "such a reduction of the crop surplus as was proposed by the Federal Farm Board," Snow said that "it looks as though the needed readjustment between supply and demand of all products and incidentally emphasize the fact that acreage is not the only factor to be reckoned with in determining volume of crop production."

Serves Congressional District as Large as New England

If you think you have a good many troubles, just consider the case of Mayor R. E. He must please constituents in an area as large as the whole of New England, as the sixteenth Texas district comprises 38 counties with an area of more than 65,000 square miles and is the largest congressional district in the nation. The above maps show how the district compares in size with New England.

CONFESSES MURDER OF BAY STATE COP

Boston Man Arrested in New York As He Steps Out of a Motor Bus.

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 5.—(AP)—New York police today notified authorities that Thomas Healey, 18, Boston wanted for the slaying of Patrolman Joseph P. O'Brien here, had been arrested in that city and had confessed to the crime.

Healey was arrested when New York police made a search of buses entering the city from Boston. They sought Healey and Paul Hurley, 20, of Pittsburgh, Pa., both of whom were wanted for O'Brien's death.

When taken into custody, Healey gave the name of "Kelley" and at first disclaimed all knowledge of the crime.

Eight dwellings, a hotel, several stores, a filling station and other buildings were destroyed.

GUARD KILLED; IS MISTAKEN FOR SMUGGLER

Dry Officials Keep Details Secret—Two Boats Meet in Darkness Off Ipswich; Taken for Runners.

Boston, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Boatswain Lewis E. Pratt of the Salisbury Beach Coast Guard station was fatally wounded by bullets from another Coast Guard boat out of Base Seven, Gloucester last night when his surfboat was mistaken for a rumrunner near the mouth of the Ipswich River, Ipswich, Mass. Early reports had indicated the shots were fired from a rum vessel.

Pratt died at the Ipswich hospital a few hours after a fellow guardsman had brought their craft into Little Neck, a summer residential section of Ipswich.

Coast Guard officials declined to discuss the shooting for hours after it occurred. The statement revealing the facts was issued by Captain W. H. Munter, division commander, from local headquarters.

Names Kept Secret

Captain Munter said the names of the crew of the Gloucester craft, an outboard motor boat on special patrol duty, were not immediately available. A court martial would be conducted, he said. He referred to the shooting as "accidental."

Captain Munter's statement revealed that Pratt and his companion were going to the assistance of a vessel reported afloat. The crew of the motor boat reported it had signalled the surfboat and got no response. Believing it was a rum craft they opened fire. The shooting occurred in extreme darkness.

A detailed report of the shooting was forwarded immediately to Washington, Captain Munter said.

A board of inquiry was ordered to convene at the Salisbury Beach station this afternoon. District Commander H. R. Sands, of Portsmouth, N. H., and two officers from Base 7 were named to sit on the board.

WASHINGTON REPORT

Washington, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Coast Guard headquarters today received a brief telegraphic report regarding the shooting of Lewis E. Pratt, Coast Guard stationer slain while on duty off the Massachusetts coast last night.

The report said Pratt was a member of a crew of a lifeboat searching for a missing boat. The lifeboat, not engaged in search for rum runners, was fired upon by an unidentified craft which turned a machine gun upon the surf boat. Pratt was wounded and died later in a hospital.

AMERICAN SAILOR SHOT BY CHINESE

Shanghai, Aug. 5.—(AP)—One American and three British sailors were wounded when Communists attacked foreign gunboats on the Siang River near Changsha, related dispatches from the Hunan province capital disclosed today.

The American gunboat was shot through the chest yesterday when Red machine gunners sprayed the sides of the United States gunboat Palos with lead for the second time in a week. The Palos quickly silenced the communist fire, dispatches said.

Details Lacking

Details of the wounding of the British sailors were lacking, but it was known they were members of the crew of the British gunboat Teal.

Five sailors on the Palos were wounded last Wednesday when Communists fired at the gunboat as it approached Changsha to observe conditions after Reds had looted and burned many sections of the wealthy city. Fifty bandits were killed and many wounded as the Palos replied with machine guns and three inch rifles.

Dispatches said the latest Communist attacks upon foreign gunboats involved Japanese and Italian vessels as well as the Palos and Teal.

Eleven warships, including two American, were concentrated today at the tri-cities of Hankow, Wu-chang and Hanyang to protect foreigners against threatened Red incursions.

LONDON WELCOMES NOTED GIRL FLIER

Estimated 200,000 Present When Amy Johnson Reaches Home by Plane.

London, Aug. 5.—(AP)—An English lass of 23 who recently took an airplane on a solo flight from Croydon to Australia, rested at a London hotel today after a home coming reception such as the British Isles rarely have ever seen.

More than 200,000 persons, more than a million persons, it was estimated, were at the Croydon landing field last night to witness the delayed arrival of Miss Amy Johnson or "Johnny" as she prefers to be known, from Vienna, Austria, aboard the City of Glasgow, regular passenger plane. More than a million persons, it was calculated, cheered her as she was driven through London to her hotel, sitting Lindbergh fashion atop the back of the rear seat.

Plane Was Late

The young aviatrix was due at 6 p. m. from Vienna, but a half hour before the London and Cologne made the plane three hours late. The crowd augmented by the August bank holiday, nevertheless, waited to see her.

The girl, smiling, was lifted from the cabin of the ship and taken to the reception committee. A "mike" was set up for her to broadcast a speech but the roar of the cheering thousands drowned out all except the words "I am very glad to be home again."

Wild cheering and shouts greeted the young heroine as she /waded the 12 miles to her hotel, the crowds swarming in front of the car and on to the running board where many attempted to shake hands or kiss her.

The police had a lively time in protecting her from too enthusiastic attentions.

APPOINT M'ARTHUR CHIEF OF STAFF

Succeeds General Summerall Who Has Been Retired; Has Noted Career.

Washington, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Maj.-Gen. Douglas MacArthur today was appointed chief of staff of the Army by President Hoover, succeeding General Charles P. Summerall.

President Hoover said it gave him great pleasure to promote so brilliant a soldier to the position upon the retirement of General Summerall.

The chief executive acted upon the recommendation of Secretary Hurley in promoting General MacArthur over other major generals who outrank him.

General MacArthur recently was ordered to command the Philippine Corps Area with headquarters at San Francisco. He had been in command of the Philippine Department. He will assume his new duties upon the retirement of General Charles P. Summerall, November 1, 1930.

He is ranking officer who can spend the entire four years in the position he has to retire for age. He will not retire until 1944. He was born in Little Rock, Ark., January 26, 1880, and was appointed to West Point from Wisconsin in 1899, graduating at the head of his class. He entered the Engineer Corps. For five years he served in engineering work and later as aide to the President. From 1908 to 1917 he was assigned to various instruction duties and was assistant to the engineer officer in 1914.

From the outbreak of the World War, MacArthur's rise in rank was rapid. In 1917 he became a colonel of infantry and a year later a brigadier general. He commanded the 54th Infantry brigade of the forty-second Division at St. Mihiel and in the Meuse-Argonne offensives. He was twice wounded.

NO SIGNS OF RAIN

Washington, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The monotony of weather forecasts predicting no let up in the almost unprecedented drought which has baked vast agricultural regions between the Rocky mountains and the Appalachian, continued unbroken today.

Aside from light and scattered showers there was no prospect for general rain throughout the parched belt for at least 24 hours more.

The Weather Bureau officials watched the drought their reports showed only the lightest rain and continued high temperatures in the drought area for the past 24 hours.

Light Rains

Rains; none of which exceeded .78 of an inch, fell last night in northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin, northern Nebraska, Little Rock, Arkansas, northern Missouri and traces in Ohio and Indiana, with showers in Omaha and St. Louis.

No general rains were forecast although there were prospects for light showers today or tonight or tomorrow in parts of North Dakota, Missouri, Kansas, Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky.

Official Washington was viewing the drought with concern. President Hoover has been informed by Louis J. Taber, master of the National Grange, that unless sufficient rain comes within 10 to 30 days the drought will be a "major catastrophe."

SHOWERS PROMISED

Showers brought at least temporary relief to many of the drought stricken sections of the middle west and southwest states. The weather man promised showers for New England and the Atlantic seaboard. For the rest of the seared strag the report was:

"Local showers possible and not quite so warm."

In eastern Oklahoma a general rain last night broke a month's drought that had parched and blistered the countryside. The average temperature in the state was 100 degrees yesterday with Bartlesville cringing under 112.

COULDN'T BE LEFT UN- TURNED TO RELIEVE DISTRESS IN STRICKEN AREAS," HE WRITES—SITUATION BE- COMES MORE AND MORE SERIOUS AS HOT SPELL CON- TINUES AND NO RELIEF IS IN SIGHT.

Washington, Aug. 5.—(AP)—President Hoover today announced no stone would be left unturned by the government in its efforts to assist in relieving distress caused by the unprecedented drought.

The seriousness of the situation in a wide area east of the Mississippi and in the middle west has been the subject of conferences between Mr. Hoover and Secretary Hyde.

The result was to order a detailed survey made by the Department of Agriculture which will have a report next Monday.

President Hoover in his statement said:

"The drought situation has been the subject of several conferences between Secretary Hyde, Chairman Ledge and myself. The Department of Agriculture has undertaken a detailed survey of the situation. They will report next Monday upon the conditions in each area in the belt roughly following the Potomac, the Ohio, and the Mississippi rivers."

"There can be no doubt as to its most serious character in many localities, and that unless relieved there will be real suffering. The maximum intensity seems to lie in a belt roughly following the Potomac, the Ohio, and the Mississippi rivers."

"The measures of assistance that the Farm Board and the other agencies of the Federal government can and should undertake are being determined."

"It is evident already that large measures of feed movement to livestock in the drought areas or movement of animals out of the worst areas in the fall, it is too early to determine the precise character of relief; much depends upon the further spread of the drought; but no stone will be left unturned by the Federal government in giving assistance to local authorities. I have asked the railways to investigate the situation from a transportation point of view."

