

JOHNSON, CHENEY WIN NOMINATION

Keith Loses Representative Race by Only 38 Votes in Republican Primary Here;
Clifford for Assessor;
Mrs. Burr Loses as Candidate for Selectman.

Judge Raymond A. Johnson and Miss Marjory Cheney were virtually returned to the General Assembly as Manchester's representatives in yesterday's Republican Primary in the largest party vote recorded here since 1925. Judge Johnson and Miss Cheney today are the Republican nominees for Representative which practically elects them in this town. Selectman George E. Keith who sought office as a Representative, lost the nomination by only 38 votes, nearly cutting Miss Cheney's lead on the last two voting machines read by Judge Alexander M. Arnott, moderator of the Primaries.

Clifford Wins
Loren C. Clifford, Jr., former telephone exchange manager here, decisively defeated Emil L. G. Hohenthal, Jr., for the assessorship nomination, totaling 1,139 votes to Hohenthal's 737. Although Hohenthal had the support of the Republican town committee, Clifford had an organization back of him that worked enthusiastically and with perseverance so that at no time yesterday was the outcome in this particular contest in doubt.

Mrs. Burr Lowest
Mrs. Ella F. Burr, the first woman to seek a place on the Board of Selectmen, made a poor showing. The lowest vote tallied by any of the Selectmen nominees was Mrs. Burr's vote by two to one. Mrs. Burr gathered but 671 votes. Thomas J. Rogers, chairman of the present board, was high man, not only of the Selectmen but on the entire Republican ticket being credited with 1,610. Arvid Gustafson who ran seventh among the Selectmen, got 1,344 votes, a mile over twice as many as the woman contestant.

Big Vote
Exactly 2,397 voters went to the Primaries yesterday. Of these, 2,348 were Republicans and 55 Democrats. It was the biggest Republican Primary vote since 1925 when 2,169 Republican voters went into the Primary to pick a field of ten. Sammieout of a field of ten. Sammieout of a field of ten. FUMES IN SILO KILLS FARMER, FOUR CHILDREN

Father Overcome — Two Sons and Two Daughters
Try to Save Him and All
Die—Unusual Accident.

Hebron, N. D., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Poisonous fumes, which turned a silo into a turret of death, had claimed five members of the Tony Neidhardt family today.

The victims were Tony Neidhardt, Hebron farmer, and two sons and two daughters who died in a vain attempt to save the father from the methane gas vapors. George, 24, was taken unconscious from the silo yesterday, but died while physicians were attempting to save his life.

Fred, 20, Margaret, 20, and Freda, 18, and their father, 50 years old, were drowned in the brine of the silo pit after being overcome by the gas.

Marshal Collapses
Ollie Bohle, town marshal, nearly lost his life in an effort to rescue the victims but was saved after he had collapsed in the silo by his death pit twice to tie a rope around his father's unconscious form. A group outside then drew Bohle to safety.

No inquest will be held, the coroner said, as the deaths were obviously caused by methane or marsh gas generated in cornstalks. The gases were released when Neidhardt stirred the refuse as he was cleaning out the pit.

His two sons entered the pit to succor their father as Neidhardt collapsed and the two daughters met the same fate in attempting to save the three.

His widow and two daughters survive Neidhardt.

ZEPPELIN VISITS SOVIET CAPITAL

Stops for Short Time at Moscow and Then Starts on Return Trip to Her Base.

Moscow, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin, landing here at noon today, paid her first official visit to the Soviet republic and was greeted with red flags flying and bands playing proletarian airs. After a brief visit she left for Germany again.

The dirigible, which on her round the world flight last summer sailed across the entire U. S. S. R. from east to west, appeared over Moscow earlier than expected. Her progress was speeded by a tail wind during the 27-hour flight from Friedrichshafen, Germany.

After circling low over the city and twice dipping over the ancient Kremlin in tribute to the chiefs of the Red republic, the Graf came down on October field. About 100,000 holders of special tickets had been waiting for her there since early morning.

A detachment of 250 Red soldiers held down the dirigible while Dr. Hugo Eckener descended and was greeted by high Russian air officials. Mail was dropped and more taken aboard.

The big guard of soldiers had difficulty in keeping the great crowd from rushing the Graf.

After an exchange of greetings and courtesies Dr. Eckener climbed on board again. The Graf rose, once more circled over Moscow and settled down for the return flight to Friedrichshafen.

Find Traces of Explorers Lost Over 85 Years Ago

Edmonton, Alberta, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Discovery on King Williams Island of two camp sites of the lost expedition of Sir John Franklin has added another chapter to the story of the long missing Arctic explorers.

Word of the discovery was received by radio from W. E. Gilbert, pilot for Major L. T. Burwash, Canadian government explorer on an airplane expedition to the region of the magnetic pole. The message gave no details of the find but said valuable data concerning the far

How Gandhi's Men Dare Death

If the oxen move ahead with their cartload of British-made goods, there will be just one more martyr to Mahatma Gandhi's program of passive resistance to English rule. For the man shown prone upon the street in this unusual picture is one of the volunteers in Bombay, India, who have pledged themselves either to halt the transportation of boycotted foreign merchandise or to die without resistance. Partly as a result, foreign trade in Bombay declined $8,000,000 in a single month as compared with the same period last year.

GRANDI DEPARTS AS LEAGUE OPENS

When Italian Minister
Quits Parley Just Before
Briand Speaks.

Geneva, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Dino Grandi of Italy suddenly left Geneva by automobile this morning without waiting for the opening of the eleventh Assembly of the League of Nations, which tomorrow will hear Foreign Minister Briand of France expound his ideas of his "United States of Europe" plan.

Signor Grandi's departure caused a considerable flurry among the members of the delegations, and therein this afternoon began the immediate business of organizing the Assembly's machinery.

The official explanation given out at headquarters of the Italian delegation was that Signor Grandi had arranged in advance to leave Geneva.

POPULACE IS FED IN SANTO DOMINGO

For First Time in Week People
Not Hungry — Relief Ships Now Arriving.

Santo Domingo, Sept. 10.—(AP)—For the first time in a week the populace of this old city was not hungry today.

A small fleet of relief ships arriving yesterday and trucks which finally broke through the debris brought food, as much food as was needed, to the stricken city.

Relief crews passed out the first meals of ten thousand or more of the populace had had since the hurricane last Wednesday afternoon blew most of the city away.

The same ships which brought food also brought other supplies, medicines, shelters and clothing and as important, doctors, nurses and relief workers.

PLANS TO ASCEND 10 MILES IN AIR

German Professor Hopes to Find New Sources of Energy in Rarefied Air.

Augsburg, Germany, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Auguste Piccard, professor of physics at the University of Brussels, today explained to the Associated Press why he hopes to find new sources of energy, at present undreamed of commercially, on his proposed 10-mile balloon ascent to study cosmic rays. His take-off awaits favorable weather.

He said the new source consisted in the hoped-for development of energy by "atomic transformation," as opposed to the present development of energy by "chemical reaction." Atomic transformation consists of the changing of the number of electrons in an atom, as is done when the radium group give off rays and change by radio-activity.

Atomic Transformation
"Science knows that cosmic radiation exists, but isn't clear about its nature and origin," said Dr. Piccard. "Most likely it originates in atomic reactions, in other words, in atomic transformation. Atomic transformation constitutes the source of the energy of the future, for it yields a million-fold the energy produced by chemical reaction."

Let me illustrate. One gram (15.43 Troy grains) of aluminum, atomically transformed, yields as much energy as the combustion of a gram of gunpowder, or 500 kilojoules. (More than half a ton of coal.)

Cosmic radiation is further important because it may prove the source of the so-called Heaviside stratum which plays a role in wireless telegraphy. The Heaviside stratum is a strongly ionized stratum which reflects electric waves like a mirror."

BLEASE LOSES, COUZENS WINS IN PRIMARIES

Long Wins in Louisiana and Byrnes in South Carolina;
Results in Other Six States
Which Voted Yesterday.

(By Associated Press)

Senator Joseph E. Ransdell lost in Louisiana and Senator Cole L. Blease apparently did likewise in South Carolina in the primaries held yesterday in eight states. Michigan Republicans chose to return James Couzens to the Senate seat he has held since 1922. The Democratic nominations amount to election in the two southern states. Governor Huey P. Long won from Ransdell, and James F. Byrnes held a commanding lead over Blease with some returns from outlying districts lacking.

Other Senatorships
The only other senatorships involved in yesterday's balloting were in Colorado and New Hampshire.

Senator Cole L. Blease

Henry W. Keyes was unopposed for the Republican nomination which means election in the latter state.

Results from two-thirds of the precincts in Colorado indicated George H. Shaw had won from William V. Hodges the contest for Republican nomination to the Senate being given up by L. C. Phipps. Edward P. Costigan at the same time led the race for Democratic nomination.

Georgia voted today, with Senator William J. Harris opposed for Democratic re-nomination by Governor John M. Slaton.

South Carolina, Michigan, Vermont, Arizona, New Hampshire and Colorado also nominated gubernatorial candidates. Voters in the state of Washington selected their party choices for the National House of Representatives.

STATE DEMOCRATS TO MEET TONIGHT

Delegates Already Arriving at Eastern Point — Cummings to Make Speech.

Eastern Point, Conn., Sept. 10.—(AP)—The trek of Democratic delegates to the state convention of the party which will open tonight in the dining room of the Hotel Griswold, began this morning and increased in numbers as the hours lengthened.

Most of the county and city leaders were early arrivals as there was much work ahead in organizing for the convention business tomorrow which will include nomination of a state ticket to be headed by Dean Emeritus Wilbur L. Cross of Yale Graduate School.

