training workers and for technical help to distressed communities in planning redevelopment, and $10 million for assistance payments to workers while they are being retrained.

The plant loan could run 20 years, and the public facility loans 40 years. The former would carry 4 1/2 per cent interest, the latter 5 1/2 per cent.

The federal loans would be limited to 65 per cent of the cost of a local redevelopment project, and 5 per cent must come from private sources.

Before passing the bill, the Senate defeated 66-27 an attempt by Democrats to cut it to a $150 million program.

Then it rejected 57-31 a $124 million substitute offered by Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa.

"The executive thinks he can do anything he wants to do. He can't understand women and judges men. The fact is, he can't do any of them as well as he thinks."

DON'T COMPLETE WITHOUT CARE
By Alfred Sheinwold

It doesn't always pay to complete when the opponents threaten to play the hand at one of a suit. Here is an all your partner to reason with.

It goes against the grain to let the opponents play a hand at one heart. Perhaps South can afford to bid one spade if he has a very conservative partner.

In this case, however, North had the heart of a lion. This didn't help him at spades. The raise to two spades showed more courage than judgment.

South couldn't have respectable strength in high cards since he had failed to open the bidding. North could South have a strong spade suit since he had failed to overcall at his second turn. In short, South was obviously just trying to push the opponents up.

North was promptly punished for his bad raise. East could well afford to double in fact: like the double for example, with a singleton or void in spades he could take two in the queen. What? As it happened, West was delighted with "the queen." What? Now he chooses the best opening lead—a trump.

Declaring in dummy with the ace of spades and managed to take 11 tricks in dummy. He got in with the ace of clubs and led another trump to remove the last trump from dummy.

Now South had to scramble to win in as many as six tricks. The penalty was 500 points, far more than the value of any part.

Hal Boyle Hey Kid, 3 Coffees, One Black--Hurry!

New York (AP)—Remarks on a boy get tired of hearing: "Hey, boy, get a move on!" "When I worked as an office boy, I got $7.20 a week and was glad to get it. Now they want $50 to start—and they think they're doing you a favor."

"It's against my policy to borrow money from office boys. Henry, but could you let me have a fast five? I've got a sure tip on a horse in the third race."

"Henry, proud flesh! How about filling up the paste pots—or do you feel that's beneath a man of your experience?"

"This one'll kill you. I sat behind Henry at the movie last night, and when his girl asked him what he did at the office, he told her he was a junior executive."

"Since you've been with us only 10 days, Henry, I must say I feel your request for an increase in salary is a bit premature. Come and see me at the end of the year."

Refreshments committee for the reception will be chaired by William R. Hood, assisted by Allen F. Behrke, George Dart, Arthur G. Holmes, Russell E. Miller, John S. Alford, Austin A. Chambers, Benjamin F. Crebore, Harvey T. King and James Sheldon, president of the Manchester club.

"Don't kid Henry too much about those three little hairs on his chin. He's trying to grow a beard."

"The first about the pimples, kid. You'll outgrow them. Then you can start worrying about your hair falling out."

"Top, Henry, I began as an office boy April 1, 1957—47 years ago. Next month I retire on pension. $200 a month is the same amount you're getting now. Not bad, eh?"

"Henry's a laugh. He asked my secretary for a date, and she told him, 'Sure, Henry, give me a ring anytime—say in about 10 years.'"

"That'll be my new thing—why does he always walk around with

Rotary Will Fete Foreign Students On April 22, 23

Mayor Harold A. Turkington and Manchester will welcome foreign students from the University of Connecticut when they visit town as guests of the Manchester Rotary Club April 22 and 23.

The expected 65 foreign students will be entertained at a reception and coffee hour at Buckley School, where they will visit with Rotarians, their wives and foreign born citizens of the town before being taken to homes of Rotarians for the weekend.

UConn students have been invited to Manchester in connection with Rotary's International "World Understanding Week" celebration. This involves more than a half million Rotarians throughout the world.

