U.S. to Air Arms Plan in Geneva

By TOM HOGE
United Nations, N. Y., Oct. 15 (AP)—Word circulated today that the United States will present a rival arms plan when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's total disarmament proposal goes before the 10-nation East-West committee in Geneva.

Sources close to the U.S. delegation to the U.N. said American disarmament experts are working quietly with the State Department on a plan covering the whole arms question as well as the thorny problem of adequate controls.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge hinted some such move was afoot when he spoke in the disarmament debate before the U.N. Assembly's main Political Committee yesterday.

Lodge noted that President Eisenhower has set in motion a concentrated disarmament review which will prepare the United States to participate "constructively" in the Geneva talks, slated to open after the Assembly ends.

Informants stressed that the United States will not present any arms plan before the General Assembly this session but will wait for the Geneva Parley.

The U.S. feeling is that detailed consideration of the Khrushchev plan and all other arms proposals is the job of the 10-nation committee which has been set up outside the U.N. to try to break the East-West disarmament deadlock.

It was noted that the United States has not endorsed the step-by-step disarmament plan put forth at the beginning of the assembly session by British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

Lodge stressed that this, too, should be thrust out at Geneva.

Lodge told the assembly that some agency such as an international police force would be necessary to preserve peace after disarmament. He recommended that the U.N. Disarmament Commission try to decide what type of force would be needed and what principles of international law should govern it.

2 Free of Charges in Vigilante Slaying
By CORNELIUS F. HUBLEY
Chelms, Vt., Oct. 15 (AP)—Murder charges were dismissed today against two men indicted in the vigilante slaying of a Newbury dairy farmer Orville A. Gibson, 47.

Robert Oaro Welch, 46-year-old school janitor, was freed by a directed verdict without a single defense witness being called.

The state dropped its case against the other man, Frank W. Carpenter, 48, who had been scheduled to go on trial later.

Atty. Gen. Frederick M. Heald told the court at the conclusion that if he had been free to decide the question himself he might not have proceeded with the Welch prosecution.

"The state is not in any way dissatisfied with what was decided here today," Heald said.

Welch, who was chewing a wad of gum, rose from his seat at his counsel table as the jury rendered its directed verdict of acquittal.

Welch's wife, Edna, and two daughters rushed to his side as the foreman intoned the verdict ordered by the court.

Carpenter had been a spectator throughout Welch's trial. Both men have been free on bail of $40,000 each.

Gibson's trusted body was found in the Connecticut River three months after he vanished from his Newbury farm, Dec. 31, 1957.

The previous Christmas Day he had beaten a trail hired hand and there was resentment in the small community.

Father Sentenced For Death of Child
Litchfield, Oct. 15 (AP)—Harold C. Samson of Newtown was given a 12-to-15-year state prison sentence in the beating of his 3-year-old daughter.

The 33-year-old Samson was sentenced in Litchfield Superior Court yesterday on a manslaughter charge. He was originally charged with intent to murder, but was allowed to plead guilty to the lesser charge last month.

The girl disappeared two years ago. Her body was found in New Milford in August after the child's mother, Mary Jane, tipped police on the girl's death. The

New York, Oct. 15 (AP)—"I really did not know of the great interest you had in me until yesterday—and here I am today which is as soon as it was humanly possible for me to meet with you."

It was Charles Van Doren who left from his teaching post at Columbia University and had been on a trip to New England to gather his thoughts.

Van Doren, reading from a hand-written statement on yellow paper, apologized for what he called "my apparent aversion" to the press for the last several days.

But he refused to discuss his show earnings in advance of his scheduled appearance in Washington.

85,000 More Jobs Needed in State by 1975, Survey Shows
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A private consulting firm said in a report to state officials today that Connecticut will have to provide 85,000 more industrial jobs by 1975.

The firm made its prediction on the basis of a $50,000 economic survey that included studies of population and migrational shifts.

The consultants, Rood, Allen and Hamilton of New York City, said they tried to show how Connecticut could better its industrial competitive position and stimulate industrial expansion.

"They said they believed the needed jobs could be provided by the proper integration of all natural and economic resources."

