Care of Emotionally Disturbed Largest Single Health Problem

New Haven, Dec. 16 (AP)—The nation's largest health problem facing any state in the nation, says a medical specialist, is the care of emotionally disturbed children.

Dr. Maurice W. Lauer, of Riverside, N.J., said the problem was particularly acute for children of pre-school age.

"There is practically nothing done in this area now," Lauer told a newsman at a congressional hearing on special education at Yale University yesterday.

Lauer, director of the Emma Pendleton Bradley Hospital in Riverside, is co-chairman of one of several panels of experts considering the various mental and physical handicaps that afflict children and adults.

The 2-day workshop, with some 350 specialists from 100 private, state and federal agencies and schools throughout New England in attendance, concludes today.

The session is under the sponsorship of a congressional subcommittee on education and rehabilitation which starts two days of public hearings here tomorrow.

Other panels are discussing the problems of persons with speech and hearing defects, with essential handicaps that afflict children and adults, and those who are exceptionally gifted.

The conclusions reached at the workshop will be presented to the subcommittee at the public hearings, Rep. Carl Elliott (D-N.J.) is chairman of the legislative body, which is considering possible legislation.

Hartford Man Charged in Rape

Hartford, Dec. 16 (AP)—A Hartford man has been charged with kidnaping and statutory rape in a case involving a 14-year-old girl.

Juan Varigan, 22, was presented to the charges in police court yesterday. Bond was set at $25,000 and the case was continued until tomorrow.

A need for special training for mentally retarded children between the ages of 16 and 18 was seen by Helen Freeman of Cambridge, Mass., and Mrs. Rhoda Clark of Claremont, N.H.

Mrs. Freeman, director of special education, Leakey College, Cambridge, said these children usually leave the public schools at the age of 16 but can't get work until 18 because of the federal child labor law.

Mrs. Clark, chairman of a special education committee for the New Hampshire Board of Education, said these years could be devoted to training the mentally retarded child for eventual jobs. Mrs. Clark is president and publisher of the Claremont Eagle.

Speech and hearing—At least 10 to 15 times the number of present workers are needed. The demand may increase tenfold within five years.

Gifted children—Testing is needed at the elementary-school level, as well as at the high school level where testing is now made possible by federal aid. Individual community projects could be coordinated with additional federal aid.

Special Medical Problems—This group includes persons with essentially permanent ailments such as arthritis and cerebral palsy, as well as heart disease and multiple sclerosis. More federal aid and coordinating of existing facilities was urged here.

Iowa Election Goes to GOP

While he opposed the secretary's idea of solving the farm problem, Benson was not a candidate in the special election and what was needed was "some good old-fashioned farmer ingenuity, experience and a little common sense," he said during the campaign.

He said during the campaign he would call on the farmers and let them recommend the solution and go on from there.

Republican National Chairman Thurston Morton publicly declared the victory indicated GOP renounces after defeat in the 1958 Congressional election.

He said it also was "a splendid tribute to President Eisenhower and his policies." Kyr had carried the endorsement of the President.

Asked if he would introduce legislation for reinstatement of an average reserve plan he had advocated during the campaign, Kyr said: "I want to get together with leaders of farm organizations in the Midwest and work out a positive farm program based on areas of agreement."

"I know there are many things on which they agree which will form a basis for solutions of farm problems."

He did not say when he would seek to call the farm leaders together but indicated he wanted to do so in the near future.

The special election to fill the unexpired term of the late Rep. Steven Carter marked the return to the Republican column of the district after 11½ more than a year.

Carter, who defeated Kyr in 1958 by a vote of 42,470 to 39,233, was the first Democrat sent to Congress by this district in 20 years.

In the special election Kyr carried all but two of the 14 counties in the district. Glimour carried only strongly Democratic Wapello County and Decatur County's vote of the late Rep. Carter.

Kyr said his success was "a victory for the hundreds of people who worked for me" and added: "I'm questioning the people in the district and the whole nation."

Police Arrests

An argument which, according to police, started in Hartford and developed into a spat of name-calling in Manchester led to the arrest last night of Jay Schaefer, 45, of Hartford. He is charged with breach of peace.