Harold S. Crozier, chairman of the event, has announced the appointments to two committees that will assist him with plans for a successful UConn weekend. These include Jay B. Rand, who will schedule housing for the students in Rotarian homes; and Edward M. Royce of the Silver Lane Bus Co., transportation.

Refreshments committee for the reception will be chaired by William R. Hood, assisted by Allen F. Behrke, George Dart, Arthur G. Holmes, Russell E. Miller, John S. Alford, Austin A. Chambers, Benjamin F. Crebore, Harvey T. King and James Sheldon, president of the Manchester club.

Bolton Armor-coating Planned for Town Roads

The selection made plans at their meeting last night to armor coat town road surfaces.

The plans call for paving approximately three miles a year until the 30 miles of roads have been surfaced. Stockpiling of the necessary tar rock and the 1,500 yards of washed sand for the work will begin soon.

The report of dog warden Frank Paglioli showed that 17 investigations were made during February.

In other business at the meeting, the selection reported that a new burner had to be installed in the furnace at the Community Hall. It is estimated the new unit and work involved for installation will cost approximately $500.

Chimney Fire Call
The Fire Department answered a call yesterday at 2:25 p.m. to extinguish a chimney fire at the home of W. L. Williams on Rt. 44A. There was no damage reported.

Regional 8 Only Fifty Attend Talk On Spending

Fewer than 50 district residents, with Hebron predominating, attended the open hearing Monday of the 1961-62 budget proposed by the Regional District Board of Education for 1961-62. Among the reasons for the poor turnout were the snowstorm, which caused many of those attending to leave early, and the conflict with the PTA meeting and Science Fair held last night at RIHAM School.

Different reactions to the budget were voiced by Philip Wadhams, chairman of the Marlborough Board of Finance, and Henry Taylor, chairman of the Hebron Board of Finance. Wadhams endorsed the entire budget and said the school board administration should be congratulated for "putting together a budget that is understandable. He expressed his hope that the budget would be accepted as presented at the actual budget meeting April 6.

Taylor, however, said his board had written to the Regional Board suggesting revisions in three areas. He expressed his hope that the budget would be accepted as presented at the actual budget meeting April 6.

The Hebron board feels that a social worker is not needed until the enrollment is greater and a definite need is established. The Regional Board's budget includes $3,243.50 for services of a social worker two days per week. However, half of this amount would be reimbursed by the state.

Marlborough presently employs a part-time social worker and the Andover school board has voted to include a similar item in its budget. A social worker, stating that the problems that would be involved were not the province of the school, if help were necessary, they felt it could be provided by the guidance director, administrator or outside agencies.

Another area drew the Hebron finance board's criticism, the item of $1,000 for telephones. The board felt that this might be less next year due to the change in toll districts which would almost completely eliminate toll charges without a decline. In reply, the region-

Panel of Discs Rising Costs of Attending College

A special college-finance meeting to discuss "the coming crisis in college costs" will be sponsored by the Faculty of Buckley School Monday at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Guest participants will include Mr. William Knight, vice president of the Connecticut Bank and Trust Co.; Clifford Hansen of Shearson, Hammit Co.; William Zimmerman, agent of LaBonne-Silverstein Associates; James Murray, branch manager of the Savings Bank of Manchester; and Harry Malden of the Manchester High School Guidance Department.

Thomas Smith, registrar and assistant to the dean at Trinity College, will be moderator. The group will report on current and projected college costs, opportunities for scholarship and student-aidship, and possible solutions to the finance problem.

A display of pamphlets and periodicals will be shown.

Several residents proposed the use of hardship grant funds to offset increases, such as the $22,484.66 increase in the proposed budget over the current one.

The possibility of increased income from tuition students seems unlikely as district superintendent Charles Abell said recently that he has not been queried about accepting tuition students from Bolton.

In addition to its regular meeting Monday night at RIHAM, the Regional Board has been invited to attend a 4-board meeting Tuesday at the Andover Elementary School. The Andover Board of Education will be the host at the third in a series of meetings for discussion of mutual school board problems.

Rockville Tax Collector Solves Police Payment Poser

Money to pay a special constable, the judging and prizes to be awarded during the April collection period will come from the tax collector's budget.