The 300-page report, prepared during the last six months, was to be presented at a meeting attended by Gov. Abraham Ribicoff, members of the State Development Commission and members of the Governor's Economic Cabinet.

The consultants made these two recommendations:
1. Substantial tax breaks for in-

UN Unit Finds No Aggression in Laos Strife

Tokyo, Oct. 15 (AP)—The United Nations factfinding team on Laos will report to the U.N. Security Council no evidence was received that North Viet Nam conducted aggression against Laos, the newspaper Asahi reported Thursday.

Asahi quoted sources close to Shinichi Shibusawa, Japanese chairman of the team. He could not be reached for comment.

Asahi, Japan's largest and most influential daily, said the factfinding team found the following:
1. Guerrilla warfare was going on in the Sam Neua sector, roughly midway between Luang Prabang of Laos and Hanoi of North Viet Nam.

2. None of the captives interviewed were non-Laotian nationals.

3. Weapons seized by the Royal Laotian Army included mortars and hand grenades and some of the hand grenades were Czech-made. Statements made to the fact-finding team by the sick and wounded soldiers of the Royal Laotian Army said the rebels "could have owned such Czech-made weapons without having been supplied from outside after the Pathet Lao started the rebellion."

Earlier, a member of the 4-nation team expressed astonishment at a report the group had received evidence Red China's former commander in Korea is masterminding the Laos rebellion.

"I've never heard of it," said Brig. General Heriberto Ahrens of Argentina. "This is the first time I've heard it. I'm really astonished."

A high official in the Japanese Foreign Ministry also stated he had no such report.

Ahrens arrived in Tokyo from Laos last night with Shibusawa.

A published report (not carried by the Associated Press) said the U.N. team had evidence that the Communist rebels fighting Laotian army troops are under the direct supervision of Marshal Peng Teh-huai, a Red Chinese vice president.

Local Man Is Quizzed About Fire
A Manchester man, described only as a "North End resident," was being questioned by police this afternoon at press time in connection with the fire which burned out the upper floor of a 2-story garage on N. Main St. early Sunday.

Police Chief James Reardon said it would be premature to release the name of the suspect at this time. However, he said, it is believed the man is involved in other fires in the area.

The chief said the suspect is also being questioned regarding incidents not related to the fires.

About 50 Eighth District firemen fought the blaze for almost an hour and a half after it was discovered by Patrolman John McLeod and a Depot Sq. resident, Ralph Weston.

Officials credited the firemen with preventing much greater destruction by their action in keeping the fire from spreading to nearby structures.

The garage is located behind 185-187 N. Main St. and is owned by the REE, Realty Co. It stands close to the rear of a block of buildings on Depot Sq.

Contents of the building consisted largely of personal and household items, all deemed valuable. There were no cars in the building at the time.

An investigation of the fire's origin was started afterward by the Eighth District Fire Chief John J. Merz and Det. Sgt. Joseph Sartor.

U.S. Charges Price Fixed on Salk Vaccine
Trenton, N.J., Oct. 15 (AP)—Two FBI agents today were slated to testify about what a government lawyer calls "extreme price uniformity" by five major drug firms on sales of Salk anti-polio vaccine.

Lewis Bernstein, presenting the government's conspiracy charges against the five companies, said he would call the FBI men as his first witnesses.

Bernstein said yesterday in his opening remarks to a federal court jury, that the drug firms got together and charged the same price "down to the fourth decimal point."

He said witnesses today will testify that the firms refused to give quantity discounts to government agencies, even though they saved the 10 per cent discount to wholesalers and blocked Texas and Connecticut distributors from giving cut rates.

Lawyers for three of the drug companies gave their opening statements yesterday, and said they arrived at the same prices to meet competition and not through conspiracy.

They were former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, representing Eli Lilly & Co. of Indianapolis; William Piel, representing Allied Laboratories, Kansas City; and Roy McDonald, for Wyeth Laboratories, Philadelphia.

Two other lawyers were to give their opening statements today: Jerome G. Shapiro, for Merck,

USW, Industry Urged To Resume Pact Talk

Washington, Oct. 15 (AP)—The head of President Eisenhower's inquiry panel on the steel strike today urged the industry and union to resume direct negotiations and seek an agreement before Sunday.

