WHAT YOU WANT MAY NOT BE GOOD By Alfred Sheinwold If you lead a singleton, it may well turn out to be the only lead that gives declarer a chance for his contract. And even if you escape this hazard, your partner may fail to return the suit.

West knew about these dangers when he opened the singleton deuce of clubs, but he couldn't see anything better to do. Besides, he had all four deuces and was superstitious enough to think that this was meant as a sign that he perstitious enough to think that this was meant as a sign that he ought to lead one of them.

East won with the ace of clubs and had no trouble reading the nature of the opening lead. So East returned a club to let his partner ruff.

partner ruff.

Strangely enough, the ruff brought no lasting happiness to West. He could take the acc of diamonds, but nothing else. South was sure to take the rest, making his contract.

"Good thing I led my singleton,"

West remarked. "Ootherwise he'd have made five or six instead of say?

You hold: Spades — 7 4; Hearts — 8 5. Diamonds — Q J 9. Clubs — A 10' 9 8 5 3. What do you say? have made five or six instead of only four."

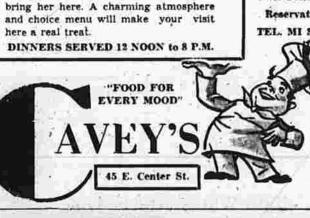

Nobody contradicted him, and everybody seemed happy. But we know better. We can see that West was too easily satisfied.

East should return a club at the second trick. He can see perfectly well that his side can get no tricks in spades or hearts and Directors of the Savings Bank of Rockville announced this week three and a half per cent will be increased to three and three quarters per cent a year, beginning in April and payable Oct. I.

Increased earnings have resulted in the rate increase, according to Frederick E. Hallcher, president. He said that, as a mutual ter, fed uncooked garbage to pigs.

Twelfth Circuit Court was scheduled to reconvene at 2 p.m., after a recess for lunch.

In a brief session late this morning, Judge Searles Darington heard Max Korman, livestock in spector for the state, testify that on Feb. 2 he inspected the Lombardo farm and found pigs eating uncooked garbage.

Korman, under questioning by Prosecutor Eugene Kelly, said the garbage included animal intestines and an unborn calf, all uncooked. He also testified that the boiler for cooking the garbage was inop-

Despite the fact a quorum was not present at the last meeting, the board of education seems to favor a plan which would add about $20,000 to the $374,075 to be paid teachers this year.

Under the plan, starting pay for teachers with bachelor degrees would be upped from $4,200 to $4,300 annually, increasing $215 for each of the next two years and $258 annually for ten years. For teachers with masters degrees, starting pay would be advanced from the present $4,550 to $4,650 with annual increases of $350 for the starting pay with annual increases of $350 for the starting pay with annual increases of $350 for the starting pay with annual increases of $350 for the starting pay with annual increases of $350 for the starting pay would be upped from $250 to $4,650 to $4, with annual increases of $350 for the next 12 years.
School Superintendent Merle B. Woodmansee said a tenth school bus would probably have to be added because of increases in school population. It was agreed $7,000 would have to be included in the budget to cover this item.

GETTING AROUND

... to Our Pleasant Places and People

A TTENTION, EXPLORER SCOUTS in Elkins Park, Pennsylvania, and Nichols Hills, Oklahoma, and Whitehaven, Tennessee, and all other pleasant, active places that house growing youngsters—the National Explorer Bowling Tournament will be held on March 25, 1961. Sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America, the tournament is part of the Mail-O-Graphic Tournament of the American Junior Bowling Congress and is open to five-man teams from any Explorer Unit in the country. Here's a chance to bowl in your own neighborhood with friends—and still maybe bring home a national trophy to your chapter of the Explorers.

When Maurice Podell, of Long Branch, New Jersey, was a young boy in Russia, he liked to swipe bread from the family table and knead the soft, inner dough into shapes of cows, sheep, and other farm animals. Now, 50 years later, he is a successful sculptor who still occasionally uses rye bread as a medium. "Rye bread gets hard as a rock and is almost as permanent," says sculptor Podell, who also works in plaster and bronze. He has had three successful one-man shows, and his four-foot-high bust of Abraham Lincoln (in bronze) stands on a pedestal outside Long Branch's American Legion headquarters.

At last report Rockville, Connecticut, still had no garbage dump (the Manchester Board of Directors decided not to let Rockville dump its trash at the Olcott Street dump). Rockville's Mayor, in an attempt to reverse that decision, said, "You don't know how long six months can be until you've been without a dump." But if Manchester refused to let it dump at Olcott Street, the valiant Mayor said, he would somehow find another solution. "I've got a very large back yard," he jovially

The miniature hoopers have been helped by the Harbor Optimists Club, which donates balls, baskets, and uniforms.

We'd like to tell you about a banch of hotrodders who are far different from the groups of public danger through irresponsible use of a hurtling vehicle, here are 11 boys who are anxious to become good citizens, who are ready to help stranded, motorists, and who are, at an early age, masters of their machines. They pay dues to their club and then turn over the entire club treasury to the Leukemia Guild, and they collect toys for underprivileged children in their spare time. The club members love their cars, and they take excellent care of them, too. They also love speed, racing, and daring—but not on public streets. They do their racing under controlled conditions in competition with other groups, at a local drag strip.

A wonderful experiment in brotherhood is being conducted at the Sylvania Heights, Florida, Elementary School, where about a dozen children, all just arrived from Cuba and all unable to speak English, have recently enrolled. Instead of being kept in a special, separate group, the children were immediately absorbed into regular classes with only one hour out of the school day set aside for English lessons. The regular student body has pitched in to help them with lessons, conversation, and extracurricular activities, and, we hear, the young Cubans are picking up the language and customs at an amazingly rapid rate of speed.

Every once in a while the judge called him in and asked if he'd changed his mind, but Mr. Block, stubborn as ever, said, "No, and I'm never going to." A few weeks ago, however, the judge took matters into his own hands and let him out because it was costing the taxpayers too much to feed and keep

Where The Happiest People?

A nationwide survey suggests they're in the suburbs

BY GEORGE GALLUP

COME YEARS AGO, I undertook a study to find out who the happiest people in America are, where they live, and the circumstances of life which seem to contribute most to happiness. This investigation hasn't been completed, but enough has been learned to shed light upon a man's chances for happiness if he elects to live in Oak Grove, Mo., rather than St. Louis, or in Birmingham, Mich., rather than Detroit.

In conducting the survey, our method in each case was to ask people to place themselves in one of three categories-very happy, fairly happy, or not very happy. In addition we asked a battery of questions about schooling, occupation, domicile, and ways of living. All major groups in our population were represented and in the right proposition. In their answers, processed on the electronic machines and slide rules, lay the data we were seeking in our study.

One of the more interesting facts that has now emerged is that people who live in smaller communities are happier than those in the largest cities.

In fact, the unhappiest people in America are to be found in the largest cities. Usually these persons work in a factory or at a monotonous job. They get their fun out of life by going to movies or to a bar. They seek happiness not within themselves but from the world outside. Religion plays a relatively unimportant part in their lives.

By contrast, the happiest people tend to be deeply religious. They find great pleasure in reading, gardening, and the pursuits normally identified with life in a smaller community. Their family, their friends, and their community mean a great deal to them.