Mrs. Florence D. Lovett, collector, notified First Selectman George E. Riley and Finance Board Chairman William F. Ludwick last night that she will pay the constable when the bill is submitted.

She said she modified the two men of her decision in order that there would be no more confusion over where the money will come from. She said she did not want any controversy over the request of the budget.

Mrs. Lovett submitted a request for protection to the Board of Selectmen Tuesday night, and the selection were immediately because of the confusion over which budget should be used.

Riley said the police budget would be the logical source for police services in rural Vernon is now being paid by the Vermont State.

The only police services budgeted by the town is for school police, and the selection being away from using money from that source.

It is the town's responsibility, Riley said yesterday, and will be paid for out of the town budget, possibly from one of the contingency accounts. The problem was solved last night by Mrs. Lovett's decision to pay it from her own account.

A constable, or policeman, is to be stationed at the collector's office at certain times and will accompany the collector to the bank.

Sinking Shipyard Gets Watery Lift

Long Beach, Cal.—The case of the disappearing naval base has apparently been solved. The United States shipyard at Long Beach was sinking into the sea, and the government said it was because oil drillers were sucking out the land's subsurface support.

New about 400,000 barrels of treated salt-water are being injected into the subsurface daily, and the government hopes the sinking problem is over.

After the great reform session of 1958, the railroad industry entered upon an era of opportunity. After the great railroad strike of 1958, which preceded and followed the reform, there was a feeling that the railroad industry was about to enter a new era of opportunity. It was inevitable that the 1961 session of the General Assembly should be something of a full let-down, devoid of legitimate legislative action, and confined to spending most of its time in a desultory wrangle over the somewhat boring business of state finances.

Such was the prospect. But politics is a volatile and eruptive human energy, which abhors a vacuum. Politics is tide and movement, which never stands still, and which, if it isn't assaulting the higher beaches of positive accomplishment, has an inevitable tendency to race back down them leaving a trail of wreckage and debris to public view.

Or to put it the way some of Connecticut's Puritan ancestors might have put it, the Devil sends a vacuum, which never stands still, and which, if it isn't assaulting the higher beaches of positive accomplishment, has an inevitable tendency to race back down them leaving a trail of wreckage and debris to public view.

Workshop Teaches Aged Self-Supporting Skills

A 78-year-old woman learned to work with power tools as well as in a guided workshop that she attended 7000 during the past year in sales of hand-turned articles.

An 83-year-old retired metal worker became so skilled at basketry, he developed a thriving business in chair caning.

These are among success stories that are being shared at the White House Workshop for Older Men and Women at Syracuse, N. Y. The workshop is an example of what 125 New York state communities are doing to tailor adult education to meet people's special needs.

At the recent White House Conference on Aging in Washington, D. C., Mrs. Henrietta Rabe, supervisor of education for aging in the state's Department of Education, described the 75-year-old's accomplishments.

"Like many people reaching widowhood, Mrs. Rabe said, when she was growing up it was considered unduly-ill for a woman to work."

"Today Mrs. Richardson is one of the finest wood-turning craftsmen in Syracuse. She is proud of prizes she won and money she earned in with a married daughter, Mrs. Rabe said. "Feeling frustrated, she turned to the Silver Whistle."

On Galvany Hill
 So many promises we make to God, we excuse ourselves by saying, "We tried our best." But our own wickedness is portrayed as our beloved Saviour raises his head to the Heavenly Father pleading, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

Each year I promised Jesus—so hard I tried.
 Yet so many times by me was He deceived.
 Like Peter, my passion heart sobbed, my soul cried out, "As always—He forgave me, stood by my side."

One again I see Him scourged and spit upon.
 Imbedded in His forehead a crucial crown.
 Of my wickedness—the horror of my sins.
 Through His persecutions—His death begins.

On Galvany Hill He suffers—"O God, I cry."
 "Why must He walk such a death—why O why?"
 Morified I bow my head in shame, through His blood I take part in any activity. Then he saw a demonstration of basketry.

