Rain Floods Coast Towns, Wind Threatens Shipping; Snow Storms In Montana.

San Francisco, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Snow, wind and rain combined today to give California and the Pacific northwest sharp warning of winter's approach.

The beginning of the weather disturbance yesterday brought with it reports of damage to crops and small water craft.

At Monterey a fishing boat was torn from its moorings and two barges loaded with sardines were swamped. Rain at Modesto damaged drying beans while in the Fresno cotton district, growers were troubled.

Snowfall closed Tioga Pass and Big Oak Flat road in Yosemite. Tuolumne meadows near the summit of Tioga Pass were buried under a foot of snow.

Portland, Oregon, experienced the first snow of the season, as did Salt Lake City, Utah.

Rain in Central and Southern California put an abrupt end to high temperatures and reduced to normal the fire hazard.

Snow In Montana

In Montana a snowstorm swept down from the north driving temperatures to below freezing. Fifty automobiles, belonging chiefly to tourists, were snowbound near Great Falls. There was a possibility that drifting snow would impound the cars until next spring. Ten women occupants of the stalled automobiles walked six miles through the drifts to shelter. A group of twelve men sought refuge in a cabin.

A drop in temperature of 37 degrees at Helena brought the mercury to 14 above zero last night.

Almost 85 per cent of Wisconsin farmers own their farms.

Seymour, Republican First District, who was defeated at the polls, spent $2,107.01, the larger items, $100 to the West Hartford Republican Town committee, $760 to the Hartford committee, $250 to East Hartford, $50 to Rocky Hill, $100 to Windsor, and $32.25 to Hotel Bond for a dinner for the convention delegates. William C. Fox in the Second District spent $43; George R. Moffatt, Socialist spent nothing; Schuyler Merritt, Republican Fourth District, paid $1,920 to his political agent; Martin E. Gornley, Democrat, Fifth District spent $1212.29; John Q. Tilson, Republican, New Haven $1,000 to his political agent.

Of the candidates for sheriff, Bert C. Thompson, spent $213.97; Angelo M. Paonessa, Democrat, for advertising, $260; Simon M. Hugo $536.90; Frederick J. Vinton $130.75; James L. Kirwin $37.

Joseph P. Cooney, Democrat Senatorial candidate from the Second District spent $245.

G. S. Kirkman, treasurer of the Socialist Party spent $45.25.

COAL STRIKE ENDS

Gloucester, N. S., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Cape Breton's largest producing coal mine, No. 2 colliery of the Dominion Steel and Coal Company, was back in operation today after a two-day strike.

Government, labor union and mine officials met yesterday and decided to discharge a miner whose employment had caused the strike.

Edward Kennedy had been expelled from the union local on a charge of demanding exorbitant rentals from fellow union members.

Senator-elect Coolidge of Massachusetts was once an elevator operator. And his opponent will probably attest he is still capable of producing that sinking feeling.

Alabama Fan

One of the most ardent football fans in the entire country is Dr. George H. Denny, above, president of the University of Alabama. Dr. Denny never misses a practice session of the Crimson Tide and always cheers like an undergraduate at the home games. Several times, "Mike," as he is known to the student body, has ventured too close to the scrimmage and has been speared by the players. His glasses were broken by his several years ago when he was tumbled by Riggs Stephenson, Chicago Cub outfielder and former Alabama fullback.

CUT DOWN CROPS IS HYDE'S ADVICE

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Disagreeing with the theory that the farmer can improve his lot by greater production and lower prices, Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde addressing the 64th annual convention of the National Grange, today advocated curtailed production to offset crop surplus as the best remedy for the economic depression of the farmer.

"The only answer to over-production is less production," Secretary Hyde said. "We must balance our crops against market demands, producing only such amount as we can sell at a price which covers cost of production, plus a profit."

"To write an effective answer to the problems of the farm we must have, first of all, organization. The first object is unity of action, collective thinking, planning and marketing."

Mr. Hyde compared the present period of depression with the distress which followed the great expansion of agricultural activities after the Civil War. As a result of this expansion, he said supply far outpaced demand and prices broke to ruinous levels.

"Three are few if any," said Mr. Hyde, "features of the present situation that do not have their counterpart in that depression of 60 years ago."

Twenty-five years ago a young man went to New York seeking employment... the city was big but the boy was young and he had $4... he wandered along the city's streets, watching its people... one of his favorite amusements was a long walk on Sunday... often he ambled from Bowling Green to the Bronx... he used to watch the ball games in Central Park, and sometimes he would play... once he collected 60 street urchins and organized a Sunday school class... he worked at his job and that... he knew how to paint a little, he spent hours in the museums... once he took a job painting a huge sign on Broadway, depicting a nice fat cigar... but the call of the middle west finally proved too strong... he is coach at the University of Illinois now... bama nitrate and power plant which the Senate approved, and the House plan for leasing it to private interests, is hoped for by some.

Twice after calls at the White House, Senator McNary of Oregon, the assistant Republican leader has expressed determination to stick to the Norris proposal, this although after a similar visit Representative Rowe, (R) Tennessee, had predicted a veto if the Senate plan should prevail.

McNary as well as Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader has assured the President he would do all possible to avert a special session. The White House did not name the giver of the Democratic assurance, but it is known the President had written Senator Robinson of Arkansas, chief of the Democratic Senate forces.

State Briefs

SHEVLIN CASE PUT OVER

Stamford, Nov. 14.—(AP)—George Shevlin of the Hotel Alamac, New York, argued in the City Court today on charges of having an automobile in his possession that had mutilated factory and engine numbers and with concealing a stolen car, was granted a week's adjournment. Shevlin was arrested October 28 at the scene of the explosion of an alcohol distilling plant, which blew up on September 9. It was charged at the time of arrest that he, with Joseph and Rocco Crasco, both of New Rochelle, were attempting to remove apparatus from the damaged plant.

FULLER CO. DEBTS

New Haven, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The schedules of Fuller, Richter, Aldrich and Company, Hartford brokers, in U. S. Court today showed debts of $2,784,156.38 and assets of $3,030,225.77.

Six members of the firm filed individual schedules.

REPUBLICAN EXPENSES

New Haven, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The Republicans spent $13,451.25 on the local campaign to try and carry the city, their statement sent to Hartford shows. The party lost the city by over 5,000. The town committee's treasury, however, still has a surplus.

ISSUES REQUISITION

Hartford, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Lt. Governor Ernest E. Rogers today made requisition on the governor of New Jersey for the return of Walter Robinson, who is held at Paterson, N. J., and is wanted in North Stonington on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

GOLF

The golf ball is growing shorter—saw in the papers the other day that all the American manufacturers now have quit making the 1.62 standard and are whirling in on the 1.68-1.65 affair that will be standard January 1, 1931.

Meanwhile, the golf courses are growing longer, for the ladies, and it looks as if we have about curbed them, for a time, at any rate.

Along with the ball which (they contend) will steal away a lot of yards on their big, though I doubt never have believed it—the Western Golf association, closely followed by the United States Golf association, has stretched the yardage for ladies' par, supplanting, as of January 1, 1931, the former scheme, which was:

- Up to 190 yards ..... Par 3
- 191 to 350 yards ..... Par 4
- 351 to 450 yards ..... Par 5
- Over 450 yards ..... Par 6

The new scale, on which will be based the future handicap eligibility for the women's national championships, will be as follows:

- Up to 200 yards ..... Par 3
- 201 to 375 yards ..... Par 4
- 376 yards and over ..... Par 5

Getting closer and closer to the masculine ranges, what? No more Par 6 holes. This new feminine par, I estimate, will trim from three to five strokes off all championship layouts. Par for women on a good golf course now will be 79 and 80 instead of 84 and 85. And there won't be so much par-busting.

Let's you forget the masculine figures, which will remain the same under the pellucid impact of the bigger and lighter (if not longer) ball, here they are:

- Up to 350 yards ..... Par 3
- 261 to 450 yards ..... Par 4
- 451 yards and over ..... Par 5

And I may suggest that (for some years and perhaps decades) we have seen, in 1930, the last romping upon the royal green where cards as low as 64 and 65 are turned in, and 72-hole totals of from 272 to 278.

In announcing the change in yardage for the ladies, H. H. "Pack" Ramsay, chairman of the championship committee, of the U. S. G. A.—and incidentally nominated as its next president—says:

"As the future handicap eligibility for the women's national championship in the future will be based on these figures, it is recommended that all state, sectional, and district women's golf associations throughout the United States adopt this yardage as the standard from which to compute their handicaps."

This sounds reasonable, indeed.

Two wrestlers, former football players, knocked each other unconscious by meeting head-on in a recent match. As though you could keep football players away from skill practice.

Buckeye Star

"Bad Bill" Edwards, above, center and twice captain of the Wittenberg college eleven at Springfield, O., may not make any All-America teams, but there are those who believe he deserves it. Bill's fine leadership and defensive play have made him an outstanding man in Ohio intercollegiate circles. He had a big hand in Wittenberg's 7-to-7 tie with W. and J.

ABOUT TOWN

Frank Lenz who has just returned from Europe will be the guest speaker at the Manchester Kiwanis club meeting Monday noon at the Hotel Sheridan. He has traveled extensively and should have an interesting message to bring to the members. He comes here on invitation of Elmer Thiens of the Hartford County Y. M. C. A. The attendance prize will be furnished by Elmore Watkins.

Senator Robert J. Smith went to Bristol last evening and as the guest of Senator Barnes addressed a meeting of the citizens of that place who are considering the revision of their charter. Mr. Smith was chairman of the cities and boroughs committee in the last legislature and a member of Manchester's charter revision committee.

Mrs. Annie M. Gordon of 689 Main street left this morning for New York where she will sail for Florida. She will reside at 624 St. street, St. Petersburg, during the winter.

Frank J. Majak of Union street was found guilty in the Manchester police court, this morning of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. A fine of $125 and costs was imposed, and as Majak had no money to pay his fine and costs he was sent to jail. He was arrested about 2 o'clock this morning by Patrolman Joseph Prentice.

A daughter was born Tuesday, November 11, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ubert of 33 Stone street. The baby was born at the Hartford hospital. Mrs. Ubert, prior to her marriage was Miss Elizabeth Sumner of Bolton.

Whist scheduled for Monday evening by the Eagles Football team, will be held Wednesday evening instead at the Manchester Community club.

The whist and dance given by the Rebekahs and Odd Fellows last night in Odd Fellows hall was a social success, nearly a hundred attending. First prizes were won by Mrs. Walter Walsh and Rudolph Swanson; second by Mrs. Rudolph Swanson and David Hadden and consolation by Mrs. Joseph Parks and Fred Sadler. Sandwiches, cake and coffee were served by the joint committee. For dancing Walter Joyner played the violin and Irving Wickham the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McAdams of Woodbridge street gave a bridge party for their friends last night at which first prize for women was won by Miss Gertrude Maynard and first for men by Corwin Grant. Consolation went to Carolyn Waterbury and Chester Brunner. Refreshments were served.

MAKE IT YOURSELF.

Old-fashioned hand-worked sofa pillows are quite smart for Christmas gifts this year.

Weaving on monk's cloth or any other basket weave material with a big-eyed needle and colorful yarn is an ancient craft, brought up-to-date by modernistic designs to adorn new gifts.

Use of wool mercerized or cotton yarn just about as thick as the warp and woof of your cross-stitch material. Work with a simple stitch that weaves under the material one way and back over it the other way. This completely covers the material, giving you a thick, rich pillow.

It is the style this year to do geometric designs. Weave them in first with their own colors, and then cover the rest of the pillow top with red, black, royal blue or gold, or whatever color you are using.

Since things are used in pairs this year for decorative purposes, if you care to be energetic and make a pair of these pillows, any friend should be doubly grateful.

'SCARFACE AL' FEELS HUNGRY IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The unidentified philanthropist who has opened a large free soup kitchen for unemployed was named by the Chicago Evening Post today as the notorious gang leader, "Scarface Al" Capone.

Through sources close to the underworld leader, the Post says it has verified the fact that Capone, with some help from friends, is financing the kitchen and serving about 1100 men daily.

"He couldn't stand it to see those poor devils starving," the paper was informed by one of Capone's associates, "and nobody else seemed to be doing much."

Three meals a day are served, varying from coffee and rolls for breakfast to soup, stew and coffee for dinner.

No questions are asked—the food is merely handed out as long as it lasts.

All of the Stuff In State Now Is Moonshine Or Canadian Liqueur Cut Much.

FIGHT OVER WILL LEFT BY DIPLOMAT

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Samuel Kornbluth, New York attorney, today confirmed a report that Dorothy Russell O'Reilly Calvit, daughter of the late Lillian Russell, intends to sue for half a million-dollar estate left by the late Alexander P. Moore, former ambassador to Spain.

Moore, who died in February of this year, married Lillian Russell in 1912. Mrs. Calvit now holds that he entered a verbal agreement to leave her half of his property.

Because of this agreement Lillian Russell rejected an offer of marriage from "Diamond Jim" Brady which carried with it a settlement of $1,000,000, the attorney said.

Kornbluth declared he interviewed several persons in Pittsburgh and learned that Moore executed a will carrying out the alleged agreement with his wife, but that he became incensed at magazine articles Mrs. Calvit wrote about him.

...ore up the will and executed one which recently was died for probate in Pittsburgh, leaving $100,000, to the Spanish Queen to be used for charity; $25,000 to Mrs. Dorothy Caruso; $10,000 to Jessie Lovemore's son and $1,000 to Mrs. Calvit. The residue of the estate went to a nephew and two nieces.

GETS OLD JOB BACK

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Richard Byrd succeeded today in getting back for one of his South Pole followers the $2,600-a-year job he gave up to go to Antarctica.

Esmond O'Brien, first assistant engineer on the Byrd flagship "City of New York," had been engineer on a city fireboat. Civil service regulations barred him from that post when he returned with the South Pole expedition, but Rear Admiral Byrd asked the mayor's help and the mayor had special legislation passed in the Municipal Assembly.

Today O'Brien was back in the engine room of the fireboat.

