While the chief and Brazilian Adm. Diaz Fernandes and other Brazilian officials stood at attention.

The climax of the ritual came when Galvao was ordered to "agree to turn over this ship to the Brazilians."

"I do," replied Galvao.

Fernandes then announced that the ship be taken over by the Brazilian government. Galvao said he was a Communist.

The Santa Maria and crew were the first to be taken over. Galvao said he was a Communist and that he was a Communist.

West won with the ace of diamonds and immediately returned a trump. Dummy's ten held and declarer led another diamond from the dummy. Jack took on the lower side of the freezing market.

South, resolving the last trump from dummy.

Now there was no way for South to make his three diamonds and a club.

Favorable Lead

South had received a favorable opening lead in about 100 hands taken advantage of it. A trump lead would have beaten him, but the actual lead gave South the chance to run a diamond in dummy.

After winning the first trick with the king of spades, South led the ace of clubs to his hand. It was against the grain to lead a club, but this play guarantees the contract.

South's regular partner, Ed Maltz, who had been taken prisoner, said he had thrown a club against the rock.

When the Santa Maria was captured, Galvao said he was a Communist and that he was a Communist.

time, the mercury has kept below 33 degrees.

Another thing that made residents of southern Connecticut anxious to be awakened by morning snow was the sharp rise in temperature during the night.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Bradley Field predicted a high of 35 for the southern part of the state today, but said the rest of the state would keep on the lower side of the freezing mark.

Temperatures were in the 20s throughout the state during the night, but a marked contrast to the day and night readings that have been common recently.

Thermometers throughout the state began recording nothing but below-freezing temperatures. Jan. 18, the day on which a blizzard moved into the state. Since that time, the mercury has kept below 33 degrees.

Fighting broke out again near Kinshasa, where Congolese troops ambushed a Nigerian detachment and killed the Nigerian officers.

The 200 Nigerians then withdrew to their headquarters under the command of a British officer and were besieged by more than 1,000 Congolese troops for the rest of the day.

The Congolese poured mortar fire into the complex of buildings, but the Nigerian spokesman said the Congolese suffered "heavy casualties" but that there were no deaths or wounded.

Around 8 p.m. yesterday the Congolese called for a cease-fire, which was immediately arranged, the spokesman said.

While the battle was raging, a two-day National DCS Down by the Congolese was held at the airport. It was held by the Congolese and was held by the Congolese.

Bullets whizzed through the air, but no one was hurt.

The Congolese called for a truce, but the Nigerian spokesman said the Congolese would not accept it.

Ho Did?
A local weather prophet, whose weather predictions have always been nearly infallible, spent Thursday watching a set of groundhog holes, as is his annual custom. Through long experience he claims he has learned how to communicate with the creatures, thus enabling him to obtain more detailed information than anyone who merely noticed whether the groundhog was able to see his shadow on a certain day of the year.

When no groundhog appeared by 5 p.m. the prophet got desperate, and started whacking a tree with a hole with a big stick. This aroused grandpa groundhog from deep sleep, causing him to comment angrily. "Any groundhog who would poke his nose above ground today is crazy, and if you think we're going to see a groundhog today you're crazy, too. Now get the heck out of here so I can go back to sleep."

What's in a Name—Letters
At a recent board of education meeting when board members were discussing naming schools and other places in honor of Manchester educators who have contributed greatly toward the advancement of the Manchester school system, a secretary of the board was commenting the purchase of lettering to be mounted on Illing Junior High. He said that because the name of Manchester's newest school plant will be officially called the "Arthur H. Illing Junior High School," it may be necessary to hire a contractor to extend the school's portico to get all the letters mounted.

Deaths Last Night

(By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Hollywood—Anna May Wong, 54, Hollywood's first Chinese movie star, died yesterday of a heart attack at her home near Santa Monica. She was a star during the silent era and into the 1940's when she retired for 17 years. Her quiet film "Inchek" of "Tales of Baghdad" opposite Douglas Fairbanks and "Circle of Chalk" with Laurence Olivier.

