

GUARDS SEIZE BOOZE VALUED AT A MILLION

Largest Ever Made On Atlantic Coast and Called Most Important in History of Prohibition.

Boston, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Liquor valued at a million dollars, one of the largest seizures in the history of prohibition enforcement, was in the hands of government agents today. This estimate of the value of cargoes of two liquor laden barges was given at the office of Captain William Munter, eastern division commander of the Coast Guard.

The barges, the Edith and the Eagle Hill, and the coast-going tug Murrell of New York, were captured by a Coast Guard patrol boat Jackson off the Maine coast Wednesday and brought to Boston last night. Nineteen men, the crews of the tug and barges were taken into custody of customs officials.

Government agents who made a preliminary examination of the cargoes said that if all the containers and cases that appeared to contain contraband did in fact, the seizure would probably be the biggest ever made on the Atlantic coast and one of the most important in the history of prohibition. They placed one million dollars as an estimate of its value.

Deputy Collector Thomas Finnegan and Owen McKenna, special treasury agent boarded the three seized vessels today to make a closer examination. The Jackson encountered the Murrell with the two barges in tow eight hours out of Rockland, Maine. They had cleared for New York.

First Suspicions
The suspicions of boatswain Michael J. Bruce, skipper of the Jackson, were first aroused when he noticed numerous small speed boats hovering about the barges. At intervals these speed boats scurried off shoreward to disappear in small inlets along the Maine coast.

Bruce stood by with the patrol boat for a time but the activity of the small craft did not abate. He ordered the Murrell to anchor and sent out a boarding party. The crews of the tug and barges offered no resistance.

The source of the huge quantity of liquor reported one of the most interesting angles in the minds of government officials.

So large of amount could only mean, it was felt, the accumulation of a long period of liquor running by small craft or the cargo of a large vessel.

Transportation of large quantities of liquor in a single operation in coastal waters, it was also pointed out, is contrary to run-running custom, which does not favor carrying "all the eggs in one basket."

SOVIET OBJECTS TO LEAGUE'S PLAN

Litvinoff Says Russia Will Not Stand For a Permanent Supervising Board.

Geneva, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, expressed his government's broad disapproval of proceedings in the preparatory disarmament commission at today's session that body here.

Mr. Litvinoff's reproaches were lost when the commission, after completing the second reading of the main body of its draft convention, began consideration of proposals for establishment of a permanent disarmament commission for direction of a disarmament program under any general treaty which may be concluded.

The Soviet foreign minister served solemn warning that such a supervisory body would be entirely unacceptable to the Soviet government if it were under control of the League of Nations, and he proceeded to make caustic comment on the draft convention itself.

U. S. Opposed
Prior to his flare up the commission approved a method of global budgetary limitation of all armaments and armed forces, Ambassador Gibson and N. Sato opposing for the United States and Japan respectively, the only governments to do so.

While the principle of the limitation of entire armament expenditures found favor in the commission with the exception of the representatives of the United States and Japan, a project for limiting each arm of fighting service separately by the budgetary method was rejected 8 to 7. Mr. Gibson abstained from voting.

Chemical Warfare
The commission postponed until third reading the section dealing with chemical warfare. The first reading of the draft prohibits the use in war "of asphyxiating, poison-

BANDITS HOLD UP TWO VIGILANTES

Men Watching for Criminals Are Robbed of $40 When They Were Not Looking—Thieves Flee.

New York, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Two Flatbush vigilantes have learned that the price of eternal vigilance is $40.

While Matthew A. Langer, president of the Midwood and Flatbush vigilantes committee, and Gaston Koch, his right hand man, were stamping out crime early yesterday morning, they saw two suspicious strangers get into a car and drive away. They promptly forgot it.

"Stick 'em up," said the men a few minutes later and they whirled to face the erstwhile strangers. Koch's pockets yielded $4 and Langer was relieved of $36.

"Now walk down the block one at a time and don't make no noise," said the hold-up men to the vigilantes.

Having stepped their paces, the vigilantes blew lustily on their police whistles. But it was too late.

GERMANY PREPARES ECONOMY CAMPAIGN

Newspapers Play Up Curtious Speech On Young Plan and Plea For a Moratorium.

Berlin, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The German government which has announced that it may be compelled to invoke measures of safeguard provided for in the Young plan, turned its attention today to a Germany-wide campaign for economy.

While the front pages of the newspapers were filled with stories and comment on yesterday's speech of Dr. Julius Curtius, the German foreign minister, intimating the possibility of a moratorium or the convening of a special advisory committee, Chancellor Bruening took up the economic battle on the home front.

In order that the call for utmost economy should penetrate to the more remote corners of the Reich, Chancellor Bruening addressed a delegation from rural communities now meeting here, this was the first time that a chancellor had personally explained the German financial situation to rural representatives.

Serious Situation
The situation, he said, was today more serious than at the end of the inflation year of 1923 for the government could not repeat its expedient of issuing a new rentenmark.

Neither could the government promise a radical cure for the ills besetting the farmers within the next six months or year but a beginning had been made to grapple with their financial difficulties and so avoid collapse.

"Whoever thinks reparations alone are the cause of all our troubles closes his eyes to the truth," the chancellor said. "The German people and its leaders during the last few years have wholly overestimated the country's economic possibilities and by superfluous building have created quite a wrong impression abroad."

The chancellor explained that the proposed tax reforms would show beneficial effect within the next two years.

WESTERN STORMS MOVE EASTWARD

Nebraska and Dakotas Digging Out of Snow Drifts As Winter Visits Mid-West

Chicago, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The snow and wind storm that played havoc with the Dakotas and western Nebraska yesterday swept northeastward today giving the northern great plains and upper Great Lakes regions a forecast of winter.

Clear skies but continued cold today found western Nebraska digging out of a heavy snow and repairing telephone wires which were torn down yesterday. Hundreds of poles were also down in North Dakota and one telephone company reported it had no facilities north and west of Fargo. Bismarck was covered with nine inches of snow.

Similar conditions were found in South Dakota where the first death attributed to the approach of winter was reported yesterday. It was 24 in Huron last night and 30 in Rapid City.

Wisconsin and Minnesota lay in the path of the storm today and the forecast for both states was colder with the probability of snow.

In the lower tier of Iowa, Illinois and eastern Nebraska, temperatures dropped noticeably but snow had not fallen in most communities.

IN WAKE OF TORNADO THAT BROUGHT DEATH TO 22 IN OKLAHOMA TOWNS

Ruins like those shown in this NEA-Evening Herald telephoto were scattered through the town of Bethany, Okla., near Oklahoma City, by the tornado which killed 22 and injured 124 persons. Here you see rescue workers searching for bodies in one of the 200 buildings which were wrecked in the two-mile path of the twister. A few minutes earlier it had demolished the Camel Creek school, killing four students and injuring a dozen. A blinding downpour of rain preceded the tornado and greatly hampered rescue work in the flooded town.

EX-KAISER GUILTLESS IN CAVELL EXECUTION

Spanish Ambassador To Belgium In Diary Places Blame On German General; Asked For Reprieve.

Brussels, Nov. 21.—(AP)—How the Marquis de Villalobar, Spanish ambassador to Belgium, and Hugh S. Gibson, then first secretary to the American legation, tried to prevent the execution of Nurse Edith Cavell by the Germans is told in extracts published from the diary of Marquis de Villalobar.

The Marquis relates that to Gibson's request the two of them went to Baron Von Der Lancken, then director of political affairs in the occupied Belgian territory, and tried to get Miss Cavell reprieved on the eve of her execution.

The Marquis told Baron Lancken that "Miss Cavell may have sent hundreds of men to the front by means of her ambulance, but if you kill her, she will send millions against you from her tomb."

The former Emperor is pictured by the Marquis as having become very angry when he learned of the execution. He is said to have reprimanded those who permitted it to occur and to have ordered that in the future no women were to be executed.

Miss Cavell, head of an English nurses' training school in Brussels, was executed by the Germans Oct. 31, 1915 on the charge of assisting British, French and Belgian prisoners in the occupied territory to escape.

The Marquis, in his diary, says he was building with Baron Lambert Rothschild when Gibson arrived in great distress and asked to speak to him on a matter of the most urgent importance. The then told him of several cases of espionage pending before the German military tribunal in which two French, one Belgian woman and Miss Cavell were involved.

Condemned to Death
He said Miss Cavell had been sentenced to death and was to be executed at dawn of the next day. He asked the Marquis to take the place of Brand Whitlock, the American minister who was ill in bed with a high fever, and make every representation possible with the German authorities to stay the execution.

The Marquis says he and Gibson went immediately to Baron von Der Lancken who told them he did not think Miss Cavell's execution would be immediate, but that the Baron said General von Sauerberg, the acting governor, was resolved to execute her.

The Marquis, relating a private conversation he had with Von Der Lancken tells how he pleaded with him. As a past attendant the Marquis says he suggested the Baron telephone the German Emperor at his headquarters, but the Baron exclaimed, "but one can't telephone the Emperor."

Months later the Marquis says, when he was dining with King George and Queen Mary of England, he related the details of the matter and quoted the king as saying, "It is a relief to me to learn the German Emperor was not responsible for such a crime."

The Marquis gives as his final verdict that General von Sauerberg alone was responsible for Miss Cavell's death.

SEN. NORRIS WARNS POLITICAL ENEMIES

Says If Certain Measures Are Not Acted Upon There Will Be An Extra Session.

Washington, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Senator Norris advanced a legislative program today along with a warning that unless it was considered, an extra session of Congress might be forced.

The Nebraskaan, a Republican Independent, termed the election results a "reputation of the administration" having been re-elected himself after expressing opposition to Hoover policies.

Norris included among the measures to be introduced upon at the approaching short session, his bill for government operation of Muscle Shoals, the bill to curb the powers of courts in issuing injunctions in labor disputes, unemployment relief, and the constitutional amendment to change the meeting times of Congress.

"I don't want an extra session," he said. "If there is an extra session it will be brought on because the administration won't give consideration to matters which either are in conference or on the Senate calendar."

Worth $200,000 in Land, Three Sisters Kill Selves

Los Angeles, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Washing ashore of two bodies in Santa Monica Bay and a letter to Ralph Miller, Hollywood artist, has revealed the suicide pact of three elderly sisters, apparently penniless while holding title to $200,000 worth of real estate.

The bodies of Ada McKeon, 65, a widow and Miss Abba Miller, 63, were found yesterday about 100 yards from the shore. The third sister, who is a brother of the women, received a letter informing him his three sisters planned suicide. Miller said the third sister was Jessie Miller, 60. Search was being made for her body.

Miller said police told sisters were property poor. In their letter to their brother the sisters said they owed $1,325 and had no way to pay it or meet living expenses.

"We had hoped to die a natural death and have our ashes sent back to Mrs. Hazard and she would take them to Fairmont cemetery (Cincinnati)," the woman wrote.

M'DONALD TELLS INDIA BRITAIN WILL AID HER

Leader of Ohio Drys Wants Act Modified

Columbus, O., Nov. 21.—C. C. Crabbe, father of Ohio's dry laws, and former attorney general of Ohio, today announced that he favored a modification of the Crabbe Act to permit the sale of light wines and beer.

Crabbe said that the enforcement of the present stringent prohibition law in Ohio was "not satisfactory" and that the people of the state had not respected the statute.

The former attorney general said the law has failed to promote true temperance and that it needed to be modified.

SPURNS ADMIRER, TEACHER KILLED

Suitor Then Turns Gun On Himself and Is Dying; Girl Refused To Marry.

Bath, N. Y., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Miss Elizabeth Refnot, 24, a native of Lowellville and teacher of French at Bath High school, was shot and instantly killed early today, and Lawrence Guiney 23, her suitor, is in Bath hospital, probably fatally wounded with a self-inflicted bullet wound near the heart.

Guiney, a native of Upper Lake, was an admirer of Miss Refnot, whom he met while she taught school at the mountain village. He had come to Bath recently to visit her.

The shooting, according to Under-Sheriff Hugh Cunningham, took place at a summer cottage at Lake Salubria, near here, where Miss Refnot and Guiney were among the guests at a dinner party and dance given by Herbert Kleckler.

Engage in Quarrel
About midnight, Under-Sheriff Cunningham said, after all the guests but Miss Refnot and Guiney had left, Kleckler went to Bath and on his return found the pair engaged in an argument.

Suddenly, according to Kleckler, Guiney pulled a revolver, shot and killed Miss Refnot, and turned the weapon on himself.

Authorities said that they had learned that Miss Refnot and Guiney had engaged in several arguments during the day and that the argument at the Kleckler cottage was climaxed when Miss Refnot refused his proffer of an engagement ring.

According to Under-Sheriff Cunningham Miss Refnot had said several times that she wished to continue her teaching career for the time being.

VENICE OBSERVES ANCIENT CUSTOM

Celebrates Aid Brought Through Prayer To Plague-Stricken City In 1631.

Venice, Italy, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The feast of "Our Lady of Health," commemorating the aid the Blessed Virgin is supposed to have brought to the plague-stricken city of Venice in 1631, was celebrated with solemnity today in view of its coinciding this year with the more generally observed Feast of the Presentation.

A cortege of clergy and laymen, a number of the latter in medieval costumes wended its way this morning over a bridge of boats crossing the Grand Canal, to the famous church of Santa Maria Della Salute (literally, Holy Mary of Health). There, as has been the case for the past 299 years, a solemn mass of thanksgiving was sung. Members of the municipal attended.

A Thank Offering
The church itself was built as a thank-offering for Venice's deliverance from 16 months of plague, which took toll of 140,000 lives. The Doge and Senate of the lagoon-city, convinced of Mary's intercession on behalf of their stricken fellow-citizens, commissioned the noted architect Longhena to build the imposing edifice.

The presentation, a feast always celebrated with special devotion in the province of Venice, recalls the alleged bringing of the Blessed Virgin, at the age of three, to the temple in Jerusalem, there to be educated in accordance with a vow made by her parents.

MORE BANKS CLOSE DOORS IN SOUTH

Eleven In Five States Fail To Open For Business; Some Are In Indiana.

(By Associated Press.)
Eleven banks in five states of the south and lower middle west failed to open for business today, continuing the succession of failures of the last week.

Banks in English, Leavenworth, Corydon and Corydon Junction, all small communities in southern Indiana, were taken over by the State Banking Department on the heels of the failure yesterday of two banks at New Albany, Ind., across the Ohio river from Louisville.

Banks at Paris, Tenn., at Doniphan and Edina, Mo., at Crestwood, Louisville suburb, and Madisonville, Ky., at Asheville, N. C., and a negro bank in Nashville, Tenn., were the others to close.

Reason For Failure
Closing of the six Indiana banks was attributed to the recent failure of a group of Louisville banks. The closings in Kentucky today brought the number there to fifteen in a week, seven in Louisville and two in its suburbs. The Asheville closings were the ninth in North Carolina in two days. The Missouri closings were blamed to heavy withdrawals.

Governor Horton of Tennessee pledged a "full and complete investigation" of all state government departments a result of state financial difficulties which followed the naming of a receivership for Caldwell and Company, investment bankers.

ART WORLD HONORS PENNSY'S PAINTER

Work of Humble House Painter To Be Hung In Modern Museum of Art.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 21.—(AP)—To John Kane, a house painter in whom the critics say the soul of a poet dwells, new honors have come in the art world. In recent years he has become more than John Kane the house painter, but he still clings to his humble life in the poorer "strip" district of Pittsburgh.

Kane's paintings have been honored in the Carnegie international exhibition in past years, but soon they will make an appearance in New York, according to word received here. The first New York appearance will be in the Modern Museum of Art.

The last painting from Kane's brush, "Across the Strip," has been obtained for the Phillips memorial collection in Washington, D. C. Critics say this honor is regarded highly by American painters.

"Across the Strip" depicts something of the industrial life of Pittsburgh. The scene is that of Kane's poor abode.

CAPT. BOYD HOME

Quebec, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Canada's conqueror of the Atlantic by air, Captain J. Errol Boyd, and his American navigator, Lieut. Harry P. Connor, sailed up the St. Lawrence River today on the liner Duchess of Bedford between welcome home.

Hardly had the liner, bringing home the pair, who flew the monoplanes Columbia from Canada to the British Isles, docked at Quebec last night before Captain Boyd's wife and daughter were aboard and three years' Virginia was in her father's arms.

City officials welcomed Boyd and Lieut. Connor to Quebec. When the liner departed again it carried the fliers on toward Montreal, where another rousing welcome awaits the first Canadian ocean liner and his crew.

BLAMES DEPRESSION ON FEDERAL BANKS

Speaker At Grange Meeting Says Government Failed To Control Money Power.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Responsibility for the current business depression today was placed at the door of the Federal Reserve Bank and government banks in foreign countries by Norman Lombard, executive vice president of the Stable Money Association, in an address before the 65th annual convention of the National Grange.

These institutions, said Mr. Lombard, "have the power to control the purchasing power of money, and have failed to do so. Their power is sovereign."

His Charge

Launching his address with the declaration that "our money mechanism is in the most chaotic state and our civilization stands at the cross roads of history," he added:

"Unless we control the monetary system and regulate it for the benefit of society, the gold standard is in danger and civilization itself may be imperiled. Man created money and can learn to control it so that it will be his servant and not his master."

Mr. Lombard denied that over-production had anything to do with the business depression, saying that prosperity and its opposite result from an over-supply or lack of money.

NORTH END FIREMEN EAT VENISON DINNER

Members of No. 2 Company Vote $25 To Community Christmas Fund.

Hose Company No. 2 of the Manchester Fire department held its monthly meeting last evening at the Columbia Lake cottage of William A. Knoffa. Besides the active members of the company there were several honorary members present in addition to a few guests. Mr. Knoffa had been successful in one of his hunting expeditions and secured a deer. He wanted to have some of the firemen enjoy the venison and that was the principal reason for the dinner. The meal was prepared by Osano, and included beside the venison some of his famous clam chowder.

In the party were 26 firemen and friends. At the business session the members voted the sum of $25 to the town community Christmas fund. They also voted to put on a Christmas party, to take place on Thursday evening, December 18. The committee appointed to take charge includes Charles B. Loomis and Harold McLagan. Each one attending will be asked to bring a small present suitable for a child. These articles will be given to worthy poor children.

Selectman Wells Strickland who was present complimented the firemen on their good work at the depot square. He also reminded the gathering that the question of consolidation of school districts was again to be brought before the people and he hoped the subject with an open mind.

The remainder of the evening was spent in playing setback.

Manchester's Needy Cases

Unemployment has hit family No. 9 very hard. There are seven in the family, father, mother and five children. The father is out of work.

Manchester's needy club members will omit their regular Monday noon get-together at the Hotel Sheridan, and in the evening beginning at 6 o'clock will enjoy a kiddies night program at Center church house. The boys who attended the Kiwanis camp at Hebron last summer will be guests of the club. Club members are putting on the supper and it is expected there will be plenty of good eats for all. The children will be called for, feasted and entertained and returned in good time to their homes by the Kiwanians.

It is proposed to have another Monday evening meeting the following week at the Wapping school hall with men in that place as the guests. This is a "Know Your Neighbor" proposition. The ladies of Wapping will put on one of their good dinners. Every member is needed to put over these two coming events in a big way.

The attendance prize Monday evening will be furnished by Eimer Wenden of the W. H. Hale company and will be something especially suitable to a boy.

KIWANIANS TO COOK MEAL FOR KIDDIES

Hebron Camp Group To Be Given Party At Center Church House Monday.

The Junior choir of the Zion Lutheran church will hold an important rehearsal at the church tonight at 6 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

Miss Jessie Reynolds, town welfare nurse, would like to have all persons that intend to go to the Thanksgiving dinner at the home of the Board of Health office. By just calling in the name of the family the possibility of duplication will be eliminated. The Board of Health phone number is 5608.

