aim out loud. He is no longer your responsibility and his wife won't appreciate having you chuck over him.

Don't talk about how lonely you are with your son gone. Make it clear that you are happy to see him happy in his own home.

Admire everything you can that the young people have done and are doing. Praise your daughter-in-law's meals. Admire the furniture she has chosen for the house. Admire your son's do-it-yourself projects.

None of this should be hard, for it is just how you would behave if you were a guest in anyone else's home. Remember you are a guest and you won't go wrong.

EXPLANATION
Heliotropism is the process by which a plant's leaves turn toward the sun. The explanation is that the plant's cells grow faster on the shaded side of the stem, causing the curvature.

Spiritual Blindness
Surprised by a friend's statement that he was a very religious man, I asked for enlightenment. He remarked, "I go to every church service in Connecticut." This sounded like a sly dig at religion, or a barb that the sender enjoys as he watches the victim squirm. The tragedy of this statement is that the man was actually serious. You and I ought not to feel too superior for we often equate some action with religion: a kind deed, a generous gift, helpful directions to a stranger, or, even an occasional non-responding attendance at worship in Connecticut." U.S. Must Hold Cuban Base, Governors Say

Castro talks Guantanamo over and you Mr. Khrushchev in business meet dear to us," Almond said in an interview.

Gov. John Patterson of Alabama and Price Daniel of Texas said they felt it was strictly a matter of decision for the federal government and as state heads they should not inject themselves into the controversy.

"I strongly believe the federal government should not interfere with the state's business," Patterson said, "and I feel just as strongly that states should not interfere with the prerogatives of the federal government."

Parce Bryant, Democratic nominee for Governor in Florida, said, "I would like to see our problems with Cuba worked out on a friendly basis... But if it should come to a showdown, we would have no alternative. We could not give up the Naval base."

Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi minced no words—"We should do whatever is necessary to defend this vital security base, including the use of force."

Gov. Ernest Vandiver of Georgia: "We have a moral and legal obligation to stay there."

At the conference, which closes today with election of officers, Democratic governors have been busy whipping up new enthusiasm about Sen. John F. Kennedy's chances in the South as the Democratic presidential nominee.

Most of them played down the civil rights issue by stating the Republican platform has no better. Daniel gave what appeared to be the general viewpoint when he told a news conference that civil rights had ceased to be an issue because "both platforms are the same."

The governors also were busy trying to put to rest as much as possible the religious issue. Gov. Bert T. Combs of Kentucky said he thought it had about "spent its course."

Columbia Fletcher Named To Education Unit

Wilbur B. Fletcher of Lake Rd. was named a member of the Board of Education last night by the Board. Fletcher succeeds Walter A. Card, who resigned from the Board effective Oct. 1.

Card has found himself unable to keep up his work on the Board of Education due to pressure of business. He has been a member for about 12 years. Donald P. Tuttle, chairman of the Board, said Card had indicated before that he found it difficult to participate and felt he should resign, but he had been urged to remain. It was with regret that the Board accepted his resignation.

Fletcher, appointed for the unexpired term, has been a town resident for 20 years. He is well known through his work as Boy Scout master, over the past 18 years. He is active throughout Western Connecticut Council and is frequently called upon for demonstrations in out-door training work. An Eagle Scout, he won the Silver Beaver Badge in 1958, the highest award a local Scout Council can give.

Fletcher is a foreman at Pratt and Whitney Aircraft, and is also active in Columbia Congregational Church and Columbia Recreation Council. He is married to the former Mary Warren. The couple has four children: Steven and Katherine, senior honor students at Windham High School, Warren, a freshman; and Robert, a student at Horace W. Porter School.

Kennedy Belles Call

Spouting wide ribbons on hats which bore the name of their favorite presidential candidate—Jack Kennedy—three Kennedy Girls paid a visit to the Rockville Area Citizens for Kennedy Headquarters at the Shopping Plaza last night. Patricia Welch of Farmington, Barbara Driscoll of Hartford and Phyllis Genua of West Hartford were on their way to the 4-Town Fair in Somers. They talked to voters and passed out campaign souvenirs during their hour-long visit. The girls are traveling throughout the state in their effort to interest all voters in the candidacy of Kennedy. West's Plan For N-Checks Defeats Reds

Once the Western plan goes into effect—perhaps next year—the agency will exercise control over bilateral agreements between the United States, Britain and Canada and a number of less-developed countries in Western Europe, Africa, Asia and Latin America.