Both the industry and union seemed to accept the suggestion made by panel chairman George W. Taylor at the winding of the panel's hearings. But no immediate negotiating arrangements were made.

The nation wants a settlement "soon of the damaging strike," Taylor lectured to both sides.

He said that if they are unable to reach agreement by negotiation, they should consider submitting their differences to arbitration, or a decision by outside neutrals.

First, R. Conrad Cooper, U.S. Steel Corp. executive, and then union president David J. McDonald replied that they preferred negotiations rather than arbitration.

"I am in the mood to bargain collectively to try to reach an agreement," McDonald said.

Cooper similarly said that the industry favored on arbitration and wanted to negotiate its settlement.

Taylor, in a summary of how the panel viewed the case so far, said there are two main road blocks thwarting a settlement.

He said these are the work rule changes demanded by the industry—designed to promote operating economy—and the matter of wages and benefit increases for the strikers.

Taylor said he sympathized with the company position that neither the steel industry nor the country wanted a settlement that would launch a new round of inflation. But he said he questioned that the industry's limit of a 2 per cent increase for the workers was a "magic figure" or a necessarily correct measurement of what

Carpet to Moon
Washington, Oct. 15 (AP)—Enough cigarettes were produced last year to make a carpet seven feet wide and one cigarette thick from the Earth to the moon, the Agriculture Department reported today.

The world output was 1,971 billion cigarettes—470 billion of them American. That was an increase of 41 per cent over 1957 for the world total.

To reach the moon at its closest point to the Earth, the cigarette carpet would have to extend 221,900 miles.

Americans Again Win Nobel Medicine Prize

Stockholm, Sweden, Oct. 15 (AP)—Two American scientists were awarded this year's Nobel prize in medicine for pioneer research into the basic mechanisms of heredity.

They are Dr. Severo Ochoa of New York University College of Medicine, New York, and Dr. Arthur Kornberg of Stanford University, Stanford, Calif.

The decision was taken by the Swedish Royal Caroline Institute of Medicine and Physiology this afternoon.

The award signaled an explosive biochemical advance in the basic scientific level of heredity.

The prize this year is worth 220,000 Swedish crowns ($42,600). The money comes from trusts set up under the will of Alfred Nobel, Swedish inventor of dynamite. The prizes first were awarded in 1901 and are given for chemistry, physics, literature, as well as in the field of medicine and physiology. In addition there is the Nobel peace prize.

Americans also won the prize for medicine last year. They were George Beadle, Edward Tatum and Joshua Lederberg, for their work in genetics.

The work of Dr. Ochoa and Dr. Kornberg centered on the chemical structural pattern of heredity, notably the key substances of DNA could be given that would be non-negotiable.

Chapman suggested, for that matter, that management must always seek compromise. He said that if the industry could not find a way to compromise, it should be willing to accept a settlement.

As to the inflation issue, Taylor pointed out that a continuing steel strike also would promote some inflation through its impact on the general budget, through higher tax yields and in various other ways.

At the end of the meeting, Taylor was asked by newsmen whether his statement that he was in a mood to bargain means if no longer returning to compromise on the company-proposed work rule changes.

The union chief said this is open for discussion but "Give up on it?"

He repeated what he has said before—that giving up on the contract would be "over my head."

As to whether he considers the outbreak even a "war" or a "hot war," Taylor said he would not say. He said that he would not say whether he would accept the company's offer.

Tool Rolls on Lip Color

With this new tool, you can outline a perfect shape. The new formula rolls the color evenly and quickly. You draw on a cosmetic roll-on lipstick, combining the properties of lip liner and lip brush.

In slender, two-tone golden case, the new lip-quick is longer, more graceful and easier to use. You take off the cap and the rounded, ballpoint applicator tip is ready to release flowing color from an inner well.

Victim Tells Court Shot No Accident

Harry Hansen, 34, who was shot during a love quarrel in an East Hartford factory parking lot July 6, insisted in Superior Court testimony today that the gun which was fired was not discharged accidentally.

Hansen took the stand for the second time today as a State's witness in the trial of Miss Gladys Stank, 47, of Hebron, who is accused of assault with intent to murder Hansen.