The water running into the Dwight Spencer Memorial foundation at Depot square has been turned off so that no drinking water is available there. However, the public fountains at the Center and in Center Park are still in use.

Although the May Jewelry Store which is now conducting an auction sale, advertised that the auction would not close at 9 o'clock last night, it was forced to close at 8 o'clock, the auction being resumed at 2 o'clock this afternoon. It has been announced that the auction will continue until the end of the year.

Sidney Hagenow, who has been manager of the Tatem City Taxi Cab Company, in Manchester, has delivered the cars that Tatem owned here to Tatem at his home in Putnam.

Working here in the future it seems to be a far-fetched possibility. In the short time the company was in operation it furnished much work for lawyers and the public utilities commission. Since the fight started Charles L. Sweet, one of the veteran taxi drivers, has disposed of his business. Today, Mr. Hagenow is driving a cab owned by James Foley, although no sale is reported as yet, despite present negotiations.

Mrs. Hayden Criswold, superintendent of the Beginners' department in the Second Congregational church school, reminds the mothers of the little ones to see that they bring their contributions Sunday morning when they come to school. The beginners are to give a complete Thanksgiving commentary. The parent of the school is doing the same thing and in several of the other departments the scholars are to make donations of food staples. Troop Boy Scouts of the church will also furnish a dinner.

ABOUT TOWN

Helen Davidson Lodge, Daughters of Scotia, will hold its regular meeting this evening at 7:30 in "Flaker" hall. All business will include the installation of the officers for 1931.

Mrs. Walter H. Walsh of Center street won the prize of a $2.50 gold piece for making the highest score among the women players for the combined Odd Fellow and Rebekah whists last night. Alonzo Foreman ran up the highest score of the men. The regular prize winners at last night's session were Mrs. Florence Chapman and Marshall Young, first; Mrs. E. A. Weed, second; and Adolph Carman, second and Mrs. Jimmie Smith and Thomas Weir, consolation. Dancing followed the serving of sandwiches, homemade cake and coffee. In response to many requests the same joint committee from both lodges will be giving a party of whist-dances on Thursday evening, December 4.

Mrs. Charles Milkowski, president of the American Legion auxiliary will open her home at 89 Holister street and what. At this time the house committee of the unit will hold a drawing on the Thanksgiving turkey for which the members have been selling tickets. All those who have not already returned to do so before 8 o'clock Monday evening. The proceeds of the card party and turkey drawing will be used for the Christmas program of the auxiliary, for the benefit of ex-service men and women, for needy cases in the hospital, for needy families and for the annual Christmas party for the children of local members.

The Junior choir of the Zion Lutheran church will hold an important rehearsal at the church tonight at 6 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

Miss Jessie Reynolds, town welfare nurse, would like to have all persons that intend to go to the Thanksgiving dinner at the home of the Board of Health office. By just calling in the name of the family the possibility of duplication will be eliminated. The Board of Health phone number is 5608.

RETURNS FROM AUTO TOUR OF EUROPE

John Learned, Cheney Brothers Executive, Spent Four Months Traveling On Continent.

John Learned, of 87 Hartford Road, returned yesterday from a motor tour of Europe in which he combined pleasure with a business trip in the interests of Cheney Brothers. During the course of four months abroad, Mr. Learned visited Belgium, Holland, France, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Switzerland, Italy, Roumania, Czechoslovakia and Jugoslavia.

Mr. Learned took his automobile on this European trip which he made alone. Mr. Learned has been in the employ of Cheney Brothers for eight years and has been assistant manager under Austin Cheney in the weaving production division of the plant. Next week Mr. Learned will remove to New York City where he will become connected with the line planning department of Cheney Brothers in their New York office.

WAS WOMAN ON ILL FATED R-101?

London Newspapers Say Handbag Was Seen At Scene of Crash of Dirigible

London, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The rumor that a woman passenger rode to her death in the crash of the dirigible R-101 was revived today by the Saturday Review, which linked that rumor with another concerning the disappearance of a "well-known air woman."

"Was there a woman passenger in the ill-fated R-101?" the publication asked. "The French press certainly said there was at the time of the disaster, and visitors to the scene of the tragedy were shown a woman's hand bag which it was said was found in the wreckage."

"Now comes another rumor that a well-known air woman has been missing from her home since the day the R-101 sailed, and nothing has been heard of her since. After all, if there was a woman on board, why conceal it?"

"The rumor concerning a 'well-known air woman' has gained general currency here."

JOHNSON AND LEVITT ARGUE CASE IN COURT

Hartford, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Prof. Albert Levitt and Assistant Attorney General Raymond A. Johnson argued two motions in the professor's litigation to force the attorney general to start proceedings against the Public Utilities Commission for neglect of duty before Judge Allyn L. Brown in Superior Court here today.

In the first matter, Prof. Levitt asked for an order against the attorney general to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt of court for failure to obey the Superior Court's order of mandamus.

In the second, Assistant Attorney General Johnson asked dismissal of Prof. Levitt's motion that the court not allow the attorney general's appeal to the Supreme Court from the lower court's refusal to allow a retrial of the mandamus action first brought by Levitt.

TO RE-ELECT LEWIS

Indianapolis, Nov. 21.—(AP)—John L. Lewis of Springfield, Ill., will be elected to his sixth term as international president of the United Mine Workers of America in the miners' election to be held December 9. All other international officers of the union also will be re-elected.

This was assured today when international headquarters mailed the official ballots to the several thousand local unions throughout the country for the biennial election, with no opposing candidates having filed against the incumbents.

DEATHS

Mrs. George Davidson
Mrs. Martha Davidson, wife of George Davidson who was pensioned from Cheney Brothers 15 years ago after 42 years of service, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. T. Tilden on 85 Milton street in West Hartford, early today, after an illness of ten days. She had been failing for nearly five years. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Mrs. Davidson was 87 years old. She came here 67 years ago. In addition to her daughter, Mrs. Davidson leaves one son, Dr. W. L. Davidson who is in dental practice in Hartford.

The funeral will be held from Mrs. Davidson's Manchester home at 80 Church street at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Rev. R. A. Colpitts will officiate and burial will be in East cemetery.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The Stock Market again crept back to the levels of the recovery today, after shying away yesterday.

The selling which appeared in the last hour of the previous session was carried over into today's early trading, causing further recessions of a point or two, but it was soon completed, and the advance resumed.

Trading was dead but shares advanced more readily than they had declined, and numerous gains of 1 to 6 points were recorded.

Most of the trading appeared to be professional, and strength of some of the specialties suggested resumption of public activity. Shares advanced 3 to 6 points included Allied Chemical, Air Reduction, Foster Wheeler, Vanadium, Worthington, Simmons, Electric Auto Life, Case and Electric Power and Light. Shares selling up 2 or more included National American, National Biscuit, Electric American, Brown Boveri, Common, American Power and Light, Eastman, Byers, United Aircraft, U. S. Pipe and Eaton Axle. Such shares as U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Radio, Kennecott, North American, National Biscuit, Schick, New York Central, Chrysler, Loews, Ford and Goodyear advanced moderately.

Continued improvement in the wheat market was a bullish influence, and led to fresh hopes that the deficit in commercial stocks would last checked. Success of efforts to maintain copper at 12 cents still seemed to hang in the balance, however, with speculators and small dealers offering the metal all the way down to 10 1/2. The export price stood here at the 12 cent basis, however, and the trade expects foreign consumers will be forced into the market for substantial amounts sooner than domestic users of the metal.

The Irving Trust Company, in its mid-month review of business, pointed to the firmer prices in textiles, copper, sugar, rubber and other commodities, and concluded, "It seems safe to assume that few raw materials can long be bought at less than the costs of production."

Statistics for the week were less favorable. F. W. Dodge's report for the first half of November shows a reduction in contracts let east of the Rockies of about 9 per cent from the level of October. Electric power consumption in the second week of the month was 12 per cent higher than the seasonal decline, with a reduction of 8-10 of one per cent from the previous week. It was notable, however, that the drop was primarily in the industrial areas of the middle west, where there have been spotty signs of recovery in the last few days. The decline in this area more than offset slight gains on the Atlantic seaboard and the Pacific coast.

Moody's, in reporting its preliminary "Prosperity Index" for October, pointed out that while it showed a further decline, the downward curve was flattening out, for the drop was the smallest since last June. The extent of the decline in this index was less than the drop in the figure for gross product. The Prosperity Index was buoyed up by a compensating reduction in the cost of living. Moody's pointed to sub-normal confidence in business and financial circles as "the most stubborn element that still needs to be overcome." The Irving Trust review also pointed to "mob psychology" as an important factor in the general problem of business recovery.

FUNERALS

Justin J. Chetelat
The funeral of Justin J. Chetelat was held this morning at the late home, 25 Eldridge street at 9:30 and at St. James' church at 9 o'clock. As the body was brought in the church Margaret Sullivan sang, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," and at the offertory, "O Sanctus." As the body was brought out of the church Margaret Sullivan sang, "Softly and Tenderly Jesus is Calling."

The bearers were, Joseph Chioele and William J. Brunelle representing the Loyal Order of Moose, Charles Quinn, John Doyle, Patrick Tierney and James Hines. Rev. P. J. Killen celebrated the mass and read the commitment services at the grave in St. James' cemetery.

LABOR PARTY SPLIT

London, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The Labor government's position in Parliament, already precarious, was affected by a new widening of the breach between the Right and Left Wings of the party.

The National executive of the party has decided to take action against those Labor members of Parliament and Parliamentary candidates who are found guilty of breaches of discipline or of disloyalty to the party. This is looked upon as a direct challenge to the Independent Labor Party, which is now asking its members to vote against the government in all cases where the government is not supported by the policy endorsed by the I. L. P. up to now. Twenty members of Parliament have pledged themselves to do this.

The Labor candidate in the forthcoming election in East Renfrew, Basil Irwin, has announced that if elected he will subscribe to this pledge and consequently the national executive has unanimously declined to endorse his candidature, or the candidature of any other member of the I. L. P., as avowed advocates of "Socialism in our time."

ARGENTINE AMBASSADOR RECEIVED AT CAPITAL

Washington, Nov. 21.—(AP)—His best efforts to promote trade relations between Argentina and the United States were pledged to President Hoover today by Ambassador Malbran, presenting his credentials. The new ambassador fills a post which has been vacant since he occupied it for three months in 1928. He refers to his pre-inaugural visit of President Hoover to his country as one which always will be remembered.

Presenting the greetings of President Roosevelt, the ambassador said he would be aided by a deep love of his own country and a great respect inspired by that to which he came.

A number of proposals dealing with establishment of a permanent disarmament commission were received and referred to a sub-committee.

It was at this point that Litvinoff made his remarks on the commission's activities to date. The Soviet minister was actively participating in the work, he said, with a view to bringing about a draft calling for disarmament or at least for reduction. But, the commission's decisions brought the conviction, he said, that the delegates aimed only at the stabilization of armaments and the perpetuation of the present unsatisfactory state.

modified to suit the majority of the people of the state.

Crabbe said he was modification which would permit the sale of light wines and beer under strict government control. This plan, he pointed out, could not become effective, however, without a modification of the Volstead Act.

"Light wines and beer under strict governmental control would be preferable to what we have now," Crabbe said. "There is neither prospect nor true enforcement of the present law. If the law as enacted had been properly respected and enforced I would not have advocated a change but I am willing to concede that this is not true and consequently am in favor of modification."

"We need a statute that will more nearly meet the wishes and command the respect of the great majority of the people. The present prohibition law has not prevented the use of intoxicating liquor but on the contrary has brought about a condition where there are a greater percentage of our people drinking now than ever before. The drinkers are a different element, too, than in former years."

"I believe that a majority of the people of Ohio would still favor a reasonable law regulating the use of intoxicants but they are not in accord with the present rigid measure."

Crabbe said the recent election was indicative that "the pendulum has swung back." He asserted that he was opposed to a return of the saloon.

BURGLARS IN DANBURY
Danbury, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Burglars early today visited residents on Deer Hill avenue, a wealthy section of this city but satisfied themselves with taking only a small amount of money in each place, taking the money from nightclosets found in the rooms. They also visited a grocery store in the same locality but took nothing.

TAX COLLECTORS MEET
Hartford, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Thirty newly elected tax collectors in Connecticut, who never before held that office in the state, attended a meeting in the old Senate chamber in the State Capitol today for discussion of the various problems with which they will be confronted in the performance of their duties. The meeting was called by State Tax Commissioner W. H. Blodgett.

WIDOW OF EXPLORER TO VISIT ANTARCTICA

New York, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Mrs. Shackleton, widow of Sir Ernest Shackleton, the explorer, will visit the Antarctic Circle next January. It was announced today by Lieut. Commander J. R. Stenhouse, who will be a passenger on a motor yacht which is to make a round-the-world cruise, stopping at Byrd's camp in Little America.

Stenhouse, who was Shackleton's navigator in his Antarctic expedition of 1914-1915, will command the cruise of wealthy tourist-explorers. Besides Mrs. Shackleton, Countess Dorothy Lanesborough and several other women will be aboard.

LAUGH EPIDEMIC IN "AUNT LUCIA"

Tall Cedars' Musical Comedy Makes Big Hit - Plays Again Tonight.

An epidemic of laughter broke out among 400 people in the High School Auditorium last night and continued for two solid hours, an epidemic due to the infectious humor of "Aunt Lucia", the collegiate comedy sponsored by Nutmeg Forest, No. 116, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, and which will be presented for the second and last time tonight at 8:15 o'clock.

Ludicrous Situations The play, or musical comedy, the latter term being a more apt description, makes no pretense of serious dramatic acting except in a few of the parts. It is pathos, pure and simple, and at times bor-are mere incidentals to singing dancing, and ludicrous situations, the latter created when "Jerry" college student masquerades in woman's clothing and is mistaken for the wealthy "Aunt Lucia".

So great a number of persons take part in the comedy, the program says 150 local people, that it would be impossible to mention every individual performer. Suffice to say that all did their bit, and the bits as a whole made "Aunt Lucia," worth an evening of anyone's time.

Shannon The Lead Flapper Chorus But every show must have its star and "Aunt Lucia" is no exception. To Terry Shannon goes the honor. He's a wow! And "wow" covers such adjectives as "perfect," "marvelous," "superb" and "wonderful." You Shannon is the "Aunt Lucia," and what an "Aunt." He is personally responsible for over three-fourths of the laughs.

Running the star a close second is Leonard Johnson, who has the distinction of being "Professor Gaddis." Johnson is a veteran of the Town Players and his characterization last night was little short of marvelous.

Then too, other major parts were graced by James Wilson as "Dick" and Wesley Warnock as "George." Gertrude Gerard as "Ethelyn" Jerry's girl, Marion McLaughlin as "Betsey," George's girl, Mary McLaughlin as "Molly," Dick's girl. Although burdened with but a few lines, these players gave acceptable performances as did Robert Boyce as "Butter and Egg Man," Andy Anderson as "Collins," Dick's father, Ruth Helwig as "Dean Howard," William Johnson as the glee club president, William Gahrman as the fraternity president, Sherman Warnock as "Dr. Seamore, college president," and Belle Lang as "Mrs. Seamore." Especially commendable was the work of Ray and Roy Warren as the freshmen.

One of the most hilarious scenes in the show was the parade of the college flappers of the Sig-sig-a-rette Sorority, consisting of 25 prominent Manchester men in the following make-ups: Stuart Wasley as "sorority president," Sam Richmond as "Tilly the Toller," Thomas Maxwell as "Baby Face," Harold Preston as "Gloria Swanson," Harold Symington as "Campus Flirt," William McCormick as "Studious Girl," Fayette Clarke as "Clinging Vine," Henry Smith as "Teacher's Pet," Joseph Flavell as "Beauty Winner," Harry Roth as "Girl With the Million Dollar Legs," Roy Norris as "Athletic Girl," Al Green as "Powerful Kairinka," William Brown as "Matilda Jane, the spinster school teacher, Carl Anderson as "Vamp of Manchester," Rollin Hitt as "Pola Negri," Roy Sloumb as "Bathing Beauty," Ralph McVilly as "Dancing Girl," John Barstow as "Broadway Baby," Ernest Kjellson as "Marie Dressler," Hans Jensen as "Sweetheart of Bula Bula," Al Behrend as "Janet Gaynor," Mac MacDonald as "Giggles," James Nichols as "Miss Connecticut," and William Thornton as "Bride of 1948."

Specialties "Aunt Lucia" Glee Club and the Girls' Chorus also proved a big hit and the specialty dancers Gertrude Gerard, Dorothy Gess, and William Gess, were loudly applauded as was Billy Shea in a specialty song, "Betty Co-ed." The production opened with a Children's pageant "Take Me Back to Babyland," with Emma Strickland as special dramatic reader. The pianists were Hazel Rogers and William Gahrman.

GIFT FOR COMPTROLLER Westport, Nov. 21. (AP)—Comptroller Frederick M. Salmon was presented with a chased sterling silver vase, suitably inscribed, at a testimonial dinner here last night. The dinner was held in honor of his election for the fourth term. He is the first man in the history of the state to hold that office of successive terms as comptroller.

UP TO EMPLOYERS TO SOLVE PROBLEM

dressed by Colonel William A. Barron, chairman of the New England Council's recreational development committee, and Ernest N. Smith, executive vice-president of the American Automobile Association. Colonel Barron said that a recent survey showed New England's recreational property to be assessed at $550,000,000 and that annual taxes thereon totalled $10,000,000. He said that 3,000,000 visitors to New England during the past year provided a gross cash income of $500,000,000 to New England.

A prosperity bond issue by the Federal government similar to the Liberty bond issue of the World War period, was suggested by Charles C. Beals, commissioner of the Maine department of labor and industry. "To my mind, this country is facing as serious a condition as at the time of the World War," he said. "At that time we had 2,000,000 men at the front facing bullets. At the present time we have upwards of 4,000,000 not facing bullets but want and hunger and as this condition affects the whole country it is to my mind, a matter of Federal consideration."

"Why not a prosperity bond issue to be authorized by Congress when it convenes in December, the proceeds to be used in carrying out the Federal building program planned to cover the coming few years?"

Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of Massachusetts Technological Institute, told the conference that scientific research was an essential safeguard for industrial investments. There is no disposition in Canada toward retailing at United States tariff rates, W. Simms, president of T. S. Simms & Co. Ltd., of St. Johns, N. B., and past president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said at the closing session.

Canada's Faith "A great faith in their industrial as well as agricultural future has taken possession of the folk of western Canada," he said. "It has been frequently suggested in your own press that this change in sentiment in Canada was stimulated by the high walls that the United States was piling up. It is probable that, particularly in the case of the western agriculturist, there is considerable truth in this view."

"After championing the cause of being able to obtain United States products as free from duty as possible, he may have felt a sense of inquiry that, subsequently, his products were practically debarred in exchange. There is, however, a general disposition in Canada to recognize that any policy that the United States or any other nation chooses to adopt is their own domestic affair. If they make mistakes, these will eventually be corrected through experience, but such acts furnish no ground for complaint on our part, let alone retaliation."

Police Court John Catalano, son of Antonio Catalano of 316 Center street, and Stanley Little, son of Alexander Little of Pearl street, were before the Manchester town court this morning charged with theft of $4.50 from the laundry of Freddie Kwan on Oak street yesterday afternoon. Catalano was 17 years old last Wednesday. Little has just passed his sixteenth birthday.

According to the confession of Catalano, he and Little had entered the store in the night season with the intent of robbery.

Prosecuting Attorney Hathaway maintained that the boys were a menace and should be placed in some institution where they would be restrained. Judge Johnson committed Catalano to the reformatory at Cheshire and imposed a jail sentence of 90 days on Little. The judge suspended the jail sentence and placed Little on probation for one year. He reminded Little that he was now on probation and it was up to him to make good.