Patrolman Walter Cassels Jr. picked up Schaefer last night at Depot St. where he was heard swearing at a woman. Police said the woman, an acquaintance of Schaefer's, had refused to accompany him in Hartford and had taken a bus to Manchester. Schaefer followed, they said.

Schaefer is free under $100 bond today for court appearance Saturday.

Johnson Talks Like Candidate

Jobs facing the nation, Johnson said, include:

1. An equitable distribution of surplus.
2. Examination of appropriation bills to save money and balance the budget.
3. Foreign aid linked with constructive leadership to see that the nation gets full value from the program.
4. The country's security.

"We will decide whether we are to have an America that stands proudly in first place—where it belongs—or whether we shall have leadership that is willing to settle for second place because the down payment is a little less," Johnson said.

"I believe that we must bring America in off the golf course of

Retirement: Happy Times

BY MARIE DAERF

Senators Did an Excellent Job On Social Security Work

"We don't want pity, we want a chance to help ourselves," said a retired salesman in Boston. "My husband gets $25 a month from Social Security," said the wife of a retired steelworker from Pittsburgh. "If he dies, I'll get only $25 a month. How can I live on that?"

These are some of the questions that Sen. Pat McNamara's Subcommittee on Aging heard in grass-roots sessions throughout the country, recently.

These sessions in which older people air their problems, came as the result of a flood of mail the senator received after he was appointed subcommittee chairman. "Everyone talks for us, we never get a chance to speak for ourselves," one writer complained. "So they got the chance. Here are other excerpts from what was said at these 'town hall meetings,'" to which many older people prepared to spend the day, brought paper-wrapped lunches.

"I don't feel old or incapable until I start looking for a job," a Californian told the committee. A Pittsburgher, in his late 70s, reminded the committee that the United States Constitution gives a human being the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. He said he had retired in 1949 on a Social Security pension of $28.20 a month.

"Now, how much life, liberty and pursuit of happiness can you buy these days for $28.20 a month?" he asked. "My wife and I have been fortunate in that we had several thousand dollars in savings at the time of my retirement."

"I keep on talking my bank book and I'm coming to the end. Either you people in Congress do something to help people help themselves or bring on socialism and let the government take care of everything."

At Grand Rapids, Mich., Mayor Stanley Davis added his voice to the town meeting. He described old men who crowd by the hundreds into tiny rooms above run-down stores, seeking an escape from loneliness and a means of living with poverty.

"They are to be pitied," Mayor Davis said. "They are not propertyless. We must make some provision for mass public housing for such people."

Recognizing the importance of the hearings, Florida's State County Welfare Planning Council held a one-day workshop on aging. Workshop findings were presented at subcommittee hearings in Miami.

"Florida has had an 80 per cent increase in the 65-and-older age group since 1900," Senator McNamara pointed out. "This compares with a 21 per cent increase for the nation as a whole."

"My husband will be 85 next April 2. Will his January, February and March pay checks count toward the $1,200 we may make in the year?" Mrs. L. R.

"Your husband's yearly record starts Jan. 1, not April 2. He will lose no benefits for any month in which he earns no more than $100."

"I lost two sons in World War II. I get $80 a month from the government. If, now that I am 62, I apply for a reduced benefit as wife of a man on Social Security, must I tell the Veterans Administration I will tell the VA on my compensation?" Mrs. B. Y. L.

"The general rule concerning this matter is that death compensation is paid if combined income of husband and wife is not over $176 a month. However, VA makes exceptions for unusual circumstances. Inform VA of your plans, and let the agency rule on your special case."

South Windsor Church Units Elect Officers

Two local church organizations held annual meetings and elected new officers last night. These events were the United Workers of First Congregational Church and the St. Francis Men's Club.

Marjorie Gaudin of Main St. was elected president of United Workers. She takes over leadership of the group from Mrs. James Doyle. Other new officers include: Mrs. Jewell Burnham, first vice president; Mrs. Donald Bagg, second vice president; Mrs. Hector Beasely, treasurer; and Mrs. Wayne Henry, secretary.

James Jackson of 17 Furber Rd. was elected new president of the St. Francis Men's Club, taking over the reins of office from John Macky.

Other new officers are: Thomas Comperthwaite, vice president; Edward Steben, secretary; and Alfred Comperthwaite, treasurer.

