Emphasis On Health

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A survival center for man, a new look at blood fat, and help for drug addicts are subjects with a focus on health.

Survival Center

The California Institute is a preventive center that has survived the test of time largely because it lives in the icy depths of the ocean, safe from germs that plague mankind.

But the Institute has no detectable defense against disease, and appears to be entirely devoid of those tissues which make antibodies, the disease-fighting mechanisms of the blood.

Man, on the other hand, has apparently won his battle for survival in the pre-eminence which largely because of his healthful defense against disease, reports Dr. Robert A. Good, University of Minnesota pediatrician.

In fact, the center of his health in defense may be a tiny gland called the thymus, located behind the top of the breastbone. Dr. Good says. Should this theory be proved, such tissues may one day be stored or banked and transplanted to help humans fight off disease, the doctor adds.

Rx Aspirin

Doses of up to 16 aspirin tablets a day have removed the pain and symptoms of a crippling bone ailment called Paget's disease, reports Dr. Philip H. Hensman of Boston Hall College of Medicine.

The disease, which generally strikes only people over 40, may in extreme cases cause thickening of the skull, sometimes death.

twisting and bowing of bones, and sometimes kidney stones or bone cancer.

Somewhat use of aspirin helped maintain a normal calcium balance in affected patients, Dr. Kolo said.

Two Groups of Fat

Rochester Institute's scientists have discovered two groups of fat in the bloodstream, rather than one as previously believed.

The finding could have a bearing on arteriosclerosis, the thickening or hardening of the arteries which leads to heart attacks and strokes. It may help doctors to learn how the fatty lining that narrow blood vessels is developed.

Fat apparently enters the bloodstream in two stages, the scientists found. First are the fat particles that form in the walls of arteries. That fat comes from the food we eat.

Within hours a second type of particle appears, before the first has completely disappeared. The second type is body fat and apparently originates from some other organ, perhaps in the liver.

Dr. Kolo writes in the New York State Journal of Medicine.

For those persons: kicking the habit or addiction to narcotics and habituates, the process of withdrawal is a nightmare of pain, tension and nausea.

But a strong tranquilizer drug has eased these symptoms, and helped pave the way to recovery, reports Dr. Andre Kolo of South Oakes Psychiatric Hospital, Aulickville, N.Y.

The treatment produced a state of quiescence and calmness from which the patient could be readily aroused to care for his personal needs or to participate in psychotherapeutic procedures.

Dr. Kolo writes in the New York State Journal of Medicine.

"No patient exhibiting signs of tension, restlessness or craving for the drug to which addiction had been established. Withdrawal was effected easily and without major complications in all cases," he adds.

MAHRC Notes 10th Birthday

The Manchester Association for the Help of Retarded Children (MAHRC) will celebrate its 10th anniversary and elect officers at a dinner meeting Thursday, May 10, at 6:30 p.m. in Fellowship Hall at Second Congregational Church.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. John Kennedy, 21 Wilbur St., arrangement chairman. An effort has been made to locate and invite early members of the association as well as current members to the dinner celebration, she reported. Former members who have not been reached were asked to call Mrs. Kennedy.

When first organized in the spring of 1952, the association met at the Trinity Covenant Church on Spruce St. As the membership grew and the association needed a larger space, the center has been used for about troop meetings for mentally retarded girls, evening recreation for young adult retarded children, MAHRC's holiday parties, and the latter through the interest of private groups. MAHRC for many years contributed in part to sending children to camp at Starkness Memorial Park through donations from the Citizens Club of Manchester.

MAHRC has helped provide many opportunities for mentally retarded youngsters. There are more than 60 educable and trainable children in classes at Keeney Public and Bennett public schools. A nursery school operates from 9 a.m. to noon, and the young adult group from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. both five days a week, at Bunch St. Swimming and bowling lessons are available for these children. The former under auspices of the Town Recreation Department, and the latter through the interest of private groups.

12th Circuit Court Cases
ROCKVILLE SESSION
Cases of the threatening letters, capturing a German-born female actress and State Police headquarter inspectors, was ordered closed yesterday in the 12th circuit court.