Various Headquarters
National Committeeman Archibald McNeill of Bridgeport established himself yesterday afternoon and the room of Prof. Cross is adjoining his. The state committee has a suite of rooms for headquarters and therein this afternoon began the conference of the sub-committee on platform to work out a draft which may be submitted to the delegates tomorrow morning with prospects already bright, through the courtesy of being adopted without protracted discussion on the floor.

State Chairman J. J. Walsh of Meriden, Secretary A. S. Lynch of New Haven, and several of the state committee members from New Haven county arrived before noon. Former Congressman P. B. O'Sullivan and a party came in later.

1,000 Delegates
The outlook was for the presence of three-fourths of the entire delegation body, which numbers over one thousand, at the session tonight.

The sub-committee on resolutions was expected to sit all afternoon in an effort to put into definite shape the various planks submitted and already discussed and to discard those which do not accord with the views of Prof. Cross. The one plank definitely agreed upon is that which will call for repeal of the 18th Amendment.

Old Age Pensions
Members of the committee said that consideration has been given to the views of Prof. Cross, who has been found to be definite in his ideas and it is not their intention to

Front St. Bootlegger Leaps To His Death

Hartford, Sept. 10.—(AP)—John Brito, 23, a Portuguese, leaped three stories to his death early this afternoon as police raided his top floor tenement on North Front street. A large still and a quantity of liquor was found in the house. Brito made his way to the roof and jumped as a police officer followed him to the roof.

LODGE'S DAUGHTER ATTACKS BUTLER

Says Late Senator Was Treated Like a Pickpocket at G. O. P. Convention.

Boston, Sept. 10.—(AP)—A bitter attack on William M. Butler as an enemy of his father, the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, was contained in a letter today from Mrs. Constance Williams to Eben S. Draper, opponent of Butler for the Republican nomination for United States Senator. Mrs. Williams charged her father was "treated like a pickpocket" at the 1924 Republican convention in Cleveland at Butler's orders. Her letter follows:

"I see by the daily press that Mr. William M. Butler has asserted: (A) that he and my father, the late Henry Cabot Lodge, were always friends; (B) that my father wished Mr. Butler to succeed him in the United States Senate and (C) that all the 'stories' told about the 1924 convention at Cleveland were exaggerated.

"There is not a word of truth in any of these statements.

"Mr. Butler's hostility to my father was in good working order in 1923 when he supported Crago

WAS A LEGISLATOR BUT NOT A CITIZEN

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 10.—(AP)—George E. Klenszendorf, 47, who served two years in the State Assembly and helped make the laws for Wisconsin after his election in 1907 has petitioned to become a citizen of the United States.

Klenszendorf told Circuit Judge Kleczka yesterday he had not intended to serve illegally in the Legislature, but was under the impression that when his parents brought him here as a child of ten he automatically became a citizen.

LABOR CONDITIONS IN SOUTH PICTURED

Textile Workers Get But $9 a Week — Food Prices
Nearly Take It All.

New York, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Labor conditions in the textile mills in the south were described by delegates from newly organized locals there at today's session of the annual convention of the United Textile Workers' Union of America.

The first speaker was John Baine, a delegate from the tri-city local, formed of workers in Greenville, Draper and Sparty, North Carolina. He said that unionism is progressing rapidly in the three cities and that the benefit of organization was apparent on all sides, although there is considerable work to be done before the entire south is completely organized. In one mill wages are paid in all mills and human working hours arranged.

Paid $9 a Week
John Peel, a delegate from Greenville, S. C., said that the average wage in the mills was $9 a week. He said that families of seven, eight or nine persons tried to eke a living from the mills, but found it a hard struggle as they could work only two weeks in each month because of the slack season. He told of inspecting pay envelopes of twenty-three workers. In one he found a dollar, another had but 95 cents and one contained but five cents after the company had deducted the amounts spent for food, clothing and rent. He said he had found the food prices twenty per cent higher in the company stores than in the independent stores of the towns.

Worth Only $1.50
Peel said that he had found the brass checks that called for $2 worth of merchandise in the company stores had a value of but $1.50.

Ray Price, a delegate from Marion, N. C., made an appeal to the delegates to work hard to unionize the south. He said the average day in the Marion mills had been twelve hours and twenty minutes of labor and that no pay was given workers for the first two weeks. Then a rate of five to thirty cents an hour was the wage. Now the ten-hour day is in force and there has been a ten per cent increase in pay. Better sanitary conditions are also enjoyed by the workers, he said.

POLICE PROBING STAMFORD BLAST

After Fire Find Three 500
Gallon Stills — One Man Seriously Injured.

Stamford, Sept. 10.—(AP)—An explosion of a large and well equipped alcohol manufacturing plant in which one man was seriously injured was under investigation by police today.

The blast, which shook the entire western section of Stamford late yesterday afternoon, wrecked a one-story building and did damage estimated at $25,000. Joseph Sarge of New Rochelle, N. Y., who was working in the plant, was burned about the face and body. Hospital attendants said his recovery was doubtful.

Three Men Flee
Three other men were seen to run from the place after the explosion. Sarge refused to say who they were or discuss the operations of what police believe was a combine supplying alcohol to New York city.

Firemen fought the subsequent fire for an hour. The interior of the building was almost totally wrecked while the roof was torn away by the blast.

In the ruins were found three 500 gallon copper stills and seven vats of 2500 gallon capacity each. Police seized 15 gallons of alcohol from one vat.

The building was rented last May by the "A. W. White Manufacturing Company of New York."

TREASURY BALANCE

New Argentine Rulers Adopt Severe Measures to Main- tain Order and Keep News From Leaking Out of Country—General Urbu- ru, President General, Gives Out Long Statement Expressing Hope That Re- lations Will be Restored With United States.

Buenos Aires, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The new government of the Argentine today adopted the most severe measures to prevent reprisals and counter-revolutionary movements by friends of the ousted administration of Hipolito Irigoyen.

Rule by martial law was tightened. Heavy guards who made an attempt to keep into the background were maintained at strategic places in the city and at public buildings. Movements of troops through the streets and manning of fighting planes overhead were constantly observed.

Rigid Censorship
At the same time a censorship more rigid than had been known heretofore was imposed. The chief of the Argentine press section called all foreign correspondents into conference and advised them that no messages might be sent out of the country which had not been approved by authorized censors.

The new government appeared to be greatly concerned with regard to large quantities of arms which were taken from arsenals in the city during the fighting Monday night. Two military units were issued prescribing trial by court martial for anyone found in possession of arms after 6 p. m. yesterday, for anyone acting in any way against the government, and for anyone failing to return within 12 hours any arms belonging to the government which they might have in their possession.

Some Reports
There were reports that Irigoyen had been removed from the military barracks at La Plata and placed aboard the warship Belgrano in the harbor to be taken to an unannounced destination, but it became known this morning that he still is a prisoner in the barracks with his physician Dr. Meabe, and was not taken aboard the Belgrano because of his delicate health.

Many persons connected with the deposed administration have been arrested. Among the latest of them are the former interventor of Mendoza Province, Borzani, and the personnel of his administration. Other figures of the deposed Irigoyen regime who have escaped the courts successfully in Uruguay and elsewhere.

Buenos Aires, Sept. 10.—(AP)—President General Jose Evaristo Uriburu told the Associated Press today that close co-operation with the United States and active participation activities of the Pan-American Union were to be the notes of his administration in the Argentine.

Stressing especially his desire for friendly intercourse with the United States, General Uriburu declared: "I desire my government to establish friendly and mutually advantageous relations with the United States and shall name an ambassador to Washington the instant that the United States government recognizes the Argentine government."

"Touching upon the long vacancy in the Argentine Embassy at Washington, General Uriburu said: "Both nations have everything to gain through diplomatic, economic, and commercial co-operation and much to lose through political aloofness in matters in which the best interests of both are involved."

and not Lodge for the Republican nomination to the United States Senate.

"When Lodge ran for the Senate in 1922 he wanted that Butler and I would support him if he would retire in favor of Butler at the end of his term.

Lodge Refuses "My father said to me: 'That crowd of Butler's want me to promise to get out and let Butler in. Not except over my dead body.'

"In 1924 the Republican convention was held in Cleveland.

"My father was a senator of Massachusetts and he had no for 31 years; he was rich in years and honors and had given long and honorable service to his country and to his state.

Treated Like Pickpocket "He arrived at Cleveland to find himself treated like a pickpocket at the orders of Mr. William Morgan Butler, the chairman at that time of the Republican committee.

"It was not until after his accommodations were unfit and insufficient and his one-time secretary, the late Louis A. Coolidge insisted on changing rooms with him. That convention was in June of 1924, and in November of 1924 my father died.

"It has always been the belief of Lodge's family and friends that this treatment of an old and distinguished statesman, with years of devoted service to his country, was a deliberate act of revenge for Lodge's refusal to make way for Butler in exchange for Butler's help in 1922.

"If anyone is thinking of voting for Mr. Butler because he says he is for the United States, let me tell you that Cabot Lodge or he she had better think again. They would be voting under a misapprehension of the truth.

"This letter of mine is true in every word and you are at liberty to make any use of it you may desire."

Butler's Answer After publication of Mrs. Williams' letter a statement was immediately forthcoming from the Butler camp.

After stating that his attention had been called to the charges that he was unfriendly to the late Senator Lodge, Mr. Butler flatly declared that "Senator Lodge and I were good friends."

It was pointed out by Senator Moses, and he has publicly asserted, that Senator Lodge told him that his successor in the Senate, regardless of the manner in which the seat became vacant would be William M. Butler," he said, "I have never made this assertion by reason of my statement of Mr. Lodge to me."

Mr. Butler said he voted for Lodge in 1893, that he supported him in 1922 and denied all activities against Lodge at the convention in 1924, at which time he said he was not chairman but only a delegate.