VICEROY'S REPORT SCORED BY PRESS

London Editors Rap Irwin's Suggestions As To the Future Status of India.

London, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The voluminous report and recommendation of Viceroy Lord Irwin and his government as to a future status for India, as presented today to the round table conference, were given a most unfavorable reception by the London press.

The Times, while admitting the report, which is called a "dispatch," is of manifest importance, says it need excite neither enthusiasm nor anxiety, adding that "the criticism which must occur to everyone who reads it in the light of modern thought is that its outlook is altogether too narrow to help the conference in its main decision."

"Its authors are too near the ground to see the horizon. . . . It is a little depressing that at a moment when the whole destiny of India was under review that they should almost have gone out of their way to discourage hopes of a new and larger experiment in constitutional progress."

Fantastic Scheme
The Telegraph says: "The proposal cuts at the heart of the Simon commission's plan. Over a wide tract of administration it would erect a viceroy in principle into an autocrat subject only to removal by the crown. That Lord Irwin should have secured the consent of his council to a scheme so fantastic is the most incomprehensible thing about it."

The Morning Post's main fear is that if the government is made partly responsible to the Indian Legislative Assembly that it would come more under the assembly's power and the Army would be dragged in with the government. "If the Army came under political influence," the paper said, "nothing would be left but to await the inevitable disaster."

"Dubious Protection"
Recalling that the Indian princes are guaranteed the protection of the British Army, the paper expressed doubts that they would accept the "dubious protection of an Indianized and politically dominated Army," adding, "and without their consent no schemes would be worth the paper on which it was inscribed."

The Daily Mail charged the government with loading the dice in favor of dominion status and declared that the dispatch would negate most of the Simon commission's work. "It would appease Indian extremists by concessions which would reduce India to anarchy and bankruptcy." The paper scored Prime Minister MacDonald for "allowing the government to intervene and attempt to prejudice deliberations of the delegates."

The News and Chronicle pointed out that the dispatch suggested that the Simon scheme was not workable.

South Manchester, Conn., Nov. 13, 1930.

Editor, The Herald:
There are many people in Manchester who I'm sure would like to help the needy families of this town but feel that the little they could afford to give would be of very little help.
Here is a plan that is worked out every year in a city where I once lived. A few weeks before Thanksgiving every grocery store is given a large box or market basket which is placed in a conspicuous place so that customers who come in to buy may drop in anything that they wish in the line of canned goods, bread, cracker, a few pounds of sugar, tea, coffee, or anything that they can afford. It is surprising how quickly these boxes and baskets are filled. Every day a responsible party collects and distributes these goods to the needy.
I am sure the people and stores would cooperate with such a plan here in this town.
A Manchester Resident.

REORGANIZATION OF G. O. P. URGED

Washington, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Reorganization of the Republican machine has been urged on President Hoover by some leaders high in the party who are looking ahead to 1932.

There is a feeling in the Republican high command that Senator Fess, Ohio, will resign as National chairman after completing the job for which he was chosen—piloting the party through the Congressional campaign.

Speculation over a successor to Fess already has begun and in this the name of Robert Lucas of Kentucky, now executive chairman, is heard most frequently.

The Republican reorganization urged upon the President goes farther than a change in chairmanship, but the leaders are not saying much about it.

The matter of Senator Fess's eventual resignation is linked to some extent with the belief held among his friends that the Ohioan is ready to take an active part in the defense of prohibition.

MOTHER MASTODON WITH CHILD FOUND

McAndrews Expedition Coming Home With Fossils New To Science Found In Desert.

Peiping, (AP).—Millions of years ago a mammoth shovel-toothed mastodon about to become a mother begged with a herd of her kind in a hole in the then fertile Gobi desert. Trapped in the Gobi quicksands, she and her companion mastodons died before she could give birth to a baby mastodon.

A few weeks ago the Central Asiatic Expedition headed by Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews found the boghole and the remains of the herd, among the most perfect of the skeletons being that of the mother mastodon, still carrying within it the smaller bones of the infant pachyderm.

Walter C. Granger, chief paleontologist of the expedition, deftly removed the fetus from the rest of the skeleton, and is bringing it back with other finds to the New York Museum of Natural History, which now will have a complete age series of the shovel-toothed mastodons. It will include a complete age series of shovel-toothed mastodons, technically known as platylodon, ranging from the embryo "delivered" by Mr. Granger to toothless old specimens in the last stages of development.

Dr. Andrews regards the collection of fossils made this year as a record result since operations were begun in 1922. Some of the finds. Highlights among the discoveries, in addition to the bogged mastodons, were specimens of a strange animal known as the coryphodon, resembling a long-legged rhinoceros. These were found in geological strata of an age which extends the evolution of the animals a matter of several million years beyond previous calculations. Another prize rewarding the searchers was a deposit of skulls and jaws belonging to the chalicother, which belongs to the same group as the horse and the rhinoceros but has a great sharp claw instead of a flattened hoof. Nobody has yet been able to figure out just what that claw was used for.

100 Species. Close to a hundred different species, many of which are quite new to science, are included among the 17 camel loads of fossil specimens now on their way down to Peiping from Mongolia. It is expected that this year's discoveries will tend further to confirm the theory that the central Asian plateau was formerly a great center of mammalian life. Explaining the expedition's failure to discover any trace of primitive human remains, Dr. Andrews pointed out that these have invariably been found in caves where they have been sheltered from wind and weather, and that Mongolia has no caves.

"When men died in Mongolia millions of years ago," he said, "they died on the plains, in rude shelters, or under the lee of a bank. Very often predatory animals must have eaten even their bones. The mere fact that we have not yet found primitive man does not mean that he is not there somewhere."

17 PERSONS DROWNED

Puerto Montt, Chile, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Belated reports reaching from Chonchi, on the west of the Island of Chiloe south of Puerto Montt, today revealed the loss of more than 17 lives when the Chilean bark Laura foundered near there Monday.

The captain, 16 members of the crew and several passengers, their number unknown, went down with the vessels, which had a registry of about 2,000 tons. The furious gale which raged along this coast since last Saturday buffeted the ship about two days before the disaster occurred.

P. U. C. Hearing

Hartford, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The Public Utilities Commission today assigned Thursday, Nov. 20, at 10:30 a. m. for a hearing on the petition of the state highway commissioner for approval of the proposed location of the new highway in the town of Middlefield, where it crosses the tracks of the New Haven railroad.

GUARD TRUCK DRIVERS

Westport, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The state patrol of the Boston Post road between this town and the state line was directed yesterday to keep a close watch on trucks from New York to see that no possible interest came to them as an incident of a strike of truck drivers in New York City.

PASSED BAD CHECKS

Hartford, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Paul S. Cooper, 25, a salesman, of 50 Vanderbilt avenue, New York City, was arrested in Hartford today on complaints of having passed bad checks in New Haven. Bridgeport authorities have also inquired about him. He is to be turned over to New Haven police.

Thursday
Breakfast—Oatmeal with butter or cream (no sugar).
Lunch—Cooked lettuce. Carrots and peas.
Dinner—Vegetable soup. Salisbury steak, stewed okra, scalloped celery. Salad of raw spinach. Peanut butter dressing. Ice cream.

Friday
Breakfast—Grapefruit or oranges (all desired). Glass of sweet milk.
Lunch—Buttered green peas. Salad of cucumber, egg, lettuce and cream.
Dinner—Baked broiled fillet of sole, spinach, baked eggplant. Salad of sliced tomatoes or lettuce. No dessert.

Saturday
Breakfast—Toasted shredded wheat biscuit. Stewed figs.
Lunch—Steamed rice. String beans. Salad of head lettuce with olive oil.
Dinner—Tomato bouillon. Casserole of Mutton. Baked grated beets. 5-minute cabbage. Salad of raw celery. Dish of berries (canned without sugar).

*—Vegetable Soup. To make soup stock use one pound of ground beef to two quarts of water. If any bone is used, have your butcher break it up, and use less meat. Cover and slowly bring to boil. Turn fire down moving any scum that may form. Strain, let cool, and skim off all fat that rises to the surface. If stock does not equal two quarts, add a little hot water and the following quantities of vegetables:

Two or three finely diced small carrots, one small stalk of celery, cut fine; one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, one small can of tomatoes.
Return to stove and let simmer until vegetables are tender. Serve with thin strips of Melba toast if desired.

(Loose Joints).
Question: H. J. L. asks: "Will you kindly tell me why the bones in my arms, also my ankles, seem to go right out of their sockets when I walk or when I throw my arms out quickly? My arms and legs seem to get out of joint which is very painful. It doesn't last very long, but happens quite often."

Answer: Where the looseness of the joints is noticed all over the body it is a sign of mineral starvation. You need more foods containing the bone-building materials. These are found in the non-starchy vegetables and also in the whole grains.

(Prunes)
Question: Mrs. E. J. asks: "Do prunes contain acid?"
Answer: Dried prunes do contain a small amount of acid, but not as much as the fresh prune plum.

(Germs and Goitre)
Question: T. M. writes: "I have been told that I have a goitre, but my neck is not enlarged at all—you cannot see a goitre as so many people have them. Could you tell me how I could kill the germ before it takes effect, and thus avoid having it become larger in time?"
Answer: There is no evidence that germs have any effect on producing goitre. The exophthalmic goitre does not show much except to make the eyes protrude. You may suffer from hyperthyroidism, the diagnosis of which must be accomplished mostly by studying symptoms, as the gland does not appear to change in shape in most cases. All forms of goitre are caused from the effect of bodily toxins, and the cure depends upon the elimination of these poisons.

FAKE ADVERTISER

ADMIRABLE CRICHTON PRESENTED TONIGHT

Dress Rehearsal of High School Play Reveals Striking Costumes and Scenery.

At eight o'clock to-night in the high school auditorium, the "Admirable Crichton" by Sir James Barrie will be presented by the Sock and Buskin dramatic club. This presentation is the result of many weeks of work by an excellent cast and able staging and costuming committees.

At the dress rehearsal the costumes and staging effects were seen for the first time. Those who were privileged to see this dress rehearsal were very much impressed by the extensive operations that had been done regarding costuming and settings.

The properties for the island scene are very complete and the costumes for this scene are also exceedingly picturesque and commendable. The sale of tickets for this production has been very large to date, and success seems most certainly to be in store for the presentation.

The revised cast of the "Admirable Crichton" follows:

NEW FIGHT FOR DEBENTURE PLAN LOOMS IN SENATE

Washington.—(AP).—The return of William E. Borah of Idaho and George W. Norris of Nebraska to the United States Senate virtually assures a renewal of the farm fight for the export debenture before a new and more favorable Congress.

It was Norris who introduced the resolution by which the Senate wrote the export debenture plan into its draft of the tariff act of 1929, and it was Borah who led the long, fruitless battle to have it enacted over the protest of House conferees.

Predicting another effort to revive the export debenture, Senator Borah said: "It is my belief that until the debenture is put into operation the wheat growers and other important groups of agricultural producers will not be benefited in any degree by governmental action."

Certificates Negotiable Briefly, the export debenture plan is an arrangement whereby exporters of agricultural products of which there is a surplus, receive from the treasury department certificates with a face value established by Congress and intended to represent the difference in costs of production between this and foreign countries.

Such certificates are negotiable and good for their face value in payment of import tariffs. Thus if the debenture were operative, the wheat farmer would receive for his product the world price plus the value of the debenture certificate.

Opposition to the scheme centers chiefly around the contention that it would reduce the federal revenue from customs receipts, dollar for dollar, the amount of the debentures.

For example, if this country exported 300,000,000 bushels of wheat on which was issued debentures of 21 cents a bushel, importers who purchased the certificates for bringing dutiable products into the country would keep $63,000,000 out of the treasury.

Farm groups generally favor the process for, theoretically, the $63,000,000 would go into the farmers' pockets.

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

BOOKER WASHINGTON'S BIRTH

On Nov. 14, 1858, Booker T. Washington, American negro educator, was born on a plantation near Hale's Ford, Va. to work in a coal mine. With the elementary education he acquired at night schools the young miner entered the Normal and Agricultural Institute at Hampton, Va. He later became an instructor.

In 1881, with a reputation established for educational work among Indians, Washington was appointed to establish a colored normal school at Tuskegee, Ala. He opened the school in a dilapidated house and church, with 30 students, and himself the only teacher, but he left it with many buildings, much land, 1500 students and 185 teachers.

He acquired nation-wide attention for his ability as an orator and his work for Negro education and improvement of his race. Harvard gave him an honorary degree in 1896 as did Dartmouth in 1901.

According to the last census, 51 per cent of the population of the United States is male.

RE-NAME TAYLOR IN FIRE DISTRICT

Present Collector Victor Over Claude Truax, 129 To 62; Others Re-Elected.

The campaign made by Claude Truax for election to the office of collector of the South Manchester Fire District ended last night in the defeat of Mr. Truax and the reelection of the present collector, William Taylor, by the conclusive vote of 129 to 62. There was no other contest. Frank Cheney, Jr., who has served for many years as district president and whose determination not to run again this year was withdrawn at the solicitation of the members of the fire department, was unanimously re-elected to the board of commissioners, as were William Crockett and E. L. G. Hohenthal, Jr., who organized later with Mr. Cheney president, Mr. Crockett secretary and Mr. Hohenthal treasurer, which is the constitution of the fire department. The commissioners reappointed L. N. Heebner superintendent of fire alarm and Albert Foy as chief of the fire department.