Misset and by Atty. Donald B. Caldwell.
Edward C. Brown, 47, of Rockville, was sentenced to 60 days suspended for vagrancy and was fined $10 for trespassing. Brown was arrested on Brooklyn St. April 19 where he was found sleeping in a truck parked in a yard.

John F. Byers, 20, of 133 Kelly Rd., Wapping, charged with speeding April 4.
A fine of $40 was imposed against Albert J. Michaels, 27, of 18 School St., East Hartford, on a subsequent offense of driving without a license.

Rotary Will Fete Ladies Tuesday
The Manchester Rotary Club will hold its annual spring Ladies Night Tuesday, May 6, at the Manchester Country Club. After a meal dinner the members and their wives will be entertained by the Trinity Pipes of Trinity College, a vocal group which features folk songs and novelty numbers; and Lee and Beverly Burton of the Burton Dance Studio, who will interpret dances of the past years.

Raymond Ballinger of Hartford, charged with falling out of season, was continued to May 22 in custody of the family relations office.
Barry Shaw, 19, of Peterson Rd., Vernon, charged with slugging a stop sign, heard his case continued to next week on a court order that his mother appear as guardian.

However, Judge Harold M. Misset said, "the whole matter does better me." He ordered a presentence investigation to help in the final disposition.
"He told Mrs. Gerlach he had no other choice but to 'find you guilty' under the preponderance of evidence."

Consideration Given
Robert Joseph, 38, of 115 Prospect St., Rockville, on April 24 forged a friend's signature to a check for $120. Sentencing to the money, then turned himself in to the police.

Because of his voluntary surrender, Judge Misset has ordered a special presentence investigation for Joseph and has lowered his bond to $100, $50 in cash.
The judge said Joseph deserved consideration because of his action.

At this point, Republican Director Eric Anderson, without elaborating, said the new budget compared with the current budget presents a reduction of about 1 1/2% in general fund expenditures, but an increase of about 7% in education expenditures.
Mayer Turkington added, "I don't see how anyone could say we are being unfair to education in this budget."

"I wish we could give them $200,000," the mayor said, "but that's not the way to do it."
"What about $50,000?" Collins asked in a hopeful tone.
Collins presented the Democratic argument in favor of bonding as a means of increasing the capital improvements program, and requesting the $145,000 cut in Mayor Mayer Turkington's budget.

Total Budget Cuts Reflect Reductions in Several Major Areas

The board of directors made sizeable cuts in several major budget items. The biggest losses in the total $8,102,751 general fund budget were the $1,100,000 cut in the recreation program, personal retirement and insurance costs, the board of education, highways and sidewalks.

1. Education: $4,814,024 requested, $4,536,563 recommended by the general manager; $4,488,505 granted by the board of directors for a decrease of $125,519 from the amount requested by the board of education.

2. Miscellaneous: $1,714,000 requested, $1,731,225 recommended, $1,633,335 granted. Among miscellaneous items were insurance, $127,505 to $108,000, deleting the public and institutional property form of fire coverage for town buildings; personal retirement and insurance costs, $160,100 to $109,150, deleting among other things a $55,000 recommendation for a new planning assistant; hospitalization insurance for town employees; contribution to the capital improvement reserve fund, $100,000 to $150,010, left in the improvement program; and an aerial survey, $20,000 to $20,000.

3. Engineering: $34,064 requested, $33,796 recommended, $41,745 granted.

6. Highways: $263,113 requested, $262,147 granted, $215,201 granted. Eliminated from the budget was $22,000 for a vacuum truck and $8,000 for a radio apparatus.

8. Libraries: $136,310 requested, $136,310 recommended, $145,611 granted.

9. Recreation: $1,215,986 requested, $1,117,183 recommended, $1,148,863 granted. Apparently cut from this budget is a $2,300 appropriation for snow-making equipment.

10. Concretaries: $63,278 requested, $62,807 recommended, $59,631 granted.

11. Police: $427,977 requested, $417,009 recommended, $416,000 granted.

19. Sewer Department: $151,270 requested, $150,209 recommended, $158,631 granted. Department requests estimated at $271,910. The only expenditure item deleted was $70 for Blue Cross insurance.