Harbor Grace, N. F., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Heavy rain today interrupted the work of John Henry Mears, round-the-world speed record aspirant in salvaging his airplane the City of New York which was wrecked here Sunday on an attempt to cross the Atlantic.

LUNDGREN'S FLIGHT

Amarillo, Texas, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Ted Lundgren, Hollywood aviator who will attempt to complete the round-the-world flight in 200 hours, took off here at 6 a. m. today on a non-stop flight to New York.

EAST GLASTONBURY ROAD
Automobilists living in Manchester and vicinity and using the Hartford-New London Turnpike in reaching the Long Island Sound region are far more deeply concerned with the Manchester-East Glastonbury road, which connects with the turnpike at Buck's Corner, than the State Highway Department is, perhaps, aware. Because of the habitually badly wash-boarded condition of the East Glastonbury road it is the common practice of motorists in this vicinity to drive through Silver Lane and through Glastonbury Street to New London Pike. Most of them are aware that this is a considerably longer route, but not many of them realize that it is nine miles farther from the Center to Buck's Corner than the short-cut through East Glastonbury, or considerably more than twice as far.

HOPES FOR BETTERMENT
The New Haven Journal-Courier, unyielding in its opposition to prohibition, nevertheless sees in the transfer of prohibition enforcement from the Treasury to the Justice Department and in the declared policy of Enforcement Director Woodcock, promise of reform of many evils.
"We assume," says the New Haven newspaper, "that no longer are the laws of the land and the traditions thereof to be violated by the government in order to trap citizens into lawlessness. There are to be no more groups of well dressed and personally attractive young people to be hired and financed to invite a violation of the law that the government may later prosecute. There is to be a more respectful attitude toward the rights of the citizen in his home, office and private papers. There is to be order and authority in the exercise of the power to search and seize. In spite of the astonishing finding of the Supreme Court, that it is lawful to tap wires in private residences and offices, we infer that this 'dirty business,' as Justice Holmes definite it, is not to be indulged. The government, we take it, will retire from the wicked practice of deliberately poisoning alcohol regardless of its demonstrated power to kill, and such treatment of alcohol as is deemed necessary to destroy the taste for it in distilled form will be in harmony with medical advice already at the disposal of the government. Finally, the government will assume full responsibility for the enforcement of the law without the direction of privately endowed organizations."

THE HEAT
The most futile thing one can do about this hot weather is to worry about it. There are a thousand other things—automobile killings, epidemic disrespect for law, unemployment, prohibition, long skirts, the Edison ballyhoo, etc.—which are the result of human conduct and could be changed if folks would think out the remedies. We can worry about such matters, perhaps, to some end. But there is absolutely nothing to be done about heat or drought. So we might just as well sit tight and think about something else.

BUILDING WAGES
Labor union leaders in the building trades in New York are striving desperately to maintain the extravagant wage scales they succeeded in bringing into being during the flush times, in the face of the presence in the city of large numbers of building trades workers who are glad to accept wages far below the rates established by the New York unions. Skilled trade schedules in effect for a number of years range from $13.50 to $15.40 a day, while the union wage established for common laborers is $8.25 a day.

156 BUNK YEARS
We have always been pretty fair at guessing ages and we feel prompted, after having seen Zoro Agha in the talking movies, to guess at the age of this Turkish visitor. Zoro, it will be remembered, is the old bird who is being played up as being 156 years old. Our guess is that he is somewhat under 60—perhaps 78 or 79. We have known persons considerably more than 80 who looked, at first glance, younger than Mr. Agha. And yet we don't believe that this much-touted delegate is yet in the four-score class. As for his being 156 years old, if he is that then we are the National City Bank and god-father to George Washington.

IN NEW YORK
New York, Aug. 5.—For five years Broadway has been an imperial by-stander at a feud of theatrical Titans that threatened to become classic and legendary. But recently, with David Warfield lying at one time or another on the threshold of death, and with David Belasco slipping both mellowly and youthfully toward his eighties, the story went that the veteran producer had sent a bouquet to the hospital where lay the stricken little man whose name will always be identified by the bent and emotional "music master."

Washington, Aug. 5.—The identity of President Hoover's closest political adviser at this time is a matter of speculation because it is so hard to keep track of them, but whoever it is, the President's jump suggested that the Republican primary contests with his endorsement of Representative B. Carroll Reece of Tennessee is not getting here for any stroke of political genius.

SELECT HEALTHFUL AMUSEMENTS.
Many people who are trying to build up their health make the mistake of having no recreation, yet it is possible to use healthful amusements which have a great power for doing good.
In choosing your amusements, try to find those which will act as a corrective to your work. Our modern living has a tendency to permit us to use a few muscles but neglect the others. Try to select amusements which will balance your day. If you work in an office, then be sure, sometime in the week, to hike, golf, swim or dance. Those who are indoors a great deal will find that a drive proves restful if one avoids speed and traffic congestion; and when you get out into the country, it is a good plan to get out of the car and stretch your legs by taking a short walk. Such a drive will clear your mind and give you a pleasant sense of release.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
(Drainage After Operation)
Question.—Mrs. E. R. R. writes: "I have had an open sore on my back for many years. Have been operated on my back three times and this has been draining ever since. Have lung trouble, and the lung is gone on the side where I have the sore. Also have three or four ribs and have a big cavity which is packed every day by a nurse. Could you tell me how this draining could be stopped?"
Answer: In some cases the continued draining from an operation can be stopped by using the fasting and dieting regime. It may be necessary to repeat the fast at frequent intervals of about one month apart until improvement is noticed. Of course, it may be that some local irritation or foreign substance is preventing the healing and this would have to be removed. The actinic light treatments might also be helpful for this trouble.

Hollywood Sights—Sounds
By ROBBIN COONS
Hollywood—While the synchronized sound version of the early screen epic, "The Birth of a Nation," to be ready for late summer or early fall release, will be unchanged as to cast from the original; other screen masterpieces of the past now being revived as feature films will have new faces in the roles made famous by present and former stars.
In the old Griffith production Lillian Gish, Mae Marsh, Walter Hating "Little Colonel" will be seen as before but "To'able David," one of Richard Barthelmess's early successes, will offer another David, yet unselected, and "Broken Blossoms," in which Barthelmess shared honors with Lillian Gish, will be without either.
And "Mickey," the feature which will be remembered as the late Mable Normand's best, will have Nancy Welford in the title role.
Another Old One
Announcement that Cecil B. DeMille may re-film "The Squaw Man," probably with Reginald Denry in the role played by the late Dustin Farnum, serves to recall the business perils braved by the movie pioneers.
"The Squaw Man" marked the entry of pictures, about 1913, into initial production, and Dustin Farnum, who had starred in it, as their first star. Their capital was little more than $25,000. Farnum, offered stock in the company for his services, preferred $5,000 cash, got it and lived to regret his choice.
Risky
DeMille, Farnum and the troupe came to Hollywood, where DeMille rented an old barn for a studio. In two or three weeks "The Squaw Man" was completed—then the fun began.
When projected the picture flickered and jumped all over the screen. Something was wrong with the spacing of the sprocket holes in the film which insure even projection. Trying to fix it, the studio mechanics spoiled the negative.
It meant ruin to the venture—some three if they could not deliver the film to exhibitors. But DeMille had shot every scene twice, and this second negative finally was brought to Sigmund Lubin, film doctor in Philadelphia, who saved the day.

Another of the popular Merchants Night programs will be offered at the State theater, tomorrow evening. A large group of local merchants whose advertisements will be found on this page co-operate each week with the State theater to make this affair a big success.

Each merchant donates a substantial gift as his part in making the night an interesting and profitable one for those who attend the performance. These gifts are presented to patrons holding numbers corresponding to those drawn on the stage. The gifts are valuable pieces of merchandise that would meet the desire of anyone in the audience. Winning such a prize makes attendance at the show more than worth while.

The motion picture program at the State in conjunction with Merchants Night will be Clara Bow's latest "Love Among the Millionaires". In this new, red-hot romantic portrayal of the "It" girl's life among the rich, Miss Bow shows up exceedingly well in musical comedy roles.

Amid the clatter of dishes and the bliant tones of a nickel-in-the-slot piano, "Love Among the Millionaires" gets underway. Clara sings a song, "Believe It or Not, I've Found My Man." That's where Stanley Smith comes in and transports the Redhead to a fairy paradise of the wealthy at Palm Beach. But, even then, everything refuses to run smoothly.

Stanley has a father, Claude King, who thinks a son of the rich shouldn't marry a girl of the poor, and, likewise, Clara has a father, Charles Selton, who declares no daughter of his will marry a wealthy man. While the old chaps get together, Clara and Stanley have a misunderstanding which almost breaks up the romance.

BLASE HOLLYWOOD

Anything can happen in Hollywood! Grizzled workmen gulping "hamburgers and coffee" in Hollywood's "one-arm eating joints" displayed no surprise when a trim, redheaded "It" tornado, in the person of America's favorite motion picture actress, Clara Bow, dropped into the chair beside them and ordered her "eggs over."

The "It" girl risked her digestion for the sake of duty. In her new musical romance, "Love Among the Millionaires," showing next week at the State theater, Clara is introduced as a waitress in just such a restaurant. She believes in getting her experience first hand and from actual observation.

She learned that "dead-head the java and one bad order in the siding . . . wreck it" translates into English as "scrambled eggs and coffee . . . with no cream," and that "perishable goods . . . turn the switch the wrong way . . . red light" means "hamburger steak . . . raw tomato."

Clara Bow has ever made, and Clara really gets a chance to sing. Those who heard the "It" voice in "Paramount on Parade" and "True to the Navy" will want to hear the Redhead sing "Believe It or Not," "That's Worth While Waiting For," "Love Among the Millionaires" and "Rarin' to Go." Clara sings with her voice, her eyes, her red hair, her whole body. She handles a song like she handles a man, with pep, personality and enthusiasm.

Hollywood — Many film critics commented on the "improvement" noted in John Gilbert's screen voice as heard in "Redemption" over that of "His Glorious Night."