After the great reform session of 1958, the railroad industry entered upon an era of opportunity. After the great railroad strike of 1958, which preceded and followed the reform, there was a feeling that the railroad industry was about to enter a new era of opportunity. It was inevitable that the 1961 session of the General Assembly should be something of a full let-down, devoid of legitimate legislative action, and confined to spending most of its time in a desultory wrangle over the somewhat boring business of state finances.

Such was the prospect. But politics is a volatile and eruptive human energy, which abhors a vacuum. Politics is tide and movement, which never stands still, and which, if it isn't assaulting the higher beaches of positive accomplishment, has an inevitable tendency to race back down them leaving a trail of wreckage and debris to public view.

Or to put it the way some of Connecticut's Puritan ancestors might have put it, the Devil sends a vacuum, which never stands still, and which, if it isn't assaulting the higher beaches of positive accomplishment, has an inevitable tendency to race back down them leaving a trail of wreckage and debris to public view.

Workshop Teaches Aged Self-Supporting Skills

A 78-year-old woman learned to work with power tools as well as in a guided workshop that she attended 7000 during the past year in sales of hand-turned articles.

An 83-year-old retired metal worker became so skilled at basketry, he developed a thriving business in chair caning.

These are among success stories that are being shared at the White House Workshop for Older Men and Women at Syracuse, N. Y. The workshop is an example of what 125 New York state communities are doing to tailor adult education to meet people's special needs.

At the recent White House Conference on Aging in Washington, D. C., Mrs. Henrietta Rabe, supervisor of education for aging in the state's Department of Education, described the 75-year-old's accomplishments.

"Like many people reaching widowhood, Mrs. Rabe said, when she was growing up it was considered unduly-ill for a woman to work."

"Today Mrs. Richardson is one of the finest wood-turning craftsmen in Syracuse. She is proud of prizes she won and money she earned in with a married daughter, Mrs. Rabe said. "Feeling frustrated, she turned to the Silver Whistle."

 So many promises we make to God, we excuse ourselves by saying, "We tried our best." But our own wickedness is portrayed as our beloved Saviour raises his head to the Heavenly Father pleading, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

Each year I promised Jesus—so hard I tried.
 Yet so many times by me was He deceived.
 Like Peter, my passion heart sobbed, my soul cried out, "As always—He forgave me, stood by my side."

One again I see Him scourged and spit upon.
 Imbedded in His forehead a crucial crown.
 Of my wickedness—the horror of my sins.
 Through His persecutions—His death begins.

On Galvany Hill He suffers—"O God, I cry."
 "Why must He walk such a death—why O why?"
 Morified I bow my head in shame, through His blood I take part in any activity. Then he saw a demonstration of basketry.

Mrs. Charles F. 380 Woodbridge St., loves to bake goodies for a meeting of fellow municipal employees Monday.

Mrs. Klotzer works part-time for the park department at the Municipal Building. Her son, Dennis, shows her interest in cooking. He was graduated from Manchester High School in 1959 and from the Culinary Institute in New Haven. He is now employed by Nationwide Food Service near Syracuse, N. Y. Her husband is employed by Southern New England Telephone Co. in Hartford.

Mrs. Klotzer adds that one-quarter cup of almonds and one-tenth cup of butter should be added to the mixture. Blend thoroughly after each addition. With electric mixer, use low speed. Fold in one-half cup almonds, chopped, and 1 cup macaracho cherries, finely cut.

There's a new pen that writes with a three-dimensional effect on cloth. You can use it to draw glittering embroidered decorations on apparel or house linens, in gold, silver or colors. It washes, too.

Andover Scouts Start Cookie Sale

The annual cookie sale will begin Friday for Andover Girl Scouts, Brownies, and junior members. Proceeds from the door to door canvass will benefit Camp Laurel in Lebanon, according to Mrs. Dorothy Raymond.

Mrs. Klotzer will be awarded a 15-year service pin at the event and Mrs. Robert McBride will receive a 1-year pin. Mrs. Klotzer will be awarded a 15-year service pin at the event and Mrs. Robert McBride will receive a 1-year pin.