Funding for total: $64,160 requested, $64,219 recommended, $64,219 granted.

Miscellaneous items for which the board of directors made no cuts in the general manager's recommendations are bond maturation and interest, $1,168,870; settlement of claims, $18,000; tax refunds, $1,500; and Charter Revision Commission, $500.

General fund receipts as estimated by the board of directors are $44,000 from fines, licenses and permits; $121,180 from current services; $1,217,075 in State of Connecticut assistance; $48,918 from other agencies; $73,500 from general revenues; and $6,146,400 from property taxes based on 99% collection on the Oct. 1, 1961 grand list of $17,340,856 and collection of an interest and fees on delinquent taxes.

A breakdown of the other funds, outside of the general fund, show the following:

Special Fire District Fund: $36,870 requested, $30,277 recommended, $30,282 granted. The fire district tax rate was reduced 1/10-mil, from 3 to 2 9/10 mil.

Water Department: $366,031 requested, $376,271 recommended, $376,271 granted. Operating revenue is estimated at $37,300, and $25 to the Community Child Care Agency.

Consensus of a panel discussion on physical health was that a good balanced diet and proper exercise are important to youth. Referrals were served.

Plays 'Duke'

Russell Wieralla who plays "The Duke" in the new musical on Broadway by Wayne Morris, brings a sensitive portrayal to life on the stage of Brown School tonight when the Little Theater of Manchester opens in William Weaver's "The Cave Dwellers" for a three-day run, under the direction of Fred T. Blah III.

Even back in his high school days, Russ showed dramatic talent of a high order. In the Book and Music production of "Johnny Belinda" which won top honors in the 1944 New England Secondary Schools Drama Festival he contributed to the general excellence of the piece in his role of Black MacDonaid, and won Best Acting Award.

Since that time he has played with the Mark Twain Players, only recently joining the town-sponsored Manchester group.

His list of acting credits is formidable, including roles in "The Dunes," "The Night of January 13th," "A Physician in Spite of Himself" and "The Millionaires." Tickets for tonight's performance and Saturday's performance will be available at the Brown School Auditorium. Curtain time is 8:30.

Science At Work

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some results of satellite probes into space, and a look at the importance of sunshine on earth are subjects for science at work:

Winds of Space

Just how large are the clouds of cosmic gas traveling through space? How much cosmic radiation shoots through the reaches of our galaxy, the Milky Way?

Satellites gave astronomers and physicists a way to probe these mysteries, and at a recent meeting of the American Physical Society, some of the results were summarized.

Explorer XI, for instance, carried a telescope capable of seeing high energy gamma rays, tiny but powerful bullets of rays that travel in straight lines and are not deflected by magnetic fields.

The cosmic gases are clouds of the heaviest of hydrogen atoms. When cosmic rays hit these atomic clouds, gamma rays are produced.

By measuring the gamma rays, physicists can deduce how many hydrogen atoms of nuclei and how many cosmic rays there are—and perhaps, eventually, where these winds in space come from. Current studies indicate there may be many more cosmic rays and more gases than estimated earlier.

We and Our Shadow

The earth apparently casts a shadow in space. It isn't a shadow of light and dark, but only an area sheltered by earth and its magnetic field from the winds of charged gases that pour through our galaxy.

Satellites, ranging far out into space, have shown that this sort of sheltered area or shadow exists. Its exact limits are not known.

Are these winds of space pouring out from the sun? If so, the shadow area would be on the dark side of the earth. The satellite data indicates it might be there, or it might be slightly from a different angle, indicating that the winds of gas that the earth sees might come from some unknown source other than our sun.

The Closest Comfort

Earth's sister planet, Venus, is a hot and uncomfortable place, astronomers say. Yet Venus is nearly the same size as earth, and only lies a little nearer the sun.

Now there is the possibility of one more important difference. Venus may have an extremely slow rate of rotation—and its day may be as long as its year. That is, it may take Venus as long to spin once on its axis as it takes it to turn once around the sun. This means that the same face of Venus is always turned toward the scorching radiation of the sun, leaving one side in constant day, one side in constant night.