The men will install these new officers at an annual dinner to be held Jan. 19. The traditional location for this annual affair is Schaubert's. Pae, Windsor Hill. Arrangements committee co-chairmen are Dominick, Pellicone and Don McLaughlin.

At the election meeting club members enjoyed a juke demonstration by Maj. John E. Rubens, a Marine reservist of West Hartford.

Santa Is Vain! Santa will be on hand to visit with the children Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m. and Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Christmas tree sale on the Wapping Community House grounds at the corner of Sullivan Ave. and Ellington Rd. in Wapping Center.

The sale is being sponsored by the Guys and Dolls Couples Club. Part of the proceeds will be used to finance the club's community service activities with the balance retained in the treasury to provide advance financing for future events, according to club officers.

Fresh-cut Christmas trees will be available on Friday, Dec. 18, from 4 to 10 p.m.; Saturday, Dec. 19, from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.; and Sunday, Dec. 20, from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Santa will not be present during all the sale hours.

Judge Favors Kick For Delinquent

Van Nuys, Calif., Dec. 16 (AP)—A judge says a kick in the pants, properly used in the schools, might solve some of our juvenile delinquency problems.

Municipal Judge Francis A. Cochran made that remark in a dramatic charge against Rudy Ramos, 30, a high school history teacher fired for kicking a student in disciplinary purposes.

Ramos was charged with assaulting a student with a deadly weapon. "I don't see how a kick in the buttocks, when properly applied, without any apparent physical injury resulting therefrom, constitutes a deadly weapon," the judge said.

The teacher was accused of booting Lynn Reedy, 15.

NATO Told of Red Buildup in Rockets, Missile Bases

Russia also was reported to have increased its stockpile of nuclear warheads to 1,500. The United States, he said, is studying the project and soon will be able to give full assistance to the project.

"The present status of the fleet ballistic missile—the submarine-based Polaris system—is completely satisfactory," he said.

He added that considerably progress has been made in joint design and production, including work on the surface-to-air missile, the Hawk, and the air-to-air Sidewinder.

"We are determined to make whatever effort and sacrifice the delivery require of us to be able to maintain an effective nuclear capability," Gates said.

But he emphasized the need for shared financing in the development of new weapons.

Gates said he saw no indications the Soviet Union would make any concessions at a summit conference that would warrant a reduction of U.S. forces.

"Defense Minister Harold Watkinson of Britain and Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss of West Germany also supported the American position that integrated command is a keystone of NATO.

Watkinson announced Britain has no present intention of cutting its 53,000-man army on the Rhine. Strauss said the German goal of a 350,000-man army by the end of 1961 is two-thirds realized and will be reached.

Secretary Harter, at the opening council session yesterday, insisted on more on integration of NATO military forces under a unified command to counter the growing striking power of improved Soviet arms.

With equal firmness, France has been holding out for a system to preserve what President Charles de Gaulle refers to as the "national entity" of the participating forces. That is, each nation retaining full control of its forces.

French Foreign Minister Couve de Murville appeared to be conducting a diplomatic delaying action until President Eisenhower arrives Friday and can meet with de Gaulle. The French have the two old wartime associates can iron out the dispute.

P&W Union To Wait, See

Apparently it will be a case of "wait and see" in the current deadlock over the proposed merger of the two unions.

John K. Main Sr., business representative of the I.A.M. Local 100, said that the union is prepared to negotiate further with the company but that no final meeting is planned at this time. He also said there "has" been no meeting since the two plants will continue working indefinitely without a contract.

Main pointed out, however, that contract negotiations are in progress with other United Aircraft Corp. divisions which could effect the merger of the present statements.

Meet Monday

U.A.C. was scheduled to meet Monday with union representatives of the United Aircraft Corp. at the Hotel Statler Hilton. The present contract expires on Dec. 31. Main said that the union is prepared to accept the contract of the Sikorsky aircraft plants in Bridgeport and Stratford, Conn. He said that the union will not accept the contract of the Pratt & Whitney plants in Hartford, Conn. and Meriden, Conn.

in the LAW in your life

The Subpoena and the Summons

The two principal forms of service used to order people to appear in court are the subpoena and the summons. The difference between the two are quite distinct.

