Mariner Races Toward Venus

By HOWARD BENEDICT CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Mariner 2 spacecraft rocketed into space today and scientists reported there is a possibility it will pass near the planet Venus as planned despite an early trajectory error.

If the early line is followed the Mariner will miss the planet by more than 800,000 miles, but an effort will be made by remote control steering to put it back on course.

The key to jockeying Mariner 2 back onto its proper path is a 50-pound thrust motor which is to be fired by ground signal eight days after launching when the spacecraft is more than a million miles away from earth.

By then scientists will have calculated the vehicle's path velocity precisely and will know just how long to fire the small motor to straighten out the course.

Mariner 2 blasted away from Cape Canaveral at 1:53 a.m. atop a powerful Atlas-Agena B rocket. Half an hour later the rocket injected the spacecraft on an interplanetary trajectory.

The exact reason for the spacecraft being off course in its early stages was not immediately known. But officials suspected that an abnormal rolling motion in the first stage Atlas rocket might have affected its trajectory. The rolling motion occurred for about 50 seconds of the five-minute Atlas flight.

It was thought at first that indications of rolling might be due to a false radio signal from the Atlas. But after analysis of data.

Wife of Prominent Industrialist Shot Herself, Police Say

NORTH BRANFORD (AP)—The wife of a prominent New Haven industrialist remained in critical condition at New Haven's Grace-New Haven Community Hospital today with what has been described as a self-inflicted bullet wound in the chest.

Mrs. C. Forbes (Ellen) Sargent was admitted to the hospital on a list and a hospital spokesman said there has been no change in her condition.

39 State Youths, 35 Under 21, Held After Beer Party

SOUTH SALEM, N. Y. (AP)—A raucous, beer-laden "hayride" last night resulted in some courtroom discipline for 39 youths from Connecticut.

All but four of them were under 21, some of them in their early teens. The legal drinking age in New York State is 18, but in Connecticut and all other bordering states it is 21.

The group—25 boys and 14 girls—were arrested in an abandoned quarry off East Street in the Vista area here, after nearby residents complained the party was whooping it up to the point of public disturbance.

State Police said they found seven cases of beer at the affair. The youths, who had come to this northern Westchester County community in a truck, said they were on a "hayride," police reported.

The group was taken before Justice of the Peace Robert E. Green on disorderly conduct charges.

He fined the 25 boys $20 each, and fined 10 of the girls the same amount, but suspended sentence. Four girls under 16 were released to their parents. The others also were allowed to go home, after those fined had settled up.

The boys and girls are from the Norwalk, Conn., area.

Soviet Rejects West's Bid For Unpoliced N-Test Ban

U.S. Blames Russia for Wall Deaths

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States blamed the Soviet Union today for "wanton provocations" and "senseless" police cruelty in the Soviet sector of Berlin following the illegal erection of the Berlin wall.

In a note delivered in Moscow it called once again for Soviet officials to meet with representatives of the United States, Britain and France "to find ways of reducing dangerous tensions and restoring normal conditions in Berlin."

The text of the note was released by the State Department here.

It was a reply to a Soviet note of last Friday and the latest in a series of statements and notes which followed the death of Peter Fechter, 18, who died on the wall Aug. 17, arousing the wrath of West Berliners.

The note said: "It should not be necessary to remind the Soviet government that the present tensions in Berlin have been caused by the illegal erection of the wall and the senseless cruelty of the police of the Soviet sector."

"The people of the Western sectors were manifesting revulsion, which was worldwide, against the criminal shooting of a defenseless and innocent boy on Aug. 17, who was left to die in the Soviet sector without even the elementary respect of being buried."

"On Aug. 22 another young German was shot in the back by the police of the Soviet sector. Although he was taken to a West Berlin hospital, he could not be saved."

"Despite these wanton provocations, the U.S. authorities in Berlin are maintaining law and order in their sector. All traffic, including that of members of the Soviet armed forces, is moving without incident."