Scouting Banquet

Slated Saturday

About 500 Boy Scouts, including 80 from Blackledge District, plan to attend the annual banquet, sponsored by Charter Oak Council, Saturday at 7 p.m. at Manchester High School.

Norman F. Larson, 9 Bruce Rd., is chairman of this year's Silver Beaver selection committee. This is council's highest adult award presented by the National Council, Boy Scouts of America, upon recommendation of each council. The award is given for distinguished service to boyhood through the scouting program.

Larson received the Silver Beaver award in March 1959, when he was chairman of Explorer Post 47, South Methodist Church.

What Next After Tests? Million-Ton N-Shot Tops Pacific Series

tests. Among them will be three high altitude explosions in June or July.

The discovery of the Van Allen radiation belt, Dr. James Van Allen of the University of Iowa, said Wednesday that a big nuclear detonation at high altitude probably would make a hole in the belt but that it is expected that it would be healed or repaired in a matter of a few weeks.

Van Allen said he had no information that any of the sky-high tests at Johnston Island would be high enough or strong enough to rupture the belt.

But he said in an interview that an explosion of several megatons at altitude could tear the hole to the limits of the belt—about 400 miles up—would do it.

The AEC has announced that one of its Johnston Island tests will involve a megaton device detonated at hundreds of kilometers. A kilometer is five-eighths of a mile.

Van Allen said a powerful explosion near the belt would probably affect the earth's magnetic field in such a way that the proton people that it creates would be directed down into the atmosphere.

But Van Allen said the particles wouldn't harm anyone because of the damage done to accidents in the atomic plant.

Fallout Facts

fallout. Full knowledge about such radiation is lacking.

This uncertainty creates an issue in discussions of the moral right to test, and the fear that testing endangers prospects of ultimate war.

Now a full range of experiments are aimed at learning what the normal or bodily effects of low-level, chronic radiation may be.

One project being started here at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory by a team of specialists will involve the testing of 100,000 mice, quite apart from the mice used in genetic studies.

Thousands of thousands of mice will be exposed to various dosages of gamma rays and radioactive cesium over periods of days to months.

Then they will be observed and examined during their lifetimes—normally about two years or so—to see if they live less long or get more cancers, leukemias and other ailments than mice not so exposed, explains Dr. A. C. Upton, a pathologist and physicist.

Little is known about the long-term effects of low-level, chronic external radiation, he adds. Mice here will receive total dosages of five to 10 roentgens. That is about as low an amount as it is practical to give and still hope to see any measurable results among hundreds of mice.

It is already known that a dosage given at a low rate generally has no more than one-quarter to one-third the effect of a single dose of the same amount given rather rapidly.

Life shortening from radiation has been observed in mice. Dr. Upton adds. But little information is available about animals larger than mice, and about humans.

Irradiated mice usually die of about the same causes as normal mice, but they die sooner. The time before death is advanced. The more radiation received, the earlier the appearance of signs of old age, such as cancer.

At the Argonne National Laboratory, near Chicago, the Atomic Energy Commission also is setting up a similar colony of 100,000 mice.

Some of these will be dosed with varying amounts of strontium-90 and perhaps other fallout atoms to pinpoint effects. The amounts will be about 1,000 times or so larger than the amounts humans now are exposed to from fallout.

Out of this will come more solid clues to human hazards from long-lasting fallout atoms such as strontium and cesium.

Like Dr. Upton's project, the Argonne research may take up to 10 years to draw significant new lines to put the human hazards into clearer focus.

These projects represent just a few of the steps to assess the real influence of radiation on human life.

"Many of us are concerned not so much about present levels of fallout, or what may be in the near future, so much as the effects if tests are held repeatedly during the coming years at the 'normal levels,'" Dr. Upton said.

At the research center, information could also produce extremely valuable dividends, he adds, such as:

• Sooner estimates of the protection really needed for fallout in the atomic age as an atomic energy power plant expands.

• Opportunities to test, in animals, antidotes or preventives proposed for radiation sickness, or protection against genetic or somatic effects.

• Clearer understanding of how radiation acts to kill cancer cells or combat leukemia, or how large doses act to bring on these ailments.