The subpoena is a legal document issued by a lawyer setting out the time and place for the court, ordering an individual to appear at a trial or hearing to give testimony as a witness, and perhaps to bring books, records, and other materials to court. A subpoena does not accuse the person of a crime or name him as a party in a civil action. Generally, a subpoena simply requires him to appear in court to testify as a witness.

The subpoena may be issued with either civil or criminal process, and varies according to state or federal law. Certain arbitrators, referees, commissioners and legislative committees also have subpoena powers. The subpoena will state where and when the person named is to appear and the nature of the case. It is a law suit or a criminal case has the right to issue subpoenas in order to compel necessary witnesses to appear. But the law cannot force a witness to appear. The subpoena may be issued by a lawyer representing a party to a lawsuit, or by a court officer, such as a Commissioner of Superior Court, and as such it is an officer of the Court itself, as well as a lawyer representing a party to a lawsuit.

The Federal Trade Commission filed a complaint against the RCA record manufacturer and eight others on Dec. 3. The complaint is still pending but RCA's attorneys say they are confident they will win the case.

Under the order, RCA must not pay any money to induce anyone to broadcast its records unless that payment is disclosed to the public.

Earl W. Kinnier, FTC chairman, said with to command both RCA and its counsel and the Commission's Bureau of Litigation to file a report on the matter in 30 days.

An RCA statement said: "We welcome this action because we firmly believe that these steps taken by the highest Federal standards for the record industry are in the best interests of the public, the artists, record distributors and retailers and the entire industry."

The Board of Education charges that the Directors aren't familiar enough with educational needs to fulfill and should let themselves be informed by the public.

In answer to the "educational need" argument, Directors and General Manager Richard Martin pointed to the North End junior high school. It will be built at a substantially less money than an amount which some Board of Education members saw as irrelevant to the educational needs.

Representatives of town employees groups will meet with James Arthur, chairman of the Pension Board, tonight at 8 o'clock in the Municipal Building to hear an explanation of changes proposed in the town pension ordinance.

One change would require all new employees to join the town pension plan.

Expected to be present are representatives of the town employees union, the Municipal Employees group, town firemen and policemen.

Meanwhile, Ernest R. Macbeth, chairman of the Municipal Employees group, said group representatives will meet Friday at the University of Connecticut with Robert L. Stitt, an expert on government employee organizations.

Heliport Here? Chamber Asks

"Does Manchester need a heliport?" Local business and civic leaders are asking the question by the Chamber of Commerce.

Cards are being sent out by the Chamber's aviation committee seeking to find out how Manchester residents or business firms use air travel at the present time, including the frequency and whether it is for passenger or freight use.

The committee also wants to know how many air services would better fulfill the needs of local business and if a "better job" could be done if there was an airport or heliport in the town.

The Chamber points out there may not be a pressing need for such a facility at the present time, but would like to know how those questioned feel about a local air facility 10 years from now.

Gene Kelly, chairman of the aviation committee, points out in the letter accompanying the card that a heliport transport company is now operating in the area from here to Boston and New York and that a local business concern is seeking to establish a heliport on Broad St. Also, he says, Hartford has a heliport and it is possible to establish heliports adjacent to their metropolitan areas.

to-air missiles have been installed for air defense in great numbers. In reviewing the rockets and guided missile situation, the report said that the United States has a lead in the development of the guided missile.

The principal Soviet missile bases about 100 in number, are situated along the Baltic coast mainly in north East Prussia around Königsberg (Kaliningrad), in the area between Lada Lodge and the White Sea in the Thuringian Forest in East Germany, southern Ukraine and the Carpathians.

The principal Soviet production centers are situated in the region of Yarkutsk near 65 degrees longitude and 68 degrees latitude and around Tyul near 125 degrees longitude and 72 degrees latitude.

The personnel operating the missile bases are under the command of an engineer-general who has under his control all factories in which nuclear bombs are manufactured, all testing sites, and all facilities in which rockets and guided missiles are produced and rocket and guided missile units.

The NATO powers have in western Europe about 30 divisions in the central sector, plus 13 divisions in the north and south sectors. NATO Air Forces in Europe now total about 5,000 operational aircraft using 230 bases. Strategic bombers produced only by the United States and Great Britain remain under national control.