She was active in television drama in recent years and returned to movies about a year ago for a role in "Portrait in Black," a current release. Though born in Los Angeles, she was a full-blooded Chinese.

New York—Stanley H. High, 65, a senior editor of Reader's Digest Magazine and a speech writer for President Franklin D. Roosevelt in the early days of the New Deal, died yesterday in a hospital. He had been in ill health with heart and respiratory ailments.

High later broke with the New Deal and was a member of the presidential campaign staffs of Thomas E. Dewey and Dwight D. Eisenhower. High became a roving editor for the Reader's Digest in 1940 and has been a senior editor since 1952. He was born in Chicago.

Indianapolis—John Zahnd, 83, several times presidential nominee of the Greenback Party, died Thursday at his home. He was born in Doolittle's Mill, W. Va.

Havre de Grace, Md.—Dr. Robert H. Kent, 75, a pioneer in modern ballistics, died yesterday at his home. Dr. Kent was a scientist at the Army's Aberdeen Proving Ground for 34 years before his retirement in 1936. He was born in Meriden, Conn.

Interior view of the new Pilgrim Mills, mill fabrics salesroom, located in Cheney Hall at 177 Hartford Rd. Fabrics of all latest patterns, designs and colors can be found in the three-quarters century building, Manchester's leading social center before 1925. (Herald photo by Pinto).

Bright colors, the newest in fabric designs, and a potential museum bring new life to the three-quarters century old Cheney Hall with Pilgrim Mills, a new mill fabric outlet.

The latest of Cheney Hall tenants is George Shenkman of West Hartford.

A native of Great Barrington, Mass., Shenkman attended Seaside High School there and later was a graduate of Bryant College, majoring in business administration.

He has been owner and operator of the "Yardstick" fabric shop in Brockton since 1945, a unique business in that it is only open one day a week (Wednesday). The Brookton store is one of the leading yard goods stores in Massachusetts.

The new Manchester fabrics salesroom is also to be unique in Connecticut with its one-quarter million yards of fabrics and largest selection of very latest fabrics direct from the mills, Shenkman said.

The store here will be managed by Miss Lillian Parent of Brockton. Mrs. Betty Powers of 144 Oak St., assistant manager, handles the business now while Shenkman is out of town.

"We sell retail and wholesale," Shenkman said, "after merchandise has been in the shop for from 30 to 45 days, the materials are then shipped out to jobbers to make room for new stock coming from the mills," he said.

A "Cheney Memorial Museum" is being planned by Shenkman to be located in the Cheney Hall lobby. "Anything of interest that depicts the Cheney family and their early endeavors in Manchester will be displayed there," he said.

Anyone wishing to loan any item for the museum is welcome to do so, he added.

Salesroom hours are Monday through Friday from noon to 9 p.m., and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The Shenkman family have been in the fabrics business for over 40 years.

Shenkman is a veteran of World War 2 and served as a communications chief with headquarters company of the Fifth Armored Division the first U.S. tank outfit to enter Germany.

A hobby, Shenkman, a former director of Dale Carnegie Courses, is a member of the Toastmasters Club.

MacMurray Signed While Playing Golf

By PAUL GERARD

It's a well known fact that more big business deals, mergers and sales are agreed upon on the golf course than around the conference table. Evidently, it was with this in mind when Don Fedderson made a date to play a round of golf with Fred MacMurray. No less than 32 times before Fred had turned down television offers. On the 33rd time, he finally accepted. But it wasn't easy!

Although Fedderson lost the game, he did get the contract, and actually, it's still not certain whether he won the deal.

Armed with his golf bag, six scripts and a load of production facts, Fedderson made a last ditch attempt. By the time they were halfway around the course, they had shaken hands on a deal: Every scene in which Fred appears in the entire 39 programs, will be filmed five days weekly, over a 13 or 14-week period. Afterward, while Fred is off making movies, or golfing, or hunting or fishing, Fedderson will film the rest of the series, matching scenes and situations, which involve only the other members of the cast.