"The U.S. government understands the concern of the Soviet government about the stone-throwing at Soviet personnel. But the Soviet government cannot expect to escape censure, or to avoid the consequences of its own, permitting these brutalities to occur in the sector of the city for which it is responsible."

"The governments of the United States, Great Britain and France are united in their determination to bring an end to these provocations."

Six Children Of One Family Perish in Fire

CLOVIS, Calif. (AP)—The six children of Ben and Betty Funk died in a fire that destroyed their new home in this Fresno suburb Sunday despite valiant rescue tries by the father and neighbors.

One teenage neighbor smashed through a window into the blazing home and, with hands slashed by broken glass, handed out four of the children. But they apparently were dead.

"The father and others broke more windows in desperate rescue attempts but were turned back by intense heat."

Fire Chief W. E. Riley said afterward the window smashing may have worsened the situation. "It let in wind drafts," he said.

The dead children were: Dennis, 8; Howard, 8; Charlotte, 7; Shirley, 6; John, 3; and Deborah, 21 months. Deputy Coroner Walter Secher said all had suffocated.

Authorities said cause of the fire was not immediately apparent and may not be learned for several days, pending check of the ashes.

Funk, 32, a cabinet maker, was awakened by his wife, 28, about 1:30 a.m. Sunday with a cry of "fire."

He broke a window of their bedroom and tumbled outside, cut by glass fragments. Then Funk and his brother, Leonard, 20, who had been sleeping in the back yard, pulled Mrs. Funk through the window.

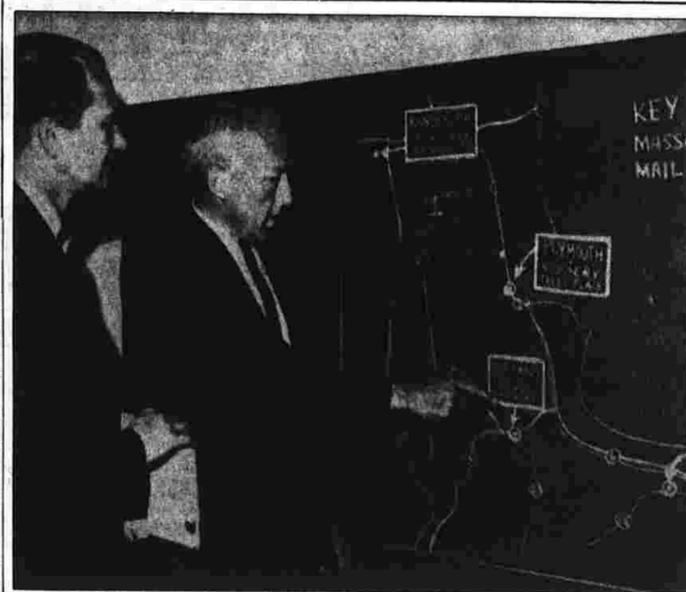

Her leg was broken when it became entangled between frame and sill.

Russell Welch, 19, who lives two houses away, heard screams of alarm, ran to help and battered in through a window.

He told newsmen later he found three of the children in bed and two others on the floor.

"I thought at the time they were dead," he said, but while neighbors sprayed water on him with a lawn hose, he handed four of them outside to another neighbor. An unidentified policeman brought out the other two.

The parents were taken to a Fresno hospital for treatment of shock and their injuries.

A Must for Kennedy Critics Urge Debate On Tax Bill Changes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate had decided the bill should be brought up today amid proposals from critics that they be allowed ample time to debate the measure.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., protested that he had been advised that leaders had agreed to vote tabling motions to chop off debate on dozens of pending amendments.

A motion to table is not debatable. Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana replied that no agreement had been reached with anyone. But he said that he was reserving the right to make tabling motions because Proxmire himself had notified the leaders he would block any proposal for unanimous agreement to limit debate.

The bill is on President Kennedy's list of must items for the coming week of Congress and Mansfield is aiming for Senate action by the weekend. However, Republican Leader Everett M. Kirkson of Illinois told newsmen presented the Senate would act that soon.

