THRILL SOLDIERS

Connecticut Aviators in Communications Test Try
Risky Stunts.

(Special to The Herald)

Camp Devens, Aug. 8.—Two captains of aviation from the 182nd Observation Squadron furnished the greatest individual thrills yesterday when they repeatedly risked their lives flying over rough terrain in a 43rd Division communication problem. The aviators were Captain Harry W. Generous, Deputy Commissioner of Aviation of the State of Connecticut, Hartford and Lt. Charles L. Wright of New Britain, both of the 178th Observation Squadron. The flight from the main camp, parade ground and a few moments later were hovering over the Shirley hills where the demonstration took place. Major General Morris E. Payne, commander of the 43rd division, officers, brigade and regimental officers who witnessed the unusual military spectacle expressed themselves as highly pleased over the outcome. Captain Generous in the "friendly" plane was in constant touch by two short wave radios with the ground as he skidded at half speed over the rocky wooded ground. Had anything gone wrong with the plane there would have been scant possibility of making a safe landing.

Highly Efficient
Lieut. Wright as the "enemy" plane swept the area which contained over 20 men of the Signal Detachments in ambush and only succeeded in spotting one man of the party. The demonstration because of the risk involved and the resultant success of communications and near-perfect ambush of the signal corps detachments entrusted with the duty, was considered of high military order.

It has been definitely decided that Sunday, August 10th will witness one of the largest gatherings of governors of states, general officers and noted visitors for the season of 1930. Governors of New England States who have definitely planned to attend are Governor William Tudor Gardner of Maine; Norman Case of Rhode Island; John E. Weeks of Vermont and John H. Trumbull of Connecticut. The 43rd Division will parade in review before Major General Morris E. Payne and noted guests. Large numbers of visitors from the four states that make up the 43rd Division are expected to be in attendance.

The 85th Brigade, composed of the 169th and 169th regiments of Connecticut troops paraded this afternoon on the C. M. T. C. parade grounds before General Morris E. Payne, commanding the division and Brigadier General William F. Ladd, Adjutant General of the State of Connecticut. Both regiments forming the brigade showed to admirable advantage the results of the early weeks training as they marched down the long field before the commanding general.

Weather Improves
The weather at camp yesterday was much better than since the arrival of the division in camp. A fine northwesterly breeze was blowing from noon and heavy clouds hid the burning rays of the sun. The Manchester boys are getting toughened to their work and although there is much going on of nights in the barracks as well as the collecting company the men fall out for all formations with the snap and spirit that bespeaks a real military outfit. All of the boys are looking ahead to Sunday with the hope that large numbers of friends and relatives will drive up for the big review.

A note of interest to those of the war-time Yankee Division is contained in the recent notice of condemning the old Liberty theater, on Liberty street erected during the war by popular subscription. The grounds stands at the north end of camp, weather beaten, rotting and closed—forever.

Famous Spot
Many a soldier who now sleeps in France or in some New England cemetery and many others of the famous Yankee Division which trained for the war on these 25 sun-baked acres, saw, perhaps for the first time their first real production from a seat in this old theater. Here it was that many famous actresses and actors gave of their talent to inspire those who were soon to sail away for the European battlefields.

Here it stands, just a few short yards from the Press Bureau, ready again to echo with laughter or music of a bygone day. It is enshrined in the hearts of officers, soldiers and those who in any measure received therefrom their full measure of forgetfulness, as the one bright gleam in an otherwise dark and gloomy period of their lives.

Guard Detail

Sgt. Zaleski, Cpl. Bober, Cpl. Doran, Cpl. Korch, Pvt. 1 cl. Donoghue, Pvt. 1 cl. Monseglio, Pvt. 1 cl. Minor, Pvt. 1 cl. A. Mozzer, Pvt. 1 cl. D. Robbins, Pvt. Carson, Massey, Obrafes, Stevenson, Fiedler, Topf, Walker, Hutton, Mitchell, W. Mozzer, Carey, Chase, Trueman, Krapaltes, Thomson, Jarvis (bugler).
Hot Shots
The longest squad in the Howitzer Company, Corporal Doran, Mozzer, Salga, Olovaage, Robbins, Hutton, Walker, and Edgar.

The kitchen of the Collecting Company has four girls for cleanliness and general appearance. No wonder—the gang in charge: Henry Anderson, 1st cook, "Pete" Vendrillo, 2nd cook, and kitchen mechanics John Carman, Peter Sullivan and to top it all off we have none other than Mess Sgt. Everett Kennedy doing his best, and then some to feed the boys. It sure is one snappy looking outfit and not because Pete stays so either.