Other officers unanimously elected by the meeting were: First assistant chief, Daniel Haggerty; second assistant, Joseph Chambers; assistant fire alarm superintendent, James C. McCaw; auditors, J. Howard Keith and G. H. Waddell. In the course of the report of the commissioners it was brought out that the compensation of the district collector is $300 a year. It was announced that the much discussed project of building a new fire house at the Center had been abandoned for the present. The report of the district officers follows: Commissioner's Report "The commissioners submit herewith the detailed reports of the treasurer, secretary, tax collector, chief of fire department, and superintendent of fire alarm system. The Fire Department "The fire department an unusual number of fires during the year. Fortunately most of these were grass fires or fires involving small loss, owing to prompt attention by the Fire Department, and the total property loss only amounted to $9,300. The fire loss shows the great value of the Fire Department to the town, the largest fire of the year being the Waranoke Hotel. "During the year extensive repairs had to be made to the roof of No. 4 building, the most important repairs to roof of No. 3 building. All of the outside woodwork and some of the rooms of No. 3 building were repainted. No. 3 truck was fitted with new pneumatic tires and new fenders, and was repaired. "When No. 3 building was built, steam for heating was brought under the street from the boilers of the Nathan Hale school. This has been found to be unsatisfactory as the school pipes are in the street during school hours, and it has been necessary for the Fire District to have one of its employees care for the boilers out of school hours. This divided responsibility, in spite of the cooperation of the school, has caused some trouble, which should be avoided. We have, therefore, decided to put an independent boiler with oil burner in our building, and this is now in operation. "Six hundred feet of new 2 1/2 inch hose and a two-way turret pipe have been added, as well as additional hand pump tanks for brush fires and new tires on the chief's car. "The chief reports apparatus in good order, and recommends adding during the year—in addition to the usual hose and supplies—new pneumatic tires, with fenders and repainting of No. 4 ladder truck. Fire Alarm System "Superintendent Heebner reports all his equipment in good order, and thinks no extensive additions necessary. He again calls attention to the rather extensive work which may be necessary should East Center street be reconstructed. "No tax having been laid, the tax collector's work has been limited to the collection of back taxes. Fire Hydrants and Pipes "The South Manchester Water Company has added during the year 1 hydrant, making a total of 288, and also 1200 feet of six inch water pipe. Treasurer's Report "Total expenses during the year have been $39,716.55. This increase being largely due to the cost of special repairs to buildings and apparatus, and to that part of the cost of the heating plant for No. 3 building, which was paid before November 1, 1930. "At the first of the fiscal year the District had a cash balance of $13,110.05, and at the close of a debt of $22,497.92. "In order to care for the present indebtedness and the expenses of the coming year, the Commissioners recommend a tax of two mills be laid as of November 15, 1930 and payable on June 1, 1931. "During the coming year we estimate expenses as follows: Regular Expenses $37,000. New Hoses and other supplies 1,000. Special Repairs 2,000. Possible Cost of Center Street reconstruction 5,000. Total $45,000. "We recommend an appropriation of $45,000 be authorized, and that the treasurer be authorized to borrow during the year $30,000 in addition to present borrowings. New Buildings "At the last annual meeting we were asked to investigate the question of a new site and building near the Center for Hose Company No. 2. "It seemed to us that an ideal site would be on the town's land west of the Municipal Building. We discussed this with the selectmen and found they were only willing to consider a fifty year lease of the land, and not a definite sale. It would hardly seem desirable for the district to build an expensive building on leased land, and as the business situation became depressed we decided it was not a proper year to involve the district in expensive building investments. This is a problem which will demand action in the future, but will have to be taken up when the business situation improves. It is also true of a possible additional building at the eastern section of the District. "We desire to express our appreciation of the faithful services and cooperation rendered by the officers and men of the Fire Department, and of other departments of District activity." The report is signed by Frank Cheney, Jr., Emil L. G. Hohenthal, Jr., and W. J. Crockett, as district committee.

SOVIETS DENOUNCE FRANCE'S POLICIES

Red Newspaper Says She Is Behind Plot For Which Eight Are Awaiting Trial.

Moscow, Nov. 14.—(AP)—While thus far there has been no actual evidence indicating possibility of a diplomatic break between Russia and France the official government organ Izvestia today openly denounced the French as instigating and abetting the alleged intervention plot for which eight Russians now are awaiting trial. "The paper says that it has been plain that behind the stage, French diplomacy and influential politicians in military circles are working to prepare intervention against the Soviet Union. "We don't fear intervention," says the paper. "If we are attacked we will be able to shift from defense to advance." Izvestia adds that intervention does come it will bring great suffering on all people because it will mean the beginning of a world war. Answers Charged "The paper objected particularly to recent French newspaper reports that the Soviet government had invited the intervention plot in order to find a "goat" for the economic crisis in Russia. To this Izvestia replied: "This maneuver of the French papers is ridiculous because the Soviet Union not only has no crisis but continues a rapid Socialist advance along the entire front as is evidenced by a 25 per cent increase in the country's entire production over last year. The Soviet government does not have to look for goats because it can boast and is proud of its achievements and economic development. The difficulties which exist are unavoidable under the quick tempo which is necessary in a big industrial program. We have conscientiously taken upon ourselves temporary deprivation so that in the near future we can completely abolish all handicaps in Soviet economy."

POLICEMAN DISMISSED

Darien, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Officer Charles Murphy was officially dismissed from the Darien police department today by the police commission, culminating a lengthy investigation into his eligibility as a citizen of the United States. It has been definitely established that Murphy was born in Belfast, Ireland of Irish parents, who upon immigration here, failed to take out their second papers after having finally declared intentions of becoming citizens of the United States. Officer Murphy has never been naturalized. Spanish spoken by most Mexicans has undergone a change since that of that undergone by English spoken by Americans.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE ADJOURNS FOR A YEAR

London, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The Imperial Conference of 1930 completed its sessions today at noon and adjourned its economic section to meet again a year from now, probably at Ottawa, Canada. The closing ceremony was held at a final plenary session of the dominion premiers in the Locarno room of the foreign office, where the report of the sessions was read and accepted. The report contained decisions made by the conference. There were problems, however, notably those of an important economic nature, which faced the conference, on which no decision was noted. Principal among these was that represented by suggestions of Premier Bennett of Canada that members of the British Commonwealth grant tariff preferences to other members of the British Commonwealth of Nations over the tariffs imposed on goods of non-British nations. In this connection a government announcement said today that the existing margin of preferences would continue for a period of three years subject to the right of the British Parliament to make its own budget. The meeting today was largely of formal character with speeches by the various prime ministers and a vote of thanks and a message to King George.

KMAS FUND GROUP TO MEET TUESDAY

Chamber-Kiwanis-Lions Committee To Discuss Means of Raising Funds.

The first meeting of the Christmas Fund committee consisting of three representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis Club, and Lions Club, will be held in the Chamber office Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, to discuss ways and means of raising a charity fund this year. Other business will include appointment of a chairman and election of a treasurer. The committee is starting three weeks earlier than last year and with this start hope to raise a sum twice that of 1929 when $1,500 was made available to provide Christmas cheer for the needy. The greater need for charity this year will call for greater effort on the part of the committee. The fact that Christmas lighting was dispensed with due to the present depression it is felt that merchants will lend their wholehearted support to the Christmas Fund. Already, even before organization of the committee, a contribution of $100 has been made by the City Club. The complete committee is as follows: Chamber of Commerce, James O. McCaw, Rev. J. Stuart Neill, and William Halsted; Kiwanis, George Waddell, Charles J. Huber, Fayette B. Clarke; Lions, George H. Williams, Albert Knofia, and Dr. M. Moriarty. HOSPITAL EMPLOYEE IS NOW A PATIENT

Mrs. James Currie Injured When Chef's Car Is Banged Against Pole At Main and Flower Streets. Mrs. James Currie, employed at the Manchester Memorial hospital as a chore woman, left that institution last evening at the end of her day's work and within twenty minutes was back there as a patient, suffering from concussion of the brain and probable fractures of two ribs. She had been in an automobile accident. Henry Mitchell, colored, chef at the hospital, gets through at the same time as Mrs. Currie. He lives at 17 Plimney place, Hartford, and uses a Jewett car, registered in the name of Viola Springstead of Farmington. Last night he offered to drive Mrs. Currie home. Mitchell drove through the short street leading from the hospital to Russell street, emerging onto Main street opposite Flower, planning to take the latter street to Summit and thence to 22 Lilley, where Mrs. Currie lives with her husband, who is a night watchman around the Cheney homes. As Mitchell's car rolled onto Main street A. G. Brown of 34 Durant street was driving north. His car hit the rear end of the Jewett, slammed it against an electric light pole at the Flower street corner and made a mess of it. Mitchell was unhurt but Mrs. Currie was unconscious and was carried into a nearby house. Dr. H. B. Boyd, who was called, sent her to the hospital. Police Sergeant John McGilgan, who investigated the accident, arrested Brown on a charge of reckless driving. FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 14.

THE BUSY BREWERS

Recently it was announced that a group of Bridgeport and New York men had bought, at a great bargain, a big Hartford brewery, frankly in anticipation of a change in the law which would permit the manufacture of real beer.

Nothing can be surer than that these men either know something that does not fall within the zone of common knowledge or just think they know something of that kind.

It is rumored in Washington that dry members of the Hoover commission have dropped the intimation that "astounding things" have been discovered by that body and that some of the dry members would be willing to have an expression of public opinion on the prohibition situation.

It is anticipated that the Hoover Commission will make a report of some kind in December. What the nature of that report will be is, of course, a matter of complete mystery to the public—at least for publication purposes—to the press.

As everybody knows, the Eighteenth amendment does not define "intoxicating" liquor. It is the Volstead act which arbitrarily fixes the legal alcoholic content of beverages at one-half of one per cent.

Some of the same busy little workers now boosting for the twentieth amendment were also boosters for the eighteenth amendment. But let it be proposed in any state that ratified the prohibition amendment to reverse that state's vote—then listen to the loud cries of protest from these people who are trying to engineer reversal of states' votes on the twentieth!

MEANS AGAIN. The New York World has dug up the information that Gaston B. Means, former Department of Justice agent, whose dossier contains suspicion of almost every crime, including murder, and who has served time for fraud by mail and for prohibition law violation, is now and for more than a year has been on the payroll of the National Civic Federation as a Communist hunter.

not, in our belief, as important as commonly supposed. Everybody knows that a great many of the dry Congressmen are not so from conviction but from opportunism.

At all events that is probably what the brewers are figuring on. And they also appear to be pretty cock-sure as to what the Commission is going to require them to support the administration in an attempt to provide light beer and wine.

LUDENDORFF

It is probably true that General Ludendorff has desecrated, in the opinion of a great many of the German people, since the end of the World War, in proportion as he rose in the esteem of his countrymen between the days of the Tannenberg campaign and the few weeks preceding the armistice.

But henceforth it must become something of a shrine for literary pilgrims, since it's the home port of our one and only Nobel prize winner—Sinclair "Red" Lewis.

And since we have a Nobel prize author in our midst, here are a few sidelights: He's one of the most difficult persons in the world to get started on an interview, Lewis was, as you all know, a newspaperman once himself.

The day after his award was announced Lewis was invited to sit in or 25 "private" sessions of the Thanatopsis Literary and Inside Straight Club, a group of columnists, playwrights and Manhattan celebs who daily at poker.

It is almost 10 years to the day, by the way, since Lewis walked in upon George Horace Lorimer and announced that he was through with writing "pop stuff."

Mrs. Lewis, a former newspaper correspondent in European realms—Dorothy Thompson—was asked by someone if she had been doing any creative work also.

Lewis has a definite and deep love of the land, bred as a child in Minnesota farm home. His honeymoon was spent in a rickety caravan, vagabonding about sections of Europe.

When he returned to America it was to take a "gentleman's farm" in the Vermont Hills, among the rural New Englanders. But with cold weather, he found it lonesome out there. He wanted some of his fellows to chat with, and so moved to a country spot just outside of Westport, Conn., where there is a large literary and artists' colony.

He can stand the city just so long, and then "likes to feel his legs under him." He writes nervously and under pressure, dictating variously to records and to a secretary who understands his many little nervous eccentricities.

Mexico City, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Police today investigated an explosion which occurred yesterday in a house under construction for General Gilberto Limon, director of Chapultepec Military Academy.

It appears that he is to be a witness before long before the Fish committee investigating Communist activities. Those who remember Means' part in the Daugherty investigation will be prepared to learn that he has put the Communist bee on plenty of hitero unsuspected Americans.

The World says he has been getting away with about $500 a week of Civic Federation money. He'll probably give 'em their money's worth of Red scare.

BROADWAY PEPS UP FOR WINTER SEASON

Richard Bennett Hit in New Play — Gershwin Music in "Girl Crazy" — New "Blues" Singer.

BY GILBERT SWAN

New York.—Broadway is pepping up. Familiar names and familiar faces are again to be found in the incandescent lanes. Within a week the theater has welcomed back Richard Bennett and Jane Cowi; has heard the trumpeting of new Gershwin music and cheered three smoking-hot music reviews; has gone slightly ga-ga over a new found blues singer and has heard the approaching footsteps of Leonore Ulrich and a dozen other favorites.

Taking the various events one at a time—Bennett was first to arrive, with a character study that further assures him a place upon the Broadway stage. The Bennett album of portraits has contained the most varied types, ranging from the hard-boiled Jarnegan of the film studios to the present old Southern colonel. And by virtue of his continued excellence, Bennett finds himself hailed as the worthy successor of the late Arnold Daly and our outstanding character actor.

Bennett's latest creation is a jumpy, drinking, Yankee hating, festsy old codger who can't forget the Confederacy and is somewhat of a "professional Southerner." He messes up lives all about him and, while exaggerated almost to comic strip dimensions at times, still makes an elegant caricature. There is plenty of bite in this "Solid South," where Bennett appears, and some good and loyal southerners might as well stay away to avoid arguments. But it is scheduled to be one of Broadway's successes—and a rarely entertaining evening.

Broadway's latest over-night favorite—Ethel Merman, "torch song" discovery of "Girl Crazy."

look upon and exquisite in performance.

George Gershwin "having become our national anthemist, any new melody which he may contribute takes on the stature of an event and is awaited by cheering Manhattan mob. In "Girl Crazy," Gershwin has crossed the Rockies and written with a new zest; a pace setting, noisy, breathless sort of score that carries a noisy, breathless show with it.

And in this new bit of Gershwin, wherein only once or twice is one reminded of "Rhapsody in Blue," there appears one Ethel Merman.