Cross examination by defense attorney George Lesmer of Manchester consumed most of the trial until a 1 o'clock recess this afternoon. Trial got underway for the second day at 10 a.m.

During questioning by Atty. Lesmer, Hansen said he recalled having jostled Miss Stank, causing her to fall, because the woman was standing beside his car about two feet from him at the time.

He said he was signing over some stock certificates to her at that time and was writing at the time.

"I couldn't have jostled her," Hansen said, "because my hand was down and I was writing at the time."

"How are you sure?" "No," Hansen replied. "How are you sure?" "I couldn't have," Hansen answered. "I couldn't have. I was sitting with my legs spread against the car door and the door was open and I was writing at the time."

Although in testimony yesterday, Hansen referred to the shooting as an accident, he said today he had been "speaking loudly."

Baker, Driver Aides Meet in Contract Talks

Hartford, Oct. 15 (AP)—A marathon session was held today by representatives of 29 major bakery companies in West Hartford and 15 Westchester Local unions met to try to work out a 3-year contract.

The chief baker company representative, Boston Atty. Robert Sullivan, did not foresee any early settlement today.

Although the official strike deadline approved by the union membership is midnight tonight, Joseph Chazy of Bridgeport, chief union negotiator, said both sides are prepared to discuss contract matters beyond that hour.

A threat to continuation of the talks was avoided Wednesday during the session lasting 12 hours at the Stratford Hilton when the union officials agreed to go along with a management request that goods made today would be delivered on Friday, beyond the strike deadline, and not left to rot.

Company representatives had said they would close down today if this had not been agreed by the union.

The present talks involve wholesale bakeries. Of the 12, six are located in the Hartford area. All had 2,811 workers, or about 70 percent of approximately 350 are from the Hartford area.

In case of a strike, chain supermarkets like A&P and First National, would not be affected, but those customers which would eventually feel the pinch would be independent grocers, hotels, restaurants and institutions.

The reason that an early settlement today is not foreseen is that there are many issues still to be resolved, despite concessions on both sides Wednesday: The union agreed to regular drivers (from a range of 10 to 15 cents) and seven cents more over three years to eight cents, and the union agreed that the 18 cents more over three years is working toward a 15-cent pension and welfare department.

The union originally submitted a 44-item list of proposals to management on Sept. 28. Talks have been held periodically ever since that date. Here is the picture on the contract situation in regards to main items:

Wages: The companies, which originally offered a base wage guarantee of $2, $2 and $2 more weekly over three years, has now upped their offer to $3, $3 and $2 for, wholesale drivers. Their base guarantee is now $4 weekly plus $1.80 for overtime. The union offers around $100 per week. Spare drivers, now receiving $75 a week for the first four weeks and $85 thereafter, had been offered $78-$80 for the first four weeks and $88-$90 from then on. Hourly paid employees, garage and utility employees were, originally offered hourly increases over three years of 10, five and two and a half cents, have now been offered 7 1/2, 5 and 5 cents.

Pensions: Management, which now contributes $40 weekly in the area per man into the pension fund, has been asked by the union to up this by $2.50 weekly.

Welfare: The union wants the company to contribute $2.50 weekly to the fund, which generally pays $4.50 now, to up to $7 by $2.

Warning Issued On Diet Foods

John P. Wist, executive vice president of the Massachusetts Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the National Diet Food Council, today released a public warning issued by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education and Welfare against fraudulent products and schemes being followed upon the public as weight-reducers.

Secretary Flemming called the reducing schemes "probably the most lucrative of medical frauds today." He quoted an American Medical Assn. estimate that the public is being fleeced of $100 million a year in the purchase of spurious diet aids and untested mechanical devices.

The secretary emphasized that weight-control is a medical problem. He asserted there is no such thing as a "safe and sane" diet drug or device which will bring about loss of body weight without exercise or the will to cut down food intake.

Following by patrol commander. Check services were completed on Sunday morning by Ambrose. Mr. Wist said that the boys passed their second and first class cooking tests.

Cooking was stressed during the camp. Food cooking was tried with children and Scout leaders boys passed their second and first class cooking tests.

A coming event of special importance will be a Court of Honor, which is to be held on Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the South Methodist Church. Families and friends of Scout boys are invited to attend.