Gilbert probably gets a kick out of that, for "Redemption" was his first talkie, the other his second. "His Glorious Night" was released first, while "Redemption" was temporarily shelved.

But perhaps a token of his studio's confidence in his future performances is the new and lavish dressing-room bungalow which has been completed for him on the lot.

Meanwhile all reports have it that under the tutelage of Dr. Mario Marafioti, the noted voice expert from the Metropolitan Opera House, the Gilbertian voice will surprise even the meanest critic of his next talkie.

Jack, according to the teacher, has a natural voice suited to his personality—and what's more, he can sing.

Notes on Evelyn

Evelyn Laye, whose blond loveliness captured Broadway and who is now in Hollywood for talkies, carries a black enamel cigaret case with a tiny watch in one corner, but depends on a platinum and diamond wrist watch for the time.

In London, where the girls worship the stage heroines, she is one of the adored. There is one girl who has gone to see her every night when she played there.

She has seen "Bulldog Drummond" seven times because she considers the singing in that film the best of any to date.

There is a restaurant in London run by a Frenchman who is such a Laye fan that he never presents her with a check.

Behind The Camera

Lowell Sherman and Lionel Barrymore are actors who have made acting a training for directing. But five former directors are now acting all in one picture.

They are James Kirkwood, Oscar Apfel, who assisted Cecil B. DeMille in directing "The Squaw Man" and directed many features himself, Lloyd Ingraham, George Irving and George "Slim" Summerville, who was one of Sennett's original Keystone cops, and now has returned as a comedian.

Sergei Eisenstein, young Russian director, says the late Barbara La Marr is still the most popular screen actress in his native land.

SHE'S NOT PARTICULAR

Daughter: Well, dad, who else do you suggest?—The Humorist.

PERFECT FOOL

Horace: My motto is: "What is worth doing is worth doing well."

Eustace: I notice that whenever you make a fool of yourself.—Tit-Bits.

KANSAS PRIMARIES BEING HELD TODAY

Topika, Kas., Aug. 5-(AP)-Chief interest in the Kansas primaries today centered in the Republican gubernatorial contest, the election ending a campaign in which farm relief and a bitter exchange of personalities were injected.

Gov. Clyde M. Reed, 58-year-old publisher and counselor before the Interstate Commerce Commission has been outspoken in his opposition to the Federal Farm Board's wheat acreage reduction plan for Kansas and asked a second term on the record of his administration. His opponent is Frank "Chief" Hauck, 36, former state commander of the American Legion, a legislator, former Cornell football player, and farmer. He did not take issue with the governor on the wheat acreage question-Hauck's manager has defined the chief issue in today's election as "Mr. Reed's peculiar unfitness for office."

Senator Henry J. Allen, Reed appointed in seeking the Republican nomination for the remainder of Vice President Curtis' unexpired term in the Senate. Ralph Snyder, former president of the State Farm Bureau, opposed to the wheat acreage plan, attempted to inject that issue into the senatorial campaign. Allen was also opposed by Rep. W. H. S. Sprull and James F. Getty, Kansas City, Kas., attorney. Senator Arthur Capper, Republican, was unopposed today for nomination for a third term, as was Jonathan Davis, former governor, Democratic Senatorial candidate. There were only four Democratic and no Socialist contests.

Queer Twists In Day's News

New York-An airplane built for three has been purchased by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh as a gift for his wife. Although no plans have been announced, it was considered probable the first trip would be to the summer home of her parents at North Haven, Me., with Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., as a passenger.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y.-An aviator who was picked up at sea in a land plane is learning to fly an Amphibian. She is Mrs. Walter Camp, probably better known as Ruth Elder, who says she is planning no more ocean flights. Plymouth, Vt.-Back to his farmhouse homestead for a brief visit, Calvin Coolidge has been provided with a diversion. A miniature windmill he built in the days before he became President and which he used to like to watch spin has been unscathed from the cellar by Mrs. Coolidge and once again the former president sits on the piazza admiring his handiwork. Mays Landing, N. J.-In his quarter of a century as owner of a country store, John Underhill, negro, amassed $100,000 from pennies spent by school children for candy. In his will he directed the money to be turned back to the children in the form of equipment to the high school gymnasium and improvement to the town park.

New York-It will be the bouncing main if the plan of two Brooklyn mechanics succeeds. Eleven rubber companies have been invited to construct free of charge a huge rubber ball in which Carl Herzog and Fritz Vogel would bounce over the Atlantic to Europe. They conceived the idea from a toy balloon at the beach. Washington-Paul G. Faloux, of New York, talked himself out of a sentence on a charge of riding a bicycle while drunk. He used seven languages, but the magistrate later admitted that the plea in English was the one he understood. New York-Because they were late in reporting stills, all 270 inspectors of the city's tenement house department have been transferred to other districts. Although 100 stills were reported by the inspectors in the last three months, the department has not inspected many complaints. Stills are regarded as a fire menace.

SEEK DAVID LAMAR FOR STOCK DEALING

New York, Aug. 5-(AP)-David Lamar, called the "Wolf of Wall Street," was being sought today by deputy sheriffs armed with a civil warrant for his arrest in connection with stock deals.

The warrant was obtained in Brooklyn Supreme Court by James A. Blinnson, deputy attorney general, after Lamar failed to appear in answer to a subpoena for examination in the State Bureau of Securities concerning the operations of a stock brokerage firm known as Murdock and Company and his connection with it. Armin Kohn, counsel for Lamar said he would produce his client in court today. The investigation in which the subpoena was served on Lamar last March in the swimming pool of the Park Central hotel, involved charges of grand larceny and contempt of court.

Lamar served two years in Atlanta Federal prison for impersonating A. Mitchell Palmer, later attorney general, over the telephone to put over a financial coup. During the war he served a short prison sentence for conspiring to prevent the shipment of munitions to England and aiding Germany. STATE SCHOOL TRUSTEES REFUSE TO QUIT POSTS Manchester, N. H., Aug. 5-(AP)-New Hampshire awaited with interest today the answer of Governor Charles W. Tobey to three trustees of the State Industrial School, who, after a meeting late last night, refused to accept to the governor's request that they resign. The trustees, Thomas J. Conway and George E. Trudel of Manchester, and Frank W. Hamlin of Rollinsford, denied the allegations of "barbaric treatment of girls at the school" which brought about the governor's request of their resignation. Mrs. Jessie Doe, only woman member of the board, tendered her resignation Sunday. A fifth member of the board, Harry Gregg of Nashua, who took the place vacated by the governor when he failed to reappoint Chairman Charles Emerson of Milford, did not attend the meeting. The refusal was contained in a letter sent to the governor and the council and stated that they did not feel it was for the best interests of the state and the school to have new men in their places. They denied the alleged uses of "water cures" and "hogging" for girls at the school and acknowledged non-injurious punishments "commensurate in a mild manner with misdemeanors committed."

WHISKEY KILLS BOY

Lumberton, N. C., Aug. 5-(AP)-A coroner's jury investigating the death of Arthur Lee Lodge, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Lodge, today reported that he had died of a fatal case of non-injurious poisoning furnished by his father and Haisley Lovett. The jury expressed belief that the men are guilty of manslaughter and recommended they be held under bond of $500. The father of the boy told police his son had drunk from a bottle of whiskey which he said the youth found hidden under a bridge.

INVOLVED IN MURDER

Moncks Corner, S. C., Aug. 5-(AP)-Walter Mares, Berkeley county resident, was arrested last night on a warrant charging him with being an accessory before and after the shooting of State Senator E. J. Dennis. Mares is the sixth man to be arrested in connection with the slaying of Dennis, who was fatally wounded on a street here two weeks ago. W. L. "Sport" Thornley, 35-year-old former World War veteran, has confessed to the slaying. He named Glenn D. RUNAWAY THRILLS DEVENS CAMPERS

Machine Gun Company Horse Dashes Through Local Quarters—None Hurt.