First Sergeant Miller of the Collecting company, a Hartford man is a former resident of Manchester. He formerly lived at 106 Woodbridge street.

The heat of the past week has given all the press representatives sleeping sickness or some ailment akin to that. The first few days the boys were primed for every little event that floated in but nothing short of a division review, a catastrophe, a fire or a riot will excite them in the least. The bouts are held each evening at division headquarters, just a few minutes walk away from the Bureau but few go. Twas ever thus.

The Collecting company had their picture taken yesterday with no bad effects to the camera.

"Patsy" Vendrillo is mascot for the Collecting company.
"Sully" Squatrito, a member of the Quartermaster Co., motor company is going out for camp athletics. He entered in the shot put, javelin, 100 yard dash and broad jump. Sully is getting plenty of exercise on the big trucks and is tanned as brown as an Indian.

The boys from the Quartermaster's department drove over the other night and took the Manchester boys swimming in Hell pond on the big quartermaster's truck. The boys in charge of the truck for the swimming trip were "Dike" Cole, Nick Angelo, Cliff Bissell and Frank Sedesick.

The Howitzer boys shined up the harnesses Wednesday night and on Thursday fell in for field training, with horse drawn guns and ammunition. Although the horses were rather frisky, the Manchester boys seem to have a knack of keeping them under control, something the boys in the other outfits seem unable to do. At Thursday morning drill the first platoon joined the first battalion in defense tactics under command of Major Morrison while the second platoon was assigned to the second battalion under Major Butler for attack.

According to orders from regimental headquarters only three passes will be issued to a company for men to leave division area during the week. On week-end four will be issued. Notice has been posted on the bulletin boards that a bus will leave regimental area for Revere Beach Saturday afternoon and there are four times the number of men wanting to go than there are passes for. It seems the boys miss the seashore at Niantic.

Lewie Mulligan of the Collecting Company lost a pair of perfectly good shoes the other day. Good shoes but they were no regulation and this is one regulation camp.

Barney Kwash, Fred Fields, Frank Griveno and Phil Cervini are thinking of starting a high jump club for athletics. It doesn't matter much, says the boys, ping pong, volley ball or setback—they must have something to do.

G Company's Lieutenant Sergeant John Sprout, steps into the squared circle tonight. He stacks up against G. Fuller, Private 153rd Hospital Company. We wish you well, John, but.....?

The Medical Group
The 301st Medical Regiment, 76th Division, under the command of Colonel Walter S. Lay, of Hampden, Conn., and in training with the 118th Medical Regiment, Connecticut National Guard, commanded by Colonel Charles Comfort, of New Haven, Conn., is rounding out its first week of training at Camp Devens, Mass. The unfailing courtesy and co-operation of Col. Comfort and his officers together with other units in camp have made this tour of duty most enjoyable. The officers of the 301st Medical Regiment paid the Camp Commander, Colonel Frederick G. Knabenshue, a visit Tuesday evening. The following evening, Colonel Knabenshue and the officers of his staff returned the visit, escorted by the Post Band. During this visit the 118th Medical Regiment Band rendered a musical program. This reserve unit is completing a busy week with daily drills and terrain exercises. Preparations for participation in the Divisional reviews scheduled for next week are being made.

CAPE COD BLAZES ARE EXTINGUISHED

Plymouth, Mass., Aug. 8.—(AP.)—State officials were today investigating the forest fires at Bourne and Plymouth that burned for nearly three days over 30 square miles of Woodlands, destroying a score or more of summer cottages.

Reports that some of the fires were of suspicious origin brought about the investigation, which was launched late last night, when, for the first time in 60 hours, Forest Warden Ira C. Ward of Plymouth said that he could safely state the blazes under control without fear of a recurrence. Small smoldering patches of fire were closely watched by 100 members of the army of fire-fighters, who were released from duty when the "all out" was sounded. These small patches, fire officials said, would probably be extinguished shortly by heavy rains that were sweeping down the coast.

A check up by airplane and motor showed the damage by the two fires, one on either side of the Cape Cod canal, would be considerable. While about 18,000 acres of woodland were burned over in the 30 square mile area, only 50 acres of cranberry bogs were destroyed and no permanent homes were reached by the fire. The damage, fire officials said, would probably reach about $200,000.