This Miss Merman belongs to a school of blues singing reminiscent of the best of the old Barbary Coast shouters—hardballed and "low," with a wall and a melancholy and a "something different." Two of her songs, "Sam and Delilah" and "I've Got Rhythm," might be included as part of the current talk-of-the-town. Miss Merman herself, who emerged from somebody's night club, has been officially adopted by Broadway and adds her name to the list of those winning overnight fame.

Last season it was Libby Holman, who chants in a deeper, more dramatic fashion and, to my way of thinking, is a better artist.

Miss Holman returned with "Three's A Crowd," from the pen of Howard Rietz, the publicity gent who insists on writing sketches and lyrics. And while she has no song to compare with "Moanin' Low," still she has several numbers that will continue to stop the show. "Three's A Crowd" is an intelligent revue, made up of sketches that are more than passingly smart and sophisticated, without this latter word meaning dirty.

Richard Bennett, in his role of the mint-julepy old colonel in "Solid South."

And the best travesty, satire and Gilbert and Sullivan sort of thing to be found in town, continues to be revealed in the winter edition of "Garrick Gaities," a frivol engaged

HOOVER DRY BOARD DECLARES RECESS

Suddenly Adjourns Until Nov. 24 After Listening To Report of Woodcock.

Washington, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Furnished with fresh enforcement views by Prohibition Director Woodcock, members of the President's law enforcement commission today reverted to individual work on their dry law report.

After being closed with the prohibition director for more than two hours late yesterday, the commission declared a sudden adjournment until November 24. With Congress convening December 1, hope for a report by that date disappeared completely.

No official reasons for the unexpected recess were given, but reports of disharmony among the members were discredited and a majority remained at their desk at headquarters today.

Some members in fact were optimistic that an agreement could be arrived at, which would include the views of virtually the entire commission.

From other sources, however, the possibility was advanced that a minority report would be attached. But there was unanimity in the hope that the report would be prepared by the first of next year.

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The heaviest fog in months settled over the Metropolitan area early today, holding ocean liners at anchor and slowing passenger trains to a dog's trot.

It makes Shakespeare fine fun and it projects the fantastic unrealities. Through it all there is one of the loveliest Violas that the stage has ever seen—Miss Cowi, exquisite to

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CELIA MITCHELL, 17, leaves Baltimore where she has lived with her seamstress mother, MARGARET ROGERS, to join her wealthy father, JOHN MITCHELL, in New York. The parents are divorced and Mrs. Rogers is a widow following a second marriage.

BARNEY SHIELDS, young newspaper photographer, is in love with the girl. Mitchell asks EVELYN PARSONS, beautiful widow, to introduce his daughter to other young people. Mrs. Parsons agrees, considering Celia a means to win Mitchell's affections. She soon becomes jealous of the girl and schemes to get rid of her by encouraging a romance between Celia and TOD JORDAN, fascinating but of dubious character.

Mitchell has forbidden his daughter to see Jordan. Shields comes to New York to work for a photographic service and meets Celia. She tells him she cares for Jordan but later realizes it is Shields whom she loves.

Mrs. Parsons goes to Mitchell and tells him the girl has been meeting Shields surreptitiously. Father and daughter quarrel and Celia leaves for Baltimore. Her mother is not there and all clues to Mrs. Rogers' whereabouts fail. Mitchell arrives. He and Celia become reconciled and return to New York after he has promised to locate Mrs. Rogers.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Parsons invites Shields to dinner and tells him Celia is to marry Jordan. When they meet next Celia is broken-hearted at Shields' coolness and the interview ends with the understanding that everything is over between them. No word comes from Mrs. Rogers. Celia is lonely and miserable when Jordan begs her to elope with him. It is several hours later that Mrs. Parsons notifies Mitchell the girl is missing.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER LV

John Mitchell struggled to control his voice. "Then you have no idea when she left the house?" he asked. "You don't think it strange she was not here at dinner time?"

He was standing in Evelyn Parsons' living room. Evelyn had just told him of Celia's disappearance. Mitchell said the note which the girl had left in his hand.

Mrs. Parsons touched a handkerchief to her eyes. "Oh, John, you talk as though I'm to blame! I told you I don't know. I'm so terribly upset!"

"But you must think," the man cut in sternly. "Every minute lost may be important! Calm yourself, Evelyn. This is no time for hysterics!"

She saw he was unmoved by her pretended grief and changed her manner. "You're right, of course!" Evelyn said. "We must find her. Poor child! We must think what to do!"

"What time did you see the maid say?"

"Wait—I'll get Rose and she can tell you everything." Mrs. Parsons hurried from the room.

While he was waiting Mitchell stride back to the undertaking store. His hands were thrust deep in his pockets. The man's face was white, his eyes tortured. It was more than five minutes before Evelyn returned. By that time Mitchell was pacing like a caged animal. He stopped short as the door opened and the two women entered.

"This is Rose," Evelyn Parsons began. "Rose, tell Mr. Mitchell when and where you saw Miss Celia last."

The maid looked sheepish. She held a long, figured robe about her, apparently slipped over a nightgown. Though she had arisen from bed Rose had been thoroughly coached by her mistress.

"I think it was about four o'clock," the maid answered. "I was coming through the hall and I saw Miss Celia standing in front of the mirror in her room putting on her hat. She didn't say anything but a minute later when I was in Mrs. Parsons' dressing room I heard the door shut and then footsteps going toward the outside door. That's all I know about it."

"She was alone?" Mitchell asked.

"Yes, sir. There wasn't anyone else here out the cook in the kitchen."

"You say it was about four o'clock? Earlier or later than that?"

"I'm not just sure, sir, but it must have been about that time because at 4:30 I went downstairs to do an errand. It couldn't have been very long before that."

"I suppose you know Celia's disappeared. Has she ever said anything to you that might give you an idea where she could have gone?"

Rose looked toward Mrs. Parsons and shook her head. "No, sir. She never did."

"Well, this doesn't help much," Mitchell was addressing Evelyn. "Someone else must have seen her. How about that doorman—the one on duty afternoons. Is he here now?"

"Yes," Mrs. Parsons answered, "but we can reach him. He telephoned downstairs and found out where to call the man who was at the door this afternoon."

Before the maid could take up the telephone Mitchell had it in his hand. "I'll do it," he said, and immediately was in conversation with the operator.

The result of 10 minutes of alternate waiting and frantic conversation produced the news that Celia Mitchell had left the apartment in company with a tall young man whom the doorman had seen frequently. They had driven away in a black roadster. The doorman agreed that it might have been about four o'clock but he was not sure.

Mitchell slammed down the telephone. "It's that Shields!" he exclaimed. "Blind fool—why didn't he guess. Good God, they may be anywhere! Evelyn, Evelyn—"

Mrs. Parsons sprang to her feet. "John dearest, don't take it so terribly! Everything may be all right. Please! For my sake!"

He pushed her aside. "Where does Shields live?" he demanded.

The man stared at her. "You promised to be responsible for my daughter," he said harshly, "but you know nothing about her goings and comings in the house. You are unable to tell me what's become of her. And you say everything is all right. Bah!"

Mitchell turned away. Evelyn Parsons started and for an instant his eyes flashed with unalloyed malice. "Then she began to weep. The man apologized. He begged her to help him find Celia.

"But I've been trying to do that!"

"Wait—I'll get Rose and she can tell you everything." Mrs. Parsons hurried from the room.

While he was waiting Mitchell stride back to the undertaking store. His hands were thrust deep in his pockets. The man's face was white, his eyes tortured. It was more than five minutes before Evelyn returned. By that time Mitchell was pacing like a caged animal. He stopped short as the door opened and the two women entered.

everything I can and now I know you hate me!"

In desperation Mitchell swore he meant nothing of the kind. He begged her to stop crying and aid him in locating Barney Shields.

Together they went to the room Celia had occupied and here, after much searching, Mrs. Parsons produced a penciled memorandum. The slip of paper read: "Call Mr. Shields. Blank 5536."

"Look!" she cried, waving the note toward Mitchell. "It's the telephone number!"

But now it was nearly one a. m. One glance at the memorandum and John Mitchell was urging the downstairs operator to speed his call. There were tense moments of delay before the man spoke excitedly:

"Is this Shields? Barney Shields?"

The young man's voice came back over the wire. "At the phone. Who's calling?"

Mitchell straightened. "You are Barney Shields?" he asked again.

"This is Shields."

There was an electric instant and then Mitchell continued: "I'm sorry to disturb you, Mr. Shields. This is John Mitchell—Celia Mitchell's father. You remember we met the other day?"

"Oh—how do you do?"

"Something important has happened," Mitchell went on. "It's something I'd like to talk to you about. Can I see you if I came where you are at once?"

"Why, yes. Certainly."

"Then I'll be there immediately," Mitchell asked the address and put down the telephone.

"Where are you going?" Evelyn Parsons demanded. The man's answer was not over his shoulder as he hurried from the room. Evelyn followed in time to see Mitchell jam on his hat and pull open the outer door. With a deep sigh she turned and went to her bedroom.

There was little traffic and in 20 minutes John Mitchell's car stopped before the building where Shields made his home. Mitchell hurried up the steps and was addressing a young man at a desk in the lobby when someone touched his arm. He swung around to confront Barney Shields.

"Were you asking for me, Mr. Mitchell?"

"Yes. How do you do, Shields."

The older man paused for an instant. "I want to have a talk with you. Is there somewhere we can go?"

Except for the youth behind the counter the club lobby was deserted. Barney led the way into a writing room, likewise unoccupied in the morning and summoned for an interview was distinctly disquieting.

"Shields, where is my daughter?"

"Why, what do you mean?"

"Just what I said. Where is Celia? You've been seen with her leaving the apartment at four o'clock this afternoon. What have you done with her? Where is she now? Young man, you'll pay—"

Shields' expression changed from blank to indignation.

"You don't know what you're saying!" he exclaimed. "You're crazy. I didn't see Celia today! You don't—you can't mean she's gone!"

For answer Mitchell thrust out Celia's note. At the same time he continued threatening the driver and then started into the building.

It was not Jordan. The newcomer was middle-aged, heavily built. Barney Shields suddenly appeared.

"Excuse me," he said. "I'm anxious to see a man named Jordan who lives here. Do you know how I can find him?"

The stranger eyed Shields suspiciously. "If he lives here you'll find his name on the directory."

Shields and Mitchell followed into the vestibule. The other man opened a second door and disappeared. Before the door clicked shut Barney had inserted his toe in the opening.

"Get the apartment number," he said sharply. Mitchell read down the list of names.

"Here it is—24B."

They found the number on a second floor door. John Mitchell knocked.

"Who is it?" a man's voice called. Mitchell knocked again. The was a shuffling noise, then the door opened and Tod Jordan appeared.

"What do you want?" he demanded crossly.

Trade Goalie
Detroit, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Manager Jack Adams of the Detroit Falcons, National League hockey team, today announced the sale of Herbie Stuart, goalie, to the London, Ont., team of the International League. Stuart, goal tender for the Detroit Olympics, International League team, last year, refused to sign a contract this year calling for a $1,000 increase to play with the Falcons.

Manager Adams said that the London club had accepted Stuart in trade for Johnny Sorrell.

Hints On How To Keep Well by World Famed Authority

INSUFFICIENT PROTEINS IN DIET HARMS INFANTS

(This is one of a series of articles by Dr. Fishbein on nutrition of the child.)

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

The proteins contained in cow's milk, as well as in human milk, are divided into two main groups. The more valuable of these two proteins is the whey protein, because it represents more nearly the composition of the kind of protein in the body.

The other protein is casein or curd protein and, if this is given, larger amounts must be fed than in the case of whey protein in order to provide for building up the same amount of body protein.

As a contrast between the value of human milk and cow's milk, the total protein in human milk is almost 50 per cent whey protein whereas cow's milk is only 15 per cent whey protein. This discussion may appear to the average person to be somewhat complicated, but the results of the application of this knowledge to the feeding of the infant will be apparent to anyone.

If the child is receiving an insufficient amount of the right kind of protein in his diet, it grows slowly, its muscles become flabby, it is likely to develop frequent infections and to be anemic. Moreover, in case it does not receive the right proteins for a long period of time, it begins to develop swellings of the extremities and even pot belly, such as was characterized of the children in Europe who were starved during the World War.

Just as soon as the proper proteins are fed to such children, they begin to develop rapidly, the swellings disappear, and they improve tremendously.

There is relatively little danger of feeding slight excesses of protein because the human body is able to take care of slight excesses. However, great excesses lead to too much concentration of the blood and a lack of water in the system, so that the child develops a fever and symptoms of intoxication.

Of course, the average mother has no way of distinguishing between what are proper proteins and what are improper proteins. Of one thing she can be certain, the protein in mother's milk is a safe protein for the infant and the child that is fed on the breast for at least the first six months of life has a much better opportunity of growing healthily than one that is artificially fed, because of the danger that the artificial feeding may not be exactly what it ought to be.

A physician who has studied infant feeding carefully can prescribe a formula which will resemble mother's milk closely or can indeed develop a formula which will be exactly suited to the needs of the infant concerned. In preparing this formula he will make certain that the protein is the proper protein for the particular case.

YOUR CHILDREN

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

By the time a child is 4 or 5 years old his mother begins to get an insight into his personality. She views a picture of the garden she has planted. The sprouts are up, also a few weeds are blended in with other things.

The picture she now has tells a story, but although it is mostly her story, not all of it is.

Who knows the secrets of our deepest minds, those things that make each of us different from our neighbors? In spite of the claim of behaviorists that all children under like conditions from birth would have precisely in the same manner, that has not to be proved and personally I don't believe it. Heredity has the better argument so far. Not that heredity cannot be counterbalanced by handling to an enormous degree, but the fact remains that certain "natural" tendencies remain.

Two Main Classes

So this is also part of the picture the mother sees. The child is a composite assemblage of training, environment, and natural tendency.

The primary differences in children are many as far as disposition goes. The two great classes are not "good" and "bad" as we so glibly put it. Both are elastic expressions that deal with complexities and not all of Carnegie Library could supply books enough to decide the deep line between the two.

No, the most important divisions are to my mind the rather elastic ones of "introvert" and "extrovert." Or, of course, the mixture of the two, what we call "normal."

