Globe Hollow

The long-delayed trial of the Giobe Hollow injunction autt, which was scheduled for Superior Court today, was postponed again.

A new hearing date will be set for it in the court calendar that will appear Monday. Attorneys involved expect the case to be rescheduled for Tuesday. But it would not necessarily be reached by that date either.

Attorneys for both sides agreed to a postponement today because of a combination of events. The plaintiffs were not prepared to so of a combination of events. Tuesday, May 13, Starting at approximately nine o'clock, that morning these students were all given a tour of their respective offices, and the duties each were explained. Much was ned and some startling revelations were made during the course f the day. A luncheon at Cavey's Restaurant heralded the end of a day which all thought was well Dale Robinson, town manager. met town officials, was sworn into office, and discussed town businesand various projects, with our Town Manager, Mr. Richard Martin. Susan Euckley, acting Mayor learned the routines of Mr. Harold Turkington and the general Manager as well as other departments. Giving an order to town Engineer Pascal Poe to handle a complaint, she demanded a full report in blank verse, and got it. Both girls were taken on an interesting and informative tour of the Nike installation and thought the day was "just great" and "alded a thorough understanding of our town government."