Proxmire insisted that he was not trying to prevent any final vote on the bill, but he said it was so important that he hoped the leaders would allow ample time on an amendment.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., who also opposes several sections of the bill, urged the Democratic leader to permit votes to come on the merits of amendments, and not through tabling motions.

The Democratic leader often backed the motion to table in the recent bitter debate on the communications satellite bill, and was charged by critics to do the same with a "guillotine."

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., who also opposes key sections of the tax bill, joined Democratic senators in opposition to tabling motions. He declared he hoped "you are not going to railroad this bill through."

Williams said he was astonished that the Kennedy administration had decided the bill should be brought up today amid proposals from critics that they be allowed ample time to debate the measure.

Mansfield said he had made the decision, not the administration. He pointed out that the tax bill was on the calendar ready for debate while the trade bill still was in committee.

The Democratic leader said he knew that Williams had suggested the trade bill might be dropped in view of the decision to call up the tax bill first, but declared: "That just isn't going to happen. We are going to stay here until we take up the trade bill and vote on it."

Dozens of amendments were pending, some seeking to toughen the bill.

$50,000 Prize For Solution to Mail-Cash Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General J. Edward Day raised to $50,000 today the reward offered for solution of the $10-million Cape Cod mail robbery.

A reward of $2,000 previously had been offered.

General Staff Protests Guerrillas Seeking Control of Algeria

ALGIERS (AP)—Military leaders controlling western Algeria today condemned the attempt by anti-western guerrilla officers in Algiers to impose their will on their new nation.

The 45,000-man regular army's general staff in Oran accused the rebellious guerrilla leaders of Wilaya (Zone) No. 4 in Central Algeria of "irresponsible acts obstructing the rebirth of the state and the revival of its economy."

The general staff called on Central Algeria's civilian population to form "vigilance committees" against the Wilaya 4 commanders. It appealed to the Wilaya's junior officers and troops to rally to the support of Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's political bureau, which it called "the nation's only legitimate authority."

Ben Bella had flown to Oran over the weekend and the Political Bureau abandoned its work in Algiers as the country's provisional government after the Wilaya 4 command launched an open campaign to whip up public opposition in the capital to the civilian political leaders.

The rebel military leaders were supported by an estimated 20,000 guerrillas.

Strengthened by the army general staff's strong declaration of support, Ben Bella was reported planning to return to Algiers to attempt to persuade the wilaya commanders to accept his leadership.

The general staff's statement disclosed that the regular army has absorbed guerrilla forces in western Algeria's Wilaya No. 5 and that wilaya command has been dissolved.

Also Raps Delay On Roads Program

NORWALK (AP)—Republican gubernatorial candidate John Alsop continued his attack today on the Democratic administration's handling of the state's highway program. He called for a decision on the relocation of Rt. 7 between Norwalk and Danbury to "end the tension and uncertainty caused by the state's delay and inaction."

In remarks made for delivery during a campaign stop here, Alsop said:

"Although money has been appropriated for route planning for the new highway, little has been done to resolve the confusion as to where the road will go.

"The people want to have and have a right to know whose homes will be affected and who will have to be relocated."

Alsop noted that the only money appropriated for Route 7 construction during the last session of the General Assembly was for a one-mile connector between Route 7 and the Connecticut Turnpike.

"And this is still in the planning stage," he said.

His remarks followed previous criticism of the state's highway program.

Discussing the New Haven railroad, Alsop said:

"Now is the time for action if the railroad is to survive, and we must have the benefit of every constructive recommendation."

He charged that the federal government was suppressing the Whitman Committee report, diagnosing the bankrupt line's problems.

"I call again upon those responsible for the suppression of the report to make it public immediately so that we can act in full knowledge."

The Whitman Committee is composed of a group of railroad executives designed by Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges to survey the railroad's problems. The committee is headed by Frederic B. Whitman, president of the Western Pacific Railroad.

The two candidates for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate met tonight at South Boston High School — one the youngest brother of the President, the other the nephew of the Speaker of the House.