The statement was closed with an expression of regret that it was necessary, and a refusal to enter into further controversy with the late Senator's daughter.

EAST SIDE'S BAND CONCERT TONIGHT

First and Last Musical Affair at Cottage Street This Evening.

With ideal weather conditions—a clear blue sky today and a full moon only two days old due this evening, expectations are that a crowd of more than a thousand persons will attend the annual band concert to be given at the East Side playgrounds tonight.

Whereas several band concerts dot the West Side schedule during the summer season, only one similar event is held at the East Side each year. And so naturally the affair is looked forward to with eager anticipation by hundreds of persons, especially the boys and girls who spend their summer vacations in activities at the playground.

Last fall a very large crowd was in attendance and tonight should be no exception. The well known Rizza Band of Hartford, an organization of 35 pieces, will furnish a concert of two and a half hours duration. This fine band has played in many towns and cities throughout the state and comes here highly recommended.

The band concert isn't the only thing on the program tonight. In fact the children will be most interested in a series of exhibition boxing bouts which will feature several boys well known to them. Tony Leto, formerly of Tampa, Florida, who gained the distinction of flooring Bat Battalino last year even though losing the decision, will come here from Hartford to act in the capacity of honorary referee.

Refreshments—hot dogs, ice cream and soda—will be on sale at the canteen the same as at the west side concerts which proved so popular. The boxing bouts will start promptly at 7 o'clock. The ample space in the playgrounds makes room for a very large crowd without any congestion.

The boxing bouts include Eddie Fagan, tissue-paper-weight champion of Manchester, who will meet a mystery opponent. Other bouts are as follows:

Tony Urbahetti will face Tommy O'Neil; Sam Prentice will meet Billy Halstead; Bobbie Turkington spars with Bobbie Nolen; Gordon Weir opposes Walter Ford; Ray Mozzer matches his skill with Lawrence Malion; Billy Ford takes on Jackie Grell; Frankie Iuliano meets Landon Judd.

The boxing bouts include Eddie Fagan, tissue-paper-weight champion of Manchester, who will meet a mystery opponent. Other bouts are as follows:

Tony Urbahetti will face Tommy O'Neil; Sam Prentice will meet Billy Halstead; Bobbie Turkington spars with Bobbie Nolen; Gordon Weir opposes Walter Ford; Ray Mozzer matches his skill with Lawrence Malion; Billy Ford takes on Jackie Grell; Frankie Iuliano meets Landon Judd.

Refreshments—hot dogs, ice cream and soda—will be on sale at the canteen the same as at the west side concerts which proved so popular. The boxing bouts will start promptly at 7 o'clock. The ample space in the playgrounds makes room for a very large crowd without any congestion.

the vote at a party Primary because there is generally considerable cutting of candidates. It is evident that a great many voters pulled down the pointer over the name of one representative candidate only, Position on the machine is said by some to make a difference in the vote. However, this does not work out since such a candidate as Judge W. S. Hyde, unopposed, gets invariably a leading vote despite the fact that his name is near the end of the ticket.

Keith's Vote It is interesting to compare Selectman George E. Keith's vote as Selectman with that for Representative. For Selectman, Mr. Keith polled 1,879 but for Representative he polled 1,092. It is probable that many voters thought that registering his pointer as Selectman would serve to give him a vote for Representative. Although some men did vote on the four machines located at the east side of the balloting place all the women used these machines and their totals rather indicate how the women voted. On these four machines on the women's side of the room Miss Cheney polled 555 votes, Judge Johnson 551 and Mr. Keith 496. Mr. Keith did better by 100 votes on the men's machine than on the women's. This is not a good comparison strictly speaking since 150 to 200 men voted on the women's machine during the rush hours.

Congratulates Winners Mr. Keith today mailed letters of congratulation to Judge Johnson and Miss Cheney. Though naturally disappointed at not winning the nomination he is pleased at the showing he made in the Representative contest. No bitter feeling entered into the campaign in any way and all three candidates are pleased that they can go through such a hard close fight without the existence of any bitterness. It was a clean-cut campaign in every way and the loser does not feel harshly over defeat.

Good for Party Such a contest is good not only for the party but for the candidates themselves. Both Judge Johnson and Miss Cheney can return to their seats in the General Assembly with undeniable proof that they are the choice of their constituents and are not machine-picked. Such a clean-cut victory gives Judge Johnson even greater prestige in the House and Miss Cheney greater influence than ever. Mr. Keith has lost no local prestige through a defeat by only 38 votes when 2,343 were polled.

Selectmen Pleased The members of the Board of Selectmen are naturally pleased to be so thoroughly endorsed by the Republican voters. Without a doubt this will be the last year this group will be together. Next year new faces will serve the town in the capacity of Selectmen since already Thomas J. Rogers has stated that he positively would not be a candidate a year from now. L. C. Clifford, Jr. has the capacity for an efficient assessor. He is well equipped to handle the clerical work of the assessment board and with

HERALD NEWSBOYS IN THEATER PARTY

Seventy Herald newsboys and their helpers revelled in a theater party as guests of the Herald last night at the State Theater, the feature picture being "Raffles" the famous crook story of London. The boys met at the Herald office and paraded from that point down Main street to the terminus and back to the State. Following the theater party the Herald treated all newsboys and helpers to ice cream at the Herald office.

WAR VETERAN DIES

HIGH SCHOOL FACULTY IN SOCIAL GATHERING

The first annual social gathering of the members of the High School faculty was held last night at the Highland Park Community Club. Principal and Mrs. C. P. Quimby were host and hostess. Fifty-five persons were in attendance, the figure including some of the friends and relatives of the faculty members.

The treasure hunt first prizes went to Miss Janet Wilcox and A. N. Potter with second honors being won by Miss June Goodrich and Dwight Perry. In the course of the general entertainment, one of the features was a "goop parade" by the new members of the faculty from the Franklin school. A comedy act, "The Lay of the Last Minstrel" was presented by the faculty members from the main building. The male members of the faculty staged an Atlantic City "beauty parade" which provoked much laughter.

GRANDHI DEPARTS AS LEAGUE OPENS

as soon as the council sessions were finished and to enter Italy's business at the assembly to Senator Scialoja.

France Surprised French circles appeared greatly surprised that Signor Grandi should have departed on the eve of M. Briand's important address. It had been announced that Briand would discuss his European federal union plan in the light of the committee's report which had been communicated in a memorandum last May.

The surprise grew when it became known that only late last night Signor Grandi had cancelled an engagement with the German foreign minister, to discuss the Saar question this afternoon.

A number of Signor Grandi's other appointments were called off only this morning.

The Italian statesman's automobile speeded out of Geneva just an hour before the assembly was called to order for the first session of its eleventh meeting.

The official explanation of his departure was greeted with diplomatic skepticism in many quarters. Some observers said that Signor Grandi felt that naval negotiations with France were going very slowly and preferred to be absent when the reports of their progress were called for.

Others believed that some purely Italian question must have required his immediate presence in Rome. A well-informed Italian said this morning that "the naval negotiations are proceeding by means of conversations between experts" but made no claim that they had progressed to the point where, as Foreign Secretary Henderson of Great Britain suggested to the press last night, any public report could be issued.

French delegation and league officials obviously were surprised, if not seriously disturbed by Signor Grandi's absence from the scene.

PLAN BIG ASSEMBLY AT THE HIGH SCHOOL. All Students to Gather Tomorrow Afternoon for First and Possibly Last Time. The first and possibly the last assembly of all Manchester High school students will be attempted tomorrow afternoon. For many years it has been the custom to hold weekly gatherings of the entire student body but the enrollment this year is so large that it is quite probable that this part of the school schedule will have to be cancelled. The maximum seating capacity of the high school assembly hall under normal arrangements is 936 persons but the present number of students is close to 950 which with the 46 members of the school faculty, makes a grand total of close to 1,000. Definite decision as to what will be done about the situation has been tabled pending the outcome of tomorrow's assembly. The orchestra which includes a personnel of 35 players, will be seated on the stage to help take care of the crowded condition and many extra seats will be carried into the hall to make use of every available inch of floor space.

"PASSING LANES" FOR GAS CARGOS
Federal Officials Call Parley to Prevent Collision Along Coasts of the Nation.

Washington, Sept. 10.—(AP)—A conference to discuss plans to prevent future steamship disasters in United States coastal water, was called today for September 29 by Dickerson N. Hoover, supervising inspector general of the Commerce Department's steamboat inspection service.
It will be held in Washington and is a direct out-growth of the collision between the Fairfax and the Pinta in Massachusetts Bay last June which cost the lives of 50 persons.
Hoover said the questions of the practicability and need of "passing lanes" in the United States coastal waters should be discussed as well as for vessels carrying dangerous cargoes operating in fog and crowded waters.

That a prominent member of the Cubs football team last year may coach the Middletown South Ends this season.
That materials for the construction of your own miniature golf course in the back yard are now being sold by local sporting stores.
That ice cream and soda won't be given away free at the East Side band concert this evening as last year—because it would take a millionnaire to pay for all the "eats" the boys and girls would put away.
That love nests in various secluded sections of the Country Club golf course have lost considerable patronage since local police started their nightly outing visits.

That mums seem to be the word in regards to the accident in the vicinity of Fairfield last week, involving two local nurses connected with the Memorial hospital.
That more than one Manchester war veteran was recalled to the World War with unpleasant vividness by witnessing the striking reality of "All Quiet on the Western Front."