Martin Says He'll Cut High Education Budget

General Manager Richard Martin will recommend "a substantial cut" in the more than $4.4 million school budget request, he told members of the board of education and the directors of the board of directors last night.

Martin said he based his decision on the request for additional teachers when there will be no substantial increase in public enrollment next year. The manager said the request is $1 million more than the amount spent in the last complete school year.

Earlier, School Superintendent William H. Curtis told the board that the school system would be in a tight financial position. In setting its salary scale, the board of education anticipated a substantial amount of state aid which would be generally available, but not approved until the end of the legislative session.

Martin did not say how much of a cut he will recommend, but another meeting of the board of education is expected to be held at 8 p.m. Martin will make his recommendations for cuts to the board of directors at that time.

There will be no executive committee meeting of the board of directors tonight. The VFW Post and Auxiliary will hold a St. Patrick's Day party at Rocky Hill Hospital tomorrow.

More than 75 members and guests attended a meeting of the Junior Century Club of Manchester last night at the KofC Home. The program was a discussion of "Emotions of the Child" by Dr. Julius W. Stratford.

Police said entry was made by placing a step ladder against the rear of the house, mounting it, removing the entire frame of a storm window, and climbing into the pantry. The money had been inside Mrs. Gada's purse.

Ballet Music On Program By Symphony

A large audience was on hand to hear Felix Mahler and the Hartford Symphony last night in the regular series of subscription concerts. It was a fine program, played in a manner that would credit to any orchestra anywhere.

Three suites of ballet music assembled and orchestrated by Felix Mahler, comprised the first half of the program. They represented ballet diversissements from the operas of Ramon, Gretry, and Gluck, in that order.

Mr. Mahler's reading of the Gluck suite was more sympathetic than his handling of either the Ramon or the Gretry music. There was a certain indefinable lack of deftness and grace in these qualities which are not so vitally necessary to the music of Gluck, who was a more solid composer than the other two.

Both the Seventh Symphony concluded the program. It was given an excellent reading, after Mrs. Ann Nashif, 241 Vernon St., Charles Rockwell, 111 Walker St., Mrs. Clara Taber, 1077 Main St., Carl Hiding, 801 Main St., William Lopez, Vernon Rd., Bolton; William Smedberg, East Hartford; Mrs. Diane Andette, 42 Lancaster Rd., Ronald Darby, 24 Jort St., Frank Gilmore, 71 Ridge St., Mrs. Helen Hammar, 10 W. Jaszewski, 31 Chestnut St., Rockville; Mrs. Sandra Blumhagen and daughter, North Willington; Mrs. Patricia Alper and son, Lynnwood Dr., Bolton; Mrs. Mary Roy and son, 20 Green Hill St.; Mrs. Beverly Garner and daughter, 43 Cambridge St.; Mrs. Dolores Bern and daughter, 99 Treble Dr., Mrs. Vern Hubbard and daughter, Mrs. Vern Hubbard, 100 Treble Dr., Mrs. Elizabeth Bohme, Warren Ave., Vernon; Rosemary McGowan, West Willington; Roland Down, East Hartford; Christina Cavette, 111 Walker St.; Katherine Zwick, 26 Lucien St.

Senator Sees Defeat Of School Loan Idea

Washington, March 16 (AP)—Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said today he doubts Congress will enact a program of federal loans for private and church-related schools.

Hart, a Roman Catholic, told a news conference he believes such a program would be unconstitutional and favors adding it to President Kennedy's $1.5 billion measure for public schools, if that would not lead to defeat of the entire program.

But Hart questioned that the Senate would approve loans for private and parochial schools. "I doubt if there are votes to do it, either by an amendment or a separate bill," he said.

The big debate over the issue continued in congressional hearings.

All those of a House Education subcommittee, Rep. Frank Thompson, D-N.J., spoke in opposition to the bill, which would provide for parochial school expenses as getting study in place of loans.

Thompson, sponsor of the administration's bill, said he would not support the measure over the hearings.

He said he and others in the legislative and executive branches are considering what he called three alternative proposals to meet the argument that Catholic schools should have some form of federal aid.