Only one injury was reported in the army of approximately 2,000 fire-fighters who have been battling the two fires. Miss Mary Kenney of Somerville was burned about the feet and legs while building a back fire to save her parents' summer home at Big Sandy Pond.

COUPLE DROWNED

Binghamton, N. Y., Aug. 8.—(AP.)—Mrs. Nellie Baylor, 38, and Louis Hassinger, 40, both of Binghamton, drowned in the Susquehanna river one mile north of Afton last night.

Mrs. Baylor was a guest at a cottage near Afton and had gone in swimming. Hassinger, who was bathing nearby, went to her rescue when she screamed for help. Troopers said they believed the woman had waded beyond her depth dragged Hassinger to the bottom when he attempted to rescue her.

Both bodies were recovered.

"Berry" ice cream: Measure into a dish half the contents of an envelope of plain gelatin and add two or three tablespoonsful of cold water to soften. Wash and drain a box of any kind of berries in season, such as raspberries, loganberries, blackberries, etc. crush through and mix with a half pint of cream. Into another bowl pour a pint of whole milk into which thoroughly mix a half cupful of honey, and add to the berry mixture. Next, add the gelatin which has been dissolved over hot water. Stir all together, pour into freezer and freeze until of the desired consistency. The amount makes one quart.

Other fruits may be used in place of the berries, such as figs, peaches, pineapple or avocado, the proportion of honey used varying with the fruit used. When using a fresh acid fruit, such as fresh peaches, do not use the ice cream as a dessert, but as a meal, itself.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS (Ruptures in Children)
Question—Mrs. C. F. writes: "My little boy will be four years old in September. Five months ago I discovered a lump in his right groin. I had a surgeon examine him last week and he said it was a definite rupture. Will you please advise me what to do, as I do not want him to have an operation if it can be avoided. He feels no pain whatever and it seems to cause him no trouble at all."
Answer—It would be unwise for me to attempt to advise you without having examined your child. Get the opinion of two or more physicians where you live and rely upon their judgment. I have known many cases to be cured by putting on a proper support and reducing the gas pressure inside the abdomen by using a suitable diet. Ruptures sometimes heal up perfectly, but in case this method will not work, surgery is the only other step, and it is not such a dangerous one if performed by an experienced surgeon, and if the case is properly treated afterwards.

(Swollen Eyelids)
Question—Mrs. T. D. asks: "What causes such swelling of the eyelids that upon looking up, folds of skin hang over?"
Answer: Swelling of the eyelids often accompanies such diseases as nephritis, anemia, diabetes, trichiniasis or angio-neurotic edema. Of course, there may be some local condition such as urticaria, erysipelas, etc. You can see by this that a careful physical examination would be necessary to determine the exact cause.
(Milk and Catarrh)
Question—A. L. P. writes: "We would appreciate your advising us through your column if you consider a ten-day orange juice fast, followed by an exclusive milk diet a cure for nasal catarrh?"
Answer: The orange juice fast should bring about excellent results, but should be followed by a diet comparatively free from starch sugar or milk. While milk is an excellent food, its use should be carefully restricted by all those with a catarrhal tendency.

SHIPWRECKED CREW ARRIVES
St. John's, N. F., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Portuguese hospital ship Gill Bannes arrived today with the crew of 38 of the Portuguese schooner Silva Rios, destroyed by fire on the Grand Banks on July 20.
The men fought the flames for two hours but were finally driven to their quarters without having saved anything. They boarded the French tanker Captain Huet and three hours later the Silva Rios sank.
It was the second Portuguese vessel to be lost on the Banks this season. The Taruna sank on July 12. Her crew of 32 was rescued and landed at Sydney.
COOL IN EUROPE
Brussels, Belgium, Aug. 8.—(AP)—While the drought conditions prevail in portions of the United States, Europe has received more than its share of rainfall and pleasantly cool weather. Little Belgium has been deluged and considerable damage done to crops by the excessive rainfall.
Appeals have been made to the government to free farmers from all taxes and to grant subsidies to those who have suffered most. Another suggestion is the launching of a national relief fund for the farmers.