DRYS BACK HODGES, OPPONENT WINNER
Denver, Colo., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Colorado's electorate has named George H. Shaw, Republican, and Edward P. Costick, Democrat, to fight it out at the November general election for the United States Senate seat to be vacated next March by Senator Lawrence C. Phipps, Republican, a tabulation of yesterday's primary vote in more than two thirds of the state's precincts indicated today.
Shaw led his opponent, William V. Hodges, former treasurer of the Republican National committee, who was supported by Senator Phipps, by 11,524 votes on reports from 1,150 of the state's 1,582 precincts with all but one precinct in Denver county complete. The count: Shaw, 50,414; Hodges, 38,890.
Hodges had the support of the Colorado Anti-Saloon League, while Shaw was declared "unsatisfactory" to the organization.
Costick was 7,314 votes ahead of his nearest opponent, Morrison Shafroth, in the three-cornered Democratic race and was conceded the nomination by both Shafroth and the third entry, James A. Marsh. The vote, based on reports from 1,085 precincts including all but two in Denver county, was: Costigan, 19,922; Shafroth, 12,208; Marsh, 6,136.

EVENING SCHOOLS TO OPEN SEPT. 29
Courses Named for Many Grades of Pupils—Registrations Begin Sept. 26.

The free public evening schools of Manchester will open Monday evening, Sept. 29, in the main High School building and the Franklin School on Main Street. Sessions will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.
Principal A. N. Potter has announced that the following courses will be offered: Commercial Department—typewriting and shorthand; mathematics; arithmetic and algebra; domestic science—sewing, dressmaking and cooking; high school English; classes for foreign-born adults; English and United States history for beginners, intermediates and advanced pupils; citizenship.
Cooking Class Limited
Pupils who register for subjects of high school grade such as typewriting, stenography, algebra and high school English must have the equivalent of at least a grammar school training. Other courses are open to any adults of the town who wish to enroll. The cooking class will be limited to 26 pupils.
The school will be organized into two divisions, the general evening school and the classes for non-English speaking adults.
The total enrollment last year was 518. Those who registered included pupils of various stages of previous schooling ranging from men and women who had absolutely no knowledge of English to graduates of American colleges. The school is an opportunity school in which pupils may supplement their previous education along definite practical lines. In several of the classes the work will be planned so as to give individual instruction; in others there will be class instruction.
It is customary to register most of the pupils in the High school building on the evening of the opening session, when actual instruction will begin. Students may, however, register on any Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday evening after September 29 or, if they choose, on Friday or Saturday evening, September 26 and 27, when Mr. Potter will be in the office of Superintendent Verplanck to confer with prospective pupils.

LOCAL FIRMS PRESENT TENNIS CHAMP GIFTS

Tennis Racquets and Loving Cups Given by Ward Store, Plumbing and Supply Co., Jaffe and May's.
The winners of the town tennis singles championship tournaments just completed, received in addition to much honor, valuable prizes donated by four Manchester business concerns.
Walter R. Holland, men's champion, received a tennis racquet given by the Montgomery Ward company and a silver loving cup donated by Louis S. Jaffe while Miss Elizabeth Washiewicz, women's champion, was given a racquet donated by the Manchester Plumbing and Supply and a loving cup from the May Jewelry company.
Both players today asked that these companies be publicly thanked for their donations. The tournament was the fourth annual affair to be staged under the direction of T. W. Stowe, sports editor of The Herald.

put into the platform anything which is not acceptable to the nominee. It was thought the old age pension plank would be definite but the idea of workmen's insurance may be disposed of by a recommendation that the legislature refer a commission to study the subject.
The committee members found also that Prof. Cross desires a short platform and it may happen that several of the subject already discussed, like increased pensions for school teachers, larger appropriations for dirt roads and more rigid control of public utilities will be dismissed in brief paragraphs. The preamble may arraign the Republican Party nationally and in the state, and stress unemployment, this latter condition being considered, it is understood, by Prof. Cross as the most vital before the voters on the eve of the campaign.
An outline of the platform as a whole will be a declaration on general conditions, a demand that unemployment be relieved, the 18th Amendment be repealed and then a series of short paragraphs dealing with state matters.
The document will be laid before Prof. Cross to ascertain his views. It is customary for Democratic conventions to adopt a platform before they select a ticket. In Republican state conventions the ticket is named and the platform adopted as a matter of routine.
The makeup of the ticket was still much in unsettled state today. Waterbury and Hartford are each to have a place on it and if David A. A. of Hartford, goes to second place, the attorney generalship will go to Waterbury, or vice versa. Most of the conferees of the ticket held opinion that Alton T. Miner of New London, for secretary, and Anthony S. Gardner of Danbury, for comptroller, were certain. For treasurer, Fred P. Holt of Hartford was favored in recognition of his long service as party treasurer. But taking a second Hartford man on the ticket did not suit many of the delegates and the names of places and Charles B. Pinney of Stafford Springs and Walter Goddard of Stratford were mentioned for a place.
Before a ticket is settled upon to be supported from the convention floor it will be submitted to Prof. Cross whose desire it is understood, is to have a ticket which will be well balanced. The overnight prospect was that many of the delegates would have been in full harmony with the present organization and who have made their views known at previous conventions and the state committee meetings may get together to put forward for places on the ticket names not heretofore mentioned. There still seemed the likelihood that someone, possibly Robert O'Connell, of Hamden, would offer the name of Burton Mansfield for governor. At the committee meeting in Bridgeport in the spring O'Connell advocated Mansfield for governor and he said today he had not given up the idea.
Less Delegates
The rules committee tonight will consider a change which will cut down the number of delegates to future conventions.
Behind all the discussions of candidates and nominees today was the most interesting subject of all, the selection of a state chairman and secretary to run the campaign.
When the new committee meets tomorrow afternoon Prof. Cross will be invited to attend and his wishes will be acceded to. It was forecast that if Prof. Cross leaves the choice to the committee he will be with-out incident.

CHAMBER ACTIVITIES

J. Fred Van Ness of South Main Street, was appointed to membership on the Board of Control of the Chamber of Commerce at the monthly meeting held yesterday at the Hotel Sheridan. He succeeds John Learned, who resigned when transferred to Cheney Brother's New York office.
A report on the summer school at Evanston, Ill., was made by Secretary E. J. McCabe, who also reported on the new office system at the Chamber. Various committees were elected and it was voted to convey sympathy to George Betts, who has been confined to his home with pneumonia for the past ten weeks.
A discussion of the financial of the Chamber concluded the meeting.

WHOSE LICENSE

The gate tender at the Main street railroad crossing this morning picked up an old fish hat. The hat is of little value, but pinned to it is a fishing license carrying a number that indicates it is not of local issue as the number is much higher than any in the Manchester brackets.
It is surmised that the owner of the hat was a passenger on an early morning train and that the hat blew out of a car window. The hat occupies a niche of honor in the shanty at the crossing awaiting the claim of the owner.

INFANTS' LIFE SAVED

Willimantic, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Prompt work with an inhalator today was credited with having saved the life of a day old infant.
A doctor called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Riquier, Erick Top Road, found the child suffering from hypostatic pneumonia and put in a hurry call to the fire department for its inhalator. For a half hour firemen worked over the child before an improvement was noted. An hour later, according to Dr. Samuel J. Tursootie, it was again in perfect health.

DRY LEADER DEFEATED

Detroit, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Grant M. Hudson, dry leader in Congress, appeared to have been defeated for renomination in the Sixth Congressional district in yesterday's primary.
Returns from 391 of 690 precincts in the district gave Senator Seymour S. Person, Lansing, 57,663 against 44,904 for Hudson.

BANQUET TO FEATURE DEDICATORY PROGRAM
Will Conclude Exercises at New Church House at Center is Completed.

One of the important social events connected with Center Church dedicatory exercises next week will be the banquet Monday evening, September 15, plans for which are practically complete. The dinner will be served at 7 o'clock in the spacious new banquet hall, under the direction of Mrs. E. E. Fish and a large committee from the Ladies Benevolent Society of the church.
F. A. Verplanck, chairman of the general committee in charge of the dedication of Center Church House, will be toastmaster. The guest speaker will be President James L. McCoshaugh of Wesleyan University, Middletown. Brief addresses will be made by Selectman Thomas J. Rogers, representing the town; Rev. Robert A. Colpitts of the South Methodist church, for the sister churches of Manchester; R. LaMotte Russell, chairman of the building committee, and A. N. Potter, in behalf of the deacons of the Center church.
Special musical numbers will be provided by Miss C. Louise Dickerman, organist, Miss Emma Trebbe, contralto, and Jarle Johnson, basso of the church quartet, will be the vocalists.
Rev. Watson Woodruff has sent letters to every family in the parish inviting them to attend the exercises and the dedicatory supper. These letters carry with them a return card to be mailed to Mrs. J. A. Irvine tomorrow at the latest, to assist the committee with its plans for the banquet.

GIRLS FRIENDLY GROUP PLANS FALL ACTIVITIES

The Girls' Friendly Society of St. Mary's Episcopal church resumed its regular meetings Monday evening. A short devotional service was held in the church, during which the rector, Rev. James S. Neill spoke to the members about the purpose and aim of the society and its relation to the work of the church. A large number of members and associates were present.
Plans were discussed for holding various classes during the fall and winter months. These classes will be in charge of Associate Ethel Davis. It was decided to have Associate Hanna Jensen conduct classes in cooking on the first Monday of each month.
Several members attended the house party which was held at the G. F. S. Holiday House, at Canaan, Conn., over Labor Day. They related some of their experiences which proved to be very interesting to the rest of the members.
Associate Lillian Reardon is very anxious to have work started on articles to be sold at the annual Christmas sale and entertainment which will be held some time during the month of December. She expects the girls to begin this work at the next meeting, and looks for a large attendance. Associate Helen Crawford who is chairman of the entertainment committee will be in charge of the play which will be presented at that time.