While anyone of a dozen stars would have leaped at the prospect of playing father, Steve Douglas in "My Three Sons," why did Fred MacMurray remain adamant for so long a time? The series was to have a good director, Peter Tewksbury of "Father Knows Best" fame, and a well-known producer, Don Fedderson with such credits as "The Millionaire" and "Who Do You Trust." The time slot was also most enviable, being sandwiched between "The Real McCoys" and "The Untouchables." Yet MacMurray would not budge. Even money, usually a prime factor, had no moving power either. The answer was time. Success and money Fred already had, but time —time that went into a 39-week series — that he didn't have to spare. He wanted time to spend with his family and for recreation of his choice.

However, MacMurray was wanted so badly for the series that the mountain came to Mohammed, so to speak; thus, the agreement on the golf course as to Fred's time schedule. In addition to the rumor that Fred got 50 per cent of the show, it was agreed if the time schedule ran behind, a penalty payment would be made to Fred. With this arrangement, Fred could then hunt or fish or lay on the beach at Waikiki or, if it wasn't too tiring, count his money!

Actually, Fred said recently, "The concession that Don Fedderson made concerning time and money was not the only motivating factor. It must be pretty obvious by now that I love comedy and enjoy acting in comedy; that's one of the major reasons I agreed to do My Three Sons when I've turned down any number of suggested series. Ours is a comedy show, something I hope everyone can enjoy.

"I'm also delighted," Fred continued, "that comedy has returned to motion pictures. The Shaggy Dog, a film I made for Walt Disney, was a major box office hit. This new found popularity for comedies is especially refreshing to me after years of doing Westerns.

"The rebirth of comedy on the American entertainment scene is due in large measure to television. There is no question in my mind that this trend to escapist entertainment of the laughter type — as contrasted with escapism of the 'shoot-em-up' variety — will continue in the next few years at an even more rapid pace.

Fred's success in so many humorous roles is a matter of record. However, very few know that his first appearance on the entertainment scene was as a musician. He made his debut as a professional violinist at the age of five with his father while standing on a chair. He played sax with his high school and the American Legion bands, then joined a five-piece orchestra to play at local dances.

A temporary job with the orchestra in the pit of the Warner Theater in Hollywood led to a permanent spot with the California Collegians as a singer, musician-comedian. This band job took him to Broadway to appear with the group in "Three's a Crowd" and "Roberta." A Paramount Pictures talent scout spotted him in "Roberta" and with tails, top hat and cane borrowed from another "Roberta" performer — Bob Hope — Fred was screen-tested at Paramount's Astoria studio on Long Island. A success in the test, he was sent back to Hollywood eventually to appear with May Robson in "Grand Old Girl" at RKO on loan-out.

Benny Heads Cast For NBC Special

Jack Benny heads the cast of top stars who will review the great songs of the past three decades in "Remember How Great," full-hour musical-variety special to be broadcast in color on NBC-TV Thursday, Feb. 9 (8:30-9:30 p.m. EST). The program is part of NBC-TV's "Color Day U.S.A."

Starring with Benny will be Andy Williams, the McGuire Sisters, Juliet Prowse, Connie Francis, the Herman Pan Dancers, and Harry James.

"Remember How Great" will present the great standards that have survived over the years through song and dance — as interpreted by today's top recording artists. The all-time hit parade will be presented as a grand finale. Music on the show will range from songs made famous in vaudeville, through the war years and the big band era, to outstanding numbers of recent years.

Russians Silent On Big Sputnik

Moscow, Feb. 6 (AP)—The Soviet Union maintained an enigmatic and unusual silence today on the mission and fate of its massive new sputnik. Western tracking stations picked up no trace of the satellite.