Special to The Herald By Archie Kilpatrick. Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass., Aug. 4.—The area surrounding the quarters of the Manchester units was the scene early this morning of a spectacular runaway by boys with all out at drill assembly when a frightened horse belonging to Co. H, 102nd Machine Gun company dashed through the arway separating the Manchester unit quarters and Co. C, crossed Thirteenth street, and continued on Thirteenth street where the frightened animal returned west and continued on to the stables across First Avenue. Private Albert H. Batschelder, of West Haven, horse-holder, of Co. H Machine Gun company of the 102nd Regiment was knocked down and run over by the machine gun carriage when the horse bolted. He was taken to the Base Hospital and X-rayed but no bones were found broken. Instead, he suffered a general shaking up and bruising. Inspection Postponed. The expected inspection yesterday to have been conducted by Major-General William G. Everson, Chief of the Militia Bureau, Washington, D. C., failed to materialize and was put over until today. General Everson will arrive in Boston today and will be met by Adjutant-General Jesse F. Stevens of Massachusetts, the party proceeding immediately to Camp Devens for the National Inspection of the Camp area. General Everson is expected to return to Washington by plane from the Fitchburg area with the 118 Observation Squadron or Captain Harry B. Generous as pilot. The camp received an official inspection yesterday by Colonel B. S. Blapham of the Medical Corps, U. S. Army at 9 o'clock. The guard and band of honor were received by Major-General William G. Everson today is composed of 40 picked men of the 103rd Infantry, a Maine regiment, under the command of Captain Cleophas H. Moran and the 103rd band under Warrant Officer Norman H. Merrill of Auburn, Me. Maine Band. The band assigned to post of honor is the University of Maine's own, which originally saw service in the World War. They will play a special arrangement of the "Stein Song" of the University of Maine, featuring as the unique interpretation with the aid of bugles. Major LeVerne Holmes and Lieut. John F. Barry, both of the National Guard Reserve hit camp Monday afternoon at 4 and after considerable difficulty were provided with their equipment. Both Doctors Holmes and Barry are attached to the 118th Medical Regiment. Quarters with Drs. Holmes and Barry is Major William L. Cramer of Hartford, formerly a dental practitioner of Manchester before the war. He sold out his practice to Dr. Savage in the House and Hale block. Sports. Sports are perking up in G company and the outlook bids fair for a repetition of past years successes when regimental honors came to G in baseball three straight times. The team selected is as follows: De Han, Crockett, Cavanaugh, Pentland, Frachia, Gardner, Goads, Bycholski, Vince, Vennart, Frey, Belucci, Wolfram, Siamonds and Mader. The first games in the regimental league will be played at 2 p. m. this afternoon between the Special Troops and the 122nd Inf. Games will be played tomorrow between the 102nd Inf., and the 118th Engineers and on Thursday between the 152nd F. A. and the 103rd Infantry. The 19th Infantry has drawn a bye and will be matched with the winners of these three games in the next round. The list of boxers entered for the division bouts to begin tomorrow night from G company is Privates Dubois, 124 pounds; John Sprout, 135 pounds and Joseph Nevus, 130 pounds. These boys will be carefully paired by Captain Billy Rolfe, Division boxing instructor loaned to the 43rd Division by the 26th Yankee Division. Mess Improved. The consolidated mess is a decided improvement over past years at Niantic, due to the fact that rations can be bought in larger quantities, better service can be given with both companies joined in this respect. Sergeant John McCann is in charge of the mess. Here's yesterday's menu: Breakfast: French toast and syrup, prunes, corn cake, coffee. Dinner: Roast beef and mashed potatoes, custard bread pudding, bread, butter and ice cream. Supper: Baked beans, fruit cake, bread, butter and coffee. Privates Taylor and T. Robbins have been made permanent K. P. of the mess detail. Hot Shots. The days of '17 were brought forcibly to memory last night when Captain Mather said a visit to the 118th Medical Regiment on official duty. Mac passed a familiar figure at the top of the stairs, and on questioning the officer found him to be Captain Farren, his old drill master when attached to the Medical Department at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont, in 1917. Both reviewed happenings in the passing thirteen years. Yesterday's menu for the recruits was dished out on silver platter by Sergeant Frey. There are few drill masters as good as the Manchester Sergeant. The automatic women went to school in charge of Private Mader. The rest of the company went through extended order. In the afternoon NCO's school was held in both companies with battalion parade at 4:30. The boys were glad to call it a day for the first real session at camp.

Col. Petty informed the company commanders that open house will be held at Camp every day during the Divisions stay at camp. The boys cannot be seen during the drill periods of course but there is plenty of opportunity to look the big cantonment over.

The Manchester quarters are rated in second place in the regimental inspection of quarters yesterday morning. The local boys also have the distinction of having the snappiest sign on their building. The sign painted on a large square of oilcloth reads: Company G and the Howitzer Co., 169th Infantry, MANCHESTER, CONN. It sure looks fine and has brought many a fine compliment. Entries for the swimming events this week from the local companies are, Private John E. McKenna, swimming and fancy diving; Private Edward Moriarty. Private Clarence Vennart, swims. Odd Lots. Private DeHan is having a hard time finding an extra long section of skirmin line. Cpl. Crockett is still wearing his jabs where those Private Quinones bullets are hiding. Sgt. Pentland and Sgt. DeHan are said to be preparing for a good feed of frog's legs. They were caught chasing a monster frog yesterday. Sgt. Crockett is sewing on his new chevrons. Yesterday's Report. Camp Devens, Aug. 5.—In a blistering hot sun that produced one of the hottest days of this summer in these twenty-five acres of sandy rolling hills, the Manchester units of the 169th Infantry, Co. G and the Howitzer Company, lollied at their ease in their barracks just off Third avenue on Thirteenth street. The first night in camp, as usual was a pipkin. There are many new recruits in both companies this year, and what the old-timers did to those "rookies" that night was close harmony. But they all survived and were on deck at 7 o'clock for breakfast. Guardmounting. Church service and formal guardmounting were the principal events yesterday while the division smoothed out the rough spots that came as a result of unfamiliarity with camp, officers and men meeting for the first time as a division unit. Although the heat was terrific throughout the day, a check revealed one of the largest "first days" for visitors since war days. Cars from the surrounding area were lined up in the line followed the Pine Tree State boys and others from Vermont and Rhode Island were on hand early yesterday forenoon to encourage the native boys. 169th's Record. The glorious 169th covered themselves with glory as respects attendance records after company commanders had reported to Colonel Petty, shortly after the regiment arrived at 12:30 Saturday. An official record gave the 169th Regiment 64 officers and 1,037 men out of a possible 1,067. It was one of the best records of attendance that any National Guard regiment ever made. Several companies reported 100 per cent and both Manchester companies were near that figure. The big attraction for the men and the large number of visitors yesterday was guardmounting. Formal guardmounting, with all the colorful military mechanical evolutions and above all—the bands—is something that all like to see. The officers of G and the Howitzer took in all the aspects of last night's show in the little kinks of militarianism that may have become rusty from storage. Runaway! The quietness of an otherwise uneventful day was broken in mid-afternoon with a runaway. Outside of camp in the streets of Niantic a runaway is real news, but here, where several hundred horses are in corral, it is not too unexpected. Whatever it was, a fly or a green rider, this horse ran away—and how, in the running he came very near upsetting an official welcoming party at the west end of camp. Dominick Fusidill of Co. H, New Britain, was leading a horse attached to a machine gun carriage when he bolted and turned into Thirteenth street headed east. Private Fusidill was scratched on his arm and was treated in the 169th's medical department. The filly turned west on Third avenue and continued on at breakneck speed. At the end of Third avenue he turned east again on towards the 152d Field Artillery units. When he reached the corral of the 152nd he slowed up and Corporal Richard Lewelay of the 152nd, Presque Isle, Maine boy, made the capture. Payne Escapes. Major General Morris B. Payne and staff were on the road that witnessed the flying runaway and took to the sidelines to avoid annihilation as the machine gun carriage careened from side to side of the road. Odd Lots. Well, anyway, the Manchester boys have a blanket sergeant this year in Private John Sprout. Billy Skoog and party did Reverse Beach last night. Bill lost his tickets in a big dip of the roller coaster and had to come across again when he hit bottom. A good representation will be made in Regimental athletics. A complete list of entries will be filed later. Private Vennart has been trying to get a special kind of chevron polish but can't seem to locate any in camp. Sergeant Murphy and Private Dubois put on a two-round bout last night. Dubois weathered the storm

BRITAIN'S CLAIMS AT POLE DOUBTFUL

Scientist Says She Claims Lands Far Beyond Those Discovered in South.

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Many of Great Britain's claims in the Antarctic, particularly in the Falkland Islands, dependencies and the Ross Dependency, are challengeable on the basis of right discovery, Dr. Laura H. Martin, geologist and geographer of Washington, D. C., told members of the Institute of Politics today. In an address before the conference on "Problems of Sovereignty in the Arctic and Antarctic," Dr. Martin said that Great Britain asserts claims extending beyond parts discovered by Englishmen. As an example she cited Wilkes Land, part of a segment discovered by Lieut. Wilkes of the U. S. Navy in 1840, although explored fully by an Australian expedition in 1911-12. "If Great Britain should project these claims to the pole, as it has done in the Falkland Islands and Ross Dependencies claims, we would see that altogether it has laid claim to nearly three fifths of the continent (3,000,000 out of 5,000,000 square miles)," she declared. American Claims. The recent flight of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd in Antarctica have again brought to the fore the question of whether the U. S. might claim land in the Antarctic on the basis of discovery. Dr. Martin stated. The United States has so far never claimed land in the Antarctic, she pointed out, nor acknowledged Great Britain's claims to the region used for Admiral Byrd's base and his flights. Dr. Jesse S. Reeves of the University of Michigan, United States delegate on the Pan-American commission for the codification of the international law at Rio de Janeiro in 1927, told the conference that the U. S. is opposed to many other nations, has never adopted a policy of basing claim to territory simply upon discovery. "Our policy, as stated by Secretary Chas. Evans Hughes in 1924," she said, "is a correct statement of the U. S. position. It is a correct statement of international law and the policy of the U. S. is in accordance with it." Difficult Problem. The question of sovereignty becomes increasingly difficult in the Polar regions. Reeves pointed out, because of the presence of ice barriers and because both Polar areas involve the question of the open sea, no country having succeeded in maintaining title to anything but a territory. "As to the statement made that the U. S. has a right to the sector from the center of Behring Strait to the Pole on one side and from a projection of the 141st Degree of Longitude on the north shore of Alaska to the Pole, there is no official foundation. "There is no basis on international law for the U. S. acknowledging the doctrine of Polar sectors put forth by Great Britain, Soviet Russia and Canada, involving, as they do, claims to exclusive jurisdiction over well recognized areas of the open sea." In China. Yuen-Liang, Judge of the Shanghai Provisional Court, speaking before the round-table on the Far Eastern situation, said: "The recent recurrence of Communist activities in central China, instead of being a menace to the established institutions in Chinese society, will most probably serve to lead the different factions in the Nationalist Party to iron out their differences as far as their political platforms and policies are concerned, and once more unite the party leaders in carrying out the Nationalist program of the process which has been delayed by dissensions within the party. "I am not at all surprised if negotiations are already proceeding between the leaders of the government and of the opposition for the

GOLD STAR MOTHERS EXPRESS GRATITUDE

Paris—(AP)—"God bless you, Uncle Sam."