If the weather is favorable next Monday night it is planned to go on a short hike following the meeting.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1930

PRIMARY RESULTS

The supreme satisfaction to be derived from the results of yesterday's Republican primary in Manchester is that every contest winner is a worthy and an excellent candidate—and would have been had the outcome of the contests been totally different. There was no bad material to be eliminated. It was merely a question of choosing from among the very good.

The party and the town are to be congratulated on the renomination of Judge Johnson as representative. As The Herald argued before the primary it would have been a serious mistake to displace him at this time, and it was a consciousness of this fact that caused party leaders to induce him to be a candidate considerably against his inclination.

We have very little doubt that the victory of Miss Cheney over Mr. Keith is attributable to the former's courageously definite stand on the question of prohibition as compared to the somewhat indeterminate one taken by Mr. Keith. Miss Cheney's really arduous and intelligent labors in the Legislature have not been of the spectacular kind and there is no gainsaying the fact that a woman stands, as an abstract proposition, at some disadvantage as compared with a man of equal political merit.

The surprisingly pronounced victory of Mr. Clifford over Mr. Hohenthal is perhaps as shining an exemplification as can often be seen of casting thy bread upon the waters. Mr. Clifford, during his long term as Manchester head of a great public utility corporation, was the soul of kindly consideration and courtesy toward all with whom he came in contact—and those contacts were manifold. His unflinching kindness and fairness made for him countless friends. And now that he has the leisure for public office these friends rallied to his support in great numbers, overlooked the fact that his technical training for the assessors was much less than that of his opponent, Mr. Hohenthal, and evidently regarded Mr. Clifford's rectitude and intelligence as a sufficient guarantee of his successful conduct of the office.

In the overwhelming defeat of Mrs. Burr we can see again the powerful hand of the prohibition issue. Whether a member of the Board of Selectmen be wet or dry is, of course, a matter of no consequence so far as the conduct of town affairs is concerned.

POLLUTION AGAIN. There appears elsewhere in this issue a letter signed by S. W. Ward.

hams as director of the State Water Commission, commencing an editorial in The Herald on the subject of water pollution. The point we made and of which the commission is pleased to approve was that while the people are willing to sacrifice any amount of money to fight a human enemy in time of war it seems impossible to get them into an approximate frame of mind with relation to such an enemy of civilization as waterway pollution.

We take it that the Water Commission sees in the law prohibiting municipalities from issuing bonds exceeding five per cent of their grand lists, a permanent obstacle to the successful financing of sewage disposal by the towns and cities of the state.

This is precisely the sort of thing that The Herald had in mind when it suggested that in order to meet this great and growing problem the people of Connecticut will have to experience a revolution of feeling more or less comparable to that of war times. We can't meet a new and large condition unless we can begin to think in a new and large way.

The family budget is an excellent thing and the closer it is adhered to the better. But when occasion arises where a member of the family must go to the hospital and have an expensive operation performed then the time has arrived to fling budget considerations to the winds. Otherwise the patient is going to die.

If Connecticut has, because of two hundred years of completely mistaken economy in sewage disposal, reached the point where great expenditures must be made to prevent actual indelicacy and epidemics—expenditures that cannot be taken care of through the customary budgeting practices, then it is time that the people of the state shake themselves awake and made up their minds to go ahead—and damn the torpedoes!

If the five per cent bonded debt limitation is standing in the way of civilized disposal of sewage, if the streams and harbors cannot be freed from the menace and blight of pollution so long as that debt limit stands, then it is crystal clear that the debt limit, for such purposes at least, should be raised.

It would be a pitiable sort of individual who allowed his children to live in a house with broken plumbing and reeking with sewer gas because he hadn't the cash in hand for repairs and had made a private pledge with himself never to borrow more than five per cent of the value of his property.

PROFIT SHARING. The Manchester Electric Company's announcement of its adoption of the profit sharing policy is naturally pleasing to consumers and employees, to say nothing of the shareholders. The latter are to receive a bonus of 40 per cent of the accrual of dividends for October, which probably will mean less to them than the 40 per cent addition to October wages will mean to the workers or the 40 per cent discount on October bills will to the consumers.

It is a rather new experience for customers of public utilities companies anywhere to find themselves benefiting periodically by a voluntary sharing of the profits they help to create. It reflects in some measure that new philosophy of "liberalism" which Nicholas Murray Butler talked about the other day and which unquestionably is beginning to take possession of many of the biggest of big business men—a consciousness of the duty to administer success somewhat at least for the benefit of society at large.

We are not laboring under the delusion that the Manchester Electric Company is suddenly going maudlin and risking bankruptcy, like a drunken sailor, in a freak debauch of liberality. But it is showing that it is abreast of modern thought and that it does not hold with the old fashioned idea, that every business man owes it to himself to squeeze every possible nickel out of his customers—and keep it.

DEMOCRATS' CHANCE. Connecticut Democrats are in session at New London today and tomorrow will name their state ticket. There seems to be considerable reason to believe that if they are to have Dean Cross of Yale as their candidate for governor they are going to have to take candidates for the other state offices who more or less meet the approval of the standard bearer, and that if the Old Guard insists on the naming of inferior grade hack politicians for important places on the ticket they cannot have Dean Cross.

So that two alternative eventual-ties appear to present themselves, the appearance of a new sort of Democratic ticket in entirety or of one of the old type so much worse than usual that it will be outstanding.

As a Republican newspaper The Herald would be better pleased to see the Democrats present a respectable ticket composed of intelligent and trustworthy citizens than a bad one composed of inferior individuals. And not because it would be easier to defeat a good ticket than a bad one but for the exactly opposite reason. The rehabilitation of the Democratic party in this state would be a good thing for Connecticut. It would keep the Republican party on its toes. It would renew a healthy interest in public affairs. It would provide a tonic and a fillip to the politics of the state.

We sincerely hope that the Democratic party will come out of its New London convention rejuvenated and re-engined.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Sept. 10.—The American championship for prolific theatrical writing seems to rest, despite the passing years, with Owen Davis and Harry B. Smith.

Davis wears the medals for long distance dramatic creations, while Harry Smith has been turning out music shows by the foot, yard and mile since most of us were in rompers. In recent years, England has been attempting to exploit the seeming miraculous turnout of its own Edgar Wallace. Truly, the yearly efforts of this Wallace are gargantuan. It would seem that he can dictate a mystery thriller while sipping his after-dinner demi-tasse, while half a dozen of his hair-raisers have been reported running in London at the same time. The Messrs. Shubert, of Broadway, have decided the time ripe to bring him to the attention of this land and will have a theater named after him before the winter is ended. They can safely start on early works of three years back and, presenting only Wallace operas, still have plenty left for our old age.

Be all this as it may, the score of our own more fertile young men, though stretched over the years, shows a degree of productivity which even Wallace would find it hard to match. Furthermore, they have displayed a versatility and range of subject matter which the Britisher has still failed to reveal. Thus the name of Owen Davis can be found associated, for instance, with a Pulitzer prize play such as "Icebound" or it can be traced back to the days of "Bertha the Sewing Machine Girl". Mystery thrillers seem to drip from his pen and he fairly wallows in opportunities for blood-curdling horror, although the gentlest of humans. On the other hand he has turned his hand to such polite and facile works as "Detour".

The totals run into the hundreds. Only his wife and his secretary are said to be able to recall them. As for Smith, the books and lyrics for operettas he has tossed together outline most of the composers. One could chart back to the vintage before and after "Babes in Toyland," or could check up on program notes of a couple of last season's efforts or forthcoming events for a year from now. The same Harry B. Smith would be found associated with them.

One would imagine that out of the income from these writings, such men would long since have retired and leaned back. The old zest to turn out another one seems never to die—the artist and the hack live in the same body and go about together. And this is rare.

In the matter of production, David Belasco is the bright and particular Gargantuan. The list of dramas associated with his name, either as producer, author or co-author, fills an entire small volume of the pocket size. To be sure, those closer to his youth came rather fast and furious after

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Question: H. F. asks: "Does a rise in temperature of from one-fifth to three-fifths of a degree signify any bodily disease? This rise comes sometimes in the morning, but generally in the afternoon." Answer: Such a slight rise in temperature does not indicate any specific disease. Most people are below normal in temperature during the morning and come up to normal in the afternoon. Normal temperature undoubtedly varies with different people.

DIET FOR 2½ YEAR OLD. Question: Mrs. G. asks: "Will you suggest the proper diet for a child of two and a half years? He does not seem to be ill, but has rough red spots on his cheeks at times, and is unusually cross and irritable after taking his afternoon nap." Answer: Try giving him four feedings of milk a day, using eight or ten ounces of milk at each feeding. At the second, third and fourth feedings give him a good-sized dish of minced spinach, carrots, string beans, summer squash or celery. It is a good plan to use also one of the vegetables raw along with the cooked ones.

(Eczema). Question: J. O. H. writes: "I am fifty years old and have had eczema for twelve years. Will you kindly name the foods I should use? There is a sanitarium that you would advise for a few weeks or longer if satisfactory?" Answer: Take a fast for a few days and follow the menus I give you each week in this column. Any ordinary case of eczema can be cured by the use of a correctly balanced diet. No sanitarium treatment is necessary if you will follow the proper regimen at home.

OPEN FORUM

MONEY AND POLLUTION. To the Editor, The Manchester Herald, Manchester, Connecticut. Dear Sir: We have received a copy of your recent editorial entitled "Money and Pollution." You have presented this single question in a new and very interesting manner. Of course, the remedying of pollution is purely a financial problem and presents no engineering difficulties. The great handicap here in Connecticut is the lack of understanding of the gravity of the situation which is growing up with our constantly increasing burden of pollution discharged into our waterways and our failure to make it possible for communities to finance the work necessary to provide for treatment of sewage. Under the five per cent limitation act, it is an unusually well managed municipality that can provide for all the urgent and popular municipal needs and at the same time finance properly the sewerage system. Very sincerely yours, STATE WATER COMMISSION, By S. H. WADHAMS, Director.