He said one way would be to include it in the bill now under consideration, another to put it in a separate bill, and a third approach would be to offer tax deductions to parents for parochial school expenses.

The subcommittee heard arguments on both sides of the loan question.

Paul Blanshard, attorney for Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State, contended federal lending to church-controlled schools would be both unconstitutional and "bad as social policy."

"It would lead to religious bickering and in the end it might even curtail the independence of religion in this country," he predicted.

Speaking in favor of aid to parochial schools were a Roman Catholic priest and layman, and two who testified earlier in the week before the Senate.

Mgr. Frederic C. Hochwald, director of education for the National Catholic Welfare Conference, repeated his view that Catholic schools are a vital part of the nation's educational system and, as such, must not be left out of any general aid to education program.

"We are one people and it is in our national interest that both systems make their full contribution to the service of our children," said Mgr. Hochwald. "Any other attitude would be extremely shortsighted and self-defeating."

The clergyman's views were supported by John Cornelius Hays, president of the National Council of Catholic Men and a law professor at Loyola University in Chicago.

Hays disputes the contention that the loans would be unconstitutional, and suggested to a Senate group yesterday that the Supreme Court test could be speeded by putting in the bill a provision permitting any taxpayer to bring a suit.

70-0 Vote, Nine Abstain South Africa Gets Assembly Censure

Urged the South African government to place Southwestern Africa under U.N. trusteeship and stop applying its racial segregation policies in the territory.

South Africa has continued to rule Southwestern Africa under an old League of Nations mandate, defying all U.N. attempts to put the territory under trusteeship and give the way for eventual self-government.

Libertarian delegate George Padmore called British Prime Minister Macmillan last night, asking him to urge other Commonwealth prime ministers meeting in London to try to prevail on South Africa to heed the U.N. call in view of the Union government's stance, which he said is "openly and avowedly" against the U.N. resolutions.

The United States split again with the western colonial powers in the Security Council last night.

Prof. Paul J. Willwertz will direct the A. Capella Choir of Eastern Nazarene College in a concert of sacred music tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at the Church of the Nativity.

The director will also perform as organist and accompanist at the church's services.

The Rev. Stephen W. Nease, director of development at the college, and Prof. J. R. Naylor, director of admissions, will represent the school in a talk during the intermission.

followed immediately by consideration of the other measure.

Some Catholic church leaders have expressed the fear that a separate parochial school loan bill would have little chance of passage if Congress acts first on public educational assistance.

Manfred said he could make no guarantee on that score. He noted he would not speak for the House, but he said he believes separate bills might have a better chance of passage than a single measure combining the two proposals.

On The Fence?

The question of spending vs. saving has many a man "on the fence!" Some decide to save what's left after they do their spending. Others decide to spend what's left after they do their saving. We've noticed that those who do their saving FIRST are the ones who really forge ahead financially. If you are "on the fence" why not hop off in the direction of every payday saving here?

Dog Bills Spark Clash at Hearing

Hartford, March 16 (AP)—Dog lovers have clashed sharply with medical researchers over bills proposing the use of impounded dogs for laboratory experiments.

More than 400 persons—and a black and white mongrel—crowded the Hall of the House of Representatives for a hearing on the bills.

77 Less Claims Filed by Jobless

Managers' employment claims for the week ended March 11 totaled 1,918 or 77 less than the previous week's count of 1,922.

The figures show a reverse trend of the preceding week from a 1.5 per cent rise to a 3.9 per cent drop in total claims.

Connecticut's unemployment picture for the same period displayed a slight increase of 215 claimants from 17,905, it was reported today by State Labor Commissioner Renato E. Ricci.

Sweden Relaxes Tobacco Curbs

Stockholm — Sweden's tobacco monopoly was established in 1915 to defray the cost of Sweden's first old-age-pension scheme.

In 1958, a publicly-owned stock company, the first of its type in Sweden, was given control of imports, exports, manufacture, and distribution of tobacco and tobacco products.

A similar unit at the other end unscrambles the conversion.