Few relied on material possessions for happiness. "To live," as Justice Holmes observed long ago, "is to function-" and a man does not function by keeping up with the Joneses but by finding a way of life where he is effective, according to the happy people we interviewed.

These guides or conditions for happiness became apparent as we processed the data from thousands of interviews with the happy and the unhappy, the functioning and the floundering.

How do they relate to life in the suburbs as we know it today? First of all, let us explore first an area our studies showed to be vital-the bearing of religion on human happiness. People who live in the suburbs are churchgoers. Almost half of all adults in the nation (and this figure includes members of all religious groups) attend church once a week or oftener, on the average. In a recent survey it was found that 46% of all the adults interviewed across the nation had attended church during the previous seven days. But in the suburban towns more than half (54%) had attended church during the same period. (By contrast, consider these figures from "the good old days"—in 1860 only 23% of the entire population were church

TT GOES without saying that the Ferndales and Park Views of this country qualify as the smaller communities where we found the largest percentage of happy people. And in the suburbs, of course, people come naturally by the simple, personal pleasures like reading and gardening which, on the record, count for so much in life.

But there is also the great question of functioning in Justice Holmes' sense-how effective in our new kind of urban-industrial society is the man who sets such store by his own house and lot, by his familiar round, in contrast to the boundless opportunities offered by collective life in the city?

To come to a conclusion, we must consider first the response Americans everywhere are making to the new society. Here the facts are clear. Farming, which used to be our chief occupation is now the pursuit of only a small percentage of our people-8% to be exact. And interestingly, along with the decline in farming as an occupation there has been a sharp decline in the number of unskilled laborers. Our new society requires more education, more training, and our people have responded accordingly. In the short period of twenty years the percentage of our population that has been graduated from high school has nearly doubled. Within the next two or three years more than half of all persons in America will have had a high-school education or better. To be effective today men need to be trained. And what is the situation in the third of our population which is suburban? One in every four of the adults living in these communities has attended college. The figure for the United States as a whole is one in six.

To me, one of the most interesting aspects of suburban life is the interest in education. In no other type of community can one find so many well-educated people, and certainly in no other type of community do so many parents want their children to have good elementary and secondary education leading to a college education later. In no other type of community, in other words, have people prepared themselves so well to live effectively in our world as it is today.

IVING IN SUBURBIA is certainly no sure road to happiness. Our investigation established definitely that people can be happy in almost any set of circumstances.

And having lived in a suburb myself for many years I am well aware of the mass of material Continued on page 43

MAKE ANY OF these decorations, all you need is a supply of blown eggs that can be saved for weeks before Easter (make a small hole in each end of an egg and blow contents into a bowl), plus Easter egg dyes, duplex crepe paper, pipe cleaners, clear household cement, and a batch of sequins and ferns and whatever other trimmings you choose.

To make the flowers use two pipe cleaners twisted together for stems, and glue into hole at large end of egg. All petals start as egg-shaped cutouts of crepe paper (six per flower). Iris petals are curled over scissors and pasted to stems, three up and three down. Lightly flute daffodil petals along outer edge, paste three evenly around egg, and put remaining three in between. Small cutouts may be put at top to cover hole. Stems are wound with green floral Jape or crepe paper. Add leaves at bottom and place in your prettiest bowl.

All the birds are made the same way, basically. First, draw the simple outline of head, wings, and tail on double crepe paper that has been pasted together. Glue to egg and add sequins for eyes. Glue the center of a pipe cleaner to the underside of each bird, then twist ends down and around twig, branch, or perch on which bird is to be attached.

Finally, to make the tulip eggs, draw tulip petals on sides of a blown egg and carefully cut away with manicure scissors. The fresher the egg, the easier this will be. Attach pipe-cleaner stem and then dye the egg. Proceed as with other flowers and place in a low container.

Happened to the Dining-Room
Table? BY JOSEPH N. BELL

It used to be a family forum, morning, noon, and night... and it still can be, if

Several years ago my wife and I came to the conviction that a dining room might help us recapture some of the grace and solid values that we found ourselves missing in this generation of family living. We were also seeking a means of re-establishing lines of family communication, which had become frayed and uncertain. In the confusion and bustle of split-level living, somehow we seemed unable to find either the time or the opportunity to sit and listen to our three children, so that we were becoming virtual strangers to one another.

I still remember with shame the day one of our neighbors, who had a daughter in our son's class, congratulated us on his nomination as class president. We didn't even know about it. When we questioned him that evening, he shrugged and said, "I dunno. Everybody just seemed to be so busy all the time that I never got a chance to tell you."

Searching our own childhood for clues to better communications, my wife and I found that we both associated family activities with the dining room. We remembered our childhood dinin, rooms as eternally populated—with relatives, children, friends. There was always an exchange of ideas going on, and not just among adults. Children were listened to in our dining rooms—listened to with kindness and patience and understanding.

There seemed little time for leisurely listening in our own home. Meals were usually hurried and disjointed; casual dinner guests posed all sorts of logistical problems; and a large family dinner meant a series of card tables scattered about the house, giving it the appearance of a night club—with about the same potentialities for group conversation. When we had something we wanted to discuss with the children, we found it difficult to get them together and hold their attention once we had them. And I am sure they experienced the same difficulties with us. In this situation, my wife and I determined to try to offer our children a reasonable facsimile of the sort of family forum we had known.

Two things were lacking: the dining room and a suitable table to go in it. Neither was easy to find. We quickly discovered that in newly constructed houses the dining room is apparently equated in cost with an indoor-swimming pool. But we found a rich vein of dining rooms in older houses, and we finally bought one with a dining room larger than the living room.

The search for an adequate dining-room table took almost as long. "What we're looking for," I would tell the furniture salesman, "is a maple table that will open to 110 inches. We don't want it to convert into a coffee table, or anything else. We just want a plain, ordinary, sturdy, cumbersome dining-room table."

The salesman, frowning at this persistent nonsense, would reply testily: "People don't buy those anymore. They've been out-of-date for years."

A FTER WEEKS OF SHOPPING, we found just what we were looking for in a secondhand store and bought it on the spot.

At first, like the children, my wife and I regarded the dining room somewhat self-consciously. Perhaps, we thought, we should reserve it for state occasions—dinner parties and family holidays. Then, happily, we undertook some extensive remodeling in our kitchen and had to move to the dining room for our evening meals.

At first, we felt vaguely uncomfortable, as if wearing a too-well-starched shirt. Then gradually a subtle change began to take place.

We discovered that the grace we've always asked the children to say before meals somehow sounded less perfunctory and more appropriate around the

you move one in and gather around it dining-room table than it ever had in the kitchen. Also, the children, who previously had been wolfing their food as quickly as possible and heading for unknown regions, began to linger occasionally at the table and bring up subjects they had seldom before discussed with us, personal problems and sometimes family grievances they had long been nursing. Conversation began to flourish.

When it was possible to move back to the kitchen, we didn't go. We had rediscovered the dining room, and none of us planned to give it up. Since then, the diningroom table, the largest continuous flat surface in our house, has become the focal point of our family life. Almost every night sees it in use. Frequently, there's a two-handed game of rummy going on at one end, letter writing in the middle, and a scrapbook being pasted up or a complex model put together at the other end.