His Days in Pasture Are Over!

WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington.—Now that the wet-dry issue has been befooled in the Illinois senatorial contest between Ruth McCormick and Jim Ham Lewis because of Ruth's liberalized attitude and the Anti-Saloon League's hint that it may support a third candidate, you are invited to turn your eyes toward Massachusetts and its primaries of Sept. 16. The Bay State will pick a successor to the retiring Senator Frederick Huntington Gillett and there are warm primary battles in each party. The election contest may or may not be between a dry Republican and a wet Democrat. That depends on the primaries. In any event the Republican primary result will be considered extremely significant except by those to whom its significance gives nothing but a pain in the neck.

Wet-Dry Issue at Stake. The important issue is whether the Republican party in Massachusetts is going to vote wet. If it does, Mr. Eben S. Draper will be nominated over Mr. William M. Butler and a wet Republican will fight it out with a wet Democrat this fall.

Commonly accepted theory about Massachusetts has been that a Republican must be dry to be nominated and wet to be elected. Just as Republican majorities are found in New York state outside of New York city, so is the greatest Republican strength in Massachusetts found in the counties and smaller communities outside the large wet cities.

So Butler, with his strong organization and his enthusiastic dry support, is likely to win. Butler's assets are a militant wet minority within the party, a general lukewarmness toward Butler among Republicans and a feeling among politicians of both parties that Draper would be the stronger candidate against the Democratic nominee in November. Butler failed in a previous election campaign for the Senate, and since Al Smith carried Massachusetts in 1928 the idea has been prevalent in both Washington and Massachusetts that the prospects would never again be so bright for Butler as they were when he had the endorsement of his friend, President Coolidge, and lost nevertheless. Draper has made prohibition the main issue in the campaign. Butler came out unequivocally dry not long after announcing his candidacy.

If Draper wins, both parties in Massachusetts will have to be considered wet until one of them proves differently. As far as senatorial elections go, the Anti-Saloon League will then be left holding the bag in three large important states—Massachusetts, New Jersey and Illinois, where each of the six major party candidates will be unsatisfactory to the dries. And the Republican party in the nation, which doesn't look anywhere near as dry now as it did in 1928, will seem just so much more moist than before. Draper would take his place alongside Dwight Morrow as a symbol of flaming wet hope.

Five Seek Democratic Place. There are five candidates for the Democratic senatorial nomination and the outstanding ones according to reports received here, are Marcus A. Coolidge of Fitchburg and Joseph F. O'Connell of Boston, both wet. Coolidge is said to have the edge. O'Connell has been handicapped by illness. But the latter has an embarrassing Mr. Coolidge by reminding all good Democrats that Mr. Coolidge was a McAdoo man and not an Al Smith man at the national convention of 1924 and recalling to all good wets that Mr. Coolidge used to be dry.

GERMANY DISSATISFIED WITH BRITISH PROGRAM

Geneva, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Dr. Julius Curtius, German foreign minister, told the League of Nations council today that Germany will discuss a plan for closer administrative, customs, and fiscal union between the African territories of Kenya and Tanganyika.

Tanganyika was one of the German colonies lost by the war, and administered by Great Britain under a League of Nations mandate. Kenya is a British colony.

There has been popular commotion in Germany of an alleged British purpose to give Tanganyika a virtual status of a British possession. Germans who frankly hope to regain some of their lost colonies opposed any move which they regard as making their project more difficult.

With regard to Great Britain's wish for closer administrative relations between her colony and the mandated territory, the council adopted the following observation of its reporter:

"The council can leave it to the mandates commission to decide to what extent it may be expedient and possible to accede to the desire expressed by the mandatory power."

PARTRIDGES PLENTIFUL

Waterbury, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Superintendent John Titcomb of the state fish and game commission stated today he would lift the ban on partridge opening Oct. 20, on partridge. Because of a disease which nearly exterminated that species of game bird, the commissioner protected the remaining birds by closing the season on them last year.

"Partridge may be found in this state again in large numbers this year for which we are all thankful," says Mr. Titcomb.

The commission in addition to distributing 1,500 cock pheasants for breeding purposes last spring, has set out 16,577 young pheasants the past few weeks.

With what have been hatched and what have been liberated, he expects Connecticut hunters will bag 30,000 pheasants this season.

ADVISES STRIKES

New York, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Francis J. Gorman, first international president of the United Textile Workers of America in his annual report today, denounced the treatment of textile workers in unorganized southern mills and predicted strikes, bitter fights and great suffering.

"To my mind," he said, "the time had come for us to move against the enemy—I don't underestimate the opposition and will make no prediction of a quick success. The fight will be bitter and many will suffer but if the employers want it that way I would rather oblige them than stand their petty slaughter."

STATE DEMOCRATS PREPARE PLATFORM

Unemployment to be the Main Plank—Convention to be Held Tomorrow.

New Haven, Sept. 10.—(AP)—A draft of the platform to be offered to the Democratic state convention at Eastern Point tomorrow will be ready for discussion in committee tomorrow afternoon when the special committee of five, serving under appointment of the state committee, meets to complete its work.

This sub-committee, with Francis P. Guilfoyle of Waterbury as chairman, met here yesterday and discussed proposed planks brought by the members or submitted by others as the first step toward building the state party platform on which nominees of the convention will stand.

It was deemed likely that the special committee also named by the state committee to study delinquency and crime with Joseph F. Dutton as chairman, will have its own conclusions incorporated into the resolutions instead of submitting a separate report.

Important Question
The committee yesterday, it was stated later by members, inclined to the opinion that the most vital question before the voters of Connecticut at this time is unemployment.

With this in mind it is expected the preamble of the resolutions, if such is written, will deal with unemployment to be followed by what is described as a "very strong plank on the tariff."

Other matters discussed at length and given weight as possible planks were insurance for working men, old age pensions, jury service for women, a lowering of the retirement age for public school teachers, with increased retirement pensions, repeal of the 18th amendment, increased appropriations for country roads which are called "dirt roads" by farmers, more rigid regulation of public utility corporations, more attention to care of juvenile delinquents and increased appropriations for state institutions which have care of mental defectives and repeal of the state enforcement laws. This last named subject was discussed in detail and it was understood was finally passed over with probability that it will not come before the committee again, the plank for the repeal of the 18th amendment being considered sufficient recognition of the subject of prohibition.

Workingmen's insurance
In the matter of workingmen's insurance an opinion was held that the recommendation might be better informed of suggesting a commission to study the subject. It would come out strongly for old age pensions.

The committee also discussed the action of the state in contesting with Massachusetts the matters of rights to waters in the Ware and Swift rivers and a suggestion that notice be taken of the expenditure of money in a project asserted to be as much in behalf of private interests as the state, was in the end passed over to be taken up again, or possibly, not at all.

When the committee adjourned it was with the understanding that it will meet at Hotel Griswold at 2 p. m. tomorrow there will be a typewritten draft of a platform ready for discussion.

FIRE IN PATERSON

Paterson, N. J., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Eight persons were injured, two of them seriously, in a fire which today destroyed the two story carpet factory and warehouse of the Lamond and Robertson Company.

Three persons, at first unaccounted for and reported trapped in the burning building, later were found to have made their way to safety. There were 85 workers in the building.

The fire, burned for an hour and a half before it was brought under control, destroying the carpet mill and a residence. In addition a building of the Associated Piece Dye Works was badly damaged.

ARTHUR VANCE DIES

New York, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Arthur Vance, editor-in-chief of the Editorial Review, died last night. He was 67 years old.

He had been ill for several weeks. Vance was born in Scranton, Pa. He began newspaper work in Birmingham, N. Y., later becoming editor of Home Magazine. He was editor of Woman's Home Companion from 1900-1907.

He was a member of the Players Club, Dutch Treat, Port Washington Yacht and Authors.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Washington—Sometimes Mrs. Hoover mixes tangerines and lemons with her fruit punch, giving it a delicious flavor. She uses plain spring water, sweetened to taste, and adds citrus juice or berries. This is disclosed in "Prohibitory PUNCH," a book by Mrs. James M. Doran. Mrs. Mabel Walker Wilebrandt contributes a recipe for "Portia's Punch," and General Smedley D. Butler tells how to make one of tea.

Knowing the speed of radio emanation he reaches his conclusion from the amount of lead in the earth which he regards as uranium or thorium, expended. He explained his theory at a scientific meeting here.

New York—If proceeding he followed it would seem that Junior Coen some day will be tennis champion. Some folks in the gallery at the Forest Hills tennis matches have been impressed by Junior's resemblance to a boy who created a sensation at the National amateur golf tournament at Merion in 1916. That boy, after a windy defeat, finally won at Merion and then a non-sensational victory at the same club to win his fourth championship of the season. The name is Jonas.

Los Angeles, California—Jose Antonio Lopez, who said he was 135 years old, has been relieved of the necessity of defending a non-sensational victory by his third wife. He is in the shadow of the snow-crowned volcano Cotopaxi.

LESS IMMIGRATION AIDS JOBLESS HERE

Washington, Sept. 10.—(AP)—President Hoover announced today that the State Department had moved to alleviate the unemployment situation by tightening the immigration restrictions upon aliens.

The extent to which this will affect the volume of immigration to this country or its effect upon employment has not been estimated.

Mr. Hoover said the restrictions would not affect preferences given to relatives of aliens who already have come to this country.

In March, 1929, similar restrictions in regard to Mexico were imposed, leading to a sharp decrease in the number of immigrants crossing the Mexican border.

To a lesser extent these restrictions also have been applied to Canada.