This is the substance of hundreds of letters which American Gold Star mothers are writing to United States army officers in charge of the American military cemeteries. These letters from mothers began to pour into headquarters and were addressed to Colonel Richard Ellis, ranking officer, soon after the first group had visited the cemeteries in May. They continue to come, some in a fine hand and in elegant phraseology, others from feeble hands and some from hesitant ones. Some are distinctly personal while others are formal and are signed by a number of women. In them are to be found such phrases as "our dear captain," and references to nurses as "God's own children." Each writer swears by the particular captain, lieutenant and nurse who happened to be assigned to look after her group. "The first group to visit France set the pace in form letters with the following: "We wish that Uncle Sam might know how much the trip has meant to us. We feel that our government has done a most generous and wonderful thing." CHOPS OFF FINGER OF A MISSIONARY. Shanghai, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Stories of torture and other violence involving women missionaries climaxed today's reports from the areas infested with Communists and bandits. British consular authorities at Foochow reported desperadoes had chopped a finger from the hand of a British woman missionary at Kienyang, northern Fukien province. The message from the severed digit to provincial officials at Yenching, along with a demand for $50,000 ransom for the missionary and her companion, both of whom had been held captive for more than a month. The desperadoes said the women's other fingers would be chopped off and sent as evidence of the seriousness of the ransom demand unless payment were forthcoming immediately. The captives are Miss Edith Nettleton and Miss Edith Harrison of the British Church Missionary Society, with headquarters in London. They were seized while travelling from Chiamon toward Yenching in an attempt to escape from the danger area. SAVED BY TINY SNAKE. Sharon, Conn., Aug. 5.—(AP)—A harmless green snake today was given credit for robbing a rattler of a victim. Albert Lindenberg was cutting hay yesterday when he felt a sharp sting in his leg. He blamed a bee for the attack and continued his work. His leg began to swell and soon after a small snake wiggled out of the path of his scythe. The sight of the harmless snake suggested rattlers to Lindenberg and brought the realization that his swollen leg was probably the work of a snake bite rather than to a bee sting. Lindenberg hurried to the Sharon hospital where an examination of his leg substantiated his fears. Serum was immediately administered. The snake bite it was said at the hospital, would have proved fatal had Lindenberg delayed any longer in seeking treatment. KILLED BY HEAT. Stonington, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Antonio Santos, 51, was fatally stricken by the heat today while unloading freight at the local depot. He was employed by the Atwood Machine Company.

WOMAN STABS WOMAN

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Laborio Levechio, 66, mother of Jerry Levechio, held in Detroit, in connection with the killing of Jerry Buckley, was taken to a hospital today with severe lacerations about the face.

Fannie Davis, 33, was arrested on charge of assault, second degree. Police said that she attacked the older woman with a bread knife in retaliation for Mrs. Levechio's alleged activity in breaking up the friendship between her son, Salvatore Levechio, and the Davis woman. The slashing took place on a downtown street as Mrs. Levechio was walking to work. One of the many witnesses of the attack wrested the knife from the Davis woman's hand after Mrs. Levechio had received several severe cuts. KING IN YACHT RACE. Cowes, Isle of Wight, Aug. 5.—(AP)—King George participated today in his first yacht race since his illness. He took part in the royal yacht squadron competition on his racing cutter Britania. The sea had quieted down after a blow and there was only a slight breeze as the Britania got away. Leading several competitors, the mine sweeper sloop Albury in attendance on the royal cutter prepared to bring the king back to the steam yacht Victoria, and Albert if the weather turned bad again. The Hollywood Story

COPYRIGHT 1930 by NEA SERVICE Inc. by ERNEST LYNN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DAN MORRIS, former New York newspaper man, who is now writing scenarios for Continental Pictures in Hollywood, gets a letter from an old friend in New York, telling him to look up a girl named ANNE WINTER, who has come from Tulsa, Okla., to "grab the picture."

Dan complies reluctantly, but Anne proves to be charming. She has had stage experience in stock companies. Anne gathers that he is a little disatisfied with things at Continental. For one thing, he thinks they have miscast the star whom they select to play in the picture that is to be made from the story he has written before coming to Hollywood.

The following Monday rehearsals begin on his picture. That evening he learns that Anne is to work the following morning, making the second time she has had extra employment. After her first day at Grand United studios, Dan takes Anne for a ride to the beach. There she tells him she has met a likeable girl, also an extra, and she is thinking of living with this girl and her present apartment mate, whom Anne has not yet met. The girl's name is MONA MORRISAN; her friend's EVA HARLEY.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VII

Anne left his arm stay where it was; appeared not to notice it, even. But a moment or two later, when Rorimer tried to draw her toward him, he encountered firm resistance, and Anne said, "Hahn! we better start back? What time is it?"

"Oh, I keep my promises; I'll get you back by ten," he replied. "It's no more than nine now."

"I didn't see you look at your watch."

Dan brought up his wrist, squinted in the semi-darkness. "Well, then, 9:15," he admitted, grinning. "What's the story?" And he added, "On a night like this?"

Anne Winter smiled at him. "Romantic Uncle Dan!" she jeered softly.

"Yeah? Forget that young lady; I'm not your uncle."

"You were a few minutes ago."

"But I don't feel like an uncle now—or platonic, either, for that matter."

Anne dropped the subject; and Rorimer, feeling her impersonal dismissal of it, fell silent. He offered her a cigarette, and this time she took one.

Leaning back in his seat, he regarded her through half-closed eyes and wondered if she had ever given a man her love. Certainly, he thought in admiring approval of her, there must have been many who had tried to win it. Many there was a young man back in Tulsa; and if there was, Dan was thinking, he was plenty lucky.

He began presently to whistle softly, but thinking of something else, checked himself and urged: "Sing for you," she repeated, regarding him curiously. "Why?"

"Because I like to hear you sing."

"Sing that thing I was trying to whistle?"

"Why was I born?" . . . But that's so plaintive and so forlorn. "That's just the way I feel, somehow. Does the ocean at night affect you that way?"

It did, she agreed. "I feel a little homesick."

Dan said he had been away from his family too long to know homesickness again, but that he felt a longing, and that he was alone. Anne was hard to explain. He started the car, backed it onto the road, and headed it up the grade, and rolling back toward Hollywood, with the ocean behind them, Anne leaned back in the seat and began to sing: "Why was I born? Why am I living? What do I get? What am I giving? Why do I want a thing I daren't hope for? Who lady I hope for? I wish I knew. . . ."

Plaintive . . . forlorn . . . the song of a lonely heart. And Anne's voice, low and sweet and tremulously exciting, carrying right into his blood. . . .

"Why do I try to draw you near me? Why do I cry?—you never hear me. I'm a poor fool, but what can I do? Why was I born to love you?"

The wind rushed past them, whipping at his hair before it fled, carrying the last echoes of her song with it. Dan felt contentment—a contentment curiously mixed with the strivings of voiceless longing and unrest.

Why do I want the things I daren't hope for? That was the thing that life was lived for, he told himself—to want the things one daren't hope for. Only, you did hope for them somehow, no matter how forlornly, even if they were way off somewhere beyond the frozen north.

"Sing some more, Anne. Sing to me again."

"Do you like to be sung to?"

He said simply, staring straight ahead, "I love to hear you sing."

And Anne turned to him a curious smile at the strange emphasis in his voice; but he was still looking away and missed it.

She began: "I'm a dreamer—aren't we all? Just a dreamer—aren't we all?—and sang it through to the end. And not once did Rorimer turn his eyes from the roadway ahead of them. He was thinking that he had heard a voice like hers before, over the radio, and a contralto who sang ballads and "blues" with a smooth ease and lowness that made you shut your eyes and imagine things. Only, Anne's singing was not so trained; not so professional. It had, he thought, striving for the right

"I hope you won't do that again," Anne said.

At the end of her song he turned to look at her. She sat still beside him, her head back against the cushioned seat, eyes half-closed. "If she gets a break," he said to himself, "she'll go a long way." Provided, of course, the camera and the microphone did not do strange things to her; that had been known to happen.

They were on her street now, and when he stopped the car in front of her apartment he asked if he might pick her up again in the morning and take her to the Grand United lot.

"It's no trouble, Anne, and you can sleep longer, if you don't have to wait for a bus."

"All right, Dan; you're certainly kind."

He walked down the hallway with her, and when they stopped at her door he showed her the time. "See, Anne? Only four minutes of ten. Am I a man of my word or not?"

"You're just marvelous," she said, laughing, and gave him her hand. And Dan suddenly drew her to him and kissed her.

Just as suddenly he knew he had done the wrong thing. Anne was not angry; he would have felt better if she had shown her anger. But she was plainly hurt, and he said contritely, "I'm sorry, Anne."

"I hope you won't do that again," Anne said. The dark eyes were level and calm enough, but bright spots flamed in her cheeks.

Dan said again, "I'm sorry, Anne. I'll remember."

He added that he hoped he hadn't made her change her mind about riding with him in the morning.

"You can at least trust me in the day time," he said with a lame little laugh.

Anne's faint smile heartened him. "You said you'd remember," she said, "and you're a man of your word. . . . Good night."

"Good night, Anne. You're a good sport."

A darned good sport, he thought, climbing into his car.

"Why was I born? Why am I living?"

He drove to Henry's, and there he found Johnny Riddle, sitting alone over coffee and a sandwich. Johnny said, "Hello, stranger. Who was the lady I saw you with the other night? That wasn't no lady; that was my—Who was she, Dan? That was my—And what did you do with the little O'Neil girl—little Mildred?"

Dan said, studying his menu: "Mildred's a blond."

"Not a real one; Milly bleached her hair because it photographs better."

"Are there any real blonds?" Dan asked, his eyes still on the card.

"What a cynical young man you turned out to be! Why, of course!

Museum Restores Body Of Sloth That Lived In Arizona Ages Ago

New Haven, Conn.—(AP)—A pale yellow beast that roamed in Arizona 500,000 years ago has been restored to its original form at Peabody museum. Even quiet-spoken scientific men call the feat "remarkable."

The animal is one of the world's rare remnants of the varied animal color schemes familiar to antiquity. Unlike other prehistoric fossils, this one still retains some of its hide and hair in five different patches.

The bones still were held together by ligaments, giving an unusual opportunity to restore the creature, a ground sloth, just as he looked one day half a million years ago when he stepped into a death trap left by an extinct Arizona volcano.

Piecing together the telltale marks at the bottom of the trap, Prof. Richard Swann Lull of Yale plans further search for bones of animals the marks of whose teeth still were visible on the sloth.

There is hope of finding a megatherium or a mylodon.