Your Pocketbook

You're the boss because the business you operate is your own. And, like many a successful businessman, you are completely engaged in the immediate operation of this business and are not seeing to it that its growth is assured. Yet, there may be an aspect that you have overlooked—especially if you are young and healthy. What will happen to this business, and most especially to those for whom you have created this business, if you should die prematurely?

Most large corporations are doing a splendid job for both executives and employees by providing a variety of group insurance plans, profit-sharing, pension and retirement programs. What about you who are self-employed? What future provisions have you made? Will you assume that you carry adequate insurance on your life and home and trust your wife made provisions for herself. But will the lump sum that your family will receive from your insurance, should you die, tide them over satisfactorily for the remainder of their lives?

Frequently families require the income that a personal business can provide. Joseph H. Wolfe, secretary of the American Bankers Association's Trust Division told me the other day. I had accepted his invitation to stop by and learn about the educational program the A.B.A. is conducting nationwide to instruct trust departments in business management.

How and more family operated businesses are being continued after the death of their owners, he commented.

Is this possible for all types of business? I wanted to know exactly what is the role of the bank in these instances? Unless the business depends for its survival upon the creative talent of one man, such as an inventor, Wolfe explained, there is an excellent chance that if a trust is established the enterprise can continue and very successfully.

I noted that even the world renowned fashion house of Dior has gone on without Dior. Four readers should give thought to business trusts if they are running a business of their own. Wolfe continued: "What I learned from him: It is wise to consult with a bank trust department regarding the advisability of retaining your business after your death. You should decide whether your objective is to keep the business going in trust until such time as a member of the family could take over running it, or for the duration of your widow's life to assure her income. Foreseeing problems that you could not foresee, the bank may advise selling the business. By consulting with a bank about your business, you may learn much that could benefit your estate tax-wise. As in the case of other trusts, once a bank assumes responsibility for a business trust, it is responsible for its management. Of course, should things go badly because of adverse business conditions, the bank could not be held liable. Actually, the bank itself does not run your business. It appoints a qualified person who is paid a salary and who reports to the bank. For this service, as is the case with other trusts, the bank receives a fee.

There have been recent instances, Wolfe pointed out, where under bank management a business has actually done better than when its owner was alive. Not only are a wide variety of manufacturing businesses run in this manner, but so are a wide variety of service organizations and even ranches and farms.

How They Were Formed In an old legend, Filipino children are told that their land was formed when a giant threw a huge mass of rock into the sea. The rock was supposed to have broken into many pieces, each of which formed an island of the Philippines.

BEAUTY QUEEN ILL. Ossana, N.Y., Oct. 15 (AP)—Betty Sanderson, beauty queen of New York State, has been a patient in a state tuberculosis hospital since Oct. 4, her father, William G. Sanderson, said yesterday. The 21-year-old beauty queen had been teaching school in Sierra, Conn.

Nordics Approve Common-Market Plan for Labor

Stockholm — The Nordic common market for labor, an arrangement under which citizens of Denmark, Norway, Finland, or Sweden may be employed anywhere in these countries without having to apply for a working permit, is now five years old. Observers all agree that the results have been good, but the opportunities for persons in public service and those with special academic degrees are still limited in other countries. Besides their own, chiefly by a demand for citizenship. Committees have been working for several years to try to break down the few remaining restrictions on work.

Retirement: Happy Times

Home Bought in 1900s Have Proven Valuable Investment If you are an older person who has owned his home for many years, here is a bright ray in the middle of the high cost of living gloom. Take the word of a Cornell University professor, home bought 50 years ago and still held by their original owners have appreciated 350 per cent in value. That old family homestead bought for $2,000 back in 1900 to 1905 is worth $9,000 today. "People who bought homes in the 1900s have seen their investment more than double," said Prof. Glenn H. Beyer, director of Cornell's Housing Research Center. "People who bought in the past decade already have seen the dollar value of their homes increase by 20 per cent."