Hundreds Yearly Climb Mt. Fuji

Tokyo — Mount Fuji has probably been climbed by more people than any other mountain of comparable size. Each year during July and August hundreds climb to its 12,400-foot summit.

There are many fanciful explanations of the volcano's name; one is that it comes from the Ainu word "Fuji" which now means "mountain." Quiet now for 300 years, the volcano has erupted at least 15 times. The worst eruptions were in 900, 966 and 1770. So, the present Tokyo 175 miles from the volcano, was covered with 6 inches of ash in the 1797 eruption.

Appeal to Dada

A problem exists in my town of Columbia that I believe is the concern of every resident in the community, and I ask that you print this letter so that they will know the facts clearly.

Although my home address is Columbia, Conn., my family and I have to receive our mail through the Chestnut Hill post office. This is not only confusing to our friends and those who have to contact us by mail, but over the years, it has proved embarrassing and costly. We have tried to have this corrected but to no avail. Our mail has been addressed to us at Columbia, the post office personnel have returned it to the sender.

This occurred many times until February 1960, when Mr. Diworth was appointed acting postmaster. Our service improved immediately. The mail came through in regular fashion, and the address and Mr. Diworth has instituted procedures to have people in the Chestnut Hill area included under the Columbia post office.

Now this is the problem. Mr. Diworth was appointed by former President Eisenhower. His appointment received the approval of Senator Prescott Bush and needed only the approval of Senator Dodd in order to have it forwarded to Congress for final and complete approval.

Senator Dodd was prevailed upon by the Democratic Town Committee of Columbia to withhold his approval pending the outcome of the presidential election. With a Democratic victory, this would make the postmaster, in our little town of Columbia, a political plum or a political football. Mr. Diworth, with only partial approval of the title of acting postmaster, could be replaced with a Democratic appointee.

I know that politics of this type are played on the state and national level, but when it reaches into a small peaceful community like Columbia to disrupt the lives of not only the appointee and his family, but upsets the feeling of good postal service that many residents now have, I believe this is going beyond the point of honor and respect that Americans call fair play.

John Diworth as an American citizen, with a wife and family to support, deserve better than this. He is a veteran, having served in Guam, Okinawa, the Mariana, with K. Ration. For the sickening destruction of the Battle of the Philippines and the distinction of being a patriot citizen who left his comfortable home and loved ones, for a trench in France, mud, lice, disease for poison gas and shell-shock. For the Hill of Dunkirk, Anzio and the Battle of Iwo Jima. He has a family to support, and this should entitle him to preference and support of his Congressmen. The Republican and Democrat. His years of experience in postal work, fit him for this position, far better than a person who might be appointed without any experience. His record, in little more than a year on the job here, is phenomenal.

In his first year, postal receipts increased by $2,400.00. Service has improved tremendously. Both at the post office and in all sections of the town. Residents everywhere speak highly of his ability, courtesy and desire to serve all.

I have been a registered Democrat for twenty-eight years and have voted many many times at a town Democratic club. John Diworth receives my vote, now and always. Also, I am aware that hundreds of other Columbians favor him for their postmaster and have expressed their desire by signing, and sending to Senator Dodd a petition containing about four hundred and fifty signatures requesting his approval of John Diworth. In addition, hundreds of others have written

Legislators Tell Of Education Aid

More than 150 persons attended a panel discussion on "Federal and State Aid to Education" at a meeting of the Bowers PTA last night at the school.

Rep. A. Lawrence Riker discussed some of the bills on education which have been introduced in the General Assembly. Rep. John Shea, Jr. explained that the major problem in the state aid to education program is determining the fairest formula on which to base allocations to each town and city.

Town Director Theodore Powell, of the state department of education, discussed the Kennedy administration's proposed federal aid to education legislation. Robert Barnes was chairman and moderator.

A social hour in the cafeteria was supervised by Mrs. H. D. Dwyer and Mrs. William Fitzgerald, assisted by kindergarten mothers.