Many people are now familiar with these two expressions, they are so commonly used, but to those who do not know it will do to say roughly that the extrovert is one who enjoys life directly by the things he sees around him. People, events, objects, have a direct appeal. He is usually happy, hearty, strong-willed, a bit selfish, a go-getter, a leader.

The introvert is not less admirable than his extrovert brother, but this is a more complicated nature.

Introvert Is Sensitive

He enjoys things, too, but only as they appeal to him through his emotions. He analyzes everything in the world by his own feeling toward it. He is sensitive, less direct, often stands back and lets others impose on him, has no desire to be a leader, is inclined to an inferiority complex, and is often artistic.

He will bloom under kind, gentle treatment, but under rough, unkindly handling he is likely to break or warp into various kinds of complexes. He suffers mental agony upon the slightest provocation and cannot forget past unhappiness. Then he goes off into a dream world he builds up for himself and that is neither wholesome nor desirable.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF.

BY ALICIA HART
© 1930 by NEA SERVICE INC.

Nothing will get you into a party mood more quickly than to have folks say, "The minute you arrive: 'How grand you're looking tonight!' All of us wish, once in a while, that there were an Aladdin's lamp that would throw a roseate bloom across our face and leave it there until the evening has been made a genuine success."

Of course there isn't, but there are certain steps you can take to make yourself look more as if there were.

First of all, rest is a requisite. A half hour nap between work and your evening date does wonders. Before you get up, take a warm bath, as warm as you can stand it, if you like baths hot. Put a little fragrant bath salts into the water, use some scented soap and relax by staying in the tub a few minutes. Before you get in, cream your face thoroughly, and leave the cream on while you bathe.

Many Reliable Packs

Then try one of the face packs that beauticians have prepared for you. There are many kinds. Lily face packs, strawberry face packs, mud packs. Get only one that is put out by a reputable firm and follow directions faithfully. They take from 20 minutes to a half hour, usually.

Rest, absolutely relaxed, in a darkened room while you have the pack on your face. Do not set your alarm, if you can possibly have a member of the family wake you gently, instead of being rudely brought back to life by a harsh clock. But do try to sleep. Just dropping off relaxes your muscles and rests you more than you know.

When you awake, remove the pack, as per directions, and then cream your face or use some facial oil, performing the rite gently, with the consciousness that you are going to look beautiful tonight. After this oil is gently massaged into the face, and wiped off, use a perfumed stringent, or witch hazel, which is just as good. Pat the face gently. Then apply make-up.

Remember for your party mood

The flight promoter using Gene Tunney for $500,000 had the presence, at least, to put the sum in "round" numbers.

Check dandruff!

You, too, can say goodbye to hair-worries, if you'll learn this simple method of caring for the hair. It is known to hundreds of stage and screen stars; used by thousands of women and girls, who haven't time for laborious methods.

Sprinkle a little Danderine on your brush tonight. Then as you brush your hair you'll feel the soothing, toning effects.

For over 30 years, specialists have recommended Danderine; to dissolve the crust of dandruff; stop falling hair; tone the scalp, encourage the hair to grow long, silky and abundant.

The first application gives your hair new life and lustre; makes it softer; easier to manage; holds it like you arrange it. Evidence beyond doubt proves the benefits of its regular use.

Swiftest, Easiest Way To End Bilious Spell

When you neglect those first symptoms of constipation—bad breath, coated tongue, listlessness, the whole system soon suffers. Appetite lags. Digestion slows up. You become headachy, dizzy, bilious. It's easy to correct sluggish bowel action! Take a candy Cascarets tonight. See how quickly—and pleasantly—the bowels are activated. All the souring waste is gently propelled from the system. Regular and complete bowel action is restored.

Cascarets are made from pure cascara, a substance which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have Cascarets. 10c—Adv.

MAKE IT YOURSELF.

Children love to make Christmas presents for their mamas, if someone only will tell them what to do. Fritting jelly and preserve labels on ordinary white stickers is one little thing they can do and which will be useful and acceptable when done.

Get a couple of dozen white stickers, preferably without color around the edges. Let the children print the word, "Cherry," "Apple" or "Quince" in different ones and in different colored crayon, ink or paint.

If the children are especially active, you might suggest that they draw a tiny picture of the fruit they write the labels for, such as a little red apple on the stickers for apple jelly, or a cherry for cherry preserves.

Not only mother, but Aunt Jane, the neighbors, grandma or anyone who keeps house would find these little labels useful when preserving time comes again. And the cost is so little it is entirely negligible.

Cubs Expect Majors To Attack From Air

Champions Confident Their Line Will Repulse Invaders But Fear Rival's Vaunted Aerial Play; Ends To Have Unusually Important Role.

CAGLE LEARNS A LOT

The other day, in the list of football scores appeared this: "Tulane, 53, Mississippi A. & M. 0." We looked through several newspapers trying to find out how it happened. But few papers, outside the south, carried a story of the same.

The team that came out on the short end of that one is coached by a man whose name has been in the headlines for several years. Playing football he was an individual star whose exploits in the Army backfield were read by every football follower in the United States. His name is Christian K. Cagle.

This would be a grand spot to break forth with some philosophy about how fleeting is fame, were it not that Cagle is learning a whole lot and learning it swiftly, as coach at Mississippi A. & M., and he is taking his licking in the right spirit.

"I'll admit that when I was playing, I was concerned almost wholly with backfield play," Chris told New Orleans news hounds the other day. "It seems there is a line too."

Cagle made the admission with one of his friendly grins. He seems to be standing up pretty well under the reverse. Only 24 years old, he is in charge of a squad that consists of only fair material. He faces his job with no coaching experience. But he is game.

Cagle told the newspapermen that he was glad to note that his mates back at West Point had remembered Booth.

At tackle the Cubs will undoubtedly pin their hopes on the old reliable, Paul Perrotti and Roger Spencer, while the Majors have three very good men in Pete Conroy, Tony Tumensky and Charlie Lazarek with Art Cosco in reserve.

Did you see what they did to Booth? "You know last year we hadn't heard about Booth. After we scored 13 points in the Yale game, we started to rest. They put in Booth and before we knew what was going on, he helped to score the three touchdowns that beat us."

At guard both teams are strongly fortified. Each team has an ace, the Cubs in Tommy Happenny and the Majors in Jack Scully. Their work is expected to stand out conspicuously in the series. The Cubs also have Al Merrer, Pincus Lessner and Stuart Welles while the Majors have Fred Sheehan and Whitey Mullins among others.

Cagle was a senior at Southwestern Louisiana Institute when he met the girl who was to be his wife. It was in the spring and the girl came to the college dances.

To size up the two lines is a difficult matter. Offhand the Cubs' line appears to be a bit strong defensively, perhaps, but the Majors' line is expected to have the better offensive line. In this respect the Cubs have been woefully weak to date.

"I just became interested in her," says Cagle, "and dated her up for a couple of the dances. I had already agreed to go to West Point, but after I met her I kind of hoped the papers wouldn't go through. Finally I decided to go, and after a couple of years came back to Southwestern to coach. I stayed two years and then got married. The boys kept begging me to come back another year. I couldn't quit on them, and she told me to go ahead."

Between teams may gain ground out between the twenty yard stripes but once they penetrate within scoring distance, the resistance is bound to increase greatly. At least both teams have performed in this manner all season long, especially the Cubs. The champions have often taken the ball away from their opponents inside the ten yard line on downs—but they have also surrendered the pigskin in the same locale times too numerous to mention.

"When the storm broke I wired Mrs. Cagle to come to New York. When she got to New York there were 100 reporters asking her questions. She told them nothing."

Because of this defensive strength, one gathers the idea that the chances are three to one that whatever real progress either team makes will come either through the air, end wide end skirts or a "break." The Cubs apparently have the best punter in "Pop" Eagleson with Ding Farr in reserve. Most of Eagleson's kicks have been covering more than half the length of the gridiron. The Majors' best punter appears to be Tasker, the Meriden lad, but Captain Brunig Moske or even Tommy Meikle may be called upon for boots.

After the match, one of the roughest ever staged here, Sherry struck the referee several times before his handlers pulled him from the ring. Sherry appeared to have Sonnenberg in distress when the accidental fall was scored.

For years the north end has always depended upon a strong tackle smasher behind good interference, but this year their attack has been much more varied. Spectators at Hickey's Grove have been treated to a splendid exhibition of forward passing and it will be no surprise to see the Majors go into the air this year to give the Cubs a dose of their own medicine. In previous years the Cubs have always had the aerial advantage and used it to good advantage.

Sonnenberg defends his title again tonight at Hartford, meeting Stanley Staslak, giant Pole, at Foot Guard hall.

This year, however, the shoe seems to be on the other foot. The Cubs, meanwhile, have shown a weakness against bombardment from aloft and the Majors are expected to launch a determined overhead attack if they find the first floor resistance too strong. Kelley has been working frantically to bolster his defense against an attack from the air and considerable improvement was noticed in the last game, especially on the part of Eagleson.

don't seem to have much chance of winning considering the lack of offensive power displayed this season. If the Cubs can keep their no-score line and shove over a touchdown on the Majors, they will fight bitterly to hold off opponents. The Majors on the other hand will be satisfied as long as they win the first game and have hopes of crushing the Cubs when they get them over to Hickey's Grove a week later, thus ending the series.

The oldest player to participate in the town football series is believed to be Jack Scully of the Majors, although one could tell the fact from looking at him. Jack is said to be 36 years old. He is married and the father of five children. Scully plays guard and does a mighty fine job.

Army-Navy Agree Will Play Dec. 13

The Army decision was announced by Major General William R. Smith, superintendent of the Military Academy, after a conference with his athletic council. It makes possible the first service game since 1927 when the Army won by a score of 14 to 9 at the Polo Grounds.

SPORT SLANTS

In a crusading mood, Yale several years ago decided to stop the practice of scouting rival football teams. With such opponents as did not care to enter into a non-scouting agreement, the Ells refrained from participating in the "evil" themselves.

The series brings together two brothers, Pete and Tom Conroy, but it is understood that care will be exercised that they do not play on the same side of the opposing lines. Pete has the edge in weight, age and experience but his younger brother is taller and every bit as energetic.

The committee, headed by Grover A. Whalen, former police commissioner wire the newspapers: "It is believed it will be a mere matter of hour before the playing date can be arranged."

Thus the noble Yale experiment seems to have come to an abrupt end. Non-scouting was a beautiful theory so long as the Ells were winning football games with great consistency, as they were when T. A. Jones became altruistic about the subject.

Manager Ben Clune of the Cubs last night put to end a rumor that his team was not going to use its Providence players. They will positively appear with the Cubs," he declared.

Major General W. R. Smith, superintendent of the military academy telegraphed the naval academy yesterday the suggestion that the teams play in New York December 6.

While Yale has been pulling the cellar door down over its head, figuratively, Harvard scouts have swarmed about the Ells ramparts, hence scurrying back to Cambridge with information that helped account for the victories over the Blue in 1928 and 1929.

Many south end fans have expressed the opinion during the past few weeks that Al Williams, the Cub's star fullback from New London, hasn't been given the chance he deserves. Many feel he is the most dependable line plunger on the Cub team.

Rear Admiral Samuel S. Robison, Annapolis superintendent, replied that the Middies would welcome the game but that they were scheduled to play the University of Pennsylvania on December 6. He suggested November 29 or December 13.

Windham likewise has not been too impressive this season but in the last two games the team has shown a marked improvement. Coach Tom Callahan has been handicapped with injuries all season and "Nick" Twerty, husky lineman, will probably not see action on the week-end. Windham this year has an evenly balanced combination without an outstanding star.

The general feeling at the south end is that one reason why the Cubs haven't hit their 1929 stride this year is because they have no worthy successor to Stratton and Dahlquist. Booth, of a sloppy offensive, has been the result but the Cubs have high hopes of springing the biggest surprise in Manchester sport history in years by either tying or defeating the Majors Sunday.

San Angelo, Tex., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The king of the stallions, one of the last of the wild horses in western Texas, has a rope around his neck for the first time in fifteen years of life.

The giant bay, the only animal in the 25,800 acre pasture of J. H. Tippett at the foot of El Capitan Mountain, was captured this week after five cowboys had trailed him in relays for three days and three nights. The first time he was roped he bit the rope in two but the second time it looped around his neck he gave up after a struggle that covered half the mountain side.

Manchester is involved in one of the traditional football battles of the season tomorrow when its maroon jerseyed warriors move up to Willimantic to engage in gridiron combat with Windham High. Hartford and New Britain met in another very important schoolboy battle.

There is little choice between Manchester and Windham, one pick being about as good as the other. Last season Manchester drubbed its ancient rival 25 to 12 but its chances of repeating this triumph in such an impressive manner is not very good, owing to the loss of most of last year's great team through graduation.

Coach Tom Kelley's charges need a victory tomorrow to complete a season of three wins, three losses and one tie. A defeat would put the losses ahead four to two. Both teams annually put to this contest and it should be a battle well worth traveling the intervening 19 miles to see.

Although Manchester's record to date is not over and above impressive, the team nevertheless has made a satisfactory showing considering the wholesale loss of players. No team has been able to score more than two touchdowns against the strong Kelley defense and most of the games have been pretty even affairs. Kelley will start his regular team against Windham.

Windham likewise has not been too impressive this season but in the last two games the team has shown a marked improvement. Coach Tom Callahan has been handicapped with injuries all season and "Nick" Twerty, husky lineman, will probably not see action on the week-end. Windham this year has an evenly balanced combination without an outstanding star.

graduation. He served as director of the Monopoly Bureau and as vice minister of communications under the late Count Goto.

In the Okuma ministry Hamaguchi served as vice minister of finance and held the portfolio of minister of finance in the Kato ministry. In the administration of Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki he served as minister of home affairs. Hamaguchi became premier of Japan on July 2, 1929.

Although police were silent regarding their questioning of the assassin and his newspapers to publish details of the investigation, it appeared Sagoya merely was another demented or misguided youth such as frequently appear on the Japanese political stage.