Professor Beyer presented his statistics at the University of Michigan Conference on Aging. They are based on early results of four surveys which the center conducted in a 10-county update New York region, including metropolitan Rochester, and also metropolitan St. Louis, Mo., Cook County, Ill., and Los Angeles County, Calif. Professor Beyer said the survey compared only the original cost with the current value of homes and did not include amounts spent in maintenance, improvements and repairs. Preliminary findings in the survey show that older home owners have homes with a median value of $12,000, ranging from $9,000 in St. Louis to $17,000 in Cook County. Most frequent improvements in recent years have been to the heating system, roofing, gas second, interior and exterior painting and kitchen and bathroom remodeling followed. Still another housing expert at the Michigan conference said older people need 150,000 new housing units annually. He is Carl Mitnick, president of the National Assn. of Home Builders. Mitnick has built 1,600 homes in North Cape Bay, N. Y. Of these, 800 are occupied by retired couples. Mitnick believes that older people are much happier living in their own homes, close to family and friends. In general, they don't want to be uprooted from their home area. They want to live in familiar surroundings. "Our senior citizens are excellent credit risks," Mitnick told the conference.

Collapsible Dam Used on River

Los Angeles — An unusual dam designed to be collapsed at the first indication of flood danger has been installed in the Los Angeles River. The dam, a giant nylon bag coated with neoprene, will divert the river water into nearby basins. It replaces a wooden dam that had to be removed during winter months when floods are most likely. The neoprene dam can be kept in place the year round. The bag, 150 feet long and 8 feet in diameter, can be collapsed in 10 minutes should flood danger arise. After the flood peril is over, the bag can be inflated in 25 minutes by pumping 50,000 gallons of water into it.

Babies Given Money

Vienna — To encourage thrift, the Central Savings Bank of Vienna gives every newborn baby in the Austrian capital a 10-shilling certificate, which after six years is credited toward a savings account. The bank has also started a savings plan for students in elementary schools called "Savings for a Good Book." The children regularly put away part of their allowances toward the purchase of a good book.

Bolton Route Of Highway 6 Seen on Map

The State Highway Department today released a map showing the proposed relocation of U.S. 6 from the Manchester town line east into Bolton.

A public hearing is scheduled for Oct. 24 at 8 p.m. in the Community Hall at Bolton Center on the proposed relocation.

According to State Highway Commissioner Howard S. Ives, the expressway would enter Bolton from Manchester just north of Camp Meeting Rd. Curving north, the expressway would underpass Bolton Center Rd. Just south of Williams Rd. Ramps would be constructed to and from the west at Bolton Center Rd.

Continuing easterly, the expressway would connect with the existing roadways at Bolton Notch. Ramps to and from the east would be constructed to U.S. 6 and 44A.

The proposed improvement will be a limited access expressway. There will be three lanes of traffic in each direction between Manchester and Bolton Center Rd. and between Bolton Center Rd. and the North and South Roads. A variable width ramp would separate the roadways. Interesting roads will be grade-separated by bridges over the expressway.

Construction of this 3.5 mile section in Bolton is not expected before 1961. The estimated cost for right-of-way and construction is approximately $2.3 million.

A map showing the proposed relocation is on file with the Town Clerk of Bolton for public inspection.

India Setting Up Health Bureau

New Delhi—India has decided to establish 10 health-education bureaus—five this year and next and the others in 1960-61.

The bureaus will give advice on health-education methods and media to various agencies; assist in organizing and conducting seminars, group teaching, training of personnel, and production and distribution of health-education aids and technical equipment.

They will also conduct special health programs, disseminate scientific information, maintain an up-to-date library service, and coordinate all health education activities within the states. State Health Education Councils are to be set up to get key leaders to take part in the program and make expert resources available to the bureaus.

Starving Girl 7, Locked in Room

Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 16 (AP)—A 7-year-old Phoenix girl, confined from severe malnutrition, was in the county hospital today after spending the last two years locked in a small bedroom.

Bonnie Marie Shelton weighed only 25 pounds when admitted to the hospital yesterday. She is 34 inches tall. Doctors said she should be 46 inches tall and weigh about 50 pounds.

Her mother, Mrs. Ruth Shelton, 31, arrested on a tip from a relative, was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Officers indicated additional charges may be filed later.

Juvenile officer Philip Morgan said Mrs. Shelton admitted keeping her daughter locked in the bedroom. He quoted her as saying the child suffered from a glandular disorder "and would eat all the food in the house if I let her."