New Points Toted

Peoria, Ill. — United States Department of Agriculture researchers here are testing quick-drying outdoor paints made of linseed oil and because the bill is no far reaching, I feel that it would do some research into the background of the subject. I found that in 1887, when a nominal sum, not to exceed $2500 was allowed for personal property such as furniture, live stock, but not to include jewelry. This amount stood until the year of 1902 when it was increased to $1000. It was surprising to me however, that the veterans of the First World War were not included under this law until April 30, 1933.

A "veteran" is defined according to Connecticut Law, as any person who has served in the active service of the armed forces during war and has been honorably discharged or released under honorable conditions. The veteran of today, affected by this bill was a patriotic citizen who left his comfortable home and loved ones, for a trench in France, mud, lice, disease for poison gas and shell-shock. For the Hill of Dunkirk, Anzio and the Battle of Iwo Jima. He has a family to support, and this should entitle him to preference and support of his Congressmen. The Republican and Democrat. Confusion at the scene resulted in earlier incorrect figures that 23 men were missing and presumed dead. Police could not confirm a report that two of the miners who escaped to the surface later died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

The Shin-Otsuji Mine was described by a government official as one of Japan's safest. It was commended last year for starting in earlier incorrect figures that 23 men were missing and presumed dead. Police could not confirm a report that two of the miners who escaped to the surface later died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

But a union official at the scene said the compressor that started the blast had been overhauling for several days. "We were afraid that this kind of incident would happen," he said. "These troops are among the finest in the world, but I stress again that their mission is one of peace."

U.S. Air Force Capt. Charles Ruesner, Canton, Ohio, who piloted the first Globemaster, told newsmen: "These troops are the finest disciplined soldiers I have carried to the Congo. They are a magnificently disciplined bunch of men."

On the political front, Premier Joseph Lico of the Leopoldville government disclosed negotiations are under way to bring rebel-held Oriental Province into the pro-western Congolese confederation.

Lico said Gen. Victor Lundula, commander of the rebel army, had sent him a telegram expressing a desire to reach an amicable settlement.

The Leopoldville premier said he hoped Antoine Gizenga, political leader of the Lumumbist regime in Oriental, would send delegates to a conference in Elisabethville to draw up the new Congo constitution establishing the confederacy of semi-independent states. Gizenga boycotted the conference last week in Madagascar at which other Congo political leaders agreed on the confederation.

With sharp precision, the quickly unloading their gear from the Globemasters and within an hour roared off in a convoy of white U.S. trucks to a barracks just outside the capital.

Their commander, Maj. Gobind Sharma, said his men were ready for action on a moment's notice.

Brig. K. A. S. Raja, who will command the Indian brigade, flew to Leopoldville in advance and was on hand to greet his crack troops at the airport.

"We have come on a peace mission," he said. "We are not here to fight."

South Church Will Present Haydn Work

The Chancel Choir of South Methodist Church will present Franz Joseph Haydn's "The Seven Words of Christ" Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the church, back Bayou Congregational Church tomorrow at 8:30 p.m.

Soloists will be Mrs. Fred Gaal, soprano; Mrs. Thomas Burdick, alto; John Beggs, tenor; and Robert Gordon Jr., baritone. Beggs, a member of the Chancel Choir for 10 years, will make his first appearance as tenor soloist.

Mrs. Gaal, who majored in music at the University of Connecticut, has been soprano soloist at South Methodist Church for seven years. Mrs. Burdick, who studied voice at Flora McDonald College, Richmond, Va., and University of Idaho, has been soloist at South Church for two years.

Beggs is president of the Gilbert and Sullivan Operetta Workshop of Manchester, and a member of the Shoshonim Four Quartet. Gordon is also a member of the Gilbert and Sullivan Operetta Workshop. He has also been soloist with the Operetta Workshop and with the Mer-Merangers. He has been soloist at the church here for four years.

Haydn has been called "the father of orchestral music." The oratorio was written at the request of the Bishop of Cadix. It was customary every year during Lent to perform an oratorio in the Cathedral at Cadix.

In earlier times, walls, windows and columns of the church were draped with black cloth, and only one large lamp lit in the church. The orchestra must filled the periods of meditation and prayer between the Bishop's pronouncement and reflections on each of the seven words of Christ.