Ernest Debrine of Portland paid a fine of $10 and costs for speeding. He was arrested by Patrolman Joseph Prentice last night. Kenneth H. Beer, arrested for speeding had his case adjourned to one week from tomorrow.

Nine more persons paid a fine of $2 each for failure to observe the traffic law regarding the stop signs at side streets.

DEER HUNTERS FINED Haddam, Nov. 21. (AP)—Four persons were fined $10 and costs for hunting deer from an automobile, and using the spotlight, by Mrs. Belle Russell, justice of the peace.

The defendants were Harry E. Benton and Charles Walton, of East Hampton, Fred Walton of New Haven, and Fred A. Baldwin of Middletown. All pleaded not guilty and took an appeal. Bond was set at $100 each. The alleged violation took place the night of November 8 in the Haddam Neck section. County Warden Ray Brittingham of Middletown testified he pursued them ten miles after finding them and arrested them later by tracing the license number of their car.

ABOUT TOWN

The Ladies' Sewing society of the Swedish Lutheran church will hold a Swedish baking sale at Watkins' store at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The ladies are asked to have their contributions at the store as soon after 1 o'clock as possible.

Cian McLean No. 252 O. S. C. will hold its regular meeting in Tinker hall tonight at 7:45 o'clock.

The Young People's branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will hold a meeting tomorrow evening at 7:30 at the home of Dr. Elbert M. Shelton, 105 Chestnut street.

The Order of the Rainbow has changed its meeting night from Saturday to Monday and hereafter meetings will be held on the second and fourth Mondays in the month. At the meeting Monday evening in the Masonic Temple a rehearsal of the initiation ceremony will take place. The Rainbow girls are making plans for an afternoon tea for Friday, November 28 at 3 o'clock at the Temple. Their mothers, friends and members of the women's Masonic organizations will be welcome. A small charge will be made for promotion of the work. The committee is Dorothy, Frazier, Jean Williams, Barbara Hyde and Florence Kfatschmar.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cone, past chief daughter of Helen Davidson Lodge, Daughters of Scotia, as grand deputy, accompanied by Mrs. Elizabeth Duffy, grand conductor; Mrs. Mary Thompson, grand secretary and Mrs. Rachel Munsie, grand chaplain, went to New Britain yesterday to attend the supper of Lady Wallace lodge at that place and install the officers at the meeting which followed.

St. Mary's Men's Bible class will begin their sale of used clothing and other articles tomorrow morning at 8:30 in the store in the State Theater building which the management is kind enough to grant the use of. The sale is in charge of the Ways and Means committee of the Bible class, and the proceeds will be used entirely for local relief work at the discretion of the rector, Rev. James Stuart Neill.

Manchester people are reminded of the Thank-offering sale of fruits, vegetables, poultry, pastry, home made candy and other goods at the Chapel hall in Coventry this evening at 8 o'clock, for the benefit of the Sunday school there. The children will give a short program and no admission will be charged.

The Eagles will play the DeMolay football team in the preliminary game at Hickey's Grove Sunday at 12:45.

There will be a meeting of all boys between 12 and 18 years in age tonight at the South Methodist church for the purpose of making plans for the formation of a basketball league. The meeting is called for 7 o'clock.

LEGION TO INSTALL OFFICERS MONDAY County Commander Perry of Windsor To Be In Charge of Ceremony At State Armory.

Recently elected officers of Dilworth-Cornell Post, No. 192, of the American Legion, will be installed at the State Armory, Monday night at 8 o'clock. The installing officer will be County Commander Charles Perry of Windsor.

In a letter to members, Adjutant Victor W. Bronke asks for wholehearted support during the coming year and also points out that the American Red Cross drive is in full swing and that it would be appropriate to have all former service men as members. The letter also says that a request has been received for clothing of all kinds, especially for children from one to 12 years of age. Anyone having clothing that has been discarded should dial 6674 and it will be collected. Yearly dues of the Legion are also due at this time.

TO REOPEN CASE New Haven, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Judge John Richards Booth today reopened his judgment dismissing the defense action to quash and dismiss information charging officers of the defunct Parker-Smith Mortgage Company with conspiracy in connection with the collapse of their mortgage investment house. As a result the motion will be again argued before him next Friday.

The motion to reopen the judgment passed on the original motion was contained in a brief written document filed by counsel for John E. Parker, Clarence V. Smith and Paul M. Smith.

PROPERTY VALUATIONS Stafford Springs, Nov. 21.—(AP)—State Commissioner W. H. Blodgett who last night talked about town assessments to more than 200 citizens, gave his theory of placing valuations on property. He said that a "fair market value should be set" and a fair market value did not mean the price real estate would bring if it had to be sold immediately. It meant the figure which would be realized if the property was placed in the hands of a competent salesman who would handle it as a business proposition.

SERIOUSLY INJURED New Haven, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Ernest Griser, three years old, was reported in a critical condition at Grace hospital today after being struck by an automobile yesterday.

William B. Davis, 40, of Ansonia, was ordered to appear before Corner J. J. Corrigan today. After the accident he took the unconscious child to the hospital where it was found he had suffered lacerations of face and a fractured skull. His name was placed on the danger list.

Singing and Dancing Groups For "Aeroplane Girl" Learning Parts At Rec.

Active preparations have been started in connection with the Lions Club's musical comedy "The Aeroplane Girl," which is to be presented at the State theater on the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, December 10. Singing and dancing groups comprising the cast of 125 local performers are meeting afternoons and evenings in the Recreation building, and the enthusiasm displayed at the rehearsals augurs well for the success of the performance.

The Lions show committee has been fortunate in securing popular and experienced singers, dancers and comedians for the leading roles, and the principal cast will include such well known performers as Miss Ariyne Moriarty, Miss Mary Ann McFarland, Miss Ida Wilhelm, Miss Hazel Rogers, Miss Elizabeth Bagley, Francis Sullivan, Walt Williams, Albert Tuttle, Terry Shannon, Roy Griswold, "Tommy" Conran and "Bill" Dillon.

LOCAL MAN INJURED IN TRUCK ACCIDENT

Joseph O'Coin Has Both Legs Broken In Troy, N. Y., When Machine Hits Tree.

Joseph O'Coin, who has a wife and two children living on Hamlin street, is in a hospital in Troy, N. Y., with two broken legs, the result of an automobile accident Wednesday of this week. During the summer Mr. O'Coin was engaged by L. T. Wood, in his ice business, but there was not sufficient to do during the winter to keep him at work.

He secured a job as a truck driver for a Hartford concern and, according to the story, was on his delivery truck going down a grade when the car got away from him and brought up against a tree. The truck was badly damaged and O'Coin was thrown so that part of the load fell upon him and his legs were found to be broken when he was taken to the hospital.

JACK O' LANTERN INN TO AID XMAS FUND

Ten per cent of the net receipts at the Jack O'Lantern Inn in Bolton Saturday night will be donated to the Christmas Fund. This practice will be continued two or three more times before Christmas. Joe Rapp's orchestra from Springfield will furnish the music. Reservations for Thanksgiving Day dinners should be made now.

G. Clef Glee Club's Concert Soloist

DONALD PIRNIE

Letters to former and prospective associate members of the G Clef Glee Club were mailed today, soliciting membership for the third annual concert to be given Tuesday evening, January 6, 1931. The club of 40 women's voices is already hard at work on the program, holding rehearsals weekly. The assisting artist will be Donald Pirnie, baritone, of New York City. As usual the concert will be given in the High School Auditorium under the direction of Helge E. Pearson.

TRAINS FOR GAME New Haven, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Not all football followers who like to see John Harvard fight it out with Elihu Yale in the Bowl here travel by auto, taking the facts from the operating officials of the New Haven road. The task of moving the crowd by rail began today with two special trains from Boston.

Altogether the road will handle 42 special trains into the New Haven station and the same number out today and tomorrow. There will be one from Philadelphia, 16 from Boston, including 10 from New York and one from Stamford, to pick up passengers between points. These trains have to be returned to starting points.

MRS. HOOVER ON VISIT TO N. Y. GIRL SCOUTS

New York, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The First Lady of the Land came to New York today to attend a "party" given in her honor by the Girl Scouts.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, honorary president of the Girl Scouts, arrived from Washington and went to the Cosmopolitan Club. Tonight she will be guest at a dinner at the Hotel Biltmore which will mark the inauguration of the Girl Scout Federation of Greater New York, co-ordinating certain executive functions of the councils in the five boroughs. After attending a luncheon given by directors of the Scouts National organization, Mrs. Hoover's plans for the rest of the day were unannounced. It was suggested she might do some Christmas shopping this afternoon.

ANDERSON SUSPECT

New Haven, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Samuel Ebenheim, 35, of New Britain, arrested in Bridgeport on charges of passing fraudulent checks was held here today awaiting the arrival of Fairfield county officers who wished to question him in connection with the shooting of Sergeant Amos Anderson of the Danbury police department early Monday.

Presented in court this morning, the fraudulent check case was continued to Nov. 29, while bond was set at $5,000. Five counts were lodged against him. His arrest in Bridgeport recently was made on a similar charge.

Archduke Otto and the Hapsburg Curse

The Strange, Romantic Story Behind The Boy Who May Try To Gain Hungary's Throne

© 1930, NEA SERVICE, INC.

This already has been told: Archduke Otto of Hungary, reaching the age of 18 on Nov. 20, becomes eligible under the ancient laws of the Hapsburgs for the throne which his father, the late Emperor Karl, lost in the World War. Otto, reared in exile and poverty, has already felt the blight of the sinister "Hapsburg Curse" that has pursued his royal family for generations, more about which is told today. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

By MILTON BRONNER
European Manager, NEA Service

(Copyright 1930, NEA Service, Inc.)
London, Nov. 21.—If young Archduke Otto, nearing the age of marriage, dreams of romantic life, he cannot dream of anything less, as a rule, than marrying their equals in births and lineage. But having formally married royalty, they sought love at the hands of some captivating young woman of the common people. History is filled with such "affairs."

The old Emperor Franz Joseph of Austria-Hungary, husband of the unhappy Empress Elizabeth (and Otto's great-great uncle) had his clandestine romance with a beautiful Viennese actress. Others had as their playthings of love in the daughter of a soldier, or possibly the daughter of a minor member of the nobility. But to the Hapsburgs all of them were equally "common" and beyond the pale of actual marriage to royalty.

However, in all fairness, not always did the fault lie wholly with the husband. A royal wife who nags and is spiteful can make a royal marriage just as unhappy as any other kind. More so, perhaps, when a man is forced, for reasons of state, into a loveless marriage with a woman that he perhaps never saw before.

The "Mystery of Meyerling"—The "hero" of one of the strangest romances in the left hand of the annals of time was the unfortunate Crown Prince Rudolf, only son of Emperor Franz Joseph. It remains today as one of the world's classic mysteries—"The Mystery of Meyerling."

For a time, it seemed that the ancient curse of the Hapsburgs had skipped Rudolf. He had inherited the good looks of his mother, the unhappy Empress Elizabeth. Like her, he has unusual intellectual gifts. Like her, he was open to new ideas. He seemed to have inherited nothing from his cold, calculating father.

His education was deep and wide. He loved history. From it he gleaned liberal ideas. He won the reputation of being a "free thinker." He saw clearly that his father did not seem to see, that the power of the Hungarians in the empire was becoming a menace by arousing the hatreds of the other minority races.

Just as Franz Joseph cooled off to his brother, Archduke Maximilian, when the latter wanted a little real power, so a coolness sprang up between the emperor and his son. They represented two different generations, two different schools of thought.

Enters Loveless Marriage
Then Rudolf was forced into a loveless marriage. The emperor made his son marry the woman picked for him. She was the daughter of King Leopold of Belgium.

Rudolf's mother opposed the match, because she hated Leopold and all his house. But Franz Joseph was adamant and so in 1881 Rudolf was duly married to the 17-year-old Princess Stephanie, a thin, ugly girl, with a nagging, jealous spirit. It was a bad match from the start.

And then in 1888 came the love of his life.
Fate threw across his path the Baroness Marie Vetsera, young, beautiful, with ardent Greek blood in her veins. The girl had fallen in love with him and through a mutual friend she found a way to meet him. The infatuated girl literally threw herself into his arms.

The impressionable crown prince returned her passion. The time and circumstances were ripe for such an adventure. His married life had been very unhappy. The nagging and jealous Stephanie had nothing to give him. Nor was she beautiful. So Rudolf took his happiness where he found it. Time and again he met the lovely Marie clandestinely. He contemplated the dissolution of his hateful marriage and even went to the Vatican itself.

Of course the Roman Curia, with its close connections with the Hapsburgs, quickly communicated with the emperor. Old Franz Joseph was beside himself with rage. There were stormy scenes between father and son in the emperor's study. Finally the discouraged crown prince pledged himself to take no steps for a divorce, and also to break off his liaison with Marie.

But on the very next day, according to Rudolf's plans, the little baroness fled from her home and joined him at his hunting lodge in Meyerling.

Crown Prince Rudolf and his pretty sweetheart, Marie, who died together in the famous "Mystery of Meyerling" that has never been solved.

never be fully known. But on the morning of Jan. 30, 1889, the emperor learned that his son and sweetheart had been found dead in Meyerling—both of them shot.

Busy tongues gossiped. One story had it that one of the ruler's game keepers had killed Rudolf because of an alleged wrong done his daughter. Another story was that two royal archdukes had unexpectedly turned up at Meyerling with a deadly plot in mind. They hated Rudolf's liberalism and dreaded to see him mount the throne. It was said they called and drank with the young man, while the girl remained hidden in an adjacent room. They sent the only attendant away to get more drink at the village and then shot Rudolf and his Marie. Still another story was that Rudo had been mixed up with the Hungarian plots against the then imperial premier. This legend grew into another tale of plots and conspiracies, according to which Rudolf, with his kinsman Archduke John Salvator, had planned to seize the crown of Hungary, force the abdication of his father and seize all power. The story was strengthened by the fact that shortly after Rudolf's death, Archduke John gave up his rank and sailed away on a vessel which mysteriously disappeared in the Pacific. Another tragedy of the Hapsburgs.

Lovers' Death Pact Seen
Out of all the welter of tales, Vienna and Budapest finally came to believe that this was true.
Rudolf was in despair. He hated his wife. He loved Marie, but saw no happy outcome. The girl, filled with romantic ideas, unwilling to be separated from him, had often spoken of a "hibestod"—a death of love. In a wild impulse, he yielded to her wish, shooting her and then killing himself.

The unfortunate girl probably reasoned that at least they would be united in death forever. But they were not. From somewhere in the Vienna palace came stern commands. Surprisingly relatives of Marie drove to Meyerling in a closed carriage. Under the cover of night, they removed her dead body, but propped it up between them as if they were driving away with a living girl. She was buried quietly, swiftly, secretly—and far from his side.

Even this terrible tragedy that claimed the life of his only son left the callous Emperor Franz Joseph cold. Calmly he drafted lying telegrams to the crown heads of Europe. To the German emperor he wrote: "Deeply moved, I beg to announce to you that Rudolf, who had gone to Meyerling for the shooting, died suddenly this morning. Probably heart failure."
Messages of similar wording were sent to other sovereigns. The only exception was that sent to the Pope. In this he only announced his "cruel loss." He did not venture to lie to the Pope.

TOMORROW: The murder of a Hapsburg archduke that precipitated the World War.

reduction possible and eliminate possibility of a deficit.
Government officials have declined to predict whether continuance of the income tax rate would be recommended to Congress.

President Hoover recently said it would not be surprising if the government ended the present fiscal year next June 30 with a slight deficit. If such a condition did arise, it would be the first since 1919.

MARKED OVER PHONE
Los Angeles, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Separated by 1,300 miles, Miss Thelma Passwaters, of Los Angeles, and Gordon S. White, Kinsley, Kansas, banker, were united in marriage by telephone. The ceremony was performed last night during a celebration of the golden wedding anniversary of the bride's grandparents.

AMERICAN DENTIST DIES
Berlin, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Dr. Charles P. Haselden, American dentist, of Worcester, Mass., died in Berlin yesterday at the age of 87 years of heart weakness. Dr. Haselden was one of the few Americans who remained in Germany during the war. He was noted as a golf and tennis player.

STUDENT EDITOR LOSES POSITION

Dropped Because of His Bellicose Editorials Stirring Up Cal-U. S. C. Friction.

Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Firing diminished along the California-Southern California football front today with the ousting last night of the California student editor who is credited with provoking hostilities.

Apparently the situation was relieved further by the University of Southern California authorities in expelling George Kirkwood, a third string football player who admitted his ineligibility.

Arthur Arlett, editor of the Daily Californian, whose editorial charges hinting of professionalism in the Southern California grid squad led to a near break between the two institutions, was removed from his job by the student executive committee.

Arlett's bellicose editorials began to appear shortly before Southern California's recent 74 to 0 victory over California. A hall of charges from the California sector followed the game but authorities of the Berkeley institution apologized to Southern California, averting a threatened break in their athletic relationships.

HER "DEAD" HUSBAND SPEAKS OVER RADIO

New York, Nov. 21.—(AP)—A "dead" husband has come back over the radio to haunt Mrs. Mary Mulholland and mate No. 2.
John T. Mulholland told the court yesterday, in his suit to have the marriage annulled, that he wed Mrs. Mulholland in 1917 with the understanding that her first husband, Frederick (Spider) Tillman, Jr., had departed.

But when a radio speaker from the Doyer street mission was announced as "Spider" Tillman, Mulholland said, "I noticed my wife's facial expression undergo a complete change." Subsequent interviews with Tillman revealed him as the missing spouse, he said.
"Well, I don't know," Mrs. Mulholland was reported to have said when confronted with this, "I didn't think he had nerve enough to talk over the radio."

SMUGGLERS KILLED
El Paso, Tex., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Frank Barncastle of Las Cruces, N. J., and Pesus Paz, El Paso, were shot and killed in a gun fight last night with United States customs officers at the outskirts of the city.
Nine men engaged in the fight, one believed wounded, escaped.
The customs officers said they came upon eleven men afoot who had forded the Rio Grande and were loading twenty-two sacks of Mexican liquor into an automobile parked on the American side of the river. The officers said the alleged smugglers opened fire when ordered to surrender.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Los Angeles—Lyman Voelpel can fly upside down in a glider. Twice in a flight he flipped the machine over and flew 100 feet.
Roosevelt Field, N. Y.—Miss Frances Harrell has sent word from Washington that she and another woman plan to stay up in the air longer than any man ever did. They propose to make an endurance flight at Miami in January.

London—From a bachelor judge comes the conclusion that women are worse perjurers than men. In a lecture Justice McCarty, discussing perjury, said nothing can exceed the audacious reliance upon their sex which is so frequently displayed by women.

Washington—Any curiosity as to the contents of Mrs. Lindbergh's notes of a lecture on the training of a pre-school child probably will remain unsatisfied. Anyhow her pencil was busy when it was set forth among other things that the average child of four years is likely to have from one to four spankings a month.

Paris—The most popular show in Paris these days has no girly features whatsoever. It's a political satire representing Lafayette waking up and uttering warnings about material things.

CONGRESSMEN DO WORK
Milwaukee, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Congressman Ruth Bryan Owen of Florida, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, said the public had the wrong idea about Congressmen. They're really a hard-working crowd, she told the College Endowment Association last night.
"Visitors in the galleries at Washington," she said, "get the wrong impression. They don't realize most of the work is done in committee meetings."

Action Without Harm Whenever Constipated

Here's a way to be rid of constipation and its ills—a way that works quickly, effectively, but gently.
A candy Cascaret at night—the next morning you're feeling fine. Breath is sweetened; tongue cleared; biliousness, headaches, dizziness, gas vanish. Repeat the treatment two or three nights to get the souring waste out of your system. See how appetite and energy return; how digestion improves.

