FRIDAY, JULY 27.
FASCISM, NAZISM
 The tragic and far provoking events in Austria, Czechoslovakia and Nazism are arrayed against each other in bloody strife, finds in this country an audience not quite clear in its mind as to why there should be any conflict, after all, between Nazi and Fascist. In a general way the American people understand the marks and emblems of the "patriotic" and that the maintenance of Austria as a separate and independent state was a major tenet of their political faith, while the Nazis have been urging and working for incorporation of their country into the German Reich.
 But aside from that issue between the two groups it has been and continues to be difficult for the average American to grasp any fundamental difference between Fascism and Nazism.

Both of these political concepts are based on autocratic rule by a superior intelligence which regards the masses as a whole yielding unquestioning obedience and devotion themselves without protest or murmur to the well-being and upbuilding of their state. Both are equally insistent that the individual is nothing and the state everything. And both even the most unobtrusive outside observer can learn by the way they are predicated on the subordination of the many to the profit and glory of a highly privileged few.

AN EXAMPLE
 Mayor Meloy of Bridgeport, set by tremendous popular demand, the day of making, receipt equal to each other as well as an attractive having very little legal power to do anything about it, hit upon a scheme of saving some of the taxpayers' money.
 The city also has a number of services and the mayor found it by having the kind of a minor and having it handled by men who are saving estimated at $7,000 would be affected. So he proposed doing it.

Instantly from the twenty-five sold fuel dealers of the city there was a most interesting and lively it was not only a terrible menace to them, as citizens and taxpayers, but it would really pay at all. of the rank-and-file Fascist one must definitely understand the nature of the aspirations and remain content with the material handouts that are constitute the share of life, but a rank-and-file Nazi may have delusions of grandeur, conceiving himself to be an important part of the "state" as any other fellow and with opportunity always open to him at the top.

This is the real line of cleavage between Fascism and Nazism. In neither system is the individual great of a show unless he is a member of the specially privileged class which, in both instances, the promoter and secret backer of the system itself. But while the Fascist subject knows he hasn't, the ties and bonds of a citizen to a city is up against which to get the most it can for its taxpayers. money and makes its deposit as much of this business as the people we must say, a hot lot of fools are the inevitable.

WUNNEE-NEETUNAH
 We were told by that out of the townswoman Mathias Spies-land and widely known as an authority on the Indian situation. The land had made his debut as a novellist in the publication of "The Story of Wunnee-Neetunah," when it occurred to the author to make a study of the part of the country have not yet come around to thinking much about in the possible, even actually possible, long range effect of the great drought in the West and particularly in the Northwest.

Perhaps not a great deal of attention will be paid immediately to the opinion expressed by Dr. E. W.
 Moore, head, reclamation commissioner. It is an attractive little volume which must be moved out of the western half of the Dakotas and eastern Montana and Wyoming, because "there is nothing left," says the author, "to be any more than a memory of the things that were there before long ago." The author by a desperate situation precipitated by the drought and the terrific heat of the West, which has been the cause of the situation, will present to others less attentive, will present in a most impressive way the condition of the West as it is today.
 Dr. Moore is, we believe, the first government official to declare that the great region to which he refers is now a vast wasteland, and that the boundary of what is now dead land is being pushed back and allowed to revert again to cattle range.
 It is not by any means the first time that the situation has been being what he believes to be the conclusion. The development of the semi-arid Northwest as an agricultural region is likely to go down in history as one of the most colorful economic blunders ever perpetrated on this hemisphere. And because the fate of hundreds of thousands of human beings is bound up with the collapse of the effort the tragedy of its discovery is ghastly.

CASE OF NAUSEA
 Nausea is that disagreeable symptom known as "feeling sick at the stomach." Many of the letters which I am going to tell you a few of the common causes of nausea, or desire to vomit.
 One of the first causes is acidity, which induces a severe nausea. In many people, in fact, the word nausea comes from the Greek word "nausea," meaning "to vomit." The greatest cause of nausea is an excessive quantity of food. The majority of cases of bilious nausea comes from the liver and stomach with the normal stimulus process of the liver and gall-bladder; once the life empties normally, the nausea disappears. When gallstones are present in the gall-bladder, the nausea which results will usually persist until the stones are removed through dieting or through surgery.
 Another frequent cause of nausea is some derangement of the stomach. One who has indigestion, stomach ulcers, hyperacidity, or inflammation of the stomach will often suffer from a nauseated condition. The presence of much gas on the stomach may produce an unpleasant feeling similar to actual nausea. Many patients complain of feeling sick at their stomachs when first eating; some say that toothpaste activity nauseates them. In such cases there may be present a bilious taint, or it is likely that the patient has catarrh of the nose and throat or as in such a condition he may swallow quantities of mucus during the night, which make him sickish first thing in the morning.
 Those suffering from pyrosis and other gas troubles sometimes exhibit this symptom due to an unpleasant accumulation of gas in the stomach. Pregnancy is a well-known cause of early morning nausea. A very common cause of nausea, especially that form which occurs while riding or driving on a train.

"I Get Drunk," Brags Tot, Desiring Beer for a Party

West Paterson, N. J., July 27.—Family fun was pulled at the house of Charles "Mickey" Norman, 3rd, who will be three years old on Saturday and his parents had hoped against hope that he would be able to celebrate the event by giving up smoking, a habit he acquired when he was fourteen months old. But today in the backyard of his home at 204 Jackson avenue, the plump, pink-faced youngster, dressed in a white suit, sat on a chair and drank from a glass of beer. He was not alone. His mother, Mrs. Norman, and his father, Mr. Norman, were also present. Mrs. Norman said that Mickey had been drinking beer for some time and that he was very fond of it. She said that Mickey had been drinking beer for some time and that he was very fond of it. She said that Mickey had been drinking beer for some time and that he was very fond of it.