A Soviet scientist, Prof. Yevgeny Leonovich Kilnov, hinted the 7-ton satellite, whose launching was announced Friday, was unmanned. He said it was designed to study the Earth and its environment.

Moscow's official silence was in direct contrast to previous satellite launches, when Soviet scientists routinely announced how equipment was functioning and the schedule of cities to be passed over.

Western experts speculated that either something went wrong with the new satellite or the Soviets were keeping some spectacular development a secret until its success was assured.

Western scientists especially noted the Soviets seemed in no hurry to answer speculation that the sputnik might be carrying a man through space. The satellite is large enough to carry an astronaut—and perhaps two.

Italy's Communist party newspaper L'Unita reported in a Moscow dispatch that the sputnik "almost certainly" was unmanned.

Britain's leading satellite tracking expert, Prof. Bernard Lovell, director of the Jodrell Bank Tracking Station, said, "There is cer-

$150,000 Blaze In Plastic Plant

Middlefield, Feb. 6 (AP)—Fire raged through a plastics manufacturing plant in the Rockfall section of town today.

Heavy smoke and the odor of burning plastics filled the area around the Rogers Manufacturing Co., Route 157.

Two buildings used by the plant were hit. A 2-story cement structure was wrecked, and firemen tried to save a 2-story frame structure nearby.

There were no injuries reported among firemen from three communities—Middlefield, Westfield and Durham—who fought the flames in 10-degree temperatures. The alarm was sounded at 5:30 a.m.

Cause of the fire was not determined. Rockfall Fire Chief Louis Griffith estimated the damage "as high as $150,000."

About 175 firemen combined to control the flames.

$100,000 Fire

Norwalk, Feb. 6 (AP)—A 2-alarm fire today damaged a large furniture store in the city's main business district and forced the evacuation of occupants of apartments adjoining the store.

One apartment dweller was overcome by smoke in her home and was taken to Norwalk Hospital for treatment. Mrs. Irene Atherton was carried unconscious from her smoke-filled apartment by Fireman George Yerahonis.

Police quoted store owner Hugo Keller as saying the fire broke out at about 6 when the owner turned on the store lights, there was a flash from the rear of the store where the oil burner was located.

Meller ran across the street to the fire department and four pieces of apparatus were assigned to the combat. The fire was declared under control at about 8:50 a.m.

Some furniture at Empire Sales Inc. was damaged extensively by the flames. More was tossed into the street by firemen. The fire was in an area of the city due to be torn down for redevelopment.

Fire scenes were injured slightly but did not need hospitalization.

Meller estimated his damages at $100,000.

Firemen Called Twice

Ansonia, Feb. 6 (AP)—Ansonia firemen were called twice to the Naugatuck Valley news office of the New Haven Register here today as a basement fire flooded the area with thick clouds of black smoke.

Firemen estimated his damages at $100,000.

Kennedy Asks Sharp Cut In Tourist Buying Abroad

Washington, Feb. 6 (AP)—President Kennedy may ask Congress soon to authorize a 5-year foreign aid program aimed at inducing other free nations to share more of the burden, Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said today.

Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, said he expects Kennedy to reshape the entire program. He will be surprised, the Senator said in an interview, if Kennedy increases the $4 billion budget request of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in this field.

Washington, Feb. 6 (AP)—President Kennedy today asked Congress to cut sharply the amount of foreign goods which American tourists can bring back to the United States without paying customs duties.

Kennedy proposed that the present $500 maximum be slashed to $100 in order to discourage tourists from buying costly souvenirs with dollars which foreigners could use to purchase American goods.

This was the most dramatic recommendation made by Kennedy in a 4,500-word special message on the gold problem which Kennedy said "justifies concern but not panic or alarm."

While the President had been expected to make a request of this sort, some were surprised by the extent of the proposed cut in the customs exemption.

The move was certain to cause concern in some countries, particularly Canada, which entertains more American tourists than any other nation but which normally doesn't buy U.S. goods.