In practice, agency-supplied inspection teams will replace American, British and Canadian inspectors controlling nuclear development in these countries.

Six member nations have already announced their readiness to admit IAEA inspectors: They are Brazil, Portugal, Norway, Denmark, Japan and Thailand.

U.S. Delegate John A. McCone, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), left today for Washington to attend a budget committee meeting of the AEC.

He said unfortunately much time was used at the IAEA meeting in talk on disarmament and other issues outside the agency's competence. The disarmament issue was injected by the Soviet bloc delegates.

Gen. Sept. 25 (AP)—American, British and Russian nuclear test ban negotiators today waded through a mass of homework accumulated during a five-week recess in preparation for their 24th session tomorrow.

The conference, which enters its third year in a month with a final treaty still not in sight, reconvened yesterday.

The participants said several days will be needed to go over long draft treaty articles drawn up during the recess for consideration.

At the session yesterday acting U.S. delegate Charles C. Billie presented an American offer to conduct no underground nuclear tests for 27 months if the Soviet Union would join in a 27-month moratorium on the short.

The United States contends present methods are inadequate to detect small underground nuclear tests.

Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin said he welcomed the proposal and would study it. But he said he thought a 27-month moratorium was the short.

The Russians want a four or five year moratorium and have not agreed to a test restraint program.

The last three months of the moratorium would be devoted to analysis of the results of the 27-year restraint.

Two GOP Vets Meet Defeat In Primaries

In Milford, Mayor Charles R. Iovino was turned back in an attempt to win nomination to one of two House seats. He trailed far behind the two party-endorsed candidates.

The Westbrook thurbair appeared to have been ousted by troubles with the voting machine. Schubert lost to the party-endorsed candidate, down Town Moderator John Burdick also said the machine had jammed during the day, but that he would declare Schloebach the winner. The recorded tally was 348 for Schloebach and 315 for Schubert.

Burdick said one voter opened and closed the voting booth curtains twice, but that he did not know whether the person had voted twice.

In Ridgefield, where Miss Draper was defeated, the nomination went to former State Police Commissioner John C. Kelly and Town Council member Robert E. Town.

The Ridgefield GOP town committee had recommended Kelly and Miss Draper for the nomination. But a caucus session later in the evening saw Kelly and Petrone as the party choices.

CAMPAIGN COMMENTS

Manchester Junior College by Robert S. Tomassi, Democratic Candidate for the Board of Education.

We must give serious thought to a junior college for Manchester. Our highly developed technological age places increased emphasis upon education beyond high school. The tremendous increase in the number of applicants for colleges shows that our young people know what is demanded of them for a successful career. Recent increases are but a forerunner of the number of demands for higher education that we can expect in the next few years.

We cannot possibly meet those demands with present college facilities. Unfortunately, adequate plans for expansion are not being made by existing colleges.

A great many applicants are being turned away from colleges right now. They are qualified but there is just not enough room. Many of those who are turned away are discouraged from seeking any further formal education. This is a waste of talent that we should not permit.

We can and should take steps to correct this situation.

Connecticut's General Assembly has authorized local boards of education to establish junior colleges. The creation of Manchester Junior College by making use of our present high school facilities would be a sound forward step.

Our present high school facilities demand for higher education. There are over 500 college-bound students in the Junior College Journal. California, alone, has 58 junior colleges with a total enrollment of more than 375,000 students. The number of such colleges, especially in the South and Midwest, is rapidly increasing.

The value of such a program is undeniable. The feasibility for Manchester would be increased if other local representatives, Irvin Gordon and Dave Barry, could succeed in winning adoption of an act providing for including junior college students in the present program. If the state would reimburse the town about $100 per junior college student and the town contribute about $100 per pupil, a family could secure a junior college education for a son or daughter for about $200 per year.

This would be a splendid opportunity for the student financially unable to attend an out-of-state college or unable to gain admission because of crowded conditions.

The Democratic plank calling for study of establishment of Manchester Junior College is sound. It should receive the support of all Manchester residents.

PTA Donates School Organ

A new portable missionary organ, purchased by the Buckland PTA for school use, was unveiled last night before 70 PTA members and parents at a public supper meeting at the school.

Mrs. John Fletcher Sr., third grade teacher at Buckland, suggested such a versatile and compact organ would be practical for portable use in classrooms. Buckland School has four classrooms on the main floor with cafeteria and auditorium in the basement. The auditorium also serves as a kindergarten room, thereby limiting music classes and entertainment to afternoon hours.