The action of Cascarets is sure, complete, helpful to everyone. They are made from cascara, which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have the 10c boxes.—Adv.

Reviews of Books at the South Manchester Library

Among the many books on display in the Children's Room of the South Manchester Library during this week are the following:

Katharine Fyle, whose books are always most enthusiastically received by children has a new book which has appeared recently. It is entitled "Tales from Norse Mythology" and consists of twenty-five favorite old Norse legends charmingly retold and illustrated. Here you can read how the world was made and how the gods and giants were created. Here also are all the old stories and many new ones of Odin, the All-Father, and Frigg, his wife, Thor and his hammer, and Sif with the golden hair. The illustrations are also by Miss Fyle.

A book which will be most useful for those who are interested in reading about the lives of famous men is "Men Who Found Out," by Anabel Williams-Ellis. In these lively hero stories of scientific research she has given us a thoroughly modern story book about real people like Lister, Harvey, Pasteur and Madame Curie. She writes with the charm of a story teller—she told these stories first to her own inquisitive children. "Men Who Found Out" is a jolly and exciting book, and a good book as well. It tells the story of Darwin's voyage on the Beagle, how Michael Faraday invented the steam engine; how Lord Lister transformed hospitals, and also tells an excellent account of the fight against yellow fever.

A little book of poems, "More About Me," by John Drinkwater appears as a companion piece to his "All About Me" which came out two years ago. In this volume the distinguished playwright and writer of serious verse has written a book of verse for children and their parents. It is rich in humor and whimsical philosophy, and candidly written from a child's viewpoint.

The "They Have Carried the Mail," by Joseph Walker is the November choice of the Junior Literary Guild. When you watch the air mail speeding across the sky he is indeed a very thrilling figure, but have you ever wondered about the other courageous men who carried the mail during the many centuries before the airplane was even dreamed of? It is the story of these brave and daring men which Mr. Walker has so stirringly told. Here is Phidippides the runner who carried the news of the Marathon victory. Here are Buffalo Bill and other famous riders who braved Indians and bandits to carry the mail to the frontier West. Here are our own air mail pilots. The book is illustrated by Frank Dobies who has done so much illustrating of children's books.

One of the best of the new books for older boys is "Spice and the Devil's Cave" by Agnes Danforth Hewes. This is a tale of the struggle between Venice and Portugal to gain control of the all-sea route to the spices of India and the Far East. The scene is laid at Lisbon at the end of the fifteenth century. We find pictures of Vasco da Gama, Magellan, and Diaz. The appearance of the mysterious Arab girl, Nejni, turns the whole plot, and leads to the eventual discovery of the Way of the Spices. This incident of the Arab girl is based on a real happening. The story is vividly told, and gives a splendid picture of the times about which little has been written.

Another book of adventure by an always popular writer of fiction for either boys or girls is "Red Man's Luck" by Constance Lindsay Skinner. The Indians called him the Beloved Child because said they "he brings us good fortune." So the white traders who had named him "Luck." The adopted son of Chief Long Shadow, he lives part of the time in the Blackfeet Lodges, and the rest of the time with Factor MacDonald. With both brains and humor the story tells of Luck's adventures at "The Isle of Wings" where thousands of migrating birds descend, on the caribou stempede, the buffalo hunt, in the Ghost Swamp, and in the final war in a swirling blizzard on a high-pass in the Rockies.

Especially for older girls comes "Judith Lankester" by Marjorie Hill Allee. Lovely fifteen year old Judith petted by her Virginia grandmother finds herself most unwillingly a part of the stream of migration to Indiana in 1840. Judith is placed in the Huff family to help earn her living doing pioneer housework. The Huff family either build a better and their first desire is to build a railroad. Their plans are threatened by a flood. The story tells of how Judith at first so scornful of them is able to help at the crucial moment, and how the Huff's become of much help to Judith. The background is authentic and across it moves many another figure typical of the times.

Probably no list of books would be complete without one by Eliza Orme White. The heroine of "The Green Door" is a little girl with an imagination. Her father has told her a story of how a little princess found a door that led to a beautiful garden. In Hazel's life there are two doors, one in the very back of her mind which leads to a make-believe country where everything is far more to her taste than in the real world. The other is the green door in the house across the street. Behind this door lives Rosemary, and with her and her cousins Hazel has many happy times, for these children are as fond of "make-believe" as Hazel herself. It is illustrated with scissor cuts by Lisl Hummel.

A picture book which will delight the heart of a very little child is "A B C" by Helen Sewell. From the moment a stands for "awake" to the end when Z is "Zip into Bed" you can follow the hours of this gay alphabet book. Each letter is accompanied by a full page picture in color which shows amusing children going through the routine of a small person's day.

which should not be missed is "Picture Book of Mother Goose" by Berta and Elmer Hader. These two artists have been doing wonderful illustrating for children during the past few years, and for twelve years have been working on this colorful edition of the always new, always old favorite. There are 42 pages in four colors, twenty in three colors, and the rest, are in black and white with colored borders. All the rhymes are there and the music too for the verses which have been sung as games and lullabies to children for generations.

Advance Guards Thrusts and Counters Interest to Local Soldiers

Company G.
Monday's drill was the last Company G will hold this quarter. It completed the twelve drills required for the period. Payrolls are being prepared and will shortly be on the way to the finance officer for his attention. It is expected the checks will be back and ready for distribution about December 8.

ANDOVER

The annual election of officers of the Andover Grange took place Monday evening as follows: Master, John Hutchinson; overseer, Edwin Lindholm; lecturer, Mrs. Wallace I. Woodin; steward, Eugene E. Thompson; assistant steward, Donald Little; treasurer, Ellsworth Covell; secretary, Olgo Lindholm; gatekeeper, Alex Fox; Ceres, Mrs. George Nelson; chaplain, Rev. Wallace I. Woodin; pomona, Mrs. Masud Flora; Mrs. Ellsworth Covell; lady assistant, Mrs. Donald Tuttle; executive committee for three years, Percy B. Cook; pianist, Nathan B. Gatchell. An oyster supper was served under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Erskin B. Hyde. There were 40 members present.

On Friday evening at 8 o'clock members of Burrill Grange in New Britain will present a four-act play "Where The Lane Turned," written by Florence Cowles of Farmington, in the Town Hall. The entertainment is presented under the auspices of the Girls' League.

Mrs. Ernest Perry underwent an operation in the Hartford hospital Monday morning. She is reported as in a satisfactory condition.

Mrs. Ward Talbot was a caller in Manchester Tuesday.

Mrs. Joseph Brunell, Mrs. Anna Stimpson and Philip Seaton all of Burnside spent Wednesday with Mrs. Florence Platt.

A New York sports writer has been getting free coal for needy families through his column. Seems to have turned from the baseball diamond to the black diamond.

is receiving much praise which is certainly due him.
Former Lieutenant Ed. Thompson was a visitor Monday night. Eddie still likes the environment of military surroundings and is a frequent and welcome visitor.

Since the pool table was recovered and cues purchased, the company rooms are being used more frequently than heretofore. The new radio is also an added attraction. The pool table has brought out the fact that there are a number of "sharks" in G Company. It is hoped a challenge will soon issue from either company to settle the argument as to the best player among the local guardsmen.

Howitzer
The Company inspection was held Tuesday night. The condition of the uniforms and equipment were very good, showing the result of attention on the part of the men of the Company.

At the monthly meeting of the Company which followed the drill the President was empowered to appoint a committee of five members to revise the constitution and by-laws and to present the revision at an early meeting of the company. Refreshments were served after the meeting by the company cooks and assistants.

The cup donated by the officers to the man scoring highest in pistol marksmanship was presented to Corporal Frank Vitullo, the winner of this year's competition.

Proper cadence in close order drill was demonstrated by each squad for the benefit of the company. The correct cadence of 128 steps per minute was attained by several squads.

Experiments are being carried on in the Howitzer Company in an effort to improve the appearance of the pistol holsters.
The Howitzer Company will not drill again this month, the next drill night being Tuesday, Dec. 2. In the meantime the monthly reports and quarterly payrolls will be prepared and forwarded.

COMMUNISTS' CAUSE HURTING MISSIONS

New York, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Christianity is finding Communism a more and more formidable foe in foreign missionary fields, and especially in Mexico, the Methodist Episcopal Board of Foreign Missions was told today by John F. Edwards, its secretary.
"Hundreds of young Mexicans are growing up today well educated in many ways but with a distinct antagonism toward religion, due largely to influence of Communists," he said.

Social unrest throughout Asia, arising often from Bolshevik teachings, has hindered missionary work there, his report said, and in many parts of China and India the missionary work of years has been undermined.

Treasurer Morris Ehres reported collections in the United States in the last year had fallen ten per cent.

HILLSTOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hathaway, Arline Getto, Ruth Dow and Florence Mequon returned Sunday night after attending the National Grange convention. George Ruoff the newly elected Master of the Hillstown Grange returned Monday after attending the National Grange. Mr. and Mrs. James Bancroft, Miss Emma Bancroft have returned after paying a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dixon at Heath, Mass.

KEEP ON WORKING, SOUNDEST REMEDY

Head of New England Council Says That Will Do Away With Unemployment

Freston, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Stability in industry and employment must be brought about through employment in industrial management, the New England Council was told yesterday at the opening of its sixth New England conference by its president, Redfield Proctor.

"The soundest remedy for unemployment is continuance of employment," he said "and the greatest force for establishing continuous employment is the employment of management."

Declaring some New England industries had been negligent in research he said the importance of research in business was seriously undervalued.

The opening session which was attended by nearly one thousand New England business men was addressed by the governors of all the New England states and a message of congratulation was read from President Hoover.

Outside Interests
The increase in ownership by outside interests of the railroads in New England placed serious responsibility on organized business in New England. Proctor said, and asked: "As long as we do not own control of our railroad property, how can we expect to see them remain absolutely unchanged?"

Turning to the subject of banking he said that New England's banking population was larger, proportionately than its human population and expressed the belief that the section's business requirements would be better handled and its banks strengthened by a substantial number of constant eliminations.

William Phillips, regional director for New England of the President's emergency committee for employment suggested that the New England Council act as liaison body between the several state organizations in unemployment. He discussed briefly the efforts being made in the various New England states to relieve unemployment and said "There is in my opinion, no cause for alarm, for New England is solid and prosperous. A situation however, has arisen in our midst which needs thought and guidance. Every man and woman throughout New England who is not particularly affected by the lack of employment can help in this emergency by going about as usual, by buying by usual and by not hiding his money in a stocking in the fear that something dreadful is going to happen in the United States."

Governor's Address
In his address of welcome, Governor Frank G. Allen of Massachusetts said that the idea of organized co-operation between the New England states was started in 1925 as an experiment. "So far as I am aware," he said, "no state has cause to feel that it has lost anything, in prestige, dignity or material value by its association with the other states in our kinship of New England."

The power companies of New England will have spent $85,000,000 in 1930 instead of the $60,000,000 which was the estimate reported to President Hoover early in the year. Charles L. Edgar, president of the Boston Edison Electric Illuminating Co., and chairman of the council's power committee said in a report presented by W. R. Peabody, a member of the committee.

He predicted that the power business would have a yearly growth of "something in the neighborhood of 10 per cent."

Governor John H. Trumbull of Connecticut urged the New England states to meet the challenge of the aviation industry and thereby benefit by the further development of a new and rapid means of transportation and communication.

Governor Weeks of Vermont urged increased use of the New England quality farm label on agricultural products and said his own state was expediting to the utmost use of the label on Vermont products.

DYING MAN CONCEALS NAMES OF RELATIVES
New Haven, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Michael O'Donnell's dying wish today appeared due for fulfillment in spite of police efforts. His body remained unclaimed by relatives.

"Never mind who I am," he whispered shortly before he died yesterday. "I don't want anyone to know about me." No more was offered to break the silence he has kept about himself since he was sentenced to the New Haven county jail on a charge of vagrancy.

It is known only that he was born in Ireland 59 years ago and lived in Albany a short time. Unless the body is claimed by relatives before 3 o'clock tomorrow he will be disposed of by the city, officials said.

He was arrested on a cold day early in October and sentenced to 60 days in jail when he pleaded guilty of the vagrancy charge.

His health declined in confinement and he was sent to St. Raphael's hospital, there his illness developed into pneumonia.

UNEMPLOYMENT SURVEY
Washington, Nov. 21.—(AP)—A survey of unemployment in 40 cities is to be made for President Hoover's emergency commission on unemployment by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

TO DEDICATE ALTAR SCREEN ON SUNDAY

South Methodist Vespers Service Occasion For Unveiling Wood Carving.

A considerable degree of interest is being manifested in connection with the Vesper Service on Sunday next at 4:30 in the South Methodist church, when in addition to the customary musical the enlarged Reredos Screen will at that time be formally dedicated and unveiled. A has been stated the addition is in the form of twelve carved panels, with embellishments in oak, which sets out as its pinnacle the beautiful carved panel "The Last Supper" from the da-Vinci masterpiece, this carving having been executed by Guido Mayer of Oberammergau, who is of world fame because of his executing the part of Jesus in the Passion Play at Oberammergau in many presentations.

The remaining carvings are entirely the work of Dr. Julian S. Wadsworth, and are in every respect worthy objects of this art. The setting for the same was designed and executed in a very fitting manner by the well known church interior decorators, Irving and Casson, Boston, Mass. Much thought has been given to the entire scheme and in all respects it will be a worthy addition in art features in local church circles.

Rev. R. A. Colpitts will conduct the exercise of dedication in which he will be assisted by the vested choir. The musical program arranged consists of three choral numbers by the choir and an organ recital by Carl McKinley, and in this respect care has been taken to make this part of the ceremony of a brief type so as not to unduly lengthen the presentation. The program is as follows:

- Organ Prelude—"Autumn Evening" Swinnen
- Processional Hymn No. 28—"For the Beauty of the Earth" Kocher
- Apostles' Creed Tallis
- Antiphonal Sentences Hoyt
- Prayer—Choral Response Hoyt
- Chorus—"Prayer of Thanksgiving" arr. Kremser
- Dutch Folk-Song "Thy Lamb" (Chorus a cappella) Tchalkovsky
- "Forever Worthy is Thy Lamb" (Chorus a cappella) Brahms
- Chorus—"How Lovely is Thy Dwelling-Place" from the "German Requiem" Schumann
- Offertory—"Evening Song" (organ) (The offering is for the music fund)
- Organ recital by Carl McKinley: "In Elysium" Gluck
- "Melody for the Bells of Bergball Church" Sibelius
- "Caprice Viennois" Kreisler
- "Marche Solennelle" Tombelle
- Benediction—Choral Amen Dunham
- Recessional Hymn No. 621—"Hark, Hark, My Soul" Smart

SHOT FOR CALLING NAMES
Springfield, Inn., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Even his best friend can't call Thos. Daugherty, 46 years old mimer, a "Sissy." Daugherty shot and wounded Thos. J. Connor, 51, with whom he has worked for many years, as they were entering a mine today.

The shooting, Daugherty told the police, was the aftermath of a quarrel last week in which Connor called him "Sissy." Connor was not injured seriously.

POPE WILL ISSUE APPEAL FOR PEACE

Very Much Concerned Over the Italian-French Differences Over Arms Cut.

Vatican City, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Pope Pius was understood today to be preparing a new encyclical dealing generally with the question of universal peace and indirectly with disarmament.

Although official Vatican circles professed to be entirely ignorant of the contents of expected encyclical, it was believed it will be in the nature of a Christmas message to the Christian world deploring competition in armaments and containing exhortations of peace and good will.

It has been known for a long time to the few intimates of the Pope that he has been much concerned with the present Italian-French naval difficulties, and that the nuncio in Switzerland had been instructed to report to him fully on the chances of calling a general disarmament conference under auspices of the League of Nations at Geneva next spring.

The same diplomat has been regularly reporting the progress of the preparatory disarmament commission now in session in Geneva.

ARTIST OUT ON BAIL

New York, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Freedom under reduced bail was granted today to Victor Rosso, South American portrait painter, held with his wife for arson in connection with an alleged international plot to defraud insurance companies.

Magistrate McKinley reduced Rosso's bail from $25,000 to $10,000 after postponing his hearing till next Tuesday in the face of objections by the painter's lawyer, who declared about the charges by Fire Marshal Brophy that the Rossos were involved in an international plot.

The Rossos were arrested after a fire alleged to have been set to collect $266,130 insurance on 160 paintings. Brophy declared the titles of some of the paintings were similar to those of pictures supposed to have been destroyed in a Buenos Aires fire.

Mrs. Rosso is free in $5,000 bail.

EMBLEM CLUB PLANS ANNUAL CARD PARTY

Mrs. John Keeney Named General Chairman—Will Be Held On December 10.

Mrs. John Keeney of Rockville has been appointed general chairman of the Emblem Club's fourth annual card party, and the date set is Wednesday evening, December 10. It will be held at the Elks home in Rockville. The members reside in Manchester, Rockville, Stafford Springs and Broad Brook, and the proceeds will be devoted to charity in each of these towns.

Progressive bridge, pivot bridge and whist will be played. Those who wish to reserve tables for pivot bridge may do so by conferring with Mrs. Frederick DeHope of this town, or Mrs. Raymond Hunt and Mrs. Carl Prutting of Rockville. Six prizes will be awarded in each section. Two door prizes of $2.50 each will be awarded to the man and woman who draws the lucky number. Refreshments will be served.

The committees in charge follow: Reception, Mrs. Thomas P. Garvan, president of Emblem Club No. 5; Mrs. George Williams, supreme financial scribe; Mrs. Michael Roberts, Mrs. Joseph Laverty, Mrs. Charles Keeney, Mrs. Frederick DeHope, Mrs. Arthur Vincent, Mrs. John Coleman, Mrs. Harry Dowling, Mrs. John Keeney, Mrs. Raymond Hunt, secretary; Mrs. Carl Prutting, treasurer; Mrs. DeHope, publicity; Bridge committee—Mrs. DeHope, Mrs. Edward Burke, Mrs. Arthur Drayton, Mrs. Thomas Dannaher, Mrs. William Cosgrove.

Cards and accessories—Miss Minnie McCarthy, Mrs. Edward Birns, Mrs. Charles Keeney, Mrs. Arthur Drayton, Mrs. M. Bennett, Mrs. Ralph Morin, Mrs. John Coleman, Mrs. James W. Foley, Mrs. Lawrence Conrick, Mrs. Charles Willeke, Mrs. William Cosgrove.

Prize committee—Mrs. T. F. Garvan, Mrs. John Keeney, Mrs. Lawrence Conrick, Mrs. DeHope.

The enthusiastic workers in charge realize the needs at this time are usually urgent and are hoping for the generous support of this year's affair.

RAPS DRUNKEN DRIVING

Hartford, Nov. 21.—(AP)—R. B. Stoeckel, commissioner of motor vehicles, talking to the College Club yesterday, laid emphasis upon the extra hazards which accompany reckless driving is traceable to liquor consumption.

The solution of the drunken driving problem, the commissioner thought might come through making the offense a felony that adequate punishment might be imposed and public sentiment aroused against it.

TOLL OF TORNADO 19 DEAD, 57 HURT

Over a Thousand Homes Destroyed In Three States, Red Cross To the Rescue.

Kansas City, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Tornadoes which swept through Oklahoma, Arkansas and Kansas communities Wednesday exacted toll of 19 lives, injured scores, left many homeless and did property damage estimated at nearly $1,000,000.

At least 14 persons were killed and 57 injured seriously by the tornado which demolished more than one thousand houses at Bethany, a Nazarene settlement seven miles west of Oklahoma City.

Four were killed at the Camel Creek school about four miles south of Bethany, where the tornado first struck, and the teacher and ten pupils injured. The school house was demolished.