The sloth's hair is pale yellow, smooth, fairly coarse, and evidently made an effective protective coating, although it lacked trace of the woolly undercoat known on some sloths. It is now very brittle.

To laymen one of the beast's most remarkable characteristics is the way he walked, with the claws of his long forelegs bent, much as a gorilla walks on its knuckles.

"The effect," says Prof. Lull, describing the animal, "is somewhat weird, with the extremely broad and powerful rear portion and the curious feet."

A hardened food ball was found, remains of the sloth's last meal. It consisted of twigs, roots, branches and a little sand, all else having been digested. It indicated that this animal probably lived upon roots and sage brush, which he dug up or pulled up and ate entire.

"One is impressed with the general utility of the fore limbs, not only in pulling down branches of low trees and shrubbery, but for digging and defense, since the claws both front and rear, would be cruel weapons."

Children are rightfully sensitive about their looks, much more so than grown folk. It isn't a matter of conceit, merely a dread of difference so strong in young people. They hate being "different" about their clothes, for instance. A child suffers agony when asked to wear a dress that is conspicuously different from those of his friends. A dress could be trimmed with diamonds and made of the most costly textile on earth, but that would not compensate for were too different from what the other children on the street wore.

But difference of feature is as touchy a subject with children as clothes—more so, indeed. They take peculiar notions about the shape of a nose, their hands, feet or ears, or the color of their hair. Often a mother is at her wits' end to know how to combat such an obsession.

These things are bad enough, but when it comes to wearing glasses, or having bands on teeth, it is a problem for parents sometimes to keep little hearts from breaking completely.

When children have to go through the stages of adjustment on eyes and teeth I believe I should make a rather elaborate preparation for the event, if you anticipate trouble on this score.

Try to get the cooperation of his friends, teachers and all the family and ask them not to mention the novelty to him at all, when the time comes for him to appear with the "extra eyes" or with a platinum band across his incisors.

False Compliments

Don't let them say, "How nice you look!" I think that is often a mistake. "It is so obvious—so set up. Ask people to act as though nothing had happened at all, never to look for an instant too long, or to mention anyone else in like extremity, as for instance, "How nice you look!"

It's too bad that Jones boy has to wear glasses, too. It should all be taken as a matter of course. Help him to accept it.

I should put lesser "sore points" in the same class. A child may hate his hair. If he does, get the combing done at work again. Don't let them call him "Tow" or "Red."

Of course a boy often accepts this reminder from his gang quite complacently. A gang is licensed, sometimes they don't seem to hurt as they do when said by the rest of the world.

But in general I think that

Remnants of the body of a prehistoric yellow sloth enabled scientists to reconstruct the animal as it looked 500,000 years ago (above). Professor R. S. Lull (below) plans search for other animals that lived at same time.

Uncle Sam's Planting Pointers

ROCK GARDENS

By D. VICTOR LUMSDEN, Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture

A rock garden on a steep bank often makes such an incline more attractive. If you have a sloping area that is difficult to keep in grass, a rock garden may solve your problem. A rock garden is seen at its best when it functions as part of the general garden scheme. To construct such a garden use native stones, and, if possible, expose the weather-beaten surfaces. As a rule the drainage problem on an incline is one of retaining moisture rather than getting rid of excess water. Consequently, to conserve rainfall it is desirable to place all rocks with their uppermost surfaces sloping back into the bank rather than parallel to the surface.

Copy Natural Gardens

In arranging the rocks, copy roughly locations where plants are growing native among outcroppings of stones. Notice also the proportion of stone and soil areas that are exposed.

Arrange the rocks to form pockets for good soil in which plants can develop a vigorous root system. If the existing soil on which the rocks are set is not rich it should be replaced by good garden soil.

KENTUCKY STRAWBERRIES HELP FARMERS PAY DEBTS

Paducah, Ky. (AP)—Western Kentucky's strawberry crops this season enabled many farmers to pay off their debts for the first time in many years.

The crop yielded 212 carloads that brought a gross income of $825,000. The net price to growers averaged $4.25 a crate.

The first commercial shipment of raspberries this year. Dewberries also were shipped. Growers plan increased berry acreage for next season.

YOUR CHILDREN

Don't talk to the children about "mum" is the word when it comes to any particular sensitiveness in children about their looks. If encouragement is given it must be done sincerely and carefully.

HAVE YOU HEARD?

You can accent contrasting color used in your window curtains, most pleasingly and interestingly, if you enamel the frame of your window in the same shade.

In a modernistic room, for example, that has creamy chateaux walls speckled with silver, the chateaux curtains are striped with wide bands of black to tone up the room. The frames of the windows, also black, aid and abet in charming manner.

HEALTH

By DR. MORRIS FISHBELN

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

The term "dyspepsia" developed for all sorts of disorders of digestion because it was thought some years ago that all of them were the result of some disturbance of the development of pepsin in the stomach. As a result the market was flooded with hundreds of pepsin compounds and people with digestive difficulties due to innumerable causes were seen carrying around little tin boxes and taking tablets on the slightest provocation.

As modern physiology developed its study of the stomach and intestines the point of view changed and the majority of medical authorities are now convinced that a good many of the dyspepsias are nervous disorders in which there is nothing visibly wrong with the digestive organs.

Dr. Thomas R. Brown has classified dyspepsias into several groups related to the mechanism that brings about the secretion of gastric juice. One of the first types in importance is that resulting from bad eating habits. Rapid and careless eating is a prominent habit among Americans. A Frenchman, observing the condition among us, called it "tachyphages," which is a highly scientific term meaning rapid eaters.

The average American bolts his breakfast, rushes to a car or train, gets out 30 minutes for lunch, or if he takes longer spends 90 per cent of the time in conference or at the bridge table, or eats his luncheon off an edge of the desk so that he can get away to the golf course at 1. Dinner in the average American home is a hurried performance so that the family can get to the first show at the movies, listen to Anne and Andy, or get in three double numbers of bridge before bed time.

Few modern adults have any conception of the important food substances for "healthy growth and easy digestion." Poor chewing of food gives the interior-musculature a lot of difficulty because it is necessary for the digestive juices such as the saliva and the secretions of the stomach and intestines to penetrate the boluses of food that are swallowed. For much chewing reduces the food to a fluid consistency which falls to exercise properly the musculature of the digestive tubes.

Under these conditions the machinery breaks down rather soon exactly as a furnace built for anthracite goes to wrack and ruin under soft coal and slag, and exactly as a motor built for high test and ethyl gas falls to operate properly under the refuse that is poured into the tank at fly-by-night filling stations.

Sooner or later the whole digestive mechanism gives up in disgust. The secretions become under-acid or overacid. The movements get too fast or too slow.

Then the business man knows something is wrong. He feels full after the first few bits of food. His abdomen is distended. He eructs gas, complains of heart burn, his tongue is coated, he loses his appetite and he has joined the great mob of dyspeptics that help to make the patent medicine manufacturers rich.

HOW TO SHOP

HOW TO DETECT FAKE SELVAGES

By William H. Baldwin

Almost as important as the weave of a fabric is the method by which its edges are bound off. The simpler the weave the stronger the selvage.

Fake selvages occur when a fabric is split in the middle parallel with the warp threads, and the ends of the finishing threads are bound with warp threads left especially long for the purpose. This often happens in the case of the cheaper "back toweling," which is woven double width on the loom and then split down the center. Unless the binding process is done with the greatest care, the fake selvage will be weak and will tend to fray and unravel.

In most cases fake selvage appears on only one side of the fabric, the other selvage having been woven correctly along the outside of the loom. Hence, in judging towels for instance, it is well to compare both selvages.

WOMEN SHOULD LEARN USES OF MAGNESIA

To women who suffer from nausea, or so-called "morning sickness," this simple measure is proving a blessing. Most nurses know it and it is advised by leading specialists.

Prepare a small quantity of finely cracked ice—about a pinglassful. Pour over it a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Sip slowly until the mixture is gone or you are entirely relieved. It is seldom necessary to repeat the dose to end sick stomach or any inclination to vomit.

Its anti-acid properties enable Phillips Milk of Magnesia to give immediate relief in heartburn, sour stomachs, gas. Its mild, but effective laxative action assures regular bowel movement. Used as a mouthwash it helps prevent acid erosion and tooth decay during pregnancy.

With every bottle of Phillips Milk of Magnesia, come full directions for its many uses. All drug stores have the 25c and 50c sizes. Demand the genuine, endorsed by doctors for over 30 years. The U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1876—Adv.

Town Baseball Title Contenders Meet Tonight

Breaks Rival's Shoulder To Win Wrestling Bout

Cowboy Wagner Loses to Jack Ganson in Match at Hurley Stadium; Other Results.

Hurled to the mat with an airplane whirl after 38 minutes and 40 seconds of wrestling during which he seemed to have the upper hand, Cowboy Jack Wagner of Montana lost to Jack Ganson, the Lithuanian champ of California, in the headline bout of the evening at the Hurley Stadium last night, when the force of his fall caused a fractured right shoulder.

Wagner was the favorite from the outset and Ganson was booted for his rough house tactics and extreme willingness to cling to the ropes and appeal to the referee at every possible moment. The bout was to have been best two out of three falls but Wagner's injury necessitated discontinuance.

In the semi-final Stanley Stickeney of Hartford pinned Frank Delamano of Boston to the mat in 14 minutes and 30 seconds with three successive headlocks. Both wrestlers received great applause for five wrestling with an utter lack of any off color tactics.

Fred Bruno of Hartford, holder of the state light-heavyweight title, defeated Farmer Bailey of Vermont in 19 minutes and 50 seconds, with half nelson, despite the crowd's favoritism of the latter. This bout was wrestled outside of the ring as great part of the time due to the bulky attire of Sonnenberg.

The only draw on the card was the opener between Young Brooks of Hartford and Peno, the Flying Frenchman from Berlin, a twenty-minute go. Jack Chancy of New Haven refereed.