Mrs. Shelton is an unemployed divorcee, but received money welfare aid and support money from her former husband, officers said. She has three other children, ages 5, 12 and 15. Apparently in good health, they were placed in the county children's home.

Ballet Opens CMA Season, Scores Hit

The Manchester Music Assn. last night presented the first of its attractions for the current season. The large audience which attended the event was treated to a most enjoyable evening by the Eggevsky Ballet.

Featured as premiere dancers were Melles. Hayler and Andre Eggevsky opposite her as dancer Tania Karina. Linda Yourb, Ivan Allen and "Rusty" Nickel, Miss Yourb and Mr. Nickel served as replacements for Jose Barriere, previously announced for the program, who had recently met with a disabling accident.

Programs altered.

This accident likewise resulted in several departures from the ballet program. The Spanish dances which Mr. Barriere was to have performed were omitted. The program as actually presented consisted almost entirely of "dame école" pieces.

While the result was less varied than the original, all the numbers were well presented and the audience had no reason to complain over the substitutions.

The evening, in fact, was pleased with the show, which is generally not pianistic but condensed orchestral and Mr. Eggevsky opened and closed the program. He likewise presented the middle, to begin with, they of the slow movement of the "Scottish" Symphony by Mendelssohn. It personally gave way to a symphony danced convincingly. Dancing symphony is a term introduced by Massine, an older century or so ago, and other choreographers have seen fit to follow his lead. None, so far, has approached the artistic level of Tchaikovsky, Berlioz, Beethoven, or even Mendelssohn; all of whose symphonies have been used in the ballet.

The fault does not lie so much with the choreography as it does with the choreographers. Classic ballet admits of no improvisation, and once started with intricate choreography there is nothing the performers can do to remedy the situation.

United Work of Art

The famous Pas de deux from "The Nutcracker" and the equally well known Pas de deux from "Swan Lake" were danced by the hands of Miss Hayden and Mr. Eggevsky. Here was music conceived and ballet by the composer, and the result is a united work of art. The audience, however, did not award the dancers more generous applause than in the past.

Featured in three offerings were a younger pair of excellent participants, Karina, and Mr. Allen. Miss Karina, a Russian artist and dancer, will doubtless go far. Mr. Allen is talented but could stand improvement in his "master" choreography.

In particular, his "entrances" and "exits" were not well timed. Despite his shortcomings in the classic ballet, Miss Karina and Mr. Eggevsky provided a high spot in the evening in an opus titled "The Doll." Choreographically, this was an attempt to modify the ballet of dolls with modern ballet, and the result must be both critical and confusing to the performers. Miss Karina and Mr. Allen succeeded admirably in this hybrid composition. In fact, they did as well as they could under the circumstances. Pressed into service at the last moment, Linda Yourb and "Rusty" Nickel performed their "The Nutcracker" Pas de deux from "Giselle." The offering was well chosen for their abilities since a little awkwardness is not untoward in peasants. These two youngsters performed acceptably, but as yet they lack experience. Technique is not instinctive with them, and they lack aplomb and finesse.

Accompanied Solo

Howard Barr, pianist, provided the musical accompaniment throughout.

Hospital Aid Unit To Hold Luncheon

Reservations will close tonight for the quarterly business meeting and luncheon of the Women's Auxiliary of the Manchester Memorial Hospital to be held Monday at 12:15 p.m. at the C. H. House.

Auxiliary members may make reservations by the evening with Mrs. John Boland, 119 Henry St.

The committee on arrangements for a post-dinner program includes Mrs. Charles Hamilton, Mrs. Ted Labonne, Mrs. Winwood Moyer, Mrs. Boland, Mrs. Lenard Erickson and Mrs. John Hunter.

Mrs. Paul Wilkins and Mrs. Labonne will receive donations of clothing and household goods for the Penny Saver, hospital thrift shop. A station wagon will be parked outside the hall for donations.

Grange Notes

Robert K. Mitchell, State master, and Mrs. Elizabeth Williams, subordinate master, played host to members of the National Grange and the Sears Roebuck Foundation at Glastonbury Grange last night on the occasion of the judging of Glastonbury's community service projects.