The PTA endorsed several fund-raising projects last year, setting a total of $238 for purchase of the 32 x 30 inch portable organ.

Mrs. Donald Wells, ways and means chairman, with the cooperation of the executive board, held an auction last February with Anthony DiPiero as auctioneer. Other fund-raising projects included a cake sale and a PTA school fair of which Mrs. Eugene Dunphy was chairman. Miss Betty Jane Turner's dance pupils entertained at the fair.

Music instructors last night expressed appreciation and said the addition of the organ would be helpful for classroom instruction in music. The organ was presented to Robert Hines, school principal, by Edward Brice, past president, on behalf of the PTA membership. All present at the meeting were William Freeman, former principal, and Miss Gale Crighton, music teacher.

Town Vote Again On West Side Sewer

Town Directors last night took steps to give a controversial West Side sanitary sewer project another chance on the voting machine.

Board Democrats made the move after a public hearing in the West Side school in which some West Siders spoke in favor of the project and some in opposition.

They said the $150,000 project would cost less in individual sewer assessments than piecemeal ways of getting sewer service into the West Side to replace septic tanks.

The support shown last night for the project was the greatest in any of the many public hearings held on it in a three-year controversy.

And the board voted to authorize General Manager Richard Martin to prepare a proposal aimed at resolving the project for next May.

Mr. Martin also authorized him to complete plans and take bids on a $450,000 treatment plant for West Side and Howell schools and East Catholic High school.

A proposal to have that project serve 100 other West Side property owners was dropped last night. Mr. Martin said he had proposed to see if any side streets might be wooded and property owners were in favor.

However, if voted, the pump station and force main would supplant the sewer treatment plant, and the care of the schools, the 100 property owners, and over 200 other property owners, at the treatment plant on the basis of the cost.

It would have cost the town $20 a front foot compared to $180 a front foot under the pump station and force main proposal and Director Alice Lamont said she had seen the light that the original project would have less impact on the pocketbook.

Barbara Conkling, 85 Olcott St., said she had a $100 storm sewer keep increasing as time went by.

Agnes Leonard, F. Rockwood, 754 Center St., called for the pumping station and force main.

And John F. Clifford, Olcott Dr., said West Siders with septic tanks should know that time is "running out" and "dilatory tactics" by them "haven't got to prove beneficial."

Fewer Sharing Hikes Cost

Costs would go up, Directors said, because piecemeal projects have fewer people sharing the assessments for them.

And Mayor Eugene T. Kelly said if the board voted only to serve the schools last night without doing anything else, the schools would be removed from any future assessment base and another obstacle would be thrown up against sewer service "in our time" for West Siders.

According to Martin, a proposal to bond the pump station and force main could be worked up for a vote Nov. 8 but at a later election in order to meet construction time-tables at the two schools.

He said he would like to see the one for the schools alone.

The board's proposals were wrapped up in a motion by rector Theodore Powell which was voted by Democrats and opposed by Republicans Thomas Bailey and Robert Gordon.

Gordon said the board should not put the defeated project to vote again in the same form because the people have already shown "that they didn't like it," Bailey called

Going Out of Business' Session

County Commissioners Montague White of Andover, Chairman James A. Doherty Jr. of Vernon and Carl DeBor of Mansfield met yesterday at Tolland County Jail to wind up county business for the year.

County government, instituted in Colonial days, ceased as of Oct. 1 when the State will take over the remaining functions of the historic state divisions.

Meeting the payroll and execution of final papers occupied the commissioners' yesterday. The county legislators who have acted as the legislative body of the governmental unit, met in their final session Monday night in Rockville. (Herald Photo by Satriani).

Verbal Fray Rages On Eve of Primary

Verbal cudgeling in the Democratic primary election race continued today as candidates and their supporters sought to raise their banners higher before the party faithful of Rockville and Vernon.

Rep. Raymond E. Spielman, one of two party-endorsed candidates for state representative took another whack at Rep. Harry Hamner yesterday. They had been at it since the night before last when Hamner accused Spielman of being a "millionaire" and "chance of such a reduction."

Hammer fired back that while it is true he voted neither for nor against an amendment to the bill between Hamner and Spielman, he has not voted against the bill since beginning with the 1959 session.

Spielman said the roll call vote between Hamner and Spielman was 10-10. He said he voted against the bill.

Hammer said "I favored pay increases but not until the 1961 session. In the 1959 session, I felt, and I have recored it, that the legislators should not vote themselves pay raises when state government employees were to receive none due to need for keeping the government afloat."