Most other major proposals represented attempts to place new emphasis on policies adopted earlier by the Eisenhower administration. For example, Kennedy promised new efforts to expand exports, attract foreign tourists, limit military spending abroad and channel foreign aid dollars to American businessmen.

One new idea: That Congress permit banks to pay foreign governments and "central banks" a higher rate of interest than Americans receive on savings accounts. The maximum rate which now applies to everyone is 3 per cent.

Kennedy said action along this line "would enable American banks to make a maximum competitive effort to attract and hold dollar balances which might otherwise be converted into gold."

The effect could be significant since the foreign deposits involved total about $3 billion.

Kennedy also said the United States will seek an international review of the free world's monetary system, with the air of from $1 billion. And he hinted at possible tax law changes later to discourage some kinds of private American investment in Europe.

Kennedy said there is time to deal with the gold drain "calmly and deliberately" and to declare it a battle started without erecting trade barriers or hamstringing military and foreign aid programs.

He said the first requirement "is to take all possible steps to insure the effective performance of our own economic system."

While he described the proposals outlined in his message as supplementary to that aim, he said, "they

Bids Congress Act To Guard U.S. Gold

Washington, Feb. 6 (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk disclosed today that administration disarmament experts are studying the problem of whether and how Communist China can be brought into proposed disarmament schemes.

At his first news conference, Rusk also warned the American people against being unduly optimistic, as he put it, about improvements in relations with the Soviet Communist bloc. He said serious days and hard work lie ahead.

Rusk discussed U.S. foreign relations issues and answered questions for about 40 minutes.

He said the State Department public relations policy would be one of candid disclosure wherever possible and declared he fully recognizes the importance of an informed public opinion.

In a statement, Rusk called for development of a United Nations plan to bring peace and unity to the strife torn Congo but he said the primary responsibility "rests

Sputnik Beeps Reported Today

Bochum, Germany, Feb. 6 (AP)—Volksternwarte observatory here reported today it had picked up signals believed to originate from the Soviet satellite launched last Saturday.

Heinz Kaminski, head of the observatory, said the signals consist of beeps on the 19.993 and 19.994 megacycle frequencies.

No signals had been picked up Saturday or Sunday after the Russians announced orbiting of a 7-ton sputnik. Last Thursday, the Bochum Observatory said it picked up signals on a frequency used by earlier sputniks.

Averts Cut in Many Jobs

Store Union Bars $3.50 Wage Boost, Accepts $1

Cleveland, Feb. 6 (AP)—Company and union officials today halted the action of Bailey Co. Department store employees, who voted to pass up a previously negotiated $3.50 weekly increase in wages and benefits. They decided instead to take a $1 weekly pay raise, effective Feb. 1.

Union members in five Bailey stores voted on the company proposal yesterday. The company figures it will save $10,000 a year by the unusual action.

For the 800 sales clerks, office workers, elevator operators and porters at Cleveland's only organized department store the alternative was a possible cut in many jobs. Union officials said the average age of Bailey employees is 52, many of whom have worked at the company more than 25 years.

Union officials made no recommendation to the employees before the secret vote. Later, Bailey Co. president, J. Edgar Storey, said the company would accept a $1 weekly wage increase only if it makes a 3 per cent profit before taxes during 1961.

The three-year provisions in a 3-year contract expiring Feb. 1, 1963, included a $2.50 weekly wage increase and a company contribution of $1 weekly to the employees' health and welfare fund. Now only $1.50 weekly wage increase will go into effect.

Dunlap said present hourly wages in his local average $1.10, with variations among sales persons getting commissions.

Rain or Snow Due Thursday

Windsor Locks, Feb. 6 (AP)—The U.S. Weather Bureau at Bradley Field issued this forecast today for Connecticut:

The outlook for the next five days, Tuesday through Saturday, calls for temperatures to average 3 to 6 degrees below normal with little day to day change. The normal mean temperature in the Hartford area during this period is 27 degrees ranging from 36 to 17. In New Haven the range is 38 to 19 and in Bridgeport 35 to 19.