• Clues to the immunity reaction by which a living body rejects borrowed organs and study of methods to make borrowed organs survive to new lives.

• Clues to the action of some drugs which, like genes, are regarded as hereditary of genetic information to dictate what happens to cells and organisms.

These may well overshadow the Dispute Gets Hotter Labor vs. Business: Monopoly Issue

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The government's new attitude toward monopoly power, rather than what it proposed, is the dispute which has been growing hotter. Labor leaders are calling for a law to curb monopoly power, while business leaders are calling for a law to curb monopoly power.

Bolton Board Signs 5 Teachers

Contracts will be awarded to five new teachers for the Bolton school district. The board of education accepted with the town celebration and have both on Memorial Day. The board agreed to authorize Liguori to work with town officials on a combined program.

Liguori reported that public school representatives will visit the school Monday to talk with the kindergarten teachers and on May 29 to talk to teachers about some new material. Tentative plans are being made for an art work and a science program. Liguori said, George Lennick, John Sento and Mrs. Helen Barton have been named to a teachers' reading committee in the evening. It will meet, among other things, to discuss vacation trips in the United States for Canadian and cheap fares in Canada. Liguori said a fixed exchange rate for the government, the pegging of the dollar will mean that the government's exchange rate will have to intervene in the market by buying or selling U.S. dollars to ensure that the exchange rate doesn't move farther than the percentage point on either side of the 93-cent rate.

The International Monetary Fund, which had been urging Canada to adopt a fixed exchange rate, issued a statement warning that the government's policy of pegging the dollar will mean that the government's exchange rate will have to intervene in the market by buying or selling U.S. dollars to ensure that the exchange rate doesn't move farther than the percentage point on either side of the 93-cent rate.

Canada Sets Dollar At 92 1/2 U.S. Cents

The Canadian dollar in August 1957 was worth $1.04 in U.S. currency. The drop in the rate is expected to give a strong boost to export earnings and to discourage import buying by raising import prices in terms of Canadian dollars.

It will mean, among other things, costlier vacation trips in the United States for Canadian and cheap fares in Canada. Liguori said a fixed exchange rate for the government, the pegging of the dollar will mean that the government's exchange rate will have to intervene in the market by buying or selling U.S. dollars to ensure that the exchange rate doesn't move farther than the percentage point on either side of the 93-cent rate.

'Can't Get Me Out,' Catcher's Confident Explanation Howard's Hot Hitting Powers Yankees

NEW YORK (AP)—"They can't get me out." That's Elston Howard's credo. The rangy New York Yankee catcher doesn't say it with cockiness, but with quiet confidence. It was his simple explanation last year when his dazzling .548 average, and again this spring when he started off the season in rapid-fire style.

Howard's hot hitting powers were on display in a game against the Orioles last night. He hit three home runs and drove in four runs. His performance was a testament to his confidence and skill.

Series Ended By Symphony

Another series of subscription concert came to a close last evening as 'Pierrot Lala' by the Hartford Symphony through its final program of the season, headed by Brian Meisel and Leonard Rose.

The soloists were heard in the Brahms Double Concerto for violin, cello and orchestra. This was undoubtedly the high spot of the evening, and indeed of the entire series.

The whole performance was equal to any you are likely to encounter in a lifetime of listening.

Miss Meisel and Mr. Rose acquitted themselves in most artistic fashion, in the solo portions of the work. Mr. Meisel proved as good as any you are likely to encounter.

The orchestra was likewise heard to great advantage in the "Pierrot Suite" by Stravinsky, played to honor the composer's 80th birthday. The Brahms had been marred by artist restraint, while the Stravinsky was notable for brilliant tone-colors and rhythmic vigor.

As you can gather, it was a program above average in interest and performance. True, Mr. Meisel failed to get a great deal out of the "Pierrot Suite" with which the program opened, and the five Hungarian Dances were nothing to get excited about, but both offerings were acceptably done and failed to dim the real brilliance of the other offerings.

A large portion of the audience is still behind Mr. Meisel to his credit. This was evidenced last night at the outset of the evening when many in the audience rose to vote of confidence.