Sagoya's connections indicated he possibly had been affected by ultra-patriotic ideas as the result of propaganda which described proponents of the London naval treaty as enemies of the fatherland. However, there was no indication any responsible element among Hamaguchi's political foes was implicated.

Premier Popular

Despite the hard times which political opponents and some business elements ascribed to Hamaguchi's policy of drastic retrenchment as a means of restoring the nation to a sound economic basis, the premier generally is popular.

Premier Hamaguchi's eldest son, Takehiko, is a member of the New York staff of the Bank of Japan.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE TO JOIN HER SISTER

Miss Graham was rushed into an automobile and rushed her to the Memorial hospital where everything possible from a medical standpoint was being done this morning to save her life. Her mouth and throat were burned very badly and were also swollen. She was in great pain when admitted.

No Change

There was no material change in Miss Graham's condition late this afternoon. The woman was semi-conscious when admitted to the hospital this morning but she was conscious later in the day.

The attending physician admitted that chances for her recovery were slim owing to the severity of the poison and her advanced age. Morphine was administered to help relieve the intense burning pain. If the patient is able to survive the next 24 hours, the doctor said there might be some hope for recovery.

Miss Graham who is 72 years old has no near relatives except her brother, it is understood. Also living at the Graham home are six daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Graham, Isabel, Mildred, Lila, Dorothy, Doris and Mabel. Miss Graham was alone in the house when the suicide attempt was first discovered.

SEN. SMOOT TO OPPOSE CUT IN INCOME TAX

Washington, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Chairman Smoot of the Senate finance committee today announced he would oppose any effort to continue the emergency income tax reduction granted last year for another year.

Senator Smoot, whose voice goes a long way in fiscal affairs, asserted that a continuation of the tax cut would mean a Treasury deficit and he added "the country will not stand for it."

He said the government would even be required next year to use the payments of foreign war debts to balance its books, thus requiring that the auction of the public debt be confined solely to the sinking fund.

Although President Hoover and Secretary Mellon last summer expressed confidence that the tax cut would be continued next year, the pessimistic attitude of Senator Smoot and Senator Reed, Republican, of Pennsylvania, also a member of the finance committee, is believed at the Capitol to foreshadow a recommendation by the administration against continuing the one-half per cent rate of tax on incomes, which was in effect this year.

Newton, Wellesley, Natick and Watertown. The stranger bought them sandwiches at Natick, the boy said, and later stopped at an Allston filling station. At Harvard Square, Cambridge, he said, he was given 50 cents and told to go home.

He said that the stranger told him that "your sister and I are going to the movies tonight."

An attendant at the Allston filling station told police that he remembered the car and that the driver was about 20 years old and well dressed. He had considerable money with him, the filling station attendant said.

The girl was described as pretty and appearing older than 14. She wore a gray raincoat, black skirt, and white shirtwaist. The car, which she disappeared was a coach-type automobile of one of the small makes, police said.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Gerald P. Nettleton, 20 year old Toledo aviator, took off at 7:46 a. m., today or Newark where he will start his attempt to lower the east to west junior transcontinental flight record. A heavy haze delayed his take-off.

Nettleton owns the monocoque in which he will try for the record recently established by Wiley Boynton of Lexington, Mass. He is being backed in his venture by Alfred Kochs, Toledo merchant.

The youthful aviator has 350 hours of solo flight to his credit and hopes to make the flight from Newark to Los Angeles in less than 24 hours.

SHOT BY INSANE MAN

Boston, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Hanna Zackrisson, 55, received a bullet in her chest when she opened the door of her home to admit a man today. She pursued her assailant across the lawn where she collapsed.

A neighbor Benjamin Erickson took up the chase after seeing the woman fall and caught Carl Zackrisson, 54, who police said was a brother-in-law of the wounded woman and formerly an inmate of a hospital for the insane. He was held by police as a suspicious person. Doctors expect Mrs. Zackrisson to live.

GOVERNOR ISSUES HIS PROCLAMATION

Hartford, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Governor John H. Trumbull today issued a proclamation for Thanksgiving Day (Thursday, November 27), citing the current depression and the fact that the first Thanksgiving originated with those "who had only the barest necessities, as follows:

"Since the first Thanksgiving Day, more than 300 years ago, this nation has marched forward to a wealthy and power then undreamed of. The stability of our government, the extent of our resources, and the intrinsic soundness of our economic structure are now such that there can be no real uncertainty as to the years ahead.

"None of this has been attained without intervals of hardship and distress, many of them far more disturbing than the business readjustments from which we are now emerging. Such times have but served to stimulate inventors' ingenuity, to develop social functions and to build up all those spiritual values which thrive most persistently in the face of difficulties.

"It is, therefore, in deep gratitude, not only for our many material blessings, but also and especially for our national heritage of energy and faith, and for a new challenge to service and progress, that I designate Thursday, the 27th day of November next, as a day of public thanksgiving, calling upon all of the people of the State to give thanks to God on that day, in their homes and churches for these and other gifts of His providence. It would be well for all of us to recall that the first Thanksgiving found a year of hardship rather than plenty; that it originated with men and women who had only the barest necessities of life for which to be thankful; that it was born, not of abundance, but of hope and hard work and an abiding confidence in the future of such as fear God and take their own part."

The population of Italy before the war was 34,708,000; France, 39,601,509; Germany, 64,925,993. The latest population figures for these countries are: Italy, 40,796,000; France, 40,745,874, and Germany, 62,348,782.

MERIDEN MANUFACTURER KILLS SELF NEAR HOME

Meriden, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Reginald P. Tracy, president and general manager of Manning-Bowman and Company, electrical appliance manufacturer, was found dead in a playhouse to the rear of his palatial home shortly after noon today, with a bullet in the right temple.

Mr. Tracy left a note explaining his act to members of the family but they would not make its contents public. It is thought that worries resulting from the stock market crash and business troubles incidental with the depression prompted the act.

He was about 45 years old and leaves his wife and three children. He was a director of the Meriden National Bank and member of the Home Club and Highland Country Club.

CONVICT LABOR RULING

Washington, Nov. 14.—(AP)—New regulations on imports will place the burden of proof that convict labor did not enter into their production upon the shipper.

The Customs Bureau is busy on the revision. The question of convict-labor-made goods was brought up when the Treasury temporarily barred imports of lumber and pulp wood from Russia. This action several months ago was rescinded after hearings at which it was not conclusively shown the material had been produced by convict labor. Manufacturers and producers have charged that other Russian products were produced to an extent by convict labor and were being sold in this country at a cost less than that of production.

The new regulations probably will be ready for the signature of Secretary Mellon within a month.

DRIVER EXONERATED

Norwich, No. 14.—(AP)—Thomas Muller of Pawtucket, R. I., was freed of all criminal liability in the death of Rebecca Leach, 50, of New London in a finding announced today by Coroner E. G. McKay.

Death was due to internal injuries when the woman was struck by Muller's car on October 25 in New London. The coroner announced he found Muller was traveling at a moderate rate of speed and that the woman walked into his bar.

And a gain of 3,708,343 loaves proves it!

BOND BREAD can now be bought in either a sliced loaf or in an unsliced loaf, and sliced Bond Bread is now the choice of many who had been using other brands of sliced bread. They tell us there are two big reasons why they like Bond Bread better:

First—Bond Bread is so firm. Each slice is more substantial.

Second—The flavor of sliced Bond Bread is better than the flavor of any other bread except Bond Bread in the uncut loaf.

It is the same flavor that has made Bond Bread outsell all other loaves in the world. That it is more popular than ever is proved by the fact that, so far this year, consumers have bought 3,708,343 MORE loaves than last year.

You may buy sliced bread for convenience, but you no longer need put up with inferior flavor now that you can get sliced Bond Bread, as well as Bond Bread in the uncut loaf.

English Poet, Once Famous, Now Pays Price Of Oblivion For Verse Belittling Women

BY MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Writer

London.—Because of one short poem he wrote more than 20 years ago, Sir William Watson, who was once hailed as one of England's greatest poets, is living today as an ostracized, forgotten old man, buried in obscurity such as has seldom overtaken any recognized man of letters.

His fame grew fast, and when Lord Tennyson died in 1892 the Illustrated London News wired him asking for a commemorative poem. He locked himself up without food, drink or tobacco for 50 hours and produced "Lacrimae Musarum," which critics hailed as a far finer poem than the one Tennyson himself had written on the death of the Duke of Wellington.

Gladstone seriously considered making him poet laureate. His fame endured for years, and until he wrote "The Woman With the Serpent's Tongue" in 1909 he was one of England's most prominent literary figures.

Now, however, he lives in poverty and obscurity, forgotten by the London where once his name was almost a household word.

position he occupied in English literature in his youth. Born in 1858, the son of a well-to-do Yorkshire business man, he published his first poems in the Liverpool papers, and created a sensation with a book of verse entitled "Wordsworth's Grave."

More than 30 years ago Kipling published his poem about "The Widow at Windsor." This irreverent and outspoken reference to Queen Victoria cost Kipling much popularity, and is popularly supposed to have vented his being named as poet laureate.

were to fight, and suggested that they put on their bout in a ring, with heavyweight pugilists as officials. When Sir William landed in New York reporters besieged him, and he was widely quoted.

According to one version, he said that the poem was not a picture of anybody in particular, but was a slam at women gossips in general. According to another version, he said that it was a composite picture of a prominent Englishwoman and her step-daughter. At all events, upper class London was convinced that its first guess was right, and Sir William was ostracized.

When he returned to England he found the social world silently boycotting him. His name and his works were never even mentioned. The sales of his books fell off. He was knighted in 1917, it is true, but the uproar caused by his poem killed all chances of his being named poet laureate.

Some years ago the government, learning that he was living in poverty, gave him a pension of $500 a year, and a little later added another $500 to it; and the $1000 a year income gained in this way is his only income today. He lives in a little bungalow—loaned to him by a friend—with his wife and his two daughters, Rhona and Geraldine. He has just recovered from influenza but cannot afford to go to the south of Europe to complete his cure.

His bitterest disappointment probably came not long ago when Frederick MacDonell, a friend of his and named John Masefield poet laureate.

KIPLING ALSO PAID PRICE FOR POEM

The way in which Sir William Watson cut off his own popularity with his poem, "The Woman With the Serpent's Tongue," recalls a similar though less disastrous episode in the career of another famous English poet—Rudyard Kipling.

CHEVROLET INTRODUCES NEW CAR TOMORROW

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Definite assurance that Chevrolet will introduce a new car for 1931 on Saturday was revealed here today during the staging by Chevrolet factory officials of the first of fifty dealer meetings to be held in the next five weeks throughout the country.

Included in a carload of equipment brought in for the meeting was a new car substantially bigger than the current model, and extensively changed in appearance.

Although the meeting was closed to the public, it was learned that H. J. Klingler, vice-president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, who attended the meeting here, told the 500 dealers and associated bankers in attendance at the City Auditorium that the car would be publicly announced the coming Saturday, and that, despite its increased size and improved appearance, it would be priced considerably below current levels.

Dramatic incidents attended the presentation of the car. It was trucked under canvas from the freight shed to the stage of the Auditorium, and there, boxed in by velvet drapes and under a flood of spotlights, disclosed to the audience.

A burst of applause greeted the unveiling of the car, and when the announcement of new lower prices was made, a wild cheering dealer group interrupted the proceedings for several minutes.

The car is longer than the present Chevrolet, and changes and refinements are so extensive that it has a decided "big car" appearance, one dealer reported.

If the sentiment among the dealers here is any criterion, the new car ought to prove the most successful product in the history of the company.

WEEK-END SPECIALS

New York, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The Stock Market worked irregularly higher at the opening today with marked strength in the tobacco shares. American Tobacco "B" and Liggett & Meyers "B" each gained more than a point, American T. and T. and Case rose 3/4, Eastman and Corn Products 1/2, U. S. Steel opened up 1/4. Worthington Pump, nevertheless lost 1/4. Radio and United Aircraft 1/2.

The market soon encountered profit taking on its three-day advance, and by the end of the first half hour several pivotal shares were off 1 to 2 points. Good support appeared at moderate concessions, however. In view of the fact that the market had succeeded in closing higher on three successive days for the first time in three months, commission house advisers suggested that some reaction might be expected.

The overnight news was generally regarded as favorable, particularly the reduction of $219,000,000 in brokers' loans to a record low for the present tabulation, which was started in 1928. News that the copper industry planned to restrict output to consumption was also regarded as constructive, although no intimation was given as to what action would be taken to reduce the heavy stocks on hand.

Radio, after opening off 1/2, regained its loss and sold up a fraction. Shares losing a point or more included Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Steel, Paramount, Loews, Fox, Westinghouse, General Electric, North American, American Telephone, American Can, Air Reduction, Dupont, and the Erie Railroad.

STILL NO TRACES OF LOST SPORTSMAN

Plan To Have 800 Woodsmen Aid In Search For Missing Bay State Man.

Skowegan, Me., Nov. 14.—(AP)—While eight hundred woodsmen prepared today to cover 400 square miles of wooded land in the hunt for Mitchell B. Kaufman, missing Massachusetts manufacturer, Sheriff Elton H. Markham said that in nine days searches had failed to find anything that indicated the wealthy man had gone more than a mile or so from the point where he left four hunting companions on the west side of Crocker Pond, near Jackson.

Kaufman was last seen by his companions about one o'clock the afternoon of Nov. 5 when he left them with one guide along a tote road and entered the woods with another guide to try to drive out a deer.

Three shots were fired in the vicinity according to the story related by the companions to Sheriff Markham. One was fired by the guide on the tote road, a second by one of the four hunters, but the third which seemed to come from the direction where Kaufman's tracks were later found, has been unexplained.

Reports that tracks of Kaufman or other indications of his presence in other sections of the woods had been discovered were said by Markham to have proved unfounded.

He said hunters which had followed the tracks of Kaufman's estimated hunting boots from a spot about one-half mile from the tote road back into the woods a quarter of a mile to a beaver dam across a small brook, had refused to take the scent or trail from a set of discarded flashlight batteries and an empty cigarette package, both of which friends thought had been thrown away by Kaufman.