Precipitation may total 1/4 to 1/2 inch occurring as rain or snow about Thursday and again about Saturday.

One-Way Traffic Pattern Ban Put on Parking Along Side Streets

A ban on side-street parking clear snow away from the more than 500 hydrants in town would be appreciated, Chief W. Clifford Mason said today.

Chief Mason has requested that motorists, when in the area of a fire, pull into the nearest driveway when a fire vehicle approaches from the opposite direction.

The Eighth District Fire Department reported no fires during the weekend, but it was noted that most of the 150 fire hydrants, now

Heart Attacks Fatal to Eight Digging Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Connecticut counted nine deaths today as it struggled from underneath the winter's heaviest blanket of snow.

All the victims suffered heart attacks while shoveling snow. State Police said there were no deaths on the highways.

Warming temperatures aided in the massive effort to dig out the state. The mercury reached 34 degrees at the U.S. Weather Bureau in Windsor Locks yesterday. It was the first time in 17 days that the temperature had risen above freezing.

The state's major roads were open to traffic today, but in the hinterland the snow was still piled up.

The Weather Bureau officially recorded 14.3 inches of snow at Windsor Locks, one-tenth inch more than the fall of Jan. 15-16.

However, elsewhere in the state there were readings of 20 inches and perhaps more. Weather observers in Putnam said in some places in their area the snow measured 24 inches.

Regardless of which community had the dubious honor of recording the most snow, the major problem for shoveling crews were huge drifts.

Thousands of persons were mobilized by the state and towns for the arduous business of shoveling, sanding and plowing.

Despite the effort, numerous schools remained closed today, as officials feared continued transportation snarls.

Woman Sings 'Lord's Prayer' On Deck of Sinking Freighter

By ALAN CLINE
Yokohama, Japan, Feb. 6 (AP)—An American woman stood on the deck of a sinking ship in Tokyo Bay last night and sang "The Lord's Prayer" to calm the excited survivors.

The singer was Mrs. Victor Andrews, Laguna Beach, Calif. A passenger on the 6,419-ton Danish freighter Laust Maerak. The ship sank after colliding with the 6,750-ton American cargo ship Alcoa Pioneer.

The Japanese Coast Guard said one Danish crewman died in the crash and three others were missing. Forty-three persons—including Mrs. Andrews and three other American passengers—were rescued. None of the 43 aboard the Alcoa Pioneer was injured.

The American ship docked under her own power, her bow ripped and tangled. The Laust Maerak went down in about 20 minutes two miles northeast of Kanno Cape. A Japanese fisherman picked up Mrs. Andrews and the Danish freighter's other passengers on a raft. Mrs. Andrews' husband, John Weld, co-publisher of the Laguna Beach Post, and his wife, eight Danish seamen were on the raft with them.

They were taken to Yamate Hospital here, suffering from shock. Weld apparently was the only American who had a deep gash on his right leg.

Weld from his hospital bed gave this account:

"Apparently somebody misread the light signals. The outgoing Pioneer thought we were going to pass on the starboard (right) and our ship thought they were going to pass the port. We had radar but it was a clear night.

"One of the two Alcoa's was smashed. It very, very quickly became apparent that things were in a bad way. The lights went out, the engines stopped and the ship began to list heavily.

"The crew could not get the other life boat free. The ship is going down and here we are hanging on to the port rail. The next thing we knew we were in the water without a boat. Fortunately,

Fronzizi Favorite Loses to Socialist

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Feb. 6 (AP)—Socialist candidate defeated President Arturo Fronzizi's candidate for the Senate from Buenos Aires—a blow to the critic's prestige.

Alfredo Palacios, 80, a critic of the United States, rolled up 308,301 votes in yesterday's election, 7,000 more than his nearest opponent, the Interior Ministry reported today. Only three of the district's 6,367 districts remained to be heard from.