SKIPPY STUDIES REVOLT AGAINST "JACKETEERS"
Vesey Street was holding its breath today as the Spumone gang of "Jacketeers" continued its reign of terror, featuring extortion, assaults and vandalism. Developments of the last few hours included the following:
1. Jimmy Maloney, newspaper merchant, reported Spumone destroyed his stock when he was unable to pay 15 cents for "protection."
2. Spumone raided Old Man Hoffman's fruit stand. A gang stood by with stingshots to guard their leader while he ate a stolen apple.
3. Skippy, known all over the country as "the real American boy," stood at salute.
Other outrages, too numerous to mention, have nearly made Vesey street uninhabitable for boys of all ages. Skippy has been studying the situation and is considering leading a revolt against Spumone on behalf of law and order. "Pretty soon me and Spumone is going to square off for the leadership of this street, 'cause I feel it comin'," he is reported to have said.
Further developments of the Vesey street "jacketeer" situation will be shown in a new series of den and the Secretary of War. He was jumped over a number of major-generals senior to him. In announcing the appointment Mr. Hoover said: "He is the only one of the major-generals having a sufficient period to serve in the army before retirement to serve the full four-year term as chief of staff."

IN NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 8.—New York pastel. It is a soft summer twilight with a pallid moon waiting for approaching darkness to give it proper glamour.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 8, 1930.

N. Y. DRY PROBLEM

New York is not only a big state but one providing sharp contrasts between urban and rural interests and trends of thought. It has huge cosmopolitan centers and great areas as distinctively original American in character as any in the country.

OVER-CAUTION. The esteemed Waterbury Republican, girding with velvet buttoned foil at the engagement announced by Henry L. Mencken and enlarging on that cynical writer's admission that "I formerly was not as wise as I am now," says: "After all, the best critic is the man who brings to a finer and finer edge his critical attitude toward his own criticism."

This is an elegant and clever epigram as you will often run across in a newspaper editorial. Yet we have a haunting fear that if the Republican editor should govern his own course by it he eventually would lose his hold on his readers.

WATCH THE STUBS

Forest fires in New England during the last few days show that the usual midsummer immunity from such visitations does not hold good in 1930. Ordinarily it is next to impossible to start a woodland conflagration when the trees and undergrowth are in full verdure and the ground is damp with retained moisture.

BATH-CLAD

The Laurel Beach Association, anxious to maintain for its Millford resort a reputation of dignity and propriety, has requested cottagers there to refrain from parading the streets in bathing suits without some sort of outer covering. No legal coercion is attempted and nobody pretends that his morals are being endangered by the substitution of swimming rigs for ordinary clothes on the streets; the Association presents the matter as one wholly of good and bad taste.

REGISTRATION. The Manchester voter who is sufficiently interested in the political affairs of town and state to desire a voice in the naming of party candidates, and who is not already registered as a member of any political party, will be debarred from that privilege unless before 10 o'clock this evening he presents himself to the registrars at the Municipal Building and puts himself on record as a party member.

NOT EASILY FORGIVEN

Unless we are greatly mistaken somebody in the War Department has been brewing trouble for himself. The other day announcement was made that Major General Douglas MacArthur had been appointed chief of staff of the United States Army, which is a position of command next only to that of the President and the Secretary of War.

SKILLED WORRYING

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, Aug. 8.—Possibly you've noticed the increasingly tolerant attitude reflected recently by those persons officially and unofficially connected with the enforcement of prohibition.

DEFEND PERSONAL RIGHTS

Take, for instance, the recent declaration of leaders of various dry organizations for the sanctity of the home. Representatives of the Anti-Saloon League, the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, the W. C. T. U. and the Committee of One Thousand issued a manifesto which drew a distinct line between the business of drinking in ones own kitchen and actually trafficking in hooch.

many years to the Anti-Saloon League. Not that the administration is planning to kick the dry leaders in the pants or even to give them a polite shove. But it has become painfully plain that the Republican party isn't as dry as it thought it was, what with New Jersey, New York and Washington among other states, so the administration is virtually forced to play its own game instead of the league's.

HOOPER BORED

President Hoover's boredom with prohibition has been indicated by his desire to keep it off the front pages of the newspapers through avoidance of the spectacular. His desire will be carried out by the Department of Justice. The new policy provides for fewer killings, fewer night club raids, less attention to the small bootlegger with his pints and quarts and elimination of court congestion now caused by many petty prohibition cases.

JAPAN TO RATIFY LONDON SEA PACT

Japanese Want Tax Burden Lessened, Naval Expert Tells the Institute.