FRUIT LINER WRECKED BY FIRE IN NEW YORK

New York, July 27.—(AP)—Fire attacked the cargo of the United Fruit liner Atena, moored in the Hudson river, today a few hours before she was to sail for Honduras.

Three alarms were sounded and the fire was quickly extinguished. The liner was damaged in places, but the cargo was saved.

The fire was discovered about 2 a. m. in the eastern standard time, by a watchman on Pier 5, where the vessel was moored. After a vain attempt to check the flames 50 members of the crew were forced to abandon the ship.

Fire Lieutenant Lawrence Pagan was overcome by smoke and carried to the deck hospital.

Firemen said the fire would probably continue throughout the day. The Atena was scheduled to sail at 10 a. m. She carried a cargo of general merchandise.

"STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

By Sophie Kerr
 BUCK TURNER, who was married to her first husband, JANE TERRY, comes to New York, determined to show her home town, Hartford, and especially ANN JACOBSON, that she can make a success of her life. Any man who has lost friend until HOWARD JACKSON had forced upon him and married Amy New York Jane has obtained a position in a real estate office and now is making a large home. She has a dog named BOB, a cat named MARY, and a dog named ANN. JACOBSON, who is a very nice girl, she is expecting a child of her own. Howard comes home for a week or two of her but that Jane may some time like to take Nancy to her mother's home.

When America enters the World War Howard enters in the aviation corps and goes to a training camp in Texas. His mother comes to stay with Amy and little Nancy. Amy concludes to take Nancy to her mother's home for a week or two of her but that Jane may some time like to take Nancy to her mother's home.

Italy's air force is being retrained. Most of them are light, mobile troops well trained and equipped with light tanks and mobile artillery, ready for a quick movement into Austria if necessary.

The headquarters of three army corps are strung across the border at Trieste, Udine, and Bolzano, one from these points the border can be closed or crossed with machine-gun precision.

But these are only the nearest. A quarter of a million men, behind these lines, are ready for any emergency. The multinational police force (Carabinieri) has more than 30,000 men.

Service in the army or navy is compulsory to every Italian man. But before he is called to the colors he must pass through a military school. Along and behind the 200 miles of mountain border that separates Italy from Austria, there are some 75,000 highly trained soldiers.

Italy has joined neither the Balkan nor the Avangardist. All are strictly Fascist party agencies. The Italian youth is almost certain to be called on to fight.

With all these troops and military units that are unprepared in any army in the world.

Agility, speed, endurance, and physical condition have been the main points to live more people.

ROAD PROJECTS ARE ANNOUNCED

Bids Asked On 17 Miles of Highway Improvement—18 Jobs in All.

Highway Commissioner John A. Mansfield today announced 18 new road improvement projects to be undertaken on Connecticut state and town highways, those jobs to include slightly more than 17 miles of improvement, the construction of three small bridges and supply other work such as drainage and the turning of curves.

Four of the new jobs will be done on Trunk Line roads. One will be classed as a State Aid project, 12 as town aid jobs, and one as a special project.

The second annual town bid track, sponsored jointly this year by the Recreation and the Knights of Columbus, will consist of eleven events to be held at the State Armory for the meet, which will be held at the State Armory on August 11, 11, and 12.

None of the projects incorporated in the program will be started until August 10, but individual entries will be accepted up to starting time.

The morning conference of the Trunk Line roads will be held at the State Armory on August 10, 11, and 12.

FLIGHT INTO THE STRATOSPHERE BEING SUCCESSFUL BEGINNING

ad on the natural grandstand above the bowl watching through the night to witness the ascent. Many hundreds of miles for the flight and a terrific jam resulted.

The crowd cheered when the craft cleared the wall. There was some apprehension that it might crash at the takeoff. Weather conditions were perfect as the flight started. Visibility was good and ground winds low.

Three and a half times larger than any previously built, the balloon carries the most complete and valuable collection of instruments ever assembled for such an expedition.

Devised by cooperating technicians after months of work, mechanical parts will keep for long periods in temperature, air pressure, time altitude, cosmic rays and other activities in the little known upper air where fewer than a dozen men have gone before in balloons.

Cameras operating automatically will record instrument readings every 10 seconds, leaving the man free for navigation and observation.

Lead For Ballast - While the balloon creeps slowly at the bag rate sufficiently to roll the gondola under it, other workers were strung more than six thousand pounds of lead shot ballast in the metal sphere.

As last steps were taken in preparation to start the ascent, the balloon was hoisted to the top of the National Geographic Society and Army Corps stratosphere balloon scheduled for "pure" time after dawn.

Infation of the huge craft started last night and finished at 1:30 a. m.

Half an hour after inflation was completed, three mooring posts were cut and the balloon was free to start its ascent.

The balloon crew took additional precautions against possible escape of the bag, by grasping the lower edge of the fabric.

Three men who will make the flight are Major William E. Kepner, pilot; Capt. Orville A. Anderson, alternate pilot; and Capt. Albert W. Stevens, scientific observer.

They are going to the top of the world, but a last minute precaution decided that there would be no ascent.

SENSE and NONSENSE
 The leader gets real pleasure out of his job. When they have finished their work.

The moon shows down brightly on the two lovers nestled together on the hillside. He was whispering sweet nothings in her ear.

She (hooping)-Darling, I swear I have never loved like this before!

He (startled)-Oh, sweetheart, when you were out with Doris, and I was the first time.

She (sighing)-I wish I could be like you.

He (laughing)-I wish I could be like you.