Under the new plan of the State Department European ports are to be watched particularly.

HOLD RIVER PIRATES
Port Norris, N. J., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Five men, alleged members of a gang of river pirates, were under arrest here today. They were lured ashore, authorities said, when Coast Guardsmen imitated the signals used by their alleged confederates.

Police believe the men are responsible for at least 35 robberies which have cost ship owners and rivermen along the Maurice river $10,000 within the past year.

The prisoners said they were James Lee, Millville; Sedrick Armstrong, Leesburg; McKinley Lee, Halesville; Albert Chandross, Millville and Windfield Newcomb, Leesburg.

Washington, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Federal employees working under civil service rules have been warned that any undue participation in election campaigning may mean the loss of their jobs.

The Civil Service Commission said today warnings against political activity on the part of classified employees of the service were being posted in all Federal buildings.

The political activities of unclassified employees and postmasters, the warnings say, are clearly limited and must not be extended unduly. Similar warnings have been issued in recent years.

DECISION ON GAMING
Norwalk, Sept. 10.—(AP)—City Court Judge Freeman Light in a memorandum of a decision returned today finds that the Roten Point Park management is guilty of having operated gaming wheels as charged by the state, and further instructs Prosecuting Attorney Ireland to have the accused appear in court at an early date, to answer the finding.

Judge Light sets aside the defendant's complaint that the arrest was made without a warrant, stating that "it seems to be a settled question that the court has jurisdiction over the accused even if he were improperly arrested without a warrant."

SYDENHAM'S BIRTH

On September 10, 1824, Thomas Sydenham, great English physician, often called "the English Hippocrates" and the founder of modern clinical medicine, was born at Weyford, Berkshire, England.

Educated at Oxford and Cambridge and at Montpellier in France, Sydenham started to practice medicine in London, where he was about 26. He soon became the foremost physician of his time. In the Civil War he was captain of horse under Cromwell.

Sydenham is especially to be remembered as the one who first differentiated scarlatina and measles, introduced a successful cooling treatment of smallpox, of which he himself later died. He was the first to place diagnosis on a sound basis and emphasize the importance of observation and bedside experience rather than the traditional theories current at the time.

In his prescriptions he avoided the ridiculous compounds of his time and usually substituted for them vegetable combinations. It was he, too, who introduced the use of tincture of opium-laudum.

Another Resignation
Panama City, Sept. 10.—(AP)—President Florencio Arosemena, reliable sources said today, has asked for resignation of Jeripha B. Duncan, secretary of public instruction in his Cabinet, and of L. F. Clement, secretary of agriculture.

Subjected to considerable political fire because of his retention of these two officials in his Cabinet he finally has capitulated and requested their withdrawal from the administration.

His action follows resignations yesterday afternoon of A. Robles, minister of interior, T. C. Duque, minister of finance, and J. D. Arosemena, minister of foreign affairs. The president is said already to have chosen their successors: Nicolas Victoria for the finance post, Narciso Garay, interior, and Carlos Loaza for foreign affairs.

The country is tranquil but the political situation is causing some apprehension.

FALL KILLS ONE CHILD, ANOTHER BADLY BURNED

Stamford, Sept. 10.—(AP)—One child is dead and another is expected to die as the result of overnight accidents here.

The dead child is Alice Thompson, two, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Thompson of 4 Brook street. She died in the Stamford hospital at 10:30 this morning from a fractured skull received when she fell 30 feet to the street from her bedroom last night. The child was playing on her bed, almost level with the window, and lost her balance. She fell against a screen which gave away, allowing her to fall out the window.

The child not expected to recover is Helen Yanowitz, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Yanowitz of 21 Doris street. She pulled a kettle of boiling water from a gas stove at her home and was burned about the head, back and chest.

CAUGHT IN AUTO'S DOOR MAN'S ARM IS CUT OFF

Waterbury, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Frank DeLucia, 80, of this city had his arm almost severed from his body this morning in a peculiar accident at the center of the city. Before the eyes of hundreds of onlookers De Lucia stepped off the curb into the path of a machine operated by Miss Zoe La Har of New Britain.

His arm caught in the door handle wrenching the member from its socket. The man was thrown against the rear mud guard. Crazed by the pain the man tore his hair, ran a few steps and fainted. He was rushed to the Waterbury hospital where the arm was amputated. His condition was reported this afternoon as fair.

QUIGLEY ENDORSED

New Britain, Sept. 10.—(AP)—At a meeting of the delegation to the first district Congressional convention of the Republican Party last night, it was voted to endorse Mayor George A. Quigley of this city for the nomination. It is understood that Congressman Penn candidates for renomination, and Mayor Quigley have an understanding by which Penn will throw his strength at the convention to Quigley if he senses inability to win the renomination. Clarence W. Seymour of West Hartford is a third candidate.

Ben Cheney Qualifies For District Amateur

Cards 78-75-153 to Trail Bobby Grant, Medalist, by Four Strokes; Jack Cheney Just Outside.

Ben Cheney easily qualified for the Hartford district amateur golf tournament at the Hartford Golf Club yesterday when he shot the splendid 36-hole total of 78-75-153, only four strokes behind the leader, young Bobby Grant of Wethersfield. J. P. Cheney, Jr., finished with 164, two strokes more than the 152 which just got in.

In his first round match, Ben Cheney meets L. K. Ives of Wampanoag who shot 74 and 83 to qualify. First round matches must be played this week. The two Cheney brothers were the only members of the Manchester Country Club to seek qualification. It is the first time that Ben Cheney ever participated in the Hartford district tournament now being held for the fifth time.

Had his putter not failed him during the afternoon round, Ben might have come much nearer being the medalist. Even as it was, he shot mighty fine golf. John with an 83 in the morning needed to break 80 in the afternoon but shot an 81. He was out in 40 and back in 41. TENNIS GIANT DEFEATS VINES

Littleton Rogers of Ireland Beats Pasadena Sensation in Five Sets.

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 10.—The tallest tennis player in the world aprang the biggest surprise of the day yesterday in the men's forty-ninth annual national championship singles tournament at Forest Hills, when G. Littleton Rogers of Ireland, defeated Ellsworth Vines, of Pasadena, Calif., by the score of 6-4, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1, 6-0, in the third round, on one of the outside courts of the West Side Tennis Club.

Rogers, six feet and seven inches of aggressive Irishman, came from behind when the California youth was leading two sets to none and 4-1 in the third session.

At this stage of the struggle, Rogers began to play the best tennis he had shown since his arrival in this country last July. His service was a furious attacking weapon and he amazed the spectators by some of the recoveries he made off Vines' whipping shots. The giant scooped the ball up, kept it in play and then went on to put across the winner or force errors from the sensational California youngster.

Vines kept on hitting with his usual steektop sharpness, but Rogers was in far better control now and, after running away with the last four games to take the set at 6-4, returned to the court after the rest period and rushed through the fourth set for the toss of only one game. In this set he was at the very peak of his game, completely dominating the match, coming in with winning volleys, hitting close to the lines with his deep court returns and placing Vines on the defensive by the speed and weight of his service.

Vines' Last Bid Falls
Vines made a courageous bid to stop the advance of his giant opponent in the last set, but Rogers scoring a break, had piled up the lead of 3-1. Thereafter they alternated in winning on service, with Rogers taking the set at 6-4, for the match.

The loss of the match must have been a bitter disappointment to Vines, for on his past performances in this country, the Irish and Canadian national champion was not to be considered as a serious contender. As the man who defeated the great Henry Cochet in the Biarritz tournament this spring and played Tilden five sets, Rogers came to the United States with an impressive reputation. But he failed to live up to that reputation until yesterday, hence the surprise.

Rogers has been complaining ever since he first arrived in this country of a sprained right wrist, which he has had bandaged for the last six or seven weeks. But yesterday that wrist appeared to be capable of any strain put upon it and the big Irishman looked like a first ten player.

"Underdog" Role Resented
It was rumored after the match that Rogers strongly resented the fact that some of the newspaper tennis critics had not even considered the possibility of his getting by Vines in their comment yesterday morning, but had been discussing what would happen when Vines and Big Bill Tilden opposed one another this afternoon. This attitude spurred Rogers on to his greatest efforts and victory was doubly sweet to him as a result.

Tilden, Rogers' adversary today, was in an unbeatable mood yesterday and played the finest tennis he has shown on American court this season in completely crushing E. W. Feltelman, of New York, by the score of 6-1, 6-1, 6-0.

The Nut Cracker

A Chicago newspaper solicited opinions from the fans on the subject, "What Do You Think of the Cubs?" We hope too many people didn't write their appraisal after that double-header in Cincinnati.

FOUR-AND-A-HALF AND FORE

Army Will Adopt Western Football

New Coach of Cadets to Use Warner Style; Wing Back Formations to be Used on Plays.

West Point, N. Y., Sept. 10.—(AP.)—It's the same old show dog business at the same old stand, but it's hard to recognize the current edition of Army's football machine, what with new direction, new faces and new reinment.

Red Cagle, the agile red rover, has moved away along with Hertz Murrell, his plunging partner and Buster Perry, the thundering tackle. Cliff Jones has shifted his military base to Oklahoma and even the vivid golden jerseys have been changed in favor of the more formal black gold piping. Only the setting on the plains is the same and the calibre of the men who go to make up Army's yearly challengers for national supremacy.

Major Ralph Irvine Sasse of Wilmington, Del., Jones' successor as head coach, has gone over completely to the Warner school of football as expounded by the old master "Pop" himself at Stanford. The cadets this year will start their charges from the familiar wing back formation developed first in far western football, specializing in spinners, sharp breaking bucks, deceptive slants and phases.