The incidence of televisionwatching has dropped sharply. Our children frequently study at the table, their legs circled about the chair rungs in a squirming frenzy of enforced concentration. This has produced all sorts of subsidiary benefits. Studying with one eye cocked at the television set, either wistfully at an empty screen or soporifically at the inevitable Western, is a thing of the past.

These three individuals, who once disappeared to their own parts of the house and stayed there, have become acquainted in a pleasantly spontaneous sort of way. They are no longer simply competitors for family possessions or boarders who convene three times a day for meals but rather part, of a family group in which a vagrant sense of loyalty and cooperation is stirring.

Dining-Room Table

—including the children—gathered about one table. We invite other guests more frequently and spend many stimulating hours with them at the table after dinner. Through these gatherings our children have learned respect for their elders and for dissenting opinions and have been introduced to the wonderful world of ideas.

Manners have become part of everyday living. Our children have learned not to speak when someone else is talking, to seat the womenfolk, to offer in a large and sometimes strange group a prayer of thanksgiving that has meaning and substance, to sit patiently and not stuff themselves. Oh, they still sometimes have to be reminded, but they're learning to-discharge these responsibilities with gratifying good humor.

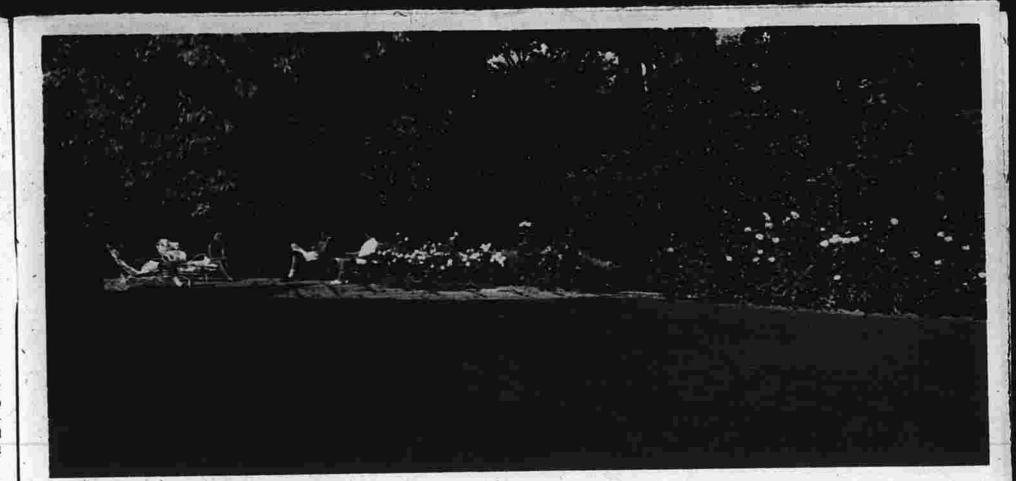

THERE HAS BEEN an evolutionary interest on the part of our children in the nonfamily guests we frequently invite to dine with us. At our invitation, they now stay to listen to after-dinner conversation, even offering an occasional contribution or question. We encourage this, and the children have developed a healthy curiosity and respect for opinions and philosophies new to them.

and thereby have grown, both as a family and as individuals. We talk about new plays and books and movies. We discuss the shades of meaning of new words, and we thrash over current events endlessly and heatedly since we have a frequent division of political opinion. But now it is friendly disagreement, and it adds up to tolerance in our children—a virtue, indeed—while preserving their individuality.

We recently rented our house for a year to take a sabbatical in another part of the country. Although our tenant had his own furniture, he looked long and lovingly at our dining-room table, then said hesitantly: "I don't have anything I can use in this room. Would it be out of line to ask you to leave your table?"

He has it now, with our blessing. I could tell from the spark in his eyes when he saw the table that he's one of us. May our table contribute to his family as it has to ours.

How more than 850,000 lawn owners have licked their crabgrass problems with Halts'

Introduced by Scotts in the late fall of 1958, Halts has worked wonders—even in hardest hit areas.

You apply it before crabgrass sprouts.

WE HAD exceptional results with Halts in our back yard last year," writes a lady in St. Louis. "It even convinced my skeptical husband."

"Halts did a wonderful job for me on a particularly stubborn crabgrass-covered front lawn," reports L. J. of Cranston, Rhode Island.

We get letters like these every day of the year, from grateful people who have finally discovered the way to keep crabgrass from ruining their lawns.

The way is astonishingly simple. It takes less than half an hour for the average lawn. Yet it gives results that no amount of hard work could equal.

Halts is an invisible barrier

Each summer crabgrass comes up, chokes out good grass—then re-seeds itself and dies. Halts stops this vicious cycle. It creates a barrier on the soil's surface that prevents crabgrass seeds from coming up.

With the accurate Scotts Spreader, you quickly blanket the entire lawn with tiny Halts granules. Each particle is more than a match for the wiliest crabgrass plant. Halts lies in wait, then strikes as crabgrass sprouts. Halts also destroys grubs, drives moles and skunks away.

When is the right time to apply Halts? The earlier the better. A good time is the first nice afternoon.

"I used Halts..."

"Early in the spring I used Halts which I found very effective except for the rows that I missed with the spreader," writes a lawn owner in Winchester, Virginia. (Scotts summer crabgrass control, Clout*, makes short work of such occasional escapees.)

"Last spring when I used Haits, Teports Mr. W. G. of Albany, N. Y., "I got" the horse laugh from a lot of people who said there wasn't anything that would prevent crabgrass. But now they see and agree that Halts can do it. My neighbors' lawns are infested with crabgrass and on my side, there is not one single plant!"

Halts doesn't harm grass

Halts is death to crabgrass, yet it has the unique ability to let good grass sprout unharmed.

Think what that means. You can sow Scotts seed (and give it the balanced Turf Builder* feeding it needs) on the very same day you apply Halts. No danger to the seed. And no delay in seeding.

This is a good example of the way Scotts research has created products that work together—in a program—to make a better, lawn simple and stre.

Modern times have brought many swimming pools, and with them go "pool sitters."

More than a million teen-agers will harvest crops this summer.

Wanted: SUMMER JOBS FOR TEEN-AGERS

BY LYDIA RATCLIFF

Six million of them will be looking for work—everything from cat-sitting

THIS JUNE, when school doors and school-books are shut tight, more teen-agers than ever before will be looking for work in a world where the demand for their services seems to be lessening. A million of them, it is true, will be needed to harvest crops—strawberries in California, corn in Kansas, vegetables in New England. Hundreds of thousands of them will wait on tables and watch over children everywhere. Resort areas will hire them in force and so will ice-cream manufacturers and soft-drink bottlers.

Modern times have brought some new jobs onto the scene. "Pool-sitting" is one. Last year, California's Van Nuys Valley saw 471 new swimming pools built in a single month and a part-time life guard is now almost a necessity. The shortage of domestic help has brought on a boom in summer baby sitters. But modern times have also taken some traditional summer jobs away. Electric golf carts and wheel-your-owns are replacing many caddies. There are fewer corner grocery stores to hire delivery boys. Each youngster who tries to find work this summer will face not only mechanical competition but also competition from the millions of other teen-agers battling for a sharply limited number of jobs.

To look at the dark side of the picture, the 1961 job market will be the tightest in more than a decade. Nearly a third—more than a million—of those who try will not get a job. And the situation is going to get worse: war babies have only begun to flood the labor market, just as they are overcrowding the schools. Says Eli Cohen of the National Committee on Employment of Youth, "The problem is frankly critical."