Seven intermediate range ballistic missiles based on the U.S. are in Europe. Four are in Great Britain, two are in France. Construction in Italy, and one is planned for Turkey.

In addition, the U.S. 1st Mobile Artillery is responsible for operating the Atlas and Titan ICBMs from U.S. bases.

The report listed the Russian ICBM fleet at 72, with a range of 5,000 miles and speed of 16,000 miles an hour. It is 110 feet long and goes to an altitude of 275 miles.

The U.S. Atlas is credited with a range of 5,000 miles and a speed of 15,000-20,000 miles an hour. The U.S. Titan is given the same range and speed as the Atlas.

SHIP, 30 ABANDONED, LOST

Discovered Dec. 11 (AP)—The British trawler Red Falcon today was officially reported missing and believed to have crew of 20. The Red Falcon was heard of by radio off Tiber, on the coast of Argentina, on Monday. A last position of the storm which swept European coasts last week, was rating at five.

RCA Consents To Ban Payola

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Radio Corp. of America has agreed to a consent decree with the Federal Trade Commission that forbids RCA to pay money to induce anyone to broadcast its records unless that payment is disclosed to the public.

School Board May Get Chance To Talk Budget with Directors

By BOB SHAW

Apparently, the Board of Education Directors on its money needs, as it has long wanted to do, before the town budget is adopted next spring.

But the meeting would be an official one.

Mayor Eugene T. Kelly has proposed that the Directors study the budget this spring by attending the conferences which General Manager Richard Martin holds with department heads and agencies before drafting his tentative budget upon which the Directors are to vote.

The Board of Education wants meetings with the Directors before it has an official opportunity to confer with them on the budget or after Martin cuts his budget request. A request for an informal meeting with the Directors was turned down last year.

A more official version of the meeting that seems forthcoming was urged by former Board of Education Chairman Charles McCann before the Charter Revision Commission last winter. It will go to the 1960 commission for the Board of Education.

How many Directors would attend the unofficial budget conference that seems likely?

Disney Provides Magic To Thrill Olympic Fans

Squaw Valley, Calif.—The two-arms and a choir of 2,845 boys, including the athletes and cheerleaders, plus more than 1,000 participants in these ceremonies cooked up for the festivities. "For example," says Walker, "each contingent marches in the Parade of Athletes, which will be held on the main square of the Olympic Village, with a banner suspended, bearing the name of the country entering."

Near the end of the closing ceremonies, we'll see a parade of 100 Olympic flags which will parade to the torch. It will be the VIII Olympic Winter Games, California, 1960."

Some 20,000 balloons of many different colors are to be released during this glittering spectacle. Another imposing sight will be the Tower of Nations. This is an open steel concave frame, 78 feet high and 20 feet wide, located in the ceremonial area, which adjusts the 400-meter speed skating oval. The tower will be bracketed by a semi-circle of flags of the competing nations.

The structure will have aluminum crest, each 2 feet wide and 8 feet high, suspended from the sides of the frame. On top will be the five metal Olympic rings, emblematic of the Games, and in front of this tower the sacred Olympic flame and awards platform are to be located. And flanking it will be two huge 25-foot snow sculptured figures, representing winter athletes.

Playing at the daily awards presentations, with all the pomp and ceremony attending this ritual, will be the U.S. Marine Band from

Washington, D.C. This top flight musical organization is the one utilized for important Washington functions and is called "The President's Own."

Special music has been composed by Ray Henderson, a rising young composer. His composition, "These Things Shall Be," will be sung just before the arrival of the flame.

In addition, Robert Lynn, a University of Southern California faculty member, has adapted a new arrangement of the Olympic hymn on the original, which was first played at Athens, Greece, in 1896. "The Liberation of Pigeons," a symbolic gesture of world peace, will create still another exciting moment. After the 2,000 more "doves of peace" are released simultaneously, they'll race to their respective homes throughout the state of California.

The entire site will be decorated extensively in a winter sports theme. Sure to attract attention is the "Hall to the Athletes of the World." This will be in the form of unity "snow and ice" statues in the Avenue of Athletes. They'll tower some 18 feet, and depict skiers, skaters, jumpers and other participants.