Sasse is in splendid shape as far as a line is concerned. Carmark and Messinger, on the ends; Price at tackle; Captain Barber and Hillinger in the guards and Miller at center, all are veterans. His "Rocky" Carver, 1929 quarterback, and Bowman, a sub, but he looks with delight upon a rare crop of back carrying graduates from last year's undefeated platoon.

In fact it seems possible that the four regulars in the backfield, before the season is far underway will be "Cy" Letzelter, fullback from Carnegie Tech; Roland Elliot, former quarterback at Lehigh; Ken Fields from Illinois, and Eric Herb Rice, of Michigan, all plebes last season. A half dozen other backfield replacements among the newcomers rank higher than the reserves of last season.

NATIONAL RACE TIGHTENING UP

Western Teams Lose Opening Struggles in East; Clash Again Today.

The National League race was tighter than ever today. After Brooklyn's 3 to 0 triumph over the Cubs and New York's 2 to 1 victory over St. Louis yesterday here is how the four leaders line up:

W.	L.	ct.	TP
Chicago	80	57	584	17
St. Louis	77	59	566	18
Brooklyn	77	60	565	18
New York	78	60	562	18

Brooklyn gained a full game on the two teams that are ahead of them and went into a virtual tie with St. Louis for second place, trailing by only one point.

The Robins' two Babes, Phelps and Herman, figured greatly in the victory. Given great support, Phelps limited the Cubs to five hits as he bested Pat Malone in a pitching duel. Herman put the finishing touch on the struggle in the eighth inning when he slammed the ball into the left field bleachers for his 31st homer and the last two runs of the game.

The league leading Philadelphia Athletics likewise had their troubles in Detroit and came out on the long end of a 3 to 1 score. Jim Moore broke up the struggle with his second homer in two weeks. The homer provided the margin that enabled Grove to win his 26th game of the season.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

NONE OF OUR BUSINESS
By Charles Kinnison
How many times we've heard it said,
Of people who are soon to wed;
"well, I can't see, to save my life,
Why HE would pick HER for his wife!"

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS

Every college girl tries to be in a class by herself - fashionably speaking.

We all dislike the person who catches us at a disadvantage.

Your town woman - Is my boy smart? He's been through reform school three times and he's only sixteen.

The sure thing in the other fellow's game is that you are a dunce if you bet on it.

Very often dandruff is only bone dust.

It is better to be alone than in bad company but some people are in bad company when they are alone.

JUST REVERSED

Northumberland, Pa. - Charles H. Hinkle got married recently and so did his daughter, Hannah. But the methods were just reversed. Instead of the daughter eloping, Hinkle eloped to wed Mrs. Margaret Schultz in Hagerstown, Md. Hannah stayed at home and became the bride of John W. Hawley.

THEIR BIG EVENT

Lille, France. - It was just a small event to some people, but to Leon Decaen and Simone Flament, performers in Barnum's show here, it was the biggest event in their lives. It was their wedding, which united two of the smallest performers in the world. The bridegroom was 4 feet tall and the bride 3 feet 4 inches.

EIGHT YEARS - 1 OUNCE

Prague - A chemical plant near here manufactures a product of which it takes eight years to produce one ounce. This Czechoslovakian plant manufactures radium, the annual output of which is about one-eighth of an ounce, worth about $2,500,000. Three hundred workers are employed at the plant.

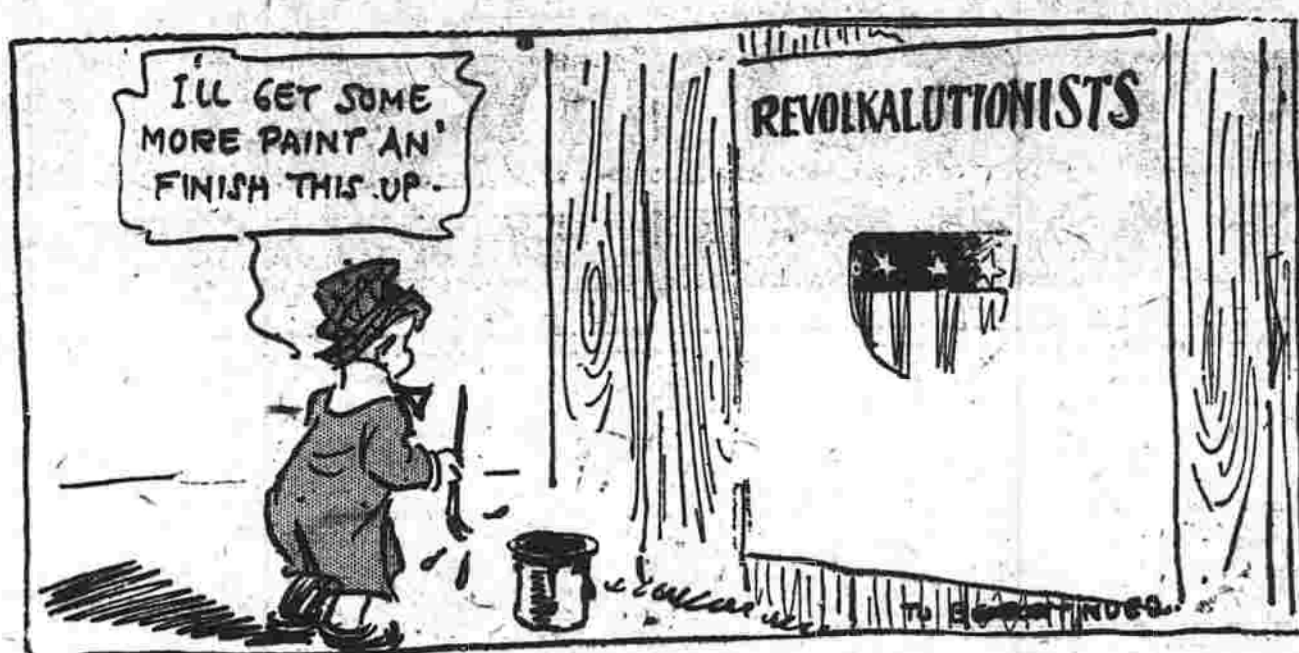

LOCUST PLAGUE

Amman, Palestine - Another plague of locusts recently invaded this land and darkened the sky by their numbers. One swarm which ravaged the crops was over 20 miles long and two miles wide. The insects devoured all growing things.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Berlin - Hard times hit the best of us, even though we're fated by name to make money. At least that's the case of one firm here which recently went into bankruptcy. The name of the chain of Berlin stores was "Money-maker."

ABOUT TOWN
 Miss Elmer Childs, children's librarian at the South Manchester Public Library is expected home tomorrow after a month's vacation in Maine.

Manchester Grange will hold its regular meeting this evening in Odd Fellows hall. The competitive program between the women and the men which was scheduled for this evening, will take place at the next meeting.

Memorial Lodge, Knights of Pythias will hold its regular meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the Balch and Brown hall.

Mrs. Irving Wickham of Keeney street and her brother, Fred Sadler, left today for Giants Neck where they will spend a week or ten days.

A Child Welfare clinic will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Memorial Hospital annex.

Miss Nellie Foley of New street who is to become the bride of Edwin Laking of Cambridge street this fall, was the guest of honor at a chicken dinner and miscellaneous shower given by her associate stenographers in the automobile department of the Travelers Insurance company. Miss Foley was invited to spend the night with a friend in Middletown and for dinner at the Vermont Inn. When she reached the Inn she was much surprised to find 25 of the girls already there and that the party was in her honor. They all had a jolly time and presented the bride-to-be with a collection of lovely gifts.

The Home Builders society of the South Methodist church will enjoy a get-together Monday evening on Morris Elman's lot in the rear of 500 East Center street. A corn roast will be a feature of the eats. If stormy it will take place at the church at 7:30.

Miss Millicent Fox of Oakland street has returned home after a vacation trip to Norfolk, Va., taken in company with Hartford friends.

MICE, A TRADITION

Why is it that so very few people carry in their homes more than a two or three days supply of food? Ever think of that? They have linen and napery to last them for years. They put in fuel enough in the fall to last them all winter. But even of canned goods they only buy as they need—when they might, if they cared to, stock up for months ahead.

Perhaps it is because of the mice. The age old inherited apprehension that stored up food will be consumed by rodent pests—followed without a conscious thought, for of course tinned or glassed foods are secure against such raiders.

Fortunately it makes no difference whether the food is stocked or not. The telephone is at hand. Pinehurst is on the other end. If the need is urgent the little Austin will bring the order in a few minutes. In any event the delivery will be very prompt and exactly as ordered.

BAN OFF PARTRIDGES IN STATE OCTOBER 20

Hunting Season Promises to be One of Best in Years—Pheasants in Large Numbers
 The hunting season in the vicinity of Manchester is expected to be at its best this year with the ban on partridges due to be lifted by State Fish and Game Commissioner, John Titcomb on October 20. Because of a disease which nearly exterminated that species of game bird, the commission protected the remaining birds by closing the season on them last year.

 Commenting on the partridge situation, Superintendent Titcomb said: "Partridge may be found in this State again in large numbers this year for which we are thankful."
 Pheasants have been seen in the vicinity of Manchester during the summer, due to the heavy stocking program that has been carried out this year by the Commission, co-operating with the Manchester Fish and Game club. Several hundred young birds procured from the State were distributed by the Fish and Game committee of the local club, swelling the total of birds already purchased from private sources and released in local cover.

 All fields and cover within a short distance of Manchester are well supplied with pheasants, large flocks of hens numbering from 10 to 20 having been seen within a mile of the Center. The commission liberated 1,500 cock pheasants last spring for breeding purposes besides releasing 16,577 young pheasants during the past week. With large quantities of game in the woods and fields this fall, the commission expects Connecticut hunters to bag about 30,000 pheasants this season.