Fronzizi's candidate, incumbent Sen. Armando Turano, ran third behind Nicolas Romano of the People's Radical party, a Liberal Center group. Romano had 501,047 votes to 240,427 for Turano.

Kennedy for Boost In Jobless Benefits

Washington, Feb. 6 (AP)—President Kennedy sent Congress today a proposed bill to reinstate unemployment insurance for persons whose benefits have run out.

He also sent to the Senate and House a bill to authorize aid to dependent children of the unemployed.

"The need for prompt enactment of this legislation is clear," the President said in identical letters to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

The formal submission of legislation followed through on Kennedy campaign pledges which have been repeated in various messages

As Northeast Digs Out New Snowstorm Heads Eastward over Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Snow spread across the central section of the nation today after piling up to a foot in depth on the Texas Panhandle.

The new snow storms extended from Minnesota to northern Arkansas. Falls of 2 to 4 inches were expected in sections of eastern Missouri and southern Illinois.

The Weather Bureau said the storm was diminishing but would move northeastward across Midwest areas and into the middle Mississippi valley, Kentucky and Tennessee today.

The Connecticut forecast: Some cloudiness no important temperature change tonight, the low generally zero to 10 above. Tuesday increasing cloudiness with a chance of snow late in the day. The high again in the 30s. Winds variable tonight and Tuesday.

The heavy snow Sunday in the Panhandle area of Texas derailed three freight trains. A cattleman died of exposure in 15-degree weather after his truck stalled in a snowbank.

A tornado hit the Flour Bluff district near Corpus Christi, Tex., Sunday, but damage was light. Snow continued to fall early today in northern Texas.

Rain, snow and sleet put a treacherous coating on highways in Oklahoma, Eastern Kansas, Iowa and Missouri.

The East strove to throw off the crippling effects of snow that ranged up to 60 inches late last week.

6 Big Electric Firms Fined in Price, Bid Fix

Philadelphia, Feb. 6 (AP)—Six large electrical companies, General Electric and Westinghouse among them, were fined a total of $150,000 today on the first of 20 federal indictments charging bid rigging and price fixing in violation of antitrust laws.

J. H. Chiles of Pittsburgh, a Westinghouse vice president, and W. S. Ginn, Schenectady, N. Y., a General Electric vice president, each were given 30-day jail terms, one of the few times defendants were sentenced to jail in any antitrust case. Chiles also was fined $2,000; Ginn $5,000.

The six companies, Chiles and Ginn all pleaded guilty to this particular count.

AUTO LAYOFF TOTAL CUT
Detroit, Feb. 6 (AP)—The auto industry's layoff for inventory balancing was reduced by 10,000 today to a total of about 70,000. Estimates earlier, from company and unofficial sources, had placed the figure at about 80,000—part this week and the rest next week. Some manufacturers are cutting production in order to balance output against the approximately one million new 1961 model cars that remain unsold in dealer showrooms.

IDLE CYPRIOTS RIOT

GAVIN SEEN AS ENVOY
Washington, Feb. 6 (AP)—President Kennedy has chosen James M. Gavin as U.S. ambassador to Paris, reliable sources report. Official nomination of the 55-year-old retired Army lieutenant general apparently awaits only the formality of clearance by the French government. Gavin earned a reputation as a "jumping general" when he made combat jumps into Sicily, Normandy and Holland during World War II as commander of the 82nd Airborne Division.

NEWS EARLY SET
Washington, Feb. 6 (AP)—President Kennedy's news conference this week will be held at 10 a.m. EST Wednesday, the White House announced today.

MOST WANTED SURRENDERED
Washington, Feb. 6 (AP)—William Chester Cole, 25, one of the FBI's ten most wanted fugitives, surrendered today to FBI agents of Gulf Breeze, Fla. Cole escaped from a prison camp at Fort Myers, Fla., Aug. 6 with six other prisoners. He was carrying a life sentence for a 1954 robbery. Cole was put on the FBI's list of ten most wanted criminals last Thursday.