800 Ben Tarkenton, for most of the spectators, aims to meet the more stringent road regulations recently adopted for the town.

Their discussion last night indicated that they think this type of road would meet the town's needs. They had considered having a town engineer on a part-time basis.

The selectmen added two items to the agenda of the town meeting to be held Dec. 23. Voters will be asked to approve a referendum to be paid by the City of Rockville for a building permit for the filtration plant. Four roads will be up for acceptance. They are: Country Lane, Range Hill Dr., Christopher Dr. and Mary Lane.

The other items on the call are appropriation of $14,500 for public safety, and $3,200 for the Consolidation Charter Commission.

Other actions:

The selectmen authorized the town council and town auditors to investigate the possibility of consolidating the many small accounts set up for perpetual care of Grove Hill Cemetery lots. They also agreed to ask F. Leroy Elliott, cemetery agent, to supervise their own cemetery.

The selectmen will meet Monday with the City Council to consider the request of LaPointe Industries, Inc. for an abatement of taxes.

The selectmen discussed further the policy for developers whose plans were submitted to the planning commission before the town adopted more stringent road regulations. An intermediate step for those affected is being considered.

Leave No Trace Program.

A planning committee of church representatives has been named to work with the Community Council for Senior Citizens on leisure time activities for older people.

Named to the committee by Rev. Alan R. Heape are Mrs. Carrie Kane, Harry Libby, Mrs.

There is a further of wings and peacocks, fluttering about a booming organ salute echoes from the hills. All eyes are fixed on "Little Papoose" peak. Then, straggling out of the clearing and down the mountain side, her skin kicking up a "rooster" snow spray, comes Andrea Mead. Lawrence, bearing the sacred Olympic flame.

With so many firsts planned for the 1960 Games, Disney's staff promises the most spectacular staging ever seen at the international event.

For time fireworks will be utilized for ceremonies for the first time in Games' history, according to Tommy Walker, a spokesman for Disney.

"We'll have all sorts of fireworks, star shells, and numerous phosphorescent designs and patterns with our fireworks," states Walker. "It'll be 'way out,' as the expression goes, at the opening and closing ceremonies. There'll be 1,250 tin-formations and a choir of 2,845 boys, including the athletes and cheerleaders, plus more than 1,000 participants in these ceremonies cooked up for the festivities. "For example," says Walker, "each contingent marches in the Parade of Athletes, which will be held on the main square of the Olympic Village, with a banner suspended, bearing the name of the country entering."

Some 20,000 balloons of many different colors are to be released during this glittering spectacle. Another imposing sight will be the Tower of Nations. This is an open steel concave frame, 78 feet high and 20 feet wide, located in the ceremonial area, which adjusts the 400-meter speed skating oval. The tower will be bracketed by a semi-circle of flags of the competing nations.

The structure will have aluminum crest, each 2 feet wide and 8 feet high, suspended from the sides of the frame. On top will be the five metal Olympic rings, emblematic of the Games, and in front of this tower the sacred Olympic flame and awards platform are to be located. And flanking it will be two huge 25-foot snow sculptured figures, representing winter athletes.

Special music has been composed by Ray Henderson, a rising young composer. His composition, "These Things Shall Be," will be sung just before the arrival of the flame.

In addition, Robert Lynn, a University of Southern California faculty member, has adapted a new arrangement of the Olympic hymn on the original, which was first played at Athens, Greece, in 1896. "The Liberation of Pigeons," a symbolic gesture of world peace, will create still another exciting moment. After the 2,000 more "doves of peace" are released simultaneously, they'll race to their respective homes throughout the state of California.

The entire site will be decorated extensively in a winter sports theme. Sure to attract attention is the "Hall to the Athletes of the World." 800 Ben Tarkenton, for most of the spectators, aims to meet the more stringent road regulations recently adopted for the town.

Their discussion last night indicated that they think this type of road would meet the town's needs. They had considered having a town engineer on a part-time basis.

The selectmen added two items to the agenda of the town meeting to be held Dec. 23. Voters will be asked to approve a referendum to be paid by the City of Rockville for a building permit for the filtration plant. Four roads will be up for acceptance. They are: Country Lane, Range Hill Dr., Christopher Dr. and Mary Lane.