But on the brighter side, in spite of the statistics, great numbers of teen-agers should be able to employ themselves gainfully, or at least usefully, this summer—if they know how to go about it. Many organizations are ready to back them in their efforts and help find jobs.

The National Committee on Employment of Youth studies the problems of youth employment and solicits help from industry, government, and private citizens. The Public Employment Service has more than 1,800 offices, in every state, to help young people get jobs. Youth Employment Services across the U.S. perform a similar function.

Several large industrial firms, banks, and insurance companies have set up summer training programs for future full-time recruits. International Business Machines, for example, has encouraged the electronic bent by hiring a few exceptional.

Lawn-mowing: one of the oldest and steadiest job to computer-building

young scientists. One enthusiastic high-school student from Cedar Falls, Iowa, started work on an experimental basis. By the end of three weeks he had completely programmed a game of ticktacktoe. Soon after, he put 3,200 vacuum tubes together to play a challenging game of checkers—and won first prize at the National Science Fair.

IBM's 12-week "Operation Cradle" program is now an annual event for a group of Chicago highschool seniors. This summer the company will launch an advanced scientific-training program.

In other parts of the country industries sponsor "JETS" clubs (Junior Engineering Technical Society) which allow high-school students to work with professionals on everything from cyclotrons to solar furnaces and analog computers.

Local governments are taking the initiative in some areas. Washington, D.C., has an Odd Jobs pool where teen-agers can find work opportunities, and the younger ones can participate in a carrier boys' delivery syndicate. Berkeley, California, has a "Workreation" program to combine paid parkand-trail maintenance with time out for sport.

The Federal government, too, has launched a broad program for summer job seekers. The Civil Service Commission lists positions in eighteen Federal agencies, and jobs range from meteorological research for the Weather Bureau to petroleum engineering for the Interior Department and archaeology for the Smithsonian Institution.

In other cases, schools, local service groups, and citizens' associations have spearheaded the drive to help teen-agers find work. In Hancock, Michigan, a resort area, high schools offer a 2-day course to teach youngsters the essentials of resort and tourist work. In Minneapolis, a Market Garden Program puts them on to farm-job openings, and in Cedarhurst, Long Island, PTA's from nearby towns have a "Junior Dependables" agency to track down odd jobs.

O NE OF THE BEST solutions to the job problem is typified by the program in Boise, Idaho. Five years ago the YMCA joined forces with the State Employment Service, set up an employment agency in a YMCA office, and hired a telephone-answering service to handle calls. Newspapers donated space for publicity, and Boise's mayor launched the program at a well-attended breakfast party. Today the plan is a large, successful endeavor.

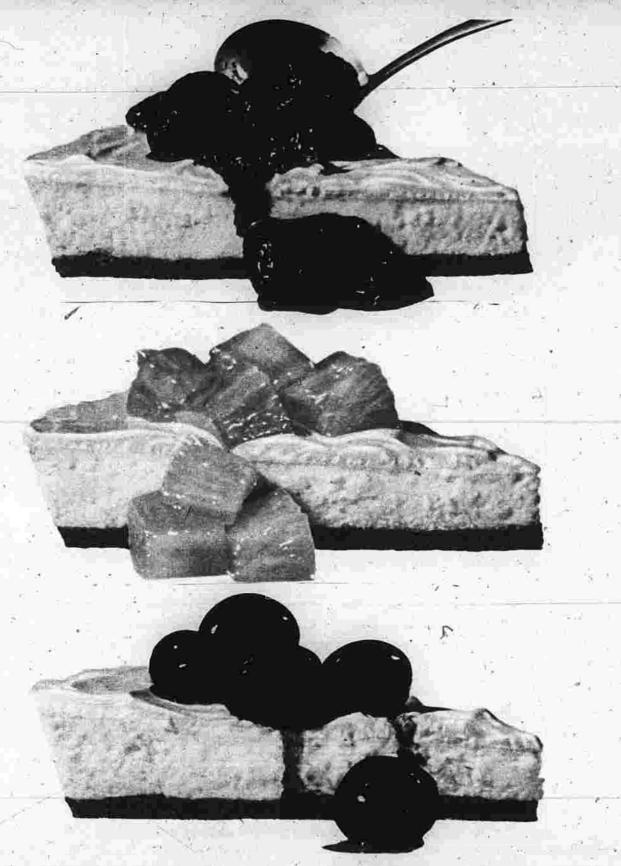

In Waterloo, Iowa, a "summer-job committee" instructs youngsters in self-salesmanship, procedures for job application, and rules for how to hold a job. A "job clinic" reminds youth that application blanks must be neatly filled out and qualifications well described, that shoes are nearly always necessary on the job, that you don't greet your employer with a "Hi!" when you arrive. The clinic has met with great success.

Public support can be a great help, but the business of job-getting is largely up to the person who needs a job. There are a number of pointers the National Committee on Employment of Youth suggests for teen-agers:

- 1. Begin looking early. Easter vacation is a good time.
- 2. Start at home with relatives and friends such special contacts account for 90% of summer jobs landed. If you have never been away for the summer, it is best to take a job near home.
- 3. Know your talents, and state them specifically. An employer wants to know what you're good at and what you've done successfully before—at home, at school, or in a previous part-time job you have had.
- 4. Know the child labor laws in your state—your employer may not know them. They present no real barrier to summer employment. Normally, only "hazardous" work such as truck-driving, using power machinery, and operating elevators is forbidden to those under 18 during vacations.
- 5. Watch the want ads in your local paper and contact local agencies—State Employment Services, school employment offices, etc., and make application with local businesses. Remember to state what you can offer them.

6. Don't give up early-many vacation replacement jobs open up in July and August. And some work is better than no work. Be persistent and follow up all possible leads.

7. Conduct interviews and fill out application blanks in a mature manner. Remember, competition is stiff.

8. Check on the reputation of any prospective employer if you don't know it already. Your public employment service or your school may be able to help you here. You want a job, but you don't want to be exploited.

Many teen-agers will create work for themselves. They can start their own odd-jobs pools, dispatching hedge clippers, lawn mowers, or fence fixers for an afternoon or a day. They can organize groups to stage children's birthday parties and walking trips. They can publish a newspaper for a season in a resort area, or they can set up weekly puppet shows. They can conduct personal shopping, sell home-grown vegetables, or read to shut-ins. The amount of work and the money it brings depend on the resourcefulness of the teenagers themselves.

And if all else fails, there are still two constructive courses open to the young person who cannot get a job this summer. He can learn a skill that will help assure him a job the next year. A summer invested in learning to type, for instance, is as valuable as any job. Or, he can volunteer to do any number of things, without pay. Social agencies everywhere are in need of free help. The Junior Red Cross recruits thousands of volunteer teen-agers every year to prepare bandages, serve meals, and read to patients in hospitals. The American Friends Service Committee has summer "intern" programs for high-school and college students who live in "work camps" and do constructive work in needy areas. In recent years, AFSC groups have built a lowwater bridge for a settlement in the Kentucky mountains. In Lame Deer, Montana, they built a recreation hall for an Indian village. And at Fort Defiance, Arizona, they built a playground for Navajo Indians. Other teen-agers go to Mexico every year for similar work, and others go abroad-to work camps in Italy, Pakistan, Tanganyika, and many other countries. For overseas projects, they must pay as much as $600—but this fee can often be covered by scholarship funds.