Building Destroyed
D. D. Powell, city recorder of Ola, Ark., was killed and his wife seriously injured in a tornado which razed half the business buildings in Ola.

Appeals by Governor A. J. Holloway and the American Red Cross for $30,000 with which to carry on the work of rehabilitation were met promptly by donations which early today totaled more than $13,000.

The homeless persons were being cared for by half a dozen relief organizations and friends whose homes escaped the storm.

National Guardsmen patrolled the storm-swept area to prevent looting.

NEW ITALIAN LAW

Rome, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Under terms of a bill approved by the council of Ministers today all youths following their eighteenth birthdays must turn out for military drill and instruction every Sunday morning for eighteen months.

A reduction of the drill period to three months is provided for the eldest sons of families with ten or more children. Boys having two older brothers already serving or having served with the colors, the only sons of fathers too old to work, the only sons of widowed mothers, those having dependent brothers and sisters to support and the only sons of fathers killed or wounded in the war.

Regular compulsory military service in Italy, which remains unchanged by the bill, is eighteen months and begins when a youth reaches the age of twenty.

BODIES DISCOVERED

Burbank, Cal., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Three bodies and a pile of wreckage, found yesterday in the Tehachapi foothills north of here, revealed the fate of a northbound Pacific Coast air mail plane caught in storm and fog, nearly Tuesday.

Flavius A. Donaldson, veteran pilot who served in the Army Air Corps during the World War, was at the controls Monday night when the Pacific Air Transport plane left here for Oakland. With him were George Rogers, mechanic and Miss Jean Markow, who was celebrating her 18 birthday with a flight to Portland, Oregon, to visit friends.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21.

If the structural iron worker, the bricklayer, the carpenter and their trade allies will each match his day's work against that of the factory worker, the clerk, the laborer and the farmer—within of course reasonable limits—there will arise at once a tremendous demand for labor and materials in the building of homes, public edifices and industrial and welfare construction.

It is almost unquestionably true that the letting of a contract for one new building for every ten buildings now standing in America would bring an instant and complete revival of trade in every direction. It would sop up the surplusage of labor inevitably to be let out of the automotive industry; it would set the wheels to whirling in a thousand supply factories. It would solve the problem of stagnation. Because construction is after all the basic business of the world outside of raising food and making clothes.

Nothing on earth is so essential to a restoration of business as the deflation of wages and contract prices in the building trades.

NO CAPITAL?

It is rather surprising to hear so learned a person as Dean Furniss of the Yale Graduate School say that in order for Russia to put her five year program into effect a large amount of capital was needed and that at the start "Russia had none." And then proceed to explain that in order to obtain money needed for the development of the program the Soviet Union had to resort to export.

If the stuff that Russia is exporting does not constitute capital then what on earth can the word mean? To say that a nation which has been able to swap several hundred millions of dollars' worth of commodities for other commodities had no capital to start business with is to defy every conception of capital wealth that has received general acceptance.

It is rather obvious that a government which exercises full control over the existing machinery of civilization of a hundred and fifty million people, with all stocks of food, forest products and those of mines and factories, has a very considerable capital. In fact Russia hasn't obtained a nickel of capital from anywhere. All she has been able to do is to convert one kind of capital into another kind by the process of trade.

So many people are becoming newly interested in Russia, and at the same time developing for the first time a glimmering curiosity about economics, that it behooves authoritative speakers like a dean of graduates at Yale to avoid careless use of terms likely to bewilder the man in the street—because the man in the street reads the newspapers which report such people's lectures.

RED BLOODED FOR PEACE

Benito Mussolini should come to America and lecture before each of our numerous associations of super-patriots on the subject of "Peace Through Preparedness." If he can't come then the super-patriots in this country owe it to him to make him honorary vice-president of each of their national bodies, at least.

"The best way to prevent war is to be prepared to defend peace. We are prepared to reduce armaments to the lowest possible level—provided, of course, that this level is not below that agreed on by other continental powers. So long as other nations arm so must Fascist Italy arm that she may be in a position to defend that for which she is even prepared to fight."

Perfect! By merely transposing the names Italy and America we have Il Duce equipped to bring tears of joy to the eyes of the red faced old admirals and the flag waving old ladies who are so determined that never again shall America be caught unprepared as she was in 1917.

In all Europe there is no better exponent of the spirit of the American super-patriots than Signor Mussolini. That is, unless we take into account one old gentleman who now lives at Doorn and whose ideas about fighting to keep the peace may possibly have been somewhat altered since the days, about twenty years ago, when he so often and so loudly expressed them.

SALES TAX

One of the really interesting problems in this country is that New York state proposal to institute a sales tax. As was to have been anticipated, the entire retail community of the state has leaped to arms and the state is seething with protest. On the other hand the real estate associations are marshaling solid phalanxes in support of the idea that rents are no more rightfully entitled to bear the major burden of taxation than sales of commodities.

As for the great body of citizens who have to pay real estate taxes either directly as home owners or indirectly as renters, and who also have to pay over the counter for every item consumed in their daily lives, it is clear that the question isn't so simple a one to them as it is to the store keeper or the landlord. These two latter classes line up automatically. To the merchant a sales tax is an outrage. To the property owner a sales tax is a fine thing, calculated to relieve reality of part of an undue proportion of the burden of maintaining government. There is nothing automatic, however, about the alignment of the general public.

There are just about a million arguments to be presented to the average citizen—half of them in favor of and the other half in opposition to the sales tax idea. It is to be anticipated that during the next year or two New Yorkers will hear most of them.

COMIC OPERA STUFF

Not quite realizing that E. Kent Hubbard's proposal to have Connecticut "secede" from New England was comic opera stuff, the Connecticut Division of the New England Council with all the solemnity in the world last night adopted resolutions asserting the state's allegiance to the Yankee sisterhood.

"But in spite of all temptations 'To belong to other nations 'He remains an Englishman"—sang Sir William Gilbert in the immortal "Pinafore." So, in spite of all temptations to belong to the Middle States, the Southern states or the Pacific Coast states, Connecticut remains New English. And the idea of its becoming anything else is not a whit less fantastic than that of Sir William's hero permitting the waving of some post-natal wand to make him a Russian, Turk or Proosian.

By the way, a good many people are wondering why the Connecticut Manufacturers Association, instead of allowing itself to get all worked up over Mr. Hubbard's twin brilliancies, the secession idea and the one about healing unemployment by repealing the immigration laws, doesn't just quietly pass the word to the Middletown gentleman that he has made a fool of the association long enough and that a really fine idea would be for him to resign as its president.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 21.—Playwrights and theatrical producers are, for one reason or another, not expected to be society figures capable of crashing the Social Register or the Blue Book.

Yet the name of Winthrop Ames can be found in this sacrosanct document, and so can that of Winthrop Freedley, who, with Alex. Aaron, puts on peppy gal shows.

To be sure, the feminine side of the theatrical world has been well represented in the social calendars of several seasons. Hope Williams stepped right out of the "register" into hardboiled roles in "Paris Bound" and a couple of other successes.

Ilka Chase, the screen player, is another allotted, amusingly enough, whose New York window looks out on exclusive Sutton Place. Beatrice Lille, who is a superior clown and loves nothing better than to sing the "coastermonger" type of song, is really Lady Peel in private life. Julia Hoyt and half a dozen others have graduated from the Manhattan salons.

It's different, however, with the men of the theater.

Ames has for years put on the better sort of production. And Aaron and Freedley have reduced low comedy to a high art. Their music shows are invariably among the peppiest to be found on the length and breadth of the Broadway belt.

Yet Freedley is one of the few Broadway figures for whom the doors of the European "Who's Who" eagerly open.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, Nov. 21.—If you want to know what Washington has been talking about more than anything else lately—it's the Wickersham commission and the anticipated report on prohibition.

The best available dope has been that a majority of commission members are willing to suggest modification with light wines and beer, but that neither Chairman Wickersham nor President Hoover want any minority reports which would deprive the report of the impressive effect it would have if it were unanimous.

Members of the commission, however, are not revealing enough outside to give anyone a very clear picture of just what is going on behind the closed doors. Judge William S. Kenyon of Iowa has always been regarded as the outstanding dry on the commission.

Meanwhile, George Cassidy, the "Man in the Green Hat," who used to be the Senate Office Building's favorite bootlegger, is developing literary ambitions following recent publications of two chapters of his memoirs.

If George doesn't win his appeal he is going to the hoosegow for quite a few months and he tells his friends that in that case he will spend his spare time there writing a book. He doesn't see why his senatorial friends and customers haven't come to his aid and he promises that if he does time he will at least open up on paper, name names and emerge from jail looking for a publisher.

The proprietor of one of Washington's largest speakeasies recently became big-hearted and installed a free lunch—consisting of saltines and dried salt herring.

producer on the main stem and his office is a paragon of good taste and appointment. One of the more successful and interesting Broadway tales—if you ask me.

He became interested in dramatics while attending Harvard and on shows there and then returned to his native Philadelphia.

When he took the train for New York, it was with a sheaf of letters from important people in his pocket. He doesn't see why his senatorial friends and customers haven't come to his aid and he promises that if he does time he will at least open up on paper, name names and emerge from jail looking for a publisher.

CONNECTICUT REFUSES 33 FIRMS, LICENSE

New Haven, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Insurance Commissioner H. P. Farnham told the Connecticut Insurance Agents Association, in session here today, that 33 companies were refused licenses to do business in this state, and 17 had their licenses revoked last year.

The explanations given was the department did this to protect the public against unscrupulous companies, departmental policy being to see that only companies of standing and solvency operate in the state. Companies which fail to meet requirements are denied privilege and opportunity of seeking business.

Nevertheless, the commissioner explained, these ejected companies resort to the radio and mail to get their appeal for business before the public. He said thousands of Connecticut citizens are buying "cheap and practically worthless policies from insurance companies and other organizations not licensed by the state." He described Connecticut as "right field for wild-catters and insurance bootleggers."

"TAKEN FOR A RIDE"

Waterbury, Nov. 21.—(AP)—John Vassallo, store proprietor, who was yesterday morning "taken for a ride" in his own truck by two thugs and subsequently beaten, slashed with a razor and robbed of $100, is recovering at his home today from his wounds and the exposure from which he suffered after being left for dead on the outskirts of the city. Vassallo said today that he believes his assailants were hired by an old enemy with whom he had had difficulty over a real estate transaction. Once before, he said, this old enemy, who he refused to name, had hired a thug to beat him, but the hireling had lost his nerve and confessed the plot to him.

CAROL HAS A COLD

Bucharest, Nov. 21.—(AP)—It was said today that King Carol had taken to his bed with a cold. He had a chill Wednesday, but continued with his duties yesterday. Premier Mironescu also is ill with a cold.

Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, editor of the Washington Herald, who has been writing caustic editorials about Alice Longworth and is said to be worth $40,000,000, has been studying the unemployment problem in the capital. She deplored calamity howling editorially and said: "There are less than 5000 unemployed here. Most of these 5000 would not work anywhere, anyhow." The very next day Mrs. Patterson was named by the chairman of the District of Columbia's official unemployment committee among 138 prominent citizens whom he wanted to serve on the committee.

A visitor called at the White House the day after election and asked to see President Hoover on a legitimate errand.

"Sorry," said the secretary she encountered, "but the president is simply overwhelmed."

The visitor smiled.

"Overwhelmed with all kinds of work," the secretary amended hastily.

Diplomats have always been an expensive luxury for many countries and some of those governments which have been hard hit by the depression are cutting down diplomatic salaries. The cuts have run from 20 to 35 per cent. Germans, Argentinians, Cubans and Ecuadorians are among those thus far affected in Washington.

The District of Columbia has been breaking records for the number of prosecutions under the Jones "five and ten" law. The grand jury returned 13 indictments under it just the other day. In the first year of the law the district had more Jones law indictments than any other section in the country, 247 indictments and 116 convictions.

DO YOUR OWN FACE-LIFTING

A face-lifting operation is often resorted to by those who wish to conceal the effects of age. In this type of operation a portion of the skin or underlying tissue is removed near the eyes, forehead, ears or jaws, and the remaining skin is drawn together, stretching it and smoothing out any nearby wrinkles. The results which can be achieved by beauty surgeons are sometimes astounding, at least temporarily.

The chief defects in this face-lifting operation lie in the facts that all people's skin does not react alike; those who perform the operations are not always skillful; and since the skin is not given more life by the operation, the sagging and crows' feet often recur in time. Sometimes, also, the effect is to give the face a strained, drawn appearance, with the eyes slanting upward at the corners.

I do not say that a face-lifting operation should never be resorted to, but I do believe that it would be a better plan for those with wrinkles to try to tone up their skin and improve the appearance by natural methods which are much more permanent, and the effect is never strained, but natural.

Almost anyone past middle age can look much younger by applying a few simple methods for improving the tone of the skin, developing the underlying muscles, and removing the surplus fatty deposits. Wrinkles are formed because of regular creases where the skin folds and shuts off the local blood supply. The blood, too, with the advancing years, does not seem to be as nourishing to the skin, nor does it remove the toxins of the tissues as readily as they are formed. Often, toxic deposits actually form under the skin.

One who is trying to do his own face-lifting should first endeavor to cleanse the blood stream of accumulated impurities which may be clogging the circulation or poisoning the tissues. Nothing is quite as effective for this purpose as a short fruit juice fast accompanied by drinking large quantities of water to flush out the system. After about five days of this regime a well balanced diet, rich in all of the nourishing elements required by the body, should be used. During this time it is a good plan to exercise the muscles of the face and neck, for there is no method of improving the circulation as well as by exercise. The muscles can also be built up to produce a smoother outline.

Another good method of improving the circulation is to apply hot applications to the skin morning and evening after the exercises. This should then be followed with an ice rub or washing in very cold water. Wrinkles can then be rubbed

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Length of Fruit Diet)
 Question: Mrs. K. L. asks: "How long must one take the fruit juice diet and what must one eat directly after leaving off the fruit juices? Can the pulp of the orange be eaten, or just the juice?"
 Answer: Your question about the length of the fruit juice diet is too general for me to give you a very good answer through this column. Anyone will profit a great deal by taking an exclusive fruit diet for a few days, and the length of time would depend on just what one is trying to accomplish in the cure of disease. It is usually all right to use the pulp of the orange when on an orange fruit-diet.

(Reducing Salts)
 Question: Mrs. Overweight asks: "Will you kindly advise if the various reducing soaps and salts on the market are injurious?"
 Answer: Most of these salts and soaps are not injurious but very expensive for the results received from their use. If the treatment consists of lying in a tub of hot water for an hour, it is very enervating. Reducing through dieting and exercising are the only sane, sensible ways.

(Excessive Perspiration)
 Question: A. W. writes: "I would like to know what causes profuse perspiration under the arms and if there is anything I can do to stop it. I am twenty-one years old and very healthy. I would be glad to have your advice."

 Answer: Excessive perspiration is caused by some deep-seated toxemia. If there is a strong odor there has been an invasion to the skin of certain bacteria. A cure may be accomplished by following a well balanced diet and the use of cold shower baths. I do not advocate the use of perspiration preventives.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Troop 5
 The regular meeting of Troop 5 was held last night at 7:15 o'clock. There were 23 Scouts present. Field Executive Joseph Dean was present and after the opening ceremonies he took charge of the games. The troop played one game with cards representing each of the sixteen points of the compass. After the games an instruction period was held until 8:30 o'clock. Other games were played and the meeting closed with the Scout Oath and Prayer.

Notes
 There will be a hike Sunday afternoon, leaving the terminus at 1:30 o'clock.
 Every Scout should come prepared with snacks to the next meeting as the troop is going to practice on the event to be run off at the inter-troop meets.—Scribe Murphy.

KIWANIS LIEUTENANTS

Chicago, Nov. 21.—Dr. Frank E. Dow, of Northampton, Mass., 1881, governor-elect of the New England Kiwanis district, attending an international council gathering of Kiwanians here today announced the following lieutenant governors for 1931: Dr. Raymond D. Fear, Stamford, Conn.; Dr. George P. Hunt, Pittsfield, Mass.; Richard M. Evans, Southboro, Mass.; Charles A. Whitman, Whitman, Mass.; Benjamin F. Wyeth, Cambridge, Mass.; Murray H. Pratt, Lowell, Mass.; John A. Peterson, Bangor, Maine; and William A. Dornay, Portsmouth, N. H.

The present governor is John E. Densmore, of Worcester, Mass.

MENUS For Good Health

Lunch
Tomato Bouillon, Roast Pork, Mashed Turnips, String Beans, Combination Salad of Tomatoes, Cabbage and Celery, Apricot Whip.

SUNDAY
Breakfast
Broiled Fish, Select a fish of firm flesh which does not dent upon pressure, and of a wholesome odor. Split, clean in cold water, and dry thoroughly. Have the oven very hot, about 400 degrees, and place the fish on the broiler rack, skin down. Lower heat after about five minutes to a point where the fish will cook through without burning the outside. This will require about twenty minutes or more, according to the thickness of the fish. When done, remove to hot platter, season with a little parsley butter, and garnish with some crisp raw vegetable.

Slices of lemon may be used when the meal does not contain other fruit acids or starches.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Puffs Under Eyes)
Question: Mrs. E. H. asks: "What would cause puffiness under the eyes?"
Answer: Puffs under the eyes are usually caused from kidney or heart trouble and I believe the best plan would be for you to have a thorough examination to determine the cause. If you will send me your doctor's report I will be glad to send you advice accordingly, if you will also enclose a large self-addressed stamped envelope.

(Sinusoidal Machine)
Question: A. M. P. asks: "Where can I purchase a sinusoidal machine?"
Answer: The sinusoidal electrical machines can be purchased at almost any surgical supply house. However, I do not advise them for private use, as the treatment should be administered in a doctor's office under the supervision of someone who thoroughly understands their use.

WAPPING

The Young People's Christian Endeavor society will hold their meeting at the Federated Church next Sunday evening at half past six, and the subject will be: "What Does It Mean To Be a Christian?" The leader will be Miss Helen Lane of Pleasant Valley.

The two-act comedy play entitled, "The Fascinating Fannie Brown," which was presented by the members of East Windsor Grange, under the auspices of Wapping Grange Home Economics committee, last Wednesday evening at the school hall, was thoroughly appreciated by a good sized audience. Home made candy was sold by the committee. The play was preceded by both instrumental and vocal duets by Miss Dorothy and Miss Helen Frink.

Mrs. O. D. Fisher of Framingham, Mass., has been a recent guest of friends in South Windsor.

At the bazaar to be given by the Parent-Teacher Association of South Windsor early in December, the pupils of Union school will provide the entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Wood and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burns of Springfield, Mass., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Bidwell last Sunday.

There will be a sewing meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association at the home of Mrs. Ralph Howell on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Education Week was observed in all schools in the town of South Windsor. The parents were cordially invited to attend any sessions and see the regular work of the schools. Armistice Day was observed by all classes with short programs held in the rooms. The schools closed at noon in commemoration of the day.

At the Parent-Teacher Association meeting held in Wapping School hall, Monday, an Armistice Day program was given by the pupils of Grade 6. They made a strong plea for additional time spent in the teaching of health and good citizenship, making for world peace, and the discontinuance of all subjects relating to war. There was a contest in reading in the first grades of all schools this past week. The object is to learn which class has gained the greater vocabulary and show the greatest interest in interpreting orally the stories read. This contest will be carried on in all grades throughout the year.

Word has been received of the death of Rev. Charles Nelson Flanders of Berkeley, California, on November 5, aged 85. Rev. Flanders was pastor of the Congregational church at Wapping from November, 1878, to January 6, 1884. His funeral was held at the First Congregational church on Saturday, November 8, 1930. Rev. J. A. Milligan and Rev. E. Dent Naylor officiating. Interment was in the "Home of Peace" cemetery. He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Louise Davies, and a son, Austin Flanders, both of Berkeley, Calif.