The other items on the call are appropriation of $14,500 for public safety, and $3,200 for the Consolidation Charter Commission.

Other actions:

The selectmen authorized the town council and town auditors to investigate the possibility of consolidating the many small accounts set up for perpetual care of Grove Hill Cemetery lots. They also agreed to ask F. Leroy Elliott, cemetery agent, to supervise their own cemetery.

The selectmen will meet Monday with the City Council to consider the request of LaPointe Industries, Inc. for an abatement of taxes.

The selectmen discussed further the policy for developers whose plans were submitted to the planning commission before the town adopted more stringent road regulations. An intermediate step for those affected is being considered.

Rockville-Vernon Town Won't Rent Equipment From Employees in the Future

The Town of Vernon will no longer rent equipment from any person relative to or employed, elected or appointed by the town, except in emergencies.

Also, a new town road foreman will be selected on a competitive basis. The two positions, made by the Board of Selectmen last night, will result in town foreman George Schwartz leaving the town's employ and continuing to rent his equipment to the town. The change will not take effect until a new foreman is hired.

It has been the practice of the town to rent equipment from Schwartz as well as other truckers and contractors. The town owns only one truck.

First Selectman George E. Risley defined an emergency as including more and ice removal and clean-up work after a hurricane or his storm.

The selectmen want a new foreman, with enough engineering knowledge to see that developers meet the more stringent road regulations recently adopted for the town.

Their discussion last night indicated that they think this type of road would meet the town's needs. They had considered having a town engineer on a part-time basis.

The selectmen added two items to the agenda of the town meeting to be held Dec. 23. Gas Firms See Boost in Rates

Hartford, Dec. 16 (AP)—Representatives of several gas companies in Connecticut said Tuesday afternoon that they may have to ask for rate increases if something is not done about the higher prices being charged by their natural gas suppliers, Tennessee Gas Transmission Co.

Most of the six companies represented at the meeting where the rate increase possibility was discussed served down-state customers. One of them, however, is the New Britain Gas Co., serving New Britain, Berlin and Newington.

The company had an average of 21,000 customers in the three towns per month during 1968.

The company representatives discussed their problem with the State Public Utilities Commission at the State Office Building.

In previous winters, a PUC spokesman explained today, Tennessee Gas allowed a special lower rate for its New England customers, but this winter the regular rate is to be charged.

The spokesman said that the Federal Power Commission has ordered Tennessee to file a special storage rate in place of the special winter rate. To date the transmission company has not done so in a form acceptable to the PUC.

Until the new rate has been approved, New England customers will have to pay the regular price.

The other committee representatives at the meeting were: Connecticut Gas, Bridgeport Gas Co., Housatonic Bridgeport Gas Co., Greenwich Gas Co. and Hartford Electric Light Co.

Connecticut Light and Power Co. and the Hartford Gas Co. which supply natural gas to Greater Hartford and central Connecticut, buy gas from another supplier.

A committee of representatives of Bridgeport Gas, was appointed a committee of representatives of the companies to keep the PUC informed of developments in the matter.

In Nixon Territory Feelings Mixed On Rockefeller

Rockefeller's nomination for the U. S. Senate has caused a stir in the Nixon camp. While some Republicans support the move, others are skeptical.

Nixon's supporters are divided on the issue. Some feel that Rockefeller is a strong candidate, while others believe that Nixon should focus on other areas.

The nomination has also caused some tension within the Republican Party. Some members feel that Rockefeller is not the best choice for the Senate.

Rockefeller himself has expressed mixed feelings about the nomination. He has said that he is honored to be considered, but he is also aware of the challenges ahead.

The final decision will be made by the Republican Party leadership. It is expected that the decision will be made in the coming weeks.

Liz Wins Apology From Weekly

Liz Taylor has won an apology from a British weekly magazine for a story that implied she had stolen a diamond necklace.

The magazine, "The Illustrated," published the story in its December issue. Taylor's lawyer demanded an apology, and the magazine has agreed to publish one.

Taylor has said that she is disappointed by the story, but she is glad that the magazine has apologized. She has also said that she will continue to work with the magazine in the future.