OAKS GO IN

A new team has been added to the Community League, which is playing ball two or three nights each evening in the Twilight League on the Community Club house grounds. The new team added is the Oaks. The present league is composed of the Firemen, Business Men, Playgrounds, Community and Oaks.

The schedule for the week is as follows:

Tonight—Firemen vs. Business Men.

Wednesday Night—Community vs. Oaks.

Friday Night—Playgrounds vs. Firemen.

GOLF TOURNEY

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Over the subtle, well-trapped municipal course today lay the path of 118 golfers from 29 cities, striving to qualify in the 36-hole preliminary test of the ninth annual public links tournament.

In the medal play the Warren C. Harding Trophy for teams, now held by New York, was at stake.

Joseph Zaloudek, Omaha grocery clerk, won $24,000 in the English Derby, and had never seen a horse race or bet on one before.

BIG SHOTS OF THE ATHLETICS

The spotlight colored the performances of these Mackmen in their successful dash for the American League pennant in 1929. If anything, they are doing even better this season and no doubt you will see them at the 1930 world series. Connie Mack, grizzled pilot, is the central figure. On the left are Al Simmons, top, and Mickey Cochrane, below. On the right are Lefty Grove, top, and Jimmy Fox, below.

Shires spats have Sox appeal. "Get the permanent wave in an Al Simmons hat."

Maybe the haberdashery shops are overlooking a good bet in advertising. Some of our favorite big leaguers, familiar enough in diamond togger, but strangers to a lot of us as they stroll down Michigan boulevard or Woodward avenue, or lounge in the lobby of the Hollen, the Chase or the Benjamin Franklin, would make fine "collared" men. And some of them would not.

Lefty O'Doul of the Phillies hits .400 in the National League batting race and would rate 1000 per cent in a display of pulchritude in any field.

The honor of being the best-dressed man in baseball is vested on two big shots. One is William L. Veeck, president of the Cubs. The other is Billy Evans, general manager of the Indians. Evans several years ago relinquished his title of best-dressed umpire to compete in the unlimited division.

Some may have harbored the belief that Charles Arthur Shires is with his gloved hand fully extended. The crowd gave him a great hand. As an old timer said, they get better and better every game.

Wednesday night the Athletics play the Red Sox.

Berg Likely Choice For Lightweight Title Bout

New York, July 31.—(AP)—A "Kid," a natural featherweight, probably will be built up to somewhere between 128 and 130 pounds.

Cincinnati made six errors in their night exhibition game with the Indianapolis team recently. The Indianapolis team should invite the Chicago White Sox and the Detroit Tigers to play, and find out how bigger and better errors can be made on a mass production basis.

Will's Wild Words
George Siler stole home in a game the other day with Brooklyn and Umpire Jorda called him out. Will McKeechle sprayed Mr. Jorda with choice words but it availed him nothing. Will McKeechle, that reminds us, has a way of holding out his arm when he sprays words on 'em and clenching and unclenching the fingers, much as if he were choking a man. It was all very beautiful and symbolic, our Boston operatives inform us.

Shires, Shires and Shires
"It's a shame to keep a 300 hitter on the bench." Art Shires told Manager Walter Johnson the other day. The 300 hitter Mr. Shires had in mind was Mr. Art Shires, and has told Mr. Shires that he wants to play in the outfield.

GIANTS AND A'S TURN IN WINS

Brooklyn Beaten 4 to 0 by Former and Mackmen Maul Red Sox 13 to 4.

Extra base hits coupled with steady, effective pitching, is spelling success for the New York Giants as they slowly climb toward the top of the National League percentage ladder. The Giants furnished a good example of why they are pennant contenders yesterday when they beat the Browns 4 to 0.

The Giants got nine hits and Brooklyn six but three of New York's total were of the home run variety. One came off the bat of Allen in the first inning and Lindstrom and Terry connected with the star two in succession in the ninth. In the only other national league the Braves managed to get a 3 to 2 decision over the Phillies.

The pennant race in the American League saw the Athletics take advantage of the idleness of the Yanks and Senators to gain a half game with a 13 to 4 triumph over the Boston Red Sox. Lefty Grove hung up his 17th victory of the season.

Charlie Gehring was the whole show at Detroit as the Tigers took a 12 inning pitching duel from the White Sox 7 to 3. His homer in the 12th with the bases loaded gave Vic Sorrell the best of the hurling duel with the Lyons. Evidently he had hit another homer in the third with one man on the sacks.

Coming from behind in the ninth with a three run rally, the Cleveland Indians defeated the Athletics 4 to 2. It was Wes Ferrell's 18th mound triumph of the season.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

SOME SHORT STORIES

The spitball has been barred many long years, of course, but with night baseball we are likely to have its return in a modified form. In a recent night game in Los Angeles, for instance, the "dew" was very heavy. It was so heavy, in fact, that the pitchers had to use a new ball after every grounder. We Corbett to your imagination, a night baseball game on a foggy evening, if Los Angeles has fogs. Well, we'll see.

Mr. Alvis Laughs

Not a little steam has been generated by far-western sports writers seeking to have Young Jack Thompson risk his welterweight championship against Young Corbett III. It so happens that Young Corbett III has licked Young Jack plenty, but their last bout was fought over the weight. Locustious Harry White offered $50,000 to promoter Jack Doyle of Los Angeles, as a guarantee that Thompson, but Ray Alvis, manager of Thompson, just laughed. Mr. Alvis unburies himself of the crack that Thompson will have whiskers down looking like a bear when he comes to his knees bent and will follow him to the championship. It all makes us very sad.

Right Hands and Left

Well Can You Try That!

Ty Cobb says baseball isn't the game he used to be ten years ago and that the people are not following the teams. Quite so, quite so, and that's probably the reason all attendance records are being broken this year.

Error for Error

Cincinnati made six errors in their night exhibition game with the Indianapolis team recently. The Indianapolis team should invite the Chicago White Sox and the Detroit Tigers to play, and find out how bigger and better errors can be made on a mass production basis.

MINOR LOU'S REPLY

Chicago, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The reply of the "Big" Minor League to the Major League ultimatum demanding acceptance of the universal draft was in the making today.

At a recent joint meeting, the American and National League decided all player relations with the three big minor organizations as well as with the western and three eye leagues would cease after Dec. 1, choking a man. It was all very beautiful and symbolic, our Boston operatives inform us.

Promise of warfare was given when the international American Association and Pacific groups decided to fight the demand. President Thomas J. Hickey of the American Association, outspoke the opinion that the difficulty would "be thrashed out" when the minors met in joint session but this considered doubtful and an open break loomed.

KEED MUST GIVE AWAY 8 POUNDS

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The question of weight, considered a big factor in Sammy Mandell's recent knockout defeat at the hands of Al Singer has bobbed up again to complicate the arguments over Kid Chocolate's ten round bout with Jack Kid Berg at the Polo Grounds Thursday night.

In Mandell's case the question was whether Mandell could make the lightweight limit without appreciably weakening himself. In Chocolate's case it is whether the flashy Cuban negro featherweight can afford to give away eight or ten pounds to the human windmill Berg. The gambling fraternity is willing to wager 5 to 5 that Chocolate will fall too.

With such an advantage in the weights as Berg will enjoy, few of the experts believe Chocolate can win except by a knockout.

ROSENBLUM WINS

Oakland, Calif., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Maxie Rosenbloom, celebrated his first ring appearance as light heavyweight champion by winning a ten-round decision, although forced to extend himself.

The New Yorker's opponent in a non-title bout here last night, Wilbur Dix of Bellingham, Wash., caught the champion unawares in the first round and landed several hard punches to the jaw. He was kept in the second. Dix stopped with the champion's every opportunity and had the better of the heavy exchanges. Rosenbloom's ring experience left no doubt after the seventh.

Rosenbloom was credited with six and Dix with three and one was even.

ACTRESS FIGHTS BULL AND IS BADLY GORED

Monterey, Mexico, Aug. 5.-(AP)-Bravado of Senorita Ceila Montalvan, pretty Mexican actress, who thought herself better at bull fighting than a professional matador, led her today to a hospital bed.

Physicians were treating her for wounds received in the bull ring here yesterday when she was pitched about and gored by an enraged bull. Her injuries were not considered serious however. She volunteered to fight the bull as answer to the taunt of thousands who thronged the ring and recognized her. Hardly had she entered the arena when the bull caught her on its horns and threw her nine feet against the arena wall.

Battered and with sand in her eyes, she went back at the animal, which maintained the advantage in the one-sided struggle. Her friends, fearful of the consequences of allowing her to remain in the arena, forcibly carried her away. One of them, here yesterday, himself turned matador, and killed the bull.

R-100 REPAIRED

Montreal, Aug. 5.-(AP)-Riggers mending the damaged stabilizing fin of the British dirigible R-100 made rapid progress today, and expect to have the repairs completed by dusk.

It seemed unlikely that the ship would fly over Ottawa and Toronto this week, however, because of atmospheric disturbances over Hudson Bay and the St. Lawrence Valley. The storms are far worse over land than over the ocean, and until the disturbance clears, it was believed, the ship will remain at the mooring mast.

Officers of the ocean-crossing dirigible left on a holiday today. Sir Dennistoun Burney flew to Ottawa for luncheon with the governor general, Lord Willingdon.

CONTRACT STILL STANDS

Washington, Aug. 5.-(AP)-Secretary Adams said today the contract had not been cancelled for the ZRS-5, second of the two dirigibles ordered from the Goodyear-Zeppelin Company of Akron, Ohio, by the Navy Department.

The secretary said there was no basis of fact in the report the Navy Department had cancelled the contract.

"Of course," he remarked, "as long as there is an option as to whether we may or may not build the second ship, there will be speculation on our position."

The secretary added that in line with President Hoover's economy program, the Navy Department was considering all means of curtailment but that the contract for the ZRS-5 had not been cancelled.

SOVIETS WON'T PAY CZARISTS' DEBTS

Willing to Pay Higher Interest, However, for Money From the U. S.

Moscow, Aug. 5.-(AP)-Economic organ of the Soviet government, in an editorial today, serves notice on "capitalistic countries" that the Soviet cannot assume the obligations of the Czarists which it repudiated "since creation of the Bolshevik regime in 1917."