Girl Scout News

Council
The Girl Scout Council met Tuesday afternoon, November 18, with Mrs. Russell Hathaway, owing to the absence of the commissioner, the deputy commissioner, Mrs. Frederick Snow presided. Others present were: Mrs. Jessie L. Winterbottom, Mrs. J. Clarke Baker, Mrs. Lawrence Case, Mrs. John Fickles, Mrs. J. Seymour Brown, Mrs. Fred H. Norton, Mrs. Charles Oliver and Mrs. Hathaway. Mrs. J. Clarke Baker was chosen chairman of the entertainment committee and Mrs. Charles Oliver of the service committee. Refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held December 9, at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Case, Highland Park.

The November meeting of the Girl Scout Officers' Association was held November 12 at the home of Mrs. John Reinartz. A delicious supper was served previous to the business meeting. After much discussion it was decided that black or brown shoes with stockings to match, should be worn with the uniform. The official uniform should be worn at all public affairs. It was voted to try and secure a representative from national headquarters to conduct a course in first class to captains. The December meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Fred Johnson.

Troop 2
The meeting of November 17 opened with playing games. The following girls passed observation: Marion Mahoney, Anna Packard, Virginia Ryan, Catherine Sullivan.

Troop 4
At the meeting of Friday, Nov. 7, Alice Preston and Barbara Lundberg were invested with tenderfoot pins. Saturday, November 8, the troop hiked to Highland Park. Marjorie Mitchell, scribe.

Troop 5
The weekly meeting of Goldenrod Troop 5 was held at the Hollister street school, Monday, November 17. At this meeting several girls completed their tenderfoot tests, and so will be invested as full pledged scouts of Troop 5 at the next meeting. Also at this same meeting a class which has been studying and practicing the numerous rules for the making of healthy bodies, completed by passing their tests required for second-class. They are: Katherine Tracey, Doris Gibson, Mary Quish, Evelyn Foley, Dorothy Foley, Marjory Brown, Shirley Martin, Frances Elliott, Lorraine Brooks, Marion Warner and Agnes Shearer. Eunice Brown, scribe.

Troop 7
The meeting of November 17 opened with songs. Tests were passed and some girls worked on Christmas dolls. The meeting closed with games. At the monthly Rally held Friday evening, November 14, Marguerite Annis received the scholarship badge, Elizabeth Poloyt a gold attendance pin, Anna Chaponis blue and white ribbons for home service. Anna Daley, scribe.

Betty McCaughey and Dorothy Gustafson. Dorothy Gustafson passed the flag test. We had as our guests, Mrs. Johnson and Russell Hazen. Marion Mahoney, scribe.

MOTHER SENTENCED
Cooperstown, N. Y., Nov. 21.—(AP.)—Mrs. Edna May Coolbath, who confessed to poisoning her five months old son, today pleaded guilty to murder, second degree, and was sentenced to term of 20 years to life at Auburn prison. Mrs. Coolbath made the confession in September, shortly after her son had died.

STRIKES IN SPAIN REPORTED AT END

Barcelona, Spain, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Although this city's general strike was officially over today Extramurists harried workers are returning to their posts.

In one suburb a crowd attacked a street car filled with workers. The police charged to drive off the assailants, and fired their pistols at the mob, which dispersed with no casualties.

Labor leaders believed that several days may be necessary to restore normal conditions.

With resumption of transportation facilities today churches were crowded with an unusually large number of persons wishing to get married, be baptized, or make confessions. During the past four days such rites almost ceased since the people were afraid to get out on the streets, even to go to church to get married.

Estimates on damage done by the strikes and riots ran between 10,000,000 and 20,000,000 pesetas ($150,000 and $300,000) in obvious property damage and direct industrial losses through closing of shops and factories and stores. The more intangible losses were difficult to estimate.

Troubles Over
The Barcelona governor in an interview said: "I believe our troubles are over. The workers may be a few days settling down but the serious aspects of the situation are concluded."

Labor leaders connected with the "Sindicato Unico" which led the strike movement, told the Associated Press that they would call strikes frequently until the government recognized them as the unions' mouthpiece and dismissed the "comites paritarios" or the arbitration boards set up during the Primo de Rivera dictatorship to settle the disputes of employers and employees.

A prominent New York lawyer has written a book of rhymes. Perhaps his publishers will urge the reading public to give him a trial.

FIRST DISTRICT LEGION MEMBERS TO MEET

The first district of The American Legion, comprising 25 Posts in Hartford county, with a membership of about 3,700 World War veterans, will hold a meeting at Williams Memorial Hall, Glastonbury, on Sunday, November 23, at 3:00 p. m. District Commandeur Charles D. Perry, of Windsor, will preside.

NOTED LECTURER DIES

Minneapolis, Nov. 21.—(AP)—An illness contracted while traveling in Switzerland several years ago has caused the death of Dr. Cora Johnson Best, 38, noted lecturer, mountain climber and huntress.

In 1924 she set a record by climbing Mount Robson, highest peak in the Canadian Rockies, in 14 hours. The next year she and a companion, Audrey F. Shippman, successfully negotiated a dangerous 200-mile canoe trip around the Big Bend of the Columbia river.

Murder At Bridge

by ANNE AUSTIN author of "THE BLACK PIGEON," "THE AVENGING PARROT" and "MURDER BACKSTAIRS" ©1930 by NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

When BONNIE DUNDEE, attached to the district attorney's office, intrudes on PENNY CRAIN, district attorney's secretary, he has no idea that he will remember later with keen interest everything she says. Penny informs him that she is going to the Saturday bridge luncheon of the Forsythe Alumnae Bridge Club, given by an honorary member, JUANITA SELIM.

Dundee learns from Penny of her father's business failure and disappearance. The Crain house, built as a show place in his ill-fated real estate venture, is rented by Nita from JUDGE MARSHALL.

When Dundee drives Penny to the luncheon, Nita flirtatiously asks him for cocktails, but is frightened on learning he is a detective. Late that afternoon Penny telephones Dundee that Nita has been murdered at the bridge. Arriving at the Selim house, Dundee finds CAPTAIN STRAWN, his former chief, already in charge and learns that Nita has been shot from behind through the heart as she sat at her dressing table.

Strawn thinks she was shot by a gunman, using a gun with a Maxim silencer, through the window directly opposite the table. Footprints beneath the window confirm this theory. Dundee contests it on the ground that Nita would have seen a stranger at the window in her mirror, and would not have gone on powdering.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER III

Bonnie Dundee turned toward the tiny, bowed figure of the dead woman and stared at it long and thoughtfully before he answered:

"I'm afraid, Captain Strawn, that there are only two explanations possible. The first, of course, is that Nita Selim was quite deaf or very near-sighted. I happen to know from having met her today—

"You met her today?" Strawn interrupted incredulously.

Dundee explained briefly, then went on: "As I was saying I have good reason to know she was not deaf, but I can't say as to her being near-sighted, except that it is my observation that people who are extremely near-sighted do not have very wide eyes and no creases between the brows. I am fairly sure she did not wear glasses at all, because glasses worn even a few hours a day leave a mark across the nose or show pinched red spots on each side of the base of the nose."

"You must have had a good, hard look at her," Strawn glibbed, his eyes twinkling, and his harsh, thimble mouth pulling down at one corner in a way that Dundee noted with a smile.

"I did," Dundee retorted, grinding back at this former chief, who well knew the boy's weakness for a pretty girl. "Well, conceding that she was neither deaf nor half-blind, she would naturally have heard her assailant before he shot her."

"What's the other explanation?" Strawn was becoming impatient.

"That the person who killed her was so well known to her, and his other presence in this room so natural a thing that she paid no attention to his—or her—movements and was concentrating on the job of powdering her very pretty face."

"You mean—one of that gang of society folks in there?" and Strawn jerked a thumb toward the left side of the house.

"Very probably," Dundee agreed.

"But where's the gun, Strawn?"

"I tell you my men—"

"This was a premeditated murder, of course," Dundee interrupted. "The Maxim silencer—unless they are all lying about not hearing a shot—proves that. Silencers are damned hard to get hold of, but people with plenty of money can manage most things. And since the murder was premeditated, it is better to count on the fact that the murderer—or murderers—had planned a pretty safe hiding place for the gun and the silencer. . . . Oh, not necessarily in the house or even near the house," he hastened to assure Strawn, who was trying to break in. . . . By the way, how long after Mrs. Selim was killed was her death discovered? Or do you know?"

"I haven't been able to get much out of that bunch in there—not even out of Penelope Crain, who ought to be willing to help, seeing as how she works for the district attorney. But I guess she was waiting to spill it all to you, she knows anything, so you and Sanderson will get all the credit."

"Now, look here, chief," Dundee protested, laying a hand on Strawn's shoulder as he reverted to the name by which he had addressed the head of the homicide squad for nearly a year, "we're going to be friends, aren't we? Same as always? We know pretty well how to work together, don't we? No use to begin pulling against each other."

"Guess so," Strawn growled, but he was obviously pleased and relieved. "Maybe you'd better have a crack at that crowd yourself. I hear Doc Price's car—always has a bum spark plug. I'll stick around with him until he gets going on his job, then, if you'll excuse me for butting in—I'll join your party in the living room. . . . And good luck to you, Bonnie," he added, to take the sting out of the bit of thrown-in sarcasm.

Dundee took the door he knew must lead into the central hall, but found himself in an enclosed section of it—a small foyer between the main hall and Nita Selim's bedroom. There was room for a telephone table and its chair, as well as for a half-length sofa, large enough for two to sit upon comfortably.

He paused to open the door across from the telephone table and found that it opened into a guests' closet, whose hangers and hat forms now held the outdoor clothing in which several women had arrived at the bridge-and-death party. Nice clothes—the smartest and most expensive hats and coats of moneyed people of good taste, he observed, a little enviously, before he opened the door which led out into the main hall which bisected the main floor of the house, until it reached Nita's room.

Another door in the section behind the staircase next claimed his attention. Opening it, he discovered a beautifully wiled guests' lavatory. There was even a fully appointed dressing table for women's use, so that none of her guests had had the slightest excuse to invade the privacy of Mrs. Selim's bedroom and bath, unless specifically invited to do so. Ralph had planned the house, this, Dundee concluded, as he closed the door upon the shining green porcelain fixtures, and walked slowly toward the wide archway that led from the hall into a large living room.

He had a curious reluctance to intrude upon that assembled and guarded company of Hamilton's "real society." They were all Penny's friends, and Penny was his friend. . . .

But his first swift, all-seeing glance about the room reassured him. No hysterics here. These people brought race and breeding even into the presence of death. Whatever emotions had torn them when Nita Selim's body was discovered were almost unguessable now.

A stout, short woman of about 30 was tapping a foot nervously, as she talked to the man who was bending over her chair. . . . John C. Drake, that was, Dundee had met him, knew him to be a vice president of the Hamilton National Bank, in charge of the trust department. Penelope Crain was occupying a "love seat" with Lois Dunlap, the hands of the girl and of the woman clinging together for mutual comfort. And that tall, thin, oldish man, with the waxed gray mustache, must be Judge Hugo Marshall, and the pretty girl leaning trustingly against his shoulder must be his wife—Karen Marshall, who had jumped at her first proposal during her first season.

Yes, well-bred people, he concluded, as his eyes swept on and then stopped, a little bewildered. Who was that man? He didn't belong somehow, and his hands trembled visibly as he tried to light a cigarette. Leaning—not nonchalantly, but actually for support—against the broad coral silk drapes of a pair of wide, long windows set in the east wall. Suddenly Dundee had it. . . . Broadway! This was no Hamiltonian, no comfortably rich and socially secure Middle-Westerner. Broadway in every line of his too-well-

WHAT New York IS WEARING

No. 2504—A slender appearance that comes from vertical lines is smartly evident in this novelty crepe, woolen crown and beige coloring, relieved with plain beige. It is very conservative, and shows good taste for travel. The jacket revers reduce the breadth through the bodice. Designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust. The 36-inch size requires 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch material with 3/4 yard of 39-inch contrasting and 2 yards of 1-inch ribbon.

No. 2668—The princess slip is indispensable in smart woman's wardrobe to wear with the new slim silhouette frocks. Its moulded line hugs the figure, it well below the hips where it starts to widen so as to have a comfortably full flaring hemline. Its unbroken line from shoulder to hem does away with any conflicting lines to the outer garment, that entirely ruins the otherwise perfectly charming appearance. Designed for sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. The 36-inch size requires 2 1/2 yards of 35-inch material with 2 yards of binding.

No. 2737—The paneled bodice that extends to the slightly flaring skirt will make you appear very slim. A practical belt also contributes towards its slenderness. It is as simple as A, B, C to make it. It costs exceedingly small. Designed for sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust. The 36-inch size requires 2 1/4 yards of 35-inch material with 9 yards of binding.

LAWYERS TO GATHER

Norwich, Conn., Nov. 21.—(AP)—The New London county bar will have Judge Christopher L. Avery as its guest here on the evening of Dec. 5, in recognition of his advancement to the Supreme Court bench. The committee which will arrange the dinner are George C. Morgan, Philip Z. Hankey, State Attorney A. M. Brown and E. W. Perkins.

Among other guests will be Superior Court Judge A. L. Brown, former Judge Abel Tanner; Judge C. B. Waller of the Common Pleas Court and several others distinguished at the bar of the state.

Hints On How To Keep Well by World Famed Authority

LIVER NEEDED IN DIET TO GIVE BABY ENOUGH IRON

(This is one of a series of articles by Dr. Fishbein on nutrition of the child.)

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Iron is a constituent normally of the cells, of muscles, and also an important constituent of the red coloring matter in the blood. A large amount of this red coloring matter is used up during the first year of life, and at this time iron is necessary. The amount of iron in human milk is small and there is even less in most cow's milk.

Infants fed on the breast get just enough iron to satisfy their requirements. Artificially fed infants seldom get enough iron, unless additional foods containing iron are given to them.

After the sixth month, therefore, green vegetables, meats, eggs, and cereals are desirable in order to supply the additional amount of iron that is needed. Moreover, the green vegetables, especially spinach, supply chlorophyll, which is useful in the creation of hemoglobin in the body.

One of the most valuable substances for providing the infant with proper blood building materials is whole liver. It has the advantage furthermore of being a soft meat that can be eaten and assimilated without great difficulty.

The various extracts of liver thus far prepared have not yet been proved to have the efficiency that whole liver has in taking care of the secondary anemia that may develop in an infant particularly because of its exclusive diet of milk or an artificial food and also in adults who have been eating improper diets.

Investigators working in laboratories are now turning their attention from the preparation of liver extracts that are of special value in pernicious anemia to combinations that will be especially valuable in the treatment of secondary anemia of various kinds.

Because of the well known value of iron in the treatment of secondary anemias, combinations of extracts of liver and of iron are being prepared which may serve the exceedingly useful purpose of taking the place of whole liver.

There are not so many forms in which whole liver may be modified in order to make it palatable and to take away the monotony of a whole liver diet. Such extracts will therefore serve an exceedingly useful purpose.

STATE PRISON PROBE

New Haven, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Members of the special committee for investigation of the state prison at Wethersfield today announced that the taking of testimony would be started early next week. Homer Cummings of Stamford heads the committee. The other two members are Judge Walter H. Clark of Hartford and James T. Moran. This decision was reached at the first meeting held here today to outline plans for the investigation.

The investigation was ordered by Governor Trumbull on the request of the board of prison directors, following charges of cruelty to prisoners made by Rev. Dr. William H. Smith, former prison chaplain.

YOUR CHILDREN by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

In these generally hard times it is often discouraging to parents to be reminded that children's teeth should be straightened, their adenoids removed, and other necessary correctives performed.

It is so easy to say "you should do this" and "children ought to have that" when all the while anxious mothers are lying awake nights trying to figure out how they are going to pay the rent and find warm clothes.

There are the charities, doing splendid work to relieve just such troubled mothers as these. But they don't want to take charity. They are for the most part, people who take pride in paying for what they get, and clinics, they feel, are supposed to be for the impoverished and sick.

And still they realize the danger in letting these minor operations wait. They know that crooked teeth affect character as well as health and looks, and that corrective work cannot be effective if the teeth become too set. Straightening should be begun as soon as the second set is well in. They know too, that bad tonsils and adenoids are responsible for much serious illness.

The only thing to do in this predicament is to face the facts. First of all, the parents themselves may have decided that their children will be all right in time and may object to doing anything drastic in the way of correction. Certain parents have disapproved of children's operations on principle since the beginning of time. All parents must make their own decisions as to what their children need and it is not my province nor right to suggest what should or should not be done to your special child.

It is only to parents who already have reached the conclusion that their children need medical or surgical aid that this advice is given. If I were such a parent, and worrying about the cost, I should go to an orthodontist—one who corrects mouth and tooth formation—let him look over the little patient, state the circumstances plainly ask for easy payments, and see what I could do. If he does business on a larger and higher-priced scale, ask him to direct you to another dependable man who will be more reasonable.

I would do the same thing with other specialists, according to the need of my Johnny or Jane.

Don't let false pride stand in your way. If you have no money, that is no disgrace. There are many good doctors who will arrange terms for operations on nose or throat.

If even that is impossible step on your pride together and go to a clinic. The finest doctors give part of their time to free work.

Quick COMFORT for fretful upset children

ALL children are subject to little upsets. They come at unexpected times. They seem twice as serious in the dead of night. But there's one form of comfort on which you can always rely—good old Castoria. This pure vegetable preparation can't harm the tiniest infant. Yet mild as it is, it soothes a restless, fretful baby like nothing else. Its quick relief soon sees the youngster comfortable once more, back to sleep. Even an attack of colic, or diarrhea, yields to the soothing influence of Castoria.

Keep Castoria in mind, and keep a bottle in the house—always. Give it to any child whose tongue is coated, or whose breath is bad. Continue with Castoria until the child is grown!

Yale and Harvard Battle of Passes

Harvard To Specialize On Lateral But Will Use Forwards As Well; Friedman Drills Yale On Passing Attack.

(BY HERBERT BARKER)

New York, Nov. 21.—(AP)—By right of tradition the 49th gridiron duel between Yale and Harvard furnishes the last classic football contest of the week.

There are other important games on schedule but none of sufficient calibre to compete with the annual fray between Crimson and the Blue.

The rival head coaches, Mal Stevens of Yale and Arnold Harlan of Harvard, planned only light workouts at New Haven for their squads today.

Both starting lineups have been nominated and most of the experts have tossed aside their form charts and confined their advance statements to predictions of a close game.

Yale will lineup with Flygare and Barres at the ends; Wilbur and Vincent tackles; Linehan and Stewart guards; Loozer center; South quarterback; Austen and Dunn halfbacks and Crowley fullback.

For Harvard, Harding and Ogen will be the ends; Richards and Trafford tackles; Myerson and Trainor guards; Ticknor center; Wood quarterback; Huguely and Critchard halfbacks and White fullback.

Down at Annapolis Navy hopes to stage a comeback at the expense of Maryland, and at New York, Fordham, beaten by St. Mary's victory over Bucknell. New York U. is a heavy favorite over Rutgers.

Temple seems to hold the edge over Carnegie Tech in their fray at Philadelphia.

Villanova battles Georgetown in a game lined in advance under the "toss up" list. Another combat between major eastern elevens brings together Washington and Jefferson and West Virginia at Morgantown, Lafayette and Lehigh will meet in their annual contest at Easton, Pa. with neither holding any decided edge.

Western Maryland, only team in the east unbeaten and untied, should extend its streak at the expense of Albright.

Army looking ahead to the Notre Dame game picks something of a soft spot in Ursinus, as does Brown with New Hampshire; Boston College with Boston University and Holy Cross with Loyola, of Maryland.

New Haven, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The eve of its objective game with Harvard found Yale's varsity football team today prepared to match with a forward passing game of its own aerial attack which might be launched tomorrow by the Crimson.