Two Boston television stations—WBZ-TV, Channel 4, and WHDH-TV, Channel 5—plan to carry the debate live at 8 p.m. WXTV, Channel 7, has scheduled a delayed telecast at 11:15 p.m. Radio Stations WBZ and WNAC will carry a live broadcast and WHDH a telecast at 11:15.

At least each candidate has had five minutes for an opening statement, with Kennedy first by the toss of a coin, a panel of four newsmen will have 30 minutes to ask questions. The candidate to whom the question is addressed will have 2 1/2 minutes to answer and his opponent 1 1/2 minutes for rebuttal.

Ribicoff Asks Elderly Train Youth of U.S.

BETHEL (AP)—Democratic senatorial candidate Abraham Ribicoff is proposing the formation of a domestic peace corps of elderly persons to teach job skills to young Americans.

Such a program would be a useful outlet for many older citizens as well as passing on skills and experience to the nation, Ribicoff told an outing yesterday sponsored by the Danbury Democratic Town Committee.

"Under this program retired citizens from all walks of life would volunteer to spend 10 to 20 more hours a week instructing young people, on an individual basis wherever possible, in the field of their competence," Ribicoff said.

These elderly citizens could provide instruction for inmates of correctional institutions, school dropouts, former servicemen and other young people who have failed to learn skills necessary to Life Formed in Test Tube?

Scientist Produces Infectious Viruses

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—A Utah scientist has succeeded in making infectious viruses out of inert chemicals for the first time, it was reported here today.

Dr. George W. Cochran produced viruses which cause a disease in tobacco plants. His test tube viruses can infect plants.

To make the viruses, he also put into the test tube the infectious core or nucleic acid obtained from other tobacco viruses. This infectious portion then organized the inert chemicals into the new viruses. It contains the complex genetic code to do so.

Answering his own question whether this could mean forming "life" in a test-tube, Dr. Cochran said, "If viruses are considered to be living objects, then the answer is yes."

However, he said the most significant result was that by producing viruses apart from a living cell, the virus-formation process could be studied more closely in seeking counter-weapons.

"It permits for the first time an understanding of the biochemistry of the virus-forming process itself," he said in an interview. "We can now examine it in great detail, and very accurately, and should be able to select chemicals to interrupt it."

Viruses are tiny agents which cause disease in men, plants and animals. In men, they cause colds, polio, measles, chickenpox, yellow fever, sleeping sickness and various other diseases.

"THE WAY I HEARD IT"

by John Gruber

Last week I started telling you about how a new opera would be produced. In order to comply with a request I received to explain the functions of the very many people behind the scenes in an opera house that the public never sees. When I left off, an imaginary German opera house was contemplating the production of a new opera by an American composer. Shostakovich's "The Night" was being considered as a possible plot, and not a note had been composed.

The stage director had come up with a rough scenario in four acts, each comprising two scenes and requiring six sets of scenery, and the scenic designer had rough sketches for the six sets. Both they go for conference with the producer or attendant, as he's called in Germany.

The attendant is pleased with six sets and six scenes against Shostakovich's original 9 or 10 sets and 12 scenes, but the cost is still large, even though the characters have been cut to 10 instead of 15. Combining Fabian and the Clown into one character gets it down to 9 principals, but that's still an expensive cast so the producer decides to decrease one less set of scenery to balance the budget. This means revision of the scenario as it is. Finally it looks as though it might work, and the tentative scenario is sent to the composer, to see if he is interested in setting Shostakovich's music to it. The composer agrees to the general outline, but holds out for a will approve of the actual text to be used since the scenario is only an outline. About this time a contract is written which requires the services of the opera company's legal staff and a librettist is hired.

The librettist has to provide suitable bridge material to take the place of scenes that are to be cut, to provide for choruses (if any) and so on. A German librettist is used since the production will be in German, and a translator must be employed on an identical text in English is available to the composer. This must match German poetic foot for English poetic foot, as well as in poetic content for the music will have to fit both versions.