Glastonbury was found to be one of the top 10 winners in the National Community Service competition which had 4,334 entries throughout the country. The national judging team, making a 2-week tour of the 10 finalists, are: William J. Straub, master of the Michigan State Grange; George F. Chisney, master of the New Hampshire State Grange; Gerald H. Huffman, assistant administrator of programs in the U.S.D.A.; Robert Miller, farm director of Station WJW, Cincinnati, Ohio; and Glen E. Stone, assistant executive secretary for law relations of the National Education Assn.

Also present at the judging was Edward F. Heller, national lecturer and Jack Jackson, public relations director.

Robert V. Mullen, executive director of the Sears Roebuck Foundation, presented a check for $1,000 to Mrs. Williams at this time which Glastonbury Grange received for being among the finalists.

Lecturers' Contacts Completed.

The finals in the 1959 Lecturers' contests have been completed with the following results: Glastonbury, Little River Grange from Queensburg, Vermont; Glastonbury, Little River Grange from Queensburg, and senior square dance by Hilltown Grange of East Central Vermont.

Farm-City Week

The week of Oct. 20 to 26 has been designated as National Farm-City Week throughout the nation.

Herchel D. Newsum, Master of the National Grange, has said: "Rural people everywhere are anxious to become partners in progress with their urban neighbors. Now that our nation is more mature, more densely populated and more industrialized, it faces some of the problems of the older civilizations, and joining hands in a partnership of understanding is essential if we are to meet our progress potential. There is no room for disunion in our generation; same calling is the outcome of growth of ignorance. Farm-City Week fosters understanding and goodwill between the urban and rural segments of our society and also serves to focus national attention on the year-around progress made by sincere, voluntary efforts of many groups to understand their fellow man. Such understanding is imperative. The destination of all groups and the destiny of the nation itself depends upon our understanding of each other. It is because of this background that the National Grange endorses and supports this great Farm-City Week movement.

Faces Pressure

President Alfredo Strossener of Paraguay, shown during recent interview, faces growing pressure against his regime both inside and outside Paraguay.

Strossener, who is generally not pianistic but condensed orchestral and Mr. Eggevsky opened and closed the program. He likewise presented the middle, to begin with, they of the slow movement of the "Scottish" Symphony by Mendelssohn. It personally gave way to a symphony danced convincingly. Dancing symphony is a term introduced by Massine, an older century or so ago, and other choreographers have seen fit to follow his lead. None, so far, has approached the artistic level of Tchaikovsky, Berlioz, Beethoven, or even Mendelssohn; all of whose symphonies have been used in the ballet.

The fault does not lie so much with the choreography as it does with the choreographers. Classic ballet admits of no improvisation, and once started with intricate choreography there is nothing the performers can do to remedy the situation.

Director Talks On Theater Arts

Mrs. Lee Roma, West Hartford director of the Lee-Roma Academy, recently organized in Manchester, discussed the theater arts at a recent meeting of the Manchester Community Players at the American Legion Hall.

Mrs. Roma defined acting as "believing in one's self and in the role played." When there is the social quality of theater participation of the audience, which also projects itself into the drama on the stage, she said, this participation can be a kind of therapy especially useful in today's world.

A member of the American Educational Society and the New England Theater Conference, Mrs. Roma explained that these groups work with little theater organizations to promote community drama, and she gave suggestions on acting techniques on public relations between theater groups and the community, and on inter-group relationships.

The program also included monologues by Miss Gloria Della Ferra under the direction of Mrs. Mary Gaudet, program chairman. The meeting concluded with a social hour and refreshments.

Father Sentenced For Death of Child

mother is separated from Samson.

Samson's wife knew of the fatal beating and burial of the girl, State's Attorney Thomas F. Wall said. She told authorities about it in April 1959.

Mrs. Samson told her four other children left New Milford several months ago for Jay, Maine, while her husband wandered through New England seeking odd jobs. He was arrested in August while looking for work in Newbury.

Authorities said that after the girl dies Samson hid her body under a bed and later buried it in a grave on a bank of the Housatonic River in New Milford.

He admitted the fatal beating, and from his division police were able to find the body. State's Attorney Wall recommended the 12-to-15-year term.

Mrs. Samson is now serving a sentence in a Maine institution on a morals charge.