The claims and counter claims have flown thick and fast since the following similar lines.

Tomorrow the voters will decide between Hamner and Spielman. Hamner, Gerald Allen of Rockville and Edward R. Lipka of Vernon.

Hammer has been called a political opportunist who deserted his party friends when he thought their cause was lost. Spielman has accused him of deserting a controversial bill—to condemn the Rockville Water and Sewerage Co.—in a clerk's desk drawer to prevent its passage.

Democratic Town Chairman said yesterday that he has received the support of the Democratic Old Guard while "apparently maintaining his alliance with the liberals." He said his playing politics could harm party support and said he has reversed his position of a year ago that a primary election is unnecessary and a matter of personalities, not issues.

Atty. Herbert Hannabury, law partner of the acknowledged leader of the liberal Democrats, Mayor Leo E. Falters, today echoed that Hamner had deserted the liberal faction of the party and said Hamner did it because he wanted to be renominated for state representative this year, but felt the liberals could not beat the Old Guard in a primary election for seats on the town committee.

Hannabury called the move a "cold not candid decision to protect his own political skin."

Rockville City Treasurer William F. Smith today added his support to the Spielman-Allyn ticket.

He said he is impressed with the fact that Spielman has been an outstanding Democrat and able to serve the town committee.

Tolland County Sheriff Nicholas Pawlowski said he has thrown his support to the endorsed ticket as has Deputy Sheriff Paul Day, town council member Joseph Conkling and city alderman Charles Pitcock.

The battle so far has been that of Spielman and Hamner. Little has been said of the candidates who have been said to oppose.

In reply to charges against Hamner, Spielman said he has become estranged from the liberal faction of the party, but said the reason was because the faction seemed to be adopting the same attitude as the liberal faction.

"I started my political activity in the so-called Flaherty group because I felt their purpose was primarily to improve government and I felt that was the best way to do it."

Somewhere along the line the group was split and I became estranged from the liberal faction of the party, but said the reason was because the faction seemed to be adopting the same attitude as the liberal faction.

B'nai B'rith Sets Projects

Several community service projects were adopted by B'nai B'rith at a supper party and military whist attended by 50 women at Temple Beth Shalom last night.

The group will provide refreshments for about 100 senior citizens three times during the year, starting this afternoon. The chapter will also continue to provide assistance to its "adopted" welfare family, a mother and four children in Manchester, including a special collection of food in November.

Mrs. Seymour Kullow, president, reported that the chapter has distributed 240 memo pads, listing the dates of all Christmas and Jewish holidays, to Manchester schools, and to the principals in Hingham and Rockville. This project, undertaken in conjunction with Charter Oak Lodge of B'nai B'rith, is part of the Anti-Defamation League program.

The organization will also work on handglove night to assist the Manchester branch of the American Cancer Society.

Ben Ezra Chapter's quota for the year is $1,000. The chapter has always oversubscribed its goal.

Last year, B'nai B'rith women nationally contributed more than $1,000,000, which was allocated among the following projects: The East Hartford Miss America B'nai B'rith program, Mrs. Kullow announced. The chapter has always oversubscribed its goal.

Concert Unit Reopens Membership Roster

Membership lists in the Manchester Community Concerts Inc. will be opened next week in response to a demand for additional copies of "Good Night, Irene," "On Top of Old Smokey" and "Kisses Sweeter than Wine."

The membership drive for the Community Concerts in Manchester was held in February.

Robert Munko, chairman of the membership drive, has arranged to set up a membership headquarters in the window of the Shearson Hammill Co., 913 Main St., next week from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. each day, and Saturday from 9:30 to noon.

He has also reserved Box 388 at the Post Office for anyone who would like to mail in a request for membership.

Chaminade Meets On Monday Night

The Chaminade Musical Club will hold its first fall meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the Federation room of Central Congregational Church.

Mrs. Cyrus Tompkins, chairman, will present "Family Pops Night," a program of music prepared and presented by members and their relatives. Members may bring guests.

The theme for the season is "Music from Other Lands." The schedule of activities for the year is as follows:

November: Spain; December: Christmas in Other Lands; January, France and Italy; February, guest night and potluck supper; March, Germany and Austria; April, Scandinavian countries. The season will terminate with the annual concert in May.

The Chaminade Musical Club meets on the first Monday of every month.

There are about 1,400 different pieces of frozen foods in the United States.