With the competition for jobs so tough, why will more than half of all U.S. teen-agers set out to face it this summer and some even go so far as to pay for work when they could go right on being America's last leisure class? The fact is that today's teen-ager is itching for a chance to try his wings

Volunteer work-camp jobs are hard, rewards are great even if it means flying in the face of grim statistics. He is an immigrant in a hurry to get to the adult world. Chances are that money is not the only factor in his thinking-most of the money earned this summer will go for milk shakes, movies, and clothes. But the freedom and independence are vitally important. He wants responsibility and he wants experience. He wants a job. Furthermore, according to many experts, he should have a job.

"Young people," Eli Cohen says, "will not get the qualifications demanded by our present-day labor market by magic. Experience with a summer job can be crucial to them when the time comes for them to get a permanent job."

Even if a young person has to pay for working, the return on that small investment is very great. How many teen-agers could tell a potential employer they have set up a technicalassistance program in Peru's high Andes, built houses in India, or worked toward international understanding in Pakistan? These, and many other volunteer experiences, serve as a strong recommendation for any job any time. And the same dignity, independence, and experience go with a volunteer job as with a paying one. Both represent the same giant step toward adulthood.

This summer the expectation is that 43% of all the boys and 22% of the girls will get their jobs. But the hunt will be difficult, and many young people will be squeezed out. Still, by using all the resources at hand, plus a large measure of their own imagination, all young people should be able to find some sort of useful work. The summer job may pay, or may not-or may even cost something. But the teen-ager who wants it and gets it will be the winner in any case.

THE MAGIC FORMULA TO SUCCESS = MEASURING!

The best drinks are the result of exact measurements of the finest ingredients. Not even a highball should be mixed by the "eyeball" method. Here're the figures you can count on:

> pony=1 oz. one jigger = 114 oz. dash=1/6 teaspoon.

Use cracked ice for shaker drinks, lots of cubes for highballs. Avoid "stale" ice, with that

WHEN TO SHAKE-

If a drink is made only with clear liquors, it requires only stirring with ice for proper mixing (the Stinger is one of few exceptions). Shake drinks with hard-to-blend ingredients like: fruit juice, eggs, cream or sugar . . and give it all you've got!

CHILLED GLASSES— BETTER COCKTAILS!

Some prefer the way pow dered sugar blends with ingredients in certain

drinks, even though it

"clouds up" a bit. Finely

granulated sugar makes a clearer drink. Take your choice, but put sugar in the shaker

Before mixing cocktails, fill glasses with cracked ice to cool 'em. When mixture's ready, dump ice, dry glasses-and pour

SECRET OF THE FROSTED GLASS!

For "frosted" drinks, put wet glasses in the icebox, or bury in shaved ice. For the "sugar-frosted" glass, dampen rim of pre-cooled glass with slice of lemon then dip rim in powdered sugar for a few seconds Knock off excess.

TERMITES THRIVE IN PLEASANT

They do about $100,000,000 worth of damage to our in their own quiet way-and they like

BY EDWARD R. SAMMIS

YOUNG TOM JONES was quite pleased I with the house he had just bought. The former owner had added many attractive touches, like the decorative tiles on the window sills.

The thought of termites never entered the buyer's head until long after he had closed the deal and moved in. Then one day it occurred to him that perhaps he ought to have an inspection. The decorative tiles were the first thing to catch his inquiring eye. He pried them off and found in the wood beneath the telltale honey-

Did the tiles indicate the owner knew he had termites? Even if they did, there was nothing Jones could do about it, for the eastern state in which he lived had no laws to protect him against this kind of depreciation. It cost him $4,500 to put the house back in shape.

Termites are a strange, determinedly destructive, highly organized form of insect life, often referred to mistakenly as "flying ants," and every year they cause about $100 million worth of damage to our houses.

They are a serious threat in almost every part of the United States, with the exception of the northern sector of the Middle West. And even there, sad to say, they have recently begun to make their appearance, as for example, around Sheboygan, Wisconsin.

- Although exterminators offer an inspection service free of charge, most homeowners close their minds to termites and their sinister potential, hoping, as is only human, that "it won't happen to me."

But the more you know about termites, the dimmer that hope becomes, especially for owners of new houses. Consider these facts: .

Termites prefer recently built houses. In the old days, houses were more often built of cedar or of cypress in the south or redwood on the west coast, all of them woods not particularly to the termites' taste. They do like woods of the pine family, used in so much of today's construction, especially new wood which has the sap still in it.

Termites find new houses not only attractive but easy to invade because too many modern builders fail to take the proper precautions.

Indeed, some practices, such as sweeping the leftover rubbish under the porch and covering it loosely with dirt, allowing wooden joists to come in direct contact with the ground without being treated, building cinder-block foundations or supports without sealing them off at the top, are all open invitations to termite invasion and subsequent destruction.

The commonest termites are the subterranean type, and they are the hardest for the uninitiated owner to detect until they have done their damage. Living in colonies underground below the frost line, they gain access to the wood of a house by tunneling up inside the wooden joists. When this situation is not available to them, they construct their own tubes of chewed wood and earth. These, too, are usually invisible because they are often built in the fissures or cracks of foundations. It is only when they are forced to build over an obstruction or guard that the tubes can be seen.

One veteran termite fighter said that in seventeen years of battling the insect, he had never encountered even one colony

THE DESTRUCTIVE, continuous chewing of the wood is done by the workerswhite, stunted, blind creatures who produce the food supply by converting wood cellulose into protein.

They pass food back to the colony through long supply lines, maintained throughout at constant humidity and temperature through fungus supply, an amazing feat of insect engineering.

With all the termites' destructiveness, their social order has a certain fascination. It is rigidly divided into three castes: the workers, the soldiers, and the reproductives, or kings and queens. The workers, as noted, are small, white, and blind; the soldiers are formidable creatures, equipped with scissorlike mandibles that can take a sizable hunk out of their traditional enemy, the black ant. Some types have a nozzle in their foreheads which can shoot a stream of paralyzing liquid against an enemy for a distance of an inch.

The kings and queens have it made. They are fed and groomed by the workers, the colony revolves around them, and the queen alone lays the eggs from which the next generation is hatched. A queen in British Guiana has been known to lay more than three million eggs a year, but the output of the North American type is much more modest. Kings and queens may live for 25 years.

Termites are among the oldest of insect species, well-preserved specimens having been found in fossils 55 million years old. They are kind of a first cousin to the cockroach with all of a cockroach's durability.

There is just one time of year when they make themselves known-annually, in the spring or the fall, the kings and queens beat their way out of the colonies and swarm, as a prelude to mating and founding new colonies. At this time they will have sprouted wings on their long black bodies, but before they go back underground the wings fall off, and they leave them in a carpet behind them, a telltale sign.

It is at this time, when they are seen, that they are easily mistaken for ants. But the ant is trimwaisted with a clearly segmented body, whereas the termite is of a piece and thick in the middle.

In the past, the subterranean termite was likely to lie dormant through the winter. But as we have improved our comfort through the spread of central heating, we have also extended our hospitality unknowingly to our unseen guest. This may be one of the factors accounting for his recent northward push.