W. C. T. U. TO STAGE DRY DEMONSTRATION

Houston, Tex., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president, and other high officials of the Women's Christian Temperance Union decided at an executive conference here today, it was learned, to participate in a huge dry rally at Washington on or about the opening date of the new Congress Dec. 1.

The rally will be designed, according to an official source, to "show the dry members of Congress there is a lot of dry strength and to hearten the dry members."

Another subject the executive committee discussed was the forthcoming world meeting of the W.C.T.U. at Toronto on Jan. 8. Fifteen hundred women from the National W.C.T.U. will attend the meeting, it was decided.

A telegram from President Hoover asking Mrs. Boole to express his "cordial greetings" to the annual convention of the W.C.T.U. here was received today.

CUSTOMS MEN SENTENCED

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Three United States Customs border patrolmen indicted in connection with a wide-spread smuggling conspiracy on the Canadian border were sentenced here today to terms in the Atlanta Federal prison, ranging from a year and a day to a year and eight months, and one of them was fined $2,000.

Those sentenced by Federal Judge Frederick H. Bryant were: Weldon J. Cheatman, one year and eight months, and fined $2,000; Colin J. Morris, one year and a day; Charles E. Cooleman, one year and two months.

OLVANEY TESTIFIES

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—George W. Olvany, former leader of Tammany Hall, testified today before the Special Grand Jury about any knowledge he might have had about the appointment of former Magistrate George F. Ewald in 1927.

Mr. Olvany signed a waiver of immunity and was before the Grand Jury for 48 minutes. When he emerged he declined to discuss his testimony, but said he had been subpoenaed to appear as a witness Tuesday at the trial of Martin J. Healy and Thomas T. Tommamey, who were indicted with Mr. and Mrs. Ewald on office buying charges.

BURKE REARRESTED

New London, Nov. 14.—(AP)—William Burke, alias William Rowe, of unknown address who was released from the county jail here before police officials obtained information that he is wanted for violation of Auburn prison parole, was again in custody of local authorities today.

A state trooper picked up Burke's trail and overtook him in Lebanon yesterday after the parole violator had served a 30-day term here for vagrancy. A parole officer from Auburn prison is on his way here to take charge of the captive.

Use of bicycles has increased steadily in Switzerland in recent years, until the ratio now is about one for every five inhabitants.

PEASANTS IN RUSSIA ARE STAGING REVOLT

London, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Fighting between peasants and communist forces resulted in much bloodshed in the regions of Ostroy and Opotokha, near the Lettish-Russian frontier, was reported in Reuter dispatches from Riga today.

The population of a number of villages was reported in the Riga press to have revolted after attempts had been made to enforce the seizure of corn and collectivization of farms.

8 SAILORS RESCUED

Puerto Mont, Chile, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Reports reaching here today from the Island of Chiloe said eight sailors were rescued when the Chilean bark Laura foundered on Monday with a loss of sixteen lives.

First word of the disaster reached this city last night and two small steamers were dispatched to search for survivors. The ship had been caught for two days in a furious gale.

The ship had a registry of about 2,000 tons and carried several passengers in addition to her crew of sixteen.

Wife of a prominent New York playwright lost a $10,000 bracelet. This will give her husband of course, opportunity to create a scene.

New York is the leading manufacturing city in the United States.

Manchester's Needy Cases

Case No. 5
Case No. 5 in Manchester's Welfare program consists of a man and wife and two children. The father is unemployed and there is an urgent need of food. Food in all of the local cases is always acceptable. Most of the families contain from two to 10 children and growing children are always hungry. With little coming in to feed these hungry mouths, there is always a demand for food.

An especial need at this time is clothing for children from the age of one to 12 years. There has been a fine response to the Herald Needy Cases as carried each night in the columns of the paper, but the major part of the clothing contributions has been for grown-ups. The weather just at present is mild and a bit unseasonable but a change is expected at any time. When that comes there will be suffering in the ranks of the kiddies that as yet are not supplied with warm underclothing and woollens for cold weather.

In many homes there is children's clothing stored away that may never be used. There is no more acceptable time to contribute such material than the present. The value cannot be measured in dollars and cents but in the comfort and help given in a time of unprecedented distress. Look over those closets and bureaus today and make some youngster happy.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The arrest of all men patrons found with liquor in their possession in raided resorts was ordered today by Lewis J. Tutt, prohibition administrator for New Jersey.

He said they would be held under $500 bond as material witnesses. Tutt said male patrons found with liquor before them at tables and bars would be held for questioning. If sufficient police vans could not be obtained to get them to headquarters, Tutt said, taxicabs would be commandeered.

Holding eight persons, a circular unsinkable boat is propelled by paddles, has been invented.

LANDSLIDE'S TOLL 100

Lyons, France, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Three workmen were injured today by falling masonry as they labored on Fourviers Hill in an effort to dig out the bodies of upwards of 100 persons buried under the debris of an overwhelming landslide early yesterday morning.

The authorities decided to use dynamite to demolish the shaky walls of buildings still standing in the zone and menacing the rescue work.

A wide area about the section has been evacuated in fear of further landslides.

The space under the great dome of the hospital Hotel Dieu has been transformed into a mortuary chapel to receive the bodies as they are recovered. Only five bodies thus far have been recovered but it is known that between 60 and 100 persons are buried under the ruins.

ARREST BOOZE TOTERS

Newark, N. J., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The arrest of all men patrons found with liquor in their possession in raided resorts was ordered today by Lewis J. Tutt, prohibition administrator for New Jersey.

DRY AGENT TO QUIT
New Haven, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Edwin S. Raffie, prohibition agent in charge of the New Haven district, today said his resignation which has been sent to Robert L. Sengle, deputy administrator for Connecticut was based on desire to take another position. He has served eight years. He said he was not going to the West Haven police department. Mr. Raffie said he was "fed up" on enforcement work, that it had become unpleasant and he simply wanted to quit having anything to do with it.

Talkie Version of 'Tol'able David' Is One of Year's Ten Best Movies

BY DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Writer

Hollywood, Nov. 14.—"Tol'able David" has been brought to the silver screen again, this time as a talking picture. And unless we are greatly mistaken it will be classed among the 10 best films of 1930 when the critics start picking them next month.

Some years ago, Inspiration Pictures made "Tol'able David" with Richard Barthelmess. That production still is remembered as one of the best ever put on the screen and it made a star out of Barthelmess. In fact, Dick was so good in it that he refused to play in the talking version because he feared he would not be able to equal his previous performance. And he was smart in declining the role because he was so well liked before that nothing he could do today would be as good as the eyes of the public.

Replacing Barthelmess in the title role is Richard Cromwell, young Los Angeles artist, who makes his first appearance on the screen in this picture. He does some great work, too, far better than one would expect from a novice. If he can continue at the pace he set in this picture Cromwell already is as good as a star.

But the Columbia studios, producers of this film, will do well to exercise great caution in casting him for his next two or three productions. They are the important ones and the ones that will determine his future.

Beery Also Pleases
Sharing acting honors with Cromwell is Noah Beery, who portrays the villainous Luke Beery, always a fine actor, does exceptionally well in this picture. And also does George Duryea in the role of Cromwell's older brother. It is the best work George has done in many moons and should be instrumental in showing him several steps up the film ladder. Joan Peera, whom we have praised before, does all that could be expected in a thankless role of the girl who has little to do. As far as we could determine, this bit of celluloid entertainment is flawless. Every scene means something and they build beautifully to the climax which is a terrific fight between Beery and young Cromwell. It's a great picture and will do a tremendous business.

Another of this winter's pictures you don't want to miss is Gary Cooper's latest, "Morocco," a story of the French Foreign Legion in Morocco. Gary is supported by Marlene Dietrich, German actress, who makes her first American appearance, and Adolphe Menjou.

The Old Triangle

The story is one of those triangular affairs with two men in love with the same woman. Cooper is a private in the Foreign Legion. Menjou is an extremely wealthy man-about-town. And both are in love with Miss Dietrich, a cabaret entertainer. However, she favors Gary and the night before he is to leave for battle she offers to run away with him if he will desert.

They make their plans and then Gary changes his mind and decides to go with his company, believing that the girl will be much happier with Menjou, who can give her every luxury. Miss Dietrich then consents to marry Menjou but during their engagement dinner she hears the Legion returning and runs out to see if Gary is with them. Learning that he has been left behind wounded she tells Menjou that she must go to him at once.

"Morocco" brings to the screen a new Gary Cooper. Instead of the serious, bashful youth you have known in the past you will see a happy-go-lucky soldier who cares for nothing. And Marlene Dietrich comes in the closest to being like Greta Garbo of anyone we have seen yet except, of course, Greta herself. She is fascinating and intriguing—but she shouldn't sing. Menjou is just Adolphe Menjou, a thoroughly sophisticated and polished actor.

The regular meeting of the board of county commissioners will be held Saturday, Nov. 15 in the Tolland County House.

POLICEMAN THREATENED

Chicago, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Police-man Joseph Keating of the state's attorney's staff is concerned about the brief message, painted in white on a fence facing his window which greeted him when he got up from bed the other morning. It read: "Keating is Next."

Investigators said they believed it was a warning that an attempt would be made on his life to prevent him from testifying for the prosecution in the state's case against William (Three-Fingered Jack) White accused of slaying a policeman in a suburban tavern a few years ago. Keating has been busy gathering evidence for the state. He declined, however, the offer of a special police guard.

The moralist who pointed out that you can't do things in halves and succeeded, failed to take into consideration, apparently, the case of a good football team.

Mr. and Mrs. Lathrop West, Hoyt Hayden and Miss Esther Westcott are to attend the Twentieth Annual Convention Tolland County Council of Religious Education held in Andover today, Nov. 14.

West; Gate Keeper, John Bowers; Ceren, Alice West; Pomona, Helen Wilcox; Flora, Mrs. Hoyt Hayden; Lady assistant steward, Frances Bushnell; Executive committee for three years, Rupert West. Rev. George Brown, Mrs. Brown and their son, James of Mapleville, R. I. were recent guests of relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Franklyn DeHaven who have spent the summer in Tolland returned to their New York apartment Wednesday.

Miss Madeline Blanchard of Hartford is spending the week end with Miss Hope West of Snipsic District.

YALE-PRINCETON IN 54TH CLASH SINCE 1873 START

Tigers Biggest Underdog In Recent Years; Several Other Important Games In the East.

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Rapidly approaching the grand finale of the eastern football season for tomorrow offers a double-barreled program of important intercollegiate and traditional games.

In point of tradition and color, the 54th meeting between Yale and Princeton in Palmer Stadium yields to none. These two members of the one-time "Big Three" have been football foes since 1873, but seldom before has a Princeton eleven been so decided an underdog.

Harvard, as usual, battles Holy Cross in its last encounter before the Yale fray and the Crimson will need to be at full strength to turn back the Crusaders. Cornell and Dartmouth meet in another outstanding game with the Indians from Hanover unbeaten so far. Colgate meets Syracuse in another old-fashioned rivalry contest. Brown faces Columbia and Lehigh and Rutgers clash in another trio of games that bring together old foes. New York University and Georgetown have met only twice before, but their quarrel has developed into one of the most closely contested rivalries on the season's slate. Fordham, boasting an untied and undefeated record, should have no trouble with St. Mary's.

Of the nine intercollegiate games carded, most interest will attach to Penn's battle with Georgia Tech; and Navy's defense at Baltimore against Southern Methodist's Fordham passing attack; and Fordham's duel with St. Mary's, a formidable aggregation from California beaten only once in two years. The Army takes on Kentucky Wesleyan and Villanova meets Oglethorpe. Three eleven carry eastern banners into the middlewest—Pitt clashes with Ohio State at Columbus, Boynton College meets Loyola and Penn State attempts a comeback against Iowa.

Among the smaller college games Williams hopes to achieve another "Little Three" championship by turning back Amherst.

Hanover, N. H.—One ache for Eddie Toothacker may upset all of Dartmouth's plans for the Cornell game. If Toothacker's injured knee keeps him out of action, Bill McCall will have to be used as relief quarterback, instead of starting at a halfback post.

Cambridge—Harvard intends to "shoot the works" against Holy Cross tomorrow with a double object in view. Coach Arnold Houbert thinks it will be necessary to use his best players and his complete array of plays to beat the Crusaders, and it will give the team a good rehearsal for the Yale game.

Worcester—The Holy Cross players who oppose Harvard Saturday shouldn't be troubled by stadium fright. Eight of the men scheduled to start the game played against Harvard last year.

Princeton—Bill Roper, Princeton coach, put over a little surprise on the fans this week but they all agree that his final decision was right. Ray Howson, fullback and star punter who has not drilled all week, was named to start the Yale game. His long kicks play an important part in the Tiger defense.

New Haven—When Coach Mal Stevens of Yale makes a plan, he sticks to it. His early season idea was to start McLennan at quarterback and hold Albie Booth in reserve. And now that McLennan has recovered from his injuries, he has been chosen to start the Princeton game, with Booth on the side lines.

College Aid Needed To Feed Unemployed

American colleges have been called upon to play football games to help the poor. A few, an amazingly small number, have responded. The majority have refused, pointing out that there are certain rules which prohibit such contests.

This is not an attempt to put the colleges on the spot. College football is no more to blame for poverty than is professional baseball or golf or tennis or any other game. The move for charity games might just as well have been started during the regular league baseball season. Then why wasn't it? Perhaps the close approach of winter's hardships is the only reason why the need for charity suddenly has loomed so large.

The colleges, of course, are in no way responsible for what we call "hard times," even though the public chooses to support football in a pretty big way, while there are a great number of unemployed. But it is our hope that in reply to this appeal for assistance the colleges do not resort to that old irrefutable answer: "Am I my brother's keeper?"

Such an attitude would not be characteristic of American colleges. They are part and parcel of our life. From humble beginnings they have advanced by dint of pioneering sacrifice and toil until they are a vital requirement in the American structure.

Their football is one of the public's best-liked recreations. College football is being supported even in these days when other sports fail to command the great attention they used to enjoy.