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Prediction that Japan will ratify the London naval treaty in the near future, despite opposition from Japanese naval experts and conservative politicians, was made before the Institute of Politics today by Yusuke Tsurumi, former member of the Japanese Diet.

In an address before the limitation of armament conference, Mr. Tsurumi stated that the present Japanese Cabinet occupies a strong position supported by the sentiment of the people, who favor ratification, and by a strong party which has 274 members out of 466 in the House of Representatives.

The Japanese people have felt there is no imminent danger of foreign invasion since the signing of the Versailles treaty in 1919, Mr. Tsurumi stated. In addition to this he pointed out the increase of population in Japan coupled with a general business depression in recent years has intensified a demand for the lessening of military and naval expenses.

Opposition of the Japanese naval experts, he said, was based on the contention that agreements in London were inadequate to meet Japanese naval requirements for protection of her safety.

Commander Thomas C. Kincaid, U. S. N., read a paper prepared for the institute by Admiral William V. Pratt, commander in chief of the United States Navy and advisor of the American delegation at the London naval conference, whose official duties prevented his attendance at the institute.

The Primary Motive, Admiral Pratt stated that the United States primary motive at the London naval conference was to accomplish agreement—by five powers if possible and if not three or two. Cooperation between American and British delegates contributed materially toward the successful negotiation of the London treaty, he declared, adding that "if any sacrifices were made it was British who made them."

Equality in the submarine tonnage between the United States, England and Japan was merely a variation of the policy to abolish the submarine altogether, Admiral Pratt stated. He pointed out that, despite rules adopted to humanize submarines in war, their operation in accordance with international law is a matter of great practical difficulty.

Economy Effected Economy was effected by treaty provisions reducing the tonnage of submarines and destroyers and by prolonging the lives of battleships, Admiral Pratt said, adding that if America lived up to the terms of the London treaty she would be forced to spend money on cruisers.

Discussing air armament, he stated that it is still unlimited by agreement and unregulated by the law of nations, and that air forces openly proclaim that "the way to wage war in the future is to attack the heart of a nation, projecting their attacks behind the lines at the civil population." The immediate demand in any future limitation of armaments, he declared, lies in "drastic limitation" in the power of air force to harm the civilization lying behind the front line trenches.

Need Conferences In conclusion he urged increasing need for more consultative clauses in agreements between nations, pointing out that willingness to confer might be of little practical value if the organization to make consultation effective is not immediately available. Since the United States is a member of the League of Nations, he said, she may be forced to find a solution of this problem along other channels.

Arthur K. Kuhn, international lawyer of New York, speaking before the round table on "political prospects of aerial navigation," said that rapid development of air traffic has accelerated the movement for unification of private air law. As an illustration of interest in air traffic regulation, he cited the convention called by the French government at Warsaw, October, 1929, to consider a draft for an air transportation regime similar to that created at Berne for railway transportation.

NEW DANCE RECORD

Chicago, Aug. 8.—(AP)—It started before the first robin was seen in Lincoln Park; it had tolled off many weeks before the Southern Cross flew the north Atlantic; it was still going strong when wheat took a flop and corn went above a dollar.

But it stopped last night—the dance Marathon in a north side ballroom. Ann Gerry, Chicago, and Mike Couvas, Hammond, Ind., were the winners with 2,831 hours, four minutes and 30 seconds to their credit. The managers said it was a new world record.

The contest ended when medical attendants ordered the other remaining couple off the floor after an examination of the man's foot showed it was too sore to dance upon any longer.

FIREMAN DROWNED

Winthrop, Me., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Bertrand Levesque, 23, a private in the Lewiston fire department drowned in a canoeing accident on a lake here late last night, it was learned today. Miss Yvonne Paradis, 22, of Brunswick, who accompanied him, was rescued by Henry Levesque, a lieutenant in the Lewiston fire department.

Levesque and a number of other Lewiston firemen were on a vacation on the shore of the lake. He and Miss Paradis went for a late sail in a canoe with an outboard motor. The craft began to sink and the couple jumped Levesque, who was a strong swimmer, striking his head on the motor. The body was not immediately recovered.

TRANS-PACIFIC HOP

Yokohama, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Lieutenant Harold Bromley, Tacoma, Wash., aviator, and his co-pilot and Navigator, Harold Gatty, arrived here today on the steamer President Lincoln. After difficulties involving passports were smoothed over, the fliers proceeded to Tokyo to confer at the American Embassy and ministry of communications concerning their proposed trans-Pacific flight from Tokyo to Tacoma.