There are many stories of the damage wrought by termites. One of the most picturesque is about a French family in an old chateau in the provinces who are said to have crashed, while at dinner, from the third floor into the basement when the beams, weakened by termites, suddenly gave way. Termites usually stop short of total destruction, although they have caused heavy pieces of furniture to fall through the floor, and some houses which have toppled in earthquakes were believed to have been weakened by them first.

The householder's war on them naturally begins with proper building protection. Beyond that, there are effective new chemicals which are now available. Some of them are water-soluble rather than oil-based and therefore less expensive and less injurious to plant life.

An ingenious and dramatic device for locating termites by listening to them at work was invented about three years ago by a Dr. Craig, a California scientist, and approved by the California State Department of Agriculture.

By sticking a needle into the wood, amplifying the sound and picking it up by earphones, the chewing noise of the workers munching away unseen is magnified until it comes through like a mastiff crunching a hambone. Dr. Craig's amplifier proves particularly useful for locating termites at work in sills and rafters.

TO ECOMMENDED methods of attack will vary from N one exterminator to another. The most generally approved all-out method, however, is to poison the soil in a ring around the house, either by trenching or "rodding." If the trouble can be isolated, a smaller, localized job may do the trick. The poisoning takes its effect on the colony underground and also ultimately reaches the workers, eating away at the end of the long tubes, because of their constant contact and habit of grooming each other. Prices for an exterminator job may run anywhere from $100 or $200 to more than $500. A survey taken in a Middle-Western state several years ago showed an average cost of $147 for 10,000 jobs.

Exterminators often recommend poisoning the wood, too, for this reason: while termites are eager guests, they are also hospitable hosts to other members of the insect world. So great is their engineering skill that they create a happy home into which others may wish to move-the destructive powder beetle, for instance, and the black ant, the centipede, and the spider.

By and large, professional exterminators, who are to be found today in almost any community, are best equipped to deal with the problem.

For information one can always write to the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, or to your state agricultural department.

If you have any reason to be suspicious, don't close your mind to termites.

Close your home instead.

GOOD THINGS HAPPEN WHEN YOU HELP

I ASK MYSELF. . .

BY SIR CEDRIC HARDWICKE

Are actors inevitably egotists?

Inevitably. As George Bernard Shaw said of a celebrated stage star, "The trouble with him is that he's in love with his wife, and an actor can afford only to be in love with himself."

What differences do you see between Broadway and Piccadilly?

I regard England as my wife and America as my mistress.

How do you feel about sex? Nostalgically.

Does your title affect your social

A knighthood inflates the cost of living beyond all belief. I suffer from what might be termed sir-tax. I consider myself a square at the Round Should a young man today become an actor?

No. There is too much competition. He should go into politics, where there is none.

Do you agree that too many modern actors are inaudible?

No. Boosted sounds on television and stereophonic movies create lazy listening. Why pin all the blame on actors?

Can you provide an example of unwilling audience-involvement?

Shaw found fault at rehearsal with the last-act explosion of "Heartbreak House" and demanded a bigger bang.

The stage manager assured him that on opening night there would be a bang to remember and accordingly warned the rest of the cast to that effect. When the cue came up, Edith Evans spoke the line, then prudently covered her face with her hands. Nothing happened. The audience was halfway out of the theater when a sudden, thunderous crash brought the ceiling down and sent two playgoers to the hospital. Shaw, for once, seemed satisfied

What do you think of psychoanalysis in the theater today?

It's not new. Hamlet could have been a crazy mixed-up kid, maladjusted, emotionally unstable, and living in a broken home.

Not if I can avoid it, but an old movie of mine before bedtime works better than Seconal.

How are the best acting effects created?

Mostly by accident. Tree, whose memory was so undependable that he had a team of prompters concealed about the stage, once played a blind man. On opening night, his fingers snapped constantly to signal the nearest prompter that help was needed. Yet Tree was unanimously praised for giving an inspired characterization, with its nervous twitch of the fingers and the attitude of strained listening, which the critics found to be typical of those unfortunate beings who cannot see.

Did you ever have a similar experience?

When I cut a finger just before going on at the Birmingham Rep. A hastily applied plaster kept that finger as stiff as a board throughout my performance. The critics, however, took it as an inspired bit of invention which they agreed quite made me an unusual and inspired actor.

What is the most moving moment you remember in the theater?

Seeing Ellen Terry when she was close to eighty years old play the trial scene of "The Merchant Of Venice." As she approached Portia's "quality of mercy" speech, her face went suddenly bleak and lost. She struggled vainly for a moment, then moved down to the footlights, "I am a very silly old lady," she said, "I cannot remember what I have to say." Almost to a man, the audience shouted the lines and cheered as she smiled her thanks and returned to her place. She played the rest of the scene to an enthralled audience.

Your eeriest experience?

It happened in Boston, where I was directing Gertrude Lawrence in "Pygmalion" in a theater that stood next door to a movie house. One night, I opened the wrong stage door by mistake and stood petrified listening to myself deliver a long lecture—as Arnold of Rugby in the R.K.O. version of "Tom Brown's Schooldays."

What was the greatest shock you ever endured?

Seeing myself for the first time in

How many movies have you made?

Too many.

What about Hollywood?

I believe that God felt sorry for actors so He created Hollywood to give them a place in the sun and a swimming pool. The price they had to pay was to surrender their talent.

Has the theater as much scope as the movies?

No multimillion-dollar production can show you more than Shakes-

Are you bored by a long run?

When I started, there was no other way of earning a living in the theater. An amateur acts for his own enjoyment, a professional for the enjoyment of his audience.

What is the theater's greatest contemporary rival?

The drugstore, where you may get any mood or emotion in a pill.

What makes a good actor?

The ability to tell the audience more about the part he plays than another actor can. Similarly, if six artists paint a horse, the best of them is not the one who most realistically portrays the animal, but the man who on his canvas tells you something about horses that no other artist has told you.

Do you get the characters you play from life?

No; from imagination. A performance should be a portrait painting in depth rather than a photograph.

How do you choose a part?

I read the contract first.

How many plays have you appeared in?

Too few.

Shaw must have the last word, since it provides the best answer. He liked to tell about a man whose ability to utter streams of curses used to hold all listeners spellbound. The day came when this monumental blasphemer was compelled to move from his house. On the steep hill outside his former home, the tailgate of the moving van gave way, and everything he owned in the world went crashing down the street in rack and ruin. The neighbors gathered in tense expectation of what would be a star performance. But our hero only shook his head.

"I cannot do justice to this occasion," he sighed forlornly.

which has lately appeared "exposing" the suburban dream. No one will argue with the observationmade at firsthand-that "all is not sweetness and light around the barbecue pit."

But I would remind the critics that suburban life was a going concern for 40,000,000 of us before the great explosion of the '50s, the biggest migration in the shortest time in our history, when ten million people moved outside our cities. As in any migration, there have been in this one, too, the mistakes and maladjustments and heartaches that have provided the public with so much reading of late, all of it provocative, and some of it.

MY ONLY CLAIM, on the basis of our nationwide investigation, is that the conditions of life as we know them in suburbia today are as favorable. as one can find in the whole of America in this universal pursuit of happiness.