The Elis devoted its last heavy workout yesterday to a defense against Harvard forward and lateral passes. At the same time Benny Friedman former Michigan passing ace, put the finishing touches to Yale's aerial offense.

Harvard was expected to complete its preparations for the game today with a light workout at the bow. The Yale squad will hold a similar session after the Crimson squad vacates the bowl.

Hanover—Dartmouth's football squad has burned the tackling dummy and that means the Green's home practice has ended for another year.

New Haven—It looks like the Yale-Harvard game will be a wide open affair. That Harvard will depend on lateral and forward passes goes almost without saying. Yale spent most of yesterday's practice rehearsing passing plays.

LOUGHRAN FAVORITE Chicago, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Tommy Loughran Philadelphia, former world light heavyweight champion, was a 2 to 1 favorite to beat King Levinsky, the ex-fish peddler in a ten round bout at the Chicago Stadium tonight.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT Cincinnati—Charley Cobb, San Diego, Calif., outpointed Bobby LaSalle, Los Angeles, 10.

New York—Antal Kocsis, Hungary, outpointed Blaker Bill, Cuba, 10.

Lake Worth, Fla.—Elmer Besznan, Cincinnati knocked out Chuck Ferguson, Los Angeles, 3.

Best Shots Among Coppers Andrew Ford of the Royal Northwest Mounted and F. F. Shaylor, Portland, Ore., policeman, scored 49 out of a possible 59 in shooting at field targets, 20 to 50 yards, and running man-targets at 50 yards during the national matches at Camp Perry, O.

MCLARNIN FAVORED TO BEAT PETROLLE

Rules 3 To 1 Over Rival; Prospects of a Kayo Bright; Loughran vs. Levinsky.

New York, Nov. 21.—(AP)—When slugger meets slugger, one of two things can happen—a "waltz" or a slam-bang battle in which each boxer gambles on landing a decisive blow.

The fans were hopeful when Jimmy McLarnin and Billy Petrolle met for ten rounds at Madison Square Garden tonight of seeing both boys forget about defense, and concentrate on attack.

McLarnin has been virtually unbeaten since he accepted the challenge from the challenger, Sammy Mandell, then lightweight champion. He had waded through all sorts of opposition since then and in his last New York appearance knocked out Al Singer, successor to Mandell in three rounds in an overweight fight.

The smiling Irishman rules a 3 to 1 favorite over Petrolle.

The influence of sweet charity has been paramount in submerging the football differences of Army and Navy for the time being, to bring about their post-season gridiron battle on December 15, but it is entirely possible service rivals, combatants and non-combatants alike, will find out how much they have missed each other and agree that continuation of their break is so much petty coolness.

The wish here may be father to the thought, for football fans have missed the glamorous touch of the Army-Navy finale since the breach developed after the 1922 season.

Deep-seated differences between the two academies exist over eligibility. However, if they can sink them in the interests of charity, it would seem they could solve them in the interests of good sportsmanship, returning to the normal rivalry and a keen football contest.

The trouble is that both academies have felt offended by rival propaganda ever since the Navy initiated an attempt to force the varsity to accept the Army-Navy game.

Since then, has adopted the more conciliatory attitude. Army has stuck to its guns. The probability is that if Army was conceded its point for a year or two, the military academy then would make concessions leading to a new agreement. In short, Army wants fulfilled the old contract, which had three years to run, before listening to any compromise proposals.

Meanwhile, for the time being, the service schools will attract the biggest football "gate" for their game at the Yankee Stadium since they drew something like $750,000 at Soldier Field, Chicago, in 1926. Top price at Chicago was $10, the highest ever asked for a football ticket, except by speculators. The scale of New York prices will be from $5 to $50, with no "Annie Oakleys" whatever.

The cause of charity has helped to make the late-season gridiron schedule the most extensive and attractive in many years, with the climax well into December instead of around its usual spot on the calendar, Thanksgiving.

Here are the battles that will help swell the unemployment relief funds or otherwise prolong football interest.

Nov. 28.—Notre Dame-Army at Soldier Field; Dartmouth-Stanford at Palo Alto; Washington State-Villanova at Philadelphia.

Dec. 3.—Chicago Game-Southern California at Los Angeles; Colgate-New York University at New York; Navy-Pennsylvania at Philadelphia; Georgia Tech-Georgia at Atlanta; Florida-Tennessee at Jacksonville.

Dec. 13.—Army-Navy at New York.

Dec. 14.—Notre Dame "All Stars" vs. New York Giants at New York.

Over the radio, Bill Alexander, Georgia Tech's head football coach, remarked: "The testimony (of the players) is overwhelming to the effect that any father could listen to the professional coaching and not know the rousers for culture value of the process."

In other words, Bill explained, only 87 out of 436 players said they had been "slighted" by their coaches while 18 complained at being "cursed at."

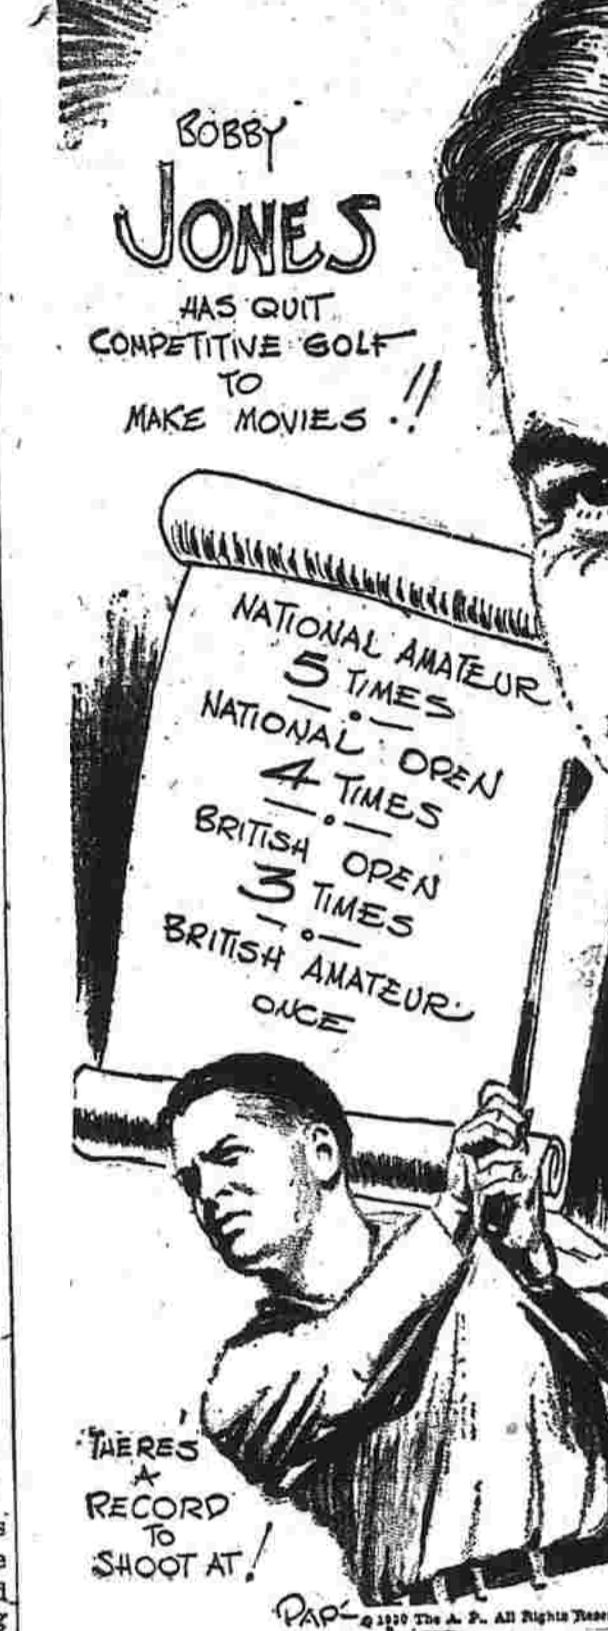

Yanks Dig Down for Star One hundred thousand dollars in a cash-player deal is said to have been the figure at which the New York Yankees purchased Frankie Crosetti, 20-year-old infielder, from the San Francisco Seals.

And Crosetti does not report to the major league club until 1932.

Heavy Prize List Upwards of $500,000 will be awarded in purses to the winners in the Havana racing meet for 1930-31. The meeting opens Dec. 30 and will continue 90 days or longer.

McCLUSKEY BEAT CHAMBERLAIN IN RACE AT CHICAGO

But Michigan State Man Evened Count In Recent Cross Country Run At New York; Meet In 1931.

Manchester's many admirers of Joe McCluskey, its noted runner, now at Fordham, will no doubt be interested to know what he has, to say about his defeat in the intercollegiate six mile cross country run at New York Monday afternoon.

Joe, one of the favorites, was baffled for first place down the final half-mile, it will be remembered, when his leg muscles tightened, causing him to walk in the final line.

New York critics said he showed wonderful stamina to even finish in 17th place.

McCluskey's letter in part, follows: "It was a hard race to lose, especially when I looked forward to it for such a long time. I slowed down in the last half mile because I was entirely unable to keep up the pace. It was in the lead at this time but Chamberlain passed me like a bolt. I caught up with him again but doing so completed my exhaustion."

"Right at the start, I had a tough break. The starter fired his gun earlier than I expected in order to prevent the runners from beating the gun. I slipped and almost fell at the start, being fourth from the last at the take-off."

In order to prevent the runners from beating the gun, I slipped and almost fell at the start, being fourth from the last at the take-off. I was forced to use up much energy, especially in view of the mud-soaked course.

"It was a bridge path for horses in most places and in passing the runners I was forced into even worse footing. This sapped my strength enough to later bring about my exhaustion. I passed Chamberlain coming up the foothill on the half mile stretch and Detwiller was only a yard or so behind. We set a very fast pace considering the unsatisfactory conditions. Then my leg muscles tightened and I was fortunate to finish at all, let alone 17th."

"Wall Chamberlain and I are now even. I beat him in a three mile race at Chicago and now he has evened the count. The Michigan State flier will be back again next year and we will have another battle under, I hope, more favorable footing conditions for all concerned. Chamberlain runs on his toes all the time. I run on my heels which of course is the harder way to run."

"I will be home Wednesday for the Thanksgiving Day holiday and will compete in the annual five mile cross country run."

WESTERN MARYLAND MAY BATTLE UTAH

Denver, Colo., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Western Maryland, one of the nation's undefeated football teams, today telegraphed its offer to meet the University of Utah, three-times Rocky Mountain Conference champion, in a benefit game in Denver, December 13, for the Denver and Salt Lake Community chests.

The Nut Cracker

O'Goofy says the golf competition ought to be pretty lively now that Bobby Jones has given the game back to the boys.

Bobby is to make a dozen golf pictures. His leading lady probably will be Calamity Jane.

One of the reasons why Jones quit golf was the crowds. He'll still have the crowds, of course, but they won't be able to shove him around.

Obviously some glaring faults in Jones' stance will be discovered by the golf experts in the audience.

It was a good break for Penn, which plays the Navy Dec. 6, that the Army-Navy game finally was set at Dec. 13 instead of Dec. 6. Penn hasn't won too many games this year.

Western Reserve, which hasn't won a game this year, appointed a new coach the other day named Dauber. The boys ought to do something now that their Dauber's up.

Sidney Franklin is going to wrestle with the bulls in Newark, N. J., stadium. A couple of miles from there, in a street, the boys threw the bulls for a complete loss recently.

Record for Control No matter how often he failed to control his temper, Carl Mays in the 1921 world series established a record for control on the mound. He gave out exactly no bases on balls in three full games.

One Goose Egg After Another The Pittsburgh Pirates and the Boston Braves in the National League once played 30 innings of a ball game without either club scoring a run. The Pirates crossed the plate in the twenty-first inning and won the game.

What Salvation Army Will Do With Army-Navy Gain

New York, Nov. 21.—When Army and Navy football warriors limp from Yankee Stadium today, they will have a $1,250,000 gain to spend for the unemployed of New York they will have for their aches and bruises knowledge that more than $1,000,000 worth of free meals, free beds and free clothing will be dispensed to the cold, hungry and jobless as result of their afternoon's battle.

Distribution of the fund from gate receipts which is expected to reach $1,250,000 or more will be entrusted to the Salvation Army. This is how the money will be spent:

To provide beds for 2000 homeless men nightly instead of the 1000 now being cared for. To maintain free food depots now feeding 12,000 men daily and to enlarge the two separate food depots for women and children.

To establish a free hotel for women and girls stranded and unable to find work.

To buy groceries, fuel and warm clothing for families with no money and no work. The number is expected to total 10,000 weekly.

Commander John McMillan, director of the eastern division of the Salvation Army, will be in charge of this relief work.

Six major golf championships are the prizes captured by Tommy Armour, professional golfer, in the last four years. Armour won the U. S. Open, Western Open, Metropolitan Open and P. G. A. titles each one and the Canadian Open twice.

Bobby Jones abandons golf to make talking pictures. O'Goofy just wanted to say that he'll find plenty of other amateurs in Hollywood, and some of them are directors.

Jumping Joe Savoldi withdraws from football at Notre Dame because he's married. The old jumper finally took the fatal leap.

BLUE DEVILS ARE RUNNING RAMPANT Jimmy Dehart's Duke Eleven Going Great Guns On Eve of Wade's Arrival.

Durham, N. C., Nov. 21.—The smiles on Duke University's gridiron these days for the first time in the history of Duke as Duke. Furthermore, the weather forecast for the future is fair and warmer, with Wallace Wade coming here in January to make the sunshine a permanent feature.

Some may have wondered why Wade is deserting the University of Alabama, abandoning wealth in football material and a seat among the nation's successful coaches, to become head coach of Blue Devil athletics. But there's no catch to it; he's inheriting a football team here.

Duke has been called the football mystery of the south this year, and the balloon-like rise of the Blue Devils concerns Jimmy Dehart, former Pitt star who has worked long and hard and, until this fall, had nothing to show for it. Now that Jimmy is leaving at the end of the year, all Dixie is saying nice things about him.

The Blue Devils lost their opening game of the season to South Carolina by three touchdowns. Then Jimmy's magic started to work, and continued the assault and battery against Villanova, Kentucky and North Carolina State.

Dehart now is pointing his men for the final game of the season with the Tarheels of North Carolina Dec. 6. And while Dixie fans admit the Blue Devils have a fine chance to avenge previous losses to the Chapel Hill gang, most of them are rubbing their eyes and trying to hope it out.

The same Duke eleven which turned in a fair-sized failure last year has clicked with the new Dehart puzzler since the first game this fall. The initial attempt ended disastrously with the combination getting gummed up in its own works.

Dehart's master stroke provided for a balanced attack with a balanced line, giving an equal attack on either side. His backs faced each other so that one could be in motion in any direction except forward before the ball was snapped, and so that they could attack at any point and keep the ball well hidden.

It wasn't long before Duke's powerful line and nimble backs mastered the new idea and made it click. Much of the credit for the successful working of the Dehart puzzler has fallen since then on "Buz" Rosky, line center, and Emory Adkins, center, and "Smiling Bill" Murray and "Kid" Brewer, backs.

Rosky and Hyatt have been in the thick of every play, combining steam roller power on the defense and speed on the attack. They stopped the famous "Shipwreck" Kelly of Kentucky. Their work ranks them with the best in the South. And in the same category, place Adkins, a past master in the art of smearing. Murray and Brewer have won big hands for their work in the backfield. Fast end runs marked by excellent broken field running are Murray's long suit. Brewer features driving gains when Duke yards are needed for first down or touchdown. He also leads the Blue Devil scorers.

Della Fera Plunges Over After Hultine Snare

Three Forwards In Succession; Yearlings Put Up Praiseworthy Battle.

The Sophomores defeated the Freshmen 7-0 yesterday in their annual Manchester High school football clash at the West Side field. A lighter and less experienced set of yearlings fought splendidly against their well drilled opponents who practically represented the High school third team.

The lone score of the four periods came in the fourth quarter and was directly due to three forward passes snatched in succession by Hultine, the final one putting the ball close to the Fresh on the line. A five yard penalty for an offense temporarily halted the Sophomore advance but in two plays, Joe Della Fera had taken the ball over the final line. The point was awarded for a Freshman offside violation.

The Sophomores clearly deserved their victory. They made nine first downs to one, opening first period by taking the kick-off from behind their own goal line, yard by yard straight down the field on an 80 yard drive that halted when the Freshman defense stiffened outside its final line.

The Freshmen got two scoring chances in the second period when Rowe and Amadeo broke through to block Sophomore punts deep in the latter's territory. The Yearlings, however, could make no substantial progress when afforded these chances.

The Freshman attack was based around young "Cookie" Lupien who played quarterback, while the Sophomore play centered around Simon of the varsity team, and Treat. The work of Pratt was conspicuous for the winners while Rowe and Amadeo broke up many Sophomore plays. Little Jimmy August, about the size of a bowling pin in comparison to the other players, attracted considerable attention at end for the first year member.

Freshmen: Merz, August, le; Zelonis, lt; Rowe, lg; Amadeo, c; Haberman, rg; McKenna, rt; Freheit, re; Lupien, qb; Smith, Judd, lb; Sidmon, rbb; Korch, Leone, fb.

Sophomores: Hultine, lg; Radding, lt; Scarbuck, lg; Ponticelli, c; Antonio, rg; Pratt, rt; Hutchison, re; Simon, qb; Treat, lb; Bay, McCormick, rbb; Della Fera, fb.

Referee, Tom Kelley; umpire, McKinney; head lineeman, Litchwinski.

Sport Forum

WANTS ALL THE CREDIT Sport Editor Herald, Your reply to my little article in Wednesday's Herald, while it brought out the main statement that you consider the Majors the stronger team, still left me with the feeling that your account of Sunday's game was strongly pro-Cub. As to the Majors' line not being thoroughly tested because of the weakness of the Cubs' offense let me remind you that it has already been tested by much better all-around teams than the Cubs. But the point that I really wanted to bring out is this. The Majors' line, like other strong lines on teams dressed with a flashy backfield is not given the credit they deserve. I still consider the Majors' line much superior to that of the Cubs.—Lester F. Trouton.

COAST GUARD NABS ANOTHER RUM BOAT

But Not Before Shell Tears Out Side of Deckhouse; Had Big Booze Cargo.

New London, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Her plumage ruffled by gun fire, the Happy Parrot was in custody of the Coast Guard here today.

The Happy Parrot, classed as a speed boat, with a load of choice liquor estimated at 400 sacks, and a crew of three men aboard, was captured last night at Cerberus Shoal, Block Island Sound, by a Coast Guard patrol boat from the local base. The identity of the capturing boat was withheld by the Coast Guard. The names of the members of the crew of the runner, it is said, would not be released until they were arraigned.

Chased Eight Miles

Capture of the Happy Parrot occurred after she had been chased for eight miles by the patrol boat and only resulted when a shell from a one pounder aboard the pursuing craft crashed into the low deckhouse of the speed boat, ripping and tearing out a side of the structure. No one was injured. The crew of the speed boat, according to the Coast Guard, was evidently below decks and the craft was presumably being guided from below when the shot struck home. The hit caused the helmsman to bring the Happy Parrot about, whereupon she was seized by a boarding party from the patrol boat.

The Happy Parrot had been under the observation of the Coast Guard for some time. Several times she had been boarded with nothing having been found amiss. She was reputed to be capable of attaining a speed of 20 knots but the Coast Guard said she was not so fast last night.

5 AND 10 PIONEER DIES IN BAY STATE

Westport Harbor, Mass., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Early Perry Charlton, a pioneer in the 5 and 10 cent store field, vice-president of the F. W. Woolworth Company, and director of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad and several New England banks, died here last night. He had been operated on at Palm Beach, Fla., last January.