Bromley said he hoped to start the flight within ten days.

London.—George Bernard Shaw has signed his first contract permitting the filming of one of his plays. The reason? "I want to make some money," he said.

New York.—It was a good idea even though it didn't pan out. Loiters in the financial district gazed expectantly at the New York Federal Reserve Bank when a fire broke out there. HEAT CONTINUES IN THE MIDWEST

Chicago, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The heat hangs on, undaunted by a few showers here and there and apparently determined to set an endurance record all its own.

Extremely high temperatures shift from one part of the country to the other, scattered rains bringing brief joy here and there as a cool breeze now and then conjured up a mirage of autumn and comfort. But the country as a whole swelters in one of the most prolonged hot spells in its history.

Corn Damaged Damage to corn and pasture land continues to be reported. Twenty per cent of Iowa's corn is said to be past saving. Eastern Nebraska is believed to be in even worse condition. The agricultural department of the Santa Fe railroad estimates the damage will run from ten to 75 per cent in Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska. Southern Illinois continues to be one of the driest sections of the country. The last soaking rain there was late in March.

It was 102 in Cairo, Illinois, yesterday and Evansville, Indiana, had 102 also. It was 100 in Cincinnati. Farther south, Nashville recorded 104 degrees and Memphis 100.

Although the mercury got no higher than 86 in Cleveland, two heat deaths were reported. Iowa's tall corn got a little more rain, but in Nebraska where the eastern part is especially in need of moisture the heat continued unabated with unusually high humidity. High temperatures reached as far as the Pacific coast states.

COMMUNITY BUILDING

SCIENCE AND BUSINESS

Institute Which E. J. McCabe Is Attending Studies All Community Problems.

Community development as a science and a business is the theme of the 10th Annual Session of Commercial and Trade Organization Executives National Institute, in session at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., beginning August 5, for a period of weeks.

Trial and error methods have been replaced with the scientific study process system, exemplified in a course of instructions involving every phase of community development.

Gardner S. Rogers, assistant manager, Civic Development Department, Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in his classes, says: "In the competition for municipal supremacy the successful city is not going to be the one which provides food, clothing and shelter for all of its citizens, nor will it be the city of paved streets and bank deposits, for all municipalities will provide these necessities of civilized existence. The successful city, the one which will grow at the expense of others, the one which will prosper when times are bad, will be the city which provides the proper stimulus during hours of leisure so that the hours of work may be more efficient, which provides for the health and education of its citizens and finally which transforms a mere existence into a life of health, happiness and well-being."

The National Institute is held under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce of the U. S., National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries, American Trade Association Executives and Northwestern University.

E. J. McCabe, executive secretary of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, is in attendance at the National Institute.

For instance Italy, which gave us

Wife—Wedding anniversary nothing. Its the date on which we is due.

If all the mail in the country were

What's the matter now?
Manager—My boy says he won't

Mother—My son, do you think that chorus girl is the sort you could and your sisters?

Son—Sure, mother, but I'd hate to

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Way down the shore they reached a place that brought a smile to each one's face. Big flat boats lined the dock and my, their cargo sure was queer. "Look at the mules," one Tiny cried. "I guess they also like to ride. They look so funny in a boat. What are they doing here?" "Why, they're Missouri mules, my lad," replied the Travel Man. "They've had a long, long journey o'er the sea. They're over here to work. You see, our mules are good and strong. When using them folks can't go wrong. They're rather slow in traveling but then, they never shirk. "Right now they're being shipped away to some town near. They'll leave today." Just then the mule boats started off and, how the mules did jump. At first they didn't like the ride, and they all huddled, side by side. But then, they soon got used to it. No more did their hoofs thump. The boats had sails and up they went. About a half an hour was spent in watching how the wind would take the boats along the stream. "Well, we can't see them any more," said Scouty. "Let's go back to shore. I've seen so many things today, it all seems like a dream." They shortly landed, safe and sound, quite glad to get on solid ground. And then they found a place to eat and sat down to some lunch. "Gee, everything tastes good," said one. "This eating habit's lots of fun." When they had eaten all they could, they were a happy bunch. Out on the street again they found a husky fellow walking round. A great big trunk was on his back. Said Scouty, "Who are you?" The man replied, "A porter, son, and moving trunks is my day's fun." He then shook hands with Clowzy and the lad said, "Howdy, do."