I should like to bring up two last points for the sake of their bearing on the suburban environment. In a separate investigation which we made on happiness as it has been experienced by those of 95 years of age and over, we found that exercise, done with regularity and not overdone, is habitual with many who live long, useful lives. There is no need to dwell, surely, on this advantage of the suburban environment, the opportunities for exercise which present themselves, unfailing and abundant, in all seasons, and over all weekends, whether with lawn mower, broom, or putter.

There is also an interesting correlation between unhappiness and radicalism. When we extended our investigation to France it was discovered that most of the persons who were communists fell into the "unhappy" categories set up by the test. Left-wing organizations have always had their greatest strength where the conditions for attaining happiness are least favorable.

In suburbia there are few radicals, few communists, few left-wing organizations-which is another way of saying that the vast majority finds life good in these communities.

Get A Strangle Hold On Crab Grass, Now!

Begin with an underground attack ... follow up with a well-seeded, well-fed lawn.

BY JOHN BRIMER

Unless a man is completely indifferent to the appearance of his lawn (and to black looks from his lawnloving neighbors), he will know after a single season what crab grass is: LAWN-ENEMY No. 1. In practically all sections of the country we find its tentacles inching out, crab fashion, from the parent plant to root at stem joints and make new plants. It thus steals so much food and moisture from desirable grasses that they are crowded out from large patches of the lawn. Come autumn, we find the crab grass dying and turning brown-it is an annual-leaving a balding, scrofulous lawn for the entire winter.

In our parents' time nothing much availed in the fight to rid lawns of this pestiferous weed except hand-pulling, and that was a backbreaking job, to say the least. But science has come to the aid of the gardener, and now there are several effective treatments which either render the seed harmless or kill the plant itself. Because the chemicals used are selective, only crab grass is affected, while good, permanent grasses survive the treatment and go on to flourish without competition.

The most recent development in this field is called the "pre-emergence" killer.

for when it is applied in spring the seeds are killed before germination, and thus no plants get started. Since several companies offer pre-emergence killers, we cannot give instructions but recommend that the manufacturers' directions be followed to the letter as to when and how to apply for best results. They-will vary according to formula and climate. However, NOW is the time to acquire your preemergence killer so that it can be applied as soon as the recommended time arrives.

The good feature about these killers is that most of them may be safely followed after about three weeks with a sowing of blue-grass lawn mixture (or whatever grass you have chosen for your lawn), and these seeds will not be affected but will get a good start before the heat of the summer comes. These desirable grasses will cover the bare spots and also fill in between sparsely growing permanent grasses, so that the lawn thickens up and leaves little area for future infestations of crab grass. The best weapon in the fight is a thick lawn, well-fed and frequently cut.

Should you miss the boat with a pre-emergence killer, you needn't despair. You can still get a strangle hold and prevent this year's crop of seeds from adding to next year's crabgrass woes. There are a good many post-emergence killers on the market which act on crab grass after it has sprouted. All should be applied in early summer, before seed has formed. You have a choice as to how to apply them: As dry granules, distributed with a mechanical spreader of the type used for sowing grass seed and applying lawn foods, or in soluble form-either powder or liquid-put on with a sprayer. Some of these chemicals may cause temporary browning or slight injury to permanent grasses, and of course the crab grass will yellow and turn brown, but the good grasses will recover in a short time. Sometimes a repeat treatment may be called for where heavy seedings of crab grass are encountered or where plants missed in previous treatment have been sprouting. Possibly, a second year's treatment or at least spot application may be indicated, since crab-grass seed may lie dormant in the soil for several years.

However, once you have got rid of one year's crop of crab grass, the surest way to prevent its return is to sow good lawn grass and get it established on bare spots and between the other grasses so that it will be thick and vigorous and leave no room for any future crab-grass crops. After the summer or post-emergence treatment, the most favorable time to plant the bare spots and to thicken the lawn is in late August to mid-September in northerly areas and a little later in milder climates. Keep the lawn well-watered after sowing so that the tiny plants of good grasses will get a healthy start. Don't be alarmed if you recognize any seedlings of crab grass-they are annuals, and they will die when winter comes, while the perennial lawn grasses will continue to grow roots long after the tops have ceased vigorous growth.

will go through the winter in good shape. Well-fed, late-fed lawns will be greener all winter and will get an early start in spring, too. Follow the instructions from the manufacturer of your crab-grass killer, watching carefully for a year or so and giving spot treatments as needed to eliminate crab grass from your garden. You'll have a fight, but you've got what it takes-fierce killers and good seed.

MAIL-ORDER

Most children dream of owning a four-legged, furry animalespecially one that can carry several of his two-legged admirers. Few children would believe that you could write a letter and make this dream come true.

Exactly that happened recently to Peter and Victoria Jones, and Pipp Gillette, when their parents sent away for an $87.50 mail-order burro to model for a book. When Simpson arrived, author Lee Jones of Pelham, New York, and photographer Guy Gillette of nearby Yonkers pooled their children and talents and added the charms of the burro to produce the season's most delightful children's book, called "Simpson."

The children were more-than-willing subjects for the free-wheeling and sometimes surprised camera. But Simpson's own hamming-from child-nuzzling to flower-trampling to clotheschewing-won him a permanent place in the Joneses' hearts.

Originally intended to be returned to the mail-order house, Simpson has happily settled down with them. They call him "the model who stayed for dinner."

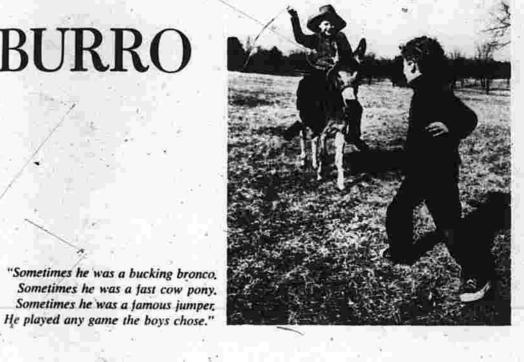

"They all went down to the station to meet him. He had large, gentle eyes and a soft gray coat. Simpson put his warm nose in Peter's hand."

A busy day that includes a matinee, a bowling date, dinner party? This cap-sleeved shirtwaist with unpressed box-pleated skirt in pink silk will easily go to all these piaces, and it looks just as good with mink as it does with bowling shoes.

Bowling

WHETHER in the Mixed League (husbands welcome) or the Major League on Friday night or simply in the Tuesday Afternoon Homemakers' meeting (average 130), ladies on the lanes are looking wonderful these days. In keeping with the snappy new look in bowling establishments (where are the drab "alleys" of yesteryear?), bowling has become a dress-up affair. Top designers are turning out special tunics and leotards and gored skirts; women are adapting some of their own favorite sports clothes to meet their dress-up-to-bowlepeeds; and home sewers are busy running up their own, like the fashions you see on these pages.

This print and stripe suit in cotton sateen with a short, sleeveless overblouse, a box-pleated skirt, and a short jacket scores 300 wherever it is worn.

how to make the most popular drinks

DVERTISEMENT LIFT THIS ADVERTISEMENT OUT OF BOOK BY REMOVING STAPLE.