College football has been built, with public help, into a mighty machine that is capable of turning out millions of dollars with one revolution of the huge motor. This great bears trying for a secondary reaction to machinery at this moment could be put in motion for the relief of the stricken poor at the cost of not one cent!

This is an emergency, unless it is no longer an emergency when there are thousands of homes where bread is but a memory. There is no need to paint for our great teachers a picture showing perhaps the deathbed of a starving baby, a bleak tenement, or to describe the pinched faces of the poor. The colleges are aware that there are thousands of unemployed, and that when people are earning no money with which to purchase life's necessities, they are not having exactly an uproarious time of it.

Rules have been forgotten in other emergencies. When the red horse of war raged across the face of the earth, patriotism burst in a united flame, searing away petty differences and opinions in the interest of defense. This time perhaps is not as taut or terrible as wartime, but it still must be considered an emergency, also the other destroying forces of Hunger, Disease and Death are the playmates of prosperity.

The machinery for turning out a floodtide of dollars for the precious task of charity stands ready to be turned, at no cost whatever to the colleges. Rules, traditions and precedents are the only brakes holding this machine in check.

If the colleges deem the rules greater than this emergency, there is no argument that possibly can refute their reply to this call for help. In conclusion, the colleges, of course, are teachers of our youth. Just exactly what kind of teaching is this?

Washington—(AP)—While America's business stake in southeast India is jeopardized by the political disturbance, government economists see possible benefits eventually accruing to the United States from the boycotts instituted by the Indian nationalists.

It is quite possible, the economists say, that the movement of the nationalists, regardless of its outcome, may result in India seeking more of its import necessities from countries other than Great Britain.

American trade department of commerce observers say, is only partially sharing the handicaps which the Indian merchants sought to impose on British trade.

While the boycotts have been nominally directed against all foreign goods, the direct animus has been against British products. In fact, statistics during recent months show that while British imports into India have declined sharply, those from other countries, especially Germany, Japan and the United States, have increased somewhat.

Business in India now, however, is described as "stagnant," with little or no hope for great improvement in the near future.

Our exports to India consist largely of kerosene oil and specialties such as automobiles, sewing machines, typewriters and cigars. Most of these are luxuries which only a comparatively small number can afford.

In 1929 our exports to India were valued at $35,360,000. The United States imported from India that year products valued at $149,332,000.

FEEDING THE JOBLESS

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—New York's unemployment committee headed by former Governor Alfred E. Smith sent 15 truckloads of foodstuffs today to provide immediate aid to the city's 12,500 neediest families.

Distribution continued throughout the day from strategic centers where the want had been found most pressing.

Several hundred emergency cases were supplied last night.

At the West 104th street police station there were about 400 persons in line at noon today waiting for packages of food. Each package contained potatoes, a box of macaroni, half pound of coffee, six eggs, a cabbage and a loaf of bread.

MASONIC HALL BOMBED

Bucharest, Nov. 14.—(AP)—A bomb exploded in the premises of the Great National Masonic Lodge in the center of the city today. A second bomb failed to explode.

Political opponents were suspected. The president of the Free Masons is Prince George Valentine Libescu and it was thought that he was to have been a victim.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The Stock Market maintained its more cheerful temper today, although it had been wearied by the exertions of a three-day advance.

Profit taking and short selling by bears trying for a secondary reaction to machinery at this moment could be put in motion for the relief of the stricken poor at the cost of not one cent!

A slow but broad advance carried a long list of shares 1 to 3 points above yesterday's final prices. Such shares as U. S. Steel, American Telephone, General Electric and American Can sold off about a point in the early trading, but these losses were converted into net gains of a point or more. Shares advancing 2 to 3 points included American Water Works, American Tobacco, Union Pacific, Consolidated Gas, Granby Copper, Woolworth, New York Central, Goodyear, Firestone Preferred, Air Reduction, Eastman and Liggett and Myers B.

After the extensive recovery from the low levels of Monday, the advance lost much of its vigor. Trading was in light volume. In the copper, particularly, the advance slowed down. Copper metal, nevertheless, was reported sold as high as 11 cents, and rumors of an agreement to reduce production by 20,000 tons a month received confirmation. Even at 11 cents, however, copper miners' profits are small, and it is felt in trade circles that it may take some time to reduce the burdensome stocks above ground to normal proportions.

The most reassuring item in the day's news was probably the rumble of $219,000,000 in brokers loans for the trading week ended Tuesday. If the recent selling was due in a large measure to the necessity of cleaning out impaired accounts, this huge drop in loans might indicate that particular phase had been about completed. This further reduced the loan figure to $2,235,000,000, the lowest in the four years that the Federal Reserve tabulation has been kept, and less than one-third of the total of September, 1929. In connection with this deflation, it is notable that many stocks are now selling at a level where they can be bought outright for what it cost to buy on margin 14 months ago.

The weekly bank statements indicated that the loans on security collateral by New York banks to others than brokers again increased moderately. This is open to various interpretations, and some observers feel that it indicates purchases of securities by strong interests. The statements also showed that the Federal Reserve had added about $21,000,000 to its holdings of bills. Inasmuch as there has been a moderate scarcity of bills lately, this was regarded as possibly having some special significance, and one theory advanced was that sterling bills had been purchased to support the exchange rate and prevent embarrassment to the Bank of England by keeping the rate above the gold point.

Call money remained at 2 per cent with plenty available at substantial concessions in the outside market. With credit abundant, and the Stock Market having apparently stabilized itself, Wall Street is now awaiting improvement in the bond market. Any substantial recovery in stocks would normally require a pickup in bonds.

Consumption of crude rubber by United States manufacturers in October totaled to 27,271 tons, an increase of 8 per cent over September, the Rubber Manufacturers Association reports. In previous years there has been virtually no change in the consumption for October as compared with September. Stocks on hand Oct. 31 totaled 184,701 tons, an increase of 9 per cent over stocks at the end of September and compared with 82,483 tons at the end of Oct. last year.

SPANISH FLIERS KILLED
Madrid, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Two aviators were killed and another severely injured today when two planes collided over the Quatro Vientos aviation field.

David Saez, a civilian instructor, and Eulogio Martin, a soldier student, together in one of the planes, apparently were killed instantly as their ship crashed from 1,000 feet.

It had collided with a plane in which Lieutenant Austin Cobar was at the controls with Lieutenant Buenaventura Porro as a passenger. The two officers floated to earth under their parachutes, but Porro broke a leg as he landed.

The American Red Cross is one of the greatest institutions of the United States, says William Butterworth, President of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

and as an efficient exponent of business methods in disaster relief, health education and the other essential parts of its service program, deserves the wholehearted support of the business men of the country.

Cordial cooperation has long been the rule between the American Red Cross and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. There is an interlocking of community interests that brings the two organizations into intimate working relationship. And the economic base of humanitarianism was never more clearly demonstrated than in the readiness of American business to volunteer for Red Cross service.

As president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, I bespeak for the 1930 Red Cross Roll Call the hearty helpfulness of business men everywhere.

METROPOLITAN ENSEMBLE

CONCERT TOMORROW

New York Group To Be Heard In Evening Presentation At Salvation Army Citadel.

The Metropolitan Ensemble under the direction of Conductor Erik Leidsen in their concert next Saturday evening in the High School hall will be one of the rare musical treats of the present season. The members, all sons of Salvation Army veterans, have been brought together under the leadership of Erik Leidsen, the outstanding composer in the Salvation Army, a graduate of the Stockholm Conservatory of Music. Conductor Leidsen has much time and energy in adapting full-band music for small groups, and has produced a continuity of tone, precision and colorful phrasing in his nine piece band, that is unusual in bands of that size. Wherever they have appeared in New York and surrounding points the ensemble has been a dollar a ticket, but due to the present industrial conditions they decided to make their initial appearance in Manchester without any charge, relying on a silver collection to defray expenses.

One of the features of the concert is an address by the band leader, Brigadier W. Alex Ebbs, formerly in charge of all Salvation Army work in Italy. On several occasions Brigadier Ebbs has been in conference with Premier Mussolini and will give Manchester people a glimpse of conditions existing in that country today.

The members of the Metropolitan

Ensemble are: Ensign William J. Parkes, solo cornet; Private Stanley B. Parkins, first cornet; Ensign Edward L. Clark, second cornet; Captain Kenneth R. Ayres, first horn; Ensign Milton I. McMahon, second horn; Ensign Samuel J. McGinley, baritone; Captain Harold W. Jackson, trombone; Adjutant William J. Slater, euphonium; Ensign Fred G. O'Neil, Bass Eb.

The repertoire of the Ensemble is exclusively Salvation Army music, written and arranged by Salvationists.

RIOTS RACK MADRID

Madrid, Nov. 14.—(AP)—A series of labor riots which burst simultaneously and with startling suddenness in various sections near the heart of the city three hours today.

Twenty-five persons were injured,

as cavalrymen with slashing sabres charged the crowd. But the mob was not dispersed until the troops had fired into it several times.

Thousands of workers swarmed

the streets in protest against the erection of film building construction which endangered the lives of workmen.

They had come to attend funeral services for four workmen who were crushed to death in a building collapse on Wednesday.

The revolution is here!

Hurray for the Republic! they shouted, hurling stones through store windows as merchants hastily locked and bolted their doors.

HAVANA QUIET TODAY

Havana, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Havana's normal atmosphere of peace had returned today after the series of student disorders which resulted yesterday in suspension of the constitution for the city and the establishment of martial law.

Troops patrolled the streets,

challenging suspicious persons and forbidding public gatherings, but since 10 o'clock last night, when a fourteen-year-old boy was fatally wounded, the situation has been extremely quiet.

Physicians reported improvement in the condition of Arturo Tagle y Soria, a relative of former President Menaocal, who was wounded last night when police dispersed a band of students.

No disorders of any kind were reported today and the government was confident the situation would be cleared within a day or two.

GIRLS TO DEBATE

New London, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Girl debaters from Connecticut College will meet men students for the first time tonight in a match with team from Boston University.

The subject will be "Resolving that this meeting affirm its belief in the principles and practices of democracy."

GO BACK TO JOBS

Martial Law, However, Still In Force In Mining Districts—Reds Rounded Up

Lima, Peru, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Lima's workers went back to their jobs today as the general workers conference called off the strike which almost paralyzed the city yesterday.

In the Cerro De Pasco copper

mining region, however, martial law still was in force, particularly at Mal Paso where two Americans and more than a dozen other persons were slain in labor riots Wednesday.

Lima's transportation facilities resumed operation this morning after a day in which trolley cars, trains and buses were at a standstill. Factory wheels turned again at Callao, the port of Lima.

A second train load of refugees from the Cerro De Pasco district was expected to arrive here some time before noon from La Oroya one of the principal mining camps in the Andean area. The first train, carrying three hundred foreigners arrived yesterday after a stormy trip.

Round Up Reds

Police have been active in rounding up Communist agitators believed to be responsible for the disorders in the mining area. At Callao they arrested forty-two men yesterday and sent them to the penal colony on the Isle of Fronton, not far from the port.

Authorities here said the situation

in Cerro De Pasco territory was returning to normal. A peasants' strike at Canete was settled today.

HARVARD-PRINCETON

FAIL TO FIND TERMS

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The New York Sun's sports editor, Joe Vila, in a copyrighted story today asserted Harvard and Princeton had negotiated, so far unsuccessfully, a resumption of football relations, broken off forty-two men yesterday and sent them to the penal colony on the Isle of Fronton, not far from the port.

Princeton, the story added,

rejected this proposal and countered with a suggestion that the Tigers meet Harvard the week before the Yale-Harvard game and, every third year, play the Elis on the Saturday after Thanksgiving. This, it was said, did not meet with approval at Cambridge, thereby bringing negotiations to a standstill.

The Majors will meet at the club room tonight at 7:30 and will be taken away for a secret practice which will be held under flood lights. It is rumored that Harry Herberts and Billy Galvin will assist Coach George Moonan in schooling the Majors on important plays.

Majors' roster will not return to the city after Sunday's game. They will stay

SENSE AND NONSENSE

LET ME—
Let me be a little kinder,
Let me be a little blinder
To the faults of those about me;
Let me praise a little more;
Let me be when I am weary,
Just a little bit more cheery;
Let me serve a little better
Those that I'm striving for.

Let me be a little braver
When temptation bids me waver;
Let me strive a little harder
To be all that I should be;
Let me be a little meeker
With the brother that is weaker;
Let me think more of my neighbor
And a little less of me.

Let me be a little sweeter;
Make my life a bit completer,
By doing what I should do
Every minute of the day;
Let me toil without complaining;
Not a humble task disdain;
Let me face the summons calmly
When death beckons me away.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The little girl the Tinies met looked at the bunch and said, "I'll bet that all you boys are travelers. Where are you bound for now? Gee, I would like to travel far in train or boat or motor car. But I must go to school and if I left, I would start a row."

"Yes, we are travelers," said one. "And, my, we have a lot of fun. We don't know where we're going next. Just any place at all. You see, in any foreign land, the sights we see all look real grand. Before we're through, in lots of other countries we will call."

"However, we all think that you have picked a real wise thing to do. 'Tis best you get your schooling so you'll grow up to be smart. When grown up, you can travel 'round to see what 'me things can be found." The Travel Man then said, "I think 't's time that we depart. 'There is a grape land right near by and, if we go there, we can try to get some of the wondrous grapes. They're mighty good to eat. They're just as big as they can be. Just wait, and you will shortly see! One great big bunch for each of you will be a welcome treat."

And then they sauntered down the street and shortly heard some music sweet. "Oh, look!" cried Scouty. "There's a band. The players are all boys." And then they found, when 'bout to pass, it was a teacher and his class. Wee boys were blowing hard on horns and my, but they made noise.

The Tinies listened for a spell, then heard one of the youngsters yell, "Come on, you lads, and try your luck. The horns aren't hard to blow." "Oh, thanks," said Copyy. "Sure we will! I'll bet we'll make the notes sound shrill." The Travel Man then laughed and said, "This ought to be a show."