At the age of 17 Mr. Charlton was working for a Boston wholesale 5 and 10 cent store merchant for $7 a week. Two years later he was "covering" the entire district from Boston to Chicago for Thomas C. Newell, his first employer, and within a short time he had opened 54 five and ten cent stores of his own.

In 1912 the Charlton chain combined with the F. W. Woolworth stores and Charlton became vice-president of the new company.

Mr. Charlton was a director of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, the First National Bank of Boston, the National Exchange Bank of Providence, R. I., and the Durfee Trust Company of Fall River.

Born in Windsor, Conn., on June 1863, he married Miss Ida Stein of Buffalo, N. Y., in 1889. He was also noted for his philanthropies, one of his gifts being the sum of $500,000 to the Truesdale hospital, Fall River.

GATE TENDER DIES

Danbury, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The Main street crossing of the New Haven road in this city is usually protected by gates both day and night and when the driver of an automobile found himself upon the tracks in front of an approaching train late last night and noted that the gates had not been lowered, and that the gate tender was not at his accustomed post he halted his car and investigated. Inside the gate-mans little house at the edge of the crossing he found John Ryan, the gate tender, ill and only partly conscious. Ryan was taken to the Danbury hospital where he died a few hours later.

BUSINESS ON MEND

New York, Nov. 21.—(AP)—A survey in 18 states has convinced the National Association of Manufacturers that business conditions are on the mend.

Discussing the survey, John E. Edgerton, president of the association, told New York State Chamber of Commerce last night that industrialists and business men generally were unanimous in the belief that the nation was "only just now taking a breathing spell in the tremendous industrial strides it has made at its own pace."

The states surveyed were California, Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, Utah, Washington, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and Georgia.

HOLD OWNER OF STORE ON ARSON CHARGE

East Hampton, Conn., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Justice of the Peace George H. Hart today found probable cause against George Mitchell as being an accessory to arson in connection with a fire in the North store block here October 29.

Mitchell was part owner of the building. Fire started in the early morning in the unused quarters of a lunchroom and destroyed the restaurant furnishings. Discovery after the fire of burned remains of candles, newspapers and inflammable materials in a rear room led to the belief the fire was of incendiary origin. Mitchell's bond placed at $10,000 after a fire marshal's hearing was continued at that figure pending hearing of the case in Superior Court. He waived examination.

Merton Weir, fire chief and two firemen testified to the discovery of the inflammables in the restaurant. State Policeman Roy Pettingill testified Mitchell had denied having a key to the place when it was demanded following the fire, but had turned it over after further questioning the following day. Testimony further brought out that a month before the fire, insurance on the building, assessed at $12,000 had been increased from $17,000 to $19,000.

GOV. LARSON WEDS

Perth Amboy, N. J., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Governor Morgan F. Larson of New Jersey was married last night at his home to Ada Schmidt, who for two years has been secretary to his mother.

Governor Larson, whose first wife died several years ago, was attended by his nephew, Captain Harold Larson, a member of his military staff. The bride was attended by Regina Larson, niece of the chief executive and official hostess at his "Summer White House" at Sea Girt.

The governor and his bride departed at once for Miami, Fla., on a three-week wedding trip. Arthur N. Pierson, president of the State Senate, is acting governor.

MILLIONAIRE'S DAUGHTER TO WED FOOTBALL STAR

New York, Nov. 21.—(AP)—For the second time in two years a daughter of Joseph P. Day, millionaire New York realtor, is to become the bride of a Harvard football captain.

A year ago Pauline Day married Arthur French, captain of Harvard's 1928 team. Today the Day family confirmed news that Laura Pope Day, Pauline's younger sister, is to marry James "Red" Barrett, captain of Harvard's 1929 team. The engagement will be announced formally at the Harvard dinner after the Yale game in New Haven Saturday night.

Laura has three brothers who are Harvard graduates and a fourth preparing for Harvard, and she had known Barrett for several years but their romance began a year ago last August when she and the Harvard football star were passengers on a liner returning from Europe.

Miss Day is twenty, and finished at Spence school in New York last June. Her great grandfather, Dr. J. Monroe Taylor, was one of the early settlers of Gramercy Park in New York, where the Day family still resides. Barrett is with Otis and Company, New York bankers.

Announcement

Saturday, Nov. 22, 1936, we are opening our new stand on Oakland street. This new building is modern and has every convenience necessary for carrying on our type of business all the year round.

We shall open with a nice line of home made delicacies such as Jellies, Conserve, Candies, Fruit Cake, Mince Meat and Relishes.

No artificial ingredients are used in making our home made products, and we guarantee them to be 100% pure.

Our fresh fruits and vegetables are always of the better kind besides we have many good things too numerous to mention here.

As a side line we will carry Imported Italian Specialties.

We will be very glad to have anyone visit and inspect our new place and be convinced that everything is as represented.

Thanking all who have patronized us in the past we hope we can serve them in the future.

Remember we are open every day and evenings.

ROCKVILLE

Welfare League Elects

A meeting of the Rockville Welfare organization was held in the Superior Court room, Memorial building on Wednesday night. Francis Prichard the retiring president presided. Officers were elected for the coming year as follows: President, Sherwood C. Cummings; first vice president, Emil Kroymann; second vice president, Mrs. T. M. Burke; treasurer, Mrs. Corrine Sykes Spencer; executive committee, officers and Dr. F. O'Loughlin, Francis J. Prichard, Miss Mildred Phelps and Miss Katharine McCarthy of the Rockville Visiting Nurse Association.

This is the second year the organization has been carrying on the work. The idea is to have the various organizations cooperate with the organization. Many more families can be looked out for in this manner. Any one desiring to contribute can do so by sending money to the treasurer Mrs. Spencer.

Arrested After Argument
Ellsworth Niles, 59, of 42 Huntington street, Hartford, formerly of Ellington and Clifford Barnett, 44 of Ellington, two brother-in-laws, had an argument on Wednesday while riding in an automobile, and the car left the highway mounting the sidewalk near the Poehart home on West street. The two men then got out of the car and continued their argument on the street. The police were called and the two men were arrested, charged with assault and breach of the peace. In court Thursday morning the case was continued until next Wednesday morning.

The argument was regarding the estate of the late Mr. Niles, which is located in the center of Ellington. Both men were released under $50 bonds.

Friendship Class Banquet
The Friendship Class of the Ellington Congregational Church held its annual Banquet in Grange Hall at Vernon Center on Wednesday evening. About sixty members were present. Rev. John T. Nichols, pastor of the church was toastmaster and the speaker was Rev. Charles P. Keptner of the Stafford Congregational church. He gave an illustrated talk on Russia. As I Saw It.

Miss Mildred McKnight of Ellington gave a reading and Carl Goering rendered vocal selections. There were remarks by Harrison Hamilton, Mrs. H. C. Hyde and Howard J. Mandall.

A roast beef supper was served by a committee of Grange members. Christmas Seal Sale
Mrs. Emily Bessels Swindells will have charge of the Christmas Seal sale this year. The sale of seals will start next week Friday and continue to Christmas. The sale is under the supervision of the Visiting Nurse Association. The purpose is to raise money for the work of fighting tuberculosis.

Has Solo Flight
Miss Helen Hyde of Ellington, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Robert E. Hyde of Ellington, who is taking up aviation at Brainard Field, Hartford, was soloed for the first time the past week in the Curtiss-Wright Flying Service Fledgling, by Harry Generous. Miss Hyde is a graduate of the Rockville High School class of 1923.

Junior Prom Plays
Plans are being made to hold two plays at the Junior Prom at the Sykes Auditorium, Friday evening, December 12. The plays are "Three Pills in a Bottle" and "The Pot Boiler." After the plays dancing will follow in the gymnasium.

turned from China was at Maxwell Court on Wednesday night and through the kindness of Col. and Mrs. F. T. Maxwell about seventy-five people in the community had the opportunity to hear a talk delivered by Mrs. Lenz who has been engaged in Y.M.C.A. work among the Chinese. He had as his subject "What Is Going on in the Orient."

He spoke about the revolution in China and the Orient and the great changes being made in political, social, economic and religious circles. Following his talk there was a period in which he answered many questions. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Funeral of Mrs. Waite
The funeral of Mrs. Edward Waite, mother of Mayor A. E. Waite of Union street, was held from her late home on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. M. E. Osborne, pastor of the Methodist Church officiated. There were many beautiful floral tributes. The bearers were Francis Nettleton, George C. Milne, John P. Cameron and Frank Green. Burial was in Grove Hill cemetery.

Religious Play
A religious play "Every Youth" in three scenes, will be presented at the evening service of Union Congregational church by the Hartford Colored Dramatic Club on Sunday evening, November 30, at 7 o'clock. It will be held under the auspices of the First African Baptist Church of this city. The proceeds will be given to the local African church.

Notes
Mrs. John McCartin has been elected county chairman of the Connecticut Council of Catholic Women.

H. S. FOOTBALL SQUAD TO USHER AT BOWL
Twenty-five members of the Manchester High school football team will have the privilege of attending the Yale-Harvard classic tomorrow afternoon. They will work as ushers.

Last year the varsity players were treated to the Yale-Princeton game and this season have witnessed the Dartmouth and Army games at New Haven. This opportunity is given by Yale authorities to various prominent high schools throughout the state.

The Manchester contingent will leave by bus at 8 o'clock tomorrow with Coach Thomas F. Kelley and Faculty Manager Dwight E. Perry in charge.

There will be a meeting of the Helen Davidson Lodge No. 98 tonight at Tinker hall at 7:30. Grand Deputy Miss Grieg of Groton and her staff will be present to aid in the installation of officers for the ensuing year. Refreshments will be served.

Turkeys for prizes are proving quite an attraction at the Garden, Miniature Golf course, Center and Trotter streets. Many people come in before and after evening entertainments elsewhere to try their luck for a Thanksgiving turkey.

St. Margaret's Circle, Daughters of Isabella, will have a banquet and installation of officers at the home of Mrs. E. R. Edgerton, Station 14, North Main street, Tuesday evening at 8:30. Reservations should be made by Saturday evening at the latest by calling the chairman, Mrs. Nettie Aceto, or the regent, Mrs. Sarah Healey. Others on the committee are Miss Nellie Smith, Mrs. Helen Donahue, Mrs. Catherine Tack and Mrs. Catherine Williams.

Miss Hilda Magnuson of North Main street is chairman of a sale of home made foods which the young people of the North Methodist Epworth League will hold tomorrow at the A. and P. market on Depot Square. Miss Florence Tyler and Miss Isabel Brown will assist Miss Magnuson. The sale will begin at 1:30.

The regular November meeting of the Hartford County American Legion and auxiliaries will take place in Glastonbury Sunday at 3 o'clock at the Williams Memorial hall.

Mrs. Lois Kilmefelter of Chestnut street returned last evening from the annual state convention of the League of Women Voters held in Bridgeport. Mrs. Kilmefelter attended as a delegate from the Manchester League.

The Leaders Class of Manchester High school, a group of about thirty girls, will hold a public dance tonight at the School street Recreation Center in order to obtain money to defray the expenses of carrying on their work. McKay's orchestra will play for dancing.

The choir of the Swedish Lutheran, Concordia Lutheran and Zion Lutheran churches will rehearse at 7 o'clock tonight in the Swedish Lutheran church in preparation for the combined service of the three churches Thanksgiving Day morning. The junior glee club will rehearse at the same hour in the basement.

The Young People's Federation of Manchester and vicinity will meet at the Swedish Lutheran church at 8 o'clock tonight. The speaker will be Rev. Harold Brnman of Hartford. A program will be presented and refreshments will be served.

New System of Education Is Planned in Chicago

Chicago, Nov. 21.—(AP)—An experiment of widespread interest in higher education was in preparation today at the University of Chicago.

Through a re-organization of its component bodies, President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the university, said it had taken steps toward the eventual abandonment of the traditional four year college course and the abolition of long-familiar institutions, such as the undergraduate college and the graduate school.

Besides its professional schools, the university under the re-organization already sanctioned by trustees and faculty, is to consist of five main divisions—the arts, the humanities, and the social, biological and physical sciences—and the college.

The plan aims to inspire capable students to finish their general college course in less than four years. Advancement is to be by comprehensive tests, not by measure of credit hours. President Hutchins said better co-ordination of teaching and scholarship and a breaking down of departmental limitations which fenced students out of subjects related to their prime interest was considered possible under the revised program. All faculty members with a common interest will be grouped in one of the five divisions.

The plan will take several years for complete realization and a system of "credit bookkeeping" will enable students to measure their achievements and transfer to or from the university during the transition period when the old and new systems necessarily will overlap.

(Answers to these questions will be published in Monday's paper.)

DRIVER RESPONSIBLE
Bridgeport, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Because he was allegedly drunk while driving the automobile that overturned and killed James L. Walsh, 43, of Beth, on November 16, James L. Melvin, of 9 Main street, Danbury, was held criminally responsible for his death by Coroner J. J. Fielan in the findings made public today.

The coroner indicated in his finding that had Melvin been sober at the time he was driving he would have freed him of liability, since the "evidence showed that the accident could have happened to any driver whether under the influence of liquor or otherwise."

ATWATER KENT SUPER-HET MAKING HIT AT KEMP'S

The new Atwater Kent Super-Heterodyne model radio is going over big at Kemp's since it was introduced some little time ago. Besides having marvelous selectivity, which super-heterodynes are noted for, it has all of the wonderful qualities which have made Atwater Kent Radios such a great success. Fine materials, workmanship of the best kind, and confidence in the maker, has made Atwater Kent the popular radio that it is. People who invest in Atwater Kent radios, most always buy another Atwater Kent, when they are in the market for a new set. This is evident of the service given by the set, and of the faith of the buyer in Atwater Kent merchandise.

Kemp's, Inc., have been Atwater Kent dealers in our town for the past five or six years, and every year has seen a good one for Atwater Kent Radios. This year the new full-vision dial sets together with the new Super-Heterodyne, have been keeping up the popularity of Atwater Kent radios of other years, and Kemp's, Inc., reports a wide sale of the line in this town.

SCOUT NEWS
BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

TROOP THREE
At the last Court of Honor, the troop was awarded nine merit badges and Carpenter and Dimock were made Star Scouts. Keep up the good work, Scouts!

Troop held meeting at Center Church with 30 Scouts and leaders present. Preliminary games were run by David McComb, Scoutmaster. The opening exercises with collection of dues and inspection were next. Patrol meetings were then held in their respective rooms. Games—Snap the Hat, Where Are You, Mike? were run off by Clarke Lynn, assistant Scoutmaster. The inter-troop events, Skip the Snake and Signaling, were practiced by the teams. Lynn announced the results of the inter-patrol contest so far as Flying Eagles, first; Lions, second; Stags, third; and Vikings, last. The flag ceremony with the giving of the Scout Oath and Scout prayer terminated the meeting. A Senior Patrol Meeting was held at which Herman Johnson and Mr. Crossen were present.

Notes
Monday night at 7 p. m. there will be a rehearsal for the Scout play.
Next Wednesday night, the troop will enjoy the use of the "Rec" pool from 5:15 to 6 o'clock.

KIWANIS OFFICIALS

GEN. LEE MEMORIAL

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 21.—(AP)—A campaign to raise $50,000 to make the final payment on Stratford hall, birthplace of General Robert E. Lee, Confederate leader, in Westmoreland county, Virginia, will be sponsored by the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Unanimous vote to raise the money was given by the annual general convention in session here.

The total consideration involved in securing the Lee home for memorial purposes aggregated about $270,000. The move to buy the place was started by the Lee memorial organization founded in Connecticut in 1928 by Mrs. Charles D. Lanier, a daughter-in-law of Sidney Lanier, the Georgia poet.

The Lee home was built in 1729 and was the birthplace of the Confederate general and of the famous revolutionary heroes, Thomas Lightfoot Lee and Richard Henry Lee, both signers of the Declaration of Independence.

The annual pages ball and a number of business sessions were on today's program.

WATCH THESE DANGER SIGNALS!

HEADACHES, dizziness, coated tongue, loss of appetite, lack of pep, a general feeling of "blues"—these are some of the danger signals of constipation.

Look out for them. Don't let them make your life miserable. Start tomorrow eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—a delicious ready-to-eat cereal. You'll enjoy its improved taste and texture. And what a relief it will be after taking unnatural, habit-forming pills and drugs.

Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are guaranteed to prevent and relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. In severe cases, eat it three times daily.

Milk or cream brings out the delightful nut-like taste of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. And with milk or cream, important vitamins are furnished. ALL-BRAN is equally tempting with fruits or honey. Sprinkle it over other cereals.

Use it in cooking—for making delicious bran muffins, breads, in omelets, etc. ALL-BRAN also has iron, the builder of good rich, red blood. At all grocers in the famous red-and-green packages. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. The original All Bran.

MAYFLOWER COMPACT

On Nov. 21, 1620, the Pilgrims held a meeting in the cabin of the Mayflower, the ship which brought them from England to America, and drew up a compact in which they announced their intention of making such laws as should be needed for the general good of the colony.

The compact, which was called the "law and order league" was signed by 41 Pilgrims. They then chose John Carver governor. When Carver died William Bradford was chosen; he filled the office for 31 years.

What induced the Pilgrims to draw up a compact was the fear of dissension among those Pilgrims who preferred to settle in Virginia, and those who favored New England.

The Mayflower had gone far out of her way, and the Pilgrims then decided, though they had a patent made out for settlement in Virginia, to settle in Massachusetts.

After carefully exploring the New England coast, the Pilgrims found a satisfactory harbor and landed at Plymouth, Mass., on Dec. 21, 1620.

CO-OPERATION NEEDED SAYS CHAIRMAN SHOUSE

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 21.—(AP.)—Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic National executive committee, believes the possibilities of benefit to the country are incalculable, "if the spirit of co-operation between Democratic and Republican parties asked in the recent statement of leaders of the Democratic Party is carried out."

This view was expressed in a statement issued here last night before he left for Washington. Declaring the United States "is in the midst of a very critical and trying period," and saying the present situation is "almost as serious" as in time of war, he called on members of both parties to meet it with constructive measures.

Shouse said Democratic success in the recent election "is not so much a victory as an opportunity." He predicted the party would elect the next president and control Congress in 1932 "if the party conducts itself with judgment and sense and patriotism for the next 18 months."

THE TINYMITES STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

'I'll bet,' said Copy, 'those old ships have had some very wondrous trips. They must have sailed for years and years upon the ocean blue. A wondrous story would be told if each old ship could now unfold all of the things, in years gone by, that each ship has been through.
'But, let us find some other place where there are ships still in the race against the storms and winds and such. I'll bet they're sights to see. This is a fishing port. I hear, and there must be big ships real near. I'd like to climb all over one. Such sport appeals to me.'
'Well, well, my son. Perhaps we can,' replied the friendly Travel Man. 'If you are game to walk a bit, I'll lead you to a fleet. This time of day the ships are in. If we are going, let's begin. Perhaps we'll find some fishermen, whom you'll be glad to meet.'
And so, upon their way once more they sauntered down the sandy shore. Soon Scouty cried, 'Oh, look ahead. I see some big ships. Gee! They're all pulled way up on the sand. The sight of them is simply grand! If we can loaf around them, my, how happy I will be.'

They reached the ships and Clowny cried, 'Say, fishermen, can we all ride?' 'I'm sorry,' said one fisherman. 'We are not going out. We've had our catch of fish today, so up on shore we're going to stay. However, if you wish to, all you lads can look about.'
'That's fine,' replied the Travel Man. And to the ships the Tinies ran. The sails were all rolled up real tight and there was room to roam. The Tinies scampered all around and interesting things they found. Said Clowny, 'My, they're roomy.' They would make a real nice home.'
(The Tinymites meet a lacy maker in the next story.)