The editorial, obviously inspired by the Kremlin, continues: "Ever since 1905 our revolutionary parties have warned international capital to extend no loans to the Czarist government; we have not departed in any way from this position."

Higher interest
Ivestia, however, adds that the Soviet government is ready to pay interest on newly-granted credits at slightly higher rates than those in order to give creditors the possibility of partial compensation for their losses by reason of confiscation of their properties during the revolution.

Declaring that this view was emphasized by Joseph Stalin, Soviet dictator, at the recent Congress of the Communist party, Ivestia adds: "The Soviet government does not conceal its desire to obtain credit from capitalistic countries which would lighten the problem of fulfilling the five year industrialization plan." The newspaper welcomes the lifting of the embargo on Soviet timber by the American government, characterizing this action as a "return to sanity and soberness."

EARL SERIOUSLY ILL

London, Aug. 5.-(AP)-The Earl of Birkenhead lay seriously ill today at his home in Grosvenor Gardens suffering from bronchial pneumonia which developed from a chill caught last week.

The Earl is 58 years old and was born Frederick Edwin Smith. His profession is law and he has held many high offices in Great Britain, including a term as attorney general.

YOUTH NOT INVOLVED

Detroit, Aug. 5.-(AP)-Inspector John D. Navarre, head of the police homicide squad, said today that Egbert M. Hoffmann, wealthy youth, whose bank book was found in an apartment "raided" in connection with the killing of Jerry Buckley, radio announcer, has been absolved of all connection with the case. The inspector said Hoffmann explained the bank book was left in the apartment where Miss Marjorie Mansell, radio singer, was arrested by his secretary, Miss Helen Fote, who roomed with the singer. Navarre said Hoffmann promised to have Miss Fote report to police headquarters when she returned from a vacation.

American Played a Flute During Italy's Earthquake

New York, Aug. 5.-(AP)-When Sorrento trembled with earthquakes and the cries and moans of fugitives and the streets of the Italian City, William J. ("Billy") Guard, veteran publicist and general factotum for the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York, arose from his hotel bed and played his flute on the veranda to calm the walling.

His niece, Mrs. Helen Barrows, told the story when she returned on the Comte Grande, first liner to reach the United States from the earthquake zone since the disaster. Mrs. Guard, she said, took the tremors calmly, but could not rest because the walling of frightened Sorrento folk rent the night. He took his flute from a traveling bag, went onto the porch, and from it issued the strains of an Italian aria.

The people in the streets, milling and moaning, looked up and saw him on the balustrade two floors above the street. If he could be calm there, they could be calm in the safer shelter of the street below, and the panic abated noticeably. Mrs. Barrows said Guard played from half-past two in the morning until almost four—and then went back to bed.

OPENING STOCKS

New York, Aug. 5.-(AP)-Operations for the advance were pressed further at the opening of today's Stock Market, although today's rise, General Motors moved up 1-3 and Radio 1-4 with transactions of 6,000 and 7,500 shares. Byers rose 1-4, and Atlantic Coast Line jumped 4 points. Issues opening up 1-4 to 5-8 included Dupont, Union Carbide, Columbia Gas, Vanadium and North American. American Telephone lost 1-2, International Telephone 1, and Case 2.

The market continued to creep irregularly higher during the first half hour, but trading was extremely dull, with only a few shares traded. The market was unchanged, sagged a fraction. American Telephone lost a point in profit taking.

After more mature consideration, Wall Street did not know whether to interpret yesterday's rally in grain prices bullishly, for it seemed to be largely due to short covering. Reports of slight improvement in steel mill operations, and further reductions in crude oil output, however, were favorable.

The Stock Exchange's report showing a reduction of $38,229,000 in member borrowings of July, a month when about half June's losses were recovered, was regarded as of good omen. This was substantially more favorable than the weekly brokerage loan statements had indicated.

Short covering carried Warner Bros. up 2 points, and shares gaining a point or more included Missouri Pacific, American Water Works, Vanadium, Foster Wheeler, Goodyear, Woolworth, Kresge, and Southern Railway. New York Central slipped back 2.

Foreign exchanges opened steady, with Sterling cables up 1-32 at $4.87 7-32.

O'BRIENE STILL ALOFT

St. Louis, Aug. 5.-(AP)-Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine today had less than 200 hours to go to better the world's record for refueling endurance flying set last month at Chicago by the Hunter brothers with a sustained flight of approximately 554 hours.

(C.S.T.) today Jackson and O'Brine had been up 361 hours in their monoplane. Greater St. Louis and were still going strong.

POLICE KILL BANDIT FOLLOWING HOLDUP

Plattsburgh, N. Y., Aug. 5.-(AP)-One alleged robber was killed and another was injured after a holdup at the VKen Hanna roadhouse, between Ausable, Forks and Jay today.

John Sherry, 32, of Utica, identified by Hanna as the man who took $300 from the roadhouse safe after compelling him, at gun-point, to open it, was killed. William Carlton, 35, also of Utica, was injured. Two other men, in another machine escaped.

After taking the money and blackjacking Matthew Cobb, 66, when he tried to interfere with their operations in the roadhouse, the four men jumped into their cars and sped away. They had gone but a short distance when Sergeant McGinnis and Trooper Corbin of the police approached in another car. The first of the getaway cars, sped by the troopers, but the second was turned about, sharply on the narrow highway. It overturned, and Sherry and Carlton spilled out. The troopers had Carlton's injuries treated and then lodged him in jail at Ausable Forks.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

All afternoon the Tinymites walked 'round the town, just seeing sights. "By night," exclaimed the Travel Man, "we'll sure be all tired out. But, while we're here, it seems to me, 'his best to see all we can see. Then, when we leave you'll just know what this country's all about."

"Hark! I think I heard we somebody's voice. Somebody's shouting 'Hey!' Then, for the bunch there came a treat. They spied poor Clowzy down the street. He ran right up to them and said: 'Oh gee, I've been away. I hopped a cart that passed our way and then the pony ran away. When someone caught him I jumped off. That was a trip quite rare.' 'Well, have your fun, lad, now and then, but please don't pull that trick again. We've all been looking 'round for you. You gave us all a scare.' That night the Times slept real sound and in the morning they were bound for some new land. The Travel Man was teasing them. Where they were bound he would not tell, but said, 'I know you'll think it's swell.' They took a train and then a boat and sailed right out to sea. EMERGENCY DOCTORS

Dr. N. A. Burr, 14 Park St., Tel. 9030, and Dr. D. C. Y. Moore, 689 Main St., Tel. 4567, will be on emergency call in Manchester tomorrow afternoon.

Men were at work on the Manchester railroad station this morning. As plans have been suggested that a big change was to be made in the station, especially in the room allotted to the express office so an investigation was made. It developed that it was not a case of enlarging the express station size, but the replacing of a rotted timber that was likely to fall and result in no express office at all.

Box 44 brings out a crowd no matter how large the fire, as it is this that is located in the center of the business section, Main and Oak street. Two of the three largest fires ever witnessed in Manchester were called from these boxes and that apparently is the reason. There was no exception to the rule, only the results were learned that it was one of the houses in the rear the people driving automobiles did not stop to look.

Mrs. Jennie A. Cooke of Manchester Green has had as her recent guest Mrs. Elliott, of Boston, Mass. Aaron Cook, who is a student this year at Babson Institute, spent the week-end with his mother.

Although the appointment has not as yet been made for the vacant position at the Buckland postoffice, the figures, showing the results of the examination of the three that took it have been returned. Mrs. Mildred C. Later, who has been the acting postmistress at the office since the death of Mrs. Clark, had the highest mark of 85 per cent. Mrs. John Derrick and Miss Nellie L. Smith. Mrs. Later is continuing as acting postmistress and will do so unless another is to be named.

Miss Clara Van Scott of 17 Ridge street will leave on Friday for Detroit, Michigan, where she will visit relatives and probably remain through the fall and winter.

ANNUAL BABY SHOW STAGED TOMORROW

West Side Playgrounds To Be Scene Of Biggest Event Of Summer.

The red letter event of the summer season activities at the West Side Recreation Center playgrounds—the baby show—takes place tomorrow afternoon at the Four Acres lot and it goes without saying that the largest crowd of the season will be on hand. The event gets underway promptly at 2 o'clock. There will be prizes for the largest baby, the smallest baby, the prettiest, healthiest and best decorated baby carriage with occupant. Every year the competition is keen for this event and mothers look forward with eager anticipation for the announcement of the date of the baby review. Recreation authorities have decided to obtain the services of the most qualified and capable judges possible for the occasion as there is always a lot of difference of opinion as to which babies deserve the prizes. One of the three will be a nurse. All will be women as men are usually considered poor judges of babies.

JUDGE WOOD'S ESTATE HERE IS SOLD TODAY

Home in Buckland Purchased by Hartford Man—Former Probate Judge Lives in City.

The home in Buckland, on North Main street, for many years occupied by Judge Olin R. Wood, was yesterday sold to John Gerath of Hartford. The deed was executed in Hartford where Mr. Wood has made his home for several years and is signed by him as a resident of Hartford. The place became well known because of the long term that Judge Wood was connected with the Probate Court.

Mr. Gerath was stricken with another spell this morning while on his way in search of work. A report spread at the fire that the man had been speaking in bed and that was the cause of the fire but an investigation conducted by Fire Chief Albert C. Foy late this afternoon disproved this theory.

It was proved that Genoffi was in the flower garden side of the house and that he dashed inside when first discovered. Meanwhile Mrs. Genoffi attempted to extinguish the fire with pans of water but had to retreat from the roof due to the excessive heat. Friends carried both the man and woman from the house. After the fire had been put out and the crowd had cleared away from the scene, Betty was asked if she had been playing with matches. At first she shook her head in denial but then she admitted that she had been playing with matches when she had been playing with matches. At first she shook her head in denial but then she admitted that she had been playing with matches when she had been playing with matches.