Nixon Campaign Takes Tough Line

And Nixon charged that responsibility for not getting action on a bill for the relief of the distressed areas of West Virginia and other states "rests squarely on the Democratic presidential candidate."

That charge was made before a crowd in the Charleston Armory that observers said exceeded a turnout for Kennedy eight days earlier.

Then immediately afterwards, in an impromptu talk to others who overflowed into an adjoining building, Nixon repeated a previous claim that Kennedy's campaign promises would boost federal spending $18 to $18 billion a year.

"This $18 to $18 billion isn't Jack's money," Nixon said of his opponent, the son of a millionaire. "It's your money by the spending."

The Republican candidate followed through by contrasting Kennedy's to his own background.

"I know what it means to meet a family budget at the end of the month," Nixon continued, "and what a tremendous effort it is for most folks to pay their taxes and meet their bills."

That is why, Nixon told them, he is not trying "to buy the people's votes with their own money."

Rhode Island Voting Heavy By Democrats

Howard Hagedorn, 80 Oakland St., was deported yesterday afternoon at Depot Square and was charged with intoxication. He is being held in custody in lieu of $25 bond for court appearance Saturday.

Harry Lelander, no certain address, was arrested in Center park early last night and was charged with intoxication. He is being held in custody in lieu of $25 bond for appearance in court Saturday.

John E. Rinal Jr., 21 of Hartford, was arrested yesterday on a warrant issued on Sept. 7 charging him with operating a car with defective brakes and an improper muffler. The offense was committed Sept. 4, and he had been scheduled to appear in court on Sept. 7. However, he did not appear and a warrant was ordered issued for his arrest.

Darryl L. Pithers, 22 of Hartford, was arrested yesterday on a warrant issued on Sept. 4, and he had been scheduled to appear in court on Sept. 7. He was charged with assault and battery. He was picked up by East Hartford police and turned over to Manchester authorities. Police said his arrest resulted from a complaint on Sept. 18 that he had punched a woman on Adams St. Plasterboard was a $100 bond for court appearance Saturday and was released.

Kennedy Says GOP Not U.S., His Target

Torke's 48 electoral votes, just short of the 53 needed to win the White House, is the target of Kennedy's attack.

Kennedy arrived in Erie late last night after a day-long tour of northern Ohio communities where he was greeted with wild enthusiasm — as he was here — by great crowds all along the way.

This was an allusion to Kennedy's national television radio debate Monday night with Nixon, the Republican rival.

"It is wrong to say this (turnout) was to 600,000 and 700,000 people. I would not be so glibly misled by a national opinion rating system, that 750 million Americans watched the debate on TV. The figure did not include radio listeners of the four major networks."

Andover Auditors Hit Poor Records

Auditors of town accounts, Burns and Peterson of Hartford, have criticized the records kept by First Selectman Percy Cook and Trial Justice Charles Nicholson. The auditors' comments are found in the annual report of the town for the period ended June 30.

in good order. The need for a part-time clerk is obvious. More favorable comments in the report were: "The Board of Finance prepared the 1959-60 budget to conform to the standard municipal account classification." Also, the records of the Board of Education were found in good order. This reflects the care and attention given to the records by a clerk. The school board clerk and school secretary is Mrs. Martin Baker.

A recommendation was made as follows: "The Board of Education should handle the petty cash fund in the improved system as it does in business. The fund should be reimbursed at intervals throughout the year." The auditor also stated: "The Town Clerk's records for dog licenses issued were found in good order. During the current year he said over to the Town Treasurer collections for the dog license years ended June 30, 1960 and June 30, 1961." Other records criticized were the town officer's keeping of records was noted as follows: "The trial judge did not furnish a statement of his account. The Town Treasurer's records indicated that receipts from the Court were unduly irregular, and that lists of cases did not accompany the cash when paid to the treasurer." The auditors stated: "It seems ironic that lack of cooperation on the part of a town officer responsible only for approximately $1,000 of the year, much of which belongs to the State, should so disrupt the audit and the preparation of schedules, and delay the proper and timely reporting of a town budget in excess of $300,000."

Kindergarten Said Kindling Interest in Town Meeting

Public interest in the annual town meeting Oct. 3 at 8 p.m. at the Community Hall appears to run very high. The major item of interest seems to be establishment of a public kindergarten by the Board of Education. The Board has included $13,825 in its budget to cover the cost of operating the facilities. The State grant, based on the attendance of 80 children, would be $6000. Therefore the total net cost to the town would be $7,825 for its first year of operation.