INGREDIENTS OF A GOOD PARTY

Test your party reflexes: When the guests knock, do your knees follow suit, 'cause of the mixing duties to come? Hold on! Here's hope for the host who'd like a helping hand at the cocktail-fixing hour. Now you can give-and get a kick out of -home parties with this goof-proof recipe guide at your side. Never again need you be shaken by a guest's request. Why, even a reading acquaintance with this drink roster breeds confidence. And well it might, for these pages contain not the oddhall or the offbeat nip...but those most commonly called for. After long (and pleasant) research, we've arrived at the easiest-best way to fix each. Plus ways to vary these basic stand-bys for a change of taste.

and you need only a few basic liquors ...

Most of these drinks can be made from just a few staple liquors ... whiskey, gin, vodka, rum and Southern Comfort. S.C. is so versatile, its unique flavor adds new pleasure to old favorites. Not to mention the many popular drinks that can only be made the Comfort* way!

Southern Comfort

In the gracious days of the Old South, men had time for the finer things. One such manof-leisure in New Orleans was disturbed by the taste of even the finest whiskeys. He took time to "smooth his spirits" with some rare and delicious ingredients . . . and Southern Comfort was born! The formula for this unique 100 proof liquor has remained a family secret to this day. We think you'll like it!

The best drinks are the result of exact measurements of the finest ingredients. Not even a highball should be mixed by the "eyeball" method. Here're the figures you can count on:

pony=1 oz. one jigger=1½ oz. dash=½ teaspoon.

DON'T SKIMP ON THE ICE!

Use cracked ice for shaker drinks, lots of cubes for highballs. Avoid "stale" ice, with that "icebox tasse"

WHEN TO SHAKE— WHEN TO STIR?

If a drink is made only with clear liquors, it requires only stirring with ice for proper mixing (the Stinger is one of few exceptions). Shake drinks with hard-to-blend ingredients like: fruit juice, eggs, cream or sugar... and give it all you've got!

CHILLED GLASSES— BETTER COCKTAILS!

nom the WHAT KIND OF SUGAR

Before mixing cocktails, fill glasses with cracked ice to cool 'em. When mixture's ready, dump ice, dry glasses—and pour.

drinks, even though it

granulated sugar makes a

... first!

SECRET OF THE FROSTED GLASS!

For "frosted" drinks, put wet glasses in the icebox, or bury in shaved ice. For the "sugar-frosted" glass, dampen rim of pre-cooled glass with slice of lemon, then dip rim in powdered sugar for a few seconds. Knock off excess.

To the small businessman with big ideas...

A NEW KIND OF LOAN PROGRAM Especially fitted to your needs!

Now you can borrow up to $50,000, with terms up to 5 years, and with valuable insurance protection at no extra cost!

A New Approach to the Needs of Small Business Small business is big business. More than 90% of all businesses are small businesses, employing half of all workers, accounting for more than half of all retail sales-providing the broad economic foundation of any community. And small business wants to grow-through expansion, purchase of equipment and facilities, and to procure adequate working capital to operate efficiently and effectively.

Small business deserves the same careful guidance, counsel and financial service as does the largest corporation. Small businesses also need a credit source that is fast, flexible, convenient and simple. Such a source is now made available in Hartford National's new program of Term Loans for Small Business.

What is a Term Loan for Small Business? Typically, businessmen faced with a seasonal need or special demand for money borrow on a 30, 60 or 90-day basis. At the end of this period, the loan must be paid in full or renegotiated. With Hartford National's new program for small business, loans are based on terms of up to 60 months, with gradual repayment—rather than lump sum repayment—made from income on an agreed-upon schedule.

Loans can be made for any sound business purpose, in amounts from $1000 to $50,000. Valuable life insurance protection is provided at no extra cost—an innovation in business lending which is exclusive with Hartford National!

Who can get a Term Loan for Small Business? You can-when you want to expand your business, purchase additional space, furnishings, equipment or machinery, and when-in your judgment and the bank's-the earning power of your business will support the loan. The loan may be secured or unsecured, but in most instances we regard future earnings as the primary consideration. When you take a calculated risk to improve your business, we feel we should share this risk to the fullest extent that we possibly can.

How do you apply for a Term Loan fer Small Business? One of our chief objectives in offering this new program is to make available to you the same full resources and experience that we offer big business-but with a minimum of the intricate financial statements and other complicated paperwork so often involved. Any one of our branch officers or commercial loan officers can provide the application-and will welcome the chance to discuss your needs and plans

Hartford National is proud to offer this new and progressive program of small business financing. Whether you're a manu-facturer, retailer, professional man-no matter what your business—we feel that it is our business to help you in every way we can to make it strong and profitable.

you feel this new loan program can be useful to you, liscuss it with any one of our officers. Or, call or write for a copy of our folder: "Term Loans for Small Business."

It has all the facts.

Scandias Win, Play at Home Next Sunday

On the strength of two excellent passes by Howie Gorman and the all around excellent defensive play of Scandia's fine backfield, the Silk City booters defeated the Gremio Lusitano team, 2-1, in their Na-tional Soccer League Division B match in Ludlow, Mass. yesterday Gorman set up both goals score by the Nutmeggers who tallied once in each half. Scandia's back-field, meanwhile, limited the Bay Staters to only four shots at the goal all afternoon which practical-ly gave goalie Larry Youngstrom the day off Scania led 1-0 at halftime as the result of a goal by Carlos Betten-court after 16 minutes of play fol-lowing a nifty pass from Gorman. The visitors held this alim margin through most of the tussle but Ludlow deadlocked the score when Rudy Dorth scored on a rebound shot with 32 minutes gone in the second half. This tie was short-lived, however, when George winning point from in fornt of the goal after receiving a well ex-ecuted pass from Gorman. While Scandias defensive play, led by Jerry Letendre and Bob Kempe, was strong throughout, their offensive play left something to be desired. The Nutmeggers had numerous opportunities but just could not push the ball into the net with any degree of consistency. Next Sunday, Scandia will open its home season against New its home season against New Britain. The Hardware City eleven was one of only two teams able to pin a loss on Scandia last year. Scandia will hold a meeting to-night at 8 at the British American Club. New members, both soccer players and others wishing to help out, are invited to join. Cummings M. GarciaLH Bettencourt .

One-day way to improve your lawn

It doesn't take hard work or expert skill to transform a frustrating lawn into a satisfying one. It doesn't even take a lot of time. In just one afternoon you can keep crabgrass from plaguing you again this year, and plant that better lawn you want. The answer to crabgrass is HALTS. It lies in wait, kills crabgrass as it sprouts. Yet HALTS lets good grass sprout unharmed, so you can sow allperennial Scotts seed the same day. Non-burning TURF BUILDER® completes the job, gives new and established grass the proteinbuilding nutrition it needs to thrive.

able—were he could personally explain how he feels about the upcoming season.

The players were to ride in open cars in the noon-hour parade which was expected to outstrip the one which welcomed the Birds back to Baltimore seven years ago.

The grand marshal of the parade was Gene Autry, the cowboy entertainer who is now chairman of the board of the Los Angeles Angels—the opening day opponent of the Crioles.

Dangerous Puncher

DeJohn, a dangerous puncher, especially in the early rounds, has a 41-7-1 record with 28 knockouts. He flattened Alex Miteff and Charlie Powell in one but has been knocked out by Liston and also lost twice to Nino Valdes and once to Willi Besmanoff.

Pete Rademacher, the ex-Olympic champ whose first pro fight was a title bout with Patterson, boxes Friday at Gastonia, N. C., against Dan Vanderford of Lock-hart, S. C.