The composer probably comes to Germany about now, to see the facilities of the opera house, its orchestra, conductor, chorus, resident members, and so on. He attends performances to get an idea of how sophisticated the audience may be, and stays around for a couple of weeks or more. During this time somebody has to take him in tow, arrange for interpreters, perhaps, for lodging and meals, and so on. He and the producer come to an agreement as to the types of voices for each character, and the composer finally leaves to get to work on the opera. After a while he submits enough music so that the producer gets an idea of his style in vocal writing, and begins to wonder about casting the roles. This task is entrusted to the casting director, who not only has to choose suitable voices, but has to get voices who will be able to rehearse together and at the same time appear in other operas during the season, perhaps in other opera houses. Making a rehearsal schedule is a headache for him, and usually he has a secretary. One more person in the company's payroll is a headhunter, who makes calls and correspondence. Naturally he has a secretary. One more person in the company's payroll is a headhunter, who makes calls and correspondence. Naturally he has a secretary. ## HEALTH CAPSULES

by Michael A. Post, M.D.

HOW LONG DO NEWBORN BABIES SLEEP?

You're no baby!

Health Capsules gives helpful information. It is not intended to be a diagnostic instrument.

Very frequently have them made by their own countries, while the costumes are made locally.

The property man brings assembling all the properties that will be needed, sometimes crossing the spheres of action of other company members. The handkerchief in "Othello," for example, is a property, not a part of Desdemona's costume.

The casting director and the attendant, together with a conductor, go over the music manuscript as it is presented. The casting director knows the range of every singer he intends to use, and if the composer writes a part too high or too low, he will be able to make suggestions, and even the stage director may get into this conference. He may suggest that there be more music written to cover the time needed to change all the time, of course, these people are busy with current production problems. A new Broadway production will infect everybody associated in the production with enthusiasm, since this is the only thing they are working on.

Next is an opera. It's an added burden for the company, and the composer will be lucky if he gets more than a few minutes of rehearsal. With an act or so of music completed and approved, musicians are employed to extract the individual parts from the composer's score. They work under the supervision of the company librarian, and may be hired only on occasion requires. A person who has received a pardon, however, is entirely free.

DON'T COUNT POINTS FOR DEFENSIVE BIDS

By Alfred Sheinwold.

"How many points do you need for an overall at the level of two?" asks a reader. The answer: About 800 points. Here's what tends to happen when you count points:

This hand was dealt in the recent Intensely Championship between Minneapolis and Houston. At one table a Minneapolis expert thought the South hand was worth an overall of two diamonds. He had a reasonable number of points for this bid, but he didn't have the tricks.

West doubled and led the king of hearts after nobody could think of a further bid. He switched to spades, and East shifted to clubs, giving West a club ruff. West then took two more hearts and waited for his trump trick. This all came to 800 points.

The Minneapolis team had a further loss on this deal at the other table of the match. Here the Twin Cities had the East-West cards, and Houston experts sat North-South.

The bidding began with two passes and a bid of one spade by East, as before. But Bobby Nall passed the South hand. He has too much experience to bid two diamonds on such a doubtful hand.

This left it up to West. He wanted to bid 2 1/2 spades, but the rules don't permit fractional bids. West tried to mark time with a response of two diamonds, hoping to show the spade support later. Unfortunately for West, there was no later. East's fractional bid contract, but he actually went down one for a loss of 50 points.

Bobby Nall made a part score, the result at the second table would have been important. The damage was done at the first table, where South bid two diamonds.

A vulnerable overall at the level of two should show a hand that will produce about six sure tricks. Never mind points. If you have your six tricks you're ready to pay out 800 points to the opponents.

Daily Question

Dealer, at your right, bids one club. You hold: Spades—J; Hearts—8 7 6; Diamonds—A K 9 5 3; Clubs—7 6 4. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one diamond. You can afford to take slight risks at the level of one, especially if you have a strong trump suit. Even expert opponents are reluctant to double at so low a level.
